Life for over two years, and I enjoy it very much. I like especially your autographed pictures and those entitled "One for the Album." Why couldn't you eliminate those articles at the front of the magazine like "Something New," and "No More Roamin'?"

But really, I'm no reformer, and I don't mean to run you down. However, in my opinion, "Teel Variety Hall" is a Saturday night program highlight, and should be listed as one among the other highlights of Saturday night. I love "Truth or Consequences," Judy Canova, "Mayor of the Town," "Date With Judy," "Fibber McGee and Molly," and numerous other programs, but I do think that "Teel Variety Hall" should go on the highlight list. Thank you very much.

("Teel Variety Hall" is highlighted as "Variety Hall.")

J. L. Kennedy, 1129 East California Street, Glendale 6, Calif.

Sirs: Enjoyed the story about Marion Mann, but someone is wrong I think. You stated that Marion was formerly with Don McNeill's "Breakfast Club." Well, this morning, bright as you please, Marion sang her good morning greeting on the "Breakfast Club." Can there be two singers having the same name? I sure would like to know.

The King Cole Trio seem to be a favorite with most of your Radio Lifers. I wonder what is wrong with me, as I just can't take them. For my money I'll take the Ink Spots.

As for the commercials, we just think they are funny and laugh about them. Why grumble about a commercial when the announcer is just doing his job—and he deserves credit.

We humbly apologize to Miss Mann and to her listeners. She is, indeed, still heard as an integral member of Don McNeill's happy "Breakfast Clubbers."

Edith C. Bond, 1435 Alvarado Terrace, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: I am writing to say how very much we are enjoying Evelyn Bigsby's new radio program. As I'm a real fan, you might know her newsy talk is my delight. Only have one complaint to make. Her time on the air is too short.

What has become of Joan Blaine of the "Mary Marlin" program? I am such an admirer of her beautiful speaking voice.

With the discontinuance of "Mary Marlin," Joan Blaine decided to take a brief rest from the airlines. It is likely she will be back at a microphone ere long.

Jack Owens Fan Club, 64 Summit Avenue, North Dartmouth, Mass.

Sirs: Will you please publish a story on Jack Owens in a near issue? We enjoy your magazine very much, but believe you're unfair to Jack and all his friends. We believe that although Jack has never had the publicity that Sinatra has had, more people want more stories about Jack and less about Sinatra. If you can't publish a story on Jack Owens soon, please satisfy us with a pin-up pose to gaze upon.

Swooneerely.

P.S. We would appreciate it very much if you mention the fact to your readers, that there's a big fan club for Jack which has his full support, and they are cordially invited to join.

We don't make a habit of plugging fan clubs, as it would surely be a business in itself—but we do want you to know that we haven't neglected your favorite. See Radio Life, issue of June 3, 1945.

Lillian M. Card, 1163 Granville Avenue, Los Angeles 24, Calif.

Sirs: I can't agree with a recent correspondent in the last issue of Radio Life's "Ear Inspires the Pen," regarding Mark Breneman and Gene Baker. I don't think there is any comparison. Baker's songs were all so very good, I trust we have him back soon on a program where he brings a smile.

After moving to Los Angeles from Glendale I find my Radio Life every week at my Roberts' market, and I always buy two, one for myself, and one for a friend. Your magazine is still tops with me.

P.S.—Six ladies here vote for Gene Baker.

Arch Owens, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: If it is not considered desirable to withhold it, will you please let us know who plays little "Margaret" on "One Man's Family"? She certainly is outstanding in a most interesting program. By the way, isn't Grandfather Barbour that sterling actor, Philip Merivale?

Dawn Bender plays Margaret; J. Anthony Smythe portrays "Henry Barbour."

"Chained To A Typewriter"

By Evelyn Bigsby

▲ WRITER-PRODUCER Helen Morgan has been alternately accused of resembling Irene Dunne, Greer Garson, and Joan Davis. But her lovely prematurely gray hair is her distinguishing feature.

NBC WRITER-producer Helen Morgan ("One Woman's Secret") has been alternately accused of looking like Irene Dunne, Greer Garson, and Joan Davis, but her distinguishing feature is her naturally curly, prematurely gray hair which frames an alert, youthful face.

Helen calls herself a "hack writer" and says she's "chained to a typewriter," but those familiar with her work know her as the enterprising originator of more than half a dozen air shows, with "loads of ideas for more" coursing her cranium. Her current program, "One Woman's Secret," is heard five times weekly at 4 p.m. over NBC-KFI.

Miss Morgan, an ex-newspaper woman who ran a semi-weekly at Carmel, California, broke into radio "cold" in San Francisco by reading an audition part for "One Man's Family" and to her great amazement getting the role. She carried over her writing ability from paper to microphone, gradually adding production to her abilities; but she'd prefer to write rather than produce any day.

Exciting Writing

One of her most exciting assignments came last year before she moved to Hollywood. Eddie Cantor went north to stage a non-stop, twenty-four hour bond drive over the airwaves and Miss Morgan was asked to write his script. She remained to watch the program until 3 a.m., was just making plans to desert the studio for a soft bed at home when the station unexpectedly called on her to write a half-hour script for Cantor to broadcast overseas at 5:30 a.m.

While her co-workers hovered over Helen's desk and cried "you can't do it," she whipped out page after page, with sips of brandy and coffee bolstering her determined, but flagging morale. As fast as a page was completed, it was snatched from her typewriter—the last sheet being pulled out just in time to rush it to Cantor. After the broadcast, the comic lost no time hustling into the control room to give his writer a vigorous hug for her phenomenal work.

Helen's current air series was born during an extremely sad time in her life—a year ago Christmas. She and her husband, Actor-Producer Ivan Green, had just moved to Hollywood when she was summoned back north by her father's illness. Her temporary quarters there boasted a bed of box springs—and no typewriter. Her father was critically ill in the hospital; Helen and her husband were spending the holidays apart; it was Christmas Eve—which all added up to a very depressing situation.

Sad Time

Helen left her father's bedside and walked out the hospital doors to confront a pouring rain. There wasn't a taxi within a radius of five miles. Her eyes wet with tears and her feet wet from sloshing around in the rain, she trudged from the hospital gates to the nearest bus. The message telling her that "One Woman's Secret" had been accepted for the air was awaiting her in her make-shift quarters.

It stopped raining; she batted out some scripts on a rented typewriter; her father got well; Helen rejoined her husband in Hollywood; and her show started merrily on its way, which brought a sad saga to a happy culmination.

In her business associations, Miss

REHEARSAL of

"Romance of the Ranchos"

2. FERNANDO IS TOO SLEEPY to take part in his wife's scheme to thwart Jimmy's intentions to wed their niece.

Marguerita: Fernando, he is marrying Dolores to get the rancho, to make himself rich! We will do something about it.
Fernando: Tomorrow. I am tired.

1. ROMANCE BLOOMS full as the new moon as handsome Jimmy proposes to lovely Dolores the day he is to leave on a business trip. Fernando, sitting in as the duena (chaperone), is asleep—as usual.

Jimmy: Goodbye, my love. I will be back soon to make you my bride.

Dolores: May the stars light your way home.

Sunday, 9:30 p.m.
CBS-KNX

EVERY SUNDAY evening over CBS, a stellar Hollywood dramatic cast enacts for the enjoyment of ether audiences thrilling, adventurous, amusing tales of the colorful days of early California. The story "televised" on the accompanying pages, relates the romantic tale of a young water-peddler who spent his days travelling from house to house,

3. CAPTAIN OTIS BRINGS bad news to the beautiful Dolores. Marguerita has persuaded Otis, an old friend of the family, to tell Dolores that her father owed him money, which Dolores will have to pay by selling the ranch. Marguerita believes that Jimmy, a mere water peddler, will then withdraw his offer of marriage.

4. JIMMY RETURNS, and Dolores tells him the crisis that has arisen. Marguerita watches him intently for his reaction.
 Jimmy: Dolores, what's all this? Aren't you glad to see me?
 Dolores: I cannot help crying, Jimmy. The rancho has been taken from me.

5. JIMMY, HOWEVER, HAS good news. He has promoted his idea for an easier method of irrigation. Marguerita is angry. Fernando is sleepy.

Jimmy: You needn't worry, Dolores. We'll be married right away and I'll buy you the finest house in the pueblo. Come on, I'll tell you about it.

Marguerita (as Dolores and Jimmy leave): Fernando! Did you hear him! He is going to marry her, anyway, even without the rancho!

Fernando (snoring loudly): ZZZzzzzzz!!

leaving for each family a bucket of water, pouring it into their clay ollas (urns).

Pedro De Cordoba is the show's narrator. The cast pictured includes: Tom Holland as Jimmy; Bernice Barrett as Dolores; Eileen Prince as Marguerita; Bob Barron as Fernando; Paul McVeigh as Captain Otis.

6. CAPTAIN OTIS, LEARNING of Jimmy's integrity, makes haste to let him and Dolores know that the ranch is not really lost, that it was a false scheme of Marguerita and Fernando, who believed Jimmy to be a fortune-hunter.

Dolores: Then father didn't owe you the money, Captain Otis?

Captain: Of course not! It was all a trick to save you from a fortune-hunter.

7. ANGRY, JIMMY TAKES HIS wrath out on poor innocent Fernando, who had done nothing but sleep. Marguerita thinks he has it coming.

Fernando: Trouble, trouble. I wish I never had to wake up.

Jimmy: Don't worry, my friend. I shall be happy to let you sleep!

▲ NINA KLOWDIN AND YALE BUDIN (right), who are heard on many network dramatic shows, run through a script with Hal Styles prior to appearing as guests on his "So You'd Like to Be in Radio?" broadcast on KFWB. Every week, a free scholarship at the Radio Players of America broadcasting school is given some talented radio aspirant on the show.

▲ "LOUD, BUT NOT GOOD" seems to be the reaction of the Mills Brothers, John (left) and Harry to Hal's crooning. A touch of comedy relief like this helps brighten up Hal's "So You'd Like to Be in Radio?" heard on KFWB every Sunday afternoon, 3:30.

So You'd Like To Be In Radio?

▲ COSLOW GIVES DIRECTIONS to Hal as the latter's daughters, April (left) and Patricia, look on. Other recent guest judges on the program include Screen Stars Lawrence Tierney, Billy Gilbert, Martin Garralaga and Herbert Rawlinson; News Commentators John B. Better Than

To Radio Life's way of thinking, the Sigmund Romberg summer replacement is so head and shoulders above the show it replaced—Hildegard—that Mr. Raleigh should keep it on the other 39 weeks of the year.

Meet the New Missus

Everybody met the missus last week on CBS' "Meet the Missus" when over a thousand studio guests in Earl Carroll's (and many more at home) witnessed a wedding.

At 2:35 p. m. pretty Marie Schmidt became the bride of Seaman 3/C Frank Green over a coast-to-coast network. This, the second wedding presented by emcee Jack Bailey and his happy crew, was a simpler ceremony than the preceeding one of last November.

The bride wore a white tailored suit and carried a huge bouquet of white gladioli. The bridegroom, Frank Green, joined the bride upon the stage for the ceremony performed by Dr. Kerstetter of the Hollywood Lutheran Church.

A Gruen watch for each, a make-up set for the bride, and a traveling kit for the bridegroom were presented to the newly-married couple by Bailey. And in conclusion, "Meet the Missus" sent the happy couple off with a wealth of good marital advice as given by a group of "old married couples."—"Share fifty fifty, and, learn to cook."

Wrong Nag

Tuffy Goff, "Abner" of the American's "Lum and Abner," tells about the day he and Phil Harris spent at the races. It had been a bad day, and they'd picked what they thought was a winner for the first time. Their whole party was pretty excited as they watched their favorite round the track. Suddenly, they were conscious that Phil was rooting for another horse.

"Come on, Molasses Joe!" he shouted.

Tuffy turned to him, puzzled.

"Phil, you're calling for the wrong horse. Don't you remember, we bet on Gallant One!"

"I know, I know," Phil beamed, "but what a WONDERFUL name! I LOVE that Molasses Joe. Come on, Molasses Joe!"

She Ought to Know

Mother-in-law Mrs. Helen Heron of Malvern, Long Island, New York, told Cliff Arquette, while being interviewed on "Glamor Manor" over the American, that she had twin grandchildren, three years old. When Arquette asked her how she told them apart, she stopped the show with: "Very easy—one's a boy and the other's a girl."

Santa Anita

Radio went to the races in a big way Saturday, June 30, when NBC broadcast the $100,000 handicap from Santa Anita over a coast to coast hook-up. Veteran Clem McCarthy trained out from the east to call the race, while Joy Storm, experienced mikeman from Hollywood, provided "color" description of the broadcast, which was supervised by NBC's News and Special Events Head, Joe Alvin. Joe Kay served as field supervisor.

Radio Life, meeting the famed McCarthy, found him to be a crisply delightful person, who when asked if he expected to linger in Southern California for a few days, replied, "I never stay for the funeral!"

One of those upsets which radio people always must anticipate developed when the handicap, scheduled to be run at 4:42 p.m., was delayed until 4:55, and the broadcast had to go on virtually backward. Personalities who had been spotted for a few words over the air after the big race, had to be rustled to the mike before. This resulted in one amusing situation when Anita Colby was interviewing Joan Blondell. Miss Blondell was introduced to the listening audience, but instead of her dulcet tones, came the brusque voice of Clem McCarthy saying "The horses are at the post!"

'Standard Hour' to Coast

Once again West Coast radio listeners will have an opportunity to hear the Sunday night concerts from the world-famed Hollywood Bowl, when the "Standard Hour" broadcasts the music of Leopold Stowkowski and ninety-piece Hollywood Bowl orchestra beginning Sunday, July 15.

The "Standard Hour" which has been bringing western listeners the finest in music for nearly nine years, will originate at the Bowl for eight weeks, from July 15 through September 9.

SOUND AND FURY DEPT.

Harry Essman, who with Jack Dick handles sound effects for Columbia's "The Saint," was running through various recordings of auto crashes to find one that suited the script. Suddenly Harry gave Producer William Robson the high-sign. "This is it, Bill," he shouted. "Somebody just crashed into my parked car . . . and it sounded just like that!"

RUSH GOOK - SOLDIER

Billy Idelson, once a famed small fry as radio's Rush Gook in the NBC "Vic and Sade" series, but now one of Uncle Sam's fliers, piloted his Navy Hellcat into the dawn over Kyushu the other day and knocked two Nip bombers out of the sky, according to reports received at NBC Chicago studios.

TRAILING A CAREER

When Bill Gargan, emcee of Columbia's "G. I. Laffs," chose to follow in his father's footsteps for a while after graduating from school, he found he was trailing many a suspicious character around New York. Bill's father, it seems, was a private detective!

JACK'S PROGRESS

Funny-man Jack Kirkwood, star of his own CBS show, wasn't always a radio gagster. Prior to his mike appearance, Jack played romantic leads in the movies . . . and in "Moby Dick" he doubled for the late, great John Barrymore.

ISH IS A LONGHAIR

Pvt. Merwyn Bogue, better known as Ish Kabibble, former comedian on NBC's "College of Musical Knowledge," has been forbidden to get a GI haircut by his commanding officer. This is so he can entertain his fellow soldiers between training periods where he is stationed.

NEXT WEEK

Heading next week's festivities is an intimate sketch of Los Angeles' radio-minded Mayor, Fletcher Bowron . . . We meet a host of other radioites, too. Edward Everett Horton, who is rapidly becoming a terrific ether booster, reminisces in a fashion that will keep you chuckling . . . Earl Ross gives the low-down on how to become a 'character' . . . Slick chick, Dyana Gayle is revealed as a busy homemaker and doting mother . . . and Radio Life, itself, takes a dollar tour of beautiful, remodelled Station KECA . . . Be sure to purchase your copy early. You'll want to come along.

Now if we can always have a brand new show to tell you about each week, we'll never be at a loss for a "lead" story—the bane of every column writer's life! But from the looks of things at AMERICAN for the summer and fall—the trouble will not be the lack of new shows to write about, but the over-abundance of fine new shows which deserve "top billing."

This time we have a dilly—it's "Curtain Time!" Right this way, two comfortable seats on the sofa! Yes, we said sofa because "Curtain Time" is a new show (KECA at 6:00 p.m. every Wednesday) that makes it possible for you to hear a hit play every week—right in your own living room. Complete 3-act plays, especially produced and directed for the listeners' relaxation by Harry Holcombe, have been arranged. Your leading lady is that talented actress, Beryl Vaughn, and Harry Elders, familiar for his many radio appearances, has been cast for the leading male roles. So give it a listen next Wednesday night, KECA at 6, and see if we're not right!

... A Best Bet Every Day — KECA ...

We told you! "County Fair" was a smash hit! If you didn't hear that first show last Tuesday night at 7:00, you missed a bet! And just to show you what we're talking about—here's a picture of that genial emcee—Jack Bailey. So step right up, ladies and gents, how could a show with a guy who looks like this at its helm, fail to be a hit? Bailey is also headman on that popular Sunday quiz, "Darts for Dough." By the way, Bailey's aide, Poni Adams, that beauteous "escort," on the "Darts for Dough" show, has just been signed for the feminine lead in the film, "Law for Pecos," opposite Kirby Grant.

... A Best Bet Every Day — KECA ...

ALSO IN THE DRAMA DEPARTMENT—

There are four other best bets we'd like to call to your attention. In the first place, "David Harding-Counterspy," that super-sleuth, is amazing his fans one hour earlier—7 o'clock on Wednesday nights, and also on Wednesday nights at 9, KECA brings you "Dark Venture," a top-notch series of psychological dramas from the same creative mind that brought you "The Whistler"—J. Donald Wilson. Dealing with the realm of the human mind, each half-hour is filled with suspense and mystery.

Murder mystery fans who fancy themselves as arm-chair detectives have the opportunity to match wits with the experts and help solve the "whodunit" question on "Murder Will Out" (Tuesdays, 9:30 p.m. KECA). Eddie Marr, who plays Detective Nolan, in the series made his first stage appearance before he had learned to talk!

If you like people and enjoy following the happenings in the lives of a typical American family, then you probably already know about "Hawthorne House," heard on KECA at 8:30 on Monday nights. At "Hawthorne House," you share with Mother Sherwood and her family and guests all the laughter and gaiety, the tragedies and trials, of their lives in wartime America.

... A Best Bet Every Day — KECA ...

MIDDAY MIXUPS—A shift of programs around the noon hour may have "misplaced" your favorite—so for the keen news analysis of John B. Kennedy listen at 12 o'clock on KECA, followed by that lovely lady of the cinema, Constance Bennett, at 12:15. Your old favorite, the Gospel Singer, presents familiar hymns at 11:30, and you'll find "Correspondents Around the World", at 11:45. Johnny Olsen and that audience participation show on which anything can happen, and usually does, "Ladies Be Seated", is now a half-hour treat for KECA listeners, 12:30 to 1:00. "Hymns of All Churches," that network old-timer, debuted on American this week—now a weekday feature at 1:45 on KECA.

... A Best Bet Every Day — KECA ...

ON A SUNDAY AFTERNOON—Carol Bruce and Curt Massey, now hosting on "Sunday at the N-K Ranch" (KECA at 1:30) are subbing for the Andrews Sisters, summing in the South Pacific, singing for the soldiers ... (and a few Marines). Question: "Why didn't they take Gabby along to scare the Japs?" ... Paul Whiteman and his "Summer Show," starring Georgia Gibbs and the Merry Macs, with assorted guests, is a 3 o'clock musical treat.

... A Best Bet Every Day — KECA ...

Gags of the Week

For the best Gags of the Week, heard over Radio and sent Radio Life, tickets will be sent winners for admission to radio broadcasts. Send your best gag selection to 1029 West Washington Boulevard, Los Angeles.

Mrs. Betty Nekeferoff, 820 West Jefferson Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif.

Heard on "Breakfast in Hollywood":

Corny: Did you ever hear of the jeweler who got fired?

Tom Breneman: No, what happened?

Corny: He was fired because he always left rings in the bathtub.

Mrs. E. G. Marquardt, 322 East Grand Avenue, El Segundo, Calif.

Heard on "G. E. Houseparty":

Art Linkletter (interviewing 11-year-old student): You say you have a couple of rabbits. What are their names?

Child: Margaret and Claire.

Linkletter: Margaret and Claire—hmmmm, that's no way to improve business.

Alice Del Campo, 423 West 28th Street, Los Angeles 7, Calif.

Heard on the Alan Young show:

David: Alan, why don't you ever kiss my sister, Betty?

Alan: Kissing is dangerous. It gives people germs.

David: Well, yesterday I went to the park, and the navy is sure in for an epidemic.

Mrs. R. J. Constable, 111 North Lamar Street, Burbank, Calif.

Heard on "G. E. Houseparty":

Art Linkletter: Son, do you think it is proper for women to wear slacks downtown shopping, and on the streets?

Young school boy: Well, I think they should wear them when they go into a shoe store.

Genevieve Janowicz, 927 West 84th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Heard on the Kate Smith show:

Kate: Well, Jackie, how are you today? You don't look so good.

Jackie: I don't feel so good. As I was walking into the studio something fell on my head.

Kate: What was it?

Jackie: Me.

Mrs. J. Chinello, 771 Hyperion Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif.

Heard of the Bob Burns show:

Bob: Some people get married so many times that it's confusing for some kids to know who to send greetings to on Father's Day. In fact, there's a new greeting card out now for some of the Hollywood youngsters. Instead of saying "Greetings to My Dad," it says, "Happy Father's Day—To Whom It May Concern."

BARRYMORE'S TRICK

Lionel Barrymore, dean of American actors and star of Columbia's "Mayor of the Town" program, rarely talks seriously about his profession and usually belittles his own dramatic talents with a tongue-in-cheek quip. Recently an aspiring actor asked Barrymore what he had to do to become a great movie star. "Just be there at eight in the morning," the "Mayor" replied.

Radio Roundup from KFI

A prominent personality behind the scene of the KFI-HOLLYWOOD BOWL AUDITIONS is producer Ruth Franzen and upon her not-too-broad shoulders rests the complete responsibility for this weekly half-hour show. The program, as you know, presents two promising non-professional vocalists each Monday at 9:30 who are competing for a debut in the Hollywood Bowl under Leopold Stokowski on August 26th. Ruth's job is naturally more exacting when you consider that many of the singers are appearing on the air for the first time and any little case of "jitters" among the contestants is an added problem falling into her lap. On the personal side, Miss Franzen is in her twenties and a graduate from the Pasadena Community Theatre School. She had four years of professional acting before entering radio but oddly enough has never read a dramatic line over the air. Her first ambition was to be a high school music instructor but that went by the boards while she was still in her teens. This coming Monday evening, the BOWL AUDITIONS presents 27-year old lyric-coloratura soprano Catherine Manning and P. Edwards Roberts, 22-year old baritone as soloists. Claude Sweeten directs the KFI Symphony orchestra and Russ Stewart announces.

Ruth Franzen

ADDED NOTES ABOUT MUSIC SHOWS: Rise Stevens the Metropolitan star heard over KFI Mondays at 6:30 is the only member of her family who displayed musical aptitude. In 1935 she was selected as a semi-finalist in the Metropolitan auditions of the air and was offered a Met contract which she refused because she wanted to continue her studies in Europe. It wasn't until 1938 that the lovely mezzo-soprano returned to America to accept the Met offer... Victor Borge, pianist-comedian, heard Tuesday evenings at 6:30 has had his struggles with the English language. Upon arriving here from his native Denmark in 1940 he immediately went to the nearest movie theater hoping to learn English. He departed in complete state of confusion, jabbering to himself incoherently—the picture he had selected was an all-Walt Disney cartoon show.

Believe it or not: Roland Young, the star of the Adventures of Topper (Thursdays 9:00) earned money for the first time singing in a church choir in his native England.

PHOTOGRAPHIC K.P.

Mary Astor, soon to debut in a new Columbia broadcast series, has joined the ranks of "bulb-peelers." That organization includes much-photographed stars who delight in peeling the protective layer of lacquer from used flash-bulbs while killing time in radio studios. Jo Gilbert, the originator, says, "It might sound crazy, but it's more fun than peeling nail-polish."

MEET THE MISTER

Jay Stewart, who announces the KNX "Welcome Home" series, takes over additional duties as Jack Bailey's side-kick on the Columbia Pacific Network show "Meet the Missus." He replaces Roy Maypole, who shifts to new mike assignments.

ARTICULATE TRAM

That new "talking trombone" heard in Billy Artzt's Sunday "Blondie" airshow is being played by Ray Coniff, who recently joined the Artzt musical contingent. Coniff was formerly with Artie Shaw.

CAT'S MEOW

"The Whistler," Columbia's mystery-man who knows many secrets about people, has been getting quite a bit of fan mail lately. One lady from San Francisco wrote in asking him to help solve the mystery of her missing cat, who strayed away two weeks ago. The thing that bothers her is at night she hears his "meow" but can't seem to locate where the sound is coming from.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Janet Waldo, who portrays the teenage CBS Corliss Archer, was informed by mail the other day that she and an ardent fan had a great deal in common because the fan's first name was Waldo, by his own choice. Waldo explained that he had been listening to her program for two years, and because it was his favorite, he decided to take Janet's last name for his first.

BOOKSTORE BROWSER

Columbia's star and emcee, Jack Kirkwood, is a second-hand bookstore haunter from a way back. A couple of years ago, while browsing in one of his favorite bookstores, he found a copy of the original Joe Miller's Joke Book, valued at one thousand dollars. Now he's looking for another one.

While in New York, Frank Bull will transcribe interviews with eastern bandleaders for his American Dances air show on KFWB to be presented here during his absence.

BONNETS FOR BONDS

NBC's Hedda Hopper is responsible for the sale of at least a half-million dollars in War Bonds through auctioning off her famous hats.

"PNEUMONIA GARDEN"

An outdoor feature of the Jim Jordan home at Encino, Calif., is Jordan's "Pneumonia Garden." It consists entirely of plants sent to the hospital last year when Fibber McGee and Molly were missing from the air by Jordan's pneumonia attack, and includes floral gifts from President Niles Trammell of NBC, Don Quinn, Bob Hope, Gildersleeve and others.

Many listeners are still not aware that "Teeny," the pesky little girl who gets in Fibber's hair, is played by Molly herself. This was proven again on a recent NBC show when the studio audience looked in vain for a little girl on the stage. After the broadcast, telephone calls and letters came from listeners who wanted to know who played the role.

Actress Betty Lou Head, a recent recruit from San Francisco, has no wardrobe worries. She never has to worry about meeting a counterpart wearing a dress just like her brand new one. Betty Lou has been designing and making her own clothes for years and is receiving so many requests from friends for copies that she laughingly says she is going to set up shop.

OVER THE TOP

KGFJ proudly announces that more than $15,000 in war bonds were sold through that station during the recent 7th War Loan. Direct bond sales at KGFJ were made almost exclusively on their 8:00 p.m. program "Of Words and Verse" conducted by Rene Bozarth. This is the highest total for any 15 minute show on any independent station during this drive.

DISC DILETTANTE

Norman Bradford Granz, local jazz impresario frequently heard on the Al Jarvis, KFWB program, has his own plans for a record show. Tentatively titled "Jazz—American Art Form," it will present a narrated history of American music accompanied by the recordings of the men who have developed and popularized it.

Radio Life Goes On the Air

Life, our editor!

Green eyeshade? No-o-o. Maybe green allright, but it'll be a saucy veil to a perky Carnegie hat. Sleeves rolled up? Um-mm, they're too short and one doesn't roll lace. Necktie pulled loose? Never! Feminine throats rarely are covered by such things. Striped shirt? Well, could be, that is, if "Dame Fashion" happens to be dictating such this season for the well dressed lady.

And as for "bawling out" orders—you'd be surprised what a well-modulated, smiling, female voice does to the hard-shelled radio veterans when they pick up their phone to hear "Hello—this is Evelyn Bigsby."

She's as much of a success story as any she has ever written for this magazine. She stands about five feet, six inches in stocking feet, wears brightly-colored suits, and large costume jewelry. She is always very well-groomed, and her mahogany-colored hair is worn in some up-raised, waved, and going-to-a-party manner, that is definitely spirit-lifting. Her dark eyes are constantly moving from person to person, from detail to detail, quietly observing items that will be noted down later.

"Hello, this is Evelyn," she croons into the telephone. "Do you have anything for me (news items, hot tips, gossip)? ... That was a swell something-or-other (performance you gave, dress you had on, script you wrote, number you played). Well, call me up sometime. Don't forget. 'Bye.'" You'd think she had nothing to do for the remainder of the day, but be social.

But more than ever, with Evelyn well into her second thirteen weeks of bringing Radio Life to the air on the ABC network, she finds her time in constant demand. When Editor Evelyn and Radio Life took to the ether waves some three months ago, it was with the intent of bringing to you the behind-scenes stories of radio. She doffs her hat to the little-heard-of man, the technician, the soundman, the engineer, as well as the great and near great. She devotes as much time to reporting the intimate, backstage news to you as she does in bringing well-known guest stars to the mike. On the air as well as in print, Radio Life still adheres to its original premise of paying tribute to all those who play a part in bringing good ether entertainment to you.

As busy as this duo-role of magazine and radio reporter keeps Evelyn Bigsby, she manages, in addition, to be an all-round companion to her teen-age daughter (this is her No. 1 job, seven days a week), do her own housework, go to see her parents, entertain friends in her Morgan is a vivacious, straight to the point, tireless person who says: "I'm no genius. Tear my stuff apart if you want to"; those accustomed to temperamental writers and bad tempered producers hardly believe their ears. She has that rare faculty of pursuing business interests in an impersonal way.

In personal life she likes to stay up late (usually until 1 a.m.) and gets up at 8...adores a jade dice her husband gave her, and her mother's locket from France... consumes unreasonable portions of chicken, almond and tortillas (not, however, at the same meal)... likes to work at least four scripts ahead... goes in for elaborate costume jewelry, smartly tailored clothes and pert hats which she perches on one side of her startlingly silver hair. Her one extravagance is lovely furs.

charming Beachwood Drive apartment, serving meticulously-planned home-cooked dinners, and faithfully remembers birthdays and anniversaries of her friends and fellow workers with delightfully personal gestures of graciousness.

All of which surely adds up to some kind of a record for efficiency.

Everybody remembers Evelyn. Mention Radio Life to Bob Burns and he'll tell you, "Oh, yes, that's the magazine Evelyn Bigsby puts out. Now there's a real woman. You know, she kind of reminds me of my niece, Hortense..."

Herbert Marshall would say, "Delightful magazine... delightful person, too, your editor, Evelyn Bigsby... Charming person."

Tibbett TALKS

ABOUT THE "Hit Parade"

By Richard Baker

Saturday, 6:00 p.m.
CBS-KNX

WHAT DO YOUR opera fans think of your 'Hit Parade' activities?" we queried of Lawrence Tibbett soon after the famed Metropolitan Opera star had ushered us into his comfortable suite at the Biltmore Hotel. Much-discussed has been Mr. Tibbett's recent venture into the field of popular music with his bow as crooner of the nation's top swing-and-sweet tunes on CBS' Saturday night "Hit Parade." Radio Life lost no time in seeking Mr. T's idea on the subject, when he was in Los Angeles during his recent concert tour.

The singer, friendly, gracious, and looking very suave in casual brown slacks and a boxed sports coat, settled his six foot, one hundred and seventy pound frame on the couch and readily replied to our aforementioned query.

"I should say opera followers are half and half, pro and con the adventure," he opined. "Some believe it constructive and some destructive. The 'cons' say it's degrading to my standards. The 'pros' say my interpretations of the popular numbers will bring out the good qualities of it, that it deserves a real musician's approach."

"What do you think of your 'Hit Parade' singing?" we asked him then.

"I like it," he smiled, "and I agree with the people who take the pro side of the question. I believe my school of singing can offer something the popular school hasn't had."

Not Most Thrilling

Mr. Tibbett doesn't consider his debut in the popular realm of music the most thrilling event of his career, however. He continues to cherish the memory of his first great operatic triumph. It was in 1925 when, as an unknown, he sang "Ford" in "Falstaff" at the Met. The next day, he was acclaimed by critics as a "find."

Born in Bakersfield, California, Lawrence Tibbett came to Los Angeles as a small boy when his mother opened a rooming house here after his father, sheriff at Bakersfield, was killed by a desperado named Jim McKinney.

Young Larry studied music here—with an instructor when he could afford it, by himself when he had no money to pay a teacher. On graduation from Manual Arts High School, he played important roles in a Shakespearean repertory company; then his voice and acting talent brought him into light opera up and down the Pacific Coast.

During the war, he served in the Navy, and following his discharge, in rapid succession came his first marriage, the birth of twins, struggle to keep up his vocal lessons, and a meeting with Rupert Hughes, the famous author who also is an excellent musician. Hughes urged Tibbett, then twenty-four years old, to try his luck in New York at once. The youthful baritone took the advice, borrowed some money, headed for Manhattan where he studied with Frank LaForge. Six months later, LaForge announced that he was ready for the Metropolitan. Tibbett auditioned, won a contract at sixty dollars a week, and after a few minor roles, sang Ford in Verdi's "Falstaff," the role that marked the turning point of his career.

In 1929, Lawrence Tibbett returned

LAWRENCE TIBBETT LIKES his new role as "pop" tune-warbler on the nation's "Hit Parade." He believes his musical training and background will benefit modern music.

"LARRY" ISN'T the "stuffy" sort; he willingly stood on his head to satisfy the whim of a playful photographer. The singer recalls as the funniest experience of his career the time he had to lift Grace Moore on a horse for a scene in a movie.

SEE EDITOR BIGSBY—"I'll have to take it up with Editor Bigsby"—"Find out what the editor think about that layout." With such statements as the foregoing, one naturally forms a mental picture of a journalistic editor something like this. A big, husky fellow, probably about 200 lbs., six feet tall or better, imperiously presiding over a desk piled high with stacks of news copy, cuts, and pictures—green eye shade, no coat, no vest, sleeves rolled up, necktie pulled out to permit the unbuttoned collar of a brilliantly striped shirt spreading carelessly, giving freedom to a powerful voice bawling out orders like a machine gun. At least that's the way they're portrayed in the movies!

▲ A NEW PORTRAIT SHOWS THE 'SAME OLD OBOLER' in the get-up of which he is so fond; casual coat, T-shirt, pork-pie hat atop his head and comfortable shoes. Back on Mutual he is presenting dramas that entertain and inspire.

A Lesson in Radio Drama With Arch Oboler

By Tod Fredricks

*The Old Master of Horror Tales
Gives Radio Life the Lowdown on How You Dream up Chill Stories,
(And Other Nicer Things), Along
With a Little Oboler Family News*

Wednesday, 9:30 p.m.
Mutual-Dan Lee, KIIJ

ON A THURSDAY afternoon Radio Life dropped in to Mutual's Hollywood studios to watch Arch Oboler at work. "Shh!" we had been warned, "don't disturb him! He's in the midst of an intensely dramatic scene." A cast of twenty stood assembled upon the huge stage. A thirty-piece orchestra sat poised, eyes upon Mr. Oboler in the control booth. A deathly still lay upon the room. Suddenly he spoke. He whinnied like a horse.

"And that," he explained to his convulsed cast, "is what you sound like in here." Aside to us, he said, "It's no wonder producers have ulcers. . . . I'm only kidding, I love it."

For six long years, Arch Oboler has been regarded as tops in radio circles. And no wonder! his five-hundred or more original plays have made radio history. His tales of horror have curled the hair of thousands, his dramatic narrations have brought a lump to the hardest of hearts, and his humorous stories have handed a laugh to a world sadly in need of laughter. Whoever referred to Oboler as a boy-genius wasn't far from wrong. He, of course, scoffs at the title. "It's something I like to do."

His Aim

When he brought his present series of twenty-six plays to the Mutual mike he cited his aim in these words:

"My intent can be simply stated—to bring to the radio audience a group of melodramas, and comedies and adventures and mysteries which say something through entertainment, and which admit that the listening public, in this year of radio 1945 has a brain and knows how to use it when listening to radio drama. I hope this series will bring to Mutual the dramatic excitement of plays written for these days when people ask to be amused, inspired, and given new faith."

When calling upon Mr. Oboler, we found the past few months spent in working on a production for MGM had not changed his method of versatile craftsmanship for the ether waves. Nor had he changed in appearance. He was still the same Oboler clad in the inevitable T-shirt, pork-pie hat perched atop his head, and pencil in his hand. He was still the same jovial Oboler who had a way of draining the last drop of talent from his actors by means of gentle persuasion or sometimes with an acrimonious tongue. Needless to say, they loved it.

When a break in the afternoon's rehearsal came, we settled down in the rear of the studio for a chat. Mr. Oboler listened with one ear to the questions we were shooting at him and with the other to the original music for the day's show. "Beautiful, isn't it?" he'd ask, referring to the score.

"What," we queried, "do you do when you aren't writing radio dramas?"

Having A Time

Unblinkingly, he answered, "Break firepaths." It seems he owns a house high atop the mountains overlooking the ocean. Life was serene for the three Obolers, Mrs. O. (as he refers to his wife), three-year-old Guy, and Arch until the Fire Department ordered them to break firepaths—and in a hurry. "What a time, we're having," he moaned.

He is also in the midst of preparing another movie for Metro and is at the same time nearing completion on his first stage play. When asked which is his favorite form of work, he laughed and answered, "It's all work and I like it all."

To Oboler, Mrs. O. has the best editorial mind in existence; After completing a script, he turns it over to her for editing, and runs. It has been said that he prefers working in darkened rooms for inspiration and has regaled his secretaries with dreams of horror beyond the wildest imagination. Then he knows he has a good idea.

He is intensely proud of son, Guy, claims he could pose for one of those muscle-men ads. His chubby little three-year-old body is a mass of muscles and Oboler wonders what will become of him if they leave him to grow up in the "wilds of the to Hollywood to make his first movie, "The Rogue Song." Worldwide acclaim resulted from his succeeding appearances on the screen, the radio, the concert and operatic stage.

As Farm Owner

Today, the father of three children and married a second time, the gifted baritone is the contented master of a farm home in Westport, Connecticut where he pursues farming as his hobby, when not engaged in the numerous divergent activities that fill to overflowing his newly-leased professional life.

In addition to his weekly air appearances, his concert tours and operatic roles, Tibbett entertains servicemen at camps and hospitals, particularly the latter of late, because he believes the wounded are in the greatest need. The boys like to hear him sing the songs for which he is known, such as "Road to Mandalay," "Without a Song," "Largo al Factotum" and "Home on the Range."

"The boys seem to resent popular numbers," Mr. Tibbett declared. "They chiefly desire standard classics and religious music. There's a great demand for the 'Ave Maria' and 'Evening Star'."

Asked if he planned to resume his screen career, the opera star stipulated, "If the right story comes along. I can't be an Arrow Collar boy," he laughed, "but I wouldn't like to be miscast. It must be right."

He related then the amusing recollection of his career, which occurred during the making of the film, "New Moon," in which he co-starred with Grace Moore. In one scene, the script required him to lift Miss Moore from the ground to the back of a horse.

Continued Larry: "Grace still laughs at it herself (she's a swell gal!) 'cause she weighed over one hundred and sixty pounds at that time. Brother, the camera can certainly do some wonderful tricks!"

Does Tibbett like radio?

"Sure!" he laughed. "You reach more people, and traveling is bad. It's so much nicer to sit in one place and reach more people."

Explains Popularity

From the day the opera baritone took over the "Hit Parade," after Frank Sinatra's departure, the program jumped seven Hooper points. We asked Mr. Tibbett how he would explain this fact.

"I did wonder about it," he answered, "for the average has consistently been higher, and that's the important feature. I believe it was curiosity. I explained the increase as due to the fact that I touch more sections of people than the mere bobby-soxers. I touch the public of all ages and Frank hasn't the following among men."

Later, we asked Mr. Tibbett to name his favorite popular singer. "Crosby," he replied, "He's the champ!"

Mountain land" in which they live.

A few days ago was Guy's birthday and Arch ordered a huge chocolate cake for his son. But before the birthday took place, Oboler and Mrs. O. had consumed most of the cake.

"Was he mad?" we wondered.

"Nah, he was just as happy with his tiny square and three candles, and gobbled it down in no time."

When rehearsal had resumed, we learned that Oboler was a perfectionist. Taking his capable cast of Theodore von Eltz, Tom Lewis, Gloria Blondell and others, he molded them to his mood as does a shoemaker with fine leather. Over and over they played a scene until it was passed by the director. When Oboler, himself, made a mistake, his cast jokingly taunted him with cries of "You'd better watch out. We'll go work for that other 'boy-genius' and you'll be sooooooory."

interviewee feel at ease, and her enthusiasm for everybody and everything in radio gets over. All week long her radio friends drop in at her small office in the Otto K. Olesen Bldg.—Mel Blanc, Elvia Allman, Andy and Virginia, John Scott Trotter, Louise Erickson, Shirley Dinsdale. Every morning she sits at the phone arranging stories and picture-taking sessions with the publicity experts—NBC's Hal Bock, CBS' Lloyd Brownfield, ABC's Milt Samuel, Mutual's Fair Taylor, KMPC's Willard Hanes, KFWB's Don Ross and the others—which materialize into writing assignments for herself and the staff.

Three years ago Evelyn had no dreams of being editor, radio star or anything more than someone you sit next to in the bus. She had had a flair for writing in college at Occidental and had helped her husband when he was getting started in the newspaper publishing business. When the war suddenly took Radio Life's able editor, Johnny Whitehead, the only person who knew something about the magazine, and wouldn't be drafted, and could also write, was Evelyn.

She didn't expect to do a particularly outstanding job, and nobody was looking for it. But today Evelyn Bigsby and Radio Life are one, and she unquestionably has more warm friends in Hollywood—from the front door guards and reception girls to the very top stars and executives—than anyone in her line of work.

As responsible for her success as anything, is the oft-taken-for-granted, but not so universal virtue of being herself. You can't interview three or four hundred personalities, of course, without running up against temperament. In addition to good interviews and friendly receptions, you also get "stood up," kept waiting, and "pushed around" by careless or inconsiderate people, if you'll take it.

Evelyn never has. Her philosophy is, "No one has a right to behave that way. I don't care who they are."

She sticks up for her staff writers, too; will tolerate no careless consideration for them. As for her shortcomings (leave us face it, we all have them), even Evelyn regards this as her worst. She's a worrier. When things go wrong at her editorial desk or before her weekly airshow, la Bigsby paces nervously up and down upon the new rug on her office floor and screeches "Holy smoke!"

When she's "doing a story," Evelyn still gets as excited as a young autograph collector. She comes back from each interview with a great pile of notes. "Oh, I've got the most wonderful material," she says. "Listen to this..." thereupon enthusiastically reading a string of notes on Jack Benny's chicken liver sandwiches, Nancy Sinatra's bedspreads or Penny Singleton's lampshades—the sort of every-day items about the stars which she knows her readers and listeners want to hear. Evelyn is happiest when she has been to one of the stars' homes, preferably where there are children.

She has championed dozens of supporting players and "unknowns" and takes a deep satisfaction from the fact that Radio Life articles have lifted quite a few of them to better jobs.

Successful as she is, and facing what may well be a national career, she hasn't lost her sense of humor. She can still tell stories like this on herself. A year ago, the Bigsby's decided to enter their daughter, Maralyn in one of the fashionable schools in Beverly Hills. They thought it would be just as well not to mention in this rarified social atmosphere, that Evelyn had a job and kept regular office hours on a magazine. On the second day of school, young Maralyn's first assignment was to write a story on the "Highlights of My Summer Vacation." She proudly turned in a paper, "A Day With Mother on Radio Life."
