Radio Plight Of New Artists Has Heavy Artist Management Fallout

by Phyllis Stark

We've all heard how radio's conservative stance is putting the squeeze on record labels and artists, but behind the scenes, those tight playlists are also having a detrimental effect on the artist-management business, particularly for those who represent several new artists. Some managers have gotten out altogether. Others say they are being much more selective about which artists they sign.

Starstruck Entertainment's Narvel Blackstock was one of the first to consolidate his business in 1997, when he shut down the management and publicity divisions of his company, displacing 10 management clients. He told Nashville newspaper The Tennessean at the time that his management arm was barely breaking even. Blackstock now represents only his wife and business partner, Reba McEntire.

Last summer, David Corlew followed suit, shuttering Corlew-O'Grady Management, which represented Deryl Dodd, the Cox Family, Blake & Brian, and Jason Sellers (Ironically, Sellers had previously been managed by Blackstock.) Cor-lew continues to manage only longtime client Charlie Daniels and has shifted his energies to operating his label partnership with Daniels, Blue Hat Records, and taking a more active role in his publishing company, Kicking Bird Music.

All of the managers contacted for this story cited a recent Country Air-play Monitor study that showed only one of the 35 new artists introduced in 1998, the Wilkinsons, cracked the top 10 on the Country Airplay chart as evidence of how tough it is for them right now.

"It has gotten to be so hard to get a new artist at radio and get them to break through," says Corlew. "It is a tough environment that has gotten tougher. That's why I will remain out of the management business for now."

In deciding to step away from management, Corlew says, "the frustration was the big factor, because as an industry we have no other way to go with a new artist if we don't have success at country radio. With someone like Charlie [Daniels], where you have an artist with an established career, there are other ways" to get exposure. "With a new artist, it all starts

"I love the business and the industry and what we do here," Corlew adds. "It just had gotten to the point with me where, as a businessman, if I wanted to continue to do business, I had to be smart about it. History has proved that it was a smart decision on our part.

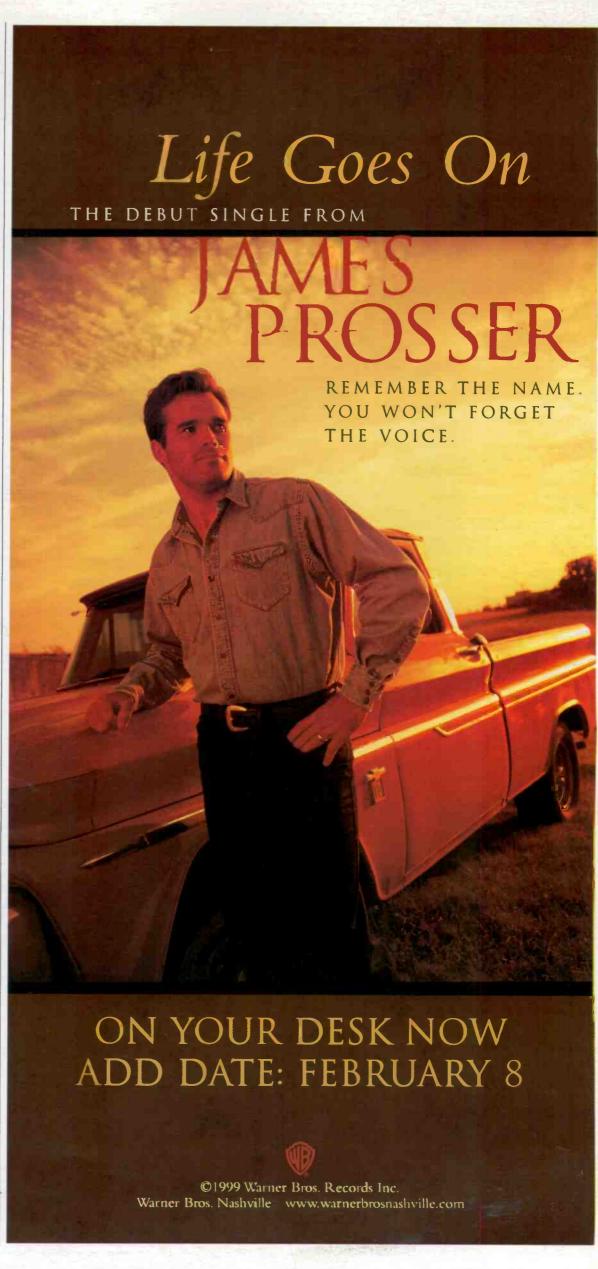

Mike Robertson, who manages Wade Hayes, BlackHawk, Shannon Brown, and the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, says, "We could have signed every new act that came out last year, and the total [gross] wouldn't have supported the office. I'm finding everybody's pretty beat up in terms of breaking an act or trying to sell records on new artists that are broken. Yes, we're being careful in signing new artists. We have to be."

MANAGERS LEARN A&R SKILLS

Some managers say the environment at radio has forced them to sharpen their own A&R and marketing skills. "What managers have to do is just be really good A&R people in picking the artists we work with and picking the material for them," says Joni Foraker, VP of Borman Entertainment, which manages Faith Hill, Dwight Yoakam, Trace Adkins, new DreamWorks artist Lisa Angelle, and Continued on page 4

Kennard Follows Through On Microradio

FCC Chairman Bill Kennard is following through on his pledge to explore ways to li-cense small, low-power stations. The FCC has begun taking proposals on if and how it should award nearly 4,000 new licenses to 100- and 1,000-watt radio stations. Kennard sees "microradio" as a panacea to the effects of consolidation and a way to address the low numbers of minority and women owners.

Included in the FCC's proposal is an ownership cap and a ban preventing existing broadcasters from owning such stations. Much still needs to be decided, though, including how signals would be awarded, whether the stations should be noncommercial, and whether pirate broadcasters should be allowed a legitimate signal. The microra-dio stations could be on the air as soon as this summer.

Elsewhere at the FCC, Chief Enforcement Officer Charles Kelly told The Milwaukee Business Journal that Cumulus Broadcasting has submitted its $1 million exclusivity deal with independent record promoter Jeff McClusky for review. McClusky has repeatedly said that he received FCC clearance before pursuing his original exclusivity deals in

BUSINESS: GULFSTAR NOVAS

Capstar CEO Steve Hicks apparently has decided to restructure his company. In a Jan. 29 memo to employees, Hicks said that stations in the Gulfstar division will be merged into the SEA Star, Central Star, and Pacific Star divisions to improve "operational efficiencies." Gulfstar COO John Cullen is expected to be promoted to co-COO of Capstar.

Entercom Broadcasting went public last week, as investors took a bite of its $306 million IPO. Interest was strong, proving Wall Street types are still high on radio's rate of return.

Bloomingdale's president/COO Jeffrey Sherman joins the Infinity Broadcasting board of di-rectors. He had served on Infinity's board before the company was sold to Westinghouse in 1996

Deloitte & Touche's Trilia Houston joins New Northwest Broadcasters as VP/CFO Communications Equity Associates COO Rick Michaels is named president of the company.

Infinity's KYCW Seattle Puts Country First

Following in the footsteps of KYNG Dallas, which recently phased out its Young Country positioner in favor of Superstar Country, Infinity sister station KYCW Seattle dropped its Young Country handle Feb. 1 in favor of 96.5 FM Coun-

KYCW had been using the name Young Country since 1994. The name change is the final step in a transition to a more mainstream approach that began last September. At that time, PD Becky Brenner says, "we dropped some of the old Young Country signature elements, cleaned up the clutter, and eliminated the blue content of the morning show." Now, in addition to a new name and logo, KYCW is sporting "a fresh sound and a more targeted music list," says Brenner. "For now, our list of currents remains the same, but we will cut back slightly on the total size of the library.

Afternoon jock Mike Peterson adds MD duties at KYCW, replacing Penny Coyne, who remains for middays.

Infinity's remaining Young Country outlets, WYCD Detroit and KYCY San Francisco, are expected to follow suit shortly. Although PDs for both stations claim they are only evaluating a possible name change, a recent article in the Detroit Free Press quoted Infinity senior VP Bill Figenshu as saying there is a corporatewide attempt to find a new, more current image for the chain's contemporary country radio stations.

Messina Stands At No. 1 For A Record

AS JO DEE MESSINA'S "Stand Beside Me" controls our Country Airplay chart for a third consecutive week, she becomes the first female solo artist to score three consecutive multipleweek No. 1 songs from the same album since Billboard's country album chart first appeared in November 1964. (Prior to the introduction of that specialty album chart, country titles competed only on the pop album chart.)
In 1995, Shania Twain's "The Woman In

Me" set became the first country album to yield two such hits when "(If You're Not In It For Love) I'm Outta Here" and "You Win My Love" each dominated for two weeks. However, when "No One Needs To Know" peaked at No. 1, it was replaced at the top the next week by Ricochet's "Daddy's Money." Likewise, Deana Carter's "Did I Shave My Legs For This?" matched Twain's feat with "Strawberry Wine" and "We Danced Anyway," which both spent two weeks at the top. Carter's third single, "Count Me In," peaked at No. 5.

With one small asterisk, the record number of consecutive solo female chart-toppers from one album without multiple weeks at No. 1 still belongs to Rosanne Cash's "King's Record Shop" set, a 1987 collection that spawned four No. 1's in a row. What's the caveat? Cash's streak of solo No. 1 titles was interrupted by "It's Such A Small World," a No. 1 duet with then husband Rodney Crowell. Ironically, that duet is also found on Crowell's "Diamonds & Dirt" set, which maintains the overall genre record of five consecutive No. 1 titles.

"Team Of Destiny," a second University of Tennessee football-themed Kenny Chesney single, enters our Country Airplay chart at No. 72 with 44 plays at three Tennessee stations: WSM-FM Nashville, WIVK-FM Knoxville, and WUSY Chattanooga. Chesney's "Touchdown Tennessee" logged six chart weeks and peaked at No. 64 in the Nov. 26, 1998, issue. RCA Label Group has shelved plans to make the Chesney and Dean Dillon-penned song available at retail. It contains the names of several UT players, and NCAA regulations forbid the name or likeness of collegiate athletes who have yet to fulfill their NCAA eligibility being used for commercial purposes.

Effective this issue, all chart listings for Mark Chesnutt, Lee Ann Womack, and Gary Allan are updated to reflect the MCA Nashville promotion department's assumption of promotion responsibilities for the three former Decca artists. Since all three titles affected were issued by the now-defunct imprint, Decca is still listed in the imprint field. However, MCA Nashville is listed in the label category. Since no year-end recaps are tallied for the imprint category, MCA Nashville will receive all points in the label category beginning with the charts that appeared in last week's issue.

ON THE ROW

Three Artists Part With Managers

As the climate for artist managers toughens (see story, page 1), three artists have split with their longtime managers. MCA's Trisha Yearwood, previously managed by Ken Kragen, is now being managed by her publicist, Nancy Russell of FORCE. Giant's Clay Walker has amicably parted ways with the Erv Woolsey Co. and has not yet named new management. Labelmate Daryle Singletary, previously managed by Jeff Davis of Elizabeth Hatcher Management, signs with the Woody Bowles Co.

Tom Sgro joins Asylum Records as mid-Atlantic regional promotion manager, replacing Brooks Quigley, who exits. Sgro previously was national director of field promotion at BNA Records. Asylum A&R manager Chris Neese exits and has not been replaced.

Capitol Records Northeast regional Brian Lane exits and has not been replaced. Lane can be reached at 412-798-0435.

Lyric Street Records has signed former Capitol artist John Berry to its roster. His first single on the label will be sent to radio this summer, followed by a fall album release.

Platinum Entertainment's Nashville-based country label, Intersound Country, has been renamed Platinum Nashville and has added a promotion staff. Ed Mascolo will head the promotion team as senior VP while continuing his duties as VP for sister label River North Records. David Friedman continues as manager of national promotion and will also handle the Midwest region. Joining the staff are Southeast regional Joe Kelly, mid-Atlantic regional Georgia Mock-Bedwell, Southwest regional David Williams, and promotion coordinator/secondaries promotion rep Liz Morin. Kelly previously was manager of CDX. Mock-Bedwell was last with BANG II Records and previously worked for Capitol. Dallas-based Williams was with Curb and Columbia Records. Morin arrives from Platinum's publishing division, Double J Music.

Former CMT director of programming Tracy Rogers joins Country Weekly magazine as promotion director. Veteran journalist Larry Holden joins as senior writer. Former New Country magazine editor in chief Bob Cannon joins as staff reporter.

As first reported in Billboard Bulletin Jan. 28, Jack Lameier has been promoted to the new senior VP of country promotion spot at Sony Music in Nashville. In his new role, he will oversee all of the promotion efforts for Sony labels Columbia, Epic, Lucky Dog, and Monument. A 36-year veteran of Sony and its predecessor, CBS Records, he most recently was senior VP of national country promotion for Epic. Look for Epic VP of national country promotion Rob Dalton to be elevated to replace Lameier at that label.

Kenny Rogers and former EMI America chairman and Capitol Records president Jim Mazza have formed Dreamcatcher Entertainment Inc., a Nashville-based venture that will include a record label, artist-management firm, and film and TV production division. Bob Burwell, former VP of the Halsey Co., joins Dreamcatcher as VP of creative. Independent film producer/di-rector/writer Kelly Junkerman is named VP of film and TV production based in Dreamcatcher's Los Angeles office. Independent publicist Claire Cook joins as director of media and artist relations. The management division will handle Rogers' career along with his longtime manager Ken Kragen of Los Angeles-based Ken Kragen & Co. Representation of several additional artists is expected to be announced shortly.

KOLK, now known as AC KZSR.

WIVK-FM Knoxville, Tenn., promotion director Darcy Miller exits to move to Nashville for family reasons. She is looking for a new opportunity and can be reached at 615-255-5929.

Ángela Michaels joins WCTQ Sarasota, Fla.,

as promotion director. She previously worked in Lake City, Fla.

WYZM Madison, Wis., ups Rick O'Connor from nights to p.m. drive, as Kyle Kristofer exits. Overnighter Dutch Michaels gets evenings and promotion coordinator duties.

In the midst of their radio tour, new Columbia duo Montgomery Gentry had a joke pulled on them by Columbia VP of promotion Ted Wagner and Midwest regional Wix Wichmann. When their tour bus rolled into WTHI Terre Haute, Ind., Wagner and Wichmann left the artists on the bus listening to the station, headed in themselves, and immediately went on the air pretending to be Eddie Montgomery and Troy Gentry. Wichmann, as Gentry, announced that "the bus had to pull up to the entrance, because with this bad weather, it might mess up my hair."

On March 6, John Michael Montgomery will air his Houston Astrodome concert on pay-perview TV at 9 p.m. EST on cable TV and 8 p.m. EST on satellite networks.

Capitol Records-signed comedian Tim Wilson will appear on the syndicated John Boy and Billy radio show Feb. 9.

AN OVERVIEW OF RADIO PROMOTIONS • BY JEFF SILBERMAN

New, Lost, 'Blind' Love Warm Winter Promos

Love is definitely in the air at stations of all formats, as Valentine's Day is the supreme top-of-mind promotional topic in the Topical Barometer poll. Also catching interest are the Grammys, "winter fever" warm-weather trips, and physical fitness. Eventwise, Promoganda contributors are celebrating new love, lost love, and even "blind" love.

Crossover WUSL (Power 99) Philadelphia will wed 99 couples in front of the Love Statue in downtown Philly, plus it will hold a Heart-On Search. Every guy who enters the club event is pinned with a heart. Women have to persuade the men to give them their hearts. Whoever collects the most hearts wins. Sitting on pins and needles is Jason Gani.

Rhythmic top 40 KLUC Las Vegas will hold a Broken Hearts Ball at a club, where singles will play games like "Selectrocution." Men get blue tags with even numbers; women get pink tags with odd numbers. Then they go to the DJ and say, "No. 32 wants to buy No. 17 a drink," "No. 53 wants No. 24's phone number," etc. Matchmaker Vanessa Thill notes that a video screen helps out.

Believing love is blind, mainstream R&B WTTT (Power 99) Chattanooga, Tenn., will play Hitched or Ditched. Callers detail their best and worst blind dates. Two daily winners get a dozen roses, dinner for two, and tickets to a taping of Bill Cosby's show. Wayne Collins oversees (ahem) the bit.

Mainstream top 40 WPXY Rochester, N.Y,. will hold a Boyfriend Bonfire at a local fire station. Jilted women will throw pictures and letters from their exes, as well as voided marriage certificates, into a pyre, eliciting media coverage for pyromaniac Tris Korlou.

WPXY and mainstream top 40 WKRO (Q102) Cincinnati are also doing versions of blind dates. The former stages a Dating Game interview in-studio, while Q102 blindfolds a couple for an entire chaperoned date. The two first see each other the morning after in the studio. Scott Colebrook's eyes have it.

been on our panel's radar for weeks. With last week's Newsweek story, expect it to get hotter.

PROMO OF THE WEEK: MARATHONS

Few events generate media exposure like live-in-it-and-win-it car sittings and roller-coaster marathons. Even so, 40% of our panelists won't do them, asserting that they're not suitable for their audience. For the majority, however, these extravaganzas pay off. Here's how:

'You need a really significant prize, and everyone should relate to the contest," adult top 40 KFMB-FM (Star 100.7) San Diego's Kim Leeds says. "It has to be the station's main focus for its duration. Even if you're not on-site, keep referring to it.'

Album rock KEGL Dallas' Loren Condron says, "Hold the event at a high-traffic area, like a mall or theme park. Challenge the TV people to get involved. Press release and call everyone until they're sick of you."

When choosing contestants, try not to "get too-competitive people who'll fight to the death to win [ensuring multiple winners] or pick noninteresting contestants, who flake out too soon," top 40 WSTR Atlanta's Dan Bowen says.

Find that happy medium between having people drop out too quickly and making it so long you risk the audience's interest," modern rock WPLY Philadelphia's Kelly Gross says.

"Be prepared for anything," Leeds says.
"Contestants go through major mood swings during the contest. Keep that in mind and be fair, but be sure to stay objective. Don't get personally involved with any contestant.'

The other danger is having multiple winners. Being flexible and prepared is key. Have backup prizes to reward everyone. "Keep track of how much time each person spent outside of the Beetle for bathroom breaks and food runs,' album rock KQRS Minneapolis' country sister KEEY's Diana Buckmann notes. "The person who spent the least time out of the car won. The others, however, won a trip to see a concert.'

QUICK HITS

Triple-A KFOG San Francisco gets considerable mileage (ahem) out of its World Class Adventures. Participants listen to "crazy clues" (and read them on KFOG's World Wide Web site) to help them guess the mystery-trip locale, as well as the event taking place there. Correct guesses qualify to win the trip. Jude Heller is the travel agent.

WJTT generates a lot of time spent listening with its Power Cash Hours. A numbered caller (e.g., fifth, ninth, etc.) has to name a specified three-song combination (e.g., the first, fourth, and seventh songs in the last sweep). Winners get a $50 music pack, which they can trade in for one of three envelopes, which contain a big prize or a dud, such as a picture of MC Hammer autographed by the bellhop of a local hotel.

After the holidays, country WYNY New York's Jason Steinberg notes that callers griped about "re-gifting": the act of rewrapping gifts you receive to give to someone else. This can be a fun way to clear out client swag. Have the present's gift card list the station's phone number; the recipient can call in to win a prize when he or she re-gifts it to someone else, and so on.

This bit could run year round, from Christmas to Valentine's Day, Mother's Day, Father's Day, birthdays, anniversaries, weddings, etc.

Artist Management Fallout

new Sony artist Tara Lyn Hart. "I think some of the labels should be more selective" in whom they sign.

"It's very difficult for new acts to break through, but I don't want to make a judgment about radio," says Ted Hacker, president and owner of International Artist Management. "They have a very complex agenda relating to consolidation, programming, ratings, music, and other things, and we're just one of those important aspects with which they have to deal. As managers, we have to find alternative means of exposing our artists—videos, TV, press, and touring, both domestic and international. The key is to find effective alternative means, and there are not many of those. Radio represents 90% of [our exposure]." Hacker's clients include former Arista artist Jim Collins and three new artists who will be introduced by labels this year, Yankee Grey (Monument), Darryl Worley (DreamWorks), and Lesley McDaniel (Curb).

"I think that we must look to artists and music as the answers," says Hacker. "We as a company are trying to find and develop strong artists that will impact listeners. I don't want to be critical of record companies, but I don't think there has been enough uniqueness created in the last few years." Hacker says the fact that only one of 35 artists broke through last year "doesn't say anything about the music. It does say something about the system, because I don't think any of them released poor records.

T.K. Kimbrell of TKO Artist Management says, "It's frustrating, because you don't work with people that you don't really believe in, so you want them to have that opportunity, and if they don't have it, to me there's no satisfaction. If people never hear it, you never know if you have a hit. If you never have that shot, that's tough. I don't in any way hold that against radio. I understand there's been a lot of changes due to the FCC, and it really puts the focus on us to come up with the best music we can come up with.'

ADVICE TO ARTISTS

Managers say they are being brutally honest with new clients in telling them what to expect from radio. If he signed any more new artists, Robertson says, he would stress patience and a realistic expectation. "They will have to be patient," he says. "I still believe that in the end the great songs and artists and music get through, but in the period we're in, [if you're] counting on having top 10 singles out of the box on a new release, the odds are against it. There was a time as a manager that if you had good A&R sense and you picked good label partners, the odds were as high as 50/50 that you would get through.

Asked what he tells new artists about what to expect at radio, Kimbrell says, "I try to let them know that it's a tough time out there and that it's not a reflection on them, that it's more a reflection on what's happening right now with country music and radio, and that there are fewer slots available for new artists." But "I firmly believe that an artist has to be true to what they do regardless of radio and then be prepared to accept what radio hands them rather than making records for radio," he says. Kim-

MONITOR PROFILE

Case Expands Playlist, Freshens Promo In His Successful First Year At WYRK Buffalo

Justin Case recently marked his first anniversary as PD at WYRK Buffalo, N.Y., with an 8.7-9.9 12-plus Arbitron ratings jump. Although WYRK was a well-programmed station when he arrived, Case did a little housekeeping, including a near total air-staff overhaul.

I look at myself like the Holiday Inn maid," he says. "I made the bed, made the corners a little tighter, and brought the Carpet Fresh with me. I added some things that were missing, [including] a more aggressive promotional approach, more contests, and we tried to be a little more visible than in the past. It's the same thing I did in Pittsburgh [at WDSY]. We decided we wanted to be involved in more than just country events.'

His "more aggressive promotional approach" included bigger cash contests [and] giving away shopping sprees. "Nothing out of the ordinary; it's just how it's packaged," he

Surprisingly, Case did no external marketing last fall. "Marketing dollars are spent when they need to be spent," he says. But in the fall, "there were some things we could do to improve the profile of the station that we were able to do without spending a whole lot of money. We're doing the same things but doing them a little snappier, bringing some fun back to the station. I'm a pretty energetic guy, and [I brought] a breath of fresh air back to the station.

The life-group in Buffalo is a little more active than we saw in Pittsburgh," he says. "We have clubs, the Erie County Fair, some jamborees, and a little outdoor amphitheater that brings in six to eight country shows [a year], so the activity level is a lot more in Buffalo." Plus, he says, Buffalo residents have "a tendency to be more accepting to some new music. It all comes down to the right song. If you have it and present it to them in a way that's exciting, they will accept it. You have to be excited and passionate about the music you play. If you commit to go on it, you have to present it to your audience as if it's the next big thing.

Although he is known for his very conservative programming posture and for running a tight list, Case says, "Strangely enough, when I got here I actually added songs to the playlist, which is not in my nature. I did it because there seemed to be an acceptance of newer music" in Buffalo. "I created a dayparted category, so I could have some flexibility at night and on weekends and occasionally hand-slot some in afternoons.

He recalls the station playing 20 or 22 currents when he arrived, and he increased that to 26. He also dipped back in the gold library and added some songs by Alabama, the Judds, and Randy Travis that he remembers being particularly strong currents back when he was programming WPKX Springfield, Mass., in the early '90s. WYRK is now 60% current and recurrent and 40% gold.

Here's a recent 2 p.m. hour on WYRK: Vince Gill, "Don't Let Our Love Start Slippin' Away"; Martina McBride, "Wrong Again"; Mark Chesnutt, "Goin' Through The Big D"; Lonestar, "Everything's Changed"; Ty Herndon, "It Must Be Love"; Deana Carter, "Strawberry Wine"; Trace Adkins, "Lonely Won't Leave Me Alone"; George Strait, "I Cross My Heart"; Tim McGraw, "For A Little While"; Jo Dee Messina, "Heads Carolina, Tails California"; Trisha Yearwood

"There Goes My Baby"; Randy Travis, "On The Other Hand"; Dixie Chicks, "You Were Mine"; and Brooks & Dunn, "My Maria."

In a previous interview while he was at WDSY, Case talked about how the then standard 13-week rule for current records was being extended to 16- to 18-week records based on research that showed listeners wanted to keep the hits around longer. Now, he says, the "rule" has been extended to 20 weeks for hit

"The more research you do, the more you can make a case for a longer period of time on a record," he says. "In the mid-'90s, we became very chart-driven. There was so much new stuff coming out, and we wanted to get to it all, that we forgot what people tune in for are the big hit records."

Turning his attention to the air staff, Case first put himself on in afternoons. After having been an off-air PD for four years in Pittsburgh, he was glad to get that direct contact back with listeners. "I really feel that by getting on the air and interacting with listeners, you get a better feel for what's happening," he says. Former p.m. driver John LaMond moved to middays. Former MD/night jock Pat O'Brien was replaced by P/T jock Clay Moden. Jill Monroe joined for overnights from crosstown top 40 WKSE, replacing Bob James. Case also hired up-and-comer John Paul from WKKG Columbus, Ind., as an off-air APD/MD, who also handles the station's imaging and production, and recently recruited Steve Burgess from WDSY as the station's new promotion director.

Asked if there is a Justin Case imprint he puts on a station, Case says, "If there were a stamp, it would be a very tight playlist, playing hit songs a long time, and having fun-sincere fun-on the radio from a personality standpoint. So many [jocks] get caught in a rut. I want them to have the freedom to take some chances. And I like the idea of big contesting; I always have.

Case started his radio journey at WADM Decatur, Ind., and also worked at WMEE Fort Wayne, Ind., before landing his first PD job at WZOQ Lima, Ohio. That led to programming stints at WMME Augusta, Maine; WPKX; and WDSY, which he programmed from 1994 to 98. Despite the fact that between Jan. 1 and 15 of this year Buffalo was socked with 54 inches of snow, Case says that his move to WYRK a year ago was the right decision.

PHYLLIS STARK

brell's clients are Toby Keith, Chris LeDoux, Sawyer Brown, Allison Moorer, Mac McAnally, and free agents Scott Emerick (formerly signed to Rising Tide), and John Bunzow.

With MCA artist Moorer, who has yet to have a hit, "we all felt like she had some excellent singles," but with last year's stats in hand, "you can at least say it's not necessarily a reflection of the music; it's a reflection of the times," Kimbrell says.

'It's sad, because there are so many great artists in Nashville, and there's just not enough room for them on the playlists right now," says Corlew. "When you got a [record] deal years ago, there was a lot of opportunity, and the percentage of failure was way down as compared with today. The sad thing is these kids come to Nashville and work very hard, bus tables, sing demos, and do odd jobs until they land a deal, and they get two or three shots at radio, and if it doesn't work, it's over for them. There are so many great kids who come to town with the vision of being a star, and due to circumstances out of their control, it doesn't happen for them. It's heartbreaking.

MORE FALLOUT TO COME?

Corlew is among those who predict more fallout on the management side as a result of radio's conservatism. "In the [Nashville-based] managers group, we share a lot of information, and it's certainly a key issue with all managers," he says. "A few of us stepped up and made a conscious decision to step out of it. You will continue to see more managers redirecting their talents, or maybe you'll see more closings.

"There is and there will be" management fall-out, says Kimbrell. "I've seen good managers become frustrated enough to let acts go. I've been surprised in what I've seen so far."

Robertson says, "I've found there's a lot of people that used to have one act or a couple of baby acts. You don't hear an announcement that they are no longer a manager, but you just look up one day, and they are doing something else for a living. It's just weird out there.'

Exclusive Arbitron Analysis Shows Country Near 10-Year Low In Fall Book

by Sean Ross

As one might have expected during an ongoing presidential sex scandal, the fall Arbitrons were good to news/talk stations, albeit still not as good as the O.J. Simpson book. But it was also a good fall for R&B, top 40, and even modern rock radio. However, AC stations continued to slip, especially in younger demos, while country stations posted their lowest numbers in nine years.

Those are the highlights from Airplay Monitor's quarterly survey of national listening by format in Arbitron's continuous-measurement markets by format. Among the headlines:

 AC radio remained the No. 1 music format but slipped again, albeit within its customary 14-share range. AC was down more at the lower end than in the older demo.

• R&B radio tied its best 12-plus numbers ever. And that's before the appearance of most of the new R&B oldies stations, which should make themselves felt in the winter.

· Country, after a brief retrenchment last summer, is now at its lowest point since summer '90. And it's only two-tenths of a share ahead of where it was when we started measuring national Arbitron numbers in spring '89.

• Top 40 was off in middays, as you'd expect with the teens back in school. But it was up everywhere else, rebounding from a slightly off summer book.

Album and classic rock were off, but modern rock, despite its format defections, is rebounding. It's not back to its 1996 levels, but the slide has been halted.

N/T: IT'S JUST A LITTLE RUSH

News/talk radio has climbed 16.1-16.8 since last spring. That's its best book since the election book of fall '96, but it's still a tenth of a share short of the 16.9 that N/T posted in fall '95, the O.J. Simpson verdict book.

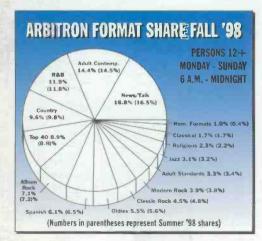

N/T was flat in mornings but rose spectacularly in the Rush Limbaugh daypart, up 16.8-17.9 for its best midday showing ever. One seeming oddity in the spring and summer books reversed itself this time. Teen listening, which had shot up to a 3.5 share in summer, was at a more realistic 1.9 this time.

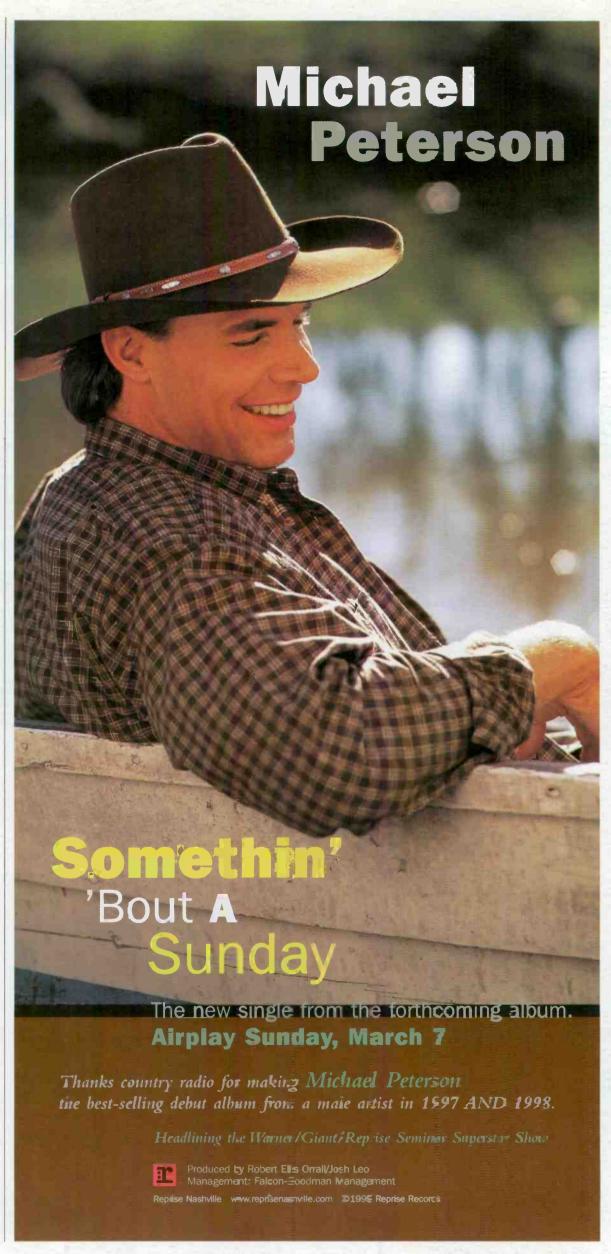

AC: A FIRM UPPER END

AC stations were also off with teens and more off at the young end in general this time around. Down 9.0-8.4 with teens and 16.1-15.5 in the 18-34 demo, AC was off a little less in the 25-54 demo (16.9-16.7) and flat in the 35-64 demo.

Normally, we'd see that and think that AC programmers, who had seen the opposite during the summer book-younger demos healthy, upper (money) demos downhad deliberately retrenched their ever-edgier format and refocused on their traditional core. But an alternate explanation is that AC probably saw some of its young adults go back to school, meaning that they were no longer forced to listen to the station the entire

Karmazin, Mays Plan Industry Summit

CBS/Infinity CEO Mel Karmazin and Clear Channel CEO Lowry Mays are inviting the CEOs of the country's top broadcasting groups to a meeting to discuss voluntary industry initiatives to increase minority ownership levels. 'We believe that the initiation of a broad-based, major effort by the industry on an independent, voluntary basis would demonstrate that solid industry initiatives can be a more effective means of achieving the FCC's goals than government regulation," the pair wrote in a Feb. 8

The formation of a loan fund that would help minorities enter broadcast ownership is among the proposals. The idea was first floated at a CEO summit, hosted last summer by the National Assn. of Broadcasters. The concept has the backing of such execs as Chancellor CEO Jeff Marcus and Fox CEO Rupert Murdoch. NAB president Eddie Fritts says he will recommend to his board that NAB contribute at least $10 million to the proposed fund.

Broadcasters strongly deny that this move is merely meant to avoid stricter regulation by the FCC. But the meeting will likely be held outside Washington, D.C., to avoid political influence. The Supreme Court has ruled that such programs can't be administered by the federal government, but it remains untested as to whether a private group can launch such an effort.

Elsewhere, Greater Media is selling its cable-TV systems in Massachusetts and Philadelphia to concentrate on its 14 radio stations.

Former Sinclair Broadcast Group CEO Barry
Baker is now president/COO of USA Networks.

GORE JOINS MINORITY STATIONS' BATTLE

FCC Chairman Bill Kennard and VP Al Gore are calling on advertisers to adopt a code of conduct when buying ads on radio and TV. Gore recently announced the creation of a group that will examine advertising practices and their impact on minority broadcasters. Members include the FCC, FTC, DOJ, and the Small Business Administration. Its mission will be to continue research on why advertisers avoid buying time on minority radio stations. The challenge follows a report issued by the FCC last month that found that advertisers bypass or pay less for spots on minority-owned and targeted stations.

Kennard returned to his roots of college radio last week, taking his low-power radio show on the road in a visit to the University of Maryland's WMUC. Kennard told the students, and the handful of listeners who could receive the 10-watt signal, that more outlets for local expression are needed.

While the FCC is still considering whether to allow newspaper and TV outlets to own radio stations in the same markets, the administration's policy arm is urging it to stay tough. Larry Irving, head of the National Telecommunications and Information Administration. is asking the FCC to retain a rule barring newspapers from buying radio and TV stations, saying common ownership threatens a diversity of viewpoints. Irving, however, supports allowing TV stations to buy radio stations, although he would cap their holdings at two FMs and two AMs.

COUNTRY CONFIDENTIAL BY WADE JESSEN

'Trio II' Goes Top Five—Without Radio

Without much help from radio, the sequel to Emmylou Harris, Linda Ronstadt, and Dolly Parton's 1987 "Trio" project opens at No. 5 on the Top Country Albums chart (see At-A-Glance, page 18). With more than 26,000 sold, "Trio II" enters the chart without major airplay support. One track from the new set, "High Sierra," was played at three monitored stations, for a total of 18 spins. Asylum promotion VP Stan Byrd says a single is forthcoming.

On the country album chart, the original Trio" project spent 29 weeks in the top 10, including five weeks at No. 1.

Deryl Dodd's cover of Gordon Light-foot's "Sundown" (Columbia), which entered our Country Airplay chart last issue, gains nine plays to rise 70-69 (see Impact! page 17), with airplay detected at Dallas outlets KPLX and KSCS. "Sundown" is found only on a special retail sampler and was not serviced to radio. The song is not included on Dodd's new self-titled album or on his debut set, "One Ride In Vegas."

Elsewhere on the chart, Zydeco act Wayne Toups & Zydecajun open with 70 plays at No. 67 with "Free Me" (BTM), with spins detected at KMDL and KXKC Lafavette, La., and WKIN Baton Rouge, La. Toups has long received regional airplay in those Bayou markets.

WHETHER YOU EMBRACE it or cover your eyes and ears when it's mentioned, the Y2K syndrome is ubiquitous, and it's the perfect time for country music to be, well, timely. We used to be well-known for tackling all kinds of issues like war, poverty, socioeconomic themes, and patriotism, yet we've settled so comfortably into the marshmallow world of love that we even slept through the president's yearlong scandal without a single song that even touched on the subject, for fear of the dreaded "P' word: polarization. (Yeah, where was "Monica's At The Lincoln Park Inn"?-Ed.)

OK, so maybe Y2K isn't as juicy as a major political sex scandal, but it's just as obvious an opportunity for a few really relevant country songs. We almost expect some sort of Y2K parody from comics like Jeff Foxworthy or Cledus T. Judd, but what about the more serious aspects of the new millennium? The Y2K phenomenon isn't limited to just whether our computers are all compliant.

We're probably not likely to hear too many Y2K songs between now and New Year's Eve, but one or two good tunes wouldn't hurt those who fear the worst or those who plan to party like it's 1999.

ALL FOR ONE: Following last week's announcement that the Curb and MCG labels have combined their promotion teams into one unit, our chart listings are updated to reflect that joint effort. All Curb titles remain. listed as such, while MCG titles are now listed with MCG as the imprint and Curb as the label. Since Airplay Monitor publishes no chart recaps based on the imprint category, the Curb collective will receive all applicable points in the label field.

WKHX's Moby Inspires With Benefit CD

BY PHYLLIS STARK

WKHX (Kicks 101.5) Atlanta morning man Moby has released a 15-track CD featuring his performances of inspirational recitations and hymns like "How Great Thou Art" and "In The Garden." The Atlanta Journal-Constitution says the recitations "often sound like Lorne Greene doing 'Ringo.' " As for the hymns, despite sometimes "[bordering] on the maudlin," the paper says "he's actually pretty good . . . sounding a lot like the big guy in the back row of the choir down at the Methodist church." Garth Records Pop/Rock Album

Garth Brooks' next album will be a pop/rock soundtrack to the film, "The Lamb," a project of his film development company, Red Strokes Entertainment. A Capitol spokesman told Billboard Brooks recorded the soundtrack as an "acting role on CD," adding that Brooks is considering acting in the film's title role of Chris Gaines. The album, set for release early this summer, will reportedly be issued under the pseudonym Chris Gaines, although it may be racked under Brooks' name. The film is projected for a summer 2000 release.

Singer/songwriter Jerry Kilgore has been signed to the Virgin Records Nashville artist roster. The Tillamook, Ore., native is a writer for Famous Music and penned Tracy Byrd's "Love Lessons" and John Michael Montgomery's "Cover You In Kisses."

The event will feature a preview party hosted by TNN's "Prime Time Country" host Gary Chapman April 16. Both events are fund-raisers for Sugarbugs Inc., a nonprofit support group for children with diabetes. Cook has also launched an amplifier and guitar company, Stinger Guitars, in Fort Payne, Ala. AN OVERVIEW OF RADIO PROMOTIONS • BY JEFF SILBERMAN

Promo Parties: It's Grammys Vs. Anti-Grammys

The Grammys continue to be a hot topic at radio, with the awards ceremony having taken place Feb. 25 in Los Angeles. Radio stations geared up with promotions focusing on the live Grammy telecast and with their own live broadcasts from clubs and other venues.

Not all the hype was positive, though, with KPWR Los Angeles holding what some would call the anti-Grammy party, called F... The Grammys. Hosted by D.J. Sondoobie, the live broadcast featured performances by Eminem and Dr. Dre, while Eminem and Sondoobie debated who they thought should have won the Grammys. Power 106 will hold a similar event for the Oscars, which debuts at No. 5 on the Topical Barometer this week. According to KPWR's Dianna Obermeyer, if it were up to the listeners, best picture of the year would go to "There's Something About Mary."

You know spring is just around the corner when baseball's exhibition season begins. In Phoenix, country KNIX has a lot to play with on-air, since superstar Garth Brooks is attending spring training with the San Diego Padres, who train locally. The station will host the Cactus League springtraining game between the Oakland A's and the Padres, where it's likely Brooks will play. Play-by-play called by Vicki Fiorelli there. To find the perfect pair, the WNCI morning show asked listeners to send in a résumé and a picture of themselves if they were interested in getting married on Valentine's Day. The prize for doing this consisted of a fully catered wedding at the WNCI studios, complete with wedding gown, his and hers wedding bands, and groom's tuxedo. The winners also received an all-expensespaid honeymoon to Los Angeles, but the participants where not told about this until after the vows had been exchanged.

Potential newlyweds were interviewed on-air by the morning show and weekly guest psychic Jane. Listeners were encouraged to call in with feedback as well. With the list narrowed down to five brides and five grooms, the station held bachelor and bachelorette parties for the finalists, at which Jane was able to meet with each of the wannabe marrieds. The two finalists were notified on-air and told they'd be wed the Friday morning before Valentine's Day in the studio.

With the bride's mother looking on, the couple exchanged vows, while morning duo Jimmy Jam and Ireland serenaded the couple with the classic "Endless Love."

What this means about the sacredness of marriage vows, we cannot say. But it does say a lot about how far listeners will go for a prize. Then again, this is a promotions column, not an ethics class.

QUICK HITS

Stepping up its game in the area of nontraditional revenue, WJTT (Power 94) Chattanooga, Tenn., holds its first Heritage Expo. The Expo, which focuses on African-American culture, will include exhibitors ranging from local businesses and educational forums to the arts.

In addition, Power 94 will give away $2,000 in prizes and gifts toward a wedding. Listeners can register at any of the Expo's bridal-sponsor booths or at the WJTT studios (to skirt the lottery issue). All stage activity (including the live performances) at the Expo will be "broadcast" over the Internet via Webcam technology, posting a series of pictures onto the station's World Wide Web site every 10 seconds or so. Wayne Collins is the online MC.

And when the U.S Postal Service recently upped the price of a stamp, WPXY Rochester, N.Y., went "postal." Throughout its Going Postal Weekend, listeners had the chance to win 98 1-cent stamps, tickets to see "You've Got Mail," a video rental of the movie "The Postman," tickets to see the U.S. Male Priority Delivery Tour strip show, and a $30 gift certificate to MailBoxes, Etc. Tristano Korlou delivers the concept.

Pay-for-play in Texas helped a station raise funds to battle drugs. KDMX (Mix 102.9) Dallas had its morning show stay onair for 54 hours straight, playing any song for $25 a pop. All proceeds were donated to appropriate charities. This promotion was also covered on at least 10 local news stations. On the take for charity was Loren Kondron.

Letter: Not Every Artist Can Be A Star

To the editor:

What's wrong with the country music industry these days? I'm no expert, but here's a quote from Monitor that has a lot to do with it: "[The fact that only one of 35 artists broke through last year] doesn't say anything about the music. It does say something about the system, because I don't think any of them released poor records" ("Radio Plight Of New Artists Has Heavy Management Fallout," Country Airplay Monitor, Feb. 5).

Every song was good, radio just didn't play them? It's that mentality that hurts our business. Every song is not a hit. Every act on every label is not a star. Those are not opinions but facts. Simple math dictates that not every record released can be a top 10 smash or every artist will go gold.

I don't think any label or management company signs an act that they don't believe in. But there is no way that every artist can make it. Not every team makes the playoffs, not every horse finishes in the money, and certainly not every radio station gets big ratings. Yet when an artist does not make it, it's always radio's fault.

I can't think of any situation good for both radio and Nashville where 35 new artists would all successfully break through in a year. Even in the biggest country growth spurts, the most artists breaking through in a single year was probably 15.

I think I would be considered a liberal programmer, as I play new artists, but there is no way I could introduce 35 new acts to my audience. In trying to do so, none of those acts would be able to establish an identity, and all the unfamiliar music would drive listeners away, hurting the established performers. In fact, because of the continued glut of new acts, if anything, I will play less new music in 1999 and concentrate on trying to establish better identities for the smaller number that I spin. Long term, it's better for everyone to build two new superstars than 35 mid- to low-level acts.

Not every act signed is going to be a star. Not every one should. Yes, radio is more conservative as to who we play, but it's only to balance out a record industry that has become far too liberal in who is signed.

Exclusive Arbitron Analysis Shows Top 40 Rebounding In Fall Book

office could agree on. (There's also some sense that top 40 did a better job of serving its 18-34 core this book.)

R&B: TOP 40 NOT 'TOO CLOSE'

R&B stations nudged ahead again this book with an 11.8-11.9 12-plus number that reflects both mainstream and adult outlets. That number doesn't, by the way, reflect many stations from the rapidly growing R&B oldies format; their impact should be measurable for the first time when the winter book numbers roll in this April.

Adult R&B stations, if you break them out separately, rebounded slightly from a two-book drop, up 3.4-3.6, meaning that mainstream outlets were, collectively, off a tenth of a share. Together, R&B outlets had their best morning numbers ever, their best male numbers ever, and their best 18-34 numbers ever.

They did this, by the way, in a book in which the format lost some of the musical exclusivity that it's enjoyed for the past several years, given the resistance of mainstream top 40 to most R&B crossovers. In the fall, top 40 PDs embraced "Too Close," "The Boy Is Mine," and "Are You That Somebody?," and the impact on mainstream R&B was still negligible.

COUNTRY: PARTYING LIKE IT'S 1990

Then again, country radio rebounded in the summer, seemingly unaffected by top 40's decision to embrace such country crossovers as This Kiss," "You're Still The One," etc. In the fall, however, country was off 9.8-9.6, its lowest 12-plus number since a 9.5 share in the summer of '90. The format was also back below a 10 share with 25-54 listeners, meaning that it's a double-digit format only among 35-64s.

Country Dayparts & Demos

	Su98	F98
Mornings	9.9	9.7
Middays	10.0	10.0
Afternoons	10.1	9.6
Nights	7.5	7.3
Teens	5.6	4.9
18-34	8.9	8.7
25-54	10.0	9.8
35-64	11.2	11.0
Men	9.5	9.3
Women	10.8	10.7

More distressing, country, which peaked at a 13.3 share in the fall of '92, was only twotenths ahead of the 9.4 share it had in spring '89, when Billboard and Arbitron first began measuring national numbers. In other words, the ongoing claim of country PDs that their format, despite its "leveling off," is better off than it was before the growth spurt started in 1990 is two-tenths of a share away from no longer being true.

Beyond country PDs' ongoing debate about the state of the current music available to them, country is one of the formats that you'd expect to be hit more in a strong N/T book. It was off 11.2-11.0 35-64, while N/T was up 18.2-18.8 in that cell. Then again, AC, also a candidate for some N/T-based upper-demo erosion, was flat 16.2 in that demo.

One more telling statistic about country: It was down in every daypart except middays, where it held stable with a 10 share. That country is now stronger in middays than anywhere else would seem to reflect the increasingly ACish feel of the format.

TOP 40: A SURPRISING REBOUND

If you looked at the fall Arbitrons on a market-by-market basis as they rolled in during January, it wasn't looking like a very good book for top 40. Surprisingly, the format was still up overall, 8.8-8.9, reclaiming the tenth of a share it lost during the summer. Some of that is probably due to a couple of strong debuts in new top 40 markets that compensated for losses of half a share or more in many others.

Top 40 was off 7.9-6.9 in middays, as you'd expect with the teens back in school, but it was up in mornings (7.5-8.2), afternoons (9.3-9.7), and nights (11.4-12.7), in each case surpassing its numbers from last spring, showing that the format not only restored the numbers it had before summer disrupted normal listening patterns, but bettered them.

Top 40's biggest gains were at the younger end, up 13.0-13.5 18-34 and 29.9-33.2 with teens. It was the first time that top 40 had controlled more than a third of the teen audience since spring '95. (It controlled 56% of the teen audience when we started these measurements 10 years ago.) The format was off a tick in 25-54 (7.2-7.1) and 35-64 (4.6-4.5).

Does that reflect a fall book in which the format played not only more R&B and rap than it had in years but also harder-edged modern rock records (Eve 6, Offspring, etc.) and more teen groups? Possibly, but the upper-end losses weren't fatal. In any event, the format looks demographically a little more like you'd expect it to, as opposed to a year ago, when it began reclaiming adults but not, to the same extent, its younger end.

MODERN GETS ITS GROOVE BACK

Both album and classic rock radio were off during the summer, the latter sharply (4.8-4.5). Classic rock, which had been picking up stations for a few years, as the remnants of the '70s oldies format morphed into classic hits outlets, again lost them this time. Last summer, 104 classic rock stations made an Arbitron book somewhere in the top 100 markets. This time, 99 did.

Classic and mainstream rock stations would be logical victims of an N/T spurt. They may also have been affected by a slightly resurgent modern rock format, which had a pretty good slate of product during the fall (as well as many stations that made a point of rocking harder this time around). Modern rock's 3.8-3.9 12plus rebound may not approach the 4.4 share it had during most of '96, but it's a step in the right direction for a format that saw so many heavily publicized defections in 1997-98.

Modern rock was up in every demo, including at the upper end. It was up in 25-54 (3.7-3.8) and 35-64 (1.7-1.9). While modern rock radio never appeared to lose that many listeners to modern AC (more likely, modern AC claimed listeners who never made it to modern in the first place), it would appear that it's reclaiming some of the audience it did lose

Craig Powers hopes to remake KIKF Anaheim,

As of Feb. 25, KIKF's music will be 80% curmediums, 20 for lights. Among its more unusual moves is adding promo music beds like the before. To do that, I can't be a traditional-sounding country station. It's got to be more of a mass-appeal, top 40 presentation. That way, the sta-sive—and successful.

Craig Powers VP of Programming KIKF Anaheim, Calif. Owner: Astor Broadcasting older, pokey, twangy country station'

KIKF's relaunch includes the new slogan "The all-new 94.3 KIKF-FM, country for a new generation," a new logo, World Wide Web site, bumper sticker, billboards, and a major on-air giveaway. The station turned the local stop of the Crown Royal Tour, starring Mark Chesnutt, into its Feb. 25 launch party and sold tickets for $9.43. It's inked a deal for the exclusive presents at all concerts at the Crazy Horse Saloon. But mostly, Powers says, "we're going to do the old Barnum and Bailey promotion-making the show seem bigger than it really is," with events like the world's largest line-dance contest.

The fact that most other country stations are tightening is exactly why Powers says the time is right to do the opposite. "Everybody's playing it safe right now for several reasons," he says. "One may be because they work for a huge corporation, and they're afraid of losing their jobs if they step out on a limb. Another is that a lot of consultants have advised stations that they've got to keep the 35-plus core happy. Well, my view is the opposite. I want to bring new people into this small country pie that we have here, and to do that, I can't be an older, pokey, twangy country station. I've got to be a young, aggressive, uptempo, highly visible in the streets type station that's fun to listen to and has personality."

Rival L.A. station KZLA has "a passive format [that] almost sounds like a soft AC presentation with country music," says Powers. "The only direction for me to go is to be a young, aggressive country radio station that appeals to a younger audience . . . And specifically in this market, the demographics are right. The music is starting to turn around and become more aggressive We're in a position right now like we were in 1990 where all kinds of new, great music is coming out, and we need to be playing it."

Powers says his advantage at KIKF will be that the station has a single owner, rather than a huge corporation. "It's similar to Mike Curb, [who] is the owner of Curb Records. He has to answer to no one. Same thing with [Astor Broadcasting owner] Art Astor. If I have an idea, I run it by Art Astor, and it's on-air in less that a half hour. I don't have to run it by the board of directors. I don't have to run it by the consultant. We can be much more aggressive.'

MONITOR PROFILE

Astor's Powers Envisions KIKF As The

Home Of A Young, Fresh Country Sound

Powers says he's seen a lot of stifled programmers out there. "Being in the record business the last four years [as West Coast regional for MCG/Curb] and out there visiting these stations, I can see the frustration on these PDs' faces, because their hands are tied.'

Powers returned to Astor Broadcasting Feb. 22. Along with country KIKF, where he'll also do afternoons, he'll oversee programming for adult standards KSPA/classical KFSD San Diego.

Just after the news broke that Powers was leaving MCG/Curb, a press release was issued announcing that Curb and MCG/Curb would combine their promotion teams. Powers says he had no idea that was in the works when he decided to leave, but he felt like "I could do more for country music in Southern California with this [radio] job than with the job I had." He says Astor had been after him to return for quite some time, but he decided to make the move now, because "we're on the verge of another huge explosion in country, and, especially in Southern California, there's no place to go for country radio but up. Nobody's ever been successful presenting a top 40, aggressive, emotional country station in Southern California. Nobody's ever done it."

Powers says his experience working on the record side will make him a different kind of programmer than he was previously. "I know without a doubt I'm going to be a much better PD because of that [record] experience," he says. 'I now realize how much money these record companies spend on putting out one single. It's astronomical. Whereas before I may have taken 10 seconds to listen to a record, I'm going to sit down with it and listen four, five, six times and be more conscious of [it] than I was before."

In addition, Powers says, "I promise to return every single phone call. I'm going to be much more considerate and have a lot more passion for the labels and the music.

'In my [label] experience, one of the great parts about it was I got to hear all the great radio stations in the West," Powers adds. "You can imagine the knowledge I was able to accumulate by taking in everything that they've done and then adding my own mix to it."

He says he's "spoken with a lot of the Nashville VPs already and explained the sound of the station that we want, and I've tried to explain that I won't be able to play any hokey, twangy country music, and there's a lot of it out there now. I'm looking for fresh, updated" country music. "Some people are going to say, Well, you're going to blow away your core.' I'm not going [to]. My oldies are going to be from the last 10 years: Garth Brooks, George Strait, Brooks & Dunn, Tim McGraw. Our core artists today will become our oldies. That'll keep our core happy."

Powers admits that even as recently as a year ago his ideas for KIKF, which did not show in L.A.'s fall Arbitrons, would never have flown, because the music was not available to support it. Even now, he says, "I may have to start digging for records. It may be hard for a while until Nashville starts putting out a better sound. We need 10 more Mutt Langes in Nashville. The music business is a young business and it's always changing, and through the past few years country hasn't changed. It's gotten bor-ing, and the listeners are moving on to better music and other formats. So I'm hoping that we can get that better music back. Young, fresh country music. I'm going to be the first one to put it on the radio here, and I think the listeners will come back in droves.

Relaunching By Labels Gives New Acts (Rare) Second Chance

by Phyllis Stark

When debut singles fail, as they often do, the normal procedure is to ship another single to radio immediately and try again or, worse, to drop the act altogether. But as the stakes have gotten higher, and the odds of success smaller, some labels are now taking a hiatus, regrouping, and completely relaunching the act months—even a year—later.

That's exactly the tactic Monument employed for Gil Grand, Epic is using for Shana Petrone, and Giant will use for the act formerly known as Springer!, now rechristened the Roger Springer Band. None of those acts' first singles performed as hoped, but promotion executives from all three labels say they believe in the acts enough to figure out why and correct the problems.

Grand's debut single, "Famous First Words," peaked at No. 73 last May. Nine months later, his second single, "Let's Start Livin'," has already outperformed his debut. That single rose 64-57 on the Country Airplay Chart this week. Petrone's "Heaven Bound" peaked at No. 60 in July. Epic plans to ship the new single, "This Time," in April, almost a year after she was first introduced to radio. Springer!'s "Don't Try To Find Me," peaked at No. 64 in October. Giant plans to come back with a new single, probably "The Last Dance," in May.

So what do these acts and labels do

So what do these acts and labels do in the interim? In the case of Sony acts Grand and Petrone, the music was tweaked, and new songs were cut for their album projects. Grand's new single was remixed and remastered from the original version, and the backing vocals were re-sung, while the rest of his album was "tweaked and brightened," according to VP of promotion Larry Pareigis

"This Time" is one of three new sides Petrone went back into the studio and cut with a different producer, Paul Worley. Epic VP of promotion Rob Dalton explains, "Although we feel we've got a lot of singles on the album, we just didn't feel absolutely confident that we had the single to really start the process, to really cut through the current climate we're in, especially given a very crowded category like female artist."

The labels, meanwhile, have been hashing out new plans of attack for these artists.

A STEP BACK

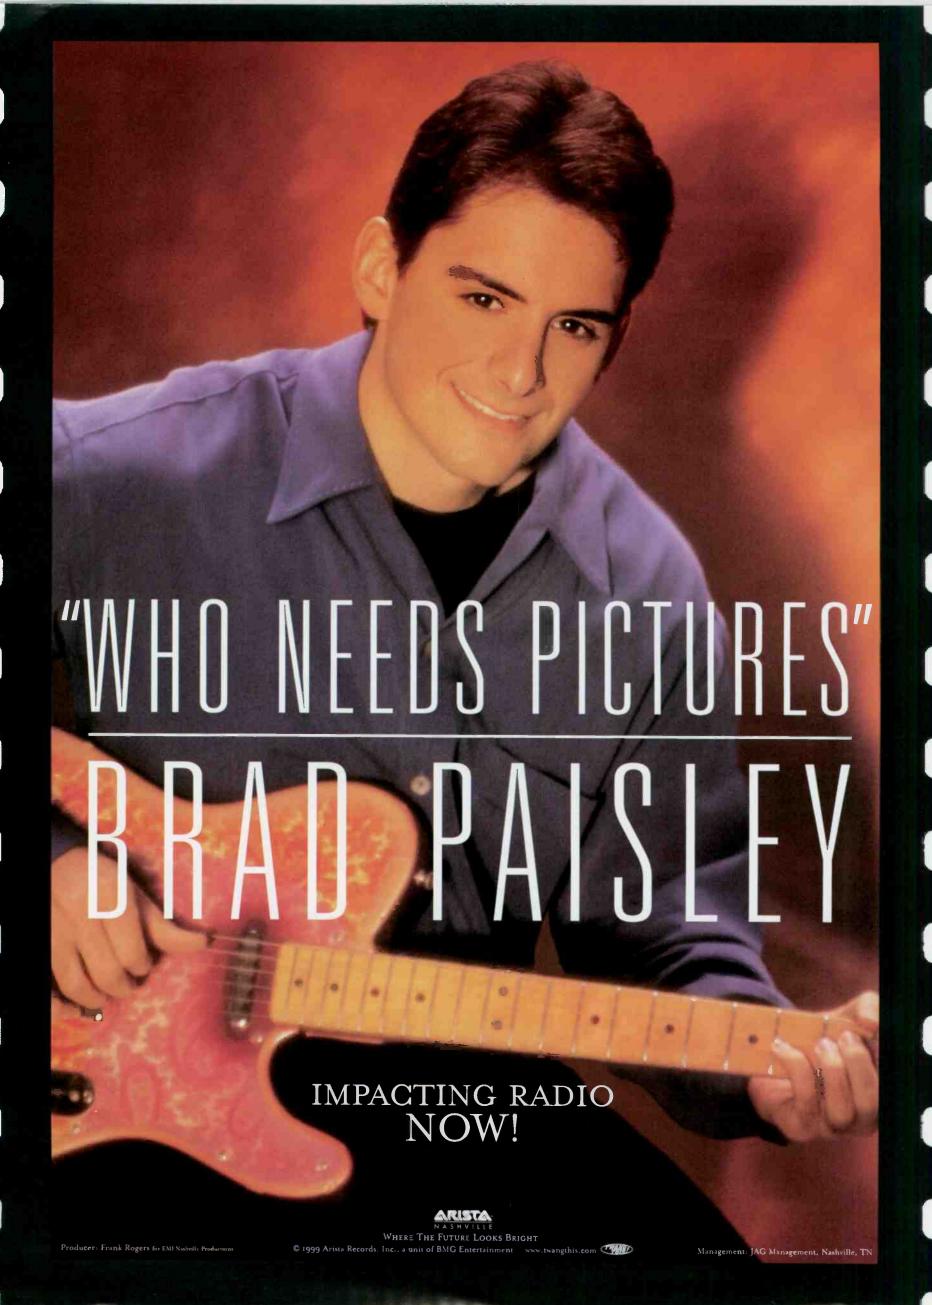

"We took a predicated step back and looked at the things we didn't feel were working and analyzed them," says Pareigis. "We fixed the music so we could come back to radio and say, 'We took this music and designed it for your needs.' "

But why take so much time between singles? Pareigis says, "It's very easy to burn whatever goodwill you've achieved by shipping single after single after single out there that doesn't work. After you take that shot, and it doesn't work, you take the project back to the garage, retool it, and re-present it. You owe it to radio to do that, because you have to take your best shot now. With singles lasting half a year, you can't waste a shot. You have to come out with your absolute best effort."

"It's unorthodox, historically, for a major release to ship one single, be out there for five minutes, and regroup and reassess, as opposed to just shipping another single and hoping it will break through," says Dalton. "After realizing that 'Heaven Bound' wasn't it, we refocused and took a hard look at who [Petrone]

Country Down In National Fall Arbitron Survey

As one might expect from the ongoing presidential sex scandal, it was a good fall book for news/talk stations. But it was also a good fall for R&B, top 40, and even modern rock stations. On the other hand, AC continued to slip, especially in younger demos, while country stations posted their lowest numbers in nine years.

Those are the headlines from Airplay Monitor's latest national tally of Arbitron's fall ratings in its continuous-measurement markets by format. Full breakouts will run in next week's issue of Airplay Monitor. Here are the highlights:

N/T radio managed its best book since the fall '96 election, but its 16.8 share 12-plus was still a tenth of a share short of the fall '95 O.J. Simpson verdict book.

AC radio remained the No. 1 music format

but continued to slip, albeit within its customary 14-share range. AC was down more at the lower end than in older demos, suggesting, among other things, the loss of some teens and young adults who headed back to high school or college and were no longer compelled to listen to the station the whole office could agree on.

• R&B radio tied its best 12-plus numbers ever. And that's before most of the new R&B oldies outlets, which should make themselves felt in the winter, appeared.

• Country, after a brief retrenchment last summer, is now at its lowest point since summer '90. And it's only two-tenths of a share ahead of when we started measuring national Arbitron numbers in spring '89. Country's only stable daypart was middays, suggesting the extent to which the newer, softer country has become an alternate version of AC.

Top 40 was off in middays, as you'd expect with the teens back in school. But it was up everywhere else, rebounding from a slightly off summer book. In a book in which the hits were more hip-hop-based, top 40 was up in teens and 18-34 and off, slightly, at the upper end.

· Album and classic rock were off, but modern rock, despite its format defections, is rebounding. It's not back to its 1996 levels, but the slide has been halted. That, combined with the AC numbers, suggests that modern may be taking back some turf-not that it lost much in the first place—from SEAN ROSS modern AC

No New Single Breaks Top 10 Logjam

CHART ACTION: Although the traffic jam at the top of our Country Airplay chart begins to crumble as the top three titles lose spins, not one new single breaks into the top 10 this issue, despite stiff competition. Each of our top 10 titles has spent between 12 and 22 weeks on the

The top nine titles each lose spins at one or more stations. In fact, perhaps due to special weekend programming like the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital radiothon, aired at several stations, and the Daytona 500 race, 34 charted titles are down in the total stations tally.

LEADING A PACK of working-class anthems with increased chart impact this issue is Billy Ray Cyrus' "Busy Man," which gained 133 plays to bullet at No. 10 on our Country Airplay chart. The last time Cyrus saw top 10 ink was around Christmas 1993, when "Somebody New" peaked at No. 9. "Busy Man" is one of four such everyday-themed titles, including Chad Brock's "Ordinary Life" (26-23); Tracy Byrd's lighthearted "When Mama Ain't Happy" (33-31), and Ty Herndon's "Hands Of A Working Man" (34-27).

Brock's "Ordinary Life" is a follow-up to his first single, "Evangeline," which peaked at No. 51 last year. Although it's much less reflective than the other three titles, Byrd's "When Mama Ain't Happy" also deals with keeping the home fires burning and making domestic issues a life priority. It isn't uncharted territory for Byrd, who has previously scored with material such as "Lifestyles Of The Not So Rich And Famous." While it's not completely unusual for our chart to be dotted with such working-classthemed material, it certainly hasn't been the norm in recent years, with their abundance of love themes. Perhaps this signals a trend toward more relatable lifestyle themes in country.

ALL TOGETHER NOW: In a joint promotion venture between Mercury and BNA, Sammy Kershaw and Lorrie Morgan's "Maybe Not Tonight" opens on our Country Airplay chart at No. 58. Similar to the 1998 Reba McEntire/Brooks & Dunn teaming by MCA and Arista Nashville on "If You See Him/If You See Her," promotion duties will be shared by both labels, and the song will appear on forthcoming sets by both artists. Our chart listings for the duet will reflect the Mercury/BNA collective effort, and airplay points will be divided equally between the two labels for year-end

TIME OUT: Due to human error, airplay data from KYCW Seattle was omitted for chart tabulation this week. We'll readd their information next issue.

BEST WISHES: Country Music Disc Jockey Hall of Fame member and CDX co-founder Charlie Douglas is recuperating from heart-bypass surgery at his Nashville home. Get-well wishes can be sent to his office at 2603 Westwood Drive, Nashville, Tenn. 37204.

Spin Cycle Starts For Clear Channel, Jacor

With a September closing set for the $4.4 billion merger of Clear Channel and Jacor, the two companies have begun spinning stations to meet FCC ownership requirements. The spins, valued at $340 million, will see Clear Channel and Jacor enter one new market, Syracuse, N.Y., where they pick up WBBS from Cox The deal also has Clear Channel spinning WRBQ-FM Tampa., Fla., off to Infinity, owner of crosstown rival WQYK-FM.

In other merger news, Chancellor CEO Jeffrey Marcus says the company has begun reviewing the budgets of Capstar stations, with a closing on their merger set for midyear. Chancellor has hired additional investment bankers to shop the company, including Goldman Sachs and Tom Hicks' buyout firm, Hicks, Muse, Tate & Furst, which owns 27% of Chancellor.

Elsewhere, the president of ABC's O&O radio group, John Hare, adds oversight of ABC Radio Networks with a promotion to president of ABC Radio.

Cumulus Media has signed a one-year agreement with Scott Ginsburg's DG Systems to provide two-way audio services between Cumulus' Chattanooga, Tenn., production facility and its 212 stations.

Radio One has joined other major broadcast groups in making a $100,000 equity investment in USA Digital Radio, a developer of one of three competing digital radio systems.

Root Communications signs former top 40 WIOQ (Q102) Philadelphia VP/GM Dan Savadove as CEO of the 29-station group.

CAPITOL HILL NOTICES MICROS

With the Monica Lewinsky matter finished, Congress seems to have awakened to telecommunications issues. House telecom subcommittee chair Billy Tauzin, R-La., has fired a letter off to FCC chairman Bill Kennard demanding he explain his low-power-radio plan

By enlisting a heavyweight like Tauzin, Andy Schwartzmann, president of the Media Access Project, a public-interest group that supports microradio, says the National Assn. of Broadcasters is throwing its weight around. Jesse Jackson's Rainbow/PUSH Coalition came out in favor of low-power FM last week, although Radio One opposes it.

Elsewhere on the Hill, Rep. Mike Oxley, R-Ohio, is sponsoring a bill that would remove the 24-year-old ban on newspaper/broadcast crossownership. Oxley is also questioning how the FCC paid for its study of minority ad practices.

AN OVERVIEW OF RADIO PROMOTIONS • BY JEFF SILBERMAN

323-525-2303 • jsilberman@airplaymonitor.com

The Hottest Topic Winner Is . . . The Grammys

Hit music's prom night, the Grammys, is top of mind in this week's Topical Barometer, with the upcoming "Star Wars" movie and the Internet second and third, respectively.

Grammy nods go to R&B WPHI Philadelphia's L.A. Sends You to L.A. Listeners to L.A. Day's midday show qualify for a trip to the Grammys in L.A., hotel, a chauffeured car, and entry into Warner Bros.' after-party. Modern AC KDMX Dallas gives winners Grammy packs of CDs and qualifies them to win a trip for two to the big show. Modern WPLY (Y100) Philadelphia middayer Bret Hamilton will broadcast live from backstage at the Grammys with a celebrity co-host. Top 40 WPXY Rochester, N.Y., has Round the Clock Grammys, in which every hour of the day, the eighth caller wins a Grammy-nominee CD and qualifies for a chance to win a trip to see the event. Nominees for Grammy promo producers of this column are Amber Noble, Loren Condron, Kelly Gross, and Tristano Korlou, respectively.

It's 10 months away, but some stations are already setting up year 2000 bashes. Modern KEDJ Phoenix has rented out a 1920s ice storage warehouse to hold its Peepshow 2000 party, complete with visuals and surprises. It will also tailor one of its biannual fashion shows, Grunge Gone Glam, for the millennium. Jane Monzures is thinking ahead.

Just missing the top 10 was Mardi Gras, which WPLY will celebrate on South Street in Philadelphia. Highlights include live performances by local bands, bobbing for crawfish in a tub of gumbo, and a male stripping contest for a trip to Jamaica (judged by a drag queen and a male stripper named Flabbio and others). Kelly Gross collects the beads.

Wayne Collins of R&B WJTT Chattanooga, Tenn. "More, smaller giveaways increases the perceptions that you're giving away lots of cash, especially among contest-hungry listeners.

Country KNIX Phoenix's Vicki Fiorelli says, "We are giving away a lot of money this year, as is the competition. We want many people to win cash instead of one lucky winner. Besides, that big winner may not even be a loval listener.'

Which raises the issue of how to weed out contest pigs. WPXY's Korlou has a database that lists all the winners who have won more than once in 30 days, so they can be disqualified as the prize abusers. WJTT's Collins also has an in-house computer system that can constantly cross-check contest winners. "It will also eliminate the need for paper winner's records and prize-claim receipts," he notes. "This is all possible through a combo of MS Exchange Server and MS Access Barbara Luchsinger from triple-A KKZN (the Zone) Dallas doesn't have a cash budget to speak of; nevertheless, she has something that's almost as good. "We found that we could get a lot more 'mileage' from buying miles from American Airlines and lock into our listeners' minds with theater-of-the-mind radio offers,' she explains. "At a cost of 2 cents a mile, we gave away 2,500 miles daily, from Monday to Thursday (cost: $500) and 200,000 miles on Friday (cost: $4,000). Listeners had to identify two songs in a row from the week's featured artist. Jocks pick a destination anywhere in the world; they surf the Net to research that destination and [plug] the [contest] by [describing the destination as] a world-class adventure [listeners] could take if they won the miles."

More than 600 country radio broadcasters, label reps, and artists attended the 10th annual St. Jude Radiothon Training Seminar Jan. 16-17 in Memphis. PROMO OF THE WEEK: CASH GIVEAWAYS

Big cash giveaways may create the most buzz, but in an era of multimillion-dollar lotteries, Promoganda pollers get better results with a larger number of smaller cash prizes. More than 40% say they get the most out of a lot of small cash prizes ($500 and under), 17% prefer a smaller number of $500-$1,000 jackpots, and an equal number opt for the solo $10,000-plus winner. (Also, 25% don't like giving away cash

The majority speaks: "We like the idea of spreading the love among our listeners," says QUICK HITS

Jumping on the hottest headlines, album rock KEGL's morning show sent its stunt boy, dressed in the purple Teletubbie outfit, to the gay district in Dallas, looking for a date. Loren Condron was the matchmaker.

R&B WVEE (V103) Atlanta is having a tripleprize weekend; prizes include tickets to a Lauryn Hill concert and the play "What's Love Got To Do With It," plus a grand-prize drawing for a trip to the Grammy Awards. Lenny Whiteside is the ticket broker.

Country KEEY Minneapolis will debut its modified race car, which will travel all over the state's race circut, at a car show in Minneapolis. Pressing the pedal to the metal is Diana Buckmann.

When he was at modern WBCN Boston, country WYNY (Y107) New York's Jason Steinberg mastered the "drop" stunt: dropping things from a high point to watch them smash on the ground. Successful drops always pull massive attendance and media exposure. Try vans (good way to get rid of an old one), pumpkins (800 lbs.-plus), money, turkeys (à la Les Nessman), and typewriters (for Secretaries' Day). His all-time fave: a grand piano in honor of Elton John. "Five towns shot us down for permits," he says. "Finally, one town let us do it. Over 5,000 people saw it.

Rhythmic top 40 KLUC Las Vegas held a Mystery Mouthful contest, where listeners guessed what was placed in their mouths. Finding it hard to swallow was Vanessa Thill.

"We just haven't shipped singles like we're playing a slot machine," says Dalton. "We've been hard at work for the past year trying to make sure when we ship it, it's right. We didn't have a plan for it to be a year between the first and second single; that's just how long it took before everything was ready and right

For the Roger Springer Band, Giant head of promotion Denny Mosesman says, "we put the breaks on to actually spend a little bit of time talking to management, the group, and among ourselves about what happened, why it didn't work, and what we did wrong, to prevent it from happening again. We believe in them so strongly we refuse to say, 'That didn't work; let's go on to the next thing.' We think this is an incredible album. The first record got lost. We don't want that to happen again, so we immediately changed gears, because we realized if we stumble again, we're probably out of the Giant has shipped a cassette of "The Last Dance" to radio and assigned one person on staff to call stations and get feedback on it for the next four to six weeks. "If we have that information, we're better-equipped to go back after this album," says Mosesman. The cassette mailer also included a letter from Mosesman that, he says, tells programmers " 'we really believe in this band, and we're just being honest with you-we want to make sure we don't stumble this time.' I was just straightforward and honest with radio. We're asking them, 'Is this a record you can play?' "

Pareigis also says its important to be honest with radio about what is going on with the act. You overcome the skepticism with a serious plan in hand that you share with them," he

But Dalton doesn't believe there is much of an obstacle to overcome at radio with a relaunch, because programmers are too busy with their jobs to worry about where an artist has been for the last year. "As busy as radio seems to be right now, and with as many new artists and new music coming across their desk, I don't think it was a great concern of theirs,' says Dalton. "Out of sight, out of mind. But out of sight doesn't mean she's disappeared."

SECOND TIME'S THE CHARM?

These elaborate relaunches are taking place even when the act in question got a high-profile setup the first time around

Grand debuted last year with what Pareigis calls "a very extensive launch" that included four small showcases and one larger one, a 12week radio tour, and a performance during last year's Country Radio Seminar. For his encore bid, Grand will play the New Faces show at CRS, and Pareigis says, "We've gotten him involved in not only seeing radio again, but also involved in things they were already doing," such as radiothons for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. In addition, Monument "devised fax and E-mail-based contesting to make sure the single got heard, because that is one of the biggest fights you face when you are in the process of getting an act re-listened to," says Pareigis. "You have to overcome some of the skepticism at radio.

Grand's new single was shipped with a copy of Monument's first reissue project in years, Roy Orbison's "16 Biggest Hits," as a way, Pareigis says, "of saying this is what Monument stood for and stands for. Sort of like a past and future thing." Pareigis also made a point of reservicing the single to radio multiple times to make sure it was noticed.

Petrone was originally launched with a showcase in Austin, Texas, and a partial radio tour. Dalton says, "It was a pretty front-loaded launch," including "trade ads, imaging pieces, and a picture campaign." For her second launch, Epic has chosen to poke fun at itself, shooting an elaborate video skit that "explains where we've been," says Dalton. Epic regionals will take the video out to radio and play it for PDs in the DVD format.

Petrone is also performing at several conventions, including CRS. Dalton says, "We're taking this entire time to really try to precondition the marketplace as best we can before we ship" the second single. She's also visiting some stations, particularly ones "where we can create events, track dates, small listener things, and try to do something productive, as opposed to just going by radio stations, saying, Here I am, and here's my music.'

Springer! was launched with what Mosesman calls "a very successful showcase" in New Orleans. As was the case with Petrone, Mosesman says, "the feedback we received from the showcase was that people really thought they were great and really liked their music, and so we thought things were positive at that point. The one problem was the showcase was the weekend before add day, and the world has changed. I had a room full of people that left saying their music's great, but that doesn't mean they are going to go right back home and put the record on their radio station. They have a whole bunch of priority records that are ahead of Springer! So even with their positive reaction, the record has to get in line. So because of the atmosphere and timing, the record got lost.

And despite a group of stations like KPLX Dallas that did play the record and have success with it, Mosesman says, "the problem was that because we didn't have good chart numbers and other adds, the picture didn't look bright for other radio stations to add the record.'

RAH-JER! RAH-JER!

In addition to the cassette mailer of what the label hopes will be the second single, Springer! will be relaunched with a new name, the Roger Springer Band. Mosesman says that change resulted from some people thinking the band was actually TV talk-show host Jerry Springer. In fact, the well-respected music publication ICE listed the album title and its original release date next to the brief review that said "Jerry Springer does country." Mosesman says, "There definitely was a problem with the band name. Everyone at radio has said, 'Thank God you've changed the name.'

For its second launch, the Roger Springer Band will do some club dates at which the label will get both radio and the public out to see it perform.

Far, Far Better Thing For WYYD, WJLM That Jaymes Lives A Tale Of Two Cities

To Robynn Jaymes, the fact that Arbitron considers the Virginia cities of Roanoke and Lynchburg to be one market is kind of a cruel joke. Last April, when Capstar bought Benchmark and once-rival country stations WYYD Lynchburg and WJLM (J93.5) Roanoke became co-owned, longtime WYYD staffer Jaymes was made PD for both stations while continuing to host mornings at WYYD. Ever since, she's been making the 64-mile trek between the stations two or three times a week. She refers to running both stations as her "tale

When she first added PD duties at WJLM, Jaymes says, it made sense that she would run both country outlets. But, she adds, "of course, I was young and naive and foolish" then. "Logistics were never an issue." Now, 10 months into it, she says, "the logistics are very hard on me. I work 12- to 14-hour days, but it's corporate radio right now, and if I don't do it, they will find someone who will. The saving grace is I love what I do."

To keep herself organized while bi-locating, Jaymes says that she's upgraded from "a daytimer the size of my hand to a notebook" and began carrying a PalmPilot filled with phone numbers. Connecting E-mail at both offices has been her "godsend." She is constantly trying to catch up on phone calls from people who call at one station while she is at the other, or somewhere in between, and, she says, the experience of trying to track her down must be frustrating for label promotion reps.

Among the challenges of programming two stations so far apart are "more meetings than ever, which takes me out of the day-to-day element," and more paperwork. "I'm convinced when I leave one office and go to the other that it multiplies on my desk like rabbits," she says. 'Memos, faxes, forms—on any given day, there are probably 50 pieces of paper on my desk."

To take advantage of the hourlong commute between stations, Jaymes had a CD player installed in the station van and uses the time to listen to new music. Until recently, she was also handling MD duties for both stations. ("No wonder I'm tired. I guess that One-a-Day with iron isn't working," she quips.) Earlier this year, she hired Lisa Jo Elliott from WAEZ (Electric 99) Bristol, Va., as MD/morning cohost at WILM and assistant MD at WYYD. Since then, she has almost completely overhauled the WJLM air staff, with only one original person remaining.

In addition to the physical distance between the cities, Jaymes says, they also have "different mentalities. Lynchburg is older, more conservative. It's Jerry Falwell. Roanoke is a little more metropolitan." As a result, the stations are targeted differently, with WYYD including Conway Twitty and George Jones in its playlist and WJLM targeting a younger demo and po-sitioning itself as "a younger, more hip, fun, unpredictable radio station, not to say that at

WYYD we're crusty and old," says Jaymes WJLM is the station most likely to do stunting, such as a recent one in which morning co-host Shae Stevens lost a bet to Elliott and had to stand on a street corner wearing a diaper and holding a sign that read "Lisa Jo is always right."

WYYD plays 37 currents, and its programming includes one of what Jaymes calls "a classic or 'oh, wow' record" every hour. WJLM plays 33 currents but goes on new product faster and uses the "new music first" positioner. The recently hired Phil Hunt of Rusty Walker Programming is the fourth consultant Jaymes has worked with in the past 21 months.

Jaymes has worked with in the past 21 months. Here's a sample hour on WYYD: Shania Twain, "That Don't Impress Me Much"; LeAnn Rimes, "Nothin' New Under The Moon"; Alabama, "Keepin' Up"; Randy Travis, "Forever And Ever, Amen"; Tim McGraw, "Just To See You Smile"; Jo Dee Messina, "Heads Carolina, Tails California"; Mark Wills, "Wish You Were Here"; George Strait, "All My Exes Live In Texas"; Michael Peterson, "From Here To Eternity"; Joe Diffie, "Bigger Than The Beatles"; Trisha Yearwood, "Powerful Thing"; Alan Jackson, "Gone Crazy"; Vince Gill, "I Still Believe In You"; Wade Hayes, "Old Enough To Know Better"; Collin Raye, "Little Red Rodeo"; Garth Brooks, "Two Piña Coladas". Bryan White "Pebecca Lynn": Piña Coladas"; Bryan White, "Rebecca Lynn"; and Clay Walker, "If I Could Make A Living."

And here's an hour on WJLM: Mary Chapin Carpenter, "He Thinks He'll Keep Her"; Brooks & Dunn, "I Can't Get Over You"; Kenny Chesney, "How Forever Feels"; Neal McCoy, "If You Can't Be Good (Be Good At It)"; Travis Tritt, "No More Looking Over My Shoulder"; Brad Paisley, "Who Needs Pictures"; Tracy Byrd, "I'm From The Country"; Shania Twain, "Honey I'm Home"; Mark Chesnutt, "I Don't Want To Miss A Thing"; Ty Herndon, "Hands Of A Working Man"; Deana Carter, "You Still Shake Me"; Dixie Chicks, "I Can Love You Better"; Ricochet, "Daddy's Money"; Alabama, "How Do You Fall In Love"; and the Kinleys, "Somebody's Out There Watching.'

Like many stations in the market, WYYD can be heard in both cities, thanks to a translator. WJLM is only audible in Roanoke. WYYD is No. 1 in the market with an 11 share. WJLM is No. 9 with a 4 share.

Jaymes says she structures her time so that her focus is always on the station where she is physically present. "I compete against myself," she says, but "I'm going to do everything I can to win. The goal is for me to get the numbers up at both stations." But, she admits, planning strategy for one station against the other is kind of like having insider knowledge."

Like any good underdog, she uses more guerrilla marketing tactics at WJLM, including using the liner "This ain't your granddad-dy's radio station" to take a crack at WYYD. "I'm willing to take shots," says Jaymes. "[An-other competitor would] so why shouldn't I? I want to cover all the bases that I think a competitor would look at.'

Jaymes says that each station's staff sees the other as "the enemy. For competition's sake, I want them to see it that way.'

The one programming element the stations share is the acoustic show "Live From Studio" Star." When labels come through town on radio tours with artists, Jaymes puts the artists on the air, interviews them, and has them perform. The show airs live at whichever station the artist is visiting and is tape-delayed on the other. It is done generically, so each station can add its own identifier.

"My thinking is if [labels] want to expose me to the artist, they should expose my listeners as well," says Jaymes. PHYLLIS STARK

Radio Couples On Keeping Love And Business In Heavy Rotation

by Marc Schiffman, Jeff Silberman, and Phyllis Stark

Valentine's Day, and as young PDs' fancy turns to thoughts of love, some broadcasters have only to walk down the hall to be with the object of their affection.

"Radio couples" include partners who work at the same station, those who work at rival stations, and even programmer/label-rep pairings. Each scenario has its unique challenges. But one of the major benefits is having someone who understands you when you use words like "back-timing," "LMA," and "non-directional antenna." Here's how nine industry couples mix the personal with the professional.

GINNY & MIKE

Recently married with an infant son, country WKLB Boston PD Mike Brophey and APD/MD Ginny Rogers say their relationship works because of a very strict set of rules for professional conduct. Brophey says, "Under no circumstances do we show any affection at work or use any terms of endearment, and we treat each other as we would if we weren't in a relationship. I think we both made a special effort so there wasn't a coziness about us in the work atmosphere, and that includes [industry artist] showcases. There is a certain laxness that develops when you are that casual. People perceive you in a different way. It reduces your management effectiveness, and that's not good.

Having begun their relationship working in different markets, Rogers says, the pair "never dreamed we'd be working at the same station. We always thought ... one of us would have to give up our job to move to the other

And although Brophey some-times has to pull rank at work, Rogers says, "I understand. He's the boss at work, and I'm the boss at home.

The difficult part, Brophey says, "is if you are having a tiff at home, you can't bring it to work. And if you have a tiff at work—as we do all the time over music-you don't want to bring that home. It's a balancing act.

SHANON & KIMO

When album KIOZ San Diego APD/MD/middayer Shanon Leder met her then new boss Tim Dukes, she told him that her husband of seven years, Kimo Jensen-who does afternoons for rival owner Jefferson-Pilot's country KSON worked for an insurance company. 'Which, in reality, is true," says Leder, referring to Jeff-Pilot's other business interests.

Leder likes being with a radio person. "He totally gets it. He's not going to [be] pissed off when I have to work weekends or do personal appearances. He has to do all that shit, too. We're just both thankful that we're not working together, because it gives us a break."

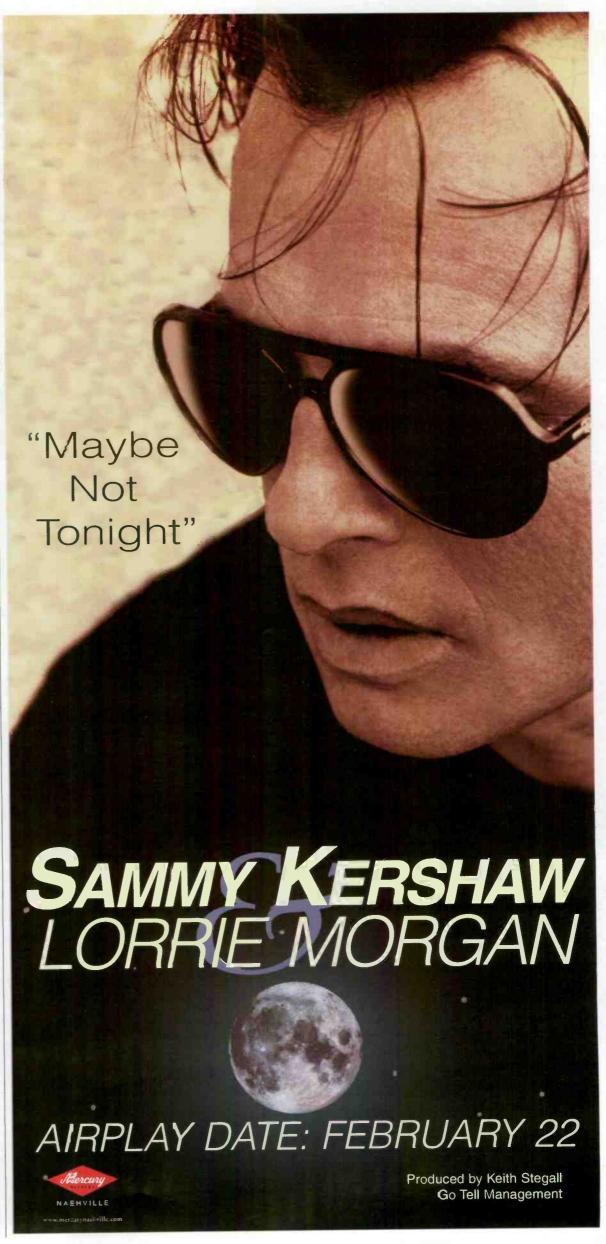

ROSY & SHAWN

When APD/MD/midday host Rosy Acevedo started at modern rock WKRO Daytona Beach, Fla., it fell to part-timer Shawn "Trip" Fennell to get her acclimated to the studio. Three months into her gig, Acevedo was promoted, and Fennell got hired full time for nights and imaging. Acevedo admits management was a little concerned about having two full-timers dating but also had faith in their being professional enough to leave the relationship at home

A year later, Fennell got work in Orlando, Fla., doing imaging for AC WSHE, whose parent, Clear Channel, also owns WKRO's rival, which occasionally affects the relationship. "It's hard, because you want to talk about work [but can't]," says Acevedo.

When one concert hit town, the presents went to WKRO's rival, and though Acevedo and Fennell went to the show together, when WKRO staffers showed up outside the event handing out T-shirts, Acevedo says Fennell "walked away, and I didn't see him for 45 minutes." Although Fennell didn't work for that station, he didn't want to be seen hanging out with WKRO's guerrilla marketers

Bogguss Letting Go Of Capitol Records

Suzy Bogguss has parted ways with Capitol Records, her label for the last 11 years. A previous Country Music Assn. and Academy of Country Music award winner, Bogguss has charted eight albums on Billboard's Top Country Albums, the most successful of which, '91's "Aces," peaked at No. 15. Her most recent album, "Nobody Love, Nobody Gets Hurt," peaked at No. 42 last year. She has placed 25 titles on the singles chart, six of which went top 10. Bogguss is negotiating a new label deal and has a TV project in development.

Best wishes to BlackHawk's Van Stephenson, who underwent treatment for melanoma Feb. 5 at Vanderbilt Cancer Center. Gary Chapman sat in for Stephenson when BlackHawk performed during the guitar pull at the Country in the Rockies festival Feb. 3 in Crested Butte. Colo.

The members of Sawyer Brown have organized a benefit concert for victims of the recent tornado in Clarksville, Tenn. The group and some special guests will perform at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 26 at the Dunn Center on the campus of Austin Peay State University in Clarksville.

PROMOGANDA

AN OVERVIEW OF RADIO PROMOTIONS • BY JEFF SILBERMAN

323-525-2303 · jsilberman@airplaymonitor.com

Valentine's Day Still Ruling Radio Promos

Valentine's Day once again stole the hearts of the radio promotion elite, with the Grammys and "winter fever" trips close behind in our Topical Barometer this issue. Top 40 WKSE Buffalo, N.Y., plays Roadside Cupids, selling roses and carnations to drivers at a busy intersection (proceeds go to charity); Jason Steinberg at country WYNY New York says, "Blood drives work well"; and triple-A KKZN (the Zone) Dallas' Barbara Luchsinger referees a battle of the sexes with Know Your Mate. Host Alex believes that after five dates, two people know as much about each other as a couple in a five-year relationship. Duos are polled individually (the first one, off-air). Answers to "Beef or chicken? Wine or beer? Dine in or out? Movie out or video? Shower or bath?,' etc., reveal how well they know their mate.

But V-Day isn't the only big promo topic on Promoganda's plate. Winter sports getaways are hot in Boston, where top 40 WXKS-FM (Kiss 108) gives listeners weeklong trips to the Kiss Condo in Killington, Vt. "We fill up [winners'] gas tanks, give them Kiss ski jackets, VIP lift tickets, and stock up the fridge," notes ski buff Mariah Toufas. "The condo is awesome!"

The NBA's return has Philadelphia buzzing, as R&B WPHI (Philly 103.9) staged a Lockout Winning Weekend. The 39th caller to hear a snippet from Kurtis Blow's "Basketball" won an Allen Iverson backpack, a Reebok bandanna, water bottle, key chain, flashlight, and two tickets to the first official 76ers game. That followed a Michael Jordan Retirement Weekend, with gift certificates for a pair of Air Jordans, a Jordan hat and T-shirt, and two tickets to an NCAA game. Amber Noble provided the show time.

Hockey is raging in, of all places, Dallas, as album rock KEGL has home-game ticket giveaways every hour and a road-game flyaway each week. Loren Condron has a lot of puck.

PROMO OF THE WEEK: CONCERT TICKET GIVEAWAYS

When it comes to ticket giveaways, 35% of our pollsters prefer using a lot of tickets, 7% prefer using a few front row/backstage packages, 14% get the most out of a concert trip, and 44% need a mix of all three. "By giving away a lot of tickets over many dayparts for a number of days, you can own the concert," says top 40 WKRQ (Q102) Cincinnati's Scott Colebrook R&B WUSL (Power 99) Philadelphia's Jason Gani counters, "It depends on the artist and other concerts in town at that time." Adult top 40 KFMB (Star 100.7) San Diego's Kim Leeds adds, "We offer enough tickets for core artists so it sounds big, but we also like front row/backstages, because you can't buy that.'

How many ways can you sizzle free tickets? Album rock WRIF Detroit added mega-sizzle to Metallica at its listener-appreciation party. Heidi Kramer dressed up the venue in red velvet carpets and black drapes, with women dancing in cages and security guards in armor.

In the midst of a blizzard, Keith Sgariglia and modern rock WKQX (Q101) Chicago gave winners tickets to the Sno-Core show and a brand-new snow shovel.

Country KYGO Denver counted "5-4-3-2-1" during a weeklong ducat giveaway. "On Monday, we gave away fifth-row tickets," Garret Doll says. "On Tuesday, fourth-row tickets; Wednesday, third row; and so on, until Friday: front row, meet-and-greet dinner, and limo

R&B WJTT Chattanooga, Tenn., gave its winner front-row tickets to Usher and a starring role in his "Bedtime" video. "A video crew followed her as she got ready and took a limo to the show," Wayne Collins says. "She presented roses to Usher during the concert, which also was captured on film. Check it out on MTV."

Country KNIX Phoenix went all-out to nab the Judds' reunion concert. Starting with van placement and an on-air broadcast before tickets went on sale, "we had our No. 1 jock on-site and passed out KNIX prizes and bagels and schmear to everyone in line," Vicki Fiorelli says. 'We also broke into regular programming after the on-sale to interview the Judds.

Top 40 WPXY Rochester, N.Y., had two frontrow tickets to see Rod Stewart, plus a chance to sing with Stewart onstage. To win, you had to make signs and show them on an expressway overpass. "The next morning, people with tons of homemade banners with WPXY logos on them were begging for tickets," Tris Korlou says. "A lot of people, driving to work, called us, wondering what the hell was going on."

Rhythmic top 40 KLUC Las Vegas uses one concert to hype a future one. At the show, a seat at random is called out. Armed with a wireless mike, a jock goes to the person in that seat, who opens an envelope and announces the future concert that he or she has front-row tickets to.

QUICK HITS

When President Clinton visited Buffalo. WKSE staged its own Presidential Motorcade. Staffers in a station van and an SUV limo bombarded more than 2,000 people with U.S. flags, Monica CDs, passes to the movie "Rushmore," and bumper stickers. Stephanie Ringer adds that two staffers, dressed as Bill and Hillary, got air time on CNN.

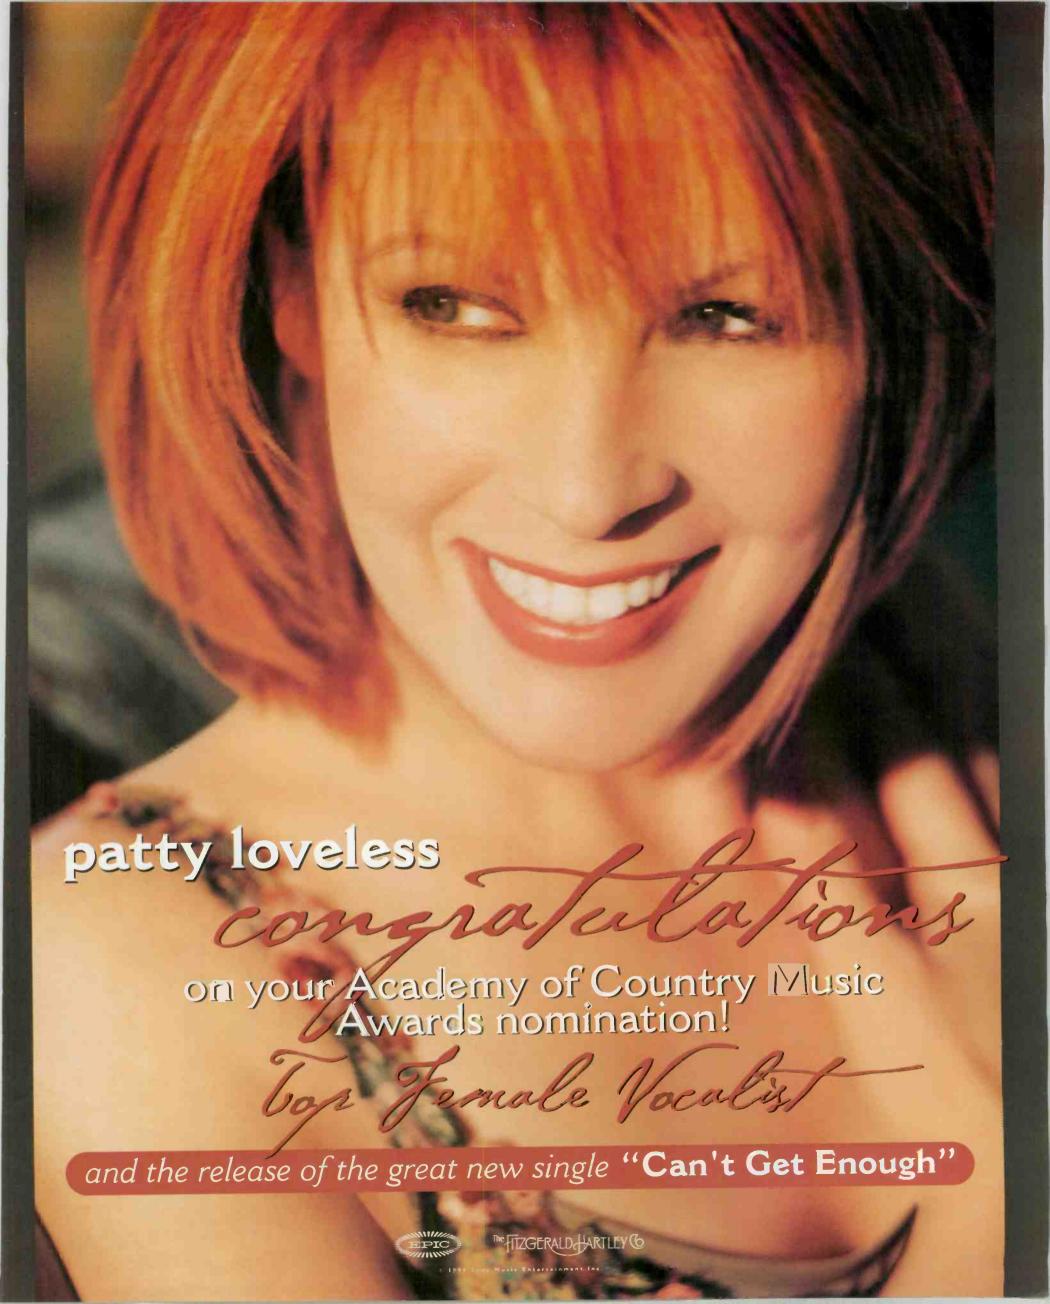

To hype its presence at a sportsmen's show, country KEEY Minneapolis held a Bob for Trout contest. "It was a riot and received a lot of media attention," notes Diana Buckmann.

Country WPOC Baltimore turned a movietheater opening into a show-bizzy gala. Replete with nine-foot Oscar statuettes, star-studded backgrounds, and tux-attired jocks, the screenings collected proceeds that went to benefit a Ronald McDonald House. Giving a thumbs-up review was Sheila Silverstein.

Radio Couples On Keeping Love And Business In Heavy Rotation

when they were working against his parent

When word leaked out that they were dating, Acevedo says some co-workers were concerned about Fennell's outrageous on-air persona. I'd say, 'You don't know Sean. You know Trip,' " she says. "He's an abrasive jock and does bits where he'll tell these horror stories about trading in his girlfriend for concert tickets or that kind of thing. I understand, and I don't get mad at him. Whereas someone who's not in the industry might say, 'Why are you talking about me like that?' I know what he has to do. I've got to flirt with the guys. He knows it's not going to go anywhere; it's part of the job.

And on those brief occasions when he slips, Acevedo tells him, "Keep that on the air."

KAREN & MAC

Country WMZQ Washington, D.C., PD Mac Daniels and MCG/Curb Northeast regional Karen McGuire have been married for 51/2 years and recently added a baby son to the family. They met when he was at KPLX Dallas and she worked the Southeast for Giant Records.

In the beginning, Daniels says, "there were rumors and rumors of rumors," and people accused him of favoritism. McGuire agrees the gossip was "horrible . . . You would think we'd committed a murder." That all stopped once they were married, partly because McGuire has chosen not to promote to WMZQ, even though the station is in her region. "The last thing we do is talk music, because we usually end up at opposite ends of the spectrum," says Daniels. Business between us is family business.

That is a lesson they have learned the hard way. Both McGuire and Daniels say their biggest fights have been about music. "The worst fight we ever had was over a record, and we will never do that again," says McGuire. "That was real early in our married life. I wasn't working him, but he had made a statement about a record of ours and that he was going to probably hit it early. I inadvertently said something on the conference call. Then he didn't do it. We didn't talk for three days. I think it was because I put my foot in it.

The funny thing is I get other labels calling me to work [Daniels] on product," says McGuire. "It's like, 'Give me a break. I can't even get him to play my own stuff; you think I'm going to get him to play yours?' "

AMY & CURTISS

Album rock KRXQ Sacramento, Calif., station manager/PD Curtiss Johnson has been married to Atlantic San Francisco rep Amy Birch for just over a year.

"It's nice that we do know a lot of the same people, so the industry functions are something we both feel comfortable at," Johnson

Although Birch promotes to KRXQ, Johnson lets the APD and MD debate those songs before sharing his opinion. Still, "if we're going snowboarding or skiing, we'll be in the car, and she'll say, 'We've got this new record,' and she'll play it. And she'll start going into promo mode. And I'll say, 'Am I being worked here?' Occasionally, we have to remind ourselves to put on our husband and wife hats, not our record rep and programmer hats," Johnson says.

LYNN & TIM

Country WWWW (W4) Detroit PD Tim Roberts met his wife, Lynn Taylor, a swing jock at W4, in the broadcasting program at Central Michigan University. Since then, they have worked together on and off through 16 years of marriage and three children. They did mornings together in Lubbock, Texas, and worked at competing stations in Greensboro, N.C. ("where she whupped my ass in the ratings," says Roberts). At KDRK Spokane, Wash., he was PD/afternooner and hired her as MD/middayer after he did an exhaustive search and found she was the most qualified candidate. Any staff concerns about nepotism, he says, were quickly erased when Taylor "ended up being the No. 1 jock on the air."

Roberts says "the beautiful thing" about the marriage is that "she understands exactly what I go through every day. She's irritated when I'm late, but she understands."

LISA & MIKE

Mike Butts and Lisa Tonacci, morning cohosts at top 40 WPRO-FM Providence, R.I., met when Tonacci was programming top 40 KBTS (B93) Austin, Texas, and hired Butts for mornings. They began dating three months later. At first, "We dated totally on the sly, because we didn't know [our] company policy," she says. "I don't think one was even established at that point." By year's end, they decided to get married and found 'the company was very cool about it." They were married on the air; the event was used as a promotional bonanza, as they gave away diamond rings, tuxes, and even Maalox to contest winners.

Butts says it is important that they each have private time. "Lisa and I work out and have our own activities apart from one another," Butts says. "Getting enough separate time became more difficult when we started doing the morning show together. It was a lot easier when she was PD and I did mornings. We had different work schedules that enabled us to have certain breaks. Now we both get up and work at the same time.

Not talking about work at home is hard because that's our common element," Tonacci says. "If anything, our personal life suf-fers," adds Butts. "We're professionals at work; we're good at what we do, but it can take a toll on our personal lives.

JENNY & JEFF

R&B oldies KNAX Fresno, Calif., PD/ morning man Jeff Davis' wife of nine years, Jenny Rolen, is currently newscaster for N/T sister KMI and occasionally does morning news on Davis' show. They previously hosted mornings together, where they developed a "squabbling spouse" shtick. "The audience loves it when we argue about personal stuff on-air," says Davis. "The biggest responses we'd get were from female listeners who called up to defend Jenny when I went off, so that became our shtick. I'd be verbally abused by my audience every morning." But both knew how far they could go. "We could tell by looking each other in the eyes if the other was going too far."

As for keeping their jobs separate from their home lives, Davis says, "Be professional; keep the important personal life at home and the professional life at work. Keeping the two separate is key, but when you do talk about your home life on the radio, always realize that what you're doing is show biz.'

KELLY & BEAU

Top 40 WHHY Montgomery, Ala., PD Beau Richards worked with wife Kelly Green at three stations where he was PD/morning man and she did middays. But Richards says working together "has never been an issue that we forced on stations like a prerequi-" In dealing with any perceived nepotism from staffers, Richards says, "You can't play favorites. When it comes to the weekend schedule, everyone has to do it. Everybody got an even distribution for remote appearances, time off, and whatnot.'

Although he tries not to bring home disputes to the office, he does sometimes make them part of his morning show. "More and more in the '90s, people express their day-to-day lives on-air," he says. "It's good human emotion that keeps us from being liner-

Richards says, "Dating in the workplace used to be taboo and frowned upon; now it's a more common practice. That doesn't mean we're encouraging this, but once it happens, it happens. Unless, of course, you're talking

Speer Keeps The Presentation 'Real Homey' Amid Big Changes At KFDI-FM

With the sale of Great Empire Broadcasting to Journal Broadcast Group set to close any day now, KFDI-FM Wichita, Kan., is in for some big changes. For starters, morning man Ol' Mike Oatman, who also happens to be Great Empire's CEO and station manager of its three Wichita properties, will be coming off the air after 35 years and retiring. Also, Ken Fearnow, station manager of Great Empire's WOW-AM-FM Omaha, Neb., will transfer to Wichita as GM of country trio KFDI-AM-FM and KYQQ.

Lined up to replace Oatman on the air is Dugg Collins, the 1979 Country Music Assn. DI of the year, who most recently worked at KBUY-FM Amarillo, Texas. John "Boy" Speer, OM of KFDI-AM-FM and PD of the FM, describes Collins' style as "folksy." And since Speer also describes KFDI-FM's on-air presentation as "real homey," Collins should be a good fit. "We searched the nation for someone we felt had the same kinds of roots in country that we do, the same ability to communicate one-on-one with the audience," says Speer. "Dugg has been a longtime friend to many of us here at the ranch.

"I'm probably the only PD in America whose morning

Owner: Great Empire Broadcasting Ratings: 8.6-8.3-7.1-8.6

KFDI-FM has been locked in a see-saw ratings battle with rival KZSN for years, and the two stations typically go back and forth at the top of the Arbitrons. In the fall '98 book, it was KFDI's turn at the top again, thanks to a 7.1-8.6 ratings leap. KZSN was close behind, with an 8.4-8.1 showing. Classic country KFDI-AM, which simulcasts the FM in overnights, was No. 8 (5.7-5.2), and KYQQ, which targets the 18-34 sector, was No. 16 (2.9-2.6).

In the battle with KZSN, Speer says, not much has changed over the years. "They do a good job at what they do," he says. "They're more music-intensive, and we have always been more information-intensive. We do the pet patrol, [finding] people's pets. We puts lots of listeners on the air. We certainly don't hesitate to go out and get involved in the community. [Also] our news department is bigger than [that of] the N/T stations. We have more mobile-equipped vehicles at KFDI than all the other stations in town combined." So when a grain elevator exploded last year, the station's news department was on-site with live reports around the clock for several days.

Musically, Speer says, there is not much difference between KFDI-FM and KZSN, "although we tend to be a little more traditional in our approach." KFDI-FM plays about 40 currents and has a library of 20,000 songs, although, Speer says, "99% of the time we rotate about 800 songs. We're big on helping to break new artists, and we're very sensitive to the heritage of the artists who helped make us what we are today. We don't forget our old friends." The station plays about 50% currents and recurrents and 50% gold.

Here's a recent 4 p.m. hour on KFDI-FM: Vince Gill, "Don't Come Cryin' To Me"; Lonestar, "Tequila Talkin'"; Kenny Chesney, "How Forever Feels"; Allison Moorer, "Pardon Me"; Bryan White, "I'm Not Supposed To Love You Anymore"; Neal McCoy, "I Was"; George Strait, "Let's Fall To Pieces Together"; Reba McEntire, "Wrong Night"; John Anderson, "I'm Just An Old Chunk Of Coal"; Sammy Kershaw, "Love Of My Life"; and Martina McBride, "Happy Girl."

Speer attributes KFDI-FM's success to uniqueness and consistency. "From an image standpoint, it's the uniqueness of being [known as] the 'radio ranch.' " As for the station's logo, like the logos of all Great Empire stations, "it's been red log letters since day one. We've upgraded a few times to make it a little more contemporary, but that branding in the community is very consistent."

Like many Great Empire employees, Speer is a lifer. He joined KFDI-FM as PD 23 years ago and has literally spent half his life there, after a five-year stint at crosstown AC KFH. Other than the personnel changes, Speer is expecting little to change about the station's operation under Journal, although he is looking forward to having the bigger chain's resources at his disposal. "There are some things we might be able to do even better with Journal's clout," he says. "By industry standards, Great Empire, even though we were a very healthy company, when you look at the big guns out there [was] pretty small." Journal executives, he says, "have told us that they want us to keep doing what we've been doing."
Having his boss double as his morning man for all that time has been an interesting experience for Speer, who notes that "I'm probably the only PD in America whose morning man signs my checks." Asked what it's like to have an aircheck session with the CEO, Speer says, "He reminds me whenever I bring something up that he owns the place."

Oatman says that even though Journal asked him to stay on for mornings, he made the painful decision not to remain after the sale. "I don't think it would be good for me to be here under different owners," he says. "I saw too many situations where the old fat guy sells his company and hangs around, and it wouldn't be pleasant." But he says his air shift was the favorite of his various duties. "I carved out two hours, 6-8 a.m. every day, where I get to come in and play radio. It's the best part of my day. I feel really connected when I do that."

In negotiating the deal with Journal, Oatman says that he had to keep his emotions in check. "The only way I could successfully conclude this deal was to put that emotion stuff over in a little box, because if I had dealt with that, I would have screwed up the deal," he says. "I'm not going to open [the box] up again until I've done the deal, [but] I don't want to be around me when I open that [box]."
Still, Oatman has no regrets. "I feel like I could have written a scenario for me back when I was 18 years old for how I could live my life, it would have been exactly like thisthat at age 60 I could chuck it all and do what I want to do and have enough money to do it, and that I could do it by [having worked in] broadcasting." He's also pleased that, as an employee-owned company, when the deal is concluded, "less that 200 employees will split $33 million. Our folks are not worried about their jobs; they're worried about their rollover privileges.

Adds Speer, "In a business that does not have a great track record of having financially secure people, I've got a fairly healthy number of people on my staff who are pretty comfortable in looking toward their future at retirement time. That allows them to do their job better. They're not having to look over their shoulder.
