T40, R&B Overlap Nearly 50%

■ by Sean Ross

Last fall, mainstream top 40 was ratcheting down the amount of music it took from the rhythmic and R&B world (at least slightly) and reaching out for more rock titles, particularly as acts like Linkin Park, Nickelback, and Staind heralded a resurgence of guitar rock.

But that was before rock acts began making it clear that they didn't want to play top 40 station shows or even be interviewed on top 40 stations. So this fall, Airplay Monitor's latest look at musical sharing between formats shows that the amount of music coming from rock is leveling, but the percentage of rhythmic top 40 and R&B hits that eventually show up at top 40 has skyrocketed, more than doubling in the case of R&B/hip-hop radio.

Monitor looked at eight major current-based formats to see how many of their hits eventually made it to mainstream top 40. We did so by tallying the percentage of songs on those formats' May 31 chart that had made it to mainstream top 40 by Sept. 27. The four-month lag was meant to give songs time to cross over; we weren't necessarily measuring the amount of songs that are on both formats at any given time as top 40 PDs' willingness to acknowledge the major records on their competitors at some point.

And, boy, were top 40 PDs willing to acknowledge hits from R&B—a major change from past years. In 1997, the first year for which we've compared the numbers, only 15% of the

CKEY Drops Unedited Rap Records

It generated tons of publicity and attracted the attention of Canada's broadcast regulator. Now market observers say the uncensored rap records have stopped airing on new crossover R&B outlet CKEY (Wild 101) Buffalo, N.Y. Locals say the unedited titles—thought to be airable under Canada's different broadcast rules—only lasted about a week, not unlike a short-lived similar effort in the mid-'90s at CIMX (89X) Detroit.

Meanwhile, Phil Becker, PD of WJFX Fort Wayne, Ind., is the new PD at CKEY. Rob White remains OM for owner Niagara Broadcasting, which is in a sales arrangement with U.S. broadcaster Citadel. Also, Citadel's Scott Mahalick says that the station is not, as widely believed, being consulted by Jerry Clifton, although the veteran programmer was involved in the sign-on.

VETERAN STRIKES OUT AT STUNTING

In one of the latest consumer press articles on today's radio, Boston radio veteran Charles Laquidara recalls a 1979 strike by the staff of heritage rocker WBCN that galvanized that market. But with jocks having less sway over their audience today, Laquidara tells Boston Magazine, "If a bunch of commercial radio jocks went out on strike now, the listeners would think it was a station promotion." What Laquidara, contacted later by Airplay Monitor, didn't know when he made the comments was that both WSSX (SX95) Charleston, S.C., and WAKS Cleveland actually did send some staffers "on strike" as a promotion in recent weeks.

A PICKET TICKET WEEKEND . . .

Speaking of picket lines, AFTRA planned to have one outside WLTW New York's One Night With Lite concert Oct. 1. An AFTRA spokesperson says the union will conduct an "informational leafleting" of concert patrons to publicize AFTRA's current contract talks with Clear Channel, which are stalled over whether the latter can use more voice-tracking in New York.

LAWYERS WORKING O.T. ON THIS, TOO

The altercation reported last week between WQHT (Hot 97) New York's Funkmaster Flex and rival WWPR (Power 105.1)'s Steph Lova has escalated to more legal action. New York's Daily News reports that Hot 97 plans to seek an order of protection against Lova, charging that "many of our staff have witnessed her lingering in front of the Hot 97 offices at all hours of the night and day. Her repeated, uninvited presence has made our employees extremely uncomfortable."

Lova has in turn filed a lawsuit against Flex, charging that she suffered emotional and physical pain when he allegedly attacked her outside the Hot 97 offices. Flex, who was released from police custody after turning himself in after the incident, had earlier denied to the News that he attacked Lova.

MANAGEMENT: A SUPERSALE

Syndicator SuperRadio has been sold by CEO/principal John Garabedian to Access 1 Communications, the owner of WWRL New York and KDKS/KBTB Shreveport, La.

Longtime AC WEBE Bridgeport, Conn., regional director Vince Cremora exits, replaced by new market manager Ann McManus.

PUT YOUR DISH ON MY SHOULDER

XM Satellite Radio and Delphi are teaming for a "boombox" receiver that will give the service new portability. Due this month, the SKYFi and its companion hardware will retail for about $200.

CC UNVEILS RVP LINEUP, NATIONAL CASH CALL CONTEST

Didn't take long for new Clear Channel/Detroit OM Darren Davis to get promoted again, and he wasn't even in the building yet. Davis is one of a slew of new regional VP announcements at CC this week. Also getting stripes are CC/Virginia trading area VP of operations Bill Cahill; CC/Louisville, Ky., director of operations Kelly Carls; CC/Tampa, Fla., director of FM programming Brad Hardin; WLIT/WNUA Chicago OM Bob Kaake; CC Orlando, Fla., director of programming Chris Kampmeier; CC/Pittsburgh OM Dave Labrozzi; CC/Albuquerque, N.M., director of programming Bill May; CC/Cleveland regional director of programming operations Kevin Metheny; CC/Phoenix director of programming operations Alan Sledge, and WNCI Columbus, Ohio, PD Jimmy Steele.

With the spring book, CC is also on the air with its current nationwide contest, known as the Celebrity Cash Call on WHTZ (Z100) New York, the Get This Money Contest on R&B WUSL (Power 99) Philadelphia, and Spank the CEO at modern KHBZ (the Buzz) Oklahoma City. Prizes are currently $1,000 an hour but will escalate to $50,000 in some cases. Meanwhile, ABC's WDRQ Detroit is firing back at CC-owned rival WKQI (Q95.5) with its $1,000-an-hour Celebrity Bash Call, for which the phrase that pays is "Copycats never win, aight?"

PROGRAMMING: KISS MODERNIZED

KIZS Tulsa, Okla., takes a more modern AC direction, billed as "the new sound of 92.1 Kiss-FM." Clear Channel cyberjocks Chris Randolph (afternoons) and Java Joel (nights) are gone, replaced by Brian Pennington and J-Rod.

With the departure of PD Doug Daniels, Rick Johnson returns to AC WVAH (V100) Charleston, W.Va., as OM.

All-'80s WYOK (K104.9) Mobile, Ala., returns to top 40 as "Hot 104.9."

Excelsior Radio Networks has launched the weekly two- and four-hour versions of new program Billboard's Hot Dance Countdown. Hosted by Jenni Chase, the show will count down the hits of the Billboard Hot Dance Music/Club Play chart.

PEOPLE: BOND CAN'T BREAK BONDS THAT BIND

The Patriot-News reports that WRKZ (Z102) Harrisburg, Pa., morning man Bruce Bond was expected to come off the air Oct. 1 following a preliminary injunction by a county court judge enforcing his non-compete with rival WNNK (Wink 104). The clause would keep Bond off the air until next March.

Former WWZZ (Z104) Washington, D.C., morning man Billy Bush, now seen on Access Hollywood, couldn't stay away from radio entirely. He's one of the three judges of WPLJ New York's Scott & Todd's New York Idol contest. Also on the panel is one Deborah Gibson.

WRQQ (Star 97) Nashville PD Scott Chase pairs Melbourne, Fla., vet J.T. Daniels and market veteran Lulu for mornings.

Who Got Matchbox, Madonna, J-Lo First?

If it's the fourth quarter, there must be new superstar singles showing up at radio. Nielsen BDS shows the first detections for Matchbox Twenty's "Disease" (Atlantic) appearing Sept. 25 at KXXM (Mix 96.1) San Antonio, followed a minute later by WBMX (Mix 98.5) Boston. "Disease" becomes the band's highest debut to date at adult top 40, landing at No. 25, which is also the highest debut of the year so far at the format.

In other superstar premieres, Jennifer Lopez's "Jenny From the Block" (Epic) appeared Sept. 26 at KKFR (Power 92) Phoenix. Madonna's new "Die Another Day" (Warner Bros.) first showed up on WHTZ (Z100) New York the following day at 3:33 p.m., then five minutes later at sister WHYY (Y100) Miami. With only a few days of airplay, both singles have already cracked the 5 million mark in audience impressions.

After her 52-1 jump on The Billboard Hot 100 last week, Kelly Clarkson reaches Airpower status at both top 40 and AC, where "A Moment Like This" (RCA) moves 21-12 and 26-19, respectively. The track moves into the top 10 on the mainstream audience chart this week as well. "A Moment Like This" sold more than 236,000 units in one week.

Nelly Featuring Kelly Rowland's "Dilemma" (Fo' Reel/Universal/UMG) spends its ninth week on top at crossover and rhythmic top 40 this week, marking his longest-running No. 1 to date at crossover and surpassing his eight-week run on top with "Country Grammar." At rhythmic, "Country Grammar" spent 10 weeks on top in July 2000. "Dilemma" also remains on top at mainstream top 40 for the fourth week, making it his longest-running No. 1 top 40 hit to date.

Phil Collins' "Can't Stop Loving You" (Atlantic) enters the AC top 10 in its second week on the chart. That matches Collins' "You'll Be in My Heart," which did the same in 1999. The only other song at AC this year to reach the top 10 in its second week was Celine Dion's "A New Day Has Come."

"One Last Breath" (Wind-up) by Creed becomes the band's second No. 1 at modern AC, ending Avril Lavigne's 10-week run on top with "Complicated" (Arista). Creed's other modern AC chart-topper, "With Arms Wide Open," spent eight weeks at No. 1 in October 2000.

LABEL NEWS: Hollywood VP of crossover and R&B promotion Marvyn Mack exits because of downsizing. He may be reached at 888-454-8689 or marvmack2@hotmail.com . . . Strictly Rhythm West Coast promotional manager Harry Legg exits. He may be reached at 818-989-3572.

She's Got New York Top 40 Locked

KTFM San Antonio fills its long-vacant midday slot with Dax Davis, last in afternoons at country rival KCYY (Y100).

WNKS (Kiss 95.1) Charlotte, N.C., MD Jason McCormick exits to pursue artist management.

KTXV (Y107) Columbia, Mo., taps Scholar Brad for mornings from nights at WKZL Winston-Salem, N.C.

New WKST (Kiss FM) Pittsburgh imaging director Chris Mann, reported last week in these pages, will also do afternoons as Reno.

WJJS Roanoke, Va., MD/afternoon host Rich Minor exits to relocate to New York.

Christina Aguilera has a new favorite jock in Las Vegas, as Dirty Sanchez (sorry, just one "r") joins the KFMS (Kiss 101.9) morning team from the night squad at KKXX Bakersfield, Calif. The station is currently conducting open auditions to replace former co-host Nikki, who exits. PD Rik McNeil is covering her midday slot.

Jenny Horn moves from the promotion director slot at WNCI to a regional sales position.

"Jukebox" Josh Strickland returns to Evansville, Ind., for afternoons at WSTO, sending PD Dave Michaels back to middays. Strickland, last at WTCF Saginaw, Mich., was previously at rival WDKS. P/T Clayton is upped to 'STO nights.

WOMP-FM Wheeling, W.Va., night jock Mongo exits for the same at WVAQ Morgantown, W.Va., sending Carson to P/T.

Diana Grey joins country WFBE Flint, Mich., as morning co-host from similar duties at AC WLEV (Mix 100.7) Allentown, Pa.

Former WPNT Chicago staffer Tom Hanson is now doing P/T at the adult top 40 station's successor, AC WNND (Windy 100).

Sorry to report the heart-failure death of WMC-FM (FM100) overnigher/morning team member Dan Lenzini. The market veteran was 39.

Airplay Monitor is pleased to welcome former Warner Bros. Nashville director of national promotion/East Ken Tucker as a special contributor. He'll be based at the publication's Nashville office while continuing to pursue other opportunities in the industry.

Who's Driving? Listeners? Labels? Indies?

Would a radio station really jeopardize its ratings by playing bad records just because of an indie deal? Because of an act's appearance at a station concert? Because of an act's labelmate's appearance at a station concert? Repeatedly in recent months, whether it's on a National Assn. of Broadcasters panel or in a recent Wall Street Journal report on indies, broadcasters are quick to point out just how little of their revenue indie deals represent—less than 1% for two groups named in the recent Journal story.

So much has this reasoning become a mantra for broadcasters that it was even articulated to me recently by one independent promoter. That person was anxious to reassure us that a would-be reporting station was playing 70 current titles only because that was best for its listeners and its market. Unfortunately, the station in question was in the low 3-share range. Its direct competitor, one of the most conservative stations in the format, was in the low 5-share range. From that, you can't necessarily impugn the integrity of the lower-rated station, but you can question its programming judgment.

When you ask if a station's programming can be compromised by considerations other than what's best for its listeners, you can't only look at indie deals. They're hardly the only way in which a station's reporting status increases the pressure to play songs that might not otherwise be on the air. Those "less than 1%" figures that stations quote don't include the revenue from two or three station concerts a year, for one thing. And while some groups and broadcasters have indicated they might be considering breaking their indie ties, it doesn't mean that they're looking to give up promotional consideration from a label—only that they would rather get it directly.

If stations are focused only on the listeners, why are there no major top 40 stations that play only proven hits, along the lines of WABC New York in the '70s or XETRA (the Mighty 690) San Diego in the early '80s? An occasional superstar first single notwithstanding, those stations usually added records only when they were top 15 or even top 10.

If stations are focused only on the listeners, why has top 40 been more aggressive musically during the past year than in the past 10, despite declining ratings? Why are some stations still pounding records 90 times per week when few are seeing the kind of passion that justifies those rotations? Why are stations still adding new music aggressively, then dropping songs at the first week or two of bad research?

If stations are focused only on the listeners, why have some low-rated stations changed format only after losing their chart reporting status?

If stations are focused only on the listeners, why do some stations that find their own records and deviate from national priorities stop doing so the moment they become reporters?

If stations are focused only on the listeners, why does losing spins nationally on a song have the same across-the-board effect on airplay? Do listeners who've been hearing a song for five weeks decide they don't really like it at the same time as listeners who've been hearing the same song for 10 weeks?

If stations are focused only on the listeners, why is it so important to stations which chart they report to? While the promotional resources available to an R&B or adult top 40 station have improved in recent years, there are still some top 40 stations that would take umbrage over being moved to either panel.

If stations are focused only on the listeners, why hasn't the shallower pool of available talent for station concerts stopped more stations from going forward?

It's hard for any reporting station that receives hundreds of label calls a week to operate in a vacuum, playing only the songs that they were going to play anyway. It's hard to tell when being a little more aggressive musically than you might otherwise have been actually hurts a radio station—what listener is scrutinizing your log to ensure every record is perfect? And, as the events of the past several years have proved, it's very hard to tell exactly what constitutes consideration. What is a little more concrete is that overall listening is down at a time when most current-based formats (save, perhaps, country) are more musically aggressive than they have been in some time. So if stations truly believe that promotional consideration, whether it be from indies or labels, isn't worth losing even one-tenth of a share point's worth of revenue, then that must be a fairly recent epiphany for some stations.

PROMOGANDA

AN OVERVIEW OF RADIO PROMOTIONS

BY ANGELA KING

From Hayrides To 'Hells Bells'

Halloween is the unofficial kickoff to the madness that is the holiday season, but unlike the charity fundraisers and food drives that will take a front seat next month, Halloween is strictly for fun. Of course, what is considered fun depends on what format you're in and the tastes of your market.

Promogandists at AC and country stations report that they put their Halloween promotion muscle behind family hayrides, pumpkin-decorating contests, and cookouts to create more of a "fall festival" atmosphere.

Others, like album rock KSJO San Francisco's Jim Sheehan, take a much different tact. He says his audience's priorities for Halloween are to "drink beer, ogle hot chicks, [and] dress to undress. The usual."

For the majority of our panel, the two most important elements to their Halloween planning are concerts and costumes. Infinity/Charlotte, N.C., marketing director Diana Ades, who oversees promotions for top 40 WNKS (Kiss 95.1) and classic hits WSSS (Star 104.7), says, "We do a concert called Gravediggers Ball. We want to image the best party in the area with the best music. We do a costume contest, but we believe people come for the music. We've been doing this for three years now."

In addition to that event, Ades' stations also participate in remotes at haunted houses throughout the area. But, she must always balance how much time and effort Halloween takes during a busy October. She says, "We do an entire month of breast cancer awareness with the American Cancer Society in October."

Sheehan agrees with Ades that in putting together Halloween promotions, it is concert events that are the most important to his listeners. He says, "Usually, we try to tag onto a concert that is on or around Halloween and make it our Halloween concert, [along] with a costume contest."

This year, however, that concert of convenience isn't available. Instead, Sheehan says, "We are doing an All Cover Band Party with Kiss, Van Halen, and AC/DC cover bands playing. It's plan 'B' every year that a real concert doesn't happen."

As the writer of this column for nearly two years now, I want to thank all of those who have contributed to making Promoganda a reality each week. I hope this space has been useful not only in sharing promotion concepts but also in spurring new ones. I have left Airplay Monitor for a position with Radio & Records, but I wanted to publicly tip my hat to everyone who has given an insight or offered an idea. I appreciate all of your efforts.

40 most-played songs at R&B could count on ever getting to mainstream top 40. Now, an incredible 43% of the songs on R&B/hip-hop radio in May had shown up at mainstream top 40 by summer's end. That's easily the highest percent of musical sharing in the Monitor era, although that era began in late '92/early '93, just as an R&B backlash was taking hold at mainstream top 40; the number might have been different in, say, 1990.

The number of R&B hits that top 40 is now acknowledging is even more incredible when you consider that the percentage of songs on the crossover chart that eventually made it across was 45%—a difference of only one song. (That record, by the way, was Aaliyah's "More Than a Woman," a hit on both charts that had already fallen off the R&B chart by May 31.)

The greater amount of musical sharing speaks not only to top 40's greater acceptance of rap and hip-hop but also to changes at R&B radio itself. The sort of midtempo or ballad R&B that top 40 stations rarely play isn't heard much on mainstream R&B these days either. There are exceptions—on the week we looked at, the biggest R&B hit that top 40 hadn't acknowledged was Musiq's "halfcrazy," which was No. 4—but they're few and far between.

As for rhythmic top 40, the amount of its music heard on mainstream rebounded sharply, from 63% in fall 2000 to 48% last year to 63% again this time around. That number is even higher if you count Ja Rule's "Down A Chick," which sort of crossed over later that summer in slightly revised form as Irv Gotti Presents the Inc.'s "Down 4 U."

While we've seen more cases of labels breaking records solely at rhythmic in recent years, there were very few songs of that sort in May (Isyss, Rayvon, and Amanda Perez, all of which were on the bottom half of the chart). There are still songs that become research monsters at rhythmic without crossing pop, but they're more likely to be "Pass the Courvoisier" or "Welcome to Atlanta" these days.

ROCK INFLUENCE CREEPING, MODERN INFLUENCE FLAT

One of last fall's most interesting findings was that album rock, not thought of as a particularly fertile ground for top 40 music, was sharing more songs thanks to Nickelback, Linkin Park, etc. Between 2000 and 2001, top 40 went from covering 15% of rock radio's hits to 20%. This fall, it was 25%, right behind modern rock's 32% (which was flat from last fall).

So those calls that top 40 PDs began getting last year telling them not to play rock cross-overs, or at least not to expect any promotional support for it, didn't manage to kill modern rock's presence at mainstream top 40, but it did perhaps cap it a little. If you look at our Radio Concert Monitor feature for late May, you don't find Linkin Park or Nickelback playing top 40 station concerts. But you do see Ja Rule, Ashanti, P. Diddy, and even Mary J. Blige. By contrast, the rock act seen most often in those listings is the Calling—and it had already been exiled from modern rock.

Look at the modern rock chart from May, and there's only one major hit that was worked to mainstream top 40 without acceptance—Unwritten Law's "Seein' Red." The remaining top 10 modern hits that top 40 failed to acknowledge were a mix of nu-metal (Korn, Papa Roach), neo-progressive (System of a Down), and deeper cuts from albums that had already yielded a top 40 hit by such acts as Staind and Puddle of Mudd. Then there was the neo-garage movement (the Strokes, the Hives, the White Stripes) that top 40 has yet to embrace, although Capitol is hoping to change that with the Vines.

The songs that top 40 can share with modern rock tend to be the straightforward guitar tunes—Creed, Default, and Nickelback—and active rock stations can play those, too. That's why top 40 is now playing 25% of album radio's hits, something that will probably come as a surprise to most top 40 PDs. Then again, album rock's No. 1 record in the week we looked at was "I Stand Alone" by Godsmack, an act with plenty of rock-only smashes that somehow just hasn't found the right power ballad for top 40 yet.

ADULT TOP 40 DECLARES ITS DEPENDENCE

While adult top 40 has historically been a format that takes its musical cues from top 40, the amount of shared music was down to its lowest point a year ago—even if that percentage was still 70%. This summer, the number was 78%, reflecting a sudden return to conservatism at adult top 40 that most record reps were noticing at the time. Of the 40 titles we looked at, only one was by an act that had never charted at mainstream top 40 (Rubynhorse, in this case).

It should be noted, however, that some of the songs shared between adult and mainstream top 40 were much bigger hits for adult top 40 stations. The top 10 in the week we examined included Alanis Morissette's "Hands Clean," Goo Goo Dolls' "Here Is Gone," and Sheryl Crow's "Soak Up the Sun," which, inevitably, some top 40 stations are finally acknowledging, after resisting it when it was climbing the charts.

As for AC, a format that was sharing 77% of its music with top 40 just two years ago, the percentage is only 47% this year. Of course, two years ago, AC found itself surprisingly able to acknowledge the teen-act explosion. Two years and a national tragedy later, AC radio has softened its music considerably again. And in recent weeks, we've also seen two No. 1 AC hits that were indigenous to the format—Josh Groban's "To Where You Are" and Daryl Hall & John Oates' "Do It for Love."

Jerry McKenna Isn't Just A Listener, He's Star 93.7's PD

Jerry McKenna is a rare industry vet for a number of reasons. Not only has he worked on the radio, label, and even the trade side of the business, but after all that he has returned to radio. After several years at the helm of hip-hop-leaning WVKX Providence, R.I., McKenna was named PD of a very different rhythmic outlet, WQXS (Star 93.7) Boston, a few months ago.

"Programming Star is a position that I wanted to have and a position that I strived toward for a while," he says of his hometown station. "I lived the lifestyle growing up of a Star P1. From the day the station signed on, I would listen to it as a listener [and] as a programmer. I would think to myself, 'I like this about the station, but I would change these elements.'"

Vanessa Carlton, "A Thousand Miles"
Madonna, "Holiday"
Sophie Ellis Bextor, "Murder on the Dancefloor"
Enrique Iglesias, "Escape"
Machine, "There but for the Grace of God Go I"
Jennifer Lopez Feat. Ja Rule, "Ain't It Funny"
No Doubt, "Love to Love You Baby"
Prince, "When Doves Cry"
Luther Vandross, "I'd Rather"
Robin S., "Show Me Love"

You would expect McKenna to be interested in a rhythmic outlet in Boston, since he got his start at WXKS-FM (Kiss 108) in its format pioneering days under larger-than-life PD Sunny Joe White. He says, "Sunny was all about the entertainment value, all about letting the audience feel that they were part of a family, part of a club... We were, as a radio station, the liaison between Bostonians and the stars. That's probably the most important thing I learned from Sunny: Just make sure that your radio station is entertaining and is part of the texture of the city."

While WQXS has evolved from a station that relied primarily on Jammin' Oldies at the outset into a rhythmic top 40, it has never really tapped into the Kiss legacy. "Ideally—and I know it's a different time and I'm not trying to re-create what Kiss did in the '80s—but I would love to become as much of a fabric of this city as that station is."

To that end, McKenna adds, "having grown up here, there were certain titles that I thought were Boston titles [that hadn't been tested before]." So not only does the library again contain such titles as "We Are Family" and "I Will Survive" that were part of Star's early days, but there's also "There but for the Grace of God" by Machine and "Star Love" by Cheryl Lynn. "I'm not quite sure if they tested well because they've been off the air for so long that people wanted to hear them again or that they would've been testing well had they been tested in the past."

Those tracks are highlighted with sweepers ranging from "here's another Star 93.7 Boston club classic" to "I bet you thought we forgot about this one," McKenna says, "We're now owning our music, which wasn't being done in the past."

McKenna also worked to assemble an airstaff of Boston vets. He already had the morning team of 20-year vet Karen Blake, rival WJMN (Jam'n 94.5) staffer Ralphie Marino, and Heather Gerstein in place, all of whom, McKenna says, "understand Boston." Then he hired Lady D "the Real Diana Steel" for afternoons. "D and I had worked together at Kiss 108 back in the '80s, and she's a market veteran for over 20 years. [She] is Boston, and it comes across pretty much in every break that she does." Mike McGowan, who had done middays at WJMN, returned from WKSS Hartford, Conn., for late nights.

McKenna's regional campaign includes "acknowledging our hot zip areas and areas where our PIs are concentrated, both in sweepers and through live breaks," he says. "The jocks are actually being more local, talking about events that are happening in the area and sounding like they're out there and part of the fabric of the city. And they are, so it's not forced."

Why the local mantra? "We need to carve out a niche for ourselves and make ourselves unique in presentation and in music. And I don't feel that other stations in the market are necessarily putting as much emphasis on the localism. When you look overall, that's probably happening because you have radio stations doing national contesting. It's just the way the business is going right now, so it's important to me that we do focus on... the localness."

He describes his typical listener as "someone who still—even though we're a little bit older—is part of the fabric of Boston, still goes out to restaurants, bars, occasionally nightclubs, and pretty much lives the lifestyle of an urban person." It's the 25- to 44-year-old female and that group of men that grew up in what McKenna says was "for lack of better terms, the disco culture... It was big in Boston, and a lot of the people that experienced and lived that are people that, although they're older now, still like rhythmic-based music and still like to live an active lifestyle."

Another key Boston player at Star is Entercom/Boston marketing guru Bev Tilden. "Bev and I worked together at 'KKS," McKenna says. "She really has a forward vision and can look at something, see how it should be, and develop a game plan so that the team can get to that point."

Immersed in the world of rhythmic music for as long as and from as many angles he has been, McKenna says that now that it seems to be at its apex of mainstream acceptability, it "scared me a bit." That wide acceptance diminishes rhythmic radio's ownership of the music. But that will change. "As has been the case historically, when mainstream top 40 and even more adult-leaning stations start playing some of that music, it usually means that the cycle is going to shift and something else is going to emerge. You've seen it happen when mainstream top 40 will all of a sudden lean alternative or country or whatever the case may be. It usually means that that particular genre of music has peaked and needs to go back underground and reinvent itself." MARC SCHIFFMAN

Songs ranked by number of detections. () Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become re-entrants and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ○ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ○ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrentents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of audience, computed by cross-referencing exact times of airplay with Arbitron listener data. ○ Songs showing an increase in audience over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in audience does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in audience. A song with a gain in audience the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining in audience or each losing in audience, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs become recurrentents and are removed from this chart in conjunction with the Crossover Airplay chart.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become re-entrants and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.
