On-Air PDs Weigh In On Indecency

■ by Bram Teitelman

It's a given that PDs are taking a closer look at their airwaves in light of the FCC's newfound hunt for indecency. But some of those programmers have to pull double duty as on-air talent themselves, which gives them a unique viewpoint of radio's current climate. With the spotlight being most frequently shone on rock radio, many programmers are having to self-regulate as well as advise their staffs how to conduct themselves on the air.

Brian Rickman, PD of active rockers WKZQ Myrtle Beach, S.C., and WXQR Greenville, N.C., is involved in the writing and planning of the stations' morning show, which is simulcast on both signals. "Being on the air myself, as the PD I've got to set the example for the rest of the staff on the air," he says. "The company was very clear that we didn't want to step outside of the FCC's guidelines.

RICKMAN

Our show was pretty edgy, and we did have to step back quite significantly.

"Our show has not only stepped away from the line, we've moved the line back and then stepped away from it," says one PD/morning man, who wishes to remain anonymous. "We're still doing content, we're just being a lot more careful at

What's Hot In Christian Radio?

In recognition of the Gospel Music Assn.'s Gospel Music Week convention taking place in Nashville, the Billboard Information Group, which includes Airplay Monitor and the billboard.com and billboard.biz Web sites, is pleased to offer the first published look at the first technology-based Christian radio charts to enter the market (see page 2).

Long recognized as the industry standard for retail and radio chartkeeping, the Billboard organization in July 2003 launched the Hot Christian Adult Contemporary and Hot Christian Singles & Tracks charts exclusively on billboard.com. Although the Billboard family adopted moni-Continued on page 2

"Not since Vince Gill have I seen a lad with as much raw talent as Jedd Hughes."

"This young man writes songs as if he shelters an old soul, as if he's the keeper of the flame...Yes, he is REAL."

"Every now and then, a new guitar slinger drifts through the gates of Nashville carrying all of the right goods. Jedd Hughes has it all. I predict that his name is going to mean something."

New Published Charts Reveal What's Hot In Christian Radio

tored airplay data supplied by Nielsen BDS as the basis for its secular radio charts in January 1990, a subsequent arrangement between BDS and the Christian Music Trade Assn. (CMTA) brought Christian radio into the monitored airplay arena during the latter part of the decade.

Once the CMTA, BDS and the Billboard/ Monitor charts department collectively concluded that a sufficient number of monitored stations was available to use as the basis for credible charts, the Hot Christian Adult Contemporary and Hot Christian Singles & Tracks lists were added to the charts menu.

CMTA director Gabriel Aviles says, "BDS' decision to begin monitoring our marketplace, along with Billboard's creation of two charts devoted exclusively to Christian music, definitely signaled a commitment from both of these benchmark companies to recognize the explosion of Christian music. We look forward to a fruitful relationship for years to come.'

At 40 positions each, Hot Christian Adult

Contemporary is tabulated using airplay data from 34 Christian AC stations, and Hot Christian Singles & Tracks is compiled using data from those 34 reporters plus nine top 40-leaning Christian signals.

A range of market sizes is represented on the chart panels, including reporters in 10 of the top 20 Arbitron markets. At polar ends of the market spectrum are KFSH Los Angeles (market No. 2) and KWND Springfield, Mo. (market No. 144). Markets with multiple reporters include Chicago; Atlanta; Tampa, Fla.; and Nashville (all with two).

Songs on both charts are ranked by the number of estimated audience impressions, a method that cross-references exact times of each detection with the most recent Arbitron audience data for that particular time. On both lists, songs are removed after 26 weeks when they fall below No. 20. As is the case with most of our other audience-based charts, songs that have been on the chart for more than 20 weeks do not receive a bullet even if they register an increase in audience impressions.

With 23 weeks atop Hot Christian Singles & Tracks and 21 weeks on Hot Christian Adult Contemporary, MercyMe's "Word of God Speak" (INO) has spent the most time at No. 1 on the charts since their inception. In terms of audience penetration, Matthew West holds the record for the fattest week, set when "More" (Universal South) collected 4.7 million audience impressions in the April 17 Hot Christian Singles & Tracks chart. West collects a sixth week atop both charts this issue.

As the acquisition of additional monitored stations in a variety of Christian formats progresses, these charts are likely to spawn other charts. Christian top 40, Christian rock and inspirational lists will be considered if enough stations can be successfully monitored in those formats.

A significant long-range priority for our religious-music charts menu is the addition of a BDS-based black gospel radio chart. Billboard Information Group recognizes that this particular format is experiencing exponential growth, and a gospel radio chart would be an ideal complement to Top Gospel Albums, the venerable Billboard sales chart that remains the industry's premier scorecard of retail gospel sales.

The Christian radio charts are managed by Wade Jessen in the Nashville office. He may be reached at 615-321-4291 or wjessen@airplaymonitor.com. Passwords to the pay area of billboard.com are free to Billboard subscribers by calling 800-449-1402. Smaller digests of the charts are available in the free area of the site.

Coalition Asks FCC To Amend Bono Ruling

A coalition of 24 groups and individuals petitioned the FCC April 19 to reconsider its March ruling that U2 singer Bono's use of an obscenity during the Golden Globe Awards last year was in violation of FCC indecency rules. The groups call the ruling unconstitutional, saying it violated the First Amendment.

Earlier, the FCC had let the Bono remark—"this is really, really fucking brilliant"—pass because it was used as an exclamation and not in a sexual context. This ruling, made in October 2003, created a storm of protest among conservative family groups. The findings were revised in March, but neither NBC, the network that carried the show, nor the recording artist was fined.

The petitioning groups include broadcasters Viacom, Fox Entertainment Group and Radio One; the Recording Industry Assn. of America; such artists' groups as the Recording Artists' Coalition, the American Federation of Television & Radio Artists and the Screen Actors Guild; public interest groups including the American Civil Liberties Union and the Media Access Project; and performers Margaret Cho and Penn & Teller.

In related news, while many in radio are calling for more clarity in what's considered indecent, FCC chairman Michael Powell, speaking at the National Assn. of Broadcasters spring convention in Las Vegas, said that's not likely to happen anytime soon, according to AP. Calling Viacom president Mel Karmazin's proposal to clarify the rules a "red herring," Powell stated, "You do not want the government to write a red book of what you can and what you can't say." He also said that he disagreed with the notion of taking away stations' licenses following their third indecency violation.

NO FINE FOR INFINITY?

The FCC is denying press reports that the commission is poised to level a $1.5 million indecency fine against Viacom's Infinity for the same programming on Howard Stern's show that brought down a $495,000 fine on Clear Channel April 6.

"It's wholly inaccurate," enforcement bureau spokeswoman Janice Weiss says. "It is not by any means a fait accompli."

However, Weiss reiterated that the commission wrote in Clear Channel's notice of liability that it will review the programming carried on Infinity's 19 stations nationwide.

The maximum FCC fine for indecent programming is currently $27,500. If the commission rules as it did in the CC case that the Stern show committed 18 violations per station, the fine would total $1.5 million.

Meanwhile, all the controversy swirling around Stern hasn't stopped him from gaining two Maine affiliates, as Nassau Broadcasting launches classic rock simulcast WHXR/WHXQ Portland as "the Bone," with Stern in mornings. WHXR had been news/talk WMTW, while WHXQ was AC WQEZ. Country sister WTHT PD Stan Manning is acting PD, and the stations are running jockless aside from Stern.

BMG SAYS YES TO SONG ID PROGRAM

BMG and YES are launching a mobile-phone program that will allow users to identify songs played on 2,315 radio stations. By going to mobile.yes.com and selecting the radio station and time a song was played in the previous 24 hours, listeners can identify the track, buy the CD, download ring tones from songs by BMG artists, stream exclusive audio and video on compatible handsets, enter contests, play trivia games and display pictures through their mobile phone.

The service can be accessed through the "music" category of AT&T Wireless' mMode service and is also available on WAP-enabled mobile phones.

In other news from YES Networks, the radio service provider is previewing an offering that allows anyone with a mobile phone to rate, share and buy any song that has been broadcast on 2,500 radio stations in the previous 24 hours. The platform, which goes live this fall, will also offer access to the playlists of MTV, MTV2 and VH1.

YES is free to radio stations and costs users 79 cents per call and 20 cents per minute.

BUSINESS & MANAGEMENT

Michael Donovan has been named VP/GM of Journal Broadcast Group's Tucson, Ariz., cluster including AC KMXZ, modern AC KZPT, rhythmic oldies KGMG and sports talk KFFN. He previously managed Cumulus' six-station cluster in Eugene, Ore.

Two new members have been appointed to the National Assn. of Broadcasters' radio board. They are Miguel Villarreal Jr., executive VP of sales and network operations for Amigo Broadcasting in Dallas, and Charles Warfield Jr., president/COO of ICBC Broadcast Holdings in New York.

James Mazzarella joins Interep as chief information officer. He previously was corporate VP of integration and shared services at Interpublic.

FORMATS: THE BAY AREA'S NEW BEAT

Broadcast group 3 Points Media flips dance KPTI (92.7 Party) San Francisco to R&B as

"Power 92.7, the new beat of the Bay." The station stunted as "2Pac Radio" before the flip. Former Air-play Monitor R&B and top 40/AC managing editor Skip Dillard has been named PD. Prior to Monitor, Dillard was PD at WBLK Buffalo, N.Y. Dillard is seeking air talent; send T&Rs to his attention at 1801 Harrison St., Oakland, Calif. 94607. The station has applied for the new calls KBTB.

While Canada has been enjoying its own "Bob" and "Jack" formats, which essentially mix AC and classic rock, the United States has been without its own "Jack" until now. KKHI Timnath, Colo., which has applied for the calls KJAC, has signed on under former XETRA (91X) San Diego PD Bryan Schock. Paragon Research's Mike Henry is helping oversee the station as well.

In a New York Post story, adult top 40 WNEW (the New Mix 102.7) New York PD Smokey Rivers denied that the station has altered formats for a fifth time in a year. The story notes that the station has shifted from such acts as Matchbox Twenty, Dido, Train and Sheryl Crow to "disco and Jammin' Oldies mainstays" like Whitney Houston, Donna Summer, Bee Gees and Earth, Wind & Fire. Rivers said the refocused playlist is "a typical evolution of a music format. The target is still women 30 to 44."

PROGRAMMING: WLRS NAMES NEW PD

Modern WLRS Louisville, Ky., APD/MD Annrae Fitzgerald adds PD duties in the wake of Lance Hale's departure. Also, Fitzgerald moves from middays to afternoons, with promotion director Davie Hill adding middays.

R&B WMKS (Blazin' 92.3) Macon, Ga., names Brian "B-Paiz" Paiz PD/afternoon driver (see story, page 21). Paiz previously was APD/night jock at Cumulus sister WMNX (Coast 97.3) Wilmington, N.C.

Country WMSI (Miss 103) Jackson, Miss., MD/midday jock Stance Bingham heads to KXKZ Monroe, La., as PD/morning host. Clear Channel/Jackson OM Steve Kelly is looking for

Monitor Names McKenzie Editor-In-Chief

Veteran journalist Scott McKenzie has been named editor-in-chief of Airplay Monitor, effective April 26.

During his distinguished career, McKenzie has covered everything from civil wars to rock concerts. He comes to Monitor from ABC News Digital in New York, where he served as managing editor since 2000.

Prior to ABC, McKenzie spent two years as editor-inchief of CNN.com-Asia, based at CNN's world headquarters in Atlanta.

From 1996 to 1998 he was national bureau chief of Rupert Murdoch's News Corp. newspaper group in Australia. His extensive newspaper experience also includes stints as chief correspondent for the South China Morning Post in Hong Kong, senior reporter for The Courier-Mail in Australia and bureau chief for The Sun, also in Australia.

His foreign assignments have taken him throughout much of the world and offered exposure to growth, changes and, in some cases, revolutionary methods of information and news delivery.

In addition to his work in the United States with ABC and CNN, McKenzie has delivered daily analysis and worldwide exclusives on a vast array of topics, including the radio and music industries, from places as diverse as Afghanistan, China, Britain and Switzerland. He is intimately familiar with all facets of broadcast, print and digital mediums and well used to serving a discriminating, multifaceted audience.

"I'm excited to be joining Airplay Monitor at a time when the radio industry faces such an array of opportunities and challenges," McKenzie says. "Everything from regulatory changes to the emergence of the most significant technological developments in many years means that industry participants will be looking for timely news, actionable information and the inside track on where things are going.

"I'll be making sure Monitor is right there delivering all of that, and much more, as we expand our content platforms, our team and our reach to be the industry's leading source of authoritative charts, tools, resources and information to help the radio and music industries grow.

"I look forward to meeting as many people as possible, across all radio formats, to ensure we're delivering unbeatable coverage to those who need it." he adds.

John Kilcullen, president and publisher at Monitor parent Billboard Information Group, says, "After an extensive search, we are delighted to bring someone of Scott's diverse journalistic experience to the Monitor team to reinvent this brand in a marketplace that craves instant information, data and analysis.

"Under Scott's leadership, we will be delivering a full suite of daily electronic services to our clients in the radio and music markets," Kilcullen says. "We will be working closer than ever with all our strategic partners, including sister publication Billboard and Nielsen BDS, to deliver more relevant insights and promotional opportunities.

"This is an exciting time in the radio industry, and in Scott we have a leader who will make Monitor an increasingly indispensable partner to help navigate the opportunities that lie ahead."

McKenzie, who will be based in *Monitor's*New York headquarters, succeeds Sean Ross, who left the magazine last September to join Edison Media Research as VP of music and programming.

Phyllis Stark, who had been interim editorin-chief, resumes her duties as Nashville bureau chief for all of the Billboard Information Group properties including Billboard, Monitor, billboard.biz and billboard.com. In addition, Stark serves as country senior editor of Billboard and country managing editor of Monitor.

his replacement.

Country CFDR Halifax, Nova Scotia, PD Gary Evong heads south as PD/afternoon driver at similarly formatted WAIB Tallahassee, Fla.. He replaces Carson Scott, who recently exited.

Jones Radio Networks has teamed with Lifetime Television to launch a syndicated AC morning show, "Lifetime Radio for Women." The four-hour program blends AC music, live caller interaction, celebrity guests and female-targeted topics.

BRUSHES WITH THE LAW

Active WXTB (98 Rock) Tampa, Fla., has recovered most of the $30,000 worth of music and sports memorabilia stolen from the station by a former employee. The Tampa Tribune reports that Damien Michael Fritz, who had been in charge of the intern program, kept a security card after he left the station in May. He and two accomplices were caught on a security camera stealing items ranging from autographed guitars to sports jerseys and a football helmet autographed by Joe Montana.

John Heidelberg, owner of R&B oldies WVOL Nashville, was found guilty of assault for pulling a gun on former jock Jimi Bruce in July 2002, according to The Tennessean. Heidelberg, 60, had faced a felony aggravated assault charge (Airplay Monitor, April 18), but the charge was reduced to a misdemeanor by a judge.

PEOPLE: ROMEO RE-UPPED

Top 40 WHTZ (Z100) New York re-inks assistant MD/evening personality Romeo for a multi-year contract. He has been with Z100 since 2002.

Modern KXTE (X-treme Radio) Las Vegas names Stacie Schmidt marketing/promotions director. She joins from the same duties at Cleveland stations modern WXTM and classic rock WNCX.

Bo Reynolds, who recently returned to adult top 40 KALC (Alice 105.9) Denver for afternoons (Airplay Monitor, April 16) has been paired with former producer Slacker in that shift.

Active KHTB (the Blaze) Salt Lake City hires Jeremy Roper for nights from top 40 WBKS Huntington, W.Va.

Top 40 WHHY (the Beat) Montgomery, Ala., weekend jock Justin Hall joins crosstown classic hits WQKS (Alice 96.1) for middays.

Syndicated morning team Lex & Terry exit classic rock simulcast WBRW/WBWR (the Bear) Roanoke, Va. No replacement has been named.

Country WOVK Wheeling, W.Va., midday jock Traci Fulton will exit in July, following the birth of her first child. Send T&Rs to PD Jim Elliott.

Monitor is sorry to report that Marc Birger, director of client services for Nielsen Entertainment's East Coast operations, died of a heart attack April 19. He was 31 years old.

The Entertainment Bowling League celebrates the life of Interscope West Coast regional R&B

McVay VP Anstandig Is A 'Grizzled Veteran,' At The Ripe Old Age Of 20

'I bring a different perspective to the business than most grizzled veterans,

because these are my good old days'

Daniel Anstandig

In his eight years in radio, Daniel Anstandig has hastily worked his way from copywriter, onair personality, PD and GM to VP of adult formats for broadcasting consultancy McVay Media

Later this year, he'll be able to celebrate his accomplishments with a tip of the champagne glass—when he turns 21.

Talk about driven. Anstandig was 12 when he joined WELW Cleveland as host of a children's show. At 13, he was producing programming and working on-air at noncommercial WICU Cleveland.

In May 1998, at age 15, he launched Internet radio station DAER—one of the first 200 Internet stations on the air. As director of programming/GM, he oversaw music rotation and scheduling, bartered syndicated programming, wrote liners and hired and managed a staff of 14, including jocks, a marketing director and salesmen. The soft rock format attracted some 370,000 listeners a week, before Anstandig shuttered it in 2002.

That's because he simply didn't have the time. After his Internet endeavor, the youngster served as writer/ PD for Jim Brickman's syndicated "Your Weekend" show. In addition to his current duties at McVay, he is the evening announcer at Christian WFHM (the Behind all the activity is a voice that represents an honest-to-God rallying cry for the business of radio-one steeped in wisdom and yet refreshingly free of the cynicism that often pervades those who have been playing the game for a good, long time.

"What attracted me to radio initially, and continues to fascinate me today, is radio's ability to penetrate the heads and hearts of its consumers," Anstandig says. "Although some listeners use radio as a utility, we have the opportunity to be so much more than a light switch or a window shade. We have the distinct advantage over other mediums of accessibility.

"Radio can travel to home, work, the beach, the car and the broom closet," he continues, "I get wound up at the opportunity to help build products that add something to the lives of people in each of those settings. What other medium can go with you anywhere as a companion and inject emotion into every moment of your day?"

A CAREER IN MOTION

Anstandig joined McVay Media four years ago—at the age of 17. Sue Wilson, formerly of WDOK Cleveland and now director of programming at Salem/Cleveland, consulted Anstandig's DAER and served as its midday host. Wilson also worked as an AC specialist at McVay and introduced Anstandig to owner Mike McVay when the opportunity arose to program Brickman's syndicated weekend show.

Since then, Anstandig has worked for the consultancy on a wide range of projects, including new media; Clear Channel Radio Interactive's 800-plus online brands; the Joy-FM Network in Tampa, Fla.; the White House Commission on Remembrance; artist Jewel and a number of AC, adult top 40 and Christian AC stations around the country.

It's perhaps surprising that a teen would direct his interests toward adult music formats instead of a hipper, more youth-oriented soundtrack. For Anstandig, the decision was strictly business: 'Men and women 18-49 and 25-54 are radio's biggest buying demographics."

He also holds a clear idea of the challenges ahead for the radio business in general. In the near-decade since he started, Anstandig already notes an evolving playing field.

BREAKING THROUGH THE CLUTTER

"The biggest difference in radio today seems to be the sheer fury of activity engulfing our listeners' lives," he says. "It's harder now to break through the clutter and get listeners to notice us in a way that still has meaningful impact when they fill out their Arbitron diary. The pressure is on for us to reach out to listeners in ways they weren't expecting to be reached.

"If we can break through the marketing fog and busy surroundings of our target listeners with content and programming that truly matters to them, we're more likely to succeed in the ratings.

Anstandig continues, "Instant gratification is more relevant today than ever. People are impatient. Now, products like the iPod and TiVo are raising the level of listeners' expectations about getting what they want, now.

"With iPod, music lovers can download their favorite songs encoded in digital files. They no longer have to wait through 20 minutes of commercials to hear their favorite songs. It's a great time to be a music lover—but that means that it will be more difficult for radio to compete by leveraging music quantity and instant gratification images.

The pressure is on to build equity for our stations with non-music elements," he adds. "Of course the music should be right, but what else keeps people on your station besides the music? Anyone could come into your market and play the same songs you're playing, more of them, out-market you and beat you, unless you are deeper than the music."

FUNDAMENTAL CHANGES

Anstandig thinks more fundamental changes have taken place in radio during the past decade. "It's not exactly the same radio paradigm I started in, but I still love it," he says. "Is radio better or worse since last year or since last decade? I guess it depends on your perspective. I bring a different perspective to the business than most grizzled veterans, because these are my good old days.

'I don't cling to an idea that radio before was better than today. I'm competitive with the cards on the table right now. The radio programmers who have an edge today are the ones who see the transition from budget to people to airwaves as an equally admirable artwork as the final product radiating from the tower."

Many of the lessons that Anstandig has learned about giving listeners a reason to tune in come from his experience as a pioneer Internet broadcaster. His DAER sold national advertising with Interep Interactive and operated in all senses as a bona fide, full-time business, albeit with a chief that was still in high school.

"Imagine this: You have a radio station that can be accessed by anyone in your listening area—no signal limitations—but you have no radio dial," he says. "That means you have no way for listeners to stumble past your station while on their way to your competitor.

"To be most cost-efficient, your programming has to be intentional enough to very specifically retain your core audience, because you must attain critical mass to compete for national advertising dollars. That's Internet radio.'

SELLING A NEW MEDIUM

Anstandig says the experience taught him how to sell an audience and a new medium to advertisers and media buyers who were just discovering Internet radio.

"I learned about strategic partnerships, how to create synergistic relationships with others in the industry and how to identify and appraise their value," he says. But perhaps most advantageously, "I walked away with new ideas and tactics for marketing and serving consumers of a brand-new medium.

"It's radically counterculture to the way we do radio in the terrestrial world," he continues. "We created a radio station with weekly cume similar to that of radio stations KVIL Dallas, WSB Atlanta and WLYF Miami in an environment where no radio dial existed yet.

So what will the future bring for a man who holds a decade of experience in his hands, all before he's old enough to have worn out his first pair of good work shoes? For one, Anstandig intends to spread the word that radio is as vital and dynamic an industry as it has ever been.

"I get a lot of phone calls and e-mails from young people who are just entertaining the idea of entering radio and looking for advice," he says. "I have been surprised by the perception that some young people have about radio. A large number who have sincere interest and fascination are disenchanted by academic mentors who discount our business by bashing corporate ownership or spew opinions about radio dying. How can we ever improve our industry, regardless of its current condition, if interested candidates are turned away and told not to bother or that radio Proving his own belief that the industry is alive and well, Anstandig shares his perfect plan for celebrating his 21st birthday.

"It's July 15 this year," he says. "That's the first day of the Conclave [radio convention] in Minneapolis. I'll be there.'

Marc Birger

1972 - 2004

Every once in a while someone comes into your life and changes it profoundly simply by being who they are. Our friend, colleague and family member Marc Birger was such a person.

We love him and he will never leave our hearts.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airpiay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airpiay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if ited with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

H=Heavy (30+ Detections), M=Medium (15-29), L=Light (Under 15). Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience.
Initial impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Airplay Leaderboard ranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AIRPOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Refer to each format's Power Playlists page to see this week's Airplay Leaders. It indicates title earned HitPredictor status in research data provided by Promosquad.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a builet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a builet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Alroyever awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if field with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

20 YEARS OF TRUST..

"I've been participating in AIR for years, and I continue to do so because I know I never have to worry about being hyped on a record. I always get up-to-date, accurate information, presented in a concise, professional manner. I think AIR is a very valuable tool when it comes to staying aware of new music."

Initial impact: songs appearing on this page for the first time in summary form. Airplay Adds are songs with 6 or more detections at new stations this week. The Airplay Leaderboard ranks taste-maker stations that have been the most successful in identifying future hit songs as measured by the amount of AIRPOWER titles for which they were Airplay Leaders. Refer to each format's Power Playlists page to see this week's Airplay Leaders.

1 P.M.

Going from AC/DC and Led Zeppelin to Jay-Z and Lil Jon & the East Side Boyz is no small feat. But that was just the task at hand for Cumulus Radio when it flipped classic rock WMKS Macon, Ga., to R&B/hip-hop.

Launched April 1 as Blazin' 92.3, the station's format change was spearheaded by Cumulus/Macon OM Jeff Silvers and Cumu-lus corporate urban programmer Jim Kennedy.

"Radio is a business of reaching the right demographic," Silvers says of the change. "Unfortunately, our classic rock station was just not successful in reaching the pinnacle of where it needed to be.

"It was a tough sell to advertisers," he adds. "As we looked at the market, we thought that even being the third urban in [the market], there was room for us. The other two urban stations presented some vulnerabilities, and we're trying to take advantage of them."

Silvers, a veteran programmer who has worked at stations in Detroit, Atlanta and Honolulu, currently manages eight outlets in Cumulus' Macon cluster: WMKS, top 40 WPEZ, oldies WAYS, country WDEN-AM-FM, black gospel WDDO, sports WMGB and N/T WMAC.

CUMULUS CULTURE CLASH

Silvers knew that adopting the new format would be "a total culture change, not only for the station but for the cluster." But, he says, "Cumulus has an excellent track record of urban programming. We successfully launched a couple of urban stations last year. and it was based on that success that we decided to go forward with our change.

"Our goal was to become one-stop shopping for advertisers," he says of the cluster strategy. "We had offered many stations that [focused on the] white demographic. Our only black format was gospel. So we felt by doing this we would be bringing in a fairly good-looking black demographic to our advertisers."

According to Silvers, the response has been quick and phenomenal.

"Ôn the second day of the launch, we had a computer glitch with our automation" that resulted in about 10 minutes of down time while the station rebooted its computer, he says. "The music stopped [at] about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The phone board lit up with calls . . . I was pretty impressed by that.

It has been a very good response," Silvers adds. "Rollouts take a long time, and we've not even begun ours."

The station's target audience is 18-39. Silvers says it is placing "more emphasis on the younger end than the older end. As the station launches younger, it still picks up the older demographic

10,000 IN A ROW

Like many new R&B sign-ons, WMKS relaunched with "10,000 joints in a row" commercial-free.

> "That's quickly coming to an end, and we're already seeing money being put on the radio station as far as advertising is concerned," Silvers says. "We're very pleased with the launch

On the programming end, Silvers just hired Brian "B-Paiz" Paiz as the station's PD and afternoon driver. Paiz previously was APD/night jock at Cumulus sister WMNX (Coast 97.3) Wilmington, N.C.

Silvers says he's also close to naming the rest of his new airstaff. "We're looking for a staff that lives the lifestyle and can relate to the local audience," he explains. "Cumulus' big mantra is being live and local as much as possible.' So, we will be in the streets and in the clubs.

'We have launched a nationwide search for the right people, and some of the people might be right here in Macon."

With its commercialfree music marathon, Blazin' 92.3 has already established its musical position in the marketplace (see sample hour, this page).

'The station is very fresh and very current, Silvers says of the playlist. "The older songs that we're playing are from the late '90s. That's one of our tactics-to be fresher and newer."

While Silvers plans on holding off on any promotions until the staff is hired, Blazin' 92.3 was introduced to the market through a "pretty good external advertising effort," Silvers says. "We're fortunate that Cumulus has given us a pretty good treasure chest of goodies."

As for the competition, Blazin' 92.3 is just looking to make its own space in the marketplace.

"We have the utmost respect for WIBB, Clear Channel's big 800-pound gorilla," Silvers says. "We're also aware of WFXM [Foxie 107]. Because of our respect for those two stations, we feel that there's still room in the sandbox for us to play."

That said, Silvers does plan on being very visible in the market.

"This is going to be one very active radio station," Silvers says. "It's going to be run internally and externally. We're going to be in the streets, in the clubs and on the scene.'

Mario Meets Houston

Bad Boy/Universal artist Mario Winans, left, recently caught up with "Madd Hatta Morning Show" co-host Nnete at a KBXX (the Box) Houston meet-and-greet. Winans is currently promoting his single "I Don't Wanna Know" and debut album "Hurt No More."

Getting En Vogue

Hooked On Ellis

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detection over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even it it registers an increase in detections, Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on out fine Airpin Adulence charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most I Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous will placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song beling played or stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

is ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a fit if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more 20 weeks will generally not receive a builet, even if it registers as in increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Airplay Adds awarded to the song explaining six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the spread when the song are each gaining detections or each using detections. The presence of the presence of

USA Network's Talent Show Makes A 'Star' Out Of Judge Billy Greenwood

■ by Ken Tucker

Every week on USA Network's "Nashville Star," Billy Greenwood is introduced as "one of the most popular disc jockeys in America." With his ever-growing media profile, that description is becoming increasingly apt.

Greenwood handles afternoons on KSD (the Bull) St. Louis, where he is based, and voicetracks shifts on WSIX Nashville; WSSL Greenville, S.C.; and WKKT Charlotte, N.C. He recently added "TV personality" to his résumé when he signed on as a judge for this season of the reality/talent contest. Each week he joins Sony Nashville A&R executive Tracy Gershon and country duo the Warren Brothers to weigh in on the show's contestants.

Prior to moving to St. Louis, Greenwood was based at WSIX, where he was MD/afternoon driver. It was there that he first caught the attention of "Nashville Star" producers.

"They actually asked me to judge the first few rounds [last year]," he says. "We went over to the Country Music Hall of Fame and literally from three in the afternoon until just before midnight, Tracy Gershon and I, along with [Tennessean columnist] Brad Schmitt, just sat there [watching performances] in the Ford Theatre. Because it was Nashville, they had the producers in town and [were] filming. The producers really appreciated that Tracy and I had a mutual respect for each other but had completely different opinions."

Greenwood soon got a call from the TV execs asking if he would be interested in auditioning to be an on-camera judge. "To be honest with you, WSIX didn't really want me to do it," he says. "They thought that because we were right there in Nashville, any little thing that might be taken the wrong way might hurt a lot of us. I said, 'I appreciate that' and didn't audition for it the first year."

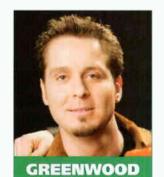

Last fall, the 31-year-old radio veteran returned to his home state of Missouri to be closer to his son. At a local "Nashville Star" contest, he was again approached to audition as a judge for the show's second season. This time, he enthusiastically agreed.

The next step for Greenwood was a selfproduced audition tape. "I had to take a video camera to work with me, following me around to show them what I do at work all day long," he says. "Then I had to do an interview [with the show's producers] on the speaker phone in the studio. I had to turn the camera around so that > they could hear their questions and see me responding.

After sending the tape to producers and judging a regional final in Los Angeles with Gershon and the Warren Brothers, Greenwood got the job. Or did he? "I got the phone call that said that I got it," he recalls. "Then I got a phone call the next day that [said] they weren't sure that I got it. Then about a week before the show actually started on television, they told me that I got it again. It was a roller coaster ride, but a great one."

KEEPING IT BRIEF

Greenwood's next challenge was to hone his brevity skills. "The judges have 30 seconds combined to give an answer," he says. "God bless her, [but] when you've got Tracy Gershon on the panel, she's going to eat up about 20 of those 30 seconds.

"The tough thing is, if you can imagine, you listen to someone sing for 60 seconds and then, in your ear, you can hear the producer [talking]

. You have something that you want to say, and then all of a sudden you hear 'Billy, just give me five words. Give me five words.' It's just amazing.

"A lot of times I watch the show and think 'I wish I had more time to say that,' but I didn't. For the first few episodes, I'd beat myself up. Finally you realize the bottom line is it's just a TV show. It's entertainment. [Now] I try not to take it too personally."

According to Greenwood, friends are quick to critique his performance. "It's tough because I have so many friends in radio, and they're like, 'Why didn't you let this person have it?' or 'Why didn't you say this?' " he says. "I just try to explain to them that this, unlike 'American Idol,' is more about the contestants and not so much about the judges. That's the bottom line. If time is going to be cut, it's going to be cut on the judges.

Whether through e-mail or phone calls, Greenwood's radio listeners also share their opinions. "In Nashville and St. Louis, it's pretty much seven out of 10 phone calls that end with 'Hey! Great job on "Nashville Star" ' or 'I didn't agree with you, but it's still really cool to see you on television.

Despite its earlier hesitation, WSIX has now taken a more aggressive approach to Greenwood's participation in the show this year, running frequent promos touting his involvement, giving away tickets to the live show and even going so far as to name the station's spring money-giveaway promotion Cashville Star.

SUDDENLY A CRITIC

The notoriety that comes with a weekly TV show has surprised Greenwood. "It's just amazing to me. After working in radio for the last 13 years and being on the television show for the last five weeks, I've had more people stop me on the street, in malls, in hotels," he says. "It's what I always thought radio was going to be

Quest Pays Off In Hartford

WWYZ Hartford, Conn., recently raised more than $825,000 during its "Quest for the Cure" radiothon for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. MD Jay Thomas, front, is pictured interviewing Curb artists Amy Dalley and Rodney Atkins during the radiothon. Both artists answered phones and took pledges for more than an hour.

when I first got into it, because it's the way I looked at radio when I was growing up. I didn't expect to get this much recognition from being on the television show."

Another surprise to Greenwood is that his opinion about music now carries more perceived weight. "Everyone wants [me] to listen to a song by somebody they know and give my opinion of what I thought of it," he says. "All of a sudden, I'm some sort of a critic on everybody and every song. It's just funny."

While he is country radio's only representative on TV's current slate of "American Idol"-type shows, Greenwood is quick to say that he does not speak for all of radio when he judges.

"It's just my opinion," he says. "On the show I have said many, many times, 'It wouldn't get played on the radio.' I'm not saying [that no station would play it], but that, in my opinion, that's just not a song that would do well.

"I'm on in St. Louis, Nashville, Greenville and Charlotte. I see the playlists of these radio stations and, from what I just heard, it's just not going to make it on any of [those] radio stations.

Though he hasn't yet been asked, Greenwood would jump at the chance to return for the show's third season. "I noticed that the ratings have been up quite a bit from last year," he says. "I'm hoping that they'll go with the old theory that you don't change a good thing.'

Smiling Stone

Lofton Creek artist Doug Stone, along with labelmate J. Michael Harter, last month helped WXBM Pensacola, Fla., raise about $60,000 for the local Women and Children's Hospital. Stone is pictured with a tiny patient.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a builtet if its percentage loss in otexceed the percentage of monitored station downstime for the first time with increases in both detections and the most stations for the first time with increases in both detections and the most stations for the first time with increases in both detections and the most stations for some detections at the most stations for some detections at the most stations for some office the first time with previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 20 weeks.

On-Air PDs Weigh In On Indecency

doing show prep and finding ways to say things that can be edgy but not construed as obscene or indecent."

"We don't really cross the line too much," modern WAVF Charleston, S.C., PD/midday host Dave Rossi says. "It's getting old anyway, and I think that stuff is played out. Do you really need to have explicit conversations about sex acts and going to the bathroom? That seems to be the [FCC's] hot button, and it's not a big concern for us, because that's not really what our station or talent is about.

"When I first hire people, I tell them that there's no talent involved in being blue," Rossi adds. "There needs to be a balance. If you want to be 'Dumb and Dumber,' you've got to have 'Monty Python' as well."

MORE CONSERVATIVE— BY CHOICE?

Rossi believes the radio and record industries, as well as listeners of shows deemed indecent, don't necessarily have the same point of view as an average American.

"You can ask all the modern and rock listeners if they think stuff is indecent, and of course they're going to say no," he says. "But if you played the average person on the street a bit, I bet they would say that it was over the line.'

And despite all of the uproar about indecency, some PDs say they willingly scaled back the content of their stations even before Janet Jackson's Super Bowl stunt sparked the FCC's scrutiny.

Three years ago we constantly went to the line, and not only are we not doing it now because of the FCC, but we stopped doing it before all this, because it has been done," says active WCCC Hartford, Conn., OM/PD/afternoon jock Michael Picozzi, whose station carries Howard Stern. "Howard has done it to death, and the clones have done it. Howard's show is a lot tamer than it was 10 years ago, again not because of the FCC but because he has matured."

"A lot of us agree that radio, or at least some programs, were pushing the line a little too much," Rickman says. "We had moments on our program that I would listen to and think, 'Wow, we're really pushing this.' You've got to make those instant judgment calls where you'll get a great [phone] call and wonder if it's over the line.

And regardless of the moral fiber of radio, the FCC's proposed fine hike-which would raise the charge for something found indecent from the current maximum of $27,500 per incident to $500,000—seems to have already been effective at chilling radio.

"We're a small company," Picozzi says. "Large fines will just do us in. For years, the businesspeople pretending to be broadcasters were weighing $2,000 fines against $40,000 [in] legal fees and paying the fine."

Picozzi says that set a dangerous legal precedent, "because maybe none of those fines were legal, but nobody fought them. But raising the amount of the fine makes a company like Infinity decide to fight it.

"If you were to read the Communications Act of 1934, which set up the FCC, it says right in it that the 'commission shall not interfere with the right of free speech by means of radio communication," Picozzi continues. "It says right there in their prime directive that they're not supposed to be involved.

"It definitely is a different environment, and any time the environment changes, that needs to be addressed," Rossi says. "There's these huge fines [being used] as extreme measures. If we don't regulate ourselves and keep ourselves in line, then the government steps in, which is what's occurring.

Rossi weighs the potential for a fine against the popularity of his morning team, erring on the side of caution.

"There have been some things my morning show Storm & Kenny have done in the past at other radio stations that I've told them we don't need to revisit right now," he says. "I'll ask them, 'Is this bit, which could get us fined, the thing that's going to make you the No. 1 morning show in the market?' If it is, then it's worth the risk, but if it isn't, then it's not worth the risk.'

As for himself, Rossi says he doesn't have to self-police. "I'm on during middays, so the station's more about music anyway," he says of that daypart. "I keep the focus on that."

NO SPONTANEITY

"This whole thing has really killed a lot of spontaneity, another anonymous PD/morning person says. "Whereas before we wouldn't hesitate to zing something out there, now a lot of that is gone [due to] the fear aspect. We're walking around on eggshells every day, and until there are some concrete definitions of what can and can't be said, and in what exact context, I don't see an end to this. We are erring on the side of caution in anything and everything we do.'

For Rickman, the early days of his morning show made it easier for him to scale back the raunch more recently. "When we brought this show to the market, we really had to start it very toned down," he says. "We couldn't go on and be as blue as we would eventually come to be. We also had a very conservative GM. So we had that training and knew that we could do a pretty clean show. So I just told the guys that we needed to go back to square one, like we did when we started the show two years ago.

To some degree, it has actually kind of helped us become more creative," Rickman continues. "I would say, without question, we've definitely pulled back, at least until the dust settles."

Rickman says he uses TV shows like "The Daily Show" and "Tough Crowd With Colin Quinn" as a template for how to be edgy without being dirty.

Broadcasters are still concerned that the FCC's recent actions may have made some selfappointed moral watchdogs more vigilant.

You have to second-guess not whether a bit is funny or whether you should say it, but whether it's a possible fine," Picozzi says. "It's not that the FCC's listening, but everybody's listening closer now. So there's definitely some self-regulation

"I've explained to everyone in the building that we have to be responsible for what we say," Rossi says. "We can visit being blue, but we can't live there. Anyone can come in and do a dick joke. but what you wind up with is hundreds of people doing that act, and doing it poorly, and that's where the problem comes in.

Picozzi thinks the current climate will continue until someone with authority points out the hypocrisy, looking at the past as an example.

When Walter Cronkite, then the most trusted man in America, went to Vietnam, came back and told everyone that the war wasn't going to work, it all fell apart," he says. "When John Denver, of all people, got up at the [Parents Music Resource Center] hearings and said that the government couldn't restrict artists' freedom, it all fell apart. This will all fall apart if someone of that stature gets up-Oprah Winfrey, for example and says that it's a First Amendment issue."

Rock Hall Partners On Radio Show

VINTAGE ROCK N ROLL THROUGH THE NIGHT

■ by Melinda Newman

It's only rock n'roll, but Crystal Mountain Productions hopes you like it.

The Cleveland-based company has linked with the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and Museum to produce a nightly syndicated program running from 12 a.m to 6 a.m.

'Moonlight Groove Highway-Vintage Rock N Roll Through the Night" is a music-driven show that will also feature interviews, callins and reports from a team of correspondents. It will broadcast from the Alan Freed radio studio in the Rock Hall.

Cleveland-based Envision will syndicate the show, which will bow this fall. The primary target will be rock and classic rock stations. But Envision and Crystal Mountain say they will even target triple-A and talk stations because of the show's diverse elements.

Currently on overnights, you can hear sports, you can hear people talk about crop circles, but no one has thought to create a show like this for rock music fans," says Christopher Dieck, president/CEO of Crystal Mountain.

The rock format has a number of syndicated programs, including the long-running "Rockline," and such newer entries as twohour weekly show "Little Steven's Underground Garage," weekly hard rock program "Hard Drive" and nightly issue "Nights With Alice Cooper." However, the format does not have an overnight offering like "Moonlight Groove Highway.

Although affiliates will have to share ad revenue with the show-which, like most syndicated programming, is available on a barter basis—Envision founder and president Danno Wolkoff believes the stations can more than make up the money.

"Most stations are using that time for makegoods and bonus spots," he says. "We're coming to them where they can tap into a new kind of national and local dollar."

For the Rock Hall, the show means a tremendous amount of free exposure.

The museum was built with a radio studio in it for one major reason: to have stations do remotes from across the world and to remind people that we're in Cleveland," says Terry Stewart, president/CEO of the Rock Hall.

"We don't use the studio very often from midnight to 6 a.m., so the opportunity to have someone broadcast from our studio [at that hour] is great PR and promotion for us. We're a nonprofit, so we've never had the Disney World or Hard Rock Cafe kind of budget for promotion."

Crystal Mountain is paying the Rock Hall a licensing fee and paying for the use of the studio.

The Rock Hall does not have a say in the programming, but Stewart says Crystal Mountain will have access to the museum's archival material.

Dieck stresses the show will not just feature music from vestervear. "You can hear any recording, whether it was 50 years ago or 50 minutes ago," he says. "We will tell the story of rock."

Wolkoff says he hopes to debut the show with at least 24 affiliates. Although some preliminary meetings with stations have already taken place, Dieck says the big pitch will come during the Conclave radio convention in July Dieck's short-term goals are to air on 150 stations within a year and to expand the midnight to 6 a.m. programming so that it runs from 9 p.m. to 9 a.m.

"We would like to establish a terrestrial network so that as people travel through the night and on business, they'll look for us," Dieck says. "But we're not just for people working through the night in their vehicles. For the overnight community, there's a real desire to know that people are awake at the switch.'

Melinda Newman is West Coast bureau chief for Billboard.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a builet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 2D weeks will generally not receive a builet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Alippower awarded to songs appearing in the lop 2D on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 2D become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Spin Counts Rise At Top 40 Formats

Last year, Airplay Monitor analyzed the average spin count per station for the No. 1, No. 10 and No. 20 positions on various charts. At the time, we found R&B/hip-hop and rhythmic top 40 stations spinning songs faster than ever before, while spins at mainstream top 40 were down compared with the previous five years.

A year later, two formats—rhythmic top 40 and mainstream top 40—have had a dramatic increase in spins for their powers. The top spot at rhythmic top 40 increased from an average of 65 spins per station in 2003 to 78 this year, once again the most spins for any format's most played title. The No. 10 position at rhythmic top 40 saw a slight increase over last year (34 in 2003 to 36 in 2004), while No. 20 stayed the same (23).

This year, the No. 1 track at mainstream top 40 had the highest spin count average for the format over the past five years, with powers spinning an average 70 times per week. The No. 10 (34-35) and No. 20 (23-25) titles also had a slight increase over last year.

Adult top 40's spin count stayed the same as last year, with the exception of the No. 20 title, which averaged 13 spins per station compared with a five-year low of only eight last year. R&B/hip-hop saw a small decline in spins for No. 1 this year, from 58 in 2003 to 55 this year, still higher than any other year from 2000 to 2002.

Country and modern rock stayed fairly stable, with the exception of the No. 1 titles for both formats, which decreased in average spins. That can be partly attributed to unusually high detection marks by the songs at the top of the chart in the 2003 comparative week: Darryl Worley's "Have You Forgotten?" at country and "Somewhere I Belong" by Linkin Park at modern.

Modern rock had the sharpest decline, down from 39 to 31 spins for No. 1 titles, the lowest average spins for a No. 1 out of the six formats surveyed. That includes adult top 40, which has historically been looked upon as one of the more recurrent and gold-heavy radio formats.

The figures for modern rock seem to indicate these stations have become more gold/recurrentbased than ever before, a factor that can be partially traced to the rise of the classic alternative format.

THIS WEEK'S CHART STATS

Linkin Park earns its fourth No. 1 song at active rock from its album "Meteora" with "Lying From You" (Warner Bros.). That matches the record for most No. 1s from one album at active set by Creed's 1997 release, "My Own Prison."

At modern rock, 311's "Love Song" (Zomba) rises to No. 1, becoming the fourth title to top that chart in the past four weeks. The modern rock No. 1 slot has not seen such turnover since the same feat occurred in December 1999.

Lonestar bypasses the Dixie Chicks for most top 10s on the country chart by a group this decade. Lonestar's ninth top 10, "Let's Be Us Again," rises 12-9 this issue.

PANEL CHANGES

WRDW Philadelphia is added to the rhythmic top 40 panel. KSJO San Francisco is removed from the active rock panel.

Compiled from a national sample of data supplied by Neisen Broadcast Data Systems. 41 heritage rock and 21 trapie-a stations are electronically monitored 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a builet if its percentage is in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a builet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Alloyour exemedred to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audiciance charts for the first time with increases in other charts of createst Gainer availed to the song with the largust increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most octations for the first time with issues. A song with a decline over the same period. When their do songs are each long detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks. © 2004 VNU Business Media, Inc. All rights reserved.

Songs are blind tested online by Promosquad using multiple listens and a nationwide sample of carefully profiled music consumers. Songs are scale; final results are based on weighted positives. Songs with a score of 65 or more are judged to have top 10 callout potential, although number can fluctuate based on the strength of available music. New Releases are songs that have been recently serviced to or impacted at the mats; Recently Tested Songs are the songs tested during the past month with the highest score. # Spin Counts Rise At Top 40 Formats

Last year, Airplay Monitor analyzed the average spin count per station for the No. 1, No. 10 and No. 20 positions on various charts. At the time, we found R&B/hip-hop and rhythmic top 40 stations spinning songs faster than ever before, while spins at mainstream top 40 were down compared with the previous five years.

A year later, two formats-rhythmic top 40 and mainstream top 40-have had a dramatic increase in spins for their powers. The top spot at rhythmic top 40 increased from an average of 65 spins per station in 2003 to 78 this year, once again the most spins for any format's most played title. The No. 10 position at rhythmic top 40 saw a slight increase over last year (34 in 2003 to 36 in 2004), while No. 20 stayed the same (23).

This year, the No. 1 track at mainstream top 40 had the highest spin count average for the format over the past five years, with powers spinning an average 70 times per week. The No. 10 (34-35) and No. 20 (23-25) titles also had a slight increase over last year.

Adult top 40's spin count stayed the same as last year, with the exception of the No. 20 title, which averaged 13 spins per station compared with a five-year low of only eight last year. R&B/hip-hop

COUNTRY	1	40	44	37	38	38
	10	24	23	25	28	23
	20	15	16	17	17	17

saw a small decline in spins for No. 1 this year, from 58 in 2003 to 55 this year, still higher than any other year from 2000 to 2002.

Country and modern rock stayed fairly stable, with the exception of the No. 1 titles for both formats, which decreased in average spins. That can be partly attributed to unusually high detection marks by the songs at the top of the chart in the 2003 comparative week: Darryl Worley's "Have You Forgotten?" at country and "Somewhere I Belong" by Linkin Park at modern.

Modern rock had the sharpest decline, down from 39 to 31 spins for No. 1 titles, the lowest average spins for a No. 1 out of the six formats surveyed. That includes adult top 40, which has historically been looked upon as one of the more recurrent and gold-heavy radio formats.

The figures for modern rock seem to indicate these stations have become more gold/recurrentbased than ever before, a factor that can be partially traced to the rise of the classic alternative format.

THIS WEEK'S CHART STATS

Linkin Park earns its fourth No. 1 song at active rock from its album "Meteora" with "Lying From You" (Warner Bros.). That matches the record for most No. 1s from one album at active set by Creed's 1997 release, "My Own Prison."

At modern rock, 311's "Love Song" (Zomba) rises to No. 1, becoming the fourth title to top that chart in the past four weeks. The modern rock No. 1 slot has not seen such turnover since the same feat occurred in December 1999.

Lonestar bypasses the Dixie Chicks for most top 10s on the country chart by a group this decade. Lonestar's ninth top 10, "Let's Be Us Again," rises 12-9 this issue.

PANEL CHANGES

WRDW Philadelphia is added to the rhythmic top 40 panel. KSJO San Francisco is removed from the active rock panel.
