The Warning Signs Of Getting Fired

by Dana Hall
and Marc Schiffman

Almost everyone in radio has had to deal with being fired at least once during their careers. While some broadcasters consider being fired a badge of courage, it's always a painful experience, particularly in today's environment where the next job is harder to come by than ever. But by better understanding the situation, a PD may be better prepared for the next job. Airplay Monitor asked several programmers to share the warning signs to watch for, as well as what they learned from being fired.

WHEN TO BE WARY

- RECORD REPS TALKING
- GM NOT TALKING
- OUT OF THE LOOP
- COMPANY IN TROUBLE
- YOU LOSE INTEREST

One programmer observed that "in the past five years, a lot of firings that took place were in no way tied to performance but because of bottom-line issues. Is there a way to see that coming? Absolutely not. Everything's cooking along and then the rug's pulled out from under you because of a budget cut, corporate merger, or something of that ilk. It's got nothing to do with you being a bad PD or morning show. I'm not sure anybody would see it [coming]."

But others say there are always some warning signs, if one pays close attention. The most obvious, and surprisingly, most common one is the tip-off from co-workers. Adult top 40 WYRV St. Louis PD Mark Edwards says, "I was PD at a station, and

Bash Wit Me

Listeners Weigh In On Radio

The Future of Music Coalition (FOMC), along with the Media Access Project and the Rockefeller Foundation, have released a portion of a study that addresses 500 respondents' reaction to radio consolidation and its effect on music. The coalition says that the study shows 80% of respondents favor congressional action to protect or expand the number of independently owned local stations. Seventy-six percent of those surveyed say they want DJs to make some of their own music decisions. If it is proved that stations are accepting money to give preferential exposure to certain artists, 68% want the government to step in and ensure that all artists have a better chance at having their music reach the air. More new music, less repetition, and exposure of more local artists would make radio appealing to 52% of those polled, and 75% want to see more low-power FM stations licensed.

Speaking to The New York Times in reaction to the story, Clear Channel Radio spokeswoman Pam Taylor says the survey is nothing new. "People have been saying the same thing since we've been doing research." FOMC spokesman Michael Bracy tells Monitor that the first wave of information from this survey (the full version of which is due in September) was meant to influence possible pending legislative action on radio and independent promotion.

Is it radio or labels that are responsible for the cost of doing business? In a June 25 Salon.com story, reporter Eric Boehlert quotes one unnamed promotion executive as saying, "Clear Channel would have a fucking heart attack if labels stopped paying indies." The remarks are in response to recently reported comments by CC officials that labels are responsible for the current entrenchment of independent promotion and could undo the situation by halting their spending. The same label source also says that it was CC's eight new indie deals last year that were "instrumental in driving up the cost of radio promotion." The same story also quotes Sen. Russ Feingold, D-Wis., who is preparing to introduce pay-for-play-related legislation, as calling the current indie system "very disturbing for me and not just for entertainment but even for democracy."

WEBCAST ROYALTY RATES SET

The Librarian of Congress, acting on the recommendation of the Register of Copyrights, has determined the final royalty rates for Webcast performances. The move follows the librarian's May rejection of rates that had been recommended in February by the Copyright Arbitration Royalty Panel (CARP). The librarian has ruled that "significant portions" of the CARP's proposed rates

"were arbitrary or contrary to law."

The librarian threw out the CARP's two-tiered rate structure of 0.14 cents per performance for Internet-only transmissions and 0.07 cents for simulcast transmissions. Both will now carry a rate of 0.07 cents. The fee Webcasters and broadcasters must pay for making ephemeral recordings has been reduced from 9% of the performance fee to 8.8%. The rate for archived programming was cut from 0.05 cents to 0.02 cents.

Meanwhile, Broadcast.com founder Mark Cuban tells Radio and Internet Newsletter that the voluntary royalty deal that Yahoo entered into with the librarian—and which served as the template for the final CARP decision—was crafted to shut out small Webcasters. Cuban, who left the company after its acquisition by Yahoo, says he helped formulate the deal that allowed a high royalty price to avoid a percentage-of-revenue rate that would have favored smaller Webcasters.

WBTT SUED FOR PRANK

The Naples Daily News reports that Clear Channel's WBTT Fort Myers, Fla., has been sued by a local woman for using her full name in a prank call aired by jock Bruce Da Moose. The jock, posing as a doctor, called Adrienne Breidigan and told her that an ex-boyfriend may have given her a potentially fatal sexually transmitted disease. He began to ask Breidigan about her sexual history, which she answered until the queries became more and more graphic. Breidigan was told the call would be aired but that her full name would not be used. She is suing the jock and CC for unspecified damages.

MANAGEMENT: FLINN FOR MAYOR

First he was an ultrasound doctor. Then a radio station owner. Now, George Flinn, owner of crossover R&B KXHT (Hot 107) Memphis, triple-A sister WMPS, and suburban country WYYL, is running for mayor of Shelby County, which includes Memphis. The election takes place Aug. 1.

Former Greater Media/Philadelphia GM Dennis Begley is the new GM for ABC's Radio Disney affiliate WWCS Pittsburgh and N/T sister WEAE.

Adult top 40 WRQX/jazz WJZW Washington, D.C., director of operations Steve Kosbau becomes president/GM of ABC sisters WDRQ/adult top 40 WDDV Detroit. He replaces WDRQ GM George Wolfson and WDDV GM Mike Fazzey, who continues to oversee N/T sister WJR.

Clear Channel/Tucson, Ariz., VP/GM Debra Wagner segues to CC/Springfield, Mass., for similar duties. She replaces the exiting Jerry Hyland.

AC WBXY Gainesville, Fla., GM Frank Kelley exits. Also at the station, Ross Jackson recently

Rappers Set Record Atop Chart

While it has been common in recent years to see two hip-hop singles simultaneously in the top five at mainstream top 40, this week marks the first time in Airplay Monitor history that the top two singles are both by rap artists. Eminem scores his first No. 1 at mainstream with "Without Me" (Web/Aftermath/Interscope), while "Hot in Herre" (Fo' Reel/Universal) becomes Nelly's biggest top 40 hit to date.

P. Diddy isn't the first artist to have two top 10 rhythmic top 40 singles simultaneously, but he is the first to do so with the same song. Part 1 and Part 2 of "I Need a Girl" (Bad Boy/Arista) are both in the top 10 this week at rhythmic. He still remains the first and only artist in Monitor history to battle himself on the chart with the same single. This is a result of a new rule Monitor started in January, which states that similarly titled songs that contain different lyrics and melody must be treated as two separate songs.

Monitor has revised its adult top 40/modern AC recurrent rule. Songs that are below No. 15 on the chart will now be moved to our recurrent chart after 26 weeks. Those songs had previously moved when they fell below No. 20. With the new rule in effect, the following singles come off the adult top 40 chart: Creed's "My Sacrifice" (after 35 weeks), Jewel's "Standing Still" (37), and Five for Fighting's "Superman (It's Not Easy)" (58). The songs that come off the modern AC chart are "My Sacrifice" (38), Train's "Drops of Jupiter (Tell Me)" (72), and the longest-running modern AC song of all time, Lifeshouse's "Hanging by a Moment," which was on the chart for 78 weeks, eight of them at No. 1. It remains on the adult top 40 chart in its 72nd week, moving 18-15.

PANEL CHANGES: Following a format change, KSTE Portland, Ore., has been removed from the adult top 40 and modern AC panels... Because of technical problems, WXKB Fort Myers, Fla., has been temporarily removed from the mainstream top 40 panel, effective this issue.

LABEL NEWS: Billboard Bulletin reports that Bad Boy and Arista have terminated their joint venture. Bad Boy CEO Sean "P. Diddy" Combs has acquired Arista's 50% stake in the label, as well as Bad Boy's entire artist roster and catalog.

Lava Records CEO Jason Flom has signed a new deal with Atlantic Records that will give Lava its own promotion, publicity, and marketing teams. The staff is expected to grow from 10 to 40. Lava's first release under the deal will be Uncle Kracker's second album, due this fall.

Extasy senior VP of promotion Stu Cohen exits. He may be reached at 818-788-4860.

arrived as PD from the same at adult top 40 WNFb Lake City, Fla., replacing T.J. Michaels.

A C&D FOR 'PLJ

Billboard Bulletin reports that adult top 40 WPLJ New York debuted the title track to Bruce Springsteen's Columbia release, The Rising, June 21, several days ahead of its planned "first listen" premiere on AOL. That was quickly followed by a cease-and-desist order from the label.

Phoenix-area classic hits outlet KAZL becomes the latest convert to a dance-based rhythmic top 40 format, as KNRJ's Chris Shebel, PD of similarly formatted WKIE (Energy 92) Chicago, is consulting. AC WLEV (Mix 100.7) Allentown, Pa., cuts its playlist and rebrands itself as Mix 100.7.

With the demise of modern AC KSTE (Star 105.9) Portland, Ore., PD Michael Storm is looking for another job. He's based at the station for now.

Tapping into the growing interest in '90s tracks at radio, MannGroup Radio Services is releasing Rewind: The '90s Show. The show is hosted by oldies KRTH Los Angeles morning man Gary Bryan and targets mainstream and adult top 40.

Beej, previously with KBEE (B98.7) Salt Lake City, is the new PD at modern AC KLCA Reno, Nev., replacing Carlos Campos.

Adult top 40 WJLK (the Point) Monmouth, N.J., OM Lou Russo adds PD/morning duties. Middayer Debbie Mazella adds MD duties. Dan Alexander returns to his afternoon shift.

Heritage WKGB Binghamton, N.Y., PD Jim Free is named OM for the Binghamton cluster, which includes WMRV and AC WMXW.

PEOPLE: WORD ON BOND

'80s oldies WRKZ (Z102.3) Harrisburg, Pa., hires former crosstown WNNK afternoon team Bruce Bond and Stretch for mornings. The Patriot-News reports that WNNK parent Cumulus has sued the morning show and WRKZ parent Citadel charging them with violating non-compete agreements, charging Bond with inducing Stretch to leave, and seeking unspecified compensatory and punitive damages. Bond was fired from WNNK last December.

He has been through the cluster as a jock with no name—specifically the Infinity/San Francisco cluster, where the DJ With No Name moves from late nights at modern KITS to morning co-host duties at modern AC sister KLLC (Alice 97.3).

Adult top 40 WMWX (Mix 95.7) Philadelphia APD/MD Amy Navarro exits. PD Chris Ebbott needs "someone with both a left and right brain who knows Selector [and] AudioVault."

Longtime WSTR (Star 94) Atlanta marketing director Alan Hennes exits.

Beau Daniels from WWCK Flint, Mich., is the new MD/afternoon host at WKQI (Channel 95.5) Detroit, replacing J. Love. Daniels, like PD Dom Theodore, is an alumnus of former top 40 outlet WHYT Detroit, where he was Bo the Jammer.

WBZZ (B94) Pittsburgh makes programming department staffer Adam Hapeman official in the long-vacant night slot. He'll also be assistant MD to APD/MD Ryan Mill.

Programming staffer L.J. is upped to music coordinator at WBLI Long Island, N.Y.

Afternoon driver Jammin' Jimmy Olson exits rhythmic top 40 KTHT (Hot 97.1) Houston.

Modern AC KAMX (Mix 94.7) Austin, Texas, has the winner in its Supermouth contest. Debi O'Keefe, described by PD Jim Robertson as "an Englishwoman of sparkling personality and a delightful wit," joins morning hosts JB and Sandy in her first radio gig.

Rhythmic top 40 KIKI Honolulu MD/afternoon host Pablo Sato replaces Scotty Valentine as MD/night host at KFMS Las Vegas.

Adult top 40 WRVE Albany, N.Y., morning man Tred Hulse adds MD duties. Former middayer Lori Bradley returns to the station for nights, replacing Michael Gately.

Lisa Kick joins modern AC WBNS-FM (the New 97.1) Columbus, Ohio, as morning co-host, replacing Valerie Knight. She previously was with a local TV station.

WFBC (B93.7) Greenville, S.C., overnigher Vane-sah Fields joins WJYY Manchester, N.H., as morning co-host. Replacing Fields at WFBC is P/T Chris Taylor. In other WJYY news, night host Nazzy @ Nights heads to the same at WPRO-FM Providence, R.I., replacing Robby Bridges. Meanwhile, WFBC adult top 40 sister WOLI middayer Bender joins adult top 40 WKSI Greensboro, N.C., as MD/afternoon host.

WJHT State College, Pa., night host Chris Mack joins WRHT/WCBZ New Bern, N.C., for nights.

If Listeners Are Angry, What Then?

To an industry used to passive consumers who use radio as an appliance and, for the most part, want the least possible challenge from their product, the results of last week's study from the Future of Music Coalition must seem to be at odds with reality as anyone who has actually researched the radio audience knows it.

The study found that 80% of listeners surveyed wanted longer playlists and less repetition. Seventy-five percent wanted more independent radio. Eighty percent wanted Congress to put a limit on industry consolidation, and two-thirds wanted congressional action on "payola-like practices" that influence radio. PDs are used to the complaint calls from their most active listeners, used to the disdain of the consumer press, and used to hearing from a passionate audience that still wasn't large enough to sustain any station that has just changed format. But they've also been secure in the knowledge that most truly adventurous radio stations aren't big wins (if that wasn't the case, KKWV San Francisco would be beating AC KOIT) and that listeners don't want to hear songs that don't test, even for variety.

So what's happening now? While it's not quite a valence issue on the order of, "Should we find a cure for cancer?" you'd expect most survey respondents to say that more variety and less repetition is a good thing. They weren't asked, "Would you listen to a radio station where you didn't recognize most of the songs?" or "Are you willing to hear your current favorite song just once a week?" And with most larger markets having at least a few adventurous choices, listeners weren't asked if they seek out some of those stations (or, more likely, why they don't).

Critics of radio and the music business have also been assuming for the past 43 years that the only possible explanation for music on the radio that deviates from their own personal taste is because of payola. Stan Freberg made that accusation in 1960 on a comedy record called The Old Payola Roll Blues, in which payola is offered as the only possible reason that radio might choose the teen idols of the day over the big-band jazz records that were no longer getting played. Today there is an assumption, often repeated in the consumer press of late, that the influence of indies has created a greater conservatism; in fact, most major formats are as current-driven and musically aggressive as they have been in 20 years. (That could also bespeak the influence of indies, but not in the way most folks assume.)

So how does radio proceed, knowing both that listeners are dissatisfied (something they've been demonstrating with lower listening) and that what sounds good to listeners in the abstract hasn't made for particularly successful radio?

1. Address more of the music that's selling without widespread airplay. Freberg would take the sales of the Norah Jones album to imply that radio should be playing her and not playing Nelly. In fact, there ought to be room for both in a top 40 that can currently accommodate such a wide variety of music already.

2. Rethink rotations. Today's hyper-current top 40 put its clocks in place two years ago when there were more records worthy of being played 70-100 times per week. Today, very few records can stand up to that level of repetition, particularly when you factor in several stations in a given market also pounding the hits.

3. No more scorched earth. While it's no secret that many of today's flanker stations are meant primarily to take a competitor down a few notches, there's also a less spoken, more insidious strategy of hurting the incumbent by burning listeners out on a genre of music. We saw it a decade ago with country. We're seeing it again with the proliferation of certain top 40 and R&B stations, particularly those with ultra-high rotations. Rather than launching a 2-share station for the primary purpose of hurting a competitor and possibly diminishing the franchise for everyone, why not use that signal to offer consumers something truly different? Some, like KKWV, may go over listeners' heads at first. Others, like WPYM (Party 93.1) Miami, won't be too hip for the room after all.

4. Address the spotload issue. Spotload hasn't been in the headlines as much recently, but that doesn't mean that everyone is running eight units per hour again. It won't solve some of the other issues listeners may have with radio, but it will stop driving listeners away from a product they may already be favorably disposed toward.

Listeners who are favorably disposed toward radio, by the way, are a logical place for PDs to start in trying to figure out what's really broken. We've always known and accepted that most viable radio stations won't satisfy the music critic at a town's entertainment weekly. But if the people who've always loved mainstream radio are now saying something's wrong, they need to be heard. And despite the popular perception that research is also making radio more conservative, it might be the case that the smaller research budgets available to most stations are making it harder for those listeners to weigh in.

Wendie Vestfall says that when she's handling outdoor events, "weather is your biggest concern. Have a backup plan for what to do if it rains. EZ Up Tents become hazardous flying objects in the rain. You [also] need to have lots of water on hand for staff if the heat gets up there."

And panelists worry about more than the weather. Among those things, Murdock says, are "security [and] staggering everyone's schedule so [as to] not burn out staff."

Strzelecki says concerns depend on the day. "Sometimes it's security. Other times it's just a matter of making sure your team has everything they need to make the day go smoothly—the right supplies, prizes, banners, toll [and] parking money. It's the little things that can derail a promotion."

While little things are important, some Promogandists say size does matter to some extent when planning summer promotions.

"If K92 can touch a large number of people," Riggi says, "we do spend more energy there."

Strzelecki agrees. "We try to be everywhere, as much as it's possible, but [with] the bigger events with more people, we definitely put in more effort to look good."

But Vestfall claims equal emphasis. "WMZQ spends just as much time going to large outdoor venues as we do being in local town parades and festivals," she says. "We also spend a lot of time on the fair circuit."

Murdock agrees. "Small street [or] neighborhood fairs are always cool. They just have a really nice feel to them."

With so many outdoor and large venue events going on, panelists say they work to stretch their budgets in the summer. "Roll-a-banner is a lifesaver," Strzelecki says. To stretch her budget, she is "not afraid to put client product in our 'goody bags' along with our own merchandise."

Vestfall agrees. "Most of my budget goes toward outside events in the summer [because] that's when most of them occur. So we make sure to stock up on banner rolls and temporary tattoos."

The Warning Signs Of Getting Fired

someone else at the station got a call from a local record rep who said to them, 'Hey, did you know your boss is going to get fired because so-and-so is interviewing for his job?'

Maurice DeVoe, now PD of KWRP (Power 97.5) Houston, was also tipped off to his departure from WPHI Philadelphia by a record rep. "He heard there were several folks interviewing for my job. I knew I wasn't up for a promotion, so the writing was on the wall." DeVoe began to clear out his office. But, he adds, "even before that, I had a bad feeling about my situation. My GM and I simply weren't communicating."

Almost all those who Monitor polled agreed that a lack of communication with GMs, consultants, or national programmers is usually a sign that something is wrong. Mike Abrams, director of operations for Satellite One, warns of trouble when "management people stop talking to you. In one situation I worked in, one of the upper-management people avoided me completely, and then a consultant was called in without my knowledge."

Veteran PD Roshon Vance became uneasy at a station when "most of my dialogue with the GM became e-mail, and those were mostly condescending." Vance recalls another station he worked for as an air talent, where "the PD started to send me nasty memos. He wouldn't make eye contact with me and walked away whenever I joined the group to talk. I realized he was leaving a paper trail with the memos and couldn't face me. I was also pretty close to one of the upper-management folks, and the last week I was there, he completely avoided me."

Vance adds that being kept out of the loop of information is a bad sign. "If you are no longer included in meetings that you were previously involved in or management withholds pertinent information like research from you, then it's just a matter of time before you are axed."

Other PDs say that a job may be in jeopardy when a company is in flux. One recently departed PD noticed "the company's stock price drop dramatically, the quarterly earnings were low, and then they cut my entire budget... I was released soon after."

WKQI (Channel 95.5) Detroit PD Dom Theodore's only experience "was in Saginaw, Mich., [when] they flipped the station from top 40 to hot AC, and I was a fairly aggressive night jock, edgy in content. They went in a different direction." And even when they say they're planning to retain some on-air staff, Theodore says that if "one night you're on the air hanging up on people and making rude references about their mothers and the next day you're playing Michael Bolton—you kind of knew your days were numbered then."

Mass firings, even without a format change, are another warning sign. One PD recalled a situation where "the station GM started... to cut loose anyone he could, to show the problems [at the station] were occurring outside his door." Although this PD was one of those to go—even the local newspaper referred to his being fired as him being treated as a scapegoat—the GM was let go six months later.

Another PD recalls that at his last station, he, ironically, started to worry about his job when "the station owner started to buy all this new equipment... there were lots of banker-types walking through the studios to 'view' the station... and the owner drove up one day in a brand-new Benz... The station was sold soon after, and everyone was let go."

TIME TO FIRE YOURSELF?

And then there are the internal signs. New KMJJ Shreveport, La., PD Hozie Mack says, "A PD knows himself, and when he's working at 100%... you know what you're capable of. And when you start to find yourself only working at 50% or less and your drive is gone, then you're vulnerable at that time. It could be due to personal issues or circumstances beyond your control at your station, but if you're noticing you have less passion, so are your managers."

Mack adds, "Sometimes, you outgrow situations

MONITOR PROFILE

With An Up Trend, 'DJX Hopes To Flank A Flanker

This is PD Shane Collins' second tour of duty at WDJX Louisville, Ky., and his first as a PD. During his two terms at the station, he has been everything from overnight host and morning-show stunt boy to marketing director and APD/MD.

Then-PD Barry Fox brought Collins back to the station in the late '90s as APD/MD and gave him in-the-trenches training. "Barry and I had a really strong working relationship, where I had a lot of influence in what made it on the air," Collins says. "It really began there... [We] worked as a team." A key to their strategy was to "focus on the fact that we were local and capitalize on that every chance we got," particularly when Clear Channel flanked WDJX with top 40 WZKF (Kiss FM).

"We also became much more creative in our marketing and the contesting," Collins says. "At the time, Clear Channel was starting their group contesting. We knew we didn't have the money to compete on that level, so we just became more creative with the money that we did have."

One such example is the station's variation on the at-work listening contest, On the Clock, which gave listeners the chance to earn $100 an hour on the station payroll. It positioned the contest as an on-air position, starting off with promos voiced by the morning show talking about how easy the job is. Any time a new winner was announced, he or she got to "fire" the previous winner on the air. "The listeners really enjoyed it," Collins says. "[It] was a lot of fun. It gave anybody and everybody who wanted to participate the chance to participate. We did it 10 hours a day. We gave away not a whole heck of a lot of money, but it sounded big on the air."

As an ongoing contest with lots of local winners, it also kept the station top of mind with listeners and reinforced the local angle as it went up against Clear Channel's collective contesting.

Once a rhythmic-leaning top 40, WDJX took a more pop approach several years ago, because "we had already had a real strong [R&B] competitor in the market in WGZB," Collins recalls. When that station was joined by younger-leaning WBLO (Hot 104), "there was really no need for us to serve that audiand then become complacent. If you start to notice that, then it's time you make a change before they make a change for you."

He continues, "Passion for what you do is the fuel to allow you to work at 100% [capacity]. Without it, there is no way you can get done all you need to as a PD. When you start to lose that, it's time to move on. In the meantime, until you find that new job, you have to be respectful of your current position and managers. Never allow your negative feelings [to] show to the managers or the people you manage."

Others have learned a lesson or two as well. Abrams says, "Sometimes, there is a predestined plan [that] management has, and whether it is right or wrong, you can be a casualty. I have learned that you need to do the best job you can and hope that management appreciates the job you do, as that is why they hired you. Remain true to your convictions—that will make you a more important and valuable employee. You should also evaluate your own performance from time to time."

MANAGING UP

Edwards adds, "Our business is so political, and so many stations are so political that half the battle of job security is playing the game. In retrospect, I could have spent less time doing ence. So we just took it in a more mainstream direction, serving not only 18-34 but [also] 25-54." But with WZKF in the picture, owner Radio One has "focused the station more so now [on rhythmic music] because we have launched a modern AC in our building."

That modern AC would be WULV (Max 102.3). "We've given a lot of those records to the Max," Collins adds, "and we have been able to focus ourselves a little better, trim our list a little bit, and really focus on the 18-34s."

Now part of the same Blue Chip cluster with WBLO and WGZB, Collins says, "at any given time you can walk down the hallway and hear the same song on four different radio stations. And that's not an exaggeration." He hopes that wall of females will help squeeze WZKF, which is part of a rock and country-driven cluster. While WZKF has floated around the 2-3 share range, WDJX has rebounded from the 5s to the 6s in the first spring Arbitrend. "They've just really had a tough time making any inroads... You would think that Clear Channel would step back and say, 'Hey, we're wasting a signal here. Let's put something that's more lucrative on it.' Maybe another country station. They do have a classic country which has some success, but it's on a very tiny signal. Could they put it on a bigger signal and have more success? Maybe."

On the air, Collins says, "we do not acknowledge that they exist at all. We have not from day one and we will not. Our strategy is to do what we do best. That's stay focused, serve our community, and play the hits... We're blessed with some really great talent with a lot of heritage in this market. The morning show has been in place for 14 years. The night show has been in place for 12 years. My name is familiar with the radio station. I did afternoons for a number of years and then moved to middays. We're able to capitalize on the fact that we do have live local personalities. People are familiar with us."

And while Clear Channel will occasionally take shots at WDJX, Collins believes its heritage and the market fan base insulates the station. "This town holds things very near and dear to [its] heart. I don't think [listeners] like the mudslinging. People don't dislike 'DJX. They're not dissatisfied with it, so if you say something bad about it, then it's almost like you're saying something bad about a friend of theirs. It offends them, and I think that they've figured that out now."

Given that audience sensitivity, Collins ensures his heritage morning show doesn't offend. Peter B. and Kelly K. have been a team for four years, though Peter B. has been at the station for 14. "They are a very clean, very entertaining morning show," Collins says. "They walk a real fine line. The goal is to be able to entertain an 18-year-old and also be able to entertain a 28-year-old that has got a 6-year-old in the back seat. Anybody can go out and be nasty. It's easy to be nasty. It's very hard to be clean and entertaining, and they somehow manage to do it every day."

my job and more time being political, but I'm nutty that way in that I like to spend more time doing my job."

He adds that now, as a manager himself, one should "tell people where they stand all the time. We tend to go for the easy or expedient way [out]. You don't confront people about their performance and next thing you know you're whacking them. You need to let people know where they stand all the time and communicate. That's the biggest thing I learned. There's no reason not to tell people where they stand: good, bad, or indifferent."

DeVoe says, "Once I realized what was happening, I was resigned to moving on and accepted it. Looking back, I probably could have made a greater effort at talking to people higher up within the company, developing those relationships so that they would know me better as a programmer. That's why, in my current position, I am determined to always communicate with everyone, from my GM to the VP of programming and others. I let them know everything, almost to the point of being a pest. But I don't think you get fired for giving too much information to those people."

Theodore advises that you "always study your station before you take the job. Know what kind of challenges the station faces, especially from the sales side. That has a lot to do with what the station is going to be. Look at the station's history. Really decide before you go into a situation if the station is healthy for the long term."

He continues, "That's the difference between me and others. When I see a station making large mistakes, I don't want to stick around for it. I've been in situations where it was a dogfight, and I thrive on those, but I won't put myself in a situation where I can't win... When I get the feeling that things aren't working out, I start looking. Any smart person should."

And Mack concludes that "there are always outward signs, but the ones you should listen to the closest are your inner instincts. You can feel when things are not jelling—like when you constantly have philosophical differences with the people in charge. I've also learned that you should always deal with problems immediately, because if they escalate, they get out of control, and something you thought was a small misunderstanding can turn into ongoing dissension. You don't want to work in that kind of environment. Don't let strained relationships continue that way. Resolve them."

Abrams adds a bit of inspiration to the experience of being fired: "In my 17 years in radio," he says, "every time I have been fired, I have done better for myself in my next position."

Songs ranked by number of detections. ( ) Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrences and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of audience, computed by cross-referencing exact times of airplay with Arbitron listener data. ( ) Songs showing an increase in audience over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in audience does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in audience. A song with a gain in audience over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining in audience or each losing in audience, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs become recurrences and are removed from this chart in conjunction with the Mainstream Top 40 Airplay chart.

MAINSTREAM TOP 40

POWER PLAYLISTS

FOR WEEK ENDING JUNE 23, 2002

AIRPLAY
Monitor

Songs ranked by number of detections. Playlists are listed in order of TSA weekly come, beginning with the highest-cumulative station. Cumes are updated twice weekly following the release of the spring and fall Arbitron surveys. The number of stations shown each week varies depending upon space.

* denotes songs with 6 or more detections at station

for first time this week.

* indicates station reports to both Adult Top40 and Modern AC.

MAINSTREAM TOP 40

FOR WEEK ENDING JUNE 23, 2002

Monitor

Songs ranked by number of detections. Playlists are listed in order of TSA weekly cume, beginning with the highest-cuming station. Cumes are updated twice yearly following the release of the spring and fall Arbitron surveys. The number of stations shown each week varies depending upon space.

denotes songs with 6 or more detections at station

for first time this week.

* indicates station reports to both Adult Top40 and Modern AC.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ○ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrent and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of audience, computed by cross-referencing exact times of airplay with Arbitron listener data. ○ Songs showing an increase in audience over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in audience does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in audience. A song with a gain in audience over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining in audience or each losing in audience, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs become recurrent and are removed from this chart in conjunction with the Rhythmic Top 40 Airplay chart.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Playlists are listed in order of TSA weekly cume, beginning with the highest-cuming station. Cumes are updated twice yearly following the release of the spring and fall Arbitron surveys. The number of stations shown each week varies depending upon space.

AA denotes songs with 6 or more detections at station for first time this week.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ○ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become re-entrants and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of audience, computed by cross-referencing exact times of airplay with Arbitron listener data. ○ Songs showing an increase in audience over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in audience does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in audience. A song with a gain in audience over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining in audience or each losing in audience, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs become re-entrants and are removed from this chart in conjunction with the Crossover Airplay chart.

CROSSOVER

POWER PLAYLISTS

FOR WEEK ENDING JUNE 23, 2002

AIRPLAY
Monitor

Neilsen
Broadcast Data
Systems

Songs ranked by number of detections. Playlists are listed in order of TSA weekly come, beginning with the highest-cumming station. Cumes are updated twice yearly following the release of the spring and fall Arbitron surveys. The number of stations shown each week varies depending upon space.

6+ denotes songs with 6 or more detections at station for first time this week.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become re-entrants and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of audience, computed by cross-referencing exact times of airplay with Arbitron listener data. Songs showing an increase in audience over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in audience does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in audience. A song with a gain in audience over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining in audience or each losing in audience, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs become re-entrants and are removed from this chart in conjunction with the Adult Top 40 Airplay chart.

Songs ranked by number of detections. (○) Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. (○) Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

ADULT CONTEMPORARY

POWER PLAYLIST

FOR WEEK ENDING JUNE 23, 2002

Monitor

Songs ranked by number of detections. Playlists are listed in order of TSA weekly cume, beginning with the highest-cuming station. Cumes are updated twice yearly following the release of the spring and fall Arbitron surveys. The number of stations shown each week varies depending upon space.

Airplay Add (AA) denotes songs with 6 or more detections at station for first time this week.
