Cumulus' Lew Dickey On Chicks, Indies, More

■ by Phyllis Stark

Lew Dickey says he was recently "ambushed" on Capitol Hill.

The chairman/CEO of Atlanta-based Cumulus Media agreed, based on "strong urging" from the staff of Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz., to participate in a July 8 congressional hearing to discuss radio market definitions as they relate to the FCC's recently revised broadcast ownership rules.

"That's what I went in there prepared to talk about," Dickey says. What happened next, he says, was "basically an ambush," with "two hours of grilling on something that was relatively senseless."

That "something" was Cumulus' widely reported corporate decision not to play the Dixie Chicks on any of its country stations for a time after Chicks singer Natalie Maines remarked to a London concert audience that she was ashamed that President Bush is from her home state of Texas.

Dickey was also surprised when Chicks manager Simon Renshaw was brought in to testify. "He was more of a prop than anything," Dickey says of Renshaw. "He didn't really say much.

"We were accused of having a political agenda, but it was clear the only political agenda was theirs," he says, referring to the lawmakers grilling him at the hearing.

Dickey says the fact that his top 40s continued to play the Chicks throughout the controversy is evidence that Cumulus had "no political agenda" against the band. "We were merely responding to what the listeners wanted us to do." Once the furor died down, he notes, Cumulus chose to resume country airplay for the group.

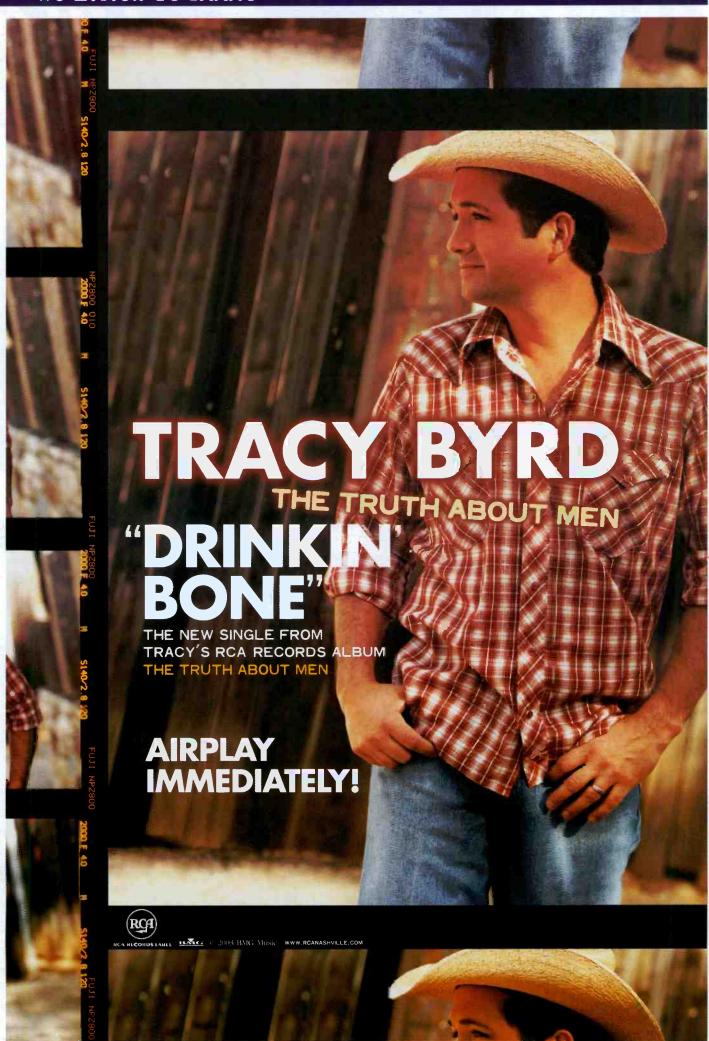

Dickey says some of the remarks made by members of Congress at the hearing "smacked of hypocrisy. They were not making principled arguments. If they were really concerned about First Amendment rights, there should have been the same outrage about [talk hosts] Dr. Laura and Michael Savage losing their [TV] shows [for antigay remarks]. It suited their agendas and therefore they remained silent."

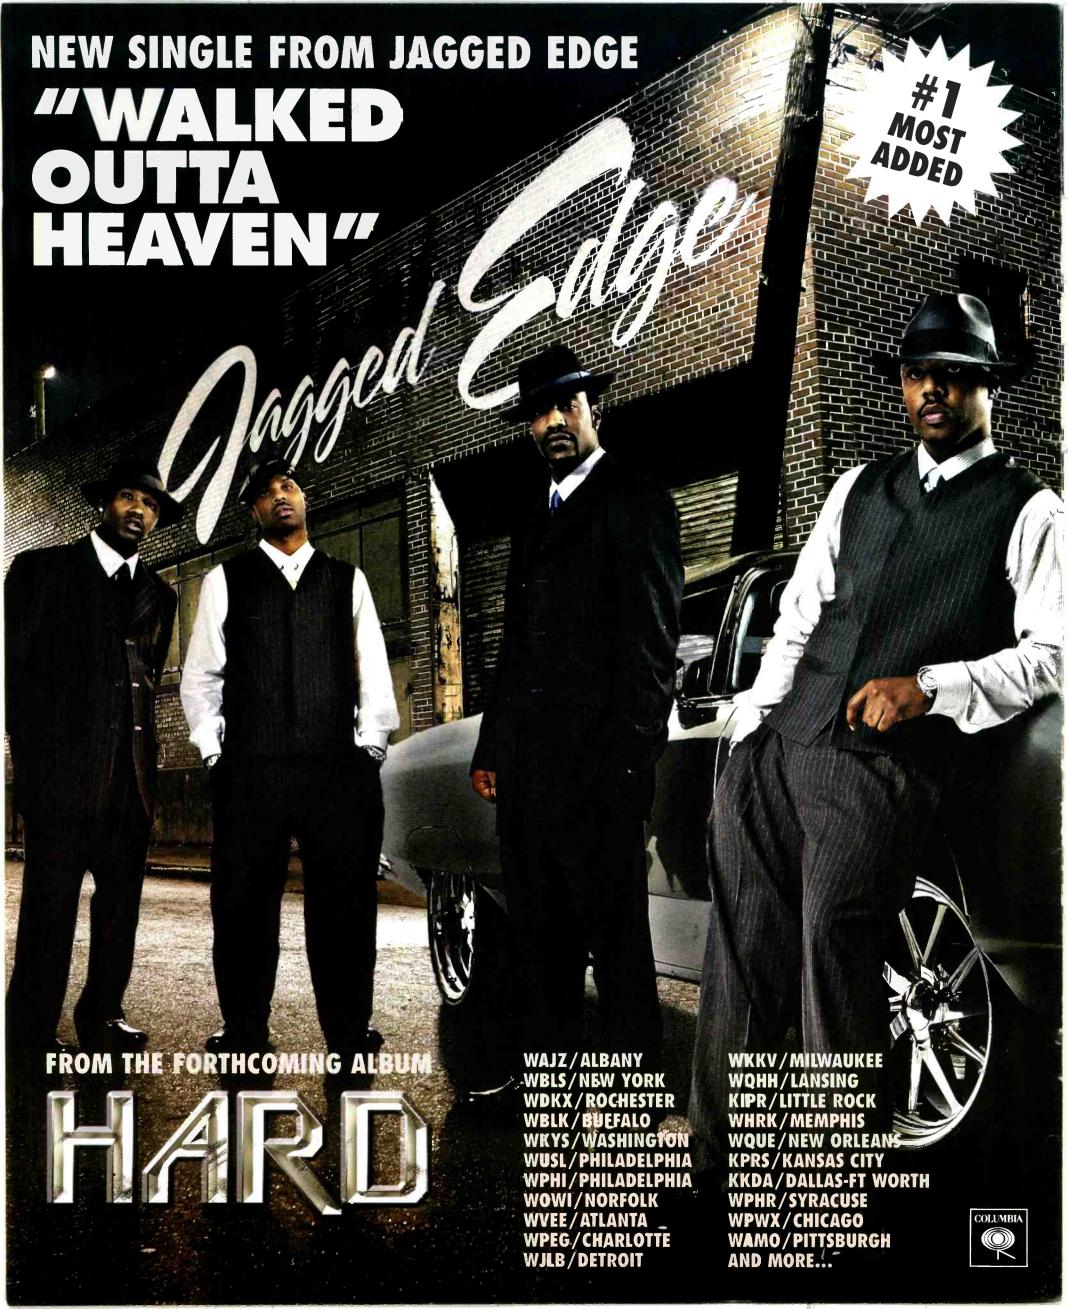

WHO REALLY CHOSE?

At the hearing, Dickey maintained that the decision to drop the Chicks was a result of a groundswell of negative reaction from the audience, bubbling up to the individual programmers, who then came to corporate for direction.

"Their gut told them what to do," he says, "but they were looking for some guidance and that's merely all we did. We provided our guys with a framework. The involvement from corporate was to help our guys on a local level make a decision. It was never dictated from corporate based on management's political agenda."

House Votes On FCC Rules

The House of Representatives voted 400 to 21 July 23 to scale back the June 2 revision of the FCC's ownership rules. The legislation was part of a spending bill that would prevent the agency from enforcing the new rule that would allow a TV broadcaster to own local stations that collectively reach 45% of the national audience.

The Bush administration has threatened to veto such a large, multi-agency spending bill if it contains FCC rollback language, but Billboard reports that Washington, D.C., insiders doubt Bush would follow through.

In addition, Sens. Byron L. Dorgan, D-N.D., and Trent Lott, R-Miss., have spelled out their timetable for initiating a little-used "resolution of disapproval" that would effectively veto the FCC rules. The senators said they would start the clock on the procedure when lawmakers return in September. They also said that if the resolution is approved in the Senate but held up by Republican leaders in the House, they would try to nix the FCC rules by chopping commission funding in a Senate spending bill so the agency could not enforce them.

But some feel that the FCC didn't go far enough with the new rules. The National Assn. of Broadcasters has announced that it will go to court in two weeks alleging that the FCC should have eliminated the duopoly rule in small markets and should not replace its traditional overlap contour measurements for determining markets by replacing them with Arbitron definitions. NAB spokesman Dennis Wharton says, "It's causing a great deal of uncertainty among small owners.

For his part, in a July 28 New York Times opinion piece, FCC chairman Michael K. Powell cites a "lack of consensus and even some basic misunderstandings" on the part of Congress.

Meanwhile, a Department of Justice witness at a House antitrust panel July 24 told Rep. Howard Berman, D-Cal., and other lawmakers that DOI is still conducting an "open investigation" into Clear Channel Communications, Billboard has also learned that a DOJ investigator has contacted the Recording Artists' Coalition for input. Andrew Levin, Clear Channel senior VP for government affairs, states, "We are cooperating fully with all DOJ requests, and we are confident the DOJ will find, as it has in the past, that our company is managed with the highest degree of integrity.

And following a recent "open letter" that accused Cox Radio of denying commercial time to clients who also advertised on its R&B WMIB

Kix 96 Goes Global

(the Beat) Miami, Clear Channel/Miami issued a second letter July 23 declaring that "after further review and discussion with senior management at Cox Radio, we have concluded that the issues addressed in our 'open letter' appear to be isolated incidents and not part of an approved Cox sales policy," the new letter says. Cox GM Jerry Rushin told Monitor last week that there was not a hint of truth" in the allegations.

A Fourth Modern No. 1 For WB

Linkin Park's "Faint" gives Warner Bros. its fourth modern rock No. 1 of 2003. It's the first time that a label has achieved that distinction since Reprise did so in 1995 and only the seventh time since the chart's inception in 1988. Warner holds the record for most No. 1 tracks in a year with five in 1989. For Linkin Park, "Faint" is its third chart-topper since December 2001—more than any other act in that time frame.

It sounds a lot like the early '90s at AC this week, as Simply Red returns to the charts more than a decade after 1992's "For Your Babies" with "Sunrise" (simplyred.com). At the same time, Amy Grant debuts for the first time in nearly five years with "Simple Things" (A&M/Interscope), which earns Most Airplay Adds this week. Grant's "I Will Remember You" charted at the same time as "For Your Babies." Daryl Hall & John Oates, whose "I Can't Go for That (No Can Do)" gives "Sunrise" its sample, are doubly represented at AC this week with "Man on a Mission" and Hall's solo "Cab Driver."

Speaking of veteran artists, collaborating with Alan Jackson gives Jimmy Buffett his first country No. 1 this week with "It's Five O'Clock Somewhere." It's Jackson's 21st country No. 1. The ranking also gives Arista Nashville its first back-to-back chart-toppers since October 2001.

Travis Tritt's "Lonesome, On'ry and Mean" (RCA) is his second country chart hit from a tribute album. His remake of the Eagles' "Take It Easy" peaked at No. 21 in March 1994 from "Common Thread" but has become a library staple for many stations, which belies its peak position.

Anthony Hamilton, who is scheduled to perform at this year's Billboard R&B/Hip-Hop Awards Aug. 8 in Miami, debuts on the adult R&B chart with "Comin' From Where I'm From" (So So Def/Arista). Hamilton went to No. 12 on the R&B/hip-hop chart as a featured artist on "Po' Folks" by Nappy Roots—who are also set to perform.

Following the consolidation of Columbia and Epic's R&B promo staffs, the distributing label on all related titles is now SUM (Sony Urban Music) on the R&B/hip-hop and adult R&B charts.

610 AM for now. The staff remains intact and will switch over to the frequency of jazz KCIY.

VP of music programming Joel Salkowitz is named VP of programming operations at Sirius Satellite Radio. His appointment follows the departure of nine programmers of various Sirius channels, including Jerry Rubino (modern rock), Ken Spellman (R&B/hip-hop), Steve Warren and lim Kressler (country). Don Kave (album rock), Dennis Falcone (oldies), Lino Iglesias (Spanish) and Michael Anderson (blues).

R&B CFXJ (Flow 93.5) Toronto promotes MD/afternoon host Wayne Williams to PD, replacing Kevin Fox. Justin Dumont, formerly of defunct top 40 CING, joins CFXJ as MD.

Clear Channel's N/T KOTK Portland, Ore. flips to pre-Beatles oldies as "Super 62" under AC KKCW/classic hits KRVO PD Bill Minckler.

AC WMTX (Mix 100.7) Tampa, Fla., PD Tony Florentino will transfer to an as-yet-undetermined post within Clear Channel.

Former KFMS Las Vegas PD Rik McNeil returns to that Clear Channel cluster as APD/MD/afternoon host for oldies KOOL (Kool 93.1).

Album WIOT Toledo, Ohio, PD/afternoon host Dave Rossi returns to Charleston, S.C., as PD of modern WAVF. He replaces Greg Patrick, who can be reached at 843-278-0743.

New sign-on WHIT Madison, Wis., debuts with classic hits as "the Lake" under new PD/middayer Mark Van Allen, former APD of AC sister WMGN.

Country WCYK Charlottesville, Va., morning co-host Angie Logan is upped to PD at sister adult top 40 WUMX/top 40 WHTE.

PEOPLE: KNOU GETS NICE

R&B KNOU (Hot 104.5) New Orleans hires P/T Rob Nice from crosstown R&B WQUE for middays. Jigga J.T. also joins KNOU for nights from KRRV Alexandria, La. Downtown Leslie Brown shifts from nights to late nights.

R&B KMJJ (99.7 Jamz) Shreveport, La., MD G.Q. Riley relinquishes stripes to PD Long John but remains in late nights.

Former WKIE Chicago morning man Jeffrey T. Mason takes mornings at '80s gold WGRL Indianapolis . . . Album KDKB Phoenix MD/afternooner Dock Ellis exits for video production.

KBKS Seattle taps Keola Boy from afternoons at KCHZ Kansas City for nights, replacing Candy & Jerry. Overnighter Jeff Connell goes to late nights, replaced by afternoon traffic host Kaci Aitchison.

LINKIN PARK

At R&B WXHT (Hot 103.9) Columbia, S.C., longtime APD Harold Banks exits.

Top 40 WDCG (G105) Raleigh, N.C., middayer Chase is upped to APD/afternoon host as PD Chris Edge goes to middays. APD/MD Andie Summers joins the sales department.

Modern WEDG Buffalo, N.Y., promo director Dawn Fox exits. At rhythmic top 40 sister CKEY, Tiffany Barbalato becomes promo director.

Sorry to report that voice-over talent/former adult R&B WHUR Washington, D.C., overnight host Felicia Ledesma died of a heart attack July 20. Ledesma was last heard as a promo voice on XM Satellite Radio's Soul Street channel.

Monitor's Guynn Exits

Airplay Monitor publisher Jon Guynn will resign from his post Aug. 8 to pursue other interests. Guynn, who was one of the magazine's founders, has been publisher since February 1998.

Former Arista Records senior VP Lionel Ridenour will head the R&B music division at Virgin Records.

The Recording Industry Assn. of America has named Mitch Bainwol-former chief of staff to U.S. Senate Majority Leader Bill Frist, R-Tenn.—as chairman/CEO. Bainwol, whose appointment is effective Sept. 1, replaces Hilary Rosen. Bainwol currently runs lobbying firm the Bainwol Group.

Atlanta-based Warner Bros. Nashville regional Chuck Thagard exits . . . Allison Smith joins Asylum/Curb in Nashville as promotion coordinator. She was with the Gorfaine/Schwartz Agency in Los Angeles.

A woman who lost both her husband and her 19-year-old son over the course of a year is told that her son's motorcycle crash happened because he swerved to avoid hitting a "large hairy dog." Later, her daughter gets in touch with witnesses who confirm that such an animal was, indeed, milling around the accident scene—information that hadn't been given to the family by the police.

Another woman calls looking to reestablish contact with her late parents. She's told that their spirits will stay within the family, inhabiting the bodies of her newborn kids. Another caller is told that the son she lost came back through a later child.

It's not your typical love songs program. It's "Angels in Waiting," the show that has been occupying three hours of AC KOST Los Angeles' Sunday-night edition of "Love Songs on the KOST" show since May. The brainchild of KOST weekender (and former overnighter) Shaun Valentine, the show offers listeners the opportunity to communicate with their dearly departed through a medium. And even if you view that premise cynically, "if Web site hits and request line calls mean anything," Clear Channel/Los Angeles director of AC programming Jhani Kaye says, "this is going to be huge.

"Words can't express how this has taken off.

Since May 18, I've gotten nearly 4,000 hits on our Web site. We're so backed up on e-mails that it's beyond belief," Valentine says. Kaye adds that the show "just might become the next incarnation of 'Love Songs,' "literally.

Valentine has been formulating the show since 1988, when he became a fan of medium

James Van Praagh, who came to N/T sister KFI for an appearance. Valentine grabbed his copy of Van Praagh's book, headed down to the studio and "asked him if he would be interested in doing KOST." Nothing happened immediately, but "as I kept hosting 'Love Songs,' people kept calling in and saving, 'I miss my husband. Can you play a song for him?' That's when I thought, 'Why don't we have a medium so we can dedicate the song to the actual spirit on the other side.

"I didn't pursue the show until late last year. None of my colleagues nor I ever thought that Ihani would go for it. But lo and behold, he was willing to talk about it, and he gave me the OK. Then I began the research on finding the right mediums for the show." Valentine says. The show was initially supposed to take two hours of the "Love Songs" slot but was quickly expanded to three.

Seattle-based Dennis Jackson is what Valentine jokingly calls the show's Kato Kaelin, or the "guest house medium." But there is also a panel of other mediums that rotates through other weeks. "I didn't know any of these people" at the outset, Valentine says. "I just began researching them on the Internet.

A SPIRITED THREE HOURS

Valentine typically takes four phone calls at a time, punctuated by one or two songs.

Callers have typically been pre-selected from the show's abundance of e-mails and preedited. "It's a very fast show," he says. "It typically goes 100 miles an hour."

Valentine says that finding the appropriate music for the show is "sometimes very hard. It's a lot harder to find songs for this show than a regular 'Love Songs' show." Not surprisingly, the show's top three requests are "Wind Beneath My Wings" by Bette Midler, "Angel" by Sarah McLachlan and Eric Clapton's "Tears in Heaven." But, Valentine emphasizes, there's also uptempo music-such as Janet Jackson's "Together Again"that fits. And "we don't end up playing just death songs. We play love songs. We play new hits. It's not just sad, depressing love songs.

Kaye, Valentine says, "has given me a lot of leeway musically." When a medium kept focusing on the word "heartbreak," prompting a caller to reveal that "Heartbreak Hotel" had been played at her father's funeral, it was Kave who told Valentine the next day that he should have broken format to play Elvis. "Ihani has really opened the door for me through his guidance," Valentine says. "He has done a lot and has been coaching me throughout.

While it might present a challenge to keep three hours of bereaved callers positive, "it ends up being that way," Valentine says. "Usually you have somebody who's looking for answers: why they lost their loved one. And the answer comes from the spirit saving, 'This is the way it works. You come and go at a certain time, and this was my time.' Listeners grieve because they don't see somebody. But this show gives them hope.

"We have a phrase that sums up the idea of the show: 'There's no greater pain than to lose a loved one, yet there's no greater gift than to know that they're still around.'

THE UNSEEN ENGINEER

Counseling one person on his or her loss can be draining. So what is it like dealing with the bereaved for three hours? "By the end of the night. I'm not just overwhelmed by the messages coming through but mentally and physically exhausted," Valentine says. "But the thrill of how these people are being touched call after call stavs with me for the whole week and for months at a time."

And some of those "unforgettable moments" are personal. "I've had a lot of strange things happen on the air," Valentine says. One of those, he recalls, was seeing control knobs that were out of his reach start moving. "I think it was one of the kids who we were trying to reach coming through," he says. "It was a young brother who passed, and I think he started playing with the knobs." Valentine also says that the first time he talked to Jackson, friends and family spirits started to come through, and it just blew my mind."

There's also a coincidence involving the show's title. Valentine wasn't aware of the 2001 country hit by Tammy Cochran-inspired by Programmers weigh in on Monitor's recent finding that playlist duplication among Clear Channel's top 40 stations was about 65%, considerably less than what many critics expected.

The music is only part of the puzzle.

What about the imaging? [It] sounds the same on so many stations. How many times can you hear Sandy Thomas' voice in the same filter?

What about the voice-tracking and syndicated morning shows that are not local? That's the cookie cutter [stuff].

It's more than just the music.

I just finished reading your cover story about the amount of duplication on Clear Channel's top 40 stations. Thanks very much for the first fair and balanced article I've read on this topic. I'd also agree with the unnamed observer in your last paragraph who pointed out that identical imaging (not to mention nationwide contests) are the real culprits when it comes to perceived homogenization.

Frank Bell VP of programming Keymarket Communications, Pittsburgh And on the subject of whether stations should use Radio Broadcast Data System (RBDS) technology to offer visual song info .

I have to say, "Amen!" Forget radio for a minute-remember when DirecTV (and/or Dish Network) arrived? They offered more channels and information about the channels than regular cable. We didn't always have the TV listings and specific information about each show at our fingertips. Of course now, most cable systems have adapted and added most if not all of these features.

As you mentioned in your article, XM and Sirius (and Internet stations, for that matter) run title and artist on every song. I believe, as you do, that more information about the artist and song titles will lead to more interest and therefore more sales.

So why don't more radio stations use the RBDS technology? Is it because most radios today don't utilize it? I have a 2002 Chevy van that has it, and only one station in the area uses it for messages-most only put a positioning statement and/or call letters.

the cystic fibrosis death of her two brothersthat uses the same name. He was looking to avoid the cliché of the word "beyond" and suggest the notion of friendly spirits that were available to comfort the living. He's hoping that the success of the show will prompt Sony Nashville, which recently parted ways with Cochran, to make an AC mix of the song available. He would also like to have Cochran on the show. perhaps to try and contact her brothers.

Because Los Angeles is one of the Clear Channel clusters that has continued to stream audio, the show's earthly audience extends well beyond the market. "A lot of friends and family are telling their friends and family that they can listen through the Web site," Valentine says. While any discussion of syndication is in the preliminary stages, the show seems like a natural, particularly for Clear Channel. "I want to reach out to as many people as I can," Valentine says. "So that would be wonderful.

"I'm just totally thrilled that I'm able to be a part of this incredible phenomenon that lets people know that even as you grieve as humans, the souls of your loved ones are OK, and they would love to see you be OK, too.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also recebulled if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for right and 20 weeks will generally not receive a builet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the All and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detect Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the fittime this week. A song with a gain in detections over the vious week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

H=Heavy (55+ Detections), M=Medium (25-54), L=Light (Under 25). Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience.

Initial impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Airplay Leaderboard ranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AIRPOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Refer to each format's Power Playlists page to see this week's Airplay Leaders. The initial impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song with as been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airpida and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airpiday Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songer each gianting detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Sangs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

"In a business where "Trust" & "Integrity" are often difficult descriptors to use, the AIR team has consistently been able to stand apart from industry stereotypes. I was skeptical in the early days, but their staff of pros has earned my confidence over the years by providing accurate, reliable information, & always being open to honest feedback. They know music, but more importantly, they get to know your radio station. I'm sure that's why they've been around this long!"

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage ioss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station down for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay and Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

H=Heavy (30+ Detections), M=Medium (15-29), L=Light (Under 15). Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience.

Initial impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Airplay Leaderboard ranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AIRPOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Refer to each format's Power Playlists page to see this week's Airplay Leaders. It indicates title earned HitPredictor status in research data provided by Promosquad.

ongs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a cultet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage por son interesting the process of the percentage loss in detections. Along that has been on the chart for more an 20 weeks will generally not receive a builet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Alrower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay not Audience Charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song legistering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a again in detections over the prelous week is placed first if ited with a song with a decline over the same period. When lied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song eing played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

H=Heavy (21+ Detections), M=Medium (14-20), L=Light (Under 14). Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. *# Initial impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Airplay Leaderboard ranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AIRPOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Refer to each format's Power Playlists page to see this week's Airplay Leaders.

Initial impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Airplay Leaderboardranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AIRPOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Air indicates title earned HitPredictor status in research data provided by Promosquad.

WRKS' New Local Morning Show Wakes Up To A Ratings Rise

WRKS (Kiss FM) New York morning host Jeff Foxx couldn't be happier these days. Displaced last year from mornings when WTJM (Jammin' 105.1) New York switched to R&B/hip-hop WWPR, Foxx returned to that daypart earlier this year when new Emmis/New York market manager Barry Mayo and his WRKS PD Toya Beasley decided to replace ABC's syndicated "Tom Joyner Morning Show" with the local "Kiss Wake Up Club." In the just-released spring Arbitron, WRKS was up 2.9-3.6 overall in mornings (from No. 12 to ninth) and 3.6-4.1 25-54 (from ninth to fifth).

Foxx, whose various stops include rival WBLS and a long run on WRKS in the late '80s and early '90s, was thankful for a chance to come home. "I always wanted to return to mornings after I left WRKS the first time, but no one asked. I never had the opportunity. I could have left the market, but I didn't want to. I've been here in New York since 1987 and I love it here—I couldn't see myself leaving this city.'

Foxx has found a team of familiar players with his original news host Bob Slade, longtime WRKS midday personality Shaila and New York native comedian Talent. "The chemistry has been in place since day one,' Foxx says. Shaila adds, "Being new at mornings, I feel more comfortable in the transition knowing both Bob and Jeff for so many years. It's also a great formula for the station because New Yorkers have known these two names for years.

SLADE

LOCAL WITH A PURPOSE

Foxx feels there's more to his mission at WRKS than just ratings. "With this show and the noise it's already making, we're on the way to bringing back what morning radio used to be. We're giving New Yorkers a locally produced, contemporary show that has the potential to cross over to a wider segment. Radio has become so fragmented that most jocks you'll hear today can't relate to a wide body of people. You literally wind up with kids on the air that can't articulate. I'm worried that many of these jocks will wind up as the 'Menudo' of broadcasting, where by 30 years old they'll be shown the door by this business because they haven't developed any other skills.

'It's not just about entertainment and fun," Foxx continues. "What happens when a talent has to speak on higher issues, like interviewing a seasoned politician? That is why some radio stations had to plug in TV stations on Sept. 11, 2001

For veteran WRKS news host

Slade, Sept. 11 was also a wake-up call. "I was the only newsperson in the building that morning. I did news for not only WRKS but for sister stations [hip-hop WQHT] Hot 97 and [smooth jazz WQCD] CD101.9," he recalls. "For many people, especially New Yorkers, it seemed like the world was coming to an end that day, and it serves as a reminder of what we're here for."

Slade continues, "I blame programmers and consultants who simply have researched information out of the picture as it relates to African-Americans. This is a personal medium. You can play songs anytime. You've got so many mediums for people to get their own damn songs. People want someone on the other end of their radio who can talk to them, relate to them. That's what we're about.'

ALL ABOUT NEW YORK

Foxx feels staying focused on what he calls "everything New York" will be the key to the show's success. "If you ever go to Kansas City as a New Yorker, for instance, you'll find eyes on you. You'll be spotted in a minute. New Yorkers and especially African-American New Yorkers carry a different attitude around. We're fast talkers, and we're fastpaced." Talent adds: "Just walking down the street in New York City is a learning experience, and people expect to see that experience on local TV and radio.'

Content-wise, Foxx thinks New York also enjoys the benefit of being a true melting pot. "There's an advantage doing radio here that doesn't exist everywhere else. When I worked in Chicago it was a very polarized town-very racially divided from social activity to politics. With New York City, it's about everybody. We all have fundamental > issues, like commuting, that we all have to deal with. White and black issues often take a back seat to other concerns on the table. That gives you a chance to expand your listener base.

Since going local, "the response has been bigger in terms of listener involvement than any experience I'd had doing mornings," Foxx says, "When you can do bits and features that your audience can participate in, you win them over much faster. I think New Yorkers were starved for basic, old-fashioned local radio. You can do anything with technology, and in some places it's needed. But if you can't put together a local show in New York, we've got a problem. There's no reason for radio to get that lazy. It's so nice to be working for true radio people now."

Morning team benchmarks include the "Crank It Up" series of prank calls: "If we have a phone interview scheduled, we'll call early and trick them," Foxx says. "We got Ron Isley good the other week and had him thinking he was talking to a groupie receptionist when it was really Shaila. Talent's 'Joken Word' is a takeoff on the spokenword poetry craze. Our Kiss Kids Line lets kids speak on issues they're concerned about. Parents are not allowed to break in, either. One morning we had kids call in and imitate their parents. That was huge. We also do an hourly 'What's Poppin' in the Papers' segment to keep listeners up on what's going on. If it's important enough, we'll stick with it for further discussion and calls.'

Talent, a veteran comedian with years of stage and TV experience, admits that the transition into full-time radio can be a challenge. "The problem for comedians is that many of us must be seen in order to be funny. That's not going over on the radio. Radio is about being verbal while maintaining the timing comedians are known for. The difference for me is that I've got 30 to 40 years of experience in these three people to help. That's not the case with every comedian who winds up on the radio."

While WRKS' music in the morning has not changed overall since the departure of Joyner, there are some differences. "We often sit down with Toya on music. There are those regional New York records that give us an advantage," Foxx says. "And we still have a syndicated morning competitor across town [WBLS' "Doug Banks Morning Show"] who can't hit those local records that serve as a weapon for us.

THESE ARE THE GOOD TIMES

So what's next? For Shaila, it's about continuing to superserve the morning show's listeners.

"With our target being females 30-44, I'll continue to be the female 'lion tamer.' While these guys are very female-friendly, I enjoy a chance to bring issues to the table with the emotion. I'm kind of the sister/mother of the crew.

Foxx looks forward to hitting the streets. We're already doing some great events, and I'm still playing my bass in local bands. I just finished a concert for listeners, and [producer/former Chic frontman] Nile Rodgers sat in with the band. He did all his old hits like 'Good Times' and even provided us with his own back-up singers. Shaila and Bob even joined us onstage for a song. That's what it's all about for me—a chance to really reach our audience on-air and in the streets.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a builtet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a builtet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

H-Heavy (45+ Detections), M=Medium (25-44), L=Light (Under 25). Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience.

Initial impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Airplay Leaderboard ranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AIRPOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Refer to each format's Power Playlists page to see this week's Airplay Leaders.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the stit time this week. A song with a again in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Cumulus' Lew Dickey On Chicks, Indies, More

Music Nashville March 17, less than a week after news of Maines' comments broke in the U.S.gives Cumulus executive VP John Dickey, Lew Dickey's brother, more of a catalyst role for dropping the Chicks. "Per my boss, John Dickey, all Dixie Chicks music will be removed from all 42 of our stations until further notice," Raleigh's letter said. "John is pretty upset over the irresponsible remarks made by Natalie. He feels that while she has the right to her opinion, she was an ambassador to our country while she was overseas and should have behaved accordingly

Later in the letter, Raleigh wrote, "I had intended on allowing the stations to go back to playing their music today, but as I said, John Dickey is still angry over their remarks and refuses to allow any Cumulus station to play their music until Natalie makes a public apology.

Lew Dickey says the memo "doesn't accurately characterize my understanding of how this went down. We are not arbiters of taste here in Atlanta.

"The country audience is an extremely patriotic group of people," Dickey adds. "What our listeners were telling us is that the remark made by [Maines] was very much contrary to the beliefs of the country audience. There was a tremendous disdain for the group as a result.

Dickey also notes that his stations twice aired, and heavily promoted, the group's interview with Bob Kingsley. In addition, "we reached out to the band and asked them to come on our airwaves. It wasn't, as Sen. Barbara Boxer, D-Calif., said, a 'Hollywood blacklist.' We wanted to create a dialogue between our listeners and the band, and they flat out refused to do so.'

Asked if Cumulus would respond the same way again if it had the situation to do over, Dickey says, "Of course we would."

At the recent Conclave radio convention in Minneapolis, Journal Broadcast Group president Carl Gardner said radio had been "vilified" at the hearings. For his part, Dickey thinks congressional leaders were "venting some frustration that certain members, particularly McCain, have with the industry leader," he says, referring to radio giant Clear Channel Communications, which was the focus of an earlier hearing. He thinks Congress is "kind of acting as if the industry leader is a proxy for all broadcast groups in their business practices, and that simply isn't true."

CONSOLIDATION'S POSITIVES

Dickey, who thought he was in D.C. to testify about radio consolidation, understandably has strong feelings on that subject as well.

"We feel consolidation has been very positive from our perspective," he says. Cumulus owns about 270 stations and recently closed on a few more in Nashville and Huntsville, Ala.

Before being acquired by Caunulus, Dickey says his stations "were not in a position to have the quality of programming or the amount of live and local content that they do today. When we consolidate we create some economies of scale, and that gives us an opportunity to invest more money in the product. We provide more choices for our listeners. We think we can provide a better entertainment experience to our listeners than [before consolidation]. We are able to put on a better-sounding product."

On June 2, the FCC eased some restrictions on ownership of newspaper and broadcast stations, a controversial decision that has since been publicly challenged by Congress. Despite the legislation, Dickey thinks the new rules relating to radio "will more than likely stand. I don't think you'll see congressional action have any impact on the radio portion of the rules, although he thinks some of the TV rules could be repealed.

Regardless of whether the radio rules stand, Dickey thinks the FCC's "change in market definition was a mistake." Not one that's going to hurt chains like Cumulus, which he says is "not a seller," or Clear Channel, but one that will impact "the small, independent operators and the disadvantaged stations.

"The small operators that played by the rules the FCC is now telling them that 'even though you played by the rules, grew your business and incurred some debt, you cannot sell that cluster [intact]. You have to divest certain stations in order to transfer [your business].

"Secondly, where it will have some negative impact is in the stations that are going to be divested. The class A FM on the fringe of the market is now treated the same as a flamethrowing class C in the middle of town, and that's unfortunate. If someone is going to divest, they're going to get rid of the fringe signals.'

For anyone who buys one, it will be difficult "to stand there with a stand-alone FM and try to make a go of it." Those stations, with the help of their sister stations, were the most likely to try unique formats. "The consequences of these [rule] changes will be a whole lot of orphan stations. From that perspective I think the rules are unfortunate, [but] that's your FCC at work."

Meanwhile, Dickey says Cumulus' plans are "to continue to acquire. We've done a half-billion dollars' worth of deals in the past 18 months, and we look to continue to be very active. We expect to be one of the last [chains] standing.

Dickey thinks the mainstream press has "an unspoken agenda with respect to radio consolidation," as evidenced by the scores of negative articles about his business published in the past several years. That bias, he alleges, "is being driven in large part by the Recording Industry Assn. of America.

Dickey believes radio needs to be more proactive about improving its own pubic relations. The radio bashing in the consumer press, he says, "is not unlike a political campaign where we've had a lot of negative ads run against us and we haven't responded. We have to respond to our critics, and we have to do so forcefully.

ADDRESSING INDIE PROMOTION

Another business practice that has generated bad press for radio for years is independent promotion. Cumulus has a centralized system for dealing with independent promoters, with exclusive indies retained by the company for its pop, R&B and country stations. Those indies

Let's Not Hide Country's Flaws

My amusement when I learned that the video for Rascal Flatts' new single, "I Melt" (Lyric Street), contained nudity also got me thinking about all the controversial things country music has dealt with over the years, most of which ended up being short-lived teapot tempests.

They included the terrible belly button phase some of the format's female artists put us through in the mid-'90s, Willie's wacky weed habit and his I.R.S. woes, the controversial "son of a bitch" lyric in the album version of the Charlie Daniels Band's "The Devil Went Down to Georgia," Ty Herndon's arrest in a Texas park, Tim McGraw and Kenny Chesney's infamous horse "borrowing" incident and the countless artists who

let booze and pills wreck their careers and ruin

I reminisced about Johnny PayCheck's jail sentence for shooting a fellow patron at a bar in Ohio, about Merle Haggard's prison time and about how stations banned Bill Anderson's disco-country "I Can't Wait Any Longer," some because it was suggestive and some because it was disco. I thought about the hoopla surrounding Lefty Frizzell's penchant for underage women, Dottie West's escapades with younger men, Waylon's well-documented troubles with drugs and Hank Williams Jr.'s onstage antics that occasionally included insulting concertgoers.

I wondered if Patsy Cline would play in modern-day Nashville as a cursing, flask-carrying bombshell who seldom worried about whom she might offend. And I knew for certain that we would never put up with Hank Williams in country music today, no matter how earth-shattering or life-altering his songs might be.

It took my breath away when I considered how quickly his music could be yanked off the nation's airwaves (perhaps permanently) today if TV cameras caught George Jones resisting arrest on a roadside in South Nashville. I thought about how tolerant the industry of yesteryear was of Tracy Lawrence's domestic troubles. I pondered how different things might have looked to Natalie Maines if she had told her London audience she was ashamed that Lyndon Johnson was from Texas during the Vietnam War, or how Merle Haggard might have responded to her if she had worn a shirt emblazoned with "F.U.M.H." in response to his patriotic "Fightin' Side of Me"

But this is not 1970, and we live in a far different world. A world where a hasty corporate mandate can virtually derail an artist's career over a simple difference of opinion and where the social structure seems to value the outrageous far more than the inspired.

Even though CMT has taken great pains to ensure no one in prime time gets to see Joe Don Rooney's tush, and GAC has banned the Rascal Flatts clip altogether, perhaps we would all be a little more excited about our business if we stopped working so hard to cover up those things that make our artists humanand ultimately more relatable to the audience we're so desperately trying to rally around our collective cause.

We might lose a few of the more squeamish customers along the way, but the ones that stay tuned might just be the seed stock for a new breed of country fan that will once again pay the price of admission to support country artists who are real people with real talents and yes, real flaws.

deal only with the company's corresponding format director, not with the individual PDs. Dickey refers to the system as "centralized quality control.

"We think records should be played because they sound good and will be well-received by our audience, not because of promotional hype and other consideration from independents. If that changes the [independent promoters'] business model, then that's a business model that needs to be changed. In all other industries, products sell based on their own merit."

Asked if labels are redirecting any of the money they previously spent on indies toward radio in the form of time buys to promote their music, Dickey replies, "Not really, and that's a huge mistake. At Cumulus, we would like to see record promotion be done in a much more conventional manner similar to [how it is done in] filmed and live entertainment, and that is by buying time on our radio stations.

We would like to see it go 100% in that direction tomorrow, but that's up to the labels. We think it's a much more ethical and totally legitimate way to promote a product. We find it very amusing to hear our industry be accused of being a dirty little business [by labels]. Talk about the pot calling the kettle black.

"The labels can remedy this [independent promotion] situation overnight by just moving into a conventional marketing and promotion arrangement.'

With recent acquisitions, including its new country flagship station WSM-FM Nashville, Cumulus now has 44 country stations. Dickey

Lovett, Cyrus Get New Label Deals

Lyle Lovett joins the artist roster at Nashvillebased Lost Highway Records in a co-venture deal with Curb Records. His first album for the label, "My Baby Don't Tolerate," is due Sept. 30. Lovett, who has won four Grammy Awards. has recorded for MCA/Curb since 1986.

Billy Ray Cyrus has signed with Word Records, part of the Warner Bros. Christian division. An album is due this fall.

Allison Moorer has split from Universal South Records. She recorded one studio album and one live album for the label and previously recorded for MCA Nashville.

Condolences to Curb Records VP of field promotion Eva Wood on the loss of her sister, Patsy Adams, July 24 of heart failure due to a viral infection.

calls it "a very stable and vibrant format" and says we are squarely behind it. We are big proponents of the format, and we intend to operate more country stations in the future.

"We are very bullish on country music," he adds. "It is a very meaningful part of our company."

'Army' Wins Over Active Rock

THE WHITE STRIPES

When the neo-garage sound of bands like the Strokes, Hives and White Stripes broke through in 2002, it was largely absent from active and mainstream rock radio, with many dismissing the sound as a fad. But after a year in which neo-garage was supposed to separate modern and active rock radio, the Stripes' "Seven Nation Army" goes 27-25 this week at active rock.

It helps that, anchored by an uncharacteristic bass line, "Seven Nation Army" has a more straightforward rock feel than the band's previous singles. "I go more sonically on a song than anything else," KAZR (Lazer 103) Des Moines, Iowa, PD Sean Elliot says. "If there's a modern song that has been No. 1 for weeks on end, like the White Stripes, without a modern in the market, it makes sense to embrace a record like that and see what we can do with it. And sonically, it's not too much of a stretch than anything else we're playing. It's simple, like an old AC/DC tune.

Consultant Ken Anthony of Radio Think Tank agrees. "When the new track came out, l-along with certain active PDs and consultantsthought that because they're a modern band, maybe we shouldn't deal with them, even though the song sounds like it could be an early

AC/DC track. But now, this record, band and song are so big that I don't think active rock can ignore

Many stations say that the song's immediate reaction and familiarity with listeners helped them decide to continue playing it. "'Seven Nation Army' won our 'Cage Match' pretty resoundingly several nights in a row," KUFO Portland, Ore., OM Dave Numme says. "And there's a general buzz on this record that has taken it beyond its format boundaries at modern rock. I don't think that listeners think in terms of 'active' or 'modern': they just know whether they've heard the song before and if they like it. It was whether the record was a hit or not, and it certainly seems to be a big hit."

It was another "Cage Match" that led to the song being played on KAZR. "It was really the phones on that record," Elliot says. "It won for about two nights and got beat. But the phones wouldn't stop ringing after people had heard it once or twice on the radio station. It was our No. 1 phone record, and we really weren't playing it. We figured that there was definitely something happening on this record.'

GRADUAL PUSH AT ACTIVE

V2 senior VP of promotion Matt Pollack believed that "eventually, knowing this band's lineage and influence, 'Seven Nation Army' would work at rock. When you look at the cross-cume between both formats, with the exception of 5%-8% of the charts, there's very little delineation between the two. I knew it would just be a matter of time before that crossover audience share would be able to speak up. I'd get active rock guys saying their Pls were familiar with the song and their passion scores were through the ceiling, and they weren't even playing it.'

Yet V2 didn't come out of the gates attempting to get active airplay for the White Stripes. "It has really been more of a patience game in trying to create an undeniable and compelling story for the active guys," Pollack continues. "We never wanted to be force-feeding them something. It has always been about 'tomorrow' with this band as opposed to 'this second.' We didn't really put the pedal down, we just made PDs aware of what was going on about the band. The full press came about a month ago, where I told them that we weren't looking for an add, or even airplay, but just to get in touch with their audience in the form of research and tell us what they were saying. There was some reluctance at first, but some PDs realized that there was nothing to lose. With the modern saturation going the way it has gone, it's clearly coming back with their core."

This doesn't mean that there wasn't some trepidation about playing a band that many viewed as exclusively modern rock. WTFX (the Fox) Louisville, Ky., OM Michael Lee says that "it took me a while to warm up to it, but the more Histened to it, the more I thought that it wasn't a pop/punk song, it was just a good song." He adds that he had never considered playing anything by the White Stripes before and says that anything else by them will be considered on a song-by-song basis. Elliot says that he "took a cautious approach on that > record, even when the phones were blowing up for it.3

Perhaps it initially made the most sense for active stations without modern competition to play the song first.

Elliot says that it "definitely helps out" that there isn't a modern station in Des Moines. "We'll look at the big modern records that are outside of what we normally do, because we have the luxury of no modern in the market. So we can take a chance on some of the large records at that format that really seem to be proving themselves and start them out at nights. We're not playing the White Stripes in afternoon drive yet-[we're] just getting it going after 7 p.m. That's where a record like that really makes sense for us," at least for now.

Yet "Seven Nation Army" is doing well even in markets where modern stations are pounding the record, perhaps because of the song's recognition. "If the modern competitor has invested 800 spins in the song, there must be some sort of recognition," Pollack says. "Sure enough, nine times out of 10, it comes back hugely familiar and passionate.

"We have a competitor in Reno, KZRQ, that has been pounding the song, and we just added it at KDOT," Anthony says. "We looked at it like someone walking into a party with a giant wart on their face. No matter how hard you try, you can't ignore it. I didn't really think that way until the last couple of weeks. Hearing it on [KXXR] 93X [Minneapolis] convinced me. At the end of the day, only a small, select group of Pls are able to differentiate the fact that station A has been playing it for the last three months and now station B is playing it. For all intents and purposes, they may feel like they've heard it on both stations the whole time. So why miss out on that obvious cume and TSL opportunity as well? I don't think it's as clearcut as 'We shouldn't play it because we're not going to get credit for it anymore.'

Even with modern WLRS in town, Lee doesn't think his audience had heard the song there. "Before we started playing it, we really never got any calls for it," he says. "When we did start playing it, we started getting some calls from people asking what it was. Then some conversations about it got started on the message board on our Web site, which led us to put up a poll to see what people thought about it. It came up 73% positive. There haven't been any negative calls to the jocks, either.'

Pollack says that active airplay augmenting modern has helped the album's sales. "We had top 50 sales in Minneapolis for the longest time, and when 93X hit it and put it into power a few weeks later, the record shot from No. 48 to No. 4 in a week. I've never seen such a massive jump in my career. We were seeing reactions like that all over the place.

Cruze, PD, WFNX Boston: "This is pretty embarrassing. Most of my friends' first shows were something really cool like Kiss or something. My first concert was the Beach Boys . . . I remember thinking, 'These guys are supposed to be great, but they kinda suck!'

NOT A GIVEN FOR ALL ACTIVES

There are still a number of active stations that have no plans to join the "Seven Nation Army," however. "Right now, we have no intentions of playing them," WJJO Madison, Wis., PD Randy Hawke says. "Every time we've tried to play anything that's headed over [toward modern], we've had a really hard time with it. We're really just a nuts and bolts, blue-collar rock station, and they're not looking for us for modern rock. We do what we do, and we do it right, and the White Stripes are not what we do . . . Jane's Addiction is about as far as we can go."

But Pollack got the same reaction from some modern programmers when pitching "Seven Nation Army." "We were in the game on the modern rock side for the past 19 months or so from the last record," he says. "From the opening of this new record, we had at least 15 stations in the modem panel tell us that they would never play this band or song because they thought the band was just a flash in the pan. Now they're not only playing them but having huge success with them. The beauty of what we do is the fact that left-field records happen, and when they do, they happen huge. Then they create trends and clones afterward. The White Stripes are a great example of a need in the marketplace right now, and they're fitting the niche. People should try to put their conclusions of what they think it is aside and embrace it with an open mind. We're going to have naysayers out there, and we hope to prove them wrong."

SO WHAT DOES THIS PORTEND?

Active also followed modern's lead with Evanescence, but those seem to be more isolated incidents. "We played the Evanescence," Elliot says. The kind of stuff that we struggle with is the punk/pop sound, like Sum 41. We didn't play that even when it was a No. 1 modern record. We probably could have at night, but it just didn't seem to move the needle like the White Stripes did."

"Active looks at the band, not the song or trend," Anthony says. "But ["Seven Nation Army"] is such a great song that it's hard to ignore. If other modern-based bands fit in and cross over, it's probably Evanescence, and before that, the Chili Peppers and Foo Fighters. We've had discussions about AFI . . . There's probably only a handful of bands that are exclusive to one format or the other. They're both appealing to 18- to 34-year-olds, and I don't think the audience really discriminates that much.'

ODERN ROCK

Nielsen Broadcast Data Systems

Songs ranked by number of detections. Playlists are listed in order of TSA weekly cume, beginning with the highest-cuming station. Cumes are updated twice yearly following the release of the spring and fall Arbitron surveys. The number of stations shown each week varies depending upon space.

Airplay Adds (AA) denotes songs with 6 or more detections at station for first time this week.

Airpower awarded to songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Airplay Leaderboard ranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AIRPOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Refer to each format's Power Playlists page to see this week's Airplay Leaders. The indicates title earned HitPredictor status in research data provided by Promosquad.

H=Heavy (30+ Detections), M=Medium (15-29), L=Light (Under 15). Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience.

† Initial impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Airplay Leaderboard ranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AIRPOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Refer to each format's Power Playlists page to see this week's Airplay Leaders.

H=Heavy (21+ Detections), M=Medium (14-20), L=Light (Under 14). Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. *Initial impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Airplay Leaderboard ranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AIRPOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Refer to each format's Power Playlists page to see this week's Airplay Leaders.

Country Results Mixed After War/Chicks

The decades-old wisdom that country radio performs well in times of national turmoil and economic decline first hit a snag in the fall 2001 Arbitron book. Country radio answered the call for patriotic anthems and contemplative music long after the two weeks that it took most other music stations to go back to regular programming. When its numbers staved flat, the only explanation programmers could muster was that, patriotic or not, listeners were being drained off by news/talk radio.

Now, more ratings results that ought to be positive for country radio are mixed, at best. In many cases, the country stations that are having the best spring books are the ones that were sharply underperforming their usual numbers in the winter. Otherwise, the results showed no particular pattern, especially if you wanted to know whether stations were being punished for playing (or dropping) the Dixie Chicks.

KKCS-FM Colorado Springs, Colo., the station where the Chicks were dropped, then reintroduced by a morning team that allegedly locked itself in the booth, was down 6.3-4.9. Also down was KEEY (K102) Minneapolis, which not only managed to hold on to the Chicks without a listener revolt but also was able to get their "Godspeed (Sweet Dreams)" to research. WMZQ Washington, D.C., which held on to the Chicks, had its best numbers in a year. But WXTU Philadelphia had its best numbers in more than a year after pulling the group.

Even in the 18 months between Sept. 11. 2001, and the war in Iraq, country's numbers were confounding any easy analysis—some markets showed the format looking like its old self again; some one-time country lifegroup markets still showed the top country station in the 4- to 5-share range. Even with top 40 relying more heavily on hip-hop, something that has always been believed to have contributed to country's early-'90s ascent, it wasn't looking very much like 1991. And here's why:

It has long been the contention of this column that what drove many listeners to country wasn't that top 40 went too hip-hop but that top 40 tried to overcompensate in many cases by going too adult. If a 17-year-old female was looking for some tempo and energy in the early '90s, she was more likely to find it at country radio than at top 40, assuming there still was a top 40 in her market.

In 2003, mainstream top 40's numbers are clearly hurting. Hip-hop fans have two or three places to go in most markets, fragmenting top 40's numbers, while top 40 doesn't have much it can own, as it did during the teen-act era. But while PDs have embraced an "Unwell" here or a "Picture" there, top 40 hasn't veered toward the adult side like it did a decade ago. So while "In Da Club" might not have worked for every 24-year-old woman, those listeners haven't gotten the same nudge toward country that they did in 1992, particularly from the top 40 stations that went country outright.

If a 24-year-old top 40 listener did wander into country, however, she would encounter a format going through its own fluctuations. Two to three years after PDs finally figured out that there wasn't much for male listeners to enjoy at country radio, Music Row has geared up to give listeners a lot more attitude. While that could be good news for 18- to 24-year-old listeners in general, it's also coming at a time when country has turned its back on Faith Hill and isn't quite sure what it wants to do about Shania Twain. And, oh yeah, a third of the format's stations are no longer playing the one act that brought all demos together. And whether it was listeners or station owners that made that decision is a moot point.

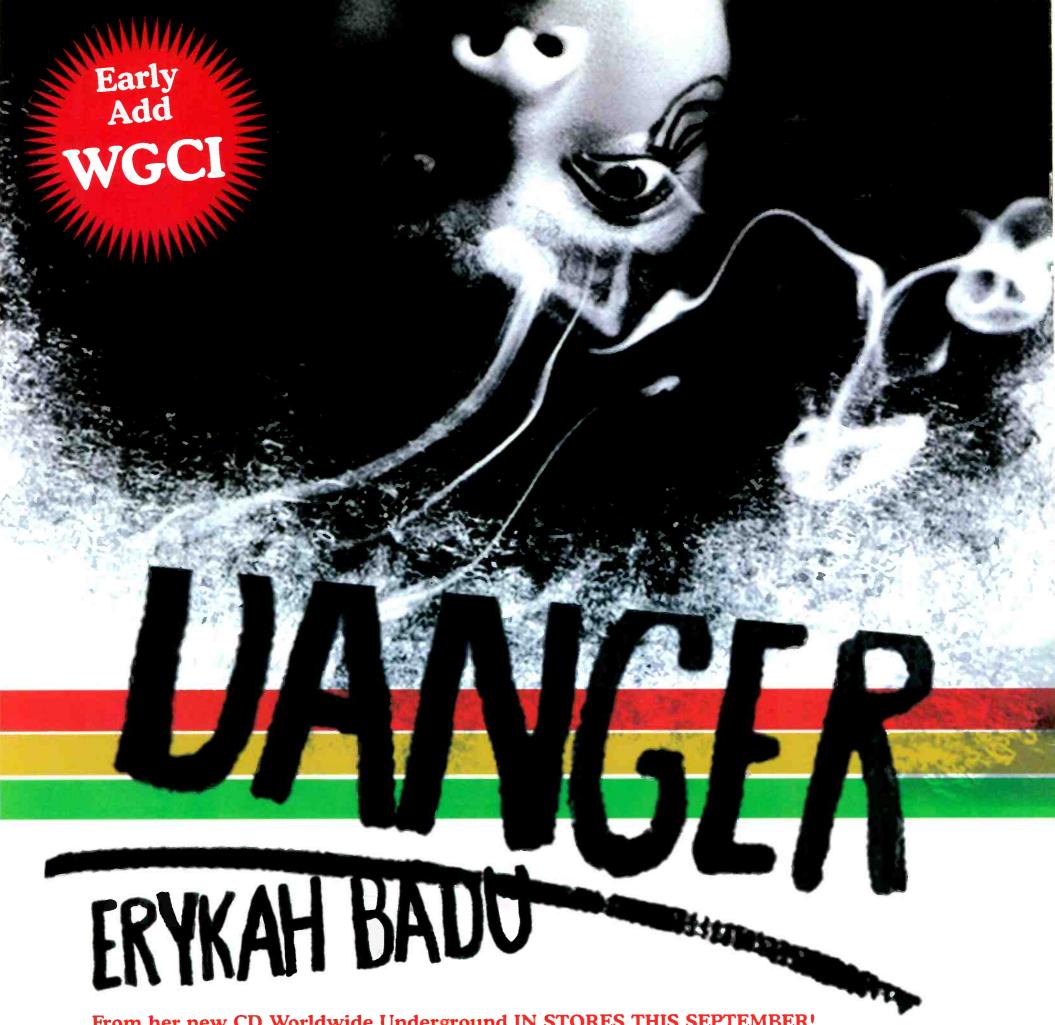

Then again, it would also be hard for any act to unite all the demos the way that Garth Brooks did during the last country boom, because, unlike 1991, country's older listeners finally have a choice in an increasing number of markets. In Oklahoma City and now in Houston, country gold outlets are picking up the biggest individual piece of the format pie as many upperdemo men decide that Montgomery Gentry is fine, but Waylon and Willie are better.

One more observation: Country in 1991 was the best place to hear music that reminded listeners of the soft classic rock they grew up with in the '70s. Most of those original songs are newly plentiful on classic hits radio, while at least a few of the new songs that fit that need, namely "Unwell" and "Drift Away," are on pop radio, not country.

In 1991, country was lucky to have new stations that grew the cume, rather than cannibalized it, with uptempo all-ages music from consumer-press-friendly superstars. Top 40 had that from 1995 to 2000. Now, if anyone has that, R&B/hip-hop does. And if the all-ages part doesn't necessarily apply to hip-hop, it definitely doesn't apply anywhere else at the moment.
