Idea is to choose typical American fashion.

Norma Gilchrist Combines Beauty and Brains to Be

"Helpfully Yours"

HE RED - HEADED, vivacious charmer behind the camera who is identifiable as "Helpfully Yours" is none other than exuberant Norma Gilchrist.

Viewers learn thrift, short cuts in homemaking, and beauty and fashion hints from this ambitious young lady. The sum total of her diverse experiences is brought into focus on her KNBH telecasts. The unattached Miss Gilchrist was oriented into the loving-hands-at-home routine at an early age. Her father firmly believed that his daughter should know the fine art of homemaking. As a result of his "Victorian" ideas, Norma knew mere about cooking and sewing at twelve than most brides of today.

Norma's interest in fashions was handed down to her from the wom-enfolk in the Gilchrist family. She studied fashions in New York. Dur-ing NBC's experimental television Norma appeared on the first era, TV fashion show ever to be telecast. Making new things out of old has become her hobby. She blames her thrift on her Scottish descent. The slogan of her teleshow is "How to do it better without spending a single cent more." She can convert a pair of ruffled organdy curtains into a frilly peasant blouse or a vcluminous petticoat. Every gimmick Norma televises she perfects at home, spending much of her leisure time testing and experimenting with a Gilchrist invention.

Accomplishments

For a gal so young, Norma has had a long list of accomplishments. Apparently her Vermont rearing had something to do with her restless-ness or love of activity. (People from that chilly clime have to move about to keep warm.) Norma leaped from fashion designing to modeling. She was a John Powers model for seven years, appeared in Broadway musicals; was sales and fashion coordinator for several New York de-partment stores; was a beauty and fashion editor for national periodicals and an advertising and publicity representative.

Digging behind this forceful personality we found that she has very definite ideas on any subject. Having a gregarious nature, she'll talk about anything, any time and any place.

No Strings

Since there are no strings attached to glib Norma we asked about her dream man. And she told us plenty! He must possess integrity and intelligence. He must be discriminating and ambitious and must exercise propriety. She would like him to be launched upon his career, but not to have reached his zenith until she comes along to help him. Mutual respect and similar interests are also vital to the scheme of things.

Tastes

Norma is adamant on the subject of crass and phony individuals. Her likes in music run the gamut from Tschaikowsky to Louis Armstrong. Rosemary Clooney, Patti Page, Al Martino, and Eddie Fisher are her favorite pop vocalists. Her pet diversions are almost any form of the theater arts . . . music, ballet, drama. Norma prefers reading historical biographies, and when reading she always keeps a dictionary at her side.

Her plans for the future are twofold . . . a happy marriage and writ-ing a book, which will be a com-posite of her varied experiences. At present she hopes that her KNBH program will influence homemakers to lead a fuller and richer life, then she will know that she has been really "Helpfully Yours."

APPLYING IMAGINATION and ingenuity, Norma defies the age-old cry "But I've nothing to wear." Norma converted these pretly earrings from buttons and whatnots.

UNSUSPECTING Joan Caulfield (Ross) chats with newly-met persons backstage before "This Is Your Life" telecast. (Ralph Edwards introduced them as surprise guests of "an old miner.")

IF YOU HAVE DOUBTED "This Is Your Life" was on the level, the amazed expression of honor guest Joan Caulfield should convince you that she really did not suspect anything about being "it" for the evening.

Tears and Cheers

Are Natural Accompaniments of Ralph Edwards's New TV Series Re-Creating The Lives of Big and Little People

By Evelyn Bigsby

ESCORTED BY EDWARDS to a nearby love seat, the lovely actress crinkles up to cry as he tells her "This Is Your Life, Joan Caulfield Ross!" (Later, Joan said she felt as if someone had hit her in the tummy. Friends thought she was going to faint.)

MI Joa rive NBC

good friend Ralph Edwards. Little did she dream that this night, within the hour in fact. she was to be on television coast to coast as central figure of "This Is Your Life"!

A giant conspiracy had been responsible for getting the lovely Joan into the studio. She had been asked to pose for pictures with Henry Wilson, "an old Colorado miner," supposed to be the surprise "This Is Your Life" guest. Wilson, so Miss Caulfield was informed, was quite a character who had made and lost a fortune near Denver. Wilson's friends and relatives with whom he was being reunited were also rugged characters who had expressed the wish to meet a real live movie star. Nothing would thrill them more. So Joan had consented to appear onstage before the telecast and meet Henry Wilson as the big surprise was sprung. Ralph was going to point him out, then Edwards and Joan would walk down FIRST SURPRISE GUESTS to greet the honoree are her parents from New York, who stepped onstage from the audience. (Her father helped in advance research by digging up a scrapbook of his daughter's which he had saved over her protests.)

JOAN'S ATTRACTIVE SISTER, Betty, now married and living in Bel Air, also appears. (Betty took over Joan's part in Broadway's "Corliss Archer" when Joan came to Hollywood.)

the aisle to where "the old miner" was sitting to escort him to the platform.

"He would get a charge out of it if you kissed him," Ralph suggested to Joan before the show as they sat quietly in the dressing room while the make-up man from NBC-TV was putting on Edwards's "TV face."

Joan responded heartily to this suggestion. "I should kiss him on the cheek and leave lipstick prints," she laughed.

"Oh, no, not that!" Ralph chuckled. "Our sponsor is Hazel Bishop nosmear lipstick!"

"Maybe I could help you with the commercial," countered Joan. "You could notice the smear and then tell me to go backstage and put on some Hazel Bishop."

Ralph fell in with this idea enthusiastically. Their "routine" settled, the young movie star and Edwards turned to interesting small talk.

Other Ideas

But underneath the layer of brain cells prompting easy conversation, the gray matter of Ralph Edwards's busy mind was occupied with far different thoughts. He was mindful of a roomful of persons, all very dear to Joan Caulfield, who, unbeknown to her, were sitting in a nearby room. It had taken Ralph and his staff one solid month to piece together the life of this young lady unsuspectingly chatting in this room with him. Within the hour the fruits of all the research, conniving, planning and polishing would be shown, not only to the surprised star but to a nation of lookers. From here on out, it was up to Ralph Edwards to jell the pro-gram into a living, heartwarming. tear-and-cheer-sprinkled half hour.

November 28, 1952

By now it was 6:40 p.m. and the telecast was going on camera at 7:00.

So Miss Caulfield was escorted onstage, where, behind the drawn curtains, she was introduced to Henry Wilson's friends and relatives. Actually, these people were members of Ralph Edwards's staff who did a splendid job continuing the game of throwing the actress off the track. They went so far as to pretend nervousness, and the last thing Joan said as she walked through the parted curtains was by way of encouragement to Henry Wilson's friends. "Don't be nervous," she admonished. "Just relax. Everything will be all right!"

As you who saw the telecast know. Ralph made an appropriate introduction for his charming guest and then, with index finger pointing, started to single out Henry Wilson. But instead of finding Henry in the third row, the finger circled around until it was pointing squarely at the girl on his arm. And Ralph Edwards was saying, "This Is Your Life, Joan Caulfield Ross!"

She struggled for composure, then seconds later when her father and mother, supposedly in New York, clasped her in their arms, was a delightful specimen of confused and happy surprise.

To be in on the secret of a program like this in the preparatory stages was a great thrill matched only by the post-show excitement when honored guest, friends and relatives rehashed the entire presentation.

Most interesting, of course, was the surprise-star's reactions.

"I didn't suspect a thing," Joan told this reporter. "When Ralph pointed his finger at me I first thought it was a joke. He's warming the audience, I figured. Then when he said, 'This is the story of a little girl born in East Orange, New Jersey,' I knew he really meant me. The goose pimples came out all over. I felt as if someone had hit me in the pit of my stomach. But it was a pleasant feeling. Some of my friends thought I was going to faint. Then when I sat down on the love seat, I knew it was on the air—I was on—I had to do something. I heard Ralph

(Please Turn to Page 35)

WHEN EDWARDS REACHES THE POINT of Joan's life pertaining to her husband, she exclaims: "You'll never get him here!" At that very moment Mr. Ross is coming through the archway. (It was he who persuaded his wife to dress up for the evening—she had thought of wearing a suit—did her own hair and nails for her meeting with Henry Wilson.)

Close-Ups on KNBH

AN ADORING "NUTSY" offers Florence Chadwick a can of Circus peanuts—probably for energy. Miss Chadwick will be seen on KNBH more or less regularly until her next swim, one to be done abroad.

ONE NIGHT OF "Nutsy's" five a week on Channel 4 finds him holding a Best Clown Contest. The comical emcee has some pretty stiff competition among young clowns, from the looks of this. ANOTHER NIGHT is a talented pet parade session. Here "Nutsy" shows that he is just as talented as any of the dogs, cats, birds, mice or other breeds and blends the aspirants bring to his show. (NBC-Ball photos.)

You'll See More on Channel 4

COMEDIENNE JOAN DAVIS, long known to radio fans, takes the TV plunge in an NBC-TV series seen Wednesday nights on KNBH's Channel 4, entitled "I Married Joan." Here Joan is shown marrying "Judge Stevens," played by Jim Backus. ONE OF THE HELPFUL Harper books is just what Joan needs to become the true helpmate to her husband on the comedy series—she thinks. Jim Backus has worked in radio both with his own show and as supporting player on many others.

You have asked about Randy Stuart, who became famous in '48 as the "Hubba Hubba" girl on Jack Carson's CBS radio show. She plays "Biff Bak-er's" wife on TV, a KNXT Thursday night adventure half hour ... but she is NOT married to Alan Hale, Jr., who plays "Biff" ... not in real life, that is.

Bill Burrud Beams

Bill Burrud over at KTTV, Channel 11, is really beaming these days. And justifiably so.

The October Hooper ratings gave Bill's "Open Road" a terrific rating of 13.6. In cold facts, this means that 171,000 sets, with 3.4 persons per set, or 571,440 viewers watch his Thurs-day night program.

And in comparison, it means, according to Hooper, that his small, low-budgeted but qualitative production has more drawing power than some of the biggest names (Winchell, Waring, Liberace, Como, etc.) and some of the most expensive coast-to-coast programs.

"Dollar for dollar, you can't beat Bill Burrud," is what they're saying at Channel 11.

which was made several years ago, is as guilty of bad grammar, but nothing can be done about it. Anyone with wit enough, or sufficiently intelligent enough, to play a role, write a script, ad-lib an interview or guide panelists on today's TV certainly should know a basic rule or two of English. Every time a half million youngsters just learning how to speak hear faulty accusative cases used, it becomes more of a habit to them. It probably does more harm than would a quick-to-bebanned curse. We wish they would all start tomorrow speaking as correctly as they dress!

The hash of characterizations, dialects and non-dialects that show up on CBS-TV's "Meet Millie," a show with all the basic ingredients of good comedy, but an overdrawn frosting of mad, mad goings-on that generate nothing but embarrassment, at least to us. Possibly direction or writing is at fault, for an actress we have always regarded as a competent chick, Florence Halop, shows up in a semi-Brooklyn, semi · Yiddish comedienne, too-young, over-acted role as "Millie's" mother. And the man-trap schemes of the scripts seem to us terribly overdone. True, it all generates a sympathy for Elena Verdugo as the cute "Millie." We kept sympathetically wondering why she didn't blow mother and hearthside and escape what must have been the same discomfort we experienced at watching the proceedings.

A sand pail that your youngster no longer plays with will make a color-ful, sturdy wastebasket for his room. Remove the handle or not, as you wish. The child will probably be more will-ing to empty this than a regular basket. The attractive designs of the sand pail will appeal to him.

DON'T THROW IT AWAY ... If you were about to discard your old bread box, take another look at it. Remove the sliding panel, paint it an attractive color, add a decal here and there and then use it as a planter in your kitchen. You'll be surprised at the effect!

TV-RADIO LIFE

by Aubrey Dahl

Mike Rowave, prominent TV produc-Mike Rowave, prominent TV produc-er, tells me he's tired of the struggle between NY and Hollywood over which is to be the TV capital and is going to center his activities in Beer, Kan., a bubbling community of some twenty souls. There, he will produce an audience, partici.

audience - participation show en-titled "What'll You Have?" He will continue to main-tain an office in NY, however, and will make periodic hops to the yeast and Beer.

"Our Town." (11) Nov. 30, 7:30. Thornton Wilder's simple saga of life, love and death in a small New England town is told with fidelity and skill in this film version of the famous play. Mr. Wilder seems to be saying, "Look about you. Experience the joy and wonder implicit in every moment of life, and appreciate the great gift of human communica-tion." Admirable advice, I think, pro-vided one's bills are paid up. With fine performances by William Holden, Martha Scott and Frank Craven.

"Winter Carnival." (5) Nov. 30, 7:30. Ann Sheridan and Richard Carlson do a lot of skiing around in this one, but I think the film's chief, and rather macabre, attraction is that it is the picture on which Budd Schulberg and the late, maybe great, novelist, Scott Fitzgerald, attempted to collaborate. Schulberg has written about this in his thinly veiled Fitzgerald biography, "The Disenchanted," the story of the noted writer's tragic disintegration.

"Storm in a Teacup." (9) Nov. 29, 8:00. The storm in a teacup in this delightful British comedy swirls about (Continued On Next Page) a small dog and its impending execution for lack of a license. Rex Harri-son, Vivien Leigh and Cecil Parker make the major share of comic con-tribution to the frequently hilarious proceedings.

"Murder in Reverse." (2) Dec. 2, 9:30 a.m. This is a fairly intriguing piece about a man sentenced to prison for the murder of a fellow who is not really dead. He serves his term, finds the man he is supposed to have murdered, and then decides actually to kill him, inasmuch as he has already paid the penalty and theoretically cannot be punished again. With Wil-liam Hartnell and James Hanley.

"One Third of a Nation." (2) Dec. 1, 2:45. The title of this one was in-spired by FDR's famous phrase of the thirties, "One third of the nation is ill-housed, ill-clothed, ill-fed." The story concerns a wealthy slum owner and his efforts at improvement. With Sylvia Sidney and Leif Ericson.

"Don't Trust Your Husband." (13) Dec. 1, 10:15. Madeleine Carroll is the skeptic and Fred MacMurray the sus-pected in this one. My advice to fel-low males: Deny everything, even when they show you the photographs.

1:00 11 Jackson's Theatre-90m.

- 7 Tales of Tomorrow-30m. John Conte and Una O'Connor star in the "Quiet Lady," science-fiction drama of an interstellar plague that infests the people of Earth.
 11 Dude Ranch Varieties-60m. Leo Garillo and Carole Richards.

SANTA MUST BE READY TO CRACK A WHIP over his reindeer, because my first Christmas present has just arrived from an advertising agency, Kenyon & Eckhardt. It's sharing an adoption of six children through the Foster Parents plan. For five years now this agency has chosen this altruistic method of spreading the holiday cheer, and I think it's a very heart-warming "gift."

CONGRATULATIONS TO GENE AUTRY AND BOB REYNOLDS for working out a deal on KMPC which the FCC certainly must approve. Let's hope these two likeable and competent gentlemen will be able to carry out plans for advancing this important outlet.

PERSONAL POINT WITH PRIDES: To Paulena Carter for her accomplished pianistics on ABC-KECA. Why isn't she on TV? . . . To Alam Handley for his seemingly endless ability in writing, directing, and producing Dinah Shore's listenable teleshow. And to Dinah for always being Dinah. . . To Bill Gwinn for his considerate (and smooth) emceeing of "Name That Song." From time to time, like the other night, certain circumstances arise which might prove a little embarrassing, but Bill always seems capable of mustering a redeeming nonchalance which keeps the program from falling into a rowdy-dowdy level. A SPECIAL POINT WITH PRIDE TO LAST Thursday's "Dragnet" on TV... a very telling indictment against traffic carelessness. Especially liked Vic Perrin as the doctor and dear Cliff Arquette as the wino, not to mention Joyce McClusky as "Corrine" and incomparable Virginia Gregg as "Evelyn."

ENJOYED FREDDY MARTIN'S OPENING at the Palladium and especially Murray Arnold's impressions of popular pianists all the way from Vincent Lopez right down to today's Liberace (Martin, himself, turned in a very amusing performance as brother George). TV-Radio Life columnist Andy Mansfield entertained our table with the story of a third Duncan sister. Don't know why, but I've always assumed there were two, Vivian and Rosetta. Andy says that the other day, after he and Virginla had played an old Duncan Sisters record, the third Duncan sister called to thank him and invite the Mansfields to meet the famed "Topsy and Eva" team.

MET SEVERAL INTERESTING PER-SONS at a small press party the other night held to let us know about emanation of NBC's "Eternal Light" from Hollywood for four weeks. This excellent program, which has received awards right and left, is produced by the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, but regardless of its religious affiliation it formats broadly, dealing with any subject of spiritual significance. I understand that in all probability the December 16 program will be devoted to the life of the late Israel leader, Dr. Weizmann.

WHILE I WAS WAITING TO SEE how the political shift would dent Margaret Truman's TV and radio career, along came Governor Warren and Mayor Bowron to give our top-drawer comedians a run for their money. I've always had a sneaking hunch that people in politics ran the gamut from big hams to great Thespians, but now I'm sure.

★ ★ Balter By a Point

Sam Balter, sportscaster of KLAC-TV, was the only radio or television representative chosen as an officer of the Greater Los Angeles Press Club. He will be a member of the Board of Directors for the 1953 term.

WEATHER MAN

Joe Marciano, Channel 8's weather man, presents a new angle. Usually television goes to colleges and universities for experts with interesting material, but instead the university came to television and procured the services of Joe for a class for the University of California Extension Courses.

SAN DIEGO-(Special)-Wanta be a magician? Well, just keep tuned to Channel 8 Monday through Friday at 5:30 p.m. Jack Lueken will teach you all the tricks of the trade. Jack's Magic Shop will be of interest to old and young alike but is particularly aimed for youngsters. Jack is no newcomer to TV fans, as he starred in Channel 8's first local show way back when TV came to San Diego. The Armed Services interrupted Jack's career locally but he still continued in the entertainment field for the services. This has all the earmarks of excellent viewing, Monday through Friday.

Mixed-up plane schedules didn't help Channel 8's General Manager. Howard L. Chernoff, get away from the cares and woes of a TV station. Prior to departure for Honolulu on a vacation via Trans Ocean Airlines, his flight was ordered to proceed sans passengers. The reason—it was loaded with TV equipment for the new Honolulu station. He made the second flight and guess what? It also had TV equipment aboard.

Marj Hume, culinary expert on KFMB-TV's What's Cookin' Show, discovered a new mode in dish towels. Her TV kitchen laundry returned, and along with the dish towels were two pair of men's shorts, one undershirt and a couple of odd socks. These were gaily displayed on one of last week's shows in hopes the owner might recognize and claim same.

Latest word on the below-the-border TV station—to be in operation before Christmas.

Foot warmers were in order at the opening of the Ice Cycles of 1953, but cold feet were soon forgotten as the warmth an spectacular beauty of Walt Disney's famed story of Cinderella was relived. In connection with the Cinderella Show, the more than 10.000 members of the Monte Hall Pardners' Club have been invited to enter a contest stating why they would like to be Cinderella and why they would like to the the they would like to be Cinderella and why they would like to the they would have been a stating why they would like to be Cinderella and why they would like to the they would have been a stating why they would like to be cinderella and why they would like to the they would have been and they would have been and they are they would have been and they would have been and they would have been and they have been and they are they would have been and they have been and they been and they have been and they are they would have been and they have been and they are been and they been and they have been and they have been and they been and they have been and they have been and they have been and they been and they have been and they have KFMB Radio has a budding author in its midst in the person of Howard Garland of "Here's Garland" fame. Garland has been commissioned to write some material for a couple of network TV shows.

Do you think "Golden Tulip Potato Chips" is difficult to say? Try it and see how you do. Three of Channel 8's announcers have blown this tasty title on three consecutive Sunday nights. calling it Golden Potato Tulip Chips, Golden State Potato Chips, and other booboos . . . much to the despair of the sponsor?

Are You Listening?

Competition is keen. In an attempt to keep their listeners KNX is devising a "Mystery Voice" contest. Listeners are asked to identify the voice of a well-known fem celebrity. The "voice" will be spotted throughout the day on several KNX shows, including R A L P H S TO R Y, H A W THORNE'S MAIL BAG and the STARLIGHT SALUTE program. Contestants are to submit, on a postcard, their ideas of the identity of the "Mystery Voice" and to include a slogan in fifteen words or less telling why they listen to KNX telling why they listen to KNX Eve radio. First prize is a $1000 mink stole.

More news about contests. Eve Arden, "Our Miss Brooks," is seeking the nation's most beautiful teacher. Teachers will be nominated by their students. The winning schoolmarm gets a glamour-filled all-expense lux-ury vacation in Hollywood during the Christmas holidays. Runners-up will receive savings bonds.

Rah! Rah! Rams!

For the third straight year the football-for-kids pro-gram of the Los Angeles Rams has been a tremendous success.

"And we can thank TV and radio, particularly radio, for the wonderful co-operation we have received," reports Hank Kinesky, Ram publicist. "The various disc jockeys have been especially good to us."

Approximately 30,000 kids have seen the Rams games this year—and all because various grown ups were good enough to send in two bucks, which admits five of the kids.

Although lots of valuable seats are filled because of the program, the Rams don't figure on losing anything by it in the long run. These kids are the future fans and possibly even players-for the Ram gridiron family. Page Twenty-two Listening to "Amos 'n' Andy's" 10,000th broadcast was like attending a family reunion. The creators of this ra-dio classic, Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll, have set an enviable precedent.

Their special broadcast last Sunday re-created some of the episodes that highlighted the show's history. Pa-rading before the mike were some of the original support-ing cast. Appropriately, Bill Hay, the comedy team's original announcer, came out of retirement to put the pair on the air with his familiar "Here they are." Lillian Randolph, the original "Madame Queen," and Elinor Har-riot, who created the "Ruby" role, also were on hand to enact their early roles.

Memories were stirred by dramatic excerpts portraying the first fresh-air taxi, the initial meeting and duping by the Kingfish, and the dual romances between Madame Queen and Andy and Ruby and Amos. Andy is still pursuing romance.

It isn't very likely that the closed pages of this radio album will ever be forgotten. The Amos 'n' Andy show will remain ageless.

Could This Be You?

The screech of brakes and the wail of a siren might make you stop and ponder, "But for the grace of God this might have been me."

The Puget Sound Broadcasting Company, in cooperation with the state of Washington's police department, has whipped up a formidable radio program. One that provides thrills and chills simultaneously. The percentage of traffic accidents caused by speeding is unneces-sarily high. In an attempt to bring home this point, authentic on-the-spot tape recordings were made of traffic violations.

Listeners eavesdrop while Sergeant George Amans, the program's originator, received a routine call to pick up two cars that were playing tag on an ice-bound highway. The race began as the speed increased. Finally the insane game was sirened to a halt. The driver in each case was a teen-ager. One was arrogant, the other sub-dued when stopped by the officer.

"Why were you driving so fast?" asked the sergeant. "No reason," came the flippant reply.

"Where were you going?"

"No place in particular," was the answer.

For this the safety of the drivers and the other occupants in the cars was endangered. The stakes were high.

The entire incident was recorded without exaggera-tion as it unfolded, minute by frightening minute.

Three recorded cases are aired on each half-hour broadcast. The awkward voices, the lame fumbling for words, give the program its ring of reality. It's a concrete way of driving a point home. If you've been speeding and an officer stops you "politely," proceed cautiously because he may have a concealed mike to record the incident. M P incident.-M. R.

Hawthorne's Prehistoric Gag

When African folk singers Marais and Miranda guested on Hawthorne's show recently they played an "Umbira, a rare African musical instrument made of iron and stink wood.

They discovered that the instrument sounds exactly like Hawthorne's "Hogantwanger," a weird home-made instru-ment made of wood and iron that the comedian has fea-tured on his shows for the past several years. Mr. H. admitted that it's the first time he reached back into prehistoric times for a gag.

One of your readers asked if anyone ever won on "Wom-en Are Wonderful." You may tell her I won three times out of three; my first and only attempt to win on any program. Just the way things go sometimes.

Ellen K. Moore, 1733 Sunset Plaza Dr., Hollywood, Calif.

Please! What has happened to the Dennis Day program? It is simply terrible. We loved it last year but can hardly watch it now Betty Vinyard, 752 Wilson St., Costa Mesa, Calif.

Would you please tell me what happened to Dick Garton on "Handy Hints"?

Dick left KTLA to become a free agent.

Irene Aldridge, 5240 Peabody St., Long Beach, Calif.

Dennis Day

We find ourselves canceling engagements to stay home Friday night to watch the Lawrence Welk show. And at the end of the program we have to shut the television off because everything else seems so dull. We are thankful to KTLA for bringing them into our home. It is impos-sible to have so much talent in one band, but his has it.

Mary Marcus, 1827 N. Berendo, Hollywood, Calif.

There are so many detective tales and mysteries on TV and not one really good creepy program. "Suspense" used to be a good program but that, too, is ruined by robberies and murder mysteries. Why not have just one program each week dedicated to ghosts, witches, and vampires?

J. J. N., Pomona, Calif.

We have been watching "Million-Dollar Movie Night" for a long time, hoping their way of presenting commer-cials would change. They break into the movies too often and try to push their product down your throat.

Betty Peterson, 6316 Stafford Ave., Huntington Park, Calif.

My favorite radio show is "The Railroad Hour," a truly fine musical program every week.

Bertha McIntosh, 215 N. Kenwood, Glendale, Calif.

I like to hear Sue Thompson sing, especially that song "I Went to Your Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Honnen, Glendale, Calif.

We think the new Sunday evening TV presentation of "This Is the Life" is wonderful, Channel 11 deserves many thanks for such an outstanding public-service series.

Mrs. H. Mudrick, 7425 Arizona Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

Would it be possible for KHJ to fit "Take a Number" in at some other time during the day? I enjoyed it so much as I know others did, too.

Jean Helen Green, 278 S. Roosevelt Ave., Pasadena, Calif. In a recent article on Tennessee Ernie you said his present wife's name was Mary. I thought his wife's name was Betty, but I could be wrong.

You are correct: we were wrong. His wife's name is Betty

Mr. Charles Solomon, 5447 Geer Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

How about a story on the greatest and smallest comedy star to hit TV: "Webster Webfoot." What is supposedly a children's show is enjoyed by us grown-ups. Jimmy Weldon, who introduces this duck dummy, has sure fire ad-lib comedy, and this type of entertainment is what TV needs more of to cure our woes of everyday life. My hat's off to your fine magazine. never miss it.

Webster Webfoot and Jimmy Weldon

Thank you, Mr. Solomon, for your wise words. We also have a special feature coming up on "Webster" and "Unele" Jummy to appear in the near future.

O. Sloper, 6030 Crestwood Way, Los Angeles, Calif.

Hi. May we know please if Buddy Lester, seen on the "King" Cooley show, is a brother or close relative of Jerry Lester.

Ht. Yes, Buddy and Jerry are brothers.

Kent Davis, 1854 Hanscom Dr., South Pasadena, Calif.

I read your article about "Do DJ's Get Graft?" and I can well understand why a lot of people like to believe that this is true. However, I think I have one of the most convincing stories to prove that this is absolutely false

I started out as an unknown song writer, that is not to say that I am known to any great extent today. How-I wrote two songs and went to the expense of reever. cording these songs on a so-called off-brand label. I want to go on record as saying that I have never spent one penny for promotion as far as the DJ's are concerned. I have been on interviews on every program in the Los Angeles area, with the exception of a few stations . . . while the comments on my songs sound very much like paid commercials, I want to go on record here and now as saying that I have never so much as bought a sand-wich, let alone pay for playing my song. My advice to anyone who wants to have their song played by the disc jockeys is never even so much as hint that you would be willing to pay for this service, as that is the surest way of not getting a song played on the radio, even if it is a good song.

When I read your article I felt it my duty to write and say that every one of the disc jockeys mentioned in your article has played my record over and over again, and even at a nominal amount it would cost me a young fortune for what I have received in radio time absolutely free of charge.

Dee Brown, 324 N. Lincoln Ave., Monterey Park, Calif. Spade Cooley's show used to be super, but it seems to be going down hill.

Gladys L. Mahoney, 3636 47th St., San Diego, Calif.

Many thanks to Mildred Ross for the interesting article about Liberace and his "Kitchen Show Pan" cookbook.

Vince Ing, Jr., 1420 N. Lamer, Burbank, Calif.

In my opinion "Racket Squad" is one of the best shows on television.

Mrs. Dewey Courtney, 351 Hedgeway St., Chula Vista, Calif.

Frances Scully

I wish to inquire if you know what has become of Frances Scully, that gracious lady, who has been absent too long from the airwayes.

Frances Scully is now the head of the TV-radio department for Maggle Ettinger.

Mary Anderson, 127 E. 52nd St., Long Beach, Calif.

I am in the beauty business and have told so many, many people about your magazine, I have a new one in the shop every week. Customers look it over and then go out and buy one.

Miriam Miller, 815 Amoroso Pl., Venice, Calif.

I wish to send in for pictures of the "Space Patrol" cast. What is the correct address to send for pictures?

For pictures of all your favorite TV-radio stars, address your requests to the individual stars at the stations. For "Space Patrol" pictures write to KECA-TV, ABC Television Center, Prospect and Talmadge Avenues, Hollywood 27, California.

Julie Hay, 2530 Bath St., Santa Barbara, Calif.

We miss watching Monty Margetts. She is such a sweet person and she has many friends.

Mrs. L. E. Suez, 1042 Brett St., Inglewood, Calif.

We all miss Monty Margetts and hope to be seeing her again soon. She really has personality.

N. Mudd, Los Angeles, Calif.

At last Korla Pandit has come into his own-a half. hour weekly musical program.

Charles A. Carr, 124 N. Katherine Dr., Ventura, Calif.

Why is it that a program like "Mr. Wizard," so excellent for children like our ten year-old boy, has to be changed from 2 p.m. to 9:30 a.m. Sunday? This is the time most children are leaving for Sunday school. Let's hope this fine program can be returned to an afternoon time spot.

Mrs. Robbins, 1052 Newport Ave., Long Beach, Calif.

"The Comedy Hour" on Sunday is about the most un. funny show I ever saw.

Mrs. Borsangue, Lynwood, Calif.

Now that Al Jarvis had Mary Sampley on as a "guest," I bet it won't be long before she joins the show. Now if he gets Betty White and Dr. Wilson he will have his show perfect.

Margaret McCarthy, 6520 Barton Ave., Los Angeles, Calif. "Invitation Playhouse" is wonderful-if only they would make a few more pictures.

TV-RADIO LIFE

TV Goes to the Small Town The small town is the heart of America.

Television has already done a great deal to provide the "grassroots" with topnotch entertainment, and will do even more as new stations are built throughout the nation.

The people at KTLA, Channel 5, not only realize n ot only realize this, but unlike most of the TV outlets they do something about it.

In October, 1951, the shopping center of San Jacinto (population 1800) burned down.

When asked what the estimated damage amounted to in dollars and cents one of the local old-timers replied:

"Purty high. Mighty high. A tencent store burned down," he drawled. "Ten cents? That ain't much," a city slicker wisecracked.

"They sure had a heap of stock on hand though, son. Sure had a heap of stock," the old-timer replied, seriously.

Anyway—last week San Jacinto celebrated the first anniversary of the rebuilding of the town's shopping cénter. As part of the festivities, Dell O'Dell, her husband, Charles Carrer, and "Frosty Frolics'" new starlet, Montel Phillips, gladly accepted an invitation to perform for the folks.

No dough. Just for charity and kicks. And there were lots of them.

It rained, hard. But that didn't keep the crowd away. The movie theater at which the performance was given was just that—strictly for movies, and not for vaudeville.

During Charles's juggling act, the few lights there were went out.

Also, on the way to San Jacinto, Montel speculated whether the orchestra could follow the music she had brought along for her dance routine. Natch, no orchestra.

Finally, after several announcements at the theater, and after a search party went out looking for a piano player, the town's hottest keyboard artist—a kind, pleasant, morethan-slightly-bent, elderly lady — reported, regretfully, that she had to play at another Saturday night function. Montel settled for a recording. And she performed wonderfully.

So did Dell, and Charles, who stayed on stage for over an hour.

This is the kind of stuff you seldom hear or read about.

But of such people, and of such endeavors, greatness and gratitude grow and multiply.

Judging from the letters that the kind and interested fans have been sending in, they can't read or see enough of the Hungarian Adonis, Sandor Szabo—pronounced Shandor Sahbo. This week TV-

Radio Life has a special treat on the cover with a picture of Sandor with lovely Virginia Hewitt, who plays the role of "Carol" in Space Patrol.

KECA, Channel 7, has a pair of stars there who are hard to beat. Space Patrol is attracting national attention. I don't need to tell those of you who have seen children when it is on because none of the youngsters would miss it. For the benefit of bachelors talking, but didn't know what he was saying. Finally, during the last half of the program I began to enjoy it."

The actress was quite upset the afternoon of the program when she couldn't persuade her husband, producer Frank Ross, to meet her at El Capitan at 7:00 p.m. (He rehearsed his part that afternoon with others of "the cast," using a stand-in for Joan. But when she tried to pin him down to attend the program with her, Ross said, "I'm very busy. I may see you about 7:15."

"I was kinda miffed at him," Joan admitted later. "Then I tried to reach my sister Betty by phone." (That didn't work, naturally, because Betty and her husband were already on their way to the studio.) Finally, Joan's housekeeper, Anna, drove her to Hollywood and Vine to the theater. Anna was dreadfully nervous and her handling of the car showed it.

Joan decided, "I've got to speak to Anna about her driving." Amusing things like these highlighted the reunion following the telecast. Joan's family and friends adjourned to Bit of Sweden for dinner and then to the Edwards home to see the program screened locally at 10:00 p.m.

Next day, when checked on her reactions, she was still ebullient. "We stayed up until all hours chatting last night," she reported. "I didn't sleep a wink.

"Today I was marketing and two women came up to me and told me they had seen the program last night.

"Did you suspect? Did you know anything about it beforehand?" they wanted to know.

"When I told them 'no,' that it had all been a wonderful surprise to me, they both gave a sigh of relief and said, 'We're so glad!'" and swing-shift workers, it runs Monday through Friday at 6:45 and Saturday at 11 a.m. You can see by that schedule that the Space Patrol crew has practically nothing to do.

While we are talking of being hard to beat, let us consider your friend and mine, the star of the "Beat the Champ" program Tuesday nights on KECA from 8 until 9 p.m. This show offers $1000 to anyone who can pin Szabo for three seconds. The takers are many but the winners, none. He takes on two men each evening but has reigned supreme on the program for many months.

Between starring on this rigorous program, wrestling in other arenas three or four times a week, running a wrestling school and training young mat aspirants, and being the father of two lovely teen-age daughters, you can see that he has practically nothing to do too.

Sandor came to the United States from Budapest as a member of the Hungarian Olympic wrestling team. He won the world's title, but before the boat could pull out to return to Europe, Sandor had made up his mind to miss it.

He has never regretted his decision. Professional wrestling has been good to him—and he has certainly been an asset to the game. He also runs the Sandor Szabo "School of Wrestling," at 10830 Santa Monica Blvd., Westwood, Calif. The phone number is ARizona 8-2222.

What he really wants to do now is blossom out with a program of the Continental type during which he can croon, play the violin and just be Sandor Szabo in street clothes. He would be sensational. His suave Continental charms, fine muscular body and handsome appearance are the ingredients for a great show.

Perhaps I am a bit zealous about the "Beat the Champ" program because this Tuesday I expect to begin doing the commentary and interviews from the Wilmington Bowl via Channel 7. It's a fine program and I am happy to become associated with it. I hope that you will be happy to have me.

As long as I have anything to do with the show, I want to give the viewers what they like. Who do you want to see take on The Champ? Let me know how you like the program and any questions that you may have —or any suggestions from you to make "Beat the Champ" more interesting.

ONCE AGAIN THIS YEAR the NBC-TV cameras will be on hand to telecast the historic Army-Navy game from Philadelphia. To date, Army has won twenty-seven games and Navy, twenty-one games, four ending in ties. The Midshipmen swamped the Cadets last year, 42 to 7. (NBC-TV photos.)

AL PAULEKAS, guard and captain of the West Pointers, will tead his charges against their arch rivals from Annapolis this Saturday, which NBC-TV shows on KNBH's Channel 4.

FOLLOWING AN unprecedented record of nearly three complete seasons without defeat, Earl Blaik's boys fell upon hard times last season after the "cribbing" incident. This year he has come back, but good.

CAPTAIN JOHN GURSKI, end and captain of the Navy, like every other member of both service squads, will give it all he's got in this the final and all-important game of the season. COACH EDDIE ERDELATZ of Navy has his boys all keyed up for the fifty-third Army-Navy clash from Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium, November 29. Play starts on KNBH's Channel 4 at 11:00 a.m.

ALTHOUGH HE has been in show business all his life, J. Carrol Naish reveals in this story how TV has taught him that he still has lots to learn about show business.

> CARROL NAISH is one of the real "vets" in the acting profession.

Born Carrol Patrick Joseph Naish in New York City, he appeared as a youngster with Gus Edwards's famous kiddie troupe. After seeing action during World War I, he joined Gaby Deslys' "Madame Frou Frou" company and toured three continents, learning four languages and picking up thirty dialects which were later to make him one of the nation's great character actors.

Short stints in New York, Holly-

"PASQUALE" (Alan Reed) is still having trouble convincing "Luigi" that his daughter "Rosa" (Jody Gilbert) is the one and only girl for him. (CBS photos.)

J. Carrol Naish Says "Luigi" Still Has Lots to Learn By Ted Hilgenstuhler wood and on the road followed before the Catholic Irishman signed for the first of his many major film roles.

A "Real Pro"

During his years on the Hollywood scene, J. Carrol Naish has been nominated three times for an Academy Award, and has won the Loyola award in 1944, the "Oscar" of the Foreign Correspondents of the World for the finest character actor of 1945, and the Irish Catholic World Award as the best actor of 1947.

On radio, he has given almost two hundred performances as the warmhearted Italian immigrant, "Luigi Basco."

Yes, on stage, on film, and on radio, J. Carrol Naish has proven that he is an accomplished, poised, talented artist. A "real pro" in every sense of the term.

Then TV Came

But when it comes to TV. especially "live" TV (which is how "Life With Luigi" is being telecast), then it's a different story.

The short, black-haired actor is the first person to admit that as far as TV is concerned he's just "a rockie breaking in."

In the comfortable study room of his new Beverly Hills home, "Luigi" explained some of the things he was learning and had already learned about the new medium.

"I've been in show business all my life, but this television show of ours makes me feel as if I were starting all over again. I'm just crawling in and have lots to learn.

"One of the basic problems we have on our CBS-TV show is to sell a whole play in just twenty-six minutes. We have to get our expository material and our punch lines in at just the right time with the right camera effects."

In conjunction with this point, Mr. Naish pointed out that he believes the writers of television should become more and more important from the production end of it.

New Era

"I've also discovered that television is really a combination of both the legitimate theater and the movie industry. Unlike radio, and similar to the theater, you must keep remembering to project your character to the first few rows of the audience, because that's the same effect the people at home are getting on the screen.

"Of course, doing 'Luigi' 'live' is a great creative challenge. I love it. I firmly believe that television will provide a great new era for the theater.

"I hope that I can become a part of this new era, and I look forward to it with great anticipation.

"If I fail, then I'll go back to the theater or to plugging songs, as I used to do."

It looks as if the song-pluggers' loss will be TV's gain—because on TV and radio "Luigi" has become one of America's favorite all-time characters.

"LUIGI" is shown here having a good heart-to-heart talk with ole "Abe.' "Life With Luigi" can be seen weekly on Mondays over KNXT, Channel 2, at 9:30 p.m.

No Romance for "Carol"!

At Least on Camera. Off Screen the Science-Minded Miss With the Blond-Hair Has a Raft of Admirers Whom She Keeps in Neat "Fun" Categories

By Jane Pelgram

HERE HASN'T been a leading lady who went through a career kissless since ZaSu Pitts. Until since ZaSu Pitts. Until "Carol," blonde charmer of ABC-TV's "Space Patrol," that is. With ZaSu's particular brand of portrayal and role it was understandable. But with the highly kissable dish in the brief red-and-white costume, the lack not only of demonstration but of romance itself stems from quite another reason.

"Carol" can play to her heart's content the science minded miss whom all the characters of "Space Patrol" adore. But let her single out "Commander Corey," "Happy" or "Major Robertson" for a glance or a whispered exchange and what is left for the hordes of masculine viewers who think of "Carol" as the one girl with whom they would most like to be stranded on Earth, Terra, or even the dead old Moon!

Show creator-writer-producer Mike Moser was hep as always in this stunt, and it has been endorsed heartily by the mail "Carol" gets.

The letters range from requests for leg art, penned usually by the men aboard anchored battleships, to the announcements by whole camps of land-bound creatures that they find "Carol" the one with whom they would most prefer being stranded on land, on sea or in the air. Little-girl admirers write saying they think she is "pretty," and will she please send a picture. One sevenyear-old boy wrote and asked "Carol" to come and see him while she was "still young and pretty:"

And how about Virginia Hewitt?

That's "Carol" when she leaves the "Space Patrol" set and changes a brief scarlet-and-white bit for the sleek black-and-white, sophisticated street wear she prefers. Is she the kissless, romanceless girl of a million men's dreams?

As far as the kisslessness goes, Virginia alone knows about that aspect of her romances. But of romances there are several. The blondehaired beauty has about as much chance of avoiding romance as a kitten at a dog show has of escaping attention.

The Categories

There's one escort from the advertising world. One is a young psychologist. One is a sports enthusiast, completely.

With him Virginia shares all the individual sports in which she excels, such as swimming, riding and tennis. One of her swains is an excellent dancer, and with him Virginia shares "dress-up evenings" of dancing. Nor does Virginia say which escort is as interested as she is in her water colors (dashed off in what Virginia herself terms "an awful frustration by impressionism").

But the intelligent-as-she-is-pretty Miss Hewitt is very definite about qualities in men that none of her friends share. She hates the typical Hollywood glamour boy. She would rather go with a fellow who has no hair at all than one who slyly whips a comb from a pocket and drags it through long, greasy hair before he steps into a home or dining spot. Conceit she abhors.

But worst of all she hates the guy who won't try. That, in Virginia's

AN EARLY STILL from her brief but highly successful motion-picture days finds "Carol" with her hair down.

PERHAPS BY THE TIME the men of Mars, who are about the only group left who haven't chosen "Carol" the girl they would most like to be stranded some place with, get around to communicating their choice, this brief crimson-and-white garb of the future will be regular dress for all young ladies, science-minded or not! (Green & Tillisch photo.)

book, is the man who can't take a job at a filling station because he's always waiting for the big time to visit him. He's full of wonderful ideas that will set the world on fire, but he hangs around mooching from friends until opportunity, in lieu of hard work, makes his full worth visible to the waiting world.

Carol herself is a doer. She brought to Hollywood, with no more chance than anyone, her five feet four inches in height and her 117 pounds nicely balanced around the perfection of a chart-reading that said "34-23-34." But she was successful in pic.ures, and her first reading for the "Space Patrol" role of "Carol" won her the part.

Man From Mars?

Many of her fans may not know it when Virginia Hewitt one day chooses one from among the activity categories into which her beaux seem to fall, and marries. As long as she remains romanceless on the show they can dream.

As far as actually marrying goes, Virginia laughs off the subject. "Right now I'm waiting to meet a man from Mars who will elect me the girl with whom he would most like to be stranded on earth?"

DONALD ASSUMES A MAD POSE just to prove that he isn't sweettempered all the time. Frankly, the photographer wasn't overly impressed by his simulated meanness. GWEN CARTER (MRS. O'CONNOR), DAUGHTER DONNA AND AMICABLE Donald are a happy family tric. Donald gives as much of his leisure time to his "girls" as possible. After the O'Connor household has retired, Donald sits propped up in bed half the night memorizing his television or movie scripts. (NBC-Holloway photos.)

The Real Donald O'Connor

By His Wife, Gwen Carter, as Told to Mildred Ross

INCE THERE'S nothing like getting right at the source for your information, we asked Donald O'Connor's wife and mother.in-law for the real low-down on him. (Don, it was not a plot, but merely a coincidence that we found ourselves talking to two women about you.)

Gwen and her mother had only nice things to say about Donald O'Connor. "Don is the most thoughtful and considerate man I know," said Gwen. "He's amiable, a real friend, a wonderful husband and father.

"I met Don when I was fifteen. Although I was smitten at once, I played hard to get. Don decided to teach me a lesson on our first date. He was five hours late and I'll never forget it. He kept calling me hourly to report that the car broke down, he ran out of gas, or something else had happened to postpone his arrival. "But," she smiled, "he has never intentionally kept me waiting since."

Courtship

Don's mother-in-law, Mrs. Morre, was very strict with Gwen and Don during their two-year courtship. "I had to be home by ten o'clock sharp. And sharp meant just that. No excuses, however valid, were acceptable," said Gwen. "I was also limited to week-end dates. On the average of once a month," she added, "mother had a different speech prepared, telling us that we were too young to marry. It took the Army to make her change her mind. Just before Don went into the service we were married. He was eighteen; I was seventeen."

Putters

"Don loves to putter around the house. He's forever fixing things, and keeps the dog runs shipshape. We have three canines in a wide range of sizes—a huge, haughty Irish wolfhound, a fluffy French poodle, and a small, sweet mongrel."

Show business has been in the O'Connors' blood stream for generations. Don sees no reason why it shouldn't continue. His six-year-old daughter, Donna, and wife Gwen have appeared in several of his NBC "Colgate Comedy Hour" teleshows. Don hasn't the time to give Donna dancing lessons, but she does benefit from his professional advice. She loves to rehearse dance routines with her Dad.

Don is a mild disciplinarian. He doesn't believe in spoiling children, yet has a wonderful knack with them. The most unruly child in the neighborhood acts like a little angel when he's about. It's partially hecause they are his fans and partly because he treats them like aduits. Stardust

Gwen and Don still have stardust in their eyes but on occasion, like any other couple, they have a quarrel. That's when Gwen personally prepares his favorite menu... cube steak, smothered with country gravy, sweet potatoes and stewen tomatoes. Don never likes to dine alone, so Gwen's supper hour fluctuates with his rehearsal schedule.

At Home

The O'Connors love to give small dinner parties, play cards and go to the movies for relaxation. They both like Westerns. Don buys Gwen jewelry and furs. He's a conservative dresser, fashionable but not flashy. He drives a Jaguar, plays golf and bowls. Skiing and marksmanship are his other favorite sports. He has a collection of firearms, but prefers to use them for target practice instead of hunting.

Don is interested in people and in their opinions. Regardless of heated opposition, he can discuss any topic calmly. During last winter's rains, Don rounded up his valley neighbors who had been flooded out, and deposited them in his motherin-law's large fourteen-room housc. "This is our boy," said wife and mother-in-law, "and we think he's wonderful."

Mistress of Magic

Dell O'Dell Reigns as Belle of the Sorcerers Despite Constant Rebuffs From the Male Factions eyes match her capacity for fun and love of people.

By Mildred Ross

There are so many facets to Dell O'Dell's personality, interests and hobbies that one can't possibly do her justice in a single short story. We can merely hope to scratch the surface of this completely fascinating, complex individual.

Wouldn't Take No

Dell is one gal who wouldn't take "no" for an answer. Her show-people parents objected to her entering the profession, and magicians objected to showing her any tricks. They scoffed at the mere thought of a lady magician. Yet she entered the field of legerdemain despite everyone's opposition.

Before she was out of her teens, Dell was booked at some of the biggest hotels and theaters in the country. Twenty years later the magic of television is bringing the Queen of Magic to a larger and more diversified audience than she has ever known. Dell likes to try her new tricks out on youngsters. "They are more outspoken, they concentrate better than adults and their quizzical whys serve to help me improve my trick." Dell explained.

Although Dell and her husbandassistant Charles Carrer, a noted juggler, have no children of their own, the moppets in the neighborhood are always flocking to Dell's house of magic. They love to match their wits with hers to see if they can unravel a new trick.

Dell is not content with knowing two or three routines. At the moment. she estimates she must have at least 10,000 separate magic feats, of which a good majority are original. Dell composes "patter" or a rhyme for each one of these sleight-of-hand puzzlers, too, in order to make it twice as interesting to her KTLA audiences.

Heavy Mail

Her viewers swamp KTLA with more than 2000 letters weekly. People from six to sixty are curious and interested in magic. Her famous pencil trick alone has bewildered the most astute minds. By way of explanation, her favorite tale concerns the confusion caused among civil engineers, during a conclave, when a high percentage of them were unable to dislodge the magic pencils which Dell had secured in their respective buttonholes.

November 28, 1952

Dell maintains a home in Woodside, Long Island, as well as a twostory warehouse which contains all of her magic apparatus and her collection of 10,000 rabbits. She also houses her live little animals in Woodside. She raises and trains her own rabbits and doves which she uses in her acts.

Dell is a gourmet and a photographer, dabbles in physical-culture aids and is active in magician circles. Now that she is settled in California her second homestead is a beautiful thirty-three-foot custom trailer. Dell and her husband Charles, who incidentally builds all of her equipment, work together as a perfect team. There's only one point on which he finds Dell incorrigible. Instead of going on a shopping spree for new clothes, like most women, Dell wilf take that money and go on a shopping spree for pets. She figures rabbits wili last but clothes won't, and he certainly can't argue that point with her.

DELL O'DELL, BILLED as the funsation femagician, is an exuberant individual whose talents seem endless. She can whip up an exotic meal as easily as she flourishes a rabbit from a hat.

DELL IS PARTICULARLY FOND OF CHILDREN. SHE TESTS HER NEW TRICKS on the youngsters because they are more alert and frank than adults in their comments on her performance. The glib O'Dell sustains interest in her sleight-of-hand magic on two points. She frames each trick with a patter of fascinating rhyme. Watching and listening gives you double entertainment.
