Miss Palmer, Santa Anita Hotel, Arcadia, Calif.

Sirs: Thanks for the article on the Wren family. How interesting they must be. I have long admired Virginia Sale's comedy role as "Martha," so true to type. We all think, as good as "Those We Love" is, that it would flop without her to pep it up.

Only I, for one, wish they would have less, much less, of the dog's yapping on the program. It really gets on the nerves.

Thanks for the nice article on Nan Grey, too. They all seem like old friends after years of listening to "Those We Love."

Mrs. A. Towne, 1062 N. Evergreen Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: With all the daytime serials for the housewife, there are hardly any programs for children. I am sure there are many other mothers who would be glad for some sort of program such as fairy tales to entertain their children of pre-school age. I have three youngsters, aged two, four and six, and I would certainly welcome some good children's programs.

(Don't miss "Let's Pretend," Saturdays, 8-8:30 a. m., CBS-RNX).

Mrs. Russell, San Bernardino, Calif.

Sirs: I would like to join the listener who recently commented on "One Man's Family" in Radio Life. The program used to be such a sparkling one when the cast consisted of the Barbour adult family, especially when Cliff and Jack were single. Now it is almost a children's program. Not only "too much Margaret," but "too much children." Too bad!

B. E. LaVoy, Dixon Manor, Dixon, Ill.

Sirs: As an interested listener to "Tom Breneman's Breakfast in Hollywood" I feel compelled to write my

My son kids me but I've reached the point where I don't care. My day just doesn't start off right unless I've had my daily laughs thanks to the nimble-tongued Tom.

Perhaps the most enjoyable feature of the show is, of course, the hat episode. I share Tom's mad-hatter views. What man doesn't? My ambition is to retire, come to California and join the inimitable Mr. Breneman at breakfast.

I Don't Teach Sewing . . . I Teach Self-Expression

By Sally Spinner

Wednesday, 1:15 p.m.
KHJ

LEARNING to sew is like learning to run a typewriter or play the piano. The important thing is not the mechanical ability to sew, or type, or play the piano, it's what you do with that ability that counts." The actual technique of sewing is so elemental under improved modern streamlined methods that any woman can easily master the fundamentals in a matter of weeks."

The speaker was talented and beautiful Beverly Worth, who has taken over the title and duties of Sally Spinner, The Broadway's Fabric-Fashionist.

"I firmly believe," says Sally Spinner, "that sewing should be approached as a means of artistic expression, not as a domestic accomplishment. A woman can derive as great a thrill from making a dress

Bing and Dinah

By Bill Edwards

Poll-Winning Singers Are Paired at Mike Abroad and At Home, But Have Never Guested on Other's Show

HE calls her the "Dixie Diva," and she calls him "the King." But to dialers they're radio's singing twins, whose talents are so in demand that their careers, as well as their voices, have become a continuous duet.

They have full names, of course, but in Hollywood they're simply "Bing and Dinah." If you don't know them by their first names your dials must be rusty or your records dusty.

A few weeks ago Armed Forces Radio Service, which prepares and records the famed "Command Performance" program—as well as a multitude of others—for the fighting men overseas, called upon Bing and Dinah to head as brilliant a cast of Hollywood stars as has ever faced a mike. There were Bob Hope, Frank Sinatra, Judy Garland, Jimmy Durante, Cass Daley, Frank Morgan, the Andrews Sisters and Harry von Zell enacting the characters in the Dick Tracy cartoon series, but for Dick himself the soldiers wanted Bing and for Tess Trueheart, his sweetheart, they demanded Dinah.

The whole thing made a program so tuneful and funny it's being whooped up for the next Bond Drive.

Dinah's Admiration

The pairing of Bing and Dinah in radio goes back a couple of years, but to Dinah at least it goes back a lot further. Dinah says she used to buy every Crosby record that came out. Long before the world knew there was a Dinah Shore Bing was "the King" to her. He used to have a fifteen-minute program that reached Nashville at four in the afternoon and found Dinah always curled in front of her loud speaker waiting for Bing's noodling of "When the B-Blue of the Night . . ."

When Dinah came to Hollywood

THE PAIRING of Bing and Dinah in radio goes back a couple of years, but to Dinah it goes back a lot further. She used to buy every Crosby record that came out.

for the first time in 1940 with the Eddie Cantor program, she had just one ambition: to meet Bing. But she couldn't quite get the nerve to go up and introduce herself. She slipped into the studio where Bing was rehearsing and sat far back in a corner alone.

Tom Harmon and Benny Rubin found her there one day and pushed her up on the stage.

"How are you, Dinah?" said Bing. "I've listened to you often."

It took Dinah a long time to get over that. Imagine "the King" listening to her! But the second time Cantor came west, Dinah headed for Crosby's studio immediately. This time she could laugh with Bing over her earlier bashfulness, but her admiration of "the King" has never dimmed. She regards Bing as the most completely successful man she has ever met.

Dinah's apartment, which she shared with three other girls—Actress Shirley Mitchell, Singer Kitty Kallen and Dinah's secretary, "Rufus" Crain—was tagged "the Charm School" by Crosby, who liked to drop over for a cup of coffee and a few laughs when business affairs got too troublesome.

The opera-symphonic people came to Bing for help in raising funds through a George Gershwin concert. "I'll do it if you'll get Dinah to sing, too," he said.

Dinah was flabbergasted. She says that when she faced an audience of several thousand people at the Shrine Auditorium, with Bing across the mike from her, she was more

ALL THIS and I. Q. too!" murmured an awed publicist regarding glamor gal, Poni Adams. "Is it true that as a child of five you had the second highest I. Q. in the state of California?"

Pretty Poni nodded.

"And at the age of sixteen you were Concert Mistress of Los Angeles City High School Orchestra?" continued the disbelieving press man.

Again Poni nodded.

"Hmm," he slowly said. "Don't think that's so good. What'll people say if you tell 'em beauty has brains?"

Poni only laughed. This was an old story to her. She'd discovered a long time ago the less said about her erudition, the better. Besides she didn't have to trade on her "A's" alone. Her face and figure were lovely enough to grace many a billboard—and did!

After graduating from high school at fifteen, Poni (born Betty Jane Smith) did a turn-about-face and decided to become an actress. She put away her violin, which won her the Concert Mistress title, and her books, and joined the Pasadena Playhouse. From there she hastened to New York. One day she dropped in on Harry Conover, the agent. "I'd like to be a model," she announced.

"Um, we'll see," answered the discerning Mr. Conover.

Model for Conover

The next day she went to work. She stayed with Conover for several months and became one of his most popular models. The Dr. Pepper Company was looking for a girl to play the lead in some television shorts and chose Poni. They liked her so well they invited her to come to Hollywood and become the femcee of their new air show, "Darts for Dough."

When she arrived in California, the Blue Network—"Bless their hearts," grinned Poni—suggested she try out for the Universal Picture's "Solomi" contest. Universal decided she wasn't the type for the sultry siren. But when they looked at her peaches and cream complexion, her big blue eyes, and her tawny brown hair they signed her in a hurry. That was four months ago and today she has her first part in "A Night in Paradise." So she works six days a week for the movies and on the seventh for radio.

"You know," she confided over her chef's salad, "I love radio and I'm dying to do some dramatic material. I'd really like a crack at television." (Producers take note.)

Spare Moments

What spare time she has is spent in bettering herself. She's learned from childhood never to waste a moment. In addition to her seven days' work, she attends dancing school three nights a week. And the other nights are spent out of doors. Horseback riding and archery are hobbies for which there isn't enough time. "Of course, I love to go dating, too," she added.

Today she is living with friends in a little house near Universal. She's learning to cook and thrives on adding to her hope chest. Marriage and her future home are very important to her.

She shows that the old I. Q. is still functioning by remaining unaffected, sincere and intelligent in her values. Simplicity is the keynote of her life. She dresses simply, she lives simply, and she is thrifty. Nothing pleases her more than to make her own lunch, carry it to the set and eat with the crew. Consequently, they love her for it.

Without the aid of publicity, she has made several trips to Birmingham Hospital. She is anxious to contribute to the war effort in every way she can, and feels visiting the boys is something we all should do.

Miss Adams has definite ideas con-

Quandary

Bea Benaderet spotted the Blue's Tom Breneman crossing Vine street near his new Hollywood restaurant on the day after its opening.

"Whatta you doing out here," smiled Bea. "Why aren't you on deck inside?"

"Too many customers," chuckled Tom. "I can't even get near the gosh-darned place!"

"Tom Breneman's Hollywood" opened on Monday, March 26, with a gala crowd of Hollywoodites in attendance, including distinguished members of the radio industry, a number of famed screen and air personalities, and representatives of the press.

After dark, a searchlight was set up outside the restaurant door, and the whole affair took on all the aspects of a lavish movietown premiere.

Fashion Notes

CBS' charm dispenser, Billie Burke, showed up at the studio to have fashion photos taken the other day, and brought with her the complete wardrobe for her role in the movie, "The Amazing Mr. M."

Miss Burke smiled over the chic ensembles, expressed her pleasure that the dress designer had made them with a mature woman in mind. "Too many of the gowns, supposedly created for older women," lamented Miss Burke, "are far too gay and giddy to be truly becoming."

For Husband

There's a recording company in Hollywood that has a standing order to wax every song and line of dialogue Joan Merrill delivers on the Charlie McCarthy show.

Joan placed the order herself. It is her way of visiting with her husband, U. S. Naval Lieutenant Tex Seeger, who is somewhere in the Pacific.

"When Tex left," Joan explains, "he took along every recording of mine I'd ever made. I decided right then that I'd have everything I did recorded and sent to him." Joan usually waits until she has five or six recordings together before she mails them. Then she records a "letter from home" which she sends along, too.

Third Radio Institute

The third annual Radio Institute conducted cooperatively by NBC and the University of California, Los Angeles campus, will open its six weeks' session July 2. All except one of the eight courses will be held at NBC's Hollywood studios.

The courses and their instructors are as follows: Joe Alvin, manager of news and special events; announcing, Frank Barton; Art Brearly, control room operations; radio writing, Arnold Marquis; history and survey of broadcasting, Jennings Pierce.

The institute is open to selected students, teachers and station and network personnel. Some practical experience in radio is a prerequisite.

New Movie Fan

"Mutt," Studio Club mascot and beloved pet of Jo Gilbert, went to his first movie the other night. Jo was looking for a friend, whom she knew was in a neighborhood theater. The manager of the theater graciously assented to letting "Mutt" accompany his mistress into the theater if Jo would keep him quiet.

"He loved it," Jo reported. "He never took his eyes off of the screen and was quiet as a mouse."

NEXT WEEK

Our Fifth Anniversary Issue will be off the press next week...it's packed with eighty-eight exciting pages of pictures, messages from the stars, stories, and news... Mrs. Tom Breneman talks about breakfast with Tom... There's a spine-tingling "Sherlock Holmes" murder-mystery for YOU to figure out... Be sure to get a copy early—you'll want to keep it.

is actually the result of ten hours of hard work by the members of the program's cast.

It is one of the most carefully-rehearsed programs in radio. Rehearsals for the Sunday show begin on Thursday evening when Bracken, Ann Rutherford, Bill Demarest, Janet Waldo, and the supporting players gather with producer Mann Holliner around a big table in Studio C in Hollywood Radio City.

After a preliminary reading, the show is done "on mike" for the first time. On Friday night, after another rehearsal, the show gets its premiere performance before a preview audience.

Final rehearsals occupy all of Sunday afternoon, almost up to air time. So far, not a single line has been muffed.

"No other radio show can make that statement," says Bracken. He's got his fingers crossed.

Who's Excited?

It was good to see capable Verna Felton again portraying a straight dramatic role. On the "Lux Radio Theater's" presentation of "A Tale of Two Cities," Verna (better known as "Blossom Blimp") stood out as the blood-thirsty "Madam De Farge," who brought about the death of the play's hero, Orson Welles. She won the admiration of the whole cast, including Mr. Welles, who openly praised her fine work.

During the Sunday rehearsal, "something" slipped up and gave the cast its biggest laugh. If you remember the play, you will recall "Madam De Farge's" evil chant, "Fifty-two heads shall fall today." The climax is reached when here, Sydney Carton's head makes the fifty-second. But—as the drums dramatically rolled and the hero made his last martyred speech, Verna caught in the tense excitement of the moment shouted out, "Fifty-four."

"Oh," moaned Verna, "I don't know what happened. It just came out."

Jap Menu

Letters written by Americans recently released from the custody of the Japs in the Philippines have been heard of late on CBS' "Meet the Missus"—among the most stirring of which was one postmarked "Manila—March 6, 1945." It read:

"... in February, 1944, the Japs got meaner. They stopped all contact with the outside. It went from bad to worse in the last six months. We were getting a cup of lugao for breakfast. This, we ate with salt (if we had it). There was no milk. Even 'Butch' (the baby) didn't get any. Then, at noon, we got a six-ounce canful of some greens boiled up in water and salt. That's all. At supper, we got some kind of greens or soy beans boiled up in water and a small scoop of rice. And that's all. When the rice ran out, the Japs issued coarse ground corn. This is one experience I'll never forget. It's impossible to describe our feelings the night the American Army walked in. I had to sit down and cry. Just to think of those days of cooking up weeds and trying to keep up your spirits (the folks at home), and hoping the Americans wouldn't let us down. They were finally at an end! Just think, I could actually give 'Butch' a piece of candy! . . ."

Star-Studded Farmers

When Bob Burns harvests his alfalfa crop this month he will have the most star-studded group of farm hands ever gathered in one place.

Edgar Bergen has said he will be there. Bing Crosby's going to lend a hand, and Charles Correll, who plays "Andy" of "Amos 'n' Andy," also has promised to help. Naturally Bob's

Thursday night cast, Shirley Ross, Doug Gourlay, Benjamin Carter and Mantan Morland will be there.

With the help situation what it is, Bob was afraid he was out of luck on harvesting his most important crop. Then he thought of his friends at NBC.

Why did they agree so readily? Bob promised a harvest dinner featuring porterhouse steaks from his own herd of prize cattle.

Tall Tale

Kate Smith is currently awarding weekly $350 in prizes to servicemen in Army and Navy hospitals who submit the best "tall tales." First award is $250 cash, with the whopper winning it being read on the songbird's CBS airshow. Ten consolation awards of $10 each are also being mailed weekly, and a grand prize of $1000 goes to the boy who submits the best tall tale of all. The name of the grand prize-winner will be broadcast on Kate's show of June 10.

On her February 25 program, Miss Smith announced the first award of her novel contest. First prize went to Pfc. G. C. Bowe, a Marine casualty at the U. S. Naval Hospital, National Navy Medical Center, Bethesda, Maryland, who submitted this whopper:

"I was in my foxhole one night on a tiny island in the Pacific when one of the Japs' big shells came over, burying itself in the earth twenty feet from where I crouched, tearing a big hole into the earth. I looked up, and forty yards from me was a big tree with five hundred Japs in it. Suddenly I got a bright idea. I took a spool of thread out of my kit and threaded it through the edges of that big hole. Then I pulled the thread and gathered up the hole like a tobacco pouch. I sneaked stealthily along until I came to the foot of the big tree, then I unloosed the thread and let that ragged old hole lay flat on the ground. With the strength of Superman, I shook the tree—and the five hundred Japs clinging to branches like snakes, fell out. The rest was easy. I just pulled the string and, believe it or not, I had the five hundred Japs in the bag!"

Refuge

Amid the reluctant adieus and envious sighs of their ether co-workers, actor-announcer John McIntire and his wife, actress Jeanette Nolan, departed from radio row last week to retire once more to their 500-acre ranch in northernmost Montana.

Among his other assignments, McIntire has abandoned the role of "Bill Lance" on CBS. His successor in the part is popular Pat McGeehan.

Here's How

We've always wondered how the singers who warble that catchy little ditty, "Happy Little Washday Song" on NBC's "Amos 'n' Andy" manage to come in exactly on pitch without any orchestral introduction. So we asked Sally Sweetland, who leads the chorus. Sally explained that she sounds a note on a tiny pocket pitch-pipe just as the group goes on-stage, and her fellow-tunesters take it from there.

Vice-Prez

Pretty vocalist Pat Friday has just been elected the vice-president of the "Broken Hearts Club." If you're not familiar with the BHC, it consists of Marines in the South Pacific who have been jilted or left alone by a "fickle woman." When quizzed as to her reaction to the honor Pat said, "Well, you see, I'm not eligible to be president because I'm happily married. But I was made vice-president in order to advise the boys on how not to have their hearts broken. I'm just about the happiest married gal they know," she added with a wink.

Precasts & Previews

Poor "Smilin' Ed McConnell"—he's been having his troubles and there were a few times when he didn't feel like smillin'.

After a year of trying to tailor special lyrics to old popular tunes for the amusement of his juvenile listeners who dial KFI each Saturday morning at 8:30 by the thousands, Ed has finally thrown in the towel and turned his hand to composing original music to wrap around his ditties.

Smilin' Ed

"The funnier and crazier the tunes and lyrics are the better the kids like 'em," says Ed, "but it takes a bit of struggling to drill them out of my head."

NBC colleagues, however, are apt to agree that the big man has long harbored a dormant talent, what with the results of his initial try which produced "The Silly Song" and "When Grandpa Sat Down on the Trap That Grandma Set for the Mice."

You may not know it, but that baby you hear on the NBC "Eddie Cantor" program via KFI each Wednesday night at 6, is really a tough guy, and you want to be ready to duck if you think he isn't.

Billy Gray, who plays that part, once was a professional boxer who was so good he was a West Coast light-weight champion.

The baby voice came later.

Gray played San Francisco supper clubs, after giving up the 'squared circle' for two years before he broke into radio here in Hollywood. He finally landed a part on the "Abbott and Costello" ailer. Then came a part on the Jack Carson program and guest shots on other shows.

Eddie Cantor discovered our Billy at the Band Box supper club and signed him to an exclusive contract as the now-famous baby. Such is fame!

Favorite rural story of NBC's Bob Burns (KFI, Thursday, 6:30 p. m.) concerns the two hired hands from neighboring farms who were telling each other their troubles. One was complaining about not getting enough to eat. "Why, just this morning," he said, "Ol' man Brown's wife says to me, 'Do you know how many eggs you've et?' I told her I didn't have no cause to count em. 'Well,' says she, 'that last one was the fifteenth.' Doggone it, it made me so mad I just got up from that table and went off to work without my breakfast."

- Tom Howard: I used to be a chiropractor slinger.

George Shelton: You don't say!
Tom Howard: Yes, I used to sing in all of the joints.
Mrs. Lee J. French, 716 East Fairview, Inglewood, Calif.
Heard on "It Pays to Be Ignorant:"
Tom: What's a skeleton?
George: A strip-teaser who over-did it.

Mrs. Helen DeFord, 6300 1/2 Pasadena Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.
Heard on Kay Kyser's Show:
Ishkabibble! Did you hear about the pants leg?
Ish Kabbible! Did you hear about the Ish Kabibble! There's no arm in that!

SATURDAY, APRIL 14

★ Indicates News Broadcasts.

RADIO LIFE LOGS are checked carefully and intelligently. Item by item each week, with program information furnished by the various stations. They are, therefore, as accurate as is humanly possible under present shifting wartime conditions.

At hours where no listing is shown for a local station, recorded music has been scheduled.

I Don't Teach Sewing... I Teach Self-Expression

of a suit or a coat as she can by producing an artistic painting. In fact, the same elements of perfect composition of line and harmony and contrast of color tones are just as important in a costume as they are in a picture."

Sally Spinner went on to explain that naturally a person has to learn the basic fundamentals of sewing before she can express herself artistically and with good taste in the fashions she creates for herself. However, by following basic modern methods whereby alterations are done before the scissors cut into the fabric, one soon learns how to conquer the old bugaboo of making clothes fit perfectly. "It's all very simple," says Sally Spinner, "when once a person realizes that all she needs to do to assure perfect fit is to alter a pattern to conform to her own individual figure measurements. Once a woman has figured out her measurement chart, alterations are merely a matter of arithmetic."

Fashionanalysis

Sally Spinner has developed an individual personality chart that she terms "Sally Spinner's Fabric-Fashionanalysis." On this chart she analyzes the outstanding characteristics of an individual's personality as they apply to clothes they should wear. This Fabric-Fashionanalysis which acts as a guide to help women select not only the style lines, but the types of fabrics and the colors they should wear as well, is now being made available to Sewing School Tuners-inners as a highlight of Sally Spinner's program.

As a further feature of this popular radio program which has now returned to the air for its fifth session, Sally Spinner invites all her listeners and many fans to enter her $1200 prize-winning sewing contest. This contest, which opened March 1 and closes May 1, offers a $100 War Bond first prize and $50 War Bond second prize to eight different types of entries. The first group, called the senior division and open to all women of eighteen years and older, offers first and second War Bond prizes for the winning dress, suit or coat made from any standard pattern.

Juniors Eligible

High school, junior high and college girls are invited to enroll in the junior division, open to anyone under eighteen years. A $100 first prize and $50 second prize will be awarded to the winning dress, suit or coat in this group. Another group offers a $100 first and $50 second War Bond prize to the winning children's dress, or coat, made by either a child or an adult. Open to both adults and juniors is still another group which offers $150 in War Bond prizes for the smartest remodelled garment.

Appealing to women with designing talent is still another group which awards a $100 War Bond first prize and $50 War Bond second prize for the most original dress, suit or coat personally designed by the entrant. And, for the home sewer with a feeling for color and drama in fashions of her own making, a glamor group offers $150 in War Bond prizes for the winning entry in evening dresses or lounge fashions.

As a further incentive, Sally Spinner announces that first prize winners in each of these six divisions will be entered in the finals of a national sewing contest conducted under the auspices of the Needlecraft Bureau of America.

In her Contest Rule Bulletin which has been made available to all entrants, Sally Spinner states that professional dressmakers and designers are barred from this strictly amateur designing and sewing contest. Contestants need not even purchase their materials or patterns at The Broadway and they may submit as many garments as they wish.

SELF-TAUGHT

Frank Devol, music conductor of the Rudy Vallee and "Music Depreciation" programs, calls himself a self-taught musician. As a teen-ager, he taught himself to play a clarinet, flute and trumpet, and then taught himself arranging by playing records over and over and copying the arrangements by ear.

When The Broadway first went on KHJ, back in February, 1943, for the first session of the Sewing School of the Air and the name Sally Spinner sprang full-fledged from the fertile brain of Audrey Kuthe, writer and producer of the program, no one visualized that Sally Spinner would become a Southern California institution.

Among the guests Sally Spinner is presenting during the current session, are Mrs. Iris Alberts, Home Economics Supervisor for the Los Angeles Public Schools, Pauline Delano, Vogue Fashionist, Margaret McAuliffe, talented California designer of Cohama Fabrics and Mrs. Edwards, Educational Supervisor for Singer Sewing Machine Co.

Less Work, More

By Lynn Roberts

▲ THE MIKEMAN'S SON, Ronny, is fifteen years old, attends Beverly Hills High School, excels in school athletics. Ken likes to go to all the games and cheers himself hoarse with all the youngsters.

A FRIEND of Ken Carpenter once told him that he (the friend) had been working such long and irregular hours for so many years that he could hardly remember what his son, who was now away in the Army, had looked like as a youngster. This set Ken to thinking. He and his young son, Ronny, were great pals but they really didn't see enough of each other because, as an NBC staff announcer, Ken often had to work nights. Then and there, the mikeman turned to free-lancing.

Today, he still keeps exceedingly busy (he announces NBC's "Kraft Music Hall" and "The Great Gildersleeve," the Blue's "One Man's Family," and "Command Performance;") he narrates such screen features as "Unusual Occupations," "Speaking of Animals" and Army training films; and does occasional picture work, (his latest film being "Weekend at the Waldorf"), but his time is regulated so that he can fully enjoy his home and his family—his wife, Betty, and son, Ronny, who is now fifteen years old.

The Carpenters have been married for twenty-two years. "We were college sweethearts," smiled the mikeman, "way back when." They live in a big English-style house in Beverly Hills, where they moved so that their boy could attend the Beverly Hills High School. Their home is furnished in French provincial. Ken and his wife have supervised all the decorating.

"I pride myself on my taste," Ken said. "I think I could have been an interior decorator."

New Interest

Recently, Carpenter has acquired a keen interest in paintings. He buys them for their own merit, not for the name of the artist, and likes the modern American works in particular. "I don't collect them to have an impressive display or for the money they might be worth later on," he explained. "I just like to have them on the wall to look at them."

The announcer also reads avidly, regularly digesting Time, Life, and four mystery stories a week. Of the current books, he is reading Clifton Fadiman's Anthology, looking forward to "The Thurber Carnival."

Ken likes to garden, but avers that he has a "red thumb," rather than a green one, since he "can't grow anything." "But I just like to put the stuff in the ground and mess around with it," he said modestly. He has a large garden at his home, plans some day to plant azalias as he thinks they would be the most satisfactory of plants.

He wants to travel when the war is over, as he has never been outside of the United States. He would like to go to Honolulu first, then to France. The latter country intrigues him since he has cultivated a keen interest in rare wines—an interest fostered by his friend and fellow wine-fancier, Carlton Morse, author of "One Man's Family."

His Hobbies

Ken has a phonograph and a large record collection, including all the recordings Bing has made in the past seven or eight years. He likes all kinds of music, from classical to hill-billy, when it is well done. He greatly enjoys the legitimate theater, and recently saw his first ballet, which he found fascinating. He sees the best motion pictures but doesn't call himself a moviegoer. He listens to the radio sparingly because he finds himself "too critical" and familiar with its intricacies to be able to relax and enjoy it completely. He listens to at least one newscast a day, however, and to "Mr. District Attorney" and the top Hollywood comedy shows weekly.

Carpenter is active behind-the-scenes in radio, being the local president of the American Federation of Radio Artists and national vice-president of the organization.

The Carpenters entertain at their home a good deal, go occasionally to night clubs (Ken likes to dance), and enjoy dining out (at Somers House, Savoy, Barckley Kitchen, Brown Derby).

with a wink and punched us in the ribs. "Been married four years. As a matter of fact, she's indirectly responsible for my being in radio. I was spurred on by the advice of an astrologer and my wife's taunts. Everytime I'd comment on a radio actor's performance, she'd stop me with 'Well, HE's on radio, isn't he?' Sort of put up or shut up, you know."

No Novice

"I wasn't exactly new to radio, you see, as I'd been a guest on everybody's show at one time or another. Cawn't believe it's been a year now since I joined the Jack Carson gang."

"My deah girl, DO I like radio? Don't you know there's nothing lazier than a lazy Englishman and—"—leaning forward with his hand to his mouth—"this is a delightful racket. I've got no responsibility, therefore no ulcers. I learned my three R's when I was a schoolboy. My 'rithmetic might be a bit wobbly—but there's nothing wrong with my reading. And all I have to do is read what somebody else wrote."

In spite of the fact that he loves to pretend he's a lazy scoundrel of an Englishman, Arthur Treacher is terribly busy—mostly doing things for other people. His famous war bond stints—"I was auctioned off like a horse, you know—" in which he "butled" for the highest bidder and raised over $5,000 for the War Loan Drive.

YOU'RE LATE, you know," said Arthur Treacher, glancing from his watch to your reporter. "In another moment," he drolled on, "I think I should have stamped my foot upon the floor—" but his stern face relaxed at the look of dismay upon ours and he broke into his rare smile.

"There, there, old girl," he comforted, "I was only kidding, you know. Tell me, what do you want to know about me? My home life, eh? Well, that's a relief. At least I don't have to be a butler."

"Ah yes," he continued, I do have a home. It's a six-room place, quite nice, with a front and back yard. I have a wife, four Yorkshire, spelled Y-O-R-K-S-H-I-R-E, terriers, and three cats. Now you're going to ask me if they get along, aren't you, old girl," he said, turning his unwavering blue eyes upon us.

Completely awed by this time, we obediently nodded, "uh huh." And he rambled on.

"Oh, of course, they do have their fights. Whenever it gets too loud I just shut half of them in the front yard and the other half in the back yard." He paused to look at us—but we were still silent.

"My wife's a splendid cook, good housekeeper—quite a girl," he added

Treacher pets. Nobody, we are sure, has mastered the ability to tell them apart but their owners. As you can see it is mealtime.

THE BIG BLACK CAT, JOE, is Arthur's special friend. Says he, "Joe is the best natured of the lot. Never gets in a row like the rest of the devils. In fact, he's a regular gentleman."

"My deah girl," he added, "I worked like a horse. If you're going to awsk me how I knew the intricacies of butling, I should tell you merely by observation. But I did have a bit of fun with a few people. I told them I was really a butler and my wife was a cook and when things got tough we loaned ourselves out. And do you know what," he sputtered with amusement, "they believed me."

Dwells on Office

"I say," said he, stretching out his lank, 6'4" frame to its full length, "did I tell you about my honorary mayorship of Sherman Oaks? The other day, Friday it was, at seven minutes past five the phone rang and I was informed of the wonderful news. Great, isn't it?" he smiled, slapping us on the back. "Just think, a few years ago I was an alien—now I'm not only a citizen but a mayor as well. Marvelous country."

In person, the elongated comedian, who has dubbed himself the "white Rochester," is a very distinguished-looking gentleman whom no one would dare to think of other than as the most advanced type of Britisher; whose witty, rakish repartee is as much a part of him as is his innate graciousness.

He loves to joke, constantly kids his wife, whom he calls the "missus," and would rather stay home than go anywhere else in the world. He employs an ex-jockey, George, as gardener and the two vie to see who can

WITH the airing of March 29, KNX's "Citizen's Forum" celebrated its fifty-second week of broadcasting. Sponsored by the Citizen's National Trust and Savings Bank of Los Angeles, "Citizen's Forum" is a public service program designed to demonstrate democracy in action.

It brings to the airwaves weekly an enlightening half-hour discussion of timely, provocative topics by the people best qualified to talk about them. On controversial subjects, both views are equally represented by the four persons chosen to participate in the forum.

Produced by Del Castillo, the program is a non-audience show, has had onlookers on only one occasion, when the topic of discussion was

▲ "LOS ANGELES PLANS for Prosperity" was a topic of special interest on "Citizens' Forum." Here, Mayor Fletcher Bowron talks it over with advertising man, Robert Hixon.

"Los Angeles Plans for Prosperity." Four hundred businessmen attended and took part in an hour's discussion of the subject before the actual broadcast began. This particular program was jointly sponsored by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and brought to light the city's plans for postwar production.

Each week, the program's participants meet early on Thursday evening, have dinner together at seven and enjoy a preliminary discussion of the night's topic. At nine, the group adjourns to a KNX studio, to spend the half hour immediately preceding the broadcast testing their voice levels and the program's procedure at the microphone. Only a skeleton script is employed, and only when Army or Navy personnel participate on the broadcast is a censor present.

Hottest Topic

• Hottest controversial topic that has been brought before the "Citizens' Forum" was the subject, "Shall the Japs Return to California?" By the end of the broadcast, the heated debate had every member of the panel talking at once, and KNX's switchboard was flooded with phone calls from frantic Californians who wanted to have their "say" on the subject.

On another occasion, when the topic under discussion was "Should India Be Free Now?" the members of the panel debated the subject calmly during the program, but after the broadcast, when the discussion was resumed, one of the participants lost his temper and left the room.

Dr. Wallace Sterling, professor of modern history at Caltech and CBS news analyst, acts as moderator for the forum. He keeps the discussion flowing smoothly and when it is time for it to be brought to a close, he signals to the members of the panel by raising his broad, clenched fist.

cerning her career. She's determined to make a name for herself and then she'll be more than willing to settle down in that dream house with her dream man and raise two or three children.

"Do you know any forest rangers?" she suddenly asked. "No? That's too bad. I'd like to marry one and live in the mountains. Um," she murmured with a twinkle in her eye, "wonder who would know one?"

nervous than she had ever been in her life. Bing knew it, and tried to relax her by kidding the words to the song. "It Ain't Necessarily So" called for some interpolations. "Methusalem lived nine hundred years" went the words, and Bing chimed in with "He sure was an old man." Only Bing didn't say it exactly like that, and Dinah not only relaxed, she got hysterical.

More Duets

Since then Bing and Dinah have repeated their Gershwin duets several times. In San Francisco they sang twice together in the hospitals. They went to Richmond, California, for duets before the Henry Kaiser shipbuilders, and Dinah launched a ship so enthusiastically she splashed champagne all over Bing's new pink shirt.

"Screen Guild Theater" wanted Bing for the radio version of his picture, "Holiday Inn." Bing asked Dinah to play opposite him. Promoters of a War Relief golf tournament lined Bing up as a contestant. He brought along Dinah to caddy.

Chicago asked them to sing together at an "I Am An American" Day before 120,000 people. Kentucky celebrated Stephen Foster Day and one of its Kentucky colonels (a real one) paid all line charges to get Bing and Dinah to sing from Hollywood. They had to be at the studio at eight in the morning — "which proves," says Dinah, "that we love Stephen Foster and Kentucky."

One of the finest radio broadcasts in years resulted when Bing visited Dinah and Paul Whiteman on a summer program two summers ago. Yet, strangely, Dinah has never sung on Bing's own program nor he on hers since she's headed her own show.

Overseas

A year ago Bing and Dinah were mentioned by General Eisenhower as two of the Hollywood stars his men most wanted to see and hear. As soon as her program went off the air Dinah headed overseas and a few weeks later Bing followed. They met for one day in France and did a show together for many thousands of doughboys. Bing thoughtfully informed her that her rooms in London, which officials had assured her were protected from robot bombs, were a mess from a direct hit!

Less Work, More Play

Asked for a fault, the announcer admitted to procrastination. "Perhaps," he added, "we should call it 'laziness.' No," he laughed, "let's say 'procrastination'."

He confessed to having had something of "the theater" in him ever since he was a child, although, before radio, he was in the advertising business. "I remember, though," reminisced Ken, "that we used to stage shows as youngsters. Once, with our realistic 'props,' we almost burned down the barn at my Aunt Jean's back in Illinois."

Carpenter also admitted that he is an "introvert," and usually refuses outside assignments because, when he is not at a radio or movie microphone, he is not at ease in front of people.

One Idiosyncrasy

As for an idiosyncrasy, he laughed, "My wife says that I always rub my stomach when I read commercials. I guess I'm trying to push it in."

Ken finds his greatest enjoyment with his son, who is active in school athletics. "I go to all the games," the mikeman grinned, "and root and cheer with all the kids."

He and Ronny also like to play baseball in the back yard.

"Ronny," Carpenter concluded, "hasn't shown interest in radio, as yet, although he did write a couple of scripts one time. They were full of awful puns. I'm afraid he might grow up to be a gag man!"

raise the larger roses. "I'll be darned," he muttered, "if his aren't larger some times. But I wouldn't tell him."

"You might say in passing, old girl, that my home life embraces all of the bad habits butlers aren't allowed to indulge in. Oh, my," he laughed, "m'wife says I'm the world's sloppiest creature. Never pick up after m'self."

"And as for my home. Best thing about it is—it's paid for."
