What's In Your 2003 Budget?

by Dana Hall, Marc Schiffman,
Phyllis Stark, and Bram Teitelman

As PDs plan their budget priorities for 2003, research, airstaff salaries, and marketing and promotions are the items they're fighting for, with mixed results in the last case. Slightly less important, but still a priority for many, is allocating money for production and station imaging. And, not surprisingly, such niceties as street teams and other part-timers haven't made the cut for next year.

The best news, according to our sample of PDs and GMs, is that not everyone is looking at cuts for 2003. Scott Lindy, OM/PD of country WPOC and classic rock WFXB (B104.3) Baltimore, expects to "actually have a bit more in my budgets this year than last [for the] first time in a few years."

ZELLNER

Infinity/Kansas City OM Jon Zellner, whose stations include top 40 KMXV and AC KSRC, says, "We have the same amount of money next year as this year... [Infinity executives] John Sykes and Andy Schuon completely understand that you have to spend money to make money."

But an R&B GM, who joined several broadcasters in wishing to remain anonymous, says, "Overall, in this year's budget compared to next year's, there is less money on the bottom line. Expense budgets are lower, and salaries stay the same pretty much with minimal raises. But there are a lot of things cut out, like promotion items and giveaways, [such as] T-shirts and key chains. Our event budget is really cut—almost by half. We'll have less money and be expected to do more with it."

Dear Airplay Monitor subscriber,

Ten years ago an upstart publication named Top 40 Airplay Monitor was launched, showcasing the revolutionary monitored airplay information from sister-company Broadcast Data Systems (BDS). Top 40 Airplay Monitor's first issue dated January 16, 1993 was just eight pages, but its impact on the radio programming community was immediate and undeniable.

But that was just the beginning. The instant success of Top 40 Airplay Monitor gave rise to additional Monitor publications launched over the following 12 months. As more in the industry embraced the new publications and the BDS data within, the four Monitors – Top 40, Country, R&B and Rock – grew in their importance as essential programming tools. Each Monitor became the “town halls” of their respective formats, providing the industry with the most reliable information and the most-respected reporting.

Still, one question continued to be asked, “When are you going to combine the Monitors?”

Now we finally have the answer.

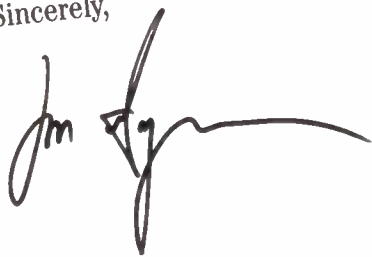

On January 10, 2003, the magazines their readers call the most important, helpful and well-read radio trade publications will merge to become the most comprehensive, as the four Airplay Monitors combine to become one exciting publication. The newly redesigned Airplay Monitor will offer more airplay and programming information than ever printed in one place before, keeping Monitor readers apprised of the entire spectrum of airplay activity across all formats that we cover – every single week. Even if you’ve read Monitor down to the staples for the last 10 years, chances are you’ve only seen one quarter of our best stuff. Now you’ll see it all.

While the individual format communities we’ve been able to foster remain very important to us, the new Airplay Monitor will better acknowledge the way radio and the music industry has changed in recent years. And although you may wonder why we are “bulking up” your Monitor in an industry that has itself struggled to grow, we believe that the current consolidated climate makes a multi-formatted Airplay Monitor, unifying the entire programming community, even more valuable to our readers and advertisers.

Your subscription to any of the Airplay Monitor publications will continue uninterrupted, converting to a subscription to the new Airplay Monitor effective January 10, 2003. If you are currently receiving more than one subscription to Airplay Monitor and would like to redirect that subscription to a co-worker, or make any other changes to your subscription, just let us know by emailing our customer service department at topa@kable.com or call us at 1-800-745-8922. If you are part of a group subscription, email kducheine@billboard.com or call 646-654-5861.

Our entire staff appreciates your readership and support over the years, and we remain committed to providing you with the best package of programming information available. We hope that you will enjoy your new Airplay Monitor and we look forward to your feedback.

Sincerely,

RADIOACTIVE

Three VPs Out, Three VPs In At Infinity

Infinity names three new regional VPs, replacing David Pearlman, Bill Figenshu, and Don Bouloukos, who exit. President/CEO John Fullam has named Ken O'Keefe executive VP/Eastern region, Brian Ongaro senior VP/Central region, and Clancy Woods senior VP/Western region. Fullam continues to oversee Infinity's New York and Los Angeles markets.

O'Keefe is known in the industry as the former president/CEO of the Clear Channel Radio group but most recently was president/CEO of NewVen Partners LLC, a private investment and consulting firm for the media and telecom industries. Ongaro is a 20-year broadcasting veteran who served as executive VP/market manager for AMFM but most recently was president/CEO of Texas Therapy Centers. Woods was VP/market manager for Infinity's Phoenix cluster.

LEGAL BRIEFS

A federal jury in Pittsburgh has awarded SESAC more than $1.2 million in a copyright-infringement case brought by the performing-rights organization against WPNT Inc. The company, which owns AC WLTJ (Lite 92.9) and classic rock WRRK (Channel 97) Pittsburgh, admitted to playing 31 SESAC-controlled songs without a license. Jurors awarded damages ranging from $1,000 to $150,000 for each of the 31 infringements, based on the severity of the infringement. It is believed to be one of the first jury trials of a case brought by a performing-rights organization against a broadcaster or other music user. Two of the most prominent SESAC writers whose songs were involved are Bob Dylan and Neil Diamond. SESAC uses Nielsen BDS to monitor airplay for its affiliates.

MANAGEMENT: CONVERGENT THINKING

John Martin exits Clear Channel, where he has worked for more than 11 years, to launch the Chicago-based Converge Media, which he describes as a company that will "deliver strategies that simplify the convergence of radio broadcasters' on-air and online assets to create profitability." Martin has been president of Clear Channel's Web Services Group since 2000 and previously was president of the company's Critical Mass Media.

MARTIN

Canadian media company CHUM Limited announces some changes, with president/chairman and group founder Allan Waters stepping down. CHUM Television president Jay Switzer has been upped to president/CEO. CHUM Limited executive VP/CHUM Radio president Jim Waters exits those positions to become chairman of the board. CHUM Limited executive VP Ron Waters is named vice-chairman, and former CHUM COO Fred Sherratt steps down as vice-chairman. CHUM owns and operates 28 radio stations in Canada.

PROGRAMMING: NEW CC RVPs

Bill Minkler has been promoted to regional VP of programming for Clear Channel's Oregon trading area. Minkler, who will retain his role as PD for AC KKCW (K-103) and classic rock KRVO Portland, will oversee CC's other Oregon clusters.

Bob Case has been named regional VP of programming for Clear Channel's Washington and Alaska trading areas. Case will continue as PD of oldies KJR-FM while overseeing such Alaska and Washington markets as Spokane, Tri-

Cities, and Yakima.

Ch-ch-ch-changes at Canada's Standard Radio. Album CJAY and adult standards CKMX Calgary, Alberta, OM Bob Harris has been named national PD for Standard's rock properties, as well as PD of adult top 40 CKFM (Mix 99.9) Toronto. Corus' classic rock CILQ (Q107) and talk CFMJ (Mojo) Toronto OM Stewart Meyers segues to Standard's Calgary cluster to replace Harris.

Meanwhile, CKFM PD Eric Samuels returns to top 40 CKZZ (Z95) and oldies CISL Vancouver as OM/PD and senior VP of top 40 and R&B for the company. CKZZ PD Rob Mise remains with the company in an undisclosed position. CISL morning host Tom Lucas, producer Craig Peters, and middayer Jack Taylor exit. Vancouver veteran and CISL swing-shifter Doc Harris takes over mornings; middays will be voice-tracked.

AC CJEZ (97.3 EZ Rock) Toronto PD Brian Depoe adds VP stripes for Standard's AC and adult top 40 stations while retaining his CJEZ duties.

KBFB (the Beat) Dallas interim MD Big Bink makes it official. He continues to do mixes for the station, as well as co-host a Sunday-night show with the D.O.C.

Rhythmic KHTE (Hot 96.5) Little Rock, Ark., PD Peter Gunn is named OM for KHTE and modern sister KLEC (Lick 106.3). Gunn also moves from afternoons to middays. Night jock Tony Terrell adds MD duties. Morning jock Sonta James moves from mornings to afternoons, with syndicated jock Doug Banks sliding into mornings. Also, promotions director Brooke Woods is named marketing director.

Country WKYQ Paducah, Ky., PD/MD Mark Summer adds PD/MD duties for top 40 sister WDDJ (Electric 96.9). Summer, who will also do afternoons on Electric 96.9, replaces Rich Michaels, who exits.

Carey Charts No. 19 With 'Rain'

Mariah Carey's "Through the Rain" (MonarC/Island/IDJMG) debuts this week at mainstream top 40 at No. 36. The track marks Carey's 19th appearance at mainstream top 40; 11 of those were top 10 hits, and four reached No. 1. Her last chart appearance, with "Loverboy," peaked at No. 37 in July 2001.

Josh Groban's version of "O Holy Night" (143/Reprise) becomes the highest debut of the year at AC, entering the chart at No. 16. Phil Collins' former No. 1 "Can't Stop Loving You" (Atlantic) previously held the 2002 record, as that track debuted at No. 17 in September. Groban's first and only chart appearance, the former No. 1 "To Where You Are," sits at No. 13 in its 36th week on the chart.

Jay-Z earns his fourth mainstream top 40 hit with "'03 Bonnie & Clyde" (Roc-a-Fella/Def Jam/IDJMG) featuring Beyoncé Knowles. The track is the highest new entry this week, landing at No. 32. This marks the first solo appearance for Knowles and her ninth appearance overall at mainstream, with the others coming as a member of Destiny's Child.

Sheryl Crow's "Soak Up the Sun" (Interscope) moves to the recurrent chart at adult top 40 this week. The track spent nine weeks at No. 1 earlier this year, becoming her first No. 1 at the format. "Soak Up the Sun" is her longest-running chart hit at adult top 40, surpassing "My Favorite Mistake," which spent 35 weeks on the chart.

Christina Aguilera's "Beautiful" (RCA) moves 11-6, reaching the top 10 at mainstream top 40 in four weeks. This matches "What a Girl Wants" as her quickest climb to the top 10 as a solo artist. "Beautiful" also moves 24-20 at rhythmic. Meanwhile, "Dirrty" re-enters the charts for the second time this year, at No. 39.

STATIONS TAKE A HOLIDAY: The absence of bullets and the dramatic drop in spins on the AC chart can mostly be attributed to the stations that have switched to all-holiday music. These stations remain on the panel during their yuletide interlude. The adult top 40 panel has also seen a couple of its stations flip to holiday tunes but to a much lesser extent. At press time, two such stations have made the switch, which could have a bearing on some songs' spin differential.

LABEL NEWS: MCA announces a realignment of its staff, as Mark Snider, formerly of V2, is named VP of pop promotion in New York, and Kenny Ornberg joins the label as national director of pop promotion, based in Minneapolis. Snider and Ornberg report to VP of pop promotion Greg Marella in Los Angeles. VP of promotion Bonnie Goldner, New York regional Jaime Guzman, and Minneapolis/St. Paul regional Dave Ross exit. Goldner may be reached at 917-554-2470, and Ross may be reached at 763-557-6470 or supertasty@attbi.com.

To Do: Put More People In Jobs

About six months ago, I decided that one of the things I wanted to accomplish at Airplay Monitor was to help put more people in jobs. I had always gotten calls from PDs or GMs looking for suggestions, but as unemployment in the business became epidemic, I determined to step up my efforts. Helping fill jobs became something that went on my "to do" list every week. And if someone hadn't asked me for names for an opening, I started reaching out to ask if they would like some ideas. I also made a point of checking in more often with people who were between jobs.

If I hadn't already suspected how tough the climate was for someone between jobs, my job-brokering efforts would make it very clear. There are a lot of unemployed PDs looking for jobs. There aren't jobs for them, but there are plenty of openings for morning producers in market 75-plus (although realizing that has forced me to expand my horizons and familiarize myself with more potential small-market talent). It's rarer than ever to see someone lose a job and walk to the next thing a few weeks later—KOSI Denver's Mark Edwards is one of the few recent exceptions. KYPT Seattle's Garret Michaels landing in San Diego within a few months is now a quick turnaround. In the "news tickler" file I use to keep track of my calls each week, my list of the unemployed used to take one-third of a page. Now it's a page-and-a-half sometimes.

A few years ago, it was hard to understand why there were always so many good people out of jobs when there were so many hiring managers complaining about not being able to find people. But with fewer jobs out there and fewer managers looking, that disconnect now only really exists with morning shows. Some mediocre morning shows are able to stay in place forever, based on the combination of being a known quantity and the difficulty of replacing them. But that doesn't mean that any established morning show can walk into another job that quickly.

Just as there are ways to job hunt more effectively, there are also ways to broker jobs more effectively as well. If I sent GMs a long e-mail with names of candidates, I would get back a two-word e-mail of thanks. These days, if someone wants suggestions, I try to offer them in real time. I can sell the people a lot better. It gets me more feedback on what the hiring manager is looking for. It also separates the people who really want your advice from those doing due diligence so they can hire their old friends with impunity or give an existing cluster PD a fourth station to take care of. The good GMs, by the way, are the ones who keep you apprised of the process and ask if they can let your candidates know who recommended them. The good candidates are the ones who actually call to thank you for acting on their behalf. It shouldn't surprise you to know that not everyone fits into the "good" category.

On the other side, a lot of the task in working with PDs who are between jobs is just trying to keep them optimistic. "This is the best thing that can happen to me, because I'm going to find something even better" gives way to "This is the worst I've ever seen it: I'm thinking of quitting the business" pretty quickly in this environment. And it's hard to know what to tell someone. I'm never even sure if I can sign an e-mail "Have a good weekend" without too much irony. But I have been newly hopeful during the past couple months, because both Bill Thorman and Joe Dawson are working again. Both are maverick PDs I've long admired who spent a lot of time out of the business. Now, Thorman is in Corpus Christi, Texas. Dawson is in Elko, Nev. But I know a lot of guys like them who aren't anywhere, so I share those stories a lot.

There's also that time between "Everything's going to be great" and "This business sucks" when most out-of-work PDs suddenly realize how many of their industry pals aren't calling them back. This, by the way, is just as true for the PDs who added a lot of new music as those who were willing to piss off the labels. If you're a presently employed PD, I can only strongly suggest that you somehow find time to return those calls and treat people as decently as possible. It won't necessarily change the number of people who call you back when you need them, but you'll know who the jerks are and that you weren't one of them.

Conversely, any hiring manager should realize just how many applicants are clinging to their opening as a last hope at the moment. Anyone who might be a possibility deserves a callback as soon as possible. Anyone who might not be a possibility deserves a call even sooner so they can move on. Otherwise, that person will be telling their spouse and friends that they're still a viable candidate for your job every day until they read somewhere that the position has been filled.

Unemployment is one of those crises that most strains marriages and relationships—as someone who covers the comings and goings of radio people, it's not unusual to see the PD who gets a job after nine months leave a spouse behind to sell the house, then end up merely leaving the spouse, and the house, behind. Just as job hunting exacerbates problems that were present in a marriage before, it also casts a harsh light on how all our industry relationships are, even in better times. And the only thing that those of us blessed enough to be gainfully employed at something we love at this moment can do is scrutinize those relationships ourselves and try to use our positions of influence to help others.

What's In Your 2003 Budget?

Steve Kingston points to New York, which is currently feeling a fiscal crunch, as a model for next year's budget. "Just like the city of New York," he says, "[we're] creatively doing more with less."

Kingston is allocating more funds toward "market/consumer research, new talent development, [and] marketing initiatives." He also plans on better utilizing parent company Viacom's assets, such as Blockbuster, Viacom: Out-door, MTV, and VH1.

Lindy calls research his top budgetary priority. "We're spending money to find new ways of researching music and station images. Not the same old song and dance, so it will cost some more." He also cites marketing as a priority.

Carl Craft, PD of active rock WRAT Monmouth, N.J., says, "I've asked for more money for my production department, specifically, to fund hiring a part-time cutter for spec spots, copywriting, club calendar, imaging, and some Web-site updates. I've asked for more money in the [station show] budget. We've also allocated more funds to our Web site, because my current site blows, and we have very little control over the timing of updates."

Of the five R&B broadcasters we spoke with, three said they have requested more money in the budget for promotions and marketing.

One anonymous R&B PD says, "If you're a new PD, fight for a promotional budget either to keep it or to increase it. Without it, you're dead in the water."

He continues, "Some [radio] companies expect you to do more promotionally with the labels, to make up for budget cuts there—especially if you are a monitored station. A lot of these companies just assume the record labels will fund your trips, concerts, and giveaways, but [since] the labels are in such financial dire straits themselves, that's not the case anymore."

Chris Connors, PD of R&B/hip-hop WHXT (Hot 102.9) Columbia, S.C., says, "The most important thing I need in my budget—which I've asked for—is cash for giveaways. The economy has affected everyone, in particular your listeners. It used to be that listeners wouldn't pay any mind if you gave away anything less than $1,000. Now, they're happy if we give away $103. Money just makes people happy."

"You always try to get as much promotion money as you can," says one top 40 PD, talking on condition of anonymity. "You can never stop promoting your product. [But] most important is research. I always fight for money so I can research my product. You've got to know what the audience thinks."

Several programmers have asked for more money for airstaff/personnel salaries, raises, and bonuses in 2003.

Connors says, "It's important to try and compensate your people, especially if you have great ratings and they are contributing to that. Today, it's hard to hold on to good people, so when you can, you should do right by them. By keeping them happy, you get to keep them longer and ultimately continue your station's success."

Another PD asked for money for more equipment upgrades and two new station vans.

Stan Branson, PD of R&B/hip-hop WJMI and adult R&B WKXI Jackson, Miss., says, "We've had a lot of upgrades in equipment this year—including new transmitters for both stations and new consoles for the control and production rooms. Christmas started early this year for us. Our company [Inner City Broadcasting] is looking at investing in these radio stations even more in 2003, in order to get more back from them."

GOODBYE STREET TEAMS, HELLO VOICE-TRACKING

Broadcasters were also asked what they will be spending less money on in 2003.

Kingston says he'll be cutting back on funds for high-priced talent, instead letting the jocks he has develop. "It is our intention to make Infinity and WXRK a destination for new, emerging talent, and [we] are dedicated to providing the environment, training, and opportunity to attract the next generations of talent, both on-air and [in] other creative positions within the programming department. On this level, opportunity is of greater importance."

Several programmers and GMs say staff cuts will probably happen in 2003 but not with essential personnel. Two mentioned cutting back on their paid street teams, while another will have full-timers voice-track weekend shifts instead of hiring new part-timers.

One Clear Channel PD, who wished to remain anonymous, says, "Initially we thought we would have live weekend personalities, but now we plan to have the full-time jocks voice-track weekend shifts, so we've been able to cut the budget for overall salaries. We've also consolidated a few positions that in the past we've had more than one person cover, such as APD/MD and promotions director. There is a cluster marketing director who can oversee promotions, so we don't need our own person exclusive to the radio station. It's not about letting anyone go, but instead of hiring someone new when a person leaves, we just give those duties to someone else."

Another anonymous PD says, "When we need to cut back staff, I'd have to start with the street team. Although I hate to lose them, I can always have interns go out in the vans or, even better, have the jocks out there, and then they get more exposure as well."

Among other cuts cited by broadcasters, Craft says he's allotting fewer funds for TV advertising.

Country WWQM Madison, Wis., PD Mark Grantin will cut down on "Internet expenses. We no longer stream audio," he says. "Costs regarding streaming have been eliminated."

Lindy will make do with less professional travel. "Time is limited," he says. "I get more done while here in Baltimore."

Asked to describe the biggest overall change in his 2003 budget, compared with 2002, Craft says there's "more pressure to show how the budget requests directly lead to increases in monthly billing. There's more pressure on the staff to bring home the bread in these areas."

Connors says that at his station, "the biggest change from 2002 to 2003 will be in terms of the budget for salaries. Unfortunately, it's not because of any huge raises. We simply have more people on staff now than we did last year."

"Marketing and promotional dollars are now back to a level that's very close to pre-9/11," says Grantin, who adds that "our overall budget is very close to pre-9/11... Our fiscal [year] is October to September, and last year we adjusted our budgets anticipating lower revenue in regards to the economy and the uncertainty of any more terrorist attacks. Our revenue actually increased in the past year, and our budget for this year is reflective of that."

MONITOR PROFILE

Steve Rivers' Career Runs From Radio To The Internet And Back

In recent months, veteran programmer Steve Rivers' name has come up in conjunction with a number of high-profile format changes: longtime country outlet KIKK-FM Houston's flip to jazz; KYSR (Y101) Fresno, Calif., becoming the first mainstream top 40 in that market in roughly a decade; and the relaunch of heritage San Antonio top 40 KTFM.

Rivers launched his consultancy, Steve Rivers Power Media, in March 2001, a little more than a year after leaving AMFM, where he was chief programming officer. In between AMFM and this April, he was also senior VP of radio programming for the now-defunct Radio Central, Eric Rhoads' ambitious attempt at an Internet radio platform with the production values of mainstream radio. Since then, Rivers has worked primarily with Infinity stations but also with Canada's Corus Entertainment and Citadel's classic hits WGFX Nashville.

Rivers left AMFM on the cusp of that company's absorption into Clear Channel. "I was very proud of what we were able to accomplish at AMFM with Jimmy DeCastro, David Lebow, John Madison, and all the guys we were able to work with," he says. By then, however, Rivers needed a breather. "I first got involved with the company when Pyramid was acquired by Evergreen, which goes back to 1995-96."

"We went through several different acquisitions of different companies from the time that I joined Jimmy and Scott Ginsburg to the time I left, and we ran pretty hard," he continues. "What prompted me to decide to go do something else was that when you combine cultures, it takes a lot of energy... It's fun to do, but there comes a point—at least for me, anyway—after having done radio day in and day out for 30 years, I felt like I needed a little break."

At Radio Central, Rivers says, "I thought we built some pretty good-sounding stations." And having 25-30 different formats also gave him "a wonderful format laboratory" where he could work with some unconventional formats, including electronica and modern rock oldies.

"Fortunately, or unfortunately, we were very early on the curve," Rivers says. Radio Central was "really driven out of business by the [Recording Industry Assn. of America]" and the impending ruling on performance royalties that "tended to scare the investors in our company, which is sad, because we were starting to get a lot of traction."

"There's still a great opportunity for somebody to do Internet radio the right way, especially with the wireless Internet coming down sooner rather than later," Rivers adds. And while he believes that XM Satellite Radio is "a great-sounding product, they've really got to work hard enough to get enough receivers in the marketplace to make it a viable commodity... When wireless technology catches up, Internet radio will be available via the cell phone, the desktop, and the car. Hopefully, it won't be so regulated that it takes away the ability to experiment."

But even during his time at Radio Central, Rivers had launched a consultancy "because I missed the day-to-day interaction of working with radio stations." While his clients include AC KVIL Dallas, adult top 40s KIMN Denver, KYKY St. Louis, WQAL (Q104) Cleveland, top 40 KBKS Dallas, and oldies WOGL Philadelphia and KFRC San Francisco, Rivers' most attention-getting recent projects have been the launches of mainstream top 40s in heavily Hispanic markets that aren't thought to be top 40 hotbeds, particularly Fresno and San Antonio.

"We're finding that there really is an opportunity in a Hispanic-based market to do mainstream top 40," Rivers says. "It's a fallacy that because you're Hispanic, you're interested in just one type of music. That really has never been true; even in the old days Hispanic listeners were into country and rock and pop and so forth. Sometimes programmers make the mistake of putting people in little neat Arbitron boxes—that's not the way the world works."

Musically, stations like KTFM, KYSR, and KRBV (Wild 100) Dallas still have a strong rhythmic component, balanced more by rock crossovers than the pop product in the center. Rivers says that's not necessarily a formula but a function of having to re-educate the market on certain types of music. The flip side of that, as with the 1996 launch of WKTU New York, is that "we could go on the air with songs we knew were hits that simply had not been played" in the market.

It's also significant that Rivers is turning on new top 40s at a time when the format's building boom has definitely slowed down. "I'm always bullish on top 40," he says. "It's an important format, because you're educating the listeners of tomorrow with what you play. If you don't have a top 40 in the market, there's a piece of musical history that you've lost."

During his 30 years in the business, Rivers has seen PDs evolve from "killer" creative people who were "lousy" managers to much better managers who have a harder time "creating magic." He says much of that is because "PDs just don't have enough time in the day to sit down and do radio." And while it was once common advice for PDs to spend time outside the office trying to listen to radio like a consumer, now "PDs don't have enough time to even listen to the radio every day." Rivers would like to see group owners try to foster an exchange of ideas by having PDs go run each other's properties, something Rivers did at First Media in the early '80s when he and then-KFMK Houston PD Lee Logan would switch places.

In his work with Infinity's oldies outlets, Rivers has been a key player in those stations' decision to swap most pre-Beatles titles for a heavier '70s component, something that is also happening at Clear Channel's oldies stations. Rivers' oldies and classic hits work has also given him an opportunity to work with such early idols as WGFX PD Rich "Brother" Robbin and veteran air talent like KFRC's Bobby Ocean, WOGL's Big Ron O'Brien, and WODS Boston's J.J. Wright. "Those guys are incredible talents," Rivers says. "Young jocks coming up would be wise to listen to airchecks of those guys, because they really understand the music and make it come alive."

"I'm happy working with this company that I created," he adds. "I like being able to work for myself much more than I was going to."

Songs ranked by number of detections. ○ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrentents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in audience does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in audience. A song with a gain in audience over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining in audience or each losing in audience, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs become recurrentents and are removed from this chart in conjunction with the Mainstream Top 40 Airplay chart.

CONNECTING RADIO WITH THE MUSIC INDUSTRY
AT THE FIRST MAJOR EVENT OF THE YEAR!

Billboard[®] Monitor^{AIRPLAY} RADIO.2003 seminar

FEBRUARY 6-8 • MIAMI BEACH

THE INFORMATION YOU NEED TO KNOW

WHO TOOK THE R&B OUT OF R&B AND HIP-HOP?:

Programmers and label executives discuss the new music paradigm, where hip-hop rules the airwaves on R&B/hip-hop stations, as well as its growing popularity in other formats.

RADIO AS A LAUNCHING PAD: This session will bring together several radio personalities and programmers who were able to use their success in radio to build a career far beyond the airwaves.

ROCK BLOCK: Three hours of back-to-back rock sessions addressing how today's radio staffs live the lifestyle of the 18-24s they're trying to reach.

THE COUNTRY COMMUNITY CAUCUS: Is country music finally poised for its big comeback? Country industry heavyweights will gather for a free-wheeling session to discuss challenges and, perhaps, even come up with some solutions.

TOP 40 TOPICS LIVE: This panel tackles the state of top 40 in 2003—Are the extremes leveling out? Are there enough hits for the format? And why are we burning through hits so quickly?

RHYTHMIC TOP 40: Hip-hop and R&B aren't just a core sound at rhythmic, they're increasingly the beat of mainstream top 40 as well. How does rhythmic differentiate itself?

Songs ranked by number of detections. ○ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

A song with a gain in audience over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining in audience or each losing in audience, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs become recurrents and are removed from this chart in conjunction with the Rhythmic Top 40 Airplay chart.

Songs ranked by number of detections. (NEW) Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrenents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. () Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airplay awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrences and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. ○ Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.
