DAVID JANSEN

... good looking gum shoe

J. A., Hollywood

I am in complete agreement with Miss A. T. of Monterey Park. I think David Janssen on Richard Diamond is tops. Man! what a doll. Best looking detective I have ever seen on TV or in real life.

J. M. H., Monrovia

I was sure glad to see Lucy and Desi back. Hope they will stay. I like to see good class fun.

Mrs. R. W., North Hollywood

The crazy actions of 95 per cent of all singers is like follow the leader. One famous singer has always had a large kerchief dangling from her fingers which was fine for her. Now most females do the same. The latest silly stunt is snapping fingers. They just can't sing now unless they snap their fingers and wiggle all through the song. It is a pleasure to see some one who does not act that way.

Mr. and Mrs. W., La Crescenta

We trust that you have received many expressions of regret over the change in time for the Huntley-Brinkley program. Mrs. W. and I would like to add our feeble protest, for whatever it may be worth. We have always listened to this fine program, but we also like to watch Douglas Edwards. We hope that you will try to find a better "slot" for Huntley-Brinkley.

JACKSON WHEELER

... Does he take in brainwashing?

J. C., Los Angeles

The other day on TV while listening to blabber mouth Jackson Wheeler, he became quite insulted that someone had written him a letter in regards to his yakking. He said he was being paid to talk to us — well I have news for him, he is being paid for one thing: to give us films and commercials, not to brainwash us with his views and talk us to death. I was so delighted when they replaced his night time show with Del Moore. I thought they have at last wised up and canned the "Old Dad." When will they wise up? Yes, go ahead and tell me to turn the channel to another station — for since then I have.

Defense, anyone?

KATHY CROSBY & FRIEND

... recalls the cheerful smile

Mrs. N. M., Alhambra

CBS couldn't carry Bob Crosby even though he was one of the most popular day time shows. But they invent one of the most ridiculous things I've ever seen, namely "The Verdict Is Yours" and expect folks to enjoy it. Life is full of trouble so why watch more trouble on TV? Bob Crosby and his smile cheered everyone but CBS isn't trying to please the public, I guess. If you want to be bored stiff, watch "The Verdict Is Yours."

Mrs. W. K., North Hollywood

When are they going to stop that suggestive Rock and Roll dancing on American Bandstand? I think today's teenagers are terrible young brats who haven't grown up yet. As for that dancing — it is very vulgar. The young generation is headed for the dogs!

no wonder Andy and Virginia are

A Most Happy Couple

By Jean Corlis

ANDY MANSFIELD gets top billing in KFI's husband and wife team, Andy and Virginia — not because he wanted it that way, but because it's more euphonic. Actually, Andy was anxious to put Virginia first, because that's the kind of a husband he is, but "Virginia and Andy" didn't have the right ear appeal. And Virginia, being the kind of a wife she is, was glad that "Andy and Virginia" sounded right, because she thinks the husband should come first. Which is just one example of why these two have worked together and lived together so happily for 24 years.

"We've never had a career problem" explained Virginia, "we love working together and since we prepare the show at home and go to the station together I'm just as tired as Andy is when night comes. With some couples who are both in the entertainment field they may not work at the same times, and one or the other is anxious to do things when the other is tired. We not only work together, we relax together. The only thing Andy does that I have no part in is his Saturday night show, America's Popular Music, which was a natural for him because being a pianist he likes instrumentals."

Andy was chief arranger and top pianist with station WLW in Cincinnati when Virginia Lee Hennessy came to work at the station as vocalist. They were married in 1934, and came to California in 1937. They have always worked together but in 1952 started their own program, Turn Back the Clock, on KFI.

"I was tired of playing piano," Andy admitted, and Virginia was tired of singing. We decided to make our hobby of record collecting pay off. We've collected over 50,000 records, which we understand is the largest single collection in the country. Because of the comparative nature of Turn Back the Clock we use all types of records so it's fortunate that we hadn't concentrated on any one type of music."

To the "tick-tock" of Leroy Anderson's familiar tune "Syncopated Clock," Andy and Virginia start the morning off right at 8:45 Monday through Friday for countless office-bound commuters, shift workers returning from their all-night jobs, salesmen and a large home audience. They receive letters by the score, complimenting them on the way they give these radio listeners a boost for the day. It isn't surprising that their listeners get this upbeat reaction, for Andy and Virginia project the love of life, the success and the happiness they have found. Virginia's voice is always gay and enthusiastic, Andy's is happy and confident.

"We've always been happy," Virginia admitted when we remarked that we had never seen her other than glowingly enthusiastic. "We have so much in common and so many interests. We always take our vacations together, we both have hobbies — Andy has his model railroad and I raise iris and hook rugs. But I can say truly, we never knew how really deep happiness could be until we found a church that we both felt was right for us. We had both gone to Protestant churches of different denominations when we were young, but being on the road for so many years we hadn't gone regularly. After we settled in California we went together to many churches, and finally at North Hollywood Presbyterian (now First Presbyterian Church of North Hollywood) we were deeply inspired and we both felt that this was what we wanted. When we started going the church had only 1,000 members and was in temporary quarters. Today we have 10,000 members, a big church, and are building an addition. We are very proud to have had a part in helping it to grow."

"Along the way," Andy said enthusiastically, "we became interested in the principle of tithing. We feel that everything we have we owe to God and the least we can do is to give a part of our success back to Him. We started the practice when we could least afford to — many years ago when we were out of work and drawing unemployment. We have been amazed to discover that whatever we gave we never missed. The old saying that God will not be outdone in generosity seems to hold true. Things have gone so well for us that we are able to do more and more. We've found that others who practice tithing find the same thing happens to them. Every time they give something to God, or in God's name to someone else who needs help, it comes back to them many times. But no one should start to tithe with the idea that they'll get something back . . . you should give out of gratitude for what you have."

With their religion and their work and their hobbies, the Mansfields are indeed a most happy couple!

Christmas

WITH

Alice Lon

By Jack Holland

CHRISTMAS has always been the most glowing, exciting time of the year to my boys and me," Alice Lon remarked. "But, I'm sure that everyone feels the same way."

The lovely ABC-TV star of the Lawrence Welk show took time out between rehearsals to reminisce about past Christmases and to look forward with eager anticipation to the coming one. And it will be certainly a festive affair — with three eager young boys on hand to add hilarity and noise.

"When I was growing up in Kilgore, Texas," Alice went on, "my family made a big to-do over every Christmas. It was always a sentimental occasion with a big family get-together. All of us made sure we were home then — my mother, my father, and my sister Betty Jo. I now carry that feeling of 'togetherness' over into my own brood which numbers Bobby, 9, Clint, 8, and Larry, 7. Last Christmas grandmother and grandfather Wyche with an old family friend, Judge Wilkins from Kilgore, spent the holidays with us. It was one of the few times the boys had been reunited with their grandparents at this time and they were ecstatic.

"Grandfather was a hero to the boys, especially when it came to fixing their toys, bikes, and what-not. They wouldn't let him out of their sight. And everything he did they wanted to do. I've never seen my boys so ambitious!"

Clint, Alice's son, is named after his grandfather.

ALICE LON AND HER THREE BOYS, Bobby, Clint, and Larry are making their usual preparations for a merry Christmas.

Alice's Christmas

The boys are not given an over-abundance of presents on Christmas. In fact, Alice has taught them to share and to be unselfish instead of allowing them to have whatever they want. Last year, Bobby, who had reached the state where he planned ahead, wanted a bike. He got it. The other boys, however, got "hand-me-down" bikes, but this didn't bother them. They knew they'd have their turn the next year for the new job.

Bobby is as interested in drums as he is in his bike. He shows real promise and his most fervent hope is that he gets a new set for Christmas. The other boys haven't said what they wanted. They just like surprises.

"We opened our gifts Christmas Eve, except for those Santa brings, which are opened Christmas morning," Alice said with a glow. "But it's not the presents we're so excited about. It's just being together.

"Isn't that really the greatest thing about Christmas — the warmth that is shared in hearts and the love that is so freely given? This is the greatest time of the year because selfishness has taken a temporary holiday. Too bad its holiday is so short."

Guy Mitchell

IS A CHANGED MAN!

The popular singer is not at all what you'd expect. The man behind the songs is a most surprising person.

By Jack Holland

GUY MITCHELL is a big surprise.

You watch this spirited singer on his ABC-TV show and you figure, "Now, here's a guy — no pun intended — who can send solid, who rocks and rolls with the best of them. This is a real cool cat." And then you meet him.

This is no mere upbeat singer. This is no guy living only for his next record or his next big break. Instead, here is a fellow who has found the key to a full and happy life, who wouldn't give a hoot if he woke up tomorrow and found he had no job.

"I don't need any career to be happy," he said with his typical enthusiasm. "I have Else, my wonderful wife, my health, my dream is to own a ranch, and just settle back and enjoy life.

"This is the way I look at it — I've toured the country for the past eight years making appearances. I've been to England several times, the last being this year. I was tired of moving about and anxious to forget about show business. So when I was told about the TV show, I didn't want it. It wasn't until someone pointed out to me that if I did the show I could get a bigger ranch that I decided to give it a try.

Who Needs It?

Here Guy paused, and then said very seriously, "Show business is not conducive to a peaceful life. If you need applause and if you have to have your head all swelled up each day, it's fine, but I don't need this. If my show flops, it's okay. I'll get that ranch.

"I've been lucky in my career. I have security, but when I was broke I was happy too. In fact, I even had more fun then.

"I won't say I don't enjoy my ABC-TV show. I have fun doing it. I just do the best I can and let it go at that. There's only one trouble — I have to get dressed up and put on ties, and frankly I'm a bit of a slob at home. I don't like getting all gussied up. I like the cowboy kind of life best. Why, I even wear patent leather boots on my show — and I got married in boots.

"I like a man who wants either something of the earth or the sea — and that is why I want to have a different life from what I have now. After all, God made the land and the water, and man can't change them. You feel God is closer to you out in the open too than you do in a big city, although I never feel without Him."

It is Guy's very sincere faith that is the key to his character, the reason for the happiness he has found. He reads Proverbs in the Bible most of the time, although every day he reads some part of the Bible. He also likes to stop in at some church on the way home just to sit quietly and pray.

"My faith has been my bulwark," he said quietly. "With it you need nothing else."

Marriage

Guy is especially happy in his marriage. It's his second experience in the marital field, but the first was an unhappy one. Else is everything Guy needs.

"We like the same things, even cooking," he laughed. "I specialize in the outdoor department. I like a lot of garlic or onion seasoning — this keeps colds away, and," he added with a husky laugh, "some friends. Else makes a lot of Danish dishes — her pancakes are fantastic. But are they fattening! I have to eat salads all during the week at lunch, and I love to eat. Once Else made a four-pound meat loaf — and I ate it all in one evening. That includes dinner and late evening snacks.

"I met Else when I was singing in a club in Canada when she came in one night with a date. I asked the manager who she was and then I wangled an introduction to her. When I asked her to go out with me a little later she refused at first, but I was persistent and she finally agreed. We started going together a lot, but I was in no position to do anything about marriage then because I was getting a divorce. So I left Canada and didn't see her until another year. Then I was free.

"She came down to Los Angeles and stayed with her aunt and we began going steady. I had to go back east on a tour, and while I was gone Else wrote that she was going to have to return to Canada since her permit was about up. I knew that this was the time — it was now or never — so I asked her to marry me.

"She came back and we were married in Atlanta. We had the bridal suite in the hotel. There was a huge water cooler outside, so I told Else it was our own special Niagara Falls.

"Marrying Else was the best thing I ever did. And she has no career ambitions at all!"

The song in Guy Mitchell's heart is a real pretty tune.

THE WEATHER... and Abraham Lincoln

By Dave Vowell

IT must have been Raymond Massey who said it first," Austin Green was saying, "but whenever a man is sort of homely, he's always described as appearing 'Lincolnesque.' But the time that I appeared on Medic as Lincoln was one of the truly memorable performances of my acting career."

The KHJ weatherman sipped his coffee as if there were nothing more important in the world. He exuded an aura of calm that became contagious. He did look like Lincoln. The angular features of his face contrasted sharply with the soft curve of his brown suit. "When I played Lincoln," he went on, "all the make up men had to add was a piece of sponge for the mole. The result was so good, that I was able to undergo, not only full face closeups, but detailed closeups of various portions of my face as the narrator described the death of Lincoln."

A veteran broadcaster, Austin started his career in 1930 when he helped put KGFJ on the air. "This job lasted," Austin reported with a grin, "until I fell asleep at the transmitter and didn't push a few vital buttons. I woke up to find that I had joined the ranks of the unemployed." But Austin turned bad news into good news by heading to Detroit and radio station WXYZ where radio history was being made in the production of "The Lone Ranger." "I guess that's where I really got the acting bug," Austin said, "when I was allowed to do bit parts on the show. It's like printer's ink, once you get it in your system, you never get it out."

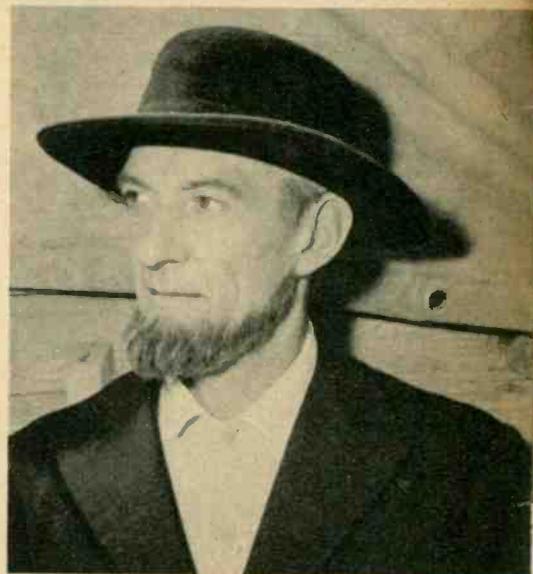

Austin came to Los Angeles four years ago from Phoenix and TV station KPHO not as an actor or a broadcaster but as a writer. When nothing came of his scripts, he 'pitched' his weather show to various local stations and it was finally bought by KNXT. Austin has since switched his show to KHJ-TV. Since arriving in L.A., Austin's writing has taken a back seat to his acting. He has appeared in dozens of TV programs, from the aforementioned Medic segment to a Death Valley Days story. He has played numerous character parts running the gamut from gangsters to priests.

But a man is never too busy to get married — and Austin wasn't too busy to marry the same woman twice. And in two different languages! The second wedding was financed on a dime.

It all happened this way. "Rose Mary and I got married in Mexico City this past August 29 and because we also wanted an English ceremony we decided to do it again in Las Vegas. We were on the way to the wedding when we decided to leave our bags at a hotel. While we were waiting for the clerk to arrive so that we could register, I put a dime in a slot machine. That's right. Not only a jack pot but a bonus, too. A little red light started blinking and a man came over, raked up the dimes and handed me a five, a ten and a hundred dollar bill. Our trip to Las Vegas didn't cost us a thing. We were married again, by the way, on Sept. 29, so we now have two anniversaries a year only one month apart."

But, getting back to Austin's weather stint on KHJ, he reports that he is blessed with an excellent memory and is able to do his show without 'idiot sheets' which, he feels, lends an informal, comfortable air to the show. The information presented is all factual, even though it may look ad lib, and is garnered from the U.S. Weather Bureau just prior to the show.

ROGER WAGNER SCORING MUSIC for Christmas eve program.

CHRISTMAS IN STEREO

KFI and KRCA join forces for the third year in presenting a stereophonic concert on Christmas Eve.

FROM 7:00 to 7:30 p.m. on Christmas eve, KFI and KRCA will again present Christmas in Stereo. This year it will feature Capitol recording artists, the Roger Wagner Chorale and Lucille Norman, and the Bert Prival Childrens Ballet, Vincent Pelletier, and the Burbank Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Damiani.

The stereo-TV audience will hear one selection on one channel, KRCA, and the other selection on KFI. These are in harmony with each other and the full stereophonic effect is achieved when the radio is placed in the same room to the right of the TV set.

The opening overture by Damiani will consist of "Deck the Halls with Holly" and "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen." Roger Wagner will conduct "The Christmas Story," and Vincent Pelletier will read the poem, "One Solitary Life."

The Children's Ballet will perform an excerpt from the opera "Hansel and Gretel," and Lucille Norman will sing, "Oh Holy Night," and will join the entire cast in the closing number, "The Hallelujah Chorus."

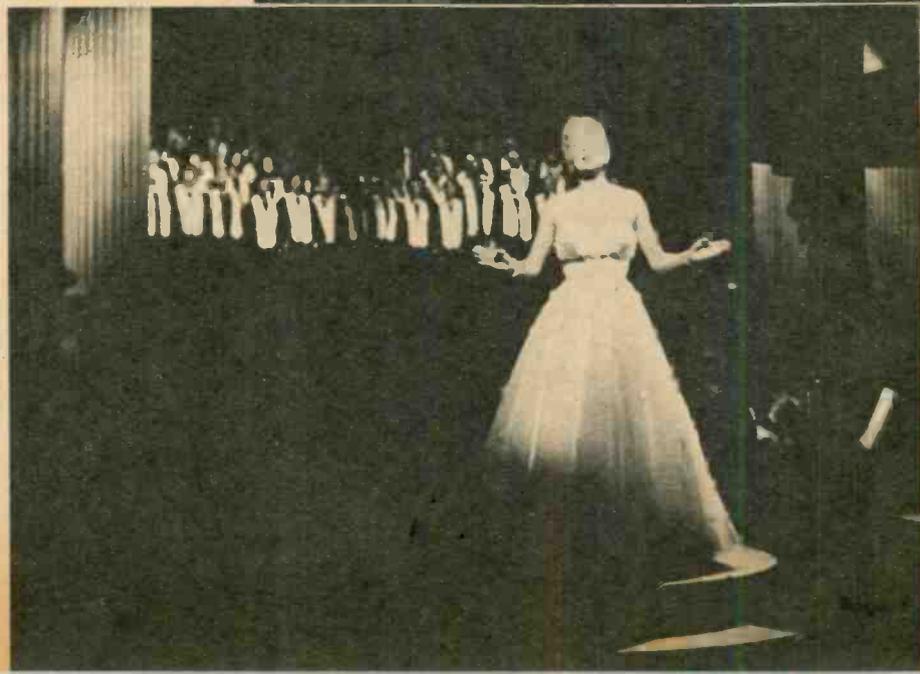

The program, presented by the Prudential Insurance Company for the third year, is produced by Andy Potter and directed by Thomas B. Belcher.

Lifelines

BY EVELYN BIGSBY

IF you want to feel like the meanest gal in town, be a judge on a TV show where twenty darling little girls are competing for the title, Shirley Temple of Tomorrow. Any judging is fraught with painful decisions, but when the contestants are be-curled, bewitching babies of three years to five, with proud mamas hovering, it's really tough.

"Shirley Temple of Tomorrow"

Anyway, on Dick Whittinghill's KTTV show the other afternoon, my confreres and I finally picked dimpled Tammy Marihugh of Hollywood, who, as you can see, really looks like Shirley Temple. Besides her looks she appeared to possess personality and a little flair for show business which might come in handy with her screen test.

ALL THE PARENTS SHOULD be very proud of their little girls, who give promise of being heart-smashers in another 10 or 15 years. Some of them were so tiny they were shy or frightened. Before the line-up came on camera we heard a child sobbing backstage. My fellow-judge who produces the Miss Universe contest quipped, "Don't worry. Some of the big girls cry, too!"

DID YOU KNOW THAT THERE are people willing to wait two years for dinner? I didn't until ABC-TV started talking about the Feb. 11 Telephone Time, the story of chef Henri Charpentier of Redondo Beach.

THE 80-YEAR-OLD WIZARD of food, who's lived in this country for 52 years, came from France where he originated crepe suzettes. In his intimate little restaurant at the beach he serves an epicurean repast to a maximum of 16 guests, who dress for dinner and leisurely enjoy the choice morsels Henri has prepared. Chef for such notables as the former Prince of Wales and Sarah Bernhardt, Charpentier has a waiting list two years long. Walter Slezak will portray Henri on the teleshow.

TOO BAD THAT YOUNG RAY PETERSON'S song was cut short on the Ed Sullivan Show. I was especially interested when first hearing him sing in Hollywood only a few months ago. He seemed to have the same quality that old timers remember in Donald Novis. A polio victim, he was trying desperately to crack Hollywood to help repay his folks for all the money they'd poured into his expensive convalescence. The Al Jarvis Show said they'd put him on, but Ray was out of town and didn't connect. Then Ted Mack's Amateur Hour was contacted, but things grew a little frustrating when we learned Ray had received a bare professional stipend for a little night club appearance in Texas, I believe. So nothing happened. Mail response on Sullivan's show will determine whether Ray rates another booking.

I UNDERSTAND THERE'S BEEN a shake-up on Betty White's writing staff and that ex-Fibber and Molly scripter, Don Quinn, has been called in . . . Those show-cost figures which Weekly Variety periodically publishes are most interesting. Chevy Show comes in around $160,000, Wide Wide World at 150 G's, Como at $135,000 and on down. (Bear in mind the length of each program when scanning figures.) Most telefilms run between $35,000 and $40,000. Less expensive are panel programs utilizing audience as "cast" in whole or part

TV'S YOUNGEST CASTING DIRECTOR

ONE of the least publicized and yet vital functions of the TV industry is that of an independent casting director. The youngest in this field and one of the most capable is 29-year-old Lynn Stalmaster (left).

Some of the top TV shows which he casts for include those starring (on the right from top to bottom) Richard Boone (Have Gun, Will Travel); Van Johnson (for his telecast of The Pied Piper of Hamelin); James Arness (Gunsmoke); Lyle Bettger (The Court of Last Resort); and John Bromfield (The Sheriff of Cochise).

As Lynn describes it:

"I try to employ a philosophy of casting that seeks to find, by means of thorough searching, thinking actors who bring an authenticity to each story through fresh, thoughtful portrayals. A painstaking effort is also made to uncover new talent and also to give opportunities to experienced artists to play a variety of characters rather than be limited to a narrow and frustrating path."

PRO FOOTBALL

The world of sports has done most to erase prejudice and provide a sense of belonging and spirit through competition. The Olympics are perfect examples of brotherhood among nations when the same aims fail in the world of politics.

In professional sports, a common bond exists between contestants, much stronger than collegiate athletes enjoy. Perhaps the reason is due to the fact that their relationship depends upon success and real team effort. Although they are paid for their talents, the income is the primary means for their family's support and a so-called "star" or individual performer cannot exist in this world.

For years two men in the National Hockey League skated side-by-side and etched their names among the all-time greats of the game. They led the Detroit Redwings to championships and both were the offensive Mickey Mantles of the sport when it came time to choose the all-star teams.

After many seasons together, Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay became separated this year when the latter was traded to the Chicago Blackhawks. And today (Sat. Dec. 21) they face each other as opponents on the ice when the two teams clash on "Pro Hockey" which will be telecast 'live' from Chicago on KNXT.

Being true athletes, they will admire each others tremendous abilities, but it will be interesting to watch their team spirit — now aimed in opposite directions — as they line-up against each other and play the "fastest game in the world."

Channel 2 will present several outstanding sports telecasts over the weekend. Immediately following the Chicago-Detroit hockey game, KNXT Sports Director Gil Stratton will emcee the Special Sports Award program honoring the Athlete of the Year. The 1957 winner is Sam Hanks, the Indianapolis "500" victor and the biggest money winner in the history of auto racing.

On Sunday, (Dec. 22), KNXT closes out its regular National Football League telecasts with the final game of the season between the Pittsburgh Steelers and Chicago Cardinals starting at 11:00 A.M. Following the game on "Extra Point", Fred Hessler will interview Los Angeles Rams Business Manager Bill John about attendance, the ticket situation for 1958, and the equipment used by the players.

Fred Beck says:

"DRINK UP! THE WATER'S FINE!"

Last night I drank quite a lot of water, and it impressed me very much. I would like to offer some observations about water drinking.

We had worked our way down to the end of a baked ham at our house and Neill (my wife, and it's a boy's name) served the ham smothered in Koldkist Chili — FRESH Frozen Chili. Real good.

The Koldkist Chili, so savory and good, had no ill effects on me but in the middle of the night I awoke gasping for water. (The ham.)

I bumped my way downstairs and stumbled toward the Sparkletts gurgler — I do wish Neill would learn to shove the ironing board back up into its slot — and I want to tell you that when you are very thirsty water tastes very good. But suddenly, as you drink it, maybe at the half way point in your second glassful, its taste changes. Have you too noticed this?

Water tastes fine until you are suddenly no longer thirsty. It changes taste the split second you've had enough.

Of all the things we drink and eat water alone has been endowed by nature with this unique characteristic.

The good flavor of many foods causes people to eat more than they really need — and for this we at Koldkist give at least three cheers. We know people eat more of our FRESH frozen foods and meat products than they really need. We like it this way.

May I suggest for tonight's dinner at your house Koldkist Sirloin Tips and Mushrooms with Sauce? You'll enjoy every single tender flavorful bite — way beyond the point of where you eat merely enough to subsist on.

And who wants merely to subsist when one of life's pleasures is the well being of being fully fed? This is the feasting season — and while turkey is still king of the holiday table you won't want turkey every day so let KoldKist help out. There's the chop suey and the beef stew . . . eleven wonderful fresh frozen specialties in all.

If you don't see KoldKist in the freezers at your market call for the Kold Klerk, and ask him how come. He'll probably point it out, right under your nose.

THIS is the time of the year when producers of TV shows look anxiously over their shoulders and peer into the glaring eyes of their sponsors. This is when a smile or a frown can be a light in the darkness or a catastrophe. This is when some shows will shake with cancellation quivers while others will don more vitamins bravely. But, from most reports, it does seem that of the new offerings, Have Gun, Will Travel, and Maverick are in the healthiest state. The rest of the shows leading the pack are the old standbys, like Gunsmoke, Wells Fargo, Wyatt Earp, Ed Sullivan, Jack Benny, and Danny Thomas. Its' amazing how fast Danny has moved ahead. The new time slot was apparently the answer, for now he has the ranking situation comedy on TV. This must be gratifying to Mr. T. after his years of trying to make a dent with this amusing show. It's always been a good offering, but apparently a good many are just finding that out.

Stan Kenton is really out to prove something. He opened his Rendezvous Ballroom at Balboa last week-end. It was a daring thing to do considering that Balboa is thought to be primarily a summer resort and that the band business was supposedly not so healthy these days. But at a party he gave recently he was telling Bob Crosby and others that he felt TV had not wiped out band business, but that it might even have been a boost to the boys with the bands. At any rate, his experiment will be interesting to watch. Most young people have no place to go on dates here so the Rendezvous might just be their answer.

Odds and Ends: Lorraine Bendix blasted into Life of Riley like a fresh gust of wind and when she was through she had added a zestful new kind of brash comedy for TV. It's a cinch her character of Awful Annie will be around for quite a while . . . Shawn Meany who was on KHJ-TV a while back, is now back hosting two more shows: Bishop Sheen and Crusade in the Pacific . . . Allyn Joslyn adds a lot of spark to the Eve Arden show, but, of course, he has made a career out of sparking all kinds of productions . . . Commercials for the new cars are getting to be about as nauseating as the commercials for body odors and cigarettes. Speaking of cigarettes, it's apparently vital now to be a song writer too if you're going to write ad copy for the smokies. Those jingles, for the most part, sound like they were designed purely out of old notes left over from songs that didn't sell.

Interesting remarks made by Gerald W. Tasker, v.p. of a big advertising agency. He claims that TV viewers are getting more critical and more selective in their viewing. This should come as no big surprise since for over a year there have been ample indications that the public is no longer taking just anything offered to them. Most of the people I've talked to speak mainly of just watching the old movies on TV. It would be interesting to see how loyal the viewers are to the old pictures as compared to their sustained interest in some of the top TV shows.

Still would like to see you all at the production of The Robe at the Music Box Theatre in Hollywood. This seems like exactly the right show for this Christmas season. Shopping, of course, is taking up a lot of everybody's time but this play can offer some spiritual food as well as entertainment.

This is the time of year when you are suddenly reminded again of all the people who have shown you such kindness during the rest of the year. It's easy to take such kindnesses as a matter of course and yet they shouldn't be so treated. Somehow thoughtfulness and consideration and kindness

IN olden days the letter preceding "M" in the alphabet was considered bad luck and that's why it doesn't appear in the felicitation, "Merry Christmas," and is also, of course, the derivation of the phrase, "Happy Noel." And that is what I wish all of you, with the admonition that if you're going to celebrate, drive carefully and avoid L.

"The Boy With Green Hair." (9) Beginning Dec. 23, 9:00. 1948. This film calls for a little imagination on the part of the viewer with a black and white TV set, because the crux of the story lies in a specific color, but if the imagination is put to work, I'm sure you'll find this a very enjoyable movie. Dean Stockwell is a young war orphan living in a small town with his grandfather, Pat O'Brien, and leading a normal life until he wakes up one morning to discover that he has green hair. At first, he revels in this new found glory, but as the townspeople ascribe unattractive attributes to him because he is "Different," he becomes unhappy. Finally, his head is shaved and it is not until he comes to realize that he is a symbol for world peace does he find satisfaction once more in being different. A charming, unpretentious picture and it is interesting to note that Stockwell, who now looks like James Dean, has recently garnered critical huzzahs for his performance in the new hit play, "Compulsion."

"Miracle on 34th Street." (2) Dec. 21, 10:00. 1947. Edmund Gwenn is hired as Santa Claus at Macy's in New York for the holidays, but instead of plugging the store's toys to the children, he makes up his own list and sends the children to whatever store happens to have their heart's desires . . . even if it be Gimbal's. Macy's is about to fire him when they discover that his actions have resulted in a wave of good will and that a happier and more prosperous Christmas is in store for everyone. Ultimately, however, the good man's behavior finds him committed to Bellevue, but a surprise ending to this sentimental movie puts things right and Maureen O'Hara and John Payne are united. Where did they come from? You got to have love interest . . . especially at Christmas.

"Keys of the Kingdom." (11) Dec. 22, 9:00. 1945. Adapted from A. J. Cronin's novel, this picture also pays tribute to the pure in heart, in this case a missionary priest who undergoes told hardships to establish a haven for the oppressed bodies and spirits of China. With Gregory Peck, Thomas Mitchell, Vincent Price and Roddy MacDowell, who has recently received critical huzzahs for his performance in the hit play, "Compulsion."

"Tales of Hoffman." (5) Dec. 24, 9:30. 1951. Produced by "Red Shoes" Pressburger and Powell, this version of the famous operetta features much of the same cast, including Moira Shearer, Leonide Massine, and Robert Helpmann, as well as Met baritone Robert Rounseville, and will appeal to those who appreciate art for art's sake . . . the visual effects are stunning.

"A Christmas Carol." (11) Dec. 24, 10:30. (2) Dec. 24, 11:00. "God Bless Us All" . . . the American version on KTTV and the English on KNXT. Same night, same time, so you can Cratchit on either station.

"Romance of the Redwoods." (5) Dec. 23, 10:30. What a dirty twig. We wanted to make an airplane out of an Xmas tree just to see the fir fly, but you sold us a pear tree with a partridge in it, and just part of a ridge makes us quail . . . I've never been sycamore in my life . . . you're no frond of mine . . . eucalyptus once but you'll never do it again . . . that ought to teak me a lesson . . . I'd as leaf go out and get trunk on eggnog and branch water. Oak?

THE BELLY LAUGH

What's become of the old-fashioned belly laugh that rattled the rafters in vaudeville palaces from Peoria to Pawtucket? "It died a slow death with the last kick of Fink's mules and the burial of burlesque," says KNX Radio's morning entertainer Bob Crane.

"There are too many taboos on comedy today," Crane believes. "People are reluctant to kid about politics and their mothers-in-law since today's moderns are a more sophisticated group who by and large appreciate the chuckle and smile."

Turning the clock back, Crane says, "The guffaw was associated with an era when people were relaxed and problems of the world seemed insignificant," theorizes Crane. "That type of laughter is a thing of the past except for some nightclub performers who appear in a medium where there are little restrictions on comedy."

What do radio listeners like in their comedy today?

Crane says he strives for "little cute remarks, situations which people associate with themselves, slightly exaggerated to tickle the funny bone."

People in their homes regard radio as a friend," says Crane. "How many times do you get a roaring guffaw from your next door neighbor?"

MYRON BENNETT ON KFI

To the popular homespun philosopher, Myron S. Bennett, KFI has given the 4:15 to 4:55 weekday spot filled so many years by the late Burrirt Wheeler.

Myron, well known to TV audiences in Southern California as "MJB," has had a varied career as disc jockey, writer, radio commentator, radio station owner and head of an advertising agency. He was also a member of the Air Force for 41 months and at one time ran for the governorship of Iowa—being defeated by a very small margin. Politics' loss was radio's gain, for as far back as 1929 "MJB" has been an outstanding personality.

Perhaps because of his genuine desire to give pleasure and laughter, or his sympathetic understanding of people's problems, Myron's audience invariably responds to him. His anecdotes and his perceptive commentary on the world and the people around him, the main ingredients of his program, have built for Myron a large and loyal following.

TV SLEEPER

The Real McCoys, starring Walter Brennan on KABC-TV, is the "sleeper" of a TV season that has seen few hits.

Twice in the past three weeks The McCoys has scored a higher Trendex than "Climax," its opposition on CBS, and has breathed hard on the neck of "Dragnet," its competition on NBC. The McCoys Trendex for November was 17.1, compared to 15.2 for "Climax" and 18.1 for "Dragnet."

The Real McCoys is not a Western. It is a situation comedy about a family that has moved west, to a farm in California.

LINEUP OF THE STRONG KMPC sports team that brought to Southern California listeners all broadcasts of Los Angeles Ram football games both at home and on the road includes, Dick Nelson, engineer, Bill Brundige, color, Bob Kelley, play by play and Jim Healy, spotting.

KMPC DIRECTOR OF SPORTS Bob Kelley seems dazed as one of the opponents of the Los Angeles Rams rips off a long gain against the Los Angeles club. Kelley along with Bill Brundige broadcast all Ram football contests over 50,000 Watt KMPC.

BILL BRUNDIGE is part of the hard hitting KMPC sports team that brought to KMPC listeners all the exciting play by play action of the Los Angeles Ram football games both at home and on the road. Here Bill takes time out during a lull in a recent contest from the Los Angeles Coliseum.

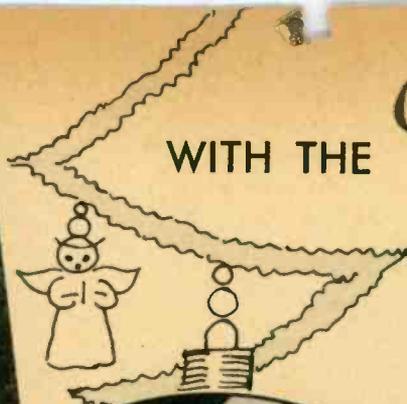

BILL BRUNDIGE (L) chats with Los Angeles Ram full back "Tank" Younger one of the National Football League's all-time greats as KMPC Director of Sports Bob Kelley looks approvingly on.

ITS OL'KELL OF KMPC that brings to Southern California listeners the direct play by play accounts of all Los Angeles Ram football games both from the Los Angeles Coliseum and games played on the road. Here Kelley gets up for a breather at half time of a recent contest from the Coliseum.

BILL WILLIAMS (Gus Angel on the ABC-TV series) will get a chance to dream and live a White Christmas this year—a Betty White Christmas, that is. At the Angel home on the Desilu set he helps wife Vickie (Miss White) wrap some packages for their favorite friends.

RIDES THE RANGE

Jimmy Stewart takes to the helm as well as grease paint when he directs and acts in the special Christmas show, "The Trail to Christmas," a free translation of "A Christmas Carol."

SOME PEOPLE did a big gasp when they heard that Dickens' favorite, "A Christmas Carol" was to be done as a western on GE Theatre. They moaned, "This is carrying the western fever too far."

However, the idea to do this story via the range was not the result of the current abundance of wide-open-spaces-operas. It was actually done some years ago — as a radio show.

This one, called "The Trail to Christmas," stars Jimmy Stewart, who also directs. And this is one of his pet projects and one of his few appearances on TV.

"The story of 'The Trail to Christmas' was done several years back on radio when I did 'The Six shooter' series," Jimmy said on the set of the Hitchcock film at Paramount, 'Vertigo'. "The idea for transforming 'A Christmas Carol' into a sagebrush offering came from Frank Burt, who wrote the series.

"Actually, the story lent itself very effectively to a western treatment. In it I play Britt Ponset, a cowboy who tells the story of 'A Christmas Carol' to a boy who is running away from home. However, the characters in the story are all western.

TV A Challenge

"This was my first attempt at being a director and I really got a big thrill out of it. TV is, let's face it, very challenging. You have so little time to do a job and if you want to give it the best of quality, you have to meet a real challenge. I can only say I hope we have met it.

"I don't actually know what kind of place I have in TV or what job I will do but I'm anxious to find out. So far I've used the medium like I did radio — sparingly and to time appearances with special things, like the opening of a new picture.

"Naturally, my interests are first with motion pictures. They have to be since I'm a motion picture actor and have been for some time. I will probably go on being one too. At least, after I finish this picture with Alfred Hitchcock I have a picture to do at Columbia and one at Warners which will keep me busy for a few months."

With Jimmy Stewart at the helm of "The Trail to Christmas," the fondest Dickens-lover should rest more easily. He is quite apt to make the whole idea not only palatable but actually thoroughly enjoyable.

It will at least be different to see Scrooge in boots and a 10 gallon hat.

SEEING DOUBLE

Australia's delegates to Hollywood and
KTLA are Down Under Cowboy Twins
Tom and Ted LeGarde

IDENTICAL TWINS Tom and Ted LeGarde are practically indistinguishable from one another. Which one is which? Even the photographer doesn't know.

IT WASN'T actually a very hard decision to make. It was just a question of which they wanted most: a Cadillac or a boat ride. Cadillacs are scarce in Australia and the Le Garde Twins had had their hearts set on owning one. They had worked for six months as singers and rough riders in a traveling circus, performing to audiences across the great 'Down Under' continent.

When they arrived in Sidney, they rounded up a radio show on the government-operated station and enrolled in a drama school. At the end of a year they thought themselves ready for the big choice. What's it going to be, a car or a visa? They chose to put their money into a pair of tickets and, with their guitars in hand, boarded a boat for San Francisco and, ultimately, Hollywood.

Like all new faces who arrive in Hollywood, they made the rounds of the agents and casting directors, the producers and booking offices but to no avail. Then, one night, while they were attending a meeting of the Hollywood Christian Group, they met Wally Polacci and things started to happen. Roy Rogers, who had toured Australia with the twins, introduced them to Wally. Wally liked the twins and they liked him. They asked him to manage them. He did. He arranged a tour up and down the California coast so that they could meet and perform before American audiences. When he felt that the time was right, the twins auditioned for Cliffie Stone's Hometown Jamboree.

They appeared on Cliffie's show, then put in an appearance on Morey Amsterdam's late night KTLA stint. The result was fantastic! The KTLA switchboard lit up and extra operators had to be pressed into duty to take care of the enthusiastic calls. That was enough for the KTLA management. They immediately signed the twins to an exclusive contract and, with Wally supervising, proceeded to build a daily show around them. The result: the Monday through Friday "Double Time" show and the Le Garde Twins Time program Friday nights.

Ted and Tom are real identical twins. Both are 155 lbs., standing 5' 8½" and were raised in the Bush country of Australia on a sugar cane farm until they were fifteen. As teenagers they went to a 200,000 acre ranch, known as a 'cattle station' Down Under, to learn animal husbandry. They went complete with record player, western records and a guitar. One year later, the twins had become expert horsemen, trick shots, bull whip artists and a singing team. When they were only 16, they began the rodeo tour which brought them to Sidney and eventually to Los Angeles.

Although the Le Gardé twins are only now becoming known in California, they are stars in their own right in Australia where they were a big attraction at Agricultural Shows, or what is known here as County Fairs. While performing as rough riders and western singers, Tom and Ted toured with such well known American stars as Roy Rogers and Hopalong Cassidy (Bill Boyd) when they performed across the continent.

Meetings with such outstanding Western entertainers and listening to their descriptions of America were what actually convinced them that they should make the 20 day voyage across the Pacific.

Since gaining these shores they have worked hard for what success that have achieved and report, quite fervently, that "America is, indeed, the land of opportunity."

DOWN UNDER, The LeGarde twins, Tom and Ted, toured as rough riders and singers along the rodeo circuit with such well known American Western stars as Roy Rogers and Hopalong Cassidy.

HOPALONG helped Tom and Ted make up their minds to travel to America with his glowing descriptions of the American Southwest. Hoppy met the twins on one of his Australian tours.
