Industry's Health Tops Label Execs' Concerns

by Dana Hall, Patrick McGowan, Silvio Pietroluongo, Phyllis Stark,
and Bram Teitelman

For the past five years, Airplay Monitor has ended the year with a survey of PDs and their pressing issues. In our survey, found on your desk this week in Monitor's special year-end issue, the travails of the record industry are only a middling concern. But the downturn in the record business is, not surprisingly, an overarching concern for a cross-section of label VPs and national promotion executives—just edging out the more specific but related issue of MP3s, file sharing, and disc burning. Rounding out their top five concerns were the industry's cost of doing business, the state of the economy, and the impact of radio consolidation on the industry.

On a scale of 1-5, with five being the most troublesome, the state of the industry ranked with a 4.28. While several respondents suggested that labels change their business model so labels could still turn a profit by selling fewer records, only 34% agreed with the statement that labels spent their money more wisely this past year.

Shared music files rated a 4.26, getting a 5.00 from 57% of those surveyed. Similarly, 66% disagreed with the statement that the record business

Dillard Named Top 40 Editor

Veteran programmer Skip Dillard has been named top 40 editor of Airplay Monitor. He replaces Marc Schiffman, who joined sister publication Billboard earlier this year.

With 14 years in the industry, Dillard has been PD of Infinity R&B outlet WBLK Buffalo, N.Y., since 1996, taking that station to its highest ratings, as well as assisting in the successful launch of sister WMBX (X102.3) West Palm Beach, Fla., last fall. His 11-year programming background also includes WMXD (Mix 92.3) Detroit and WYLD-FM New Orleans. As an air talent, his stops include WJMH (102 Jamz) Greensboro, N.C., and WOWI Norfolk, Va.

Dillard, who is frequently featured in Airplay Monitor articles on programming, was also named Billboard/Airplay Monitor secondary-market PD of the year in 2002, while WBLK was named station of the year.

Airplay Monitor group editor Sean Ross says, "I've long known Skip not only as one of the true radio enthusiasts in our business but also as a keen student of all formats, not just R&B radio. I'm very excited about adding a programmer of Skip's caliber to the Monitor staff."

Dillard joins Airplay Monitor Jan. 6, 2003. He will be based in New York.

Will Em's No. 1 Best Bega's '5'?

Eminem's "Lose Yourself" (Shady/Interscope) remains at No. 1 for a fifth week at both mainstream and rhythmic top 40. With the exception of Nelly's "Dilemma" duet featuring Kelly Rowland, the last male solo artist to hold down the top spot for that long was Lou Bega, with "Mambo No. 5" in 1999. "Lose Yourself" matches Eminem's five-week run on top with "The Real Slim Shady" at rhythmic.

Josh Groban's "O Holy Night" (143/Reprise) moves 16-5 in its second week, becoming the only song of 2002 to hit the top five (or even the top 10) in two weeks. Only one other song, "Butterfly Kisses" by Bob Carlisle, has cracked the top five at AC in two weeks' time.

The latest from Jennifer Lopez, "All I Have" (Epic) featuring LL Cool J, enters the rhythmic chart at No. 36. This puts Lopez in first place for most charted singles by a female artist so far this millennium. "All I Have" marks Lopez's ninth chart hit this decade and 10th overall chart appearance.

PANEL CHANGES: Two stations are removed from the mainstream top 40 panel. KKSS Albuquerque, N.M., is removed because of a format change, while KQAR Little Rock, Ark., is temporarily removed because of technical issues. The mainstream panel now consists of 126 stations.

THIS IS THE FINAL Airplay Monitor of 2002. Our next issue will be dated Jan. 10, featuring airplay information for the week of Dec. 30-Jan. 5. During our three-week break, all charts will continue to be compiled and will be posted in the Billboard Information Network (BIN). All data and weeks on the chart will count toward a song's chart history and next year's year-end totals as if we were actually printing for those three weeks. To subscribe to BIN, contact 646-654-4635.

When we return from our holiday hiatus, Top 40 Airplay Monitor and its three sister magazines will become one combined publication. All current Monitor charts and major features will be available in one publication at that time except for the dual-reporter modern AC chart, which ceases publication with this issue but will remain available through BIN. Modern AC stations will remain represented as part of the adult top 40 panel (or the other panel to which they initially reported).

Allegations Of Payola In Spanish Radio

A Dec. 8 story in The Miami Herald highlights allegations of widespread payola in Spanish-language radio, including the accusation by Ruben Estrada, a former VP of group owner Spanish Broadcasting System (SBS), that there is "no question" that payola affected programming at tropical powerhouse WSKQ (Mega 97.9) New York from 1992 to 2000. SBS attorney Jason Shrinisky denies that any SBS staffer took payola and says "we have very strict policies on that. Disc jockeys sign affidavits on a regular basis affirming they don't do that." He attributes the allegations to "unsuccessful record labels and promoters frustrated with radio. It's always sour grapes in this business."

The Herald probe follows a 1999 federal investigation in which it was found that Mexican regional label Fonovisa paid more than $1 million for airplay, with several label and radio executives being fined or serving jail time. The paper states that the U.S. attorney who prosecuted the Fonovisa case says there is still an ongoing investigation into payola at Latin radio.

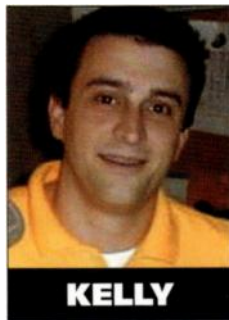

MANAGEMENT: EMMIS HOLDS MAYO

Sources inside Emmis/New York are saying that consultant Barry Mayo will take over for VP/GM Judy Ellis when she exits the cluster in February 2003. The cluster includes WQHT (Hot 97), adult R&B WRKS, and jazz WQCD (CD 101.9). Mayo was WRKS' first PD when it signed on in 1981, later becoming GM of the station. He has also been on the ownership side, having launched adult R&B WVAZ (V103) Chicago and country WYNY New York. Mayo has been consulting WRKS for the past year.

Clear Channel/McAllen, Texas, VP/market manager Danny Fletcher adds those duties for the CC/Corpus Christi, Texas, cluster. He replaces Kent Cooper, who recently became market manager for CC/Tucson, Ariz.

PROGRAMMING: KELLY DRIVES SOUTH

KELLY

Clear Channel top 40 WNOK Columbia, S.C., PD/afternoon driver Brad Kelly heads due south to become OM for CC's Savannah, Ga., cluster. Kelly will be responsible for top 40 WAEV (Kiss 97.3), adult R&B WLTV (Love 101.1), religious WSOK, AC WYKZ (the River), mainstream R&B WQBT (the Beat), and N/T WTKS-AM. One of Kelly's first jobs will be to find a replacement for WAEV PD/afternoon driver Danny Cruz, who joins top 40 WEZB (B97) New Orleans for afternoons. Cruz replaces Brad "Booker" Cummings, who heads to top 40 WSTO Evansville, Ind., for mornings (Top 40 Airplay Monitor, Nov. 29).

Meanwhile, top 40 WZNY (Y105) Augusta, Ga., PD/afternoon driver T.J. McKay makes the short drive up I-20 to take Kelly's duties at WNOK. Look for Kelly to voice-track middays at his old station, replacing Keli Reynolds, who recently left for top 40 WNKS Charlotte, N.C. (Top 40 Airplay Monitor, Dec. 6).

Top 40 WVKS (92.5 Kiss FM) Toledo, Ohio, PD Bill Michaels is promoted to OM for Clear Channel/Toledo. In addition to WVKS, the cluster includes AC WRVF (the River), heritage rock WIOT, talk WCWA, and N/T WSPD. Michaels replaces Cary Pall, who is now PD/afternoon driver at oldies WODB (Oldies 107.9) Columbus, Ohio.

Former rhythmic top 40 WKTU New York MD/air personality Geronimo joins Sirius Satellite Radio as program manager for the Sirius Dance Hits channel. Geronimo, who was most recently in the programming department at WQHT (Hot 97) New York, will also be responsible for all dance formats for the sat-caster.

Mainstream R&B WXIS (Jammin' 92.3 and 103.9) Johnson City, Tenn., PD/afternoon driver Blade Michaels becomes creative services director for the station. MD/morning co-host Todd Ambrose adds PD stripes.

Russ Davidson has been named OM for Cumulus' Eugene, Ore., cluster.

FORMATS: CHICAGO NO LONGER 'WINDY' CITY

WNND Chicago has dropped its "Windy 100" moniker and current AC music to become "100.3 WNND." The now-gold-based station, which is currently running jockless in mornings, middays, and afternoons, will focus on "hits of the '80s and '90s." Gone from the station are morning drivers Kevin Gossett and Susan Wiencek and midday personality Scott Childers. John Symons will continue to do nights, while MD Haynes Johns will move from afternoons to middays. Beginning in January 2003, mornings will be handled by Chicago radio vet Tom Hanson and morning news anchor Jennifer Stephens. The station is looking for an afternoon driver and PD.

As Christmas creeps closer, there has been another flurry of holiday format flips. AC stations again lead the charge, including WLIF (Lite 102) Baltimore; WMTX (Mix 100.7) Tampa, Fla.; WYYY (Y94) Syracuse, N.Y.; WSNY (Sunny 95) Columbus, Ohio; KVLO (102.9 K-Love) Little Rock, Ark.; KRVE (the River) Baton Rouge, La.; KRBB (B98) Wichita, Kan.; WVAZ (V100) Charleston, W.Va.; KLLP (K-Lite) Pocatello, Idaho; and WMXC Mobile, Ala. Adult top 40 KQSN (Q99.3) Yakima, Wash., has also flipped for the season.

Effective Jan. 1, 2003, four West Palm Beach, Fla.-area Clear Channel stations will swap frequencies, resulting in one new station and one station going away. Modern WRLX (Planet Radio) West Palm Beach, the station that will depart, gives its 92.1 frequency and call letters to smooth jazz sister WWLV (Love 94.3) Riviera Beach, which will be known as "Smooth Jazz 92.1." Talk WZZR (Real Radio)

Port St. Lucie will move from 92.7 to 94.3 to improve its southerly reception. WCZR Vero Beach will continue to simulcast WZZR on 101.7. Country WAVV Vero Beach, currently at 94.7, will take over the 92.7 frequency. Emerging from the fray on 94.7 will be an AC station with the "Star" moniker. Call letters for that station are forthcoming.

PEOPLE: MOON OVER MINNEAPOLIS

Adult top 40 KHMV (Mix 96.5) Houston morning man Larry Moon heads north to co-host afternoons for adult top 40 KSTP-FM (KS95) Minneapolis. He replaces Rob Poulin, who exited last summer for crosstown N/T sister WFMP (FM107). Look for Moon's co-host to be named soon.

Top 40 WIOQ (Q102) Philadelphia middayer Fernando Ventura heads to top 40 sister KHKS (Kiss FM) Dallas for the same shift. The move reunites Ventura with former WIOQ PD Brian Bridgeman. Back at Q102, PD Todd Shannon is seeking T&Rs for Ventura's replacement.

Susquehanna/Indianapolis production director Roland Norio has been named executive morning-show producer for the company's country WFMS. He is replaced by Keymarket/Pittsburgh production director Bob Simpson.

Mapleton Communications hires consultant Mike Anthony as OM of its Monterey, Calif., cluster, which includes R&B/hip-hop KBTU, adult top 40 KCDU, classic rock KHIP, and modern rock KMBY.

Sorry to report the deaths of three legends in their respective fields:

Connecticut broadcaster Bob Steele died Dec. 6. Steele, 91, started on N/T WTIC-AM Hartford, Conn., in 1936 and remained on-air full time there until 1991. Since his retirement, Steele had hosted a morning show on the first Saturday of each month.

Al Tedesco, who, with his brothers Vic and Nick, founded a number of Midwest radio stations. He died Dec. 4 of an apparent heart attack at the age of 77. Among the stations Tedesco launched were Minneapolis outlets now known as KTCZ and KDWB-AM.

Longtime independent record promoter Moe Preskell, 90, who died Dec. 7 at his home in Miami.

Open Letter: Don't Ignore Satellite Radio

Veteran on-air talent and production director Kirk Tanter was one of approximately 85 people laid off by XM Satellite Radio last month. In this open letter to the industry, Tanter—whose background also includes radio imaging for more than 70 stations through his Kirk Tanter Productions and producing several syndicated shows, including United Stations Radio Networks' We Remember—talks about his XM experience and why he's still bullish on satellite radio.

I first got involved with XM Satellite Radio while working as production director at Radio One's Washington, D.C., cluster in fall 1998. An engineer there mentioned to me that XM was looking for someone who could operate a multi-track computer system. Damon Williams, now head of programming at Music Choice, and I had already had conversations about the forthcoming coast-to-coast satellite radio. A few days later, I received a call from Lee Abrams and Dave Logan, the heads of XM's programming department, who wanted to produce demos for many of the channels that are now heard on XM.

So on weekends for the next six months or so, I produced several demos at a building on 23rd Street, in which XM leased one floor. At that time, the satellites hadn't been launched, the automotive manufacturers weren't on board, and the advertising campaigns had not been conceived. As someone who likes to crank the monitors, producing in XM's one non-soundproofed studio wasn't easy. Too often we would get a bang on the door to turn it down from XM staffers in the other offices.

In December 2000, I came on board full-time at XM as a production director. I accepted the deal for many reasons: I would be working in a high-end digital recording and mixing environment (which is totally different from mixing analog), and I would be working in the same building with 54 PDs and 25 production directors, most of whom had great experiences in our industries. I felt I could not lose.

XM has 17 production studios equipped with the high-end digital ProTools multi-track system, a $25,000 multi-channel computer program. There are Klotz digital consoles, complete with a computer that just sets the microphone/compression ratio. The third computer in each production room was for the broadcast computer system, importing and exporting sound to and from the 101 channels. There are also more than 20 voice-track studios that could convert to on-air studios, as well as more than 30 broadcast studios and a command center designed like Star Trek's command center—all in one facility.

The environment was one of sharing ideas and information. If you listen to XM, you will often hear one channel promoting another, which is rare in radio—even on the consolidated stations in the same markets. XM went on the air nationally in November 2001 but went on "within the building" in April, so the engineers could get all of the kinks out for a two-city test market launch that was supposed to start Sept. 12, but which, for obvious reasons, was pushed back two weeks.

Prior to September 2001, we were taking classes, learning how to operate the equipment, and getting the formats together. In the production department, we all were responsible solely for the imaging of two channels, unlike a regular radio operation, where a production person was also dubbing spots and turning backward flips when a spot missed—and the difference in the sound of the station showed. Many GMs don't know that traffic departments can be set up to easily place recorded commercial dubs in a broadcast computer system, freeing production directors to focus on the sound of the station.

My two channels were XM's Soul Street, which became its No. 1-rated R&B channel, and its all-'70s channel, '70s on 7, now its second-most-listened-to "decades" (or oldies) channel. Abrams wanted the "fans" (not "audience" or "listeners") of the channel to be a part of the same environment. This meant producing Soul Street so that you were actually on Soul Street. There was the Soul Street Theater to see such movies as Shaft, Superfly, Jaws, and Goldfinger. There was the Soul Street Comedy Corner to see Redd Foxx, Moms Mabley, Dick Gregory, and Richard Pryor. Live concerts were held at Soul Street's Comedy Basement Pavilion.

Image liners on Soul Street reflected the lingo of the '60s and early '70s, while the jocks would say "What's happening" instead of "Hi." On the '70s channel, you might be watching a popular '70s TV show or attending the press conference for the Egypt-Israeli peace treaty [or sitting] in those long gas lines early in the morning. And of course, the news is anchored by Walter Cronkite.

But we always knew that until we turned a profit, which would take roughly 2 million to 4 million subscribers, XM was reliant on the stock market. And after a two-year crash during which XM's stock price went from more than $50 a share to less than $3, the company decided to downsize in order to help get new financing, rather than give up stock shares. Laid off were Logan—who hired me—myself, and 85 others Nov. 13. Even with this setback, I still believe XM will be a factor for years to come because of its coast-to-coast and border-to-border coverage, digital sound quality, and wide variety of formats, including reggae, jazz fusion, doo wop, '60s soul, African, and blues. Most of XM's listeners never go back to FM or AM. Today's consolidated broadcasters have to rethink and consider opening up their music playlists and bring in more music and news formats, or they will lose their fan base within three Christmas seasons.

Kirk Tanter may be reached at kirktanter@yahoo.com.

Letter: Monitor Gives The Whole Story

In the Nov. 15 issue of Airplay Monitor, we reported a Los Angeles Times story about Radio Disney and its support of ABC/Disney-related artists. Monitor's coverage pointed out that while some Disney-related artists who don't get played extensively elsewhere are receiving heavy rotation on Radio Disney, so are numerous artists on other labels who aren't supported elsewhere. Here are follow-up comments from Radio Disney PD Robin Jones.

Thanks for [your reportage] regarding the Los Angeles Times article. Not only did [Times reporter] Chuck Phillips avoid mentioning that we play many songs in the same rotation on competing labels that other stations don't play, but he also failed to mention that we play even competing studios' material.

He should ask our audience of 3.1 million kids [age] 6-14, and they would tell him [that Disney artist and Radio Disney hitmaker] Hilary

Duff [whose airplay was at the center of the story] is a huge star among the 6- to 12-year-old set. (Did I mention Phillips didn't even know what a "Q score" was?)

Bottom line: We're a radio network for youth, and that's a market that no one else caters to, so why would I look at what other stations are playing? Kids get their music and their idols from a wide variety of sources, including video, television, and movies.

For any programmer, success isn't charted by watching what the other stations play, but rather by living in your audience's world and catering to them. How else could you explain our 500,000 calls from kids a week? I guarantee you it isn't by playing music they haven't requested.

ness did a better job in 2002 of adapting to changes around it. One national promotion director still believes that "we need to find a way to embrace the Internet and control it."

The cost of doing business, including what one R&B VP blatantly summed up as "this bull-shit independent situation," rated a 4.17, with 60% of respondents rating the issue a 5.00. DreamWorks Nashville senior executive for promotion and artist development Scott Borchetta says that one of the year's most significant changes has been "promotions pushing up the expenses of most single releases, and also allowing stiffs to hang around . . . much longer than they should."

"Things are getting so crazy, it's impossible to jump-start a new artist without a million-dollar promotion budget," another VP says. "Whatever happened to good music and gut instinct?"

"A lot of people are forced to compromise their standards to keep their jobs," another VP says. "They are forced to work with an independent promoter by the GM. They are told they need to get promotions for adding records [and] find other sources of revenue to compete with the station across the street that is doing business unethically. All these things tend to happen to people who are worried about job security."

While many cited the independent situation as a cause of concern, 56% of those surveyed believed that the independent promotion system as we know it will still exist a year from now—their radio counterparts are split down the middle. But some labels have scaled back their involvement with indies. Epic senior VP of promotion Joel Klaiman says that his label is spending 50%-75% less than in previous years.

The overall effects of radio consolidation on the industry rated a 4.00. Interscope modern rock promoter Robbie Lloyd decries the "that's for my sister station" mentality. "When did listeners only listen to one station in a market? When did listeners expect only one thing from a radio station? When did radio become satisfied with just one demo?"

"Consolidation has made it harder to get to key people that are integral to getting records on the radio in major chains," Roadrunner VP of promotion Mark Abramson says. "And with the changes coming in the independent promotions world, it should change even more next year."

Consolidation means "PDs wearing many hats, and that has cut into our contact with these people dramatically," Hollywood Records VP of promotion Tony Smith adds. "Also, there is a lot more sharing of information, which can be good or bad, depending on what side of the fence you're on."

Rating fifth on the list of concerns with a 3.89 was the current state of the economy, which means that "the money available for record promotion has also noticeably deflated," Arista senior director of top 40 promotion Margaret Ann Ronayne says. It is more important than ever "for a promotion team to work creatively as a unit to make up for the lack of capital . . . As record labels as a whole become more acclimated to the declining economy, they will be forced to better spend their money, [and] decisions will have to be made as to what is imperative."

While the survey shows that consolidation and the economy were on our respondents' minds, they weren't concerned about job security, which was next to last (3.31), followed by time management (2.82).

THE CONSOLIDATION SITUATION

Then we asked labels to rate the state of radio overall, which came in slightly more than the mean with a 3.06. Label/station relations also came in on the cusp, with a 2.97. But the impact of consolidation on radio earned only a 2.74. And 91% of our respondents agreed that consolidation has made it harder to get a record on the radio.

"Fewer people are focused on the music," Mercury VP of national promotion John Ettinger says. "Fewer people decide on the music. Fewer stations have autonomy. It makes things much worse. Very few artists have broken without pockets of energetic programmers shouting, 'Hit!' With fewer voices, the chances decline."

But what about when that smaller number of decision-makers believe in your record? We asked VPs to agree or disagree with the statement, "In certain ways, consolidation has made it easier to get a record on the radio," and only 45% agreed. But when asked if they are still able to talk to those with the power to get a record played, on a scale of one to five—with five meaning that they still have access to decision-makers—labels gave themselves a 3.89.

DOES AIRPLAY EQUAL SALES?

Most VPs still see a connection between airplay and sales. "There's still a very strong correlation," Ettinger says, "but it's a much stronger correlation in markets where stations stay local, recognize the music as a tool, and trumpet each individual song as an exciting entity."

"Absolutely," another country VP says. "Every single time we get market airplay, we see a correlative increase in sales. This doesn't happen with every act. But overall, airplay equals sales."

"We're not seeing as much of a correlation, because radio simply doesn't break records any more," a VP of R&B promotion says. Another added that "it's usually through video play that we see the biggest sales increases."

And one rock VP of promotion says that some markets sell more records per capita than others. "San Diego and Las Vegas are tough markets in general to sell rock records. Yet you look at smaller markets like Grand Rapids, Mich., and they can outsell Detroit in many cases." This VP calls on labels to find "other avenues" that go beyond radio and music video networks, which remain influential but can't help every project. "The smartest companies are looking outside of the box—way outside."

But not everyone feels they can circumvent radio yet. Asked to agree or disagree with the statement, "It is more possible than before to break a record without radio," 57% disagreed. But one R&B VP who was among the agreeing 43% says that while "there are [fewer] people to talk to on a national level, I spend more time developing ways to market my artists outside of radio."

We also asked respondents whether they thought one station could still single-handedly start a record, and 58% said that it could. However, it would most likely have to be a powerhouse station, as slightly more than half of our respondents (51%) disagreed that small-market outlets can be a breaking ground for new music. And 80% disagreed that overnight-only airplay could be a breaking ground for new music.

DON'T BELIEVE THE HYPE?

In our open-ended questions, Monitor asked label execs for what they thought to be the biggest misconception about record promotion. Lyric Street Records VP of promotion Dale Turner says many think that "it's all fun and games, dinners, and backstage [access] at concerts. The reality is there are a lot of hours [spent] imaging and relationship-building, listening, understanding your customer, and sales presentations, whether that be an e-mail newsletter or traveling for one-on-one discussions. It has gone way past just having passion for your product."

Another misconception is "that we make a lot of money," an R&B VP of promotion says. But another contends that "people in this business tend to live beyond their means. Per capita, we probably make more than in most other industries, yet we have very few people who save money, so that when they are forced out of a job or want to retire, they don't have anything to show for their years of hard work."

"People think that everyone [in records] is corrupt or shady," one VP of promotion says. "It is tough to do business ethically and honestly, but it can be done. I've met and worked with many record promoters and [PDs] who really want to do business in an upstanding, honest way."

Punk Or Bubblegum? Or Both?

Is Avril Lavigne punk? Or bubblegum?

There has been a lot of discussion in the consumer press recently about that issue—competing stories that position her as either a strong-willed artiste who somehow knew what she wanted for herself already (The New York Times) or, in Entertainment Weekly, a songwriter/producer-driven creation who wanted to be punk but hadn't heard of the Sex Pistols (who, of course, were in no way manufactured).

Lavigne's punk credentials have nothing to do with whether your audience wants to hear her—they've already answered that one. And she's not the first recent artist to provoke the punk vs. bubblegum debate. At the outset, Blink-182 was too rock for top 40. But it didn't take long after "All the Small Things" for modern rock PDs to start muttering the "b word" under their breath. So far, they still seem favorably disposed to Blink-182 (particularly after the harder-rocking Box Car Racer side project), but other power-punk acts like Bowling for Soup or Riddlin' Kids have suffered some collateral damage.

Historically, the line between punk and bubblegum has always been hard to decipher. The first bubblegum records of the late '60s came out of the original "punk" movement as garage rock split into two camps—some acts turned heavy and psychedelic, while others gave us "Little Bit O' Soul" or "Yummy Yummy Yummy."

In between bubblegum and punk, there was the glam-rock movement that took in everyone from Alice Cooper to T. Rex to Kiss to Bay City Rollers to David Bowie to Sweet. Music historians haven't had any problem since the mid-'70s deciding who should go into the classic rock (read: good) pile and the bubblegum pile, but I'm willing to accept both "Rebel Rebel" and "Ballroom Blitz" as enduring records of similar gravity (or lack thereof).

When punk did come along in the late '70s, it might have been marked by artists who wanted to comment on race and class and anarchy in Thatcher's U.K., but for every Jam or Clash, there was someone who just wanted to be Paul Revere & the Raiders. The Ramones are the punk band most often linked to bubblegum, but at least they added a level of perversity to it. (Most of those early bubblegum records were sexual double entendres, but they weren't about lobotomies, sedation, or sniffing glue.) By contrast, one of the great punk singles of the late '70s, "Baby Baby" by the Vibrators, says nothing more ambitious than "Baby, baby, baby/baby, baby, baby/baby, baby, baby/won't you be my girl?"

As punk evolved into new wave, the bubblegum component grew even more obvious. The Cars famously appropriated the opening of "Yummy Yummy Yummy" for "Just What I Needed." "Lies/lies/lies/yeah" might have been a Thompson Twins hook, but it could as easily have fallen on either side of the '60s punk/bubblegum evolution. And it's not hard to spot the bubblegum aspects of "You Spin Me Round," "Too Shy," or "Mickey" (a record you may have occasionally heard mentioned in this column). It's also no accident that "I Want Candy" became a hit during the original punk era, during the new wave era, and (at least with your kids) for Aaron Carter.

And the connections continue. Earlier this year, critics frequently compared Andrew W.K. to the Ramones, but he actually reminds me of the more bubblegum side of '70s glam. You have no reason to have heard of Barry Blue, the '70s British bubblegum star who went on to produce Heatwave and Five Star, but I find it very hard to believe that Andrew W.K. himself hasn't. At the very least, he seems to know more Gary Glitter songs than just "Rock and Roll Part 2."

Twenty-five years later, outrage is the province of hip-hop, while punk's late-'70s ability to shock has long been obscured by every adult top 40 station that plays "I Wanna Be Sedated" for the 5:00 p.m. whistle and every stadium music director who uses "Pump It Up" between innings. That's OK—most punk music was really pop music that belonged on top 40 a lot more than the bloodless stuff that late '70s/early '80s PDs played. ("Pump It Up" was never a top 40 hit. "Feels So Good" by Chuck Mangione was. Discuss.)

As for Blink-182, it was perhaps ahead of today's other hit acts in demonstrating that any genre would work better with 19-year-olds if you put a cuter, younger act in front of them. I don't mind that Lavigne isn't '70s British punk act the Damned (or even the Darned, as it happens). They weren't going to be on the radio, anyway. But I have gotten a little testy when PDs use her as a substitute for Sheryl Crow.

RCA VP of radio promotion Eric Murphy decries the perception that "record executives are shuck-and-jive salesmen who can 'buy a hit' or that their job is to schmooze programmers and hype stiffs. That may have been true in the past, but a good record executive today understands radio programming, research, marketing, promotion, branding, and business. If you're not in tune to all aspects of what truly breaks an artist, you shouldn't have a job."

That being said, the one statement that almost had an unanimous response (97%) was, "Even if my label spends its money as wisely as possible, there will always be someone willing to do whatever it takes to hype a stiff." Although one respondent did elaborate that "there is no such thing as hyping a stiff, because if you think enough of the artist or song, it's not a stiff until you have exhausted all energies and resources and the market doesn't respond."

WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

So what would move the industry past its current crisis? Klaiman suggests "continued analysis of spending from all departments, changing the model to make a profit on [fewer] records sold." Jive senior VP of promotion Joe

Ricitelli agrees that "the business has to get back to making a profit on a 100,000-selling project [but] still be able to promote that project to radio."

DreamWorks Nashville head of promotion Bruce Shindler suggests "more synchronicity between the different divisions of the corporations that own record companies."

"The record companies are getting better at providing more value with CD releases," Borchetta says. "We need to listen to what our audience is saying, how they're using our music, and what forms they want it in for their listening pleasure." And while country radio focuses on upper demos, he says, "the future lies in our youth. We need to make sure that a reasonable percentage of our releases and programming reflect that."

R&B respondents called for "better marketing," as well as ensuring that "the music is hit-oriented to begin with." A VP of rock promotion agrees that "the quality of music has to improve. That's one of the biggest complaints from kids buying music. The number of releases needs to be looked at. It's insane how many records are being released—it's overwhelming for the consumer."

Songs ranked by number of detections. (○) Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

(○) Songs showing an increase in audience over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in audience does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in audience. A song with a gain in audience over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining in audience or each losing in audience, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs become recurrents and are removed from this chart in conjunction with the Mainstream Top 40 Airplay chart.

CONNECTING RADIO WITH THE MUSIC INDUSTRY
AT THE FIRST MAJOR EVENT OF THE YEAR!

Billboard[®] Monitor^{AIRPLAY} RADIO.2003 seminar

FEBRUARY 6-8 • MIAMI BEACH

THE INFORMATION YOU NEED TO KNOW

WHO TOOK THE R&B OUT OF R&B AND HIP-HOP?:

Programmers and label executives discuss the new music paradigm, where hip-hop rules the airwaves on R&B/hip-hop stations, as well as its growing popularity in other formats.

RADIO AS A LAUNCHING PAD: This session will bring together several radio personalities and programmers who were able to use their success in radio to build a career far beyond the airwaves.

ROCK BLOCK: Three hours of back-to-back rock sessions addressing how today's radio staffs live the lifestyle of the 18 - 24s they're trying to reach.

THE COUNTRY COMMUNITY CAUCUS: Is country music finally poised for its big comeback? Country industry heavyweights will gather for a free-wheeling session to discuss challenges and, perhaps, even come up with some solutions.

TOP 40 TOPICS LIVE: This panel tackles the state of top 40 in 2003—Are the extremes leveling out? Are there enough hits for the format? And why are we burning through hits so quickly?

RHYTHMIC TOP 40: Hip-hop and R&B aren't just a core sound at rhythmic, they're increasingly the beat of mainstream top 40 as well. How does rhythmic differentiate itself?

Songs ranked by number of detections. Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of audience, computed by cross-referencing exact times of airplay with Arbitron listener data. Songs showing an increase in audience over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in audience does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in audience. A song with a gain in audience over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining in audience or each losing in audience, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs become recurrents and are removed from this chart in conjunction with the Rhythmic Top 40 Airplay chart.

Songs ranked by number of detections. (▲) Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 20 become recurrenents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of audience, computed by cross-referencing exact times of airplay with Arbitron listener data. (▲) Songs showing an increase in audience over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in audience. A song with a gain in audience over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining in audience or each losing in audience, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs become recurrenents and are removed from this chart in conjunction with the R&B/Hip-Hop Airplay chart.

Songs ranked by number of detections. () Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrents and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. () Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrences and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.

Songs ranked by number of detections. () Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A song will also receive a bullet if its percentage loss in detections does not exceed the percentage of monitored station downtime for the format. A song that has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. Airpower awarded to songs appearing in the top 20 on both the Airplay and Audience charts for the first time with increases in both detections and audience. Greatest Gainer awarded to the song with the largest increase in detections. Most Airplay Adds awarded to the song registering six or more detections at the most stations for the first time this week. A song with a gain in detections over the previous week is placed first if tied with a song with a decline over the same period. When tied songs are each gaining detections or each losing detections, the song being played on more stations is placed first. Songs below the top 15 become recurrences and are removed from the chart after 26 weeks.
