Mrs. M. E. Edwards, 3744 S. E. Stark Street, Portland Oregon.

Sirs: A friend sent us for Christmas a year's subscription to Radio Life, and I can't resist telling you how much we are enjoying each copy. To anyone whose radio brings many hours of pleasure I doubt that any other gift could be more appreciated.

In the first issue we received (December 25) we were happy to find the article about our favorite organist, Paul Carson, whose "Bridge to Dreamland" has been a "must" for many years. However, the hour is too late for our young daughter, aged ten. She used to write to him for request numbers and now is heart-broken that she cannot hear him. We are hoping that he may soon have an earlier broadcast.

We regret that there is no indication that the "Bridge to Dreamland" program will change its present time of broadcasting which is 11:15 p.m. Sunday. There are undoubtedly many listeners who would prefer that it be heard earlier in the evening.

Mrs. Gene Campbell, 312 Willow Avenue, Baldwin Park, Calif.

Sirs: We enjoy your Radio Life no end—and we enjoy our radio. We pick out the programs we like best. That is everybody's privilege. If they don't like the "endless serials" all they have to do is turn their dials to another station. I enjoy the serials very much. Each one is a continued story and I wouldn't miss them for anything.

We should remember that the world is wide, and there are thousands of different wills, opinions and tastes. The radio programs are varied enough for all to enjoy.

Ned Mauston, 2012 Montana Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: There should be in every radio broadcasting station a volume of instructions as to how to use and pronounce the words ordinarily employed in common everyday commercials. Radio announcers KMPC's "Girl Friday" is blonde, blue-eyed Alice Scanlon who handles two popular features of the station's daily "Housewives Exchange" program, heard Monday through Friday from 9:05 to 10:30 a.m. Miss Scanlon brings "Women in the News" at 9:25 a.m. and "Two for the Show," with Charlie Stone, at 9:45 a.m.

should be made to read and study such a book. They'll not want to, but they ought to, for even our children in the lower grades are laughing at the way most announcers and practically all the commentators abuse our common language.

You'd think that in a country that has schools and colleges practically within the reach of everyone, with graduates pouring into the streets from them yearly, the radio stations could find those who know our own language.

One commentator who boasts that he knows President Roosevelt personally, pronounces the name Rosey-felt. Even college graduates call it pro-grum rather than program. On-envelope is common, yet every body knows it's envelope.

And that's just starting in. If you want to know more, then listen to the radio. It'll get you down—that is, if you care anything about learning to talk like one is supposed to talk in this country.

Mrs. A. R. Cox, 6665 Long Beach Boulevard, Long Beach, Calif.

Sirs: Wouldn't you know that the issue of Radio Life in which was printed the picture of Galen Drake was the one I could not get. So please tell me how I can obtain a copy.

Also, why can't we have pictures and a write-up on that swell gang called "The Westerners" of "Reveille Roundup"? They are on at 7:30 a.m. over KFI, and they seem like such nice people. One of them, Curt Massey, now has a program of his own on Saturdays. Also, how about pictures of all the cast of "Life Can Be Beautiful"?

You may obtain a copy of the August 1, 1943, issue of Radio Life, which contained a picture of Galen Drake, by writing to our business office at 1029 West Washington Blvd., Los Angeles, 15. In regard to your requests, we have made note of them and will keep them in mind as possible features for future issues.

Helen Nixon, 945 Elizabeth Street, Baldwin Park, Calif.

Sirs: I, too, would like to add my thanks to the grand folks on "Sunrise Salute." They certainly make getting up at such a grim hour a pleasure. Galen Drake makes each commercial so interesting and the piano playing of Bill Wardell is wonderful. Dave Lane is a member I especially enjoy, and am glad he also has a short program of his own three days a week. I would surely like to hear him on a longer program of his own.

I'm looking forward to your story and pictures of this program. They really deserve the best. I'd like to say thanks to you also, for so many hours of reading pleasure.

You will find our "Sunrise Salute" story in the March 5 issue of Radio Life, and we surely hope you enjoy it.

Mrs. Fred E. Roheuts, 11210 Chandler Boulevard, North Hollywood, Calif.

Sirs: We like your Radio Life very much and we are very fond of many programs, but oh, can't you do something about that terrible racket (some may call it music) between acts of plays, introducing a program, or most any place they can blare out the noise? I am a musician so I love good music, but that is not music one hears. Instead it is a lot of noise just at a moment when we wish to think of what has taken place or what may be coming. Someone at the studios said it could be controlled easily in the engineer's room. Can't this be done? We would like sweet tones to just carry us along instead of blaring noises that force us to turn off our radios. I have heard many people speak of this matter, and they feel as I do about it.

My husband would like "The Green Hornet" back on the air.

Mrs. R. R. Morgan, 1088 Bresee Avenue, Pasadena, Calif.

Sirs: Just a line to let you know what a swell little magazine and program finder I think you put out. Have there ever been any pictures or story on "Mirth and Madness," KFI at 10:00 a.m. every day? I would like to know more about it. I like silly or funny programs. I hear that program while I'm doing my work and it keeps me smiling all day, every day,—except when they're shoved off the air with no explanation, either before or after.

Yes, we published pictures and a story on "Mirth and Madness" while it was still on the Mutual Network. With your request in mind, we'll do so again some time in the future.

Does Your Soldier Want Religion?

By Lynn Roberts

Monday-Wednesday-Friday
KPAS, 8:30 a. m.
Tuesday-Thursday-Saturday
KHJ, 8 a. m.

DURING THE tragic, chaotic time of America's great Civil War, a quiet thoughtful man named Abraham Lincoln had the wisdom and forethought to realize that a soldier in battle needs something more powerful than the gun that is placed in his hands—something surer than the knowledge of warfare that is driven into his mind. Lincoln knew that a soldier is in desperate need of faith. A man that must face danger and death at any moment must know and feel the infinite power of prayer.

In answer to the soldier's search for spiritual guidance, Lincoln founded an organization known as the United States Christian Commission—its specific function being to bring religious services to the gallant battle-weary boys in blue and gray.

Today, quiet thoughtful men with similar wisdom and forethought are renewing the all-important activities of this vast vital organization, in order to equip our troops with the comforting strength of religious faith. Active in this work as a member of the advisory board of the Christian Commission is eager, energetic Paul Myers, familiar to airplane audiences as First Mate Bob of radio's popular "Haven of Rest" program.

A visit with Mr. Myers reveals him to be a virile, pleasant-talking "man's man" with rugged features and an honest, straight-forward manner. Somehow he reminded one a bit of Victor McLaglen or Wallace Beery. He was dressed sportily, but not loudly, in varying shades of brown. He talked enthusiastically of playing golf. A soldier would certainly label him "a regular guy."

Volunteers Respond

Recently, Paul Myers and the members of his program's personnel travelled to the Yuma Army Air Field. There, during the evangelistic services which he held for the boys at their post theater, he stated a simple request for volunteers to sign a Christian Legion pledge card. After the war all such volunteers who thus become members of this newly-formed organization, will journey throughout the world, working for the cause of Christianity. In this way does the Christian Commission, with which Paul Myers is actively associated, hope to form the nucleus for a more extensive missionary service than has ever been in operation before.

Seventy-four soldiers at Yuma stepped forward to volunteer for service in this Christian Legion, pledging that, wherever they go, whomever they are with, they shall openly declare themselves to be soldiers of the Lord, actively engaged in His work.

"And that takes a lot of nerve, believe me," declared radio's First Mate Bob. "A fellow is no sissy who can stand up among his buddies and speak frankly, earnestly and humbly of religion. A guy has got to have guts!"

Paul Myers himself is a guy who proved he had "guts." Sitting there with him in his smart-looking radio studio where he broadcasts regularly as First Mate Bob of "Haven of Rest," one marvels at the man's own story of his conversion to Christ. He, too, had stepped forward, ten years ago, to tell the world that he was a true Christian, ready to perform a mission of God. And those who knew him had scoffed, laughed, and taunted him with the words. "So the town drunk's got religion!"

For, although he had risen to prominence in the field of radio as executive manager of two of southern California's important radio stations, eventually he had been defeated by his incurable thirst for alcohol, and had at last become little more than a desperate down-and-out bum.

Is Converted

Then, in the early dawn of a midwinter day of 1934, as he walked along the San Diego waterfront, a drunken wanderer, he heard the sound of a ship's bell off the coast. Eight times it rang out. Eight bells—and all is well! The dawn of a new day, and this one a Sunday, he thought.

His soul, he says, was suddenly sick with remorse. He knew that, in spite of all of his wrong-doing, his wife and children whom he had willfully deserted would kneel today to pray for him. Paul Myers felt at that moment the desperate need to enter a church.

He attended religious services that Sunday in San Diego, then returned wearily to his cheap hotel room where, in honest humility and shame, he says, he knelt to ask for forgiveness. That very day he hitch-hiked back to Los Angeles and returned to his wife and children. Determined to find his proper place in the world, he turned to the field which he knew best—radio. With his wife, he formulated the fundamental ideas for a radio program which would bring the quieting comfort of religious faith into the homes and hearts of people everywhere.

As First Mate Bob of "The Haven of Rest," he is now commemorating his tenth anniversary on the air. His program is heard on thirty-six stations along the west coast, and is specially transcribed for broadcast elsewhere in the United States and abroad.

In March of 1934 he had begun broadcasting as a sustaining feature of station KMPC. Applying his knowledge of radio and the real wants of airline audiences, he conceived an "easy to listen to" program of soothing organ music and simple heartwarming bits of verse, poems of philosophy and teachings of the Bible. Recognizing too, the necessity for a flavoring of showmanship, he added the nautical motif.

Uses Nautical Theme

His present-day studio is designed modernly in resemblance to a ship, with lighted portholes displaying beautiful color photographs of marine scenes. Before the war, he and his staff dressed in the smart Navy uniforms of Chief Petty Officers. This practice, however, has been discontinued as a matter of good taste during wartime. His "Haven of Rest" program comes on the air with the sound of a ship's bell—the same sound that ten years ago awakened in Myers' own mind and heart a ready response to the teachings of religion; and listeners find cheer and comfort in the warm friendly voice of First Mate Bob as he repeats the words "Eight bells—and all is well!"

His program's five-man personnel includes Organist Loren Whitney, who was formerly a member of a dance band; and a quartet of singers consisting of First tenor Kenneth Nelson, the son of a Baptist minister; Second tenor Charles Turner, who was an oil company employee; Baritone Bobby Bowman, and Bass singer Ernie Payne.

First Mate Bob of "The Haven of Rest" Challenges Your Boy to Be a Christian

These five men and First Mate Bob form The Crew of the Good Ship Grace, which is their legal name. Theirs is a non-profit California corporation. They operate entirely on free-will offerings, and all funds received are used for operational expenses. The six men belong to churches of six different denominations. The sole aim of their broadcast, say the men, is to point other men and women to Christ, to get them saved, and actually engaged in Christian work in the church of their choice. They have received thousands of letters, which give heartwarming evidence that their aim has been gratifyingly fulfilled.

Augmenting The Crew of the Good Ship Grace is a complete staff of workers necessitated by the tremendous amount of time and effort required for the program's maintenance. In buildings separate from the studio are located Paul Myers' offices and The Haven of Rest's own printing, photographic and mailing departments.

Tremendous Mail

The program's mail sometimes amounts to as many as two or three thousand letters a week, and every letter is answered the day it is received! A large portion of the mail which First Mate Bob receives today is from mothers who want to know what religious training their sons in the armed forces are receiving.

Paul Myers believes this inquiry may best be answered by the words of Colonel Anderson, the man in command of the Yuma Army Air Field. Colonel Anderson expressed the army's policy when he declared:

"I want the office of the chaplain placed next to mine. I want our chapel to be the finest building on the post. I will train my men in every art of warfare, but the chaplain will take over where I leave off. We fully realize that our men need much more than physical armament and mental knowledge before they are prepared to go into battle."

Work Among Armed Forces

Paul Myers and his personnel are planning to continue contributing to the army's religious program by bringing their evangelistic services to the men and women in our armed forces, whenever and wherever possible.

"Today our hearts are with the boys and girls in service," First Mate Bob declared. "I cannot stop thinking of that soldier boy who confessed to me that his greatest fear in having become a member of our Christian Legion was the prospect of having to admit to his parents his belief in the teachings of Christ."

The boy explained that his parents were atheists. He had received no religious guidance as a youth, and today, facing danger and death at any moment, he was in desperate need of faith.

"I almost busted out crying when I talked to that boy," Paul Myers related.

"I'm a gunner, sir, 'the soldier had said to him. 'Any day I might get it. Believe me, I cannot be an atheist!'"

➡ "FIRST MATE BOB" of radio's "Haven of Rest" is in reality Paul Myers. Ten years ago he was no more than a drunken wanderer. Today he is commemorating his tenth year on the air with a program that promotes the comforting faith in religious beliefs which he has acquired.

Sitting Tight

Following last week's induction summons to many radio men, programs affected were preparing for substitutions and sitting tight. Red Skelton continued his show, but his agency said, "Red is going in the army. We are preparing a comedy replacement. No names can be mentioned as yet, but it is probable that Ozzie Nelson, Harriet Hilliard, and the band will be included in the replacement."

Plans of Lum and Abner were still unsettled. Abner, who will be 38 in a couple of months, is scheduled to start a picture April 1 at RKO. It is understood that the studio has asked for his deferment until the movie can be completed.

Talk of writing Abner's father into the script provoked the idea that "no person in the world could be that old" (Abner is supposed to be around 65). Regardless of what happens, however, it was certain that the act will remain as Lum and Abner. Whatever solution is worked out is supposed to be approved by the sponsor. In the case of the Pine Ridge folk, the sponsor has indicated its willingness to let Lum and Abner be the judges of what goes.

Anything for Realism

The other day when Radio Life dropped in on a rehearsal of "Rogue Male" for NBC's "Everything for the Boys" broadcast, smoke was seen rising in ominous clouds from the curtain on-stage. Ronald Colman and his cast brought an abrupt stop to the reading of their lines to quench the smouldering drapery with an emergency fire extinguisher.

Writer-director Arch Oboler put his hand to his forehead and looked reprimandingly at the smoking curtain as if to exclaim to the inanimate object: "How dare you interrupt an Oboler rehearsal!"

Then, cast member Lou Merrill grinned and declared: "That Oboler. He'll do anything to put realism into his plays!"

Reverse

The RKO commissary has become an interesting place for radio reporters ever since the new "Hollywood Star Time" show went on the air a couple of weeks ago. If you have heard the program over Blue-KECA, Monday-Friday at 12:15, you know that Larry Keating and Gary Breckner interview stars at the luncheon table.

The other day after going off the air, Keating was juggling a paper-wrapped package. "You can't guess what I have in here," he said mysteriously. "Cary Grant was on the show yesterday, and afterward he came up to me. I thought he was going to compliment us on the broadcast or say something nice about our interview. Instead, he said, 'Where did you get your shirt?'"

Reaching this point of his story, Larry opened the package. "This is a shirt just like mine. I bought it to give to Cary Grant!"

Does It Again

That was a super job that Agnes Morehead did the other night on CBS' "Suspense" program when she appeared in the thriller, "Sorry, Wrong Number." We hear that one Roma Wine Company official (sponsor) who was driving along Sunset boulevard became so engrossed in the program that he bashed his car into a telephone pole.

Fans want to hear that bill again. 'Twill make the fourth time, if Producer Bill Spier decides to repeat.

Vivien To Wed

Vivien (Hollace Shaw of San Diego), the charming soprano of Phil Spitalny's all-girl orchestra heard weekly on NBC's "Hour of Charm," will be married on April 12 in New York City to Capt. C. Turner Foster. Captain Foster has just returned from the African Division of Pan-American Airways and is now attached to the Air Transport Command in Washington, D. C.

Gangway!

The Army came to the rescue of Rosemary De Camp, when the feminine star of CBS' "Dr. Christian" stories found herself suddenly stranded in a desolate section of southern California during the recent violent rain storms. The actress told Radio Life, she was returning from a visit at camp with her soldier-husband when her train was stalled by the waters.

Due in Hollywood for a broadcast rehearsal, Rosemary started out on foot and was thoroughly soaked by the time two gallant servicemen arrived on the scene. They found the undaunted Miss De Camp plodding determinedly along in the rain with a big red rocking horse, destined for her daughter, Nana, gripped under her arm!

Summarized Rosemary: "Nana got her new toy. I got a sore throat and the sniffles!"

Show Changes Stars

According to inside dope, reason for the recent switch of stars on CBS' "Here's to Romance" show was the fact that room was made for a co-starring feminine singer. Manager of crooner Dick Haymes decided that it was unwise for his singer to be co-featured with another vocalist.

So Harry Cool, long-time singer with Dick Jurgens' band, was brought in as the new male star when Kay Armen stepped into the show's songbird role.

Styles Files

Hal ("Help Thy Neighbor") Styles has filed for Congressional candidacy in the 15th District. Said Styles, who now conducts three radio features: "I shall firmly support the President on both foreign and domestic issues. I am for the administration's anti-inflation program, for the federal ballot soldiers' vote bill, against poll taxes and other devices limiting the franchise of American citizens."

Changes Made

It would happen! Just the week that Radio Life appeared with a spread on CBS' "Sunrise Salute," Bill Gillespie was missing from the cast. He was in the army.

Replacement is an old friend of ours, Bob Franklin, who used to sing on Chef Milani's program over KMPC, has done some successful light opera and concert work of late, and has been heard recently on "Hollywood Showcase."

Wouldn't You?

Now comes a faculty member from the University of Pennsylvania, to set forth that for years, the psychology department has been employing "mairzy doats and goatsy doats and pigsy doats" as examples of the meaning of the meaningless. The university's French department chimes in to say that it, too, for years and years, has used the words to demonstrate some principle of parlais vous francais.

According to women's college dean, Dr. K. G. Miller, "mairzy doats" is now useless because it doesn't confuse the students any more. Some bright student has suggested that Dean Miller pluck some "meaning of the meaningless" examples from the Congressional Record.

Out, Dinosaur

We liked the story which cropped up last week—about the CBS program which required the sound effect of a dinosaur emitting a tremendous roar. About the time the dress rehearsal was scheduled, some finicky fellow brought up the question of the proper effect. A call to the Museum of Natural History revealed that the dinosaur never made a sound!

After kicking around the idea of substituting a graffe in the role, the writers solved the problem. They eliminated the animals altogether.

Lip Ad-Lib

When beauteous brunette Vyola Vonn, real-life wife of "Mr. Dithers," played a part on a recent CBS "Blondie" broadcast, the script called for her to surprise "Dagwood" with a kiss. For fun, when the actual broadcast took place before the studio audience, Vyola forsook the usual back-of-the-hand kiss employed for sound. Instead, she took a strangle hold on the overwhelmed Arthur "Dagwood" Lake and planted a real smacker that stopped the show. Lake dropped his script, retrieved it; then couldn't find his place on the page. The audience howled, while the rest of the cast ad-libbed over the laughs which bewildered you at-home listeners.

Soldiers' Vote

NBC received a letter recently from Warrant Officer J. P. Roberts who is stationed at a base somewhere in England. The letter stated urgently: "For Pete's sake don't let the American doughboy vote. A few of us don't want to come back home and find Bob Hope president!"

In South Pacific

Listeners who have been wondering what ever became of little Jackie Heller who used to dispense ballads and banter via the Blue network's "Breakfast Club," will be interested in learning that for the last nine months Heller has been with a U.S.O. unit entertaining American troops in the South Pacific war zone.

Jackie writes that the events which have impressed him most so far were: watching an American flyer shoot down two Japs in two minutes, and broadcasting to the United States from Guadalcanal last Thanksgiving Day.

Sympathy

In a recent CBS "Blondie" script, Dagwood put a penny in a gum machine and it didn't work. As a result hundreds of sympathetic fans, who have had the same sad experience, have sent him pennies.

So "Dagwood" and "Blondie" are collecting the coppers, matching them penny for penny, and will donate the sum to the American Red Cross fund.

Lamarr in Symphony

When the glamorous Hedy Lamarr made her recent appearance on CBS' "Silver Theater," Maestro Felix Mills wrote special "curtain" and "transition" music which was inspired by the Lamarr loveliness. He tagged them "Hedy Lamarr Number One, Number Two," etc.

Now Mills has decided that they are

Next Week

Next week we'll have a parade of radio personalities: Bill Goodwin, the pleasant-voiced announcer-actor who was kicked upstairs; Al Pearce, whose folksy formula bears scrutiny; Nila Mack, whose children's program, "Let's Pretend," is still head and shoulders above any similar air offering; Commander Scott, whose real-life yarn reads like fiction; and the jolly gang from "Furlough Fun." This is one issue you should not miss. Better pick your copy up early, as the supply is limited. And please pass it on to someone else when you are through.

ideal passages to be included in the symphony he is currently writing.

Barnyard Blockade

Irene Rich, star of CBS' "Woman from Nowhere," has been doing all her coming and going at her "Rich Rancho" in the valley through the back door. It seems a family-minded turkey hen has taken up residence on the front steps!

He Loves a Mystery?

Carlton Morse, author of CBS' "I Love a Mystery," was searching frantically for his overcoat. To calm the chaos, Secretary Frances called Mrs. Morse on the phone, asking if she would know where her husband would be apt to have misplaced his coat.

Replied Mr. Morse's ever-indulgent "better half": "Why, he didn't even take it with him today!"

Rehearsal Cancelled

When Bette Davis starred on CBS' "Silver Theater" in "Day After Day," the show's usual Friday night rehearsal was called off. The star did not cause the cancellation, however. Reason was the fact that her co-stars couldn't be working that late at night. Bette's co-workers in the dramatization were five young boys, ranging in age from four to twelve years.

De Luxe Service

An audience warm-up feature of the CBS Saturday night show, "Thanks to the Yanks," is a special quiz for which Bob Hawk invites a soldier and a sailor to win prizes containing the sponsor's cigarettes. The containers usually are placed on a table before Hawk comes onstage. Recently, however, the cigarettes were missing when Bob went to get them, so he called for them while the servicemen made their way to the stage.

From the floor level beneath the lowered stage curtain behind Hawk appeared a hand, waggling the containers. Stooping to get them, Bob spoke to the invisible donor. "Thank you, Mr. Paley," he said courteously. (Paley—first name William—is president of the Columbia Broadcasting System.)

from

Frances Scully, the "Speaking of Glamour" girl, has introduced a new show, one that retains some of the glamour-angle, but appeals also to women who are looking and listening for more practical news of the feminine world.

The new Scully opus, heard Mondays through Fridays at 2:45 p.m. over KECA, covers the entire field of affairs feminine, from the art of looking chic in a welder's helmet to the practice of shopping for the best beans (one of her sponsor's products). There's a human interest story or two, and, to climax each show, a "Salute to You," honoring some Scully listener, and paying off in a practical way with gifts of groceries.

FRANCES SCULLY

One of the most promising new shows developed on the Pacific Coast is the new Blue Network "Top of the Evening" musical program, which bowed over KECA March 13 at 7:15 p.m. Featured in this new Mon., Wed., Fri. show are the Ken Darby chorus, the King's Men quartet, the piano duo of Ted Saldenberg and Edward Rebner, and Sally Sweetland, soloist. Gayne Whitman announces.

"Top of the Evening" features popular music in unusual arrangements. The vocalists will be backed by an unusual arrangement of pianos, string bass and guitar.

"Stop and Go" is back, with Joe E. Brown again at the helm. This is a travel-quiz, with intriguing questions, attractive cash prizes, and guest stars like Dorothy Lamour. Tune in Thursday, March 23, at 9:00 p.m., for the first of the new "Stop and Go" series, via KECA.

"Music America Loves Best" is another newcomer to the Blue, to be heard on KECA Saturdays 4:30 p.m. Famous guest stars are featured, with emphasis on light classical and popular songs that are established favorites. Jay Blackton conducts the 30-piece orchestra.

News fans, watch for these changes a new setup for the Blue and KECA beginning at 1:00 p.m. Sam Hayes stays at 1:00; then at 1:15 p.m. Bob Nichols, famous radio reviewer, comes on from Seattle; Pete de Lima moves his commentary to 1:35 p.m., and Edward Jorgenson is heard Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 1:50 p.m. That moves "Time Views the News" to 3:30 p.m. on KECA. Sprinkle that liberally with 5-minute news bulletins, and you have a high-powered afternoon news set-up. Advertisement.

WANTED

A Kem-Tone paint dealer in Boston had decorated his main store window with a two or three time life-size "head" of Dunninger, the Blue network's Master Mentalist, with an accompanying large poster that proclaimed the Mental Marvel's $10,000 reward to anyone who could prove that he used confederates (in his thought reading). A meek old Back Bay lady entered the store one day and queried with alarm to the clerk "That man Dillinger—are they still looking for him?"

Maestro Billy Mills of the Fibber McGee and Molly NBC alrshow has been named "Maestro of the Menu" by the Los Angeles Chefs' Association, after contributing three prize-winning recipes for non-rationed meat courses in a contest sponsored by the organization.

Handsome John Loder, star of the screen and director of Columbia's "Silver Theater," once owned and operated pickle factory. In fact, his success in that business enabled him to finance his acting career.

MAIL MIXUP
 NBC's star songstress Ginny Simms recently found herself receiving a lot of letters not belonging to her. The envelopes were addressed to one Jimmy Simms, who turns out to be the popular trombonist in Horace Heidt's band. Remarked Mr. Simms on the situation: "I wish they'd make a mistake and send me one of Ginny's checks some time!"

TWIN PRINTS

The Nilsson Twins who sing with Spike Jones' music on NBC's "Furlough Fun," have hit a new high for look-alikes. When the girls, whose own parents can't always tell them apart, went together to get new drivers' licenses, it was discovered that even their fingerprints are so much alike that an expert would have a hard time distinguishing them.

He Wants to Act

ers are absent and he pitches into a demolition project with stockings, shoes, newspapers, and draperies.

Eileen always accompanies Les to the studio, but she is seldom recognizable because near-sightedness forces her to wear disguising glasses. Les' first concession to Hollywood's weakness for rainbow-hued attire was a black and white hound's-tooth check sports jacket. When he showed up for rehearsal, Bob cracked: "Boy, you may be slim, but in that coat you're REALLY solid. You sure must have a muscular tailor!" Subsequently, Les blossomed out in a loud plaid and explained: "I'm not a very big guy" (he's five foot, ten-and-a-half, weighs 160 pounds) "and I feel more husky in big plaids."

On the show, Les is not as relaxed as Bob and frankly admires his ease at the mike. But when he sang his first song on the show, "Leave Us Face It, We're In Love," the suave actor was in his element. Cast members kidded him in his new role of "crooner," but Les finally silenced them by saying, "Lissen, you guys, I've studied music for years, and if study will make me a singer, then I'm a singer!" The only comeback to his self-defense was a muffled snicker.

Eileen, however, was so wrought up over her husband's crooning debut that for once, she didn't have nerve enough to show up at the broadcast.

If Hollywood should "come to" and decide to offer Les a dramatic role with solid meat in it, he would probably make this his home, despite the fact that his hay fever is aggravated here. "In Chicago I used to suffer during July and August," Les remarks, dolefully preparing to sneeze. "but in Hollywood I have had it every month of the year."

GERTIE'S NIGHTGOWN

Blue network star, Gertrude Lawrence, donated one of her nightgowns to the Treasury Department for a war bond auction rally and the garment proved to be the highest-paying item of the evening, garnering $5000.

Frankie's Fans

he had given her a lift in his car once. Still others described the happy day that he had taken groups of them to lunch.

"They put me where I am," says the singer of his fans, "and they're okay with me!"

There are dozens of organizations formed by the fans in Frank's honor. Among them are: The "Share Sinatra Club"; "The Frank Sinatra Fun and Chowder Club"; the "Moonlight Sinatra Club"; "The Sighing Society of Sinatra Swooners"; and the "Semper Sinatra Club," which is composed entirely of elderly ladies! One lady recently sent her singing idol a quilt which she made with Frankie's bow tie as the motif.

The Frank Sinatra Show opened its current series with a Crossley rating 20.8—a record for an initial airing of a new broadcast. The demand for tickets was so great that the program had to be moved from CBS' Columbia Square Studios to the Vine Street Playhouse.

Today, the youngsters use any method or means to witness a Sinatra show. They attend the preceding broadcast, then attempt to hide in the theater until time for the singing star's appearance. They try handing the ushers at the entrance the wrong kind of tickets, rushing in too quickly to be stopped. In search of the much-desired ducats, the fans storm the J. Walter Thompson Agency, which handles the program. There, the girls literally get on their knees, pleading for a means of admittance to the show. Some have declared: "We are Frankie's cousins, and we just got in from New Jersey. He will be very angry if you don't give us tickets!"

More in the majority among the legions of Frank Sinatra fans, however, are sensible, sober-faced youngsters who admire Sinatra because he is "sincere" and "a good sport."

Restrain Squeals

Asking them if they squeal when Sinatra sings, most of them admitted that they used to, but no longer do for fear the practice will annoy others and be harmful to their favorite. They do whatever Frankie asks of them, and he has requested them to make no noise during musical numbers. He merely has to motion for silence and the screaming immediately ceases.

As a rule, they sit motionless and enchanted during Sinatra's delivery of a ballad. But they go wild with enthusiasm when he varies his vocal offerings and lends "The Voice" to a solid sending of a novelty number like "Shoo Shoo Baby."

"Sometimes," Frankie's fans explained to us, "we don't mean to squeal, but we just can't help it!"

However annoying the shrieks of the Sinatra devotees may sometimes be to America's airline audiences, the youngsters recently proved their worth with their extensive campaigning to sell a grand total of $15,000 in war bonds for the Frank Sinatra broadcast held at the Shrine Auditorium in behalf of the Fourth War Loan Drive.

Pretty, blonde, seventeen-year-old Nancy Way, a Glendale High School senior who presides over the 10,000 members of the "Consolidated Frank Sinatra Clubs of California," personally sold the impressive sum of 650 war bonds!

"And now," commented Nancy with a smile, "let the critics decide whether or not we Sinatra fans are half-wits!"

Andy Talks About Virginia

her new little baby chicks. "They're just getting at that 'gangling' stage now," she informed us.

"Her other chief current interest," put in Andy, "is making hooked rugs."

"Yes," admitted Virginia, "and I'm really a menace on the streets. I'm continually seeing somebody who's wearing just the color and cloth that I want for my rug. My friends are afraid to come near me. I'm liable to rip off their clothes to put on our floor!"

"And that's where my good old loafer jacket will probably end up," mused Andy. "Virginia has had her eye on it for months!"

Andy Likes Slacks!

We asked Andy what type of clothes he liked best to see his wife wearing. "Sports outfits," he replied without hesitation, "and especially slacks. I love to see her in bright colors, particularly yellow."

"Now let me talk about Andy!" exclaimed Virginia. "To begin with, he's a Pennsylvania-Dutchman—which is good. I was reading just the other day that Clark Gable is Pennsylvania-Dutch." Then she added with a laugh, "I couldn't get Gable, so I took Andy!"

Becoming more serious, she declared that her smiling spouse was very sweet and thoughtful. To prove her point, she showed us her cute charm bracelet, a gift from Andy who doesn't like to shop. He went from one end of Hollywood Boulevard to the other in search of the charms to tell the story of their life together—a microphone, a wedding ring, a horseshoe, a little hen with two tiny chicks, a dog house.

Andy's own, real "doghouse," his workroom in the rear of the main residence, is the envy of every man who sees it. "Oh, brother!" they exclaim upon entering it. "This is what I've always wanted!"

"I never have the chance to put Andy in the doghouse," laughed Virginia, "because he's always in it of his own accord!"

Andy's pet hobby today is his collection of historical motion pictures, while Virginia specializes in colored stills and personal movies.

Andy Can Cook

"Andy can cook, too," Virginia informed us. "He always broils our steaks when we eat out in the open, but he doesn't particularly care about cooking."

"The thing that he does that I love best," she continued, "is play the piano! I'm always trying to get him to do a solo on our show, but he won't. At home he will sit and improvise melodies for an hour or so—and they're beautiful! But he won't do it at the studio."

"That's because I don't like to do things when I have to do them," Andy explained.

Another thing he doesn't particularly care about is clothes. "I just like to be comfortable," he commented. Virginia likes to see him in casual English tweeds, so she goes out and buys them for him!

As for sports—like Virginia, Andy prefers badminton.

"The one thing I like to do which Andy isn't especially fond of, is dance," Virginia stated then. "I used to be a dancer, whereas he played in dance orchestras and had no opportunity to do any dancing."

"Andy's chief characteristic," Virginia continued, "is that he doesn't like to do anything that he can't do well. We both want really to enjoy whatever we do."

Virginia's only criticism of Andy is that he works too hard. "I want him to play more often," she exclaims.

"But when he does, he always beats me at badminton. Then I wish I hadn't asked him!"

With full 10,000 watts of power, KMPC can now lay claim to being the leading independent station in Southern California. It is a leader in sports broadcasts and carries exclusive coverage on all major sports, comprising basketball, football, prize fights, golf, and baseball. Musical programs are being improved continually. Recently the Hancock Ensemble and Trio were added as regular Sunday night program features.

Stated the station's vice-president and general manager, Stanford-educated Bob Reynolds: "We have only started, for we are going to become known as the most outstanding independent in the United States before we are through."

Radio Life extends hearty congratulations to Owner Richards, General Manager Reynolds, Woody Hattic, Herb Wixon, Don Otis, Willard Hanes and all other personnel whose splendid efforts are reflected in this KMPC's newest advance.

He Wants to Act

Sunday, 7:30 p. m.
NBC-KFI

LES TREMAYNE is a slim young man of 30, with concise features, pencil-thin mustache, polished manner, and reputation as a gifted radio actor, best displayed as leading man of the "First Nighter" series. Last spring, Les had the audacity to throw his lucrative Chicago jobs overboard and head for Hollywood. Now heard Sunday nights as a comedian-announcer on Bob Crosby's show, Tremayne is using only a scant portion of his terrific talent. After interviewing the actor not long ago, Radio Life came to the conclusion that Hollywood is overlooking one of the hottest bets in recent years and it will have no one but itself to kick if it loses a fine thespian.

Mind you, Les is not complaining. He has too many interests in life ever to be bored. Such an amazing string of hobbies: records, reading, Spanish lessons, sculpture, and photo micrography. Because of the latter interest, he offered himself to the photographic division of the army, but was turned down because he is a violent sufferer of hay fever.

When the opportunity came for him to join Bob Crosby, Les recalls he thought: "This doesn't appeal to me because it is all light comedy and I resent being called an 'announcer.' But it may be my opportunity to do something for the boys overseas as well as the lads at home."

To afford him a chance to exercise his dramatic talent, Writer Carroll Carroll includes the "slide sequence" in every script. Cecil B. DeMille was quick to appreciate Tremayne's talent and offered him the lead in Lux Theater's adaptation of "So Proudly We Hail." Les, able to get his teeth into something, was happy.

From Talented Family

His inclination for drama is deep-

Present Roles Obscure Les Tremayne's Talent

rooted, for his mother, Dorothy Tremayne, was an English motion picture actress; his grandmother, Alice Marian Gwilliam, was an opera star; his uncle, Alex Butler, is one of England's leading motion picture directors; his brother, Walter, formerly won wide acclaim as a tenor. His father, an American engineer, was the only non-professional in the clan. Mr. Tremayne provided a comfortable home for the family while in England, but leaving Britain under German shell fire in World War I, the Tremaynes suffered reverses.

"I don't know what happened," explains Les, "but something went wrong and we were very poor in the United States after the war. Mother enrolled us in grade school in Texas. Walter and I were just little fellows and she dressed us the way they do in England."

Imagine, if you can, two small boys arriving for school in robust Texas, their uppers fitted snugly with Eton jackets, their lowers in trim trousers, Eton ties flapping gently about their throats, dapper canes in their hands. It isn't difficult to guess the outcome: taunts and ridicule backed up with very non-Etonish fisticuffs.

"That's why I don't like fights now," exclaims Les.

His education included study in dancing, voice, violin, piano, commercial art, sculpture, and dramatics. His radio career began October 1, 1931, when he was introduced to a radio production man who cast him into an air play without an audition. Since then, he has been leading man in 32 shows; like other "First Nighter" leading men, Tyrone Power and Don Ameche, he left the weekly dramatic program to make a bid for further fame.

Wife an Actress

In climbing the ladder, Les has unqualified support from his wife, Eileen, who used to be one of daytime serials' prominent leading ladies. Les met her when both were playing in "Betty and Bob"—she was on the floor reading her script when he strode into the studio. The Tremaynes are great favorites of the Lincoln Borglums—he is the son of the late Gutzon Borglum whose Mount Rushmore Memorial in South Dakota is world-renowned. With the Borglums, the Tremaynes own a 1,200 acre ranch near Rapid City, South Dakota.

Their marriage is "planned." Les and Eileen believe that the reason for many crack-ups lies in drifting apart. Hence, they try to establish and maintain mutual hobbies. Both like swimming, tennis, horseback riding, outboard racing, motoring, deep sea fishing. At Christmas time each one gifted the other with choice record albums. "They weighed nearly 200 pounds all put together," Les states impressively.

Their huge Great Dane dog, Thor, is king of the Tremayne house which Les and Eileen were lucky enough to lease, furnished, in North Hollywood. Thor likes to back up and sit in Les' lap, but he often has more frolicsome moments for example when his own-

And Vice Versa—As We Become Better Acquainted With This Popular Song-And-Patter Team

Monday-Wednesday-Friday
4:30 p. m.
Blue-KECA

WE WINKED at likeable, be - mustached Andy Mansfield, one-half of the Blue Network's popular "little variety" team, and with a smiling sidewise glance at Virginia, asked him to tell us everything about his pretty round-faced, laughter-loving partner. The two of them were rejoicing over their return to the airwaves with a new series of shows—and a new sponsor!

Andy grinned and declared, "Virginia is a typical Irishman in every way, what with her blue eyes, her pug nose, that swell sense of humor—and the maiden name of Hennessy! She likes to swim and to play badminton. She's a movie fan—and a good cook!

"I'm one husband who never has cause to say, 'Gee, I wish you could cook like my mother used to.' Virginia does!" Andy's birthday was on February 15th and Virginia, as she does annually, prepared a meal made up of everything he likes best. Filet mignon, french-fried potatoes and onions, and delicious devil's-food cake.

Andy first met Virginia when she was singing on station WLW, in Cincinnati, Ohio, and he was first pianist and chief arranger there.

"I found several occasions," remembered Andy with a smile, "to do some special arranging with Virginia—and not necessarily musical!" The two of them went to Detroit to do a program together and decided to become a team off the air as well as on.

"I don't know whether it's astrological or not," puzzled Andy, "but we sure seem to agree on everything. We were born under the same sign, just two days apart, and we both have exactly the same likes and dislikes, even about small things, such as the seasoning of food and drinking our coffee almost cold."

RADIO'S MOST DELIGHTFUL TWOSOME, Andy and Virginia, find fun in feeding their dogs, Michael (Blank Check) and Patricia. "Mike," a gift from an unknown admirer, arrived at the studio one day, ensconced on a white satin pillow and escorted by a smartly-uniformed chauffeur. "Pat" is just a lovable mongrel, but both are equally dear to the hearts of their mistress and master.

Like many other entertainers, Andy and Virginia mutually decided that the west coast held the future for radio, and had, in addition, the most healthful climate in the world. "So we set out in our Ford, put our banjo on our knee, and came to California," grinned Andy.

"Struggle" for Success

Virginia laughed and exclaimed, "Now tell the heartbreaking story of our struggle for success!"

The two of them had landed in Hollywood with no sign of a job. They decided to make inquiries at the Mutual-Don Lee broadcasting studios, and there they found an old friend who had been commercial manager at the Detroit station where they had worked.

"We want a job," they explained to him. That was on a Friday. The following Monday they went on the air. And it wasn't until just recently, previous to the start of their current broadcasts on the Blue, that Andy and Virginia took their first vacation away from the mike in the six years they have been out here. Radio loves them, and they love radio.

"Put the Mansfields down as two people who have no movie aspirations whatsoever," declared Andy. "We like just what we're doing. We consider ourselves very lucky—and we're very happy."

"You bet," agreed Virginia. "We have a lot of fun with our shows, and we only hope our listeners enjoy them as much as we do!"

Andy writes all the material for their entertaining, easy-listening song-and-patter programs, with Virginia lending an enthusiastic helping hand.

"And we're our own severest critics," she exclaimed. "After every show, we tear it apart and try to do better."

Love Their Home

Away from the airlines, Virginia and Andy find their fun at their delightful home in the valley. Neither has any taste for night-clubbing. In fact, home seems so nice to them that when they went away on their recent long-anticipated vacation, they wondered, "Why venture to other places when we have everything we love at home?"

Their house has lately been redecorated in a Swedish modern motif with thick turquoise rugs. The latest addition to their grounds is a new rose-covered seat arbor which frames their swimming pool.

"Andy builds things," Virginia told us, "and I paint 'em. I love to paint—as long as I'm painting white! It's so clean and nice!" Andy has recently built a grape arbor, a clothes storage closet, and a jelly cupboard.

Virginia's current pride and joy are

Radio Row Welcomes KMPC

*Station of the Stars Holds
Open House in New Structure
Located in Kilocycle Center*

ON MARCH 19, Radio Row will formally welcome KMPC in its new home at 5939 Sunset Boulevard, corner of Gordon. When Owner G. A. Richards unlocks the shiny, red-lacquered door on Sunset Boulevard, KMPC will be "at home" to its horde of friends and well-wishers, some of whom have followed the station ever since 1927, when it began operations under ownership of MacMillan Petroleum Company. Then operating only part time on 500 watts power, KMPC was located at the home from which it has now moved, 9631 Wilshire Boulevard.

Since 1937, when Richards, owner of WJR, Detroit, and WGAR, Cleveland, purchased KMPC, the station has made notable advances.

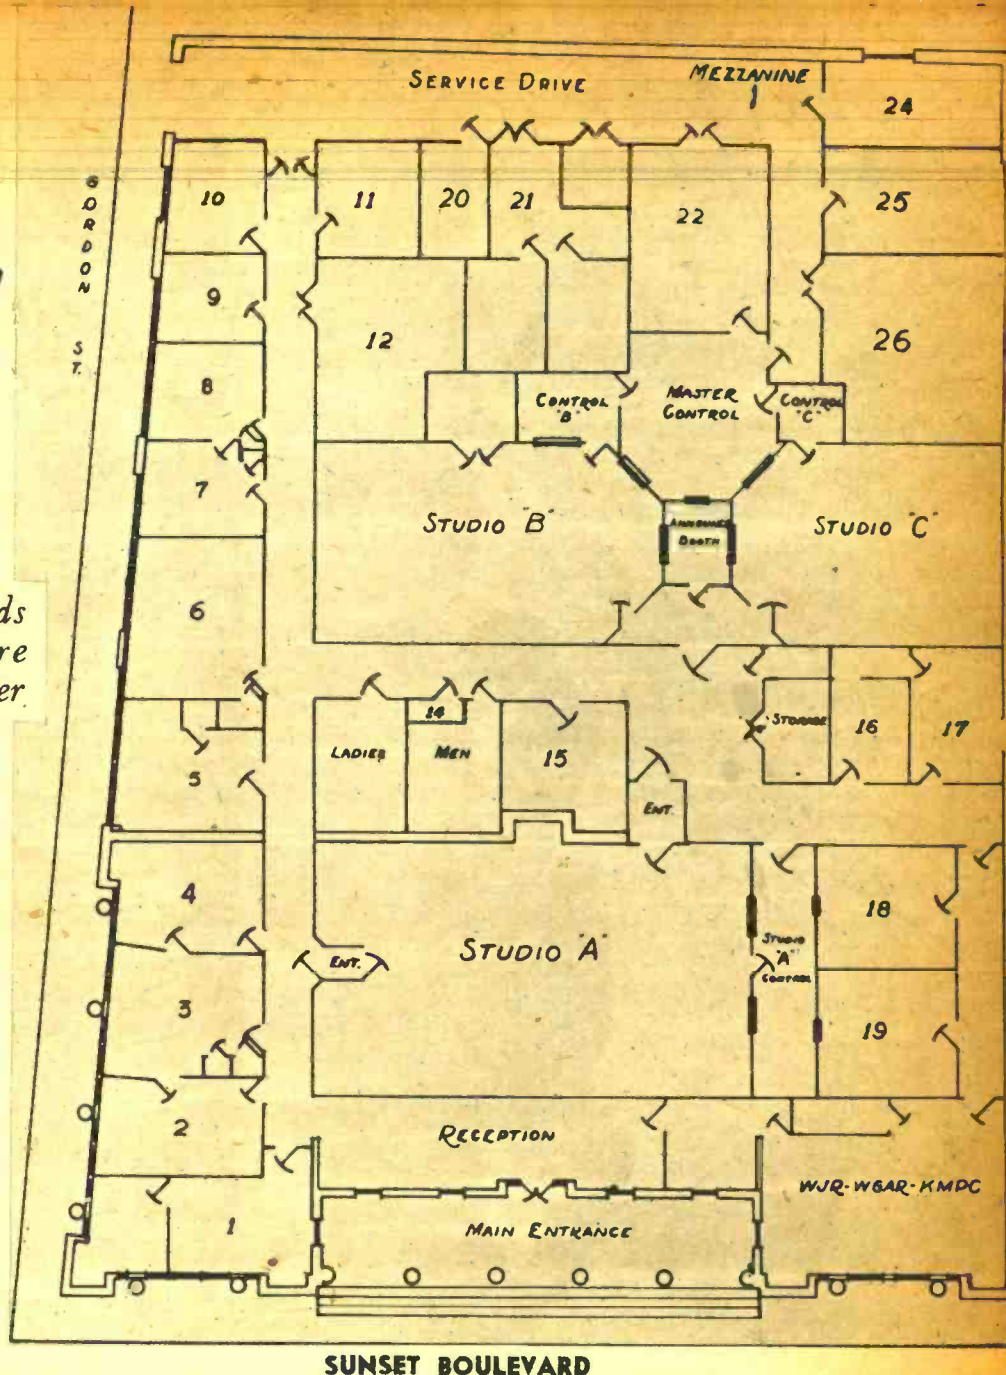

By January 15, 1940, the station's power was increased to 5,000 watts, daytime, and 1,000 at night time. On September 19, 1942, KMPC went on full-time operation and increased its power to 10,000 watts. To commemorate this occasion, a continuous war bond sale went on the air for 18 hours. Three hundred thousand dollars worth of bonds were sold, a then day-time record.

Another forward stride was the creation of a special news service, under sponsorship of and in collaboration with the Times. Nineteen times daily, KMPC now offers listeners "News on the Hour, Every Hour."

The move to Sunset Boulevard is a definite forward step, giving KMPC much larger quarters, with five studios and twenty-one offices. The station's new home is adequate in every way to handle every type of

Frankie's Indefatigable Fans

*They Sigh And They Squeal;
They Drool and They Swoon;
Why Do They Act That Way?*

Wednesday, 6:00 p. m.
CBS-KNX

EVERY WEDNESDAY—the day of Frank Sinatra's weekly broadcast for Vitamins—the block on which CBS' Vine Street Theater is located takes on the aspect of a scene at the county fair. From this theater emanates "The Voice," and outside its doors, in full force, gather Frankie's indefatigable fans.

As unbelievably early as 6:45 a.m. they began to arrive at the theater's entrance to await the opportunity of viewing their idol before the microphone at six o'clock that evening. In the intervening hours they camp on the sidewalks, nibble on their packaged lunches, buy hot dogs at the neighboring refreshment stand, pore over their prized scrapbook clippings and enthusiastically discuss the latest doings of their adored swoon-crooner.

By three o'clock in the afternoon the street is lined with laughing, jabbering, joking 'teen-age girls in sweaters, skirts and bobby-sox. A troupe of ushers and a policeman are patrolling the block. Occasionally comparative late-comers try to crowd in at the front of the long lines and must be moved back by forces of authority. At four o'clock the Frank Sinatra show banner is raised above the theater entrance, and the fans shout and squeal their joy.

Before broadcast time the lines of girls have been augmented by a sprinkling of the male sex and more mature women. When at last the broadcast hour arrives, the theater overflows with the capacity crowd all awaiting with breathless anticipation the appearance of "The Voice."

Thus does America flock to the feet of its new-found idol, as in the past the public has thronged before such personalities as Rudolf Valentino, Russ Columbo and a still-popular guy named Bing. Today, our bright, eager, impressionable youth has its eyes focused on a likeable dark-haired Italian boy with a beautiful baritone voice.

What Lures Them?

Sinatra himself is at a loss to explain his popularity.

"I can't for the life of me understand why the kids should act like they do," declares Frank. "I look at myself in the mirror every day—and what I see doesn't make me any too happy!"

Talking recently to young America, as it assembled to attend Sinatra's airshow, we asked, "Just what is it about Frank Sinatra that gets you?"

One pretty little girl with thoughtful eyes and a sweet, quiet manner reflected carefully on the matter before replying. "I don't think it is Frank's voice so much," she declared. "I think it is more what I guess you would call his charm."

Watching Sinatra on the stage, we agreed with his young fan. The boy has charm—loads of it. Over the theater it casts a spell that is close to being hypnotic.

"Oh, golly, it's his voice, too!" exclaimed another serious-faced Sinatra admirer, in listening to our comments on the crooner.

"I've studied music a great deal and I know quite a bit about it," she explained. "Frankie's voice has wonderful qualities and he has marvelous breath control. Folks who say he sings sour should listen to him more closely and carefully, the way we do."

Listening intently to "The Voice" that evening, we noted that his young fan knew what she was talking about. The singer has fine breath control and, lending a really responsive ear to his vocalizing, one finds his voice warm, deep, and rich in tonal qualities. We would add too, that Sinatra's serenading is smooth and pleasing to the ear, largely because the fellow sings so straight from his heart. He so obviously finds true enjoyment in every song.

"Oh, Sinatra is just super!" the fans enthused as we gathered them around us for a further discussion of their favorite subject.

One of Gang

"Another of the real reasons we like him so much," they continued, "is that he seems somehow like one of our own gang." Crosby had the idea when he kiddingly said that Sinatra looks like one of his own fans. That is the way the youngsters feel.

Frank is no kid. He is married and is the father of two children. But there is a boyishness about him and a friendly informal manner that delights his young followers and makes them feel closer to him than to other personalities of the show world.

They like to see him smile. They like to see him sway his shoulders to the rhythm of a swing chant. They love it when he waves to them or gives them a mischievous wink. They like the way he dresses—his bow ties, his loafers and yellow socks, his yachting cap.

They are, as well, grateful for his manner toward them. Sinatra treats his fans with appreciation and respect. He is sincerely grateful to them, and goes out of his way to please them.

One fan told us of receiving nice letters from him. Another said that
