Consolidation Could Give Labor Unions New Strength At Radio

by Frank Saxe

It's after midnight on a weekend in 1984. Consultant Steve Perun, then MD and swing-shifter at top 40 WLS-FM Chicago, cues his union engineer on the other side of the glass to start the next record. Hearing nothing, Perun realizes the guy is face down on the controls. He jumps to his feet, runs to the board, and starts the next disc. By Monday morning, Perun had a note waiting for him. It wasn't a thank-you from the PD but a grievance from the local National Assn. of Broadcast Employees and Technicians (NABET) office for touching the board. Under the union's contract with the station, on-air personnel were prohibited from touching the equipment, so NABET officers said Perun should have shaken the sleeping tech-head awake and had him push the button.

It is stories such as that one that have given unions in radio a bad rap, leading many shops to vote them down. Yet with consolidation squeezing more work out of radio staffs, if not forcing them out the door, many believe the time is right for a resurgence of organized labor.

NABET still represents stations including adult top 40 WPLJ New York, yet it counts just a fraction of the radio stations it once did. Many voted the union out, while others shifted to the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA), whose ranks include nearly 10,000 broadcast members. Although a vast majority of those are in TV, a growing number is in radio. In fact, AFTRA has successfully organized 10 operations in the past year, including stations in New York and Los Angeles and a number of news and traffic operations run by Infinity's Shadow and Metro Networks.

Recharge With Monitor's Top 40 Tune-Up

Last summer, Top 40 Airplay Monitor helped programmers gear up for the always challenging fall ratings book with the Top 40 Tune-Up special. This year, the Top 40 Tune-Up is back by popular demand, just in time for Conclave weekend, in Monitor's July 14 issue. The expanded issue of Monitor will look at the rapidly changing landscape as it affects your fall book planning, from station concerts to extra competition, to a "to do" list that now includes not just auditing Selector but also updating your station's Web site.

Undoubtedly the most dramatic change in the top 40 landscape over the past year is the influx of multiple top 40 stations in a growing number of markets. Managing editor Jeff Silberman brings together many of the players in radio's most competitive markets, from WAPE Jacksonville, Fla., PD Cat Thomas to KMXV Kansas City's Jon Zellner and KKRZ (Z100) Portland, Ore.'s Tommy Austin, about what to do when you suddenly have company. In a separate story, he talks to the format's most successful promotion directors and PDs about optimizing your fall concert.

Frank Bell, WKIE Chicago's Chris Shebel, and numerous others. And Capital & Capitol reporter Frank Saxe talks about doing better aircheck sessions with WHTZ

And, as always, we'll help you get ready for your fall test with the format's most played mainstream and rhythmic top 40 oldies, and even steal a march on your year-end countdown with a list of the biggest hits of Y2K, so far. Be sure to recharge your programming batteries with this special issue next week in Top 40 Airplay Monitor.

Anti-Snoop Group Doggs Power 106

Michael Browning, leader of the anti-drug and alcohol organization Day One, organized a protest demonstration at the studios of crossover R&B KPWR (Power 106) Los Angeles, because it was airing Snoop Dogg's syndicated "Smoke-Out Session." "He invites listeners to get high with him, then asks them to call in to win a box of cigars that can be used to [smoke marijuana]," Browning told the L.A. Times. "That's more insidious than the music, which is awful in itself."

Unfortunately for the protesters, Snoop Dogg's show had already changed stations. Because Power wouldn't agree to new compensation conditions, syndicator NBG moved the show to KKBT (the Beat). It is unknown if Power 106 GM Val Maki offered Browning's groups directions to the Beat. She did, however, tell the paper that Power 106 doesn't condone drug use. "You can't always speak for the lifestyles of the people who make the music," she says.

PROGRAMMING: FRANK RANKS

Former WWHT (Hot 107.9) Syracuse, N.Y., PD Tommy Frank resurfaces as PD of WKRQ (Q102) Cincinnati, replacing Mike Marino. Frank's first task will be hiring a morning show.

WBLI Long Island, N.Y., PD J.J. Rice adds top 40 format coordinator duties for parent Cox.

WPST Trenton, N.J., PD Dave McKay takes on added duties as contemporary format specialist for Nassau Broadcasting.

ist for Nassau Broadcasting.

Stu Schroeder exits as OM of WKRZ Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and its three sisters. He will be transferred to a new gig within the Keymarket chain.

ferred to a new gig within the Keymarket chain. N/T KRMG Tulsa, Okla., PD Michael Del-Giorno becomes OM of Clear Channel's six-station crosstown cluster, including top 40 KIZS.

FORMATS: PRAISE YOU

AC WXFZ Norfolk, Va., flips to gospel as Praise 94.1 as a result of its sale to Barnstable. Steve Crumbley, PD of R&B oldies sister WWSO, adds those duties for Praise as he becomes director of urban and gospel programming.

Adult standards KABL San Francisco flips to a soft AC format along the lines of KMEO Dallas. Positioned as "favorites of vesterday and today," the format reaches from softer '50s/'60s oldies ("To Sir With Love," "I'm Sorry") to early '80s soft AC ("Hello," "Woman In Love").

Despite widespread rumors elsewhere about a new top 40 station in Colorado Springs, Colo., AMFM instead took religious KPRZ to classic rock as KMOM. Its jocks are known as "Mother's Little Helpers." With Kevin Callahan now cluster OM, modern adult KVUU MD Jeanine James adds APD stripes, and soft AC sister KKLI MD Jack Hamilton becomes PD/MD.

As expected, suburban Washington, D.C., modern AC outlet WPLC (the Pulse) flips to Spanish under new owners.

WBTJ (the Beat) Youngstown, Ohio, moves to the 95.9 frequency of adult top 40 sister WTNX. Its previous frequency returns to adult R&B.

FEMALE EXECS JOIN RANKS

A number of radio's top female execs have formed a group intended to put more women in industry leadership positions. Nassau Broadcasting's Joan Gerberding cites M Street stats that only 13% of all top 100-market stations are run by women, prompting the group's birth. The new Most Influential Women group includes Broadcast Programming president/GM Edie Hilliard, Central Star president/CEO Mary Quass, R&B WHQT New York GM Judy Ellis, AMFM VP of marketing Bev Tilden, AC WLTW/R&B oldies WTJM New York GM Rona Landy, KPWR GM Val Maki, former ABC Radio president Lyn Andrews, and former Radio Advertising Bureau executive VP of marketing Judy Carlough.

INTERNET RADIO

Lee Ann Summers, formerly with Cleveland's top 40 WZJM and R&B WENZ, becomes the latest of that market's radio veterans to make the move to the Internet, joining the programming department at Everstream.

Meanwhile, former WKLI Albany, N.Y., owner/PD Paul Bendat unleashes his newest Internet-only radio station, an album outlet "with an accessible pop feel" for men's magazine Maxim. Hear it at maximonline.com next time you go there to read the articles.

And Grooveradio.com, the online successor to the late KACD/KBCD (Groove Radio) L.A., has pacted with British club chain/record label/publisher Ministry of Sound for two hours of custom programming at 11 p.m. ET on Friday nights.

PEOPLE: EXTREME MEASURES

Lots of shuffling at KXME (Extreme Radio) Honolulu. Ryan "DJ Extreme" Kawamoto returns as MD/research manager, succeeding James Coles, who becomes creative research director and replaces the departing Rob Flanik. Morning host "Kid" Leo Baldwin adds APID stripes, and Aaron "Rico" Placencia replaces Erin Oyama as promotion coordinator.

Two-Thirds Of Airpowers Make Top 10

When Monitor designates a title as an Airpower, we consider it an indication of the song's hit potential. A song achieves Airpower status when it appears in the top 20 of a format's airplay and audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience.

In the first half of 2000, a total of 33 songs were designated Airpowers on the mainstream top 40 chart. Of those, 21 eventually became top 10 songs, with 14 hitting the top five and four songs making it to No. 1 so far this year. Those are, in chronological order, 'N Sync's "Bye Bye" (Jive), Macy Gray's "1 Tiry" (Epic), Britney Spears' "Oops! . . . 1 Did It Again" (Jive), and 'N Sync's "It's Gonna Be Me," all of which have tied up the No. 1 spot for multiple weeks.

When Monitor first looked at how reliably the new Airpower formula was picking the hits as part of February's Airplay Leaders issue, we found that 70% of the songs that were awarded Airpower status did indeed reach the top 10 of a given chart. This year, 65% of the titles that went Airpower this year already hit the top 10, but that doesn't include three titles that were bulleted between Nos. 11 and 20 last week, which still have the potential to reach the top 10.

Aaliyah's "Try Again" (Blackground/Virgin) returns to the No. 1 spot on the rhythmic top 40 chart after being pushed back to No. 2 for the past five weeks by Eminem's "The Real Slim Shady" (Web/Aftermath/Interscope). While most titles that return to No. 1 typically do so after a one- or two-week absence, "Try Again" stakes the claim of having the second-longest period of time between stints at No. 1. The all-time winner is Savage Garden's "Truly Madly Deeply," which hit the top of the mainstream top 40 chart in January 1998, was displaced by Celine Dion's "My Heart Will Go On" for 10 weeks, and then reclaimed the top spot for one week in April. "Try Again" also tops the rhythmic audience chart for the first time. Even though it is losing audience, it bullets for hitting No. 1.

PERSONNEL FILE: Kim Stephens is upped from VP of A&R/senior director of national promotion at Atlantic to VP of A&R/VP of promotion. Stephens will continue to be based in New Orleans. In addition, Pamela Jouan, based in the company's Los Angeles office, has been upped to VP of promotion, West Coast, and Mark Fritzges, who will continue to work out of his office in Pittsburgh, has been upped to VP of promotion.

C2 senior VP of promotion Dennis Reese is expected to join Elektra Entertainment, signaling the end of the Columbia Records offshoot's separate promotion arm.

Epic Dallas regional Neda Leppard-Tobin exits.

REAL TRASH TALKING

Uncle Fester, morning sidekick of the M.J. and B.J. morning show, which is heard on WFLZ Tampa, Fla., and KSLZ (Z107.7) St. Louis, filed an official police complaint against Darva Conger divorcé Rick Rockwell. Seems Fester tried to interview Rockwell outside of a Tampa comedy club when the quasi-millionaire "pushed a trash can" at Fester and "forcefully struck me on my hand, wrist, and forearm all the way up to my elbow."

AN OVERVIEW OF RADIO PROMOTIONS • BY JEFF SILBERMAN

323-525-2303 · jsilberman@airplaymonitor.com

The Perfect Summer Movie Promotions

With the summer movie season now in full gear, modern AC WBMX (Mix 98.5) Boston jumped on "The Perfect Storm," since the flick is set in nearby Gloucester, Mass. "Most stations in town have a rocky relationship with the local movie promoter," contends Anne-Marie Strz-"[Fortunately,] we have a great relationship with General Cinemas, which just opened a new cineplex next to Fenway Park featuring a 60-foot screen they call 'The Screen Monster' [à la Fenway's Green Monster]. So we're giving away all the seats for the opening night at this theater. Afternoon host Gregg Daniels will broadcast from the waterfront in Gloucester the day the flick opens. Really straightforward stuff, but the way we've played it on-air makes it seem like we 'own' this movie. It goes to show: If you're blocked by going down the traditional road, use your relationships to create your own

R&B oldies WZMX Hartford, Conn., is doing a Gone in 93 Seconds promotion where passes are given away to the movie "Gone In 60 Seconds," as well as passes to satisfy "your need for speed" on the Superman ride at a local theme park and passes to auto racing at the Ferrari Challenge. Tristano Korlou has nice timing.

PROMO TOPIC OF THE WEEK: SURVIVING 'SURVIVOR' PROMOS

It shouldn't come as a surprise to anyone who has been reading this column or even Radioactive over the past few weeks that "Survivor"-style promotions are the stunt flavor of the season. In fact, two-thirds of the panelists have done either "Survivor" promotions, Live in It and Win It stunts, marathons, or some kind of listener-abuse event. Only 16% of the panelists haven't done them and aren't considering doing them.

The Promogandists cite such stunts as campouts for Woodstock tickets, Father's Day Couch Potato marathons, and eating bugs or almost anything that's not nailed down to win concert tickets. Just so you're keeping up with the Joneses, the latest "Survivor" promo, staged at top 40 WDCG (G105) Raleigh, N.C., has two men and two women camping out at a site with only the clothes on their backs. Rations consist of 20 bottles of water, bread, baby food, sardines, and pig

The key to optimizing their success, according to Loren Condron of modern AC KDMX (Mix 102.9) and active rock KEGL Dallas, is to "control the situation as much as possible to make it great radio," he says. "Make people write an essay as to why they need a car. You can get people with [colorful] personalities for on-air breaks rather than just drawing four names out of a hat. The peronalities of the contestants can sell it day after day. To increase the likelihood of press coverage, they require lots of attention from the entire staff, or it could end up being bad radio.'

Pitfalls to watch out for include "knowing the medical conditions of the contestants," says Jason Gani of R&B WJMZ Greenville, S.C. "And don't forget the waiver forms," adds Jim Sheehan of rock KSJO San Francisco.

While almost everyone says such a stunt is worth doing, there is a certain window of topical opportunity here. "If something is hot, don't look away, because you can't be original enough," says Korlou. "To be No. 1, you have to take what's hot and run with it!"

"People genuinely get excited to be involved in 'rip-offs,' "says Donna Talarico of country WGGY

(Froggy 101) Wilkes-Barre, Pa. "After all, how many people get chosen to be on 'Millionaire' or 'Survivor'? Not many, so having stunts and games close to home lets them feel involved and part of a nationwide craze. However, overkill is bad. You don't want to look like a copycat all the time."

"If the opportunity is right and the concept is right, go for it," adds Tina Brandao of Clear Thannel's Jacksonville, Fla., cluster: "But it must be done in a timely manner to take advantage of its uniqueness and before everyone gets tired of hearing about it. Usually, there is a short window of opportunity to rip off a TV or movie concept in which people will be amused or entertained."

NTR PROMO OF THE WEEK: ANNIVERSARY BASH

AC KESZ Phoenix morning duo Beth and Bill celebrated their 10-year anniversary at a live broadcast spot in a trendy restaurant. "We sold the title sponsorship to Macy's and gave away a Cadillac, tons of high-end prizes from other clients, and a spa," says Vicki Fiorelli. "We also flew in their five best friends over the last 10 years for the show. Tons of other clients were sold into the event at various levelsprimaryhub.com had the show on the Web, so friends, guests, and family members can watch back home. QUICK HITS

As the only station in town that played Dixie Chicks' controversial "Goodbye Earl," country WHSL (Whistle 100) Greensboro, N.C., created a promotion that spotlights domestic violence and ties in with an upcoming concert. Call to Protect collects out-of-use wireless phones, then reprograms and distributes them to victims of domestic violence. Call Lisa Fields for more

Top 40 CKIK Calgary, Alberta, has lined up admissions to five different summer camps. "We will be asking moms to call in and tell us why we should send their kids to camp," says Michael Godfrey. "I think my wife will be the first caller!"

"History has demonstrated that the most effective way for employees to improve their terms of employment is to join together and bargain collectively. You have more clout and more leverage in dealing with employers," says Greg Hessinger, acting national executive director of AFTRA.

But mention unions in the bar at any broadcasting convention, and you will likely get a hearty dose of anti-union sentiment. For most, it is the seemingly nonsensical rules that come with the union label.

Consider this former PD of country WXTU Philadelphia's memories: "The union was everybody's excuse for doing as little as possible. No one would do anything without compensation; even getting them to do occasional extra duties as part of their regular workday hours was next to impossible. Everybody bitched about every little thing, and instead of taking their bad attitudes to another station where they could be happy, they infected all newcomers with their disease. Luckily, the biggest bitchers had the least talent, and we were eventually able to replace them for their poor job performance or got them to quit by raising the standards. I've been [gone] for a while now, and, sadly, I miss few of my former co-workers there because of that negative attitude.

Country WGNA Albany, N.Y., PD Buzz Brindle remembers working as a jock at oldies WMOD Washington, D.C., now WMZQ, in the early '70s, where employees were unionized yet had a great relationship with management. So good in fact that jocks were not required to punch a time clock. The one sticking point was the owner's refusal to pay overtime. So the staff met with its union rep and explained that it didn't want to damage the good relationship but did want to earn a little more for its efforts. "They immediately took a hard-line attitude. We told them that we were uncomfortable with that approach and were told to mind our own business. Management responded badly to AFTRA's hardball tactics and began requiring us to use a time clock and, of course, we never got any additional money out of the deal.'

R&B oldies WFJO Tampa, Fla., PD/morning host Nick Sanders says witnessing a union at work altered his career path. In the early '80s, Sanders was an overnight producer in Chicago. He answered phones and pulled carts, two tasks jocks were barred from doing by the union. One Saturday morning at 4 a.m., Sanders says, "we had just finished running the two hours of mandatory public-affairs programming. The engineer had stepped out while the taped programming ran and had unfortunately fallen asleep. When the tape ran out, the carts were pulled, the jock was ready to talk, but there was no engineer to turn on the microphone.

"Obviously one of us could have awakened him, but there was so much conflict within the station between the jocks and engineers that the jock literally forbade me from waking him up. So we sat there for about an hour and watched the Playboy Channel in the jock booth while the engineer quietly slept in the other room behind the glass." Sanders says that incident motivated him to go on the air and not into engineering.

Bob Barnett, OM of AMFM's Nashville cluster, including top 40 WRVW, recalls his union dealings as PD of country WIL-FM St. Louis. "From an operational point of view, it was a nightmare with vacations, and from a scheduling situation, it was tough because you basically had to get volunteers to cover street events."

For others, it's not a bad experience but just a philosophical difference. "I don't care if it's in broadcasting, truck-driving, or teaching. Unions drive up the cost of everything," says Russ Allen, PD of R&B WJHM (102 Jamz) Orlando, Fla., who actually left a job after five months because he hadn't been told by the OM who hired him that it was a union shop.

But, Hessinger says, what sometimes sounds foolish was often drafted because of employee abuse. "Our interest is to allow the companies to operate their station efficiently, because to the extent they can, it puts those stations in a better position to appropriately and fairly compensate tal-

For some jocks the union was a savior. Top 40 WFLZ Tampa late-nighter Spyder Harrison says that when he left top 40 WHTZ (Z100) New York, his AFTRA insurance covered his wife's pregnancy until WFLZ's insurance kicked

Another top 40 jock believes midsize markets are where most of the abuse occurs, with large-market demands on jocks and small-market pay and benefits. "There are some situations where it's god-awful conditions because of the people running the radio station. I think a union is good at protecting you from that."

IN CONSOLIDATION THERE IS STRENGTH (FOR MANAGEMENT)

Given the stories, it may be surprising that ra dio's union ranks are again growing. ĂFTRA's Hessinger says it makes perfect economic sense, considering fewer employees are needed to run more stations. "The demand for services has been decreased, and that just results in downward pressure on compensation levels."

It has been nearly 20 years since Perun's WLS incident, and although he still feels some unions are "useless," he concedes that "where radio is going right now, there may be more of a need. In a lot of cases, they're saving talent money by hiring more engineers and just automating shifts.

For one former major-market country PD who asked that his name be withheld, the owth of "conglomerate radio" stirs the Norma Rae in many. "How much real abuse can companies expect employees to take before they retaliate? Eventually people will quit working for lower and lower wages while being ex-jock agrees, saying, "Corporations are making the rules now, not unions and not jocks. We need the union.'

PERUN

Barnett disagrees. "These big companies as a result of consolidation have done a wonderful job of treating employees more than fairly considering the skill level of a lot of people. People should be paid based on their abilities and not hide behind the cloak of the union." He also says, "For a union to do justice by their rank and file, they need to adjust to the times and make some concessions and try to get some other things in return for those concessions.

In some cases, non-union stations joining an existing unionized cluster look at their counterparts covered by a contract and find they have higher wages and better benefits, and they want the same thing, says Hessinger. "Admittedly, our progress in that area has not been as marked as it's been with the traffic services, but you can expect within major markets that employees of the major group owners will increasingly look to AFTRA and other unions for representation. He also notes that while there is always a group of extremely well-paid jocks, that group has shrunk dramatically, thanks in part to virtual radio. "The downward pressure on wages has [meant] a growing gap between the haves and have-nots," he says.

GOOD OR EVIL?

The industry's biggest owner, Clear Channel, is surprisingly thin on union shops, largely because it has more stations in smaller markets, where organized labor is rarely present. When it absorbs AMFM later this year, a few will be added to AFTRA's roster. "The jury is still out

Bring Back The 49¢ Single . . . Online

For a long time, 49-cent and 99-cent singles were the bane of our sister publication Billboard's existence. While some industryites maintained that even a 49-cent expenditure demonstrated some actual interest on the part of consumers, the deep-discounted single sure looked like a way to flood The Billboard Hot 100 with sales points. Sometimes it enhanced the story on a record: as often, it obscured the real story

Deep discounting of singles hasn't entirely gone away, but its impact has been muted by the inclusion of non-singles in the Hot 100, as well as the overall decline in the singles market. So it might be time for 49-cent singles to make a comeback. On the Internet, anyway.

The idea is hardly mine alone. In a commentary in last week's Rock Airplay Monitor, Mark Fischer of McGathy Promotions suggests that the floundering singles market would be the logical first place for the industry to try out a cohesive strategy for digital distribution. So far, the industry hasn't provided a real incentive for consumers to pay $2.99 or more for something they've already learned to procure for free at Napster and Gnutella, short of eliminating those choices altogether.

That's where the 49-cent single starts to make sense again. It's cheap enough that a consumer might actually consider it instead of a shared file, especially if the download is faster and more reliable. Labels could offer complimentary artwork/sleeves to consumers' do-it-yourself CD/ cassette singles as a way of garnering consumer info; a small incentive like that might not swing the deal in favor of a $3.99 single, but it might motivate a token purchase.

So what's the upside to this strategy for labels, especially if, as some claim, the manufacturing cost of a digital download isn't much less than that of a CD single? Well, it gives them a fighting chance at co-opting users who, some industryites believe, already think of music as something swapped, not purchased. It gives the industry a way to market the clean versions of songs and remixes that aren't available anywhere else. And the fact that labels were willing to flood the market for so long with loss-leader singles has already proved that they were viewing singles as a promotional item, not as a way of putting money in an artist's pocket.

Most important, this strategy would give new validity to the old argument that a willingness to spend even 49 cents constitutes an actual vote of confidence in a song. Now that even 49 cents represents more money than some consumers are used to paying for music, the decision to spend even something nominal on a particular title would mean something again.

A final, even more controversial suggestion: Perhaps the first place to market these singles would be on Napster or the other file-sharing services—again, with some sort of consumer premium that would make having the "official" single seem worthwhile to a 14-year-old. While it's undoubtedly galling for many label-readers to consider legitimizing Napster in any way, there are probably others who secretly regret not being able to take advantage of any vehicle that's drawing that much traffic. And tying in with Napster to sell singles or to offer discounted albums (much easier than downloading 17 cuts yourself) would be a pretty quick acid test of Napster's claim that its users also buy music.

One more personal note: As you might expect with a 37-year-old, singles were indeed my introduction to record buying at an early age. In my case, free access to music—the 45s Dad brought home from the radio station-didn't eliminate my interest in buying records. He couldn't get éverything I wanted, after all.

As a Mac user, I don't have access to Napster. If 1 did, it might cut down on the time 1 spend listening to German top 40 waiting to hear the recent a-ha comeback single. It probably wouldn't change my buying habits. After all, there are obscure singles I've been trying to find for the past 13 years, even though my collector buddies could easily have put them on tape for me.

For me, the stamp-collecting aspect of record hunting is still a powerful lure—not to the point where I feel the need to buy the same record with both the Dutch and Italian picture sleeve, but I know folks who do. We've already noticed a lack of that "High Fidelity" gene in today's young consumers, and the lesser availability of singles probably has something to do with it. Preserving that interest at this point is going to have to be done by unconventional means, which makes reviving the single as an online item something to at least consider.

on what the culture of the new Clear Channel is going to be," says Hessinger. "We are guardedly optimistic based on our dealings so far.'

One thing that has the unions worried is CEO Randy Michaels, who was notoriously anti-union during his Jacor days. One union executive went so far as to call him a "big concern" in determining how Clear Channel's relationship with NABET and AFTRA shakes out. Michaels declined to comment.

Infinity CEO Mel Karmazin has had a warmer relationship with labor. "With Mel, it's strictly business," says Hessinger, a former labor negotiator for Infinity. "I don't think there's anything evil or sinister about his motives. The economics of the marketplace are such that because of consolidation, he is now in a better position to bargain his labor costs than he was before, and he takes advantage of that.'

Hessinger says minority broadcasters like Radio One and Blue Chip Broadcasting, plus the Spanish-language groups, are also viewed as a growth area, since many of those stations are quickly moving from mom-and-pop operations to multimillion-dollar money ma-

B96 Comes To Twin Cities With Some Surprise Guests: 'N Sync and Christina

At least once a year, there's a big industry buzz about a new R&B station. This year, the buzz has been about the new Blue Chip property in Minneapolis, the market's first commercial R&B FM. Just after Memorial Day, KTTB (B96, the Beat) signed on under the supervision of Blue Chip VP of broadcast operations Tony Fields. But while the station has made no secret of its commitment to the African-American community, Fields and his team came away from their initial research with a format he terms "urban pop.

"You're just as likely to hear Christina Aguilera as you would Jagged Edge. If you had to give it more of a definition than that, we would say it is any popular music that appeals to the urban lifestyle. Because of the diverse population here in Minneapolis, we have to appeal to a lifestyle, rather than simply an [ethnic group],' explains Fields.

He is, of course, referring to the fact that the Twin Cities' metro population is only 4% African-American and 2% Hispanic. "It's funny, though," says Fields. "When you actually drive around and visit the city's neighborhoods, it feels a great deal more diverse than it appears on paper.

"Musically, [KTTB] will probably have a much younger feel than most traditional mainstream R&B stations, due to the fact that [younger listeners] are the audience that is most open to new things and different types of music," adds Fields. "They are more likely to check out a new station, and because we will be providing an alternative musical choice, we're more likely [to be] able to keep them. Those listeners between the ages of 12 and 34 are not as set in their ways as are older listeners, who may have grown up listening to the heritage outlet in the market.

He is referring to KDWB, the market's top 40 FM powerhouse for almost 20 years. For several years, KDWB has been more aggressive on R&B crossovers than most mainstream top 40 outlets. And some market observers say that's been even more pronounced since word got out that B96 was coming to town.

They sound a lot more urban-flavored at this point than before we came in the market," notes Fields. "They are playing more hip-hop and even a few R&B titles . . . But there are still distinct differences between what we are doing and their sound." He adds that KDWB is a pop station playing some urban product, while the Beat is playing a wide range of R&B music, as well as pop titles that have an R&B edge.

'They have the heritage status going for them, which is a big advantage, but they also have to be careful to not change too much, considering that their listeners have certain expectations. KDWB has always done well [with] both 18-34 and 25-54, but now, with a younger challenger, it's going to be very difficult to try to super-serve both audiences," Fields contends. He points out that while the rhythmic pop titles will certainly attract some non-ethnic listeners to the Beat, the station recognizes that most black listeners in the market have been exposed mostly to top 40.

He says, "A black listener here is more likely to know the pop songs. And those [pop] titles that we do play are definitely rhythmic in feel.' Fields also notes that "if you hear 'Bye Bye Bye' on the Beat, it's the Timbaland remix. And when we do our call-out research, we don't ask if they are black . . . We simply ask if they listen to urban music. That's who we base our target on. Anyone who loves the music and lives the

Here's a recent hour on KTTB: Eminem. "The Real Slim Shady"; 'N Sync, "It's Gonna Be Me"; Jagged Edge, "Let's Get Married"; Missy "Misdemeanor" Elliott, "Hot Boyz"; Christina Aguilera, "Genie In A Bottle"; Next, "Wifey"; Nelly, "Hot St (Country Grammar)"; Nu Flavor, "3 Little Words"; Ginuwine, "Pony"; Jay-Z, "Big Pimpin'"; Aaliyah, "Try Again"; Common, "The Light"; TLC, "Silly Ho"; and Juvenile, "Back That Thang Up."

With a younger target, where does gold fit into the mix? "Gold is really mostly recurrent product...But that's not to say you would never hear a Marvin Gaye on the station. We find the right place to creatively play it. What we're not going to do is squeeze it in between a hiphop track and Aaliyah. Instead, you might hear it in a master mix over Shaggy's 'Boombastic' and its sample of 'Let's Get It On.'"

Beyond competing with a heritage station, KTTB has other challenges, including signal problems and staffing up. Fields says, "We're still working on getting the technical aspects correct. But we've already overcome a major hurdle. We moved the station's transmitter and its studios closer into the city, from a town 60 miles out. We're now only about 10-15 minutes from downtown Minneapolis, and we're redirecting our signal to reach a bigger portion of our target population.'

Fields has temporarily moved to Minneapolis to oversee the launch and staffing of the Beat and is actively searching for a PD. "The person we are looking for is going to have to be open,' he says. "We don't want [him or her] to have any preconceived notions about how a radio station has to be. We want someone who is open to new ideas and willing to take an unusual approach to programming. This is not like any other market scenario. The same applies to the air staff. We need people who can appeal to a wide urban audience. You could be black, white, Hispanic . . . and hopefully I will be able to find people who will reflect all those Even without an air staff in place, Fields says, the Blue Chip marketing machine is already up and running for the station. "We're currently running a massive TV campaign to bring awareness to the station. Also planned for down the road are billboards, then once we have a staff, a strong street campaign. [Blue Chip CEO] Ross Love has a background in marketing, so he understands the value of having those elements in place.

And while Fields is busy up north putting together the Beat, what of his other responsibilities at the growing broadcast company, now 18 stations strong? "My role at Blue Chip continues to be VP of broadcast operations. And that definition changes as the company grows," he says. "In Louisville, when I was based there, we purchased several stations, and I was overseeing the integration of them into the Blue Chip cluster. Now, I'm needed in Minneapolis.

"But my day-to-day interaction with my PDs continues," says Fields. "The good thing is we have such strong people in our chain that they have the autonomy to do what they need to do. And I strongly feel that the only way an organization can grow, as we are, is if strong person-

Radio Still Celebrating The New Year

New Year's Eve, many thought the radio industry's record year could not be matched in 2000. Yet a review of midyear statistics shows that there has been a 324% increase in the number of station deals and that radio advertising is up 22% over last year. The only cloud in the sky is stock prices, which have been cut by a third since last December; however, as of June 28, stocks were exactly where they were one vear ago.

According to the Kagan Media Radio Index, which comprises 19 stocks, radio stocks are down 36% for the year to date. "It's been a tough six months," állows a Kagan analyst. Barron's negative article on Clear Channel and Cumulus "hit the industry overall. It is beginning to recover, but it's still a little volatile.

C.S. First Boston analyst Ian Zaffino has heard fears from some in the investment community that radio may be headed for a slowdown as a result of its reliance "on dotcom spending and concerns about overnight spots not being sold out and so forth, but I think those fears are not warranted." Several stock analysts believe the market is in the midst of a 'soft landing," meaning a correction where stocks are more realistically valued yet do not crash. Zaffino believes that the economy is still very strong and that radio will be safe. "I feel very comfortable that radio companies will meet or exceed Wall Street cash-flow estimates for the remainder of 2000 and 2001," he says.

"I think it will come back," agrees the Kagan analyst. "Everything keeps going up, so I don't think we hit an absolute high in December." The analyst also believes radio will be buoyed by a surge in late-year ad spending related to the Olympics and the election season.

Advertising has been strong so far in 2000, according to Radio Advertising Bureau statistics. The year-to-date numbers through May show local ad spending up 18% compared with 1999, while national figures were up

May is traditionally the strongest month of the year for radio advertising, and it showed local ad dollars up 22% over May '99, while national ad dollars grew 38% for the same period. National spending figures were fueled by a staggering 49% jump on the West Coast and a 40% rise in the Southwest.

'We can still have a couple of bad months and still blow the doors off the year," says RAB president Gary Fries, who predicted spending would grow 13% this year. Fries says that if all goes the same, 17% growth is more likely.

While Internet start-up money has added 'a couple of percentage points" to those numbers, Fries sees Web firms now operating as businesses and simply buying advertising on the radio like any other company would. First Boston's Zaffino agrees that even if the Internet ad spending completely dried up, radio would only have to cut between four and six percentage points from its growth rate.

The continued strong economy has led veteran ad spending tracker Robert Coen to boost his prediction that spending would grow 9.4% this year, up from his late 1999 forecast of 8.3%. Coen, who heads Universal McCann's forecasting division, has raised his radio prediction to 15%, up from a 13% forecast in December. "We were too cautious," says Coen.

The year has also been marked by as much wheeling and dealing as a Turkish bazaar. According to Kagan Media, through June 23 there have been 915 station deals worth $8.4 this time, worth an additional $6.5 billion.

'The market is very strong. There's a lot of radio buyers out there, so it's still very much a seller's market," says Kelly Callan, a broker at Kalil & Co., where he and five other brokers are working "full, long days" to handle the business. "As long as radio revenues continue to rise, you're going to have people trying to get into this business.'

Another broker agrees the deals have "moved down to the second- and third-tier transactions" and says the market this year has been largely driven by Cox Radio, Citadel, and Clear Channel, which had to sell off $1 billion worth of stations as part of its merger with AMFM. "The statistics are very strong, but they're significantly skewed by all the money Clear Channel has had to reinvest,' the broker says. "Beyond that, we're in the last throes of consolidation. It has to slow down, simply because the inventory is disappearing.

Callan expects to see more radio groups become frustrated with the inability to add stations and instead grow into TV.

CAPITOL: AFRAID TO REGULATE?

FCC Commissioner Gloria Tristani is calling for tougher indecency standards for radio, saying "the shield of the First Amendment should not become a sword that harms our children." In a speech before the annual Annenberg Public Policy Center's Conference on Children and Media in Washington, D.C., Tristani said, "The commission appears so averse to indecency cases, and has erected so many procedural barriers to complaints from members of the public, that indecency enforcement has become virtually non-existent." In particular, the Democrat cites the FCC's requirement for a cassette of the offending program be turned in with the complaint. This is surely an unreasonable burden to impose on the public," she says, adding few parents have the foresight to have a tape recorder running at all times. Critics of the FCC's indecency policy say the First Amendment protects radio, yet Tristani wants the Supreme Court to review the laws dictating what can be classified as obscene, to expand them beyond the current sex and execratory categories that are not protected.

Meanwhile, the FCC has upheld two separate fines totaling $30,000 against active rocker WXTB Tampa, Fla., for violating its indecency rules. The fine stems from four separate broadcasts in 1997 and 1998 by morning man Bubba the Love Sponge. The fine was handed down last fall, but WXTB's owners have been fighting it. Citicasters (which is now part of Clear Channel) attorneys asked the FCC to set aside the fine, since the commission has yet to issue industry guidelines on what is and is not allowed. Citcasters claims such guidelines are necessary in order for it to argue whether WXTB violated the rules or not. The FCC declined to issue any guidelines, saying its "definition of indecency has remained unchanged for years [and] amply illustrates what broadcasters may and may not do."

On Capitol Hill, the House Subcommittee on Telecommunications has sent to the full Commerce Committee the so-called shotclock bill, which requires the FCC to either approve or deny a merger within 90 days of public notice or in as little as 60 days for smaller companies. "There is simply no logic nor rationale to the FCC's lengthy process," says Rep. Chip Pickering, R-Miss., who sponsored the bill. While many in Congress have attacked the FCC for taking too long to review deals, Pickering acknowledges there are several committee members who are not yet convinced this bill will speed the process.

ongs ranked by number of audience, computed by cins or elencing exact times of airplay with Arbitron listener data.
Songs showing an increase in audience over the previous weeks, regardless of chart movement. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in audience, is song with a gain in audience over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining in audience or each bising in udience, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs become recurrents and are removed from this chart in conjunction with the Mainstream Top 40 Airplay chart.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most New Stations awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of audience, computed by cross-referenting exact times of airplay with Arbitron listener data. Songs showing an increase in audience over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a builtet, even if it negisters an increase in audience. A song with a gain in audience over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a cacline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining in audience or each losing in audience, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs become recurrents and are removed from this chart in conjunction with the Adult Top 40 Airplay chart.

Songs ranked by number of audience, computed by cross-referencing exact times of airplay with Arbitron listener data. Songs showing an increase in audience over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in audience. A song with a gain in audience over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining in audience over the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs become recurrents and are removed from this chart in conjunction with the Adult Contemporary Airplay chart.

Compiled from a national sample of data supplied by Broadcast Data Systems. 12D mainstream top 4D, 4D rhythmic top 4D, 86 adult top 4D and 61 crossover stations are electronically monitored 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous regardless of chart movement. A song that has been on a chart for more than 2D weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 2D on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Best 1st Impression awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are eacing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. ©2000 Billiboard/BPI Communications.
