Mrs. A. R. Haag, Pasadena, Calif.

Sirs: I am wondering if Major Bowes will be back on the air again. The program is so different without his kindly voice. Hope he will soon be well again.

We understand Major Bowes has announced his retirement from active radio.

Mrs. Florence Shepherd, 1232½ North Cahuenga Blvd., Hollywood, Calif.

Sirs: I enjoy your magazine very much, and the complaint I have to make is not directed to you, but rather to the writers and producers of most "soap operas" and some dramatic shows.

It is the problem of the returned service man. If there is a psychological reason that the returning serviceman is a problem, why does a writer on a "soap opera" presume that he is the one to present and solve it? What and where are his credentials to assume such a task? Does training in radio writing, or experience in an advertising agency fit him for this delicate work? Doubtless it is smart to get on the bandwagon, and commercialize what happens to be news, but if misdirected advice harms a serviceman or his family, it can't be worth it. Programs on this subject coming from government agencies should be quite enough to satisfy anyone who is curious on the situation.

Mrs. Gene Baldwin, 5454 Delaware Avenue, Eagle Rock, Calif.

Sirs: Could you give me any information about Tom Collins, the man with the wonderful voice? I would like to know the time and station of any of his programs. I only hear him now and then.

Tom Collins is a native of Chicago, attended the University of Illinois, played in midwestern stock, the Globe Theater, and began his radio career in the Windy City on such shows as "Kitty Keene" and "Ma Perkins." He came to Hollywood six years ago, did bit parts in movies, became one of radio row's most popular supporting players. He announces "We Deliver the Goods" weekly, appears frequently on such programs as "Suspense" and "Lur Radio Theater."

He is six feet, one inch tall, weighs one hundred and thirty-five pounds, has dark eyes and closely-cropped black hair. He is thirty-two years old, married, and the father of two little girls.

Mrs. Art Pellant, 821 El Rancho Drive, Whittier, Calif.

Sirs: I have just finished reading your issue of June 17—so, to whom it may concern in regard to the Radio Roundup from KFI department: in the last paragraph you state that the mind reader Dunninger has interviewed such famed personages as Pope Pius XIII! I am wondering how that could have been possible as the present Pope is Pope Pius XII.

Believe it or not, I read every word of your grand magazine and enjoy it very much. I am usually not a critic, nor is this letter meant to be a criticism. We all make mistakes.

In closing, let me say again how very much I enjoy your weekly magazine. The best of luck always.

P.S.—Just had one of my radio dreams come true, so to speak, of hearing my two favorites on together, even if they were miles apart. Can't think of a nicer party than to have Don and Tom (McNeil and Breneman) really get together in person. Oh boy, oh boy! Surely hope I too can see it. Keep up your swell job.

Looks as though our typesetter was seeing one too many—but then, who knows what Dunninger can do!

Clarence Olmstead, NBC, Hollywood, Calif.

Sirs: Please accept my sincere thanks for the award, that Radio Life gave me in your list of radio production achievements.

We have all worked, so hard to make the Westinghouse program with John Charles Thomas as fine a musical radio show as we possibly can. It is very pleasant, indeed, to know that discerning folks take a minute out to observe what we are trying to do. You have made us all very happy.

K. C. Adair, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: Why don't you give "Stu" Wilson a break in your good magazine. I think he has some very good programs, and is very clever.

DISHES GLISTEN, DRY FASTER...WHEN WASHED THIS NEW WAY

Dishes almost look as though they had been polished—actually they even feel different. And they are different. The reason for this is simple. First the "wetting agent" and the "grease-dissolving agent" in KENU loosen every trace of oily film. And then the free-rinsing qualities of KENU completely eliminate that dingy look, revealing the original lustre of the china glaze. For this same reason, dishes washed in KENU drain almost immediately, because there is nothing to hold the droplets of water. And here's another feature women appreciate. If your skin is tender, use only moderately warm water. You don't need steaming-hot water when KENU does your dishwashing. For dishwashing, and a score of other cleaning tasks about the home, you'll find there's nothing like KENU, the Key to the New Way of Cleaning.

PVT. "HANK" McCUNE, Pasadena soldier-comedian, just back from an entertainment tour of three theaters of war, "laughing it up" with Comedian Bob Burns, left, and Comedy Writer Victor McLeod, Burns' writer who created gags for McCune overseas. McCune is holding the "Alaskan Oscar" awarded him for entertaining GI's in Alaska.

Laughing It Up!

By Johnny Whitehead

THE ABILITY of American wounded to "laugh it up" in the face of tragedy and serious battle wounds is the most indelible impression an overseas entertainer brings home with him.

This was the observation of big-eared, smiling Private Henry ("Hank the Yank") McCune, youthful soldier-comedian from Hollywood, upon his recent arrival here after almost twenty-three continuous months of touring American bases overseas with his own GI shows.

In Hollywood for a brief furlough as the guest of Gag-man Victor McLeod, writer of the Bob Burns radio series and responsible for the comedy material that Pvt. McCune used overseas, the UCLA graduate couldn't throw enough bouquets at the GI's he entertained.

"We put on shows for wounded men fresh from the battlefield," he said, "and it's an experience I won't ever forget. Many of the boys we did our shows for were lying on stretchers waiting for air transports to carry them back to the states, and to see their faces light up with smiles and hear them laugh will make me eternally grateful for the opportunity I had to entertain them."

Alaskan "Oscar"

Pvt. McCune's battered makeup kit bulges with citations from commanders in three theaters of war and the "Alaskan Oscar" presented to him by Brig. Gen. Dale S. Gaffney on behalf of GI's in the Alaskan division, who dubbed him "best comedian in the Alaskan theater." The "Alaskan Oscar" is a miniature seal which was fashioned from seal tusks by native Eskimos at Point Barrow where "Hank" appeared with actress Helen Parrish.

During the past twenty-three months, Pvt. McCune has flown 126,000 miles by military aircraft to stage more than 223 shows in three theaters of war.

The Hollywood private, who has been referred to by GI's as the "Perennial Private" because he has refused promotions in order to remain "just one of the guys," was first to present returned war heroes on the air in Hollywood as master of ceremonies on NBC's "It Happened In the Service" in 1942.

Magazine Scribes Take Dollar Tour of America's Beautiful Newly-Remodelled Station KECA

↓ ALL OFFICES ARE tastefully decorated and planned for the utmost in efficiency. Conference here between John I. Edwards, program manager, Scott, Sudler, and Editor Evelyn is in Scott's office.

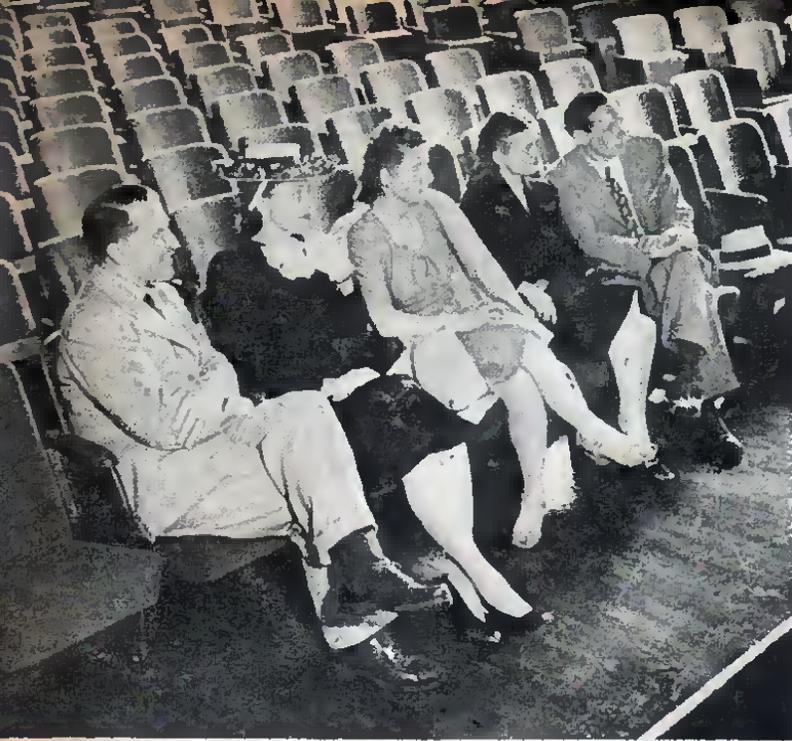

ONE AFTERNOON, shortly after KECA, the American Broadcasting Company's Hollywood outlet, moved to its new offices and studios on Highland Avenue at Sunset in that city of the cinema, the gang from Radio Life dropped in to pay a call and to have a look-see at all this new "layout" they'd heard so much about. The callers included Evelyn Bigsby, editor of Radio Life, and star of her own Sunday night show on KECA and the American Broadcasting Company's coast network, Betty Mills and Shirley Gordon of Radio Life's writing staff, and Cully Sudler, advertising manager for the magazine.

This notable aggregation of scribes was greeted by Clyde Scott, General Manager of KECA, who took great pride in showing them the fruits of his labor of the last several months—the completely rebuilt building which houses the station, the light, airy and ultra modern office suites, and the studios which incorporate many of the very latest engineering designs.

First the guests were ushered in to the executive suite, where they "oh'd" and "ah'd" in unison over the lovely new desks of modern velvetan finish, the brightly colored upholstered pieces, and the gay and colorful drapes.

Four Studios

Next came a tour of the three first floor studios—studios which involve the very latest in technical and acoustical design. For instance, through the device of having no parallel walls, reverberation of sound has been greatly reduced, according to Chief Engineer, Ralph Denechaud, who heads the technical staff for the American Broadcasting Company in Hollywood, as well as KECA. Walls and ceilings slope, curve in, run in zig-zag lines, and do everything except present two parallel surfaces. More than this, walls and ceilings are constructed of the latest acoustical material, "Transite", behind which are two inches of rock wool for insulation.

The largest of the three first floor studios, though only 20 x 23 feet in dimension, is so constructed that it will accommodate a large dramatic cast, or a small or medium sized orchestra, with no echoes or reverberation. The two small studios, or speaker's booths, are also treated with the same "Transite" and sloped wall design.

In the studios, Mrs. Bigsby and her staff were greeted by KECA's announcers, Ted Bentley, Johnny Forrest, Phil McHugh, Chuck Werner, Doug McKellar, Dal Williams and Bob Cummings.

Next on the itinerary was the production department's headquarters—a suite which backs the studio block. Here Production Chief Bill Davidson and his staff proudly dis-

He Was Always Too Old To Be Young

By Tod Fredricks

ON JULY 31, Earl Ross celebrates his forty-second year in show business. Twenty-five of those years have been on radio. He made his debut in 1920 with his own show called "Earl Ross Theater of the Air" (undoubtedly originating the title which was to become a favorite in radio circles). Since then he has had many programs of his own but his best-liked, and one he soon hopes to revive, is the "Ramblings of Jeremiah Quid."

During his long and happy stay in Radio, he has gained the reputation of being one of the industry's finest character actors. He has supported the biggest names in radio and is at present endearing himself to listeners as the good-natured foil for "Gildersleeve," "Judge Hooker."

Cornering Mr. Ross in the Artists' Lobby of NBC, Radio Life asked him to explain his formula for becoming a successful character actor.

"First of all," he replied, "you must realize you are a hub in the entire wheel of action. Often the mechanics of the show revolve around you and you must be alert."

Student of People

"A character actor also must be a student of psychology and philosophy. Many times I have studied different people for weeks trying to perfect within my mind their characterizations."

How, we wanted to know, had Mr. Ross gone about becoming a character actor? With a smile lighting his dark, flashing eyes he laughingly recalled the unhappy day his

Carrying On

Few radio-dialers have forgotten the mellow vocalizing of Kay St. Germain, silenced since her marriage to Jack Carson when she retired from ether activity. Last Saturday, however, Kay returned to the spotlight to sing for the boys at the Hollywood Canteen.

"Jack couldn't be here tonight, fellows," she explained. "He called me up this morning from Pearl Harbor. He's on his way to entertain your pals in the South Pacific."

Even Geniuses

Slight-of-the-week dept.—Radio's wonder-boy, Norman Corwin, writer-producer-director of V-E Day's thought-provoking production, "On A Note of Triumph," and the guiding light of CBS' new "Columbia Presents Corwin" series, strolling toward Hollywood's Columbia Square studios, reached the corner of Sunset and Argyle only to be halted by a stop light. Hands on hips, his black-rimmed spectacles dangling idly from his fingers, his legs spread apart in an authoritative stance, Mr. C. assumed an air of impatience, scowled darkly at the stream of traffic that flowed across his path for the next sixty seconds.

The light green again, he adjusted his glasses on his eyes, walked swiftly across the street and into the studio, undoubtedly to hatch from his agile brain another palatable slice of fine radio entertainment.

Narrow Escape

Chef Milani, who conducts KFVB's "Kitchen Kollege," nearly lost the sight of his left eye recently when a pipe-threader he was using at his new Reseda ranch slipped and struck him in the face.

Physicians found that the heavy metal tool had missed damaging the optic nerve by a fraction of an inch, and said the vision would not be affected.

Willson Leaves AFRS

Major Meredith Willson, musical conductor and composer, last week vacated his post of musical director for Armed Forces Radio Service and reported to Fort MacArthur to go on inactive status, according to Col. Thomas Lewis, commandant of AFRS.

Since reporting for duty December

5, 1943, he personally conducted 1,300 recorded shows and supervised the musical arrangements on 8,000 other programs for servicemen overseas such as "Command Performance."

Before entering the service, Willson conducted on many top network shows, wielding the baton on "Maxwell House" as his latest civilian assignment.

Smart Sayings of Adults

The script of a recent "Hollywood Mystery Time" thriller called for actor John Brown, portraying the murder victim, to tumble downstairs as he was stabbed by the killer. Producer Travis Wells asked music conductor Charles Hathaway: "As the sound of the falling body recedes in the distance, I want some 'bridge' music to lead into the next sequence. What can you play that's appropriate?"

"Well," replied Hathaway, "the most appropriate number I can think of is 'John Brown's Body!'"

Leonardi Back

Leon Leonard, musical director of Warner Bros. KFVB, has returned after a year's leave of absence which he spent as musical director of the Broadway hit "Bloomer Girl."

Leonardi will resume direction of the Warner Bros. Orchestra, which broadcasts nightly at 8:15 on KFVB.

Getting Wish

Al "Cappy" Capstaff, owner of the good mare Black Mammy first expressed a wish to own her many years ago at Tranforan. Later, when he saw Seabiscuit run, he expressed a similar desire. In a sense, Capstaff, who is program supervisor of Hedda Hopper's Hollywood, "A Man Called X" and Charlotte Greenwood's program, is getting his wish. He now owns Black Mammy and Charles S. Howard, has agreed to mate her with Seabiscuit next season, and in time Capstaff will not only have his Black Mammy, but a little Seabiscuit colt of his own.

Hot Stuff

Mutual-Don Lee producer Bob Cummins created a mild sensation when he drove into the KHJ parking lot with his bantam car painted a fire engine red, plus glaring red plaid seat covers to match.

When asked how come, Bob revealed that the radical change in color was a precautionary method he'd taken following an accident of a week ago, when his diminutive black automobile had been lifted skyward by an "unseeing" average-sized car, miraculously, without injury to its driver.

"Besides," he added, with a twinkle in his eyes, "I had to paint it red... the law says 'all tin cans containing gas must be painted bright red.'"

Good, Too!

A lot has been said in praise of CBS' Norman Corwin and his new radio series. But a big garland should be handed equally-talented producer Bill Spier who appeared on the first Corwin show not as a fellow advisor—but as an actor. And a darned good one.

It was quite a surprise to see the bearded Spier, script in hand, approach the mike and give out with a performance that should put many "an artiste" to shame. Bill hammed, mugged, gestured, and, needless to say, was delightful. We ought to hear more of Spier!

Master Race

Lady-in-the-linelight, Elsa Maxwell, hostess of Mutual's rollicking "Party Line" broadcasts, recently received her most novel press clipping. Sent to her by a soldier stationed in Germany, it is a dated copy of what was once Der Fuehrer's favorite newspaper. In it is a photo of buxom Miss Maxwell, attired in fighting togs and boxing gloves, a get-up she once donned for a movie role.

The newspaper picture bears no identification, simply states that "This woman knocked out the world's champion." This, indicated the German press, was the kind of women America is producing these days.

SOUTH BEND

Cass Daley, whose physical antics before the microphone keep the studio audience in stitches during her broadcasts, this week was given an honorary life membership in the International Association of Acrobats because, said the letter, "of the extraordinary contortions you go through in singing a song."

NEXT WEEK

Something for everybody! For music lovers, stories on John Scott Trotter and Francia White... for those who like audience participation shows, a "spread" on "County Fair," the new Borden program... for admirers of radio columnists, an article on George Fisher... for those who like dramas of family life, a two-page picture story on "Date with Judy"... and for those interested in radio overseas, a special yarn by Sgt. Bruce Collier of New Caledonia, with pictures of "The Mosquito Network" in action. Something for everybody in next week's Radio Life!

KECA mike memos

What do you do with your afternoons? Some people sleep, some people swim and some people dial their radio. Now we can't tell you how to sleep, or how to swim, but we can tell you how to dial an afternoon of good radio entertainment!

First, we have a new show, "Best Sellers," a show designed by American to bring its coast-to-coast family of listeners dramatizations of the best in current literature. Mabel Cobb, editor of the program, says that although each book thus far selected has been produced in five installments, this is not a rigid policy, the length of each dramatization is to be determined by the exact time required to project the mood and story in the author's own words, with as little rewriting and adaptation as possible.

Your "Best Seller" for the current week will be "The Wayfarers" by Dan Wickenden, so put KECA down as a "must remember" every afternoon (Monday through Friday) at 2:30 to 3:00.

... Stay tuned to 790! ...

You'd have to see it to believe it! We mean the "What's Doin', Ladies" show on Tuesdays—that's Barter Day! Of course, the Perry Ward show is a half-hour riot any day—but Tuesdays, when he holds forth in KECA's Sunset-Highland studio, it's a three-ring circus.

Last Tuesday the studio looked like a miniature Ladies Aid Bazaar—they had everything from fancy pot-holders to electric irons and perculators for sale! Yes, sir, we saw three of those hard-to-get items go to the highest bidder. And to cap the whole proceedings—a lady showed up in a complete wedding outfit and said she wanted to sell the whole thing, or she'd settle for a bridegroom so she could wear it herself!

So for a half-hour of fun any day, we recommend "What's Doin', Ladies"—come out and join the fun! (KECA at 2:00 p.m., Monday thru Friday):

... Stay tuned to 790! ...

In an afternoon lineup there's always a show for "ladies only!" That show on KECA is Frances Scully's light and airy "column of the air," called "Star Gazing." Frances, long a favorite of local and network audiences, is a "gal-about-Hollywood" who knows intimately most of the stars of radio and films, and is an authority in her own right on beauty, fashions, and allied subjects, dear to the heart of every woman, be she sixteen or sixty. She's heard at 3:30 weekdays.

... Stay tuned to 790! ...

Possibly one of the greatest joys of broadcasting comes from the idea of a vast unseen audience which is silently applauding your words, but from a single telephone call or message such as Gilbert Martyn, America's famous daytime newscaster and storyteller, par excellence, received recently.

His newscast carried an interesting story of a Yugoslav girl, very pretty and very capable, who had served with Marshall Tito's Partisans, and who, in the course of an interview with American correspondents in Belgrade, floored them by talking in a pure Texan accent. Well, the conclusion of the tale revealed that she had lived many years in Galveston, and had returned to her native land to aid in the struggle for liberation. But the clincher came after the broadcast. An excited phone call came to Ray Johnson, one of Gil's writers, in which a girl's voice exclaimed that this very same Yugoslav girl was her very best friend—that she hadn't heard from her friend since their school days in Galveston—and that all her friends in America had heard she was dead!

Gil Martyn is heard every weekday morning at 10 in a quarter-hour of latest news, and he alternates with Ed Jorgenson in the 1:30 p.m. spot, Monday thru Friday.

... Stay tuned to 790! ...

LINDSAY ON KMTR

Fans of Merl Lindsay will be glad to hear that having received a medical discharge from the army, he is back on KMTR every Monday from 10:05 to 10:30 p.m.

If you've been following the interesting career of Detective Richard Rogue on the summer series, "Bandwagon Mysteries," heard over KFI on Sundays at 4:30 P. M., we think you'll agree DICK POWELL does alright as a radio actor. And just in case you like to know something about the stars of the airlines, we've gathered together a few facts about Dick. First of all, Dick likes to think of himself as having five home towns. They are Mountain View, Arkansas, the tiny town where he was born on November 14, 1904; Little Rock, Arkansas, where he grew up and got his first job as a telephone company employee; Indianapolis, where he sang for a few seasons; and Pittsburgh, where he made a hit as an emcee and got his first movie break. In the latter place, he was appearing in 1933 at the Stanley Theatre owned by Warner Brothers and they discovered that Dick might do for the role of a crooning orchestra leader in "Blessed Event." Of course he made the grade and has sung his way through more than thirty pictures. It was after completing the role of a hard-boiled detective in "Murder My Sweet" (without singing a note) that Dick decided he liked straight parts best. We gather he's now in seventh heaven with his new role in "Bandwagon Mysteries."

WHAT'S IN A NAME? Most frequent question asked of OPIE CATES, music director and clarinet soloist on "MEET ME AT PARKY'S" (KFI Sundays at 7:30) is: "Why does everyone call you 'Opie?'" The Arkansas-born musician and comedian brushes that inquiry off quickly with the legitimate reply, "Cause that's my name!"

England's famed soprano, Maggie Teyte, sailed from her native land on July 4th and is now in the United States. She'll be the honored guest on the TELEPHONE HOUR this Monday at 9:00 over KFI—her first recital here since 1939. Known the world over for her singing of Claude Debussy songs, Miss Teyte was heard by the French composer when she was only 19 years old and he admired her voice so greatly that he later wrote several songs especially for her. Her appearance on the TELEPHONE HOUR will be one of the real musical treats for radio listeners this year.

NEW PIN-UP GIRL
Marlin Hurt, starred on the "Beulah" show over CBS Monday nights, got a letter from a family in Portsmouth, Va., saying they had selected "Beulah" as their pin-up girl and wanted an autographed photo to hang over the kitchen stove.

SMALL WORLD NOTE
The first person Harold ("Gildersleeve") Peary ran into when he walked into the Navy Hospital at Memphis on his recent tour was Marvin Mitchell, brother of Shirley who plays the Widow Ransome on
"The Great Gildersleeve!"

VACATION TIME
KMTR'S genial newscaster, Ed Hargrove, is vacationing at Laguna Beach, while Al Warner, veteran announcer on the KMTR staff, leaves shortly for his vacation. Graham Alexander is taking over the summer relief announcing on the station.

NICE PEOPLE

Robert Young, and Louise Allbritton of the movies are the trouble shooters for CBS' "Screen Guild Theater." They both offered their services to the program whenever it was in need of stars, and have been called upon many times to substitute when others have been unable to perform. Motivation for the offer is the fact that stars' salaries for the 'stint go to keeping up the Motion Picture Country House for retired members of the industry.

GRANDMA MOOREHEAD

Agnes Moorehead, distinguished dramatic actress heard with Lionel Barrymore on Columbia's "Mayor of the Town," will soon begin a new film portrayal, that of the aged grandmother in the film adaptation of A. J. Cronin's best-selling novel, "The Green Years." Added to her long list of character parts, this will be the oldest part that Aggie has ever portrayed. She takes on a spry eighty years in the picture.

SURPRISE PACKAGE

When Cass Daley made a guest appearance on Bing Crosby's show recently she was handed a large package by "Der Bingle." Upon opening it, the buck-toothed comedienne discovered it was a transcription of her first appearance on the Crosby show in 1942 which, incidentally, was also her radio debut!

OVERSEAS STUDY

William N. Robson, producer of Columbia's "The Saint," returned just a few weeks ago from Germany, where he went for a CBS "refresher" course to see and study the face of war and to gain background for a new understanding of production and direction of programs relating to war themes.

WHO'S WHO?

On Columbia's "I Was There" broadcast that recently paid tribute to Songwriter George M. Cohan, Comedian George Jessel impersonated the famed Yankee Doodle Dandy. Jessel appeared as Cohan, but not as Jessel who was portrayed by actor Harry Lang!

NO RADIO PESTS?

Radio's newest restaurateur, Parkyakarkus, spends free time away from his "Meet Me at Parky's" show writing comedy material for the screen. Soon to be released is his Pete Smith short, "Bus Pests." Parky is the man responsible for others in the popular "Pest" series, having penned "Movie Pests," etc.

THAT'S MY BOY

Con Maffie, pianist on the CBS "House Party" program, was bursting with pride when his son, Con Maffie, Jr., was selected by his school teacher to appear on the "House Party" program last week because of the high marks he had attained in his citizenship course.

MUSIC MAN

Oscar Bradley, composer-conductor of the dramatic musical backgrounds for Columbia's "We, The People" program, is a graduate of the Royal Academy of Music, London, where among his classmates were Eugene Goossens and John Barbirolli.

Radio Life Visits KECA

played their offices and the music and transcription library. Writer-producers, Bill Holmes and Rollo Hunter were so busy at their typewriters that the Radio Life staff no more than "peeped" into their sanctuary.

Fame Gallery

KECA's new home is truly radio through and through! On the brightly tinted walls of the front lobby, and the entry and stairway called the "Stairway of the Stars" which leads to the auditorium studio on the second floor, are artistically matted and framed photographs of all the American Broadcasting Company's topflight stars. The visitor is treated to a veritable gallery of fame.

On the second floor, the guests were shown the newly decorated auditorium, where the royal blue of the comfortably upholstered seats and the beautiful blue-gray walls never fail to draw comments of approval from visitors. This auditorium seats three hundred persons, and at present houses such popular network audience shows as Charlotte Greenwood, "What's Doing, Ladies?" (three days a week) and "Hollywood Mystery Time." Other American Broadcasting Company network programs which emanate from KECA's studios, in addition to its own full local program schedule, are the Sam Hayes, Gil Martyn and General Junius Pierce news commentaries, Constance Bennett's and Louella Parsons' interesting programs about Hollywood, and show business and personalities in general. Walter Winchell's broadcasts also emanated from KECA's studios during his recent sojourn on the coast.

Into News Room

Teletypes never fail to fascinate those guests fortunate enough to be taken through that busy place known as the "newsroom"—and the Radio Life group was no exception. They were conducted through the news quarters by George Lewin, who heads the news and news features for the American Broadcasting Company in Hollywood and KECA's local news service. Here they also met Williams Hall, Roy Drushall and Hugo Carlson, newscasters on KECA's local news schedule.

The Radio Life group being inveterate explorers, said yes, they felt equal to another flight of stairs, so up they went to the third floor past the gate with its formidable sign which says quote No Admittance unquote. The reason for this prominent sign may be that the third floor is sometimes called the "Girls' Dormitory" for it houses the Continuity, Publicity, Auditing, and Duplicating departments, which are "manned" entirely by women!

And last but not least, the scribes

He Was Always Too Old to be Young

voice had changed. It all started then.

The Ross family reared young Earl in the hope of his training for the church. He was, of course, a member of the boys' choir, and possessed an excellent soprano. One night he attempted to reach a high note and something dreadful happened to his voice. It cracked and he could no longer speak. Frightened to death, he hurried home to his family and while sobbing out his story to them discovered his vocal chords had undergone a complete change. They were no longer high and squeaky, but unbelievably low.

"The more I talked, the lower they seemed to get. I didn't sound like a boy any more. I sounded like an old man."

At school, Earl became interested in dramatics and decided to give acting a professional try. He didn't know how to get into the theater, but upon the advice of a friend, followed the first man who looked like a theatrical manager into an office building. Luck was with him for the man was a producer.

Amazing Voice

It was he, who informed Ross that his was an amazing voice. It registered too old to portray a juvenile, so the young actor became "heavies" and old men. His first part was in the old melodrama, "In A Woman's Power" or "Dangerous Friend." You guessed it, he was the dangerous friend.

After the crash of 1929, Ross and his wife came to California in search of employment. He appeared in several movies and in 1936 again resumed radio roles. Today, he and Mrs. Ross own their home and raise roses and canaries for a hobby.

Some day, Ross intends to sit down and write a book of his memoirs in the show business. That is, if he ever has time. Another forty-two years will undoubtedly pass before he gets around to it. If radio has its way, maybe that's what will happen.

ON THE AIR

Members of the Radio Life family will be interested in the fact that Editor Evelyn may now be heard with an air edition of the magazine. She broadcasts every Sunday night at 9:15-9:30 over the Blue Network and is heard in the Los Angeles area over station KECA. Evelyn gives the latest radio news, a feature on a star or show, and interviews some well-known radio personality. Confined strictly to radio, her program like the magazine, stresses behind-scenes reporting, appealing to all kilocycle fans. Her guest on July 22 is Victor Borge.

Radio-Minded Mayor

By Helen Dietz

Fletcher Bowron Broadcasts Twice Weekly, Has Aired from Every Radio Station in City

Thursday, 10:15 p.m. KFI
 Sunday, 6:45 p.m. KMPC

WHEN Fletcher Bowron was re-elected to his second full four-year term as Mayor of Los Angeles last April, professional politicians were dumbfounded. "We knew he would lead the ticket," they said, "but how did he manage to get elected at the primaries—and with fourteen candidates in the field?"

Yes, how DID Bowron obtain nearly fifty-four per cent of the votes cast, outdistancing his nearest opponent by a margin of two and a half to one, and capture a mayoralty election at the primaries for the first time in twenty years? The City of Los Angeles, like the State of California, had been in the habit of changing its chief executive every four years.

The answer from all sides is RADIO in capital letters. Fletcher

Bowron has sold himself to the people through the radio. As chief executive of the nation's fourth largest city with a population of 1,825,000 Bowron has been on the air continuously at least once or twice a week for the past seven years. His voice has been heard coast-to-coast on several occasions. He has spoken over every radio station in the city at one time or another at public events and ceremonies by the score. Currently he is broadcasting over KFI every Thursday evening at 10:15, following the Richfield Reporter, and over KMPC every Sunday night at 6:45.

Advertising experts say the sustained character of Bowron's broadcasting gives it a high cumulative value which pays dividends.

Was It Worthwhile?

"About a year ago, I asked Bill Ryan, KFI manager, if he knew how many people were listening to my program," the Mayor said. "The preparation of the script was taking a great deal of my time, and I was wondering if it was worthwhile."

By Betty Mills

"It Just Can't Last," Admonished Mrs. Horton Upon Seeing Her Young Son in His First Play; But Horton's Luck Did Last, Paying off in Fun, Endless Excitement—and Good Money

Thursday, 6 p.m.
NBC-KFI

WITH A WAVE of his hands, Edward Everett Horton pushed back the years and explained why he thought he was a pretty rugged individual. In the first place, his family didn't approve of his thespian ambitions. Upon entering the theater, he proudly took his mother to view him in his first role.

"How'd you like it, Mother?" he eagerly asked.

"Edward, dear," she answered with a sigh, "it just can't last. Be sure to save your money."

His dampened spirits began to revive after a while because in spite of his mother's admonitions, business was picking up. Young Edward felt quite proud of himself—that is until he overheard a conversation on a bus one afternoon. Two women were discussing him.

◀ HORTON WAS ONE OF THE FIRST citizens to settle in the Valley. His home, which his friends dubbed "Horton's Folly," was built in 1925 and now encompasses twenty-two acres.

"That Horton fellow's awful familiar," said the first.

"He is to me, too," exclaimed the second.

"Hmmm, same cocky air about him. Do you suppose he's the kid who used to live back in Ohio. You know the one I mean—lived in the next block. Name was something like Horton. In fact, I think it was Horton."

"Oh, yes," agreed the other, "he was sort of an extrovert. Imagine seeing him here. Knew he'd come to no good end."

"So you see," pointed out Mr. Horton (back in 1945), "I had to be rugged to keep from coming to that no good end with which I was always being threatened. Besides, I'd never been to Ohio."

Thrives On It

While lunching with him, we decided he must be pretty rugged, too, if he could blithely consume the hottest of tamales and top it with a rich, creamy slice of chocolate cake. "Thrive on it," smiled Mr. Horton taking another bite. "Don't let the fellow you've seen on the screen with the delicate stomach fool you."

"Never know from one minute to the next where I'm going to be or what I'll be doing. In a few weeks I'll be leaving for New York and my thirteen weeks on the Kraft summer show. Now radio," with a smile, "that's something I like."

"It's fun because it's exciting and I like excitement. It's a lot like the stage. Did you ever think of that? Each week you have a role to play and a tremendous audience to play it to."

Since his first appearance on radio in the thirties, Horton thinks he must have guested on every show in existence. This summer will mark the third time as an airline "regular." He has emceed "Shell Chateau" and was more recently heard as the storekeeper of the Sealtest show. "I sold cotton and sundry things. Think it was a pretty good try," he modestly concluded.

To digress from talk of the entertainment world, his favorite topic is his large rambling home in Encino. He boasts of being the first to settle there. When he built in 1925 there was no one around him. Today his four acres have expanded to twenty-two.

For His "Rubbish"

He describes his home as being indescribable. "I had to build it to have some place in which to store my rubbish." His rubbish isn't rubbish at all but is comprised of a priceless lot of antiques and oddities. "I'm a collector at heart and I think I

Slick Chick First Class

By Shirley Gordon

And Queen Bee of the Seabees Is Dyana Gayle, Servicemen's Singing Favorite; She Is a Busy Homemaker, Doting Mother, and Wife of a Marine

Thursday, 10:45 p.m.
CBS-KNX

I'M GONNA be dull copy," laughed Dyana Gayle. "The things that are interesting about me I don't want printed."

This breezy statement notwithstanding we found our luncheon date with the charming CBS songstress a very delightful affair during which Miss Gayle imparted much of interest and nothing we could truthfully term as "dull." On the contrary, the saucy sparkle in her blue eyes, the instant friendliness of her wide smile and the enchanting informality of her manner (all apart from the melodic magic of her songs) showed us immediately how it is that Dyana has endeared herself with ease to the hearts of servicemen throughout the world.

A group of Navy boys in the Aleutians have given her the rating of SC 1/C; meaning Slick Chick, First Class. Some Seabees have tagged her their "Queen Bee." Dyana's mail averages some one hundred and fifty letters daily from men in uniform. One lonely soldier sent her a greeting card of "good wishes to my best girl on Mother's Day."

Gone 33 Months

Dyana Gayle has her own special interest in the South Pacific—her husband, Frank Seville. He is a sergeant in the Marine Corps and has been serving overseas for the past thirty-three months.

For twenty-eight of those thirty-three months, Dyana hopped out of bed in the middle of the night to trek down to the broadcasting studio for her singing and femceing stint on an airshow beamed to servicemen called "Songs for Overseas."

Currently, the lovely lyricist is teamed with Milton Charles' organ on KNX's "What Makes a Song?," heard each Thursday evening, and taking advantage of her hiatus from the nightly mike grind to catch up on her camp appearances and head for service hospitals.

Her ultimate ambition in radio is to be singing star and femcee of a big coast-to-coast airshow.

But however her schedule of professional activities may line up, Dyana emulates the spirit of her perpetual motion in the fulfillment of her off-mike role as homemaker and mother. She and her daughter, Barbara, live in Hollywood, in a Spanish-type bungalow which the singing star owns.

"It has a huge living room with a fireplace," related Dyana happily, "and is built on a corner lot where ↑ DYANA GOES FOR philosophical writings, music by Brahms and Rachmaninoff, "Acey-Ducey" and gin rummy. She likes thirty-five dollar hats, so seldom buys one. Around the house, she wears blue dungarees—"because I'm always rushing out in the garden to plant something."

I've planted the Victory garden of the neighborhood. You should see my corn—it's that high, and just darling!"

The first thing she does when she gets up in the morning, Dyana smilingly insisted, is go out and see what has come up in the garden. What is more, once the produce appears, she knows what to do with it.

"I'd rather cook than breathe," she declared merrily. Salads are her specialty. "In fact," she went on, "whenever I'm invited out for dinner, somebody says, 'You bring the salad.' So I end up whipping one together and toting it around in the back of the car."

Picked Watercress

Once, when Dyana was visiting a friend out in the valley, she was elated to find watercress growing thickly in a creek beside the house. "So I jumped in some rubber boots, waded out and picked it by the armfuls!"

Dyana claims that she "can't sew worth a hoot" now, but she has bought herself a sewing machine, is working earnestly on clothes for herself and Barbara.

▼ THE JIMMY FIDLER AWARD for meritorious war service, a custom-built Gruen watch, recently went to Florence Bates, character actress. Miss Bates, a 58-year-old veteran of the screen, has made a total of 16 blood donations to the American Red Cross, leading all other film players.

▼ COFFEE AND DOUGHNUTS for Billie Burke's early Saturday morning audience at CBS liven things up for both the comedienne and her suave announcer Tommy Dixon. It's top o' the morning, they agree.

Radio-Minded Mayor

It wasn't long before Ryan and Bowron both knew the answer. A Crossley survey revealed the Mayor commanded a 4.3 rating on Thursday evenings—the second most popular program at the time—with 64,500 regular listeners. That was a year ago. Estimates now indicate the Mayor's audience at not less than 75,000 people, and first place among programs at 10:15.

Perhaps Bowron's chief broadcast rival is Mayor Fiorella LaGuardia of New York, who goes on the air Sunday afternoons over WNYC. His microphone technique, although effective, is radically different from that used by his Los Angeles colleague.

The pudgy "Little Flower" berates, cajoles and pleads with his listeners in a high-pitched voice. He uses no script, but ad libs from notes for as long as he sees fit. There's a reason.

Municipally-owned WNYC has no commercial programs backed up against LaGuardia's show. In fact, WNYC is the only city-owned radio outlet in the country which does not sell time commercially. The others, WCAM, Camden, New Jersey; WRR, Dallas, Texas; WJAX, Jacksonville, Florida, and WSUN, St. Petersburg, Florida, all do, and earn substantial profits for their city treasury.

Uses Script

Bowron, on the other hand, speaks from prepared script. His remarks, designed primarily as a report to the people on their city government, are delivered in a calm, even voice. "Citizens of Los Angeles," he opens dispassionately and continues to the end with no dramatic flings. On a recent broadcast telling of plans to welcome Generals Patton and Doolittle, he indulged himself with the phrase, "Oh, brother." "I was certainly startled to hear him use that expression," Ed Starr, KFI engineer who monitors the Mayor, declared. "It was a radical departure from Bowron's usual air decorum."

Bowron dictates his KFI scripts every Thursday morning, while his KMPC talks, sponsored by the City War Council, are prepared on Friday afternoons.

Pacing up and down the full length of his big office in the City Hall, Bowron is a restless personality while dictating. A doctor friend, apprehensive over the energy he was expending, asked in all seriousness if he would consider lying down while dictating. "When engaged in mental work, it is easier for the heart to pump blood to the head while in a prone position," he prescribed.

Mrs. A. P. Norton, the Mayor's kindly and efficient executive secretary, revealed her boss obtains his inspirations while gazing reflectively out of his office window.

"The Mayor thinks out his sentences very carefully," related Alice Murphy, Bowron's stenographer. "Little correction is necessary. His first draft is generally his final draft."

Took To Air 1938

Los Angeles' chief executive took to the microphone regularly immediately after the famous recall election of September, 1938. Evidencing wide interest in the talks, many listeners telephone Mrs. Norton the day following the Mayor's broadcasts, supplicating "I missed hearing the Mayor last night. I wonder if I can obtain a copy of his script."

High praise for the Mayor's ability on the air comes from Bob Swan, KFI announcer who introduces his honor, and from technician Starr.

Swan declared Bowron's timing is perfect, despite his lack of opportunity to rehearse the entire script before going on the air. When he gets the one-minute warning signal, Swan relates, Bowron cuts to the right place, seemingly omits nothing, and finishes on the nose.

Only on one occasion has he run over, Swan said. This was shortly after the Mayor came to KFI. "On this program, we allowed him to finish his remarks," Swan recalled, and I made my closing in the studio as if we were still on the air. Not until the broadcast was completed did we tell him we had been cut off. Ever since, he has always finished on time."

Starr declared that although the Mayor appears to be tense, he is actually completely relaxed, but it is not uncommon for him to fluff a word. "At first, Bowron had a sibilance in his voice," Starr remarked. "He would hiss a bit, but this has been corrected through microphone adjustment."

"Edward, Dear, Save Your Money!"

started with my first pay check. I call it a hobby because I grew tired of confessing I didn't have one. It makes me happy because people think of it as fine and worthwhile—but, I still think of it as rubbish. If an antique dealer has something he can't sell, he gives me a ring—I usually buy it."

In addition to housing a lot of "rubbish," the Valley home rings with the happy sound of pigs, cows, chickens, dogs and — the Hortons. The actor's mother, sister and her family occupy the home with him. It is always thrown open to servicemen and thousands have visited it.

Motion pictures have made Horton's face and clipped manner of speaking internationally famous. It was through this medium that he found himself established as a comedian. Yet he yearns to do a dramatic role and confesses that he likes to look upon himself as a serious actor. In appearance, he presents a far more reserved figure than usually can be found on the screen.

He likes good books, particularly those pertaining to world problems, and good music. He likes to travel, can't cook, plays tennis daily and is fond of the outdoors.

Perhaps one of the most pleasing attributes about Horton is his manner of kidding himself. He professes to be a complete extrovert who loves to perform and who likes to talk about himself. He laughingly says he doesn't like to see himself upon the screen because he's always surprised to see that he no longer looks thirty-five.

And if he does venture into one of his pictures, he becomes distraught when he sees that his coat collar was turned up or his suit looked droopy. No, he thinks it's better to stay at home and bask in the compliments of his friends who tell him how wonderful he was . . . even if he suspects they're lying.

"But my mother," he smiled, "sees my pictures and listens to me on the radio and still says, 'Edward, dear, it can't last. I hope you've saved your money!'"

Dyana reads a lot, particularly philosophical writings, and keeps a Ralph Waldo Emerson volume beside her bed. "I also love the work of Stuart Chase," she specified, "and I've a mania for reading old, old standard things that children always read, and which I didn't get to read, —works of Dickens and Mark Twain and the like."

She loves serious music—Brahms, Rachmaninoff, Grieg, Richard Strauss. "I'd go without shoes for an album of records!"

She pays little attention to clothes, likes only the thirty-five dollar hats, so seldom buys one. Around the house, she wears shorts or more often, blue dungarees—"because I'm always rushing out into the garden to plant something."

Rummy Fiend

She likes to play "Acey-Ducey" (Navy backgammon) and is a gin-rummy fiend. "We played thirty games the other night! Yes, I won."

As our interview came to a close, Dyana gathered up her purse and gloves, made ready to dash again, explaining, "Jeepers — company's coming, so I've washed the kitchen curtains. Now I've got to get home and iron 'em!"
