ELSIE BAKER AS SHE LOOKS in real life (center) surrounded by actress Elsie Baker as she appears in some of her many roles. She recently did a film role at Universal.

LSIE BAKER claims "The only reason I was not born in the proverbial theatrical trunk is because my actress mother made it to our apartment over the theater in time for me to be born there." Elsie's father had a stock company for a number of years in this theater on the south side of Chicago. They could keep Baby Elsie off the stage only until she was ten months old. "Then," she recalls with a glint, "I insisted on joining the cast of 'Streets of New York.' I wrote my own dialogue— 'da da'—as mother pushed me in my baby buggy across the stage."

With a start like this, is it any wonder Elsie Baker feels perfectly at home in front of an audience? She has done movies, legitimate, vaudeville, and now TV—her most recent assignments being "Deborah" on "The Living Book" and the cook on the Stu Erwin-June Collier TV film, "Brown Eyes."

Elsie has actually gone through life under three names. First was as Elsie Grobecker, daughter of beloved "Daddy" Grobecker. When little Miss Grobecker was only four she pranced across the stage with her sister dancing the cake walk and singing "Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight." Little Elsie was such a ham that her father, from then on, had to write her into his skits.

There followed a fascinating period in vaudeville, when the family shortened its name to Baker and became February 29, 1952 noted as Swiss yodelers (both Elsie's parents, though born in the United States, were reared in Switzerland). Then came the Chautauqua circuits, the Bakers trouping with the best of them. Elsie recalls that when the family played for Paul Pearson, they became acquainted with a tent boy, Mr. Pearson's son, Drew.

Meets Fred

While playing in Texas, Daddy Grobecker signed the hotel register for his entire group of eight, penning "The Swiss Yodelers" across the book with large flourishes. A young Swiss happened to be staying at the same hotel, scanned the register, and immediately wanted to meet his "countrymen." He soon persuaded Elsie that Brennwald would be a nice name to change to. After they were married, Fred and Elsie Brennwald moved to California. The Brennwald children found it natural to work in pictures, which delighted Elsie, but meant she could not work herself. However, she "kept in trim" with roles at Pasadena Playhouse, parts at Las Palmas, and summer stock at Laguna.

Today, with children married and her husband gone, Elsie has renewed interest in her career. She gets as big a lift doing a German hausfrau as an Irish washwoman. She delights an audience with her delicate interpretation of a sympathetic Italian mother or a domineering, peppery Mexican duenna. But though born of Swiss-reared parents and married happily for many years to a Swiss, Elsie Baker has yet to visit that beautiful country. "Next to proving a success on TV," says Elsie, "I want more than anything to go to Switzerland. If my dream comes true, there'll be only one way of expressing my happiness. I'll stand under the highest Alpine mountain I can find and yodel at the top of my lungs!"

If You're Born With It, Can You Ever Get It Out? Elsie Baker Says"I Don'i Want To"

quite serious, "you are the first one who ever asked me that. And I'm glad you did because it's a good question.

"First of all, let me say that my voice is the same as it has always been. I believe it is a little more mature, but otherwise there's been no change.

"Television itself is wonderful. It's alive and imaginative. However, as far as my singing is concerned, TV presents an entirely different problem.

"It's no secret that I don't have a booming type voice, like Mario Lanza for example. Everywhere I've ever sung—on the stage, for the radio, movies and recordings—the microphone has always been close by to pick up every note.

"But on TV, when you're doing a production number, they don't like to have the microphone showing on the screen. Consequently, the mike is way above my head somewhere.

His Voice?

VER SINCE Frank Sinatra made his first appearance on television, one thing was obvious: his voice was not the same.

Whether for better or for worse is a matter of individual opinion, but many people have commented that the TV tones of "The Voice" seem to have lost some of the swooning and captivating effect which made him the idol of millions of bobby-soxers.

Naturally there was only one way to find out the truth about the matter—to ask the man himself.

The occasion for the sixty-fourdollar question arose one afternoon at the photographic studio at Columbia Square, while he was taking pictures for his CBS-TV Frank Sinatra Show.

"Has your voice changed any during the past few years, especially since you started on television?" we asked.

"You know," Frank began, taking his pipe out of his mouth and looking

"THE VOICE" (top photo) can be seen and heard every Tuesday afternoon from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. over KNXT, Channel 2. (Below) Although they have just stepped off the plane, Frank and his wife, Ava Gardner, still seem to be riding high—with happiness. (CBS photos.) "The control room cannot build up the mike volume too much, either, because that magnifies all the other sounds on the stage.

"So you see, the whole set-up is very tough to do, and it's a definite problem to me, which I'm still working on."

Along with his TV singing problems, Sinatra has had his share of other troubles, including the drawnout Ava Gardner affair and some unfavorable reviews at a benefit performance in England.

Concerning the European stint, Frank had this to say: "London was wonderful and, contrary to rumors, so were the London critics. It was only a small portion of the American press who panned the show.

"Besides," Frank continued, "who ever heard of reviewing a benefit performance? And we did raise over $40,000 for the underprivileged kids in England."

What about Ava and his present life?

The biggest smile of the afternoon flashed across Frankie's face: "I'm happier and more settled now than I've been in a long, long time."

If you could have seen Frank that afternoon — smiling, talkative, and jovial—you would have known immediately that he was telling the truth.

OD AND GUN Club of the Air" has played a major role in turning the sports of hunting and fishing from a "rich man's paradise" into an interesting hobby of some 35,000,000 nimrods and anglers—ranging from ribbon clerks and messenger boys to company presidents and top socialites.

The coast-to-coast Mutual show brings to hunters and anglers the latest news bulletins and official information from local and national sources. It is the only network hunting and fishing program on radio or television, and serves as an entertaining clearing house of information, news, advice and tall stories.

The Experts

A permanent panel of four rod and gun experts appears on the program and a special guest joins them occasionally. Guy Kibbee, timehonored comedian and character actor, actually does hold a record for fresh-water fishing. Larry Koller, a veteran sportsman and author, is a prominent hunting and fishing writer.

Van Campen Heilner serves as a field investigator for the American Museum of Natural History, and has written six outdoors best sellers. Milo Boulton keeps order when the three experts enthusiastically interrupt each other in answering questions or trying to top each others' tall stories.

Glamour-for the Birds

Although guests are featured on the program, big names mean little to Rod and Gun Club listeners. An author of a good fishing and hunting took will draw ten times more mail than a nationally known movie star.

In other words, this audience is impressed by true nature and sports peop_e—and glamour holds no lure for the sports-minded. Just a few of the far-flung events the program has attended—and broadcast from the scene—include the International Tuna Tournament in Nova Scotia, the Light-tackle Sailfish Tournament in Palm Beach, deep-sea fishing off Bermuda, pheasant shooting in Connecticut, walleye fishing at the Thousand Islands, and hunting in the upper reaches of Canada.

The real importance of Rod and Gun Club of the Air, as Guy Kibbee puts it, is that the program advocates "fishing and hunting, and not just catching."

This conservation and sportsman's concept, plus the entertaining way the information is presented, has made the Mutual show a weekly "must" for millions of faithful listeners.

This concept has won the program a recent award as "the most outstanding outdoors program on the air."

Al Pearce Not Local

We just want to set the record straight.

Many of you have called saying that in such and such an issue you saw our announcement of the early-morning Al Pearce Show, with a view-ing time established as 10:45 a ing time established as 10:45 a.m., Channel 2. Right.

But during the time we were getting our information, it was set in type, the magazine printed and obtained by you, CBS-TV decided they could not, in the best interest of TV economy, show the kinescope of the Pearce show to West Coast viewers at $1,000 per week for overtime and attendant cost!

The East gets Al's 7:45 a.m. show three hours later. CBS.TV possibly feels that a local 7:45 a.m. screening is just a bit early, and a three-hour-later showing on kinnie just a bit expensive. The show is currently on a customing hous basis benefities a strength a sustaining basis. Possibly a sponsor taking the show will bring Coastal viewers Pearce et al.

Fights Strictly for Video

Promoters of licensed clubs where amateur boxing bouts are held should be blowing their tops about now.

Last week CBS asked the California Athletic Commission for a license to hold an amateur boxing show, weekly, on a CBS stage. No audience would be allowed. The fights are strictly for TV fare, and the application for this novel arrangement was filed by one Dave Koffman, former wrestling pro-moter at El Monte, who told the California Athletic Commission board that he had made arrangements with CBS for the use of a studio for the event.

The boxers would receive the usual expense money permitted amateurs, but would promoters get anything? With no admissions charged, what's for them to get?

Bout arranger from the Hollyword Legion (a spot which has already felt the bite of Eastern TV competition), Cal Working, is quoted as an-nouncing that the new and unusual arrangement would run all the fight promoters hereabouts out of business.

Shades of Radio Raids

Remember two or three years ago when the radio artists were flying up and down Sunset Boulevard between CBS and NBC, and no one actu-ally knew who was on first till the contracts came to light and some oldtime performers from one studio were roosted lucratively on the payrolls of the other?

If you care-the same turn is going on in TV. Right now the hassle is over the services of Phil Harris and Red Skelton. Seems like only yesterday we read these fellows had signed long-running contracts. How time flies.

"Studio One"

Monday, 7-00 p.m. CBS-TV, KNXT, Channel 2

Two weeks ago this hour long CBS-TV offering unwound for viewers one of the finest productions of its history in "Burden of Guilt." Story line found an honest police chief in the midst of boomtown acrimony and crime effecting a compromise with his own conscience and the top hoodlum, a pact prompted by an effort to bring order and decency to the town he worked for. Years later this principal was to discourse that the large house proposed discover that the lever he employed could pry both ways.

"Studio One" is considered pretty generally as one of the top dramatic shows, if not the top.

And so it should be. Any show employing six elaborate sets in the first fifteen minutes of its hour is bound to have an edge on a presentation hampered by budget problems. And any show production crew sharp enough to employ the talents of actors who look like people deserves a top-drawer reputation for their efforts. Not one pretty face showed up during "Burden of Guilt." The policemen looked like policemen, not like stereotyped caricatures of "coppers." The hoodlums were equally well cast. Not one of them fell into the ratlike conception apparently so popular among whodunits.

A good writer had probably been A good with good money to turn out dialogue that couldn't be anticipated five seconds before it was spoken. Just like baking a cake. Good, expensive ingredients, carefully blended, result in a treat!-J. P.

"CBS Television Workshop"

KNXT Sunday, 9 p.m. The "CBS Television Workshop" is the video version of the longtime fa-vorite, the "CBS Radio Workshop," and is similarly concerned with the experimental aspects of the drama. Although the "Workshop's" recent production of a play entitled "Careless Love" was not a great stride forward in dramatic experimentation, either in content or production, it was nevertheless an indication that good things can be expected of this new series.

"Careless Love," a fable of early New Orleans jazz music by John L. Gerstad and Norman Brooks, told the apocry-phal story of Bill Bailey, a great jazz trombonist, who played so gone that he blew himself literally right out of this world this world . . . disappeared, in fact, right in front of his jazz band. This prompted the band to play all manner of jazz classics in an effort to make Bill Bailey reappear, and they finally succeeded with the old "Bill Bailey, Won't You Please Come Home."

This intriguing little tale, which succeeded nicely in integrating music and plot, was concocted primarily, it seemed, to serve as a showcase for Conrad Janis and his jazz band, an organization which in our opinion showed a great deal of spirit but little finesse. Inasmuch as the band played for fully half the show, the showcase purpose was amply fulfilled. The acting by Janis, Lenka Peterson and Edgar Stehli was sometimes as frenetic as the music and was never less than energetic.

The production, supervised by Donald Davis and Doris Mathews, was good, although it might be said again that nothing helps a program dedicated to experiment more than experiment. Dick Linkroum's direction was competent and the sets by Ed Mitchell generated just the right atmosphere.— A. D.

Second Glances (Critical Comment

We Point With Pride To KECA-TV's coverage of the Annual "Emmy" Award dinner at which the names of rival networks filled the air and rang out every tlme a speaker opened his or her mouth. Factual news coverage, good taste and generosity were the keynotes of the telecast, and to anyone within the trade it was a blessed relief from the utterly stupid practice of refusing to allow rival personalities and stations to even be mentioned on their sacred channel! ABC-TV and its station KECA-TV should be commended for real public service!

To the vast improvement in Frank DeVol's Saturday night KTTV telecast from The Lido, at Long Beach. Getting over a terrible cold and a temperature of 102 allowed Frank to think up something a little wittier than the "kick me" sign which marred his opener, and the whole show has picked up pace accordingly. Frank's own efforts at cooperating with civic organizations at the beach (in their efforts to keep youths off the highways and in Long Beach over week ends) now have DeVol out visiting Long Beach high schools, junior colleges and colleges to entertain with his "Music of the Century" and acquaint students with his Lido appearances. Pretty nice.

We View With Alarm

... The ballyhoo attendant upon a new television sport, roller hockey. A man on roller skates will never even approximate the speed of a man on ice skates, and calling him a "demon of speed," referring to roller hockey as "death on wheels" and generally describing the game as the most dangerous, death-defying practice ever brought before the TV camera tends merely to render it tamer, as far as we are concerned. "Roller Hockey" is fun to watch, and you can see it Sundays on Channel 11 at 9:00 p.m. But don't tune in expecting to see killers locked in combat until one goes to his death!

Maypole Relives Battle

When Roy Maypole got the word from KTTV that he was to man the mike for the station's coverage of the battle exercise of the Third Marine Division at Oceanside, his heart must have nearly stopped.

Narrating a landing made by the Devil Dog outfit was once before handled by the KTTV man — for real!

It was about ten years ago, at a war hotspot known as Bougainville, in the Solomon Islands, that Third Marine Division Combat Correspondent Roy Maypole handled the microphone while an official sound record of the fighting was made for the Marine World War II files.

Off Lens Personalities

Even Leave TV Behind

When Tex Williams bowed his new Saturday night KNBH show onto Channel 4, a good many members of the press visited the Riverside Rancho to watch the clambake kick off.

Thereby we discovered an almost lost race of fun lovers. Everyone at the Riverside Rancho (and from a look around, nearly "everyone" was there!) had walked out on home and television to come to the rambling big dance hall with its upstairs and downstairs dining rooms, bars, and big patio where quickie stands provide coffee, soft drinks or hot dogs 'n' such.

No wonder. Williams and his really No wonder. Williams and his really fine jump-Western aggregation are immensely popular, and you can't possibly know what fun the Rancho is until you've turned out to it. But choose a night when your favorite TV fare isn't on-because a week-end visit down to hear Tex Williams would be a very easy habit to get with. Tex's show, from 9:30 until 10:30 each Saturday night, features his band, his regulars, and a guest artist or two in the best rollicking week-end fun you can find.

BRAINS OVER BRAWN

RELAXED DEVIL-Ralph (Aren't We Devils?) Edwards (center) seems to be letting the regular performers on the NBC-TV "Ralph Edwards Show" do all the work. The muscles belong to Steve Reeves, former "Mr. America" title holder now in Edwards's troupe. Perplexed charm belongs to vocalist Carole Richards.

IRMA'S FRIEND

Hal March, who plays Al, Irma's boy friend in CBS Television Net-work's "My Friend Irma" series, will be remembered as half of the Sweeney-March comedy team on CBS Radio several seasons ago.

partner Imogene Coca as Best Televi-sion Actress; and "Your Show of Shows" as Best Variety Show. Red Skelton pulled down an "Emmy" as Best Careadian and the Arts for best Best Comedian, and one for having the Best Comedy Show.

In addition a special award was made to Jack Burrell of KNBH, for his development of the "walkie pushie," a portable television camera which operates without wire or cable connections.

In the best spirit of "we told you so!" may TV-Radio Life remind its readers that just after the "walkie pushie" was brought into use on the Rose Bowl Game, the magazine brought you the new marvel's history, description and uses. This is the self-contained mobile telecasting unit which will serve as one of the most potent weapons television has devised fight inadequate space and the to confines of police lines in video coverage.

A Saying? An Old Saying?

NBC-TV's "Pantomime Quiz" recently completed its 2,700th telecast. That ly completed its 2,700th telecast. That means that Mike Stokey, originator, has probably taught more people how to play the popular parlor game than any man alive. From his vast experi-ence, Mike offers the following sug-gestions that you can either employ in watching the show or in playing "the game" yourself:

Saying: Yak, yak sign with right hand.

- Gag Saying: Same as above with left hand gagging throat.
- Quotation: Quote marks with fingers of both hands.
- Song Title: Open mouth as though singing and spread arms.
- Line From Song: Same as above, then draw line with finger of right hand.
- Gag Song Title or Line: Same as above, then gag throat.
- Book Title: Open book with both hands.
- Poem Title: Draw line with finger of right hand.
- Line From Poem: Same as above, then draw several short lines.
- Child's Poem or Nursery Rhyme: Same as above, then right hand near floor.
- Proverb, or Anything Old: Stroke beard.
- Play Title: Raise curtain with both hands.
- Shakespeare: Throw spear.
- Tongue Twister: Twist tongue with fingers.
 - Movie Title: Crank camera.

Biblical quote: Open book, then palms together in prayer.

(On all the above, if it's old, or way back, stroke beard or point over either shoulder with either hand. Same for past tense.)

"Quiz" to Go Chautauqua

Mike Stokey, emcee of NBC-TV's "Pantomime Quiz," seen Wednesday nights on KNBH, is planning to take his show on the road. Present negotiations call for the team of regulars Vincent Price, Hans Conried, Adele Jergens and Jackie Coogan to travel the route of towns playing night clubs, with local folks representing the opposing team.

Mike's harking back to the practice of personal appearances such as used to endear whole troupes of players to an entire nation is one of the quickest ways to make the show most popular among the greatest number. We've always felt that traveling some of the big shows (e.g., "Colgate Comedy Hour" and "All-Star Revue") would be a practice NBC-TV could well look into.

Facts and Findings

One Curtis B. Plummer, chief of the FCC, which handles licensing of TV and radio stations, indicated last year that by the middle of '52 eighty new TV stations may be authorized, principally in the populations of 100,000 or less. . . Current set production is running about 5,000,000 per year, and in 1952 the TV industry will be able to sell all the sets it can make.

On the consumer side, it was discovered by a Good Housekeeping panel survey that movies, radio, sports and concerts were being given less and less attention among TV set owners. Scarcely surprising, but what is both surprising and comical is the figure of non-owners who see TV. And regularly. At least fifty-two per cent of the panel members who do not own TV sets indicated they do see TV programs. Five per cent of them watch for more than six hours a week! "Good-neighbor policy" can't possibly mean what it used to!

BERLE INJURES BACK

Milton Berle injured his back while rehearsing a "magic act" recently. However, the rehearsal continued without "Mr. Television" and the performance went on according to schedule. But Berle's usual symnastics were considerably slowed up.

By Dorothy Gardiner and Dick Gar-ton, stars of KTLA's "Handy Hints," Monday through Friday, 6:45 p.m.

Each week we pick the best Handy Hint sent directly to TV-Radio Life, 6361 Selma Avenue, Hollywood 28, and use it, with your name and address, in this column as well as on the air over KTLA, Friday evening at 6:45. A lovely gift will be sent to everyone whose hint is used here as KTLA-TV-Radio Life Hint of the week.

Here is this week's winner: Arnold Baker, 11482 Cumpston, North Holly-wood, Calif.

The hint is:

Stakes made from wire coat hangers come in handy for discouraging traf. fic across worn sections of the lawn or where you have planted seeds. Just space them around and remove for mowing. They don't harm the lawn and are more effective than stakes and strings. To make, just straighten the wire coat hanger out and make a hook at one end of the top. That is so you don't have a sharp point, which might be dangerous.

IF YOUR CHILD HAS OUTGROWN HIS HIGH CHAIR, WHY NOT MAKE IT INTO A SWING? Just cut the legs off, then drill two holes in each arm. Put the rope in the front hole, tie it and then loop it over a tree limb, and tie it in the back hole. Do that on both sides and add a strap across the front where the tray was and you have a nice comfortable swing. For an extra safety precaution, you can bring the rope under the seat of the swing, in case the arms aren't strong enough to hold the weight of the child.

Now that you have descended once more from the frantic rush of the holidays, you have only to get the new year rolling foo wise with what is left of the greatly depleted budget . and here I am 10 help. I was told by a prominent market authority that you can save at least fifteen per cent of your food budget for next year simply by wise buying. That wise buying.

means fifteen per cent more toward the home payments, the kiddies' education and some pretty things for you. Figure out, if you haven't already, how much you spend on food during the year ... you may be surprised what that fifteen per cent will mean to you.

Since an important slice of your budget goes for meats, let's consider what happened and what is expected to happen in this direction. Last year found: beef prices taking wings, price control first freezing prices as they were, then in May stabilizing prices slightly higher . . . which OPS insists put the brakes on those prices. Last year also found: the wholesaler, packer, and retailer in mortal combat with those from the livestock level on when the government had not ex-tended controls. Then remember the howls from our Eastern cousins be-cause of the scarcity of beef on the plate but hot beef on the hoof.

What to expect in the coming year? asked this important question of an OPS official only to receive a slight groan with "Prices are expected to re-main about the same." Upon further inquiry, it seems the corn crop is considerably smaller than usual, which has its direct effect on the number of animals brought to market, especially pork. Optimistically he ventured the fact that competition in the Los Angeles area may be an influence on keeping prices down for the coming year. All of which is fine for us, but I'm glad I'm not a market man, aren't you?

In contrast to last week, this is a pretty fat week for movies on television, and so I'll indulge in no astute, incisive editorial comment; i.e., running off at the typewriter.

PICK of the PIX

by Aubrey Dahl

"Seven Days to Noon." A recent British film which has only lately completed its swing around the local cinema palaces. Barry Jones plays a conscience-stricken atomic scientist who threatens to blow up London with an atomic bomb, unless said bomb is abolished as a means of warfare. The authorities' frantic efforts to catch the scientist as he moves about the city with the bomb in a harmless looking black bag, and the hasty evacuation of London as the deadline draws near make for an exciting and suspenseful motion picture. Best performances: Olive Sloane, as a lady of fairly easy virtue, and the city of London, as itself.

"The Story of G.I. Joe." This very good picture is a tribute to the infantry, in this case involved in the Italian campaign, and to the great combat correspondent. the late Ernie Pyle, who lived with and slogged along beside the foot soldiers he loved so well. Burgess Meredith, as Pyle, and Robert Mitchum, in his first important role, do convincing jobs and help consider. ably in making the film an honest salute to the infantryman. Directed by Lewis Milestone, who was also responsible for the best war picture of all time, "All Quiet on the Western Front.'

"Four Feathers." A slam-bang ad-venture epic of the old school about the days when Britain was hard put to maintain order in India, a problem she no longer faces. John Clements is no longer faces. given a white feather by each of four people who consider him a coward, and so he sets out to perform a bit of derring-do to prove otherwise, which, of course, he does. This highly enter-taining Alexander Korda production beasts a fine cost hadded by Cloments boasts a fine cast, headed by Clements and Ralph Richardson, and includes June Duprez, C. Aubrey Smith, and a whole passel of Indian nationalists.

"Sleep, My Love." A not very mellow drama concerning the attempts of a man to drive his wife mad, or, failing that, to kill her... he's not very fond of her, it seems. With Claudette Col-bert, Robert Cummings and Don Ameche.

"The Amazing Adventure." An old. fairly a musing Cary Grant movie about a bored, rich young man who experiments to see if he can earn his own living for an entire year something everyone should try at least once in his life.

"Jungle Goddess." Ralph Byrd, who plays Dick Tracy in the current TV series, in a picture that has nothing whatsoever to do with stolen parking meters.

San Diego CHANNEL CHATTER

In San Diego, where more than fifty-two per cent of the homes have at least one television receiver, telecasting is a young man's game. The average age of the KFMB-TV (Channel 8) program director, production manager and two producer-directors is twenty-seven. It's a new business with new blood.

TV announcer Larry Shields is strictly a triple-threat man. The popular performer handles many of KFMB-TV's commercials, sings on the "In a Lighter Vein" show and conducts the daily 5:15 p.m. "Did Ja Know" show with pretty Carole Salentine. And speaking of Carole, in answer to many inquiries, she is NOT married.

Western star Smokey Rogers, KFMB-TV's "iron man," recently raised more than $2,000 for the March of Dimes.

'OPRY' STAR

"OPRY" STAR-Red Foley strums and sings old familiar tunes on NBC's "Grand Ole Opry." He is the star and emcee of the Saturday night radio show.

A THANK-YOU TO KNBH'S PAUL PIERCE for asking me to guest on his show last week and tell how TV-Radio Life is put to press. Rotogravure is an engrossing and complex subject. With the help of Al Schmidt from the plant, I was able to show some of the negatives, positives and copper shells used in cover etching has more than 2,000,000 infinitesimal holes into which the ink sinks, shallow dots for light areas and more deeply etched holes for contrast. Some time I hope a "City at Night" or "Success Story" telecast can be made from our plant. It would prove most interesting.

TV-RADIO LIFE

SATURDAY NIGHT A GROUP OF TV editors attended Tex Williams's KNBH telecast from the Riverside Rancho. How that chap and his outfit pull in the customers! This was a revelation, indeed.

MONDAY EVENING THE PRESS OC-CUPIED choice tables for the Academy of TV Arts and Sciences Emmy dinner and awards. So much griping has been done about the occasion and award selections that I think I'll be different and say nothing except that it was all an improvement over last year and that I think TV-Radio Life did one of the smartest things it has ever done when it set up its own awards nine years ago and decided that a person winning an Award in one category should never receive another in the identical category. And I will stick to my guns in holding that the Academy would do better if:

1. It forgot about a cocktail-dinnertype gathering and hired itself a hall adaptable for telecasting the awards; 2. It set up a sensible group of awardwinning categories taking cognizance of such TV fare as documentaries, news, juvenile programs, musical shows; 3. It took upon itself some screening to be certain nominations did not fall in the wrong category; 4. It set up a local award or two. It's all right to pull this national stuff, but how national can you get?

AM LOOKING FORWARD TO SEEING the preview of Ozzie and Harriet's new movie with their sons-"Here Come the Nelsons." It will probably give a good idea of how the family will look on TV. . . Am cornering Paul Coates this week to find out what he really thinks of Zsa Zsa! out what he really thinks of Zsa Zsal After last week's glib talk on "Bache-lor's Haven." I have decided they don't care WHAT they say on that show. Big-name stars have been cut off the radio air for less than some of the decided of the Haven's cracks!

LAST THURSDAY NOON THE TV EDS HAZARDED downtown L. A. to attend the Junior Chamber of Com-merce salute to TV. Horace Heidt pranced around in front of his band and paraded some of his best talent. . Ralph Edwards relieved an otherwise rather platitudinous bunch of speechmaking. A million and a half the printing process. It was news to me, too, to learn that a TV-Radio Life TV sets for the L. A. viewing area were predicted by the end of this year. Ed.

Top Ten Air Shows

When it came to the first ten in the January Los Angeles "Radio Hooperatings" as reported by the monthly listing, the comics outnumbered other type performers. Hooperatings reported listeners most often lending an ear to the following in order from one to ten: Jack Benny, Charlie McCarthy, Walter Winchell, "Lux," Bing Crosby Show, Bob Hawk Show, Red Skelton, Harris and Faye, Bob Hope Show and Groucho Marx.

But ratings were in a slightly different order in the December report of the Nielson ratings for the total Pacific area. Nielson listed them like this from one to ten, with the top show coming first: "Lux," Charlie McCarthy, Jack Benny, Bing Crosby, Fibber and Molly, "You Bet Your Life," "People Are Funny," Horace Heidt, Walter Win-chell, and "Our Miss Brooks." You can see that the rating services' reports differ so don't he surprised when your services' reports differ. so don't be surprised when your top ten air shows include even a dissimilar listing. It's a free listening country!

"Father Knows Best" Daughter in Movie

If you want to see what the youngest daughter of the radio cast of NBC's "Father Knows Best" looks like on film you'll have to go to the movies. Norma Jean Milsson, who enacts the air role, was set to act in the film "Miracle of Our Lady of Fatima," now in production.

California Boy Wins Competition

Robert Culp, twenty-one-year-old senior at the University of Washington, Seattle, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Crozier Cordell Culp, of CBS Radio's Philip Morris inter-collegiate acting contest heard over "Philip Morris Play-house on Broadway," KNX. 8:30 p.m.

Although his family opposed his theatrical aspirations, they were quick to send congratulatory messages to him. His radio performance was adjudged the winning one by a jury comprising Helen Hayes, Christian Westphalen and Clarence Derwent. Culp and his wife will remain in New York, with his newly won award money, where he will try to hit the big time on Broadway.

FBI Chief Applauds "True Detective"

J. Edgar Hoover, FBI Chief, cited "True Detective Mysteries," KHJ, 2:30 p.m. Sunday, for being directly responsi-ble for the capture of one of the nation's "most wanted" criminals. In this instance a description aired on the "line-up" feature of the January 6 broadcast led to the arrest of Harry H. Burton. Burton was sought by the FBI after an armed robbery in Los Angeles in which one of the victims was killed.

In his letter to the "line-up" editor, Mr. Hoover said, "One of your listeners recognized Burton from this description as being possibly identical with an individual in Cody, Wyoming, known to him as Winston L. Jetter. Sub-sequent investigation established this to be a fact and Burton's apprehension was thereafter effected."

"Littleman" Collects Stamps

"Littleman," Hawthorne's side-kick on his KNX afternoon air show, is busy collecting stamps. Neither Haw-thome nor "Littleman" are going to turn into philatelists. but they will turn over whatever stamps they collect to the Army's Special Services offices for distribution to the wounded vets at the San Fernando Veterans Hospital, So far "Littleman" has reported more than 2000 stamps are already in their stamp box, from all over the world. The little fellow's reaction to the stamps is that they're no larger than his morning newspaper, but a lot more interes ing reading.

Winchell Returns

At the advice of his physician, Walter Winchell took it easy for a few weeks while such entertainers as Jo Stafford, Frank Sinatra, Jimmy Durante and noted newsmen aired his show. Winchell will be back at his mike March 2, with his usual news flashes.

"Remember the Time"

Sunday, 6:30 p.m. KNX-KCBQ

Take some old recordings from the files of the Smithsonian Institution and weave a story around them so that each one seems to belong in the script and you have the format of a new radio series entitled "Remember the Time."

The story concerns "John" and "Peggy Young" and their two children, "Jimmy" and "Mary Ann." Usually "Mary" and "Jimmy" start things off by asking their parents if they can do something that necessarily requires the permission of mother and dad. If dad objects, mother reminds him of the time long ago in their courtin' days when he perhaps was involved in the sort of escapade which he is attempting to disapprove of for his son, "Jimmy.

As the oldsters relate the events and adventures which occurred when they were young, the recordings of Bing Crosby or Rudy Vallee vocalizing an oldie like "Get Out and Get Under the Moon" or "Walking My Baby Back Home" might easily be heard. One episode concerned the time mother reminded father of their courtship days in a series of nostalgic flashbacks highlighting a skating party a cleich ride and a blizzard party, a sleigh ride and a blizzard.

Listeners to this one will like it for the old tunes and long-forgotten musical arrangements that are collector's have a craving for hearing once again the soriging. If you have a craving for hearing once again the songs you heard when you were young, or when your parents were teen agers, you'll like "Remember the Time" without expecting it to be great or enthralling drama.

Gordon T. Hughes, who produces and is co-writer with Gomer Cool. also portrays the role of John Young. Lucian Davis directs and Roy Rowan announces.—A.G.

We Point With Pride

To Howard McNear's interpretation of his role in a recent airing of "Broadway Is My Beat." KNX, Saturday night. McNear, an AFRA actor, did an excellent job as the murderer, who turned out to be an outwardly timid soul who seemed to be always under the care of his ag-gressive wife. McNear's timing gave a strong realism to his radio role.

We View With Alarm

Jack Carson's rendering of the lead in a recent air-ing of "The Duke Steps Out," on "MGM Theater of the Air." Carson, who we admit is a comedian of some sta-ture, stepped out of character in this dramatic role and played himself . . . Carson the comedian. It is hard to Please Turn to Page 28 understand how the writers of this script could expect listeners to accept the fact that a heavyweight boxing champ of the world could attend a small college and yet go unrecognized. And in the same script they even had the grandmother say, "Oh, I've seen his (the unrecogniz-able champ's) picture in the newspaper hundreds, thou-sands of times."

About Studio On Mike Happenings

Artists Paint Philharmonic

Radio's CBS New York Philharmonic Symphony per-formers will soon be captured with paint and canvas. The famous symphony joined in a venture with their Fifty-Seventh Street neighbors in New York City, the Art Students League, to translate the Philharmonic's music-making in oil, water color and pen and ink. For the next couple of weeks art students and many noted artists will be allowed to set up their easels anywhere in the hall and work from boxes, from seats in various parts of the orchestra, from the wings of the stage and even from CBS Radio broadcasting booth.

The results of this intra-art experiment will be exhibited at the Carnegie Hall gallery, later in a Fifty-Seventh Street gallery, and may be sent to other interested cities.

Radio's "Beulah"

Ever since Lillian Randolph, star on CBS-Radio's "Beu-lah," sang "Star of the East" in her father's Methodist church at the age of four, she has been on stage either as a singer or as an actress.

As a singer of ballads, she started her radio career in Cleveland and Deher radio career in Cleveland and De-troit. George Trendle, owner of a De-troit station and originator of "The Lone Ranger," gave Lillian her first acting break in a fifteen-minute com-edy, "Lulu and Leander." She played all the female parts and actor Billy Mitchell played all the male roles. For this sketch she was taught Negro dia-lect as neither she nor her family spoke in the true Negro dialect. After she landed in Los Angeles broke and without any friends. she landed in Los Angeles broke and without any friends. With her talent as a singer she auditioned for Larry Pot-ter and was signed for a two-week engagement in his "Jade" club on Hollywood Boulevard. She remained for three and a half years and then got into radio doing regular roles with Al Jolson, Edward G. Robinson and as "Madame Queen" on "Amos 'n' Andy," plus many other radio and movie roles. radio and movie roles.

When her good friend Hattie McDaniel was forced to drop the "Beulah" role because of illness, Lillian was Hattie's personal selection to take over the part.

Radio's "Beulah" is known as Lil to her friends and her husband, Edward Sanders, who is her business manager. They live modestly in suburban Los Angeles. They shun night life and most of their friends are people outside of the profession. Their hobbies are their home and charitable work.

Norma Young's Anniversary

"How long do I have to cook a turkey? . . . "How do I get mould out of clothes?" . . . "What's a good brass cleaner?" . . . "What kind of meat is the best buy this time of year?".... These are just a sample of the questions that the mail man heaps on the desk of KHJ's home economist, Norma Young, each day—and she's been answering them for fifteen years, come March 1. Her weekly mail, requesting recipes and household hints, runs into a healthy four figures each week.

Mrs. Young has been KHJ's home economist for a full fifteen years; prior to this she spent fifteen years on the home-economics staff of a Los Angeles newspaper; she also has given many hundreds of lectures all over the southland.

Mrs. Young's success in the home-economics field lies, perhaps, in her wholehearted approach to the subject. The question and answer service that piles the mail on her desk each morning is an example. It's very nearly a fulltime job for her secretary and herself to prepare the replies to these queries. In addition, Mrs. Young has a set of phones that ring all day long as listeners call in for some immediate information on recipes or methods. This magic lady of the kitchen has them right at her fingertips and is only too glad to pass them along.

Mrs. Young's after hour chores are divided between speaking engagements and managing her San Fernando Valley home. Her favorite hobby is ... of course ... homemaking.

Ear, Eye Inspire the Pen

Mr. and Mrs. Thonack, 2549 N. Muscatel, Garvey, Calif.

I certainly agree with John Kaine of San Diego about Arthur Godfrey's jokes. I enjoy all of his programs, radio and TV. He is witty and yes that party from Ventura must have a filthy mind or he wouldn't crab. What good are any of us if we can't take the kind of jokes A.G. tells?

In reply to all the letters we have had on this subject. TV-Radio Life has prepared a special article on whether or not Arthur Godfrey is naughty. Don't miss it.

Mrs. Ruth Crum, 18547 Saticoy St., Reseda, Calif.

I am wondering why the TV program "City at Night" is on so late. It is an educational program and should be seen and heard by school children. Most children are in bed by that hour.

Nina Osheroff, 1216 25th St., San Bernardino, Calif.

How can I get a picture of Robert Q. Lewis?

I enjoy your magazine very much and I especially enjoyed reading the article about Dan Lundberg.

Here's a small photo of Robert Q. Lewis for you, Nina. For a full-steed picture we recommend writing to Robert Q. Lewis. Columbia Brcadcasting System, New York City, N. Y. We can't supply individual photos; if we did, we'd be swamped.

Robert Q. Lewis

A Reader of TV-RL, Pomona, Calif.

Just read the article you wrote about Arthur Godfrey's skating TV program. How come you left out the best singer he has on his program—F. Parker? I so enjoyed the program as Frank Parker sang as usual.

Ocops, sorry about leaving Frank Parker's name out. Not intentional. There's no doubl in our minds about Frank's singing ability.

Mrs. Lorrie Anne Hampton, 2646 Ontario St., Burbank, Calif.

I would like to make some very definite statements about fan clubs. I have joined several of them. All the clubs I have ever belonged to were formed for the sole purpose of helping that person....

Never! was I offered any special privileges. . . One of the fan clubs I belonged to was discontinued because of letters from people voicing thoughts like these: "What do I have to do to win, join your fan club?

It was decided to dissolve the fan club rather than have anyone think there was anything going on that wasn't completely on the level. It's a shame that we loyal fans will have to forgo the pleasure of being officially banded together in support of this person because of some petty, small-minded cranks.

E. and A. A. Kennedy, 13241 W. 17th St., Los Angeles, Calif. These three shows we could take an hour of: Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz; Lawrence Welk; and Red Skelton.

Caliste C. Walker, 225 Sea Vale, Chula Vista, Calif.

Is there any way you can give more accurate information on Channel 8 programs? That being the local station for the Southern area and Mexico, the reception is the only satisfactory one. Many other important attractions are never mentioned at all.

Please check our logs now. You will find a complete listing of Channel 8 programs.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Knight, 128 Maine Ave., Long Beach, Calif.

Viewed "Film Short" Sunday at 9:15 a.m. and was very much impressed by the colored quartet "The Striders."

Mrs. Gene Prince, Route No. 2, Box 471, Yucaipa, Calif.

Not knowing how to reach Gene Autry, I am sending this letter (on my candidate for the "Annie Oakley" type girl) hoping you will see that it reaches the right people. Your letter, Mrs. Prince, has been forwarded to the correct people.

Ethel McMurcline, 1840 No. Edgemont, Los Angeles, Calif.

Is there anything you can suggest in the way of pressure to again have "Toast of the Town" available in this TV area?

Yes, enough letters like this to us or to the stations will make some sponsor wake up.

5. R. Rogers, Hawthorne, Calif.

Thanks so much for the Mama Weiss recipes.

Nancy Maley, South Pasadena, Calif.

Every time I turn on Korla Pandit's Sunday show I see a girl in a sleeveless dress and I wonder if I have the wrong channel. Why use the most physical-looking scenery available to illustrate music which is supposed to appeal to the soul?

Louis Rich, 110 N. Larchmont Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif.

Exit: "Singing" Commercial Pests!

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Dent, Santa Fair Hotel, Santa Monica, Calif.

I am very pleased to know that you are preparing a story on the Mellomen Quartet. This quartet doesn't seem to be money-mad, like a few artists unmentioned.

Edward L. Haddad, 648 Hamilton Ave., Pasadena, Calif.

Something must be done with Hans Schnabel. He never breaks clean. And I wish a very unhappy Valentine's Day to the "Ex-Champ."

Olive and Mike Rotunno, 417 Narcissus Ave., Corona del Mar, Calif.

We are so disgusted with wrestling that we often do not bother to turn on TV for wrestling. As for Arthur Godfrey, we love him. And also, Jules StrongBow has a terrific personality.

Jules StrongBom is now wrestling editor of TV-Rudio Life.

TV-RADIO LIFE

The land south of the Border has produced many good wrestlers and once in a while one comes along who is really great. Earmarked for the Mexican Hall of Fame is Rito Romero. Although he has only been here a few days, he is demonstrating an amazing amount of ability and skill.

Rito Romero

Romero is known as the Guadalajara Flash—and he is well named. He combines a wealth of wrestling holds with speed and showmanship. The thing which impressed me most was his aerial attacks, which were breathtaking. Despite his 195 pounds, Rito takes on the biggest of them and holds the Texas heavyweight belt to prove that he does all right by himself.

His limited English makes him appear a bit shy—but he is learning our language fast and soon we should know more of him.

The picture on the cover is the last taken of Leo Garibaldi, the wrestler. Leo announced last week that a change of hours, increasing duties and studies in the United States Air Force make it necessary that he cancel any more bookings he has for wrestling professionally. In short, Leo has retired for the duration.

Thanks to the San Jacinto people who sent the clipping of Leo donating money he received from wrestling on television to the March of Dimes. Since Leo was a polio victim himself, he spent a lot of his wrestling money on worthy causes.

Over my KTLA dressing-room interviews Thursday night, Gorgeous George threw a bombshell into national politics by tossing his hat in the ring for President. The blond "Toast of the Coast" announced that he is seeking nomination for President of the United States and has a platform Page Thirty-four which may bring him a number of votes. Gorgeous's campaign will be based on the "Deodorize Politics" platform.

Gorgeous says that George Washington was actually the first Gorgeous George and that he plans to carry on the tradition. He admitted that the only reason he hadn't run before was that he was waiting until he was old enough.

The Howard Cantonwine whom you see at local arenas is the same Cantonwine who had his back broken in five places in a match with Joe Pazandak, "The Champ." He was laid up for several years but is now able to get into the ring again.

Krippler Karl "Stinky" Davis is leaving in April for Australia and an extensive tour of the land "down under."

Ali Pasha, Turkish heavyweight, is making his home in California—San Diego, to be exact. Ali's wife is living there and had friends nearby to help her learn the American language and customs.

Oddly enough, nearly all of the letters which I received in the first batch of mail from TV-Radio Life readers were concerned with Jimmy Mitchell and his disputed cranium cracker.

I am happy to report that the State Athletic Commission has relented somewhat on the use of Mitchell's famed head butt and it is now allowed. Some referees still frown upon it but in a short time the Black Panther will be knocking his opposition silly in the same manner which gained him fame and fans.

Feel real lazy this week. Think I'll run off some letters.

Lois V. Stensland, 841 W. 81st St., L.A.: I read in "On the Bail" column where you wanted people to write in and give you ideas. And so I decided that the only reason you asked people to write to you was on account of you are jealous because Korla Pandit gets more mail than you do.

Who's this Pandit punk?

Charles F. Schoener, 1001 S. Hawthorne Blvd., Hawthorne: "I'm a dyedin-the-wool contest fan. Ted, I'm getting frustrated. Every year I try the football contests in the local papers; burn midnight oil and use every system I know to pick the winners—but no luck. Have you a system you can give me to win football contests?

Wish I did. I'd quit working.

Miss Eleanora Perotti, 1853 W. 41st Drive, Los Angeles: I never miss your "On the Ball" column.

Your check is in the mail.

Anonymous: Why don't you go back to high school and learn how to write?

High school? Wat's dat?

Lyle Bond, KHJ-TV, 141 S. Vermont

Ave.: We here on the West Coast are a l w a y s hearing about the superior work done in TV by those on the other side of the continent and it sure did all our hearts good to have you give our basketball telecasts the nod over those you saw from Madison Square Garden. That's the finest compliment you could have handed us and believe me, we are all deeply appreciative. Again, thanks Ted.

Twas a pleasure, Lyle. How about a couple dozen tickets to the games? I got some friends I want to impressand some bill collectors to repress.

H.A.M., address withheld by request: I am writing this to say how shocked we were at the treatment given you by Wild Red Berry on a recent telecast.

Is this the same Wild Red Berry who sells candy for a living?

Mrs. Katherine May, 1211 N. Chester Ave., Compton: I just read your article "A Play on Wrestling." It pleased me very much, for I am one person who believes in wrestling as I've been a fan since way back: 1922 to be exact. Hope you will boost wrestling in your next article. I'm sure it will help a great deal with the "unbelievable" such as you were.

I became "converted" way back in 1952—after looking at what wrestling did for our circulation figures. BESIDES RUNNING THEIR HOME and taking care of their two boys, Jules StrongBow and his charming wife, Ramona, spend several hours a week answering the voluminous amount of mail Jules receives. Although he has gotten as many as 10,000 letters and cards a month, "Mr. Wrestling" answers personally all the letters which require a reply.

Jules StrongBow: "Mr. Wrestling"

HEN YOU meet people for the first time, one of three reactions usually takes place: One, you like them. Two, you don't. Or three, you can take 'em or leave 'em.

In the case of jovial Jules Strong-Bow-and whether it be in person or on your TV screen-you can't help liking the guy immediately.

Standing six feet six inches tall and weighing 330 pounds, this giant from DeQueen, Arkansas, is a quiet, soft-spoken man with a warm, million-dollar smile.

His life, like that of most athletes, has been filled with setbacks and triumphs, defeats and victories. But he has never lost that certain "drive" or sense of determination which all topnotch competitors need.

With a mixed parental background of French, Scotch, Irish and Cherokee Indian (thus the name StrongBow), the oversized ten year old Jules earned his first money wrestling in a circus in Shawnee, Oklahoma. It was the only way he could get enough money for the price of admission

At the age of twenty-one, this KTLA sports personality turned professional in earnest. Along with his studies at the University of Okla-homa, where he majored in account-ing and athletics, Jules's activities, particularly in the sporting world, read like an ideal movie script for "The All-American Boy":

1. Played professional football.

Managed professional basketball, football and baseball teams.

3. Was foreman of a lumber camp. 4. Worked in the oil fields during the Oklahoma-Texas boom.

5. Played in more than twenty motion pictures.

6. Boxed professionally.

7. Appeared on several coast-to-coast radio shows.

February 29, 1952

8. And managed an amusement park.

Despite these varied jobs, wrestling was StrongBow's big love. Rising steadily in the ranks of the heavyweight division, his match in 1947 against Primo Carnera, the former boxing champion from Italy, received nationwide acclaim.

One year later, Jules retired from the ring to devote full time to matchmaking promoting and TV. As he puts it: "I love wrestling and hated to retire. But I figured it was time for me to start planning my future. I certainly haven't regretted it, but every so often, when I see the boys climb in the ring, I still have the urge to get in there and rough it up with them."

For recreation, "Mr. Wrestling" is one of the finest amateur golfers in the country (he was won more than fifty trophies) and is an excellent amateur photographer. Also, his TV viewers will not be surprised to learn that he is ranked as one of the top ten best-dressed men in the sports world.

To complete the picture of "Strong-Bow's Success Story," he is a de-voted family man. He and his charm-ing wife, Ramona, have two children, Steve, nine, and Garry, eleven. At present they are living in Long Beach and have plans to build their own home in the near future

In short, everybody's happy these days. Jules is pleased with his work and family life; TV fans enjoy his work over KTLA; TV-Radio Life is "Wrestling Is My Business"; and the happiest guys of all are the wrestlers themselves.

They have found that mammoth Jules StrongBow is much easier to get along with on the opposite end of a conference table, rather than in the opposite corner of the wres-tling ring.

STRONGBOW interviews

IN THE THROES of concentration is Edward R. Murrow, on-camera editor for "See It Now." Murrow's foresight is uncanny. Two weeks after a feature on a West Virginia coal town, a mine disaster occurred in West Frankfort, Illinois.

GOLF IS MURROW'S chief diversion. His house near Pawling, New York, is situated in the middle of a golf course, which is handy for ambidextrous southpaw golfer Murrow.

DWARD R. MURROW and Fred W. Friendly have done it again. They have converted their successfully coproduced news-documentary, "Hear It Now," to television. "See It Now" is a logical sight · and · sound extension of the Murrow-Friendly radio technique.

The operation is very much like that of "Hear It Now," with the important exception of reporters working with cameras and sound instead of recorders. Geographical boundaries are nonexistent; and the world is brought into your living room by "See It Now" cameras which are at work in Korea, Europe and the United States.

On-camera Edward R. Murrow nonchalantly sits at his desk, smoking a cigarette, while he coordinates the program of remote TV pickups as effortlessly as if he were placing a local phone call. The news is presented through live pickups of events and with motion pictures specially filmed for the series. It includes personal interviews, overseas reports, biographical features, human - interest stories and documentary features. The news-gathering facilities of CBS Television News; correspondents abroad (all of whom are equipped with movie cameras); newsreel companies and free-lance camera crews all contribute to the vivid telecast. A ten-man home staff of reporter-editors are in and out on assignments. For better film quality, theater - type thirty - five - millimeter film is being used instead of sixteenmillimeter. By the same token, for better sound quality, sound is recorded on tape and subsequently synchronized with the film.

Behind Camera

Approximately 20,000 feet of film are shot and viewed by the editors each week. However, only 3000 feet are used on each telecast. The editors, working close to air time, have established a one-hour deadline before televising their cross-country news report. The staff hews to the original format and changes are made only in cases of emergency. Yet an important last-minute remote pickup may preempt a segment of the show providing arrangements are made at least twenty-four hours prior to air time, while late significant news items are usually read by Murrow.

Reportage is transmitted live, if coverage is in an area accessible to the microwave relay. Otherwise special footage is filmed for the telecast. The percentage of live and filmed reports on each telecast varies, depending on the subject matter covered. Visual two-way telephone conversations are live pickups in the United States, if the locals are linked with the coaxial cable. All other phone calls are filmed including, of course, transoceanic conversations. On the Coast, CBS newsman Jack Beck works closely with Murrow as legman and tipster for "See It Now."

Often "See It Now's" roving reporters encounter more than routine experiences on some of their assignments. From being held in custody by the Russians for shooting film just this side of the Iron Curtain, to the unique experience of descending into the eternal darkness of a coal mine and living three days with a section crew—it's considered all in a day's work by the competent, realistic reportorial units.

sound, "See It Now" stages the most appealing news review being televised today. Its editors, Murrow and Friendly, are men of intellect, imagination and conscience. Their previous successful collaborations are reflected on this video series.

Murrow, who is tall, scholarly and self-effacing, candidly remarks, "The mechanics of TV and radio, which make it possible for an individual to be seen and heard throughout the entire land, do not confer great wisdom or infallibility on that individual. I try to be a reporter. A commentator is a kind of oracle, and I am never so sure I'm right."

Murrow has been one of radio's outstanding reporters on the international scene since the Nazis marched into Austria in 1938. His program "Edward R. Murrow and the News" is heard over CBS radio network. He has been the recipient of many awards for outstanding reportorial work. Murrow takes a shirtsleeve attitude toward his work; rolling up his sleeves, unbuttoning his shirt collar and loosening his tie, he digs into his chores. His office is always the hub of activity. Murrow keeps that office at a temperature just right for the fresh-vegetable compartment of a refrigerator. If one can take such frigid environs, Ed will tell tall tales of unlikely happenings to famous people, or relax by playing a really competitive hand of poker.

Friendly

Fred W. Friendly, collaborating producer with Murrow on the Columbia Record Albums of "I Can Hear It Now" and the CBS radio program, is a veteran radio producer and writer who, among other notable achievements, wrote and produced the famous documentary on atomic energy, "The Quick and the Dead." Fred is a new kind of journalist who uses the air waves as his medium instead of type and ink. He says: "Television will run itself as dry as an eroded, wasted wheat field in a Kansas dust bowl if it does not turn to material which regularly refertilizes itself. . . The industry will have to turn to what is new each morning, which, like our good newspapers, remakes itself each night . . . the news, public affairs, the documentary. What TV does best is to see. Let us then see for the world."

Tall, broad and hearty, Friendly is never in better spirits than when working at top speed. He spends a great deal of time at Eastern Sound Studios to see the news rushes sent in by correspondents all over the world. The more hectic the atmosphere, the better Friendly likes it.

The Murrow-Friendly team were humbled in their approach to visual documentation of the news. In a prebroadcast statement they said: "As we begin televising in this new medium, we want you to know that we are aware of the electronic wonder entrusted to our fingers. As human beings, we only hope that we are up to it; as reporters. we only hope that we never abuse it."

SHIRT SLEEVES ROLLED UP, Friendly and Murrow put the finishing touches to their working script. Their combined efforts present a forceful, effective, visual "staging" of the news. "See It Now" literally sees the world, and its editors have lifted television to a new high in maturity. (All photos CBS.)

THE Eddue Albert Holywood show on Television

IT'S ONLY NATURAL that Eddie Albert and guitar-playing Jimmy Boyd became friends. Albert also strums a guitar and sings a ballad on his KLAC-Eddie Albert Show, 12:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

> HEN EDDIE ALBERT approached us from the back door of one of KLAC's television studios, he was as casual as he no doubt appears to you on his daily TV session. He was quick to invite the writer to sit down and get on with the interview, even if the only convenient place to sit was a broken-down sofa, a sofa which could boast of but one complete, although bedraggled, cushion; one obviously torn cushion with what was once adequate stuffings, missing, and one set of fully exposed springs, springs which would undoubtedly obliterate any thought one might have about being comfortable. We conversed across the exposed sofa springs about Eddie Albert's recent entrance into television.

There is no secret about it now. When Al Jarvis left KLAC Eddie Albert was said to be his replacement. Did this humorist newly turned to TV mean to follow in the footsteps of Al Jarvis? "No, not at all. Al Jarvis is and always will be an Al Jarvis. I have my own way of entertaining people and as long as they like it, that's the way I'll do it. Viewers will get to know me for what I am and not as Al Jarvis's replacement."

For Money?

Was it just for money that the film comedian actor had set his foot firmly on a video set? "Money? Yes, for money . . . but, no, not just for money."

Why then?

"Television is really 1952. You must stay abreast of the world at the risk of stagnating and dying. And I love being around people ... being in the midst of the excitement of TV."

Did Eddie Albert think the television industry would replace in importance the movie industry, as we have come to know it through the last twenty years?

"No question about it. Motion pictures will be used on TV, naturally, and the production of most motion pictures will be greater. TV is the greatest outlet they will have in the future.

Accomplishments — Broadway and movie star; sings and plays plano and guitar; independent producer of 16-mm educational films.

"Also, television money and the competitive spirit in the industry will force the movie makers to clean house of the dead wood, the frightened men and the incompetent men who hold their positions because of politics. In the future men who can really contribute to motion pictures will find themselves in fantastic demand. To keep the record clean let me name a few of these men: Elia Kazan, Laurence Olivier, Anatole Litvak, Lewis Milestone, Gene Kelly, Stanley Kramer . . . and there are dozens more . . . such as executive producers Dore Schary, Don Hartman, Darryl Zanuck and William Wyler."

TV Belongs to the People

What does Albert plan to do on his five hours of daily telecasting on KLAC-TV in the spot that was formerly occupied by Al Jarvis?

"Whatever the viewers . . . all the viewers . . . want to see. You know, TV really belongs to the people. But we'll all work together . . . all of us on the show here at KLAC . . . and that includes the audience, too. The people who see it, they are the ones who will build this show."

Which does he prefer doing, TV or motion pictures?

Albert has no preference, apparently, as he said, "It's like trying to decide which you like best . . . apple pie or going fishing. I love the people who do TV . . . but it's just different, that's all. I love music, too, and I hear more of it here than on a movie set."

We asked this newcomer to TV what it takes to make an entertaining video show. "A good crew like I've got here, and a lot of people around me who know more about the business than I do. And an Al Jarvis who built such a following and reputation."

Did Eddie Albert ever do much ad-libbing before coming to this nearly all-day telecast? "Sure, I've been ad-libbing all my life. At home." He claimed that he didn't do anything off stage that he didn't do on his telecast. "I play the guitar and sing with my wife at home. I eat at home. I eat on the show. At home I shoot the breeze back and forth with my wife. I do the same with the gang and guests here. Actually I see very little difference between the show and my home life ... except that check I pick up every Saturday night.

"And long live that difference."

ISTENERS A N D viewers who have seen much of Mel Baldwin rave about him. Even the seasoned radio-row people hail his personality and humor as great. Those who haven't experienced Baldwin ask, "Who is this Mel Baldwin?" Therein lies a great endorsement to a guy who showed up on the local scene with only the most speculative of jobs.

The blond young man, one-quarter inch less than six-foot-four, is heard regularly on KNX and CBS radio, and has been seen regularly on Jim Hawthorne's TV show. This was Mel's biggest break. H is straight-faced dropping of specialized humor much like that of Herb Shriner brought a flood of letters to the station and to Baldwin himself, wanting to know more about Mel.

The Facts

Mel was born in Portland, Oregon, in 1924. The resonance in his voice today, sounding as though it came from someone much heavier, emanates from Mel's true weight of one hundred and fifty pounds. He went to school in Oregon, winding up at Oregon State for a college career of four days. The reason for this brief term was his acceptance of a radio job at KWJJ; where he gained first experiences as an announcer and engineer.

After the Army Alr Corps had utilized his radio training, Mel spent eight years in work at writing, producing, acting and announcing. One of the stations he managed was at Tillamook, Oregon, a place that always amused Steve Allen.

When Allen was holding forth at the KNX midnight hour with his wacky humor, Mel became a great admirer. He sent Steve Tillamook cheese at various times — with appropriate remarks—and later, in August, 1950, looked him up during a visit to Los Angeles. Their admiration was mutual.

The Better Half

Approximately one year later, Mel sent an audition record to KNX. It won him a contract immediately. The record was Mel Baldwin, in Oregon, doing a Steve Allen-type show, complete with visits to the "snake pit" and guest interviews.

Mel says most of the letters he receives ask about his family. His wife is a perfectly beautiful brunette, as attested by every picture in the Baldwin wallet. Lillian was music librarian at the Tillamook station, and an actress. When she appeared on any of the shows on which Mel was to appear, he became so nervous that performance was impossible. In addition to being beautiful and a good mother to daughter Carol (now six) and son Curt (who is four), Lillian Baldwin is the sort of wife who encouraged her husband to leave home and a job for the tenuous existence Hollywood had to offer. She encouraged to the point of one New Year's Day packing his bag and banging it down in front of him, with the explanation that he'd never be satisfied until he explored the opportunities here—and that she'd never be satisfied until he was!

Valley-Happy

Mel's own show, featuring choice selections in modern music and guests, is a sort of hobby with him. He worked his way through high school as part of a band, playing drums and bass, and he loves music. His other hobbies, those of flying and outboard-boat racing, he doesn't find much time to pursue.

Mel and Lillian live in North Hollywood and love the Valley they said they'd never live in!

Just down the street a few blocks lives another Baldwin, Bill by name, also heard on CBS (Bergen-McCarthy show). He has two children. His address is on the same street. He has a boxer dog. The dog's name is the same as the name of Mel Baldwin's boxer dog. But the postman has never once made the mistake a good many radio listeners and writerinners do. To him, Mel Baldwin is Mel Baldwin, and Bill is Bill. exciting new TV dramatic series for Southern California viewers
