Piracy, Progress Marked Music In 2003

As the calendar turns to a new year, Billboard's correspondents in the main Latin American markets assess the year 2003 in music.

BRAZIL

It was a tough 2003 for Brazil, with sales declines in virtually every sector of the economy.

Record companies laid off a large number of employees and trimmed their rosters. And Brazil's most important independent record label, Abril Music, closed.

Lured by lower prices and a decline in income, consumers increasingly turned to pirated product. It is estimated that 50% of all CDs sold in Brazil are illegal.

In 2004, a reaction to that situation is expected. Brazil's new government has put strict policies into place that have stabilized local currency and are providing new incentives to international investment.

In addition to that expected growth came the approval in July 2003 of new and more severe laws against piracy. Plus, 2003 saw the creation of a Parliamentary Investigation Committee in Brazilian Congress, which includes deputies, senators and professionals from the music industry.

Artistically, the big success story was Maria Rita. The daughter of legendary Ellis Regina became a star in her own right, selling 500,000 copies of her debut album on Warner.

MEXICO

It was the year of "La Academia," as finalists of the reality-TV music show launched successful solo careers.

Yahir (Warner) became a phenomenon, thanks to a self-titled album that sold more than 250,000 copies, an Oye! Award for best new artist and a leading role on soap opera "Enamórate."

Under Peerless, Warner's grupero label, Nadia sold 150,000 copies of her self-titled album and also won an Oye! Award for best new artist in her genre.

Myriam was EMI's shining star. Her first album, "Una Mujer," sold more than 200,000 copies, while the DVD of the same name has sold 75,000.

For Sony, two "Academia" alumni, Victor and Miguel Angel, made the mark, with one platinum album each. Universal artist Raúl, who sings ranchera, has a gold album for sales of 50,000 of "Serenata." Another golden girl is Toñita, a grupera whom BMG has supported.

Beyond "La Academia," Sony was the most successful label in developing local acts, releasing sophomore efforts by Sin Bandera and Elefante—the two great newcomers of 2002—and successful debuts by Natalia Lafourcade and Haash.

On the piracy end, the Mexican government, via the State Attorney's office, enacted more anti-piracy operations than ever before.

Piracy levels are expected to decline in the new year. Still, Mexico's association of video and record producers (Amprofon) had to lower the standard for gold and platinum certification, to 50,000 from 75,000, and to 100,000 from 150,000, respectively.

ARGENTINA

The Argentine industry managed to emerge from three years of recession with a year that revived optimism.

Total music sales from January to October reached 8.1 million units, a true blessing after the mere 4 million units moved for the same period in 2002.

Gabriel Salcedo, executive director of local record chamber CAPIF, estimates that 10 million units will be sold by year's end—exactly the same amount as in 2001.

Retail giant Musimundo also improved during 2003. Two years after filing for Chapter 11, local investment group Pegasus bought the chain and established a new consignment system.

The leading label in Argentina was Universal, with an estimated market share of 25%, followed by BMG, EMI, Sony and Warner with approximately 16% each.

An unexpected boon in spite of the economic crisis was a boom in concerts by local acts and the few international artists that could be enticed with such an unfavorable exchange rate. Throughout the year, venues ranging from 700-seat theaters to soccer stadiums were sold out for concerts from a wide array of predominantly rock acts.

Sponsors jumped on the bandwagon and are now heavily investing in concerts. Marcelo Figoli of Fenix Producciones says, "Although the concert scene recovered in late 2002, we only reached profit again when sponsors came back. Next year will surely be even better."

COLOMBIA

It was a tough year for the record industry, with an 11% decline in albums sold and a 17% decline in value, according to Colombia's record producers association, Asincol.

The dismal numbers forced Asincol to lower the standards for gold and platinum albums, to 10,000 from 15,000, and to 20,000 from 30,000, respectively.

According to Asincol, the market-share leader for the year was Sony Music (32.4%), followed by Universal (18.43%), EMI (12.19%), Warner (8.77%), Codiscos (7.66%), Fuentes (7.04%), FM (4.20%), Sonolux (2.82%), Jan (2.15%) and Balboa (1.70%).

The concert arena did reasonably well, with performances by such superstars as Shakira, Alanis Morissette and Maná, as well as a variety of local acts. Colombia also had a surge in the number of acts making promotional visits.

The local scene saw new releases by folk stalwarts Petrona Martínez, Totó la Momposina, Jorge Velosa and Curupira.

Major labels bet on local talent, with Warner releasing the debut album of singer/songwriter Santiago Cruz, while EMI continued to support Cabas and debut act Sonorama. Sony released pop tropical act Qarto Aparte. There was also a resurgence in the local electronica scene.

In terms of media, the editorial highlight of the year was the launch of Rolling Stone Colombia, which is

CHILF.

An unexpected craze of Brazilian axe music boosted sales in 2003, again making Chile the exceptional country that posted gains instead of losses, as it did last year. The secret is a new fad of TV-born acts and concept albums based on immensely popular reality shows and talent contests.

Francisco Nieto, GM of the International Federation of the Phonographic Industry Chile, says the local industry is still unhealthy compared with 1997, but it's now "relatively stable."

He estimates that total sales this year will reach 6.5 million units and generate $35 million. (Ten million units were sold in 1997.)

While Chile's economy is strong, the sales drop is a result of piracy, which the government is working hard to curtail. "I even predict a sales increase for 2004," Nieto says.

Warner Music Chile GM Alfonso Carbone agrees that such TV programs as "Rojo," "Protagonistas de la Música" and the local edition of "Operación Triunfo" have indeed helped the industry, but he contends that good albums also played a role.

With a 27.7% market share, Warner led sales in Chile, thanks to TV-based albums and strong showings by such new acts as María Jimena and Mario Guerrero and established acts Lucybell and Los Prisioneros. Sony followed, with a 24% market share.

Teresa Aguilera in Mexico City; Marcelo Fernández Bitar in Buenos Aires; Tom Gomes in Sao Paulo, Brazil; and Gustavo Gómez in Bagota, Columbia contributed to this report.

Sanz, Cruz Are Likely Grammy Winners

Tis the season for our annual Grammy Award predictions in the Latin categories. Based on all we've seen and heard the past 12 months, here are our bets on who will win, and our 2 cents on who we're rooting for.

BEST LATIN POP ALBUM: "No Es Lo Mismo" by Alejandro Sanz will win. Sanz has become the new Grammy darling. "No Es Lo Mismo" isn't a blockbuster in the U.S. yet, but it's an excellent recording and a safe choice.

Save for Luis Miguel's toosafe "33," all the other nominees are deserving contenders in this competitive and wellrounded list of finalists. But we'll root for Chayanne's satisfying "Sincero," an adventuresome feather in the cap of a long, solid pop career. BEST LATIN ROCK/ALTERNATIVE ALBUM: For this category, it's an even toss between two contenders. Café Tacuba's "Cuatro Caminos" is a strong comeback album, and thanks to its new, American label-MCA-it has added exposure among mainstream voters. But Molotov has also received wide exposureincluding a Latin Grammy performance-with its edgy, crunchy "Dance and Dense Denso.'

BEST SALSA/MERENGUE ALBUM:
Here, we're backing the winner—
Celia Cruz's "Regalo del Alma."
The most beloved tropical singer of our time recorded this, her last album, in the final months of her battle with cancer. Surprise: It sounds hip instead of melancholy.

Plus, it's the topselling tropical album of the year on the *Bill*board year-end charts, and Cruz is a Grammy favorite, as is coproducer Sergio George. That's what we call a winner.

BEST MEXICAN/MEXICAN-AMERICAN ALBUM: Joan Sebastian's "Afortunado" already won a Latin Grammy in 2003. There's no reason why he shouldn't continue the winning streak, given that he also won a Grammy in this very category in 2002.

Our personal faves of the year are Intocable's superlative "Nuestro Destino Estaba Escrito"—a must-listen for those who still think regional Mexican music lacks sophistication—and Los Tigres del Norte's storied "La Reina del Sur."

BEST TRADITIONAL TROPICAL LATIN ALBUM: The winner is our personal pick—Ibrahim Ferrer's "Buenos Hermanos" has the Buena Vista Social Club stamp of recognition. And it is a loveable album.

BEST TEJANO ALBUM: Again, we want who the voters will pick. And that is "Me Faltas Tú" by Jimmy González y el Grupo Mazz. Only Bobby Pulido has comparable name recognition. But González's album has already been feted, and he is on Tejano powerhouse label Freddie Records, a longtime Grammy favorite.

Latin Music Enjoyed Success In 2003

BY LEILA COBO

The year 2003 saw a rise in sales of Latin music and the confirmation of Univision Music Group and Universal Music & Video Distribution (UMVD) as the top Latin label and distributor in the country, respectively.

According to figures provided by Nielsen SoundScan, sales of Spanish-language albums from Jan. 5 to Dec. 28, 2003, totaled 26.1 million units, compared with 19.5 million units for the corresponding period in 2002.

Total sales of all albums by Latin artists—including predominantly English-language albums by Shakira and Gloria Estefan—were even higher, amounting to 27.5 million units vs. 23.7 million units in 2002.

The increase reflects a fundamental change in the way Latin music is purchased in the U.S., from small mom-and-pop stores to major retailers that use SoundScan.

But for the first time in many months, SoundScan figures do not disagree with the Recording Industry Assn. of America's shipment figures for Latin music.

According to RIAA numbers, net shipments of Latin music from January to June 2003 declined 4.5% compared with the same period in 2002. This was a minuscule drop compared with the 15% plunge registered by the market as a whole. The year before, midyear net shipments of Latin music fell by a staggering 25%.

Although year-end figures from the RIAA are not yet available, the downward spiral in sales seems to have stopped.

Univision Music Group comfortably took the lead as the biggest-selling Latin music label in the U.S., thanks to the combined market share of Univision Records, Fonovisa Records and Disa. Univision fully owns Fonovisa and owns 50% of Disa.

But even if one were to leave Disa's 8.45% market share out of the equation, Univision would still come out ahead.

Sony, the longtime leader in the genre, fell to second place with an 18.58% market share that includes sales of Latin albums on Epic and Columbia. Sony's market share for 2002 was 21.09%, but sales began to decline in 2003.

In late May, Kevin Lawrie stepped in as president of the newly created Sony Norte. The label has gone through restructuring and is still in the process of revamping its roster.

Aside from Univision, growth was most notably recorded by EMI

Latin, which saw its market share rise from 8.82% to 9.73%. Including distributed labels, that number moves up to 9.96%.

Small indie Balboa also rallied, jumping from a 1.69% market share in 2002 to a 3.7% market share in 2003.

Like Fonovisa and Univision, Balboa released several big-selling compilations that helped boost its standing.

In terms of distribution, UMVD remains the leader in market share, with 39.6% of the market. UMVD took over as the No. 1 distributor of Latin music in first-quarter 2002, after its distribution deal with Fonovisa took effect.

The only other growth for a distributor was registered by EMI Music Marketing, which saw its market share rise from 9.4% in 2002 to 10% in 2003.

Latin Ring Tones Ring In Big Business

The Latin ring-tone market continues to drum up new business.

The latest deal is between Universal Mobile, a division of Universal Music International, and Telcel, Mexico's largest provider of wireless services.

The deal, which is nonexclusive for both parties, calls for Universal to provide Telcel with content, including ring tones, wallpaper, videos and games.

Content will be made available to Telcel's 22 million customers through ideastelcel/com/universal.

The deal is the first of its kind for Universal in Latin America and may be the most comprehensive—if not the only—such deal struck by a major label in the region.

Of course, downloadable Latin content is not a new idea. Nationwide, wireless customers are getting Latin mobile entertainment content thanks to a series of new deals.

Recently, San Francisco-based Faith West and Miami-based Wireless Latin Entertainment (Wilaen) agreed to provide AT&T Wireless with Latin ring tones and graphics that can be purchased through a downloadable application called Latin Garage (Billboard, Jan. 10).

Faith West and Wilaen are preparing to launch their service in Latin America, and talks are under way with several major carriers there.

But Universal's deal is notable because although it will also license content from third parties, its leverage comes from content it _____ already owns.

"We own the product, we own the rights, and we have the technical abilities to transport the product to the user," says Alfonso Pérez-Soto, Latin America VP of business development at Universal Mobile.

Although competitors can offer the same ring tones, Pérez-Soto adds that Universal has the ability to "promote and provide future products for telecom companies without any kind of licensing problems." Such products include videoclips and voice products.

Universal Mobile's Latin American division was created last year and has staff in Mexico, Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Ecuador and Chile. Similar deals in other Latin markets are planned this year.

RAP'N'REGGAE: A new label called Dnoiz Records will be based out of Tampa, Fla., and will be distributed in Jamaica. Europe and the U.S.

Dnoiz is a partnership between Angel Rivera through his concert-promotion company, De Studio 6 Enterprises, and Stephen "Cat" Coore, from reggae band Third World.

The group is slated to record its upcoming album for Shanachie Records at Dnoiz Studio. As for Dnoiz Records, its first release will be a solo effort from Third World singer William "Bunny Rugs" Clarke titled "On

The Christian/gospel album is slated to hit stores within the next few months. Clarke is also working on a second, dancehall album. The first single, "Dance With You," will be released in February.

Dnoiz is also working with local R&B, rap and reggaetón acts. The label has yet to secure a distribution deal but has independent distribution set up for Jamaica and Europe.

INDIE NATION IN MEXICO: Alejandro Marcovich, former lead guitarist with Mexican mega-rock band Caifanes, has embarked on a solo recording career.

Following the closure of his label, Termita Records—a company funded and supported by Sony Music Mexico—Marcovich has independently released an EP.

The four-track album, "Nocturnal," is the precursor to a 12-track album of the same name set for release later this year. Marcovich is taking over the distribution himself for now.

Both EP and album include Latin standards set to contemporary rock arrangements. The first single is "No Volveré."

IN BRIEF: Sofía Alayón, formerly with Sony Discos in New York, has left the company to establish her own PR firm.

New York-based A-PR Media Group is based in New York. One of its clients is bilingual group Nueva Era.

Alayon can be reached at alayonpr-media@aol.com.

Universal Music Latino will release two major albums in February. "Pau-Latina" is a Spanish-language album from Paulina Rubio, following her foray into English in 2002. The disc is Rubio's first recording in Spanish after 2000's platinum-selling "Paulina." This time, however, she did not hook up with songwriter/producer Estéfano, who wrote much of "Paulina." Instead, Rubio co-produced the album and worked with a host of writers and producers, including Emilio Estefan, Jorge Villamizar, Sergio George and Marco Antonio Solís.

Slated for Feb. 10 is David Bis-bal's sophomore disc, titled "Bulería." The album was produced by Kike Santander.

Due out this spring on Ziriguiboom/Six Degrees Records is Bebel Gilberto's as-yet-untitled follow-up to "Tanto Tempo." Producers include Marius DeVries, Guy Sigsworth and Pascal Gabriel.

At No. 1 on the Billboard Top Latin Albums Chart this week, for the fourth consecutive week, is Solís' "La Historia Continúa." Also look for Solís at No. 22 (with Los Bukis' "25 Joyas Musicales") and at No. 42 with "Tu Amor o Tu Desprecio."

MUSIC & MONEY 1

Billboard's Music & Money #1 spotlight coincides with the 2004 Music & Money Symposium and takes an in-depth look at the business behind making music. We report on survival strategies for distributors and labels selling into cash-challenged retail accounts and the continually rising value of music publishing assets.

He expects this to be a big new category and a new dimension for a portable entertainment device.

LYRA IS RCA'S TOP PLAYER

The top-selling RCA Lyra RD1071 player ($99) has 128MB of onboard memory to store more than two hours of music. It weighs 1.5 ounces, has a multifunctional LCD display for track number and play mode with five DSP modes, a USB 1.1 connector, E.clipz clip-style headphones and a sports armband.

"As the first electronics brand into the MP3 market, we've established ourselves as the No. 1 share player in the flash-device category," says Rich Phipps, Thomson director of business development, audio and video products.

New flash introductions are designed to increase capabilities with an FM tuner for recording, user interface and PC application software for a better user experience.

"We're past the early-adopter threshold and need to make sure the new devices are simple enough for massmarket buyers," Phipps adds. "In 2004, we see continued growth and, with the influence of the Apple iPod, an increasing shift toward hard-drive products, with several new 20GB and 40GB RCA Lyra Jukeboxes as our contribution."

RIO STILL AT THE FOREFRONT

"The first Rio brand launched the MP3 revolution in October 1999, and a lot has happened since then," says Kevin Brangan, Rio Audio product marketing VP.

The 2003 best-seller was the Rio Nitrus, the MP3 market's first cross between a hard disk and flash-based player, at $199. Features include 1.5GB capacity to play back 375 MP3 or 750 Windows Media Audio (WMA) songs (25 hours), a built-in 16-hour LiON rechargeable battery, a five-band parametric equalizer and USB 2.0 support.

This summer, Rio will have a suite of new flash-memory models from 128MB at $79 to 256MB at $149 and a trio of hard-drive intros from 1.5GB at $169 to 20GB-30GB at $299.

Rio did well last year with Best Buy and Circuit City for online and in-store programs and with expansion into Wal-Mart, Kmart and other stores.

The company will shift gears to packaged-goods partners like SoBe and Frito Lav in 2004.

"We're beyond bullish as MP3 offers real choice for the consumer," Brangan says, "with the new music services and a media format change. The music industry has certainly adopted the concept, which it fought at the start."

A PORTABLE MEDIA CENTER

At Creative Labs, top-selling flash models were the 128MB MuVo NX, now retailing for $119, and the 256MB ($169). Both MP3/WMA players offer a removable USB storage drive, built-in USB PC connector and voice recorder.

Sharing hard-drive honors were the Nomad Jukebox Zen Xtra 30GB at $269 and 40GB at $299, with Creative MediaSource or new Nomad Explorer music-transfer software and a removable 14-hour battery.

Partnered with Microsoft, Creative previewed the Zen Portable Media Center (PMC) at the January Consumer Electronics Showcase. The first 20GB version, due in August for $499-$599. will hold 80 hours of video, 5,000 songs or up to 50,000 photos. It supports MS PhotoStory software, MP3 and WMA for music and Windows Media Video for video playback.

"From Creative's perspective, the PMC is a logical extension for those who have more media than just audio on their PCs," says Lisa O'Malley, senior brand manager for portable media at Creative Labs.

"Video is now a driving force in consumer electronics. And working with Microsoft, our aim is to have seamless integration between the PC and our PMC line that should appeal to a wide audience," O'Malley adds.

Irish Eyes of the music, because that has always been there."

Casey signed with Principle Management in Dublin, in part because the company also handles U2. "I wouldn't have gone with them if they couldn't have opened doors," he says. "When you come to America, people take them seriously, so people take me a little bit more seriously."

A DEVELOPMENT MARKET

Ireland has also proved its value as an "incubator" of visiting talent. It was David Gray's tireless touring there that led to huge local sales for his "White Ladder" album and the platform to ultimate worldwide multi-platinum status. (London-based Mondo Management represents Gray and Rice.)

The same is now happening for Idaho native Josh Ritter, who is signed to Signature in the United States, Setanta in the United Kingdom and Europe and Road Records in Ireland. Backed by his commitment to frequent touring there, Ritter's "Hello Starling" album debuted at No. 2 in Ireland last year.

Ritter will return to Ireland to headline the Dublin Green Energy Festival at Dublin Castle June 4, before nine U.K. shows.

"Ireland was the first place I really began to feel like I could make a living as a songwriter," Ritter says. "People were so excited to see something new, and there's [such] an incredibly rich culture of performing and singing that they made me feel really welcome.

"I used to think Ireland might be the only place that got my music, but as I've been touring and touring, the audiences are growing everywhere in the same kind of natural, good way they did in Ireland. Now the great nights in Seattle or Austin or Oslo feel like the great nights I first had at Whelans in Dublin or the Spirit Store in Dundalk.

TBA stock closed April 14 at 60 cents on the American Stock Exchange. The stock began trading in February 1994 and hit an all-time high of $9.50 that November. As recently as April 2002, it traded as high as $4.

Following the deal's completion, Geddes will assume the post of CEO. Azoff and Mike Stone, managing partner of Whitney & Co. and of JHW Greentree, will be co-chairmen. Azoff also will continue as chairman of his Azoffmusic management company.

The TBA name will be dropped, although no new name has been disclosed.

A press release issued by Azoff's camp says the new partnership was created to "explore, initiate and develop entertainment marketing and corporate communications opportunities.'

Additional acquisitions could quickly follow the closing, Azoff tells Billboard.

"Certain other pieces of the puzzle will fit" with the new operation, he says, adding that tour promotion is not in the plan.

MULTIFACETED PROPERTY

TBA produces concerts and entertainment for fairs, festivals and corporate events, as well as sponsor-driven happenings such as the Fruit of the Loom Country Fest and Hard Rock RockFest.

The company also boasts a thriving management division that handles such acts as Brooks & Dunn, 4Him, Billy Bob Thornton, CeCe Winans, Jaci Velasquez, Papa Roach, Styx, Tesla, Type O Negative, Sandi Patty and Chonda Pierce.

Azoff already manages the Eagles, Van Halen, Christina Aguilera, Jewel and Journey.

TBA has rarely taken the risks of promoting shows, though it is the promoter of record for the annual New Year's Eve show at Nashville's Gaylord Entertainment Center, which last year sold out with Toby Keith.

For the year ending Dec. 31, 2002, TBA reported a net loss of $2.16 million on revenue of $49.1 million.

TBA founder and chairman Thomas "Jock" Weaver, the former president of Hard Rock International, will serve as a consultant for the transition. Following completion of the deal, he will leave the company to pursue other interests. Weaver did not return phone calls.

In a February memo, Weaver told TBA employees of the strategy to take TBA private and "place it on a platform supported by owners and executives with business experience and financial capability to create and fund incredibly dynamic growth opportunities for the company, its executives and [its] employees."

TBA will continue to operate its regional offices in Los Angeles, Nashville, Atlanta, Chicago, Salt Lake City and San Diego.

Whitney & Co. is an asset-management firm with more than $4 billion of capital under management.

years to consistently be a tremendous identifier of talent and songs. He consistently puts worldwide hits on the board. This was a tremendous A&R opportunity for us," Kallman says.

Kallman adds that under its new owners, WMG has "a mandate to be more collaborative" with sister company Warner/Chappell Music Publishing. However, Kallman says there aren't specific plans for a publishing exec to start a WMG imprint.

Atlantic is funding E.V.L.A., and the Atlantic staff will work all of the venture's releases.

DRAWING UP A BLUEPRINT

Lamberg began working Cabrera a year ago, putting him on the road and hiring street teams to pepper the market.

Cabrera went on two acoustic tours, including a college trek presented by Pi Kappa Phi fraternity.

"The fraternity tour cost us nothing. He slept at the frat houses, the fraternity got him from one college to the next," Lamberg says.

E.V.L.A. made the video for "On the Way Down" for $25,000.

Lamberg says the project is a blueprint for how E.V.L.A. will work.

"The whole idea is that the artist isn't $1 million or $2 million in the hole before the record even comes out," Lamberg says.

"I just want to play," Cabrera says. "I stayed on floors, bath tubs. I told my manager, 'I just need to be out there. I know the record's not coming out until June.'

The frat tour was the brainchild of Joe Simpson, Cabrera's manager, who says he has no hesitation about Cabrera being the first artist on an unproven label.

"I've had acts be the priority on a major label, and that didn't do me as much good as being a priority on a no-name label," Simpson says. "I've never in my seven years in the business heard anyone say anything bad about Evan.'

Lamberg has also signed female rocker Stacy Wilde, whom he has been developing as a writer for four years at EMI.

Atlantic and E.V.L.A. are examining acts on the Atlantic roster that may be suited for Lamberg's label. "That's the benefit of having a boutique label within a major label that can superserve a core and deliver key, grassroots micromarketing to build a fan base," Kallman says.

The label's name comes from Lamberg's first and last names, but he stresses that it wasn't an ego stroke. "The hardest part of this whole thing was clearing the name. Everything went down the toilet, like 100 names," Lamberg says. "The attorneys finally said, 'Just make something up.'

Indecency Issues Continue

Tuned In: This column has been on a break for nearly a month, and in that time the indecency issues have ratcheted up.

The most recent report comes from Billboard Washington, D.C., bureau chief Bill Holland. Twenty-four groups and individuals petitioned the Federal Communications Commission April 19 to reconsider its March ruling. which found U2 frontman Bono's use of an obscenity during the Golden Globe Awards telecast to be in violation of FCC indecency rules.

What the FCC once determined to be an adjectival exclamation and not considered indecent since it did not concern sexual context has once again been deemed indecent.

The petitioners call the ruling unconstitutional on First Amendment grounds.

The petitioning groups include such content producers as the Recording Industry Assn. of America; such artists' groups as the Recording Artists' Coalition, the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists and the Screen Actors Guild; broadcasters Viacom, Fox Entertainment Group and Radio One; public interest groups the American Civil Liberties Union and the Media Access Project; and performers Margaret Cho and Penn & Teller.

Radio's repeated calls for clarification from the FCC on what is and is not indecent prompted a response from chairman Michael Powell, speaking at the National Assn. of Broadcasters' spring gathering in Las Vegas.

Powell said such clarification is not likely to happen anytime soon, according to the Associated Press. Calling Viacom president Mel Karmazin's proposal to clarify the rules a "red herring," Powell stated, "You do not want the government to write a red book of what you can and what you can't sav."

He also said that he disagreed with the notion of taking away stations' licenses following their third indecency violation

All this came in the wake of Clear Channel permanently removing the syndicated Howard Stern morning show from its six affiliates after the FCC handed down a $495,000 indecency fine against those stations for an April 2003 broadcast.

The stations that carried the broadcast are classic rock WBGG Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; talk WTKS Orlando, Fla.; modern rock WXDX Pittsburgh; and album rock stations WTFX Louisville, Ky.; KIOZ San Diego; and WNVE Rochester, N.Y.

Stern had been on suspension at his Clear Channel affiliates since late February.

> Separately, the FCC rejected arguments Emmis Radio made in March and affirmed a $14,000 forfeiture against the company for "willfully broadcasting indecent material" over modern rock WKQX Chicago. The commission flagged "Mancow's Morning Madhouse" for its content. Mancow has filed his own suit charging a listener with harassment for filing multiple complaints against the show with the FCC (Tuned In: Radio, Billboard, April 10).

POWELL: WARNING BROADCASTERS

And, heck, why stop there? Clear Channel has pulled the Regular Guys morning show from album rock WKLS Atlanta "in line with our zero-tolerance policy," the company said in a statement.

The move stemmed from a March 19 broadcast, when racy dialogue with an adult-film star in the studio accidentally aired during a commercial break.

the button-downs and those who like it loose and baggy?

Clench GM Peter Lim agrees. "It depends on the occasion," he says. "It's no problem to interchange the casual with a more dressed-up look."

The music and fashion industries depend on "different genres," Lim adds. Just as there is a "bohemian sound," there is also a "bohemian look."

On May 15, Lugz debuts the Birdman sneaker at such retailers as Finish Line, Underground Station and Dr. Jays. The shoe, which retails for $70, comes with a Cash Money Stack Clip and will be sold in limited quantities in Canada, France, Germany and the United Kingdom, Lugz executive VP Larry Schwartz says

A subsidiary of JSSI, the 10-yearold Lugz has worked with such R&B/ hip-hop acts as Erick Sermon, Snoop Dogg, Master P, De La Soul and Funkmaster Flex.

When deciding on a "partnership," Schwartz says, "you must match the right artist to the product that makes sense. Most endorsements don't work. The ones that do have a story to tell."

Birdman is a big personality, Schwartz says. "He's known for wearing [Timberland shoes] and Nike Air Force Ones—not Gucci. So this partnership made perfect sense.'

Williams, who was instrumental in the shoe's design, concurs. He says Lugz has its ear to the streets; the company knows what hip-hop culture is about. "This shoe reflects my personal style."

And Clench's decidedly street fashions perfectly reflect Baby Bash's style. Because of this, it was a no-brainer to have the rapper become the new face of Clench, says Angela Thomas, CEO of independent marketing firm Prana, whose clients include Clench.

At MAGIC, the apparel convention recently held in Las Vegas, Baby Bash was on hand at the Clench booth for autographs and photos. "It was vital to have him there," Thomas says.

The Clench/Baby Bash partnership is akin to a joint marketing campaign. Thomas notes. Amid record labels' financial difficulties, a company like Clench purchases ads in magazines like The Source and XXL.

To that end, Baby Bash is promoting Clench, while Clench is promoting Baby Bash and Universal.

Launched in 1996, Clench is under the direction of Tony Jones Apparel. Its clothes are sold at various retailers, including Dr. Jays and Against All Odds. The brand will soon launch a new junior's line called Clench Kiss RTB also made its presence known at MAGIC, where it unveiled its Rap Throwback jerseys. The jerseys are divided into two categories: True School (Doug E. Fresh, Stetsasonic, Sweet Tee and others) and the Classics (Kurtis Blow, Cold Crush Brothers, Soul Sonic Force and others).

Future categories will include Commemorative (Tupac Shakur, the Notorious B.I.G. and Lisa "Left Eye" Lopes) and the Cutmasters (Afrika Bambaataa, Kool DJ Red Alert and A.J. Scratch).

Sold at Macy's and other retailers, the jerseys retail for $100-$150. At MAGIC, several acts, including Kool Moe Dee, Dana Dane and Cold Crush Brothers, stopped by the booth to help promote the new line.

Bonds says RTB is paying the respective artists a royalty percentage based on each jersey sold. "We have to give back in this way," he says. "These are the artists that helped open the doors for the worlds of music and fashion to meet '

Looking ahead, Bonds says RTB is preparing two new collections: Sophisticated Hip-Hop (blazers, buttondowns) and the Remix (denim mixed with leathers and suedes).

Knowles

"The key to this is having great music and finding great producers without spending $30,000 to $50,000 a song. This is a new era in music that is going to apply to every artist: keeping costs down.'

Knowles also plans to sign classic soul acts to his urban label through Sanctuary (Billboard, Oct. 11, 2003). He has already had "initial discussions" with '80s R&B hitmakers the Whispers. Knowles says his wish list includes Chaka Khan, De La Soul and Maze featuring Frankie Beverly.

Knowles' game plan to maximize opportunities with these acts includes touring, merchandising and film and TV projects. In fact, the O'Jays' upcoming summer tour with the Whispers, the Temptations and the Four Tops—billed as the World's Greatest Singing Groups—will be the setup for the new O'Jays album.

"His slant on how to promote, stay busy and visible is the right approach to acts of our age and caliber," O'Jays co-founder Walter Williams says.

"We're still hungry," co-founder Eddie Levert adds. "There's something great we have yet to do."

Named after Cleveland DJ Eddie O'Jay, the group formed in 1958 and later became synonymous with Philly soul after signing with producers Kenny Gamble and Leon Huff's Philadelphia International imprint. The O'Jays' legacy of enduring R&B/pop crossover hits includes "Back Stabbers," "Love Train," "For the Love of Money" and "Use Ta Be My Girl."

The group's previous studio album was "For the Love," released in 2001 by MCA. Knowles and the O'Javs first met when the group worked on the film "The Fighting Temptations" and its accompanying soundtrack. The 2003 movie starred Cuba Gooding Jr. and Knowles' daughter Bevoncé.

Since the signing makes the O'Jays and Destiny's Child labelmates, Knowles says he is looking at the possibility of including a duet with the two groups on the O'Jays new album.

Who Says 'When'?

Managers Split Over Album-Length Decisions

When it comes to deciding the length of an album-or a song, for that matter—many managers think it should be the artist's call.

But surprisingly, the view is less than unanimous. Here's a sampling of comments.

If his artists were ever asked to reduce the number of tracks on an album, "we would deal with it at the time and on its own merit," says Martin Kirkup, who manages k.d. lang and the B-52's.

Jon Leshay, manager of Mandy Moore and Switchfoot, concurs, adding that the decision should be a "collaborative effort between the A&R person and the artist."

"If you have an artist who has a signature sound, I think you can keep it to 10 or 11 tracks. But if you have an artist that is [musically] all over the place, maybe they're justified in having more cuts," he says.

Lee Cadena, who manages Teena Marie, says he would rather have an album with 10 solid tracks than 23 mediocre ones.

Brian McKnight's manager Silas White agrees. "I say it all the time: 'Take yourself out of it, and be a fan again," he says. "Say you have 17 songs on a disc-ask fans if they remember tracks 15, 16 and 17."

But artist manager Terry Blamey wonders why anyone would wish to interfere in this fashion.

Blamey, who oversees the career of Kylie Minogue, says the number of tracks on an album is a matter for artists only, as is the length of songs.

However, the band 50 Foot Wave is wholly embracing fewer tracks on

The act will release its self-titled debut March 23 on its own Throwing Music imprint as a six-song set, the first in a series of mini-albums.

The band's label plans to issue a new mini-album every nine months instead of the standard two-year cycle, manager Billy O'Connell says.

The reason for this "new format" was twofold: The shorter running time is easier to digest, and it is more affordable, he explains.

The disc is available at the label's Web site (throwingmusic.com) for $7: a "six-pack" offering is priced at $24. The label is finalizing a distribution deal with an independent company, O'Connell says.

With digital downloads, we live in an à la carte society," O'Connell notes. "Less can be more."

that doesn't cost us more money. So, something's got to give," he says.

BEARING A BURDEN

Artists, for the most part, are trying to help save money, "but it just seems like there are more restrictions in general," says Keith Stegall, a producer/ songwriter who works with country artist Alan Jackson.

"It sure does put the handcuffs on the artistic process," says Stegall, who was formerly VP of creative at Mercury Nashville. He points to country labels, which he says are increasingly doing singles deals.

Nowhere is the squeeze on artists more evident than when it comes time to renegotiate contracts.

Talk does not come cheap.

"On renegotiations, we're just plain saying 'no,' " one label attorney says. "Lawyers are assuming if [their artist] sold 2 million last time they can get $2 million more, and that's not happening.'

Record companies are indeed putting their foot down and taking a tougher stand. But artists' lawyers are being much tougher, too. And, they are also being realistic.

"The money is smaller now when you renegotiate," artist attorney Danny Hayes says. "Certainly, it could be 30% to 50% less than it used to be. If you were expecting $10 million in a renegotiation, now you'll get $5 million to $7 million."

With this decreased amount, labels also want to know what else the artist can give in return. In addition to the album, the label wants part of the touring and merchandising pie, Hayes says.

But, Hayes adds, few labels appear to be winning so far on that score.

"It's not a norm, but it does come up. 'It doesn't mean I'm willing to accept it, Mr. Label,' but I'm not stunned anymore. And my response might not be so indignant," he says.

Hayes adds that some labels are also changing the percentage that is recoupable.

For example, if an artist expects a certain budget to shoot videos, at some point over that dollar amount the cost is charged back to the artist in full instead of the standard 50% recoupable rate.

NEW EMPHASIS

Industry observers agree that today, more than ever, the bottom line takes precedence over the creative process.

Last year, for example, Sony Music unofficially began nudging artists to make shorter albums, suggesting a limit of 10 or so songs would be a good idea.

Sony Music U.S. president Don Ienner could not be reached for comment.

Although there is no official policy, according to one manager of a newly signed Sony act, there is a definite new emphasis on shorter albums.

"We wanted to have a 12th song added to the album," the manager recalls. "But the A&R executive said, helped ensure that radio quotas remained in the draft. But these quotas will be capped at the 25% mark that currently applies to most radio formats.

Some genres, including classical and jazz, would retain their lower quotas of 15% because sufficient suitable product is not available from local acts.

The 25% limit has been greeted with dismay by those industry executives who had been pushing for quotas to eventually rise to 50%, as in certain other international territories. The draft agreement also contains no provisions for quotas for pay-TV or the Internet.

Some industry observers have complained that Australian negotiators should have stuck to their original plan of excluding all cultural aspects from the I*TA restrictions. They suggest that concessions to the United States could then have been limited and specific.

"There are no real benefits from this agreement," says Richard Letts, executive director of the Music Council of Australia.

The MCA is a 50-member, self-styled "informational and advocacy body" for Australian music. Its members are representatives of the country's major music organizations, academics and musicians, and it is the official Australian representative to the UNESCO International Music Council in Paris.

"The basic problem is that Australian music isn't getting into the U.S. in large numbers because of protection rules," Letts says. "The U.S. market is huge, self-contained and currently inward-looking. Previously, the Australian government was unfettered in what it wanted to do to help the [domestic] music industry. That's no longer the case." Letts complains that the FTA draft contains "no compensating concessions from the U.S."

One of the draft FTA requirements that has been greeted with approval, however, is the extension of the term of copyright for songwriters and composers from 50 years after the composer's death to 70 years.

"The longer term increases the value of Australian catalogs," APRA CEO Brett Cottle says. "It's an emotional issue for composers. They considered themselves treated as second class because they had less protection than their American or British colleagues."

The draft FTA, which was published Feb. 9, has to be debated by the Australian parliament. No timeline has been set for this. The Australian Labour party—the country's main opposition party—has said it may challenge certain FTA clauses in parliament, which in turn may offer lobbying opportunities to music industry sectors.

If the Australian government is to meet its obligations under the agreement, a number of changes will have to be made in existing legislation.

Among those would be the introduction of stricter penalties for pirates and for the manufacturers, distributors and retailers of devices that circumvent copyright protection technology.

Another requirement would see Internet service providers being held more liable for copyright infringement by users of their systems.

However, ISPs are expected to lobby against such legislation. Electronic Frontier Australia, a nonprofit organization that represents Internet users on online rights issues, has already issued a public warning that such a change to the law would lead to Australian citizens facing legal action from multinational media companies.

Meanwhile, not everyone on the U.S. side is elated about the FTA with Australia, either. U.S. trade officials, citing World Trade Organization rules for "national treatment," say they are upset that Australia is not going to offer radio performance royalties to U.S. record companies and artists.

In Australia, performance royalties are collected for labels and artists from radio stations. But since there is no provision for such payments in the United States, Australia has carved out an exclusion of broadcast performance royalties from the FTA.

good start in confronting their cost structures, panelists said. However, they argued that the changes could go further.

Santisi said she expects more nonessential functions to be outsourced, just as WMG did with manufacturing and fulfillment.

Gold agreed that anything not valueadded will be targeted. Companies are going to move to transform their fixed costs into variable costs, he said. "Nobody cares who picks, packs and ships [the product]. We have figured out that we don't need to own that," he said.

Panelists said that the industry could further improve its profit model by overhauling marketing costs.

MTV and radio used to be the gatekeepers, Gold noted. Today, labels have direct access to consumers through the Internet.

Frankenheimer said that direct marketing is already having an impact in niche strategies, citing the growth of the Bonnaroo festival. He noted that the success of the event is a product of Web marketing and word-of-mouth, not conventional marketing and advertising.

The appeal of technology is also on the rise, as more consumers begin paying for digital music rather than stealing it.

"The music market is viewing technology once again as its friend," said Jeffrey Sine, global head of technology, media and telecommunications at investment banking firm UBS Warburg.

However, just who will own the tech space and who will reap the financial benefits of it remain contentious issues.

"This is a fight for space in a narrow corridor," EMI Music Publishing CEO Marty Bandier told attendees in a roundtable discussion.

The Billboard Buzz chart is a gauge of artist popularity through an Internet poll of music fans. Scores are affected by every aspect of an artist's career. Marketing, airplay, retail, print media, touring, TV appearances and rumor all have an impact on the chart's performance. Data is collected with the same strict attention to detail as all other PromoSquad research. A list of 250 artists is compiled based on airplay and sales. The artists are rated by thousands of carefully screened music fans. Results are compiled weekly and monthly. The top 25 chart is based on a weighted positive calculation that takes into account each artist's popularity and buzz among the entire music-listening population. PromoSquad also maintains detailed format-specific charts (e.g., mainstream top 40, R&B/hip-hop, country, etc.). For more information, contact buzz@promosquad.com.

Standing Ground

BY BOB SMITH

After two months of heavy chart action, this month's Buzz finds a number of artists holding tight to the positions they picked up from previous months' momentum.

On the 13-29 and 13-50 charts, the top 10 positions are primarily held by the same artists as in August. The only exceptions are Alicia Keys and Blink-182, each taking a minor jump across the top 10 threshold on the 13-50 chart.

Usher shows no signs of loosening his five-month grip on the top spot of the 13-29 chart. And Maroon5 has regained its claim to No. 1 on the 13-50 chart after being knocked down to No. 2 last month by No Doubt, which was enjoying some award show buzz as well as attention for the forthcoming release of lead singer Gwen Stefani's solo debut. Fortunately for Stefani, No Doubt is still in the top five on both charts.

There is some interesting buzz below the surface on the charts. Beyoncé takes a big leap this month. So far, the buildup to the release of Destiny's Child's new album seems to have helped the buzz on the group's biggest star more than that of the act as a whole. The trio showed up briefly last month on the 13-29 chart but is nowhere to be found now.

Jay-Z gains serious ground on the 13-29 chart, shifting more than 30 spots. It is interesting to note that despite his latest album release and aborted tour with R. Kelly, it is Jay-Z that is basking in the Buzz. The chart does not yet show a significant enough boost in buzz for Kelly to push him into the top 25.

Nickelback and Bon Jovi have had an on-again/off-again relationship with the 13-50 chart. This month finds them both onagain. Nickelback is likely "Feelin' Way Too Damn Good" about that. As mentioned here previously, Jon Bon Jovi has kept in the public eye stumping for Sen. John Kerry's presidential campaign. The election may be behind us, but the upcoming release of a Bon Jovi boxed set can keep the Buzz going on the band.

Finally, pop/punk rockers Yellowcard and Simple Plan debut this month on both charts. Each band has a hit single, a tour and a full release: an album for Simple Plan and a DVD for Yellowcard. That's a great recipe for Buzz boost.

The Billboard Buzz chart is a gauge of artist popularity through an Internet poll of music fans. Scores are affected by every aspect of an artist's career. Marketing, airplay, retail, print media, touring, TV appearances and rumor all have an impact on the chart's performance. Data is collected with the same strict attention to detail as all other PromoSquad research. A list of 250 artists is compiled based on airplay and sales. The artists are rated by thousands of carefully screened music fans. Results are compiled weekly and monthly. The top 25 chart is based on a weighted positive calculation that takes into account each artist's popularity and buzz among the entire music listening population. PromoSquad also maintains detailed format-specific charts (e.g., mainstream top 40, R&B/hip-hop, country, etc.). For more information, contact buzz@promosquad.com

Eminem Tops Buzz

The king has been dethroned. For six months Usher has held the top position on the 13-29 Buzz chart. This month, thanks to a new album, Eminem jumps six spots to claim No. 1. But Usher is not far behind. He holds the second position on the chart on the strength of his record sales, awards and radio domination.

During the past two months, a number of artists have gradually climbed the 13-29 and 13-50 charts as the marketing plans for fourth-quarter releases kicked in. Now that the records are out, a few of those artists who were threatening big Buzz boosts have made the leap.

Gwen Stefani debuts on both charts. The strong performance of her band No Doubt during the past few months was a good indication that the newly solo artist was soon to make an appearance.

In the case of Destiny's Child, the trend has been the other way around, with Buzz chart mainstav Bevoncé welcoming back the rest of the trio. The group had previously made only a brief appearance on the chart. TV appearances, magazine articles and radio

Not everyone with a new album has cracked the top 25 on the Buzz charts. Two noticeable absentees are Britney Spears and U2.

The Buzz charts measure mass appeal across formats and demographics. The absence of big names like Spears and U2 could indicate that these acts are missing a group or groups of potential fans.

Other acts like Linkin Park and Christina Aguilera maintain their Buzz status regardless of any specific conditions. Apparently whatever they're doing is clicking with a broader audience. And that certainly goes for Maroon5, which has held the top position on the 13-50 chart for nearly as long as Usher topped the younger chart.

One interesting situation on the Buzz chart this time is the Nelly/Tim McGraw split. The two have a multiformat collaborative hit with "Over and Over." The airplay is helping Nelly with younger fans, as he scores on the 13-29 chart. McGraw debuts on the older-leaning 13-50 list. It seems that each artist is having an effect on his own base, but not the other's.

36th NAACP Image Awards

Only a few weeks remain to submit projects and performers for the 36th NAACP Image Awards.

Submissions must be received at the Image Awards Office by 5:00 PM on Friday, December 3, 2004.

For information and entry forms, call 323.935.8208.

The NAACP Image Award is given in recognition of artistic achievement by people of color in motion pictures, television, literature, and recording.

To be considered for nomination, a project must have been nationally broadcast or distributed in the United States between January 1 and December 31, 2004.

Beyond the celebratory quinceañera name, the 15th annual Billboard Latin Music Conference & Awards, presented by Heineken and in association with Garnier Fructis, was a landmark event on many levels. The confab, which took place at Eden Roc Resort in Miami Beach, expanded to four days: April 26-29. The event culminated with the Billboard Latin Music Awards, which for the first time in its televised history aired live on its home network Telemundo.

There were more than 30 conference sponsors this year—a record

There were more than 30 conference sponsors this year—a record for the event. Univision Radio, Polaroid, CMX Latin Music Group and American Express were among the sponsors. A Diamond Is Forever provided more than $5 million worth of jewelry for celebrities to wear to the awards show.

At the conference, professionals gathered for discussion panels and parties, including artists (Q&A subject Paulina Rubio was a conference highlight), label executives, film directors, record producers, bankers and entrepreneurs. Coverage from national and international media confirmed that the event is the definitive get-together for the Latin music industry. (Photos: Arnold Turner except where noted)

EMI Latin artist and multiple finalist Obie Bermúdez performed at the Billboard Bash and the ASCAP showcase.

Cheers For Valdés & El Cigala's 'Tears'

BY HOWELL LLEWELLYN

Just what is it about the album "Lágrimas Negras" that has captured music fans in Europe and South America?

U.K. and North American consumers can find out for themselves next month, when the album appears on their shores.

"Lágrimas Negras" ("Black Tears") features 85-year-old Grammy Awardwinning Cuban pianist Bebo Valdés and 35-year-old flamenco singer Diego El Cigala playing traditional Cuban boleros and Spanish coplas.

The album was recorded for the Calle 54 label, which is co-owned by Academy Award-winning Spanish director Fernando Trueba and Miami-based musicologist Nat Chediak. Both produced the album.

The BMG-distributed set sold more than 250,000 copies in Spain (Billboard, Feb. 7) and spent nearly 50 weeks in the country's top 20 sales list.

It also won a number of Spanish music awards in Latin, flamenco and jazz categories.

"Lágrimas Negras" was a hit in several other markets where BMG released it this spring. These include Argentina, Mexico and France.

BMG will handle the U.K. and Canadian releases as well. BMG imprint RCA's custom Bluebird label will carry "Lágrimas Negras" in the States.

The set bows June 6 in the United Kingdom and June 22 in North America.

"U.S./Canadian promotion will be on the same 'little-to-more' progression that it was in Spain, where the thing grew bigger than anyone dared hope," BMG Spain international exploitation manager Fran Arbulu says.

"Promo will be aimed at the mainly Latin target audience of urban, cultured music lovers," he continues.

"Nobody says this is another 'Buena Vista Social Club' [the multimillionselling 1997 album of traditional Cuban music], but it's getting a good buzz from U.S. jazz and Latin critics."

BMG U.S. Latin will help support the CD's promotion, reports Maarten Steinkamp, president of BMG International.

"This is a project you have to build and love," he says, noting that the album is "building very nicely" in Argentina and Mexico. "It will probably take some 18 months to really bring home, and that doesn't matter."

Valdés and El Cigala will play "Lágrimas Negras" material June 20 at London's Barbican Theater. Valdés' son, pianist Chucho Valdés, will make a rare concert appearance with his father. Bebo has lived in Sweden for 44 years, and Chucho lives in Cuba.

El Cigala pays a promotional visit to the States July 10-15. He and Bebo will play concerts in New York, Miami and Los Angeles, beginning in late August.

Those concerts will be fans' only chance to see Bebo and El Cigala play together in the States. Bebo is content to pass his "Lágrimas Negras" role to his son, who himself has won four Grammy Awards.

"I can't travel so much anymore, and I'm immensely proud to hand over the reins to Chucho," Bebo says. "We played together for the first time in 40 years in New York in 2000 for [Trueba's Latin-jazz documentary] 'Calle 54,' and we'll seal that link playing 'Lágrimas Negras' in London."

Chucho will perform a concert of "Lágrimas Negras" material May 28 at the Cubadisco music trade fair in Havana. Bebo refuses to visit Cuba because of skirmishes he had in 1960 with the revolutionary government.

Chucho next will join El Cigala on a summer tour of Latin America to present "Lágrimas Negras." They will begin May 30 with three nights in Mexico City. Other stops include Argentina, Chile, Ecuador and Colombia.

But it is in the "multicultural melting pot" of the States, Arbulu says, that an album like "Lágrimas Negras" makes most sense.

"The U.S. public is going to wonder, 'What is this? Latin? Jazz? Flamenco?' "El Cigala says. "Well, it's a world-music blend with all three. The important thing is the flamenco expression 'llevar buen palo'—to play it pure, damn good and clean."

Music-Oriented Reality Shows On The Rise

The music industry might be in a crisis, but you wouldn't know it from the amount of new, music-oriented programming announced by the various TV networks last week.

Among the new programs is "Nuevas Voces de América," a reality show produced by Emilio Estefan. "Nuevas Voces," which is slated to air in 2005, is produced by Estefan's independent company, Crescent Moon Film and Television.

A mix of "American Idol" and "Operación Triunfo," the show will track 10 contestants as they evolve from wannabe singers into recording artists.

"People have questions about how an album is recorded," Estefan says. "'How do you make an image change? How is a song selected and recorded? How do budgets work? How are producers selected?'"

The show will touch on all those aspects, he says, in an effort to highlight the development of talent at all stages. Latin designers, for example, will dress the contestants.

At first glance, "Nuevas Voces" appears reminiscent of "Protagonistas de la Música," the Telemundo reality show that aired in 2002 and 2003. The program's winners received short-lived recording contracts with Sony.

But "Nuevas Voces" takes things a step further by inserting a major performance element.

For 11 consecutive weeks, finalists will perform at a concert televised live from a Miami theater. TV viewers will be able to vote online for their favorites. The winner will receive a $200,000 recording contract with Sony Norte.

Although the show will air in 2005, Estefan plans to hold auditions before the end of this year to select the 10 finalists.

The show will feature two permanent judges and one new judge every week.

Estefan will also produce a countdown show for Telemundo as well as concert special "Tributo a Nuestros Heroes." The special will pay tribute to American and Latin troops serving in the U.S. Army and will be shot this summer at an army base. The countdown program will feature pop and regional Mexican music

Other Estefan productions in the works include a Hispanic heritage special for NBC and a Christmas special for Univision.

"Latin TV is living a very important moment right now," says Estefan, who is also a prominent music producer. "I believe strongly in cross-promotion."

Parallel to "Nuevas Voces," Telemundo sister network Mun2 is presenting its own music-themed reality show. "La Familia Perfect" will chronicle the lives of six aspiring artists as they forgo the comforts of home to pursue the erratic lifestyle of an entertainer. The show will feature appearances by Latin $reggaet\acute{on}$, pop, hip-hop and bachata acts.

SHAKIRA SHIFTS MANAGEMENT:

Colombian pop singer Shakira has signed a management deal with Ceci Kurzman. Kurzman formerly was VP of worldwide marketing at Epic Records. Shakira was previously handled by Freddy De Mann. The singer is working on her upcoming English-language album, due out later this year on Epic. Shakira's Spanish-language albums are released through Sony Norte.

WHO'S KINKY?: What's in a name? When it's Kinky, plenty. Reps for the Mexican rock/electronica quartet are trying to reach an agreement in a lawsuit over ownership of the name in Mexico (billboard.biz, May 17).

In the suit filed in April in Mexico, Marco Antonio Rodriguez Otero claims he registered the "Kinky" name in Mexico before the band did. He accuses the group of "falsifying a brand." Kinky's U.S. management declined to comment but did say the band has registered its name in the United States.

ESTEFAN: TAKES TO THE AIR

Kinky's members are Carlos Chairez, Omar Góngora, Ulises Lozano and César Pliego. The group is signed to British label Sonic360. Its U.S. label, Nettwerk Records, had no comment on the case.

Jennifer Peña Polishes Her Pop Appeal

BY LEILA COBO

Following the success of her pop breakthrough album, "Libre," Texasborn Jennifer Peña is preparing to expand her mainstream appeal.

New album "Seducción," due May 18 on Univision Records, is more pop-oriented than its predecessor.

It signals Peña's desire to entrench herself in that market even as she preserves her grupero Tejano fan base.

A marketing campaign with Doritos aims to widen her visibility (see related story, page 6). The campaign, which also launches May 18, will put the artist's face on nearly 20 million Doritos Salsa bags through the end of

The campaign includes a retail program with Target. Customers who purchase Peña's CD will receive a free bag of Doritos.

Because we had Jennifer's release coming up, the timing was perfect to implement the program and give Jennifer her appropriate position as a star," says Zulma Jiménez, national marketing director for Universal Music & Video Distribution Latin.

UMVD struck the deal with Doritos on behalf of 27 artists from its distributed labels (see story, page 5).

In Pena's case, Jiménez says, her transition from child star to adult artist made her the perfect candidate for the campaign.

"I've seen her evolution, and she's already at a place like Selena was. She's at that mature stage in her career," Jiménez says.

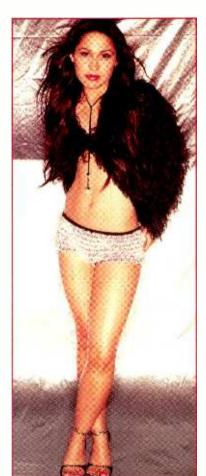

At one point, people saw Peña as the "new" Selena. She first caught the public's attention while performing at a Selena tribute in 1995 and, like Selena, she was known for singing cumbia norteña.

'In the beginning, I kind of didn't have a name," Peña recalls. People would say, "'Mira, the next Selena.' And I [said], 'This is me. I'm not Selena. We have similarities, but we're different.'

Today, Peña says, the comparisons have stopped. "People are definitely supporting me for my music and my talent.'

Indeed, Peña, 20, built a loyal following among Mexican-American teens and preteens through a succession of albums. But she's looking to move beyond her Tejano and regional Mexican fan base.

That process began with 2002's "Libre," her first album on Univision Records, which included several pop tracks. Among those, "El Dolor de Tu Presencia" topped the Billboard Hot Latin Tracks chart for eight weeks.

"Libre" would go on to sell more than 130,000 copies in the United States, according to Nielsen Sound-Scan. It also garnered a 2003 Grammy Award nomination for best Mexican/ Mexican American album.

"Seducción" pushes the artist's pop appeal even further.

"I wanted to be more involved in the pop part of it," Peña said during a phone interview while on a promotional trip in Puerto Rico. "We did a good job of mixing it up."

"Seducción" includes several cumbias, as well as norteña versions of two of its pop tracks. But its overriding feel is that of a pop album, down to the sleek production of Rudy Perez and Kike Santander.

IN THE EYES OF FANS

A CD/DVD version of the album includes three videos, a "making of" segment and photos.

We felt that the time was right to offer her visually to the fans," says Lupe De La Cruz, senior VP of national marketing for Univision Music Group, "And it helps us fight piracy."

Peña, De La Cruz adds, is a Univision priority. A national TV campaign on the Univision, Telefutura and Galavision networks will back her project.

The first single, "Vivo Y Muero en Tu Piel," is No. 13 on the Billboard Hot Latin Tracks chart after four weeks. The song is getting airplay from regional, pop and tropical formats.

"Jennifer is a natural talent. We've seen her expand her fan base from the Southwest to a national level," De La Cruz says. Although regional Mexican is the strongest-selling genre of Latin music in the United States, De La Cruz says Peña is "an artist who can do both [regional and pop]. And she does it every weekend.'

De La Cruz is referring to Peña's touring schedule. According to Armando Luna of Apodaca Promotions, which books her tours, the singer plays approximately 130 shows per year in the United States and Mexico.

Peña savs that such a schedule allows her to maintain two distinct fan bases.

"Of course, there's the pressure of having two markets to please," she says. "But at the same time, my people make it very easy for me. I just do my best in any way that I can, and I guess they see that and they appreciate it. For every gig I kind of read the people, see what versions we're going to do and hope for the best. It's always the people who finally decide."

Digital Service Offers More Latin Music Choices

Digital music programmer Music Choice will debut two Latin music channels July 7.

The addition of Música Urbana and Pop Latino brings the service's Latin channel offerings to seven. Music Choice is carried on cable and satellite TV networks and reaches an estimated and regional Mexican music), Tejano, Salsa & Merengue, Rock en Español and Latin Love Songs, which is essentially adult contemporary and pop.

"We like our channel names to be very specific," says Regla González, Music Choice associate manager of programming for Latin.

Latin music has been part of the service since its start, and the number of channel choices has gradually expanded.

Música Urbana will feature all forms of urban music, from urban regional to reggaetón, rap and reggae from Argentina.

Likewise, Pop Latino will solely be a pop station.

For those unfamiliar with Music

Choice, its programming is available through digital cable or a satellite service like DirecTV. As the music plays, the screen displays artist information and album covers.

González oversees programming for all Latin channels, which are available 24/7. Programming is updated every Wednesday.

Normally, González says, a single channel will play approximately 20 songs per hour. Each channel has between 600 and 700 songs in rotation at any time.

'We're not as repetitious as radio, because we have such a big library, and we want to play all the songs," she says. "We certainly play the hits, and we play them a little more often. But it's not like radio, where [it will] play a song every hour. And unlike radio, we do play the B-sides."

Latin labels, she adds, have been increasingly receptive to Music Choice's service.

"They're beginning to understand that we have a bigger reach as opposed to radio," González says.

Music Choice is also adding Latin performers to its concert lineup. The concerts air on different channels for each local cable company. The first Latin show to air on the service will be a Robi Rosa concert taped in Los Angeles. It airs nationwide June 14-17.

SHE TALKS, SHE SINGS: A talkative Thalía performed in Miami while on her High Voltage tour. The singer's chitchat proved to be an asset for the Mexican diva, who came across as accessible to fans, many of them teens and younger.

Thalía, whose name wasn't listed in the program guide for the Billboard Latin Music Conference & Awards, was a four-time finalist in this year's awards.

Nods included "Me Pones Sexy," her duet with Fat Joe, which was up for Hot Latin track of the year, vocal duet. And her popularity in clubs was underscored by two nods in the dance single of the year category: for Pablo Flores' remix of "I Want You" and for Boris & Beck's remix of "Baby, I'm in Love."

Thalía also was a finalist for Latin pop airplay track of the year, female for "A Quién le Importa?"also the encore song of her tour.

MENUDO MANIA: The William Morris Agency will represent Menudo Entertainment in its massive talent search for new members of boy band Menudo.

Earlier this year, Menudo Entertainment announced plans to launch a series of open calls in the United States, Puerto Rico and Latin America this summer to put together the next incarnation of Latin pop's most successful boy band (Billboard, March 27).

WMA will oversee development of a TV show that will track the Menudo search. It will also handle merchandising, licensing and endorsement opportunities. Once the group forms, WMA will handle booking and label negotiations.

Last month, Menudo Entertainment secured the rights to the Menudo name from record executive Oscar Llord, founder of Ole Music.

Ole Music is slated to release the new Menudo album. The label is also releasing an album in June by Tic Tac, a newly formed band that original Menudo creator Edgardo Diaz put together.

Much like the new Menudo, Tic Tac will target the preteen set. The quartet comprises four Puerto Rican boys between the ages of 11 and 13.

Where Have All The Divas Gone?

BY MICHAEL PAOLETTA

It's 2004. Do you know where today's crossover dance divas are?

Since the mid-'90s, female dance artists—not to be confused with female "electronic" artists or those featured on a track—have experienced difficulty in crossing over their rhythmic sounds from dancefloors to the more lucrative mainstream.

Despite success on the Billboard Hot Dance Club Play chart, Becky Baeling, Kristine W., Suzanne Palmer, Dolce, Tina Ann, Reina, Ultra Naté and others have failed to find an audience outside of clubland.

Industry observers cite many reasons for this, including inferior product, a lack of interest at radio, no commitment from labels and a credibility problem.

"Young people are not exposed to dance music artists the way they once were," WQSX Boston PD Jerry McKenna says. "DJs, producers and [non-vocal] tracks have replaced singers in clubs.'

But, McKenna is quick to add, "there is a passion for this music."

But passion alone does not necessarily translate into success.

Historically, dancefloors have been a breeding ground for mainstreamprimed female artists. Indeed, the female voice has been the centerpiece of club culture.

Over the years, a wide range of female artists have successfully made the transition from the dance underground to mass acceptance. They include Donna Summer, Gloria Gaynor, Madonna, Lisa Lisa, India, CeCe Peniston, Robin S., Crystal Waters and Amber.

"But years ago, dance music was coming from the streets," McKenna notes. "That has changed. Today, hiphop is the music of the street. There is no longer a street-level buzz for dance music."

Of course, this makes it that much more difficult to get dance music heard beyond the dancefloor.

"I run across radio programmers all the time who are very apologetic for not playing this kind of music," Tommy Boy artist Kristine W. says. "They say it's a difficult sound for radio and that it doesn't research well."

Since the mid-'90s, Kristine W. has experienced much success on the Billboard Hot Dance Club Play chart. where all eight of her singles have reached No. 1. But this has never translated into healthy mainstream radio play or sales.

On the album front, Kristine W.'s "Fly Again" (2003), "Stronger" (2000) and "Land of the Living" (1996) have sold, respectively, 10,000, 30,000 and 61,000 units, according to Nielsen SoundScan.

One of her chart-topping singles, "One More Try," has sold 92,000 copies.

In comparison, Peniston's 1991 album, "Finally," has sold 554,000 copies; Robin S.' 1993 album, "Show Me Love," has sold 303,000 copies: Waters' 1994 album, "Storyteller," has sold 284,000 copies; and Amber's 1997 album, "This Is Your Night," has sold 69,000 copies.

These artists have had hits at dance and pop radio.

"Overall, there is a complete lack of respect for not just female dance artists but most dance artists," says Kai Fikentscher, a professor of ethnomusicology at Ramapo College of New Jersey and the author of "You Better Work!—Underground Dance Music in New York City" (Wesleyan University Press).

Faced with this, he wonders, "What young girl today would feel motivated to want to follow in such footsteps when the Britneys and Christinas are making the real money?"

A recent crossover success has happened in reverse. Deborah Cox launched her career as an R&B singer but received more attention on the club scene-thanks to remixes.

"Dance music is still considered a fringe genre by the music industry," says Cox, formerly on J Records and now without a label. She is currently starring in "Aida" on Broadway.

"There is a real credibility factor associated with dance music," she adds. "And this is so sad, because there are so many female singers in the club world who can blow. They can sing."

A new song by Cox—"Easy as Life" from "Aida"—is available, for free, at disneyonbroadway.com/deborahcox.

Tony Moran and Warren Rigg produced the track, which features additional lyrics by Tim Rice. Hosh Gureli, VP of A&R at J Records/RCA Music Group, handled A&R direction for the song.

On May 18, BMG Heritage will issue "Ultimate Deborah Cox," which features the artist's R&B and club hits.

"It comes down to quality," Gureli says. "Music has changed, and a lot of these female singers have not changed their style."

Producers of dance music also have to change with the times, Gureli adds. "They need to experiment with new sounds and ideas, because the old ones are tired.

It's absolutely vital for artists and producers to experiment and change with the times, notes artist manager and music consultant Craig Roseberry of Shifty Entertainment.

"But, too often, dance music receives little if any marketing and promotion dollars from the labels," Roseberry explains, "Labels release all this product and just hope something sticks.

"It really is true: The more things change, the more they stay the same,' he adds. "Only this time, the authentic female dance artist is disappearing from the dancefloor."

Dance Summit In Place

The dates and venue are set. The 11th annual Billboard Dance Music Summit will be held Sept. 20-22 at the Union Square Ballroom in New York. As in previous years, the 2004 conference will bring together the major players of the international dance/electronic community.

Last year, as you will recall, the daily panels intertwined movers and shakers from various sectors of the entertainment industry.

They included recording artists BT, Angie Stone and D:Fuse; Armani Exchange's Patrick Doddy; Motorola's Rob Gelick: Global Underground's Chris Barbour; attorney Norman Siegel; Ultra Records' Patrick Moxey; Nasseri Music Business Solutions' Kurosh Nasseri; and "Queer as Folk" music supervisor Michael Perlmutter.

Nightly parties showcased Dannii Minogue, Dub Pistols, Masters at Work's Louie Vega and others.

Expect the 2004 summit to be equally info-packed and star-studded. For updates, visit billboardevents

.com or contact Michele Jacangelo at 646-654-4660.

THE ART OF SEDUCTION: AVH Entertainment, owned by April Harris of Seduction, has entered into a P&D deal with Waako Records. The agreement is for the new Seduction album (Beat Box, Billboard, Dec. 6, 2003).

Tentatively titled "Adult & Sexy," the album is pure dance—with a couple of pop ballads tossed into the mix, Harris says.

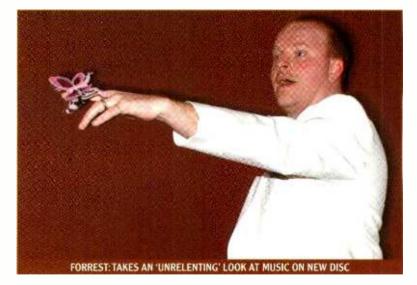

The album will come out this summer. First single "Feel Brand New" precedes it and features remixes by Junior Vasquez.

Waako has distribution deals with Sony, RED and ZYX.

NAME THAT TUNE: German label Sonig has released "The Unrelenting Songs of the 1979 Post Disco Crash' by Jason Forrest. Distributed by Revolver in the United States, the set is steeped in one retro revelation after another, encompassing prog rock, disco and new wave.

One moment, we're hearing a Love and Kisses sample. A few minutes later, we're being treated to a Talking Heads soundbite followed by Elton John on the ivories. Twisted good fun, indeed.

Whether it's 100% legal is another story. Forrest may very well follow in the footsteps of Danger Mouse, who, earlier this year, created much controversy with "The Grev Album." The critically acclaimed set (illegally) intertwined elements of Jay-Z's "The Black Album" and the Beatles' "The Beatles (White Album).'

MIAMI MEMORIES: London-based Azuli Records has issued the 2004 installment in its Azuli Presents Miami series.

Mixed by label owner David Piccioni, "Miami 2004" spotlights some of the best underground tracks heard in Miami during the Winter Music Conference.

In a smart move, Piccioni traverses vocal house, funky electro and progressive dubs.

The two-disc collection begins with Joey Negro's rerub of Martin Solveig's "Rocking Music," a track that was inescapable in Miami. Also invigorating are DJ Chus

& David Penn Featuring Concha Buika's "Will I (Discover Love)," Dave Armstrong's Pointer Sisters-shaded "Make Your Move (Dare Me)" and Scissor Sisters' remix of Bucci Bag's "More Lemonade."

FYI: That too-cool remix (by DJ Touché) of Glenn Miller's "Pennsylvania 6-5000" appears on Bluebird/RCA Victor Group's Miller set "The Centennial Collection."

AOL Música Gives 'Push' To New Artists

BY LEILA COBO

MIAMI-AOL Música, the Latin music channel of AOL Latino, continues to expand its programming with the Feb. 6 launch of a new franchise, "AOL Impulsa."

"Impulsa" (Push) will follow the development of a new act or artist before an album or even a single is released.

The chosen act for the program's launch is Natasha, a 15-year-old bilingual singer/songwriter signed last year to EMI Latin. The Miamibased artist plays rock-laced pop.

"She is the voice of her generation: a 15-year-old with the desire to express her perspective on life through her music," EMI Music U.S. Latin president/CEO Jorge A. Pino says. He adds that Natasha is the ideal artist to target a youthoriented market.

"Impulsa" is loosely modeled after "AOL Breakers," an existing franchise on AOL Music that provides a first look at a video or single by a brand-new act. The program has helped break such artists as Michelle Branch and Avril Lavigne.

But "Impulsa" will go further. "Instead of just featuring a video or a single, we really focus on this music director Richard Bull says.

The first step, on Feb. 6, will allow prospective fans to listen to new artist, and the fan can focus on the process of launching a first record, step by step," AOL Latin

"very rough demos" of potential songs on Natasha's album. Listeners can give their opinion on the songs by voting online.

In the weeks after that, AOL subscribers will be able to hear more polished versions of the tracks and have access to photos, journal entries and video treatments. They will also have a say on the selection of cover art for the first single.

'What's cool about AOL Impulsa is that it serves as a visual platform through which the audience can experience the entire creative process behind the making of an album."

Perhaps most important, Natasha will record for Sesiones@AOL, a live acoustic performance usually reserved for marquee acts. There are plans to include the Sesiones tracks on Natasha's debut album.

The hope is that through the "Impulsa" process, which continues through July, Natasha will develop a solid fan base to support her album.

Perhaps as important, there are no marketing costs associated with the program, even though "Impulsa" requires the label to provide constant material on, and access to. Natasha.

The launch of "Impulsa" has been in the works since last year, when AOL Música itself debuted in the fall.

"When I went to the different labels and spoke to them about what AOL was about, I also spoke about something I'm very passionate about, which is breaking acts," Bull says.

Natasha was a good choice for "Impulsa" for logistical as well artistic reasons.

Bull had to find an act whose release would coincide with the launch of "Impulsa" and whose label would grant unparalleled access.

"I truly believe she's incredible, and she can make it," Bull says. He plans to feature two "Impulsa"backed artists per year.

Orchestral Score, Pop Soundtrack For 'Zapata'

"Zapata: El Sueño de un Héroe," the upcoming film by Alfonso Arau ("Like Water for Chocolate," "A Walk in the Clouds"), boasts a series of unusual musical circumstances for a Spanish-language film.

First and foremost, the film's title role—of Mexican hero Zapata—is played by ranchero/pop superstar Alejandro Fernández, in his first major film performance.

But in what may come as a surprise to many, Fernández does not have a musical role. In fact, he doesn't sing throughout the entire film. But he does perform the film's theme song, which plays over the end credits. Titled "Lucharé Por Tu Amor," it was penned by Ruy Folguera, who also scored the film in its entirety.

The soundtrack to "Zapata," however, is not the movie's score but a compilation of old and new tracks by a wide range of mostly Mexican acts, including Marco Antonio Solís, Celso Piña, Natalia LaFourcade. Gloria Estefan, Jaime Camil, Juan Gabriel, Sin Bandera and Intocable.

The album, which is a joint venture between Sony Music Norte and Zapata Multimedia, is set to street the week prior to the film's release date. which has yet to be determined but will likely be within the next two months. "Lucharé" is projected to go to radio in the United States and Mexico, and Fernández will be on hand to promote the film and the soundtrack.

Folguera says the decision not to include pop songs in the movie itself had to do with the film's historic nature, which is more suited to the big, orchestral score he wrote.

Having pop songs in such a film, he says, is "a double-edged sword." "On the one hand, it's interesting, because of [sales of] the soundtrack," he explains. "But this is a movie that will still be seen 10 years from now, and contemporary songs can make it appear dated."

Folguera spent two months in Morelos during the filming of "Zapata" composing the music. He says Arau likes to have his composers present during the shooting so that they gain the right perspective and inspiration for the music. This is not the first time Folguera has done this. Several years ago, he spent months in California's Napa Valley with Arau, composing the music to "A Walk in the Clouds."

The songs on the album are inspired by the movie. The title track is the film's orchestral theme arranged in a pop version.

Straddling the classical and pop worlds wasn't difficult for Folguera, a graduate of the Berklee College of Music who has worked in both genres for a long time. As well as "Zapata" and "A Walk in the Clouds" Folguera scored "Rush Hour" and "Rush Hour 2."

Folguera is also producing an album for a Japanese singer, and last year he played keyboards and did all the programming for Paulina Rubio's tour.

IN BRIEF: Fonovisa artist Rogelio Martinez has announced he will perform the title track of upcoming Univision soap opera "Angel Rebelde." The half-hour show, produced by Miami-based production company Fonovideo, premiered Feb. 2 and will air daily at 2 p.m. This will be Martínez's first important role in TV. "Angel Rebelde" will be included in Martínez's upcoming Fonovisa release, slated to hit stores this spring . . . A Gloria Estefan concert recorded live at the Colosseum at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas has been adapted for the big screen and will premiere nationwide Feb. 10. "Live & Unwrapped" will be shown at 7:30 p.m. in Regal theaters in 23 cities, including New York, Los Angeles, Boston, Miami, San Francisco and Washington, D.C. The film's premiere coincides with the release of the DVD "Live & Unwrapped" (AEG TV/AEG Live/CHS/ Sony Music) the same day. "Live & Unwrapped," which includes new and old hits by Estefan, was recorded during a series of concerts by Estefan and Miami Sound Machine in Las Vegas last fall . . . EMI singer Soraya will open several dates for Enrique Iglesias during his current North American tour. Soraya will perform with Iglesias starting Feb. 7 in Washington, D.C., continuing through Providence, R.I.; Buffalo, N.Y.; Toronto; Montreal; and New York. Both Iglesias and Soraya are represented in the United States by Creative Artists Agency.

Unlikely Duo Bebo & Cigala Sweep Awards

BY HOWELL LLEWELLYN

MADRID—More than 50 years separate the unlikely duo of 85-year-old Cuban pianist Bebo Valdés and 35-year-old flamenco singer Diego "El Cigala."

And yet Bebo & Cigala swept the 2003 edition of Spain's Premios Amigo, with five awards. This bodes well for their hopes to triumph abroad

As a duo, Bebo & Cigala took awards for best Latin group, best new Latin group and best flamenco album for "Lágrimas Negras" (Calle 54 Records/BMG) Jan. 22 at the seventh Premios Amigo.

In addition, Bebo won best Latin male artist, and Cigala won best new artist.

Valdés, a double Grammy Award winner, also happens to be pianist Chucho Valdés' father, while El Cigala is a gypsy flamenco singer.

Their recording, an album of boleros and Spanish coplas that blends Latin piano and flamenco, has seduced Spanish music lovers, becoming the surprise sales phenomenon of 2003.

"Lágrimas Negras" has been on the week before Premios Amigo, 34 weeks after first entering the charts.

"Just imagine: At my age and after what I learned in the [music] conservatory, I didn't think I'd learn any more," Valdés says. "But I've discovered somethis page) brought Bebo & Cigala together in 2000. At the time, Truebaa Latin jazz diehard who created Calle 54 Records with Miami-based Latin jazz expert Nat Chediak—was editing "Calle 54," his 2000 film-documentary homage to Latin jazz.

As Cigala was passing by the cutting room, he was transfixed by the recording of the song "Lágrimas Negras" by Valdés and Cuban doublebassist Cachao, On Valdés' next visit to Madrid, Trueba introduced him to Cigala, and the two immediately made plans to record together.

"Lágrimas Negras" will be released in Mexico, Argentina, Colombia, Chile, France, Italy and Portugal at the end of February on Calle 54 Records and distributed by BMG. Talks are under way for a late-spring release in the U.S., the U.K., the Netherlands, Switzerland, Sweden, Belgium and Denmark

Other territories may jump on board by late 2004. BMG Ariola head of international exploitation Fran Arbulu says talks are under way with four U.S. labels about a launch, ideally between April

RCA Victor is thought to be a frontrunner. "Trueba has the final say, and he won't accept a label that is not going to work the album," Arbulu savs. "We have a deal with him that if he does not find a suitable label in any of the territories to be negotiated, BMG has first rejection."

Trueba says, "Some U.S. independent labels are interested in distribution. If this were a conventional jazz album, that would be OK. But I have to consider the album's potential, because I really think it could be a success in the U.S."

Asked to explain the album's success, Trueba, who is producer and (with Chediak) co-executive producer of "Lágrimas," says, "I've no idea. It's just connected with people at the level of emotion and heart, and it is passionate. intimate and intense.

"Lágrimas Negras," named after the Cuban classic written 70 years ago by Miguel Matamoros, features guest appearances by Cuban sax player Paquito D'Rivera and Brazil's Caetano Veloso.

In Spain, the album's promotion was aided by a series of 36 concerts played during the course of three months in

But "we'll have to wait and see" before considering tours further afield, Spanish charts since its release in late May. It is approaching sales of 200,000, according to BMG Ariola, which distributes the album. It reached No. 4 the thing new that I would not have done if I hadn't gone around with [Cigala]."

Confab Tackles Hispanic Marketing

How do you market to the growing Hispanic population in the U.S.? It depends not only on who you ask but what Hispanic population you're marketing to.

Several vastly different viewpoints were heard at the 10th annual "Marketing to U.S. Hispanics & Latin America" conference organized by the Strategic Research Institute, which took place Jan. 26-27 at the Roney Palace Hotel in Miami Beach.

Hispanics are the fastest-growing and largest minority group in the country. As of July 2001, they numbered 37 million, according to the U.S. Census Bureau, and their numbers are projected to bloom to 42 million by 2007. By 2020, it is estimated that one in every five Americans will be Hispanic.

Needless to say, the buyg power that goes with ing power that goes with these numbers is astronomical-$630 billion in 2003, according to Geoscape International. And yet, according to a study by the Assn. of Hispanic Advertising Agencies, corporations allocate "an average of only 3.2% of their marketing dollars to the U.S. Hispanic market."

Marketing to Hispanics, then, is a no-brainer. The question is to what group of Hispanics, and how.

Robert Rose, president of Artist & Idea Management, the company that oversees production, distribution and advertising sales of Urban Latino TV, talks about two distinct Latin markets. One is foreign-born and Spanish-dominant. Another is U.S.-born, watches English-language TV and is even more underserved than its Spanish-language counterpart. Spanish-language TV, Rose says, does not speak to this segment of the population.

But according to studies presented by Anne Berlack, executive VP of the analytic consulting group with Information Resources Inc., Spanand Spanish.

Effectively reaching Hispanics, then, is far more complex than simply allocating additional marketing dollars to one homogenous segment of the population.

Last week's marketing conference addressed specific Latin markets and specific campaigns, including that of Salma Hayek's partnership with Coca-Cola and Motorola's partnership with Phat Farm and Baby Phat.

Glaringly absent from the discussion was the use of music and artists in marketing and promotional opportunities. The opportunities, it seems, are waiting not only to be taken but to be created.

SANZ ANNOUNCES DATES: Sponsored by Verizon Wireless, Alejandro Sanz will kick off his 2004 world tour Feb. 10 in Panama. He will play 15 American cities starting April 24 in Miami.

The No Es Lo Mismo tour will play mostly arenas, including Cox Arena in San Diego and Dodge Arena in McAllen, Texas. The U.S. portion of the tour is slated to end May 23 at the HP Pavillion in San Jose, Calif.

IN BRIEF: In a continuing revision of its roster, Sony Norte has signed iconic Colombian salsa band Grupo Niche. The group is recording a new release. Also signed to the label is Rey Ruiz, who is working on an album produced by Jorge Luis Piloto. Brand-new acts on Sony include Bachá, a singing/songwriting duo made up of a Colombian (Juliana Barrios) and a Venezuelan (Jorge Luis Chazín).

NEWS FROM SOUTH OF THE BORDER

In Brazil: Spanish Academy Award-winning filmmaker Fernando Trueba (best foreign-language film in 1992 for "Belle Epoque") is in Brazil's music capital of Salvador de Bahia. Trueba is making a music-based documentary on a music school set up 20 years ago in the city's slums. The school, known as Ghetto Square, was founded by musician Carlinhos Brown, who most recently was a member of Tribalistas. Trueba traveled with 85-year-old Cuban pianist Bebo Valdés. "Carlinhos has achieved a small social revolution with his music school and recording studio for street kids," Trueba says. The as-yet-untitled film is scheduled for release at the end of 2004 . . . Brazilian musician/philanthropist/Minister of Culture Gilberto Gil launched the U.K. branch of his OndAzul Foundation Jan. 19 at a reception in London. Based in Rio de Janeiro and Salvador, the OndAzul Foundation is a non-governmental organization whose aim is to protect the environment. OndAzul U.K. is approaching large corporations in an effort to raise funds for projects in Brazil.

HOWELL LLEWELLYN and LEILA COBO

In Chile: Six-year-old Christell is the newest TV-born talent with a successful album. Conceived as a playful imitation of Sony Music child artist Maria Jose Quintanilla, Christell's self-titled debut was released in December by Warner Music Chile. It immediately went gold (10,000 copies sold) and has now been certified triple-platinum by the local branch of the International Federation of the Phonographic Industry for sales of 60,000—an enormous feat for the Chilean market. The album includes "Mi Mamá Me Mima," a song based on a childhood ditty, and LEILA COBO and MARCELO FERNANDEZ BITAR "Mueve el Ombligo."

In Puerto Rico: Puerto Rican salsa combo La Sonora Ponceña will celebrate its 50th anniversary with a concert Feb. 21 at the 8,000-capacity Rubén Rodríguez Coliseum in Bayamon. The event will be taped for release as an album and video. It will feature Justo Betancourt, Jose Alberto "El Canario" and Antonio Caban Vale "El Topo." The concert will be produced by Fundación Pro Vida al Riñón, a nonprofit foundation for people with kidney problems.

ish-language TV is "twice as effective and three times more efficient than general-market TV" at driving Hispanic sales.

Many speakers agreed that English proficiency is stronger among U.S.born Latino teens.

However, the majority of Latins in the U.S.—54.7%, according to Census data presented by Bromley Communications—are bilingual and consume media in both English

Bermúdez's Pop Growth

BY LEILA COBO

MIAMI-Nearly two years ago, a relatively unknown singer/songwriter visited the offices of EMI Latin USA, armed with a guitar and an arsenal of songs. He walked out with a record deal and the promise of a new beginning.

That singer/songwriter is Obie Bermúdez, who had already had a contract with BMG that led to a little-noticed tropical album in 1996. Today, as he prepares for the Nov. 2 release of "Todo El Año," his second EMI album, Bermúdez is seen as an up-and-coming star, and one of very few male balladeers to successfully break into the Latin market in recent years.

His shifts—from BMG to EMI, from tropical music to pop, from has-been to newcomer-show what can be done with the right artist at the right time.

"It was a match made in heaven," says Jorge Pino, president/CEO of EMI Latin USA, "EMI needed a male balladeer. And Obie had all the requirements we needed."

The fact that Bermúdez's previous stab at a recording career had failed didn't bother Pino.

"His talent was very superior to any previous action," he says.

Pino plans to heavily push "Todo El Año" through radio, as he did with Bermúdez's previous release, "Confesiones,"

That album spawned three singles that charted in the top 10 of the Billboard Hot Latin Tracks chart. They include "Antes" and "Me Cansé de Tí," which topped the chart for four weeks and two weeks, respectively. At one point, both songs were in the top five simultaneously.

Bermúdez's new single, the title track, will be sent to radio this week. It is a month-by-month chronicle of one man's longing for a lost love. A salsa version of the song, which will be sent to radio but will not appear on the CD, was produced by Sergio George.

Bermúdez wrote the song with Elsten Torres, lead singer of rock band Fulano de Tal. The track is one of several collaborations on the album, with writers as varied as Gian Marco, Mikey Perfecto and Juan Carlos Pérez Soto.

'Some of the songs have been written for years," Bermúdez says. "Others I wrote this year. It takes me time to write them. I write them in little pieces at a time, and I don't try to accelerate the process. There are songs that take me two months to write.'

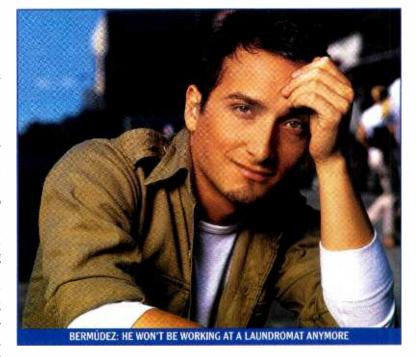

ROMANCE WITH EMOTION

However long they take to write, they're all romantic songs-Bermúdez's forté—but arranged with tropical and rock flavors and performed with great emotion.

We have a versatile artist who writes what he feels and sings with great passion," says David Gleason, executive VP of programming information for Univision Radio, explaining Bermúdez's appeal to listeners. "It's all in the emotional level of Obie's songs. The music gets you between the ears, and the lyrics go straight to the heart.'

Bermúdez worked on "Todo El Año" with producers Sebastian Krys and Joel Someillan, the same duo that produced "Confesiones." As with his past album, the new set was recorded in a matter of weeks, and the final album was titled with a concept in mind-Bermúdez's experiences during the past year—more than a title song.

"It has been an intense year, both professionally and personally, and the best way to express it was through my songs," says Bermúdez, who was working at a New York laundromat when he signed with EMI.

On the agenda for 2004-2005 is an accelerated schedule of concerts-Bermúdez just signed with the William Morris Agency—and broader exposure.

"What happened with Obie is, he came out with these monster hits, and a new artist that comes out like that, the hit gets ahead of the artist, and the artist has to play catch-up," manager David Maldonado says. "We want to give him exposure so people [can] identify the face with the hits.'

Among the planned campaigns is a deal with Burger King that launches in February. It will include performances in primary and secondary markets, as well as on Spanish-language TV, and radio spots.

Between now and the end of the year," Pino says, "people are going to see and breathe Obie Bermúdez.'

Young Soap Star Carries Soundtrack To The Charts

At 9 years old. Mexican singer/actress Danna Paola is the youngest entry on the current Billboard Top Latin Albums chart.

The first volume of the soundtrack to soap opera "Amy, La Niña de la Mochila Azul" (Amy, The Girl With the Blue Bag), which features Danna Paola singing the theme song "La de la Mochila Azul," debuted at No. 25 last week.

The showing caught many by surprise—there are few child artists in the Latin world, and even fewer reach the charts. Even her label was surprised: "Amy" dropped to No. 85 on this week's list mainly because product ran out. Universal Music Latino expects sales to rise again next week as stores restock the CD.

In the meantime. those in the States still not familiar get to know her nameshe will appear on two more albums in quick succession in the coming weeks.

First up is "Amy, La Niña de la Mochila Azul, Vol. 2," which will bow Oct. 26. A month later, Universal will release Danna Paola's first solo album, "Oceano," Nov. 23.

"She's a golden girl," Universal Music Latino president John Echevarría says. "Whatever she touches turns to gold. Of course, the soap opera helps, but she has been able to defend her solo album as well."

A star since the age of 5, Danna Paola is now a major force thanks to "Amy." The soap, which finished airing in Mexico in July, is a remake of "La de la Mochila Azul," the film that launched the career of singer Pedrito Fernandez 25 years ago. The familiar theme and title track, coupled with Danna Paola's undeniable appeal, made the soap a hit, and propelled sales of both volumes of its soundtrack in Mexico. According to Universal combined sales of the two albums total 120,000 copies.

In addition, the label says that "Oceano," which was released only in Mexico, has already sold 30,000 copies since it went to retail in July.

Universal hopes Danna Paola will replicate her success stateside. "Amy," the soap opera, recently went on the air in Puerto Rico, and it is expected to debut in the United States on the Telefutura network before year's end.

Echevarría says Universal plans to promote Danna Paola's album with the networks that air the soap. Plans call for TV spots as well as contests and promotions with children's TV shows. Merchandising plans are also being drawn up with Danna Paola's father, who represents her. A blue bag is reportedly in the works.

In the meantime, Danna Paola's promotional schedule includes two major concerts in Puerto Rico, including a coliseum show Oct. 21. While the shows have an "Amy" component, they're not a replica of the soap in any way.

"I have eight dancers, explosions, games and different outfits," Danna Paola says.

YAHIR'S MONOPOLY: Warner singer Yahir, who, like Danna Paola, is also a Mexican TV star, will be the Latin face of a new McDonald's promotion. The artist, a former winner of TV reality show "La Academia," helped launch McDonald's Monopoly Best Chance Game

> This marks the first time the fast food chain has promoted its Monopoly game with a "significant Latino artist," says Rick Marroquín, marketing director for McDonald's USA. Past famous names who have been part of the promotion have included reality show contestants, Marroquín says, "so we felt that he fit what we were after."

Although Yahir's music is not part of the campaign, the singer hopes the exposure will steer new fans to his albums.

"The most important thing for me is to have my music played," he says. "I love that audiences of 'La Academia' know us for our music." Yahir is already making plans for his upcoming album, which he says will go beyond Latin pop to include "a bit of salsa, a bit of ballads and a bit

For more coverage of new Latin artists, see

ACADEMIA TOURS: In other "La Academia" news, several of its fledgling stars will take part in the Estrellas de la Academia tour, which kicks off Oct. 22 at Houston's Reliant Arena. The four-stop trek is organized by Mexican TV network Azteca America and by Los Angeles-based promotion company Luna Management. Participating acts include Toñita, Raúl, Estrella, Nadia, Erika, Suzette and Ricardo.

For Bacilos, Being Different Makes The Difference

BY LEILA COBO

MIAMI—Bacilos has taken an unconventional route with "SinVerguenza," the trio's follow-up to "Caraluna," which won the best Latin pop album Grammy Award in 2003.

The Warner album was released Sept. 28. While it boasts catchy pop tracks, many of its lyrics deal with race, immigration and class issues and many of the songs are socially conscious and sometimes outright accusatory.

The Miami-based band—singer/ songwriter Jorge Villamizar, bassist Andre Lopes and drummer José Javier Freire—requested that the disc be produced by Colombian Juan Vicente Zambrano and Brazilian Tom Capone.

Capone—who died in a motorcycle accident last month (Billboard, Sept. 18)—was a risky choice because few, if any, top-selling Spanish-language albums have had a Brazilian producer.

"Only Brazilians thought that having a Brazilian producer made sense," Villamizar says with a laugh.

The singer, who has penned hits for such artists as Marc Anthony and Paulina Rubio, adds, "We know it's a difficult album, and it's not an obvious album. We knew Bacilos was relatively in the spotlight and people were waiting to see what we would do.

"One thing is to analyze your formula, change the hairdo and present it again," he adds. "We clearly did something different. We said, 'Now that everyone's looking, let's do what we really want to do and see if they bite.' And that's what we did."

First single "Pasos de Gigante" comes closest to Bacilos' previous work. A tropical-based track with an irresistible chorus, it can work at pop and tropical formats. It debuts at No. 39 this week on the Billboard Hot Latin tracks chart. Bacilos' "Caraluna" singles—the title track and "Mi Primer Millón"—peaked at No. 16 and No. 18, respectively, on Hot Latin Tracks.

The new single's slow going at radio, coupled with modest positioning at retail, may have contributed to "Sin-Verguenza" not appearing on the Billboard Top Latin Albums chart in its debut week. Band manager Roxana Estes expects sales to pick up with the group's upcoming tour.

In comparison, "Caraluna" debuted at No. 70, then gradually rose during the next nine months—which included the Grammy win—to peak at No. 49.

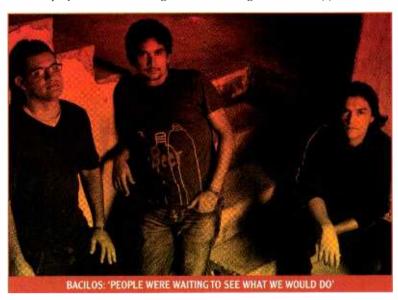

BREAKING THE BAND

The album's rise is emblematic of the group's development, which hasn't been traditional.

Bacilos formed in Miami, where its members live, then signed with Warner more than four years ago. The band's self-titled debut album came and went in the United States with barely a ripple. In Colombia, Villamizar's native country, single "Tabaco y Chanel" reached No. 1 on local airplay charts. The song also le licensed for a Chevrolet campaign.

Still, breaking acts like Bacilos is a challenge. Warner's approach is to attracted attention for the band in other territories and garnered interest from management firm RLM, which handles Alejandro Sanz. The company signed Bacilos and had it open several concerts by Sanz in Spain.

That led to an effort to push Bacilos stateside with its second album, 2002's "Caraluna." Aside from the Grammy win and a pair of Latin Grammy Awards, the group got a push after its second single, "Mi Primer Millón," was work the group through radio and live performances (the band is booked by the William Morris Agency).

"The most important thing is to see them live," says Gabriela Martinez, VP of marketing for Warner Music Latin America. "So we're organizing showcases even in the early visits in [Latin America]."

The group is slated to start a promotional tour of Argentina, Chile, Mexico and Colombia this month. In November, Bacilos will launch the first leg of its U.S. tour. The group will perform in nine cities, including San Diego and Los Angeles, where it will play the House of Blues.

"We're linking the album's release to their performances," Martinez says. "Everyone is very happy with the steps taken with the past album," she adds. "Now, we want to maximize sales, maximize awareness and take them to the next level."

According to Martinez, "Caraluna" has sold 250,000 copies in the United States and Latin America.

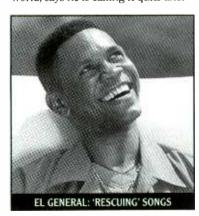

As for "SinVerguenza," if its content doesn't strike a chord, it should at least raise eyebrows.

The song "Sangre Americana," for example, talks about what it means to have "American blood," that mix of races from north and south of the border. "La Ollah" tackles the issue of hypocrisy when it comes to drugs: While Colombians get strip-searched at airports, high-profile Americans and Europeans talk about the virtues of cocaine and pot.

"Someone had to say it," Villamizar says. "Bacilos' first two albums were written by a composer who wanted to push a band that played in a bar in Miami," he says. "This album is the product of a different composer. Someone who is 10 years older and has less shame. That's why the album is called 'SinVerguenza.'"

El General Sets Aside Rap For Kiddie Show

It won't be a long goodbye for Edgardo Arias, aka El General. The Panamanian rapper, known as a pioneer in the genre in the Latin music world, says he is calling it quits after the Nov. 2 release of his album "El General, Más Intimo."

"I'm retiring at the best moment of my career," says El General, who will now concentrate on producing his own children's TV show.

El General says he has taped 30 episodes of "Wakatela Club Place," a show geared toward kids 3 to 7 years old, and is negotiating distribution deals and translations to other languages.

"It's a musical program, and we try to rescue songs from when we were kids," El General says. "There are no children's TV programs now that represent our kids' culture. That's my goal. To rescue our Latin American values."

"Wakatela" was produced in Panama, as was El General's upcoming album, which will be released on his own Arpa Music. (The album will be distributed in the United States by Musicrama.)

"El General, Más Intimo" features a video for each of its 11 tracks, plus a DVD chronicling El General's rise from shoeshine boy to superstar.

"I'm not disillusioned," El General says, when asked why he is retiring from recording. "I'm at another stage. And I know I'll do well in that stage."

BORDER CROSSINGS: In a nod to Latin music's increasing presence in the digital arena, SoundExchange has entered into its first reciprocal agreement with a Latin American rights society.

On Oct. 5, SoundExchange signed an agreement for independent labels with Mexico's Somexfon. Sound-Exchange will collect digital royalties for Mexico's independent labels in the United States and Somexfon will do the same for independent U.S.-based labels in Mexico.

"We share a lot of the same licensees and a lot of the same repertoire," SoundExchange executive director John L.Simson says. "And frankly, there are other issues that arise when you share a border."

Simson says SoundExchange is negotiating to establish similar agreements with societies in Brazil and Spain and also hopes to sign an artist agreement with Mexico.

Simson estimates that Latin music accounts for approximately 10% of the royalties SoundExchange collects in the United States.

CMN TO MARKET EVENTS: Henry Cárdenas, long known as a leader in Latin concert promotion, has acquired a majority stake in Consultants Marketing Network, and in the process, has changed the focus of his business.

Now renamed Cárdenas Marketing Network, CMN will focus less on concert promotion and more on event marketing. Cárdenas, who will serve as CEO, will work with founder Jorge Naranjo, who remains as president of the company.

"There are no event marketing companies in the Hispanic market," Cárdenas tells Billboard. "There are concert promoters. I believe there's a niche there."

Cárdenas co-founded promotion company Cárdenas, Fernandez & Associates, which was acquired by Clear Channel and Grupo Televisa.

Cárdenas left CFA last year and was unable to work in concert promotion until now, because of a noncompete clause.

While CMN is set to promote major Latin tours—including Carlos Vives and the double bill of Vicente Fernandez and Ana Gabriel (with Hauser Entertainment)—much of its business now revolves around corporate-sponsored events.

Anheuser Busch, for example, is sponsoring La Oreja de Van Gogh's U.S. tour and is donating a percentage of the proceeds to Latin education programs through its Rock 4 Education program.

And Budweiser is the ongoing sponsor of Esta Noche Toca, a series of ticket-giveaway concerts staged in various cities.

BACK ON THE CHART: This issue marks the return of the Billboard Hot Latin Tracks, Tropical Airplay and Latin Pop Airplay charts. All were placed on a two-week hiatus in the wake of Hurricane Jeanne's impact on monitoring in Puerto Rico, which accounts for a significant portion of those charts' radio audience (Billboard, Oct. 2).

Label Partnerships Prevail In Brazil

BY TOM GOMES

SAO PAULO, Brazil—Faced with an unprecedented music piracy crisis, Brazilian record labels are looking at every opportunity to partner with TV, radio, retail, cell phone makers and production companies, as well as artists and managers, to conceive, market and promote album releases.

One of the most visible partners is MTV Brazil, which in the past year has teamed with various labels to produce a series of top-selling CDs and DVDs of its shows "MTV Ao Vivo" and "Acustico MTV" (Billboard, Aug. 14). Another cable TV music channel, Multishow, has also entered the fray. Last year, Multishow partnered with Sony Music Brazil to produce a live DVD by Skank. The venture was so successful that this year Multishow has produced DVDs by Sandra de Sá and Barzinho & Violao that were released by Universal.

"We try to use all the vehicles and channels of media and sales," says

Alexandre Schiavo, VP of marketing and A&R for Sony Music. "Every partnership is welcome."

One of Sony's biggest success stories is girl band Rouge from the Brazilian version of TV talent show "Popstars," produced by Argentine company RGB. The group's self-titled debut album, released on Sony in 2003, has sold more than 1 million copies, according to the label.

"The girls have just released their third album and continue doing well in sales," Schiavo says.

In addition, the debut album by boy band Br'oz, winner of the second season of "Popstars," has sold more than 300,000 copies.

In a similar vein, Warner Music Brazil partnered with TV production company Endemol and Brazil's Globo Network to release albums by finalists of reality show "Fama."

"We have a lot of faith in this new way of discovering talents, promoting new artists and selling albums," says Claudio Condé, chairman of Warner Music Brazil.

Instead of releasing winners' solo albums, Condé proposed pairing "Fama" winner Hugo with finalist Tiago, because the two garnered the show's highest ratings when they performed together. Their duets album is set for release this month, along with that of another "Fama" duo, Cidia and Dan.

"Since I became chairman of Warner, it's the first time we're taking part in a project like this," Condé says. "I'm sure it will be successful."

Guacira Abreu, manager of Cidia and Dan, agrees. "Complaining about the crisis does no good," Abreu says. "It's time to be creative. The market is different nowadays. It takes a bigger effort."

For Marcos Maynard, chairman of EMI Music Brazil, TV partnerships are "essential." The label just produced a TV special with Ivan Lins that will be broadcast by network Rede TV, which will promote the artist's new CD, which comes out end of October. According to Maynard, it's the first time Rede has partnered with a record label.

Sony has ongoing partnerships with other labels, including Globo Network-owned indie Som Livre. Under the agreement, Sony artists are featured on the soundtracks to Globo's soap operas.

Moreover, labels are increasingly willing to partner with acts instead of signing them directly as artists. Universal will promote album releases by Zélia Duncan, Sideral and George Israel. "They deliver the recorded albums, and we develop the marketing campaign with them and then we distribute the titles," Universal Music GM José Eboli says.

At EMI Music, Maynard takes it one step further and actually helps in the selection of repertoire, as he did with new artist Nila Branco.

"To have a partnership with managers and artists doesn't mean to simply receive the products," he says. "I like to express my opinions."

Maynard says he released the album from band Tianastácia "because I personally like the product." However, the band's upcoming DVD, at Maynard's suggestion, will feature a live concert recorded at a radio station party.

Maynard says the number of similar deals with artists will continue to grow.

"It is an excellent strategy to discover new talents, whether they are artists or producers," he says.

Young Yolanda Strikes Up The Banda

Yolanda Perez is not your run of the mill regional act. At 21 years old, she sings banda, and she sings it well, with a lyrical voice unusual for the genre. But Perez has a broader range, as evidenced by her upcoming album, "Aquí Me Tienes," due Oct. 5 on Fonovisa.

The disc has traditional banda songs set to tropical, youthful arrangements, as well as a handful of banda/rap tracks.

"It's not too traditional, but it's not too modern," Perez says. "It sounds, I don't want to say girlie, but it sounds feminine."

The album's more traditional flavor is captured by the first single, "Cuando," which is receiving airplay from 12 regional Mexican stations.

The song was chosen over the edgier "La Reyna del Mall," a banda/rap track where Perez spars in English with her Spanish-speaking "dad"—Los Angeles radio personality Don Cheto of KBUE (La Que Buena) over what to buy at the mall.

Conceptually, "La Reyna" is a follow-up to the single "Estoy Enamorada," from Perez's last album, 2003's "Déjenme Llorar." The song peaked at No. 7 on the Billboard regional Mexican airplay chart and the album peaked at No. 29 on Top Latin Albums—a decent showing for a new artist.

But for the follow-up, Fonovisa didn't want Perez to be stereotyped as an interpreter of humorous banda/rap. "She moves in two worlds, and we didn't want to lock her into just one style," says Jose Luis Mogollón, Fonovisa VP of operations. "'Cuando' is a song with youthful arrangements but traditional instrumentation. It has no hip-hop and that makes it more mainstream."

"La Reyna," which Perez describes as "a song young people and parents can have fun with," will probably be the second single. Like "Estoy Enamorada," the track was penned by Cheto and KBUE programming director Pepe Garza. "Aquí Me Tienes" includes one song penned by Perez: the title track, which appears in English and Spanish versions.

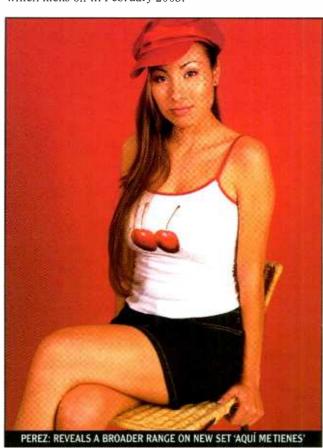

Although Perez says she is equally at ease in both styles, the artist got her start with banda, when she won an amateur contest at 11 years old. The prize was a record deal with local indie Cintas Acuario (where Lupillo Rivera began his career). Perez signed with Fonovisa last year.

CALLING FOR PUENTE: In support of his new album, "In My Father's Shoes" (Hispanix Records/Universal Music Latino), Tito Puente Jr. has teamed with Nokia/Verizon in a promotion for a new cell phone. Starting in October, Nokia/Verizon will launch a 60-day campaign that crosspromotes Puente's album in South Florida. "In My Father's Shoes" will be featured in radio spots, print ads and store displays. Some 5,000 buyers of the CD will receive tickets to a Puente concert that Verizon will present at Miami's Pro Player stadium in December. In addition, Puente will make three in-store appearances in the area.

IN BRIEF: Singer/songwriter/crooner Ricardo Montaner has parted ways with his longtime label, Warner Music International. Montaner, who just finished a U.S. and Latin American tour, confirms that his deal with Warner has ended. Conversations are under way with two labels. At any rate, Montaner says, a new album, possibly an acoustic set, would not be released until early 2005.

Patricio O'Ryan, former GM of Universal Music Chile, has been appointed executive director of the 15-year-old artist management/concert promotion company Fénix

Entertainment Chile. In February, Oscar Sayavedra opened the company's offices in Chile. Sayavedra will continue to be linked to Fénix as an independent consultant. Fénix handles worldwide management for La Ley, Alejandro Lerner and Diego Torres, among others. The firm will also produce Marco Antonio Solís' South American tour, which kicks off in February 2005.

Vicentico Shapes Solo Career With Second Set

BY MARCELO FERNANDEZ BITAR

BUENOS AIRES—Groundbreaking band Los Fabulosos Cadillacs helped shape the Latin rock movement in the late 20th century. Together for 20 years, Los Cadillacs, as they became known, are indelibly etched in a generation's consciousness as one of the pillars of

So after the band broke up and lead singer Vicentico launched a solo career in 2002, there were some skeptics who questioned the singer's future.

But then his self-titled debut was certified double-platinum in Argentina by label association Capif for shipments of 40,000 copies. And now, sophomore album "Los Rayos" (BMG Argentina) has reached the same plateau. Released June 15, "Los Rayos" has been propelled by the success of single "Los Caminos de la Vida.'

"We never had any doubts about Vicentico's stature and importance," BMG Argentina president Roberto Piav says. "He is a priority for the whole region, even Spain, since his contract was actually made with BMG Spain due to budget limitations in Argentina during the economic crisis of 2002.'

Vicentico signed to BMG after recording a low-budget demo in his home studio and shopping it to several labels.

"To be truly sincere, I was never afraid, not even with the first solo album," Vicentico says. "Not out of courage, but out of ignorance."

"Vicentico" was recorded in Spain with producer Afo Verde. The artist supported the set with live shows throughout summer 2003 at rock festivals and low-key clubs.

"The best way of avoiding any fear is to get out and perform live," Vicentico says, "That is what I remember best of the first years with Los Fabulosos Cadillacs: a word-of-mouth effect that is the result of playing every weekend. How could anyone know that I was truly committed to this solo career if they did not see me live?'

Vicentico assembled a 10-member band with four percussionists commanded by Daniel Buira, former drummer of rock act Los Piojos. Set lists included new compositions, hits and B-sides of Cadillacs material.

Vicentico played promotional and concert tours in Latin America and Europe, not only in countries where the Cadillacs were well-known, such as Spain, but also in less familiar markets like Belgium and Holland.

As a soloist, Vicentico makes few concessions to Latin rock formulas. Instead, his sound is a mix of Latin rhythms and styles.

Intense airplay for the singles "Se

Despierta la Ciudad"—a tropicalsounding track—and a cover of classic bolero "Algo Contigo" pushed sales of Vicentico" in Argentina.

Now, "Los Rayos" is following that same tropical path.

Produced once again by Verde, the album's first single is a cover of a track by Colombian vallenato band Los Diablitos. It also features a version of Ruben Blades' "Tiburon" (from his 1982

El Premio Awards For The Fans

Latin music awards come and go. But since its inception six years ago, an unlikely name appears here to stay.

El Premio de la Gente Latin Music Fan Awards is set to take place Oct. 21 at the Universal Amphitheatre in Universal City, Calif. The awards will air Oct. 30 on the Telemundo network.

Originally sponsored by Latin music retailer Ritmo Latino. El Premio now has Chevrolet as its title sponsor. The automaker is also hosting a concert tour, dubbed El Premio on the Road, featuring performances by nominees in several cities. The outing kicked off the first week of September with a concert in Bakersfield, Calif., featuring Paquita la del Barrio.

That the awards have managed to survive despite the change in sponsorship and the lack of a major music industry name behind them-for example, the Latin Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences—can be attributed to its unorthodox yet appealing selection and presentation process.

Winners are voted on by fans, who have the choice of casting their votes online or on a paper ballot at participating retailers, which include Virgin Megastores, and Chevrolet dealers.

In addition, direct mail company Advo, through its ShopWise shared mail program, will target and deliver ballots to more than 2.4 million Hispanic households nationwide.

"The audience is the most important part of our show," El Premio founder and executive producer Luis Medina says, noting that some 500,000 fans voted last year.

In addition, winners are announced by audience members and not by celebrity presenters. "That's why the show does well," Medina says. "People love to see themselves on TV, and we give them the opportunity."

Finalists in most of the award categories are determined by using Nielsen SoundScan data from the period of Nov. 1, 2003, through April 27, 2004. The voting period runs Aug. 17-Sept. 27. Online voting is available at votaelpremio.com and through links found on artist Web sites.

MORE AWARDS: Univision will premiere its newly minted Premios

lcobo@billboard.com

Juventud (Youth Awards) Sept. 23. The awards show will air live from 9 p.m. to 11 p.m. from the James L. Knight Center in Miami.

The awards target the youth market and honor not only music acts but also film, sports, fashion and pop culture figures. Nominees were chosen through a national poll of 1,000 Hispanic TV viewers between the ages of 12 and 34.

Online voting will determine the final winners in 22 categories, which feature such colorful names as I Want to Dress Like Her and Girl Who Won't Let Me Sleep.

Awards show performers include Juanes, Akwid, Jennifer Peña, Paulina Rubio and Aleks Syntek with Ana Torroja.

SERRALDE SURFACES: Some of you may remember the name Serralde from four years ago. That's when the Los Angeles-based singer/songwriter released "No Hay Na' Mejor" on Hollywood Records, an album that passed by virtually unnoticed and never made it onto the Billboard charts.

Now, Serralde is back. And this time, he has charted.

His new, self-titled album on Universal Music Latino debuted at No. 66 on the Billboard Top Latin Albums chart, thanks largely to West Coast sales.

What's the secret this time around for the pop/rock songwriter? Serralde is a DJ on "La Regadera," a morning show that airs on radio station KSSE (Super Estrella 107.1) Los Angeles. The program propelled Serralde to new popularity and encouraged him to record another album.

Universal Music Latino, which picked up on the buzz surrounding Serralde, signed him and released the disc Aug. 31.

The launch of "Serralde" was boosted by an in-store appearance Sept. 8 at Tower Records' Monterey Park location. Serralde performed an acoustic set, signed albums for fans and sold close to 500 copies of his new release.

More in-stores are on the way. And Universal Music Latino executive VP of marketing and A&R Walter Kolm plans to take Serralde and newcomer Alih-J on a joint U.S. tour supported by local radio stations.

IN BRIEF: David Bisbal is wrapping up an 80-date Spanish tour before kicking off the second leg of his North American trek in November, Bishal will play two dates in Mexico, including Nov. 14 at Mexico City's Auditorio Nacional, before launching an eightcity U.S. theater outing Nov. 18.

Also launching a tour is Vicente Fernandez, with guest Ana Gabriel. The pair's 11-stop arena/coliseum outing kicks off Oct. 15 at the American Airlines Center in Dallas. The trek is produced by Hauser Entertainment and Consultants Marketing Network.

Estéfano Wins BMI Songwriting Award

BY LEILA COBO

The public's penchant for strong melodies has helped Colombian songwriter/producer Estéfano snag BMI's Latin songwriter of the year award for the third consecutive time.

Estéfano, who picked up his award March 16 at BMI's 11th annual Latin Awards in San Juan, Puerto Rico, has had a slew of pop and tropical songs performed by a vast array of acts.

They include "Es Por Amor" (performed by Alexandre Pires), "Herida Mortal" and "Vuela Muy Alto" (Jerry Rivera) and "No Me Enseñaste" (Thalía).

Not surprisingly, Estéfano's publishing company, World Deep Music Publishing—which is administered by Sony/ATV Music Publishing—was named publisher of the year, having all five of his winning songs.

Estéfano was also named songwriter of the year in 2000.

As on past occasions, BMI honored a total of 50 songs, based on their performance on radio and TV as detected by a BMI sample survey.

This year's song of the year trophy, awarded to the most-performed song on the list, went to "Pérdoname Mi Amor" (Seg-Son Music), written by Ramón González Mora and performed by Conjunto Primavera.

González Mora has written some of Primavera's greatest hits. These include "Morir de Amor," which earned González Mora the BMI Latin song of the year award in 2001. Conjunto Primavera is currently a finalist for the Billboard Hot Latin Tracks artist of the year award.

This year marks the first time that BMI has held its Latin awards in Puerto Rico. Appropriately, the evening included a special tribute to late Puerto Rican composer Rafael Hernández. It was produced by Cucco Pena and featured such acts as Andy Montanez, Rafy Escuero and Chucho Avellanet.

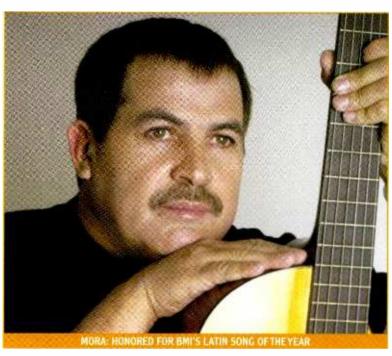

BMI also announced the first winner of the newly created BMI Foundation/Peermusic Latin Scholarship. Established by the BMI Foundation and funded by the Peermusic companies, the new $5,000 scholarship will be awarded annually to a Latin music student for a song or instrumental composition. This year's winner was Marco A. Godoy, a Berklee College of Music student from Venezuela.

"Encouraging the next generation of Latin composers is of great importance to us and the entire Latin community," Peermusic chairman/CEO Ralph Peer II says.

Manuelle Ends Dry Period For Tropical Music

For the first time since Celia Cruz's death last summer, a tropical album is No. 1 on the Billboard Top Latin Albums chart.

Victor Manuelle's "Travesía" (Sony Norte) jumped from No. 3 to No. 1, aided no doubt by heavy exposure during and following his "reign" as king of Carnival Miami last week.

Granted, this is not a week of big scans.

Manuelle is on top with less than 7,000 copies sold, according to Nielsen SoundScan (and yes, detail-oriented readers, I am aware that many more copies are sold than scanned). Still, he bested Intocable, Paulina Rubio and Thalía. (Additionally, Thalía bested Rubio for Thalía bested Rubio for the first time since both artists released albums five weeks ago.)

For tropical music advocates, Manuelle's accomplishment is doubly significant. Aside from Cruz, the last tropical artist to top the chart was Marc Anthony in December 2001, with "Libre." While the genre has been convalescing for the past three years, labels are preparing to market a string of releases.

These include Elvis Crespo's debut album on Ole Records (May), Anthony's Spanish-language album on Sony Norte/Columbia (May or summer), Melina León's return to straight-ahead merengue (this spring on Universal) and a series of Sony Norte releases, including new albums by Rey Ruiz and Grupo Niche.

Though "Travesía" features two ballads (one a version of the single

lcobo@billboard.com

"Tengo Ganas"), there's no question that this is a tropical album. There is no melding of genres—half pop, half tropical—as has been the mode with many artists lately, including Jerry Rivera and Olga Tañón.

"The genre was always salsa," Manuelle says. "I wanted to give something extra and hear myself in other interpretations. But the salsa tracks fulfill the expectations of a good salsero."

In addition to the two ballads, Manuelle deviates from salsa in songs he describes as "tropical fusion," which can work equally well on the dancefloor.

"The younger generation of listeners is no longer stuck in a single genre," he explains. "It's a top 40 generation."

Manuelle wrote or cowrote seven of the 12 tracks on the album. He has his own publishing company, V.M.R. Publishing. Major publishers have made overtures before, he says, but they haven't met his expectations. However, he adds that he is open to proposals.

INDIES GET 'RESPEK': Indie labels keep growing, even as the majors shed staff and acts.

New on the block is Miami-based Respek Records, which has steadily evolved from a talent management company to a recording studio and onward.

"Because of the way the record industry was going, it wasn't an issue of shopping for a label anymore but of opening the doors for artists," founder and president Mark Eman says.

His artists, he explains, all recorded at his studio at one time or another.

"And I just really believed in their talent and decided to sign them."

Respek's roster features Miamibased fusion band Hoja Seca, singer/ songwriter Eduardo Osorio and newcomer Zayra.

Like other up-and-coming labels, Respek offers several services under one roof, with its own management, publishing and talent division (Eman) and, of course, recording studios (Miami Studios). Distribution, Eman says, will be handled independently for the time being.

EVENTFUL ALLIES: Vívelo, a joint venture between Clear Channel Entertainment and Televisa, has agreed to a strategic alliance with Miami-based Unipro Group.

Unipro, an entertainment and event marketing firm, will help Vívelo implement national programs for clients and co-promote concerts and events.

"Basically, we are joining efforts in the U.S.," Unipro COO Nelson Alvareda says.

Unipro's staff of nearly 30 comes mostly from a media background, including Alvareda, who used to work for Univision Radio.

Unipro owns event properties in Miami, including House of Terror Amusement Park and Downtown's Holiday Village. It was also in charge of developing the Latin Grammy Awards street parties in 2003 with the Latin Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences, and it will continue to do so this year in several major U.S. markets.

IN BRIEF: Spanish Broadcasting System has made changes in its Puerto Rican operations. Raymond Torres has left his post as PD for WNOD (94.1 FM) and WODA (94.7 FM).

Also departing is music director Edwin Santiago (aka "Heartbreaker") and Estereotempo DJ Nagel Torres.

He got involved in radio to "try to figure out how to make the world pay attention to my beats. I figured I had to become a credible name on radio. So that was my goal. I figured I'd give myself three or four years. Finally, people started paying attention to me.

Sparks, known for his signature "Get familiar!" tag line, has since produced tracks for Roc-a-Fella/Def Jam artist Memphis Bleek, Warner Bros.' Jaheim and Desert Storm/ Elektra rapper Fabolous.

Sparks also hosts "Smashtime," a radio show on XM Satellite Radio's Raw (channel 66) as well as a hiphop show syndicated through SupeRadio to more than 40 cities. He does mix tapes and currently has XL, an R&B act, signed to his production company, C Sparks Entertainment.

JUGGLING SCHEDULES

With all their various roles, time management is crucial.

"When you have things that take up a lot time, like working in the office on my marketing company [or] something as trivial as making sure I open up all the new music I get, all of it really comes down to time management," Irie says. "It's all about setting a certain level of importance to everything I'm doing. It doesn't leave a whole lot of free time, but I enjoy what I do.'

Sparks shares Irie's passion.

"If I'm not working, I feel useless," he says. "My goal is not to be a regular mix-show DJ 10 years from now. My plan is way bigger than that. My ultimate goal is to make Clinton Sparks a brand name like Martha Stewart. That's why I coined the phrase 'Get familiar!'

Versatility is important to the success of both DJs.

When you think of Clinton Sparks, I don't want you to think just 'mix-show DJ.' I want you to think of an entity—whether it's promoting shows, doing mix tapes, producing for major cats [or] being on the radio. Ten or 15 years from now, I want to be a powerful force in the music industry. That's why I'm soaking up everything."

Irie agrees that versatility keeps him on top of his game. "Having many things going on is my form of security, and that's what keeps me going. Any DJ can do it."

Muhammad's Quest Leads To Solo Debut

Garden Seeker Productions, the hip-hop label from A Tribe Called Quest principal Ali Shaheed Muhammad, has signed a new deal with Penalty Recordings and Ryko Distribution.

Muhammad's solo debut, "Shaheedullah and Stereotypes," will arrive Oct. 12. Releases from Chip Fu of Fu-Schnickens fame, Sy

Smith and Kay are due either later this year or in first-quarter 2005. Muhammad is also hoping to sign former Mint Condition lead singer Stokley.

All of those acts appear on "Shaheedullah and Stereotypes," which is dominated by live instrumentation, including a horn section on some tracks.

Billboard.com recently sat down with Muhammad to talk about his newest endeavor.

"We're really happy about the Penalty/Ryko partnership," Muhammad said. "[Penalty CEO] Neil Levine actually worked some Tribe records in my early days, when he had an independent marketing company. It's funny how you come back full-circle.

Muhammad is hoping to mount a full-band tour later this year in support of the upcoming album. "That's something I really want to do," he says enthusiastically. "I have a lot of vision in that regard."

A Tribe Called Quest played its first live performance in six years Aug. 27 at the San Diego Street Scene Festival.

Asked before the show if the group had had time to prepare, Muhammad said with a laugh, "Not at all. Anything can happen. We have five albums' worth to pick from. It's like, 'Wow, what do

Tribe reunited last year to record the song "I C U Doin' It" for the yet-to-be-released third "Violator" compilation, but Muhammad said a full-fledged reunion with Q-Tip (now known as Kamaal) and Phife Dawg has never moved past the discussion phase.

You're My Everything

"I think we're always interested," he said. "We didn't really need [to go into the studio] to make it happen. It's more just people saying, 'We want Tribe.' Kamaal has made a couple of public statements that he feels like he's done as far as A Tribe Called Quest is concerned. It's kind of difficult when someone has that feeling. That pretty much savs it.

rhall@billboard.com

"But we're playing a show, so who knows?" he continues. "If it's > a great reception, that may build up our confidence to move forward. But when you've done something that feels so complete from beginning to end, it may be a mistake to try and pick it up to move it forward, based on what some people may want to see. There's a lot of uncertainty with doing that."

Also uncertain is the status of Lucy Pearl, Muhammad's project with Raphael Saadig and Dawn Robinson.

"I saw Dawn and Raphael a couple of months ago," Muhammad says. "We all have interest in talking about [working together], but nothing solid has come up. But I'll share this with you: Kamaal told me Raphael asked him to be in Lucy Pearl. So, I thought that was interesting.'

Muhammad says Saadiq has yet to share that information with him. "That's the music business," Muhammad notes. "It is weird."

Morena Courts Youth With 'Floricienta'

BY LEILA COBO

Teen audiences in the United States this summer have flocked to the film "A Cinderella Story"—a modern-day fairy tale starring Hilary Duff.

But since the beginning of the year, teens on another part of the globe have been held captive by another modernday Cinderella tale.

"Floricienta," a soap opera that airs daily on Argentina's Channel 13, has turned into a veritable phenomenon, spawning a multiplatinum music album, a theatrical show and a plethora of related merchandise.

The album "Floricienta y Su Banda," out on Sony Argentina since May, has been certified doubleplatinum for sales of more than 80,000 copies. It features music from the soap performed by its star, Florencia Bertotti, and her band. Following the theatrical show's two-month stint at Buenos Aires' Gran Rex Theater, "Floricienta" creator/director/ producer Cris Morena is already planning a feature film and a second installment of the soap.

"When I generate a project, I conceive all the elements from the onset," says Morena, who also composes most of the music and songs for her projects.

"Even the title of the project is conceived with that in mind. And all my projects are eminently musical."

Morena, a former actress and TV host, is now an established composer, director and producer. She is also one of the most successful and prolific creators of music-based content for youth in Argentina through her entertainment company, Cris Morena Group.

Building upon a multiplatform model that integrates a TV series with a theatrical musical, live concerts, albums and films, Morena has had a string of successes in recent years that have been exported throughout Latin America, Europe and the Middle East.

Past productions include "Chiquititas" in the '90s and 2002 teen soap

"Rebelde Way," which spawned teen group Erreway.

This June saw the premiere of Erreway's first feature film, "Memoria," and the release of its third album, "Cuatro Caminos," which has been certified gold in Argentina for sales of 20,000 copies. Erreway's success has outlived the show, which is no longer on the air. Now, "Floricienta" seems headed down that path as well, thanks in part to the critical acclaim Bertotti has garnered.

Her performances have received positive reviews in Argentina's daily newspaper El Clarín. Morena says it's the first time the paper has given her a positive nod, despite her commercial success.

"Not all singers act, nor do all actors sing," she says. "The fact that they come from a TV show doesn't make them less good. On the contrary, people should celebrate the fact."

So far, acclaim for "Floricienta" seems unanimous.

The TV show—which CMG produces in conjunction with entertainment company RGB (owned by Morena's ex-husband, TV producer Gustavo Yankelevich)—is consistently a ratings winner in its 6 p.m. time slot. The theatrical show sold out nearly two months of performances. And the album has been No. 1 on Argentina's sales charts for more than a month.

MUSICAL DEVELOPMENT

"I believe the key is the TV show and the space Cris gives within the show for musical development," says Jorge Ferradas, president of Sony Argentina, which has licensed all of Morena's albums since the "Chiquititas" days.

Through the Sony deal, Morena pays for production of the recordings and retains ownership of the masters, while Sony distributes and sells the titles. Marketing efforts are handled jointly.

The success of "Floricienta," Ferradas adds, also underscores Morena's appeal.

"As a composer and producer, she has sold over 4 million albums [including all of her releases] for us in Argentina," he says. "Floricienta" is one of Sony's top five titles of the year.

Ferradas says the album's sales are notable because "radio is not very supportive, because they see this is as a children's product."

Although "Floricienta" gets airplay on Radio Disney, Sony aggressively pushes the album at points of sale.

Beyond that, the main marketing arm of the music is the live show and the TV series.

In fact, "Floricienta" is a vehicle to market not just music, but virtually anything that fits the setting of the show.

In addition to the Sony license, there are 13 other licensees for "Floricienta."

They include John Foos shoes and sneakers, which Bertotti wears on the show; toys by Caffaro; cookies; and candy. Also, Café Bonafide, a chain of coffee shops, has a permanent spot in the series.

"We've created a new commercial model that didn't exist in soaps," Morena says

Other innovations include scripted endorsements for various products and 10-second "sweeps" that take place before commercial breaks. CMG produces the sweeps, or mini-spots, which feature the show's stars endorsing items.

"That's another value we give our sponsors," CMG business director Mariano Glaser says. The various alternatives, he says, give flexibility to endorse a greater number of products without compromising the script.

"I don't think there has to necessarily be a separation of church and state if it's well done," Morena says. "I never think about money when I launch something. I get carried away with the project, and everything falls into place naturally and it all works out."

A second installment of "Floricienta" is set to launch in early 2005. The show's first season ends Nov. 12.

Asked if the soap's subject matter will be as relentlessly upbeat as her previous productions, Morena doesn't hesitate to reply.

"Yes. I'm very positive, and life already has too many negative things that don't need accentuating."

León Leans Toward Pop

Puerto Rican singer Melina León, best-known as a merengue artist, has long dipped her feet into pop music, mixing and matching the two in her recordings.

It has been a successful formula that has yielded León plenty of hits, including "Cuando Una Mujer."

Now, León is leaving merengue behind for pop, at least for now.

"Melina," released July 27 on Sony Discos, features 10 romantic, straight-ahead pop tracks, as well as a salsa version of single "Quiero Ser Tuya."

"I do include songs that have a fusion of styles, but there isn't a single merengue," says León, whose salsa track is her first foray into the genre.

"I didn't want to go back to that mix of ballads and merengue because I wanted to show that I can be versatile. People tend to catalog an album as tropical the minute they hear a merengue track. So, if I wanted to make ballads, well, the entire album is an album of ballads."

León is better-known as a pop artist than many imagine, thanks to the song "Qué Será de Tí," which was used in Telemundo soap opera "El Clon." The challenge now, León says, is matching the voice people know with a person they might not have seen.

"I want to particularly do heavier promotion in Los Angeles, which is a stronger market and one I would like to go into,' she says.

As part of León's string of promotional appearances, which includes a pair of Latin Grammy Awards Street Parties, she'll perform her signature merengue songs but will concentrate on her new pop material.

The direction that León has taken on her new album is the direct opposite of colleague Gisselle, who has also long peppered her merengue albums with pop. Gisselle's latest album, "Contra La Marea," released earlier this year on Universal, is almost entirely merengue-based.

MTV IN PUERTO RICO: The latest Spanish-language territory to get its MTV is Puerto Rico. MTV Puerto Rico launched Aug. 11 through an agreement with LIN TV, owner of local station Channel 24. MTV Puerto Rico will air on Channel 24 in San Juan and on LIN TV-owned stations throughout the island.

Initially, MTV programming will air between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m. daily and will feature music videos strategically programmed for Puerto Rican audiences, according to Jessica Roffe, director of programming for MTV Español, VH Uno and MTV Puerto Rico. Tropical, reggaetón, rock en español, pop and hip-hop are expected to be prominently featured in the mix. According to Roffe, MTV Puerto Rico will gradually add original programming. The channel is slated to open its Puerto Rican studios in November with local VJs.

SHAKIRA'S FORMER REP DIES: Patricia Téllez, former manager of Colombian star Shakira and her longtime representative in Colombia, died of a heart attack Aug. 17 in Bogotá. Téllez was 47 years old.

Téllez first struck a relationship with Shakira in 1995. She was already her manager when the (Continued on page 39)

Bisbal Tours Around Spain In 80 Dates

BY HOWELL LLEWELLYN

MADRID—Spanish heartthrob David Bisbal has launched Spain's biggest tour of the year in support of his second album, "Bulería" (Vale Music/Universal).

The 80-date outing kicked off May 21 in Córdoba, and it is already sold out. The trek includes two September concerts at Madrid's 20,000-capacity Las Ventas bullring and two shows at Barcelona's 18,000capacity Palau Sant Jordi.

The tour is sponsored by Viceroy, a maker of necklaces and watches that has sponsored tours since the late '90s by such artists as Alejandro Sanz and Julio Iglesias.

Viceroy also sponsors Spain's main weather program following the national news at 4 p.m. Recently, the weather report has been preceded by a two-minute spot promoting Bisbal's album and tour.

Sales of the album, which arrived in February, have surpassed 900,000 in Spain, according to the country's recording industry association, AFYVE.

With the likely bump from the tour, "Bulería" should reach the European platinum mark (1 million albums sold) by the time the tour ends in mid-October, says Dani Molina, international exploitation director at Vale Music.

Most recently, sales of "Bulería" surged in Spain after Vale released a new CD/DVD version of the album that includes several Bisbal videos.

"Bulería" is the follow-up to Bisbal's debut album, "Corazón Latino," which has sold 1.2 million copies in Spain.

Bisbal is the most successful alumnus of Spanish TV show "Operación Triunfo," a reality program that blends elements of American TV shows "American Idol" and "Big Brother."

Although Bisbal did not win first prize, his album outsold those of anyone else from the show. Last year, Bisbal won a Latin Grammy Award for best new artist. This year, he is nominated in the best male pop album category.

Molina says total "Bulería" sales in Spain, the United States and Latin America are close to 1.5 million copies, which is more than "Corazón Latino" has sold. "Bulería" has achieved gold status in Venezuela (25,000 copies), Argentina (60,000) and Colombia (50,000) and Latin gold status (100,000 or better) in the U.S.

Bisbal has been relentlessly promoted in those markets. In November, he'll play seven concerts in the United States and three in Mexico. A full Latin America and U.S. tour will launch next year.

According to Molina, plans call for "Bulería" to be released in Europe and Asia with two new songs in English and at least one duet with international stars.

Bisbal is making additional inroads in Mexico as well. Current single "Desnúdate Mujer," which he co-wrote, is on the soundtrack to upcoming Mexican film "Desnudos."

The artist's next single, "Esta Ausencia," will be the theme to an upcoming Televisa soap opera that will begin airing in the fall.

NEWS FROM SOUTH OF THE BORDER

IN MEXICO Paulina Rubio is readying her "Paulenques" tour. From Aug. 20 through Oct. 15, Rubio will play palenques in 19 Mexican states. The palenque is an informal theater that stages performances along with cockfights and other entertainment. Rubio, who has played these kind of venues in the past, named her shows there "Paulenques." In her performances, she uses mariachis and DJs, and in large cities like Mexico's Monterrey, Guadalajara and Mexico City, she incorporates a special stage that uses special effects and robotic lights . . .

In celebration of the recent success of his album "Mundo Lite" (EMI), singer/songwriter Aleks Syntek has launched a contest inviting amateur musicians to remix tracks from the album. Contestants can download a capella tracks of Syntek's vocals, on MP3 format, from his Web site, alekssyntek.com.mx. They then have until Sept. 30 to submit their demos. Syntek says he will personally select the winners, whose works will be included in a special-edition album titled "Mundo Ultra Lite."

SGAE's Rock En Ñ Returns To States

BY HOWELL LLEWELLYN

MADRID-Rock en Ñ, the annual pilgrimage of Spanish authors and publishers society SGAE to Latin America to promote alternative pop/rock acts, is making a timid return to the United States this year.

The 23-stop, nine-nation tourwhich begins Nov. 11 in Santiago, Chile, and ends Dec. 5 in Porto Alegre, Brazil-will visit Miami Nov. 14. The tour will include inaugural visits to Peru and Brazil.

Rock en Ñ's Miami show coincides with the initiative's fifth anniversary and is also part of the third annual Miami Rock Festival at Bayfront Park. Rock en Ñ's featured act will be Madridbased Argentine Marcelo Champanier, who just released his debut album, "El Club Del Aguante," on SGAE's nonprofit Factoría Autor label.

Rock en Ñ, which made a handful of stops in the United States in the past, bypassed the country last year. SGAE said the lack of industry support for alternative music made such a visit unviable.

This time, Rock en Ñ coordinator Xavier Novaes has new hope.

"Despite the media image, Miami is not just tropical and salsa. A city with so many layers of immigrants from so many countries has other more invigorating [styles of] music, and one result is that [the Miami Rock Festival attracts 7.000 people and is in its third year."

OTHER DATES

Beyond the United States, Spanish star Mikel Erentxun headlines two Mexico City concerts Nov. 18-19 with veteran Spanish group Los Secretos, which will play in Latin America for the first time in its 25-year history, and Argentina's Enanitos Verdes. Erentxun's album "Exitos" (DRO East West/ Warner) entered the Spanish charts at No. 13 in September. It was released Oct. 25 in the United States and in select Latin American states throughout October.

Los Secretos, who are also signed to DRO, were one of the key bands of the early-'80s cultural explosion here called "La Movida." The November concerts coincide with the October release in Mexico of the group's album "Los Secretos" (Warner).

"Despite the music industry crisis, this is our fifth year . . . of giving exposure to minority-interest artists across Latin America and in [U.S.] Latin markets," Novaes says. "The public response is fantastic everywhere we go, including in the U.S., but we sometimes have trouble getting support from the industry, [which] tends to sniff at music that is not easily classified on mainstream sales charts. The recent Latin Grammys, where some non-mainstream artists were acknowledged, were encouraging.'

SGAE will release a special 96-page

Rock en Ñ fifth anniversary catalog that will include photographs of the initiative's first four years covering 66 concerts by 92 acts.

"There is minimum text and some wonderful photos, and the catalog will become a collector's item," Novaes says.

Because of its limited budget, Rock en \tilde{N} takes advantage of tours already under way by Spanish artists. Such is the case with La Habitación Roja, which is currently touring Latin America. It will join SGAE in the Chilean cities of Santiago, Valparaiso and Concepción Nov. 11-14.

"The philosophy of Rock en N is for the artists to be protagonists, not SGAE," Novaes says.

Other featured Rock en Ñ acts include Spain's Carlos Jean and Argentina's Gustavo Cerati (formerly of Soda Stereo) and Rosario Bléfari playing Nov. 20 at the 15,000-capacity Anfiteatro Griego in Buenos Aires, where entry will cost fans one item of non-perishable food that will be donated to charity. Miami's Volumen Cero and Venezuela's Caramelos de Cianuro will headline shows in Peru, and Jorge Drexler & Friends will perform in Sao Paulo, Rio de Janeiro and Porto Alegre Dec. 2-5.

Fusion Feels Fine To Monchy & Alexandra

"Hasta el Fin," the new album by Monchy & Alexandra, debuted at No. 7 on the Billboard Top Latin Albums chart in the Nov. 6 issue. The Oct. 19 release marks the highest bow for the Dominican bachata duo, and the set's first single, "Perdidos," is garnering strong airplay.

The sales success is not only because of Monchy & Alexandra's growing reputation as purveyors of a new style of bachata but also the most extensive setup that label J&N has done to date.

In a twist, an instrumental version of "Hasta el Fin" has been released so listeners can sing along with it for karaoke; it includes a booklet with the lyrics. It is the first time in memory that this has been done for a bachata album. J&N plans to release similar instrumental versions of all its forthcoming albums to capitalize on the karaoke market.

The version of "Hasta el Fin" without vocals has not charted.

Monchy (whose real name is Ramón E. Rijo) & Alexandra (Alexandra Cabrera) attribute their success to their particular brand of romantic bachata, which mixes traditional rhythms with elements of pop and very slight touches of rock. "As representatives of bachata, we can't be blind to what happens in the

The duo continues its alliance with Colombian vallenato composer Wilfran Castillo, who wrote several of the tracks on "Hasta el Fin.

take care of the essence."

For their first album Monchy & Alexandra adapted Castillo's vallenatos to bachata rhythms; now the composer is writing material specifically for the duo.

"Colombian music has been very good to us," Rijo says. "Basically, it's the stories," he adds, referring to the narrative element inherent in vallenato music. "That's what I mean when I talk about fusions. Bachata used to be a little paralyzed. But when the market opened up and the bachata culture mixed with the vallenato culture, the results were incredible."

Ironically, Monchy & Alexandra have yet to tour in Colombia. But in a nod to the country, the video for "Perdidos" was shot in the historical city of Cartagena.

WHAT TEENS WANT: Exactly who are the Latino teenagers in the United States? "Marketing to Hispanic Teens," a panel at the What Teens Want conference held Oct. 26-27 in Los Angeles (and moderated by yours truly), revealed some surprising information on the makeup of Hispanic teens in this country.

According to Doug Darfield, head of Hispanic services at Nielsen Media Research, Latino teens constitute about 20% of all teenagers in the United States.

Those are big numbers. But who is catering to them?

Latina magazine founder Christy Haubegger, who helmed "Latino Intelligence," an in-depth study of Latino teens in the United States, shared preliminary findings of the study, which is set to be released this month.

An impressive 48% of the 14- to 24-year-olds interviewed identified themselves as bilingual. And yet, they do not consume much Spanishlanguage media nor do they identify their culture by language.

Their favorite networks are MTV, Fox and Comedy Central. Their favorite music is hip-hop. And they are proud of the mainstream's embrace of Latino culture and pop icons.

They love seeing Latinos in film and TV but do not base their viewing habits on whether the storylines contain a Latino presence. If they did, they said, they would never see any movies, as Latino characters are scarce.

IN BRIEF: The BMI Foundation has announced the second annual Peermusic Latin Scholarship. A $5,000 award, funded by Peermusic, will be given to the best song or instrumental composition in a Latin genre. Details are listed at bmifoundation.org.

New Acts Try Ol' No. 7

New Latin acts are getting a major break thanks to an unusual sponsorship opportunity.

Jack Daniel's, through its "Studio No. 7" promotional campaign, will present a series of concerts in Miami, Los Angeles and New York featuring established artists as well as local and even unsigned acts.

In Miami, the promotion goes a step further with the release of a special CD that will feature tracks by Sacha Nairobi, Soniko, Locos por Juana, Tango36, Suenalo Sound System, Panas and Monte*rosa. All are local alternative bands with loyal followings that have achieved varying levels of success. Locos por Juana, for example, is signed to major indie MP Records and its music has appeared on various compilations.

"Our purpose is to integrate our brand with the community . . . and gain new awareness of our brand with the Hispanic consumer," says Patricia Vasconcelos, East Coast Hispanic marketing manager for Jack Daniel's.

The Miami focus on lesserknown acts was a conscious choice. "In Miami we wanted to match the vibe of the music scene, which is maybe not so mainstream." Vasconcelos savs.

The members of the selected bands range in age between 21 and 34 years old—the target age for a "new" Jack Daniel's consumer, she says.

Studio No. 7's Miami series will launch with an Oct. 28 show, followed by monthly concerts through February 2005. A grand finale, featuring a major act, is slated to take place in March or April. Ten thousand promotional CDs will be pressed and distributed at the venues.

"They're betting on new acts," says Luis Sanabria of Shock Entertainment, the Miami-based marketing/event promotion company in charge of the Studio No. 7 promotion. However, he says, the acts have proved they have an audience who will come hear them play—and be exposed to Jack Daniel's products.

The Studio No. 7 promotion was originally designed for the general market but is being implemented first in the Latin marketplace. It should go to the general market by February, Vasconcelos says.

Studio No. 7 kicked off in New York in September. The promotion will launch in Los Angeles this month.

THE INDIE LIFE: Two new record labels focusing on Latin alternative music have opened on opposite coasts: Urbano Records in Los Angeles and Fábrika Music in Miami Urbano Records was founded by Issa Wilson, president of Los Angeles-based Latin Music Artists. It will specialize in urban/regional, reggaetón and Latin alternative. Its first release will be the Nov. 16 self-titled debut of Ana Alicia, a former contestant on Telemundo's reality show "Protagonistas de Telenovela." Urbano will also release a compilation CD, "Latin Divas," featuring up-and-coming female singers.

The label will be distributed through Big Intertainment, a Los Angeles-based indie label that has a deal with EMI. LMA, which launched last year, acts as a liaison between signed and unsigned acts and the record, film, publishing and TV industries.

Fábrika Music is a joint venture between Latin alternative promotion/marketing company Fábrika and Diversus Entertainment, a Latin management and promotion company. Fábrika Music will be distributed through indie J&N Records, which in turn is distributed by Sony.

The first act signed to Fábrika Music is Soniko. The group is part of the Jack Daniel's "Studio No. 7" promotion in Miami.

CLARIFICATION: The release of "La Ficha Clave," the farewell album by Edgardo Franco (aka El General), has been pushed back one week to Nov. 9 (Billboard, Oct. 16).

As reported, El General shot a video for each of the 11 tracks on the album. These will not be released with "La Ficha Clave," but as a separate DVD, "Más Intimo," due out Jan. 25, 2005. The DVD includes a 20-minute biopic on El General, the rise of reggae and reggaetón and his foundation, Niños Pobres Sin Fronteras.

Universal Expands Client Base With B2B Offering

BY TOM GOMES

SAO PAULO, Brazil-In an effort to diversify and expand its client base, Universal Music Brazil is now selling product directly to retailers throughout the country via its own businessto-business service.

Launched last month, Universal Music Facil allows business owners to browse Universal's full catalog online at universalmusicfacil.com and order product directly from the label. ("Facil" translates to "easy.")

The implementation of Universal Music Facil makes Universal the first music company in Brazil to use B2B technology to reach clients. So far, executives say, the results have exceeded expectations.

"We are very confident about the possibilities of B2B, which has already brought us 200 new clients in just one month," Universal Music Brazil GM Jose Eboli says. "In a country where the stores specializing in selling records are vanishing, it's very positive to create new channels of sales."

The service is especially practical in Brazil, a huge country where distribution is difficult. Among the major labels, only Sony has its own distribution company. All others, including Universal, rely on one-stops and thirdparty distributors.

Universal Music Facil, Eboli says, functions like amazon.com, except users must be registered businesses as opposed to individual buyers.

With Universal Music Facil, Eboli says, any business-including bookstores, cafes, clubs, restaurants and pharmacies—can access Universal's catalog online and sign on as a new client, effectively bypassing the middleman.

Minimum orders are not required, and product is received approximately four days after an order is placed, according to Raimundo Assumpção, sales director for Universal Music Brazil. Returns are not accepted.

The implementation of Universal's new B2B system was possible for several reasons.

Among them, credit cards have replaced checks as a form of payment, which allows for easy Internet ordering and payment. In addition, mail service in Latin America has improved considerably in terms of security and speed of delivery.

BACK TO BASICS

"Our business is going back to its very beginnings, when we used to visit store by store and were able to know the preferences of our customers day by day, neighborhood by neighborhood, city by city," says Jesus Lopez, chairman of Universal Music Latin America/Iberian Peninsula. "That contact with the final customer has been lost over time," he adds. "But B2B has allowed us to approach [clients] again and has given us the feedback we had been searching for. We now have a much faster and more accurate idea about the interests of our customers.'

And those customers have a wider choice when it comes to Universal's product. According to Eboli, the label has a catalog of some 3,000 titles and a wide range of music. One-stops tend to focus on the big sellers.

"They are our new partners," Eboli says. "They are motivated to sell CDs and DVDs because that increases their profits. It is a new concept. Each day we will create more places for music lovers in every city, no matter how big or small they are. We will make our products more accessible to the customers. And indeed, that is the most important enterprise to revitalize the market," he adds.

Universal introduced the same system in Argentina this month and Lopez says the technology will soon be used in Mexico as well.

'We only have to adapt it to the characteristics of each country,

Rubio Wins Big

BY LEILA COBO

Paulina Rubio was the big winner with three awards, including artist of the year, at the sixth annual El Premio de la Gente Latin Music Fan Awards, held Oct. 21 at the Universal Amphitheater in Los Angeles, Chayanne and David Bisbal followed with two wins each. Chayanne won the male pop artist of the year and best music video awards, while Bishal was awarded best new artist and contemporary artist of the year.

Rubio wasn't able to collect her trophies, as she was hosting the MTV Video Music Awards Latin America, which took place the same evening in Miami Beach.

Gloria Trevi, aka "the Mexican Madonna," was scheduled to sing during the El Premio awards show, making it her first public performance since her release from prison.

The awards show will air Oct. 30 on the Telemundo network.

San Juan Coliseum Almost Ready

BY IAN MALINOW MACEO

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico—The opening of Puerto Rico's largest indoor arena, the Jose Miguel Agrelot Coliseum, is expected to pump millions of dollars into the local economy and give a much-needed boost to its ailing entertainment industry.

But since work on the project began more than five years ago, it has been beset by construction delays and spiraling costs that surpass $300 million.

Moreover, proposed legislation regarding who should manage the venue has been delayed in the Puerto Rican legislature.

In the meantime, Philadelphia-based facility management company SMG continues to handle the coliseum, set to open in September.

Originally, the venue—which has a maximum capacity of 18,500 seats—was supposed to have opened more than two years ago, but a change in construction firms put the project on hold for months. It also nixed plans to have the Rolling Stones inaugurate the state-of-the-art multiplex, which will house concert and sporting events.

The opening was rescheduled for this past April, but new construction delays and snags in obtaining the required municipal permits again pushed the project back.

Nonetheless, in June the venue's managing officials assured it will welcome its first visitors in September, six years after construction first started under former governor Pedro Rossello's administration.

"At this moment, the construction work is over 99% complete, so if everything runs smoothly and as projected, we should be holding our first big event in late August or early September," SMG marketing director Jochi Davila says.

According to Davila, the arena will require 50 full-time positions, plus a number of hirings per event.

"This will represent approximately $5 million in direct and indirect jobs that the structure will generate to the local economy," Davila says.

The Commonwealth of Puerto Rico owns the coliseum. SMG has a contract with the commonwealth's Government Development Bank to run the facility for $300,000 per year for three years, with an option to renew for two more years.

But this could change by 2005. A group of local producers led by Angelo Medina, Ricky Martin's former manager, is pushing for legThe legislation aims to form a board of directors comprising professionals who are experts in the management of large arenas. But it also establishes that government officials will appoint the corporation members.

"We are all for fair competition in the concert producing busi-

"We are all for fair competition in the concert producing business, but the key word here is 'fair,' " says Medina, who is one of the island's top event producers.

"SMG's contract has all it takes to create a monopoly. And that's why we have joined forces to create a fair environment for everyone."

The proposed legislation is awaiting ratification from the Puerto Rico Legislature, which reconvenes in 2005. This year's session ended June 30.

So far, high-ranking SMG officials like Davila have stated that the company will only manage the arena and not produce concerts.

STATE-OF-THE-ART VENUE

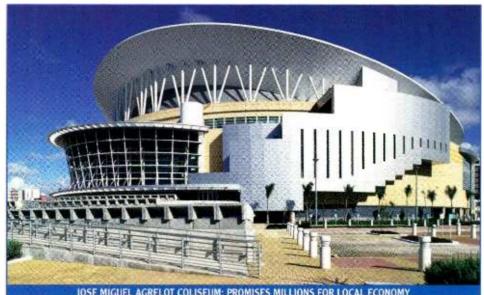

The plan to build the new coliseum was proposed by the Rossello administration in 1996. Government officials intended to make the island more attractive to the international Olympic Committee, which at the time was considering Puerto Rico as a possible site to host the 2004 Olympic Games.

The island was passed over, but the administration decided to go ahead with the project.

Davila says the structure has no real competition in terms of its appeal to bring more business to the island. None of the five major concert venues in the San Juan metropolitan area (including coliseums, stadiums and amphitheaters) has an indoor capacity of more than 10,000 seats. The seating capacity and the cutting-edge facilities not only make Puerto Rico a more appealing destination for stars but also make major events more feasible for concert producers.

"Thousands of professional U.S. athletes and music stars would (Continued on page 27)

islation to curb SMG's managing powers over the structure.

The team has raised worries that SMG's total control of the arena will allow the company to block local producers in favor of megaproduction firms like Clear Channel Entertainment that already have a longstanding business relationship with the company.

Regional Mexican Dominates

Regional Mexican music has dominated the Billboard Top Latin Albums chart for the past two years. That dominance is particularly obvious on this week's chart, where 20 out of the top 25 titles on the list fall under the genre.

They include charttoppers Los Temerarios, who debut at No. 1 with "Veintisiete" (Fonovisa).
The album is a first for this top-selling romantic grupero duet in that it features only rancheras, many of them standards of the Mexican repertoire.
Tracks include the single
"Qué de Raro Tiene" and Vicente Fernández's "Las Llaves de Mi Alma," fea-

And if regional Mexican music is noteworthy for its dominance, pop music is conspicuous by its absence. Only two titles—Marc Anthony's "Amar Sin Mentiras" (Sony) and Ozomatli's "Street Signs" (Concord)—are in the top 25. The other three nonregional Mexican titles are reggaetón albums, the most promituring Fernández as a guest artist.

nent being Don Omar's "The Last Don Live, Vol. 1" (VI Music).

In contrast, pop dominates the Hot Latin Tracks chart. There, 12 out of the top 25 titles are pop, including the No. 1 song "Vivo y Muero en Tu Piel," by Jennifer Peña. It should be noted that "Vivo y Muero" is also playing in tropical and regional Mexican versions, which boost the title's standing on Hot Latin Tracks.

We are disinclined to think this is merely a reflection of the U.S. Latin taste in Latin music. Rather, we think that when it comes to pop music, buyers are not always hearing what interests them on the airwaves. The problem is that Latin pop radio, unlike regional Mexican radio, stays glued to the spot with the same songs and the same artists. As a result, Latin pop's airplay chart is peppered with tracks from albums that are more than a year old. Further, many of the top-selling acts on the chart—including Akwid, Ozomatli, Lunytunes and Clan Trebol—get no airplay at all, in any format.

On the bright side, however, there appears to be a dedicated effort to break new pop acts in the Latin market. That is the case with newcomers like Kalimba and Ha'ash, both on Sony, and with acts that already have made a name elsewhere but still haven't had a U.S. breakthrough, like Alex Ubago (Warner), Julieta Venegas (BMG) and Aleks Syntek (EMI).

SOLIS & SEBASTIAN SOAR: "Dos Grandes" by Marco Antonio Solis & Joan Sebastian (Fonovisa/UG) is the Greatest Gainer on Top Latin Albums this week, leaping 42-3. The album debuted last week because of street date violations and scanned more than 1,000 copies before its official release. It has now seen a 586% increase in its first full week of sales. Solis and Sebastian are currently touring together.

AGUILAR EXITS: Regional Mexican star Pepe Aguilar and his label of one year, Univision Records, have parted ways. Aguilar signed with Univision just last year and released two albums.

In a statement, Aguilar and Univision say they've decided to "amicably" sever their multialbum agreement. Aguilar is reportedly negotiating with at least two major labels regarding a deal.

Aguilar's current single, "Miedo," which is at No. 10 on this week's Hot Latin Tracks chart, is part of an EMI compilation, "Las Más Pegadas," slated for a July 27 release.

IN BRIEF: Mexican singer/songwriter Aleks Syntek has signed an administration deal with SESAC Latina that covers the United States and Puerto Rico. Syntek signed his new deal in Mexico City with SESAC Latin director J.J. Cheng.

Syntek's newest single, "Duele El Amor," a duet with Ana Torroja, is currently No. 6 on the Billboard Hot Latin Tracks chart.

Bentley Is Courvoisier's Gentleman

BY GAIL MITCHELL

LOS ANGELES—"The reality is, hip-hop is growing up. Just because I'm dressed like this doesn't mean I'm not hip-hop."

So declares Fonzworth Bentley, one-time Man Friday to hip-hop entrepreneur Sean "P. Diddy" Combs. Most music fans also know the Atlanta native as a musical and video sidekick to such acts as OutKast and Kanye West.

The dapper, bow-tie-wearing, umbrellatoting gent has parlayed his popularity into a stint as Courvoisier's "Arbiter of Good Taste." The position dovetails nicely with Bentley's self-appointed role as leader of what he calls hip-hop's "gentlemen's movement."

Many people refer to the current day as "the golden age of disrespect," says Bentley, whose given name is Derek Watkins.

"It's important to carry yourself with a little more care and be thoughtful of others, but that's being lost," he says. "Where is tradition going? I remember when my dad taught me how to tie my own tie. Are we just going to hand down jogging suits to our kids?

"People think I'm doing something new," he adds. "I'm just holding the banner for people like Sammy Davis Jr., the Nicholas Brothers and Duke Ellington." Courvoisier is tapping into that sophisticated wellspring. Hoping to build on its status among urban tastemakers, the company—together with brand marketer Allied Domecq Spirits North America—launched a campaign with

The campaign's initial event was the recently wrapped Most Exclusive Courvoisier VSOP Gentleman's tour.

Bentley as its focal point.

The six-city tour hit such markets as Philadelphia, Los Angeles and Atlanta throughout May. At each stop, Bentley did media interviews, visited local retailers and autographed bottles of the cognac.

In the evening, he and the Courvoisier Bentley Ladies traveled by stretch limousine to a popular night-spot. The contingent held court while selected male attendees received style makeovers and the chance to win a prize as "Most Exclusive VSOP Exclusive VSOP Gentleman of the Evening." Participating nightspots featured the CV Bentley cocktail, a blend of VSOP, lemon juice, simple syrup and ginger ale.

Bentley's gentlemen's movement "is very relevant today in the urban market," Courvoisier

VP of marketing Barbara Jackson says. "Even Jay-Z has switched from rapping about throwback jerseys and now touts button-down shirts.

"It's really a revitalization of the urban culture from the '50s and '60s, when wearing a fedora and a three-piece suit to a club was standard practice."

The Bentley tie-in marks the first time Courvoisier has teamed with a single individual in the hip-hop realm.

Entrepreneur Russell Simmons, a longtime consultant to Courvoisier, brought Bentley to the company's attention.

"Bentley embodies and promotes the same qualities associated with Courvoisier—style, luxury, good taste and a sense of fashion," Jackson says.

According to Jackson, the "Arbiter of Good Taste" campaign will run through the end of the year; the tour's second leg kicks off this fall. Jackson says there are no plans to incorporate other spokesmen.

Meanwhile, Bentley will launch his own umbrella line this fall. He is also participating in Tommy Hilfiger's upcoming Tommy Jeans ad campaign.

"Being elegantly appointed, you really get a different level of respect, whether you're black or white," Bentley says. "The reality is, no matter how talented you are or who you know, 75% of everything is your image and the way you present yourself. This is something I'm really pushing hard."

Founders Nod To Hayes

Billboard has selected industry pioneer Isaac Hayes as a 2004 R&B Founders Award honoree.

The magazine will salute the singer/songwriter/musician/producer during its annual R&B/Hip-Hop Awards ceremony Aug. 6.

Previous recipients are the Isley Brothers, Afrika Bambaataa, Grandmaster Flash and Betty Wright.

The awards ceremony will take place at Barton G (formerly Billboardlive) in Miami Beach. It will conclude the fifth annual Bill-board/American Urban Radio Networks R&B/Hip-Hop Conference, which runs Aug. 4-6 at the Eden Roc Resort in Miami Beach.

MORE ABOUT THE FONZ: He may not have a label deal yet, but that isn't stopping Fonzworth Bentley (see story, above) from pursuing his muse.

He already has an interlude under his fashionable belt: "Cheers to Me Mr. Bentley" from Da Band's debut set, "Too Hot for T.V." Now he is on the remix of Kanye West's "The New Workout Plan." And he recently filmed a Tommy Hilfiger/ Tommy Jeans commercial. The ad, whose music features Bentley's freestyling, is slated for a midsummer launch.

Describing his Hilfiger turn as "electric," Bentley declares he is merely fulfilling an industry request.

me to be a recording artist."

Bentley attended a performing arts high school in Atlanta, where he sang in the boys' chorus. He also played violin for eight years.

says. "It's like the industry is calling

"But I thought, 'Hold on—Pee Wee Herman had a dance and jingle known worldwide,' "Bentley says. "So let's see what's going on."

Bentley names West and OutKast's André 3000 among the artist/producers he is talking to about his fledgling recording project.

In the meantime, Bentley will host the reality-based MTV pilot "Borrow My Crew." He and his manager, Andre Harrell, are co-executive producers, along with executive producer Sean "P. Diddy" Combs.

MUSICAL NOTES: Recent Jive Records signee Chanté Moore will soon begin recording a new album, due in early 2005. Moore says she will have a single ready this fall.

The set will include solo songs by Moore and her husband, Kenny Lattimore. The pair's first musical collaboration was the 2003 Arista release, "Things That Lovers Do."

The new album will "talk more about the good and the bad in relationships," Moore says.

Moore is also starting a two-year gig as spokeswoman for Brown Sugar, a hair color line from L'Oréal division Mizrani (Billboard, May 29).

KUDOS... To the R&B and rap winners at the 2004 California Music Awards (held June 6 at Oakland, Calif.'s Frank Ogawa Plaza). They are Black Eyed Peas (outstanding hiphop album for "Elephunk"), Tower of Power (outstanding R&B album for "Havin' Fun") and Marginal Prophets (outstanding rap album for "Bohemian Rap CD"). Rapper E-40 performed and presented a certificate of appreciation to rapper/producer E-A-Ski in recognition of his musical influence.

Café Quijano's Soccer Kick

BY LEILA COBO

In an effort to pump up fans during the upcoming European soccer tournament, Spain's national soccer team has turned to the country's best-selling pop/rock band for added excitement.

"Sírvame Una Copita" (Serve Me a Drink), written and performed by Café Quijano, is the official theme song of the Spanish soccer team.

The announcement came during a June 4 press conference in Madrid.

The track will be used for all TV and radio promotion surrounding the tournament, which runs June 12-July 4. It will also be played during each of Spain's games.

The song is also featured on a reissue of Quijano's current album, "Qué Grande Es Esto del Amor." The set howed June 1.

The album was originally released last November in Spain. A third version of the album, which will include "Sírvame Una Copita," will be released in the United States and Latin America

Additionally, the song will be used in a Mahou Beer campaign featuring the Spanish soccer team and Café Quijano.

Although this isn't the first time

Spain's Soccer Federation has commissioned a theme song, it's the first time the organization went directly to the artist instead of through a mediating media organization.

Fernando Garrido, director of communications for the federation, says that Manuel Quijano, lead songwriter for Café Quijano, "understood how to write a song that talks about the team without mentioning it; that conveys the importance of the tournament without actually saving it." The band includes Manuel's brothers Oscar and Raúl.

The music of Café Quijano has long been used in advertising. But the first time the group specifically wrote a song for a product was last year. The track "Dáme De Esa Boca," which is included on "Qué Grande," was written for a previous Mahou Beer campaign (Latin Notas, Billboard, April 24).

As with "Sírvame Una Copita," the song never mentions the actual product it touts. Instead, it uses a woman as a metaphor for a Mahou beer. In "Sírvame," a woman is a metaphor for the coveted championship cup.

Because "Sírvame" does not incorporate sports cheers or phrases, "it's a song that has a life of its own and can keep on playing even after the tournament is over," says Manuel, who didn't charge the federation to use the song.

"Normally, we do so," he says. "But not in this case, because it will be akin to the country's anthem. It's all for the love of soccer," he adds with a laugh.

"Sírvame" was sent to radio stations as the group's new single.

The track also airs on Televisión Española, Spain's official TV network. It is played during promos for the tournament as well as during game telecasts.

Café Quijano is in the middle of a 75date Spanish tour sponsored by the tourism office of Castilla v León.

The group plans to visit the United States and Latin America in the fall to promote "Qué Grande."

The U.S./Latin release will differ from the Spanish version by including tracks from Quijano's previous album,

"La Taberna del Buda."

"We love this act, and we're retaking the project," says Iñigo Zabala, president of Warner Music Latin America.

Chasing After The NGL

What's an NGL? The term was tossed around at the first New Generation Latino Consortium Media, Marketing & Entertainment Conference, held May 26 in New York.

An NGL is a "new-generation Latino," perceived as younger (from tweens to 35-year-olds), acculturated, often U.S.-born, bilingual and bicultural.

The typical NGL consumes predominantly English-language media but remains tied to his or her roots, NGLC chairman David Chitel said

Aside from presiding over the NGLC, Chitel runs his own company, Latcom Communications, which he started in 2001. Based in New York, Latcom (whose partners include John Leguizamo) is a media and entertainment firm specifically geared toward the NGL.

"When new trends start to emerge, in this case awareness and spending [on a new marketplace], it takes a while," Chitel said after the conference. "I'm not waiting for this pendulum to swing toward us, and the organization [NGLC] is making it go that much quicker.

That the term "NGL" has now entered the lingo of marketers and brands, Chitel adds, "is huge."

So, what did the NGLC conference achieve?

For one, it brought together media and marketing professionals from around the country who are specifically seeking to target the new Latin consumer. It's a theme that has been repeated many times in past years. But certainly, the notion that this is a real marketplace not to be loosely addressed anymore seems to have taken much stronger ground and achieved a momentum and credibility that wasn't there before.

"It's not a language," said Manny Vidal, CEO of Vidal Partnership. "It's a cultural comfort zone. It has nothing to do with language."

As far as music goes, this columnist definitely thinks it is a language issue, at least until major media players—for example, the MTVs of the world—add

Latin content to their programming. But we do agree with the notion that the Latin marketplace is no

"We're beyond saying, 'If it's not in Spanish, it's not relevant,' "Chitel said. "It is relevant, but there's tance of the message," says Martin, who unveiled the segments during a press conference May 27 in Puerto Rico. The 30-second spots were recorded in Spanish, English and Portuguese and feature Martin and

The PSAs' message is that sexual exploitation and abuse of children is where," Martin says. "It's not just something that happens in the Third World. It's something that can happen in your neighborhood.'

Martin launched People for Children last year (Billboard, May 24, 2003) as an initiative to raise awareness of and fight child pornography and child prostitution worldwide.

Although People for Children longer about Spanish speakers alone.

'PEOPLE' PSAs: Ricky Martin's People for Children campaign will gain new visibility thanks to three public service announcements that will start airing in the United States and Latin America this month.

"The PSAs underscore the imporchild actors from Puerto Rico.

a problem that can take place "every-already provides services through Casa Alianza in Central America, its first order is to raise awareness.

"When someone like Ricky Martin talks about an issue like this, it gets a lot of attention," says Dr. Bruce Harris, executive director for Latin American programs for Casa Alianza. Harris spoke with Billboard when People for Children was launched and also sits on its board of advisers.

So now, Martin is talking. He's talking about little boys who are raped 50 times a day and little girls who are sold as prostitutes by their parents.

"In the PSAs I speak pretty bluntly," Martin says. "But I can't speak about rosy colors when the reality is terribly dark. This is organized crime, but the difference between this and the drug trade is that drugs are used and discarded. Children instead are recycled.'

Music DVD Sees Year-End Surge Of Releases

BY LEILA COBO

A slew of late-year releases has placed renewed attention on the burgeoning Latin music DVD market. Titles by such stars as Ricardo Arjona, Alejandro Sanz, Maná, La Ley, Alejandro Fernandez, Eros Ramazotti, Luis Fonsi, Enanitos Verdes and Jose Alfredo Jimenez are expected to not only increase sales of the format but also highlight the market's potential.

"It's still an underserved market," says Hinsul Lazo, owner of HL Distributors, a Miami-based one-stop that also operates as a brick-and-mortar and online retailer. Lazo believes there is an avid market for Latin titles that have been slow in coming.

"How many DVDs of Argentine or Spanish artists do you see?" he asks. "It's terribly underdeveloped." Lazo's music DVD business now accounts for approximately 10% of his total business, up from 5% the year before.

Lazo is not alone in seeing an increase. According to midyear shipment numbers released by the Recording Industry Assn. of America, Latin music DVDs went from 208,000 units in the first six months of 2003 to 726,000 for the first half of this year. The increase represents a 249.5% leap in units and a 222.5% jump in dollar value.

While these are not yet huge numbers, the growth potential is obviously there.

Label heads have been taking note since last year, when the CD/DVD combo format took off in the Latin market and since then has practically become a standard for some labels.

"It's great added value," says Jose Behar, president/CEO of Univision Music Group, noting that CD/DVD releases now account for approximately 65% of UMG's sales.

Those same CD/DVD releases have significantly bolstered Latin music's presence on the Billboard Music Video Sales chart.

Among the chart's top sellers to date have been Latin CD/DVD combos by Los Temerarios, Marco Antonio Solís (both on Fonovisa) and Shakira (Sony). Among these, Shakira's "Live & Off the Record" is the only one whose DVD features a live show and a 90-minute documentary.

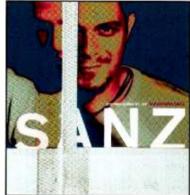

That kind of DVD—which goes beyond serving as a companion piece that includes only some videos—constitutes the majority of this new crop of fourthquarter releases.

Arjona's "Solo" (Sony), for example, out Nov. 23 (see story, page 23), is best-described as a kind of documentary/biopic. It is accompanied by a CD of newly recorded acoustic versions of his hits and one new song. Jennifer Peña's "Houston: Rodeo Live" is a live concert CD/DVD from her sold-out show at the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo.

Alex Ubago's "Concierto En Vivo" (Warner), which also came out Nov. 23, is a live concert that is being released only as a DVD. So is Maná's "Total Access," a mix of live show and documentary, and Alejandro Sanz's "Los Videos," which includes all of the artist's videos.

A fourth Warner title, La Ley's "Historias e Histeria," is a CD/DVD combo; the DVD includes the band's 23 videos.

Releasing all of these DVD titles on or around the same date, Warner national sales director Hugo Flores says, was no coincidence. The goal, he says, was to provide buyers with multiple DVD choices.

"We're going to be even more aggressive with DVDs next year," Flores says. "Sales are increasing every day, and the good thing is, we're trying to release DVDs with something different, to entice the consumer."

Flores is also banking on retailers' increasing practice of having a separate section for Latin music DVDs.

"The explosion of Latin music DVDs is incredible," says Ines Cortes, regional marketing manager for Trans World Entertainment, which includes the Specs and F.Y.E. chains. "We have a great collection coming up. Everybody is releasing CD/DVD combos, but the DVD alone is also selling very well."

ARTISTS LIKE IT, TOO

Beyond the commercial implications, the notion of a DVD release is attractive to artists as well.

"The DVD is the bridge to the audience," says Felipe Staiti, guitarist for Argentine rock band Enanitos Verdes. "I'm not that into watching videoclips, but being able to get that close to a band through a DVD, where the image is accompanied by music, is fantastic to me."

Enanitos Verdes recently released its first live album, "En Vivo!," on Universal Music Latino. Culled from concerts in Phoenix and Tijuana, Mexico, "En Vivo!" is also set for DVD release in December.

"A lot of it has to do with making a decision jointly with the artist," says Gabriella Martinez, VP of marketing for Warner Music Latin America, explaining the variety to be found among Warner's DVD offerings.

In Maná's case, she notes, the objective was an image-driven release.

"One format will never substitute the other," she says.

Staiti says, "In this day and age, it's crucial that a band has a DVD that shows them playing live."

Indie Latinflava Making Tracks With Mosa

If you have been following the Billboard Top Latin Albums chart in recent weeks, you may have noticed that Mosa's "Dámelo" is slowly making its way up the ranks. In the Nov. 27 issue, the album leapt from No. 50 to No. 36. The title track is getting significant airplay from only one station—Latin AC WSKQ (97.9 FM) New York.

So, what's the deal with "Dámelo"? The album is on indie label Latinflava, which was recently launched in New York by Contemporary Holdings and Equities and is run by president Ney Pimentel. Latinflava also owns its own distribution outfit, Urban Box Office.

According to British producer and Latinflava founder Adam Kidron, the label's aspirations can be summed up in three parts:

"Reduce the price to a price consumers can afford, liberate the artist by allowing them to own their master and distribute as close to the community as you possibly can."

Enter Mosa, a fourman, one-woman group that plays pop-tinged reggaetón. The band's album retails for $6 and is sold at traditional and nontraditional music retailers, Kidron says.

Nontraditional retail outlets include gyms, bodegas, local grocery stores and vending machines. Already, Kidron has installed three vending machines that distribute albums and downloads at the King of Prussia Mall in King of Prussia, Pa. The label's marketing is also imaginative, with multiple deals in place, including one with Cingular. "We don't have fixed costs, we don't have long-term contracts and we are very judicious in how we do our marketing," Kidron says.

Upcoming Latinflava releases include an album by Fragancia and a reggaetón compilation.

VISUAL CHOICE: Music Choice is in the process of offering videos via some of the cable networks that carry the channel. Although the videos will be offered as ondemand selections, they're free to the consumer

When a song plays on any of Music Choice's Latin channels, for example, viewers will have the option of requesting the video and then watching it as many times as they want. Viewers can also choose any video from Music Choice's library, regardless of whether the song is playing.

GOOD CAUSE: Mexican rockers Jaguares will headline a benefit concert, Justice for the Women of Juarez, Dec. 2 at the House of Blues in Los Angeles.

Sponsored by Amnesty International, the show seeks to draw attention to the unsolved murders and disappearances of nearly 400 women near the U.S.-Juarez, Mexico, border. Jaguares have been active in denouncing the Juarez murders.

IN BRIEF: Latin fusion band Ozomatli has signed a worldwide administration deal with Famous Music Publishing. The deal covers the group's most recent album, "Street Signs," which is on Concord Records.
Ozomatli's members all have their own publishing companies, previously administered by Rondor.

Dominican merenguero Toño Rosario has signed a multi-album deal with Universal Music Latino.
His first release under his new label is "Resistire," due Dec. 7. Rosario was previously signed to Warner Music
Latina. In other Universal Music

Latino news, the label has renewed its contract with norteño icons Los Tucanes de Tijuana.

Man"), Usher (R&B voice of the year), Anthony Hamilton (the next award), Kevin Lyttle and Spragga Benz (boomshot award for the "Turn Me On" remix) and Jadakiss featuring Hamilton, Styles P., Common and Nas (coolest collabo for the "Why?" remix).

THROUGH THE FIRE: Jon B acknowledges that the last four years have been tough. For one thing, his studio burned down. Then he was mired in label limbo.

But the latter situation is no longer the case with the recent release of "Stronger Everyday." His first album since the 2001 set "Pleasures U Like" arrives by way of Sanctuary Urban Records Group/ E2 Music Group/Vibe Select/BMG.

"This album is an encouraging statement to anyone who has been through hard times," the Pasadena, Calif.-based singer/songwriter says. "It's true that what doesn't kill you makes you stronger. You've got to keep it flowing."

While maintaining his smooth R&B style, an edgier Jon B also surfaces on "Everyday," which was produced by Just Blaze and features the late Dirt McGirt (aka Old Dirty Bastard). Scarface joins the proceedings on "Through the Fire," which samples Aretha Franklin's "Precious Memories." Mentor Kenneth "Babyface" Edmonds also lends a hand.

"I've been sophisticated and smooth," Jon B says. "I wanted to throw in some rough edges."

In the midst of planning a tour, Jon B says other upcoming projects include producing a new R&B artist with Edmonds.

IN MEMORIAM: R&B lost another soul soldier with the passing of Dramatics member Lenny Mayes. The 53year-old, who suffered a heart attack this summer, died Nov. 8 after a battle with lung cancer. Mayes and L.J. Reynolds joined the group in 1973, two years after its first R&B/pop crossover hit, "Whatcha See Is Whatcha Get." Among the subsequent hits Mayes lent his tenor/baritone to are "Fell for You" and "Be My Girl."

Livi's New Label Targets Older Music Fans

EXCLUSIVE

BY LEILA COBO

MIAMI—Aiming to reach what he deems the largely ignored older consumer, producer Roberto Livi has launched a label, Klásico Records.

In an exclusive interview with Bill-board, Livi reveals that his first signing is veteran Venezuelan crooner Jose Luis Rodriguez, aka "El Puma."

Rodriguez's first album on Klásico, "Jose Luis Rodriguez: Sabor a Mexico," is slated for release in early 2005.

Livi says negotiations are under way with a major distributor for U.S. and international distribution.

"Klásico is going to sign artists who are established and who are classic," says Livi, who believes there is a huge, untapped market for mature Latin acts. "People do not die when they turn 50.

They die when they're 80, 90 or 95. And after they turn 40, they need to buy the music they like and want."

Klásico follows Livi's launch last year of another label, Megamusic, which he created as a joint venture with Raul Alarcon Sr., founder and chairman emeritus of the Spanish Broadcasting System radio network.

Megamusic has released albums by newcomer Victoria and singer/songwriter Marco Flores. Victoria, in particular, has had several radio hits, but Livi concedes that launching new artists on a small independent label is a challenge.

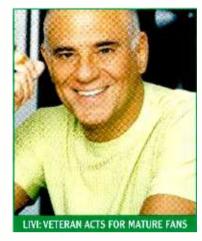

Although Megamusic is still up and running, Livi says he is no longer involved with the label.

Instead, he is devoting his full attention to Klásico, which he is launching on his own in Miami. Livi is counting on the good will generated by decades of producing and penning hits for some of the biggest stars in Latin music—including Julio Iglesias, José José, Rocio Durcal, Camilo Sesto and Rodriguez—to cut a broad series of deals.

NO MONEY UPFRONT

For starters, artists who sign with Klásico will not receive advances.

"We have to work and sell together to make money," says Livi, who will likely produce most of Klásico's releases. The artists he is looking for, he says, would be able to sell a minimum of 25,000-30,000 albums in the United States alone with little effort.

Livi plans to work various concept albums and use TV for promotion.

Press and marketing for the label will be handled by MEG Media, the public relations company headed by Maria Elena Guerreiro, former VP of press, publicity and corporate affairs at Sony Discos.

Livi says he is negotiating with several other acts and aims to release as many albums as possible.

As for Rodriguez, he was the perfect first artist for the label, whose logo is a tuxedo bowtie. "I needed an image," Livi says of Rodriguez, who was previously signed to BMG. "I needed an artist that represented this quality.

"Multinationals have always handled these acts," Livi adds. "It's not that they don't want them, but given the moment the industry is going through, they don't know how to treat them. People always bet on youth, and they don't have a marketing plan for older acts. And I think the biggest success an artist can attain is to be a well-known name."

City Of Hope Honors Gloria & Emilio Estefan

Latin Entertainment Industry for City of Hope will honor Gloria and Emilio Estefan at its Spirit of Life awards gala, to be held Nov. 18 at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in Miami Beach.

Although the music industry has raised money for the City of Hope's medical research since 1971, this is only its third Latin Entertainment Industry event. The first, in 2002, honored veteran record executive Tomas Muñoz, while last year's event saluted radio industry icon Raul Alarcon Sr.

This year, City of Hope pays tribute to the Estefans and hopes to raise $500,000. The two previous events grossed that amount combined.

Where does the money go when someone buys a ticket? No more than 25% of the gross proceeds go to event expenses, according to the organization. Contributions are tax-deductible.

According to Scott Goldman, VP of development for City of Hope, 84% of the non-profit organization's funding goes to research, treatment and education programs, with special focus on cancer, diabetes and HIV/AIDS.

To give an idea of the scope of the organization, City of Hope is conducting 660 research studies, including more than 300 clinical trials, involving 25%-35% of the center's eligible patients.

This is significant to Latins in particular, because about 25% of the approximately 15,000 patients that City of Hope treats annually are Latin. Beyond that, diabetes is a major concern for Latins nationwide, and City of Hope has one of the most prominent diabetes research programs in the United States.

by Leon. While is has been the mical music, this signals an intermore traditional intermore traditi

So, yes, the glitz of the gala will be nice. But nicer still is knowing that a ticket to the event will go far beyond the night's glitter.

ATROPICAL COMEBACK: Is there a whiff of tropical music in the air? It seems so, judging from the number of tropical (not reggaetón) tracks in the top 20 of the Bill-board Hot Latin Tracks chart (four) and the number of recent tropical signings.

There is Luis Enrique, who signed with indie Respek Records, and Ismael Miranda, who signed with another indie, SGZ. Another veteran, Eddie Santiago (of "Lluvia" fame), will release "Despues del Silencio" Nov. 30 on MP Records.

And then there's Sony BMG, which has signed a host of established tropical acts, most notably El Gran Combo de Puerto Rico, Grupo Niche, Rey Ruiz and Oscar D'Leon. While Sony traditionally has been the market leader in tropical music, this spate of signings signals an interest in a specific, more traditional niche.

"These are people who will never be out of style," says Angel Carrasco, senior VP of A&R at Sony BMG Latin, who adds that there is a space to be filled. "If they have a company backing them, they'll be successful because they're successful people. At the same time," he adds, "we're developing young artists by using our own acts."

Carrasco refers to NG2, a new duo out of Puerto Rico produced by Victor Manuelle, as well as a new act to be produced by Gilberto Santa Rosa.

"Tropical music is part of our culture," Carrasco adds. "And thanks to the media, our music and our culture are still very much alive."

ALL HITS: Tropical rhythms of all kinds will be the focus of J&N Records' traditional holiday collection. Five compilation albums— "Salsahits 2005," "Mexicanhits 2005," "Reggaetónhits 2005," "Bachatahits 2005" and "Merenhits 2005"—will street Nov. 16.

Even "Mexicanhits" will have a tropical flavor, as it will feature norteño versions of Colombia's traditional musica de carrilera.

"Salsahits" will feature hits from the 1970s performed by singers formerly with Niche and Alquimia. The album was produced by Savy Ramirez, another former singer of Alquimia. MANAGEMENT MOVES: Ricky Martin has parted ways with Benny Medina, after less than a year together. Medina took over Martin's career after the singer split with longtime manager Angelo Medina (no relation to Benny) last year. Martin will announce his new team shortly. He is recording an English-language album that is due next year, for which he has co-written several tracks.

Gloria Trevi, out of prison and about to release a new album on Sony BMG, has signed with John Regna at Orlando, Fla.-based World Entertainment Associates of America.

Mexican band Los Temerarios received a platinum certification from the Recording Industry Assn. of America for shipments of 1 million copies of their album "En La Madrugada se Fue" (Fonovisa), which was released in 2000. Brothers Gustavo, left, and Adolfo Angel, right, of Los Temerarios presented a platinum album to Rudy Perez, who produced several of the album's tracks.

Nostalgia Revives Colombian 'Plancha'

BY GUSTAVO GOMEZ

BOGOTÁ, Colombia—The pop music of Colombia is generally associated with the progressive, hip fusion of such acts as Carlos Vives, Juanes and Shakira.

But in recent months, audiences here are also reliving music from their pasts.

They call it música para planchar (music to iron to). The term covers the romantic, often sappy, ballads of the 1970s and 1980s that were performed by now-veteran acts like Juan Gabriel, Rocío Durcal and Paloma San Basilio.

In Colombia, this is the music that housewives, housekeepers and maids listen to as they do their chores.

In other words, música para planchar was never considered hip or cutting edge.

But now, spurred by radio support and a successful soap opera, "Amor a la Plancha" (which loosely translates to "Love to Iron"), there are dozens of música para planchar compilations in the marketplace.

"It's a boom," says Alejandro Villalobos, PD of La Mega, Colombia's top-rated youth radio station. "It's a way to have a good time with nostalgia."

ENJOYED BY ALL AGES

The plancha phenomenon began in trendy nightclubs in the late 1990s. Patrons between the ages of 25 and 34 enjoyed dancing and listening to romantic songs they first heard in their teens.

It is unknown who coined the term música para planchar. But it stuck, and surprisingly, it has crossed social barriers.

"[Most] Colombians like to say we don't watch soap operas or other popular TV shows," says Gabriel de las Casas, well-known host of network Radio Caracol. "But as soon as we have a couple of drinks, we become authentic and start singing to Daniela Romo and Yuri. Now that music is hip, so now we do feel proud of what we denied when we were teens."

One of the first to see a commercial opportunity in the music was Villalobos, who in 2000 jointly released a compilation with EMI Colombia titled "Música Pa' Planchar." It sold only 4,900 copies, according to the label. Six months later, they released a second compilation that sold even fewer copies.

The breakthrough came in late 2003, when "Amor a la Plancha" debuted. The soap opera, which focuses on a maid who falls in love with an upper-class man. is one of the highest-rated TV shows in Colombia.

At the same time the soap bowed, EMI released yet another compilation, "Lo Mejor de Música Pa' Planchar Vol. 1." The third time was the charm. The album sold 40,000 copies and was certified doubleplatinum in Colombia by ASINCOL, the Colombian association of record producers.

By then, several radio networks, including Los 40 Principales, had nostalgia segments in their programming. The final stumbling block fell when Amor Estéreo, a romantic radio station heard in the country's 12 major markets, began playing the music. PD Jairo Ossa now has a weekday música para planchar program.

"I've gotten up to 50 calls for every 20 minutes on the air," Ossa says. "And the audience isn't declining."

TREND OR NEW TRADITION?

However, many are skeptical about the phenomenon's chances for survival.

"Like any fad, it will end; in addition, the repertoire is limited," Villalobos says.

"Plancha is a phenomenon as popular as our national beauty pageant," adds Marta Orantia, editor of Rolling Stone in Colombia. "But that doesn't mean that it's good or interesting or that it contributes absolutely anything to music or culture.

For now, that doesn't seem to be a problem. Colombian indie Sonolux is slated to release the soundtrack to "Amor a la Plancha" later this month. In addition, the label will release a new album by MP4, a girl quartet that originally sang pop but whose new repertoire will be música para planchar.

Mexican Acts Top MTV Noms

BY LEILA COBO

MIAMI-Mexican acts Julieta Venegas and Café Tacuba, both fresh from winning Latin Grammys, are the top nominees for the third annual MTV Video Music Awards Latin America 2004.

Venegas and Café Tacuba each received five nominations, including video of the year and artist of the year.

Venegas' video nomination is for "Andar Conmigo," directed by Santiago H. Pueyrredón, while Café Tacuba's is for "Eres," directed by Rogelio Sikander.

Spaniard Alejandro Sanz and Argentines Diego Torres and Babasónicos earned four nominations each. Chilean rock band La Ley took three.

Save for Babasónicos, whose following is mostly limited to Argentina, the main nominees are established names with broad followings in the rock/ pop and alternative scene.

However, Babsónicos, who is signed to indie Argentine label Pop Art, is an MTV Latin America favorite and has been a multiple nominee in past editions of the awards.

The VMALAs will air live Oct. 21 on MTV Latin America from the Jackie Gleason Theater in Miami Beach.

This year's event introduces a new award category, hip-hop/R&B international artist, whose nominees are 50 Cent, Beastie Boys, Black Eyed Peas, OutKast and Usher. There are now a total of 18 categories.

Five nominees in each category are voted on by some 300 music industry professionals and MTV Latin America viewers who receive their ballots by mail and vote via the Internet.

Final winners will be selected by fans who can cast votes on mtyla.com or their cell phones between Sept. 7 and Oct. 5. This is the first time in the event's young history that viewers can vote in all categories with their cell phones. In addition, the phone option, once limited to Mexican voters, is now open to fans throughout Latin America.

Acts Should Support Awards Shows

Latin artists routinely ask whether they'll be winning an award before deciding if they will attend an awards show. They (or their management) also ask whether they will present an award, perform or do something else to justify their appearance at any event that celebrates musical accomplishment.

They forget that such events are indeed celebrations that bring artists together and benefit Latin music in its entirety.

Such was the case with the Latin Grammy Awards. While many big names-including Lupillo Rivera, Joan Sebastian, Banda El Recodo and Ricardo Montaner -made it to the Sept. 1 show with no strings attached, others were conspicuously absent.

That key acts were not in attendance points to two crucial facts.

First, despite many inaccurate assertions to the contrary, voting for the Latin Grammys is a confidential process, and winners are not manipulated. If they were, you can be assured that CBS would not have aired some award presentations without any winners on hand.

Second, many Latin acts seem unsupportive of not only the Latin music industry but also their fellow artists. How else do you explain why major Latin stars were present at MTV's Video Music Awards, for example—without any nominations or air time-but they weren't seen at the Latin Grammys a mere three days later?

Some acts had legitimys, was in the midst of a Spanish tour. He says he was unable to reschedule a date that conflicted with the awards show.

Still, other acts were in Los Angeles Sept. 1 but simply didn't go. Some weren't nominated, but that's not the point. In the world of Latin music there are few big stars, and every one of them counts.

The Latin Grammys, like most other awards-including the Billboard Latin Music Awards and Premios lo Nuestro Awards—have served as launch pads for countless acts, including several who opted not to go to the Shrine Auditorium this year. To turn around and dismiss those awards when they're not convenient is simply cynical.

Latin acts should take a cue from the good sportsmanship of their English-language counterparts, who somehow manage to make it to the VMAs, the Grammys, the Academy Awards and the Emmy Awards, regardless of whether they're nominated, presenting an award or performing.

And Latin labels and radio should take these dissings as further evidence that Latin music is in dire need of new artist development and alternatives to the status quo.

RETURN TO CBS: The Latin Grammy Awards are scheduled to air again on CBS next year, says Gabriel Abaroa, president of the Latin Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences.

"Our contract with CBS is ongoing, and conversations are under way to air the program next year," Abaroa says. Although many critics raved about this year's Latin Grammys, the show's ratings share of 2.4 was its lowest ever. Approximately 3.3 million viewers tuned in vs. 5 million last year, according to Nielsen Media Research.

"The reality is, the academy is the academy, with ratings or without," Abaroa says. "This is a property we are all building. We need to continue working until we find the right formula.'

In the meantime, only a handful of Latin Grammy nominees and performers saw a rebound on the Billboard Top Latin Albums chart in the wake of the awards show. For sales figures and chart performances, see Over the Counter, page 65.

Torres Unplugs To Connect With Wider Audience

BY MARCELO FERNANDEZ BITAR

BUENOS AIRES—Two years after achieving global stardom with the album "Un Mundo Diferente," Diego Torres aims to reach an even wider Latin and Spanish audience with the upcoming "MTV Unplugged."

The BMG album will street April 27 in the Latin region, including Argentina and Spain, and May 4 in the United States and Mexico. Taped live in Argentina on March 4, it is not only Torres' vehicle for broader stardom, it's also the first "Unplugged" set that MTV Latin America has taped outside of Miami.

"This project arrives at a very special moment of my career," says the 33-year-old Torres, who spent most of last year touring at sold-out venues throughout Europe and Latin America.

The moment is not only special but perhaps crucial. Torres' "MTV Unplugged" follows the phenomenal success of "Un Mundo Diferente," which sold 160,000 copies in Argentina alone (four-times platinum in that market) and became the country's best-selling album in 2002.

"Un Mundo" was propelled by the success of the hit single "Color Esperanza," a blend of infectious rhythm, strong melody and positive lyrics.

The track, released in the midst of Argentina's economic and political crisis, became an anthem of hope.

For months, children at most elementary schools in Argentina sang "Color Esperanza" back to back with the national anthem as the country's flag was hoisted.

Outside Argentina, "Color Esperanza" took Torres well beyond his borders. Although his musical career began in 1992, major international acclaim had eluded him. "Un Mundo Diferente" and "Color Esperanza" made him an international star and garnered him multiple nominations for the Grammy, Latin Grammy and MTV Latin America Music Video awards.

But in the States, "Un Mundo Diferente" never made it to the Top 50 on the Billboard Top Latin Albums chart.

TOP PRIORITY

Now, BMG is treating Torres as a top priority, both internationally and in the United States.

"We're working this project as an international product and as a priority," says Paula Kaminsky, BMG U.S. Latin's new VP of marketing. "Even though he wasn't consistently promoted, he was worked. So we're not starting from scratch. He has a very solid base here."

Torres sees his MTV set as part of a natural process. "Becoming an international act doesn't happen from one day to the next, especially to an artist like myself who writes and sings and produces," says Torres, noting that many of his band members have been with him for more than a decade. "I had to experience many things before this happened."

The album was a long time in the planning.

"The whole project began during an informal dinner 2½ years ago," says Charlie Vazquez, senior director of music and artist relations at MTV Networks Latin America.

"[Torres] loved the idea and confessed that it would be a true dream to make it happen. At MTV, we thought he was a perfect artist for an 'Unplugged' concert that could reach the whole region," Vazquez adds.

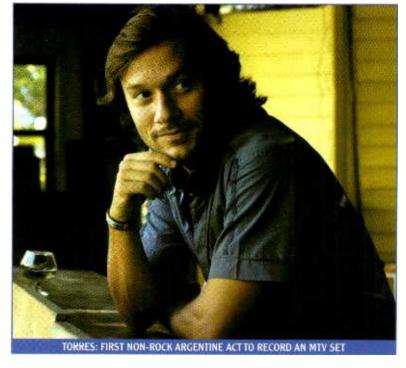

MTV decided to record "Un-

MTV decided to record "Unplugged" outside of Miami as part of an ongoing effort to expand in the Latin region and to capitalize on Torres' popularity on his home turf.

"The recording was made in Argentina because that is a new trend we hope to explore," Vazquez says. "He is also the first Argentine artist that we have taped that is not strictly rock."

The production is MTV Latin America's 18th "Unplugged" and was produced with local and U.S. crews. The show was Webcast live at mtvla.com and will air April 22 on MTV Latin America and later through MTV Español, MTV Brazil and MTV Spain. In the States, it will air at 8 p.m. EST on April 25 on MTV Español.

The show was conceived not only for TV broadcast but also with CD and DVD releases in mind. Rehearsals with the band, special guests and co-producer Afo Verde were filmed from the start to be used as bonus DVD features.

Although the DVD will be released at a later date, buyers of the CD will receive a special code for access to exclusive content on Torres' Web site.

The song list, according to Torres, was made "thinking of a way to join the past, the present and the future, because there are old hits in new versions and also three recently composed songs." Vicentico, former frontman of Los Fabulosos Cadillacs, was invited for "Usted," and Mexican chanteuse Julieta Venegas added vocals and accordion to "Sueños" and "Que No Me Pierda."

Acoustic instruments included piano, Peruvian box, trumpets and—in a first for Torres—a string quartet. An unexpected twist was added with an Uruguayan "murga" (a large, traditional percussion group) made up entirely of children who played on "Color Esperanza."

"I am aware that 'Color Esperanza' gave me a special connection with people everywhere," says Torres, who ended the MTV show with that track. "Songs are felt deep inside, and [either] you are touched by them or not. And that song seems to have touched every possible audience."

The first cut of this "Unplugged" album will be "Cantar Hasta Morir," a new composition that continues in the anthemic vein of "Color Esperanza." The track is expected to hit U.S. radio within the next two weeks.

Café Quijano Goes On Tour For Beer Money

What would you do for an icecold beer? If you're Café Quijano, Spain's biggest-selling rock band, you write a song.

Now the tune has become the centerpiece of a tour. "Dame de Esa Boca," which compares the pleasure of drinking a cold beer to that of courting a woman, was written for a spot promoting Spain's popular Mahou Beer.

But the Quijano brothers—Manuel, Raúl and Oscar—also included the track on their fourth album, "Qué Grande Es Eso del Amor," released last November on Warner.

Now, the track—which is the album's next single—is the inspiration for a tour sponsored by Mahou.

Dubbed "Por Nuestra Musica," the five-date stint kicks off April 23 in Toledo, Spain, with Quijano as headliner and Los Secretos and Los Cucas as featured acts.

The idea for the tour came from the immensely popular group itself, after Mahou convinced the brothers to write and record a song for the company. Quijano initially refused, until the offer became too good to turn down.

"We came to an agreement so that even if the beer campaign was to launch last year, it would extend until our album was released," lead singer Manuel says. "And [the song] is not a jingle. It's not telling you to go drink a beer."

The group is no stranger to advertising deals. "We're already corrupted," they say, when asked if such commercialism compromises their musicality.

The act's catchy material has been used to plug everything from appliances (via mega-hit "La Lola") to soft drinks to the tourism office of their state of León, Spain. But this is the first time the band has written a song specifically for a product and then put it on an album.

Committed from a national sample of data supplied by Nielsen E-oadcast Data Systems. 58 rhythmic airplay stations are electronically monitored 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Songs ranked by namber of detections. — Songs showing an increase in detections over the previous week, regardless of chart movement. A sang which has been on the chart for more than 20 weeks will generally not receive a bullet, even if it registers an increase in detections. The rhythmic airplay chart runs at a deeper length in Arplay Monitor, Billboard Information Network, and billb-ard.com. UMVD Still No. 1 In Rap And R&B

Despite some slippage, Universal Music & Video Distribution still commands the twin titles of top distributor of R&B and rap albums for first-quarter 2004.

UMVD's postings of 35.3% in R&B and 43.1% in rap represent drops of 9 points and 14 points, respectively, from the first quarter of last year. Those stats reflect fewer first-quarter releases from the industry giant and the lack of a blockbuster hit like last year's 50 Cent album.

But such strong performers as Kanye West and the Young Gunz somewhat offset the small number of releases. (Rap album sales are also included in the R&B albums totals.)

UMVD remains well ahead of BMG. which finished second in both genres with a 23.9% share in R&B and 14.9% in rap.

BMG also posted significant increases over last year's shares. Its rap percentage represents a leap from fifth place. Both upticks were no doubt spurred by steady sales of albums by Alicia Keys, OutKast and Ruben Studdard.

The remaining R&B contenders retain their positions from the same period one year ago. Sony, still enjoying strong sales of Beyoncé's album. claims third place with 12.3%. It is followed by WEA (11.1%), the independent sector (9%) and EMI Music Marketing (8.4%).

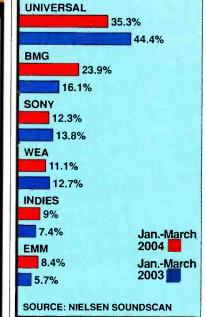

EMM improves on its year-ago R&B standing of 5.7% while climbing nearly five percentage points to 9.9% in rap. Its roster includes rapper Chingy, whose debut album continues to perform well, and critically acclaimed R&B newcomer Van Hunt.

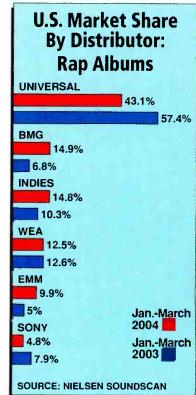

Coming in third for rap are the independent distributors at 14.8%. That group's 4% boost over last year's 10.3% symbolizes the pace set by TVT. home to Lil Jon & the East Side Boyz and the Ying Yang Twins.

WEA drops from second to fourth in rap with 12.5%. Newcomers (and Lil. Jon protégés) Trillville and Lil Scrappy bowed in the first quarter, while Sean Paul remains a steady sales force.

Falling from 7.9% to 4.8%, Sony brings up the rear in rap. It has not had any strong releases of late in the genre.

U.S. Market Share By Distributor: R&B Albums

Alt-Latin Lacks Women

BY LEILA COBO

Women in Latin alternative music are in the spotlight, thanks to the recent Latin Grammy Award nominations for Julieta Venegas and the upcoming Latin Alternative Music Conference, which will feature a "Women Who Rock" evening.

But a significant women's movement, many say, is far from being a reality.

In fact, the best female rock solo album category in the Latin Grammys was merged with the male category four years ago for lack of entries.

"That really struck me," says Tomás Cookman, president of Cookman International and co-founder of the LAMC, which takes place Aug. 11-14 at the Beverly Hilton Hotel in Los Angeles. Still, he felt it was important to stage an all-women show as part of the LAMC.

"Women Who Rock" will take place Aug. 12 and will feature Mexican Ely Guerra and Colombian Andrea Echeverri. The latter will perform material from her solo project, done as a sidebar to her work with Aterciopelados, the widely acclaimed group anchored by Echeverri and Hector Buitrago.

"We're definitely throwing our two cents in, and we're using one of our biggest events, which is the free show at the Santa Monica Pier," Cookman adds. "But are we doing it in response to a big women's movement? No.

LAMC is specifically geared toward marketing, showcasing and prom o t i n g Spanish-language alternative music and brings together executives and tastemakers as well as artists and producers.

SUCCESS ELUSIVE

There are actually many women in alternative music. But while some have garnered critical acclaim and recognition, widespread commercial success has been elusive.

"There are a lot of us doing very personal things, and there's no specific way of describing it," says Venegas, whose album "Sí" (BMG Mexico) is nominated for a Latin Grammy for best rock solo album. Her song "Andar Contigo" is nominated for song and record of the year.

When it comes to sales, Venegas adds, it has been a different story: "What's personal, and what's commercial? It's one thing to talk about conceptual women's music, that doesn't sell as much. and another to find people who sell and who open more doors."

Venegas herself has only found commercial success with this latest release, which followed a string of highly praised but low-selling recordings.

Venegas, along with the more mainstream Alejandra Guzmán, are probably the best-selling Latin rock/alternative artists today. "Sí" is No. 66 on the Billboard Top Latin Albums chart.

Other women have made commercial inroads. Mexico also boasts Natalia LaFourcade—although she's often considered a pop artist—and Spain now has rapper La Mala Rodríguez.

But other purveyors of the genre, including Mimi Maura and Guerra—whose upcoming album, "Sweet & Sour, Hot y Spicy" will be released Sept. 28 on Higher Octave Music—have never sold particularly well.

"The presence of women in alternative is stuck," says Gustavo Fernández, president of DLN Distribution and (Continued on page 42) Cookman Goes Nacional Tomás Cookman, president of artist management/promotion firm Cookman International, is expanding his company's reach with the launch of Nacional Records.

The new label, based out of Cookman's Los Angeles offices, will officially bow during the Latin Alternative Music Conference.

Nacional already has four acts on its roster; the innovative Nortec Collective, which, as its name suggests, blends norteño and techno; acclaimed Colombian act Aterciopelados; and Aterciopelados; principal members Andrea Echeverri and Héctor Buitrago, who will each release solo projects.

Nacional's first release will be Echeverri's self-titled solo debut in September. It has already been released in Colombia on Sonolux, Nacional's Colombian partner. Other partners include Pop Art Records in Argentina.

'A REAL INDIE'

Cookman, who manages Paulina Rubio, Volumen Cero and La Ley, among other artists, says he had toyed with the idea of a label for a while but wanted to have a full staff in place.

"We are a self-running company," says Cookman, who has obtained additional funding for Nacional from undisclosed sources. Cookman International has a staff of 11, including longtime marketing director Chelina Vargas.

Cookman's first signings are all acts he previously managed. Now that they are Nacional acts, he says he will no longer represent them.

Cookman is negotiating for distribution with a major non-Latin distributor. A deal should be finalized by the second week of August.

"We already do Latin," he says, explaining his decision not to go to a Latin distributor. "We want to operate as a real indie," he adds, citing labels like Motown and Def Jam—which both started as indies—as models.

"With all respect to the Latin labels, I don't need to sit with them at marketing meetings and have them tell me how to sell this music. Maybe we're right and maybe we're wrong, but we'll find that out."

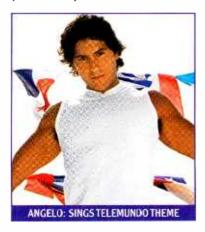

Cookman has long been an advocate of alternative music through his management company and various marketing and promotion initiatives, including the LAMC which he founded—and the Latino Loop newsletter.

"At any time there is a moment of consolidation and change there are always opportunities for entrepreneurs and new independent companies—in this case, labels," says Cookman, explaining why he launched Nacional Records. "Also, it just happened that [Aterciopelados and Nortec Collective] were free at the same time, and that made my decision a lot easier."

Pérez Up Front With Olympics Song, New Label

Sports anthems are nothing new to songwriter/producer Rudy Pérez. In 2002, he wrote "Vamos al Mundial," the World Cup theme performed by Jennifer Peña.

Now, Pérez has penned "Que Viva la Unión," the theme song for Telemundo's live, Spanish-language broadcast of the Olympic Games.

The song is performed by Puerto Rican singer Michael Angelo, who is signed to Pérez's new label, Up Front Music Group.

JULIETA

Two years ago, Pérez launched a different label, RPE (Rudy Pérez Enterprises) as a joint venture with Univision Music Group. With that deal now expired, Pérez has launched UFMG.

PUSHING PUBLISHING: Lynette

Brehm has left her post as director of creative services for Univision Music Publishing to launch her own firm (billboard.biz, July 27). Los Angelesbased Brehm Entertainment is a "full-service publishing company with an emphasis on promoting songs in the film and advertising industries as well as in new media," Brehm says.

Brehm will not be replaced, according to Univision. Instead, her duties will be assumed by Nestor Rodríguez, whose new title as administrative and creative director reflects his dual role.

Rodriguez says he will take an "aggressive" stance in pushing Univision's catalog. Chief objectives are pursuing new technologies and acquiring new catalogs. Univision owns Fonomusic and América Musical, as well as its own catalog.

Rodriguez has signed singer/ songwriter Marco Flores to an exclusive songwriter's deal. Flores will be tapped for material for

ARTIST BRIEFS: Spanish pop rockers Jarabe de Palo have teamed with Chrissie Hynde to record a track for their upcoming release. "Cry," which features Hynde singing in English, will appear on the act's album "Un Metro Cuadrado," due in November on Dro East West in Spain and on Warner Music Spain elsewhere.

Hynde says she fell in love with Jarabe de Palo's music after hearing the band's song "La Flaca" on the radio last year. She then contacted its members, who invited her to record with them.

After a brief stint with indie label Mock & Roll, Dominican party band Ilegales signs with another indie, Perfect Image Records. The group's first release for Perfect Image is "In the Room." due Aug. 31. Prior to signing with Mock & Roll, Ilegales released one album with EMI Latin.

The ASCAP Foundation and Heineken have joined to award grants to up-and-coming Latin music composers in Los Angeles and Miami. Songwriters are invited to submit material, and the writers of the winning songs in each city will receive $2,000. Those wishing to compete must be at least 21 years old and an ASCAP member. Applications and information are available at ascapfoundation.org. The deadline for submissions is Aug. 13.

COMINGS AND GOINGS: Universal Music Latino names Albert Saladín director of promotions for the East Coast while Lafitte Benitez is named director of promotions for the West Coast. Both report to Walter Kolm, senior VP of marketing and A&R for the label Saladín, who is based in Miami, was previously in charge of East Coast promotions for Warner Music Latina. Benitez, based in Los Angeles, has been handling West Coast promotion for the label since October 2003.

Also reporting to Kolm and based in Miami is new label manager Alberto Ramírez III. He was previously in charge of marketing and promotion for Warner Music Latina, based in Texas.
