I do, however, miss . . . "Texas Ann"—I love her.

Wasn't that "Texas Ann" on page thirty-two?

Mrs. J. S. Bedingfield, 6473 Darwell Ave., Bell Gardens, Calif.

Sirs: During the summer a new program, "Hank Durango," appeared on KNX, Friday at 6:30 p.m. My husband and I thought it the best western show on the air and listened to it faithfully. In fact, it was the only show of its type my husband would listen to, as he was once a cowboy himself.

A couple of weeks ago it was disand also if there is a chance of it returning to the airways.

"Hank Durango" was summer replace-ment for "Maisie," Afraid it won't be returning — unless we can look for-ward to il next summer.

Mrs. Mabel Guefette, 1309 Bates Ave., Los Angeles 27, Calif.

Sirs: Is it possible that you could arrange it so "Dr. Christian" or "The Great Gildersleeve" could be moved to KNX, 8:30 p.m.? I love both of those programs—and what happened to "Free For All"?

If we had the power to change the programs on the dial we'd do it in a minute. Unfortunately we can't, but we CAN print your protest.

Harriette C. Manley, 109 North Atlantic Blvd., Alhambra, Calif.

Sirs: For quite some time I have been wanting to write and com-pliment you on the way you handle letters of a certain type criticising you on the things you do or don't do. Sometimes I am ready to blow ing in the east. Then . a friend told me about Radio Life. Since then I have been a constant reader and I can't find one little thing to criticize. Maybe I'm just plain dumb. Thank you for many hours of pleasant reading time.

You're not dunib — you're nice! There's nothing we love better than reading the letters that come to "Ear Inspires"—both the brickbais and bou-quets. We feel that anyone who takes the time and trouble to write to us deserves a cordial welcome to our pages and a civil answer. If a correspondent is hurt or angry—we want our answer to make him feel better, not worse!

* Mrs. J. Peters, 505 South 3rd Street, Alhambra, Calif.

Sirs: I heartily agree with the reader who says that Johnny Mercer cannot sing. I often wonder who on earth says he can. He and Hoagy Carmichael sound terrible.

Regarding good comedy programs. don't think anyone can beat "It Pays to Be Ignorant" and now I am glad we have Henry Morgan. His humor is really unusual. I also would like to hear Frank Fay again.

After a brief California pacation Frank Fay went back to his lead in "Harvey" on Broadway. Looks like we'll have to wait until the play closes before we get him back on the air.

Bessie Faye Fairbanks, 909 Walnut Street, Bellflower, Calif.

Sirs: You are right and you picked a winner from a very large field when you selected for the cover of the western edition none other than America's beloved cowboy actor, Gene Autry . . . Your public is proud to see you honor this fine star of radio and motion pictures and one of Uncle Sam's former service men.

The keystone to Gene's tremendous success is his humility and his love and appreciation of all mankind. No matter what happens he remains the same even-tempered person, and he sees in others only the good. What a world this would be if more of us I have said is not parrot-talk. I con-sider it an honor to have known Gene and his wife over a period of many years, and can truthfully say, they come no grander.

And Gene LOOKS like just that sort of person, too-don't you think?

Mrs. Leota Jones, 58321/2 Harold Way, Hollywood, Calif.

Sirs: Barbara Gill's letter in regard to wanting new talent on radio expresses my opinion exactly. Why not all who feel the same as she does sit right down and state these wishes to the officials of the radio stations? Or better yet, to the of-ficials of the various broadcasting companies? I know a letter or so to your magazine complaining about these things have no effect, but a flood of letters to the proper people asking for new names on radio for some of our oldtimers on programs, for auditions, would have the desired results.

Go to it-and good luck in your campaign.

Mrs. A. A. Van Winkle, 11563 Weddington Street, North Hollywood, Calif.

Sirs: What has become of the "early bird" page of Radio Life? I happen to be a very early riser and I like those sensible programs of the early morning.

Due to limited space we can't carry the "early bird" page very frequently. but Editor Evelyn is planning to re-vise and schedule it at intervals. Last one appeared August 4.

JUST LIKE ON THE NEW "FITCH BANDWAGON", Mr. and Mrs. Harris team up for a song. When Alice found out that she was going to "have to screech some notes on the radio", she had the piano tuned for some practice found it was filled with the children's toys.

was in Australia," Mrs. Harris (the lovely Alice Faye) explained to us later. "He gave it to the Musician's Union in San Francisco once. Then he missed it, so he brought it back home."

Alice Jr's curiosity soon turned her attention from the haundry truck to our delegation of four (two reporters, two cameramen, and photographic equipment enough to indicate our intention to cover nothing less than a United Nations conference).

Alice Sr. came out to give us a warm welcome, and with her came two-year-old Phyllis, more shy with strangers than her four-year-old sister.

"Phylly seems more quiet," her mother agreed, "but when she's in the mood to turn loose, watch out!"

Together, the three feminine members of the Harris family were a picture to see — their blonde heads bright in the sunlight. "Nobody's dark in this house," commented little Alice.

"Your daddy is," corrected her mother, and ushering us down to the cool, flagstone-bordered pool, she introduced us to her very sun-burned husband.

"He and little Alice are the swimmers in the family," Phil's missus remarked. "Alice can swim very well. She started with a life preserver, and then one day, just took it off and swam fine without it.

Piano a Repository

As for playing the plano, the children aren't even being allowed near the instrument at present. This rule was put into effect just recently. "When I found out I was going to have to screech a few notes on the radio every Sunday," Mrs. Harris explained, "I thought I'd better get the piano in good condition for some practice. So I called in a tuner. Well, he had to come three times! The piano was stuffed with everything imaginable—gum, candy, dolls, even a hard-bolled egg!"

As for those "few notes to screech on the radio every Sunday," a feature spot of the Phil Harris-Alice Faye airshow is Alice's carolling of well-remembered melodies from her movies. Phil, too, does his share of novelty-warbling, and the entire script is musically scored, an innovation for a radio comedy show.

"I don't know of any other comedy show that would try it," Harris talked of his program with enthusiasm, "and I don't think any other guy could do it," he added, saluting his show's musical director, Walter Scharf. "I talk the script over with ALICE FAYE HARRIS poses prettily in the attractive patio at the rear of the house. The singer-screen actress admitted severe nervousness at the microphone, but is enjoying her ether chores with husband Phil, nevertheless.

Walter, give him a copy marked according to the gags and he sets it all to music.

"Actually," Harris pointed out, "ours isn't a show on its own—it's a sequence to the Benny program. After I've said 'S'long Jackson', the listener goes right along with me through the corridor of the studio, out the door, through the parking lot, down Vine street, and eventually, home to Alice and the kids. But on my way there, I meet up with an assortment of characters, and exchanging dialog with them allows me to retain the brash personality answers. As soon as you're sure you understand the Rules, note the coupon in the lower right hand corner of Page 7. This coupon provides space for noting your answers, your name and address. This coupon, or a reasonable facsimile, must be used in submitting all contest entries.

You've read the Rules, you've carefully noted your answer coupon. Now you're all set to go!

• You're going to get a big kick seeing how much you know about radio (if your first attempt at answering isn't so hot, perhaps you'd better read Radio Life more thoroughly!) But personal satisfaction in identifying the pictures isn't ALL you're going to receive. We said this was a Radio Life-Thrifty Drug Stores contest and speaking of prizes is where Thrifty enters the picture.

Each week, fifteen winners will qualify for prizes. These prizes will be furnished by Thrifty Drug Stores and will range from elegant DuBarry make-up kits, to precious nylons. Each week the same set of prizes will be furnished the week's fifteen winners. If you're excited about the prizes, just turn to Page 9 and see the list. THEN, at the end of the six weeks each prize winner (and the members of his or her family) will be invited to a Radio Life-Thrifty Drug Stores studio party — a gala event featuring special entertainment and extra special guest stars.

Get busy, contest entrants! We're sure you know more than you think you do. Anyhow, best of luck!

Her Violin Isn't the Only Magic

Cast by "Hour of Charm" Evelyn

Sunday, 1:30 p.m. CBS-KNX

Wauhillau La Hay

HEN Radio Life wrote asking me to tell all about Evelyn Kaye — Evelyn Spitalny, I should say, as she and Phil were married in June—I hadn't met her. Of course, I'd heard her play on the air many times and had seen the "Hour of Charm" on a Chicago stage, but we'd never met. And frankly, I hardly knew what to expect. She's truly a great musician and great musicians are apt to be fairly unapproachable. Too, I knew she was largely responsible for the success of the "Hour of Charm" and its all-girl group and highly successful women always intimidate me!

She called me and made a date for lunch at the super-swank Colony here in New York. So I dressed up in my best "basic black" with the darnedest hat I could find, dabbed on my best perfume and set out to meet "the first lady of the violin."

She was there when I arrived and jumped up to greet me. First shock. She's just five feet two inches tall, beautifully built and with a lovely mop of light brown curly hair. SHE was dressed in a simple street cotton—the kind of cotton frock that runs into three figures, of course. But I noticed all this later. She has the most beautiful eyes I have ever seen in my life. Large, luminous, fringed with long, curling, natural lashes.

Instant Friends

In two seconds, we were old friends. She was calling me by my nickname and I was calling her Evelyn. She's a gracious hostess and is as enthusiastic over the new "Hour of Charm" as I am. We got on famously and since our first meeting, I've grown to know her better and frankly, I like her better every tjme I see her.

She's smart. She's clever. She's as honest as the day is long and as frank as can be—but that isn't telling you what you want to know.

First about her musiclanship. She made her debut at thirteen and from that moment on, has never been out of the public eye. She's a Juilliard scholar and has won practically every scholarship, every prize, every medal offered to young musicians. Phil heard about her twelve years ago and when they met, Evelyn knew that she wanted to work for and with him. She gaye up a Paris s c h o l a r s h i p, the Fontainebleau Grand Prix, to help him form the allgirl orchestra. She turned her back on a concert life, per se, and now that I've met her, I know that she made her decision instantly. She chose radio and I have her word for it that she has never regretted it for one moment.

Not only does Evelyn do her violin solo on each program, she arranges it. She makes most of the orchestral arrangements and choral effects and serves as concert-mistress. This girl is a real musiclan and has the respect of other fine violinists. She works at it unceasingly, as you know, and puts her own Hungarian fire into everything she plays.

Second, I'd like to tell you about Evelyn's business ability. Although Phil is the boss, Evelyn is certainly second in command. She works with the girls, with the bookers, with everybody connected with the "Hour of Charm." She keeps the files and the music. She seems to read Phil's mind and hands him what he wants before he asks for it.

This week the first installment of the Radio Life-Thrifty Drug Stores Kilocycle Kwiz starts on page 6. Kindly consult page 15.

For Love o' Mike We Woke Up Screaming

We fell asleep with our radio on the other night. Just as we were dozing off, a montage of familiar voices floated in and out of our ears. Through an irritating haze of static we could an irritating haze of static we could hear Red Skelton, little-boy, lisping "I dood it!", Arthur Lake screeching his Dagwoodian "Blondie!", Ginny Simms warbling "Blue Skies", a gale of women's laughter and Tom Brene-man planting a noisy kiss on some squealing female's cheek. Radio, radio, radio ... our head reeled.

We felt like Richard Powell Rogue floating up to Cloud Number Seven. On the way, we passed two hundred personable emcees who flashed two hundred white-toothed smiles and shoved two hundred little hand-mikes into our face. Then we rode on a brilliant-hued sound-truck whose horn was tooting something that sounded like a station identification. We passed the house where the Burnses live and heard Jack Benny talking to George and Gracie, and Dinah Shore asking her next-door neighbor, Frank Sinatra, to come over for a duet.

All of this seemed pleasant enough, and we didn't exactly want to wake up. Then came an urge to discover new horizons and all of this familiarity made us stir restlessly in our dreams.

Where, oh where, we wondered, was the adventuresome spirit of radio's trail-blazers? To whom could we turn for something besides blues singers, participating audiences, radio digests of screen dramas, and comedians swapping pale-blue puns on each oth-ers' programs?

We woke up with a start and found ourselves screaming -- pleading for someone to lift radio out of its wellworn groove and jog it into an un-predictable pattern of happy surprises for weary dial-twisters.

We wondered whether the "some-one" was one of the splendidly crea-tive minds of radio. But on second thought, we remembered all the good ideas we'd heard about (even in the past year) that had never made head. way because those responsible for putting shows on the air were in a rut and afraid to try something new. We remembered the writer who'd lam-ented that no one would even read his script. The audition records that had gathered dust, not because they weren't good but because they were something different and entailed pioneering to put on the air. We re-membered that three thousand members of AFRA were enrolled in Holly-wood, that only 300 air jobs a week were available and that most of them went to the tried-and-true players because they were good and to be depended upon and new voices might present a hazard and be a gamble with sponsor's money. Then, we re-membered, all too poignantly, the summer of uninspired listening which we were glad was over.

All these things we remembered and then we remembered something we'd never forgotten-you listeners. You. we said to ourselves, were the ones to judge radio. You were the ones who showed, by your dialing in or out, what you liked to hear. If you were to refuse to listen to the same old stuff, radio, we felt, might, by your registration of disgust or disinterest, be aroused to the necessity for bend-ing every effort to blaze a new trail.

Fellow listeners; let's quit griping; let's do something!

How Come?

We used to think our radio was at fault when announcers on some local stations stuttered their way through commercials. It wasn't our radio at all, we discovered after giving the in-nocent thing a couple of hard licks, but really the aforementioned gentlemen in question. Fascinated, we be-gan carefully to listen to morning programs and newscasts and must adprograms and newscasts and must ad-mit that sometimes the results were amazing. On the recorded shows, plat-ter personnel was either mispro-nounced or altogether wrong — long commercials were read as if there were a fire in the studio, and one announcer was so overcome while ex-pounding the iows of a girl's comp pounding the joys of a girl's camp that the pauses between sentences could have passed for minutes of re-spectful silence. Don't get us wrong, we're not above committing mistakes. But it would seem that those who have a part in making radio the worthy industry that it is, would exercise more care in maintaining its reputation.

Fred Beck

When Nelson Pringle deserted the morning air, he left a hole in our listening habits. Now, joy, oh, joy, Fred Beck has come along and made us happy again.

Fred hasn't been a professional radio performer before now-you probably all know him as the sage of the Farmer's Market and author of "Sec-ond Carrot from the End". His easy charm on the air is in the same delightful vein. If you're tired of staccato announcers, dream boy charmers and oily story-tellers, you'll fall for Fred. He drawls along, saying pretty much what he wants to when he wants to. When he doesn't like some. thing he tells you so-and he names names. RADIO LIFE

By VIRGINIA WEST

With fall radio programs fairly well settled down to their normal routine, the time has come for reviewing some of the standbys which go on their weekto-week way without much heralding.

One of these, in the upper brackets of psychological dramas on anyone's dial, is ABC-KECA's "Retribution," heard on Tuesday nights at 9. This popular series has recently taken on a sponsor for the Los Angeles area, Piuma Wine. With outstanding radio actor, Lou Merrill, in the steady berth as narrator, the show's author, Dwight Hauser, has introduced many new devices in creative effects for the dramas. For instance, Hauser treats sound as almost human ... using it to carry the action of the plot without any words or screams from the actors themselves. He writes in sound, not to complement the actors' lines, but as an integral part of the plot.

Another standby is "Gangbusters," a drama on which you hear an actual inci-dent of crime and punishment, straight from the facts in police files. You meet a man who made history as the most famous crime-buster of them all... Lewis J. Valentine, former commissioner of the New York police force, who has recently returned from Japan, where he was called by General MacArthur to help reorganize the Japanese police system. "Gangbusters," as you know, is heard on KECA at 9 o'clock in that Saturday night lineup which includes such other adventure dramas as Sherlock Holmes, Lone Ranger, and the Green Hornet.

Speaking of Tokyo ... Tom Breneman, headman of ABC's popular "Breakfast in Hollywood," recently received word from a member of the Civil Information and Education Section of GHQ for the Allied Powers, that parts of the format for his show have been "stolen" by Radio Tokyo for the "Women's Hour." The Japanese network selects a "Good Neighbor" and sends a bouquet of flowers to the person chosen ... derisive comment from Fred recently.

Announcer Tip Corning is Fred's helper and Beck makes no bones about keeping Tip in his place. Ac-cording to Beck, Tip's main duty is to say "Hmmmmn" whenever Fred says something interesting-and Tip does 11.

It has always seemed to us that there is something peculiarly Califor-nian about Beck and we're glad to see that on a full coast broadcast he still retains it.

So far we've heard all of Beck's broadcasts and each one has been more amusing than the last. If this keeps up, Fred's going to be first carrot from the end!

"Easy Aces"

For fifteen years, Goodman Ace and company have dished out one of the most consistently delightful fifteen-minute shows on the air, the "Easy Aces". Currently, local listeners can catch them, via waxed airings, on KMPC, Monday through Friday, 9:00 p. m.

Speaking for ourselves, we try not to miss an episode-but the nice thing is that, even if we do, the program's continuity is so well-knit, its charac-ters so clearly defined and engagingly portrayed, its lines of dialogue so individually amusing, that we can al-ways step in after any absence and feel right at home.

Our only criticism would be that, whenever scripter Ace ventures away from the leading, longest-running characters of his skit—Ace, wife Jane, friend Marge and maid Laura—we are not quite as interested or amused.

Probably largely to account for the program's success is its spontaneous start and the off-mike close relationship of its stars. Jane and Goodman Ace have been married since 1928. One evening in 1931, when Ace was appearing on Station KMBC, Kansas City, as "The Movie Man," the producer signaled him frantically to fill in the fifteen minutes following his program because the talent hadn't shown up. Ace, in turn, signaled frantically to his wife, Jane, who was in the studio with him. Together, they ad-libbed for fifteen minutes about a bridge game they had played the night before.

This surprise air feature brought in so much fan mail that it became a permanent fixture on the station's broadcasting schedule. From there, the "Easy Aces" moved to the net-works, and in Chicago, Jane and Goodman met "friend Marge.'

In real life, "Marge" is Mary Hunter, Jane Ace's real-life best friend. She was a hostess at WGN when the Aces found her. Goodman was intrigued with her laugh, and thought that it and the character of a sensible best friend to counterbalance Jane's zany personality would be a fine addition to the "Easy Aces" skits. Since then, an assortment of other characters have been added to the cast, including a curious, dull-witted maid named Laura who is the perfect conspirator for Jane's zany schemes that are always accompanied by her pet axioms, such as "It's a great life if you don't waken."

Goodman Ace's own method of selfcriticism is to measure the quality of his "Easy Aces" scripts by the number of cigars he smokes while pounding them out on his typewriter. A onecigar script is what he considers his best work.

Ace radio wit Fred Allen calls Goodman Ace, "America's greatest wit." We call him a consistent "one-cigar" scripter.

Radio Invitation

We bet that radio's self-appointed critics—the ones who claim that radio is strictly low-brow—have never gotten up early enough on Sunday mornings to listen to Columbia's "Invitation to Learning," or else the y wouldn't talk that way. This distinguished program brings prominent critics, professors and teachers to the microphone to discuss famous and worthy books. The discussions are spontaneous, provocative and sometimes argumentative.

Currently the program is devoting seventeen weeks to a series entitled "Man and His Government" which will cover political thinking from the Greek Period to modern times.

We'll admit that sometimes the discussions have been over our head, but even then they've given us a stimulus to follow up the topics with our own reading—a true "invitation to learn."

We dislike carping about a program with such a very intelligent approach but occasionally it happens that the guests are so in accord that the discussion loses the punch that an exchange of expert ideas, should bring. A recent case in point was a program concerning Sinclair Lewis' "Main Street." Dorothy Parker and Charles ("Lost Weekend") Jackson were in complete agreement concerning the book and each reiterated the other's statements which boiled down to "its second reading is disappointing."

Finest example of "Invitation's" scholarly, yet popular, public service were its two broadcasts preceding the "Old Vic" players presentations of "Henry IV" and Ibsen's "Peer Gynt." They discussed both plays so thoroughly that by the time we heard them broadcast we were practically drama critics!

Cheers For "The Whistler"

What appears to be open season on radio horror and mystery shows may present a problem to the novice dialer who is seeking consistently good entertainment. Hours of listening have brought Radio Life to the conclusion that one answer to the problem can be found on Monday at 9:00 p.m. when CBS' "The Whistler" beams airward. Page Twelve The show, which calls itself "the West Coast's most popular program," is always credible from beginning to finis from a standpoint of story and acting. Recalling our recent coverage of the airer's rehearsal, we again realized that no amount of inspiration without the corresponding amount of perspiration can make a good show. And producer George Allen thrives on hard work.

Most of the top air performers have appeared on the weekly 'at one time or another which brings up the subject of last Monday's (7th) cast. A combination of Betty Lou Gerson, a newcomer to Hollywood's Radio Row, oldtimers Joe Kearns, Hal March, Hal Gerard and Ed Colman, made a comparatively simple story assume the aspects of a real thriller. We have heard complaints against keeping the identity of The Whistler a secret. But after all, it is good showmanship and if a show lacks showmanship—you haven't a show.

Changes Made

Has your program seemed different lately? We're happy to report that Madman Henry Morgan's new half hour series belongs in that categoryand are we glad! Nobody more gleefully clapped hands than we upon learning of his return to the airlanes, but, as you will recall, after listening we turned off our radio and sighed nostalgically for the fifteen-minute show of old. At this writing, the Morgan of the past two airings has recaptured the zip and zing of the pre-war days. The material is as zany as Morgan material should be and the added cast, musicians and sound effects have found their proper element. It will be interesting to see what use Mr. Morgan will make of his new sponsor and his new time of following the inimita-ble Bing on Wednesday nights. We won't want to miss it.

Playbacks

More Blanc

Mel Blanc is one of the real Hollywood radio great, and no one knows it better than we do. His range of voices and characters is so wide that it's almost unbelievable. That's why we're sorry to say that though the "Mel Blanc Show" is okay—it isn't okay enough for our boy, Mel.

"Zooky" is as fine as the other characters in Mel's portrait gallery, and Mel's own speaking voice (how can he find it after all these years?) is pleasant and ingratiating. The rest of the cast is good, too, but there just seems to be too many of 'em, with none of the characterizations clearly defined. We tune in to hear Blanc! And what do we get?—a show too reminiscent of the late, lamented "Forever Ernest."

Know what our idea of a "Mel Blanc Show" would be? At least fifteen solid minutes of Blanc voices. Ya see, it's like this—here's this guy Blanc, see, and he's standing behind the counter of this empty hardware store, see, and in comes a character, only it's really Blanc, see, only in another voice. And no matter how many customers come into the store, see, they're all Mel Blanc! Why it could go on for years—Mel would never run out of characters. Oh, man, let' us into that story conference!

"Dr. Christian"

Hollywood may scoff at it as a show appealing only to the midwestern "Bible belt," but figures like these can't be sluffed off:

Last Spring, in a survey conducted by the Nielsen Service for the Associated Press, CBS' "Dr. Christian" was rated "The Best Radio Buy On the Air," copping first place to "Fibber and Molly's" second. The survey showed that the "Christian" program reached 600 homes per dollar spent. "The McGees" reached 500 per dollar.

In the Hooper ratings of last month, "Dr. Christian" again rated among the top fifteen most-listened-to shows —holding eighth place, just under "Lux Radio Theater's" seventh.

In the company and competition of airshows Hollywood would quickly deem more listener-attracting (Hildegarde, Frank Sinatra, Jack Carson), "Dr. Christian" has always held its lead by a wide margin. This season, however, the nine-year-old dramatic series is up against its stiffest test a time-conflict with a show which generally appeals to the same audience group, NBC's "The Great Gildersleeve." Both are heard on Wednesdays, at 8:30 p.m.

One factor we would credit largely responsible for the consistent, longtime popularity of the "Christian" show is its star's devotion to his radio role. For years, Jean Hersholt has refused all other acting assignments, to become so completely identified with his portrayal of the kindly country doctor that listeners constantly write to him requesting medical advice. In addition, Mr. Hersholt has, in all the years of weekly airings with no summer hiatus, never missed a "Dr. Christian" broadcast. Even a trip to Denmark and his recent serious surgery did not keep him away from his program. In the former instance, although Claude Rains starred in the series during Hersholt's absence, the voice of "Dr. Christian" was brought to listeners by remote control from across the Atlantic.

Other factors vitally contributing to the program's popularity are its small-American-town locale, the appearance of screen actress Rosemary De Camp in the role of the doctor's assistant, "Judy," and the script competition which the program has conducted for the past five years. This permits the members of the show's listening audience to submit scripts which are considered for cash awards and coast-to-

Off Mike All Should Do It

"What's Doin, Ladles?" emcee, Jay Stewart, dropped by our office to tell us about the interesting and com-mendatory show (not on the air) he was putting on for about 250 members of Braille Institute. All his stunts, he said, had to be specially planned for sightless audience members. Some one half-seriously raised the point whether all radio shows, especially audience participation, shouldn't be planned as if the unseen audience were blind. They had something there!

What Consequences

Like all busy people, the bustling host of NBC's "Truth or Consequences," Ralph Edwards, keeps one of his office phone numbers unlisted for his own personal use. Lately, however, he found that the line was being besieged with calls.

Rightfully somewhat annoyed, Mr. E. pondered over who had given out the number, eventually realized with a start that it had been himself! Not remembering his other office num-bers, he had been casually handing out the dial combination for his private line!

Who Scared Whom

Agnes Moorehead, who is a riotous story-teller, is currently telling this tale on herself. It seems that the actress and her husband, Jack Lee, were recently bothered by a feathered invader at their Cheviot Hills home. The big black bird came and perched on their tile roof and banged away at it with such annoying repetition that the couple were tempted to resort to an air rifle.

This went on for several nights, then late one Thursday evening, after Miss Moorehead had returned home from her Columbia Square chores as "Marilly" on the "Mayor of the Town" preview and was longing for some sound sleep, she heard the bird at work again. The actress rushed to her bedroom window, peered out and found herself face to face with the huge fowl hanging upside-down from the eaves.

Before Miss Moorehead could find voice enough to shriek her fright, the bird itself frantically flapped its wings and screamed with terror.

"Leave it to an old character actress!" laughs Agnes, recounting the story with glee. "The bird hasn't been seen in the neighborhood since!"

Can't Miss

Arthur Lake, who admits that he's pretty Dagwoodian in real life, too, tells us that his new red-top con-vertible Town and Country is equipped with a special horn so that he will be able to locate it in the network parking lots that are now crowded with Town and Country models. The horn on Arthur's car emits a honk that sounds like the befuddled Dagwood's shriek for "Blon-die!"

Apparently producers aren't allowing ample time for studio audience laugh responses and for the ad libs of certain stars well-known to have perpetual tendencies in this direction. As one listener to another, wouldn't you rather have a bumper of a little extra music at the end of a show than have lines chopped off midair and frantic network announcements terminating an otherwise pleas-ant half hour? Poorly timed "live" programs might be a potent argument in favor of transcription programs.

SCRIPT'S THE THING: Dennis Day's first show for Colgate was a smash and he, himself, turned in a swell performance, but let's not overlook the writers, especially head scripter, Frank Galen, who helped dream up stuff last season for Burns and Allen.

HEDDA HOPPER is one of Radio Row's most colorful and versatile personalities and when her new series of dra-matic presentations premiered the other evening, she did a typically good job of emceeing. But if she's gogood job of emceeing. But if she's go-ing to be on the air, we'd rather she'd dish the Hollywood news than demille radio versions of screen fare. She's essentially an actress and though many listeners have told us they usually did not listen to the many Hol-lywood columnists, they admitted they tuned Miss Hopper because her tyle was so interesting. There's no style was so interesting. There's no other woman to fill her place in this department, for though Louella Parsons often has juicy items, her deliv-ery, we think, dehydrates them. And speaking of Miss Parsons, didn't Bob Cobb of The Derbies turn in a fine in-terview on her show? We'd like to have heard more of him and fewer "exclusives."

coast airing on the program. Over seven thousand persons entered the most-recently-conducted "Dr. Christian" script competition, which is a hefty figure considering the work required of each contestant. As producer Neil Reagan points out, "It's no mere matter of sending in a box-top."

The only time "Dr. Christian's" listeners have expressed dissatisfaction with the show is when the element of murder was introduced in the dramatizations. Its dialers like it best when it brings them problems and situations which most closely parallel the listeners' own lives.

In view of the above, we cannot help but wonder why, in recent weeks, "Dr. Christian" has delved not only in murder but in a series of fantastic, far-fetched situations involving everything from an elephant and a mer-maid to a "human" jalopy named "Betsy" which fell in love with a handsome black Packard belonging to a lady chief of police

If such nonsensical material con-tinues to be featured on the program, in addition to the other drawbacks which naturally result from using free-lance scripts (the lack of continuity and character development), we fear that succeeding Hooperatings will reveal "Dr. Christian" sorely in need of first-aid.

Dinah's Secret

Like Bing Crosby, the Andrews Sis-ters and others of the country's top vocal stars, Dinah Shore doesn't read music. We were listening to her de-liver a tuneful rendition of "I'd Be Lost Without You" during the rehear-sal of her airshow the other afternoon when suddenly she stopped singing.

"Golly," she giggled, "I'm fine if I don't look at the music. But if I happen to glance down and see one of those little notes going a different way from where I think it should go, I don't know what to do!" OCTOBER 20, 1946

ORIGINAL MUSIC

Bill Bryan, heard on his own show on CBS, features his original songs and piano compositions. Bill has made no attempt to publish his works, so it's a rare oppor-tunity to hear a repertoire of originals.

THURSDAY LOGS

Opie Cates, musical direc-tor of NBC's "Meet Me At Parky's," has been on the sombre side lately. The feed shortage has forced him to sell his 180 head of fine Berkshire hogs — including his favorite, Junior, given to him by Bob Burns.

More: LIFE LINES

in one of Columbia Square's small studios. We're glad, because his type of music will be much more intimate and listenable without a big audience.

A STANDOUT: We hope Fred Allen's perennial threat to forsake radio is never carried out, for with his return to the air on Sunday, October 6, we realized more than ever what a great personality he is. His clever use of Lowell Thomas and Kaltenborn as "running commentators" on Allen and the Alley's doings was as refreshing as a cold shower after a torrid day. Sure, Allen pokes fun at radio. But a premise for 'successfully biting the hand that feeds you is a hand so strong, yet so supple, that your teeth marks don't scar. They only whip up the circulation.

★ ★ Debut For Danny

We answered Radio Life's phone the other morning to find the smiling voice of singer Ronny Mansfield on the other end of the wire. "It's a BOY," he reported proudly, "born Saturday (5) at Good Samaritan—eight pounds of him, and with more hair than his sister Maureen had!"

The happy daddy told us that his new son will be named Ronald Daniel. "But we'll be callin' him 'Danny,'" added Ronny in his best Erin brogue.

NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH

Laughter rang in the Earl Carroll Hollywood theatre-restaurant the other morning, when an elderly and spright ly "Queen For A Day" contestant announced to the audience and MBS listeners that her name was Mrs. Anna Bigger Waterhouse, and that she lived on Overholtz Street in Oshkosh, Wisconsin!

↔ Oh, That Morgan

ABC's Henry Morgan, who stars on his own show, writes all his own material, and pokes fun at anything and everything including the sponsor and ABC.

OCTOBER 20, 1946

With resumption of a full news section, Radio Life is reinstating its "Gags of the Week" column. As in the past, lickets for radio programs will be offered those first sending in the best gags. On hand, wait-ing to reward each of four persons send-ing in a gag are four pairs of lickets. You'll get either two tickets to "Lux" or two to Frank Morgan's show—which-ever we manage to slip into your enve-lope. Address your entries to Radio Life, 1558 North Vine Street, Holly-wood 28, Calif.

Yera Wright, 1619 East 87th Street, Los Angeles 2, Calif.

So Nice to Come Home To

I've established on the Benny pro-gram. I didn't want to change that character type. That's why our show inn't just a family shit because in isn't just a family skit, because in front of my children, of course, I couldn't talk fresh.

"The music is worked in natur-ally, with no stilted introductions," he continued. "Orchestral music comes in logically from my car radio, or on the radio in our house. People expect us to have music in our home so no explanations are necessary nor are introductions to numbers, because we do them ourselves."

The expected presence of music in the Harris home was evidenced during our visit there in the lively con-versation of Harris and Scharf concerning music and musicians—but the topic of the hour quickly became baseball as soon as they remembered the double-header scheduled that night.

From that moment on, Phil twitched impatiently while the cameras clicked, and during one pose, jump-ed up with a gleeful "I'm gone!" when Mr. Scharf sat down at the piano and pounded out a quick chorus of "Take Me Out to the Ball Game."

"No, I'm not going," demurred Phil's missus, with a playful frown. "I wasn't invited. When he married me, Phil taught me all about sports. Now, I'm never invited."

In addition to the Harrises four; Page Thirty-two the children's nurse, Cissy; other members of the household staff and assorted guests; also in evidence in Phil and Alice's pleasantly furnished and comfortably livable abode were a police dog named "Wango" ("I don't know why," replied Alice when we asked her), two tiny kittens ("which cost ten cents apiece, she added), and a delightful doll collection in the children's charming bedroom ("Look at the messy coif-fures on all the poor dolls," Alice ex-claimed. "You can tell that my daughters are frustrated hairdressers.

Pet play-place of the Harris children is the small house erected for them in the rear. Little Alice ushered us into it, where we found one of her dolls "sick with a bad cold." With the competence of her own nurse, Cissy, whom she was mimick-ing, the little girl took the dolly's temperature and marked with a meaningless child's scrawl the "chart" beside the bed.

"The children have a grand time," smiled Alice. "This," with a sweep of her arm to indicate the spacious beautiful grounds, "is a wonderful place for them. I love California and the Valley. My only regret is that the kids can't have snow."

Happily married for over five years, Phil and Alice, with their two en-chanting little daughters, present a perfect picture of young American marrieds, chiding each other with affectionate humor.

Just before we made our departure, Phil kissed his wife with a "Good-bye, Mommy" and zoomed out of the driveway to the accompanying screech of the cockatoo.

"There goes my father to his double-header," grinned Alice, and added quickly, "Oh, it's all right if I call him that. He always calls me mother.'

Nana goes on an ice cream binge once a month, her most recent venture being at Will Wright's, which some friend recommended.

"That's one piece of knowledge I shouldn't have—where to get ice cream," she apologized. "First I ate one dish with three scoops-not just ordinary scoops, but the jumbo kind. Then I asked for a dish with two big scoops. My bill, with tip, was $1.50!"

Can you imagine "Miss Tilsey" doing THAT?

booths, and an admirer tossed Paul a cigar.

"I used to be a juvenile delinquent myself," recalled Paul returning to our subject. "I was one of a gang of kids back in Denver who stole ice cream from the kitchens of homes where parties were in progress. Once when we couldn't find any ice cream, we were so mad we took the but-ter and buttered the street car tracks on a steep hill. We were caught that time and had to appear before Judge Ben Lindsay. Believe me, jazz had nothing to do with that!"

At the time we talked to Paul, he was looking forward to returning to New York that week. Next step was an engagement at the Capitol The-ater with his son, Paul jr., playing drums with the band. "He's got a wonderful technique," said Paul of young Paul. "All he needs now is experience. He's ambidextrous with his hands and feet. Marvelous ad-vantage for a drummer!" Paul's hour-long radio show, "Forever Torse" now emanates from New York. At the time we talked to Paul, he Tops" now emanates from New York. York.

Whiteman loves New York and the fact that his famous ranch is within commuting distance is an added inducement to return.

"You go to work in the most ex-citing city in the world, knock your-self out, and get back home to the farm in half an hour and rest up,"

"And," he wound up, "strawber-ries and cream on Christmas morn-ing—courtesy of the deep freeze!"

In the first place, Phil believes ut-terly in the girls in the organiza-tion. He also believes women are easier to manage than men., He knows they are fine musicians and he knows he can help them build careers for themselves, but he does insist on his own ideas and I think he's absolutely right.

He will not tolerate tardiness to either the job or rehearsals. For the first offense, the girl is fined a dol-lar. The second time, five dollars. The money, by the way, goes into the Christmas party fund. The third time a girl is late, she loses points. And that means money.

You see, Phil's auditors have set up a very intricate point system. Girls get plus points for all sorts of things — learning parts rapidly, always being on time, keeping their clothes and themselves perfectly groomed, solo work, general coop-erativeness and so forth. And, at Christmastime each year, by the point system, each girl gets a whop-(Please Turn to Page 39)

THE ELEGANT MR. WHITEMAN MARKS HIS SCRIPT with an elegant flourish. Paul is light-hearted and delights in joking. He admits that he never had much control over his musicians in the old days, says the boys "ran him".

"Pops," The First

That's An Affectionate Nickname Amongst Musicians and it Was First Bestowed Upon Paul Whiteman Who's Still "Pops" and Tops

By B. J. Hammer

E'VE TALKED with many musicians in our time but meeting Paul Whiteman was really an occasion — Father Jazz in person! Paul didn't disappoint us, either. He's still the jovial, wellupholstered character, with just a touch of the majestic about him, that we've been seeing and hearing for a generation.

But something was wrong—"Your moustache!" we gasped. "It's gone!"

"Yes," smiled Paul ruefully. First time in thirty years I've been without it. It's a strange feeling."

"What's the story behind the unadorned upper lip?" we wondered.

"You see, I'm playing myself in "The Fabulous Dorseys'—the Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey picture, and at the time in which the picture is laid I had a waxed moustache. They couldn't paste one on over the moustache I had, so I had to have it shaved off and have a false one put on." Paul assured us that he was going to grow a real one as soon as possible. He couldn't tell us much about the picture—he won't look at the rushes because he dislikes himself on the screen. "I think the big surprise of the picture will be Jimmy," he told us. "Tommy and I go horsing along, but Jimmy is serious and is really good."

Opinion on Bing

Picture-making is no novelty to Whiteman. A milestone in early talkie days was his "King of Jazz", which introduced the pre-recorded music technique to the screen and Bing Crosby to movie goers. Speaking of Bing, Whiteman says with a smile, "There's only one Groaner and that's because he's got a beat. The others haven't. They're OK as long as they have their blg arrangements backing them up, but how many of them can sing with a small, improvising combo? Bing can do both!"

We prodded Paul into doing a bit of reminiscing for us and he recalled that in all his years in the band business his biggest thrill came, of course, at the famous Gershwin concert introducing "Rhapsody in Blue." "I cried and George cried," smiled Whiteman. "Everybody was there and we could tell from the beginning that everyone loved it. You know, to me that demonstrates the real meaning of 'swing'. When a band swings, the audience and the musicians are both giving and understanding the music together. Why, I've seen Tos-canini swing his orchestra every bit as much as the leader of a little jazz band can. The Gershwin concert was a thrill to me for another reason-it made jazz respectable. I've always loved it, but when I was young you had to go to some pretty disreputable places to hear it played. And I had played in the symphony and always had great respect for symphony music and musicians, too. Being able to bring the two together and make jazz respectable by bringing it into a concert hall was a really big thrill for me!'

EVERYBODY LOVES "POPS", AND HERE'S DINAH SHORE PROVING IT. Paul says "everybody calls everybody 'Pops' now, Jack Teagarden even calls his little boy that". Whiteman recalls that many jive expressions still current were invented by members of his old band—"only they didn't run them into the ground the way the public does"!

To Defense of Jive

How about the old cry that it's hot music that makes juvenile delinquents? "Oh, they used to accuse me of that, too," sighed Whiteman. "I was a bad man because I was swinging the classics. I say there's more delinquency in the business man's bounce than in any jitterbugging I've ever seen."

"What," we asked, "is the 'business man's bounce'?" Paul smiled broadly, bounced up and down as well as he could in the limited confines of the Brown Derby booth, and snapped his fingers roguishly from side to side. A smattering of applause arose from neighboring

OP TUNES of the week, selected by orchestra leaders, stage, screen and radio stars and other famous personalities in the entertainment field throughout the world, styled by the romantic singing team of Harry Babbitt and Mary Small with Ray Bloch and his orchestra, highlight "By Popular Demand," Mutual's delightful new concert of hit tunes of the day.

Each week, top authorities in the entertainment field report, either by wire or in person, the leading tune of the moment in their particular part of the world to Clayton "Bud" Collyer, emcee of the program. As the selections are announced, Mary Small and Harry Babbitt join Ray Bloch and the orchestra to present these numbers to the listening audience in a half hour of music and song that is relaxing and easy on the ears.

Guest appearances on the program have been made by Sherman Billingsley, proprietor of New York's fabulous Stork Club, and Dorothy Stuart, Australian representative in the purchasing of American plays and songs for that continent. Men in public office have also wired their selections, most notable of these being H. D. Blue, Governor of the State of Iowa, who selected "Sioux City PRETTY MARY SMALL SHARES SINGING honors with Babbitt. Radio fans remember Mary as the little girl with a big voice, who love to sing-and still does.

Sue" as the song most popular in his state. Three thousand miles across the Atlantic, Chappels Ltd. of London wired the tune that was setting Britain's toes tapping at that time.

Benny Goodman, Harry James, Woody Herman, Kay Kyser, Vaughn Monroe, Guy Lombardo, Artie Shaw and Hal McIntyre as well as Frank Sinatra, The Andrews Sisters, Ethel Merman, Carl Brisson. Cole Porter, Irving Berlin and Buddy Clark have all wired their selections of the tune which has hit the top in their locale "By Popular Demand."

Harry Babbitt, male vocal star on the new series, joined Kay Kyser's band in 1937 and established himself as one of the nation's outstanding vocalists. His seven feature length movies and his numerous recordings of popular tunes have increased his popularity among his many listeners.

Is Husky

Newest idol of the bobby-sox brigade, handsome Harry Babbitt is a tall, trim, athletic young man who spends every available afternoon working out in a gymnasium located in New York's West 50's and then goes straight from the recording session to his home where he dines with his wife and six-year-old son; which is an illustrative way of saying that his major interests in life are his family (he married the daughter of the minister of his home town church), his music (which he has studied seriously ever since childhood) and athletics (he is an expert at swimming, tennis and golf).

Harry learned to play sax and drums at an early age and had his own band in his home town, St. Louis, Missouri. When he entered the University of Missouri, he played in the college band and also organized a small dance combo of his own which proved to be both pleasurable and lucrative. When he left college, Harry did free lance night club and vaudeville work around St. Louis where band leader Kay Kyser discovered him.

Although Harry's six-year vocal spot with Kay Kyser (1937 to 1943) and his radio and recording work today label him as a hard working young man, he hasn't forgotten how to relax and has many outside interests. Movie photography as a hobby, good clothes and good food are all part of his design for living. His style of dressing is conservative (unlike that of other members of his fraternity given to bow tles, atomic shirts and sharp shoulders). His favorite dinner is likely to include vegetable soup and fried chicken, prefaced with an Old Fashloned. After his two-year hitch in the Navy, Harry finds it easy to enjoy these simple pleasures.

Petite, blonde Mary Small has been one of radio's favorite singers of popular tunes ever since she made her debut at the age of eleven on Rudy Vallee's famous radio show. It would be nice to say that her primary aim in appearing on Rudy's show was the desire for personal fame, but the truth of the matter is that she wanted to get the wavyhaired crooner's autograph for her collection.

As a matter of fact, it was autograph hunting that launched Mary's career. When she was seven, she sang on a children's program at a Baltimore, Md., station, but she thought no more about singing professionally until four years later when she went backstage after a performance of the Three X Sisters to get their scrawls in her little book. Their manager, Ed Wolfe, jokingly asked her to sing for them and when she obliged, Wolfe got down to business and signed her to a contract, bringing her to New York for the Vallee appearance. Wolfe and Small have preserved their business partnership to this day.

Own Big Show

With a return engagement on Vallee's program serving as a springboard to fame, Mary was signed for her own commercial serles, "The Mary Small Junior Miss Revue,"

VOCALISTS SMALL AND BABBITT olfer duets as well as solos when requested by the experts. which flourished for two years for one sponsor. Then followed a succession of guest appearances with such radio personalities as Eddie Cantor, Paul Whiteman, Ben Bernle and Andre Kostelanetz. Soon Mary was tapped again for the top spot on her "Junlor Miss Revue" series which returned to the air for two and a half years.

Being an attractive and talented actress as well as a singer, Mary scored new personal successes when she appeared in her first Broadway show, "Early to Bed," a few seasons back. This fall she will return to Broadway as the star of a new musical comedy entitled, "Toplitsky Of Notre Dame."

Married four years to composer Vic Mizzy, of "My Dreams Are Getting Better All The Time" fame, Mary is the proud mother of Patty Lou, who is almost two years old now. She met husband Vic after hearing his arrangement of one of his own tunes, "There's a Far Away Look In Your Eye," and, decided to find out more about the man who wrote such appealing melodies.

At twenty-four, Mary finds it no strain juggling her dual career as star of Mutual's "By Popular Demand," and mother of an active youngster. But she does get her full nine hours of sleep every night to keep fit for her busy days. She's a sociable, aimable person—her only extravagance being hats for Patty Lou, and her favorite food—spaghetti. She likes movies, the theater, baseball games . . and although she avidly read Charles Dickens' novels in her school days at NYU and Columbia, she's widened her scope since then.

UN-TILSEY-LIKE LADY

Nana Bryant Plays Frank Morgan Show Role to Perfection, but in Real Life She's Lovely Person with Humor Sense

Wednesday, 7:00 p.m. NRC-KF1-KFSD

ADIO ACTRESS Nana Bryant isn't the least bit like the "Miss Tilsey" gan's show. Which is, perhaps, the simplest way to pay tribute to her superlative acting.

She's a soft-spoken, broad-minded cosmopolite who has twice traveled abroad, played on Broadway and in pictures, is completely feminine and enjoys a good laugh.

She thinks it was portentous of a comedy role in radio that, as a child, she was a tragedienne. Nana ("it depends on where you live as to how you pronounce it—it's done with the short 'a' here, but in Ohlo, where I was raised, it was called Nay-na") was an only child, consequently played alone most of the time.

"I was always having dramatic moments with my dolls," she ex-plains. "Funerals I loved and I was always disposing of my dolls in Page Thirty-Six nice big shoe boxes with grape leaves around them."

In Stock Here

In Cincinnati, where Nana was raised, she attended the dramatics department of the University's College of Music, then joined a reper-toire company, did a little vaude-ville, and came to Los Angeles and other Pacific Coast cities to appear in stock (the old Majestic with Edward Horton, the Fulton in San Francisco and others). Then on to New York, where she played Frank Morgan's wife for a year and a half in "The Firebrand" and acted for three years in the original "Connecticut Yankee." After ten years in the East, she returned to the Coast in 1935 for picture engagements.

That sounds like a completely ra-dio-devoid background for "Miss Tilsey," save for the association with Morgan on the stage. But mike ex-perience is also an asset of Nana Bryant. "I was sort of an announcer for Lucky Strike," she twinkled. "It was when they first went on with three programs—three times a week, along about 1930. I talked about cig-arets." (We can understand choice of Miss B for such a chore, for her off-mike voice is the essence of re-finement, devoid of any rasp).

The actress also appeared on other regular air shows from New York, but when she assumed her role of Tilsey this summer, it was the first time she had encountered a micro-phone in ten years.

Radio Had Changed

"I was nervous," she said, "but my! how radio had changed in that time. So much more like legitimate theater, with an audience, a curtain rising, and actors introduced."

Another "first" in ten years was Miss Bryant's recent essayal of the role, "Roberta," for Civic Light Op-era. This seems to be her year to pick up threads she dropped a decade ago. But pictures have kept her mighty busy (her two latest are "A Miracle Can Happen" and "Fabulous Joe").

Miss Bryant lives comfortably in a Hollywood apartment, now wants to visit the Orient. Twice she has suc-cumbed to "house fever" and bought homes, which she's promptly rent-(Please Turn to Page 32)

Looking like a miniature "Bernadette," with her long dark hair falling in loose strands around her heart-shaped face, the earnestvoiced, dark-haired seven-year-old confessed that her esthetic pursuits weren't limited to her microphone and movie assignments.

The Men In Marlene's Life

By Lynn Robert's

She Once Wrote Van Johnson for his Autograph, Wrote a Roem for Mr. Koenig, Calls David Light Her Boyfriend, Sydney Greenstreet Her Foworite Actor, Says Arthur Lake Gave Her Biggest Thrill

At our request, Marlene recited two of them from memory. They went like this:

"The Eraser

The night is a long grey finger That wipes the meadows clean It wipes away the scarlet It wipes away the green, Night is a long grey finger Down it slowly comes Wiping away all color With a wild thumb."

The second was written for "a very good friend" of Marlene's, Lester Koenig, an assistant of Mr. Wyler on the set of Goldwyn's "The Best Years of Our Lives," in which Marlene appears. "He was always very nice to me on the set," she told us, "so I wrote this poem for him."

MARLENE IS "COOKIE" on the "Blondie" show (obviously delights in Arthur "Dagwood" Lake), and she's "Bunny" on "Phone Again, Finnegan".

"Lots of Men

There are lots of men in this world Lots of men I know Lots of men that like the world Lots of men that don't. And I know a man That likes this world Of that, I'm very sure He's very nice to everyone That says 'hello' or 'hi' And he's never ever angry But always sweet and kind And when I sit upon his lap He never seems to mind."

Besides "The Best Years", Marlene's movie assignments have included appearances in "Along the Navajo Trail," "And Now Tomorrow," and "The Lost Weekend."

"Did you see that?" she questioned. "I was the little girl on the stairs who screamed when Ray Milland fell down drunk."

Twice A Boy

Twice, little Miss Aames informed us, she has had to disguise her maidenly manners to portray a boy, once on the radio for a "Malsie" program, and on the screen as "Luther" in "The Bells of St. Mary's." Ingrid Bergman is her favorite actress.

"When I first started in the movie business," Marlene went on sagely, (Please Turn to Page 39)

"I asked Van Johnson for his autograph. That was when I appeared in a short about infantile paralysis. But I don't collect autographs now. I'm going to get a scrapbook, though, and have the actors I work with doodle in them. Some of them draw some swell things on their scripts during rehearsals."

Questioned about her favorite actor, the youngster warned us, "You'll laugh. But he's wonderful. Sydney Greenstreet. Hmmmm," she pondered then, "I'll bet people will say, 'What! Not Van Johnson!"

As for radio shows, Marlene's fa-vorites are "Suspense" and "Blondie." She has appeared on both, and is heard on the latter frequently as the Bumstead daughter. "Cookie." Listeners have also heard the astonishing talents of the very young Miss Aames on such other top Hollywood airers as "Cavalcade of Am-erica," "Lux Radio Theater" and "This Is My Best."

A tiny figure in a print wash dress and white sandals and socks, with a half-eaten Butterfinger in hand, little Marlene observed her "Finnegan" co-workers admiringly.

"Harry Stewart doesn't need any jokes to make him funny," she gig-gled, watching Stewart on stage. (He's "Larson" of the show.) "He's just naturally funny.

"Florence Lake thinks of good laugh lines," she observed, after Miss Lake had ad<sub>1</sub>libbed a witticism. "The director usually leaves the things she says in the script."

Has "Boy Friend"

"Do you know Dave Light?" she asked us, turning her attention to the show's young sound man. "He plays a little girl on the Sweeney March show and he's so good. I like him very much. He's my boyfriend."

Marlene wasn't sure, but she estimated that she had been doing radio work about six or seven months. "I was seven when I started, and I'm still seven," she commented. "But pretty soon, I'll be eight. No-vember 11th. On Armistice Day."

Marlene regularly attends school, fitting study into her crowded sched-ule with ease. "I like school," she insisted.

As for her ultimate goal, Marlene opined soberly, "I want to do every-thing. You know, a little bit of this and that, but I want acting to be my profession."

"There's one hobby I like very much," she interpolated at this point. "Collecting stamps. I only have fourteen so far, but I'm going to get lots more.

"You should see all the things I carry in my purse," she pursed her lips primly. "Look. I'm keeping this. It's very nice." She indicated some clipped pages from Coronet magazine, containing lyrics and colored photographic illustrations of the song, "America, the Beautiful." The song, "America, the Beautiful." The sheets were folded carefully in the little girl's handbag. "And I carry all my pencils and erasers in this envelope. And I have some perfume! Some real perfume all my own. And all the rest of the things are what women usually carry in their purses," she summed up, clicking the clasp shut and laying the purse down on her lap again.

"You know," she said then, intro-ducing a new subject, "everything happens to me on Thursday. Last Thursday, my grandma, and my great grandma all came out to Cali-fornia. This Thursday, my little bro-ther fell off our front steps and hit his head Furthing borners. his head. Everything happens to me on Thursdays. I'm getting tired of Thursdays.'

Marlene lives in Hollywood with her mother and father, and two-anda-half-year-old brother, David, who, we hope, wasn't hurt badly on Thursday!

Asked what was the most thrilling thing of all that has ever happened to her, Marlene pondered thoughtfully, then with an engaging smile, exclaimed, "When Arthur Lake picked me up in his arms. Mmmmm," she beamed. "He swept me right off my feet!

Spitalny's First Lady

Another rule-nobody talks at rehearsal. And as a result, rehearsals are over more quickly and with the greatest dispatch. If there is any question, the girls take it up later with Evelyn, and the committee.

The committee consists of five girls-chosen by the orchestra members. This committee decides matters of policy. The committee also decides about out of town dates. On the road, you see, the girls are not allowed to have dates. That is, unless the committee passes on said date. If one of the girls wants to go out with a man, she comes to the committee and presents her case. They'll ask her such questions as, "Where did you meet him?" "How long have you known him?" "Where will you go?" "What time will you return?" If the questions are an evered satisfactorily, the date comswered satisfactorily, the date can be kept.

Good Reputation

After all, the organization has been in existence for almost twelve years and during all that time, neither you nor anyone else has ever heard a breath of scandal or anything at all unpleasant, about any of the girls or the group as a whole. That, believe me, is something to be proud of.

Another rule that will amuse you is this: if any girl cries in rehearsal, she is fined five dollars. This money also goes to the Christmas party fund.

Other less important rules, but followed very closely, have to do with personal grooming. No girl can weigh more than 122 pounds. Each girl must keep her clothes in perfect order. No jewelry of any kind is allowed on stage. There are no upswept hair-dos. All the girls must wear their hair down in a soft, feminine coiffure.

Now those aren't very stringent rules, but Evelyn must see that they are enforced. There is very little or no trouble. Salaries are high; the incentive to work is high. Incidentally, you may be interested to know that $7500 a year is the lowest flat salary and this is augmented, of course, by the Christmas bonus.

In spite of their many concerts, their travels and their busy lives, they manage to live very quietly. The Colony is their favorite eating place and neither of them cares about night life. They much prefer a quiet dinner, perhaps the theater or a concert, and early-to-bed. Phil, in-cidentally, is up and busy at 6 o'clock. He spends at least three hours a day at auditions. Plays the girls' accompaniments on the plano himself. Evelyn admits she hates to get up early, but she'll always take her phone calls by 10 o'clock in the morning.

Her personal foibles are her col-lection of four leaf clovers and her beautiful Persian cat, Fiddle. She likes cooking, but living in a hotel precludes any great culinary feasts prepared at home. She loves clothes (in fact, she designs a lot of the truly fabulous costumes the "Hour of Charm" girls wear) but doesn't indulge herself. She's as feminine as can be, even if she does have one of the smartest of all female business minds!

Phil adores her and she him. They have dozens of little jokes, but the minute business gets underway, he is the conductor and she is the concertmistress.

While I was writing this, Evelyn called me. I told her I was writing you all about her. Now I had been told she was pretty difficult about publicity, but this is what she said:

"I trust you. Give the girls a break because they're wonderful. And tell Evelyn Bigsby how grand Phil is, too." Mrs. Spitalny speaking!
