COMING OUT OF the ETHER

With BERNIE SMITH

Just as looks are worth a fortune in pictures, so is a voice worth a fortune in radio. Take that of Bill Thompson, for example. Bill has created the roles of Wallace Wimple, Old Timer, Nick DePopulus and Horatio K. Boomer on the Fibber McGee and Molly program.

It's a story that goes back 24 years when Thompson was only five. He was campaigning the length and breadth of the land selling Liberty Bonds during World War I. He did such a thorough job that he sold $2,000,000 worth, but he lost his voice.

This was tragedy to the young actor. It took two years of throat exercises to regain the use of his vocal chords. When Thompson grew up, his first major assignment was on the Fibber McGee and Molly program. In experimenting with vocal characterizations for the show, Thompson discovered that his voice was double-jointed—he could jump from bass to tenor with no effort. This led to two of his first vocal characterizations, high-pitched Nick DePopulus and the radio announcer with the cracking voice. His wide voice range made him a valuable member of the cast and he became a permanent citizen of Wistful Vista. The odd pitch of Thompson's voice is attributed to his loss of voice as a child.

Having an ambidextrous voice, although it has meant financial success to Thompson also has its drawbacks. Thompson has discovered that on overcast days when the atmosphere is damp, he is apt to lose his voice without warning.

GAB FROM THE GRAPEVINE: Toughest sponsor in radio as far as announcers are concerned is Rudy Vallee's. Newest one is Tom Hudson, who comes from New York. If all the ex-announcers of the Vallee show listened to the program, the Crossley rating would jump five points . . . Bob Garred now has thirty newscasts a week . . . A new record album soon to be on the stands will feature eight sides of Meredith Willson's compositions, conducted by the composer . . . Lurene Tuttle, one of Hollywood's leading radio actresses, is being considered for the film version of the

Dance Tonite's Array

To Charlie Spivak, up-and-coming recording favorite, falls the honor of setting the tempo for Eastside's week of nightly hour-long "Dance Tonite" recording programs beginning Monday, March 23. Other popular "name" bands slated to follow in Spivak's musical footsteps are Shep Fields, Tues.; Sonny Dunham, Wed.; Count Basie, Thurs.; and Les Brown, Fri. Henry Charles and Gil Warren, two of KFVB's ace announcers, split the mike honors during the week.

Ever wonder what the "P." stands for in "Throckmorton P. Gildersleeve"? Here's the answer. It stands for "Philharmonic." Seems like Throckmorton's father once played the piccolo in the Philadelphia Symphony . . . Bill Kramer, Brooklyn voiced actor often heard on "Blondie" and other programs, once placed second in a contest that made Billy Rose the champion Gregg shorthand writer in the world . . . Budd Hulick, of the old Stoopnagle and Budd team, learned to act funny while jerking sodas in a small town in Massachusetts . . . After ten years of broadcasting, Myrt and Marge washes up, the end of this month.

Pat Halm, 544 N. Cahuenga, Hollywood.

Sirs: Thou ht reader Patricia Johnston's "Ode To the Eternal Sound Effects Man" in your issue of March 8th exceptionally clever but still find myself wondering just what happened to Virgil Reimer's golden opportunity to play himself on the Benny program. Did he or didn't he?

(No, the voice of Virgil was done by a radio actor. As Patricia Johnston said in her final line, "They hired a man to do it!")

W. B. Winn, 1237 Huntington Drive, Pasadena.

Sirs: Over this way we listen often to Peter Potter's recorded programs over KMPC from Music City, and so we were interested to see the annual All-American band in print in Radio Life, March 8. While we were pretty much in agreement with the majority of the selections we were mortified to read that Glenn Miller's Modernairs were rated the best swing vocal group. They are hardly in the same class with the Merry Macs, and it was good to read in your Famous Brothers of Radio story that you agreed with us.

William E. Lynch, Covina, Calif.

Sirs: Read with interest your story on "Famous Brothers of Radio" in the issue of March 1st. But was mortified at the glaring error made by the writer which failed to list what is perhaps the most successful brother combination in radio—the Brothers Lombardo. Could it be that Radio Life has joined forces with the minority who are calling Guy Lombardo "The King of Corn" because of the fact that the Lombardos have never stooped to play loud, blaring swing music? I sincerely hope not. You can redeem yourself with an early article on Guy, Carmen, Leibert and Victor Lombardo—radio's MOST FAMOUS brother combination!

(The Lombardos happen to be among our favorite bands, but we did err in failing to list them among "radio's famous brothers.")

Marc Wilkinson, 6111 Hargis, Los Angeles.

Sirs: Couldn't you campaign a bit to encourage the big radio sponsors to clean up some of the horrible mispronunciations we are continually hearing? Ted Collins, on the Kate Smith hour, does a good job of news reporting, for example, but we tear our hair when we hear every day "Javar" and "Bataviar"—don't you? Then Bob Garred still talks about "Seb-as-to-pol" which might have been o. k. once but isn't approved any longer.

War Shows to H'wood?

There was a strong possibility as Radio Life went to press that a decision would be reached in Washington, D. C. this week whereby Hollywood would be the origination point for all war shows requiring Hollywood talent.

Back in the nation's capital after a series of business sessions with leaders of the Hollywood Victory Committee on the West Coast was W. B. Lewis, former CBS vice-president who is now assistant director of the Office of Facts and Figures and coordinator of Federal Radio. Lewis before planing out of Hollywood for the east last week announced that he was in favor of the shifting of all such war shows to Hollywood.

If Lewis' opinion meets with approval in Washington the new "This Is War" broadcast will probably be brought to the coast immediately. Lewis said that this program alone has a listening audience of 25,000,000. Also up for Hollywood origination will be the new "Hollywood's Victory Hour," official government radio show featuring stars of radio, screen and stage which was originally slated to be aired from Washington. A new Army Hour program will also be considered in the new setup.

Members of the Hollywood Victory Committee for Radio, Screen and Stage signed pledges with Lewis during his sojourn here that they "will fulfill any request made by the committee which will have government sanction, but by the same token, that they will reject any request not approved by the Victory Committee."

Gluskin to the Colors

From a reliable source close to the Bureau of Naval Aviation in Washington Radio Life learned as it went to press that Lud Gluskin, Russian-born American citizen who is musical director for the western division of the Columbia Broadcasting System in Hollywood, has been appointed a full-commissioned commander in the U. S. Naval Air Force.

Gluskin, a member of the famed Lafayette Escadrille in World War I and considered one of the country's topnotch navigators by the Navy Department, will probably not leave his musical berth at KNX, Columbia Square, for six or eight months although he is subject to immediate active call should the emergency arise.

Gluskin, famous for his colorful, warmly-directed musical programs over CBS and KNX, is highly regarded in the radio industry as one of its most capable musical directors. He

Revise Flagg-Quirt

"Capt. Flagg and Sgt. Quirt," high-explosive radio series on NBC Friday nights, underwent a drastic revision in story plot as of March 13th with a new character, Sgt. Bliss, making his debut on the show.

Producer Mel Williamson said that the change in script and the introduction of a new character is the outcome of requests from U. S. Marine Corps who questioned recently whether the script which calls for the fictional situation of a sergeant bawling out a captain was in good taste.

After conferences last week between the sponsor, NBC and representatives of the Marine Corps it was decided that Sgt. Quirt, played by Cinemactor Eill Gargan, would reveal on the March 13th script that he had been ordered to San Francisco for embarkation to foreign battle fields, thus enabling him to be written out of the current drama rings, allowing him to return at occasional intervals.

The new character, that of Sgt. Bliss, with veteran radio actor Fred Shields handling the role, represents a new type of Marine making his debut in the Corps for the first time in this war. An expert parachutist, Sgt. Bliss will popularize many new wrinkles in this new division of the armed service.

Jimmy Declares Himself

Even as a movie star Jimmy Stewart was never surrounded by news photographers as often as he has been since joining the armed forces. But all the picture posing and public appearances which Lieut. Jimmy has been doing in recent weeks and months have come to an end.

At least so Stewart, who is now stationed at the Army air base, Mather Field, near Sacramento, told a Radio Life representative last weekend as he rehearsed a script he'd never seen before for Arch Oboler's "Plays For Americans" series at Radio City.

"I think I've finally convinced my superiors that too much publicity for one of its flyers is injurious rather than good for the cause," declared Jimmy during a lull in the rehearsal of Oboler's original "Letter at Midnight," in which Stewart was handling the leading role.

"And besides I'm much too busy learning to be a competent flyer to keep making these personal appearances from one end of the country to the other," Jimmy added.

All of which means that radio, which has seen and heard a lot of Jimmy in recent months, will probably occupy very little of this Air Corps officer's time from now until Victory if a fellow named Jimmy Stewart has anything to say about it.

Novis' Gesture

Nice gesture of the week in local radio was Donald Novis' request to Producer Ted Bliss of CBS-KNX's Hollywood Showcase program that he be removed from the competition on Mary Astor's show in order to give the youngsters appearing on the program a better chance.

Novis, well on the road back to the place he once held in radio's upper strata, had won the Showcase return engagement award for three successive weeks and gave as the reason for his request that his Showcase appearances had won him a contract to appear nightly at the Biltmore Bowl with Phil Harris and his orchestra.

The Pasadena pride and joy, singing like the Don Novis of yesteryear, is being considered for a top-line singing role on several network commercials.

Newscaster Gets Set

Getting settled in Hollywood the past fortnight (although his strenuous radio schedule gave him little time to eat, sleep and relax) was Harry W. Flannery, former CBS war correspondent in Berlin and latest addition to the KNX news staff.

Flannery, candid-faced and unassuming, told well-wishers at Columbia Square last week as he began his daily (except Sunday) newscasts for Bekins that "this will be the first opportunity my wife and daughter

Joan's Kid Sister

Gloria Blondell, Joan Blondell's "kid sister" whose screen career was retarded due to the fact that she so closely resembled her big sister, told a Radio Life reporter this week that she is completely fascinated with radio and plans to concentrate on an air career.

Gloria, hazel-eyed, light-brown-haired and extremely Blondellish in physical equipment, is already making good progress toward a big-time radio reputation as Jerry Booker in the I Love A Mystery series over the BLUE network.

Arch Oboler, creator of the "Plays For Americans" Sunday dramas over NBC, last week paid up-and-coming Gloria her finest compliment to date by casting her in a supporting role to Lieut. James Stewart in "A Letter at Midnight."

Before trying her hand at radio acting Miss Blondell matriculated at Beverly Hills high school and U. C. L. A.

Dreier Keeps "Date"

Alex Dreier, NBC's intrepid war correspondent who says the average German knows his country is licked but will continue to fight furiously out of a fear of ghastly post-war reprisals, airplaned across the nation last week to keep a "date" at St. Catherine's Church in Burlingame, Calif.

Dreier, who left Berlin on the very eve of Germany's declaration of war on the U. S., told friends in New York upon his arrival from Europe that he had to keep a very important "date" on the West Coast on March 12, but little did his broadcasting friends suspect that Dreier had romance on his mind.

The "date" Dreier kept in the little northern California church was with Joy Leathurby, a childhood sweetheart of his from San Francisco, whom he married before a group of intimate friends.

The war reporter and his bride are now enroute to New York via the Overland Limited for a brief honeymoon before Dreier begins his new radio series in which he will analyze the war news against the background of his own wide experiences in Germany and other European countries overrun by the Nazi hordes.

Benny to Mather

Having notified Warner Bros. flicker factory foremen that he is "not at all satisfied with the script" of his next picture, NBC comedian Jack Benny has ordered Rochester to wire together the old Maxwell for a trek to Mather Field, U. S. Army Air base near Sacramento, on Sunday, March 22.

Mather Field, scene of Lieut. James Stewart's air training maneuvers, is one of the few West Coast camps which has not yet been visited by a big-time Hollywood radio personality.

Benny has also announced that during the 1942-43 broadcasting season he will take his show (for which he pays the expenses of line charges, etc.) on a nationwide tour to out-of-the-way army posts on a plan similar to the one currently being followed by Kay Kyser's troupe.

KFI, 4 p.m. Sun.

That Patriotic Plink

That little-publicized instrument, the banjo, had its no. 1 torch-bearer Eddie Peabody, come to its aid last week as nationwide plans began to take shape for the revival of interest among musicians and the public in the banjo.

Peabody, famous radio personality and now a Lieut. Comdr. in the U. S. Navy, declared from his base near the Great Lakes that "it is an unpatriotic gesture on the part of American orchestra leaders to boycott the only native American musical instrument."

Lieut. Comdr. Peabody, long recognized as the King of the Banjo and who recently made a coast-to-coast guest appearance on Kate Smith's Hour, claimed that there is a banjo boycott on, and he proposes to do something about it.

Peabody points an accusing finger at radio orchestra leaders, who, he says, have arbitrarily decided that the instrument is too harsh.

"Orchestra leaders are just too lazy to look farther than the tips of their noses to find banjo players," says Peabody, who broadcasts regularly on the National Barn Dance program.

"When properly played, the banjo is a thoroughly dependable instrument capable of doing anything from 'Shortenin' Bread' to Bach. There is no other instrument with the happy tonal quality of the banjo."

"And what's more important in these times," declared the banjo master, "the banjo has that patriotic plink!"

Elsa's Circus Clowns

Movie theatres have been guilty of some strange things such as bank nite, bingo, etc., in "selling" pictures to the public but not until a publicity release came out of New York on Elsa Maxwell's broadcast this week did Radio Life realize that some radio sponsors were going berserk, too.

Press release read as follows:

Latest stunt in getting studio audiences into a receptive mood is that being used for the Elsa Maxwell Party Line programs over the BLUE Network Friday nights. The sponsor has hired a group of ex-circus clowns and magicians to go through their routines for at least half an hour before the broadcast. As a result, when America's No. 1 party giver faces the microphone she already has an appreciative audience in the studio.

An amazing admission for a praise agent in charge of publicizing a radio star to make . . . that circus clowns are needed to "warm up" the audience for the star of the show. (Elsa: Say it isn't so!) KECA, 7 p.m. Fri.

"Look Who's Here!"

"Look Who's Here!"—a half-hour variety show with Art Linkletter as master of ceremonies and featuring a format decidedly different from any other program on local airwaves—will debut on KNX Saturday night, March 21, at a time yet to be determined.

The brain-child of CBS Producer Al Span, "Look Who's Here!" will highlight personal appearances of service men and defense workers, a six piece instrumental combination, a prominent male vocalist yet to be announced, and guest artists. Highlight of the show each week will be a portion of the program devoted to "Soundies," a portrayal of some his-

Bing's Good Heart

Bing Crosby, the NBCrooner who like Red Skelton, George Burns, Gracie Allen and others, has been soft-pedaling publicity on his non-broadcast army camp appearances, revealed through his brother, Larry, early this week that royalties from his latest recordings of "Silent Night" will be used to pay expenses of a series of camp shows.

A goodly sum of money will go toward this camp show tour inasmuch as Bing's royalties from his "Silent Night" records which sold to the tune of 300,000 copies last season amount to more than $2,000.

Bing, who has made it a habit over a period of years to earmark royalties from his recordings of religious songs for humanitarian projects, is personally putting together his camp shows which will feature John Scott Trotter's orchestra among other headline radio performers.

Crosby, who staged his first camp appearance at Inglewood several weeks ago in such secrecy that even the soldiers didn't know what the entertainment was until Bing bounced out onto the stage, told Radio Life that he would concentrate his appearances at camps which do not ordinarily see radio broadcasts. KFI, 6 p.m. Thurs.

McCune Aims Romance

Although the scheduled guest appearance of Doug (Wrong Way) Corrigan failed to jell due to the Irisher's delayed return hop from Newfoundland where he had helped fly an array of new bombers, Hank McCune bobbed up with a "scoop" on his "It Happened in the Service" quarter-hour last Thursday over KFI-NBC airwaves from Hollywood.

McCune's "scoop," a last-minute entry on the Service program when Corrigan wired his inability to be present, concerned one of the better human interest stories to get an airing since the declaration of war.

Staff Sgt. John W. Westervelt, said to be the oldest man in the U. S. Army (he's 73), announced his engagement over the air to a 55-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Leota Harrison of Kalamazoo, Mich.

"We'll be married after the war," gleefully microphoned the Sergeant.

McCune, a young man who left U. C. L. A. last year to enter radio, came through with a well-paced and interesting interview with Westervelt who revealed that he has seen 43 years of service, 18 in the New York National Guard and 25 in the regular army. He served in the last world war, as did his son who is 52.

The sergeant, now serving with the Air Force Ferry Command at Long Beach, was all hepped up about the forthcoming nuptials.

Said he, "I guess she's no chicken to you, Mr. McCune, but she's just like a girl to me." KFI, 5:30 p.m. Wed.

Nadine Scores Again

California-born Nadine Conner who used radio as a springboard to the stage of the Metropolitan Opera Company gave every indication during her appearance on the Andre Kostelanetz program last Sunday over CBS-KNX that she would be one of the stellar stars of the Met season this year.

Miss Conner, who made her Met debut early in the year in the role of Famina in Mozart's "The Magic Flute," rendered Romberg's "One Kiss" and Strauss's "Tales from the Vienna Woods" with brilliance under Kostelanetz's baton.

Miss Conner is now rehearsing the role of "Juliet" in Gounod's "Romeo and Juliet," as well as studying the roles of Mimi and Marguerite in "Faust." These are parts that Miss Conner will handle in future Met appearances this season.

ARCH OBOLER

★ ★ ONE who loves his country and zealously guards its welfare . . ."

Such is Webster's age-honored definition of a patriot.

And such a man is Arch Oboler, bespectacled little Chicago-born playwright, whose original radio series "Plays For Americans" is heard Sundays at 1:30 p.m. over KFI-NBC from Hollywood's Radio City.

Oboler, often called "radio's most prolific writer," loves his country with such fervor and is so anxious to guard its welfare that he writes, directs, produces and casts each week a different play designed to show every American how he or she fits into the all-out Victory effort. Oboler contributes his time and talents each week without remuneration, and in so doing turns a cold shoulder to lucrative writing contracts from other both radio and film studios where his services are in constant demand.

(This is the fifth in Radio Life's current series of Salutes to Radio personalities who are aiding America's war effort by their unselfish acts of patriotism.)

FRANKLY FAY

By FRANK FAY

Frank Fay, whose witty remarks are heard each Thursday at 7:30 p. m. over KFI-NBC, likes to take pot-shots at the Axis, and Radio Life is glad to present the following which was wired from New York where the comedian's current series for Tums is originating.

Our enemies are still powerful, though shaken. And they'll have to be well shaken before taken.

Don't be the kind of a patriot who feels he has discharged his duty to his country by using military brushes.

Now we are finding out whether people meant it when they celebrated Independence Day or whether they were just July 4-flushing.

Too many hyphenates are waving the flag when they ought to be waiving extradition.

Unfortunately, I am not in the age class to do any active fighting for my country unless I happen to meet some fellow who is and won't.

The way the Axis exaggerates its victories makes you wonder whether their commentators are man or mouth.

The reason we haven't been making so many claims is that if we keep the enemy in the dark long enough they're bound to see "by our dawn's early light."

The fights Hitler is having with his generals prove that even when heels are brought together they often fail to click.

As a matter of fact, one of the principal defects of the dictatorial machine is that it has too many nuts.

My last words for today: Fight and America fights with you . . . Don't and you'll be alone.

JOHNNY on the SPOT

By Johnny Whitehead

● Commercial radio, in the last fortnight began to feel the full impact of America's rapidly changing wartime economy as wave of cancellations by sponsors, affecting a number of big network airshows, developed from coast to coast. With a number of sponsored shows, either slated for the discard or to have the networks carrying them trimmed considerably, radio's income appears to face a more than normally slack spring and summer season. Outstanding program to get the "axe" is "Myrt and Marge" on 77 CBStations. This perennial favorite, which celebrated its 10th birthday on the same net last fall, leaves the ether this March 27 because the sponsor (Super Suds) feels it is getting sufficient promotion via the "Bess Johnson" series over NBC. Other new casualties include "We, the Abbotts," "The O'Neills," and "Kate Hopkins," all daily strip shows, and "Dr. I. Q."

● Chatter: Burt Parks, mike-man on "How'm I Doin'?" and Cugat's "Rhumba Revue," is on the verge of a merge with Uncle Sam . . . After all those troubles on the first few Shirley Temple "Junior Miss" shows, the wags are calling it everything from "Major Miss" to "Junior Mess." However, it's not that bad, and Shirley's work is plenty smart in the top-line role . . . George Jessel, an old radio favorite, and Tunesmith Ben Oakland are delivering a new patriotic ditty to the publishers this week called "The Flag's Still There, Mr. Key."

● Applause To: J. C. Lewis, KHJ producer, for his clever handling of the Betty Jane Rhodes starrer, "Tune Up America" . . . Spike Jones, drummer-boy in John Scott Trotter's Music Hall ork, for his sensa-shun-al Bluebird platter of "Clink, Clink, Another Drink" with a terrific vocal chorus by Mel Blanc who hiccoughs in the Lombardo manner. It has the town talking . . . Paul Neighbors and Maxine Lewis for duets via KHJ Monday nights at 11:15 that bring back memories of the tunes Ozzie and Harriet used to do together . . . Lucille Ball for the stand she's taking at R-K-O for the fourth-rate roles they're trying to pass off on one of H'wood's better young actresses. And for not letting the battle she's having interfere with her swell acting with Bart Marshall on the Old Gold show and with Lurene Tuttle via Frances Scully's "Your Blind Date" . . . Jimmie Starr for his steady improvement at the mike and the consistency of human-interesting material.

● Democratic Gal of the Week: Mary Martin, who sings like a lark on the NBCrosby show. She and her husband, Richard Halliday, are moving from Bel-Air to Westwood. When the postman heard his favorite singer was moving, he was so upset about it that he asked Mary if he could kiss her on the cheek as a farewell gesture. Did Mary agree? She did!

● Crystal Ball Gazing: BLUE net producers will supplant Eudice and her Melodates, all-girl string combine, on the "Your Blind Date" Thursday click, with a rhythm crew that swings. If they break up the all-girl cast of the show Spike Jones' City Slickers would be a great bet . . . Jack Owens, staff NBCrooner, and Lorraine Elliott, pert Irisher with Ozzie Nelson's band, will soon debut locally in a sweetheart song series . . . The new song, "You Don't Know What Love Is," will be the next big hit in the romance department . . . Doodles Weaver, now on tour with Horace Heidt, will be one of radio's greatest new comics next fall if he gets a chance to head a half-hour variety show.

● Breezy Briefs: Connie Haines, the former T. Dorsey thrush, rose to great heights in her vocal debut on the "Your Blind Date" show last week. Her rendition of "I Can't Give You Anything But Love" was of the out-of-this-world variety . . . Harriet Hilliard, whose work as a comedienne on the Red Skelton show is really something to shout about, hurts her great performance in the dialogue department by her woeful soloing . . . As out of place as a wart on a glamour girl's nose was the insertion of Hungarian Dance No. 6 on "Your Blind Date" the other night. How the soldiers tuning in must have groaned and flipped dials when that came on out of nowhere.

● Thrill of the week: The Donald Novis premiere a week ago Thursday at the Biltmore Bowl. As Bill (Wimple) Thompson put it, "he had everybody in the place riveted to their seats. "Don stamped himself as a tenor without peer anywhere. It was the first time in years that Don had dared face a supper club audience, but he repaid every one of his admirers in full for their patient waiting as he sang songs old and new, from "Diane" to "Madeleine." In superb form, the golden-voiced tenor was brought back to the floor again and again, for seven encores in all. Only when he made a short speech would the people who came to Bowl to dance and stayed to thrill to this dramatic comeback of the blond-headed singing star of yesterday, let Don go to his dressing room. In the audience, applauding with such vigor that his hands were red, was Dennis Day, a fine tenor in his own right.

San Quentin On the Air Reveals the Roles Inmates Are Playing in U. S. Victory Effort

FROM within the walls of the world's largest penal institution, San Quentin Prison, each Sunday evening the radio waves carry to the outside world a thrilling story of patriotism.

It is the spirit of the men of San Quentin.

4,000 men, incarcerated in the California State prison a few miles across the bay from San Francisco, have submerged their personal tragedies in order to turn their thoughts and talents to aid their fellow men.

These are the men, inmates forgotten and shunned by a warring world outside, whose desire to contribute something worthwhile to an America geared for Victory is born of a love of country no mistake can obliterate.

This is the spirit that is sweeping into millions of homes where radio dials are tuned every Sunday at 7 p. m. to stations of the Don Lee Mutual Broadcasting System and KHJ. For at that hour one of the ether's newest and most unusual broadcasts, "San Quentin On the Air," emanates from a makeshift stage in the prison mess hall.

Featuring an all-inmate cast, the newly-inaugurated program is the first radio broadcast ever to originate behind the walls of a California prison.

Beautiful music, stirring martial music, music played in flowing fashion by 17 neatly-attired musicians who comprise the San Quentin Prison orchestra under the baton of inmate Major John A. Hendricks. Lilted voices from the 30 inmates who compose the San Quentin Glee Club pour out with "Marching Along Together" and "Salute to the Flag" under the direction of inmate Jack Reavis.

This musical portion of the half-hour broadcast, personally supervised by Ted P. Stanich, head of the prison music department, is augmented by three soloists, each an inmate, and the master of ceremonies and writer, inmate number 65768 whose name is Rolf Burr, and Warden Clinton T. Duffy.

Under the talented eye of Mel Venter, production manager of San Francisco's KFRC, this aggregation of inmates puts together each week a show that has won the plaudits of the radio industry for its finesse, as well as the affection of a widespread listening audience because of its human interest.

Only humorous touch to the program is the theme song, which appropriately enough, is "Time On My Hands," suggested by one of the inmates in the prison orchestra.

Although the program is performed in a serious vein, many a sentence-server in speaking of "San Quentin On the Air" to another inmate has been heard to poke sly fun at the prison broadcast by referring to it as "Concerto in the Clink" or "Harmonies From the Hoosegow."

One prisoner seeing the broadcast for the first time recently, turned to a fellow inmate with a gulp that nearly sent Producer Mel Venter and the entire prison audience into hysterics. It was just before airtime one Sunday when the inmate, apparently oblivious to the fact that an "open" microphone was hanging above him to capture applause, chanted:

"This show is lucky, here's one audience that can't walk out!"

So great was the response to the "San Quentin On the Air" broadcast of Feb. 1st which saluted the fighting forces of the United States, that the seventh program on March 8 was devoted to a repeat program of the first coast-to-coast airing.

In this program dedicated to Uncle Sam's armed forces, the highlight of the script was the interview of inmate Pat Pettengill who was identified as the inmate who created the idea of a "Suicide Squad" composed of eight fellow inmates, each possessed with a burning desire to make a contribution to America's victory effort.

Inmate Pettengill explained his idea of offering the lives of members of the "Suicide Squad" to the Navy as "human torpedoes" in order that small one-man and two-man submarines could be manned and used to attack enemy ships as the Japs did at Pearl Harbor.

"My fellow inmates and I felt that this was the least we could do for our country," explained the "Suicide Squad" leader, "and we telegraphed our offer to President Roosevelt."

The spirit of the men of San Quentin is exemplified in the message from inmate announcer 65768 who, in his opening news commentary, tells of the extensive defense program being carried on within the confines of the prison itself:

"Many are the letters we have received from every state in the union, expressing surprise at the great measures the men of San Quentin are going to in order to aid America's mighty war effort. Let me tell you that incarceration has not meant the forfeiture of our right to aid the government's drive to Victory.

"Your country is our country and we take as much pride in the work we are contributing toward the success of this united effort, as do you on the outside."

The inmate master of ceremonies, a tall, soft-spoken bespectacled man in his early forties then told how the defense roles were being played within the prison; how a group of inmates had formed a production unit for the building of model airplanes to help instruct recruits; how inmates working in the prison tailor shop had increased the Red Cross' output of dresses and robes for women and children on relief by cutting more than 2,000 garments during a six-week period; how inmates in every department of the prison were pitching in to help the common cause of victory for America.

In order to turn out professional-like musical numbers and choral arrangements the inmates in the orchestra and in the glee club apply themselves with enthusiasm to long hours of rehearsal, hours aside from

"It's sabotage!," chorused "Big Town" cast members last week when a certain birth notice arrived. Back in mid-December a Van Nuys woman wrote Steve Wilson (Edward G. Robinson): "We are expecting a baby and have been planning on naming a girl 'Lorelei'. No one seems to have heard the name other than on your program. We think it is very unusual, and will be a name to be proud of." You guessed it, reader. The "girl" turned out to be a boy baby. The parents compromised and named him "Edwin," partly after Robinson.

From a desperate grocery clerk, Jack Benny has received a pathetic appeal: "Every Monday morning," the clerk writes, "one woman after another comes in and asks for Jell-O in that new flavor, currant. When I tell them I've never heard of it, they reply that it's no wonder—I'm only a grocery clerk. They know there's a flavor by that name because every Sunday Benny closes his program by saying: 'This is the — number of the current Jell-O series!' Just add one more to those 'six delicious flavors' before I go off my trolley altogether," implores the distracted clerk.

One of the most interesting persons to breeze into town of late was Mary I. Barber, food consultant to the Secretary of War and first woman connected with regular army feeding. She appeared on Kraft Music Hall and spoke on Norma Young's "Homemakers' Club." Mrs. Barber says that if the boys in service will eat what they are offered, they will be well fed. The trouble is, they go for meat, potatoes, and gravy, and ignore fruits and vegetables. Tracking down a complaint from camp the other day, Mrs. Barber found that the disgruntled fellow had gained 24 pounds since entering the service. "Aren't you getting enough to eat?" she asked the complainant. "Yes," he admitted, "but it isn't like mother's!"

Whatnot Dept: When Woody Herman's aggregation played recently on "Spotlight Bands," juvenile jitterbugs in the studio audience waxed over-enthusiastic over Woody's torrid tunes. Result: 23 broken seats . . . Jack Benny has accepted an invitation from NBC executives in San Francisco to be the first person to broadcast from the huge new Studio A of the elaborate new Bay City set-up—scheduled for official opening about May 1 . . . Martha Tilton had to do her singing off-stage on last week's Ransom Sherman show. She was a sight with poison oak . . . Bill Gay, announcer of the Al Pearce show, is mourning the theft of his car radio and all four tires! . . . The "Thin Man" series has a new lease on life.

Leave it to Walter White, producer of "Nobody's Children," to give out with a heart-throb story. A few weeks ago on his program was dramatized the life story of an orphan who was adopted into a good home, grew up, joined the Navy, and was killed at Pearl Harbor. To enact the part of the orphan as a boy of 13, little Don was chosen from the Children's Home Finding Society. Walter interviewed Don on the broadcast, asked him if he had any hobbies. "I have a Defense Stamp book," the lad replied. "Any stamps in it?" asked Walter. "One ten cent one," the boy said. In a helpful spirit, listeners sent Don a total of $14 in stamps. But that was not all. A lonely couple's heart went out to the child, and he is now under process of being adopted by them . . . Walter's story got us thinking about this poor old universe and God's way of compensation. Parents of the man killed at Pearl Harbor lost a fine son, but through his death, a forlorn 13-year-old has gained some parents!

That perplexing puzzler of prize patter perennially putting proud people pleasantly in their places is Tom Breneman, master of ceremonies for the new Photo Finish show heard every Sunday over KNX at 9 p.m. Photo Finish combines a studio audience highlighting questions and comebacks by the ace ad-libber, Breneman, and an exciting news game played with free entry blanks secured at 1800 Southern California drug stores.

A sample question tossed to the audience is: "Name a sporting event in which the teams must move backwards in order to win." "Tug-of-war", promptly chirps a sweet-faced matron. "You know", repartees Breneman, "I once played tug-of-war. I was the third jerk!"

"Are the zebra's stripes white on black or black on white?", the emcee queries as he whisks down another aisle and dips his hand microphone under the lips of a young man in uniform. "Black on white", the service man answers. "Good for you", commends Breneman. "Here's your prize—a box of kisses. You do get things in Hollywood!"

"What's your name?" It's the emcee probing again from another corner of the studio. "Mrs. Apple", answers a modest-looking lady. "I'll bet", quips Tom, "that sometimes you call your hubbie a 'crab-apple'!"

"What's your name?" Breneman asks briskly as he sneaks up on a quiet looking man. "Potter? Are you the father of that boy, Tommy Potter, sitting over there? Well how many more children do you have? You believe you have four sons and two daughters! Well, here. You'd better take this flash camera so you can identify them all!"

THROUGH RADIO LIFE'S LISTENING POST

By EARL G. DE HAVEN

This week British Broadcasting Corporation stations, GSW, GSD and others, had something to which they could "point with pride" after such a long period of nothing but what they could "view with alarm." The Royal Air Force, Real Air Fighters, Roared Across France, Ruining Armament Factories, Resuming Aerial Fray with Reich's Axis Fighters, promising to Return Again Frequently.

Great plants outside occupied Paris were left a smoking, ruined shambles as a result of the devastating raids. And—echoing the deeds of their comrades at the "home base," the RAF in Libya blasted axis supply depots and destroyed many planes on the ground, according to London's radio reports. B. B. C. also carried news that this resumption of aerial activity was "only the start of an 'around the clock' offensive to be carried out on a daily schedule against industrial cities of Germany and occupied France."

This week U. S. press carried small news item relative to lone Japanese plane that appeared over Hawaii, dropped four bombs with no result or evidence but four craters to disfigure the top soil on island of Oahu. Quite different was the report from "Radio Tokyo" where U. S. version was completely ignored. Japanese account was this—"A number of our planes carried out a successful raid on military objectives at Pearl Harbor and inflicted considerable damage. Bombs were dropped on U. S. warships in dry-dock for repair as a result of the December 7th Pearl Harbor disaster, causing further heavy damage to them. Again taken by surprise as in the first raid, anti-aircraft guns went into action late,—too late to damage any of our planes, all of which returned safely."

"Radio Tokyo" followed the foregoing item with this—"Due to growing apprehension in the Pacific Coast area as a result of the second Pearl Harbor raid, Culbert L. Olson, Governor of California, has ordered cancellation of the Easter Sunrise services at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale, usually attended by thirty or forty thousand people . . ."

The trans-Pacific radio debate between "Radio Tokyo" and General Electric's KGEI in San Francisco waxed warmer this week—rapidly approaching a "hot" stage. Night after night KGEI, (now largely used as an outlet for our own (U.S.) propaganda), bore down heavily on atrocities and cruelties of Japanese soldiers. In rebuttal, "Radio Tokyo" categorically denied all charges made against them and countered with this: "We should like to call attention of our listeners to the brutality of United States troops in Manila, where defenseless Japanese women and children were mercilessly shot down in the streets as they tried to escape—and this on alleged orders of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. This outrage has earned for MacArthur, death before a firing squad when the Battle of Bataan is concluded!"

Fall of Rangoon in the prolonged struggle for Burma, stopped broadcasts of famed XYZ, the lone Burma short wave station. Call signature has always been significant (last three letters of the alphabet), and ironically enough, but most appropriate at this hour, might be taken literally with the expression, the "end of everything." Always difficult to hear, XYZ boasted very few listeners in Pacific Coast states.

The sugar rationing will work no hardship on Bob Burns. The Arkansas Traveler is allergic to cane sugar.

Directed By Chef Milani

MANSIZED:

Yes, that's what a man wants when he asks for breakfast. Something that's mansized! Something that sticks to his ribs! Mornings are both brisk and early these days. Then, too, under the present setup there is a good deal of added strain to every job. As a matter of fact, ladies, you could do with a good meal to begin your day too!

Chef Milani

Now that we have banished the morning paper-and-coffee version of breakfast, here are some menu ideas to begin the day right.

Bacon and eggs are good! Very good when scrambled together. Or for another version of the same story, a poached egg on toast with strips of crisply fried bacon, just to make it look pretty, is guaranteed to carry you through until noon. If you are substituting ham for the bacon, (the porker won't mind), add a little mocha coffee to it while it is frying. Hubby will appreciate the change—and likewise you!

How about some hot cakes for breakfast? That's another good stick-to-the-ribs food. It may take a little longer to make, but it is worth it. Just remember not to get the griddle too hot. If you use bacon rind, keep it just below smoking point. You are bound to have good results. Batter making these days is seldom unsuccessful. Oh, yes, if you want a change, add a little sherry wine to your batter. We think you will like it!

FOOD TEST:

Everyone is "vitamin" and "dietetics" conscious today. Below is a list of general statements concerned with nutrition and the like. Check yourself and see how much, (or how little), you know.

1. Pasteurized milk is safer than raw milk for both small children and adults.
2. Three foods especially high in vitamin C are oranges, tomatoes and leafy vegetables.
3. Vitamin C is the vitamin most easily destroyed in cooking, canning and storing.
4. Green and yellow colors in vegetables indicate the presence of Vitamin A.
5. Rich foods are not necessarily indigestible.
6. The best way to roast meat is to cook it slowly in a moderate oven.
7. Vegetable margarines with Vitamin A and D added can be every bit as nutritious in these respects as butter.

CHAN'S CHOW:

You all have heard how polite the Chinese are. At least you have seen a Charlie Chan picture or appreciated a "Confucius Say". Well then, here are a few Chinese table manners that just go to show there's truth in the rumor about Oriental etiquette.

As soon as the guests arrive, warm wine is served, and there's where the host's work begins. Starting with the favored guest, the host must fill the cup of each of his friends with wine and personally conduct him to his seat. Pity the poor host who has a large dinner party!

The seating arrangement is the next problem. The host sits opposite the guest of honor, who incidentally always sits on the North, since all persons of honor are likened to the North Polar Star. The rest of the guests are arranged according to their degree of honor. As we said it's a bit complicated.

When everyone has found his place, the host raises his wine cup and says "Ch'ing". Translated it means "please" or "come and get it". Step number two, he raises his chopsticks and says "Ch'ing" again. Everybody lays to with gusto except the poor host. According to etiquette he has to wait until his friends have had their share. Usually he finishes just in time for the hot towels to be passed around, which is the Chinese way of ending the evening.

"It's nice to have you with us", Rudy says by way of welcoming the three Barrymores, John, Diana and Lionel to his Seattle show. . . . "It's nice to see you, too, Rudy", volunteers Diana. "Are you on father's program EVERY week?"

I think it's nice of father to give a newcomer like you a chance!" . . . "Newcomer!", replies Rudy indignantly. "Diana, I've been in radio since I got my first pair of long pants. This is the same Rudy Vallee!" . . . "And those are the same pants", observes John.

BATTLE of the BARRYMORES

"Not a Chip Off the Ole Block—Just a Slice of the Ole Ham" Quips Lionel Barrymore About His Actress Niece

By EVELYN BIGSBY

WHEN the three Barrymores, Lionel, John, and Diana, appeared on Rudy Vallee's show a week ago Thursday, it marked the first time for such a combination in radio annals. Only the presence of Lionel's and John's sister, Ethel, was needed to make complete the Royal Family's circle.

From a personal angle the most interesting slant about the show was John's appearance with his daughter, Diana. Until the two were Vallee's air-guests a few weeks ago, many listeners did not know that John Barrymore had a daughter.

It is rather hard for the "Great Lover" himself to realize his paternal status. He tells the story that until three years ago he hadn't seen his child since she was 12. In 1939 they were both playing in Chicago—he in "My Dear Children" and she, next door in "Outward Bound."

One afternoon between rehearsal lulls, John was lolling in his dressing room when a very luscious young lady put in an appearance and introduced herself by some nondescript name. Rising to the possibilities of the situation, The Great Profile lost no time in making a play for his visitor.

"What are you doing tonight?", he questioned suavely.

"Nothing," she countered (encouragingly).

"Well," ejaculated Barrymore, (moving along according to schedule). "How about dinner?"

"Oh, daddy!", reprimanded Diana, (reveling in the dramatics of the denouement). "Cut it out and be your age."

"Jumping Jupiter," moaned John, smiting his classic brow (and trying to snap into realization). "I have a daughter!"

Don't get the notion from this, however, that John Barrymore isn't proud to be Diana's father. He is and shows it by the way he treats her and coaches her in her lines, especially Shakespeare. He calls Diana "Chief" or "Kid," and behaves toward her in a pal-ly way, as if she were another man.

The first time Diana and John appeared together on the Vallee show, she was admittedly scared before she went out on the stage to face the microphone.

"I'm shaking like a leaf," she warned her father.

"Euck up, or I'll kick your teeth in," was John's deferential admonition, to which Diana made very snappy reply: "I have teeth to kick in" (or some similar, rather saucy remark).

Diana, who has inherited the picturesque speech of the Barrymores, doesn't take her father's love-life too seriously. That she is proud of him is evidenced by the way she watches him while he is reading his lines, laughs whether or not what he says is especially funny, and stops in passing to pat him on the shoulder. She calls him plain "Dad."

Lionel and John do not coach each other during rehearsal, but

"Uncle Lionel," asks Diana, "What business are you in? What do you do?" . . . "WHAT do I DO?", snorts Lionel. "I do the same things your father does." . . . "Why, Lionel!", reproves John in a naughty-naughty tone of voice. . . . "Surely, Diana," interrupts Rudy, "You've seen your Uncle Lionel in pictures." "Don't you go to movies?" . . . "I only see a movie when father is the star," says daughter definitely. . . . "Oh, then," concedes Rudy. "You don't know about Talkies?" . . . Undaunted, Diana states: "I'm proud of my father, and I'd like to know how I can best follow in his footsteps." . . . Advises Lionel: "Do what the sheriff does. Get a bloodhound."

"Ah," enthuses John Barrymore. "The three of us on Broadway. I can just see our name in lights outside the theater. John Barrymore . . . and company." . . . "And company," blazes Lionel. "ME play a SUPPORTING role!" . . . "Now Lionel," argues John. "You know I'm the star of this family. You've always supported me on the stage." . . . to which Lionel comes back: "On the STAGE, he says." . . . Suggests Diana, "Let's feature BOTH Barrymore brothers—and star ME."

"Uncle Lionel," approaches Diana, "I've been wanting to have a little talk with you about Daddy." . . . "Now, now, Diana," consoles Lionel. "Don't feel badly. Every family has its problem-child, and I guess we Barrymores are no exception." . . . "Yes, I know," sympathizes Diana. "Daddy says he's tried to reform you. It's not too late to start life over. Why don't you try to be more like your brother? Why don't you live your life the way JOHN Barrymore has lived HIS?" . . . Retorts Lionel angrily: "Live my life—snay!" (switching to a smile). "It might be fun at that!" . . . "You'd better hurry up," suggests John.

"The most distressing thing just happened," Diana confides to her father. "I made Uncle Lionel some nice, hot tea and told him to help himself to the sugar. What do you think? There was a terrible explosion and Uncle Lionel almost had his hand blown off!" . . . "Oh, I forgot to tell you Diana," says her father. "I had the sugar bowl mined! Say, it's getting kind of chilly in here," shivers John. . . . "Yes, it is," agrees Diana. "Daddy, shall I throw another subpoena on the fire?"

Barrymore Battle

during preparation for the Vallee broadcast, John offered Diana two or three suggestions. All three were receptive to the ideas of Producer Dick Mack, who halted John's reading of a "Julius Caesar" excerpt to offer emphasis. Everyone on the rehearsal stage held his breath to see how Barrymore would take any suggestion on Shakespeare.

John raised an attentive head from his script, turned around, and said to Mack: "I think you're right!"

Lionel sits in rehearsal with a benign expression and a courteous reply for any questions—not at all like the crabbed old doctor in the Kildare series. It is not generally known that he is quite an artist and has hung his etchings in his home. John, too, claims an artistic flair and is said to have been catapulted into acting when fired as a newspaper artist.

The bent, it seems, has come down into the next generation, for when a sudden break came in rehearsal, all three Barrymores were caught drawing on their script papers. John was sketching himself—it should go without saying—in profile.

KFI, 8:30 p.m.
Thurs.

Lee Wiley, famous radio songstress, has arrived in Hollywood for a singing engagement at Charley Foy's Supper Club.

Last Program Finder, March 8 . . . To Reappear Soon

San Quentin

those devoted to regular prison routine assignments.

The Glee Club, composed of voices well blended together and competently trained and rehearsed, gives performances that elicited a telegram of congratulations from the Merry Macs.

Warden Duffy, a member of the United States Marines during the first World War, is credited by the inmates of San Quentin with the success of this program, which is just one phase of the revolutionary plan he first conceived for the care of incarcerated men.

Warden Duffy, whose conception of prison life is not that of an outsider, due to the fact that he has spent almost his entire life, living and working on the prison reservation, steps to the microphone for a brief moment during each broadcast to explain that "incarceration should be, for the average man, a period of rehabilitation. My theory is that confinement is punishment and therefore while in prison every man should be given an opportunity to improve himself."

Warden Duffy explains that the broadcast is not designed especially to entertain the listener, but rather to inform the public as to just what is being done to carry out this unique plan of rehabilitation.

"We are instilling in those incarcerated here," declares Warden Duffy, "a desire to make time serve them rather than to have them serve time."

At the close of each broadcast inmate announcer 65768 urges listeners to buy defense bonds and stamps.

Every civilian listening to "San Quentin-On-the-Air" who has not been purchasing his share of bonds and stamps is put to shame when number 65768 signs off with these words:

"The inmates of San Quentin have purchased to date more than $13,000 worth of Defense Bonds and Stamps. Buy yours now. They're the best investment in the world!"

That is the spirit of the men of San Quentin.
