Again Urges Honoring of Circus On New Issue of Postage Stamps

CINCINNATI, Dec. 28.—Since the United States Post Office Department is again considering suggestions for new stamps to be issued during the coming year, with one classification under consideration being the famous Americans, Charles R. Milbauer, who began a campaign for representation of the circus on postage stamps back in 1939, again urges all circus fans and performers to get behind the campaign to bring about the issuance of a stamp honoring P. T. Barnum or the Ringling brothers.

As Milbauer suggested in 1939, all that one has to do is write a postcard to Postmaster-General Frank Walker at Washington, stating that he desires a postage stamp honoring the circus. Or, Milbauer suggests, the cards may be sent to him at 1697 Broadway, New York City, and he will draw up a petition and mail it to Washington.

The response to Milbauer's request in 1939 was most disheartening. He says he received a total of two postcards from persons who were not members of the Circus Fans, but merely readers of The Billboard. The Fans and performers did not respond at all, at least thru him, he says.

Legit Patrons No Help to Clubs; Only First Nighters Aid Bistros

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—A surprising factor in local night club circles this season has been the lack of after-theater trade. Operators had hoped that successful shows on Broadway, particularly hit musicals, would draw the moony class after play time; but, as it turns out, few show up. The single exception, managers of the better spots point out, is the opening night of a big show, when first nighters flock into the classier afterties.

The good night club customers, managers explain, are the same people who seldom miss an opening night. They come with good parties into their favorite spots, not only after their visit to play openings but also on an average of twice a week thereafter. The average legit theater patron is one whose budget limits him to a couple of theater seats and perhaps cab fare home. Many of them are seen headed for the subway after the final curtain, not even stopping for an after-theater snack in a restaurant.

Convinced that it draws little or no theater trade, the Versailles, fashionable East Side spot, canceled its long-standing ad in the Playbill, New York's standard theater program. Leonard MacBain, press agent, gave the matter thorough consideration and is convinced that the spot cannot hope to draw any regular theater business.

Competitive East Side clubs, more optimistic than the Versailles, have been using featured performers from Broadway shows to draw some of their fans. The Club Cuba, which opened a couple of months ago, engaged Eunice Healy and Nick Long Jr., working in Hold On to Your Hats and Louisiana Purchase respectively, and kept them for several weeks. They stimulated attendance figures particularly among the cast members of those shows, but apparently not enough. (The Cuba last week filed a petition for an approval of an arrangement with creditors.)

La Martinique featured Betty Hutton, of Pennant Hatte, but did not draw much business. Spot was forced to change its policy and is currently featuring a name band. The Plaza Hotel, on the other hand, experimented earlier in the season with a girl show and abandoned that in favor of names from Broadway shows. Current headliners are the DeMarcos, doubling from Boys and Girls Together.

Carol Bruce, singer from Louisiana Purchase, cashed in nicely on this trend, getting a five-week run last year at the Hotel Pierre, later a four-week engagement at the Waldorf Astoria's Sert Room, and is currently fitting in a return run at the Pierre. The Pierre also used Carmen D'Antonio for a fortnight. She is a dancer in Pennant Hatte.

Lending itself to flashy exploitation is the current practice of using showgirls from Broadway hits in the dancing and parading lines of night club shows. As it now stands, more show line girls are wanted than are available, due to the stringent rules laid down by some producers, who demand exclusive services of all line and show girls. Buddy DeSylva gave permission to all his dancers to double, and some of them are now in the new shows at the Hurricane and the Copacabana. Olsen and Johnson, of Hellzapoppin, are among those who turned thumbs down on requests to permit their ensemble girls to double.

Performers Pay 3C To Appear in Six Fields Despite Agreement; Rules Still Made by Each Union

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—To navigate jurisdiction, is required to pay half dues and half initiation fees, or difference between the rates of the parent and now organization, whichever is the greater. However, "all questions as to the interpretation and application of this agreement shall be determined by the International Board of the Associated Actors and Artists of America." Executives of each branch interpret the pact individually, however, with the result that there are few general standards by which performers can guide themselves. Cases because "individual" because of organizational complications. A simple matter, (See PERFORMERS PAY on page 24)

Record Chi Opening For Henie Ice Show; Capacity in Buffalo

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Playing to the largest opening night crowd in the show's history—16,964 paid admissions—Sonja Henie's 1941 Hollywood Ice Revue began an 11-day engagement Thursday (26) at the Chicago Stadium and appears to be headed for a gross of more than $200,000. Show is a riot of brilliant routines and novel specialties, and Miss Henie goes over big as ever. The star's two skating partners, Eugene Mikeler and Harrison Thompson, also are outstanding hits. There is much more comedy in this year's show than in any previous one and it adds materially to the entertainment value. Best of the comedians is Fredy Trinkler, a marvelous skater and top applause-getter. He gives a performance of show-stopping proportions. Fritz Dietl, stilt skater, also was a tremendous hit. Both he and Trinkler were called back for many encores.

Settings for the show are beautiful. The Stadium rink has been shortened considerably and is bordered by two rows of silver trees. The musicians are encased in a silver band shell flanked by silver settings. Shortening of the rink provides several hundred additional seats. Advance sale is heavy. New Year's Eve was a sellout before the show opened, and near-capacity is anticipated for the entire engagement.

BUFFALO, Dec. 28.—Sonja Henie's Hollywood Ice Revue broke all attendance records during its first date here in a five-day stand between December 17 and 21 at the new Memorial Auditorium under the sponsorship of the Shrine of Isabella Temple, which is reported getting 5 per cent of the gross. With the exception of the opening night, when 2,029 customers paid $14,500, Auditorium was a sellout for the engagement. House capacity is 12,000. There were 360 standees on the second night, and 900 standees on the last (Saturday) night to bring the total attendance to a little under 60,000. At admissions ranging from 75 cents to $2.75, capacity house scaled at $75,000, according to Arthur Witz, producer. In addition, standees paid $1.10 each. Reduced train rates for out-of-towners near by helped the draw. Since estimated weekly net is $60,000, booking showed a nice profit for the management.

Ice extravaganza moved to Chicago Stadium (Chicago) for a 10-day stand which started Thursday (26). Advance sale approximated the $100,000, reported William Burke, manager.

N. C. Sundays Not Banned

SALISBURY, N. C., Dec. 28.—North Carolina Attorney General Harry McMullan said he had ruled that there "is no State statute specifically prohibiting moving pictures on Sunday." There is a general law, however, which prohibits working on Sunday, and which provides for a $1 penalty.

"A municipality does have the power, also, to prohibit the operation of moving pictures on Sunday under its general police powers," he said.

PHILLY LEGIT TAKES 352G

Hats' Best with $55,000; Outlook Good; Four Houses Will Be Active

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—Local legit season, after a virtual hand-to-mouth existence since starting late in August, goes into the second half with an impressive $362,100 already behind it. It's not the kind of coin that used to come in when there was a steady stream of attractions to keep interest alive and a $3 or $4 top was the thing. However, considering the fact that the lump figure represents only 11 out of a possible 18 weeks at the Forrest Theater (Shuberts), 11 weeks out of 16 at the Locust Street (Shuberts), which didn't get under way until September 9, and a single week at the Erlanger Theater (Independent), total gross indicates that interest in legit here is very much alive.

It is felt that the figure would have hit over the half-million dollar mark had the Shubert stages been kept alight during September and October. During the nine September-October weeks, the 1,800-seat Forrest was open only three weeks, while the 1,500-seat Locust filled in only four weeks.

Forrest again provided the bulk of the box-office figure, accounting for $230,800, of the $352,100 with Al Jolson's Hold On to Your Hats, season's high to date with $55,000 for two weeks; Philadelphia Story, $24,000, one week; Second Helping, $7,800, eight days; Twelfth Night, $47,000, two weeks; Night of Love, $41,000, two weeks; DuBarry Was a Lady, $27,000, one week; Fal Joey, $29,000, 10 days. Not a single attraction ran in the red.

Locust St. shows $91,300 on its books with Pins and Needles, $18,700, two weeks; Ladies in Waiting, $16,500, two weeks; Sim Salim, $7,000, one week; Conquest in April, $11,100, two weeks; Ladies in Retirement, $23,000, two weeks; Off the Record, $5,000, one week; Sim (See PHILLY LEGIT TAKES on page 31)

Ohio Ticket Tax Talk

COLUMBUS, O. Dec. 28.—Admissions tax legislation is virtually certain to be introduced in the General Assembly which convenes the first week in January. City officials, in a State-wide meeting in Cleveland, recently recommended the passage of a State law which would permit municipalities to impose local taxes for the purpose of meeting relief needs. Among those suggested is an amusement tax.

The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, meeting here, also adopted a resolution asking that State admissions tax be increased.

A slow first act gave the hard-working cast a handicap which wasn't overcome until the final moments of the succeeding stanza. From that point on the bit moved briskly until its conclusion.

Most of the players gave good accounts of themselves, with especially honorable mention going to Humphrey Davis, whose work in the role of the hard-of-hearing parent not only provided the major share of earned laughs, but also contributed a clear-cut character study. In a bit part Jane Laurie displayed a fine sense of comedy and timing as the wife of the railroad purchasing agent. Another stalwart contribution was by Jack Windrow.

One of the major hindrances was the role of Tommy Tucker as played by Stanley Phillips. His conception of small-town shyness in taking a stance like an orangutan. Otherwise he has a stage-wise presence.

As heroines go, Mary Stewart does well, while Conrad Knowles is adequate in supplying romantic competition to Phillips. Katherine Bowden, Mary Lou Haley, and Jay Graham work convincingly in the other roles.

Joe Cohen.

FRANKIE MASTERS

(This Week's Cover Subject)

FRANKIE MASTERS, bandleader and composer, has the looks of a juvenile, but isn't reticent about admitting that he's been around for years, and the years have been very good to him. The composer tag is a recent addition to his accomplishments, with "Scatterbrain" and "Charming Little Faker" just the beginning. He now moves another notch up the ladder with his own commercial radio show, sponsored by Coca-Cola, beginning January 10 over the NBC Red network.

Masters, born in Robinson, Ind., took to music commercially while a student at the University of Indiana, playing guitar at fraternity dances, which helped pay his room and board. He went back to Robinson, armed with a degree in commerce, and worked as a bank teller, but continued playing as a sideline, until the sideline became more profitable than handing other people's money.

Masters later moved on to Chicago and for six years was emcee and leader at the Balaban & Katz houses. Since he's been in the popular dance band field he's played in numerous name hotels, theaters, and cafés. He also has guested on a half-dozen sponsored radio programs and his recordings for Vocalion have produced several smash hits.

Masters is under the personal management of Arthur T. Michael and James V. Pepe. He is booked exclusively by the Music Corporation of America.

WINSTON CHURCHILL'S son-in-law, Vic Oliver, will arrive in America shortly to raise funds for Great Britain. He will bring along one of England's most famous personalities for further box-office appeal.

Eddie Davis goes to a hospital in a few days for a nose operation—to beautify his hearing, not his looks.

Eddie Gorr knows a girl who's afraid to pawn for fear Al Siegel will make a protege out of her!

Selective Service Mail

In the Carnival Department of this issue appear the names of those having Selective Service mail in the various offices of The Billboard. This list is published in addition to the names which are set in capital letters in the regular Letter List.

Also in the Carnival Department is given a list of registrants who are considered delinquents.

Rogers' Corner, 3-Way Eatery and Show Spot, Opens

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Rogers' Corner, a Joe Rogers restaurant-with-talent project which took the site of Jack Dempsey's opposite Madison Square Garden, opened Christmas night without a show, this being due to performers union support of building trades, hotel and restaurant workers, and pastry and baker unions. Situation was ironed out the next day, however, and show went on that night in the main room, known as the Theater Lounge or Rondeau, which was the label of Dufour & Rogers' cafe at the World's Fair.

This is a solo Rogers adventure, his partner of the last 10 years at expositions and world's fairs not being involved in this deal. Ben Yost's Varsity Eight and the Ross Sisters, singers, with music by Zinn Arthur orchestra, comprise the initial lay-out.

Another spot within the completely renovated development is the Rumba Room, but show policy has not yet been set. This one will have dinners starting at a buck. There's also a self-service section, this taking the corner spot, with meals from about 40 cents up. Drinks start at a quarter.

In the Theater Lounge, done up fancy and streamlined to the hilt, there are three sets of circular bars, each section being joined to the other, with an elevated stage in the central part. It's the (See Rogers' Corner Opens on page 31)

The purpose of this department is to benefit producers, bookers, agents and others concerned with the exploitation of talent in the major indoor fields thru The Billboard's coverage of every branch of the show business.

SHOWMEN INTERESTED IN SPECIFIC "POSSIBILITIES" MAY ADDRESS THEM IN CARE OF THE NEW YORK OFFICE OF THE BILLBOARD, 1564 BROADWAY.

For FILMS

ROY ROBERTS—leading man in legit, last seen in the short-lived production of Paul Vincent Carroll's The Old Foolishness at the Windsor Theater, New York. Has scored many times in straight leading roles, but in this he added character work of an outstanding sort, giving a finely detailed and solidly effective performance as a young Irish farmer. Recommended for both leads and character leads in films.

CLAIRE NEISEN—young radio actress making her legit debut in Coe for Passion at the Royale Theater, New York. Pretty and charming, she plays a difficult role with brilliant insight and remarkably effective restraint and manages to stand out in an experienced and excellent cast. Should screen well, too.

For LEGIT

MUSICAL

JOAN MERRILL—lovely brunet singer who interprets popular and standard tunes with a high degree of vocal ability and showmanship. She is as impressive with swing tunes as with ballads and in addition commands attention with a striking appearance and winning personality. Caught at the Hurricane, New York night spot, where she show-stopped. A natural for revues.

Rainbow Room's Dance Experiments

The Radio City Rainbow Room and Rainbow Grill have experimented with dancing that is "different"—and discovered that their patrons loved it.

By EDWARD SEAY

(Assistant to John Roy, Rainbow Room and Rainbow Grill, New York)

FOR practically two decades entertainment in fashionable cafes and hotel dining rooms was mostly composed of a torch singer and a dance team. The management of the Rainbow Room feels that it has done much in changing this formula in recent years. Disregarding the novelty type act and the new singers and mimics that have been developed in the Rainbow Room, let us consider dancing acts that by their freshness set a new style in cafe entertainment.

Merely to mention the dancers who have had their first important engagement in the Rainbow Room is sufficient to prove that John Roy, the manager, recognizes the dancer's importance in night life entertainment. Among the distinguished dancers who have appeared in the Rainbow Room have been Mamou and Renita, Holland and Hart, Gower and Jeanne, Davis and Diane, Leni and Eugene Van Orton, Paul Draper, Dorothy Fox, Mary Baye, and Naldie and George Tappa. However, it was on New Year's Eve two years ago that the Rainbow Room, though by accident, discovered thru Jack Cole's success that supper club patrons would be interested in ballet dancing. If it were presented with showmanship and adapted to the night club.

On that night Jack Cole and his "company," Anna Austin and Florence Lessing, were added attractions. Cole, for the special occasion, devised one of his East Indian dances and set it to swingtime. The result was electrical and the number was the hit of the show. Cole, who had had a thorough ballet training under Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn, was encouraged by Mr. Roy to plan an entire program of dances arranged for popular taste. The summer of 1938 witnessed the triumph of Cole's ideas and Mr. Roy's foresight, and since that time hotels and night clubs throughout the country have enthusiastically approved the new trend in dance entertainment.

Jose Fernandes and Monna Montes early this year appeared in the Rainbow Room in a program of classic Spanish ballet dances, and made a tremendously favorable impression. This fall Miss Montes returned to the Metropolitan Opera Ballet, and Fernandes obtained another fine partner, Teresita. Costumed by Karinska, Inc., and dancing to concert hall music arranged to appeal to the general public, Fernandes and Teresita have done much in making the public appreciative of the best in Spanish dancing.

It should be added that thru the Rainbow Grill's famous champagne dance contest hour, Mr. Roy has done much to popularize general dancing among patrons. The first of the popular "dance hours" was given in the Rainbow Grill by Glover and LaMae. They were succeeded by Marilyn and Michael, who remained for three solid years, and were succeeded last summer by Don Julian and Marjorie. These three couples have done much to make the public accept the conga, rumba, and the Viennese waltz.

Whatever is new in the dance is usually given its first showing at either the Rainbow Room or the Rainbow Grill, and any artist with an original approach to the dance always is given a favorable hearing by Mr. Roy.

He recognizes that the dance and its artists are a staple form of entertainment that cannot be replaced or displaced.

Try Pitt Benefit Control

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—Benefits are hitting performers again, with result that bookers, AFM and AGVA office have established a fairly rigid "no" rule unless sponsor of show can prove that layout is strictly for charity.

Under current set-up, if charity sponsors ask acts directly, performers check with AGVA or agents. If agents ask, talent checks with union. If bands ask or are asked, AFM passes out rule. AGVA, AFM, and bookers then check with each other to learn whether affair is legitimate.

Federal Agents To Investigate ASCAP Philly Activities

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—Six agents of the Federal Trust-Busting Squad arrived here yesterday to investigate complaints against ASCAP. Agents confirmed that they will visit night spots to determine whether the Sherman Anti-Trust Law has been violated by ASCAP by its system of demanding license payments for use of copyrighted music.

Among cases to be investigated are those involving Club Bali, Evergreen Casino, and the former Delmonico's Supper Club, now Carroll's. These cases were settled by payment of license fees demanded by ASCAP. There have been several hundred cases in this area in which ASCAP attorneys have brought action in Federal Court to force payment of fees.

Crosby Income Hits 800G; Air, Pix, Disks

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28.—Bing Crosby signed new picture and recording contracts last week which, added to his radio earnings, will net him an income of $800,000 a year for the next three to five years.

His new pact with Paramount, effective June 1, calls for a schedule of nine pictures to be made within the next three years, at $175,000 per picture. He also has the choice of making one of his three annual pictures on another lot, should he see financial and artistic advantages.

His new contract with Decca records, calls for a guarantee of $60,000 per year for the next five years, plus a percentage over a set number of sales. His last Decca contract guaranteed him only $40,000 a year.

In addition, Crosby is earning $200,000 a year on radio. His contract with Kraft Cheese was renewed only last month.

Radio Directors Get From Peanuts All the Way to Real Big Dough as Producer-Writers on Networks

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Field of radio directing has become standardized in the last couple of years, and although salaries are not what they were in the boom days, able directors are dragging down fairly important money. Prices now being paid for free-lance work are about as follows:

Average good director gets $125 to $150 on daytime strip shows, with some salaries paying as low as $75 for this work. Blackett-Sample-Hummert, for instance, will pay $75, but go up to $125. Higher priced directors will get $250 on a daytime strip. Example is Edwin Wolfe, who reportedly takes this for Pepper Young's Family. However, Wolfe has been on the show a very long time. Usual practice is to start at $125 and work up as the program gets successive renewals.

Half-hour evening dramatic programs bring $100 to $500, and in some instances more, but many pay $150. Bill Bachar, tho, reportedly received $1,000 a shot for Hollywood Playhouse programs. Bachar is also said to have received much higher money on special jobs. When Paramount bought an hour's time on CBS to plug the pic, Alexander's Ragtime Band, Bachar is said to have received $2,035.

In many instances directors are intricately involved as producers, and thus get a take from both ends. Examples are HI Brown and Eddie Byron. Brown claims he never sells himself as solely a director, but as a p-d-sser-director, and he often owns the show. Brown now has Joyce Jordan (his own property), and beginning January 7 will do a mystery series for Carter's Little Liver Pills. He has done Dick Tracy, The Gumps, David Heron, owned Terry and the Pirates and others.

Eddie Byron, working on District Attorney, was reportedly getting between $400 and $500 for his director's stint, but since he became producer of the show he is reportedly getting nearer $700.

According to Nick Kensey, talent buyer at N. W. Ayer agency, producer-writers like Orson Welles and Arch Oboler reportedly command about $20,000 to $25,000 for a weekly show. This is considered tops.

Ed Gardner, hired by Rudy Vallee to direct, and considered by many as a prime factor in the show's success thru his devising of the business with John Barrymore, reportedly gets $1,250 out of the show's total cost of $9,000.

Vic Knight's take on Cantor Show is reported at $900, with Mann Holliner the same on Maxwell House. Tom McKnight, working on Blondie and Sherlock Holmes programs, is reported as getting $250 each, but McKnight is also producer and may get more. Jay Hanna, working on Kathleen Norris and often handling Phillips Food shows, is reported as earning $300 weekly.

According to buyers, top directors include Byron, Knight, Holliner, Ed Wolfe, Chick Vincent, Hanna, HI Brown, and Carlos De Angelo. De Angelo's weekly take currently is figured at about $1,000, this income coming from stints on Mandrake the Magician, Hilltop House, The O'Neill, Birthday Party, and Wheatens Playhouse. At the end of this month, De Angelo adds Ellen Randolph to his list.

Can't Fool a Philly Cop

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—Local police department's drive on private clubs selling the hard stuff after the legal curfew hours reached into WCAU with amusing results the other day. A zealous rookie blue-coat, armed with an imposing sheaf of official papers, barged into the office of Ruth M. Lafferty, assistant to station proxy Dr. Leon Levy, and started firing questions. Waving aside Miss Lafferty's protests, he declared, "Orders is orders. We're investigating all clubs and you've got one here. What's this WCAU Women's Club all about?"

Most of the names mentioned in this story command $150 for a daytime serial and $750 for evening variety shows. "Stinkers," as one director puts it, fluctuate between $35 and $75 jobs.

According to trade execs, a good director can knock down between $500 and $700 weekly with a few programs, but only about 10 or 12 men around New York are said to average this figure. Field, however, is considered much more stable than acting, which partly explains the yen of most actors to become directors—despite fact that in-demand actors like Betty Garde, Charles Cantor, John Brown, and others may knock down as much as $20,000 yearly. It is pointed out by NBC's Al Williams and other execs that the normal expectancy of an actor's life—from the viewpoint of income—is just about five years. Directors do better.

Trend in the business right now is for directors to concentrate on a few big-paying jobs rather than multitudinous smaller ones. It is pointed out, for instance, that Byron, Knight, and Holliner are all handling only one job currently. Estimate is that a good director can handle a load of three daytime strip shows comfortably, whereas one evening program requires about three days to put in shape.

Hayes' New WABC Post

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Arthur Hull Hayes, for three years in the radio sales division as sales manager of WABC, has been appointed general manager of the network's key outlet.

In addition to general manager post, Hayes will continue as sales manager of the station.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Dec. 28.—WMAS applied this week to the Federal Communications Commission for permission to change its frequency from 1420 to 889 kilocycles, to install a new transmitter and directional antenna, and to increase its power to one kilowatt per night and five kilowatts for day operation.

A Wise Guy, Huh!

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—Reason for WDAS canceling its highly-touted Friday the 13th show finally came out. Harold Davis, program director, had planned a pretentious show to debunk the "13th" myth. Script called for mirrors to be broken in front of the mike, a black cat chased in front of the announcer, and the mike to be set up under a ladder—in fact, all the things generally verboten were included in the program menu. At the last minute, Davis rushed into the studio with the last pages of the script, which stated definitely there was no truth to the legend of an ill-omened day.

He tripped over a mike cord, breaking both a tooth and the mike. Program was ash-canned.

FCC Skeds Looksee Into Southern N. J. Station Operations

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 28.—An inquiry into operating practices of WCAM, local municipally-owned station, will be made by the FCC at a hearing tentatively set for January 29 in Washington. Station, which sells its available commercial time to the Mack Radio Sales Company, has been on the selling block for several years. Hearing will also include inquiries on WCAP, Asbury Park, N. J., and WTNJ, Trenton, N. J., which share time with the local station. Licenses for all three stations are up for renewal, and hearing is expected to iron out the sore spots in Southern New Jersey broadcasting set-up.

Prime reason for the hearing, it is understood, is the failure on the part of the three stations concerned to reach a mutually satisfactory time-sharing agreement for the facilities allocated to them. Each is assigned operating frequency of 1330 kc. at 300 watts power. The hearing is expected to determine whether the stations should be allocated specific hours for operation. The FCC will also examine representatives of the stations, it was learned, on whether they have directly or indirectly transferred or disposed of any of their rights to others without authority from the commission, and whether their broadcasting operations have been "in the public interest."

Personnel Shuffle At WSGN; Terry Up

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 28.—General Manager Henry O. Johnston of WSGN has announced a realignment of station personnel for the closing of the year. Effective immediately, Bill Terry becomes production manager, succeeding Robert McRaney, who resigned WSGN in mid-December to become general manager of WCBL, Columbus, Miss.

Eugene Plumstead joins the station as an announcer, replacing Bill Snow, who resigned earlier in the month to become a member of the Yankee net announcing staff. Thomas Seaverin, music librarian, gets a bigger job with expansion to supervision of the musical detail of all local programs. Matters pertaining to all network programs is to be handled by Carl Cannon, promotion manager.

Terry has been with WSGN since he took over football broadcasts in fall of 1937. Plumstead comes to Birmingham via WCOO, Montgomery, but for several years earlier was associated with stations in the East, including WJZ, New York.

Upbed AFRA Fee Pends

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Proposal to increase initiation fees in American Federation of Radio Artists may be held over until February 1 as result of numerous requests that the trade be given this six weeks notice. Matter has to be approved by union's board, which is expected to open the proposal. Upbed rate, from $25 to $50, will apply only in the major centers of New York, Chicago, San Francisco, and Los Angeles. Lower rates prevail among the other locals.

Gilchrist to Ferris

BOSTON, Dec. 28.—Charles Gilchrist, director of news and special events for WBZ-WBZA, resigned today to join the Earl Ferris Radio Feature Service, Inc. in New York. Gilchrist has been at WBZ since May, 1939. Colton (Chick) Morris, staff announcer since 1933, will succeed Gilchrist. Morris, a former member of the staff of the Christian Science Monitor, will continue to emcee the Music show.

WWAAP'S Movie Tattler put the ultimate in eloquent brevity into a wire which was signed MR. AND MRS. HAL TATE and contained no message. The telegraph office did not know what to make of it, not realizing that a man who is at a loss for vocabulary is generally reserving all words for his bride. . . . DOLORES O'LEILLY was in town for a Christmas visit with her folks. . . . CHARLIE LYONS has taken care of NORRIS GOFFS (Lum's Abner) Christman present for three years. He sent him a gold-plated vase surrounded by a fireman waving a lantern and bearing an inscription in Bohemian, declaring it to be the Lyons Christmas Award valid only if won three years in a row. In 1941 and 1942 Lyons will save time on shopping merely by certifying the award for the second and third year. . . . Another screwy gift was that sent by CHARLES URQUHART to PAUL RHYMER. Knowing that the writer of Fic and Sade abhors hobbies, the director sent him a hammer, a chisel, a hunk of marble, and a book of instructions on how to sculpt.

Need to NBC, Wash.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28—Bill Neel, of National Broadcasting Company's press department in charge of the night desk here, left yesterday to take over post of publicity chief at NBC's Washington offices. He succeeds Phoebe Gale. Neel's spot on the night desk goes to Bill Norris, currently handling trade press. Charles Pekar takes over trade press, in addition to other duties.

WWSW Foreign Lingo Ban

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28—Foreign-language programs have become taboo here, WWSW, indie that formerly carried many commercial shows in foreign and continuity in non-English lingo, has banned foreign languages in its sustaining and commercial shows. KQV, which formerly carried foreign-language programs, instituted a similar ban five months ago, and demands that programs appealing to first and second generation foreign audiences in polyglot Pittsburgh area be identified by music. KDKA, WCAE, and WJAS, major network outlets, have forbade foreign-speaking programs originating locally.

The Truth Will Out!

WILMINGTON, Del., Dec. 28.—The Men's Bible Class of the New Castle County Workhouse prison sang on a special Christmas Eve broadcast over Station WILM here.

Among the numbers included in the program was "Steal Away, Jesus."

Bonus Spots on WHAT

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28—Most novel Christmas program on local stations was the three-hour recorded show on WHAT. Broadcast was a bonus to the station sponsor. As a Christmas present to its clients, bonus spot announcements were aired between platters for every concern that advertised on the station during the past year.

Flamm Would Nix WMCA-Noble Deal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—Washington buzzed with rumors following filing by Donald Flamm, president of WMCA, New York station, of a supplemental petition to withdraw the deal calling for the sale of the station to Edward J. Noble. Reports are current that Flamm is attempting to squeeze out of contract, and that perhaps another purchaser is ready to hike the sale price. In New York, however, it was stated that no other offer had been made since Noble's, nor will any say be accepted.

In reference to reports that others besides Noble were involved in the transaction, Noble, thru his attorney, William J. Dempsey, stated: "I am buying and paying for Station WMCA with my own money. I am not acting for or on behalf of anyone except myself in this transaction."

Whether Noble would file opposition petition to that of Flamm's was undecided at press time. Commission is now in recess until after New Year's, when Flamm's reversal petition will be taken up.

NBC's Okla. Affiliates

NEW YORK, Dec. 28—Five stations in Oklahoma became NBC affiliates Wednesday (1), joining the Blue network. Stations will be available to advertisers as a package only, which will be optional with the Blue Southwestern group. Network rate will be $200 per evening hour. Oklahoma stations are KADA, Ada; KVSO, Ardmore; KCRC, Enid; KBRX, Muskogee, and KGPP, Shawnee.

ACA Sets Up Philly Offices; Drive Set

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28—American Communications Association, CIO union comprising radio engineers, marine operators, and telephonists, is setting up a National Broadcast Division here for the radio industry. A national drive is planned to unionize announcers and engineers. Feeling is that, with radio having experienced its biggest money year in 1940, and anticipations for 1941 still greater, time is ripe for a heavy unionization campaign. Moreover, failure of APRA to set tip locals here and in other key cities leaves the field wide open.

Saul Waldbaum, local lawyer who is general counsel for ACA, is chief for the new NBD. O. E. Littlejohn, WFIL engineer and president of the local ACA Chapter, Local 28, was named secretary-treasurer for the drive. At an organization meeting to set up the NBD, representatives attended from ACA locals in Buffalo, New York, Baltimore, and Washington. It was also stated that the full complement of the ACA membership, said to total 14,000, is backing up the radio boys in setting up the separate unit for the broadcasting industry.

F-M License Extension

NEW YORK, Dec. 28—Federal Communications Commission this week announced that experimental licenses for Frequency-Modulation stations would be extended 60 days "upon appropriate requests." Licenses expire January 1, and FCC's move will mean continued FM service for the next couple of months while stations are being constructed. Many of the construction permits were issued only two months ago.

WIGM Readies Debut

MEDFORD, Wis., Dec. 28—Granted call letters WIGM by the FCC, a new station to be operated by George F. Meyer, is rushing construction plans so as to be completed by July 19, 1941. The station is set up to operate on 100 watts, but application is to be made to increase this substantially.

Program Reviews

EDST Unless Otherwise Indicated

Alan Courtney

Reviewed Sunday, 12-3 a.m. Style—All-night program; Station—Sustaining on WMCA (New York).

Alan Courtney, pioneer spider on all-night programs, has been airing via WMCA about one month now. He uses records, introduces guests, and conducts the session with charming informality. Stint begins at midnight, carrying thru to 7 a.m., and includes organ interludes, a job service for the unemployed, a religious service with transcribed talks by ministers of various churches, and whatever else Courtney can cook up to make the program interesting.

Page was leisurely on the three-hour caught, Courtney introducing Bea Wain, Andrew Barish, and a few other notables for informal gab. Platters mostly pop stuff until 2 a.m., after which mostly operetta and light classical used—except when listeners specify. Request a pop.

Requests for times soli, ed via Postal, and all masking requests are given membership in an all-night club. Station is now engaged in surveying its all-night audience, and will base future pattern of the program upon results of survey.

In its present shape, program and Courtney are decidedly soothie for the innumerate.

"Mystery History"

Reviewed Thursday, 9:35-10 p.m. Style—Dramatized quiz. Sustaining on WFIL (Philadelphia) and Quaker Network.

This historical quiz had a ride on the Mutual network last year. With the music feed placing the emphasis on the word stanza, station has revived it as a weekly local sustainer. And while it's the name guest star of "it still comes up as a cliché for" in the introduction, it's a good quiz.

It's a cross between drama and quiz. Three chapters from American history are dramatized and contests are called up from the studio audience to test their alertness by being quizzed on the situation dramatized.

An expert cast is used, and Benjamin S. Mass, history professor at a local high school, is much at home both in tying the show together and in serving as quizmaster. Mill Spooner at the organ for the musical interludes, writing originals to ward off ASCAP tampering. Victor Herbert's America, Pastoral was the identifying theme when Mutualized, but no go now. Don Martin takes production credits, doing a commendable job in never letting it lag. If nothing else, program dispels the popular belief that American history is a "dry" subject. A table radio, a book on television, and a smoking accessory are prizes.

Show is high in patriotic content without resorting to flag-waving.

Reviewed Monday, 10:15-10:30 a.m. Style—Hillbilly music and comedy. Sustaining on WTIC (Hartford, NBC network).

This program will probably be in for a lot of trouble as the result of the ASCAP battle. The songs are mainly hillbilly or Western ballads, the majority of which are ASCAP numbers. The performers may be able to learn enough new tunes to keep themselves on the air, but the old-timers they like best seem banished.

The boys all have good voices, put a lot of feeling into their songs, and produce the old tear-jerkers with no overdose of sticky sweeties. Their only weak spot is in the comedy angle, forced and not as funny to the listener.

Program has a lot of talent and potential commercial worth. Knitting by Hank Lawson is first-rate. Zack,

BMI COST ONE MILLION

Will Be Million And Half by March 31, Says NAB Head

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Neville Miller, president of the NAB, late this week declared the radio industry's music venture had thus far cost about $1,000,000 in sums collected from the subscriber-members of Broadcast Music, Inc. By March 31, Miller said, the figure would likely reach $1,500,000. (In Washington, Department of Justice circles believe BMI has cost about $400,000 up to now.)

Miller indicated there was scant chance of a moratorium on the battle, indicating developments had gone too far. Even if the Society offered to extend its contract for a few months, Miller stated, it is doubtful whether the stations would accept.

Miller reaffirmed that broadcasters would only settle on a per program basis. He would make no estimate as to what money broadcasters would be willing to pay, but pointed out that under per program method, a broadcaster could select and use just what he could pay for.

In other radio-music quarters, however, it was learned that many broadcasters were not in favor of a per program contract, and that such a contract would entail creation of expensive copyright clearing staffs by stations—the whole thing making a field day for accountants and lawyers.

980 Colonial Music Recorded Tunes Go To BMI; 5-Yr. Deal

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Colonial Music Publishing Company, Inc., inked a five-year pact with BMI last week, making available to BMI 980 tunes, all of which have been recorded for Victor.

This is the first all-recorded music catalog snared by BMI. Colonial Music is owned by Teles Demetriaides, who is also head of Standard Phonograph Company, which distributes Victor foreign records. Colonial was not a member of ASCAP.

Colonial has already made a tie-up with another music publisher to share a song-plugging staff and has signed several new composers to exclusive contracts. It is also guaranteeing BMI 30 to 40 new recorded tunes a month, and will, beginning with next week, also publish the most popular tunes on its catalog. The current catalog includes no published songs, but this new plan will mean only "tested songs" will be published, Demetriaides points out.

Colonial will stick to Continental songs, but is giving them English lyrics. It believes that what it lost by not plugging them thru the usual channels is more than made up by having them recorded and by pushing them on music machines.

Deals with BMI calls for a per-performance payment for radio use, plus advance payment. Colonial will deliver to BMI 600 orchestrations and 1,000 professional copies according to the agreement.

SESAC Is Calm Over Indictment

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—SESAC, Inc., coupled with ASCAP, BMI, CBS, and NBC as one of the "villains" in the Department of Justice's indictment, is remaining very calm.

SESAC, Inc., points out its relations with the radio industry have been very amicable for years, with no squawks emanating from its clients.

Brown's NBC Talent Post

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—NBC Artists' Service, which changed its name to Program and Talent Sales December 16, has assigned Vic Brown to contact advertising agencies and radio talent buyers. Brown's former duties were confined to booking NBC talent in club, theater, and night club dates.

ASCAP "Less Unhappy" About Charge, That's All

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Turnabout whereby BMI and the networks have been dragged into the Department of Justice's anti-trust and monopoly charges has resulted in mixed feelings among the warring factions.

One ASCAP exec, queried whether the Society isn't better now that all factions were apparently classed as "villains," stated, "We don't feel better, we just feel less unhappy."

Predict Shake-Up Of ASCAP Set-Up Win or Lose

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Whether the radio music war is settled soon or dragged out for a long period, feeling is growing in radio and music circles that no matter what dispensation is made of the matter the Society will not emerge with its present structure intact.

Belief is that the Tin Pan Alley moguls have possibly outsmarted themselves, setting in motion a chain of circumstances which finally landed the radio interests in the music business, thus extending into a new field the alleged monopolistic activities of the networks—which already allegedly enjoy monopolies in record, transcription, talent, and theater fields.

Indie Station Stampede

Following linking of pact between WHN and ASCAP, WNEW issued statement that it was going into the ASCAP fold. WMCA, queried at press time, indicated it would join ASCAP.

Above developments were all expected and predicted. Sidney Flamm of WMCA having stated his station would sign if other indies did—owing to competitive pressure. WHN had long been expected to sign. Herbert Petrey, station exec, having told The Billboard weeks ago that station policy would be dependent on policy of parent organization, Loew's, Inc. Renewal linking of three Metro catalogs recently (Feast, Miller, and Robbins) clinched the WHN deal, forcing other indies into line.

Both ASCAP and NAB have indicated that many stations would probably operate under both licenses. But stampede of many indies to ASCAP will place the fight in the lap of the networks, where ASCAP always claimed it belonged.

4 Philly Area Indie Stations Go ASCAP, Breaking BMI Unity Front

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—Figuring they were only carrying the torch for network stations, four radio stations in this area signed five-year contracts with ASCAP. All non-network stations, those signing with ASCAP are WDAS, WFZL, WCAM at Camden, N. J., and WIBG in Glenside, Pa. Hillie J. Brown, ASCAP rep here, indicates that "others" have either signed or at the signing stage.

Stations confirming signing are making no public announcements until after the first of the year. At least two other non-network stations and one network station feel that if the music strike becomes an actuality they will sign, which would virtually force all the stations into ASCAP's line or leave the network outlets holding the bag.

Local observers opine that if ASCAP can whip the three local network outlets into line, radio is licked. It is pointed out that the pres of WFIL, local Mutual-NBC Blue link, is Samuel B. Rosenbaum, who is also head of the Independent Radio Network Affiliates. That WCAU, main CBS link here, is operated by Dr. Leon and Ike Levy, who are CBS board members and stockholders, and that KYW, N.Y., West outlet, is a Westinghouse station.

Vaude Houses Get Blanket BMI Clearance But Some Demand Orks And Singers Bring In Own Okehs

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Band and talent agencies are getting blanket letters of clearance from Broadcast Music, Inc., for use of BMI tunes in theaters, night clubs, and hotels. Vaude houses, in order to insure themselves against suits arising from unauthorized use of music, are making certain that all licensees are in order before they will permit BMI tunes to be played from their stages.

The Paramount Theater is demanding that bands and performers playing there obtain a release from BMI. While the Roxy Theater is getting individual clearance for all BMI tunes to be played there.

The William Morris Agency has already obtained such a release. The letter from BMI to Nat Lefkowitz, Morris treasurer, gives assurance that no claim will be made for any BMI music and that its use by Morris acts is unrestricted. Also, that no compensation will be asked from either the artist or spot in which it is played until further notice.

The Morris office was first confronted with this problem with the booking of Rosemary Lane into the Paramount. Miss Lane's repertoire carries two BMI tunes, and it was at first feared that new songs and arrangements would have to be provided because availability of this music was not clear. BMI's reply to Lefkowitz not only authorized Miss Lane to use the music, but settled clearance for all Morris acts and bands.

Lefkowitz is having the letter photostated and sent to all theaters, booking offices, ballrooms, and night clubs with whom the Morris office does business. Lefkowitz made it clear that the Morris office was taking no sides in the issue, merely taking these precautions in the interests of its clients.

The Warner legal department has not completed its study of the situation. A spokesman in that office said that he had not yet been notified of the Warner stand in regard to permitting BMI music in their houses. He admitted he did not know whether Warner would permit BMI tunes in their houses, even if BMI clearance was obtained.

Local houses are sticking to ASCAP and public domain tunes only. This policy has long been in effect at Loew's houses, and the current ASCAP-BMI fracas has nothing to do with the continuation of this policy.

BMI said it has already informed the major talent agencies that no restrictions are being placed upon the use of its music. Owners of spots using music will ances. Stations signing pointed out that it would be cheaper to pay for an ASCAP license than add an extra person to the staff to handle the clearance of music. This is especially true at the part-time stations. Of those admittedly signed, only WDAS is a full-timer. Moreover, they all point out that they found that they couldn't get along without ASCAP music, recorded shows predominating at all the stations; and one explained the interest of our listeners is more important to us than money."

Music feed here, while not causing any commercial cancellations as yet, has already hit several important sustainers. WIP, which has had the exclusive for years on broadcasting the annual New Year's Day Mummers' Parade, checked out for the 1941 pageant because of the inability to clear the music of the dozen string bands in line.

At WFIL, the two Saturday morning shows devoted to school bands will be replaced by a dramatic or debate session. WFIL also has a problem with the Sleepy Hollow hillbillies gang, who are fed into the station from Pottsville, Pa. Station wants the hillbillies in the studios so the music can be checked.

"In barn busters up-State, hillbillies tote, but bringing them into the light find the musicians' union them as regular musicians."

MBS Year Analysis Indicates Growth

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Mutual Broadcasting System, in a round-up analysis of activities and business in 1940, states that 50 stations joined the net, that 1,858 special events were broadcast from United States and Europe, and that billings rose sharply.

Addition of the 50 stations brings the total MBS stations to 168, as compared to 118 a year ago. Network billings for 11 months of 1940 totalled $4,190,071, an increase of 39.6 per cent over a similar period in 1939. Estimate for the year is $4,500,000, as compared with $3,329,728 in 1939.

Special features division presented 820 programs of spot news, features, sports and talk, consuming 378 hours and 35 minutes time. Programs from abroad totaled 1,028, adding up to 206 hours and 57 minutes.

NBC Claiming Public Not Sore Over ASCAP Ban

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—National Broadcasting Company claims its statistics show a negligible amount of squawks accruing as a result of NBC's ash-canning of music controlled by the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers.

In a period of two months, dating back to the time that NBC first began clamping down on use of ASCAP music on remotes and sustainers, the network points out it has received only 80 letters. Of these, 35 were mild protests, with the remainder mostly of an inquiring nature, asking for information about the situation.

Letters now, since the ash-canning of ASCAP music on commercials beginning Monday (23), have averaged only six to eight daily, according to NBC. On Thursday NBC stated that not a single squawk had been received since Monday.

WWSW Army Program

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—WWSW has completed arrangements for series of five broadcasts weekly on army life direct from Camp Meade. Programs will be recorded at camp by announcer Lieut. Schneider and engineer John Kinsel, who will also be stationed there. Platters will be rushed to WWSW after recording thru portable equipment. Series will include interviews with Pittsburghers at camp, notes on camp activities, pick-ups of maneuvers, and other coverage of camp life.

KDKA has been carrying quarter-hour forums weekly on army life for some time, directed by station manager, Major John A. Holman.

Yankee Net's Soldier Show

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Dec. 28.—Six hundred Springfield regulars of the First Reconnaissance troop stationed at Fort Devens, and an unknown number of soldiers under the selective service act will be heard in regular Friday night broadcasts beginning in January over Radio Station WSPR. The Yankee network, with 19 affiliated stations, has made arrangements to present interview and radio talent programs from the hostess house at the fort. No time has yet been set for the tune-in.

RADIO MUSIC FACTIONS HIT

NAB-BMI Skedded For D. J. Confab; Claim Innocence

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Week of fast and furious developments in the radio-music war was climaxed Thursday with an announcement that Attorney General Robert H. Jackson okched criminal proceedings against ASCAP, Columbia Broadcasting System, National Broadcasting Company, and BMI. Charges are based on alleged violations of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, and Thurman Arnold, Assistant Attorney General, is scheduled to start proceedings in Milwaukee shortly after January 1, on which day the networks and numerous stations are slated to drop ASCAP music.

Development, which in effect puts the fangs on all chief protagonists in the music war, came as a stunning surprise to both radio and music execs here. BMI spokesmen indicated that NAB execs would contact Department of Justice this week-end to try to explain that the charges of illegality are applicable only to ASCAP, not to BMI.

Charges against the defendants are: Pooling of music in order to create a monopoly; discrimination against composers not members of either of the warring factions; illegal price-fixing, charging for music when no music is used (blanket license), and in general setting up music monopolies tending to hinder performance or radio's most-used music on the air.

ASCAP last week had seemed on the verge of deciding to sign the government's consent decree, but Society's board decided against inking—claiming that to do so would be an admission of guilt.

In some quarters, latest move of the government is regarded as a threat and a grandstand play, following collapse of the consent decree negotiations, and an attempt to force a settlement. "The Washington boys are publicity minded," one source stated, adding that if the two warring factions got together, the government would drop the case. In support of this view, he pointed to terrific cost of prosecution. ASCAP spokesmen also indicated that formula whereby music would be sold direct to sponsors had not been worked out, there being too many other "muddles" to be worked out.

In BMI much doubt existed as to what sudden turn might next develop. "Anything can happen now," one put it.

ASCAP, however, went right ahead with its plans, first reported in The Billboard, to keep a careful check on all infringements throughout the country, and prophesied that some of the infringement cases—particularly those in which a tune would be performed over a hook-up—might mount into amounts as high as $50,000.

Gene Buck, ASCAP president, commenting on the development linking all parties as villains in attempts to monopolize music, stated: "Attorney General Jackson's announcement to proceed to indict ASCAP is regrettable, but does not come as a shock to me or my associates. We composers and authors . . . have long grown used to the power and influence of the broadcasters since the birth of radio. The only new feature of the government's announcement is Mr. Arnold's declaration to also indict the CBS, the NBC, and their company union, BMI, for which he receives our sincere congratulations." Buck also reaffirmed the Society's old belief that its legal difficulties were all broadcaster-inspired, and reaffirmed the Society's offer to meet the broadcasters and negotiate a pact.

Miller issued a statement saying in part: "It is significant of the Justice of the broadcasters' complaints against the Society and of the propriety of the Department of Justice's pressing for a consent decree on the part of ASCAP that only two days ago three Justices of the Federal Court in Washington unanimously held that the ASCAP was an illegal monopoly in restraint of trade." (Miller here refers to the Tacoma decision of last week.)

He added, "It is most unfortunate that the department appears to have confused the illegal practices of ASCAP with

How One Song Got the Air Anyway

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Marty White, performer and songwriter, submitted his newest brainchild, My New York Town, to Eddie Cantor for his broadcast a half year ago, and Cantor told White that he "never used songs that weren't published for ASCAP."

Since then, White had the song published by Mayfair Music Company (an ASCAP member), and so last week he submitted the same song to Cantor's sponsor, Bristol-Meyer. He received a letter from the sponsor notifying him that they couldn't use the song because it's an ASCAP number.

the perfectly legitimate effort of broadcasters to create an alternative competitive supply of music. BMI is not the creature of NBC and CBS. It was formed by mandate of the NAB . . . and more than 600 stations are the owners of its stock and the users of its music. It was at the urging of many of these stations and of myself that the networks cooperated in the formation of BMI, of which they together own only 17.1 percent of the stock . . . The statement issued by the Department of Justice shows that the department does not understand the set-up of the BMI. This is not surprising in view of the fact that the Department of Justice has made no attempt to discuss this set-up with broadcasters, nor has it pointed out to us any way in which it believed we were violating the law."

KDKA's Holman to Army

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—Major John Holman, manager of KDKA, has received instructions from the U. S. Army advising him to report January 19 to the Army Signal Corps. His successor has not yet been announced. Major Holman was in the service during the last war.

FDR Birthday Ball Committee Split on Staging ASCAP Show; Fear Radio Publicity Boycott

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Undercover battle over ASCAP radio fight is raging in President Roosevelt's Birthday Ball Committee here, because one fund-raising idea would invite ASCAP to stage a giant musical in smoky Constitution Hall. Altho all on committee concede that the plan would break box-office records because of current music fight, important members fear radio chains would boycott publicity for committee's campaign against infantile paralysis.

The Billboard learned exclusively that the idea was presented about a week ago to committee in District of Columbia's Commissioner Russell Young's office by Andrew Kelley, former movie critic for local Times-Herald. Success of previous birthday balls here, it was argued, has been due to personal appearance of name bands and movie stars, and it was believed that ASCAP show at Constitution Hall would pack them in. Some committee members behind the plan remember that radio has never contributed radio personalities to the celebration, leaving heavy work to Hollywood figures.

Precedent for ASCAP plan was cited by committee men who remembered the extravaganzas produced by Gene Buck, ASCAP chief, a few years ago for newspaper men in National Press Club. According to the report, preliminary discussions for another ASCAP show have been under way with Society officers in New York, who expressed delight at opportunity to tell their story in such distinguished surroundings. Show would feature ASCAP tunes. Richmond R. Keech, Public Utilities Commissioner for Washington, and real power on Birthday Ball Committee, advised caution until group could get radio's reaction to the idea. No long wait for this is expected,

Criminal Prosecution Necessary To Protect Public, Says Arnold; ASCAP, BMI, Nets in Same Hole

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Criminal action threatened by the Department of Justice Anti-Trust Division last week is prompting lawyers for ASCAP, BMI, NBC, and CBS to fill up their brief cases and head for the Federal Court in Milwaukee, where after the first of the year the government will seek indictment for monopolistic practices in radio music. Altho Department of Justice move was by no means a surprise, it was thought that the feds would prosecute under separate cases. Admission was made, too, that SESAC is now being investigated as result of numerous complaints.

Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold said the government "cannot sit by and see ASCAP and the broadcasters engage in a private war at the expense of the public, using violations of law as their weapons in order to fight fire with fire." He admitted that his department had attempted to obtain what he called a "voluntary agreement" to form the basis of a working peace which would permit the Society to continue its legitimate function of protecting its members from piracy. These efforts, he said, had appeared on the verge of success only a few days ago, but had failed. "Now we have no choice but to proceed with a criminal prosecution to protect the interest of the public in orderly competition in the distribution of music," he concluded.

Arnold charged that ASCAP and BMI were guilty of an illegal pooling of most desirable music copyrights available for radio, in order to eliminate competition and to monopolize supply. There had been illegal discrimination against users of copyright music; publication of music had been withheld to exact fees not permitted by the law; prices for music and its use had been fixed; composers had been restrained in marketing their own music; music users had to pay for programs which used no music, and a mutual boycott was being used by ASCAP and BMI in an attempt to gain control over each other, the anti-trust chief added. The two radio networks rated included in the proceedings, Arnold said, because they controlled

Commenting upon background of the department's action, Arnold explained that complaints against ASCAP activities had poured into Washington for years and authorities had warned the Society several times. He also said that radio chains had tried to explain their position by saying their moves were necessary to fight ASCAP. The department, Arnold stated, doesn't care which group was the aggressor. "The mutual boycotts already begun," he declared, "will hamper and obstruct the rendition of all copyrighted music over the radio and deprive the public of the privilege of hearing that music except on terms dictated by the victor in the contest."

Decision to press criminal charges against the music groups and the radio network companies came after Attorney General Robert H. Jackson and Assistant Attorney General Arnold had reviewed recommendations prepared by staffers Victor O. Waters and Warren P. Cunningham Jr., who have worked on the music investigation for most of 1940. Attempts to have the Department of Justice to move against ASCAP before now were made by broadcasters well over a year ago, when Sam Rosenbaum, chairman of the Independent Radio Network Affiliates, and staffers from the National Association of Broadcasters conferred with Arnold.

With press already on the with the Federal Communications Commission to have the government part the chains from their talent bureaus and transcription companies, there is wonder whether the Justice Department action will prompt NBC and CBS to drop all connection with BMI. It is thought that chain pressure may be put on BMI to change its bylaws to permit sale of stock or catalog to persons outside broadcasting business—ASCAP for instance. With a settlement worked out to the satisfaction of all parties, including the government, it is believed that there will be no further use for BMI, especially if it encourages thought that radio chains are too big already.

Rainbow Room Buys Theme Song for Its Remotes; See Trend

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—The Radio City Rainbow Room and Rainbow Grill have acquired the right to a non-ASCAP tune, Rainbow Rendezvous, to be used as a theme for the Rainbow Room broadcast. Beginning Monday the tune will open all Rainbow Room remotes, leaving the band leader the closing spot for his own theme song.

The tune was recorded recently by D'Artega's band for Associated Music Publishers, transcription company, and John Roy, director of the Rainbow Room and the Grill, heard it and liked it. He negotiated for the copyright thru Ben Selvin of AMP.

Dick Ehrn's hand the past couple of years has been using Meet Me at the Astor on its remotes from the Astor Hotel, but the song is not available now, because Ehrn, who wrote it, published it thru Bob Miller music publishing, an ASCAP member.

Other night club owners are watching the Rainbow Room experiment with its theme song, and may attempt to do the same thing.

Byrne Charges Miller With Act Of "Conspiracy" in White-Heat Battle Over Former's Vocalist

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Battle royal is being waged by Glenn Miller and Bobby Byrne over the latter's vocalist, Dorothy Claire, which may culminate in a $25,000 court suit against Miller for "conspiracy to breach a contract." Miss Claire and a representative of Miller's attorney, David Mackay, served notice on Byrne yesterday that she is leaving as singer of the Byrne band January 5 and will commence working for Miller the following day.

The day she begins working for Miller, A. Edward Moskowitz, attorney for Byrne, declared, suit will be filed against Miller for $25,000 for "conspiracy, compunction, coercion, and intimidation." Situation becomes a more complex one since both bands are being managed by the same office, General Amusement Corporation.

Entire situation began last week when Marion Hutton, recently married, resigned from the Miller band but offered to sing on Miller's Chesterfield cigarette radio commercial until she could be replaced. Byrne's attorney claims that Byrne, too, is up against a similar situation, as he also starts a cigarette commercial for Raleigh-Rool January 3.

Altho Miss Claire had a two-year contract with Byrne, signed and counter-signed by her mother because she is still legally "an infant," she accepted an offer of $250 salary made by Miller. Her salary with Byrne was $75 plus evening clothes extra for recordings, and an extra stipulation for radio broadcasts to come.

Byrne's spokesman, however, maintains that the Byrne band built her up from an unknown singer to one of some

Colorado Ballroom in the Market for Name Orchestras

DENVER, Dec. 28.—Announcement of a new name policy for the Harlequin Ballroom at Grand Junction, Colo., was made last week by Manager L. L. Burns while shopping for bands here. According to present plans, name bands working around Denver will be brought to the Western Slope center for week-end sessions. Old-fashioned dancing will be the order on Wednesday nights.

According to Burns, business is going along nicely at the Harlequin, the only dancer in Grand Junction, which draws from the entire Western Slope area of Colorado.

Only 360 for Louis Prima

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Dec. 28.—Louis Prima, in at the Ritz Ballroom here Sunday (15) for a one-nighter, didn't do so well, with only 860 persons passing thru the turnstiles. Admision was set at 65 cents, grossing a take of $565. His previous appearance at the Loew-Poli Lyric Theater here several weeks ago no doubt was a contributing factor. Ed Raymond and his Old Timers are playing mid-week dances at the Ritz.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Dec. 28.—Joe Ray's orchestra is now a featured attraction at the Rockingham Cafè here.

A Rose by Any Name

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—You can never tell Nathan Schwartz that the surest way to gain fame in orkdom is via the airwaves. He knows better. Several months ago the local maestro grabbed for himself the post as WFL musical director, but instead of coming out on the air as "Nathan Schwartz and his orchestra," station decided to call him "Norman Black."

The first "big moment" started Monday (30) when Black, nee Schwartz, began his first big commercial show for Bond Bread. Program originates at WFL for the Quaker Network, regional web covering 15 stations in the Mid-Atlantic States. But again Black, nee Schwartz, has to start building a new name all over again.

Advertising agency figured it would be more appropriate to call the maestro "Buddy Baker."

prominence and that she owes it a contractual debt. Byrne's business manager, Warren Pearl, approached Miller with an offer to release her for $5,000, but Miller said that would have to be straightened out by the attorneys.

Pearl claims Miss Claire was offered a substantial increase, which she turned down, and was asked if she would stay with Byrne for the same money that Miller was offering, but she refused to answer.

When Miller was asked to comment on the other side's reaction, he answered: "It's only a stunt." Byrne's crew said, however, that if it is, "It's a pretty expensive one."

When asked about Miss Claire's Byrne contract, Mackay, Miller's legal adviser, claimed that "the law places a sheltering mantle around the shoulders of an infant, and therefore the contract is not binding."

While Byrne refused to be quoted, members of his band are burst up at Miller because of his alleged refusal to make an appearance at the Strand Theater when Byrne was taken off the stand with acute appendicitis and guest leaders subbed for him.

N. J. Spot To Vie With Meadowbrook

ENGLEWOOD CLIFFS, N. J., Dec. 28.—The Rustic Cabin local roadhouse, is mapping a policy for bringing in top young bands in an attempt to give Frank Daley's Meadowbrook at Cedar Grove, N. J., competition of a type that the latter spot is relatively free from at present.

Contemplated policy takes in consideration of such bands as Dick Jurgens and Tommy Tucker for the spring. Carl (Deacon) Moore is also mentioned as a bandstand possibility. Alvin Rey is current at the spot. With the institution of the new policy will come increased sit time on Mutual and an intensive publicity campaign handled by the Hal Davis-Lee Lieber office.

Meadowbrook has long been the stronghold of name bands in the Jersey area near New York, specializing particularly in swing outfits. Bobby Byrne is current there with Tommy Dorsey following him next month.

Ink Spots Attract 1,800

SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 28.—The Four Ink Spots attracted 1,800 to the Buddy Club dance here Thursday (19) at Masonic Temple. Admission was 90 cents, plus tax. Several hundred tickets were sold in advance at 75 cents, including tax.

802 Rules Minimum Number of Musicians for Single Dates

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Gone are the club date days of four-piece bands and smaller combinations in most of the New York hotels and ballrooms. Local 802, AFM, officially outlawed them at an executive board meeting at which the union ruled that hotels (specifically designated) cannot employ less than eight to twelve musicians at private dances and other single engagements.

In the past bookers and contractors have been permitted to employ as many men as they thought necessary to make music, as long as they paid minimum union scale or more. Now the union is going one step further to increase employment by stating the minimum number of men to play the job, a move which can be policed because salaries for single jobs must be paid to the union's collection and escrow department, and the number of men per engagement will be counted.

Rule takes effect January 15, and the number of men designated to each job in most cases ranks with the importance of the spot. Class A spots like the Waldorf-Astoria, Commodore, St. George Hotel (Brooklyn), Manhattan Center, Royal Windsor, and Prospect Hall (Brooklyn) must employ a minimum of

Requestfully Yours

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Dec. 28.—The search for a new name for Paul Brenner's recorded show, previously known as the 1940 Request Club, on WAAT, local station, is now ended. After several weeks of a contest staged among listeners, G. M. Mette, of New York, comes up with the winning tag, Requestfully Yours.

A song will be written around the name by Kay and Sue Werner, the ditty to be used as a Brenner new theme number on the program. And winner Mette, plus a companion, gets a whirl around New York night spots and hotels, taking in personal visits with Glenn Miller at the Pennsylvania, Sammy Kaye at the Commodore, Will Bradley at the Biltmore, Woody Herman at the New Yorker, Tony Pastor at the Lincoln, and Mal Hallett at the Edison.

Barnet, O'Connor Clash and Split

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Charlie Barnet, fresh on the heels of his expulsion from and reinstatement in the American Federation of Musicians, and Johnny O'Connor, who took over the personal management reins after the trouble was straightened out, came to a parting of the ways this week (24) after an association of less than three weeks.

O'Connor, personal manager of Fred Waring, inked a five-year contract with Barnet to manage his affairs, but returned the contract when he refused to "back seat drive an attraction with Barnet's brain trust." O'Connor said that he had no personal differences of opinion with Barnet, but saw after a few weeks that "our respective ideas of what a manager should be didn't fit."

O'Connor bowed out of the Barnet picture simultaneously with the maestro's signing a booking contract with Music Corporation of America, which O'Connor had been negotiating. Barnet's ex-mentor, Charles Weintraub, who faded into the background when O'Connor moved in, is back again, and said the differences between Barnet and O'Connor arose thru a clash of ideas as to policy, but said that O'Connor had been "extremely helpful" in straightening out past difficulties.

Both O'Connor and Weintraub were of the opinion that things didn't seem to work out as originally contemplated. Ted Cooper, however, who was road manager of the Waring band and was installed with the Barnet crew for similar duties, is still with Barnet on the road.

Moore's 400 in Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 28.—"Phil" Moore's cork drew a gate of about 400 at 35 cents admish for student hop at Club Madrid here Monday (23), taking its share of pre-Christmas punishment. Average attendance for Monday night dances at the spot is about 850.

12 men per engagement.

The hotels New Yorker, Astor, Conference Plaza, Ritz Carlton, Essex House, Capitol, Biltmore, Roosevelt, St. Regis, Pierre, Plaza, and Riverside Plaza must hire no less than 10 men. Also falling into the 10-musician category are Hunt's Point Palace, Mecca Temple Ballroom, Webster Hall, The Livingston (Brooklyn), Knight of Columbus (Brooklyn), and Edling's Casino (Bronx).

Hotels and ballrooms in the eight-musician department include the Edison, Taft, Diplomat, Towers, Half Moon (Brooklyn), McAlpin, Ambassador, and Park Lane hotels, in addition to the Downtown Athletic Club.

These spots are used in the New York area for the majority of club date work. Name bands will not be affected much, because most of them have the minimum number of musicians required, except in cases where they have had to cut down in order to conform to the budget of the employer.

It was stated in The Billboard last week that 802 had set a new scale on club dates in hotel ballrooms. 802 officials pointed out that the new ruling concerns only number of men used, not scale.

Count Basie Leaves MCA

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—The protracted dispute between Count Basie and Music Corporation of America was settled this week by MCA selling Basie his contract for a reported cash sum of $10,000, which returned Basie to the exclusive services of his personal manager, Willard Alexander.

Basie and Alexander, who negotiated the deal with MCA, have been after MCA for months for a release of the colored leader's contract, claiming that Basie had been booked improperly, and that while MCA made $19,000 in commissions last year from the Basie bookings, he went $7,000 in the red.

Basie in all probability will sign with the William Morris Agency, discussion of which is now under way at that office, where Alexander is one of the heads of the band booking department. Dispute with Basie and MCA was reaching a state of white heat, and was about to go before the union when MCA offered Basie a sliding scale of commissions on a test basis. Basie had been after this, but it didn't work out either.

Ballroom Ops Give Up Terp Rhythms for Martial Arts

CLINTON, Ia., Dec. 28.—O. T. Roberts and Al Brauer, operators of the Modernistic Ballroom in the Clinton Coliseum, will take up army life in January as officers in the National Guard, forcing them to relinquish their business.

The ballroom will be placed under the operation of the local American Legion post, with continuation of the same policy used by Roberts and Brauer. Name bands will be used once a month.

Weeks Strong in Lincoln Despite Pre-Holiday Lull

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 28.—Anson Weeks made a two-night stand of the Turnpike Casino (22-23) at 45 cents per person and did surprisingly well considering the closeness of Christmas. Total two-day take was $678.

R. H. Pauley was well satisfied with the band and said, considering the light takes at the other local danceeries, that Weeks' pull was evidently because of the orchestra alone, since he had shorthanded on ads and pulled in promotional horns generally because of the season.

Roy Fox Opens in N. Y. After 12 Years Abroad

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Roy Fox, repatriated American bandleader who made his rep in the music field in England and recently returned as a musical casualty of the war, bows into the local picture again January 8 with an indefinite engagement at La Martinique, local class nite.

Prior to Fox's going to England in 1928 he led a band in California. While in England Fox played in theaters and night clubs, and recorded for both Victor and Decca. Band is being handled by the Morris Agency.

Delaware Ballroom Burns

HARRINGTON, Del., Dec. 28.—Royal Blue, suburban dance hall near here, was gutted by fire last week. The ballroom, valued at $45,000, is owned by the Kent and Sussex Fair Association and was operated by Richard Ware.

Any Commission?

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—It was the day before Christmas and a Salvation Army band, which daily serenaded shoppers outside the town's City Hall, was summoned to court by Common Pleas Court Judge Harry S. McDevitt.

"I've been watching you playing for the last week," said McDevitt, "but I haven't seen you take in much money. I'm going to let you play and then do something about it."

The band played four pieces, and McDevitt ordered Harry Murray, courtier, to pass the hat to jury and spectators. The Judge starting the collection. The box-office report: $10.

Commercial Firms Now Saying It With Gratis Sheet Music

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—What started out to be obvious publicity stunts, writing songs specifically for commercial plugs, is gathering the recognition of a widespread trend. Common practice, heretofore, has been to compose a song for a particular occasion, and then forget it after the rendition. Now name writers are working on commercial songs with the various outfits publishing the tunes for public distribution.

Most recent example was pulled Thursday (26) when Nick Kenny and Fred Coots knocked off a tune that was played in connection with a dozen John Powers models flying down to Florida to perform yeoman publicity tasks for the Miami vacation resort. The song, From Frost to Flowers (In Eight Hours), was played at LaGuardia Airport here by Mitchell Ayres, whose orch was used because of the fashion tie-up and the tag line of the band, "Fashion in Music."

Stunt was promoted by Eastern Air

Lines, which had Kenny and Coots compose the song for it. Now the composition will be published by the airline to plug Florida travel by air, and sheet music will find a free distribution channel and will also be plugged thru the various media of song plugging. Ayres gets the credit of introduction, which he actually did.

Another development along these lines is going to be worked by Ray Kinney, Hawaiian maestro, who has been playing at the Hotel Lexington for the past few years. Kinney embarks on a theater tour January 9, and is in the process now of writing a song which will glorify the Hawaiian Islands as a vacation spot this winter.

Song will be published by the Hawaiian Development Board and distributed free in the theaters in which Kinney will play. It will also carry an endorsement from Governor Poindexter of the islands.

bing dates, the Delbridge & Gorrell Agency here is currently handling four additional units. Two are new bands booked into local spots, Pete Viera, opening at Saks' Show Bar, and Mannie Lopez, current at Cliff Bell's.

The other two are established bands, going into new locations in other cities. Arturo and his Caballeros, Spanish band, opening at the Hotel Paxton, Omaha, January 7, and Carlton Hawk, going into the Club Continental in Chesapeake, O., December 27.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28—Bernie Cummins, currently leading his orchestra at the St. Francis Hotel here, is being kidded by the trade about his latest broadcasting schedule.

After doing a long stretch of one-nighters and theater dates that the Midwest, Cummins was anxious to go back on the air. When he was set in here, he couldn't get a guarantee of much air time, but was promised at least one Coast-to-Coast shot a week.

Songs and Such

GLEN MILLER'S guitarist, Jack Lathrop, is the composer of two songs which the Miller crew just recorded. They are Helpless and Long Time No See, Baby.

Juanito Sanabria, maestro at Havana-Madrid, New York Latin nitery, put the finishing touches on three of his tunes which he sold to Robbins Music, including Havana Madrid Rumba, Borinquen Querida (Latin hillbilly tune), and Panchita (the bingo player).

Johnny Broderick, of the vanteen team of Arren and Broderick, has completed a new song, Lore Failed the Strings, which is now being mailed over by a publisher.

Political significance has once again invaded Tin Pan Alley, with a symphonic poem of Abraham Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" hitting the market under the banner of Mills Music. Peter Tinturia, Hollywood funsmith, is the composer of the Lincoln epic, which he has arranged for orchestra, with baritone solo and choral accompaniment.

Publishers and People

PUBLISHER LOUIS BERNSTEIN is now sunning himself in Florida, led for publication Stein's On a Rainy Day. Jean Herbert, Teddy Hall, and — Don George on the writing end.

Lou Levy is ex-acted back from the Coast in three weeks. He's been out there since last November while his charges, the A' Pendleton Sisters, have been making filmway signing up material for Levy's big Music Company.

Both Silver, writer-publisher-owner of Music (which was the old Artie Shaw's catalog), and Willie Horowitz, Silver's co-partner in Mayfield Music (partnered from Joe Davis), add Henry Spitzer to their team as general business manager to both firms while each operates as an independent entity.

Both Silver and Horowitz will continue to head their companies, but as soon as exploitation channels open up, Spitzer will be the general manager of professional staffs that will operate for the benefit of both companies.

Barlow Does Unusual Biz at Buffalo Spot

BUFFALO, Dec. 28.—While ordinarily pre-Christmas weeks are very poor, the Delwood Ballroom here has this year experienced its steadiest flow of dancers, due to the popularity of the current band, Ralph Barlow, according to the Funk management, which has operated the Delwood for more than 25 years. Barlow came here November 29 and despite the expected letdown has managed to do as well, if not better, than his predecessors of this season. His stay is indefinite.

Col. Manny Prager preceded Barlow for a 10-day stand November 18 to 28 and did the biggest Thanksgiving business of any band in some years. Howard Becker, who opened here September 17 and stayed eight weeks, drew the biggest crowd for any one night, about 1,000, altho his general drawing power did not compare with the current units. Capacity here is about 1,200 persons. So far this season is on par with 1939, when Tommy Flynn held the stand, but 1936, 1937, and 1938 are considered the best years in the past five. Flynn still manages the hall, but holds an indefinite location at swank Chez Ami here.

Hawkins Tops RCA Help's Dances Second Year in Row

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 28.—Erskine Hawkins, playing at Convention Hall here last Friday (20) at the last dance of the year sponsored by the Victor A. A. accounted for the biggest crowd of the year, drawing 8,000 dancers. A straight 45-cent gate made it a bullish $3,200 at the box office. Hawkins also drew the Victor A. A.'s largest crowd during 1939.

Bill Honey, territorial fave, supplied the relief rhythms. Distribution of four $500 prizes among RCA-Victor employees in the company's annual "Suggestion Achievement" contest aided the draw.

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 28.—Ted Black orchestra closed a three-week engagement at Iggy's local night club.

It Can't Happen Here—But It Did

DETROIT, Dec. 28.—Even the judicial bench isn't above it. Berdun after fronting his band for a stag party before the Wayne County Circuit Court judges and their wives at the Port Shelby Hotel here

Event was ~~over~~ so, while talking to were no outsiders, Mr. Berdun had perfect one of the judges the security of his confidence. It is when he turned around company. Billie is clarinet missing. Check found his brother is lost, and Berdun's up failed. If you are now sorrowfully disconsolate toward the bereaved gentry. At least it might be a gap of the "it first happened here" order, so he can't say. Not long, but a week went by and it calmed down. His brother got his tooter back, though not at all, he says he can't replace Wozza as it was a French instrument, who longer being manufactured.

Payoff of the incident was that the day before the party one of the judges boasted in court that he was an amateur detective, using his skill to unravel evidence in a case before him—and the newspapers naturally took him up on it. Now Berdun is thinking of asking His Honor, who was present, to use his talents on his colleagues.

Seranton Record Co. Claims Violation of US Disk Settlement

SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 28.—The controversy between the Scranton Record Manufacturing Company and the U. S. Record Corporation, New York, believed settled last October under an agreement approved by Federal Judge Albert L. Watson, flared anew this week in Federal District Court here.

A petition placed before Judge Watson by counsel for the Scranton firm, currently engaged in reorganization, charged violation of the terms of settlement reached October 8 and refusal to abide by orders of court handed down previous to the settlement.

The Scranton firm charges the U. S. Record Corporation is guilty of unwarranted interference with the proper conduct of the Scranton company's business, and asks that the New York corporation be ordered to comply with the settlement of October 8 and the order of August 31 regarding the disposition of valuable equipment whose custody by the Scranton firm was disputed by the U. S. Record Corporation.

The dispute between the two companies which raged last summer was so bitter at one point that counsel for the

Lyman and Kramer Cases To Go Before AFM Fla. Confab

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Final disposition of Abe Lyman's claim against Billy Rose for an alleged breach of contract will be aired before the International Executive Board of the American Federation of Musicians, which convenes in Miami January 27. New York delegates will also present Local 802's case against Mrs. Maria Kramer, owner of the Edison and Lincoln hotels, who has appealed the union's decision, in which she was found guilty of an alleged $3,000 kickback.

The Lyman vs. Rose suit, which has been kicking around since early last spring when Rose's Barbary Coast nitery on the World's Fair grounds, for which Lyman had contracted to play the run of the fair, folded as a night club, has caused considerable interest in the trade, and most people considered it common knowledge that the two had reached a settlement. Settlement, however, was revealed to be as far away from consummation as it was last summer.

Rose's best offer to Lyman in settlement of his claim was $5,000, which he offered him last summer. Lyman, however, said that he was holding out for the full amount of $18,000 for the unexpired term of his contract. He said that he worked five and a half weeks of that unexpired period, but deducted the amount. Lyman will appear personally to press the charge further, since he opens at the Royal Palms in Miami on January 16. His presence, however, is not required. Jack Rosenberg, Harry Suber, and Max Aroun will represent Local 802 at the union exec meet. Rose, out of town, could not be reached for comment.

Mrs. Kramer's appeal on the charge that Gustavus Clementi had kicked back some $3,000 to her while he was employed as the relief band in the Green Room of the Hotel Edison will also come up for the board's final action. Mrs. Kramer deposited the sum with the union, to be held in escrow pending final decision, and has repeatedly avowed her innocence, saying that she would take the matter to court if the AFM didn't vindicate her.

By DANIEL RICHMAN

BUDDY CLARK (Okeh)

Let's Be Buddies—V. I'd Know You Anywhere—V.

BUDDY CLARK is one of those paradoxes of show business—a performer with a wealth of talent plus an individual, distinctive style, but a performer who has never really managed to click in the same proportion to his ability. After a meaningless waxing affiliation last summer on U. S. Records' Varsity label, Clark now finds himself with an opportunity to take his vocal presence felt by John Q. Public via the Okeh disk label route. With proper treatment as regards tune selection, arrangements, and general recording care and thought, not to mention the equally important angle of promotional exploitation, Clark can do well on records since voice alone, rather than a combination of visual and vocal personality, is his main stock-in-trade. He knows how to sing, how to sell a song, and he has a style of his own. But unfortunately not too much of it is allowed to shine thru this first release. Both sides are taken too straight to make them stand out from the run of other vocadance disks released in any given week. Clark's vocal performance is good, as always, and occasionally a couple of the touches that distinguish his delivery are discernible. The trouble is that there aren't enough of them, which makes this starter only fair when it should have been much better than that. Arrangements that have unusual merit are called for here, with Clark allowed to sing over and around them in his characteristic style. Any fair vocalist can sing a couple of straight choruses adequately; but Clark has the equipment to do more than straight choruses. He'll have to be given the chance to use it if he's to mean anything in the disk field in a big way commercially. His following, built thru his CBS radio shows, will of course go for this initial effort. There's a record following he has the ability to capture as well, provided he's not buried under lackluster, stereotyped sides.

TEODY POWELL (Bluebird)

I Can't Rub You Out of My Eyes—PT; VC. It's Sad, But True—PT; VC.

THIS first venture of Teddy Powell's on the Bluebird label, after several months of cutting Decca sides a while back, resembles that of Clark's in the lack of punch that marks the record. Both artist and recording company reasonably should put their best feet forward in the matter of an initial starter: once a band or singer is launched successfully it's possible to relax a little without impairing the artist's popularity or selling power too much. But the introduction of an artist on a label is something else again, because it's merely a waste of time and wax unless a definitely favorable impression is created at the outset. And only intelligent planning as regards tune selection, scoring, and actual performance, wherein the artist's best features are highlighted rather than submerged, can create that necessary favorable first impression. Unfortunately, the impression here is not all it might be for those unfamiliar with Powell's band, which is capable of producing good solid swing or sweet. Side A is a slow, torchy item with a poor tune that doesn't help matters any, played in an enervated manner that is probably less the fault's fault than it is of a melody that itself is a druggy, dreary thing. Celeste backing for Ruth Gaylord's and the Teddy Bears quartet's vocal recalls the Dorsey "I'll Never Smile Again" scoring, with the hint of unoriginality also militating against that important first impression. Reverse stays in the ballad groove, altho played more brightly, and revealing the two high spots of the disk, John Grassi's pretty trombone and some nice sax ensemble work. Jimmy Blair's deep voice is only fair on the lyric. This crew is capable of much better wax efforts than this debut; with the proper material, put together in the proper way, it should be able to overcome a weak start and set itself up right with the general record buying public.

EDUARDO CHAVEZ (Victor)

El Jirrito (The Little Jug)—Congas: VC. A Lo Largo (For Assay)—Congas: VC. THE second new entrant flying the RCA Victor colors this week steps forth on the Victor label as an addition to that platter's roster of Latin American artists. Chavez has created a good bit of talk about his authentic, fiery, south-of-the-border style, and here he produces two flashy congas complete to flutes, native rhythm instruments, and conventional Latin-style trumpet. One thing alone spoils the sides for appreciative consumption on the part of average disk buyers who have become rumba-conga conscious to such a great degree during the past year. The marrangue element is a conga beat that bears little relation to what domestic conga lines in metropolitan night clubs and hotels have come to expect. In other words, the conga as done here does not possess the same sharp, clearly defined one-two-three kick beat so much in demand currently. It's less hidden on the second side than it is on the first, but American conga "experts" will be disappointed at not getting here what they're used to, and that will probably reflect itself in sales. Chavez may be more authentic, and there's plenty of interest here for real and sincere Latin American music lovers, but it's not conga commercialism.

CONNIE BOSWELL (Decca)

The Moon Fell in the River—V. Somewhere—V.

One of Miss Boswell's best performances of recent weeks is contained on the A side here, and she offers a version of a more or less unimportant ballad that could serve as an object lesson to other less talented singers in how to sell a song that doesn't always sell itself. Connie does it rhythmically and utilizes some of the vocal pyrotechnics that have made her one of today's outstanding chanteuses to turn out a highly listenable side. Plattermate is done straighter and therefore a shade less effectively, but it still reveals a fine singer in one of her better moments.

MERRY MACS (Decca)

You Know Why?—V. Isn't That Just Like Love?—V.

The Macs take the first side ballad more or less straight, giving it the advantage of their expert harmonic blending in a soft, slow arrangement. The flipper contains more vocal somersaults, with the vibes so prominent in most of this group's arrangements setting the pace for a rhythmic, extremely listenable version of a light, lifting ditty.

On the Stand

Reviews of orchestras playing hotel, night club and ballroom locations and one-nighters. Comment is based upon the present or potential commercial value of the band, as well as its musical quality.

Jimmy Joy

(Reviewed at King's Ballroom, Lincoln, Neb.)

JOY is the band business's hardy perennial, still knocking at the gates but as yet denied entrance into the select group at the top. Maybe it's because his band is just a good one, has no especial spark to kick it over with the neighbors, and lacks exploitation—but one thing is certain, and that is that the caliber of the organization is above reproach. He wouldn't have to shy away from any kind of patronage with dancing in mind, because he has music with widespread appeal without resorting to outright commercialism.

Joy's sex section is his pride, four men making it up, yet it's from the brass department that he recruited his arrangers, Bill McRae and Wayne Robinson. Three men are on brasses, and three on rhythm. Fred Gollner's piano is very nice.

Peggy Burns, prime eye stuff with one of those outstanding figures, is the sole female voice in the crew, and Art London takes the male vocals. Both are good, and each represents something to the opposite sex in physical appeal.

It's a well-round band Joy is carrying now, and it has more rostrum snap than some of his outfitts in the past. Given long stands, with a chance to get noised around, he should mean something in the dancing niches.

Oldfield.

Clyde Lucas and His California Dons

(Reviewed at Benjamin Franklin Hotel, Philadelphia)

NOW that the emphasis on swing has subsided somewhat, it is fitting that deserving attention be showered on the Lucas lads. Band has been in the whirl for some time, and definitely rates a position in a top drawer, with an added advantage of an entertainment quotient on par with the musicianship of the 14-man crew.

Instrumentation is fundamentally three fiddles, four saxes, three trumpets, bass, piano, and drums, with maestro Clyde handling the trombone chores out front. Boys double and triple the instruments: a downbeat can make it a concert ensemble and an upbeat put it in the marble band category. As a result, there is always a wealth of instrumental color in the harmonies dispensed.

Dance incentives are fashioned along smooth, smart hotel-supper club patterns, arrangements showcasing the figure of a set of six fiddlers, three of the four saxes doubling on the rosin bow. As a result of the string gloss, syncopation sparkles as much on the waltzes as on the more通俗 selections as on the standard and current pop rags. Another fiddle double makes it "The Seven Singing Fiddles" for the concertized selections, with Johnny DeVoe doing the solo scratchings.

For the South American jingles, four of the boys at the two wood-piles in front of the stand give it the body for the soundings of an authentic marimba band, highlighting the hammering of pianist Al DeCrescent.

On the vocal score, Clyde's brother, Lyn, deserts his seat in the sex section to make most of the wordage for the band's seemingly endless and varied repertory of novelty selections that range from the New Orleans to Chinese swing peppered with refreshing and wholesome comedy bits. Trumpeter Paul Gene handles the push paters, with Clyde also doing vocal duty. Lucas, fives and fiddler DeVoe also blend for the trio harmonies. With the wealth of throat experts on stand, standardized fan decor is hardly missed.

Orodenker.

Henry Busse

(Reviewed at the Rainbow Ballroom, Denver)

BUSSE'S well-known shuffle rhythm is as popular at a dance as it is in a hotel or night spot. Tempos are steady at all times, and the six-brass, five-reeds, and four-rhythm are solid and full. Brass divided evenly between trombones and trumpets can really lay it on, trombones especially doing nice work in either sweet or live. Joe Perrin is new on first trumpet, and Larry Cappell, formerly with Joe Reichman, joined the outfit as a tenor man.

Busse, whose trumpet work and Hot Lips theme are trade-marks in the music business, sits in on a good many numbers. His fronting is somewhat subdued, with little chatter. Billy Sherman, who heads the romantic side of the vocal department, is a sell both from voice and looks. Sherman is a smart song salesman and has the pipes to back up his selling. Fuzzy Combs handles rhythm vocals with plenty of power and punch and turns in a salable job, as does Bill Hunter, who also takes a turn at alto. A vocal trio is used as a rhythm combo and a quartet for torchy ballads.

With dance tempos that can be rated tops, arrangements that combine dance and show nicely, and a well-balanced vocal set-up, Busse continues to have as workable a combination as could be desired.

Truckee.

Phil Levant

(Reviewed at Hotel Muehlebach, Kansas City, Mo.)

WHEN it comes to getting the most solid, danceable music out of a small band, Levant and his arrangers have the edge on any competition to have played the Muehlebach this season. Emphasizing phrasing, they get most in melody and rhythm out of a workmanlike crew that measures three brass, three saxes, and three rhythm.

Milt Hubbard plays a neat go-trumpet, while Frank Dietz tops the talent in the reed section. Except for a few jump numbers, played late in the evening, rhythm section is kept under wraps. Preceding a few vocal choruses, band occasionally uses a rolling bass intro.

Levant makes a neat bison-waver, occasionally offering a smooth fiddle solo. Vocals are handled mostly by Gale Robbins and Don Gordon. Miss Robbins, billed as the "magazine cover girl" because of her former occupation as a model, not only has good looks but a neat pair of pipes, ably chirping both ballads and rhythm tunes. Gordon, former guitarist, croons the romantic stuff nicely. Condo vocals are furnished by third bassman Red Fields.

All in all, it's a neat society-type band which should be at home in any of the best hosteries in the country.

Locke.

Oscar de la Rosa

(Reviewed at the Hurricane, New York)

A N EIGHT-PIECE combination with a bulging library of tangos, rumbas, and congas and a sufficient supply of pop tunes for contrast. The band was a feature at New York's Havana Madrid for a long time before moving into this spot. The leader is a handsome front man paying attention to the customers every minute he is on the stand.

Instrumentation includes four sax (including de la Rosa), one trumpet, and three rhythm. Two of the six men double on fiddle for waltzes, and the trumpet also plays a fiddle and handles the vocals and maracas when dishing out the Latin fare.

The tempos are nice, even, and highly inviting to dancers and table sitters alike.

On the Air

Comment on dance remote programs from the standpoint of showmanship, presentation and general listening appeal, rather than the musical ability of the bands reviewed.

By SOL ZATT

Charles Baum

(Hotel Statler, Buffalo, N. Y., NBC Red Network, Monday (21), 10:30-11 p.m.)

THE piano-playing maestro who made his debut on the airwaves while he tickled the keys at the St. Regis Hotel, New York, now finds himself Upstate, bringing the same style of subdued rhythms that earned him a marathon stay at the swank Gotham hostelry.

Baum doesn't go in for anything ostentatious, just putting on a musical front which sells for the most part, and just staying musical for the other. All in all, it's one of those late session stints that is a relaxing bit of business, and while not unusual in toto, Baum's piano tinkling is distinctive and his song selections (much as they are repressed) offer some nice arranging and good musical presentation. Showmanship is a bit lacking, however.

Mitchell Ayres

(Hotel St. George, Brooklyn, N. Y., NBC Blue Network, Thursday (26), 12:30 a.m.)

FOR a very smooth job of selling, in both music and showmanship, Mitchell Ayres' shot is one of the most cleverly patterned band sustainers currently filling the late ether. In the first place, it takes a very high rank musically, with selections of various types of songs, bouncing sweet and hot, and vocalized deliciously by Mary Ann Mercer and Tommy Taylor.

But the announcer on this remote takes the palm for selling the band, with his patter built around Ayres' tag line, "Fashion in Music." Intros are woven into very smart amboulements, emphasizing a fashion, a vocalist, a song, or the band. A very smooth line of banter that gives way to the song, and a smart all-round job of selling.

THE OLD FOOLISHNESS

A play by Paul Vincent Carroll. Directed by Donald Oenslager, built by Vail Construction Company, and produced by Center Studios. Costumes by Muriel Manning. Press agent, Bernard Simon. Stage manager, Stuart Fox. Presented by John Golden, Mrs. Sheean Margery Maude Peter Roy Roberts Mike Vincent Donohue Mrs. Dorian Grace Francis Findley Dan Dorian Walter Burke Maeve Mounagh Sally O'Neil Phelim Fitzagan Gertie Morris Rosemaryne Fitzagan Gertie Morris The Canon St. Clair Bayfield Francis Sean Dillon ACT I—The Kitchen of the Sheean Farmhouse—in a Glen at the Foot of the Mourne Mountains, County Down, Ireland. An Afternoon in Summer. ACT II—Scene 1: Same as Act I, Evening—a Week Later. Scene 2: The Rules of an Ancient Castle Atop a Neighboring Mountain, A Few Hours Later. ACT III—The Sheean Kitchen—Two Days Later.

According to a press release sent out by the John Golden office, which presented Paul Vincent Carroll's The Old Foolishness at the Windsor Theater last Friday night, a prominent Irish-American saw in the play an allegory of the love of Ireland. In Maeve, the heroine who bears the name of a legendary Irish queen, he saw Dark Rosamund—Ireland herself—and in the three brothers who love her the three types of men whose ardor and devotion are needed to keep the spirit of Maeve alive. And the old foolishness to him was not merely human love—as it would seem from the surface of the script—but that dark, overpowering love for Irish liberty that has kept her people spiritually free thru centuries of bloodthirsty oppression at the hands of the cruel and most ruthless slave-holding empire the world has ever known.

Perhaps he was right—the this corner suspects that the idealism and spiritual search of Maeve transcend the bounds of a single people. If Mr. Carroll meant anything symbolic at all (and it's quite possible that he didn't) I suspect that he was trying to say that freedom and beauty and the dark hunger of the awakened heart are the only things that sever the oppressor's cord through the world—whether the bonds are made of earth or sly, inverted dreams, of stifling church creeds or Utopian socio-political theories.

Perhaps he was saying all that, and perhaps no such thought crossed his mind. Certain it is, that, if to say it were his aim, he said it very badly. For The Old Foolishness, as it stands on the stage of the Windsor, is essentially the trite and muddled tale of a lass, loved by three men, who chooses none of them, going off to follow the gleam of her own restlessness, unsatisfied, noble-hearted questing. It is a bad play and often a dull play—but it is, really, nowhere near as bad as it is made to seem under Frank Crothers' direction.

For Miss Crothers does appalling things to the simple story that Mr. Carroll tells. That story is of Maeve, who lived with Francis Sheean, Marrian revolutionist, until he ran from the police and she ran from him, knowing their love was over and wanting to keep pure the memory of a once perfect thing. She ran to Francis' home, in a vale of the Mountains of Mourne, where she was received kindly by Francis' mother, was loved by Francis' poet-brother, Mike, and was represented by Francis' farmer-brother, Peter, who was engaged to marry fat Rosemaryanne Fitzagan and her equally fat dowry. Peter resented Maeve because she disturbed him.

But when his resentment had driven the girl from the house he awakened, following her and declaring his love. And Maeve, still seeking but wanting to love him more than she had ever wanted anything before, returned with him and helped him to face the anger of town and church, of vengeful Rosemaryanne and sneering villagers. Then, when Francis himself suddenly turned up and forced a choice between the brothers, Maeve went away alone. The gleaming dream that Francis had ended forever, and she knew that to Peter she would bring only sorrow and disillusion. It was honest, plodding Peter's mistake not to have followed her, even against her will—for only by following the fleeting gleam of beauty across trackless wastes may we become worthy of the glories and the sorrows that it brings.

To this delicate and not too well-integrated fable Miss Crothers brings direction of the most obvious Broadway sort: she might just as well have been directing one of her own slick comedies for all the impression Mr. Carroll's overtones made on her. Consistently of no aid either to the actors or to the play's nuances, she delivered the final blow by filling the stage with a crowd of musical-comedy Irishmen. All of her incidental characters—including an important and light-hearted peasant who might have brought the whole play into focus—look and act as tho they had stepped directly out of a series of revue blackouts, erupting at intervals like clowns between circus acts. It is disgraceful treatment for a serious play.

Only three players, as a matter of fact, manage to avoid the effects of Miss

Crothers' ministrations. Roy Roberts as Peter, offers a magnificent performance, splendidly detailed, entirely believable, brilliantly understanding, and powerfully effective. Margery Maude, as Mrs. Sheean, ably seconds him, offering a clear, steady, finely human interpretation. And Sally O'Neil, as Maeve herself, does generally commendable work, despite the fact that she entirely lacks the fay quality Maeve seems to demand. She is, however, finely sincere and often beautifully effective, and might, with proper directorial aid, have given an outstanding performance.

Sean Dillon is properly violent as Francis, and Vincent Donohue, as Mike, emphasizes every trite trick of our interminable succession of young stage poets. It is common kindness to allow Miss Crothers' troupe of musical-comedy Irishmen, male and female, to go unmentioned.

Out-of-Town Opening

"Flight to the West"

(WILBER)

BOSTON

A play by Elmer Rice. Presented by the Playwrights' Company. Staged by Mr. Rice. Setting by Jo Mielziner. Cast includes Kevin McCarthy, John Tripp, Harold Dreyfuss, Rudolph Weil, Paul Mann, Don Nevin, Lydia St. Clair, Helen Renier, Constance McKay, James Seelye, Boris Marshak, Eleonora Mendelsohn, Paul Henreid, Arnold Moss, Betty Field, Hugh Marlowe, Karl Malden, Grandon Rhodes.

About a year ago the legitimate theater heard a thud when Elmer Rice fell off the soapbox and presented a light piece entitled Two on an Island. This week Mr. Rice ascended once more to the soapbox. Flight to the West is another propaganda play; but unlike Rice's We, the People, this one is a moving, tense, and at times beautiful piece of work.

The entire action takes place aboard a transatlantic clipper and begins as the clipper leaves Lisbon for the westward voyage to America. Aboard are a young married couple, a Nazi diplomat, a middle-aged Belgian woman and her family, an expatriated Russian now a spy for the Nazis, an elderly refugee Jewess, and an American colonel who is heartily in favor of appeasement. Also on board is a prominent newspaper woman and an author who has continually fought for peace and a constitutional commonwealth.

Trouble starts from the first moment. The Belgian woman has seen both invasions, and doesn't care for Nazis. The young married couple are going to have a baby—but the husband hasn't been told, and suddenly decides to become a pilot. This participates a family row. Climax comes when the distraught Belgian woman attempts to shoot the Nazi diplomat, and the young husband stops the bullet. In the meantime the newspaper woman has been active in uncovering the fact that the Russian count is in reality a spy. The Russian is arrested at Bermuda and the FBI is scheduled to arrest the diplomat in New York.

Right now, this play needs a little work, particularly in the first scene of the second act, where the pace slows down too much. But on the whole this is probably the best thing Rice has written, and should enjoy real success on Broadway. It has everything—drama, pathos, and even a little comedy.

Structurally the play is far better than the Rice of old. The dialog is clever, sometimes heated, sometimes placid, and sometimes mysterious—but always good.

The cast is tops. Honors go to Lydia St. Clair as the Belgian woman, for a beautifully restrained and extremely effective characterization. Also turning in a masterly performance is Paul Henreid, who is a thoroughly hateful Nazi.

Betty Field has only a few big scenes, but in them she manages to give a startling picture of the young girl who has fled persecution for years and who is finally en route to America only to find the seeds of intolerance and persecution are traveling as fast as she is.

Allen Jones as the girl who has lost an arm, James Seelye as the appeasement colonel, Constance McKay as the newspaper woman, Arnold Moss as the author, Hugh Marlowe as the husband, Boris Marshak as the Russian, and Eleonora Mendelsohn as the Jewess, all do effective work. Mike Kaplan.

an innocent little girl who was the last to see the novelist alive. City officials, eagerly toadying, take orders from her.

The third act has a little of almost everything, including J. B. Priestley's Dangerous Corner. The hidden (in this case entirely expected) peccadilles of all the people are revealed, the little girl is saved by the efforts of her fiance, a newspaper reporter, and it is discovered that the novelist really committed suicide, arranging it to look like murder to get revenge on his erstwhile bevy of "friends." And, in the course of the action, Messrs. Chodorov and Kraft state a highly important truth that isn't even suspected by the vast majority of Americans—that Fascism and Nazism, if they come to America, will be brought by people like the famous political newspaper woman. Even she may damn Fascism abroad, her repressive methods represent Fascism at home—just as Fascism throughout the world gained foothold thru blind and fanatical nationalism.

(Listed below are the decisions of dramatic critics on the nine general metropolitan dailies concerning the Broadway shows of the week. In figuring percentages, "no opinion" votes are counted one-half "yes" and one-half "no" rather than being thrown out altogether. At the end of each month of the season the shows and their percentages will be listed, together with a resume of how they fared at the box office, in an effort to determine how much the critical reception affects the financial returns and how closely the critics agree with the decision of their readers.)

Only three players, as a matter of fact, manage to avoid the effects of Miss

It is a fine and important thing to say—but it is a pity that it is said in so poor a play and one whose prevailing melodramatic background is so unfitting a framework for it.

Otto L. Preminger's direction gets what effect it can from individual characters and isolated scenes, scoring many excellent theatrical moments but quite understandably failing to integrate the play as a whole. Generally speaking, the large cast is excellent, headed by Gale Sondergaard, who returns to the stage to give a biting, effective, and eminently just portrait of the famous newspaper woman. Also scoring heavily is Clare Niesen, a radio actress making her Broadway debut as the laic who is almost made the scapegoat. With simple and sincere underplayings, Miss Niesen creates a fully rounded character with effective and quiet strokes and proves herself talented, lovely, and charming. Oscar Karlweis does terrific work, detailed and extremely amusing, as the author, and Ralph Locke all but walks off with the play by his fine work as the wisecracking director. Among the many others deserving praise are George Coulouris, as the author; Clay Clement, as the playboy, and Whitmore Bassell, as the district attorney's young assistant.

Doris Nolan plays the star adequately at best, and Thomas Coley, as the reporter, managed by his utterly ineffective playing to wreck the melodrama's biggest scene.

This reporter doesn't know what Ruth McKenney's My Sister Eileen stories were like when they appeared in printed form, but he does know very definitely that, turned into a play by Joseph Fields and Jerome Chodorow, they offer the most hilarious theatrical evening since the opening of Life With Father. Presented at the Biltmore Theater by Max Gordon, under the direction of George S. Kaufman at his best and in the hands of a cast which, with just one exception, is superb, the comedy throws the customers into the aisles practically at curtain rise, and it keeps them there, a seething, howling mass of hilarity, throughout the course of three terrific acts.

There's not much in the plot itself to justify the constant hilarity, it's primarily in the lines and in the excellent delivery of them. The tale tells merely of the Sherwood Sisters, Ruth and Eileen, who come in from Columbus, O., to make their way in the Big City. Ruth is a writer and Eileen as an actress. Eileen, at least according to the script, is not the casting department, is supposed to be extraordinarily pretty, and men gravitate to her in wild and eager abandon. But Eileen is a thoroughly nice girl, who doesn't even fully realize her own attributes. She's not too smart in other ways, either. Ruth, on the other hand, is hard-headed, witty, gallant, and a trifle stout.

In any case, they are practically shanghaied by a Greek artist-landlord into taking a one-room basement flat in Greenwich Village that is the epitome of every one-room basement village flat that you've ever seen or heard of. Passersby can look thru the grating of the one window, the back door won't lock, the bathroom leaks into the living room, a professional football player lives in genital sin with his fiancee on the floor above, and occasional gentlemen drop in to see Violet, the last occupant of the room, whose thriving business was founded upon the cop on the beat.

The catalog of many and hilarious happenings is far too cockeyed and too lengthy to detail here. There's not much sense in any of them, but there is a constant succession of terrific laughs. Young men bob in and out at frequent intervals, including one who is liked by and likes Ruth instead of Eileen; the girls try unsuccessfully to get jobs until Ruth actually does land one on a paper; and the insanity is climaxed when Ruth visits a Brazilian training ship for a story, and six of the naval cadets follow her home and get into a snake dance or (See MY SISTER EILEEN on page 31)

If the Billboard had a sports page, that would really be the place for a review of John Van Druten's Old Acquaintance, presented by Dwight Deere Wiman at the Morosco Theater Monday night. Old Acquaintance, as it's being performed by its co-stars, the Misses Jane Cowl and Peggy Wood, definitely comes under the head of competitive sporting events. If you have lurid memories of the Dempsey-Firpo fight, they'll pale into a garland of stale forget-me-nots after a visit to the Morosco.

For Miss Cowl and Miss Wood, as a pair of successful lady novelists who have known each other since their small-town childhood, stage a battle royal that is one of the most brilliant and spectacular since Abel dropped the decision to Cain. Both are splendid and richly experienced actresses; both have commanding stage presences and a profound knowledge of technique; and both know how to round out a characterization and create a brilliant effect in the very process of stealing a scene. As a result, the play by no means suffers from their dazzling competitive efforts; instead it is aided immeasurably. They are both so fine that neither can gain any considerable advantage, and therefore the values of the comedy aren't thrown in any way out of kilter. Between them, they take (See OLD ACQUAINTANCE on page 29)

On Christmas night George Abbott gave Broadway as tasteless a Christmas present as you can imagine. Pal Joey, the musical comedy built by John O'Hara from his "Joey" magazine sketches and fitted out by Mr. Abbott with Rodgers and Hart tunes and a home at the Ethel Barrymore Theater, would be cheap and tasteless at any time of the year; but as a Christmas night entrant it seems particularly unfitting. Dirty without being funny, tawdry without being satirical, smirky without being intelligent, it wastes its few good performers and nice tunes, attains the wildfire pace of a slug boring thru slime, and seems in the end merely an unsatisfactory framework for some typically sensational Robert Alton dances. In addition, it displays a sleazy and utterly uninformed attitude toward a large part of show business, an attitude in which Mr. O'Hara, without knowing it, closely approximates the Broadway viewpoint of a Punxsutawney hardware dealer or a piggling Greenpoint schoolmarm.

His Pal Joey sketches—unread by this reporter—had to do with a cheap night club scene in a cheap joint, but if they showed no more insight or knowledge than does this expanded stage version they might just as well have dealt with a streetcleaner or a self-consciously modern novelist. Mr. O'Hara's Joey is brash and nasty, sex-filled and egocentric, a brainless braggart of bedrooms and bistro. His adventures, as detailed on the Barrymore stage, see him luring a ruttish society matron into paying his bills and backing a night club for him. The club opens, and an actor's agent and a prima donna decide to blackmail Joey, the matron, and the matron's husband. This abortive plot is foiled in the simplest and most unexciting manner possible, and the matron throws Joey back on his gutter-callowled ear—whereas he immediately starts looking for a new skirt to serve as his banner.

That's all. Without doubt, there are people like that—and plenty of them—around the show business. But Pal Joey sets them up as typical, whereas they're actually nothing of the sort. They have nothing that's essentially of the show business about them—even their real (See PAL JOEY on page 29)

FROM OUT FRONT

Preview of a Dark Brown Taste

— BY EUGENE BURR —

AT PRESENT writing it is still several days until the morning of January 1, 1941, but the fearful convulsions of that horrendous awakening are already before me. My good resolutions never take flickering form in mind less resolute than the one that will waver unhappily on New Year's Day; and irresolute resolutions thus undertaken have an uncomfortable habit of failing to stick. Therefore, it might be as well to steal a march upon the inexorable tread of Father Time and make a hasty of New Year's resolutions a bit before the event. In any case, the painful birth-struggle of the new decade will be over and done with by the time that this issue generally hits the stands, and it would be a good idea to start the new year right—at least in print.

With premonitory contrition, therefore, this column hereby resolves: TO BREAK with critical custom by trying to write reviews (as I have always tried in the past) in such a way that the reader may conceivably form his own opinion of the production involved—to outline the plot and give a general idea of what goes on, rather than merely a series of sanctimonious and unproven critical dicta.

To continue to write about plays as I honestly see them—good, bad, or indifferent—and to stop worrying about the fact that a policy of simple honesty seems always to place me at loggerheads with most of the other professional play-tasters.

To continue what at times seems a one-man war against self-consciousness in all its theatrical manifestations—in acting, directing, playwriting, managing, and, for that matter, criticism—in the full and continued knowledge that self-consciousness and its sullen sins (egomaniac, phoniness, and artistic dishonesty) are the root of all evil in any of the arts.

To refuse to recognize type playing as acting—no matter how glamorous or famous the type players may be—and to continue to give all accolades within my power to those true actors who feel that the author's character is more important than their own personalities.

To show the same willingness to praise a good play as to pan a bad one, even tho that good play may be laboring under the faulty ministrations of actors, directors, and critics.

To oppose censorship, as always—censorship of any sort, whether applied sanitimoniously by latter-day Jeremy Colliers or obliquely and pomposly by American road companies of Hitler.

TO PAN fashionable auctorial poppycock of every kind, whether it takes the form of fuzzy and incoherent symbolism, brash and sleazy "sophistication," silly and illusion-destroying changes in theatrical form, meanness of thought, incompetence in handling a chosen medium, or any other form whatsoever.

To pan fashionable directorial abracadabras, whenever it is primarily fashioned to further the director's ego rather than the aims of the play.

To pan fashionable but egomaniac acting whenever it tends, as it usually does, to wry the values of the drama as a whole.

To pray that the Critics' Circle, to say nothing of the Pulitzer Prize Committee, will give an award to a good play for a change.

To resist the temptation to crow at the formerly fashionable Comrades—and

Equity May Take Over AGVA Jurisdiction; Four A Group Set To Decide Fate of Union

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Whether or not American Guild of Variety Artists will continue as an independent branch or whether it will be absorbed by Actors Equity Association will be decided at a meeting today of the emergency Executive Committee of the Associated Actors and Artists of America and representatives of AGVA. Matter was to have been disposed of Friday, but lack of a quorum prevented any decisive action. Meeting on Friday, therefore, was confined to a general outlining of terms being laid down by Screen Actors' Guild and Actors' Equity, which have sunk over $90,000 already into AGVA and which are reluctant to advance any more money unless the union changes policies. Whether or not absorption would have to go to a membership referendum in AGVA was undetermined at this time also, according to Paul N. Turner, counsel to the Four A's. Turner said he would have to examine the constitution and charter of AGVA more thoroughly to interpret the Four A's procedure.

The presentation of a plan for Equity's taking over the AGVA jurisdiction was first revealed in The Billboard July 1, 1939, when the Four A's was defranchising the American Federation of Actors. Then SAG vetoed the idea, preferring to establish the new AGVA. Oddly enough, now it is SAG which has revived the idea. Some Equity Council members, it has been reported, would fall right in line with the proposition to annex the field if union could have its way about running the jurisdiction.

Paul Dullizzel, executive secretary of Equity, declared emphatically, however, that he personally would not assume the leadership should the annexation go thru. He has been too ill, he explained, to venture on such a project. Before he could wholeheartedly endorse the project even for Equity, too, he declared, proponents would have to submit a complete account of the type of organization that would be set up and who would head the movement.

Equity has disapproved of the method in which AGVA has conducted its organization, holding that it is impossible to organize all the smaller taverns completely, and that AGVA would have done better to pattern its set-up on Equity's with a home office in New York and small working units in Chicago and on the Coast. If Equity takes over, it will be under such terms.

Legit union practically issued an ultimatum to the AGVA reps Friday, SAG concurring. The numerous losing-proposition locals which AGVA has dotted all over the map will have to be dropped, and almost immediately. Equity is of the opinion that the union could make ends meet and have plenty to do by tending its business in New York, Chicago, and Los Angeles.

SAG is offering not only to match whatever expenses Equity would incur in taking over, but proposes to take control of the West Coast itself.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—AGVA threatened to pull the show from George White's Gay White Way opening night (26) when White failed to sign a closed-shop agreement. White finally agreed to write a letter in which he stated that he will negotiate for a closed shop and a basic minimum agreement. It was accepted by AGVA as a temporary contract.

Edward's, Philly, Adds Show

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—Edward's, one of the town's downtown eating places, adds show and a dance ark for the first time. Spot has installed a new dining room, with Rubber Legs Williams heading the floorshow and Woody Osborne and the Ambassadors of Jive occupying the band shell.

Small Buff Spots Adding Strollers

BUFFALO, Dec. 28.—An increased number of acts are finding work in diners here. Several new cocktail-restaurant rooms are opening.

Wallen's Glass Bar, which had been operating for several weeks without talent, has added Jean and Connie Webster, singers and musicians.

A new spot is the Melody Bar, which opened December 17 and is managed by Bill Topian, formerly with the Silver Grill Hawaiian Room here. Spot boasts a horseshoe shaped bar with a built-in novachord. Jeannie and Joe Rose are featured.

Frank Bellissimo, identified with the Anchor Grill, opened December 23 the Anchor Bar. A team is being sought. Walter J. Gluck books the spots.

New Spot for Shreveport

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 28.—The first unit of a $250,000 renovation program at the Washington-Yours Hotel was completed with the opening of the new Zephyr Room. Spot will start as nitery around New Year's Day.

Duncan Sisters Own Club

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28.—The Duncan Sisters opened their own night club here last week on the site of the former Writers' Club. It has been redecorated. Featured in the first show, among others, is Cathlyn Miller, tap dancer, who just finished a musical short for Universal titled Fashion Fancies.

White's New Spot And Rose Diamond Horseshoe Square Off

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Night club owners here are not worried about business New Year's Eve, which is always good, but they will be plenty concerned about it the night after. The opening of George White's Gay White Way in the heart of Broadway is expected to cut into the receipts of the neighboring spots, logically enough. The White venture represents an estimated investment of some $200,000 and is the first serious competitor to Billy Rose's successful Diamond Horseshoe. Both are operating with a "bargain basement policy," serving good food and lavish shows within the reach of the middle-bracket budget ($1 and up minimum).

Rose plans a new show to replace the current bill, which has been in since last May. He will design it again for tourists and the middle class rather than the typical Broadwayite.

The neighboring Hurricane is happy with its new show (Rome Vincent, Jean Merrill, DeAngelo and Porter, Statler Twins, and line of show girls) and will hold it for six weeks unless the competition from White's spot reaches dangerous proportions. Spot recently had an unpleasant experience with an act who was given a customer's check that bounced. The management is paying it off in cash.

Monte Prosser's Beachcomber, another White neighbor, is bringing back Matty Malneck's original band in February and will build the entire show around him. The girl policy, a recent innovation, failed to boost grosses.

Chick Farmer, press agent and general assistant to the Stork Club's Sherman Billingsley, is back at the Stork after an uneventful career as manager of the Club Cuba. The spot started strongly but folded within three months. Spot earlier proposed to pay off 25 per cent of its debts.

The William Mess Catering Corporation, operators of the private Parkway Yacht Club, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy December 23 following a charge of violating the State Liquor law by selling drinks to non-members. Liabilities listed amounted to $10,783; assets, $850. Among the liabilities is owed in salaries to 43 employees.

The court in New York County this week assigned the Kit Kat Club to Leonard Franklin. Spot has been operating with a colored talent policy under ownership of Jules Podell.

Phil Howard is the new manager of the Pancake Diner, which was formerly operated by Teddy Powell, the band leader, and Milton Pickman, his manager. Spot continues to use Showboats and Joe Sullivan's boogie woogie band.

The Treasure Island, owned by the Bethlehem Engineering Company, remains dark. The recent landlords, a trio fronted by Walter Watt, dropped an estimated $20,000. The next door Tropicana is still open but faring poorly. Latest innovation is a Calypso show.

Nine night clubs were involved this week in federal charges of amusement tax frauds. The clubs are Ross Fenton Farms, near Ashbury Park, N. J.; Hurricane, Moon Paris, Hi Ho Club, Barrel of Fun, West End Grill, Inwood Tavern, all in New York; Atlantic Beach (L. I.) Merry-Go-Round, and Club Miami in Newark.

Carbondale House Stunt

CARBONDALE, Pa., Dec. 28.—With the return of vaude to the Irving Carbonele, Manager L. A. Farrel is boasting attendance with prize awards in cooperation with merchants. Tickets are given out at stores with each purchase, and winners must be in theater when awards are announced.

Selective Service Mail

In the Carnival Department of this issue appear the names of those having Selective Service mail in the various offices of The Billboard. This list is published in addition to the names which are set in capital letters in the regular Letter List.

Night Club Reviews

George White's Gay White Way a Handsome Club But Show Is Too Slow, Dull Despite Good Talent

The program of George White's Gay White Way, on the site of the old Cotton Club, on Broadway, New York, says: "The showmanship that conceived an unbroken line of successful Scandals now brings you the greatest of all George White shows!" But the sad truth is that a successful musical comedy producer doesn't necessarily make a good floorshow producer.

In other words, White's first night club venture, "The Theater Restaurant Beautiful," got off to a poor start at its Thursday (26) premiere at $10 a head. There were empty tables (the weather was heavy rain), and the show ran a slow, druggy hour and a half that bored first-nighters. White is trying to cut the time to an hour flat, which is going to be tough because he has a lot of good acts and a 16-girl ensemble to juggle around.

The musical accompaniment (Bert Knapp leading Shep Fields' dance band) was listless, and perhaps the three-day intensive rehearsals knocked the men out. The cast tried hard, but it appeared that White deliberately spotted the acts in such a fashion that not one could ring up a show-stop. He plays up the girls and they, of course, are good lookers in sweet costumes but they don't really dance or do anything to rave about. They paraded most of the time or wiggled thru simple steps and formations, that's all.

The show works on a low platform about a foot from floor level, which is sketchy for ringleaders and box tables, but bad for the second and third rows of tables. Sitters at back tables, about half of the 600 capacity, could only see performers from the waist up, which ruined the effectiveness of most of the leg workers such as Al Norman, Harris and Shore, Geraldine and Joe, and Coley Worth. The singers, too, suffered from hanging mikes that cast shadow on their faces and also from the echo of a backstage mike somewhere.

Perhaps White should be given credit for opening as scheduled, but he really wasn't ready. The pacing was bad. The show just didn't build up to a sock climax. It was further handicapped by the silly device of having the first half play to a mythical "Latin ambassador of good will," all announcements being made in English and in Spanish by Frances Glendenning and Juanita Rio respectively. The double announcements held up the show and were no longer cute after the first time.

The music and lyrics by Herb Magidson and Ben Oakland were fair, with the music being superior to the lyrics. Perhaps if the lyrics were sold better they might have sounded more interesting. But those lyrics that were audible were corny.

The nine-part book wandered around without building up excitement. First was the introductory lyrics by the 16 girls and then Joan Edwards, young, nice looking but not vital, singing "Gay White Way," followed by buxom, sexy Mimi Kellerman doing a fast, spinning, acrobatic dance that showed her figure and drew applause.

Third was Al Norman doing his panto straphanger subway bit and then eccentric dancing. A talented, likable fellow. Then a Conscript number with some of the chorines singing mildly among Americans about the army, followed by young Geraldine and Joe in a comic congo which included sock acrobatics, falls, and head spins by Joe. A punchy turn.

The fifth scene has toe dancer Carol King, a charming pert brunnette, punching across her spinning routine, and soprano Gloria Blake singing in fancy style from behind a glass-enclosed compartment behind the stage and under the bandstand. And the chorines paraded to Viennese waltz tempo. A pretty scene.

Then comes a Bewitched number at Hotchkiss' Corners that has lively little brunettes, Marion Miller, singing in jitterbug style the title song, and then Harris and Shore, in rustic costumes, doing a couple of comedy dances that drew applause.

Then follows a Stage Magazine scene which has Marcia Ray as subscription saleslady and old-man character Coley Worth doing a rubie and also throwing in an eccentric dance later. The girls do a few discreet nude flesh poses behind the background glass enclosure in this scene, and Bunny Hartley does a novel strip behind a mold of a female body.

A Calypso number comes next, starting off with a dull bit, but finally handing some George Negrete starts singing in pleasing tenor and the girls prance in navel-display, fetching costumes, and Joan Edwards, Juanita Rio, Al Norman, and Estelle Johnson all contribute bits.

The final number, The George White Way, introduces snatches of hit tunes from White shows, sung by Kay Penton, Joan Edwards, Bob Shee, whose baritone is ear-catching; Marion Miller, Gloria Blake, and the chorines, and with Ann Pennington making a brief appearance in black-bottom dance.

Costumes, designed by Myles White and executed by Veronics and Mahien, are eyecatching without being spectacular. Fabrics by Danian's. Decorations by Kay Veldon Studios, supervised by Emil Friedlander.

Cast consists of 28 girls and 20 principals, with the Shep Fields band playing the show and for dancing and Patato Curbelo's rumba band for the Latin relief. Both bands played dance music excellently.

According to White, the club cost him $225,000. A lot of money obviously went into converting the Cotton Club into a sleek, handsome, tastefully-decorated spot. The ceiling is in Urban blue, the boxes gilded and each named after some Scandal star and labeled with a Times Square street. The montage photo mural completes the back end of the huge room and the "magic mirror" and upper handstand box the other end. The lobby has been re-done in quilted white leather and gold piping, and the posts are of gold mirror mosaic. In other words, it's fancy stuff.

White announces two shows a night (8 and midnight), with a 2 a.m. show added when business is big enough. Minimum is $1 ($2 Saturdays and holidays) as compared with the Cotton Club's $1.50 dinner. If this spot catches on, it will undoubtedly hit the nearby Hurricane and Diamond Horseshoe the most.

The old Cotton Club spent $80,000 to open up and paid $30,000 a year rent. White also got the place for $30,000 a year rent and painted the exterior of the building as well. The Cotton Club grossed as high as $41,000 a week during its career at this site, but had slipped to around $12,000 a week when it finally folded.

White has Monte Proser as adviser on publicity and catering problems, with Proser reportedly cut in for 10 per cent of the net if and when Proser's p. a., Jack Diamond, is doing publicity here.

A big producer name, a big investment, a location that once made a lot of dough, and a potentially good show that got off to a bum start—let's hope it goes over.

Michael Todd's Theater-Cafe, Chicago

Talent policy: Two bands alternating for dancing and one paying for show: two shows a night. Management: Michael Todd, manager; Howard Meyer, publicity. Prices: Dinner from 75 cents; drinks from 25 cents; admission 50 cents.

This much-discussed new spot had a brilliant premiere Friday night (27), with Hollywood trimmings—searchlights playing across the sky, flash bulbs flaring as cameras snapped, arriving well-known, and more than 3,000 persons roundly applauding the huge revue presented.

The old Rainbo Gardens building has been remedied and redecorated to make a colorful theater-cafe of huge proportions, seating capacity of the main room and balcony being close to 4,000. Decorations are attractive designs in red, white, and olive. The large stage represents a typical New Orleans mansion, in keeping with the show's title, Gay New Orleans. There is a large raised dance floor that also serves as a supplementary stage, vaude clown, gives the show a fast comedy start with his hilariously funny antics in which he produces everything from a mop to a watermelon—and hundreds of bananas, from his capacious coat and trousers, and makes lightning costume changes.

Show is all that Todd's advance notice promised. Opening number, Hello Chicago, is a welcome to the patrons by the 16 New Orleans Belles, well trained and attractive chorus. A. Robins, veteran comedy star with his hilariously funny antics in which he produces everything from a mop to a watermelon—and hundreds of bananas, from his capacious coat and trousers, and makes lightning costume changes.

Ruby Mercer, prima donna, makes her first appearance singing Sassac, with the Four Grand, male quartet, joining in to the dancing accompaniment of the New Orleans Belles and 10 show girls. Miss Mercer has a fine soprano voice.

Hola-Hola, with a few assistants, presents an acrobatic balancing act that has plenty of thrills. Act was featured on the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus last season. It is spectacular and goes over big.

Joe Frederick, tenor, sings It Wouldn't Be Love, and later appears with Ruby Mercer, the Four Grand, the Belles and show girls, singing Not a Star In Sight, Who Cares, Deny, and in the finale, I Hear America Singing, catchy patriotic tune, lyrics by Mitchell Parish, music by Peter DeRose. In one of these production numbers Muriel Paige offers a graceful ballet specialty.

Laugh hit of the show are Willie, West and McGinty, veteran slapstick vaude in which Rue Willis, Bill West, Bill West Jr., and Frank McGinty give their hilarious portrayal of builders at work.

Gypsy Rose Lee, after an introductory song, proceeded to demonstrate the art of undressing quite cleverly to rounds of applause. Colorful finale has entire company on stage, singing I Hear America Singing.

Jack Denny and orchestra play the show capably. They and Johnny Gilbert's orchestra furnish music for dancing. Gilbert's orchestra, made up entirely of Northwestern University graduates, is exceptionally good and proved popular with the dancers.

Gay New Orleans is staged by Hassard Short, and the production is supervised by Sammy Lambert. Show is conducted by Jay Freeman, dance direction by Ivan Pehnova, costumes designed by Irene Sharoff, musical arrangements by Ted Royal. Designer and art director of the theater-cafe is Watson Barratt.

Show compares quite favorably with those of the more expensive night spots. Food is excellent and prices astonishingly low. Service on opening night was slow but should be quite satisfactory when things get rolling. Todd's experiment is being watched with interest by cafe men. Its success depends upon ability to attract volume trade. Net Green.

Got more laughs than any other emcee we've ever seen here.

The Sanford girls in a military number closed the show.

Lou Martin (clarinet, sax, vibes, and solovox) leads his hard-working combo of drums, trumpet, two sax, and piano for the show music and for some of the dancing, doing a fine job considering its size. Martin also has a four-man combo for cocktail dancing and leads a four-man Latin combo as well. Here six years, he probably holds a record for long runs.

Nerida Segarra, an exotic brunette, leads the conga line.

Show is in for five or six weeks.

Paul Denis.

Hotel New Yorker, Terrace Room, New York

Talent policy: Dance band and ice show, presented three times daily. Management: Frank L. Andrews, hotel president; Carl Snyder, vice-president in charge of entertainment; R. D. Mockler, publicity director.

The combination of the Woody Herman orchestra and one of the best ice extravaganzas put on by the hotel in several years of such presentations, gave this room some of its best business it ever experienced several months ago. Herman is now back in the room, following Abe Lyman, and the management expects a repetition during the next 12 weeks of the fine business.

The current ice show isn't of the same caliber as the production that shared honors with Herman last fall, but that probably won't make any difference either to the hotel's steady dinner patronage or to the young crowd first attracted to this room by the Herman crew. Flash and color, inherent in this type of diversion, are present, which is enough to cover up the deficiencies (in comparison to previous ice shows here) of pace, production numbers, and individual performances—at least in the eyes of the patrons who want a good time without getting technical about it.

Receiving stellar billing is Adele Ingo, youthful acrobatic skater who matches the artlessness of her tricks with an unfailing ability to execute them amazingly well. Several of Miss Ingo's stunts are remarkable in conception and breathtaking in achievement, and the younger has a head start on a brilliant ice-skating future.

Top billing is shared by Erna Anderson, Norway's gift to ice shows, who can be returned with thanks, as far as we are concerned. Stereotyped routines combined with a tendency to trip make her the most ineffectual member. Quite the opposite is Ronni Roberts, veteran of ice shows here, whose speed, skating abandon, and spectacular tricks go a long way toward giving the show the pace and color it lacks in its production numbers.

John Kinney, with an exceptionally fast spin; Duane Farley, working with Roberts as a team; and Betty Lee Bennett, doing ditto with Kinney; and a stick-girl line complete the talent roster, with Mark Plant continuing as singing恐龙. Dolores Ziegfeld's slightly haphazard staging is the show's greatest drawback.

The subtleties of its defects, however, can (and will be) overlooked in the general ice revue flavor, in the superlative swing and sweet swing of the Herman contingent—not the least of whose attractions are Woody's clarinet and balladeering—in the smart and beautiful decor of the room itself, and in the always excellent cuisine and service.

Daniel Richman.

Hotel Roosevelt, Blue Room, New Orleans

Talent policy: Dance and show band; floorshows at 7:30 and 12:15 (40-minute show). Management: George V. Riley, hotel manager; Ray Samuels, press agent.

Prices: Dinner from $1.50.

When Bill Bardo's band first stepped into this top spot a couple of years back he was unknown locally. His return finds the customers approving. Bardo, in his last appearance, had to endure a severe setback when so many members of the orchestra became ill here that reorganization was necessary. This time he and his men show a versatility that equals anything shown here.

Applause, like of which has not been heard before in the nitty, showed appreciation at each show of Morton Downey. At the opening show Monday (12), he took seven encores and nearly brought down the house with When (See NIGHT CLUB REVIEWS on page 26).

Vaudefilm Grosses

Holidays Boom B. O.; T. Dorsey 35G 2d Para Week; MH 115G; Roxy Dives

NEW YORK—Booms times came back to Broadway vaudefilm box offices with grosses approaching and even exceeding previous records. The added trade is greatly due to students vacationing from schools and the need for relaxation after Christmas shopping. Because of the impending New Year's celebrations grosses are expected to top any figures made during the year.

The Paramount (3,064 seats; $37,000 house average) did the best business of the year, getting a sizable $63,000 for week ended Tuesday (24), the first week with Tommy Dorsey's band, Nicholas Brothers and film Love Thy Neighbor. With the New Year's festivities, the second week is expected to go over the top with $85,000. Take Wednesday and Thursday amounted to nearly $22,000.

The Strand (2,755 seats; $33,500 house average) did $37,000 for the first week, ended Thursday (26) with Abe Lyman's band and Santa Fe Trail. Second week should do around $44,000.

Loew's State (3,327 seats; $23,500 house average) for week ended Wednesday (25), engaged to $15,000 with John Kirby's band, Maxine Sullivan and Slim, Christmas in July. New bill came in Thursday (26) with Dorothy Stone and Charles Collins, Jay C. Flippen, and Honey Family and pic, This of Bagdad. Looks like a $30,000 week.

The Roxy (5,835 seats; $38,000 house average) had its worst week in its history, touching bottom with a miserable $12,000 for six days ended Tuesday (24). Bill had Lynn, Royce, and Vanya; Adrian Rollini Trio, and Wesson Brothers. Film One Night in the Tropics contributed tremendously to the b.o. downfall. Wednesday's opener is headed by Marie and Floria on stage and film Chad Hanna. Gross is expected to reach around $55,000.

The Music Hall (6,200 seats; $84,000 house average) surprised with a big $92,000 for week ended Wednesday (25) with No, No, Nanette and its annual Christmas show on stage. Stage show held over until Monday, but pix changed Thursday (26) to Philadelphia Story. Gross is expected to reach around $115,000. First two days of this film took in $31,000.

Weather No Aid In Philly; McCoy $19,700; Fay's 7G

PHILADELPHIA—In spite of the holiday spending spree unseasonable warm weather has kept grosses down at the variety houses. Earle Theater (seating capacity, 4,000; house average for straight picture booking, $14,000) hit below expectations with a fairish $19,700 for the week ended Thursday (26), with the stage offering Clyde McCoy's orchestra, with the Bennett Sisters and Wayne Gregg sharing the billing with the Three Stooges. A Night at Earl Carroll's on the screen.

New bill opened Friday (27), getting in the New Year's Day and added midnight show, points to $23,000, which is on the favorable side. Continued warm weather and rain has held down opening figures, and the holidays will have to be plenty good to make that mark. Stage has Larry Clinton's ork, with Terry Allen, Jack Palmer, Peggy Man, and Jimmie Currie; the Borah Minevitch Harmonica Rascals, and Jack Seymour and Kay Picture, You'll Find Out on screen.

Fay's Theater (seating capacity, 2,200; house average, $6,000) getting in the Christmas business for week ended Wednesday (25) to make up for the pre-holiday shopping days, got over the nut nicely, with $7,000. Ginger Britton the burly lead, with Derita and Scannell, Sylvia and Clemente, Park and Clifford, Grandma Perkins, house line, and Jimmie Jones' house ork comprised the flesh portion. Men Against the Sky on screen.

New bill opened Thursday (26) points to $9,000. House again has two sexy sirens for the lead in Tirza and Konja, with the vaude clan bringing up Bert Walton, the Romano Brothers, Potter and Ray, Eddie Albert, Robbins Brothers and Margie, and Dancing on a Dime for the screen.

W.B. Vaude Okeh

WILKES-BARRE, Pa.—The novel dual emcee stunt by Syd and Sydell was the feature of the three-day-a-week vaude at the Irving Theater (December 19-21), which did exceptional business.

Others on the bill were Will Morris and Bobby, Lou Handman and Florry LaVere, Mickey Brothers and Alice, Lewis and Oliver Sisters. Joe Feinberg Agency books show. Pix was Laddie.

Manager Fred Hermann boosted stage presentation to four days for Christmas week.

Great Lester Good

LINCOLN, Neb.—The one-night stand of the Great Lester at the Stuart, Sunday (22), at 25 to 40 cents per person, drew $410, very good.

Asst, pictorially, was Dracula (U.), a released second-run.

Dayton Meager 6G

DAYTON, O.—Christmas week didn't sell any stockings at the Colonial, where Little Jackie Heller headed an excellent stage show, the gross hitting a meager $6,000.

Christmas Slump Hits All Chi Houses; Current Week Should Step Up Grosses

CHICAGO—As was expected, Christmas week brought light grosses to all the vaudefilers, the take in every instance being considerably below normal. Singer's Midgets and an ordinary pix couldn't draw them into the Oriental in paying numbers, and pulled a weak $12,000. State-Lake hit about the same mark, with Ada Leonard headlined. The Chicago Theater, with the picture Tim Pen Aley held over and only a fair stage bill, drew a poor 27G.

Current week, ending Thursday (2), should be excellent for all the theaters. There were packed houses Friday and Saturday. The picture, Love Thy Neighbor, starring Jack Benny and Fred Allen, at the Chicago, is sure-fire, and along with it the house has a good stage show, with Tamara, Arren and Broderick and other standard acts, and should roll up $30G or better. At the State-Lake, the picture East of the River will not mean much

Ind'p'lis Houses Squeeze Past Red

INDIANAPOLIS—For the week ended December 26 the smaller Lyric (1,892 seats) outdrew its larger competitor, the Circle (2,712 seats), $40,000 to $8,400, grosses which put both houses on the dark side of the ledger by close squeaks.

Lady did it with Larry Clinton's ork, which was handicapped by absence of three musicians hurt in auto wreck. Pix was Lady With Red Hair.

Circle's attraction was Streets of Paris, headed by Cliff Hall and Sid Marion and Think-a-Drink Hoffman. Pix, Christmas in July.

Plan To Reopen Mainstreet, K. C.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 28.—A cooperative movement is under way to reopen the Mainstreet Theater, 2,850 seats. Downtown merchants have decided to revitalize the $2,000,000 investment in this house, the second largest theater in the city, in order to attract the 40,000 persons who spent an estimated $2,000,000 a year in the immediate neighborhood.

Albert Schoenberg, real estate operator who owns the theater, has already started negotiations for vaude. Reopening of the Mainstreet is a part of the civic improvement plan, which includes widening of Main Street, installation of a new street-lighting system, and modernization of building fronts.

Open New Beaumont Club

BEAUMONT, Tex., Dec. 28.—Fran Maroway and ork Thursday opened the Brown Derby club on the Port Arthur Highway. Spot was formerly the Neptunes. Nitery is managed by Al Brown. Floor acts include Rambling Rockets, skaters, Nitee Lynn, dancer, and Drane Walters, emcee. Brown says spot will change orks weekly, with the Ink Spots booked for early February.

Flex in Syracuse House

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 28.—John Flex, formerly with Loew, will replace Harvey Cocks at the RKO-Schine Strand. The house will reopen Wednesday with Melody and Mirth unit which features the Peters Sisters. New Year's week the house will feature Clyde McCoy.

It will continue on old policy after holidays with week-end vaudefilms. Harry Unterford is city manager of RKO-Schine.

at the box office, but stage show Streets of Paris has plenty of talent and appeal, and house should hit better than 18G. Ted Weems' ork, coupled with a fair stage bill, should give the Oriental a very fair week in spite of an ordinary picture. May do 18G.

Spokane Biz Off

SPOKANE, Wash.—A flu epidemic, combined with Christmas shopping, put bad dent in receipts at two vaudefilm theaters last week.

Sandy Johnson's Ice Frolics unit did poor business, according to Manager Willard R. Seale of the Orpheum. The show played December 21 to 22, and was supported by Blondie Plays Cupid on screen.

The Post Street, vaudefilm standby, dropped $250 under average of $17,750 for week-end of December 20 to 22, Manager Bill Evans reported. Acts were Owen and Eastman, Clark and Van, Paul Cadieux, Munro and Adams, and St. Claire Sisters. East of Puddlestone and Triple Justice were on the screen.

Springfield $8 Off

SPRINGFIELD, Mass.—Christmas shows kept the crowds down to below normal at the three-day vaudefilm bill that closed at E. M. Loew's Court Square Theater Saturday (21). A Little Bit of Heaven was on the screen and six acts of vaudeville comprised the stage bill.

On the stage were Wayne Kenyon, Haynes and Perry, Al Trenton, Kay and Blatt, Drohan and Dupree, and the D'Esprey Trio.

Ban Mixing in Quincy

QUINCY, Mass., Dec. 28.—No floorshows will be allowed next year in any of the taprooms here, according to a decision reached by the license commission.

The commission claims they have received complaints of mixing. Chairman Emery Crane said, "If there is real talent there will be no objection."

(Reviewed Thursday Evening, Dec. 26)

A straight five-set bill this week (is departure from the weekly spotting of a visiting band), augmenting a good holiday picture for the kids (age 6 to 60). Alexander Korda's The Thief of Bagdad. As a whole, the flesh lacks excitement and is far from superior in talent, but it has several strong moments.

Jay C. Flippen, veteran Broadway character, exudes in a brief, jovial manner and certainly finds himself in a better position in the introductions than in his own spot. His act is not up to date and the support from Peggy Niermer in next to closing is passable but not solid. After a couple of stories, he contributes some special lyrics to the standard verses of My Blue Heaven, and then gags with Peggy. She later turns to personality songs, delivering Tennessee Fish Fry and I'm Stepping Out With a Memory Tonight with extra juicy lines. The stuff has yellowed around the edges.

The Honey Family (mixed sextet) opens the bill with a smart tap and acco number and features some front forwards and full twist somersaults, among other tricks, all executed in sock fashion. The girls handle the burden of the routine, which gives the turn extra punch. Make a good appearance in evening clothes.

Alice Marble, champion of the tennis courts, is better than many sports people on the stage, but still not good enough to compete with professional entertainers. She is a tall, bright looking personality, but sings in a voice which is full but not too appealing. The entire act has been written for her, including talking verses and original songs. Winds up with a patriotic ditty, Don't Rock the Boat. Mild reception.

Dorothy Stone and Charles Collins are a good looking and capable musical comedy and novelty dance team who impress with graceful work and routines that are different if not sensational. Their set, in order, included a well-arranged tap to Over the Rainbow, a novelty depicting a romance between a Yankee and a Southern belle, an impressive interpretation of Ibrahim's Lullaby, and a gay closing to Raymond Scott's The Penguins, in which they impersonate the playful creatures. Their musical arrangements rate special mention.

The Three Sailors close and still rate as heavy a response as ever. Their non-sense is clean and funny, and the kids rocked with laughter. Wind up the act with the rope and tap dance, a showstop.

Business big first evening show opening day. First January bill (2) will have Little Jack Little's band, Three Stooges, and Estelle Taylor. Sam Hoenigberg.

Vaudeville Reviews

Oriental, Chicago

(Reviewed Friday Afternoon, Dec. 27)

Ted Weems and his orchestra dish out a very satisfactory stage fare. Band has a heavy complement of capable entertainers and has been given a solid build-up the last year thru its radio commercial, Best of the Band. Orm Downes goes over with a simian-like orgy on the skins. Marvel Maxwell rings the bell with several boogy-woogy numbers. Elmo Tanner, as ever a fave, whistles Glowworm, while the other boys produce an interesting effect with vari-colored flashlights in the darkness. Red Ingles works a dummy (before a dead mike), pretending to be a ventriloquist, while Elmo Tanner's voice and whistle register from backstage. Perry Como has the crowd howling for encores with his excellent renditions of pop classics.

Three sock vaude acts are used. Steve Evans, comedian and impersonator, does clear-cut take-offs on Popeye and Mutt and Jeff, scores solidly with his impersonation of a girl without uppers, and still finds a healthy response to his oft-repeated caricature of a stewed Pole in a tavern.

Dee Lang, acrobatic dancer, spends half her time on stage with an exhibition of endurance on one foot—a graceful accomplishment. The rest of her act is far above average, including a back bend that smoothly changes into a split and other contortions that prove a remarkable flexibility and ease.

Bobby May winds up the show with a juggling act that rates high praise. Flashiest of his tricks is the one in which he bounces balls on a drum, while doing a head balance on a table lamp. His comic gestures help to give the act keen polish.

Pix, The Lone Wolf Keeps a Date, Norman Modelle.

Roxy, New York

(Reviewed Wednesday Evening, Dec. 25)

To get a crack at the school vacationing market during yule, the foxy Roxy booked in circus picture, Chad Hanna, retitled from Walter D. Edmonds' magnified Red Wheel's Rolling. It's a technicolorized bore from start to finish and who expects kids to get up steam about beauteous Linda Darnell? Henry Fonda and Dorothy Lamour, we forgot to mention, are the stars, but better watch this Darnell gal.

Mario and Floria and the always reliable Gae Foster Girls save the program. Line opens with a corkscrew grouped Strob number that snapped the audience out of its post-prandial lethargy. Striking use of phospho phenaglare here, and the crowd wasn't slow in responding.

Juggler Bob Rips gets the second spot with his clubs, plates, and rubber-ball balancing, with wooden mouthpieces twirling spheroid being his top trick. His Truzzo-styled manner of having audience participate by receiving and throwing back the ball and having him imprison it in his mouth elongation didn't come off too well at this showing.

Mario and Floria, an always effective combination, get top billing and deserve it. Richard Finney makes their entry, appetizing by warbling a Berkeley Square ditty near the right wing, and the duo comes thru a simulated palatial entrance, the curtain lifts, and presto they're in a full-stage powdered wig setting. First terp is a beautifully done waltz, following with a gypsy number. Finish with a vintage 1912 turkey trot that made a well-filled house get off its hands.

Next to closing are Marian Beale and the English Brothers, comedy acrobats. Some good scuffling by the boys, but this act begs for continuity and showmanship to get over.

Line finale is a superb winter scene, with 24 Footettes and 12 boys on roller skates. Rollers, to be sure, but they moved as if on blades. Their exiting trailing line formation at high speed was a pippin.

Leonard Traube.

(Reviewed Thursday Afternoon, Dec. 26)

Stage attraction ran four days instead of the usual three in order to open on Christmas Day. That the BRO crowd which attended the show could be gleaned from the fact that every act was asked for encores. John Sylva, emcee, kept patrons in a happy mood during act changes with his lively chatter. He hit his peak when he teamed with Muriel Thomas in her impersonations of Hepburn in The Spike and Tyrone Power in The Rain Came. It was hilarious slapstick comedy, with Sully taking the dancing in the latter. Their wisecracks brought loud guffaws.

Pritchard and Lord did well with their novel dancing, featuring ballroom, tap, and a combination of ballroom and ballet. A variety of music, songs, dances, and gags were presented by Bert Howell and Walter Battie, colored comedians. Battie acting as the foil during most of the fast exchange. Howell, an accomplished musician when he gets down to business, sang The Nearness of You, accompanying himself on the ukulele, and then stopped the comedy to play a violin legitimately to show his ability in that division. Battie, meanwhile, added to the applause and comedy with his comical tap routines, achieved with what appeared to be little hard work.

Clever juggling, balancing, and comedy was the forte of Paul Nolan and Company, with the gray-haired star showing split-second timing while juggling rubber balls, three top hats, and a tray. To top off his performance he balanced a saucer, cup, piece of sugar, and spoon on his toe and kicked them up to land perfectly on the top of his head in that order.

Sweet and hot music was provided by Cappy Barr's musical ensemble of seven harmonica players, whose special arrangements of Harmonica Gentlemen and the Second Hungarian Rhapsody, with solo by George Fields, were outstanding. They capped their performance with Fred Stewart singing to their accompaniment of Have a Heart and a Nightingale Song in Berkeley Square.

Don MacLusky's pit orchestra opened the show with God Bless America. Drummer Bill Christian followed with a chime solo of Christmas songs. Pix was Melody and Moonlight. Milton Miller.

Chicago, Chicago

(Reviewed Friday Afternoon, Dec. 27)

The Chicago started off at a fast clip for the current week. With schools closed and holiday week on, people are flocking to the Loop, and the theaters are getting a big play. The Chicago has a first-rate stage bill, but the Jack Benny-Pete Allen picture, Lone Thy Neighbor, is the big draw. Near capacity biz on opening day.

Opening production number is a clever novelty, with the line girls doing a marionette routine to introduce Bob Bromley, puppeteer. Bromley, recent hit at the Chez Paree, is a clever manipulator, making his little puppets extremely lifelike. Effect is heightened by background sound effects. Most novel bit is the man on the flying trapeze. Flyer on trapeze 22 feet above the stage is worked with strings from below and goes thru an amazing traps routine. Bromley also has the familiar opera singer, Negro tap dancer, ice skater, and strip-tease artist, the last-named clever and good for laughs.

In the deuce spot Walter Dare Wahl and Emmett Oldfield score nicely with their comedy acrobatics and finish strong with some marvelous straight work—difficult pull-ups, handstands, and other stunts.

Tamara, lovely singer, won repeated hands for her splendid vocalizing, which she sells superbly. Offered Katy Foyle, The Nightingale Song in Berkeley Square, Down Argentine Way, Perfidia, and as an encore, Smoke Gets in Your Eyes, with the line girls in a colorful production number making an executive background.

Harrison and Fisher are a smart ballroom team and their graceful routines brought generous applause. Their satire on the Russian ballet made a smash comedy finish.

Arren and Broderick were the laugh hit of the bill. Girl is a clever comedienne and her phony operatic warbling, mugging, and slipstick gags got a terrific hand. Man scored nicely with his straight piano work.

Bill closes with a beautiful number, Dance of the Hours, done by the Chicago Theater Ballet. Nat Green.

Earle, Philadelphia

(Reviewed Friday Evening, December 27)

Holiday bill is a merry musical fiesta, finding Larry Clinton's orch and the Borah Minewitch Harmonica Rascals sharing the stage spotlight, with Kay Kyser on the screen in You'll Find Out.

Clinton's contribution is on the dancepage side, mixing up his swing selections with the sweet and a touch of the border touch. Numbers are mostly Clinton originals, with the genial maestro alternating on trumpet, trombone, and clarinet when not swinging the stick. Band beats it off with Bolero in Blue, and includes Kansas City Blues, a medley of the maestro's hit tunes, including Santa Takes a Holiday, Our Love, and the identifying Dimples Doodle, dips into the sacrocanct swing for a Study in Surrealism, and to ring down the rag, a stirring swinger for the Semper Fidelis March.

Acclamation is as great for the vocalists as for the band. Terry Allen, baritone, pleases with Only Forever and Down Argentine Way. Canary Peggy Mann gives ill to the lyrics for Our Love and Five o'Clock Whistle. Jimmy Currie gets a rousing round of salvoes for his song clowning on Night and Day and Well, All Right. Jack Palmer, bold vocalist with the band, was not heard on the title intermission.

Minewitch's mouth-organ experts, and always welcome here and this trip was no exception. Altho Minewitch was absent, the eight lads are still sure-fire, making symphonic jazz music in blending their harmonicas. The half-pint ragamuffins still annoy the leader constantly to make for the laughs. Boys have to play five selections before the house is satisfied. Outstanding was St. Louis Blues, an excerpt from Tchaikovsky's Lapique Dame, and a medley of new hits. Only added act is Jack Seymour and Kay Picture, dance duo, who cut some neat tap cappers. They do two turns and could have done more if time had permitted. This is one terp twain where the male member, whose mannerisms smack of Buddy Ebsen, overshadows the efforts of his femme partner. Business at late supper show was fair.

M. J. Grodenker.

Vaude Slump in Denver But Club Dates Still Okeh

DENVER, Dec. 28.—Flesh is pretty much washed up here. Of the four possible vaude houses, the Denham, Denver, Orpheum, and Tabor, the first three have not had a single dash this season. The Tabor has had four weeks of shows, two Major Bowes units, the Flying High Revue, and last week's variety outfit. None of the others has any bookings scheduled for the next two months, altho the Denham may set a unit after February 1. The Denham, Orpheum, and Denver are first-run houses, while the Tabor is a double-feature second-run.

Various reasons are offered for the lack of live bookings, including cost of shows, receipts as balanced against take from a picture alone, and scarcity of good shows available.

There usually is a nice run of club dates available here for single acts, and the holiday season has opened several weeks at the hotels in addition. But location of the city with regard to proximity to other booking points does not add much to the desirability of bookings here. However, local bookers usually can line up bookings for several weeks for single acts.

Fox, Mich., To Stagger Vaude

DETROIT, Dec. 28.—After unsuccessfully playing vaude at both local big theaters, the Fox and the Michigan, at the same time two weeks ago both managers have gone back to staggering shows. A "gentlemen's agreement" appears to enable the houses to give stage shows on alternate weeks, as had been the case for several months previously.

However, for New Year's Eve both houses will play flesh day-and-date for one day only. The Fox stage show opened Christmas Day and closes New Year's Eve and the Michigan opens the stage show December 31 for nine days. Pictures will probably play the regular week.

Midnight show for the eve is being sold at $1.65 and $1.10 in both houses. Last year they sold at $1 with straight pictures only. Usual top at both houses is 65 cents.

The show at the Michigan will double New Year's Eve, going into the Palms-State, as well as the Michigan, giving three major downtown stage shows for the evening.

such as the fiscal year of one union being incongruent with that of another, establishes a "borderline" situation which frequently must be "interpreted" by the executive secretary.

Little Free Traffic

In practice the interchangeability pact, therefore, does not necessarily allow free traffic among the jurisdictions. Older branches whose minimums are higher are not eager to invite too many performers to share the jobs. Reciprocity exists in practice, therefore, only so far as individual unions allow it to apply. It aims to prevent a performer from one jurisdiction from entering a second at a lower figure than the second's own constituents paid originally. Therefore, in applying the pact most of the unions give newcomers credit only for what they paid into their parent organization, so that those who entered unions early and at low rates have to pay greater differences to unions which recently jacked up their entrance fees.

Union execs admit that without a few blocks unions would not be able to keep check on broad aspects of closed shops in the trade.

Before a performer may avail himself of the concessions of interchangeability he must be a paid-up member in his parent organization. He may have worked in seven jurisdictions, performs receive credit only for his standing in his parent body. Should he wish to switch allegiance, he must pay up, in full, dues and initiation in the new organization, only after obtaining honorary withdrawal card from his former affiliation.

With Actors' Equity, which has the highest initiation fee, as a base, the following is an example of the interchangeability pact in operation: A member of the Brother Artists' Association moving into legit receives credit for $22 initiation fees (if they were paid) and has to pay Equity's $75 difference plus full $18 dues. In return it is possible that the performer may receive just the minimum two-week engagement at $50 a week, plus $20 a week for four weeks rehearsal, or $180.

Rules in Operation

An AGVA member acquiring a legit job would have to be paid up with $10 and $16 initiation and dues in his parent organization, and would pay $60 initiation and $9 dues to Equity. If, however, the AGVA member did not pay into AGVA because of credit received for American Federation of Artists affiliation, he has to pay full dues and initiation in Equity.

In the case of a SAG member entering legit other interpretations have been adopted because SAG also has some high rates. In such cases, if the actor's parent organization requires dues higher or equal to Equity's, the performer pays half of Equity's. Thus, no newcomer into Equity gets any more credit than half the legit union's initiation and dues rates, to enforce the principle that no outsider may enter a second jurisdiction at less cost because of interchangeability than members entering directly.

Performers coming from the Italian and Hungarian actor unions pay full initiation and dues to Equity because the foreign unions are not parties to the interchangeability agreement. Actors from the Hebrew Actors' Union, however, having paid $150 to their own union, pay only full dues to Equity.

$185 in Initiations

Were a performer to start in the chorus of the BAA and manage to get employment successively in the other jurisdictions his total initiation fee would be about $185 and his dues $97 on the basis of the current theory of interchangeability. Moving from BAA to AGVA, on the standard pact, the performer would pay an additional $5 initiation and $10 dues. Into Chorus Equity performer from BAA would shell out another $10 and $12. On acquiring a legit berth performer would pay out another $85 and $18. Should a booking take the same performer into the AGMA jurisdiction he would have to give that union $5 and $9. Upon accepting a radio engagement the performer would have to pay $20 and $18 to APRA. After February 1 this would be increased to $45 additional for initiation, for APRA's rates will be increased at about that time. Then, if the performer were lucky enough to get a class A job in pictures, he would have to pay to SAG another $45 and $24.

A chart accompanying this article presents initiation and dues figures for the Four A branches. Performers can approximate their rights in a general way on the basis of the theory that a performer gets credit only for what he pays into his parent union up to half the rates of the jurisdiction he is entering.

Nicholas Bros. 1st As Para Dance H. O.

NEW YORK. Dec. 28.—The Nicholas Brothers have been signed for a two-week holdover at the Paramount, and will go into the new show with Harry James' band, remaining for a total of six weeks.

This is the first time that a dance act has been held over at the house.

2 More Cowboy Names for Vaude

NEW YORK. Dec. 28.—Two new units headed by Western stars are being routed on a series of one-night theater stands.

Dan (Red) Barry, Republic player, starts Southern territory January 20, while Ray Corrigan, Monogram, opens around January 6 thru Ohio. Corrigan has a two-months leave from the studios.

Martin Wagner, of the William Morris Agency, is handling the outfitts.

They Come and Go

NEW YORK. Dec. 30.—An indication of the rapid turnover in local night clubs is the Daily Mirror's check on last year's night club New Year's Eve advertising. It found that 60 per cent of last year's advertisers are out of business.

Of course, this is balanced by new spots that have opened during the year or that are advertising for the first time.

New Orleans Spots Expect Top Season

NEW ORLEANS. Dec. 28.—Despite suspension of horse racing at the Fairgrounds track this winter and toning down of night life in the Vieux Carré, natives look for their best winter. Hotels are completely booked up to Mardi Gras (February 25). Most of the hotels have raised their rates by a dollar. A housing bazaar has been opened to take care of thousands of visitors.

City will have two Class-A niteries for the season, the Blue Room of the Roosevelt and Casino Royale, new Vieus Carré spot. As usual, about three dozen small spots in the Old Quarter will take care of the overflows, and a few have added flesh acts.

This year the Tulane Room of the Jung is being opened only for holidays or special parties.

Dorben Line in Cincy

CHICAGO. Dec. 28.—Dorothy Dorben, producer at the Edgewater Beach Hotel, is branching out and during the holidays has had a line of girls at the Gibson Hotel, Cincinnati, for two weeks. From the Gibson the line goes to Grand Rapids, Mich., for the furniture convention. Cindy engagement enabled Miss Dorben to spend the holidays with her home folks in Erlanger, Ky.

UNIT REVIEW

portion of the conga, a nicely presented turn.

Bobby Carbone and Company nearly stop the show with their slapstick comedy. Carbone still can sing and his partner does equally well with some opera bits. Billy Carr, who completes the trio, wins heavy applause with a couple of pop tunes, his best When the Swallows Come Back to Capistrano. He has a pleasing voice. Carbone's comedy is still funny.

Gals are on again as pirates in a strong fencing novelty. Also do acrobatics that are sock entertainment. Kay Wilson is impressive with a fast tap especially, to take up the slack after Miss Wray's featured turn, which is preceded by the line in a nifty waltz. Miss Wray dances in flimsy blue dress, which she slips off for a flask strip under a blue spot.

Carbone, Hillary, McFarland, and Brown collaborate to burlesque The Shooting of Dan McGrew, which is good for laughs. Hillary and Brown carrying off top honors. Carr recites off stage.

There is no slowing up even in the finale, which is a honey. Marian Whitten parades as a baton wielder, and is later joined by the line girls who do a fast tap and then all go into a baton routine. Real surprise comes when the gals switch to fast tumbling turn, finishing with fast and furious flip-flops that sent the audience away in an enjoyable mood.

Good screen entertainment is in The Villain Still Pursued Her (RKO).

Rex McConnell.

Gaslit "Follies" Unit on the Road

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Grandfather's Follies, which has been playing the Bal Tabarin, San Francisco, nitery, for two years, will do a road tour starting at the Blackhawk Hotel, Chicago, January 2. Two editions of this unit have played the Bal Tabarin.

The unit idea, which started at the Grosvenor House, London, was brought to the Bal by Duane and Leslie Harry Savoy and the Eddies Brothers top the cast. The outfit satisfies the gaiety era. There are 22 in the cast.

Music Corporation of America, handling the unit, will line up several other dates and a night club spot in Florida.

Miller at N. Y. Para January 28

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Glenn Miller's date at the Paramount has been moved from January 21 to January 28. The Paramount shift will consequently move up succeeding dates also. Miller's new schedule calls for the Palace, Cleveland, February 21; Shubert, Cincinnati, February 28; Palace, Columbus, March 7, and the Fox, St. Louis, March 14.

The latter three dates are subject to cancellation if Miller gets a call from 20th Century-Fox Films.

Small Unit Market Perks Up as Southern Time Shows More Life; 1G and Up, Kemp; 4G on Inter'te

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Local indie vaude producers are being approached for small units for the South, most of the offers coming from the T. D. Kemp booking office of Charlotte, N. C. Apparently economic conditions in the South have improved sufficiently to open that territory once more to units ranging from 20 to 35 people and getting from $1,000 to $4,000 a week.

The Interstate Circuit, which has five big city houses using units once a month and booked by Charlie Freeman out of Dallas, is the only Southern circuit paying any real dough. It uses units of around 28 people and pays $3,000 to $4,000 a week.

The Kemp office has 14 weeks' work available for units of around 25 people. Most of the stands are one and two days and bring from $150 to $300 a day. Some are straight salary and others percentage.

Stepin Fetchit returned last week from an eight-week tour of the Carolinas, saying he did all right. Nick Lucas is preparing a small unit featuring himself and will probably break it in around Pittsburgh on his way to the Kemp time.

Matt Shively, former head of the Federal Theater Project's local vaudeville department, is planning small units for Kemp, and has a deal to break the jumps to North Carolina by playing Paterson, N. J., and Baltimore.

Most of the units carry a six-piece band, a six-girl line, and 10 to 15 specialty people. They usually make the jumps by bus or private cars furnished by the principal acts.

SALISBURY, N. C., Dec. 28.—Stage units currently in the Carolinas, playing picture houses for the most part, include Paul Chouteau's Stars and Stripes revue, with Charles and Helen Stone, Lund and Lund, and George Ballette; and Studio Scandals, with the Six Lucky Girls, Edison and Louise, Evelyn Willard, and the Three Youman Brothers.

Also Broadway Passing Show (revised with story and special musical score) with Juno, Charley Tate, Ed West, the Jail Birds, Mae Wynn, Foursome, Bentz Brothers, Rita Company, Patricia Lane, Princess Luisa, Broadway Zebs, and Johnny Vance's Broadway Vagabonds.

Also Sea Bee Hayworth's Pepper Box Revue, with Brodie Stirewalt, "Smoky" McKenzie, Marion Andrews, Billie Love, and Sue, Darl Hulit, Tanya, and the Gus Schultz band; Owen Bennett's Continental Hoof Wear, with Beatrice and D'Artois. Three Olympia Boys, MacBed and Henderson, Pat Loder, Miss Christyne, and Josito and his band; Bring on the Girls, all-girl unit; Trixy Wells's All Girl Band and Reems, with Robert Bumy, Iris Clarke, and Ichabod Crane.

Also Tony Pastor's Gay '90s Revue, with Yorke and Tracy, Jack Lavier and Company, Mel Hall and Company, Sandra Lynn, and Bernard and Jensen; Pan-American Revue, and Barnes' Milk's Laff Parade, with Maise "the Blond Bombshell."

SALISBURY, N. C., Dec. 28.—Ralph McCoy, who managed Warner branch of the Charkotte from 1935 to 1938, has been promoted to district manager of the Southwest for Warner.

Irish Eyes Are Smiling. By far, the best act of the bill.

Darlene Walders, acrobatic dancer, went on the first shows sans her own tricks. Her act lacked polish, altho some of her tricks were most difficult and well executed. Maurine and Norva, dance team, specialized in Latin American routines. Soloists with Bardo include Orry Pecci and Esther Todd, the latter a Betty Grable blonde who sang smooth and warm best.

Bardo's emceeing is easy-going and enhanced by absence of patent-leather finish. He is no slouch on the violin. Phil Murk.

Hotel Times Square, Jive Room, New York

Talent policy: Small band and continuous entertainment. Management: Hotel Times Square, operator: Philip Beld, entertainment director: H. W. Reiter, publicity. Prices: Drinks from 40 cents.

After a successful start several months ago at the American Bar, this intimate room has undergone a change of name and entertainment line-up. Having built itself largely on the strength of the fine hot jazz disseminated by its erstwhile stellar attraction, the Clarence Profit Trio, the spot is apparently attempting to capitalize on what reputation it has acquired as the only swing mecca in the Times Square area (excepting, of course, the 32d Street rendezvous of Riff). Hence the new name and the constant exhortations to the customers by the all-colored cast to "get in the groove, you cats."

Unfortunately, the true jazz aura that prevailed when the Profit boys just played rather than talked a great band of swingology has evaporated in a self-conscious, superficial live vacuum. Slim Stewart of Fleet Foot Flooge-Slim and Slim fame, slaps the bass, aided by piano, guitar, and sax-clarinet, thru the customary series of hot licks and get-aways, but with the exception of the guitarist's excellent jazz pickings, the crew's output can't be mentioned in the same paragraph with the Profit combo.

Comedy relief (something else new here) falls to Smokey Marsh. Starting out in a frenzy, Marsh is more energetic than comic, and manages to sell himself only by generating audience wonder that anyone can act so deranged and still remain on the right side of a psychopathic ward. Comedian tries hard to be original, but succeeds only in being aboriginal in his delivery of some spottily humorous song and patter material.

Glory's Easter rounds out the rotating floorshow pattern with a session at the piano that is effective in a modest way. Self-effacing despite her corpulence, singer-pianist succeeds in providing more genuine entertainment than all the straining of the rest of the talent proclaves.

Daniel Richman.

Copacabana, New York

Talent policy: Dance and show band; Latin band; floorshows at 12:15 and 2. Management: Monte Proser, operator: Jack Diamond, press agent. Prices: Minimum $2 nightly except Saturdays and holidays $3.

The brightest East Side newcomer of the season, smart in atmosphere, talent,

New York's First Latin Club Was the Cubanacan

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Lee Posner, veteran night club owner and press agent, recalls the first local Latin-type night club as being the Cubanacan at 114th Street and Lenox Avenue in 1934. It advertised in The New Yorker and class papers and lasted two years under two different managements.

Among those who played the spot, says Posner, were Panchito, then a maracas player and now fronting his own band at the Versailles, and Diana Costello, who used "to hang around the club all the time."

and general management. Ever since its opening some two months ago, business has been big and the patronage of the best caliber. And a very admirable gesture, typical of all Monte Proser activities, is the continued use of strong, costly talent, even though the spot has already caught on with the social set.

Current layout includes the music of Nat Brandwynne's society band, and of Juanita Juarez, who is fronting Frank Marti's Latin outfit. The show is topped by Adelaida Moffett, Jane Deering, Fernando Alvarez, and the Samba Sirens (group of Broadway show girls).

Miss Moffett's vocalizing has never been better. Back of her slim and appealing shape, she delivers smart arrangements of pop tunes in a sweet, quiet voice and with admirably expressive facial mannerisms. The show girls in Brazilian costumes bring her out to open with a smart Latin-type number and she is then left alone (with Nat Brandwynne at the piano) to do Embraceable You, You Got Me This Way, Who Am I, and I Ain't Got Nobody.

Jane Deering is a talented ballet and character dancer who appeared in two spots with well-interpreted Spanish routines. She is young, good looking, and displays more than average training. While artistic, routines are also commercial.

The entire bill is lavishly trimmed with the Samba Sirens, who appear in three numbers and in as many costume changes. The vocals are capably handled by Fernando Alvarez (emcee), handsome youth, and Juanita Juarez who appears in the colorful finale. In keeping with a native custom, the show girls in that number appear with fruit baskets and hand out oranges, pineapples, etc., to the ringside customers.

Miss Juarez fronts a rhythmic combination which dishes out the Latin tempos with native fire. She makes a swell appearance and is more than a decoration with a pair of maracas in her hands. Her Latin songs attract plenty of attention. Frank Martin, from the piano, keeps the music in order, while Fernando Alvarez helps out with vocals.

Brandwynne's boys (12) play sweet, soothing melodies. The contrast is welcome and pleasing. His instrumentation includes three fiddles, three axes, trumpet, accordion, and four rhythm.

Sam Housberg.

St. Moritz Hotel, Cafe de la Paix, New York

Talent policy: Dance and show band; floorshows at 8:30 and 12:30 p.m. Instruction hour 9:30 to 10:30. Management: Gregory Taylor, hotel director; Robert Reid, publicity; Nino, headwaiter. Prices: No cover, no minimum; dinner from $1.75.

An intimate, continental room. Two acts used in addition to the dance band, and each is required to contribute a specialty that is of more than passing interest.

Current show fills the assignment. The dance work of the Paulens is dignified, tasteful, and entertaining in a quiet, simple way. They dress neatly and make a good appearance. Their routines included an imaginative interpretation of a classical poem, a rumba, and a light exit novelty. They double during the instruction hour, inviting the customers to try out the latest American and Latin steps.

Lola Jantry, musical comedy soprano, has a youthful, winning personality. She places more emphasis on operatic and classical selections than on lighter numbers, to please the more serious element in the room. However, her forte is the gay, carefree song which has the full benefit of her delivery. Voice is trained and pleasing.

Eddie Varsos and his band, here for 16 months, are a perfect selection for this spot. They play American, gypsy, and Latin music and, tho the outfit is composed of only six musicians (two fiddles, piano, drum, trumpet and accordion), it can easily compete with a larger combination. Most of the men double on instruments, giving the group fullness and variety. Varsos makes a smart appearance, and plays a violin with talent. Vivian Blaine, attractive blond vocalist, handles the ballads with a dramatic and appealing voice. Bobby Diaz, costumed Cuban, plays the maracas and sings Latin numbers. Miss Blaine works on the bandstand and opens the floorshows with a couple of pop ballads.

Entire layout is in for an indefinite run.

Havana-Madrid, New York

Talent policy: Dance and show band; dance band; production floorshows at 8:30, 12, and 2:30. Management: Angel Lopez and Raymond Ferrer, owners; Ed Weiner, press agent. Prices: Supper minimum $1.50 except Saturdays and holidays ($2).

This Broadway nitery's new show, which opened October 17, has been changed quite a bit. Sergio Orta, who emceed and produced it, is working the Club Bali, Philadelphia; Estella and Papo, Pedrito and Chino, Virginia Ramos, and Oscar de la Rosa's band are all out. Replacing them are Manor and Mignon, Pepita and Lucia, and Froilan Maya's band.

Manor and Mignon, ballroom team, socked across three strong numbers, including a tango and a paso doble, with the girl's sleek appearance doing much to sell the act. Their spins, lifts, and other embellishments are arresting and hold close attention all the time. Took a couple bows. Pepita and Lucia are two young Mexican girls who harmonize Mexican tunes with zest, encoring with a charming English-Mex version of Oh Johnny. A cute team.

Arturo Cortez, handsome baritone, does a nice job emceeing as well. Rosita Ortega ran up her usual show-stop with her spirited classical Spanish castanet dances. Her gipsy number, with her long hair loose over her shoulders, was especially attractive. The eight exotic damsels parade flashy, sleek costumes that bare just enough to make them very alluring. Go thru simple conga and rumba routines.

Maya led his band thru lively, tingling rhythms, and shared time with Juanito Sanabria's rumba band of seven men, which also did an excellent musical job.

Paul Denia.

Cafe Society, Boston

Talent policy: Dance and show band; floorshows at 7:30 and 11:30 p.m. Management: Hazel and Max Green, entrepreneurs and producers. Prices: Dinner from $1; drinks from 30 cents; minimum $1.50 Saturdays and holidays eve.

When Hazel and Max Green were at the old Southland they produced the best colored shows the Hub has ever seen. After the Southland changed name and policy the Greens opened their new spot with colored entertainment only.

They have lost none of their showmanship. In two short weeks they have made Cafe Society a class spot—the only one of its type with colored entertainment. Canny booking and ability as producers enable the Greens to put on a wham show.

Headlining is Myra Johnson, ex-chirler with Pata Waller, whose torchy renditions are a hit. She sings three numbers. Nobody's Baby, You've Been Flying Too High, and I'm Stepping Out With a Memory Tonight. Each one has a distinctive arrangement that is really good, the Flying is marred by some silly, superfluous clowning with emcee Larry Steele. Encored with St. Louis Blues. Well received. A standout entertainer.

A handsome young dance team, the Nordens, appear all too briefly in three short numbers. Their costumes are sharp, and their routines are different and distinctive. A definite hit.

A youthful song and dance team, Long and Short, proved themselves easily the best colored entertainers of their type. Opening with a song, they break into a fast dance. Altho some of their steps are not original, they do have a very neat cane number.

Ella Mae Waters' dance routines are different and interesting. She works solo and with the line of six girls, also vocalizing Five o'Clock Whistle.

Music by Count Castagna and his choir or orchestra, a jump band.

Excellent cuisine aids in building this spot.

Mike Kopkin.

Big Minneapolis House Tries Vaude

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 28.—The 4,000-seat Minnesota Theater will reopen New Year's Eve with a vaudeville policy. Ken Murray will head the first stage bill and the picture will be Hi Parade of 1941.

House will be under the supervision of Eddie Weisfeld, manager of the Riverside, Milwaukee, and Livingston. Lanning will be resident manager.

The A. H. Marcus unit comes in the second week. Murray will be supported by Ruth Petty and Dixie Dunbar, and price scale will be 25 and 35 cents, including tax.

Magic

By BILL SACHS

LOS ANGELES Society of Magicians recently elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Arthur E. Diederich, president; George W. Putnum, vice-president; J. C. Cooper, treasurer; David E. Swift, secretary; Charles Neale, sergeant at arms, and Dr. Ralph Smith, Jack Wilson, and William J. Van Berk, trustees. . . . BILL BAILEY (La Follette), president of the Los Angeles Society the last two years, is leaving there soon to take up residence in Iowa. A banquet recently was held in his honor at The Bowl, Los Angeles, with more than 200 friends present. Jack Gwynne and other pros amused the crowd with their art. . . . THE GREAT OSRAM presented his Merry-Go-Round, a two-act play, at Avery Memorial Auditorium, Hartford, Conn., December 27-29, under auspices of the Children's Educational Department of the Wadsworth Atheneum.

. . . LESTER LAKE (Marvelo) has resumed his club work in the Cincinnati area, after spending Christmas at home in New Trenton, Ind. . . . PAUL BALFONTE, who formerly troupes as El Diablo the Magician, has discarded his tricks in favor of puppets. . . . LEE NOBLE closed at the William M. Ferry Hotel, Grand Haven, Mich., December 28 and December 29 began a week's return engagement at the Como Club, Buffalo. He played a two-weeker at the latter spot a month ago. In Grand Rapids, Mich., recently, Noble enjoyed a visit from Aladdin, who is reported enjoying a fat season in schools. . . . THE GREAT JAXON, ventriloquist, now working out of the Erie Creek office, Columbus, O., opens January 6 at the Paddock Club, Wheeling, W. Va. The Great Stanley and wife, Emily, recently caught the Jaxon turn at the Kentucky Club, Toledo, O.

AL PAGE and wife, Ernestine, were visitors at the magic desk last week while in Cincinnati to spend the holidays with the latter's folks. They played Saturday (28) at the Strand Theater, Cincinnati, and then departed for Dover, O., for a week at the Dover Hotel, from whence they move to the Jennings' Club, Niles, O., both booked by the Bob Davis office, Akron, O. After several more weeks in Ohio, Al and Ernestine head for Florida, playing the Henry Grady Hotel, Atlanta, en route. Their first Florida stand is the George Washington Hotel, Jacksonville. Ernestine has acquired a new marimba and is using it in the act. . . . JULES J. FREELEY did his own magic turn in the Harriet Lane Children's Ward of the John Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, December 24. . . . VALLEAU THE MAGICIAN (Henry B. Balleau), of Boise, Idaho, has had his magic show in Canada the last three months, where he says he has been doing well in theaters. Other dates are scarce, however, he reports, with only a few matinees using acts. The usual holiday dates were nil, he says. Early in January Valleau jumps to Vancouver Island to play Victoria, Ladysmith, Duncan, and Nanaimo. In addition to his magic, Valleau presents an old-fashioned tap routine.

"SLAPSTY MAXIE" ROSENBLUM visited the Marquis Show at Del Rio, Tex., recently, and delighted the kiddies with his good humor and willingness to autograph anything from a hat to a horned-toad. Rose Dawn, Dr. Brinkley's well-known "Voice of Light," was hostess to Mr. and Mrs. Marquis in Del Rio. . . . KORAN is residing in Del Rio, Tex., dividing his time between his business there and his ranch at Bandero, Tex. . . . RALPH RICHARDS, the Great Richards of a few years back, recently has been appearing over a radio station at Monterey, Mexico. . . . CHARLES RUBENS presented his magic for the crippled children at Charity Hospital, New Orleans, last week. . . . BOB NEILSON, of the Magic Hobby Club, Columbus, O., was instrumental in landing a page of photos in the Sunday section of The Columbus Dispatch, December 22, showing various members of the club running thru their stunts. Among those pictured in the page layout, besides Neilson, were Dr. V. H. Finsterwald, Dr. William T. Palchanis, Frank W. Knodder, Herbert L. Finkle, Ralph Hull, Lieut. W. E. Bright, B. D. Bates, and E. A. (Sam) Housum.

Hirst Eyes 2d House

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—Strong possibility exists that Izzy Hirst will open a second burly house in town, Gayety Theater. Traveling units go into his Troc Theater.

Hirst has always had a second house running here. He converted his Gayety into a grind movie house several years ago when he moved his stock to Bijou Theater, which is now also on a grind pin policy.

JESSICA ROGERS, up from Tampa, making her burly bow with Hirst's Stolen Sweets unit. . . . BOB CARNETT still another burly comic getting a chance at legit, having been offered a part in a new musical being readied by Buddy DeSylva.

Reviews

"Stolen Sweets"

(HIRST)

(Reviewed at Troc, Philadelphia, Monday Evening, December 23)

Plenty ingredients peppered here, making for smash showing. And as the running is stepped up to meet the pace set by the principals, Sturt stacks up swell.

Major excitement comes from "Shorty" McAllister and "Stinky" Fields, team which is as standard in these circles as their material. But they still make it count for laughs, especially their Modest Justice bit with "Shorty" the judge and "Stinky" as defending attorney and courtroom janitor. Sturt is all slapsick and team has enough on the ball to make the upper stage circles.

Efforts of the team overshadow Jimmy Coughlin, who is more nimble on the hoist than with the gag-making.

Bert Saunders gives stellar straight support, with some assist from Joe Sterling, who turns in a neat tap and soft-shoe single turn, and from Mel Bishop, whose forte is giving fine tenor voice to the ballet bits.

Dorothy Deltaven makes a dandy foil for the funnymen, holding her own as well in a solo singing spot, sporting tutored tonals for Cirribibis and Old Man River.

Epidemic display leaves little to be desired. Statley Jessica Rogers, a looker and builder, makes it a soothing eye cure; blonde Mickie Dennis devotes her undress ritual to ribald evolutions; while Marlene, in the top spot, changes the peeling pace with a beautiful chassis.

Line of 14, four for decor, give a good account of themselves, with the ballets given punch by the contortionistic exhibitions of Marion Melrose.

Jack Montgomery on the production end, with Merrick Valinote maestro for the music. Bits only fair when caught.

Next unit in is headed by Zonya DuVal, Dolores Greene, and Tiny Fuller.

Tivoli, Brooklyn, N. Y.

(Reviewed Friday Evening, December 27)

Newest addition to the local burly scene ends off with a sprightly show to good opening day business. The Tivoli switch from double features to current policy may start a series of similar changes in other nabe houses because of pic situation. Success of this Morris Traube house is being watched with interest.

Adding to inevitable opening day mis-haps was the failure of Charlie Country to arrive because of faulty plane connections. Jack Buckley, straight man, took care of Country's comic assignments. Did comparatively well. Garrett Price new to these parts, having long been on duty on the Midwest Circuit, brought some new material. Skits in general were good, not too blue, and went over big with the audience, which included a big percentage of family trade.

Only new stripper in these parts is Illinois Sheridan, first in the line-up. Works smoothly in shedding to the G string. Also gives out with a few bumps. June St. Clair, in the featured spot, preceded her peeling with a recitation on life as an army camp hostess. Paula Lind and Sunya Smiles Slane complete the strip contingent.

Allen Gilbert's production is uniformly good. Especially so are the conga, can-can, and ballet numbers. However, the ponies need much more drill before the desired effect will be obtained. Nine show girls, with Bobby Drake spotted, provide atmosphere and epidemic display, while the line consists of 11.

Specialties are by Lenore and Charles, doing a neat pas de deux, and Marvin Lawler in a mediocre tap. Mitch Todd does the tenoring in the production numbers. Floyd Hallisey does a good straight. Ovk is under direction of Frank D'Armond.

Joe Cohen.

B'dg't 2:30 A.M. Show

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Dec. 28.—House Manager Eddie Madden, of the Loew-Poll-Lyric Theater, Hirst Circuit house, says on New Year's Eve, in addition to the midnight show, he will put on a "milkman's matinee" at 2:30 a.m., the first time this idea has ever been tried out in Connecticut.

VILMA JOZSY is coming from the West Coast to open on the Midwest Circuit February 5. . . . BERT MARKS will open in stock at a new theater in Paterson, N. J., soon. . . . N. S. BARGER'S Mexican unit is now in its fourth week and will add nine new principals in the January 4 opening.

Ogle Season Off; Switching Indoors

DEMOPOLIS, Ala., Dec. 22.—Jimmie Ogle Show, which closed a 38-week canvas season here December 21, reopens in houses January 9, with rehearsals beginning here January 5. Troupe moves under canvas again around April 1.

Tent season just ended was far under that of preceding years, Ogle reports, with the final accounting showing a substantial loss. Show played its established territory, with Ogle attributing the poor business to unrest caused by the war situation.

The Ogle organization played all three-night stands in 1940, but Ogle plans to switch to one and two-nighters for the 1941 season.

Nealand Recalls Old Faves Omitted From Recent Article

Richmond, Va.

Editors The Billboard:

Here are a few names of old-time favorites of the 10-20-30 days which I forgot to mention in my story in your recent Christmas issue. Since I wrote entirely from memory and without the aid of scrap books, there were many names omitted.

Flora De Vos Players, the Four Pickets Stock Company, which had as one of its members James Cowan, mayor of Wilmington, N. C.; the Auger Brothers with J. Harrison and Addison Auger; the Mae Edwards Players, who toured the maritime provinces for many years; the William S. Harkins Players, who annually visited St. John, N. B.; Halifax, N. S., and the larger cities of the West Indies, and occasionally played engagements in Central and South America; the Lyceum Theater Stock Company, in which I was associated with Nat L. Jenko, comedian, and which played 20 weeks in St. John, N. B., during the seasons of 1907 and 1908.

The Walter Savage Players were Middle West favorites and, as far as I know, the only repertory company that ever was presented on a carnival midway. Savage, who made his headquarters in Wayne, Neb., owned several shows and rides, but his tent rep was the feature attraction, presenting one show nightly with all other attractions closed for the occasion. The Paul English Company was a Southern favorite, with headquarters at Baton Rouge, La.

Replies to L. Verne Stout, I inadvertently omitted the name, as be states of one of the greatest personalities of the rep field, Frank Winninger, who was most versatile of the Winninger family. He was a splendid comedian and a fine actor, with a big following in his native Wisconsin. He built a big open-air theater in his home town, Waukesha, Wis., and played big productions there late in his career.

During the halcyon days when Cecil Spooner was starred at the head of her own company, her admirers built a theater which still bears her name, at 160th Street and Southern Boulevard, New York. Cecil was the wife of Charles E. Bianey, who at one time had 20 road shows under his management.

And Johnny Pringle, mentioned by J. Lou Sampson, was the father of John Gilbert, famous film star. His mother was Mrs. Adair, beautiful blond leading woman who was co-starred with Pringle in the old rep days.

Hy Heath in Hospital

WEST LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 22.—Hy Heath, veteran tab and rep performer and producer who several years ago entered the song-writing business in Hollywood, has entered Veterans' Hospital here for a tonsillectomy and other minor adjustments. He will be here a month. Heath recently placed a number, When Tommy Toots His Horn, which he wrote in collaboration with Fred Rose, in the James Roosevelt picture, Pot o' Gold, starring Horace Hecht, James Stewart, and Paulette Goddard. Heath was also collaborator on the song, The Little Red Fox, which enjoyed popularity a year ago.

Nealand Opus Read With Interest By Vets Who Recall More Oldies

Editors The Billboard:

Walter D. Nealand's article concerning repertory companies of the old days was read by me with no little interest, as were the letters from J. Lou Sampson, L. Verne Stout, and Philip Rosseter, which appeared in a recent issue.

The writer has had the pleasure of working with many of the companies mentioned by Nealand and some he failed to mention, among them Helen Grace, Nathan Apel, owner and manager; Chauncey Kieffer, Harris Parkinson; Davidson Stock Company, A. E. Davidson, manager; Hoyt's Comedians, Frank S. Davidson; Martin's Comedians; Paris Comedians, Dick Paris, manager; M. Hilliard, Nick Toff Company; Edna Foy Company; Edwin Weever Players; Weezy & Beach Company; Franklin Stock Company; Charley Gilmore Company; Clara Turner; Hickman-Beasy Company; Latimer & Leigh Company; Boyd Stock Company; Norma Ginnaway Company; Jack Lyrin, and Frank Dudley.

EDWIN WEEVER.

South Boston, Va.

Editors The Billboard:

Another show Walter D. Nealand forgot to mention in his 10-20-30 article was the Florida Devore Stock Company (pardon the spelling; it may be incorrect), which played my home town, Viola, Ill., every winter some 35 years ago. I was the prop boy at the town opera house. J. Doug Morgan was the leading man with the company, and J. B. Rountree, manager and piano player.

Then there was also the Lehr & Williams Comedy Company, starring Ma Lehr, mother of Raynor Lehr, and the Bob Demarest Stock Company. At that time the Original Williams Stock Company was the Williams Comedy Company, managed by Thomas Williams. About that time, 35 years ago, there were two boys who became stage struck and started out with a home-talent show. One of them, Billie Guthrie, now of the Tilton-Guthrie Show, made the grade. The Williams Stock was from a coal mining town—Gilecrest, Ill. That was before my time, and I am 50 years old now.

CLYDE J. WHITE.

New York.

Editors The Billboard:

I was pleased with Mr. Nealand's article giving credit to repertory and stock companies for radio and film talents. I also thank Mr. Nealand for mentioning the Phil Maher players.

I also noticed J. Lou Sampson's letter wherein he spoke of the company I had out in his section—A Mexican Girl. We played thru Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, and Nebraska under the direction of Jo Rickard. I had been with a musical comedy, A Night at the Circus, that particular season, leaving the aforementioned company. I operated The Mexican Girl with up-and-down success.

The Phil Maher Players toured for years thru the East and in Canada until the pictures put the quietus on our form of entertainment. Shadow! Cue 'em!

Worthan Cites His Record; Says Toby Is Far From Dead

Arlington, Ill.

Editors The Billboard:

As the rep page has taken on new life as to the shows that have come and gone, thought I had better get in my own plug.

The Charles Worthan rep show was organized in 1912 and has continued to date, playing the same circuit it started. We cannot boast that we have made a fortune, but we have succeeded in entertaining our patrons. We owe no actor, and no actor owes us.

It is on record in Equity's office that we were the first rep show to go Equity with 14 members. Also, we have presented all of the good name plays, which we paid for, and have had people with the show that are now names in show business.

We hear a great deal of talk about the Toby show being dead. We find they like them. Not a full week's rep but one or two on the week. One has but to listen to Barrymore, Valley, and Wells to find that Toby is being done by the country's best known actors. Same goes for the medicine shows. Many of the best programs on the air are nothing more than high-class medicine shows, with their premiums, contests, and give-away plans. The only thing they miss is the candy sale.

The rep show may be dead but I am not discouraged. As long as John Barrymore does Toby, so will I; only I'll use a red wig.

CHARLES WORTHAN.

Passo Derbyshow Winds Up

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26.—Ray Passo's Derbyshow, which opened in National Hall here November 28, came to a close last Saturday (21), with Johnny Makar and Buttons Slaven pulling down first prize. Eileen and Mickey Thayer Jr. were second and Gloria Wears and Joe Nalty third. W. D. (Bill) Askew was associated with Passo in this one, and Ernie Bernard was floor judge. Danny Bramer, Mickey Thayer Sr., and Jimmy Gable handled emcee chores.

One Year Ago

BERT DAVID'S show in Kankakee, Ill., was under way. Thirty teams answered the starting gun.

THAYER TWINS, Eileen and Mickey Jr., won the Jitterbug Jamboree in Columbus, O.

HAL J. ROSS contest in Phoenix, Ariz., was playing to hefty business, promising to outdo his previous contest there.

GEORGE WALKER was playing a four-week engagement at Club Belle Vue, Pointe Gatineau, Que.

BERNIE SHAPIRO was recuperating in Louisville, Ky., of injuries sustained in an auto accident.

"RUBBER LEGS" MARTIN, eccentric dancing comedian and emcee, was in his seventh week at the Top Jet Club, Beaumont, Tex.

TED MERRIMAN and

JOHNNY GUILFOYLE has several Camden, N. J., fans who say they caught his unit show in Harrisburg, Pa., some time ago and wonder if he will make that territory again.

JOHNNIE DILLON links that he has recuperated from his accident and that other than having some dental work done is suffering no ill effects. "Just inserted some of that necessary," says Johnny "so you can look for an announcement after the holidays."

ANN SCHLEY is tops on the popularity list of Mrs. Irwin Kopenc, of Chicago. Mrs. Kopenc wished Ann would drop the column a line on herself and Don Reid.

LUCILLE PENNINGTON—Teddy Hayes, trainer in the recent Waterloo, Ia., contest, in which he mentions that you were a contestant, writes he has some important mail for you.

LOTS OF GREETING CARDS are being held in the Mail-Forwarding Department for endurance show people. Better take a look at Letter List.

SOME OF YOU endurance show promoters should make a New Year's resolution to send more news on your contests to the column. It would sure be appreciated.

Rep Ripples

A L. S. PITCAIRLEY, after the closing of Billary's Comedians, hopped into Miami, where he's working theaters and parks with his bending specialty.

MARJORIE LUCKETT, who has been pounding the ivories with the George Richardson vaude show, which closed in North Carolina December 14, spent the holidays with his mother in Eddyville, Ky. . . . LELAND STANFORD HARRIS, of the Luaren Passion Play, put in the holidays in Chicago. He reports that the troupe reopens for its fifth season January 13 in Chattanooga, Tenn. Harris says that on a recent six-day engagement in Memphis, Tenn., the show was forced to do three performances a day to handle the crowds. . . . KURTZ BROS. report satisfactory business around Nelson, B. C., with their vaude-trick working schools and merchants' tie-ups.

BILLY AND BETTY HYLTHE write that they closed a good season recently in New England and high-balled it home to High Spire, Pa., for the Christmas season. They say their decision to close came when the New England snow became too deep for them. . . . COSTA SHOW, vaude-pix combo, after a holiday layoff in Hamilton, Ont., resumes January 6 in Central Ontario. Show has been enjoying a satisfactory b.o. play, despite the fact that extreme cold weather halted performances at several stands in recent week.

THE EVENING TRANSCRIPT, of Susquehanna, Pa., queries us as to what has become of the old-time baton swingers, such as Fred Smith, of Corning, N. Y.; Johnny Leedy, and others who were in their prime 40 years ago. "When we see the drum majorettes of the present day," writes The Transcript Inquirer, "clever as they are, we cannot help but go back in memory and again see the men heading the parades, doing their stuff in masterly manner."

HY HEATH, rep and tab vet, typewrites from Hollywood, where he is now engaged in the song-writing business, that quite a few former tab, minstrel, and rep performers are doing okeh in pictures. Practically all of them who have tried have made the grade. Hy informs, "I sometimes wonder why more of the old-timers don't take a crack at it." Heath writes, "They can use good comedy and character talent in pictures, and many of the old-timers have it. If they can take a guy from behind the plow—one who never read a line in his life—and make an actor out of him (and they're doing it out here). I don't see why some of those guys who know all the answers can't make it."

Clever Promotion Ups Takes At Special Christmas Shows

Schuylerville Democratic Club features movies at annual party—letters mailed to invite kiddies to attend event—St. Nicholas also appears with gifts

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Clever promotion was responsible for added roadside profits during the Christmas holidays. Operators put on movies for sponsoring organizations and private parties to boost their incomes and close 1940 with a bang. Religious shows were featured by church groups. Party programs were composed principally of short subjects. One of the outstanding shows in this section was given at the Schuylerville Democratic Club and attracted more than 300 children. Promotion included a mimeographed letter written by Austin Carewe and mailed to the sons and daughters of club members. Program featured the singing of Christmas songs and the distribution of gifts to the children. Expense of the event, which included the operator's charge and film rentals, was paid by the club.

The letter was mimeographed on plain white stock.

Addressed to the children whose names had been turned in by their parents, the mailing piece created much interest in the program.

This was the third year that non-theatrical movies have been featured at the annual Christmas party.

Cutting It Short

By THE ROADSHOWMAN

Serials continue to click at Harry Bannister's 48th Street Music Hall in New York City. Plunder, featuring Pearl White, recently closed, and Fiery Fighters, with Herbert Rawlinson, is the new continued story. Present program includes East Lynne, with Allan Hale, and Caged in a Cobweb, with Charlie Chaplin. Sid Lubin is in his 38th week at the piano and homemade beer-bottle organ. Program runs nearly three hours.

Among the roadshowmen to put on special religious shows during the Christmas holidays was Joseph Kelly, who showed Birth of Our Saviour.

A special New Year's show is being planned by the North Pelham, N. Y., Catholic Church group. Dick Cummins is in charge of the shows that have been planned for the year. Organizations report non-theatrical programs profitable, which shows the value of movies as fund-raisers. Movies are shown in the auditorium in subdued light. Inexpensive insulation paper held in place with Scotch tape is used over the windows and transoms, Cummins reports.

Movies have clicked so solidly as part of the entertainment program at the Windmill Club near Natchez, Miss., that the owners, Frank and Bill Eildt, are planning a more elaborate set-up during 1941. Football films were featured during the gridiron season. Basket-ball and fresh-water fishing films are slated for early shows, the owners said.

Operators who put on old-time movies at Coney Island are looking forward to a big season. Jack Stern is making preparations to open for the fourth year in Feilman's Arcade. With big things announced for Luna Park, it is reported that non-theatrical movies will again be featured there. Seymour Machson is expected to start work readying his place on Surf Avenue within the next few weeks. Bernie Leventhal will again operate his spot on the Boardwalk. Plans being made by these operators include showing of local newscasts.

life prototypes possess a verve and flair that Mr. O'Hara utterly misses. Joey isn't a night club emcee by any stretch of the imagination; he's merely Mr. O'Hara's idea of a night club emcee. This reporter has a hunch that a night club emcee's idea of Mr. O'Hara would be both funnier and more exciting.

Even aside from all this, Pal Joey as a show has little except its dirt and its superlative dances to offer. For some reason Mr. Abbott, in directing, slowed down the pace of everything except the dances; and as a result there are long stretches of dull, pointless, cheap O'Hara dialog with nothing to relieve them. Also as a result, even the songs are slowed to a snail's pace, and some really engaging Rodgers and Hart tunes are made as ineffective as possible. There are several lifting melodies and many amusing words, but they are all given in an unvarying tempo that deprives the music of lift and the words of surprise. Everyone has doped out Mr. Hart's punch lines long before the singers get around to them.

To cap it off, only about four of the performers show any really effective interest in what's going on. June Havoc, as the night club prim, is really terrific, clowning hilariously, offering a double-edged satirical portrait, and emerging as a grand all-round trouper. Van Johnson, as one of the night club boys, displays dancing ability, a pleasant personality, nice readings, and a general knowledge of what to do on a stage. Jack Durant, formerly of the grand team of Mitchell and Durant, practically kills himself solo with his acrobatic dancing and as the cheap agent, tries valiantly to lift the pace of every scene he's in. And Shirley Paige, a young toe dancer, scores beautifully.

Gene Kelly, the dancer who was "discovered" in a semi-dramatic role last season in The Time of Your Life, plays Joey and remains a dancer with a nice singing voice. He brings out the cheapness and pettiness of the character admirably, but reads much too slowly to approximate a night club emcee or bring any effect from the lines. Vivienne Segal is snowed under by the nasty, ineffective role of the society matron; Lella Ernst, as a nice little girl who likes Joey, fails to display any attribute to warrant her selection, and Jean Castro, yielding to the prevailing tendency to perform everything slow-motion, spoils the better effects of one of Mr. Hart's most amusing lyrics.

an essentially trivial, meaningless, and rather boring play, and make it a brilliant and exciting theatrical experience.

What there is of the plot tells merely of the two authors, the daughter of one of them, and the lover of the other, Katherine Markham (Miss Cow) bases her reputation upon a slim sheet of critical successes; she lives near Washington Square, regards life with clear and luminous eyes, and has as her latest lover a man some 10 years her junior. Mildred Watson Drake (Miss Wood), on the other hand, writes sentimental best sellers, lives in the suburbs, has driven her former husband to divorce, and overdoes spectacularly. The slender tale tells of the stormy course of the year-old friendship when Deirdre, Mildred's daughter, falls in love with Katherine's lover.

Rudd, the man in the case, reciprocates, and tells Katherine about it; and Katherine, being gallant and gentlemanly despite her sex, takes the blow smiling and tries to arrange things for the young pair. Mildred, on the other hand, is horrified at having what she describes as Katherine's cast-off lover as her son-in-law. She precipitates a scene with Deirdre, who runs to Katherine; and then, when Mildred has lost her daughter and, very nearly, her self-respect, she runs to Katherine too. And the two successful, sorrowful women fall into each other's arms. After all, common roots stand firm amid current emotions.

That, of course, isn't nearly enough to fill up an evening. Previously, Mr. Van Druten has Katherine turn down Rudd's proposal of marriage and then decide to accept it, just before she hears that Rudd has fallen for Deirdre. He also has Mildred discover that her ex-husband, while they were still married, wanted to go off with Katherine, and was only prevented by Katherine herself. Since Mildred is very much a woman, this long-overdue discovery makes her very angry with Katherine, and in revenge she tells Deirdre about Katherine and Rudd. None of it, however, is very important, and none of it is told with particular balance or stage effect. With a couple of other people in the leading roles, it might have been very sad.

Miss Cow is subtle, sincere, and brilliantly illuminating as Katherine. Miss Wood is biting, satirical, and ruthless in her incisive portrayal of Mildred; between them, they offer acting brilliance that is as varied as it is spectacular. And, as previously noted, they never wry the play's values in the process.

Much of the credit for this, of course, must go to Aerial Lee, who in her staging of the play regained her directorial stride and offered a smooth, flowing, beautifully paced job. Much credit, too, must go to the other players, who meet the sparkling work of the stars and often manage to match it. Kent Smith is excellent as Rudd; Hunter Gardner scores briefly but effectively as Mildred's ex-husband; and Adele Longmire, playing her first big part, does very nice work as Deirdre. Faced by a frightening challenge in the acting all about her, she pushes a bit too hard, hitting a single, rather forced note and maintaining it thru most of the evening. This, against the magnificently varied work of the other players, is a considerable disadvantage; but she none the less performs sincerely and with great charm, and acquires herself better than nine out of 10 more experienced ingenues could possibly do under the circumstances.

"Animal" 55C in Buffalo

BUFFALO, Dec. 28.—Erianger Theater felt keenly the big competition exercised by the record-breaking stand of Sonja Henie's 1941 Hollywood Ice Revue and two vaudeville attractions, added to the annual pre-Christmas slump, when Mule Train played December 16, 17, and 18, giving four performances.

Despite all these handicaps, the play managed to pull in $5,500, which isn't bad for this time of year even without competitive attractions. Scale ran from $1.10 to $2.75.

Next Erianger booking is Gladys George in Ladies in Waiting, for which

Oh!

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—Best chuckle in Off the Record, which went into forced retirement last Saturday (14), was unintentionally provided by the Locust Street Theater pit orchestra. The closing sequence of the first act has to do with the death of John Upjohn, governor and candidate for the U. S. Senate of the Southern State in which this action of the farce takes place, whom all of his intimates constantly refer to as Johnny. His death is quite a blow, and the curtain falls with his friends and associates stunned by the sad news. So the opening performance found the pit musicians hitting into Oh, Johnny, Oh, Johnny for the intermission music.

the brisk advance sale points to a good $7,000 or more at the box office. Show plays December 30, 31, and January 1. Time of Your Life is definitely set for January 16, with other shows still pending.

Flanagan Book on FTP

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Federal Theater Project of the WPA cost the government $46,307,779, with almost half the total expenditure distributed by the local offices, the gross admissions from Gotham's FTP productions added up to only 35 per cent of the total revenue, according to a financial statement included in Area, a history of the FTP just published by Duell, Sloan, & Pearce, Inc., and written by Hallie Flanagan, former director of the theater relief project.

Cost figures, released by the book, list national labor costs at $41,968,372 and other than labor costs at $2,339,407. In New York, $20,696,189 was spent on labor and $1,102,142 on material costs. Statistics are as of December 31, 1939. As of March, 1939, FTP national grosses were $19,255. Grosses in New York were $681,914.

DANIEL FROHMAN

Daniel Frohman, dean of the nation's producers and managers, president of the Actors' Fund for 37 years, and affectionately known as Uncle Dan to generations of theater people, died at LeRoy Sanitarium, New York, Thursday morning, December 26. He had been injured in a fall at his home early in November, and resultant complications included pneumonia and a heart condition. He was 89 years old.

Daniel Frohman, the oldest of the three Frohman brothers who were famous as managers and producers, was born in Sandusky, O., in 1851. His father, a merchant, had also presented shows in neighboring towns, but it was to the newspaper game rather than to the theater that Daniel first turned. He went to New York in his early teens and took a job as office boy on the old Tribune under Horace Greeley at a salary of $3 a week.

He remained in the newspaper field, on the Tribune and other New York papers, for some years, entering the theater 66 years ago, in 1874, at which time he accepted a post as advance man for Callender's Original Georgia Minstrels. He continued as an advance agent for five years, working mostly for J. W. Haverly and visited practically every hamlet in the land.

In 1875 he left the road to become manager of the Madison Square Theater under Steele Mackaye as general manager and the Mallory Brothers as owners. Working at the Madison Square at the same time was David Belasco, who held down the post of stage manager.

Frohman worked for the Mallorys, both at the Madison Square and the Fifth Avenue Theater, until 1885, during which period he introduced his most famous innovation in the show business. The first show to play under his tenure at the Madison Square was Hazel Kirke, which enjoyed the then unprecedented run of more than 400 performances, and it was while the New York run was continuing that Frohman, out of his wealth of road experience, conceived the idea of sending out road companies while the play was still in New York instead of waiting until the New York run was over.

In 1886 he leased the old Lyceum Theater and formed his famous stock company, which at one time or another included practically every famous stage name of the period. It played at the old Lyceum until 1902, and in 1903 the new Lyceum on 45th Street was opened.

Frohman was married in 1903 to Margaret Ellington, but six years later the marriage was ended by a California divorce.

In later years he made few productions, but always continued an extremely active interest in the theater, remained as head of the Actors' Fund, which he had helped to found, and retained his apartment atop the Lyceum, one of the most famous of Broadway residences. His last production, made after years of retirement, was in 1935, when he offered an English version of Yoshe Kats at the National Theater. In 1935 he published a charming and anecdote-filled book of memoirs, Daniel Frohman Presents.

He was a director of the Jewish Actors' Guild and had been a director of the Paramount Company, Paramount Famous Lasky Corporation, and the Percy Williams Home. He was a member of the Lambs, the Friars, the Greenroom Club, and the Actors' Order of Friendship.

burial is being sought by the Hyde Park Funeral Home, Houston.

ECKEL—John J., 60, owner and proprietor of Bloody Brook House, South Deerfield, Mass., since 1934, December 17 after a long illness. For the past 27 years he had been engaged in the hotel business, formerly conducting Bullhead Inn, Bridgeport, Conn., and Bay State Hotel, Northampton, Mass. Survived by his widow and two sisters.

FYRE—Frank B., 57, for 20 years closely associated with the late David Belasco as a confidential assistant, December 22 at a Cleveland hospital. Survived by two sisters, Mrs. Jessie Garner and Mrs. Daisy Booth. Interment in Lakewood, Cleveland suburb.

FARMER—Arthur R., 77, for many years manager of Union Hall, also known as the Star and Cedar theaters, St. John, N. B., recently at his home in St. John.

He started writing and selling his songs on a small scale, eking out a bare living thereby, and finally gained recognition when he wrote They Cut Down the Old Pine Tree. Among the many songs he composed were Empty Saddles, Lights Out, Wagon Wheels, The Old Spinning Wheel, Have You Ever Seen Lonely?, There's a Cabin in the Pines, Sleepy Head, Chapel in the Moonlight, Alone at a Table for Two, and For Molly and Me. His most famous composition was The Last Round-Up, which set a new tempo in dance music.

He collaborated on tunes and lyrics for several motion pictures, among which was Rhythm on the Range. He leaves his wife and a daughter.

FITZGERALD—Scott, 44, novelist, short story writer, and scenarist, at his Hollywood home December 21 of a heart ailment. His first book, This Side of Paradise, epitomized the era of his best works, the 1920s. He wrote five other books, the last of which was Revels, published in 1933. The Great Gatsby was acclaimed by critics as the best. Two books were collections of short stories, Flappers and Philosophers and Tales of the Jazz Age. In 1923 he published a satirical play, The Vegetable. His most successful collection of short stories was in the volume All the Sad Young Men. He married Zaida Sayre, of Montgomery, Ala. Their only child, a son, was born in 1921.

FUEGER—Andrew, 85, who had made wigs and masks for every Veiled Prophet parade and ball in St. Louis since 1880 and fashioned wigs for many American stage celebrities, in a hospital in that city recently of infirmities of age. Burial in St. Louis December 16.

Ernest E. Lawford

Ernest E. Lawford, one of the best known character actors on the legitimate stage both here and in England, died December 27 at Medical Center, New York, after a long illness that had forced him practically to live in hospitals between appearances in his last few plays. His last role was in The Brown Derby last year.

Lawford, who left Oxford to become a barrister but quickly switched to acting, was on the stage for 50 years, appearing first in England with Lily Langtry as Le Beau in As You Like It February 24, 1890. His success was quick, and during his half century stage career he appeared in many famous plays and scored a long line of outstanding successes. A few of the many plays in which he was seen were The School for Scandal, The Stooge to Conquer, the original production of A Woman of No Importance, Charley's Aunt, The Prisoner of Zenda, Empress of Hennessy, Isolante, Wings Over Europe, Mary of Scotland, and many Shakespearean productions. His first American appearance was in 1903 in Clyde Fitch's Frisby Mrs. Johnson.

He leaves a wife; a daughter, Betty, and a son, Charles E.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation for the many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy extended to our friends and neighbors during the recent illness and death of our beloved son, MR. & MRS. PAUL SULLIVAN, Flying Sullivans, Gibbons, Fla.

STOCK—Albert V., 41, of Canton, O., pianist, former dance band leader, and radio executive, December 16 in Mount Carmel Hospital, Detroit, of injuries sustained the previous day in an automobile crash in which his wife, Marcella, also was fatally injured. After a successful orchestral career in Canton, which eventually took him to New York as pianist for Whitey Kaufman's orchestra and other bands, he formed his own unit which played thru the Middle West. He disbanded his orchestra after playing for several months in Detroit and became identified with an Akron, O., radio station. Later he joined stations WIBB, Canton, and WKBW, Youngstown, O. He was also later program manager of a Detroit station, and assistant manager of Idora Park, Youngstown for a season. His parents, a son, a daughter, and a brother, Earl, survive. Services and burial in Canton.

TAERANT—James Doyle, rodeo performer known as Tex Doyle, found dead December 16 in a tourist cottage bathroom at Grand Junction, Colo., with his lariat wound around his neck. The coroner termed it suicide. Doyle won the world's championship for bulldogging at Cheyenne (Wyo.) Frontier Days in 1938.

TYLER—Thomas, 54, former director of the Fertile Valley Agricultural Society, Fertile Valley, Sack, Can., December 12 after a long illness. Survived by his widow and four children. Burial in Conquest, Sack.

UNDERWOOD—Franklyn, 63, former actor and story editor for 20th Century-Fox Films, in Doctors' Hospital, New York, December 22 after an operation. Underwood started his career in Denver in 1904 at Elitch's Gardens. He then went to California and a few years later went to New York. While performing in New York he appeared with Mrs. Leslie Carter, Nancy O'Neill, Marjorie Rambeau, and many other well-known actresses. He left the stage and became general manager for Oliver Morosco and was with him for several years. In 1930 he joined 20th Century-Fox and had been with it since then. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Frances Stokes Underwood, an actress; two sisters, and two brothers.

VERNEUIL—Mme. Germaine, 50, wife of Louis Verneuil, French playwright, December 23 in the Hotel Madison, New York, suddenly. She also leaves two children.

VONNEGUT—Walter, 55, former New York actor, at his home at Lake Maxine, Kuckee, Valparaiso, Ind., December 25. He was seen on Broadway in Strange Interlude, Faust, and Grand Hotel. His last Broadway role was in 1936 in The Postman Always Rings Twice.

WEST—Nathaniel, 24, novelist and screen writer, and his wife, Eileen, 26, of North Hollywood, killed in an auto accident near El Centro, Calif., December 22 while returning from a hunting trip in Mexico. West had written a number of original screen plays, including I Stole a Million and Born To Be Wild. His wife was the subject of a book, My Sister Eileen, written by her sister, Ruth McKenney, which opened as a play in New York December 22. West also wrote Miss Lonelyheart. During the last few years he had been a script writer in Hollywood and was the author of Men Against the Sky.

Sala Bim (return), $12,000, first week. Conquist and Record were both in the flop category, and both called it quits here.

Erlanger saw only one week, adding $30,000 with the Mask & Wig High as a Kite, which pulled $2,000 better than the previous year.

All indications point to the fact that the first-half figure will be more than doubled when the final curtain falls on 1940-41. Optimism is chiefly due to the fact that bookings for the next few months are plentiful at both the Forrest and Locust Street, with scatterings at the Erlanger and the Walnut Street Theater, long-dark independent house.

After a dark Christmas week, Forrest reopens December 30 with Dennis King's new musical, She Had To Say Yes, for two weeks; Crazy With The Heat following on January 13 for one week, Hellzapoppin for an unlimited engagement starting February 17, The Man Who Came to Dinner for two March weeks starting the 16th. There Shall Be No Night on April 21 for a fortnight, and The Male Animal, date to be set.

Locust Street also has heavy advance bookings. Sim Sals Bim holds for the first week of the new year, Yodel Boy following on January 6 for two weeks, The Time of Your Life filling two more starting January 27, with a date to be set for Separate Rooms.

Erlanger, recently taken over by William Goldman, movie man, makes good its promise to give the Shuberts some competition, lighting up New Year's Eve for a single week to present First Step to Heaven. Walnut Street, leased to Bay Hintz, burlesque impresario, has been selected for Life With Father, opening February 3 for an indefinite run. Davy's Fantasy will also play at a local legit house, with the Walnut figured most likely.

ROGERS' CORNER OPENS

bars that figure to supply heavy night action.

Rogers pulled a fast opening, few believing even his dynamism could make a preem so early, but hurdling obstacles is an old story with the Mayor of Midways, as he likes to be known. Everything about the place sniffs class and distinction and everything is tastefully done up. In back of the lounge there's a walk with the nostalgic Peacock Alley tag. A few cages were sunk into the walls there and several hundred canaries inserted for their singing stints. It's all backed up by animated lighting and fluorescence. Frank La Passe designed the lounge and alley, and the murals were done by Hans R. Teichert.

The triple-threat eatery, with different price levels, is something new in this sector and may start a vogue, but the Corner cost a good $100,000 and vogues don't get forged from such fabulous sumptuousness for these days.

Rogers has been plugging pop prices to get over, but is not operating a hash joint. The food is comparable to anything in town, and well served with a wide repertoire from a batch of cuisine. He brought over Arthur Bates from Flushing as manager, along with other personnel, including talker Jack Kneeland, who is doing rent season.

to continue to defend all honest thought, no matter how I despise its ideas and theories, against the growing and dangerous tide of American Fascism.

Never to let up in the swelling fight for a free theater and a free America, in no matter what cheaply transparent "patriotic" guise the foes of that freedom may come.

To CONTINUE to go to all small acting groups who send me tickets and whose productions can be fitted into a somewhat crowded schedule—and to try to be fair to such groups both ways, praising whenever praise can be given, but using professional standards to judge those who, by sending tickets, ask to be judged by them.

To continue to get my biggest theatrical thrill out of unexpected discoveries, such as the eruption of a magnificent small-group production like the Previa Players' Officer or the delivery of an outstanding performance by a player I have previously panned.

To try to distinguish, as I have always tried, between the component parts of any theatrical production—to try to allocate praise and blame justly—and to do my best to avoid visiting the sins of the playwright upon the actors, the sins of the director upon the playwright, or the sins of the actors upon the director.

To refuse to recognize as a competent, working critic anyone who is unable or unwilling to make a similar attempt.

To inveigh against any actions or attitudes that are harmful to the theater, no matter who is responsible for them, or from what high place—theatrical, political, or clerical—they come.

To continue to put trouping above egomaniacs, theatrical effectiveness above esoteric artiness, and the theater and its welfare above any other consideration.

NOW all that's necessary is to live up to the resolutions. Meanwhile a Happy New Year—and a Happy New Decade—to you all!

the greeting chore and very well, too.

Rogers' Corner is all by itself as a class eat and show shop with medium tabs in the belt area west of Seventh Avenue, the other corners and byways being occupied by saloons. Madison Square Garden exits will test what the Corner can expect, but a stickler may be the molasses months of summer, when arena bookings are practically from hunger.

The reformed expositionalists have a world of friends in the sports-show brackets and counts on an accumulation. Rogers' Corner has the stuff and the rest is up to fate.

By getting ready at Christmas, the operator gave himself a full week to iron out the kinks for New Year's Eve, for which he is getting $3.50 per in the lounge and $7.50 in the Rumba Room.

Leonard Treube.

MY SISTER EILEEN

a conga line or something with Eileen that ends with Eileen going to jail. She emerges to receive a decoration from the Brazilian government.

And so it goes. In the end it looks as though Ruth might win her young man, and the girl's father, who has come in from Columbus to take them home, is defeated in his purpose when they sign a lease for six months more in their underground rat trap.

Miss McKenney's original stories must have been hilarious. And Meers, Fields and Chodorow have done a terrific job in turning them into play form, keeping constant movement and coming up with a constant succession of sark laugh lines. And a terrific job, too, is done by Mr. Kaufman, whose pacing, pointing up of laughs, and general comedy direction have never been better.

Shirley Booth, as Ruth, walks off with the evening's honours, a process that must be getting habitual with her by this time. As always, she does a job that is so perfect in its readings, its technique, and its variety, that it's only after you're out of the theater that you begin to wonder how on earth she does it. Also scoring heavily are Gordon Jones as the football player, Morris Carnovsky as the landlord, William Post Jr. as Ruth's lad, George Cotton as an Of Mice and Men handyman, Richard Quine as a calliflike swain from a drug store who takes magnificent falls every time he enters or leaves the room, and practically all of the others. Any one of them does a job that would have walked off with an ordinary production.

The only exception is Jo Ann Sayers, who for some utterly inexplicable reason was imported from films to play the title role. Miss Sayers looks and acts like a showgirl unleashed by mistake on the legitimate stage; her movements are awkward, her readings are as flat as a series of soggy pancakes, and her interpretation and projection have all the sparkle, verve, and effect of a kindergarten recitation. She very nearly forces the play into the doldrums; but it is constantly saved by the fact that her lines are funny, even the way she maltreats them, and by the presence of the other players. They work like co-operative derricks to lift the dialog she lets drop, and more power to them, they constantly succeed.

My Sister Eileen is by long odds the most genial and hilarious play of the current season.

Ruth Martone Is HASCAux Prexy

Helen Brainerd Smith elected treasurer for 8th time—bazaar successful

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 28.—With attendance the largest since start of the fall and winter meetings, Ruth Martone was elected president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Heart of America Showmen's Club, at the annual election in the clubroom in the Reid Hotel here on December 20. Others who took office with Mrs. Martone were Lettie White, first vice-president; Blanche Francis, second vice-president; Pearl Vaught, third vice-president, and Loretta Ryan, secretary. Re-elected treasurer for the eighth consecutive time was Helen Brainerd Smith.

During the meeting, conducted by Mrs. C. W. Parker, the bazaar committee reported the event held in the lobby of the Reid Hotel was successful. Numerous homemade articles, including fruit, cakes, and other attractive items, were donated by members. Martha Walters, of the cemetery committee, reported that arrangements for the memorial services had been made and that club's plot would be appropriately decorated. Margaret Hughes, June Taylor, and Ruby Velore were on hand for their first meeting of the season.

Weekly award, donated by Gertrude Allen, went to Marie Kleisen. Crocheted tablecloth, donated by Viola Fairly, was awarded to Dan Hogan. After newly-elected officers responded to congratulations, the meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served. Homemadecakes made by members were brought in and coffee was provided by the men's club. Several tables of bridge were made up and players made good use of the new cards donated by Seilene Manufacturing Company. Rosa Lee Elliott was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Joe Strong.

West Bros. Ink Reid Again

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Dec. 28.—Charles Reid, vet general agent with West Bros. Shows, quartered here, has been re-engaged for 1941. J. W. Laughlin, owner, said here this week. Reid will accompany Laughlin on a trip north prior to Northern fair meetings. Quarters' activity is under way and expected to be in full swing late next month.

Reports from Hot Springs, Ark., indicate that Mrs. Laughlin has responded to treatment there and will be fully recovered soon.

ELECTED PRESIDENT of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Pacific Coast Showmen's Association, Alcrita Foster will be inducted into office at the auxiliary's annual installation dinner in the Alexandria Hotel, Los Angeles, on January 6. Mrs. Foster comes from a family of show-folk. Before her marriage to Mervil Foster she owned and operated the Alcrita Loomis Players, who toured Midwestern and Eastern States for many years. She's a niece of Clara Zeiger, of the C. F. Zeiger Shows, and Mrs. Alice Wrightsman, of Wrightsman Amusement Company. Her mother, Jessie Loomis, is well known in dramatic circles.

Great Lakes Signs 4 Fairs

TOLEDO, O., Dec. 28.—Al Wagner, owner of Great Lakes Exposition Shows, upon his return here for the holidays from the South reported that his show has been booked to provide the midways at four 1941 Alabama fairs. They are Covington County Fair, Andalusia; Dale County Fair, Ozark; Dallas County Fair, Selma, and Montgomery County Fair, Montgomery.

Three N. C. Fairs to Prell

BENNETTSVILLE, S. C., Dec. 28.—S. E. Prell, owner-general manager of Prell's World's Fair Shows, last week closed contracts to provide the midways at three North Carolina fairs in 1941. They are Albemarle Fair, Iredell County Fair, Statesville, and Union County Fair, Monroe.

Dee Lang's Quarters Work Under Way in Sinton, Tex.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 28.—Dee Lang, owner-general manager, and Dan Meggs, assistant manager Dee Lang's Famous Shows, returned here this week for the holidays after a two-week trip to Arkansas and Texas. They also visited Sinton, Tex., shows' quarters, where much activity prevailed under direction of Lester Hutchinson. Joe Klein, chief electrician, and assistants are building new electrical equipment to augment the already well-illuminated midway. Shows' light and power plants need no overhauling, as they are new and in good condition. Ralph Hatton, transportation manager, has a crew of mechanics repairing the rolling stock. Lloyd and Virgil Statler and John Mathis, ride foremen for the past eight years, are readying the rides, and Harold (Blacky) Adams is breaking in new acts for the Monkey Circus.

Lev Finch and Jack Barnes are getting the company-owned concessions in shape. Also in quarters are Mrs. Aletha Mathis and daughter, Colleen; Irvin Brown, Gus and Mary Foster, Alene Hatton, Lloyd Schimmel, and Roy R. Rose. John Sweeney again will operate the bingo game in 1941, making his 13th successive season with the show. During a visit to The Billboard office yesterday Dee Lang said the shows will be enlarged and two new rides, purchased during the recent Chicago meetings, will be added. He also booked two new shows in Chicago.

All spring dates and a good string of fall fairs, including the much-coveted North Central Fair Circuit, have been booked. Show will open early in February at Corpus Christi, Tex.

Numerous Showfolk Attend Grubbs-Fornachon Wedding

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 28.—About 400 crowded the International Association of Showmen's clubrooms in Maryland Hotel here the night of December 19 to witness the marriage of Owen Grubbs Jr. and Ann Fornachon. Grubbs is head barman at Happy Hollow, local meeting spot for showmen, and is popular with members of the IAS and Missouri Show Women's Club. The bride is a featured performer with Steve Cady's Gang, night club unit. Tom W. Allen, chairman, was in charge of arrangements. Assisting him were Dee Lang, Charles T. Goss, George Davis, J. Crawford Francis, Floyd Hesse, and Frank Joerling. Club members donated a "pot of gold" to the newlyweds, who also received numerous individual gifts. Judge Charles Fitzgibbons officiated at the nuptials, while Virginia Byrd was bride-maid, and Hal Olsen, best man. Tony Deyer's orchestra furnished the music and, after the ceremonies, refreshments

Curl, Lamb Form Combo To Launch New Show in '41

LONDON, O., Dec. 28.—W. S. Curl, owner-operator of the shows bearing his name, and William E. Lamb, well-known showman, who has been operating a thrill show for a number of years, have combined their interests and will launch a new organization next season to be known as the W. S. Curl & W. E. Lamb Combined Shows, it was revealed here this week. Present plans call for 10 shows, 9 rides, and about 30 concessions.

Opening has been set for early next May and management contemplates touring the Middle West and Southwest. Staff will include Curl, manager; Lamb, business manager and advance; Mrs. Josephine Curl, secretary; Don Wagner, lot superintendent and electrician, and Pat Hardine, transportation and ride superintendent. Mr. and Mrs. Curl left local quarters this week for Hot Springs, Ark., where they will remain about two months. Mr. and Mrs. Lamb will join them late in January after attending several fair meetings.

Lippman To Manage G. L.

FLORENCE, Ala., Dec. 28.—Eddie Lippman, last season manager of Endy Bros. Exposition Shows, has been signed in the same capacity with Great Lakes Exposition Shows for 1941. Owner Al Wagner said here last week. Robert H. Kline has been re-engaged as general agent.

were served and dancing and fun-making prevailed until early morning.

While it was impossible to obtain the names of all present, these showfolk and friends were noted: Mr. and Mrs. Tom W. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. George Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hesse, Morris Lipoky, Christ Tompkins, Abe Saffron, Don Hart, Carl Hoffman, Joe Poleta, Audrey Schusler, Walter Olsen, Daniel J. Meggs, Irvin F. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Lang, John Sweeney, Don and Powell Leonard, Mrs. Anna Jane Pearson, John and J. Crawford Francis, Harry G. (See Showfolk at Wedding on opp. page)

'Ten Commandments' of the Boss

1. Don't lie. It wastes my time and yours. I am sure to catch you in the end, and that is the wrong end.

2. Watch your work, not the clock. A long day's work makes a long day short, and a short day's work makes my face long.

3. Give me more than I expect and I will give you more than you expect. I can afford to increase your pay if you increase my profits.

4. You owe so much to yourself you cannot afford to owe anybody else. Keep out of debt or keep out of my shop.

5. Dishonesty is never an accident. Good men, like good women, never see temptation when they meet it.

6. Mind your own business and in time you will have a business of your own to mind.

7. Don't do anything here which hurts your self respect. An employee who is willing to steal for me is willing to steal from me.

8. It is none of my business what you do tonight. But if dissipation affects what you do the next day and you do half as much as I demand, you'll last half as long as you hoped.

9. Don't tell me what I'd like to hear but what I ought to hear. I don't want a valet to my vanity but one for my dollars.

10. Don't kick if I kick. If you're worth while correcting, you're worth while keeping. I don't waste time cutting specks out of rotten apples.—Exchange.

U. S. Tent & Awning Co. Holds Annual Get-Together

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Officials and employees of the U. S. Tent & Awning Company held their annual holiday party today at the company's plant. Party was attended by 64 people, including four guests, among whom were Walter F. Driver and H. A. Lehrer. A splendid dinner was served and everyone had a general good time. S. T. Joseph and Walter F. Driver spoke, and as a tribute to the late Tom Mix everyone stood in silent prayer for one minute. Party concluded with the showing of motion pictures.

Strates Buys Light Towers

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 28.—James E. Strates, owner of the shows bearing his name, announced today that he had concluded negotiations with J. W. Clements, of Lewis Supply Company, Memphis, Tenn., for the purchase of seven 50-k. w. light towers. Four special wagons are to be built in show's local quarters and then shipped to Memphis where new plants will be installed. Equipment is expected to be returned here about March 15.

World's Fair Museum Folk Partied; 1st 7 Weeks Good

MANCHESTER, N. H., Dec. 28.—Management of New York World's Fair Museum was host at a big Christmas party to its 35 employees at its 1128 Elm Street location here this week. Despite the big holiday crowds, ample time was found for Ty Cobb, chef, to serve a bountiful repast. On Christmas Eve a dance was held, starting at midnight and continuing until early morning. Show is now in its seventh week of the current tour, and business has been satisfactory throughout the New England trek.

The Manchester Leader and The Evening Union were liberal with space, giving unit a large illustrated spread regarding the manner in which various members spent Christmas. Station WPEA also co-operated. During show's Holyoke, Mass., stand Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gibb and the Gibb Siamese Twins, Mary and Margaret, visited frequently, as did the Sullivan Sisters. In Lawrence, Mass., Tom Walters, former circus trouper, visited friends, and E. E. Lighton, former showman and now operating a New England trucking concern, visited at Lynn, Mass. Henry Riley and Harold Isenberg, former circus billers, renewed acquaintances with show members here. Isenberg is manager of the clothing department at a local department store.

Master Rue-Syl, mentalist, and Harry King joined at Holyoke, coming in from Detroit. Capt. Frank Jones, superintendent, returned here after visiting his family in Newark, N. J. Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Kuntz spent several hours at their Hampton, N. H., home on Christmas Day. Floyd King, manager, is back after a day's visit in New York. Thomas D. Hart, contracting agent, spent the holidays here. John D. Foss, general agent, is headquartered in Boston. Frank Allen joined here as publicity agent.

Unit's stand in Newberry, S. C., for the week ended December 14 started slowly, but closed to three days of exceptional business. Members of the personnel were guests at a dinner party tendered them by Jimmy Howard. Newberry restaurant operator and formerly of the Johnny J. Jones Exposition.

Lewiston in Good Ashtabula Bow; Scores in Youngstown

ASHTABULA, O., Dec. 28.—Harry Lewiston's World's Fair Freaks opened at 4635 Main Avenue here last Sunday afternoon to good results after coming from Youngstown, O., where they chalked up a highly successful engagement. Sunday night a birthday party was tendered August Rittley, year-old son of Johanna Rittley, mentalist, by the personnel. A huge cake, bearing a single candle, was presented to the honored guest by Mr. and Mrs. Lewiston and ice cream and cake were served. Young Rittley received gifts from all in attendance.

Unit has a downtown location and business has been good at night, but light during the day. Vivian Dunning, sword swallower, left here to spend the holidays at her home in Minnesota. She will return about January 1. Visitors will include Walter L. Main and C. A. Foster. General Agent Paul D. Sprague returned here from a trip.

booked their bingo, photo gallery, and watch-la concessions with Stephen's Shows for 1941, making their fourth season with that organization.

MR. AND MRS. LONNIE PERKINS, of Mighty Monarch Shows, are in Atlanta, having been called there from the shows because of serious illness of Perkins' mother.

ADVERTISING is a great thing, provided that every 25-cent ticket doesn't cost the show 35 cents to get it.

LAST SEASON with Dodson's World's Fair Shows, Boston (Dutch) Lane and Joe Baker have opened a zoo on Highway No. 1 between Alma and Waycross, Ga., Ezra Jackson, caretaker, reports.

"HAVE been with the annex on Milo Anthony's Museum since closing with Frank Burke's Shows," cards Billie Baker from Gladewater, Tex. "Business with the unit has been good. H. B. Ladd and his Scotch Band joined recently."

ALL that a gaff side-show manager expects of his talker is that he make his openings sound like the truth.—Whitey Goeks.

He's a — an Entrant

AMONG the 16s coming in thick to the famous Burlington Liars' Club, according to an INS dispatch from Burlington, Wis., are tall stories submitted for the title of Champion Liar of 1940, that have to do with thick fog, thick darkness, and fish-thick rivers. It seems that among the entrants is Roy E. Ludington, general manager of Crafts Enterprises. He claims that when he was a boy in Indiana in 1885 it was so dark one night that when he went to the barn with a lantern the darkness cut off the lantern's light and he had to wait till morning to see the glow. Out of stuff like this, observes the dispatch, the National Champion Liar will be selected on January 1.

SOME of the midway doctors try the road before settling down. Only experience will convince them that lots of people don't pay in towns either.—Cousin Peleg.

AFTER CLOSING with the Great Sutler Shows in Arkansas, Mr. and Mrs. Ed L. Hall spent Christmases with relatives in Albuquerque, N. M. They report they plan to be in Dallas for the Cotton Bowl football game New Year's Day, after which they will return to Louisville, Ky., to ready their equipment for 1941.

JO JO THE CLOWN, of Dodson's World's Fair Shows and Mighty Sheehey Midway, went to Lima, O., for the holidays because of illness of his mother, P. C. Kyle reports. He did some clowning for a local merchant and worked Christmas parties for a number of the Ohio city's societies.

THRU the co-operation of our auspices, the Independent Hook and Ladder Company, everyone got out of the hotels.—Duke & Shilling Odorless Midway.

ASHBY (TINY) TIBBETTS, former group-game mike man and manager for Mulcahy & Dean, Salisbury Beach, Mass., has enlisted as a pilot in the Royal Canadian Air Force and is stationed at Manning Airport, Toronto. Tiny also has been with the Art Lewis, W. C. Kauf, and Dick's Paramount Shows.

JACQUELYN McSWEEN, dancer and wife of Tramp McSween, comic and girl show operator, has been released from a San Francisco hospital, where she was being treated for a physical breakdown. She will recuperate in the California city until the spring, when she plans to take to the road with a girl show.

WE suckers are running true to form. With billions flooding the country and a war being seen as certain, we ain't making any preparations to get our share.—Great Wheelbarrow Shows.

JOHN T. HUTCHENS, owner-general manager of the museum bearing his name, letters from San Antonio, Tex.: "I'm booked with Alamo Exposition Shows in 1941 and not Texas Exposition Shows, as was previously reported, and will open about February 15 in Brownsville, Tex. Museum business has been good so far."

OWNER of Elliott's Shows, formerly the Bluenose Shows, Frank J. Elliott recently was elected president of the Amherst (N. S.) Canadian Legion. Elliott plays Amherst each season under Legion auspices, and also promotes an indoor show there each spring under the same sponsorship. His shows also are quartered in Amherst.

THEY used to bring the midways to the people by laying them out on the streets. Now they must bring the people to the midways—with billing and other advertising aplenty.—John Oneyear, p. a., Gate & Banner Shows.

MRS. JOHN BLACK advises that she is ill at her home, Route 1, Box 16, Sanford, Fla., and is anxious to have her husband, John English Black, communicate with her immediately. When last heard from, Black was with Prell's World's Fair Shows.

"TM HERE framing a new side show for 1941," pencils Francis Doran from Parsons, Kan. "Present plans call for the new attraction to be chromed-plated and to feature plenty of neon. A new top is being made, as is a new back-drop and new uniforms for two ticket sellers."

"AM NOW in my seventh consecutive season here as bartender," writes Joe Pearl from the Hotel Claridge, Rochester, N.Y. "Paul D. Sprague paid me a surprise visit. He's handling the advance and doing the booking for Harry Lewis' Museum. Paul reported that the unit is doing well and management contemplates playing this sector soon."

BANDMASTER with Dodson's World's Fair Shows, Charles Clark and Mrs. Clark left show's Jacksonville, Fla., quarters recently for Tampa, Fla., where they will remain until after the fair there. Mrs. Clark produced and managed the Gay Paree Show with the organization last season. Both will return to the shows in 1941.

"WHEN out of the door there arose such a clatter"—that it was easy to guess that the boys in winter quarters were arriving back at the barn on Christmas morning or that it was the boys of the show killing the joy of the day.

VACATIONING in Florida since closing a successful season with the Keystone Modern Shows are Mrs. Eddie Richardson (Alice the Alligator Girl); her husband, and her brother, Alie the Alligator Boy, who recently signed with the Crescent Amusement Company for a number of Florida fairs. They report they have been enjoying some good fishing at Bowling Green, Fla.

"SINCE CLOSING with the Ben Williams and Lawrence Greater Shows, I've been playing night clubs to good business," Monte Novaro info from Buffalo. "I have combined my Parisienne Models with Howard Fuller's Broadway Revels. Combined units are billed as Novaro & Fuller's Parisienne Models and roster includes myself and Fuller, owners-managers: Che Che Lamarr, Janice Grey, Marlene Dixon, Anne Harris, Tanya, Don Alvarado, and Mile Nelle."

I'M NOT weeping over wasted opportunities, but those horses with broken legs that I bet on last summer have left me with a broken pock this winter. Oh, well! Maybe they'll be good bets next summer, as I understand they're still making book on them.—Dime Jim Johnson.

PENN PREMIER SHOWS' quarters notes by Bill Decker from Stroudsburg, Pa.: "Much work has been turned out here and Miles Detrick is now in charge of activities. All new equipment has been purchased and it will be used to rebuild the organization for next season. Among recent visitors were Jackie McKnight, Clarence Rubow, and Harry Sheldon. Al Byrdark and brother, Bill, spent several days here after returning from a hunting trip with General Manager Lloyd Serfass."

DURING the recent Lions' Club Circus in Hattiesburg, Miss., many visiting troopers called at the circus office to renew acquaintances and take a look-see at the event. Among them were Jack L. Oliver, Dr. L. R. Hollingshead, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. (Heinie) Fritz, James Conner, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Hoey, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. James Montgomery, R. A. Booth, Edward Welsh, W. L. (Geechy) Harrell, Jack Starling, M. L. (Slim) Collins, and Mrs. Peggy Lanson.

AMONG the many features in the floorshow at the Pacific Coast Showmen's Association's annual Banquet and Ball in the Saloon D'Oré and grand Ballroom of the Hotel Biltmore, Los Angeles, on December 17 was the well-received musical number, Songs From the Woodbox of Memory, under direction of Frank Hubbard. Appearing in the skit were Russell Crump, Jasper Hutchinson, Wilkinson Hollinger, Joel Durst, Douglass Thomas, Lou Marcasie, Dwight Degnan, Joe Barrett, Earl Hatch, Nate Giffins, and Harry Davis.

ADDITIONS to Scovron Bros.' Shows since opening of the winter unit in Lindwood, Ga., include Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allen, photo gallery; Mrs. Ike Goldstein, dart and corn game; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hurley, bowling alleys; fishpond, and palmistry stand; Fred Moran, chairplane and five concessions; Mrs. Edward Graves, knife rack; Miss Harris, high pole. Management of the organization was host to the personnel at a Thanksgiving dinner. Shows are operating without a gate. Leo (Specks) Drury reports, and business has been good. Joining in Scotland, Ga., were Jiggs and Maggie, of NOTES from Aransas Pass, Tex., by N. L. Dixon: Among recent arrivals were Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Sanders, who are operating a live shrimp boat at Ellis Point, Eddie Pool is in the guide and fishing party business. Doc Harper, former carnival owner, is operating his own cafe here. Otis Denmarsh Langley won the cash award given by the Sanders for catching the most fish over a week's period. Other winners were Dutch Doye and Juanita Edwards. Arriving lately were Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ellis, Jimmie and Carl Byers, and Chief and Mrs. Bender. While visiting in Corpus Christi, Tex., recently the writer saw Buck and Mrs. McClanahan, Mr. and Mrs. Art Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Misier, Blackie and Mrs. McLemore, Hubert Hall, and H. P. and C. N. Hill. The writer also has signed with Texas Exposition Shows to again handle the legal end for 1941, while Mrs. Dixon will be The Billboard sales agent and handle the front gate.

side-show note, and Miss McLane, fat-girl show.

ONE of those University Lecturers on midways that you read about: "This is the largest snake in captivity. There is only one in captivity that is larger, but he is still in the jungle and they haven't caught him yet. A snake, force-feeds himself, and then lays in dormitory."

MANY West Coast showfolk attended funeral services in Los Angeles on December 20 for the late John E. (Jack) Bigelow, who died suddenly on December 17 while en route to the Pacific Coast Showmen's Association's annual Banquet and Ball on December 17. Many floral tributes were given by members of the PCSA, with Harold (Pop) Ludwig paying a touching tribute at the club's Showmen's Rest plot in Evergreen Cemetery. Active and honorary pallbearers included Leo Haggerty, Chris Olsen, Charles Greener, Al M. Miller, Ted LeFors, Henry Wallace, Barney Tunney, Billy Ament, Jimmie Dunn, Norman Peel, James Gallagher, Al Onken, and Ray Johnson.

NOTES from Texas Kidd Shows from Shafter, Tex., by H. B. Bowe: Shows stand on the army encampment grounds at Marfa, Tex., for the week ended December 14 was a winner. Good crowds were on the midway every night and money seemed plentiful. Chick Castle, of the T. J. Tidwell Shows, is spending the winter on the organization. Mrs. Texas Kidd Jr. has recovered from a recent illness. Texas Kidd left on a buying trip recently. Shows worked to exceptionally good results on opening night here. Ted Custer entertained Captain Fuller and several border patrolmen at opening. Billie Basinger has canceled her contemplated Florida vacation until the spring. Horace Gillispie purchased a new car in Marfa.

Club Activities

Sherman Hotel
Chicago, Ill.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Thursday's meeting was canceled because of the holidays and next regular meeting will be held on January 3. President Frank R. Conklin, sojourning in Florida, writes he hopes to be here for the big New Year's Eve party. House committee Chairman Lew Keller and his assistant, Bill Caskey, are planning a swell night and expect a record crowd. Bob Lehman, L. S. (Larry) Hogan, Bernd Mendelson, Ned Torti, and Sonny Bernet left for Kansas City, Mo., for the Heart of America Showmen's Club banquet and ball. Christmas wires were received from President Frank Conklin, Maurice Hanauer, Harvey Miller, Fred Donnelly, and Ray Marsh Brydon. Members were grieved to learn of the death of the mother of Brother Al Cohen. Messages of condolence have been forwarded. Past President J. C. McCaffery left for a brief Florida vacation. Irving Maltz came in for the holidays and Harvey and Mrs. Miller left for Iowa.

Ladies' Auxiliary

Club held a board of governors meeting in the clubrooms at the Sherman Hotel on December 26. Ann Burns and Mrs. Daisy May Hennies were elected to membership and the application of Doris Kimerer was presented and tabled for the next meeting. Members were pleased to learn that Mrs. Tom Rankine, past president, was appointed a representative at the installation dinner of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the National Showmen's Association in New York.

Club also has appointed Mrs. Leah M. Brumley a representative to the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Heart of America Showmen's Club Banquet and Ball in Kansas City, Mo. Mrs. Brumley also is a past president of this auxiliary. Correspondence was received during the week from Midge Cohen, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, NSA; Grace Goss, Bea Hamid, Gussie Travis, Gene Martin, and Loretta Ryan. Members will hold their regular meeting on January 2, and President Mrs. Joseph L. Streibich urges all to attend. Mrs. Streibich has returned from Peoria, Ill., where she spent Christmas.

Father of Sister Mildred O'Dome has been operated upon. Sisters Theresa King and Mimi Sussman are ill. Paid-up members will be guests at installation dinner on January 7. Sister Martha Wagner has recovered sufficiently to leave the hospital in Toledo.

International Showmen's Association

Maryland Hotel

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 28.—At club's regular meeting held on December 19, with President Dee Lang presiding, membership drive report showed splendid results for the first month's drive when 43 members were accepted. Strict adherence to the rule "that only people actually engaged in show business or allied industries are acceptable for membership" is making the club one for "showfolk only." Despite how strongly anyone is recommended, if such a person is not actively engaged in show business, it is impossible for him to become a member. Dee Lang, president, turned in 23 applications, all of which were accepted.

Those joining in the past month are Marion Alford, W. C. (Billy) Senior, Daniel J. Meggs, John A. Pubars, Frank J. Klein, Mickey Farrell, Owen Salmon Willtrout, Leonard McElroy, Joe Klein, Irvin F. Brown, Lloyd Statler, Milt Hinckle, Danny T. Bibb Jr., Clarence Stannard, Frank Harrison, Howell Eugene Adams, W. H. Gambrell Sr., W. H. Gambrell Jr., Ralph Clyde Glenn, Gus Forster, James H. Stearns, Ralph Nation, John Matthes, Sam Lieberwitz, Sylvester Graeling, Jimmie Lynch, Harold (Buddy) Paddock, E. Lawrence Phillips, C. B. (Red) Scott, Fred R. Cox, W. E. Shiley, Ben Weis, Little Joe Miller, Thomas Sharkey, Warren Mathew Murphy, James E. Estates, Jack Downs, E. Walter Evans, John Courtney, Mike Barnes, Frank R. Winkley, Jake Shapiro, and Herman Knox.

Secretary Charles T. Goss reported dues for 1941 were received from the following the past two weeks: J. C. McCaffery, Dee Lang, Ned C. Torti, Hymie Schreiber, John Sweeney, Tom W. Allen, Walter B. Fox, Charles A. Leon, Don Leonard, Nobis C. Fairly, Pat Purcell, Powell Leonard, J. Crawford Francis, C. A. Vernon, William Pink, Harry G. Coulson, Leo C. Lang, Floyd Hesse, John A. Winter-Quarters News and Gossip

As Reported by Representatives for the Shows

Dodson's World's Fair

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 28.—Work at quarters on the fairgrounds here is progressing nicely under direction of General Manager M. O. Dodson and Pinkie Edgar, who is looking after the purchasing of all material. Because oak timber is at a premium here, two trucks were sent to South Carolina to bring back the wood to be used in repairing and building new wagons. Four wagons to be used to transport the new Rocket ride booked by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Week are under construction. Plans call for 18 new wagons to be built. Five new light towers are being constructed under direction of Dewitt Hudson and a new front is being readied for the Gay Paree Show. Illusion front is being enlarged and attraction will feature new lighting effects. About 75 of the show's personnel are wintering here and quarters have their share of daily visitors. Mrs. J. C. Week and son passed thru to Miami, where they have their Rocket ride booked with the Endy Bros. Shows. They spent one night as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Dodson. Week remained at his South Bend, Ind., home for a few days on business, but will join Mrs. Week in Florida. Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Dodson left this week for Savannah, Ga., to spend the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Dodson.

J. REEVES.

J. J. Page

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Dec. 28.—All around quarters are awaiting the call for activity. Roy Penn, who is in charge, enjoyed a surprise visit from his brother, Carl, and sister-in-law, and just before Christmas the trio left for Forsyth, Ga., Carl's home, to spend the holidays. On Roy's return rebuilding and repairing will begin. Several new fronts will be built, as will a transformer wagon to house transformers purchased during the year. Roy Carey, concessionaire, had a large crew selling novelties on local streets and in adjoining towns to good results. Bob Richards worked wire jewelry. Crew at quarters were guests at a Christmas dinner provided by Owner Page. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Page also were hosts at a dinner at their home and partaking of the delicacies were Chris Jernigan, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sheppard, Mr. and Mrs. E. Savage, and Buford and Charlotte Miller. Mrs. Bob Coleman arrived on Christmas Eve to spend the holidays with her parents. She will leave about January 1 for Key West, Fla., to book her concessions at one of the annual goings there. Owner Page, accompanied by Chris Jernigan, was away on a business trip the past week.

R. E. SAVAGE.

Blue Ribbon

COLUMBUS, Ga., Dec. 28.—Activities at local quarters start about January 1, when Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Roth return from an extended trip to Hot Springs, Ark., the Chicago meetings, and a visit with Mrs. Roth's mother and sister in Columbus, O. Crew, in charge of Lee Paden, secretary, includes E. V. Sumrall, chief mechanic, and Jimmie Paden, ride superintendent. Both have been getting ride motors in shape for the coming tour. The writer has kept the office open all winter and at present is closing the books for the season. Visitors included Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dollar, Pat Riley, Jerry Jeffries, Lee Aherne, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thomas, Max Lorenz, and Mr. and Mrs. Spud Murphy.

LEE PADEN.

Prell's World's Fair

BENNETTSVILLE, S. C., Dec. 28.—All the major quarters activities begin soon after January 1. General Manager S. E. Prell has issued orders for the start of preliminary work because of the unusual favorable weather. Joseph Parsons reports he and his crew have completed the basic alterations to the Merry-Go-Round and have released it to the scenic artists' department for finishing touches.

Ben Cheek, master mechanic, is overhauling transportation equipment, while Charles Powell, contracting agent, has been assigned the task of securing additional transportation equipment. Manager Prell says shows will be completely motorized when they take the road early in 1941. Cash Miller has signed for next season and plans a new Ten-in-One Side Show. He stopped here recently to start construction of the attraction. Plans for new Girl Revue and Minstrel Show fronts have been approved by Prell, and Sam Caruso has been given the go-ahead signal on preliminary construction. Lion Motorodrome has been erected upon the grounds, and the cars are being broken to a new act under the guidance of Daredevil Marion Ellis, assisted by Flash White. The writer has been doing some special and successful promotional work for the shows. Pop Dickens is busy improving the acting abilities of shows' simian performers Harry J. (Dad) Ward, mail man and Fire Billboard's sales agent, still makes his daily trip to the post office. Mr. and Mrs. Nancy Knott have acquired a new home, nearby quarters. THOMAS W. RICE.

Great Lakes Expo

FLORENCE, Ala., Dec. 29.—Preliminary work has started at quarters on the Jool fairgrounds. Happy Craft, master builder, is in charge and has his crew building four new panel fronts, with neon and chromium finish. The midway will present six new light towers in 1941 and several new rides have been ordered. Five tractors and trailers and three new show tops will be added. Al Benton's Side Show has been booked and he is here readying his equipment. General Manager Al Wagner and Representative Robert Kline will attend the fair meetings in the North and then return to finish up the tour of the South. Eddie Lippman left for the South on a business and pleasure trip. Mr. and Mrs. Al Wagner returned to their home in Toledo for the holidays. Harry Smiley accompanied them. Many showfolk are wintering here and much visiting is done daily.

JOHN DAVIS.

Zimdars Greater

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Dec. 28.—Work in quarters here has not started, but many jackpots are being cut up as numerous showfolk are wintering here. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kelly returned to shows after a visit with Mrs. Kelly's folks in Guy, Ark. Norman the Wizard and Company have been playing houses the past two weeks, but are here until after the holidays. C. S. Reed, agent, came in from Memphis for a few days, but has returned to that city. Visitors included Frank (Dutch) Waldron, Reynolds & Wells Shows; Mr. and Mrs. Lashbrook of Mt. Vernon, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. (Eddie) Roth, and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Rosin, Blue Ribbon Shows; J. W. Laughlin, West Bros. Shows; Harry W. Hennies, Hennies Bros. Shows; Charles Drill, C. D. Scott Shows; Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Reinsch, Ripon, Wis.; Roy Goldstein and Tom Fuzzell, Fuzzell's United Shows; Mr. and Mrs. William Dyer, Dyer's Greater Shows; Mr. and Mrs. Whitney Daniels, International Congress of Oddities; Fred McIntyre, S. L. Cronin, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert McElroy.

LAVERN ZIMDARS.

Sickels United

JACKSON, Tenn., Dec. 28.—Quarters have been established downtown here and work will start about February 1. Since shows did not tour last season, all canvas will be new. Management will build an attractive entrance front and new show fronts. Manager Bob Sickels recently returned from Illinois, bringing a Merry-Go-Round, Ferris Wheel, and Chairplane with him. Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baker and son, Buzz, are here, where Buzz is in school. E. E. Baker is general superintendent; John Denton will have the corn game, and the writer is secretary.

CLIFFORD MATTHEWS.

Crafts

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Dec. 28.—The holidays have been gala and Christmas Day saw all work at a standstill and quarters crew enjoyed itself in typical yuletide spirit. Owner and Mrs. O. N. Crafts were hosts to their family and close business associates at a turkey dinner. Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Warren and daughter, Carol Anne; Mr. and Mrs. George Sears and son, Niel, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warren. A huge Christmas tree was loaded with gifts for all, with the chief recipient being Owner Crafts. Others at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Ludington, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bennick Sr., Mr. and Mrs. B. Bennick Jr., and Harold Mock. Quarters work will resume January 3, when all departments start full blast in order to complete the heavy schedule planned by Crafts. H. C. Landaker is in charge of special front construction and neon installation. R. Versteeg will look after the electrical requirements, while Bill Myers superintends construction of light towers and front entrance arch. James Lynch is in charge of the commissary, with Charlton Warren acting as purchasing agent at quarters. Louis Cody is chef. Mechanical department includes Frank Kemp, Pollack Kitchener, and Nick Obrovatz.

With closing of the five-week Christmas Show in Los Angeles, a ride unit consisting of the Auto Shooter, Merry-Go-Round, Ferris Wheel, and Miniature Autos returned to quarters, as did the ride which had been on location at the Columbia Studio under Roy E. Ludington, assisted by Mack Domian and Harold Mock. Cookhouse had a month's run at the former location under George Parent. Owner Crafts left Christmas night for Wichita, Kan., to pick up his plane. Lee Brandon, general representative, reports progress in the North, while Ben Dohert, manager Golden State Shows, has mailed in several good contracts for that organization. George Everett Coo is busy and seen around quarters at rate intervals. Roy E. Ludington is back from a tour of Mexican border towns which will be played by Crafts 20 Big Shows in February. One more big party will be celebrated. It will be staged by Uncle John (Spot) Ragland on New Year's Eve, when he returns from a sojourn in North Carolina. CLAUDE (CURLY) RODGERS.

ness. Endys will furnish the midway for the annual colored fair here.

Jake Croft has the ex on concessions at the annual air races, which open here on January 10. Jake is employing only showfolk and at present has over 200 engaged. He and Sam Crowell have all the novelty concessions at the Orange Bowl Fiesta. Both have many other dates lined up for the winter.

Jimmie Val and Tommy Higgins, owners of Jimmie's Restaurant, mecca for visiting showfolk, took a party of showmen on a fishing trip in Tommy's new cruiser. Catch totaled 47, all of which were minnows, so the boys had a small feast for their trouble. Tommy again will have his streamlined cookhouse on the World of Mirth Shows.

Carnival men here report they are enjoying their best winter in years.

Carl Couch and Paul Curtis are contracting for several dates in South Florida, using Jimmie's Restaurant as headquarters.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Barfield arrived here and hit for Key West, where Barfield will stage and direct the annual fair.

Local theater men, as usual, are squawking about too many outdoor shows this winter. They want the license fees increased for such troupes.

Ballyhos Bros.' Circulating Expo. A Century of Profit Show

By STARR DE BELLE

Candie Wick, Fla.

Week ended December 28, 1940.

Dear Editor:

"Jingle board, jingle board, jingle thru the play." These words were sung here all thru the week by every man, woman, and child on the show, the bosses having given the stand its privilege free, with the winnings going toward a real Christmas dinner for the show's personnel. From opening time on Monday up to Christmas Eve the booth had a steady play, resulting in an all-time high plateau dinner. Orders to keep the midway dark for the day were given by the bosses, who even went to their backs to raise the extra money needed to put the day over in a big way. The show's secretary charged the amount against the jingle board to be worked off when it opened on December 25.

The girl show tent was stripped and then gaily decorated for the biggest Christmas Jamboree ever staged. At one end of the top stood a giant tree with all of the trimmings, while beneath it were stacked thousands of gifts for all employees and visitors. Up one aisle and down another were long tables large enough to seat over 2,000 people. Every fry and cookhouse chef, augmented by the house trailer wives, prepared a spread fit for kings. For weeks the office staff worked on the guest list, making sure that no one was neglected.

Table No. 1 was reserved for the ride operators and their helpers, No. 2 for the show operators and their helpers, and No. 3 for concessionaires and helpers. No. 4 was reserved for all visiting troupe, while No. 5 was reserved for all fair officials who at that time had no fair. (This is the only day of the year on which we entertain fairies, fair secretaries.) The five bosses and their staff spread out among the five tables to enjoy the repast with their people.

Toasting master Lew Trucklow, the show's aggressive general agent, was the life of the party and insisted on elaborating upon his clever work executed during the Chi conventions. He called himself the Moses who would lead us, and his long white flowing beard impressed us as being an asset.

Before the dinner was half over we were pleasantly surprised with the arrival of the Drawhead Sisters, operators of the show bearing their name. Irish Jack Lynch was also a visitor, who arrived just in time. Several carnival managers stopped for a toddy, but we didn't mention their names even before the fairies fair secretaries nor will we mention them here.

Gifts for everyone seemed to be the vogue. The five brothers held back the most pleasant surprise until the end, when they presented each occupant of the berth and stateroom cars with a new deluxe house trailer. This delighted the dining car operator so much that he gave them all of the dishes in the private car, throwing in the gas stoves for good measure.

Thursday found the midway back to normal. The jingle board opened to try to get the dinner shortage. A big "Peace-on-Earth" sign adorned the top, but some of the earthly peace officers insisted on getting a piece of the store and thus kept the dinner on the burr. Hearing of the shortage, our legal adjuster said, "Christmas comes but once a year, so I'll stand the bite." Before several witnesses, he topped the dinner committee the short $1.16.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 28.—During the year, in accordance with custom, we shall resume the series of articles on the legal phases of various subjects of interest to our membership, and would appreciate hearing from members as to their preferences of the subjects to be considered.

There recently appeared in The Congressional Record an article inserted by Congressman John G. Alexander, of Minnesota, in which he decried the high cost of transportation and in which he urges all shippers to organize to correct this alleged evil. Congressman Alexander cites several instances in which carriers have advertised their earnings, and he claims that the picture created is not entirely correct. We shall be pleased to furnish a copy of this article to any member upon request.

This office has received additional information relative to the cost of electricity in New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Alabama, California, and other states, which information we shall also be pleased to furnish our membership upon request.

Charity Fete Nets $6,200 in Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 28.—Annual Christmas Charity Carnival in Civic Auditorium here on the nights of November 30 and December 2 and 3 under auspices of business group was the most successful yet staged, reported E. J. Casey, general manager of the E. J. Casey Shows.

who furnished 20 concessions and aided the committee in setting up the event. Paid admissions of 14,000 was a new record and there was a profit of about $6,200.

Concessions were heavily patronized and many valuable prizes, obtained thru co-operation of business men on the purchasing committee, were awarded. Added attraction was Herb Brittain's band for dancing. Minneapolis Shriners were guests on opening night and their drills on the dance floor were well received.

Shorts

AMONG attractions appearing in James Dawson's Christmas Revue in and around Fort Smith, Ark., were Aerial Lakes, Everard's Hollywood Monkey Revue, Hazel King's Canines, and seven-piece band. Show had special lighting effects and ordered a new sound system.

CONSTRUCTION is progressing on a modern auditorium to seat 800 at Carlsbad Beach, N. C.

MILT HERRIOTT reported he recently entertained inmates of the State Criminally Insane Hospital at St. Peter, Minn., with his dogs and ponies and plans to make it an annual affair.

Business Okeh for Hamiter's Circus

DALLAS, Dec. 28.—Jimmie Hamiter's Circus, indoors, has been enjoying good business and fair play at night in the smaller towns of North Texas. The winter unit is laying off for the holidays, but will reopen after the new year in East Texas. Alvin Lane is doing the billing for the winter unit, and Al Clarkson is general agent. Hamiter recently returned from an equipment-buying trip for the tent show he will take out early next year.

Work at quarters here is going forward, despite daily rain and cold weather. Jack Woods is on the job repairing the trucks, and Skinny McLain is painting them.

Capt. Noble Hamiter, wild animal trainer, and brother of Jimmie Hamiter, is a holiday visitor. He came in from the Polack show, where he has his lion act, to spend Christmas with his parents. His father, Dr. J. J. Hamiter, is a leading animal authority of Texas and operates a large veterinary hospital in Dallas. P. W. Owens, now connected with an automobile firm in Fort Worth and formerly an agent of the Al G. Barnes Circus, was a visitor recently.

Galler Takes Heavy Loss On Miss. Lions' Club Show

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Dec. 28.—The Lions' Club Circus produced at the Walnut Street Showground here, week of December 16, by Joe Galler was a financial flop, but all performers and local bills were paid in full by Galler, who suffered a heavy loss in the venture. So stated Walter B. Fox, associate director of the show, who gave lack of co-operation by the sponsors and little public interest as reasons for the failure.

Acts on the program were Merrill Brothers and Sister, Janice Guyer, Aerial Lasellas, Avery Tudor Troupe, Harrison Troupe, Johnson-Kanera Troupe, Lorraine Wallace's Lions, and Frank S. Stout, who also acted as equestrian director. Date Curtis acted as official announcer, and music was furnished by the Buckeye State Shows' colored band. H. G. Starbuck had all concessions, and Robert Fox and E. J. Sweeney were in charge of advertising and the official program.

Miami

MIAMI, Dec. 28.—The Clyde Beatty Jungle Zoo, at Fort Lauderdale, continues to draw big crowds. Business Christmas Day was capacity. Special rates for school children in groups help the gate considerably. Educators are taking advantage of these rates and bringing students in large bodies. Clyde Beatty gives them a special talk on wild animals. Clara Knecht is doing a swell job on publicity and announcing the show. Clyde and Harriet Beatty will lead the Orange Bowl parade December 30 with four elephants, two camels, and several cages of cats.

Lucky Teeter is expected to visit the zoo and talk business with Clyde. Starling news is anticipated when they get together. Frank Walters is a guest of the Beattys.

Bob Morton, of indoor circus fame, has left for Cleveland to personally direct the huge Shrine Christmas circus there. While in the North he expects to sign contracts for several other Shrine indoor circuses. Mousie Robinson is expected to follow shortly, and will be in charge of the advance force.

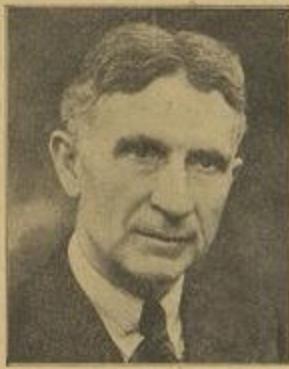

There is nothing definite yet on the report that Larry Sunbrook will stage a circus and rodeo here in February.

ERNIE WISWELL and his Dazzle Lizzies worked Larry Sunbrook's rodeo and thrill show Christmas week at Minneapolis. Act was set by Charles Zemeter.

Selective Service Mail

In the Carnival Department of this issue appear the names of those having Selective Service mail in the various offices of The Billboard. This list is published in addition to the names which are set in capital letters in the regular Letter List.

Also in the Carnival Department is given a list of registrants who are considered delinquents.

C. S. PRIMROSE, who again will be general agent of Lewis Bros. Circus. It will be his seventh season with the show.

Austin King To Troupe No More

CORTE MADERA, Calif., Dec. 28.—Austin King will not go out on the road again so far as he can see, as he plans to devote his time to writing, his hobby for many years.

During his 43 years of troupers, mostly in the circus field, King says he had a habit of jotting down notes, which are now useful in his writing. On his recent tour in Australia he sold his first short stories for radio programs, which, he says, has encouraged him to carry on his radio writing in America.

Harrisburg IABP&B Elects

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 28.—At a recent meeting of Local No. 28 of the International Alliance of Billposters & Billingmen John Whitney was elected president; Ed Furt, vice-president, and Edward S. Rupp, secretary. Rupp is presently posting at the Senate Theater here.

SILVERS JOHNSON, booked with Gus Sun for 1941, has had a comedy Austin for the last three years instead of his Funny Ford.

Clevelanders "Eat Up" HM Thrill Circus; 24,000 First Four Days

CLEVELAND, Dec. 28.—The "Winter Thrill Circus," staged and produced by George Hamid and Bob Morton, opened its 10-day stay at the Arena on Upper Euclid Avenue Christmas afternoon with a matinee for exactly 6,500 members of the Press Junior Aviators' Club of Cleveland. Some 24,000 have attended the matinees and evening shows to date.

From the first act, Dolly Jacobs Riding Lion, to Hollywood's "Lone Ranger" galloping out on his white charger yelling "Hi Yo Silver" for the cowboy finale, the crowds have "eaten up" the thrill acts with round after round of hearty applause.

The producers grabbed 16 of the biggest and best circus acts, put them on a three-hour program, and they ran them thru in break-neck speed. With just a tiny taste of the usual circus pageantry, the show highlights and concentrates on aerial novelties and "thrillers."

Opening the show is a band concert, with Joe Basile as the guest conductor, and songs by Doris Reed. Following in fast order are the Grand Parade; Dolly Jacobs, with her riding lion and a lion leaping thru a ring of fire; Billy Ride, a comedy knockout novelty; Taylor Troupe, comedy tumblers; Miss Doris, featured bareback rider; Circus Ballet, with 16 gorgeous dancing girls; Great Fireman, rolling a big white ball up a spiral tower as fireworks exploded around him; the clowns, getting a deserving show of crowd-applause; Terrell Jacobs, in a great act with his 15 cats, with his best trick persuading six of them to form a loving family group while a lion rolls a flaming barrel around inside the circle; Peaches Sky Revue, an aerial thrill follies, with the pert girls dancing in mid-air, just under the ceiling; Happy Harrison's Trained

Former Acrobat Now Arizona's Leading Showman

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 28.—When Sells-Photo Circus 30 years ago lost an acrobat, its loss became Arizona's gain, for it gave the State a man who is today its outstanding showman.

In the three decades since that night, Nace has been a key figure in the progress and development of public entertainment in Arizona.

Known in show circles from Coast to Coast and from Canada to Mexico, Nace now either owns or directs 25 theaters in Arizona, including five show houses here. During this week, special programs were held in all these theaters to mark Nace's 20th year of service to the public of Arizona. Radio salutes to this pioneer showman were also given during the week by stations KOY, Phoenix; KTUC, Tucson, and KSUN, Bisbee.

His first venture here after leaving the circus world was to take over, in partnership with Jo Richards, now a widely known Pacific Coast showman, what then was known as the Airplane Theater. Later, Nace and Richards established the Savoy Theater, which like the Airplane was roofless and floorless and shortly afterward, Nace and Al Reeves established the Coliseum Theater.

In 1912 Nace and Reeves built and opened the Empress Theater, the first show house in Phoenix to have a wooden floor and seats that were fastened down. Three years later Nace established the Apache Theater, which had not only a floor, but a roof and folding seats. It was considered a classic of the times. Opening of the Strand Theater here followed in 1918, the Rialto in 1920, the Ramona in 1924, and the Orpheum, one of the community's finest, in 1928. The Studio was added to the list only a few years ago.

Nace has never lost his love for the circus. Each year for several years after landing in Phoenix, he donned his tights to appear in special hand-to-hand balancing acts before audiences at the Arizona State Fair, presented gratis.

Whitey Lehrter, in 1923 boss property man for the Sparks Circus, had a winter job with the United States Tent & Awning Company, Chicago. . . . George V. Connor was re-engaged to manage the Side Show of the Sparks Circus. . . . The Mighty Haag Shows ended the season December 15 at Marianna, Fla., where it had winter quarters. . . . Bert Snow, general manager of Cullen's Animal Circus, was in Turlock, Calif., for the winter. His show was in quarters in Minneapolis. . . . Jerry Mugivan announced that the American Circus Corporation would not have a Wild West Show for 1928. . . . The menagerie at the Ringling quarters in Bridgeport, Conn., was enlarged and new sleeping and stateroom cars were added. . . . Pallenberg's bears were on a European tour.

Buck Baker, of the Big Show, with his bucking Ford, was playing a limited engagement on the Columbia Burlesque Circuit.

William W. Workman, State Senator of Virginia, who was twice president of the Poster Advertising Association of America, bought an interest in the Heritage Bros. Circus. . . . John Nevin, formerly of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, was engaged as contracting agent of the 101 Ranch Show. . . . The Delta O'Dell Circus was in its 38th week in Texas and doing very good business. . . . Poodles Hanneford and Company were booked to return to the Sells-Floto Circus for 1928. . . . S. L. Cronin was appointed banner solicitor of the American Circus Corporation for the winter season. . . . Pete Stanton was booked to manage the Hagenbeck-Wallace annex. . . . Mary Grimes signed with the Sells-Sterling Circus for 1928 to feature her revolving trapeze act. . . . Horace Laird and His Merry Jesters had joined the Helldreath Vaudeville Circus unit. . . . Walter Strang, 78, for many years a trainer of horses with various circuses, including the Big Show, drowned December 22 in a canal at Croton Falls, N. Y.

FRANK SHEPPARD, who in recent seasons has been one of the featured serial turns with Cole Bros. Circus, reports he will not return to the circus next season, as he has other plans. He is currently in New Rockford, N. C.

Readers interested in U. S. Army Posts, Camps, and Stations will find a list of these running in installments in the Wholesale Merchandise Section of The Billboard. The first installment appeared in the issue of December 14. The fourth appears in this issue.

WITH the passing of Julius Deits, 81, only 31 old troupers are left in the Ohio Masonic Home, Springfield, O., reports Doc Waddell. Deits' obituary appears in the Final Curtain.

RALPH H. BLISS, last season on the advance of Lewis Bros. Circus, is enjoying the sunshine and dog races at Sulphur Springs, Fla. With him is H. Bundy, formerly of Sterling Circus.

MRS. MAUDE MATLOCK, of Los Angeles, is spending the holidays in Jacksonville, Fla., with her son and daughter-in-law, George and Irene Franklin, who are in business in that city.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK WATSON have opened a dance hall three miles east of Marianna, Fla., and will not go out with a show next season. All troupers passing are welcome to stop in, says Frank.

STERLING (DUKE) DRUKENBROD has returned to his home in Canton, O., for the winter following the Miami Shrine Circus, for which promotion he was in charge of all advance arrangements and exploitation.

LEW KISH, clown, who recently closed with Dailey Bros. Circus, is spending a few weeks in Aransas Pass, Tex. Fishing is good, he says, and Woodrow Hoffman, Archie and Billie Silverlake, troupers, are also there.

FRANCIS DORAN, who was with Busell Bros. Circus in 1939, and who had the side show the latter part of this season on the Elite Exposition Shows, will again have the pit show with the Elite Exposition next season.

ARNOLD'S BARNYARD PROLICS, novelty circus unit, has completed a successful nine-week contract for Assembly Service. Dates took the units into several States in the Middle West. Arnold will augment the program for the new season.

JOE BAKER, West Coast performer, has finished a month's engagement as clown in Buffalo, his home town, in Edwards' chain department store. It was his first appearance in the East in 23 years. He may return to the Coast and join a show next season.

WALTER LEVINA is in Springfield, Ill., playing clubs. His wife, Princess Lola, is with her daughter in West Allis, Wis. She will not troupe this winter, altho she is gaining health and strength all right and hopes to be out with the white tops this spring. She would like to hear from friends.

JAMES O'CONNOR, who has been in the circus business for the last 15 years, will have another operation on his arm December 31 at the Robert Long Hospital, Indianapolis. He has had four operations on his arm, but it is still useless. This past fall he was associated with J. Lyman Keys as agent for his indoor dates.

CRETA BROTHERS and Helene, comedy bar act, last season with Wallace Bros. Circus, is appearing with Bill Arm's Gems of 1941, playing theaters in Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania. The feminine member of the trio is Helene Rogers, daughter of Ray Rogers, connected with Wallace Bros. Circus.

C. A. KLEIN recently visited the winter quarters of Buck Banard's Hippodrome Attractions at Reynoldsburg, O., and purchased seven performing dogs and a dog trailer. Banard is breaking a troupe of huskies. Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Dunn (Mabel Mack) were visitors at Banard's quarters December 13.

ALBERT MILLETTE, 77, veteran acrobat and abomman, was chosen as San Francisco's oldest ex-circus performer in a contest held by a theater there as a tie-in for the screen showing of Chad Hennings, a circus picture. Millette was with the Barnum & Bailey Circus in 1893, and later with the Sells Bros., Sells-Perreault, and Ringling circuses.

J. R. MALLORY CIRCUS acts currently at the Ringside night club, Manassas, O., include Tinker Toy and his Canine Pals, dog and pony novelty; Timbo, human act on the slack wire; Velma Ziegler, acrobatic and tap dancer, and Art Hill, comedy cycle turn. Presentation is in charge of Nancy Darnell (Mrs. Jack Mallory).

EARL WARR, of Ferndale, Pa., who fulfilled his boyhood dream of becoming a clown in the spring of 1938, when he joined Eddy Bros. Circus, received about a half-page of publicity in The Morning Press of Bloomsburg, Pa., November 30. Earl (Shorty) was with Cole Bros. during 1938 and the past season was with Mills Bros. Circus.

MILT HERRIOTT's dogs and ponies concluded three weeks of Christmas dates thru Iowa and Minnesota and are back at their quarters in St. Peter, Minn. Shortly after the new year Herriott will present his Punch and Judy show, whip act, and pickout pony at a number of small indoor dates. His entire act will not be used at that time. A small bucking mule is being broken at quarters.

HAROLD HALL, clown the past three seasons with Cole Bros. Circus, who closed with the Thatchers-Stenberg Production Company's Christmas parade at Fort Dodge, Ia., stopped off in Des Moines to visit with Lawrence Cross while en route to his home in Springfield, Ill. After playing an indoor date at Cleveland for Bob Morton he will return to Springfield.

ANDERSON'S Trained Animals and Society Circus Revue gave a one-hour performance in the high school at Maryland Park, Md., December 18. Show consisted of trained dogs, monkeys, and ponies, worked by Mrs. Anderson. Following the show, Anderson took some of the performers to the home of Judy Lee, 4, who is very ill, and gave a performance for her. Mr. and Mrs. Spencer A. Stine, of Seat Pleasant, Md., attended the show.

CHESTER (BOBO) BARNETT and Art (Jojo) Lind, clowns, closed at Goldsmith's Department Store, Memphis, Tenn., December 20. Bobo says he was leaving for Springfield, Ill., where his wife, Dorothy Preseley, who was playing a night spot there, will join him. He says he will open Christmas Day in Minneapolis with Larry Sunstrom's Rodeo and Thrill Show and later will play the St. Paul Shrine Circus. Mr. and Mrs. Lind were scheduled to open December 27 in the Roxy Theater, Cleveland. Barnett said Merle Evans, bandmaster of the Big Show, stopped off in Memphis while en route to Florida to visit Joe Simon, Lind, and himself. Mrs. Evans was with him.

L. CLAUDE MYERS, who recently played Huntington, Ind., with the Great American Circus, tells of the death of Clarence Skinner's 11-year-old boy three weeks before Myers played in Huntington. The boy, while riding his bicycle, was struck by an auto and was dead upon arrival at a hospital. Clarence played trombone for Myers 30 years ago on a showboat. His brother Charles also played cornet with Myers at that (See Under the Marquee on opp. page)

Gates Ferry, Conn.
Conducted by WALTER HOFFMANN, Manager The White Horse, Inc., Hochschild Printing Company, Rockville, Ill.)

NEW ROCHELLE, Ill., Dec. 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham, Gates Ferry, Conn., had as their guests over the holidays Mr. Buckingham's sister and her husband from New York. Christmas Eve the Buckinghams held open house to their neighbors, with each one bringing a gift costing not more than 10 cents. Each package was numbered and duplicate numbers distributed among those present for the gift that they were to receive.

On his way home from the Southwest to Chicago for Christmas Burt L. Wilson stopped at Hot Springs, Ark., and visited the following friends: Arthur Hopper, Johnny Braxell, Mickey Coughlin, Joe and Mrs. Boynton, all of the Big Show; Mr. and Mrs. Karl Knecht, N. Harry Cane, and Red (Juice Joint) Reeder. A card received later stated Wilson made the trip from Hot Springs to St. Louis, 432 miles, in 10 hours, and had a long visit with Roy Barrett and Otto Gribble.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Hartless left Chicago the day after Christmas for Florida, where Hartless will transact some business. They will then go on to San Antonio, Tex., for the rest of the winter, with a trip to California before returning home in the spring.

Circus Saints AND Sinners' Club

(National Secretary)

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—The Christmas party of the Dexter Fellows Tent at the Hotel Astor December 19 was great because it was so different. Attendance was a little over 500 and the surprises were many. Every guest got a gift from Santa Claus, who was none other than our jovial Leo Kramer. The program was excellent, what with musical and dancing specialties that fit well into the day. Ole Olsen, of Heddaoppen fame, brought over a half dozen varied and ill-assorted Santa Clauses and then had about fifty messenger boys walk in and sing to our Santa Happy Birthday to You. Doe Clements' present, a beautiful box (humidor), was won by Tex O'Rourke. The hit of the day was at the conclusion of the luncheon, after Prexy Hoffman had wished everyone a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, when a fine set of chimes rang out Christmas carols that reverberated thru the immense dining room.

We want to congratulate Sinner Leonard Trautte for his fine article in last Sunday's Tribune. We agree with him that perhaps now the amateur songwriter might have a chance. On the other hand, we are all rooting for lovable Sinner Gene Buck to win out.

"INDICATIONS are that the National Western Stock Show in Denver this month will be the most successful yet," Courtland R. Jones, general manager, announced last week. Jones said that war registrations have been coming in so fast that requirements had to be raised, assuring a high-class show with only the best stock. The rodeo, introduced in 1931, will be produced by Verne Elliott and arrangements are being made to have Smiley Burnette, Abe Lefton, and Lieut.-Col. Hiram Tuttle appear. Officials are rushing work on the new $100,000 storage barn and livestock quarters to have them ready in time for the show.

JIM O. SELMAN, prominent rancher, was elected president of the Southwest Rodeo Association at the organization's third annual convention in Woodward, Okla., on December 16. Selman also is chairman of the Woodward Elk Rodeo Trost. Scott D. Hamilton, Fort Smith, Ark., was named second vice-president. Re-elected were Allyn Finch, Dalhart, Tex., first vice-president, and C. A. Stader, Canadian, Tex., secretary-treasurer. Directors include Joe Carey, Guthrie, Okla.; Fay Proctor, Midland, Tex.; Lynn Beutter, El Paso, Tex.; Andy Curtis, El Reno; Omer Lucien, Clinton, Okla.; E. McKendree, Ada; Roy F. Evans, Dodge City, Kan.; Charles Coombes Jr., Dalhart, Tex.; Joe Sullivan, Guymon, Okla.; Raymond Higgins, Little Rock, Ark., and George P. Gilbert, Sidney, Okla. Officials and contestants from rodeos in Iowa, Kansas, Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, and New Mexico attended the convention. The 1941 mid-winter meeting will be held at Dalhart, Tex. It was determined the following method would be the most practical to figure points for all shows in 1941. For each day money, contestants will receive 40, 30, 20, and 10 points; day money and half, 60, 45, 30, and 15 points; double day money, 80, 60, 40, and 20 points. All final money would be figured on the basis of 80, 60, 40, and 20 points. Association believes this method will be fair to each contestant in every event and enable the committee to determine the champions, as well as grand champion, in a fair and impartial manner.

HAPPENINGS in the rodeo field 10 years ago: Frank Polk, after several weeks in Hollywood, went to Phoenix, Ariz., for the holidays. . . . Wildcat McCarty and Vert Higgins motored from Hollywood to make a rodeo in Phoenix, Ariz. . . . Rose Smith Pozegar and husband, Elmer, left Pendleton, Ore., for Eugene, Ore., where Elmer was employed. . . . Col. R. D. (Tiger Bill) and Mrs. Sydner closed their second season with their Wild West Show on D. D. Murphy Show and went to their home in Charlotte, Mich. . . . Ted Switzer and family were playing club dates in Hollywood. . . . Alan F. Black was elected secretary of the Golden Jubilee Rodeo Fair, Broken Bow, Neb. . . . L. C. (Bed) Morrison was named secretary-manager of the Black Hills Tri-State Round-up, Belle Fourche, S. D. . . . Art Dillard, of Texas, and Billy Lynn, of Arizona, were wintering in Hollywood. . . . Texas Estridge was wintering at his home in Tampa, Fla., prior to opening in Florida theaters with his whip and rope acts. . . . Jack Hughes signed with the American Legion Post at Fabens, Fla., to put on an Everglades Roan Festival and Cowboy Stampede. . . . Hoot Gibson was in the East making personal appearances. . . . George Williams, roper and former bronc rider, was injured in an auto accident. . . . CINCINNATI

THIS optimism displayed by the outdoor showmen at their annual conventions in Chicago in early December last over the coming season was well justified, but it should be even stronger now with United States government experts expressing their opinions of general business conditions in 1941 and for several years following.

The consensus of these experts is that this country will have its biggest business boom in history this year—that all the unemployed who are able to work will be absorbed within a few months when industries will be going at full capacity as a result of the government's rearmament program.

These experts point out that national income, which was estimated at $74,000,000,000 for 1940, will possibly exceed $84,000,000,000 in 1941, which would be $2,000,000,000 more than the great boom year of 1929. January, February, and March are expected to show no customary seasonal declines with new shifts of workers added to meet the demand of the administration for speedy production of war materials.

In the last eight months, it was stated, industry added about 2,250,000 employees to pay rolls, and pay rolls for the year of 1940 were the highest in the last 10 years.

The United States Commerce Department reported retail sales thru the year were 7 per cent higher than in 1939, resulting in a total of about $45,000,000,000, and that the Christmas buying season just past broke all records for volume. In 1939 the value of retail sales was $49,000,000,000, but prices at that time were higher than in 1940.

Agriculture seems to be the only weak spot this year, still the experts claim that with prices rising and consumption increased thru greater industrial employment, this will offset in part the loss of foreign export markets.

The railroad and construction industries had a prosperous year in 1940; likewise the auto industry, and indications are that there will be no let-up in these lines.

Because of the demands of both the United States and British governments on American industry, the experts believe that the $17,000,000,000 armament program which was started last year will probably be increased to $30,000,000,000 this year. Contracts amounting to more than $10,000,000 for war supplies for these countries already have been placed, and, as pointed out by the experts, it will require months to fill these and two or three years to fill those to follow.

When employment conditions are good, show business is good, and it looks like the outdoor amusement enterprises worthy of patronage and operated properly are in line not only for big business in 1941, but for several years thereafter. Of course this situation could change quickly if something unforeseen happened.

THE Pacific Coast Showmen's Association and the National Association of Amusement Parks, Pools, and Beaches were given recognition in Domestic Commerce, a weekly bulletin issued in Washington by the U. S. Department of Commerce (Jesse H. Jones, secretary) and Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce (James W. Youngs, director). Both organizations received notices in the issue of December 12 under "Trade Association Activities," the data being furnished by the secretary in each case.

The notice about the PCSA read: "The following unique description of its membership has been received from the Pacific Coast Showmen's Association, an organization composed of both employers and employees in the circus and carnival industry, formed in 1922: 'Our membership of over 600 is very much cross-section.' It consists of promoters of circuses and carnivals, advertising agents, truck drivers, talkers, canvassers, etc., including one gentleman who is a 'bearded lady.' The facilities of our headquarters office are one of our foremost services; there is a buffet, reception hall, assembly room, library, and board of governors' room. (623 South Grand Avenue, Los Angeles; Lou W. Johnson, Executive Secretary.)"

And here's what was said about the NAAPPB: "The early-December annual convention and trade show of the National Association of Amusement Parks, Pools, and Beaches had an attendance of over 1,000. Its membership includes 350 manufacturers and distributors of recreational equipment and devices, as well as proprietors of parks and piers and concessionaires. This association estimates that the present national total of major amusement parks is about 200. (201 North Wells Building, Chicago; A. R. Hodges, Secretary.)"

IT WAS a sort of elephant week in Milwaukee shortly before Christmas when seven pachyderms were in town. The local papers devoted considerable space to them. No, the bulls were not in one show, but several. Six were from out of town. The seventh was Venice, whose home is at Washington Park. Singer's Midgets had two with them at the Riverside Theater; Polack Bros.' Circus, getting ready to follow the midgets at the Riverside, one; Will Hill, two at Gimbel Bros. store, and Frank Buck, of the World's Fair Highlights, one.

IF YOU have ever tried to move from one office to another, do your Christmas shopping, address Christmas cards, root for news, and review the current vaudeville and night clubs all at once and the same time, you can get some idea of what we were up against during Christmas week. These moving (not movie) guys are the most pestering people in the world. "Just leave everything as is in your desks and letter files," they tell you, "and we'll see that it arrives at the new office in perfect order—only don't leave anything in 'em that may leak." (As if we'd be guilty of having any leakables in our desk.) Well, everything arrived. In perfect order? One guess is enough. These movers are the greatest minnows we've ever seen. They even qualify as slight-of-hand artists. You look for something in the B file and find a bunch of W's. Stuff you'd swear you put in the upper left hand drawer turns up in the lower right. But, slowly, order is emerging out of chaos, and some time in 1941 we hope once more to have everything at our fingertips.

New location, in case you haven't read the boxes that have been sprinkled thru The Billboard the last couple of weeks, is 155 N. Clark Street—Suite 1214. We hope you'll come up and say hello. First visitors were our neighbors, Larry Hogan and Jack Duffield, who found Boss Hog Littleford seated behind an 18-18-inch table, his six-foot desk having failed to arrive as per schedule. But it's all set now, and the latchstring is out!

JACK (ABIE) TAVLIN concluded his midget show at Goldblatt's State Street department store on Christmas Eve and reports it is the most successful show he has yet held. Jack has left for Sarasota, Fla., and from there will go to New York.

Frank Braden, doing special promotional work for the Walt Disney show, stopped off briefly in Chi on his way to L. A. but didn't have an opportunity to pay his usual holiday visit to the home folks in Waukesha, Ill.

DeBaugh, manager of the local Ringling office, left for Philadelphia Thursday (26) on the Pennsylvania General. On the same train were Phil and Mike Shapiro, of Globe Poster. The Sonja Henie ice show, which opened Thursday (26), is getting a terrific play, as usual, and Stadium officials are happily going crazy trying to handle the ticket demands.

ONE of the joys of the holidays is looking over the greeting cards when the rush of Christmas is past and noting the originality displayed by many of the senders. They run the gamut from clever comedy to quiet dignity.

W. W. WORKE TENT, of the Circus Saints and Sinners Club, will hold its annual Christmas party January 4 at the John Marshall Hotel, Richmond, Va. The tent has an attractive, circuse menu and program for the occasion. Special Christmas and New Year entertainment committee includes Charles A. Sonoma, chairman; Alber D. (Ham) Watson, ring master; Thomas A. Scott, Lewis H. Munden, Ferdinand J. Halling, William Homburg, Joseph I. Kasa, Francis E. Rose, Jack A. Lyons, James E. Mann, and Clarence T. Riddick.

TED LA VELDA, since the close of the Al G. Kelley-Miller Bros. Circus season, has been operating a small museum to fair business. He had to contend with quite a bit of rain, the in Louisiana and Arkansas. He recently visited his parents in Hot Springs, Ark. After Christmas he reopened and will work east, playing three-day stands in medium-sized towns. He is carrying one outstanding freak, with the remainder of his show consisting of novelty acts. He will operate his side show on a motorized circus next year.

CIRCUS PERFORMERS and clowns at two large St. Louis department stores closed Christmas Eve. At Famous-Barr were the Bakers, clowns; Lou Morgan, comedy bicyclist riding; Lefty Bartholomew, magician; Roy Barrett, clown; Joe Franklin and His Pal dog act; Otto Griebel, clown; and Monty Beechler's dog act. Francis W. Muschlin Jr. and Herbert Tompkins, circus men, acted as Santa Clauses at Scruggs-Vandervoort and Barney store, and Danny McPride presented his Trained Pigs for the third successive year. Craig McAlester clowned.

The Whirl of Today

OLD-TIMER—Walter L. Main, the veteran circus man who is crowding 80 but whose skin is still baby pink (and he's as glib and analytical as ever he was), will revive his own title if he can unearth the proper equipment at the right price. "How many younger people in circus are as enthusiastic as Main?"

YOUNG-TIMER—The intelligent son of an intelligent father goes on his own this year after dogging his daddy's footprints in parkies, tho he's also done solo work. He's Rex D. Billings Jr., just named manager of Seaside Park, Virginia Beach, Va. A few more like young Rex and the amusement park industry needn't worry about its future.

ITINERARY—After seven weeks in Hot Springs, Dick Gildorf, of Dick's Paramount Shows, hit town, then to his Nutmeg State quarters, to be followed by a trip thru New England, making fair meetings in between. Gildorf threatens to tour the South next season.

COMPLAINT—Edgar H. (Doc) Kelley, the Gales Ferry (Conn.) institution, sizes as follows: "For the third time in as many years I am calling your attention to the fact that Out in the Open did not open in December 14 issue. How long must we suffer this injustice?" The Doc is more familiar with our omissions than we are.

HISTORY—Bob (Bazooka) Burns, with his wife, Elizabeth, and son, Bobby Jr., was on the Veal Shows, 1923-24, when the bazookas was unheard of and Bing Crosby had not yet crossed his path. Following John Veal's death in 1922, Mary Veal married George W. Johnson, now deceased, who owned the fraternal circus bearing his name. Mrs. Johnson sends a note to say that there are two things she never misses—one of Bob's films and the weekly unfolding of what show trade paper?

ERRORS—An otherwise brilliant piece by Billy Rose by Jack Alexander in The Saturday Evening Post was marred by two glaring faults. Lincoln Dickey mentioned as general manager of the Aquacades, died two months before the date of issue. The site of International Circus in New York, indicated as having Rose's interest for a project, has been sold out as one of the town's largest clothing shops—and the announcements on same had been going on for weeks.

FILM—Don't miss Chad Hanna, from the serialized Wagon Wheels Rolling. Go to see it and the question as to why Hollywood has never produced a good authentic circus picture will still go begging. There isn't a good circus scene in it, despite a wealth of material and opportunity.

COMMUNIQUE—From The Despatch Rider, probably the only daily newspaper in the Canadian Active Service Force, forwarded to us by its editor,

Truck and Trailer LegislationIllinois Act Upheld

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill.—Dec. 28.—The Illinois truck control act was sustained by Judge Victor Hemphill in Sangamon County Circuit Court in a recent case filed by the Certificated Motor Carriers, the Ready Trucking Company, and Harry Miller, of Taylorville, Ill., in which the plaintiffs stated the act was invalid because it delegated excessive regulatory power to the motor carriers' division of the State Department of Public Works and Buildings.

The only section of the act that Judge Hemphill did not sustain was the one that made mandatory the granting of a certificate to any trucker presenting affidavits signed by 25 shippers in his area, stating that his services are needed. One of the main provisions of the act is a periodic compulsory testing of brakes and other parts of trucks.

Liability on SS Reported On by Danziger in '37

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Dec. 28.—The situation in which fairs find that they are subject to payment of Social Security taxes for 1937, '38, and '39, as brought out at the annual meeting of the Fair Managers' Association of Iowa in Des Moines on December 9 and 10, was anticipated as early as 1937 by Milton Danziger, assistant general manager of Eastern States Exposition here and then chairman of the governmental relations committee of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions.

The Iowa association's action in instructing its legislative committee to study ways and means to secure exemption for the three years followed statements by F. M. Halpin, chief of employment, tax division, Internal Revenue Department, that the present exemption went into effect on January 1, 1940, and does not exempt fairs from Social Security obligations for the three preceding years.

In his report to the IAFA at its 47th annual meeting in the Hotel Sherman, Chicago, on November 30, 1937, Chairman Danziger said: "Your chairman carried on a fruitless correspondence with the bureau and then appeared personally before a bureau commissioner and attorney at Washington. It was the opinion of the legal division and sustained by the commissioners that, inasmuch as Congress did not expressly exempt fairs, it could not be written into the law by implication that the fairs were exempt. The bureau makes clear, however, that this ruling in no wise jeopardizes the exemptions fairs now enjoy in other provisions of federal income tax laws."

1940 Iowa Aid Is $140,000

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 28.—The 88 county and district fairs in Iowa received $21,000.27 as their second-half payments of State aid, bringing the total received in 1940 to more than $140,000. Previous payments amounted to $118,583. Funds are allotted to county and district fairs in accordance with a State law providing for annual State-aid payments to fairs which meet certain restrictions. Based on a percentage of what fairs pay in premiums, aid is provided thru a biennial appropriation from the Legislature. Maximum payment to any fair in 1940 was $1,890.88, with 29 county and district fairs receiving that amount. County amounts ranged down to $624.23.

MILLERSBURG, O.—Uhl E. Stelmash was elected president of Holmes County air Association; Fred Sprang, vice-president; H. C. Logsdon, secretary; Bert Glaue, treasurer. Verl Sprang was retained as assistant secretary.

Special Programs And Name Days

By ROY RUPARD

Address by the secretary of the State Fair of Texas, Dallas, at the 50th annual convention of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions in the Hotel Sherman, Chicago, on December 3.

In discussing the subject of Special Days and Programs, I can only tell of our own successes or failures in the promotion of the attendance of large groups. We have found that where a pattern fits one group, it may be a failure with another. We have had some most successful special days. We have also had some failures, one of the latter being our own Dallas Day. In spite of all our efforts we have been unable to build up a large attendance on that day. The larger stores feel that there will be big crowds in town who wish to combine their visit to the fair with a shopping tour, and the stores insist on remaining open as an accommodation to them. This may be sound reasoning. At any rate, they refuse to close and, of course, the smaller merchants follow the leaders.

Among our most successful special days have been Children's Day, Negro Day, Opening Day, and Woodmen of the World, or Fraternal Day. Each one of these days has been a promotion in itself. During the past few years we have given our special day program a great deal of thought, and we feel that these promotions have been well reflected in additional gate receipts.

In 1938, after the close of the Pan-American Exposition and the resumption of our fairs, we had about 112 special days. We handled most of the promotion thru our regular organization up to the fair period, then we employed a young man to handle details, to meet all special groups, and provide anything they might require for their meetings.

Kids' Day Outstanding

In 1939 we set up a department to have charge of these special-day activities, and employed a man to take it over. The success of this move is reflected in the fact that we made more than 150 special designations in that year. The same was true in 1940, which we feel was our most successful year in the matter of specially designated days. We were fortunate in finding a man admirably suited to just that sort of planning, and gave him full rein. We feel that much of the success of our 1939 and 1940 fairs is due to this special work and exploitation. In addition to the special days we have had at work on this program, several of our days have been handled by committees appointed for this purpose. We had committees at work on our opening day, Dallas Day, Woodmen of the World, Army Day, and Negro Day, and these proved to be outstanding successes.

Children's Day brought the largest single day's attendance in our history. (See SPECIAL DAYS on page 50.)

Crowd Lure of Attendance Awards

Address by Harold P. DePue, secretary-manager of North Montana State Fair, Great Falls, at the 50th anniversary convention of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions in the Hotel Sherman, Chicago, on December 4.

My topic is The Crowd Lure of Attendance Awards.

In speaking to you concerning such a subject, I find myself torn between two emotions.

The first is the rather self-conscious glow of a mother who sees her infant walk off with a high prize in the annual baby contest. For, boastful as it may seem, a fair which I managed at Sidney, Mont., in 1922 became the first in the United States to institute the awarding of attendance prizes in a manner exactly similar to that which is followed today by fairs and expositions throughout the nation in making similar awards.

My second emotion in discussing this

Thrill Shows of Winkley Contracted at Many Fairs

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Frank R. Winkley, veteran producer, performer, and booker of thrill shows, reports that among 10 contracts he already holds for his own unit and for Jimmie Lynch's Death Dodgers are those of Hardin County Fair, Eldora, Ia., at which he has presented shows for five successive years, and Wapello County Fair, Eldon, Ia., where he will play the fourth consecutive year. Winkley's Suicide Club will appear at Clay County Fair, Spencer, Ia.; All-Iowa Fair, Cedar Rapids; South Dakota State Fair, Huron, and Freeborn County Fair, Albert Lea, Minn.

5G Fire Loss at Greenville

GREENVILLE, S. C., Dec. 28.—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed 111 horse stables recently at Greenville County Fairgrounds. Stored equipment of Greenville Horse Show Association also burned. It was valued at about $750, according to Harry R. Stephenson, a show official. Total loss was about $5,000. C. A. Herlong, owner of the fairgrounds property, said that stables were insured for $2,500. Horse show equipment was not insured. Herlong said he planned to replace the stables immediately.

More Miss. Support Urged

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 28.—Mississippi Free State Fair here will be continued in 1941 on a "much bigger scale than the 'economy fair' of 1940," said Mayor Walter Scott, president of the fair. "Our biggest worry now is getting suitable premiums for agricultural and livestock exhibits, but we are sure of a way to get around this drawback. During the coming session of the Legislature we intend to renew our fight, only on a bigger scale, for its support of the fair."

subject is a rather amazed wonder that I failed to realize the full possibilities of attendance awards and what they would come to mean in the amusement world. To explain more fully, let me say that while you and I speak of them as "attendance awards" others speak of them differently.

They achieve exactly the same purpose in exactly the same way by making what they call "bank night" awards. However, those who picked up the idea and changed it slightly for motion picture use seem to have been somewhat more acute than I.

Did they try it out, find it worked, use it, and let it go at that? They did not.

There still rises to haunt me the memory of a deal made a few years ago in a Western city, when certain motion picture magnates met with the gentlemen who had gone just one step further than I. These gentlemen had taken a step which cost them $1. They had copyrighted the name "bank night" and hedged in its use with legal restrictions.

When they ended their conference with the motion picture magnates these gentlemen had allowed themselves to be talked out of their rights, including the copyright. You may imagine my feelings when I tell you that the consideration involved was the sum of $1,000,000.

Support Is Stronger

In looking back over that experience I wonder if there are not many parallels in the memories of you whose lives have been spent in the atmosphere of fairs and expositions. For after all many of the ideas now regarded as standard merchandising, sales, and exploitation practices by the nation's leading business concerns originated in the fertile brains of fair managers, harried by the never-ending demand to give the public "something new." We have given them that "something new" and I think many times we have failed to realize the possibilities of our brain children.

I thought the attendance award was a good idea when I started it in Sidney in 1922. Today call it attendance award, bank night, or what have you, I still think it is a good idea and one that will do one thing vital to the peace of mind of any amusement purveyor. That thing is to bring to his gates a capacity or near-capacity crowd on a night that would otherwise be marked by poor attendance.

I might say that the Sidney Fair is still using attendance awards for that (See ATTENDANCE AWARDS on page 56)

Around the Grounds

MARION, O.—Marion County Agricultural Society reported 1940 cash balance of $780.

CLINTON, N. C.—Announcement has been made that the Columbia Lions' Club will operate 1941 Sampson County Fair here.

SHELBY, O.—Report of Shelby Community Street Fair Association showed cash balance of nearly $100 and that a record crowd of 30,000 attended the 1940 annual. Survey committee headed by M. Dale Kuhn, reported that 85 per cent of the Shelby merchants favor 1941 fair, plans for which are already under way.

COSHOCOTON, O.—Coshocton County Agricultural Society has decided to permit a group to sponsor high-stake harness races at the 1941 fair here. Races, part of a three-week circuit embracing Marysville and Lancaster, O., will pay $7,000 in purses. They are to be run in addition to regular class races and will be of no expense to the fair.

SOPERTON, Ga.—A. A. Calbom, Soperton business man, has purchased old Treutlen County Fairground here for $2,000. Property comprises five acres of land and two buildings.

WARREN, Minn.—In 1940 Marshall County Agricultural Association paid $600 on a debt and closed the year with a treasury balance.

ST. JOHN, N. B.—In addition to using buildings of the St. John Fair plant, the Canadian Army is building huts on the grounds, involving demolition of the grandstand. Exhibition association has leased the plant for an indefinite period, and the revenue is covering the association deficit caused by fixed expenses.

DE PERE, Wis.—Brown County Fair has scheduled a Thrill Day, two days of harness races, and one day of auto races for its 1941 five-day annual, reported Secretary W. S. Klaus.

RELIPOONTAINE, O.—Cash balance of $2,275, about $400 more than last year, is in the hands of Logan County Fair Association after expenditures of $13,000 and full payment of premiums.

SWEETWATER, Tex.—Sweetwater Fair board is to direct expenditure of $3,000 appropriated by the city commission at $1,000 a year to improve the plant of the Midwest Livestock Show and Exposition here. First $1,000 is to be applied to reconditioning of buildings, for which an NYA project is sought, and a WPA project to construct a livestock arena and sales ring.

Fair Elections

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo.—Cape Girardeau Fair board elected B. V. Beal manager.

WOOSTER, O.—Wayne Society Agricultural Society re-elected M. C. Ehrhart, president; R. Swinehart, vice-president; Walter J. Buss, secretary-treasurer.

MARION, O.—Samuel F. Lauer was elected president of Marion County Agricultural Society, succeeding C. S. Dutton.

ALTAMONT, N. Y.—Sheriff Foster Decker was elected president of Altamont-Schenectady County Fair Association; B. J. Franken, vice-president; W. M. Goff, treasurer.

MENOMONIE, Wis.—Dunn County Agricultural Society re-elected S. B. Ingram, president; Hugh Campbell, vice-president; R. L. Pierce, secretary; H. C. Olson, treasurer.

ELKHORN, Wis.—Walworth County Agricultural Society named Fred Vaughn, president; Paul Gavin, vice-president; F. M. Porter, secretary; R. V. Brown, treasurer.

TAYLOR, Tex.—Royce Chaney was elected temporary president of newly organized Williamson County Fair Association; George Prewitt and Dr. Elwood K. Doak, vice-presidents; S. G. Gernert, treasurer; Wilson Fox, secretary.

HALLOCK, Minn.—Kitson County Agricultural Society re-elected Albin Olson, president; D. J. Larson, secretary.

WARREN, Minn.—Marshall County Agricultural Association re-elected R. B. Taraseth, president; Clayton Olson, vice-president; L. O. Winberg, treasurer; Oliver Matson, secretary.

BATH, N. Y.—Steuben County Agricultural Society re-elected H. M. Atherton, president; J. Victor Faust, secretary; James Faust, treasurer. J. Victor Faust has served the society 18 years, last five of which were as secretary. James Faust has served 31 years, over 40 of which were as treasurer.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—T. H. Barton was elected president of Arkansas Livestock Show Association. State Senator Clyde E. Byrd was re-elected secretary and Sam Grindstaff, treasurer.

LAKE CHARLES, La.—Arthur L. Gayle was re-elected president of Southwest Louisiana Fat Stock Show and Rodeo Association; Robert L. James, treasurer; Sam M. Richard, secretary; John M. Powell, Benson Vincent, W. S. Kingery, P. W. West, Luther Williams, F. A. Godchaux Jr., Mayor J. H. Handley, vice-presidents.

Advertising the Modern Fair

By E. PAUL JONES
Publicity Director, State Fair of Texas, Dallas

IT WOULD, indeed, be presumptuous on my part to come before you and attempt to set up a formula by which your fair could get publicity. In the first place, there is no publicity formula. Every publicity campaign has got to make its own breaks and take advantage of those as they appear. In fact, it is you gentlemen who make it possible for your press agents to get publicity at all. It is you, Mr. Secretary and Mr. President, who arrange the programs which we later publicize. The program itself is the yardstick by which the publicity potentialities are gauged.

And so we propose to discuss only some of our own experiences and our methods of obtaining more publicity each year for the State Fair of Texas. We are unlike a fellow Texan who a few years ago forged rapidly to the front as a big-league baseball player. He was a sensation and received the praises of sports writers throughout the nation. His hue and cry was for publicity. "I don't care what you write, just put my name in the paper." And it was but a short time until they had publicized him out of the majors, into the minors, and thence back to guiding a plow down between two rows of cotton. He is now unrun, unlamented, and forgotten.

Instead, fairs must have favorable publicity. We have goods to sell, and the only means we have of selling them is by creating a favorable demand. We have tried over the years to get only favorable publicity. In selling our bill of goods, we keep ever in mind that 99 per cent of our patrons come to the fair to be amused. He comes to be amused but he has got to have the excuse of coming for educational purposes. He creates in his own mind the necessity of his trip to see the livestock, the poultry, the agriculture, or some new form of machinery, when way down deep in his heart he knows that he is going to make the trip most to see some of Mike Barnes's show girls.

Personal Contact Best

We stress publicity on our livestock, agriculture, chemurgy, and other educational features. Then, just before the fair opens, we blast away with publicity on our grandstand or auditorium attraction, our carnival, or any other amusement feature which would be of interest to the tired farmer, the tired rancher, or the tired business man.

Our campaign is planned for some 10 months of the year, and the other two months are used for the execution of same. During this time we send out "feelers" to try to gauge the popularity of what we have to offer. These feelers consist of stories on our various educational features, fillers on various subjects, and a few mate on these subjects. That which "feels" best, or gets the best return in clippings, is generally the theme of our later publicity, our mats and pictures.

During these 10 months of planning, we find that our most effective work is in personal contact. We also try to feel our way along in this personal contact.

In Texas we have some 800 daily and weekly newspapers. We have six press associations—five regional and one State-wide association. Each of these associations has an annual convention and we have the best copy material. We use the girls for the splash. We can generally determine the newspapers which will use the art type of girl pictures and those which want pictures of girls in more conservative dress. We have two sources for girl pictures and for the model type. We draw our queens from the 176 members of the Texas Association of Fairs. A large number of these county and community fairs have queen contests. We have in Texas our Spinach Queens, our Valley Queens, Peanut, Watermelon, Peach, Tomato, and various other queens. We invite all of these queens to participate in the Queen Pageant. We select the Queen of Queens after numerous events are staged on our opening day and the winner is given a trip to Hollywood, where Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer gives her a movie test.

We have not turned out any famous movie stars as yet, but our committee is still hopeful that we will turn up another Joan Blondell, Ann Sheridan, or Ginger Rogers. And in connection with this pageant, we might say that it gives us our best source of localized publicity, which is always good for a story. Localized stories, in my opinion, rank next to the personal contact work. In addition to our queens, we localize stories on exhibits, especially agriculture, livestock and poultry, and the boys' exhibits. Bands, special days, and committee members, honorary vice-presidents also furnish good material for localized stories.

Scores With Press Day

We have found the newspapers in our section very co-operative as long as we show a tendency to co-operate with them. We have co-operated by giving all of them passes, some of them advertising, and by not asking any of them to do too much. We have scored heavily with newspapers of the Southwest by our Press Day. We turn the grounds over to them on Press Day, which is observed on opening day. A number of years ago each newspaper, whether daily or weekly, was limited to two tickets. It made no difference if both the publisher and editor came, or whether he brought children—two tickets were the limit.

We changed this. Now they come and some of the papers bring their printers along. We give them tickets to a luncheon, to carnival shows and rides, to the football game of the day, to our Queen Pageant, and to our grandstand. We have had numerous cases of abuse of our generosity, but generally speaking great dividends have been collected.

The papers have given us three to ten times as much publicity as before. We have found that the newspapers will give when we give and we try never to turn a newspaper down whenever it is possible to grant its request.

Of course, if we give the papers a little paid space along with our publicity material it helps a lot, too. We try to advertise in as many papers each year as our budget will stand. Two years ago we bought space in every newspaper in the entire State. We generally buy space

Girls for a Splash

Agriculture is always a cinch for stories. During the past two years we have found our best publicity bet in the Southwest to be livestock. We have had a tremendous increase in livestock interest in our State and in the entire Southwest. We lost millions of acres to the cotton curtailment program and these acres have been put into grains and other foodstuffs. An organization composed of breeders, bankers, hardware men, agricultural leaders, and others, known as the Texas Breeder-Feeder Association, has conducted a campaign to sell farmers the idea of walking their grain to market rather than selling it in the open market. The results of this campaign, tied into our own publicity, have been little short of remarkable. This increased interest has spread livestock throughout our State and there is not a newspaper in Texas which does not welcome a good livestock story any time. We have been fortunate in the fact that for two years we have entertained the National Hereford Show and this event has given us thousands of lines of reader publicity.

There has likewise been a tremendous interest in chemurgy. It is new, fascinating, and offers new outlets for farm crops. It has struck the fancy of the press, and chemurgy stories have scored heavily during the two years we have presented Chemurgy Shows.

Of course, girls properly presented, pro-

New York World's Fair

Experience the Best Teacher After All

A Paper Written for the 50th Anniversary Convention of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions in the Hotel Sherman, Chicago, December 4

By LEONARD TRAUBE-

New York Office, The Billboard

A person would be an awful dumbhead if he didn't learn something from the World's Fair—even as a mere observer with two years of coverage of the actual operation and three years of watching how the organization came into being on April 30, 1939.

To learn is one thing—to apply that learning quite another. The showman came away from Flushing Meadows with an armful of ammunition for application to his profession. The ride operator is now greater in mental and inspirational stature as a result of the Gotham Gargantua. The general concessionaire emerged with many a new technique for future use. The officials of State and county fairs gathered the findings of the foregoing major classes augmenting that knowledge with such divisions as he might be interested in—lighting, architecture, construction, special events, ground transportation and traffic control, publicity, advertising, and a veritable horde of other classifications.

The shoemaker to his last, each man to his need, but there was a common denominator—what was it? The answer is too obvious: It was the gate. That means attendance. That means a per capita for individual box offices. If there is anything more important, what is it? Until dissenters give voice to their beliefs, let's examine the cold statistics.

We learn, first, that there was little to choose between the two years. Why should that be? The second edition, 1940, figured to be overwhelmingly second-rate, but it wasn't. In certain departments 1940 was even better, amounting to a reversal of the experience of the ages.

Hint for Historians

The paid attendance for the 170-day run in 1940 was 19,115,713. This was a decline of approximately 5,000,000 as measured against the corresponding period the year before. It stacked up against the first 170 days of 1939 the decline was less than 4,000,000. The daily average—easily the most important value any public project can shoot at—was 112,386 in 1940 or about 27,000 less per day than during 1939. If the re-run fair had had the 16 extra days which 1939 enjoyed, it would have attracted an additional 4,075,000 people. Month-by-month 1940 attendance was twin-like in character as compared with the first edition. October-September were in the 1-2 positions each year. This year's June, fourth in ranking, was fifth the year before. But 1940's July was the real stickler, coming out fifth as against third last year, a position enjoyed this year by August, which was fourth in 1939.

An analysis of October of 1940 furnishes a remarkable hint for historians. It drew 4,642,158 people, a daily average for the 27 days of 171,881, a figure which is unparalleled in the history of crowd magnetism. Altho the total was about half a million off last year's pace, it would have done 100,000 better than the same month in 1939 had the current year's concluding month enjoyed the four extra days.

A chart of final paid attendance, with a summary of and comparison with 1939, gives an intimate picture of operations. The cold figures are often superficial, they can be bent, twisted, and distorted to give different meanings to different people, depending on what one is seeking to prove, the honest person—the realist—can derive from them a statistical record of incontrovertible evidence in his quest for Truth and, as a consequence, his march toward the pinnacle which we know as Perfection.

High Charge Disastrous

We learn from an examination of the record that there were 114 days in 1939 which lured better than 100,000 each, or 62 per cent of the 185 days. In 1940 there were 59 days—or about 35 per cent—in that category. Four Sundays in October during both years brought attendance of 200,000 or better. This is inexorable tribute to the all-knowing God who ruled that Man rest on the seventh day of the week. Liberal interpretation would cause our amusement impresarios to say that wholesome pleasure is seeking relaxation by an inspection of educational exhibits, and inspired thinking thru the noble aspects of an exposition are the greatest forms of restfulness. It might precipitate an avalanche of fairs with Sunday openings or closings or both, a policy which is in practice at many State and county fairs today. I hope no one will think me vulgar for attempting a commercial link to a Biblical passage.

Figures are traditionally cold, impersonal, impervious, but they are also human because it is humans who conceive figures and sustain them. We shall come to that presently. The first edition of the New York colossus got 75 cents at the gate. Five dollars would not have been too much, despite the dissenting opinions of disgruntled, demure, and disordered minds. Make it 10 dollars and the exposition would still have been a good buy. But show business as represented by an exposition cannot deal with actual values and expect the public to be persuaded. Ability to pay is far more important than commodity merit. To visit an exposition, or to visit a State or county fair, is to visit an intangible. It is all things to all men, but is first and foremost an expression of one of man's noblest virtues—that of being inspired as he is entertained and educated. This may sound like fanciful worded idealism, but man does have ideals and he is inspired, whether he is aware of it or not.

By charging 75 cents in 1939 the fair killed its opportunities for magnetizing a minimum 40,000,000 people, and it would emphatically have done so despite a multitude of weaknesses, part and parcel of which was a hostile national press. Let's skip the gruesome details—they are too familiar already. Let's just say that the financial tycoons in back of the fair were irresponsible in their desire to maintain a 75-cent admission, unwilling to indulge in "tested experimentation" save on week-ends and in the hours after sundown—and this after much cajoling, begging, coaxing, flattery, and urging on the part of operators and, incidentally, a trade press which shall go nameless out of sheer modesty.

Human Element Enters

This brings up the human element. Toward the end of the 1939 run the be-flowered and dazzling glamour boy, the some being the gardened Grover Whalen, was succeeded as active chief-tain by a man whose practical vision and unexampled genius for getting things assembled and executed the right way with the right people, including the personal and professional advice of the late Lincoln Dickey, changed the course of history. In the "winterism" period that vision and that genius became a reality for application to the Forty Fair. The man was Harvey D. Gibson, chairman of the board of the World's Fair and the most powerful factor in the entire set-up.

Mr. Gibson belongs in the show business—he is a snake charmer par excellence—he is out of a page of Barnum's—he is that kind of freak who had the unprecedented courage and the colossal gall and daring to take the advice of experience—the advice, mind you, of people who spend their lives learning how to make money—the people in the show business. Mr. Gibson surely belongs on the midway of any combination of shows on any combination of fairgrounds. Imagine a millionaire of the Gibson type shattering precedent by seeking the counsel of thousands! Mr. Gibson would have made the Prince of Humbuggs famous!

Came the dawn of 1940 and with it a gate admission lowered one-third to 50 cents. But this program of customer encouragement ran parallel to another program: On the negative side, the fair was deodorized, altho deodorization is not very negative except as a figure of speech. On the positive side, the fair was humanized, personalized—and that is very positive indeed. What do we have as elements? We have a 75-cent admission sliced down to a popular-looking four bits. We have a smell that was eliminated. We have a stuffed shirt atmosphere that was brought down to earth, the symbolic old shoe that gives man comfort.

Result? The fair bloomed during the re-run in a manner that almost shaded the super-star-studded virgin edition.

Conclusion? There must be something in that gate business and the policy that is inevitably intertwined with it.

In 1933, on the very floor of this convention, Raymond Lee, of Minnesota State Fair, proved it before the New York World's Fair was even heard of. In 1932 the gate fee at Minnesota had been 50 cents. The next year the fair did an unprecedented thing—it reduced it to a quarter. The result is deeply imbedded in the record. Grosses were increased in every major department—gate, grandstand, and midway. The net profit was greater than during the 1932 regime. Minnesota's parallel program was an "Everybody Pays" technique, but it could implement that demand only after instituting a cut in admission to a price that could not possibly be lower unless it were nothing at all. As a parenthetical remark it must be stated here that the World's Fair of 1939 and 1940 was the most passable fair in history. There was leakage, to be sure, but the leakage was normal, anticipated—it did not in the least affect the foundation.

Gate Most Important

We have tried to prove that there isn't anything more important than what you charge the customers to get into your grounds. From our amateur point of view it is one of the first fundamentals of good operation, the soundest expression of good business judgment. Yet it is this very factor which, while it is supposed to solve financial problems, often defeats its own ends by becoming an obstacle. The reason is that you cannot—or I think you cannot—improve your financial status thru customer suffering. In short, no customer or potential customer will become the patsy on the mere basis of civic pride or community consciousness. Minneboro—this is my shining example but there are countless others—made a virtue out of its reduction. It made civic pride a must, and by making it a must made it pay.

If the pocketbook is affected, save your sentimental passages and appeals for your broadsides or where you will. Or try it on your piano and see what tune you can evoke. The fact that the populace is flocking to your gates does (See N. Y. WORLD'S FAIR on page 50)

County and District Fairs What They Mean to State Fairs

Address Delivered at the 50th Anniversary Convention of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions in the Hotel Sherman, Chicago, December 3

By MRS. DON A. DETRICK

Bellefontaine, O.

Altho I have for many years watched the development and work of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions from afar with keenest interest, this is my first visit to an annual meeting of the association, and I would like to take this opportunity to express on my behalf and on behalf of the 100 fairs of Ohio, heartiest congratulations to the officers and directors of the IAFAE, as well as to those members of the association who have made its continuance and advancement thru the years possible. The International Association of Fairs and Expositions has in its 50 years rendered most valuable service to American fairdom and may celebrate its golden jubilee with pride not only for past achievements but also for the splendid foundation for the future which has been laid.

Making a talk reminds me of a story about a housing expert who took a trip into the Scandinavian peninsula to make a talk on better housing to the Laplanders. He arrived at one of the small towns and set up his exhibit in the only available building. The hour for the lecture came, and while a huge crowd of the villagers had gathered outside the hall, no one ventured inside. The lecturer stepped

First Profit of Pageant in AC Peps Sponsors

ATLANTIC CITY, Dec. 28.—The recordfeat of the Atlantic City Beauty Pageant of paying off its debts and showing a profit was achieved for the first time when a certified check for $10,000, payable to the city, was drawn by pageant officials and presented to the city commissioners on the day before Christmas. The check represents a similar amount given by the city to pageant officials in advance of the 1940 event to help defray expense. The report shows that in addition to paying the city, two $1,000 checks were given to local charities and a profit of $300 remained for working capital next year.

All pageant officers were re-elected, including Bennett E. Toussie, president; Frank P. Gravatt, operator of Steel Pier, and Howard Buzzy, vice-president; Paul J. O'Neill, treasurer; Lurene Slaughter, secretary.

It was decided that the 1941 pageant will also be held in Convention Hall, used this year at a cost of $1,000 to the pageant committee, which was also paid. Prior to 1940 the pageant was held on Steel Pier. The Mardi Gras, a success this year despite limited preparation, is to be made into "a real big event next year," according to Toussie. The baby parade, sponsored by Hamid's Million-Dollar Pier, and the Mummers' Frolic from Philadelphia will be retained and improved. An all-year pageant publicity campaign is being planned.

GEORGE T. SMITH, associated with Lake Worth Amusement Company, former operator of Casino Park at Lake Worth near Fort Worth, Tex., since 1928, is listed as continuing management of Casino Ballroom there. City of Fort Worth will operate the building beach after demolition of other equipment in the bankrupt park. Manager Smith, representing S. N. Arm, Bellfontaine, O., to whom the ballroom was sold as first mortgage holder, is negotiating for a five-year lease on the city-owned site.

In Changing World

By HARRY A. ACKLEY

Address by member of Ackley, Brodley, & Day, Pittsburgh, at 22nd annual meeting of National Association of Amusement Parks, Pools, and Beaches in Chicago on December 5.

This is a symposium to establish some facts and to peer, if not into, at least toward the future. Frankly, the view is not clear, visibility is low, and perception is dulled by the thunder of world events. That we are in a changing world is not to be disputed. When one tries to reconcile the past experiences with the present and to make plans to apply the rules of this industry, as we have learned them, to the future, there is apt to appear before one's vision the spectre of frustration. It is not easy to even state the problem in understanding terms; less easy to offer a solution.

A Roman philosopher, viewing the breakdown of the old order all around him and failing to perceive the arrival of any new order, wrote, "And therefore who so seeks the truth shall find in no wise peace of heart." When I accepted this assignment—rather late for sound research—I sent out a call for help on the subject. Before me is a letter which says, in part:

"I have stood on the sidelines and watched the decline in cash receipts of amusement parks since 1919; I have observed that the attractions that formerly brought great crowds no longer attract them. I am not particularly pessimistic today, but you asked for it."

And he offered no remedy. Another contributor who has undoubtedly been exposed to a changing world during these eruptive times has some criticism to offer and some constructive remedies to recommend and we shall hear from him from the floor. Some time ago I had the privilege of reviewing some graphs prepared by a man well qualified to assemble such data and the curve labeled, "Receipts From Park Rides," was plotted to show a continuous downward trend, and another curve labeled, "Volume of Installment Sales of Automobiles" was plotted in an upward sweep over the same period of time.

Cut Loose From Past

This work was done to prove the direct relationship between the revolutionary increase in the use of automobiles by the masses of the people and the decline of patronage on the riding devices in parks, particularly the Coasters. His facts were authentic and the argument seemed conclusive. Rides (and with them, parks) were doomed and the date of extinction was set, according to that authority, at precisely two years from

Who Said No Room For Youngies? Ask R. D. Billings Jr.

MIAMI, Dec. 28.—Yule cheer this year comes to the vacationing house of Rex D. Billings Jr., a typical chip off the old block. The old block is Billings, the elder, general manager of Belmont Park, Montreal, another Miami regular. Father RDB is no Methuselah, which makes his son very much within draft age, but junior is much wiser and much more experienced than his actual age would indicate.

What's the fuss all about? Item: Rex Jr., also known as Buddy, has been appointed manager of Seaside Park, Virginia Beach, Va. At 26 he's undoubtedly the youngest park pilot in the business—in a business which everyone thought confined its chieftain designations to the oldies. Selection of young Rex reversed the theory. Young Ed Schott, of Coney Island, Cincinnati, also toppled the theory and made good besides—but that was by inherited succession. It's quite a leap from Canada to Virginia, even by extra-fare train.

Rex was reared in the park atmosphere. He started out in Idon Park, Youngstown, O., where his pop was boss, and held down the pony track detail at a very tender age. He then migrated to Luna Park, Coney Island, N. Y., with his sire and held down practically every job in the ledgers. When Pop Billings went Canadian, Bud went along as promotion manager and general factotum, doing five years of the same. The first season there were three picnics. During the season just past it hit the 150 mark.

In-between park chores Rex was a cruise director, a guide atop the RCA roof in New York, radio announcer, magician, drama director, head of transcription for RCA-Victor in Montreal, and a wielder of a mean typewriter.

Manager Billings said he plans to install several new rides, perform a complete paint job, revamp the concession line and midway, and lay out extensive publicity-advertising-promotion.

Directors of the park are Thomas P. Thompson, president; C. Neff, vice-president; Albert Hofheimer, secretary, and Allen J. Hofheimer, attorney.

that date. However, that was 10 years ago and our parks are still going and some are showing signs of a lusty revival.

At this point I shall disagree with my authorities and with our ancient philosopher whose troubled mind could perceive only a glorious past and nothing for the future. When Confucius taught the Chinese to revere only the past and the ancient, and to contemplate nothing else, he stopped the progress of the eastern world and brought about centuries of decadence that has established misery, hunger, famine, disaster,

100 Years of Operation

By J. H. NORTON
Lake Compounce Park, Bristol, Conn.

Address before the 22d annual meeting of the National Association of Amusement Parks, Pools, and Beaches in the La Salle Hotel, Chicago, on December 5.

The invitation by your program committee to bring to this convention a brief history of the origin and development of Lake Compounce is indeed a privilege and an honor. The personal sentiment connected with our park, in addition to its intrinsic value, can be easily understood when one considers that in addition to 38 years of continuous operation as an amusement resort Lake Compounce has been the property of six generations in the same family covering a period of 256 years.

Nestled in the foothills of the lower Berkshires Range, partly in Bristol and partly in Southington, Conn., 18 miles from the capital city of Hartford and in approximately the geographical center of the State, Lake Compounce was organized as an amusement park in 1846. But let us go back even further to the middle of the 17th century, at which time a tribe of Tunxis Indians and their Chief Compound occupied the land adjacent to the lake now known as Compounce, in what was then a part of Farmington, now Southington.

There are three original deeds which furnish the evidence in regards to this chief. His name is variously given as Compa, Compousa, Compowne, and Compound, and appears with those of other Indians who gave to the white settlers titles to the Farmington and Waterbury lands. Ancient Farmington extended over a territory now covered by 10 towns and a portion of several others.

Purchase Price 9 Pounds

The first two deeds, one dated May 22, 1673, and the other of August 26, 1674, convey to the white men large tracts of land in Farmington and Waterbury. These deeds were both signed by the "Universal Neaseaguan," supposedly the father of John A. Compound, whose name comes second, followed by the names and marks of 26 other Indians. The third deed of December 2, 1684, transferred to the English settlers another large tract of land including the lake now known as

Out To Direct Pool Shows

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Dec. 26.—Alexander Ott, who has been appointed sports director at the Miami Biltmore Hotel and Country Club here, as announced by Milton M. Chapman, managing director, will conduct elaborate weekly pool shows on Sundays.

With the Zoos

NEW ORLEANS.—Two young Nubian lions, one male, were donated to Audubon Park Zoo here by a bottling firm and brought to the city Christmas week by Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Matthews, trainers. Contest will be held to give them names, said Superintendent Frank Neels. They will be company for Cleo, young lion born at the zoo, who was left in a rear spot while others were recently moved to new quarters.

CALGARY, Alta.—Calgary Zoological Society has received two lynx as gifts.

MASILLION, O.—Pair of Michigan bear cubs have been purchased by Masillon Municipal Zoo. They are quarreled in the pit formerly occupied by Jiggs, five-year-old black bear, destroyed recently because of viciousness.

PHILADELPHIA.—Death of a sea, New Zealand parrot, only one of its kind in Philadelphia Zoo, was attributed to old age. It was brought here in 1929. A recent acquisition is a sparrow hawk.

Compounce and also confirmed the previous grant of 1673-74, the same to be discharged from all forms of bargains, sales, titles, mortgages, leases, fine, fees, jointers, dowers, suits, or encumbrances whatsoever—just to give you a sample of some ancient legal expressions. Purchase price, by the way, was 9 pounds. In this deed of 1684 the name Compounce stands first in the list of signatures.

One looks upon this ancient document, rescued from the oblivion of over two centuries, with a sentiment of profound veneration, and pictures to himself the group of swarthy faces as to the names written, the Indians added with their own clumsy fingers their individual mark or totem. The deed is valuable not only for its Indian signatures, but for the autographs of men famous in the early history of Connecticut. Thomas Judi, John Standly, Benjamin Judd, John Wadsworth, Timothy Standly, and John Hopkins, free men of Farmington, and most of them among its 24 proprietors.

To Death in Kettle

John Norton, pioneer ancestor of the present owners of Compounce, was one of the original Farmington proprietors, and in due course of time the so-called Southington division, including the lake and adjacent land, became his property. Tradition tells us that Chief Compound had his home in a large cave near the shore, and that, while crossing the lake in an iron kettle, he drowned, finding his grave beneath its waters. A singular coincidence in connection with the legend is that Compound's mark, as seen in some of his signatures, resembles the outline of a kettle which suggests the pleasing fancy that this may have been his device or emblem.

In 1846 there occurred an event which brought the obscure little lake into prominence. At that time the invention of the electric telegraph was creating a great deal of interest, and Samuel Botsford, of Bristol, conceived the idea of demonstrating the power of electricity by blowing up the lake. Some 30 years later an old handbill was discovered advertising the exhibition.

The program called for a lecture accompanied by six experiments to illustrate the movements of electricity in heaven and earth, the whole to culminate in a submarine explosion. To quote the program: "A cartridge will be placed in the top of one of the trees and fired by the battery. A large quantity of gun powder will be placed under water near the center of the lake, and a raft anchored over it. This raft, together with vast quantities of water, to be hurled skyward, followed by a deluge equal to that of a cloburst or waterspout."

The ancient New Britain Bee devoted its entire front page to the event and estimated in true fashion that it attracted some 10,000 spectators. (How wonderful it would be if we could get similar publicity from the papers today.)

Apparently Botsford's speech and preliminary experiments were successful, but when the crucial moment arrived and the switch was thrown to set off the grand explosion exactly nothing happened.

Then the fun started. As usual, there were those who considered Mr. Botsford an impostor and threatened violence with some insulting remarks thrown in. Others considered it as the honest attempt to interest and instruct. The war spirit took possession of both sides, coats were thrown off, sleeves rolled up, and the fray began. Many interesting incidents developed in the battle but finally the ringleaders were seized, thrown into the lake, and then chased off the grounds. Botsford's followers disappeared and peace and order were restored.

Swing Is First Ride

But this silence was no longer to remain unbroken. Those who had seen the swing came again and brought others. Thru the enterprise of Gad Norton, owner and proprietor, the cart path around the lake became a road, bowling alleys were built, rowboats were placed on the lake, and a revolving swing was installed. This revolving swing, as it was called in those days, was in reality a Ferris Wheel, built of wood and operated by hand. The first barbecue was held in

American Recreational Equipment Association

By R. S. UZZELL

Fred Levere at Savin Rock Park, West Haven, Conn., was decorating a Christmas tree in his office when the writer called, and he expressed the cheerfulness of the occasion. He feels sure of a substantial upward surge for 1941 and expects his tenants to share in the increase of business at "The Rock."

John Tierman was struck by a car on Beach Street and sent to the hospital for repairs. Not fatal but very painful and may keep him in the hospital into the new year. He had just locked his car and was going to the sidewalk when hit. His successful season, in which he earned the cost of his new ride in the one summer, is thus marred before his annual trek to Florida.

Bakerman was packing a show front for shipment to Venezuela. He is not likely to take a ride down there this year on his own account. His brother has been taking down and shipping the Comet, Coaster ride, from the New York World's Fair to Venezuela.

Juliano has his fine Merry-Go-Round and coin machines ready to run on any fine day and is proud of the finest front at the "Coney Island of Connecticut."

"More Like Old Times"

L. D. Pallissier, president of Mountain Park, Holyoke, Mass., has one new concession erected almost complete and prospects for others soon.

All along the line it begins to look more like old times. At this season for the past 10 years we have had hardly a peep from park men at the end of December.

At Luna Park, Coney Island, N. Y., where there are renewed signs of awakening, a new dance and dine place on modernistic lines is incubating, with some other major attractions, showing that Milton Sheen has the courage of his convictions.

George P. Smith Jr., done with the Party Fair, is answering the call of the wild and will soon be back in our industry. A park or a big ride? Which card comes up, George?

Bridgeport, Conn., is humbling. Pleasant Beach just cannot miss some of the coin of the realm that is circulating in abundance in the old Barnum city.

If such a thing is possible, then George A. Hamid has new enthusiasm. A dynamo in breeches, which operates on all the high tension it has, may be able to put on more power. At any rate, he sees a new light breaking and is acting up to his enthusiastic outlook.

Free Publicity Earned

The writer has not seen any place peddling only gloom.

J. H. Norton, Bristol, Conn., told us in Chicago that, altho title to their park came to his ancestors direct from the Indians, they were not expecting to return it to the Indians. Again we ask all of you not to give your parks away. They surely are going to be used in 1941.

Henry Martinelli, Springfield, Mass., has two shooting galleries. Some weeks ago he ordered a supply of shells to care for his 1941 requirements. He has the shells at September prices and is now sure of getting thru the next season with an ample supply for his guns, war or no war.

The year saw more free publicity for outdoor amusements than in any other year of our history. The Saturday Evening Post gave all of a front page cover to one ride and frequently published humorous illustrations of various rides and attractions. All this is wholesome and helpful. Largely because we have kept the devices morally clean and physically safe have we come into public favor. Let us live up to our record and better it in 1941.

CENTURY OPERATION

1847, some visitors from Alabama assisting to introduce this Southern method of preparing the lamb for the rustic feast. In 1851 Isaac Pierce, a neighbor and cousin, was taken into partnership and hence the firm of Pierce & Norton of the present day.

Lake Compounce offers many interesting and unusual examples of the ice age. Extending along the east side of the lake is a high embankment or "eater" carved out by the passage of a mighty glacier in ages past. A mountain some 900 feet high rises almost perpendicularly from the west shore. Its front a rugged mass of upheaved rock and cliffs, covered with timber and mountain laurel. Compounce's cave lies at the foot of this mountain and to the south Lover's Rock, a huge boulder towering 40 feet in the air and undoubtedly deposited there during the glacial period. Winding around the lake and among the cliffs are many beautiful scenic trails. So generous was nature in bestowing its beauty on this little park, it was only logical that Compounce should become the mecca for cuttings and picnics of all descriptions. Most historic of these is the famous Crocodile Club, organized in 1875. At that time my grandfather, G. Norton, a member of the Legislature, petitioned that body to set off a certain portion of his property from the town of Southington to the town of Bristol.

Outings for 65 Years

Members of the Legislature influential in securing the granting of this petition were by him invited with their friends to a sheep roast at Lake Compounce. So successful was this affair that a permanent organization was formed and the name Crocodile was adopted, and thus in this informal and unpremeditated manner the club began. The unique invitations adopted at that early date are still in use today and the qualifications for membership include an invitation from a member, gentlemanly conduct, and $1.00 for the dinner. The club has met annually since that time and this year has celebrated its 65th reunion. Meeting day is always the last Thursday in August and unlike our Thanksgiving Day, has not been changed by any Presidential edict.

The oldest organization on our books is the Compounce Spiritualist Association, which has met annually for 75 consecutive seasons. The Old Men's Association and the Bald Headed Club are quite unique in character, and the Sphinx Temple of Hartford has been our guest since 1898. To this end Lake Compounce has become famous for its sheep bakes and banquets, catering annually to hundreds of industrial, fraternal, and political organizations, schools, churches, and civic associations, many dating back from 40 to 50 years. Among the larger groups the United Aircraft Corporation, New Departure Mutual Aid Association, and the State Fish and Game Association each brings some 12,000 to 15,000 people to our park. The latter organization holds 24 different sporting events that are going continuously all day long, including rifle shooting, trap shooting, field trials for coon and bird dogs, archery, bait and fly casting contests, swimming and diving, canoe tilting, outboard motorboat races, and even a wood-chopping contest.

In 1895 the Bristol & Plainville Tramway Company constructed the first trolley line to Compounce, and in 1900 another line from Meriden, Southington, and points south was opened by the Connecticut Company. This service has now been discontinued due to the advent of the automobile. During the '90s and early 1900s Lake Compounce featured a beautiful electric fountain and summer vaudeville, with various free acts and outdoor attractions. The moving pictures displaced the vaudeville and in later years the most profitable free attractions have been fireworks and band concerts.

"Not Back to Indians"

Dances are held three nights a week, Thursday, Saturday, and Sunday, with same bands on Sunday. Our experience has been that the popularity of the name attractions has fallen off the past two seasons, with the exception of a few top bands such as Tommy Dorsey, Kay Kyser, and Glenn Miller, with Tommy Dorsey holding the record of 4,200 in attendance. On the other hand, local orchestras did much better; average attendance on Saturday running around 1,500. In general, park business was very good last summer, coming very close to our best season of 1937. We maintain and operate a sufficient number of rides and concessions to satisfy our patrons, but we are careful not to overdo this to the extent that any of the natural beauty is destroyed, as that is really our greatest asset. Most important of all is to maintain the good will of the community at all times thru fair and square dealings with the public. Only recently Lake Compounce had the good fortune to be mentioned on two different national radio programs without any solicitation on the part of its owners.

Annually the park produces a nice return on the investment and, if past seasons are any indication of what the future may bring, we have not the slightest intention of giving it back to the Indians.

and backwardness as a regular way of life in their lands. To adopt the opposite view is to achieve the opposite result.

Our greatest obstacle is on innate fear of, or resistance to, change. Any assumption that we have learned our business and know all about it is to be wrong, and smugness in this changing world is dangerous. For this industry to ride the wave of the future it may be necessary to cut loose from the past. The attractions of 1919 no longer attract. Of course not. The conception of an amusement park established in a day gone by may need revitalizing to bring forth new form and new appeal to our sophisticated young.

Need of Vision Great

Banish fear of change. Beware the ghost of obsolescence. Because an installation is not worn out mechanically is the poorest of reasons for keeping it. It is possible the recreation menu needs rewriting. Can you not picture the probability that a new generation of more vigorous youngsters has superseded the jazz and gin crop of post-war and prohibition years? That crowd wanted to have things done for them. It may well be that the present and the next crop want to do things themselves. The amazing, and to us startling growth of municipal recreation departments is proof of that.

Can you not envision an installation of modern fast tennis courts and badminton courts, with a fee for playing and a pay gallery for spectators? Have you investigated the possibilities of ice skating perhaps installed in a ballroom building that is now a white elephant? Country clubs that were once exclusive are turning into public courses for a fee because the masses have turned to golf. They are competing with you; can't you compete? The club that turns to public golf also installs a swimming pool to supply a demand for something for the family to do while dad plays 18 holes and a fine dining room and a cocktail bar and lounge and playground apparatus for the little tots, and courteous service and no mouth ballyhoo.

The purpose of this symposium is to provoke your interests, your disagreement, even your resentment of the implications. If we would ride the wave of the future we need to be visionaries—practical visionaries. How can you finance a revolution in your industry? That, too, only requires vision. Mediocrity cannot and does not attract patronage or financial support, and today our industry is plagued with a stalemate of mediocrity in many places.

The Thompsons and Ingolds and Schencks and other penitentes of an earlier day in our industry found ample finances and public support. The amusement industry is not slipping into oblivion, for it is needed now more than ever, but it may be slipping into new trends and even into new hands. Do you accept the challenge?

ing about the fee they are to receive for listening," the villager said.

"Fee for listening?" the expert queried.

"Yes," the villager replied. "Anyone can talk but it is so hard to listen so long."

Same Objective for All

We are here to increase our knowledge and wisdom, and perhaps we should keep in mind the admonition of the Negro preacher who said in concluding a sermon on "Wisdom": "It ain't the things you don't know dat gets you into trouble; it's de things yo' know for sho' that ain't so."

A fair has been defined as an educational institution where every undertaking of human endeavor is brought together in close association for comparison and judgment, where the individuals who have studied and labored received their rewards in medals and premiums. Its pupils are from all walks of life, from the youngest laborer's child to the oldest consumer.

About 60,000,000 Americans gather annually to witness and participate in 2,200 county, district, and State fairs and expositions. People go to fairs to learn, to cement fellowship with friends and neighbors, and to be entertained. "Encouragement of agriculture and community life has always been a vital part of the American program." Fairs are family institutions and are truly American institutions. Fairs promote progress by focusing attention on the ideal.

What do county and district fairs mean to the State fairs?

Our county and district fairs have the same objective and purpose as our State fairs—the promotion of agricultural and industrial progress, with particular emphasis upon agriculture. Both the State fairs and the county and district fairs have a unique part to play in the fulfillment of that purpose, and there need, of course, be no conflict between county fairs and State fairs. Just the opposite spirit—that of co-operation and mutual assistance—should prevail, and does prevail, we are happy to say, in most every State. It is obvious, of course, that agricultural and industrial progress may be more rapidly advanced where there is greater co-operation between county and district fairs and State fairs. I hope for and believe we will have an ever-increasing co-operation between county and district fairs and State fairs.

Barometers for Big Ones

County and district fairs make and keep the public fair-minded and help to whet the public's appetite for and interest in the State fairs. A few years ago there were many critics who proclaimed that fairs were old-fashioned symbols of a passing era and would soon become extinct in this modern, speed-loving, mechanical age. But today fairs continue to march on with apparently greater popularity than ever before, and we now seldom hear anyone say that fairs are dying out. This onward and upward march of the fairs has in itself made a great impression—perhaps more subconsciously than consciously—on the public mind and has been an important factor in drawing more and more attention to all fairs.

The county fair draws forth from all parts of the county the most valuable, the most beautiful, the most nearly perfect, the most interesting, and the most worth while in all classifications of agriculture, industry, education, and entertainment, and the State fair in turn gets the "cream of the crop" of these exhibit, educational, and entertainment features. The State fairs have many exhibitors, many entertainment attractions, and educational features which they would not have in such great numbers and which would not be so easily obtained if it were not for the fact that these exhibitors and attractions have opportunity to show at numerous county and district fairs as well, before and after the State fairs.

The county and district fairs are in a sense training schools for State fair exhibitors, for it is usually at the county and district fairs that men and women, boys and girls receive their first experience in exhibiting their livestock, their grains, fruits and vegetables, their handiwork and art work, and the products (See County, District Fairs on page 56).

Rinks and Skaters

By CLAUDE R. ELLIS (Cincinnati Office)

BRONZE medal class recently organized at Moonlight Gardens Roller Rink, Springfield, Ill., now has 50 members, reported Noble Gilligan, instructor. He is assisted by Mrs. Lloyd Ruble, the former Marilyn Gant. They were formerly connected with Danceland Roller Rink, Decatur, Ill. At the professional school sponsored by the Roller Skating Rink Operators' Association of the United States in Detroit they were awarded bronze medals for dance and figure skating.

SKATELAND, Trenton, N. J., in proximity to Fort Dix, has made Tuesdays Fort Dix Night, uniformed men being admitted at a special price.

school each year

The head of the department turned his senior class over to our publicity department for the fair period, and we used them to great advantage. They came out first a few days before the fair. We gave each one of them a season pass. They again reported on Press Day and paraded on Press Day courtesies.

After Press Day from two to five reporters to the publicity office daily and received assignments. They turned a copy of their story into us, a copy to the professor for class work, and another copy was sent to the home-town newspaper of the student. There were 11 of the 15 senior journalism students from out of town, and they were successful in getting their stories used in the local home-town newspaper.

The kids got a big kick out of their assignments, we got some subjects covered which would not have been covered had it not been for them, and we got many inches of additional publicity in our Dallas newspapers as well as the 11 home-town papers of the out-of-town students. We are already at work on a better tie-up with the 1941 seniors, working again with the professor in charge of the department, who said it had been the best laboratory experience any of his classes had ever had.

Experiments in Publicity

Another experiment that has paid high dividends during the past year was the moving picture The Fairer of the Fair, which many of you saw the other night. We believe this has been the most successful piece of publicity we have ever done. The picture was shown in 700 theaters and in 600 schools. The attendance at these showings has been roughly estimated at 4,000,000, one-fourth of which has been in the schools. The results of this picture, we believe, were reflected in the enormous attendance of 215,000 on Children's Day. We have made another picture this year in sound and color and are promised even a better distribution this year than we had last.

Still another experiment we tried this year was in our luncheon club programs. Due to the fact that all of these must be given prior to the opening of the fair each year, and also that we have no entertainment available, our programs have been sort of dreaded by those in charge of the programs. In fact, they were losing interest in giving us a program.

This year we adapted a quiz program from the radio style of entertainment. We called it "Double or Nothing," and printed a booklet containing facts on the State Fair of Texas. We gave $10 in prizes at each luncheon club program, and every person who volunteered to answer was given a pair of tickets to our grandstand show. The club members had worlds of fun, and we believe this program saved our faces for future programs.

IN operation since October 27, business at Anderson (Ind.) Roller Rink has been 100 per cent above expectations, reported President George W. Myers who has purchased the stock of Mr. Van Noy and is operating the rink. Twice it drew turn-away crowds. There is a possibility of the corporation being dissolved. Rink has installed a Skatrainer, a device to prevent beginners from falling. It consists of an aluminum trolley encircling the floor and accommodates 15 persons. Ed Reynolds has been engaged as electric organist. At a recent Christmas party prizes were distributed, and a New Year's Eve party was also staged.

in about one-half, or in 400 of the Texas newspapers.

We tried an experiment this year which proved very successful. We believe that a continuation of the experiment will prove of greater mutual benefit each year to the State Fair of Texas, to Southern Methodist University, and to the senior journalism class of that

Show Family Album

At the right are Joe Galler (left), owner-general manager of the Buckeye State Shows, and a couple of buddies, snapped in 1911 while they were members of the U. S. Marine Corps. Next to Galler is Charles Slaughter. Name of the man on the right is not remembered. As a leatherneck Galler saw service in Mexico, Nicaragua, and Haiti, gaining the rank of non-commissioned officer. He was honorably discharged in 1915, but was not accepted for service in the World War. He was born and educated in Hungary.

The Billboard invites its readers to submit photos taken from 15 to 20 years ago. It is strongly requested that pictures be CLEAR and that they be accompanied with complete descriptive data. Merchandise Users Confident '41 Will Surpass All Records

Big cash garnered in 1940 because of presidential election, but defense money flowing over nation points to greater profits during the new year

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Prize users, novelty workers, and badgeboard men are anticipating a bigger and better 1941. With the closing of 1940 came reports that many of those in the trade had garnered a good bit of change because of the presidential campaign and the defense program. All seemed optimistic over the 1941 outlook. While the defense program is yet to get into full swing, training camp workers are busy. Construction crews furnish the most of the income at present. Advantage of working this type of business is that practically all items are popular. Many of the training camp workers, especially those in camps where the soldiers have arrived for a year's training, are getting folding money with patriotic items, such as pillow tops, compacts with military insignia, and wallets with embossed flags.

Badgeboard Men Lead

Perhaps the outstanding trading of the year was done by badgeboard workers, who reaped a huge cash harvest with presidential novelties and buttons. In campaigns since 1912, political buttons had failed to bring large income to workers. This year conditions took a sensational turn for the better and designers rallied to the cause by offering items that had instant eye and sales appeal. Comic buttons proved big numbers and were especially popular.

The second term of the New York and San Francisco fairs also added to the demand for novelties and souvenirs. The Trylon and Perisphere symbol was to be seen in nearly every corner of the nation.

Better Mds. Trend

Concessionaires at fairs reported a definite trend toward better merchandise. Cocktail and luncheon sets, decanters, and comb and mirror sets had one of their biggest years. Clocks, always consistent money-makers, are believed to have set records that will be difficult to topple in 1941. However, new electric designs were introduced late in the year and they are expected to exert great influence in shattering sales tabulations of 1940.

With the registration of civilians for the draft, identification items put identification and key chain workers in the lime-light. Again the manufacturers came to the aid of those selling the lines, and items that had eye-appeal as well as serviceability cornered much coin. Key chains with a replica of the State automobile license also claimed a spot in the list of money-makers.

The defense program has started the wheels of industry humming and camp pay rolls as well as those of camp towns have been increased, pointing to a bigger and better year in 1941 for merchandise workers.

A Column for OPERATORS & DISTRIBUTORS of SALESBOARDS, SALESCARDS and TRADE STIMULATORS.

By BEN SMITH

Well, here we are at the beginning of a new year, a year which we hope will go out as auspiciously as it has started, clear of direct involvement abroad and with business booming. It should be a good year for operators. Loose change is again burning holes in John Public's purse—the tremendous Christmas sales figures are graphic proof of that—and the boys should be able to rake in their share of the do-re-mi. And to make

One-Minute Photographers Busy In Vicinity of Training Camps

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—One-minute photographers are reaping a harvest of cash in the vicinity of training camps, as are souvenir and novelty workers. Soldiers and camp construction workers are buying photos of themselves and other items to send to the folks back home.

According to the Henson Camera Company, many one-minute men, realizing the profits to be made in this field, have set up their tripods and cameras in the vicinity of camps. With wages running into big figures, those in the trade are getting their share of the money. Pictures are taken and delivered in about a minute in the new patriotic folder that ties in this type of work with camp life. Men who had anticipated a gloomy and profitless season in the South have hopped on the band wagon and are said to be earning a pretty penny for themselves.

Texas Boom

Things are booming in Texas, where millions are being spent for defense. In Corpus Christi a new $25,000,000 naval air base is under construction. At Freeport, 50 miles from Galveston on the Gulf of Mexico, the population jumped from 3,100 to 7,500 in 90 days because of work being done there. Houston is more factories to its fast growing list.

During the past 30 months, 2,015 new industrial buildings, with value of nearly $24,000,000, have been constructed, and 2,944 new industries have started in the State, a report by R. C. Maddux, managing director of the New Jersey Council, to Governor A. Harry Moore revealed.

New Jersey Boom Ups Salesboard Demand at Plants

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 28.—Gains in industry, agriculture, and other fields are creating a boom for prize users, especially salesboard operators who work factories. It was learned today. Indications are that demand for items offered on salesboards will increase as New Jersey adds more factories to its fast growing list.

During the past 30 months, 2,015 new industrial buildings, with value of nearly $24,000,000, have been constructed, and 2,944 new industries have started in the State, a report by R. C. Maddux, managing director of the New Jersey Council, to Governor A. Harry Moore revealed.

Firms have begun or expanded operations in New Brunswick, Hoboken, Bel-ville, Paterson, Hillside, Kenville, Rahway, Bayonne, Jersey City, Neptune, Flemington, South Millville, Newark, Wallington, Piscataway Township, Linden, and Edgewater.

Maddux estimated the annual output of New Jersey farms has been maintained at a level of about $100,000,000.

reported to have more building per capita than any city in the country. In addition to this, Ellington Field, a flying field established during the World War, is being improved at a cost of $2,000,000. Randolph Field, near San Antonio, is also getting costly improvements.

In Freeport the one-minute men are doing business on a large scale. The new photos in the patriotic frames and folders are especially popular with the carpenters and other workmen called in for the job. Better prices are being obtained, and the boys report that never before have they seen such volume.

Profits Flowing

Profits are also flowing for demonstrators who have the new Vitex-Gile Knife and Juicer. The knife cuts, pares, and slices all kinds of food and is finished in three colors—sapphire blue, shell pink, and rock crystal. This stainless, sanitary, and durable item comes individually boxed. The juicer and corer is rust and tarnish proof and is easily cleaned. A selling feature is that it extracts and strains juices and leaves no metallic taste.

Workers are also finding wide demand for the new sea shell brooch with name in raised coral-colored letters. Brooches are assembled in about 30 seconds, and workers find that soldiers and construction crews are ready buyers of the item.

BINGO BUSINESS

By JOHN CARY

REV. LUCIAN J. ARRELL of St. Boniface Church, Lidgerwood, N. D., was kind enough to forward the writer a copy of an editorial that recently appeared in The Lidgerwood Monitor. We are reproducing the editorial in this column because we think it of interest to bingo operators:

Inconsistencies

"Inconsistencies in government policies are not infrequent. And one of the most glaring of such is the policy of the government against lotteries."

"The post office department keeps an eagle eye on everything which might be even remotely associated with the principle of lottery. United States mails cannot be used to carry sweepstakes tickets, newspapers may not print the names of lottery winners, persons who operate lotteries in this country are subject to fines and imprisonment."

"Thus has Congress ruled upon the lottery."

"And yet the same Congress decrees that lottery shall determine who shall be drafted into the military service of the United States. It used lottery to take human life and bars the use of lottery in financial channels."

"Which is more important, life or wealth?"

"We are thoroughly in accord with all efforts to prevent crooked lotteries. But public officials who ban lotteries are merely shutting their eyes to one of the prime instincts of man—the desire to take a chance."

"Life itself is a gamble from beginning to end. Every form of business endeavor, all agricultural endeavor is a gamble. There are so many elements beyond the control of man which affect life that it could not be otherwise."

"And so, when newspapers carried

headlines about the drawing from the bowbow, when radio carried the first minutes of the ceremony connected with the draft lottery, we could not but wonder at this colossal inconsistency.

"Lottery becomes the means by which the course of millions of lives are changed overnight; lottery determines who shall be called into service. Why is it such a crime, then, for a church to run a bingo party or for the American Legion to give away an automobile to the holder of a ticket whose number corresponds to the one drawn?

"In North Dakota we have laws more tight-lipped on this subject than in many States. A general relaxation of this type of legislation would create a healthier respect for other laws."

WHY IS IT SUCH A CRIME, THEN, FOR A CHURCH TO RUN A BINGO PARTY?

THAT IS ONE question we would like officials of every State to answer. However more and more States are answering the question in favor of merchandise bingo. When Reverend Arrell sent the clipping, his letter accompanying it stated: "Maybe the editor of your bingo page might like to use it." He was right: we're always glad to see editorials of this type, for we heartily agree with the editor, Don C. Matchan. There is food for thought in the editorial and it is a pleasure to pass it along to our readers.

MANY STATES that have decided on bingo leave it up to the qualified voters of the municipalities to say whether they want bingo. In most cases all that is necessary for an organization planning to sponsor bingo is to submit a petition signed by at least 5 per cent of the qualified voters and the aldermanic group. This brings the case home, and in practically every case where merchandise games are concerned, favorable action is taken.

THIS IDEA of permitting municipal officials to take action on the matter is as it should be. These groups are able to study the work being done with the proceeds and they know the sponsoring organization. It is only in cases where the real value of bingo is not known that these groups rule it out.

PROM Reading, Pa., comes news that the Rajah Theater is the first in that city to offer bingo to its patrons. The games are for merchandise prizes only. The theater has advertised 10 big merchandise prizes nightly and announced that the game would be a feature for three-quarters of an hour nightly, in addition to the regular entertainment. During the holiday season 82 parlors were playing bingo day and night in the city and immediate vicinity, and it is estimated that at least 100 spots are in operation in this territory.

COUNTY, DISTRICT FAIRS

of their industries. The knowledge, experience, and success gained at the county and district fairs encourage many of these exhibitors to go on to participate in the State fair.

County and district fairs are often helpful to State fairs as barometers of public likes and dislikes in fair educational and entertainment features. Also, new elements and factors in the county's life have public attention focused upon them and interest in them stimulated by making them a part of the county and district fairs, and then in turn these elements and factors in the community's life become a part of the State fairs.

State fairs receive valuable publicity thru the county and district fairs. I don't know how true this is in other States, but I know that in Ohio the State fair received a full-page ad free of charge in the premium books of each of the nearly 100 county and independent fairs of the State, and the State fair is publicized thru announcements and other forms of advertisements at the county fairs.

County and district fairs thru their majority voice sometimes influence methods and policies of State fairs, as well as selection of personnel of the State fair management, in worth while and helpful ways. For example, in 1939 the Ohio Fair Managers' convention passed a resolution urging the new director of agriculture to select an active fair man from the ranks of our State association membership for the new State fair manager, and such a man was later appointed.

Greater Opportunity Now

County and district fairs are boosters for the State fairs. I doubt if there is any other group of people who are more interested in and more enthusiastic boosters of the State fairs than the men and women who are officers and directors of our county and district fairs.

County and district fairs are most meaningful to State fairs for the foundation they provide, upon which the great State fairs are built, in part at least. The county and district fairs help to bring out the best in all classes of agriculture and industry; they help to make and keep people fair-minded; they are media of publicity and promotion; they are training schools for exhibitors; they are barometers of public taste; they are State fair boosters.

I like what Claude Ellis said in his article in the IAFE Golden Jubilee section of The Billboard: "They (the fairs) are getting what is needed for their highest attainment—intelligent thought, high ideals, and hard work. What else except success can attend the fair that plainly labels its exhibits, upholds its educational features, provides balanced entertainment, drafts the best citizens, brings the city and country together in displays, properly parades its entries, guards its sanitation, profits by its mistakes—and stays out of a rut?"

And even though our efforts seem unsuccessful at times, they need not be in vain. If we take the attitude of the great Edison, who tried 50,000 experiments before he made a storage battery that worked. To an assistant marveling at the bewildering total of Edison's attempts without results, the inventor said: "Results? Why, man, I have got a lot of results. I know several thousand things that won't work which I didn't know before."

I like, too, the recipe for a successful fair which Sam Lewis (York, Pa.) gave in a talk at the IAFE meeting in 1937. He said: "Take 51 weeks of hard work, mix in a lot of common sense and, for the 52nd week, add a big dash of good luck!"

In closing, I would like to say that I have today, after 23 years' experience in fair work, as a county fair secretary and secretary of the Ohio Fair Managers' Association, greater faith than ever before in the necessity for and value of our county, district, and State fairs. And in this hour when the emphasis is upon national unity and national defense, our fairs have, it seems to me, the greatest opportunity they ever had to serve America, thru the continued stimulation and encouragement of agriculture and industrial improvements and by the strengthening of public morale thru community-wide co-operation and participation in each of the 2,200 American fairs. Fairs can and will have an important part to play in making America stronger than she has ever been before.

I do not believe there is any finer group of men and women on the face of the earth than the fair men and women of America, and I am supremely confident that in their hands—in your hands—our fairs will continue to advance and prosper and to fulfill in an ever-greater measure that purpose for which they were founded.

very purpose and that they are still achieving that same purpose after using it for 18 years. Incidentally, merchant support for the attendance award plan at the Sidney Fair is now stronger than ever.

As is true of any program or plan which endures thru the years, the method is simple. I might say also that it gets its strength from one of the strongest of all human emotions—the desire to get something for nothing.

As now operated by the North Montana State Fair, the plan simply consists of selling to merchants numbered tickets which they in turn give to their customers with each dollar cash purchase, or for each dollar paid on open account, usually for one month immediately prior to the fair.

Ours is a six-day fair. We therefore give 12 awards, one each afternoon and one each evening. Eleven of these awards are cash. The 12th, the major award, is made on the evening when our attendance would ordinarily be the least. Last year our weakest night was Tuesday. Last year we made the attendance award Tuesday evening and were rewarded with a sold-out grandstand and bleachers.

Accepted by Public

If you are still skeptical attend your own home-town motion picture show which features a weekly "bank night" usually on Wednesday evening. Unless your town is in the exception that proves the rule, I think you will find you will have a hard time to find a seat to view what will probably be the worst program of the week.

Now a few words concerning the way the plan is operated: The awards are made by drawing the winning numbers from a box which contains all of the numbered tickets, stubs of which are retained by the contestants. No steps should be left unturned to assure that the public knows the drawing is absolutely honest.

Our fair has a number of community committees composed of farm men and women who arrange the exhibits from their community. We utilize these committees in turn. The committees and committeewomen, one at a time, pick a ticket from the main box and place it in a cigar box held above the head of the committee chairman. All are blindfolded. When 10 or more tickets have been put in the cigar box the chairman picks a ticket from the box, hands it to an announcement committee, which immediately broadcasts it over the loud-speaker system.

All winners are identified by name and address. They have three minutes to appear on the platform. Loud-speakers relay this information to the midway, where hundreds gather.

In all the years the contest has been operating we have not had a single complaint nor one public expression of distrust. In short, the public likes it, believes in it, and will pay money to come and see who gets the major award on the night you choose to give it. And that, to a fair manager, is very important.

Now about another and equally important side of the story. How about the merchants who pay so much a thousand for the tickets they give to their customers? Is it a harder battle to get them to co-operate year after year?

The answer is an emphatic "no." The North Montana State Fair first opened its gates in 1931, when attendance awards were given. That year there were 126 merchants taking part. Last year 284 merchants took part. This year 297 took part and were glad to do so.

They were glad to do so because the public demanded it; which meant that the public was eager to make as many dollar purchases as possible the month before the fair and to pay up as many old bills as possible.

No "Bad" Features

In ancient China it was the custom to pay all bills at the time of the new year. In Great Falls old bills are paid up the month before the fair opens its gates. I am informed the same is true in Sidney, where the idea was born, and certain it is true anywhere the plan is operating.

It may occur to many of you that making a dozen attendance awards in a single week would result in serious delays to programs. It will not if you will have your committee rehearsed in what they are to do, with all equipment ready for the drawing in place on one corner of the stage near a microphone so your announcer can tell your audience just what is happening. If given proper publicity you will find your ticket holders well represented. We have never had to draw more than eight tickets. Almost every award is made on the first ticket drawn.

This explanation may seem somewhat one-sided. You may think I have given all of the good features of the plan and none of the bad. Well, in 18 years, I haven't found any bad features.

Fair patrons like the idea, as I have ascertained by repeated polls. Merchants like the idea, as is demonstrated by the increasing numbers of them who take part in the program year.

As a fair manager, like the idea because it swells average attendance each day and because it can be used to swell attendance on any given day by making the major award on that day.

The North Montana State Fair is situated in a town of 30,000. Any night a major award is given we can be assured that representatives of from 6,000 to 8,000 families will be present from a wide area. Apply the same figures in proportion to your own area and your fair and you will have a fair idea of what attendance awards can do for you. Definitely, they will lure attendance, and it on the nights you need it most.

And maybe if some of you play around with the plan you'll uncover new angles to make it work better. If you do I have just one word of friendly warning—beat the movie boys to the copyright office.

For 46 Years . . .

The Billboard has worked untiringly to make its readers engaged in or affiliated with the amusement profession speak well of the publication—by the best way of course, merititg it—thru conscientiously rendering a definite service to them.

This service has been performed in numerous ways.

The publication has attacked editorially where attack was necessary, and it has defended where defense was needed.

It has always fought for the best interests of the amusement profession.

It has always strived to have its news authentic and its criticism constructive.

It has offered suggestions for the betterment of show business.

It has published for years a Letter List, Routes of transient shows and people, Lists of events of various kinds, etc., and of late years it has been running additional trade service features.

It has provided special service at its various offices to inquirers or callers for information and advice concerning amusement organizations and individuals.

The quality of The Billboard's service in the future is indicated best by the quality of its past performance. It is aimed to be of even greater and better service in the future, and criticism or suggestions to aid in accomplishing this are earnestly welcomed.

Also welcome, as in the past, is news or other data pertaining to the amusement fields that is interesting or has a definite value to readers of The Billboard.

Sunbrock Show in Favorable Start at Minneapolis Stand

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 28.—Larry Sunbrock's Wild West Rodeo & Hollywood Thrill Circus opened its eight-day engagement here on Christmas night to fair business, which increased to three-quarters of a full house Thursday and a full house last night. Stand ends Jan. 1. Show caught on rapidly and local papers have given good co-operation, The Minneapolis Times-Tribune carrying two front-page features.

Brownie Rogetta, 54-pound midget, was thrown from a buffalo which he was riding bareback at the opening performance and seriously injured when his head struck a wood prop in the arena. He sustained a possible basal skull fracture and broken leg. At Swedish Hospital his condition was reported as fair.

Concessions

Text of two addresses on the same subject delivered by superintendents of space at the 50th Anniversary Convention of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions in the Hotel Sherman, Chicago, on December 4, by

HARRY J. FROST

Minnesota State Fair

C. G. BAKER

Oklahoma State Fair

A few years ago at a meeting of the School in Fair Management sponsored by this association, a man by the name of John G. Kent then managing director of the Canadian National Exposition at Toronto, presented a paper entitled "Don'ts and Concessions". Just a cub then in the business of selling concession space, I read that outstanding address. In the past 16 years I have read it many times, and to me it has become a sort of creed.

When your secretary invited me to speak to you today on the subject of Concessions there seemed to be no better outline than Mr. Kent's code of ethics for the handling of concessions. There are 16 topics in the discussion, but to cover them all would take too much time, so I have picked out what, to me, are the most important and will try to discuss each of them.

The first one is—"Don't gouge the concessionaire!" Fair officials often forget, or lose sight of, the real reason for having concessions on their grounds. Service and satisfaction to your patrons and a reasonable profit for the concessionaire are overlooked when the space rental price is set. The dollar sign is the measuring stick of the value of the concession to the fair. If you are tempted to raise your prices, or to accept an unusually high bid for some special privilege, look carefully into the facts. We have found that it pays to gain the confidence of certain operators to the extent of finding out what they have done over a period of, say, five years. If you can get that information and deduct from it such items as the price he pays—for space, his light bill, his railroad expense and hotel bill, also about 20 to 30 per cent for merchandise purchased—you can determine whether or not to hike the price.

Another method is to correspond with other fairs having about the same total attendance and compare prices for similar concessions. A central office such as that proposed by George H. Canfield and Ralph Hemphill is still a paramount need. Uniformity in the matter of concession rates and space rental charges could be worked out in a set-up of this kind, and while local conditions alter some cases, I have seen enough contracts of other fairs to know that either Minnesota is overcharging some people or some of you are undercharging them.

I believe you will see cash registers in all of our concessions some day. These cash registers will be owned by the fair and rented to the concessionaire at a small fee. Our cashier will handle all the money, the gross will be divided, with the small end to the fair and the large end to the concessionaire until it reaches a certain agreed figure, and then it will be divided equally. Until that day comes don't gouge on your space rentals. Remember, concessionaires are just as human as you are, and in the end you and the consumer pay.

Another topic—"Don't blame him (the concessionaire) for all the sins committed on your grounds." Perhaps your rules are faulty or local conditions provocative of improper conduct. In almost every case where the concessionaire is blamed for all the bad on our grounds our rules are wrong, our supervision is poor, or our general attitude toward the welfare of the patrons of our fair is extremely tickadalical.

Again quoting Mr. Kent: "Don't forget that the public holds you responsible for happenings on your grounds. You cannot 'pass the buck' to the concessionaire." Buck-passing to the concessionaire is a great American game among fairmen. When the fair is over, the carnival is gone, and the concessionaire is at the next town, it is an easy out for some of us to say, "Why the dirty so and so, did he do that to you? Well, we will see that he doesn't get back here next year," etc. You're wrong. You're just as wrong as the man who committed the error; and a wise fair patron knows you are wrong. So set up your fences before the fair begins; have an understanding with every concessionaire as to just what he can and cannot do, and you will run less chance of being called on to "pass the buck" afterward.

"Don't overload your grounds with competitive concessions." Things are

"The day of fairs is gone. They are a relic of a long gone past."

For more than a thousand years fair managers have heard these remarks. But as long as you secretaries plan and execute your fairs in a manner so ably described by the Supreme Court of Mr. Nash's great State, Massachusetts, you can turn a deaf ear to those irritating words. In an opinion handed down in a lawsuit between a fair and one of its concessionaires the court said: "The great agricultural fairs of this nation, by their very nature, must mean and do mean 'All things to all people.'"

In making fairs mean "All things to all people" concessions play a vital part. Concessions are too numerous and complicated to be fully discussed in this short paper. So I shall deal with just a few fundamental principles that underlie all concession operations. When I finish, which will be in a very few minutes, the meeting will be thrown open for the discussion of any concession problem you might have. Within the collective experience of the people in this room is the answer to any problem involving any phase of the fair.

There are really only two reasons for having concessions at your fair. The first, and by far the most important, is to satisfy the needs and desires of the visiting public who pay admissions at your gate. The other reason is your financial gain. I place this badly needed income in second place because if you keep the best interests of the public in mind when planning and selling your concessions, you will find your income increasing year by year.

Your premium list is designed to mean "All things to all people"; so is your entertainment program, even your selection of advertising media and the price range of your admissions. But I am afraid that many of us just sell our concessions.

Your concessions department should also mean "All things to all people." To do this, plan your concession sales on your ground maps. Spot each and every kind where you think it should be. Then sell fewer of each type of concession than the maps indicate you can sell. This will insure your concessionaires a profit that will bring them back year after year. In the long run you will profit also. If you oversell, the concessionaire is forced to gouge your public to pay his privilege fee and to secure sufficient money to get out of town. It is your public that is getting hurt, not his. Next year he can go to a new stand while you must do business at the same old location year in and year out.

When he gouges the public, he also "burns up" the location he occupies, making it worth less the next year. All of you know that it takes years to build back a location once it has been "burned."

If you have a large turnover in operators of any concession, look out—the red flag is up. You have been charging too much or selling too many locations. Probably both.

Before signing a contract with any concessionaire investigate him as carefully as you would any man you were hiring for a responsible position on your different today than they were 16 years ago. Competition has made specialists of the majority of our concessionaires. All of our concessions have improved in appearance, and businesslike methods are the prevailing practice. We should have a variety of concessions so that too many of the same kind are not placed in close proximity—or we are guilty of improper planning.

At Minnesota we have worked out this problem by the use of uniform, portable concession stands, which we own and rent to the concessionaire at a reasonable rental. We have 73 of these stands, ranging in size from 10'x12' to 18'x24'. We paint these stands each year, the canvas is all of one color and kept in good repair. The general uniform appearance adds much to the attractiveness of the grounds. From our traffic conditions, and from neighboring exhibits or attractions, we decide what size stand to put on each location, and then we sell the space, plus the rental of the stand. When the stands are all sold there is no more space available for lunch and refreshments. These uniform stands, limited in number, have done much to regulate too close competition.

Another important point is "Don't forget that you owe certain duties to the concessionaire after you get him on your grounds. He will pass on to the public just the same treatment you give him." Fair treatment to the concessionaire is just as important as fair treatment to the man who brings in a herd of cattle or half an acre of machinery. I have seen many fairs go to the limit to make a herdsman comfortable—water is handy, feed is right close, and his sleeping quarters are arranged for. Machinery exhibitors often get the best corners at reduced rentals. The same fairs make no effort to provide a water tap or a sewer for the dining hall or refreshment stand operator who is trying to do a good job of feeding people, your guests, under sanitary conditions.

Inspection is a matter that causes much grief on many fairgrounds. You have health inspectors, milk inspectors, ice cream inspectors, dairy and food inspectors, factory inspectors, minimum wage inspectors, safety inspectors, and even the inspector of inspectors and I am told that at some fairs concessionaires pay a fee to each inspector who comes around. A traveling concessionaire going from State to State, unfamiliar with the laws, is put on the spot.

Frankly, I do not know the remedy. At Minnesota, while we have too much inspection, no fee is charged, and while we have some complaints, it has not become a serious matter. Concessionaires tell me it is a serious matter at many fairs. Electric service for modern appliances is more and more in demand, is often hard to get, and often installation is de-laid until a day or two of the fair has gone by. No fair is entitled to make a long profit on the service rendered a concessionaire after it has charged him a reasonable price for his space. In fact, concessionaires should be encouraged by nominal fees to use more light, more electric and gas appliances, and better sanitation equipment, all of which in the end go to make the grounds more attractive and enable the concessionaire to do a better job in serving his patrons.

Another point made by Mr. Kent, which will certainly bear repeating, is this—"Don't forget that concessionaires are the only points of contact between the majority of your patrons and your organization, and the public will judge you by their standard."

The average fair spends 15 to 20 per cent of its budget for entertainment. In front of its grandstand—30 to 35 per cent of its customers see the grandstand show. Much thought and money are put into selling this grandstand show to the public, and the censorship is rigidly applied! Down on the carnival lot, where the other 65 per cent go for their entertainment, there is no censorship. Bawdy jokes, lewd cracks, and near nude productions go unchallenged! Is it any wonder that the PTA's, the Ministerial Alliances, and the Law Enforcement Leagues get after us? Mr. John Q. Public (at least the majority of him) forgets what he has read about our "educational features" and rates us by what he sees and hears on his actual visit. The effect of good exhibits, high-class publicity, and splendid entertainment is ruined by undesirable concessions. The radio and the public press have convinced most people that Barnum and his methods are dead and buried. Let them rest in peace. While it is highly desirable that we run our fairs for the benefit of those who come, and not according to the dictates of those who stay away, there is still room for improvement in the quality of attractions offered to this large percentage of our patrons.

"The festival or carnival spirit makes the public easy prey and you are under a distinct obligation to protect every one who comes thru the gate against extortion or unfair treatment." I might say here that we at Minnesota contract a traveling carnival as to shows and rides. The various games and refreshment stands on the carnival midway are a separate deal, each one bearing a concession identification number just as do all others on our grounds. We have four permanent riding devices, independently operated. There are 75 lunch and refreshment stands, 25 dining halls large and small, 8 independent corn games, and about 20 independent wheels operating for merchandise prizes only, and miscellaneous such as scales, guess your age, etc.

In our buildings we have various concessions, one refreshment stand in each, and several specialty stands. In all, a total of about 335 contracts. All games operate at a maximum of 10 cents. We do not permit "rolldowns," "add-em-up" stores or games of skill. Fortune tellings, phrenology, mindreading are on our blacklist. We do not make contracts with any sheetwriters (magazine or newspaper solicitors) except those local farm papers and daily newspapers that have permanent exhibit buildings on our grounds. Each concession is an individual case so far as the operation of loud-speakers is concerned. We do not permit any dining hall or lunch stand to use a loud-speaker. We do allow corn games to use loud-speakers for calling numbers. No other games use loudspeakers. We have foregone considerable revenue from advertising over public address system on our grounds. On the other hand we hire such a system each year and use it only for police and physician's calls, cases of lost children, and for changes in our program on account of weather conditions, etc. On our carnival grounds we have never made any ruling regarding loud-speakers on show fronts, but in our opinion the pandemonium caused by the conflicting loudspeakers on show fronts is a distinct detriment to the comfort and enjoyment of carnival patrons and hence a detriment to gross business.

So the protection of the public against unfair treatment at the Minnesota State Fair is a big job—a job that requires the co-operation of all parties concerned, and by this co-operation and by the gradual weeding out of the non-co-operators we find each year less difficult than the one before.

Personally, I believe that we are improving. To stay in business the fair must give the people what they want. Wise awake fair managers who feel the pulse of their patronage are more and more coming to realize that the customers want the same amusement inside the grounds that they are able to obtain outside. So we have 32 beer—and since we have had it there have been fewer arrests for drunkenness than there were before. We have games—because amusement-loving people want them, and with a 10-cent top we do not believe any one can lose very much. Some fairs have pari-mutuel racing, and whether or not we are convinced of its value as a fair attraction, we must admit that people get a thrill out of it, and it stimulates interest in horse racing. We give away an automobile each day of our fair and we know that our customers favor it because hundreds of people have told us so, and our crowds have increased because of this feature. So we try to give the people what they want in such a way that they get the fullest enjoyment at least cost, all of which adds up to a larger attendance and a more successful fair.

If Mr. Kent were still with us, I am sure he would recognize that a tremendous amount of work and thought has been given since his time, about the relation of concessions to the fair program, and much has been accomplished. I am reminded of a Minnesota story about a young Scandinavian couple who migrated to Northern Minnesota to take up a homestead claim. It was a rough piece of land, grown up to weeds, stumps, and underbrush, but by hard work and long hours Eric and Lena cleared a small patch for a crop, raised a pig and a cow, started to build a house, and were on the way toward the making of a home.

Other settlers came in and eventually a minister moved in to start a church. One hill round he stopped where Eric was at work in the field and said to Eric, "Eric, you and Lena have a nice place here. You and Lena have worked hard, but I want to tell you, Eric, that you have a partner in this undertaking. God has helped you to get this place, Eric. God has been your partner in this venture."

Eric thought for a minute and then said, "Ya, mister, Lena and I worked hard, and we tank God for dis place but, mister, you should have seen it ven God had it alone."

Yes, we have improved. The percentage of honest, conscientious men and women engaged in concession work is as high as in any other department of the fair. Yes, we will continue to improve by closer co-operation, by fairer treatment, by better supervision, and by holding fast to the better things we have already accomplished.

Down East Goes In; 40-Week Tour Okeh

EHRHARDT, S. C., Dec. 28.—Down East Attractions are in spacious quarters here after successfully ending a 40-week tour at Branchville, S. C. recently. Weather permitting, the Minstrel Show and about 10 concessions will remain out for a few weeks more. Rae Russell reported this week. Altho early portion of the trek was hampered by inclement weather, the season proved satisfactory. Owner-Manager Oliver Jackson is vacationing, but will return here about January 15, when building activities are scheduled to get under way. Shows will be enlarged and present plans call for organization to carry 6 rides, 5 shows, and about 25 concessions. A free-at-play policy will prevail and shows again will play only North and South Carolina.

Wallace Richards has completed his large photo gallery and is making a few still dates before returning to quarters. George Beardale, of the office staff, is vacationing in Miami. Numerous others left for the holidays but will be back about January 15. Quarters cookhouse is in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Murphy Snack. Manager Jackson and Rae Russell spent Christmas Day with Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Richards.

WHEN OLD YEAR GOES

In OTHER words, the clearly defined lines between various variety-type fields are crumbling, and the great majority of performers have to grab a bit of each type of work in order to make a living... This situation requires a smarter, better type of performer—a performer who can adapt himself to new conditions quicker, who often has to have ready two or three different types of routines and wardrobe, and who must have an increased acquaintanceship among bookers and agents. The days of the circuit route are over, and even the finest standard acts can book ahead more than a few weeks.

This means a greater strain on the average performer. Too much of the time that he should be putting into the development of his talents goes, instead, to contacting agents, bookers, and employers. It's a bad situation; and there's no brilliant solution we can offer, either. It just means that it's tougher than ever to break into show business, and tougher than ever to make money in show business. And yet, somehow, somewhere, there are always talented performers who crash their way thru who do what everybody thinks has become impossible, and who somehow work their way up right to the top.

THOSE fortunate ones win the admiration of the public and of most of their fellow-performers—and they also attract the usual derisive gibes, the sour stories, the bitter wisecracks of those who "knew them when" and who just can't get over it.

That's the show business—cruel and friendly, bitter and understanding, vicious and generous, nerve racking and wonderfully satisfying. It's a mess of contradictions. It gives some lucky people fame and fortune, and it exiles others to the bitterness and hollowness of lonely, cheap furnished rooms. A strange, fascinating business. Paul Denis.

Springfield, O.

Editors The Billboard:

Walter Nealand did a good job on his story of the "10-20-30" repertoire shows. I tip my hat to him. I might add that before his time was the 10-20-30 company starring Little Nellie Free, of New Lexington, O., and managed by Neala Compator. She was related to the immortal "J. N." Free, who toured the world in big style.

About 1928 there was a dramatic company out of Cincinnati owned by Herman Blair, then general manager of the Fleischmann Distillery & Yeast Company. It put on standard, high-class plays at 10-20-30, with some of the highest salaried actors and actresses taking the parts. I was in Blair's employ as publicity man and lecturer and finally manager of his Corbett-Fleischmanns' fight pictures. Later I became business manager of his New England Opera Company. DOC WADDELL.

Tax on "Gross" Poses Questions

WARE, Mass., Dec. 28.—Bernard Satz, manager of the Casino Theater here, said Thursday (12) that the new license fee enacted by the Board of Selectmen of this town might cause him to sell his theater. The fees were changed from a flat $25 to "10 per cent gross," but Satz couldn't understand whether the 10 per cent gross was on his annual, monthly, Sunday or daily business. He said, "The theater will be for sale if we are forced to meet any such price as my understanding is of the matter."

The same situation applies to roller skating, where, it was explained, a 10 per cent of the gross business is also requested. As in the case of the theater, there is no alternative, the straight percentage figure only being announced.

Poolroom and bowling alley proprietors were licensed over their 250 per cent increased fees, claiming theirs is a winter business only and few are able to net any sizable profit.

The increase in liquor fees, also arbitrarily stated with no interpretation given and no attempt made to clarify the reasons behind the increase, however, met with little or no concerted opposition.

Blue Laws Upheld

WILMINGTON, Del., Dec. 28.—The Delaware State Grange, at its annual meeting (11) in Newark, passed resolutions expressing opposition to any change in the blue laws, sale of liquor in or near army camps, or diversion of highway tax funds. John Mo-Sparrahan, past master of the Pennsylvania State Grange, speaking at the closing banquet, lauded the Delaware Grange for having passed resolutions defending the observance of the Sabbath.

AMUSEMENT MACHINES

A Department for Operators, Jobbers, Distributors and Manufacturers.

Conducted by WALTER W. HURD—Communications to Ashland Building, Clark and Randolph Streets, Chicago.

Prospects --

The prospects for the coin machine industry in 1941 appear very favorable as the new year is approached, if due allowance is made for two factors that may change trade conditions during the year.

The optimistic side of the picture is based on the stimulating effects of defense money as it spreads its benefits throughout all business and industry. Time has proved that the coin machine industry benefits mostly as industry and business in general benefit. The good effects of the spread of defense money have already shown that it will have a wonderful effect in boosting the patronage of all types of coin-operated machines. This optimism is not an effort to take advantage of the troubles of the world but rather the idea of joining in that high tide of American courage which will build our defenses and also give all possible aid to our friends.

The two factors that might possibly change the picture during the year are the uncertainty of war and also the possibilities of legislation that might handicap the trade. At the present time world and national conditions may change fast, so that no prognosticator can foresee the end of another year from the beginning. But the American people prefer to go ahead and meet all such eventualities by being prepared. Whatever may come, good business and thriving industry will be the best preparation for it. As the whole country moves forward, the coin machine industry will also move forward. This is not a time to be discouraged about anything and the coin machine industry has many reasons for which to be optimistic as the new year begins.

The legislative threat naturally will hang over the trade for a few months in 1941. But the amusement games industry is certain to make some good gains in legislation when so many States begin to consider the games business. Trade experience has shown that successful licensing systems can be developed and such licensing now seems to offer the best hope for a fair permanence to the amusement division. The main problem will be to secure fair and reasonable license fees. It is safe to expect that a majority of those States that consider a license on amusement games will keep the fees within reason. Enough trade information is now available so that legislators will have facts on which to work.

There is no question that the amusement games division will have to watch its corners and put up a strong defensive fight in many States. Generally, it seems the trade is better prepared than ever before to present its own side of the case. There seems to be general agreement also that the amusement games industry is willing and expects to contribute revenue to both State and city governments. There will be no effort to escape taxation, but a general willingness to pay reasonable fees. With the Arkansas license plan as a modern example, many States will see how successfully a reasonable license plan can be made to work. It is also noteworthy that all license plans with exceptionally high fees do not work so smoothly. High fees lead to tax evasion, bogus licenses, and monopolies.

So many signs point to a successful year for all branches of the coin machine industry

The prospects for 1941 indicate that those news factors which tended to keep music operators uneasy in 1940 have now lost their disturbing influence. Operators have seen the new inventions, and having seen them, they can go ahead with confidence. The outgoing year has indicated the value of the modern phonograph and especially when it is installed with complete auxiliary services such as wall boxes. The public is still king and the music business will go forward by catering to the public with all the conveniences possible and also a high quality of recorded music.

Due to certain disturbances in the field of broadcast music, it is probable that music boxes may come to fill an even larger place in supplying the popular demand for music than ever before. The natural trend is in the direction of the phonograph, and the alertness of music operators in keeping up with the demand for music may make 1941 an eventful year in music box history. Leaders in the phono trade are being kept busy with certain legal problems, and signs up to now indicate a favorable outcome for the industry as a whole. The more progressive and liberal elements of the time are on the side of the phonograph trade, a fact which may mean a great deal in the future.

Music operators can be assured that new inventions and developments will keep the industry alive during 1941. Such new ideas as movie machines and telephone music will prove enough of a stimulus to bring out the best in the industry. The music box industry as a whole will find it possible to serve the country another year with popular music.

With the rapidly increasing activity in industrial plants and offices, the vending machine industry has much to look forward to in 1941. This is true of practically all types of vending machines—candy-bar venders, cigarette venders, beverage venders, bulk penny venders, and all others. It is surprising what a stimulus the new industrial activity has proved to be in the bulk vender field. In fact, the big prospects for the full effects of industrial progress to be felt in 1941 make it an unusually promising year for venders.

As the old year closes it appears that the federal government is about to make real headway in stopping the slug epidemic which became so discouraging in recent months. This will mean much to the future of cigarette venders and will, of course, be very helpful to all types of machines.

Thus so many things combine to give an optimistic outlook for the next year. If perchance our country should be drawn into war, or if it should be necessary for the nation to ask the services of the manufacturing industry, all that can be said is the industry will do its duty. One phonograph manufacturer is already quite busy with defense orders. These things will happen quietly and the industry as a whole will move forward in all its divisions.

The 1941 Coin Machine Show is so sure to surpass all records that it will be an early boost for the industry, giving the trade and the outlook for the year a far-reaching spirit of optimism.

MERRICK, L. I. N. Y., Dec. 28.—National Novelty Company here has tripled its floor space by adding six adjoining stores to its present location.

"Our policy of selling the finest reconditioned used games is bearing fruit," said Earl C. Bucke, head of National. "Customers who give us a trial come back for repeat shipments, resulting in increased business which forced us to acquire larger quarters."

In addition to larger space for National's offices, salesrooms, repair shop, and paint shop, the enlarged quarters include a record exchange, greater facilities for the storage of machines, and a modern shipping department.

"If things continue in 1941 as they did in 1940," continued Bucke, "even our tripled floor space won't be enough to take care of the demands of our hundreds of satisfied customers. Operators have come to know they can depend on National Novelty for topnotch games and service, and we're going to keep on giving them just that."

Automatic Sales

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 28.—Joe Frank, of Automatic Sales Company, announces that increased business has made it necessary to move from his present location, 416-A Broad Street, to new and larger quarters at 263 Second Avenue North, where more than 10,000 square feet of floor space will be available.

Ampie parking space has been provided adjoining the new location, and Frank has invited all coin men in the territory to visit his new showrooms, where he says the largest stock of new and used machines in the South will be on display.

Frank will stage a formal opening of his new quarters immediately following the coin machine convention in Chicago.

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 28.—Latest returns in the investigation of the investigators in Minneapolis by the Hennepin County grand jury finds the Rev. Henry J. Soltan, grand jury indicted on four charges, one each of perjury and operating as a detective without a license and two of subornation of perjury.

At the same time federal agents apparently moved into the investigation of the Minnesota and Hennepin County Law Enforcement Leagues, of which Soltan is secretary. Also indicted on perjury were two former Soltan investigators. The grand jury is also inquiring into financial matters of the law enforcement leagues. Altho Soltan has declared many times that his only income is $1,200 per year from the Anti-Saloon League, it was alleged that his bank book showed deposits of $3,600 in the last year.

MUSIC MERCHANDISING

Wurlitzer Unveils New Line Jan. 5-6

NORTH TONAWANDA, N. Y., Dec. 28.—The Rudolph Wurlitzer Company will unveil its new line of automatic phonographs on National Wurlitzer Day, January 5 and 6, in 60 cities from Coast to Coast. The new phonographs have been named Victory Models.

According to "Mike" Hammegren, Wurlitzer general sales manager, the idea of Victory Models comes from the fact that the new models represent an outstanding achievement in phonograph design that will enable Wurlitzer music merchants to top all competition."

The new Wurlitzer line includes a super de luxe model with a new feature that is said to be the most important contribution ever made to the eye-appeal and play-appeal of any automatic phonograph. Wurlitzer is said to have the exclusive license for this feature in the automatic phonograph industry. Besides the super de luxe model the new line includes a standard model with new and distinctive lines, as well as a more generous use of plastics and novel lighting effects. The Colonial Model 760, introduced in November, is also included as part of the Victory line. Wurlitzer music merchants state that the reception accorded this model has exceeded all expectations.

"The success of the Colonial model proves that many locations were foregoing the advantages of an automatic phonograph because they could not obtain a conservative model that would harmonize with their particular decorative scheme and surroundings," said Spencer Reese, assistant sales manager. "With this new model, Wurlitzer music merchants are lining up locations they couldn't touch before, including the better hotels, private clubs, restaurants, night clubs, and cocktail lounges."

rounding out the Victory line are two counter models, both complete phonographs with built-in speakers. One is the smallest counter model ever built. During the past year, Wurlitzer officials say, music merchants have had their eyes opened to the possibilities in the small location field, and 1941 promises to see further activity in this direction.

Commenting on the new line, Carl Johnson, Wurlitzer vice-president stated: "While refinements have been made to improve the tone and ease of servicing, no radical mechanical changes have been made. This will be welcome news to Wurlitzer music merchants. We have worked out our mechanical problems over the years, and there has been no need to try anything new that might possibly add to, rather than decrease, the music merchant's serving problems."

In addition to the Victory line of automatic phonographs, Wurlitzer's line of remote-control equipment, wall boxes, bar boxes, portable units, and speakers has been completely redesigned, and according to Ray Haimbaugh, chief engineer, "will set a new high in mechanical perfection for the industry."

New Modern Vending Offices Open Jan. 6

NEW YORK, Dec. 28—Officials of Modern Vending Company announced this week that new headquarters of the firm at 10th Avenue and 45th Street will open January 6. New offices are located in the heart of the music machine district of the city. Coin Row.

Modern's offices at 656 Broadway will be shuttered for the last time on Friday, January 2. This office will be closed all day Saturday (4) while equipment is being moved uptown to the new quarters.

In extending a blanket invitation to the trade to visit their new offices, Modern executives point out that their decision to move uptown was prompted principally by their desire to serve their customers in a better and more efficient manner. "Our new record department," they cited, "with its private listening rooms plus the many improved service facilities we now have, are sure to score with all our customers. The move is but another indication of the growing success of Seaborg equipment," they concluded.

RCA Head Tells Of Music Progress

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 28.—G. K. Throckmorton, president of RCA Manufacturing Company, in his year-end statement made special mention of recorded music and coin machine movies.

"The popularity of recorded music continues its remarkable upsurge," Throckmorton said. "Substantial price reductions of recordings in both the popular and classical field have broadened the base of the market for recorded music. Music lovers may now own more of the music which they have always wanted, and new converts to recorded music find their investment much lower than ever before in history."

Pointing to coin machine music, he said: "A significant new development in the field of entertainment was the introduction of coin-operated sound motion picture reproducing instruments. The sound reproducing mechanism for Soundies was developed by RCA Victor engineers and is being manufactured in the company's sound equipment factory at Indianapolis."

New Method of Disk Manufacture

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 28.—Walter E. Ditmars, president of the Gray Manufacturing Company, of this city, has announced the development of a new and patented method for the production of flat-disk phonograph records from a strong, flexible plastic compound. The new process is said to eliminate much of the expensive equipment now required in producing phonograph records, particularly the costly and time-consuming electro-plating operation.

The new Gray records are about one-sixth as thick as commercial records now in use and are said to be virtually unbreakable. Ditmars has intimated that they can be made available in clear plastic as well as in a variety of colors.

Denver

DENVER, Dec. 28.—Johnny Pratt, of Rio Grande Music & Sales, Las Cruces, N. M., was a Denver visitor this week. Operating in the Mesilla Valley, Pratt reports business holding up nicely, with prospects bright for the coming year, due to concentrations of soldiers in that area. Pratt placed several orders for Bock-Ola remote control equipment with the Denver Distributing Company. He also was enthusiastic over the receipts of his Sky-Fighters.

One of the pioneer coin machine operators in this region, O. M. Yant, passed away recently at his home in Sterling, Colo. Altho most of his operations were in Northeastern Colorado, Yant was well known throughout this territory. His passing is a distinct loss to the operating field.

Prosperity note—five members of the Modern Music Company organization are driving new cars. They are Frank Mazzone, Frank Hubert, Jim Sweeney, Ralph Brandenburg, and Charlie Vileth. L. D. Shulman, owner of the company, entertained this week at a Christmas party.

Automatic Equipment was selected to feed Christmas music at the Union Station and at Civic Center, the scene of an elaborate Christmas display. The idea of Christmas music at railroad depots was started several years ago in Denver by

Arvin Wahl recently installed a 14-box remote control unit at the newly remodeled Oasis, one of Denver's most popular drive-in stands.

Gibson Bradshaw, of the Denver Distributing Company, is making big plans for the coming year, including the remodeling of the company's quarters, as well as the regional Rock-Ola showing scheduled for March 7. Bradshaw reports a most successful 1940 and has distributed cash bonuses to his employees. He recently received a special courtesy membership appointment to the Denver Chamber of Commerce.

Most folks can't offer proof of their angling ability, but not so Al Roberts, manager of the Wolf Sales Company, who won a cup for his deep-sea fishing prowess at the Wurlitzer sales meeting in New Orleans. J. C. Ditto, head serviceman of the Wolf organization, spent Christmas in Fort Worth, Tex. George Rosenfeld, territorial representative, on his first trip thru New Mexico, reports excellent acceptance of his product among operators in that territory, and says indications are that 1941 will be a banner year.

Recent visitors and purchasers of equipment at the Denver Distributing Company included Pat Johnson, Rawlins, Wyo.; E. B. Burns, Grand Junction, Colo.; David Dingler, Idaho Springs, Colo.; Olin Gibbs, Fort Collins, Colo., and A. A. McDougal, Atwood, Kan. Denver Distributing Company reports much interest among operators in the O. D. Jennings line of bell machines, and states that despite the length of time Sky-Fighters have been on the market there is not a used machine available in this territory. Bradshaw expects to complete purchases of machines for his arcade at the Chicago show and says business so far has far exceeded his expectations.

Reports are that W. T. Orr, of Albuquerque, N. M., has one of the finest operating quarters in this part of the country, now that he is completely installed in his new quarters.

Gano Senter, of the Denver Sales Company, had quite a write-up in The Rocky Mountain News on his Christmas tree. The Senter tree, which virtually has come to be a South Denver tradition, attracting up to 2,500 visitors, is the result of 30 years of gathering ornaments from every part of the world. Nearly 4,000 ornaments are used. Fifty man-hours of work are required to dress the tree, which is done under the supervision of Mrs. Senter. A day and a half is required to dismantle the tree, which is lighted by 400 colored lights.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 28.—AMI Distributing Company, Hazleton, Pa., and the Standard Cigarette Service Company, Tamaqua, Pa., had ads in the Hazleton paper in a co-operative page marking the first anniversary of the Blue Comet Diner.

With receipts not announced for the last two weeks of December income from parking meters here is expected to be $6,000 above the 1939 collections. Councilman Tom Evans, superintendent of accounts and finance, reported. Total collected thus far this year, omitting the last two weeks of this month, is $44,248.25. Evans said the estimate for the 1941 budget includes an expected $60,000 income from the parking meters. It was budgeted at $40,000 for 1940.

It was revealed that it costs Wilkes-Barre 20 per cent of the gross collections to maintain its parking-meter system. There are 723 meters operating, entailing the employment of two patrolmen daily for collections, a patrolman for repair work on meters, and meter poets, another to stand in the city treasurer's office during the counting of the nickels, and a $1,000-a-year clerk in the treasurer's office.

Buffalo

BUFFALO. Dec. 23.—Sales as well as collections, which were subject to a slight let-down just before the holidays, have begun to come in for that holiday rush.

Plans by the local trade to attend the 1941 Coin Machine Show in Chicago are more elaborate and ambitious than in many years. Practically every distributor and operator has decided to attend. All are looking forward to a swell time.

Lew Wolfe, head of Rex Amusement Company, Rock-Ola outlet here, has made arrangements for 20 men from Buffalo and surrounding cities to take the trip to the Windy City in a private car. Crowd will leave the Queen City Sunday night, January 12, in a coach hitched to the Commodore Vanderbilt streamliner.

Wolfe hasn't forgotten any detail in making his crew of friends comfortable, and has made reservations for them at the Hotel Morrison, right near the Sherman.

Among the men in the Wolfe group are Bill Flynn, Harry Wiesner, Al Bergman, Arden Pratt, and Harry Silverstein. Harry Winfield and Ben Kulik, prominent local distributors, are also taking the trip, but may make up their own parties.

Chris Souza, service man for Jim Blakeslee's Iroquois Amusement Company, is adding to his yuletide joy by being married today (28) to Elsie Lalley, whom he met while working on his route. Coin machines can apparently play Cupid, too.

Music machine business has received some rise by constantly expanding installations of telephone wired central control station set-ups.

An array of bands which have been featured at the Buffalo and Century vaudeville houses has helped publicize those bands' recordings due to nice publicity tie-ups. Theaters use a phonograph in the lobby prior to and during the band's stand, which helps advertise the act, as well as its recordings and the music box itself. Latest bands in this territory were Woody Herman and Clyde McCoy, with Gene Krupa and Charlie Barnet previous visitors.

Bernard Blacher, Amplified Music Company, has successfully embarked in the games line and finds the combination of music boxes and printables all right. Blacher has hit on a new music machine promotion idea which is increasing the plays on his phonographs greatly. He goes around with a recording machine outfit, makes records of patrons' voices on location, then slips the disks into the music box so that the customers pay to play their own "masterpieces." The homemade platters themselves don't gross much, but attention is focused on the phonographs and bigger play results.

Pinball games, according to distributors, are constantly improving in appearance and play appeal. Lew Wolfe thinks the best games are Attention and Duplex.

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS. Dec. 23.—F. W. King, C. & N. Sales Company, is on a trip thru North and Central Louisiana.

The D. M. McDonalds will soon celebrate their 44th wedding anniversary. Mac is back in New Orleans again after completing an extensive business trip in Mississippi.

A shipment of Shipman Manufacturing Company stamp vendors has been received by the J. H. Peres Novelty Company and placed on location to meet the Christmas and New Year's rush for postage.

Thomas Best, of the service department of Rudolph Wurlitzer Company, North Tonawanda, N. Y., arrived here this week from Birmingham, Ala. Best is on a check-up tour of the Southeastern territory for Wurlitzer.

Andy Monte, of the A. M. Amusement Company, distributor of International Mutoscope's Sky Fighter, continues to report sales running ahead of factory shipments. Monte says the holiday pick-up in demand for Sky Fighters is larger than he had expected.

ED RODRIGUEZ, of the American Coin Machine Company, returned this week from Chicago, where he was the guest of several factory heads. Rodriguez returned with the State distributorship for Western's baseball game, Major League.

Sam Gentilich, manager of the Dixie Music Company, Mills phonograph distributor here, has returned from a trip thru the Delta area where he sold a number of Mills Empress and Throne of Music machines.

Norman Bass, district manager for RCA-Victor, Memphis, Tenn., was a visitor at the Electrical Supply Company office this week. Hugh Smith, in charge of record sales, told Bass that December's turnover of RCA-Victor disks will be largest in a decade. Bass announced that record sales were larger this year than last throughout his territory and that he noted a decided better demand for higher class music this year.

Heavy patronage from the city proper is reported by locations in adjoining Jefferson Parish as pin games return for the first time in two months or more.

With the first shipment of Daval's Cub and Ace counter games sold out, the Dixie Coin Machine Company, Daval distributor, reported heavier sales than expected from interior points. Both machines promise to outsell the popular recent Daval game, American Eagle.

Larry Copeland, for several years an operator here, has been appointed distributor in Mississippi for Richter & Associates sales of Phonovision machines.

Julius Pace, president of the Coin Vending Machine Operators' Association, has returned to his office after being confined to his home for several days with a cold.

The epidemic of flu that struck at Alexandria, La., last week continued to spread. All theaters, sport centers, churches, and schools have been ordered closed until the worst part of the wave is reported gone. Thus far the flu has not hit near-by Camp Beauregard where 45,000 soldiers are camped.

News Notes

That the United States Record Corporation, which filed a voluntary petition for reorganization last June, has no immediate recording plans is indicated by the report that Eli Oberstein, firm's recording chief, is going into the band management field in February when the remaining U. S. bands under contract will have freed themselves of all ties. Oberstein plans to take on Harry James, among other leaders.

The Ink Spots have been signed for a spot in the 20th-Fox musical "The Great Broadcast." . . . Rudy Vallee has signed a contract with Universal Pictures. . . . Columbia has renewed Gene Krupa's lease for another two years. . . . Joan Merrill, vocalist currently appearing at the Hurricane, New York, has signed a contract with Victor and is recording under the Bluebird label.

New Jersey Network

ONE of the most impressive networks of music machines in any State is located in the dozens of roadhouses which dot the highways of New Jersey. Although most of them use bands for their regular dance sessions, the more popular spots have two to three boxes placed in convenient corners in the main room or in adjoining bars and cocktail lounges. A typical example is Donohue's, Mountain View, N. J., which has been catering to dancers for 12 years. Owner Jim Donohue has three music machines and each is doing remarkably well despite the full-sized band playing in the dining room. The machines are kept active between dance sets, afternoons and after the regularly scheduled dance band working hours. Donohue seldom plays the records of the outfit currently playing in his club. He feels that the fans attracted by the band want to see him in person and they would rather listen to recordings by competitive bands. His operator, accordingly, feeds him with suitable records.

At the Flagship, Union, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flitz make it a practice to learn the musical tastes of their patrons and supply the music in demand both on their bandstand and in the two music machines located in the building. Their operator keeps in close touch with them and supplies their needs at regular intervals.

RECORD POLL

WHO in your estimation was the outstanding recording artist on music machines during 1940?

WHAT was the most popular recording on your automatic phonographs during 1940?

The answer to these questions will come from the nation's operators. The winners will be announced at the 1941 Coin Machine Show.

This poll is conducted under the auspices of the Coin Machine Industries, Inc., national association of manufacturers, which is sponsoring the 1941 Coin Machine Show.

Talent and Tunes On Music Machines

A COLUMN FOR PHONOGRAPH OPERATORS

By SAM HONICBERG

They Wrote It

MACK GORDON and Harry Warren, each a famed songwriter in his own right and authors of nearly 300 hit tunes, are responsible for Dance Argentine Way, a current leader in the Record Buying Guide. The boys are known for their timely work and are capable of producing a hit based on the latest and most popular trend in music. The tune in question was written for the picture Dance Argentine Way, which is designed to promote good will among the Latin American countries. They also wrote Two Dreams Met, featured in the same picture. Another of the recent hits is You Say the Sweetest Things (Baby), used in the picture Tim Pan Alley. Both are stationed in Hollywood.

This and That

THE first recordings made by Charley Spivak under his new Okeh contract include his theme song Night Is Ending, What's Cooking?, and Sit Down, Bud. . . . Jack Leonard, another Okeh personality, has recorded the theme song of his former boss, Tommy Dorsey. The title? I'm Getting Sentimental Over You. . . . Teles Demetriadis, the alert manager of Victor's foreign department, prepared a new tavern record titled Cannibal's Polka. He is going to make sure that all operators hear it when they attend the Coin Machine Industries convention at the Sherman Hotel, Chicago, January 13-16. . . . For one of her latest Columbia records, Ella Logan has revived the Curse of an Aching Heart. . . . Bill Bradley is one of the first bands to record a number from Hal Roach's forthcoming musical picture, Road Show. He made I Should Have Known You Years Ago and features Phyllis Mylne on the vocal.

Territorial Favorites

FOLLOWING is a list of reports from operators in various sections of the country who have mentioned artists and records as local favorites, in addition to the national leaders listed in the Record Buying Guide.

CINCINNATI:

Scrub Me, Mama, With a Boogie Beat. Will Bradley.

The rise in popularity of boogie woogie numbers is boosting the stock of this Bradley number in the Ohio territory. In some parts of the country it is coming up as strongly as his previous boogie tune, Beat Me, Daddy, Eight to a Bar. The successor is designed to please the Daddy fans.

CHARLESTON, W. VA.:

Song of the Wanderer. Erskine Hawkins.

Hawkins, popular in this State, is responsible for the many plays given this tune. Operators claim the song itself has plenty of appeal for music machine fans and should be given a real chance on locations.

PORTLAND, ORE.:

Papa's in Bed. Tommy Tucker.

A novelty played in good T. Tucker style, which is a favorite in this Oregon territory. It is getting good support in both taverns and the better class locations due to its wide appeal. Has a good chance of clicking.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK.:

Pompton Turnpike. Charlie Barnet.

A novelty that has come up and has gone down in many parts of the country but is showing healthy signs here and doing as well as some of the more popular hillbilly records, which, as a rule, are tops in Little Rock. Barnet is a popular name in this area.

Radio's Leading Songs

HERE is a comparative list of 10 songs broadcast most often during the week ended December 27 and the week before, ended December 20. The songs are those heard over the networks and leading New York stations based on information supplied by Accurate Reporting Service. Due to the current fight between the leading radio networks and the music royalty collecting society, ASCAP, songs published by the networks' own music firm, Broadcast Music, Inc., are favored on all programs.

San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—Most interesting highlight of news from this vicinity is the success being achieved by the newly organized Amusement Merchants' Association, public relations arm of the industry.

Sid Mackin, administrator, reports from his office in the Marshall Square Building that the organization's program is being encouragingly supported. Seventy-five per cent of local operators have signed as paying members. Others are coming in daily.

Meetings are scheduled at about 10-day intervals. Participation, co-operation, and enthusiasm shown indicate much accomplishment in store for the group. Mackin is an experienced public relations counsel and was a key figure in the creditable 1940 San Francisco world's fair build-up.

The Amusement Merchants' Association is achieving numerous intra-organizational services, as well as its more general public function. Members are helped in the interpretation of existing and new legislation. By clarifying troublesome features of legal documents, operators are helped to not unwittingly become involved with the law.

With regard to relicensing, which is a current consideration, no difficulty is being experienced at this time, except in certain downtown locations where the only apparent basis for business is the operation of pinball games. In these locations, particularly where pay-back and free-play is general, new licensees have been withheld with the threat of outright revocation. By and large, however, the picture has been entirely satisfactory. Enforcement demands have been relatively lenient and reasonable on all counts. Incidentally, the term "replay" is replacing "free play."

Business has been conspicuously active. A number of old games called in at the beginning of the legislative development have been kept out of operation, some having been sold to out-of-town operators. It is noticeable that the installation of new games continues unabated.

TRAILER DISPLAY ROOMS are brilliantly exemplified by the Jack R. Moore Company's "Lazy Nickel Limited," luxurious trailer demonstration unit used by the company to present Seeburg Music Systems to operators in the Pacific Northwest.

ANDY IONA (Columbia)

Aloha Hawaii—Four-record Album.

Disciples of the grass-skirted school of melody will reap a harvest here, with Iona, one of the foremost exponents of the school, conducting a wax tour thru some of the more enjoyable music of the Islands. A record addict has to be particularly partial to the melodic enchantment of Hawaii to be interested in this packaging, but there are a lot of disk purchasers so minded, and this album is a better-than-average addition to the already large number of Hawaiian disk groupings available.

CHUCK FOSTER (Okeh)

Oh, You Beautiful Doll—PT; VC. Sleepy Time Gal—PT; VC.

Possibly there is a demand for the cut-and-dried corn dispensed on sides like these. Freddie "Schnickelfritz" Fisher has been doing nicely with it for some time. But then there is a satire undercurrent in the Fisher brand of corn that amuses the listener because he gets the feeling that nobody's taking it seriously and it's all in fun. Not so with this disk. Doll is the Foster theme song, and on this side, as well as on the other, the boys seem to be in dead earnest. Which makes listening slightly painful because, except as satire, this sort of undiluted melodic and rhythmic corn went out years and years ago. With all the available bands around that aren't lucky enough to get a recording contract, this type of wax effort seems to this listener to be slightly inexcusable.

GENE KRUPA (Okeh)

Yes, My Darling Daughter—PT; VC.

Blue Krieg—PT.

Krupa gets a nice drive and lift on the Jack Lawrence number that Dinah Shore single-handed has raised to public prominence, but for the first time Irene Daye falls down a bit on the vocal. Perhaps the song has become one of those personal property things where comparisons are inevitably drawn (in this case with, of course, Miss Shore's splendid version), and anyone but the original delineator invariably loses out. At any rate, Miss Daye tries hard and sings well enough, but humor and real vocal salesmanship are lacking. Reverse breaks the run of ballads that Krupa has had of late and displays the band in a fairly slow riff number that contains the usual quota of hot solos. It's arranged and played capably if not excitingly.

KAY KYSER (Columbia)

I Can't Remember To Forget—PT; VC.

To Be Continued—PT; VC.

A couple of undistinguished ballads are made more palatable than they might ordinarily be thru the smooth, dependable treatment given them here. Confused brings back memories of the Arthur Schwartz-Howard Dietz I Guess I'll Have To Change My Plan, its relationship to that tune being its only distinction. Kyser, however, manages to instill life and life into it, with Harry Bobbit for his usual capable assist on the words. Companion piece is slow and sweet and pedestrian, again made listenable thru Ginni Simms' vocal and the orchestra's polished performance.

DUKE ELLINGTON (Victor)

I Never Felt This Way Before—PT; VC. All Too Soon—PT.

Ellington constantly continues to amaze in the fertility of his musical imagination, which keeps him so far ahead of the pack from the standpoint of jazz ingenuity that he's likely never to have any competition. In the sort of thing contained on side B here, Duke's piano ripples thru a slow rhapsodic musical portrait that features Ben Webster's sax and Lawrence Brown's trombone against an orchestral background that is weird and lovely in typical Ellingtonian tradition. This side far outdistances the pretty straight ballad commercialism of the A side, altho Ellington's instrumental color lifts a weak song by its bootstraps. Herb Jeffries' lyricizing here is affected and unnecessary.

BARNEY BIGARD (Bluebird)

Charlie the Chulu—PT. A Lull at Dawn—PT.

Bigard heads the second of the small units comprised of men from Ellington's big band to appear under the Bluebird imprint. This is hot jazz in a more conventional, straightforward approach than that brought to his Victor sides by the Duke himself. But while it's not as individualistic, it's as good technically in its own way, with Bigard's clarinet holding the spotlight in a fast and a slow performance on sides A and B, respectively. Little general interest will be engendered by this disk, but it will be a must on every swingophile's list.

CHARLIE BARNET (Bluebird)

Scrub Ma, Mama, With a Boogie Beat—PT; VC. I Can't Remember To Forget—PT; VC.

Barnet's sax and Bill Miller's boogie-woogie piano take the honors on the first side here, but the feet isn't too great. A large part of the rim-to-label surface is devoted to Ford Leary's vocalizing, which is what keeps the version from being good. Leary normally can sing a rhythm tune to good advantage, but he sounds forced and strained here, apparently in his desire to do a bang-up humorous job in proportion to the humor of the number. Platterman is an ordinary ballad dressed up in a nice arrangement, with Bob Carroll contributing a good vocal chorus.

WILL BRADLEY (Columbia)

The Lonesome Road—PT. You're Lucky to Me—PT.

A Ray McKinley tour de force on drums is Lonesome Road, and here he gets his chance to engrave it for posterity. It's a nice bit of hide-beating that he does, too, with the entire side amounting practically to a solo. The band manages to get in some licks in a fast tempo and spends one chorus backing Ray in stop-chorus fashion. And for those close listeners there's a little unintentional humor supplied by Ray's humming to himself as he goes thru his paces. It probably wasn't intended to come thru on the disk, but it did, and it adds to the listening enjoyment. Reverse is pretty ordinary for this band, with Freddie Slack dominating a few bars of his fine piano for the highlight. It's medium bounce tempo on this side, no boogie-woogie at all, and a capable but conventional all-around performance.

BEN BERNIE (Okeh)

Did Anyone Call?—PT; VC. If Ya Bud—PT; VC.

This is a nice commercial couplet, for it combines a straight, strictly dance arrangement and a novelty that asks for audience participation. The A side ballad is far more danceable than listenable, with smooth ensemble tooting and a steady medium tempo being more inspiring than ear-arresting. Bernie dons his emcee mantle for the reverse, explaining the idea of a lyric "game" and then illustrating it with the aid of Don Saxon and the Bailey Sisters. It's cute and listenable, and there are a couple of laughs produced by the wordage in spots.

ELLA FITZGERALD (Decca)

Cabin in the Sky—PT; VC. Taking a Chance on Love—PT; VC.

These two songs come from the Vernon Duke-John Latouche score for the current Broadway musical Cabin in the Sky, in which Ethel Waters evokes raves for her handling of the numbers, particularly Taking a Chance on Love. Miss Fitzgerald need take no back seat in her own treatment of these melodies, for she has poured a lot of her fine warbling into this double, and she is backed rhythmically and well by the band. The latter is more or less incidental, however, with the sides amounting to a vocal holiday for Ella. She celebrates it royally.

ANDY KIRK (Decca)

When I See You—PT; VC. Little Miss—PT.

Kirk here mixes a ballad with a medium bounce instrumental, with the whole adding up to a good bit of record making. Henry Wells shines, as he has done often in the past on Kirk disks, on the vocal chorus on the first side, and the band contributes good solos and a nice beat and drive to the reverse.

VAUGHN MONROE (Bluebird)

The Last Time I Saw Paris—PT; VC. High on a Windy Hill—PT; VC.

Monroe brings an erroneous interpretation to the Jerome Kern-Oscar Hammerstein touching ballad on the A side by playing it in a too bouncy and a too swing style. The leader's vocal is sincerely delivered, but the theme of the song just doesn't call for swing. Monroe's baritone leads off the long chorus on the reverse and comes back to wind up the side after a short orch interlude. Vocally and melodically, the number is too much on the heavy side to be entirely satisfying.

FRED ASTAIRE (Columbia)

I Ain't Hep to That Step (But I'll Dig It)—Vocal and Tap Dancing. Poor Mister Chisholm—V.

Astaire adds two novelties from his and Artie Shaw's picture, Second Chorus, to his already released sides of songs from the score. Half of this double contains the vaunted Astaire tapology, interesting in a last-chorus duet with the drums. Fred's genial vocal personality comes thru nicely on both sets of lyrics, second one of which is amusing in its story of a mandolin player who broke a string every time he tried to swing. A good trumpet solo and a fine sax passage distinguish the first and second side, respectively.

RAY NOBLE (Columbia)

Strong Sue—PT. Far Away—PT.

It's difficult for Noble to do anything bad or even poor, but he comes close to it here with a pair of sides that despite nice solos and typically musically arranging are much too run-of-the-mill for a band of the caliber of this one. Little of Noble's customary skill and brilliance shines thru, and the songs themselves, both originals, lack the composer-maestro's usual imagination.

McFARLAND TWINS (Okeh)

The Yankee Doodle Polka—PT; VC. Wait Till She Sees You in Your Uniform—PT; VC.

Both sides are light and bouncy, with unrelieved Donald Duck interpolations interspersed thru the arrangements. The Twinsters Three undertake both novelty vocals and are given a good deal of space throughout both sides, a bit more than their rather weak harmonizing merits. But the disk is lively and pleasant in a general sense.

CAB CALLOWAY (Okeh)

North of the Mohawk Trail—PT. Goin' Conga—Conga; VC.

Calloway's North of the Mohawk Trail is no Cherokee, but its Indian overtones are fair, and it produces some competent swing passages. Tyree Glenn's trombone takes solo honors. Reverse is Cab's version of a conga, which offers not much more than some of the intangible Calloway seat singing and a muddled conga beat. Both sides are fair enough, but they assume slightly ambitious proportions that the band has a little trouble living up to.

GUY LOMBARD (Decca)

The Moon Fell in the River—PT; VC. Somewhere—PT; VC.

Two more typical Lombardo sides, both ballads, both played in the same soft, mincing style that the Royal Canadians have used so successfully for so long. Carmen Lombardo quavers thru side A's vocal. Mert Curtis does likewise to a lesser extent on the reverse.

RUBY NEWMAN (Decca)

Let's Be Buddies—PT; VC. My Mother Would Love You—PT; VC.

Newman's smoothly danceable style fits these two Cole Porter show tunes nicely, with the band taking them in average tempo grafted onto nice if undistinguished arrangements. There is a smattering of polish surrounding these versions, however, that makes up for the lack of outstanding ensemble or solo work. Bob Hannon does extremely well on both vocals.

TOMMY DORSEY (Victor)

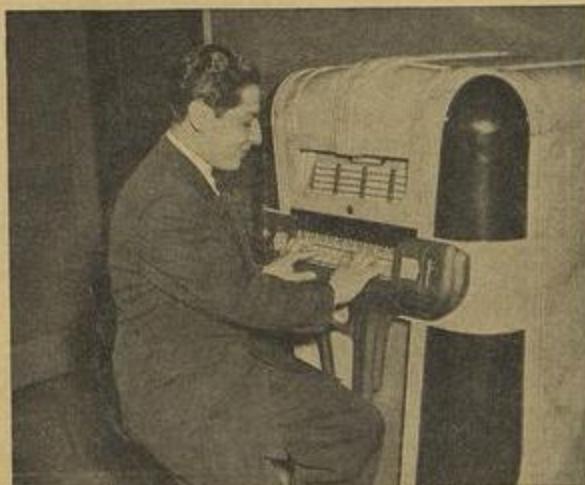

Swing Time Up in Harlem—PT; VC. Swing High—PT.

After what seemed to be an interminable series of ballads, the Dorsey pendulum swings the other way, and Tommy returns to jazz in no uncertain terms. Even the titles here indicate a determined attempt to make up for the time spent in balladeering, and the grooves on these two sides more than justify the expectations raised by the tags. The first side is hot, and the second is hotter, with Ziggy Elman's open horn trumpet blasting thru in a terrific soliloquy. Don Lodice stars on tenor sax on side A, with Connie Haines' vocal getting in the way of some fine tooting. Swing High is the better side, a real killer that really kicks.

ORRIN TUCKER (Columbia)

You're the One (For Me)—PT; VC. Gosh I Wish I'd Listened to My Mother—PT; VC.

Tucker cuts two sides from his first movie, You're the One, and it is to be hoped that his performance in the film, at least on these ditties, is better than it is on wax. The arrangements are jumpy, the fiddle work is jerky. Tucker's A side vocal is weak, and Bonnie Baker is Bonnie Baker on side B. Only the Bodyguards, the Tucker vocal group, turn in some efforts that arouse any listening pleasure. Johnny Mercer and Jimmy McHugh fell down on their job of grinding out a made-to-order ditty for wee Bonnie, with a forced, intemperate and pointless lyric gracing With I'd Listen to My Mother. Other song is cute, rhythmic, and lyrically clever, but it's garbled here.

JUKEBOX MAN BAND LEADER JOE VERA strikes an octave on the white keyboard of Mills Empress. Vera was impressed with the tone of the machine. His band may be heard at the Congress Hotel Glass Bar in Chicago.

EASTERN FLASHES

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—This holiday season proved one of the gayest in Eastern coin circles in recent years. Most of the operators, distributors, and jobbers will close their books on a successful 1940 and already plans have been made for a bigger and better 1941. The coin machine show at Chicago is eyed with keen anticipation, as the new games that will be displayed there will have a big influence on next year's receipts.

AROUND THE TOWN . . .

One of the outstanding Christmas cards sighted during the mail deluge was the one that had a message in the shape of Adams Gum and sent out by Miss A. M. Strong, of G. V. Corporation.

Nat Cohn, of Modern, says that altho the firm expected a lull during the holidays, the staff was busier than ever with orders for Seeburg equipment. Much interest is being shown in the announcement by International Mutoscope of $5,000 in prizes for operators. Wires, phone calls, and letters have been pouring into the offices on the strength of the news, Bill Rabin reports. The stork is hovering over Hymie Rosenburg's house. Mike Munves was busy this week wishing his accounts a Merry Christmas. Mike's right-hand man in his 10th Avenue office is Milton Nagter, who has been in the coin business for many a moon. Joe Munves, who attended the NAAPPB convention in Chi, reports the trade can expect its biggest arcade year in 1941. According to George Goss, Mike Munves' admiral, the merchandise vendor division is going at top speed. Senator Al Botkin will attend his first Chicago convention with Charley Aronson and Bill Alberg. Botkin admits he's a little nervous about attending the event since his companions have given him some reports on the past meetings. Messrs. Aronson and Alberg, of Brooklyn Amusement Machine Company, say the firm now employs 20 people and business is getting better day by day.

PAST FLASHES . . .

Marty Roth, Oil Paria's partner, says Oil is capable of settling down. He cites the incident of Mrs. Paria reading the evening paper and Oil playing with his son in their Long Island bungalow. Marty adds that he actually witnessed this impressive picture of domesticity. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hirsch got a tremendous hand following the special rumba exhibition they gave at Stanley's Bar Mitzvah party. Joe Fishman gets a kick out of passing off his beautiful daughter as his sister. But his son is taller than he is. Sol Silverstein, of Chicago Coin, in town for the holidays. He's still a bachelor and likes it that way. Eddie and Mrs. Corrison really enjoy their cigarettes. Morris Silverstein's double coin interests keep him in Albany, N. Y., the first three days of the week, and the rest of the time in New York. Harry Rosen, of Modern, is in Miami enjoying the sunshine and improving his golf. Jack Jaffe looks like a page from Esquire in a tux. . . . Nat and Lillian Cohn can really dance and could hold down a professional engagement. Ben Haskell, of Haskell & Goldberg, coin attorneys, is a different looking individual in evening clothes. Louis Goldberg and Al Lifshay deserve a lot of credit for the swell job of managing Amalgamated affairs. Both are working harder than ever.

HERB MILLS, treasurer of Mills Novelty Company, gives the glad hand to Orchestra Leader Jim Gerber, who wanted to see the soundies. Panoram will be exhibited at Mills factory and at the convention at the Sherman Hotel, Chicago, January 13-16.

MEM AND MACHINES . . .

Willie (Little Napoleon) Bissell isn't doing much bragging but is said to be doing one of the biggest distributing jobs in the business. Reports are that he is leading in Buckley Music System sales. Mike Chance, of A. H. DuGrenier, says the firm is far ahead on orders for the Champion cigarette merchandiser and promises to give the boys an eyeful at the convention. Tony Gasparro, of Weston Distributing Company, Inc., spent last week at the Exhibit factory in Chicago. Bert Lane, of Seaboard Sales, is one of the busiest guys in the business, despite the fact that he should sit back and take it easy for a spell following the swell job he did during his first year in the distribs field. Sam Sachar of Acme Sales Company, is reported doing a good job with the Reliable wall ornamental game. Games and wall boxes keep George Ponner on the hop. With the Mills Panoram coming to town, George says he will really be kept busy. Dave Simon is getting set for the convention. Al Simon tells that he's going to stay in town until the convention no matter what comes up.

COIN SHOTS . . .

Max Weiss, of Brooklyn, who recently returned from the Windy City, enjoys a good rummy game. Ada Goodman, of Savoy, will soon name the day. Sam Kramer, Brooklyn operator, will soon take a long-delayed vacation. Abe Schultz, Brooklyn operator, is recovering from tonsillitis. Better business is reported to have forced Willie Levy, of Brooklyn, to forego his usual card game. Al Simon, of Savoy, remains Klisbasha champ despite the challenge issued by Jerry Kaufman, of New York. Jack Semel is reported losing weight. Phil Raisen won't let cards interfere with his meals. He goes home and eats and comes back to finish the game. Harry A. Marcus, Brooklyn operator, now has the title of "Champion Stooge Smoker." Brooklyn operators say one of the best times to be had is a visit to Morris Karlitz's home, recently completely refurbished. Morris' partners are Abe Black and Lenny Karlitz, and they're doing a swell operating job. Irv Blecher is a busy man. . . . Jack Hart-

Hoch is still looking for the headman. Jack Fitzgibbons passed around those individualized gifts that are characteristic of Bally. He says he'll have an important announcement as soon as Ray Moloney returns from Florida. "Weather's so good," says Fitz. "Ray hates to leave." DeWitt (Doc) Eaton, of Buckley Music System, Inc., is one of the happiest guys in town, with his distributors putting out more and more wall and bar boxes. On his return from a trip thru New York State and Connecticut, Doc said: "Demand for Buckleys, especially the new 32 and light-up boxes, is growing everywhere." Tri-Way Products Company, Brooklyn, reports that the Ultratone speaker-baffle has clicked solidly, as has the demand for the new lighted Illumitones.

JERSEY JOTTINGS . . .

Dave Stern, of Royal Distributors, Inc., Elizabeth, was recently elected president of the New Jersey Music Operators' Association. Reports have it that Eddie Corrison, of Palisades Novelty Distributors, Grantwood, is one of Bally's biggest sales factors. Raoul Ulberg, Corrison's right-hand man, is considered one of the busiest of the busy in the State. Irv Morris, of George Ponner Company, Newark, pulled a good stunt. He sent out pocket knives to the firm's out-of-town customers with the request that a penny be sent in return so that friendship would not be cut. Result was that the office was flooded with coppers and orders for Chicago Coin, Gottschall, and other products handled by the firm.

Lester Carroll, originator of the Ponser Carrolization rebuilding process, is resting on his well-earned laurels. . . . Al Hafkin, of Siegel Sales, Nutley, continues to talk about his six-month-old son, David. . . . Jack Kronberg, of Crown, reports that some surprises will soon be let out of the bag. . . . Bill Ehrenberg, Elizabeth, is kept busy by his fine locations. . . . H. Betti and Ed Marks are vice-president and treasurer respectively of the New Jersey music operators' organization. . . . Leo Waldor is interested in telephone music. . . . Irv Orenstein got so many Christmas gifts, he's seriously thinking of opening a gift shop.

Al Cohen, of Asco, has gone in for David's Cub and Ace in a big way. He says the first collections were so good he visited the location to check for himself. . . . Jack Kay, of Ace, Newark, had a Christmas party that went over big, running far into the night.

FROM HERE AND THERE . . .

Abe Fish, of General Amusement, Hartford, claims his firm is busier than ever and that all he needs is more great games and music to make 1941 top all. Hotel Garde, New Haven, set up a burning fireplace over which an organ speaker had been installed for Christmas music emanating from the manager's office, where a phone had been placed. Idea was Jerry Altro's, of Yale Amusement Company. . . . A. Crescenzi, of Ace Novelty Company, recalls the time when everything about which the boys talked was automatic. . . . Max Abenshousen, of Mac's Specialty Company, New Haven, is one of the busiest men in the State.

Boston invitations have been received from Ben Falstrant. His son recently had his Bar Mitzvah. This makes Ben a lot older than most of the columnists thought.

I. H. (Ike) Rothstein, of Banner Specialty Company, Philadelphia, did himself proud by mailing friends a swell daily appointment calendar with clock. It bears his slogan, "We Endorse Only the Best."

From Miami Irv Sommers, of Modern's office, came cordials done up in miniature golf bags and bars for Christmas. Irv really goes a long way to find tricky gifts.

MORE FROM NEW YORK . . .

Al Schlesinger is reported taking it easy in his Poughkeepsie home and will soon leave for the South to regain his health. . . . Earle C. Becke, of National Novelty Company, Merrick, L. I., who has become known as one of the leading distribs, says he's expecting big things in 1941 and will soon have some big news for the trade. . . . Irving Mitchell celebrated the Christmas holidays by passing out bonuses to his employees. . . . Chippy Maitz claims he has a surprise for the trade. . . . Dave Firestone, of the Cent-a-Mile Sales Corporation, returned from a long sales trip to enjoy the holidays in town. He reports that the firm has just completed some big deals and that it will have a booth at the show. . . . Benny Leonard's restaurant on Seventh Avenue opened last week and clicked immediately. Many columnists dropped in to eat and with Benny luck. . . . Dave Margolin, of Manhattan Distributing, spent a few days in New York and then hurried back to Philadelphia for the holidays.

Maurice Barnhard Heads Royal Sales

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 28.—Maurice Barnhard, well known in Jersey coin circles, has been appointed sales manager for Royal Sales Company here. Firm is exclusive distributors for the Buckley Music System in this State.

Barney (Shagy) Sugerman, of the firm, said: "Maurice understands the music operators' problems. He is well known as a conscientious worker in behalf of the music operators, and will direct all sales for Buckley Music System from now on."

Speaking of his appointment, Barnhard said: "One of the first things I plan to do as sales manager for Royal is to take to the road and personally meet with the music operators to explain the Buckley Music System. There is no doubt in my mind that our 30-day, free-trial installation, guaranteeing double the present profits on any location, will more than convince operators of the value of the Buckley Music System. Our low down payment and liberal time payment allows the music operator to actually pay out of earnings."

DETROIT, Dec. 28.—Blain Hill, Evans Coin Machine Company, has taken over the business with the withdrawal of Irving Folberg from partnership.

One of Detroit's first operators to be called up in the draft was Lawrence F. Eder, who has operated in a small way for several years. Larry has a handicap which will make it impossible for him to serve in the army—he is blind, but despite that handicap he has operated machines and his downtown cigar store daily. He operates peanut and candy vendors.

V. Christopher, partner in the Ajax Novelty Company, Detroit jobbers, is leaving on a two weeks' vacation in Florida. His partner, M. Y. Blum, is expected to make a Florida journey shortly after his return.

Lincoln Amusement Company has made a move to tie in with its own name by moving from Woodrow Wilson Avenue to a new store on South Fort Street in Lincoln Park. The company, which was considering going into the jobbing field, is concentrating exclusively on operating in the music machine field, according to Russell Tricek, partner. Other partners in the company are Frank Stoff and Louis Eaton.

Jack Flanigan, amusement machine operator, is back from an extended hunting trip with his nephew in Southern Pennsylvania—and he returned with his deer. He was planning a trip to Indianapolis this week to survey the coin machine territory in that section.

An Analysis of Current Songs and Recordings From the Standpoint of Their Value to Phonograph Operators

GOING STRONG

Recordings listed below are currently the biggest money-makers in automatic phonographs. Selections are the consensus of reports gathered each week by representatives of The Billboard from at least four leading phonograph operators in each of the 30 most important phonograph operating centers in the country. Recordings listed without an explanation are those that have appeared under this heading for one week or more and have thus become such established successes that they require no further explanation.

A Nightingale Sang in Berkeley Square. From the pace this exceedingly lovely ballad set from the outset it's no surprise to see it land up here among the top phone tunes of the moment. It's arrived in a solid, substantial way, and it looks good to hang around for a few weeks. GUY LOMBARDO*, has overtaken the lead established last week by GLENN MILLER*, but the latter is close on Lombardo's heels, with RAY NOBLE* bringing up the rear.

Ferryboat Serenade. (10th week) ANDREWS SISTERS, KAY KYSER*, GRAY GORDON*.

We Three. (9th week) INK SPOTS, TOMMY DORSEY*. Beat Me Daddy, Eight to a Bar. (7th week) ANDREWS SISTERS, GLENN MILLER*, WILL BRADLEY*.

There I Go. (4th week) VAUGHN MONROE, WILL BRADLEY*, TOMMY TUCKER*.

The Five o'Clock Whistle. (4th week) GLENN MILLER*, ELLA FITZ-GERALD*, ERSKINE HAWKINS*.

Down Argentine Way. (3d week) BOB CROSBY*, SHEP FIELDS*, LEO REISMAN*, GENE KRUPA*.

COMING UP

Recordings listed below are those which operators report are not yet top-notch money-makers but which are growing in popularity on automatic phonographs. Selections are the consensus of reports gathered each week by representatives of The Billboard from at least four leading phonograph operators in each of the 30 most important phonograph operating centers in the country.

Dream Valley. Getting hotter with each succeeding day, this seems almost certain to jump into the "going strong" classification in another week. The simple melody is being carried into the coin phones by SAMMY KAYE*, FRANKIE MASTERS*, and WOODY HERMAN*, with little choice among the three disks in the matter of popularity.

Along the Santa Fe Trail. Another ballad that gives every indication of stepping out among the real blue ribbon winners in another week or two is this Western-type song. It has one of those appealing melodies that catches the ear, and its titular tie-up with the Warner film, Santa Fe Trail, isn't hurting it any. SAMMY KAYE*, DICK JURGENS*, and KATE SMITH are doing the honors here.

Froncis. Climbing remarkably fast is this beautiful Mexican number, which has been a pretty big retail record seller for some time, but which has only just started to click in the music machines. ARTIE SHAW and WOODY HERMAN* have sharply contrasting versions, and both are doing about equally well in the phones.

A Handful of Stars. A movie tune, from MGM's Hallelujah, that is showing progress in its march toward the top. There isn't too much about the song that's different enough or unusual to predict smash hits for it, but at the moment it's moving ahead nicely, and a good many operators are doing well with it, in the GLENN MILLER* arrangement.

Two Dreams Met. Slowing down again in its drive for the top, this picture song will probably never hit the front lines at this late date. It's been trying to do it too long now without succeeding, and altho it's still being played in a number of machines, and profitably, it's not likely that its career will go much further. Still MITCHELL AYRES* and TOMMY DORSEY*.

Starburst. With the success of his recording of I'll Never Smile Again music machine history, TOMMY DORSEY* duplicates the performance with this Hoagy Carmichael classic—complete to slow tempo, Frank Sinatra-Pied Pipers vocal, and similar scoring, taking in Tommy's trombone and the celeste that did so much for Smile Again. And the hit proportions of that disk are beginning to be duplicated, if present indications are correct. It started off well this week, and ops had better watch this one closely. Some of their colleagues are already doing very nicely with it.

He's My Uncle. Weakening a bit is this patriotic jingle with the different slant. ABE LYMAN* and KAY KYSER* have had the only two versions to mean anything under the needles, and they're still the only ones in the picture, but each is losing his hold a little bit.

Songs listed below are those which have appeared in "Coming Up" for four weeks or more, and which are still being mentioned on enough reports to warrant their inclusion in the Guide, even though they may never climb into "Going Strong."

Rhubboogie. (8th week) Pretty nearly thru, ANDREWS SISTERS.

POSSIBILITIES

Recordings listed below have not as yet shown any strength in automatic phonographs but are the most likely prospects for music machine success among new record releases. These suggestions are based upon radio performances, sheet music sales, reports from music publishers as to the relative importance of certain songs in their catalog, as well as on the judgment of The Billboard's music department.

Java Jive. A new INK SPOTS recording that is being mentioned by some operators as a worthy follow-up to the various click disks that the Spots have had of late. Better keep an eye on this one, for the sepia foursome's popularity, plus an attractive title, is apt to push it far.

Mean to Me. Another record that is beginning to attract attention in those machines already playing it is this ballad from the ANDREWS SISTERS. The song will be remembered as a well-known hit of yesterday, and the disk is further unusual in that the Andrews girls sing a ballad for the first time in their recording career. It looks good.

Yes, My Darling Daughter. Mentioned in this space several weeks ago, it is now imperative to list it again as a strong possibility, because of reports that, as in the case of the above numbers, indicate a good future for it. It's DINAH SHORE's record here, Miss Shore having introduced it on the Eddie Cantor radio show.

Do You Know Why? A picture ballad, from the Jack Benny-Pred Allens Paramount movie, Lover Thy Neighbor, that seems to have the stuff to get it places along the phonograph network. As the picture gets around in the neighborhood houses, operators would do well to make this tune available to nickel-droppers.

Schedule Round- Table Discussion For NATD Show

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Twelve round-table conferences have been scheduled for the ninth annual convention of the National Association of Tobacco Distributors (NATD) at the Palmer House, Chicago, in January. The series of informal discussions in which a record number of conferees will participate will cover many vital subjects confronting tobacco men. Discussion No. 10 applies to cigarette vending machines.

Because many coin machine men are interested in the field of tobacco purveying we list the 12 subjects below:

1—Can legislation restricting unfair competitive practices alone assure the survival of the distributor?

2—What gross profit is required for the efficient marketing of the fastest selling, nationally advertised brands as compared with the profit on cigars and sundry items?

3—While retaining the exclusive distribution of certain brands of cigars, pipes, candy, etc., a substantial number of distributors rely on sub-jobbers to obtain and maintain distribution of such brands, especially in thinly populated areas. Is it a distributor justified in enjoying the sole distribution of a product when his sales personnel is inadequate to cover all the potential outlets in his territory?

4—The future of the cigar business greatly concerns every distributor. What can the distributor do in his respective territory to increase cigar consumption?

5—Owing to lack of aggressive leadership, in many territories, local or State associations have not reached their desired effectiveness. What can be done to build leadership in local associations?

6—Granted that manufacturers' missionary effort is indispensable to the furtherance of the consumer's acceptance of a product, is it more productive for the missionary man to accompany the distributor's salesmen or to work independently?

7—In some localities, wholesale tobacco distributors are currently operating on a five-day per week basis. Is a general application of the five-day week desirable for tobacco distributors?

8—Economic conditions have impelled the wholesaler and retailer to diversify their business by adding a substantial number of sundries. Altho some distributors are successful sundry merchandisers, by and large, tobacco wholesalers have not acquired the technique to sell sundries in a substantial volume. What can be done to stimulate more interest of sundries by the distributors?

9—The very existence of the service distributor depends upon the efficient distribution and promotion of the manufacturers' products, and one of the major functions of the NATD is to improve these merchandising standards. From the manufacturers' standpoint, in what specific ways can the distributor improve his methods?

10—While a considerable number of legitimate wholesale service distributors have branched out into the field of mechanical merchandising, a substantial number of others still regard vending machines as an undesirable and unimportant factor in wholesale distribution. Should the vending machine be an integral part of the operations of the wholesale distributor?

11—The practice of consigning merchandise and returning goods has developed to such an extent that it has become a pronounced evil in the industry. What can be done to rectify this condition?

12—Under the present practice, when the manufacturer assumes the exclusive distribution of his products to a distributor, it is generally based on a gentleman's agreement. Would it not be more equitable and fair to both parties to render such agreements in the form of legal contracts?

Glassgold New Du Grenier V. P.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Dec. 28.—Francis C. Du Grenier, president of Arthur H. Du Grenier, Inc., announced the appointment of Burnhart (Bip) Glassgold as vice-president of the Du Grenier firm. Glassgold will be in charge of sales and will work out of both the main offices of the firm here and the New York headquarters at 615 10th Avenue.

Glassgold comes to Du Grenier from

BURNHART (BIP) GLASSGOLD,
new vice-president of Arthur H. Du Grenier, Inc.

U-Need-a-Pak Products Corporation. His association with the vending machine industry dates back to 1936. As a member of the U-Need-a-Pak sales organization in St. Louis and Detroit he became well known in Midwestern coin circles. Later, upon being called to the home office in New York to assume an important executive post, he became equally well known among Eastern operators and distributors.

Prior to 1936 Glassgold was secretary and general counsel of the Snyder Packing Corporation, Rochester, N. Y., a position he assumed following a successful law practice in New York.

Du Grenier, in making the announcement of Glassgold's appointment, revealed that Glassgold as well as other Du Grenier executives will be at the Du Grenier booths at both the Coin Machine Show and the National Association of Tobacco Distributors' Convention to meet operators of vending machines.

Mandell Wins Sales Contest

CHICAGO, Dec. 28—Moe Mandell, Northwestern Sales & Service Company, Brooklyn, won the title of No. 1 Northwestern distributor in the sales contest conducted by the Northwestern Corporation, Morris, Ill.

The final tally showed that Mandell, who took an early lead but was often hard pressed to maintain that lead, had finished ahead of all others. "The fact that Northwestern operators have a bunch of live-wire distributors to serve them was proved beyond question of a doubt," declared W. R. Greiner, official of the company.

Second place winner was Peanut Products Company, Des Moines, Ia. They followed closely on the heels of Mandell. Last year's winner, Folson & Brown, Dallas, made a flying start and at the end of October were close to the top. However, they lost their second place standing to Peanut Products by a few points. They did manage to beat out the Reliable Vending Machine Exchange for third place.

Others who fought all the way and finished after the four mentioned leaders were Aeon Vending Machine Exchange, Newark, N. J.; M. T. Daniels, Wichita, Kan.; Marvin E. Maddox, Washington; American Cigarette Machine Company, Pittsburgh; Bake Coin Machine Exchange, Philadelphia, and E. T. Barron & Company, Minneapolis.

Pan Exhibit Set For Industry Show

CHICAGO, Dec. 28—"We extend to all colliers a cordial invitation to stop in at Booth 59 to see our complete line of vending machine merchandise," declared Willard Seefeldt, sales manager of Pan Confections, Chicago.

"We pride ourselves," he continued, "on having the fullest line of money-makers, and a few minutes spent at our display will return many dollars."

In the December line-up of the most popular vending machine candies, as reported by Pan, the following are the Big 10: 1. Candy Teeny Beans; 2. Midget Baked Beans, hard shell; 3. Assorted Licorice Pastels, hard shell; 4. Salted Virginia Peanuts, blanched; 5. Panco Ball Gum; 6. Salted Mixed Nuts; 7. Salted Spanish Peanuts; 8. Boston Baked Beans, hard shell; 9. Chocolate-Coated Raisins, slotted; 10. Assorted National Stars.

Tobacco Use on Rise in Mexico

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Consumption of leaf tobacco by domestic manufacturers in Mexico during the first nine months of the current fiscal year amounted to 28.7 million pounds, an increase of approximately 3 per cent, as compared with the same period a year ago, according to a report from Agricultural Attache L. D. Mallory at Mexico City. Mexico imports only small quantities of tobacco, and over 99 per cent of the leaf consumption in factories is grown within the country. At present there are indications of general business improvement, and as employment increases in 1941 from manufacturing activity, construction, and other developments, the demand for tobacco products is likely to rise further.

The consumption of tobacco in Mexico has been on a general upward trend during the past decade, increasing from 31.3 million pounds in 1935-36 to 32.3 million in 1938-39, but the domestic crop has risen in far greater proportion. For the past four years (1937-1940) tobacco production in Mexico has averaged about 44,000,000 pounds annually, or an increase of 65 per cent over the previous four-year average.

No data are available as to leaf stocks in Mexico, but there is evidence of some accumulation. Consumption for the past four years has averaged but 37,000,000 pounds, and less than one half of 1 per cent of the Mexican crop is exported.

Kill Pepsi-Cola Loft, Inc., Merger

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—The long-proposed merger between Loft candies and Pepsi-Cola soft drink concern is off for the time being, according to local sources, officials in the candy concern. It was learned that the Bureau of Internal Revenue has declined to approve proposals to merge Loft and Pepsi-Cola as a "tax-free" proposition, altho company counsel and tax experts maintained that such was the case. Under the circumstances, it is said, Pepsi-Cola stockholders do not feel justified in subjecting stockholders to the risk of possible tax claims growing out of such a merger. However, directors will continue to work out a plan of merger or consolidation. Loft, Inc., owns about 80 per cent of the Pepsi-Cola stock.

Ky. Cig Tax Yield Up

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 28.—State cigarette tax collections last month amounted to $162,034. In November, 1939, they were $130,823.

Suggestions on Game Manufacture

To the Editor:

On page 74 of the December 21 issue of The Billboard, the article by R. C. is very good. I endorse his suggestions heartily, especially the alarm bell, as we just had 20 machines robbed. The doors were pried off and they were able to twist the whole lock around.

It is my understanding that a collar to fit on locks can be bought for 20 cents. It seems to me the manufacturers could put on the bell and collar, as it would save the operators plenty.

N. Y. Incorporations

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 28.—Secretary of State Michael F. Walsh has authorized three new vending machine companies to conduct business in New York State. The new enterprises include:

Champion Specialty Manufacturing Company, Inc., Brooklyn, Capital 200 shares of stock. The subscribers to the capital stock are David L. Charal, Esther Brenner, and Stella Davis, New York.

Lincoln Service, Inc., Brooklyn, Capital 200 shares. Stockholders: Benjamin H. Scher, Isaac Elman, and Sadie Barad, Brooklyn.

American Coin Machines, Inc., Manhattan: 100 shares. Stockholders: Alexander Savanick, Ramona L. Gordon, and Harry P. Goulston, New York.

Who Are 4 Men On Show Poster?

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—The four men on the poster advertising the 1941 Coin Machine Show have created considerable comment, according to Herb Jones, advertising manager of Billy Manufacturing Company and chairman of the show publicity committee.

"Numerous operators and distributors," Jones explained, "have written to ask who the four men are. They even claim to recognize some certain operator or distributor in the group and want to know why so-and-so gets the free publicity. I want to emphasize, therefore, that any resemblance to any person in the industry is purely coincidence."

"The four men are, of course, symbolic of the industry in several different ways. They can be considered as representing the amusement, service, and vending divisions of the industry—thus emphasizing the fact that the entire coin machine industry is represented at the show. Or the four men may be thought of as an operator, a jobber, a distributor, and a manufacturer—meaning that the show is the place where all factors get together in a spirit of harmony and co-operation. Finally, the quartet indicates that coin machine men from the North, South, East, and West will throng to the 1941 Coin Machine Show, Sherman Hotel, Chicago, January 13-16."

Coca-Cola Buys Site for Fourth Chicago Plant

CHICAGO, Dec. 28—Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Chicago, Inc., has assumed title to the vacant northwest corner of Fullerton and Narragansett avenues, on which it plans to erect its fourth plant in this city at a cost of approximately $500,000 for land, building, and equipment. While the transaction still is in escrow, the deal is expected to be closed shortly. Ground may be broken around the middle of January.

Constantly increasing business is necessitating the construction of this new plant to serve the Northwest Side, officials said. In fact, business is so good that consideration is being given to the erection of a fifth Chicago plant near the Loop next spring, they explained. Negotiations now are being carried on for several pieces of property between the Loop and Racine Avenue.

It is estimated that the new Northwest Side plant will be able to turn out about 24,000 cases of Coca-Cola a day. The garage will accommodate around 150 trucks. It is probable that around 150 employees will be added to the pay roll, making a total of approximately 600.

Mississippi

NATCHES, Miss., Dec. 28—Harry King Barth, musician and former operator, left December 23 for Hollandia, Fla., to join the Original Dixieland Jazz Band, of which he was formerly a member.

Joe Ring, former service man at Ark-Tex Company, now working for Uncle Sam on a defense program project in Jacksonville, Fla., was home for the holidays with Mrs. Ring and daughter, Rose.

Coast Strong On A-A Guns

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—In spite of the great interest in the holiday activities, bowl games, and other sport carnivals, Pacific Coast patrons of locations found time to give Keeney's Air Raider a terrific play during the past week, says Lou Wolcher, head of Advance Automatic Sales Company.

"The great features of Air Raider prove their appeal with each succeeding day of operation," said Wolcher. "In all my experience I have not seen a game that continues to build up interest as does Air Raider."

Gottlieb Set for Big Business in '41

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—"With the year 1940 we are closing the biggest year in our history," officials of D. Gottlieb & Company state. "We will welcome 1941 in our model new factory," they continued, "all set for still bigger business ahead. The work of moving is completed, the new systems are being organized, our bright new production machinery is being oiled up, and the new year will find us ready to start ahead to our new goals."

"The new Gottlieb factory is without a doubt the finest and most modern coin machine production plant in the world. Equipped with innovations in machinery and methods, it will permit production speeds and standards of quality that have been only dreamed of but never realized before.

"Business indications point to a tremendous volume increase in the coin machine industry for 1941. With its new facilities, D. Gottlieb & Company will continue in the forefront of manufacturing and maintain its enviable position of leadership in the future as in the past."

No Holiday Stop In Baker Production

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—"Holiday time is usually inventory time and conditions force us," state Baker officials, "to keep going at top speed to supply the demand for Defense, the new five-ball novelty game tuned to the topic of preparedness. Reports from operators everywhere say that Defense is getting the top dollar and ranks highest in mechanical perfection."

Harry Hoppe, vice-president of the Baker Novelty Company, stated: "Before we release any new game we put it thru an exhaustive series of tests. Fundamental appeal and mechanical performance plus earning power must prevail in all Baker products. The games must satisfy and our customers are protected with our guarantee."

Everything Going Well for Conclave, Reports Gilmore

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—That the 1941 coin machine show will be bigger and better than ever before is shown in the latest comments of Secretary-Manager James A. Gilmore, who is enthusiastic about show prospects and predicts that it will be the greatest show ever held in every respect.

Already received by Coin Machine Industries, Inc., are over 1,000 advance registrations. This is more than have ever been received in a comparative period before previous shows. Exhibit space is also ahead of totals for other years. "The demand continues and the supply, therefore, is constantly diminishing," declared Gilmore. He predicts that many of the regular latecomer exhibitors are likely to be disappointed in getting space, as the show is nearly sold out despite the extra space available.

Hotel officials tell Gilmore that the demand for rooms has already been noticeably heavier than during previous shows. Gilmore advised all who had as yet failed to reserve rooms to do so immediately. Gilmore offers to take care of reservations forwarded to him. "Should the Hotel Sherman be sold out early," he says, "we will make every attempt to secure rooms for columnists at the nearest hotels."

"Already the spirit of enthusiasm that prevails throughout the industry is so contagious that everyone in the industry is talking about the show and anxiously and enthusiastically awaiting the opening date.

"It is indicated that there'll be hellzapoppin in the hotel all thru the show dates. With more variety and finer exhibits than ever before . . . with more in attendance than ever before . . . with a better program than ever before . . . with better prospects for the coin machine industry than ever before . . . and with more enthusiasm than ever before . . . how could there be any mistake about it?—the 1941 coin machine show is bound to be bigger and better than ever before. Come along, operators, distributors, and jobbers, and help make it so. It's your show, so come and enjoy it; better still—profit by it."

Distrib Praises Bally Attention

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Jack Fitzgibbons, of the Bally Building, New York, reports that operators in his territory have been captivated by Bally's new free-play game, Attention.

"Not another game in 1940 won as much comment as Bally's Attention," declares Fitzgibbons. Orders have been going up and up.

"In Attention Bally has created just the type of game that operators in this territory have been asking for. It has everything the player wants in a game. It has that comph, come-on, and zip that make the players play it again and again."

"Attention also has that rare quality, lasting power on location. It stays put. The players won't let the operator take it away. This is always the big test of any great game and in Bally's Attention the players have the kind of machine they like and the op the kind of machine they sticks, and between these two deciding factors it means the best and biggest profits from any game manufactured this year."

Sabu, of Movies, Enjoys Pinball

OTTAWA, Dec. 28.—Sabu, Hindu elephant boy, star of the movies, Drums and Thief of Bagdad, put on a different kind of a show here recently. The dark-skinned youngster, who speaks perfect English, was in the Canadian capital to appear in person at the premiere showing of Thief of Bagdad.

But apparently that showing was farthest from his mind. For nearly two hours he kept popping nickels into pinball machines in an Uptown tobacconist's shop. Sabu proved his ability at flashing the lights on the scoreboard and thoroughly enjoyed himself.

JIMMY GONZELMAN, nice-president and coach of the Chicago Cardinals professional football team, will be a guest speaker at the opening day luncheon of the 1941 Coin Machine Show.

Monarch Preps For Big '41 Biz

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Al Stern, official of the Monarch Coin Machine Company, says that the 1941 coin machine show promises the biggest flood of orders for equipment in the history of the industry.

"Every indication points to a big business year in the coin machine field," he said. "Improved economic conditions, together with increased public acceptance of coin machines as amusement and sales promoters, means more orders for the exceptionally fine equipment which manufacturers promise for 1941."

"In the new three-story headquarters of the Monarch Coin Machine Company is a fine spirit of optimism is evident. In keeping with the present tempo of the coin machine world. We expect to see the show start off to the greatest year in our history, and we are making preparations to that end."

Asco N. J. Distrib For Robbins Game

BROOKLYN, Dec. 28.—Dave Robbins, of D. Robbins & Company, revealed this week that Asco Vending Machine Exchange, Newark, N. J., has been appointed distributor for his firm's new Hole-in-One counter skill game. Territory will include all of New Jersey.

In commenting on the appointment, Robbins stated that Al Cohen, of Asco, is highly enthusiastic about the sales possibilities of Hole-in-One and predicts that it will be an outstanding success.

Coinmen See Panoram

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 28.—Several hundred Wisconsin coin machine operators were given a preview of the Mills Panoram movie machine and soundies at the offices of the Vic Manhardt Company, Inc., December 19 and 20.

Manhardt, who holds the Wisconsin distribution rights, believes he will be able to place 125 of the machines next year in Milwaukee County. Alderman T. H. Wedemeyer is preparing an ordinance for the regulation of the soundies, object of which is to prevent racketeering and questionable pictures. It was said.

Coin Machine Show Creates Favorable Industry Publicity

By A. E. GEBERT

Advance Machine Company, Chicago

FAVORABLE newspaper and radio publicity for the entire coin machine industry will be one of the biggest benefits of the 1941 Coin Machine Show at the Sherman Hotel, Chicago, January 13-16. The show serves as a brilliant stage on which coin machine men can effectively dramatize the industry's contributions to the economic welfare of the country.

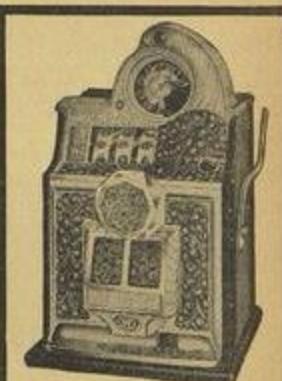

Prominent Publicity Firm

In order to obtain the maximum benefits of publicity Coin Machine Industries, Inc., the manufacturers' association sponsoring the 1941 show, has retained an outstanding firm of public relations counselors to prepare and direct publicity in connection with the show. This organization, Theodore R. Sills & Company, handles publicity for the bowling industry, the independent grocers, the laundry industry, the road-building industry, and many other large industrial groups.

In charge of coin machine publicity at the Sills headquarters is Hugh Burns, formerly associated with leading coin machine manufacturers and known to coin machine men throughout the country. His knowledge of the industry's problems, plus the experience of the Sills organization in the publicity field, insures favorable press recognition for the industry.

The coin machine industry's part in creating jobs and purchasing power provides the theme of a powerful publicity story, which will be published in newspapers from Coast to Coast and in the trade magazines of dozens of industries supplying material to the coin machine industry. The many new and revolutionary types of amusement, music, and vending machines to be revealed at the January show will also provide interesting newspaper stories which cannot fail to win the good will of the public. And the good will of the public is probably the most essential factor in the continued progress and prosperity of the industry. Thus the 1941 Coin Machine Show—and the resulting publicity—directly contributes to the financial welfare of every man and woman in the industry. For that reason alone, if for no other reason, every operator, jobber, and distributor should be sure to attend the bigger and better 1941 Coin Machine Show, Sherman Hotel, Chicago, January 13-16.

Western Reports Production Rise

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Don Anderson, sales manager for Western Products, Inc., reports that production on Tot, token payout counter game, has been increased.

"The rise in production follows an increasing demand for Tot," said Anderson. "It is attributable not only to the fact that the game is proving one of the biggest counter game attractions but also to the fact that our new sales plan provides a great savings to operators."

"Increased production now places the game at its highest peak since its introduction several months ago when it was so enthusiastically received by the operating world."

Arnold Buys Main Vending Machine Co.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Dec. 28.—Sale of the W. F. Main machine companies, owned since 1918 by W. F. Main, to John H. Arnold, former employee of the firm who has been in Cedar Rapids for the last year, was announced here recently. The consideration was approximately $32,000.

Arnold said that he is consolidating all of the company trade names under the one firm name of National Manufacturing Company, that will be used hereafter. This consolidation affects the former Appleton Novelty Company, the New Specialty Company, and the Standard Mercantile Company, he said.

Arnold's purchase includes the factory and sales organization. E. L. Weidner, of Iowa City, has been appointed sales manager.

Manufacturers! Rush List...

Manufacturers are requested to have their advertising or publicity department send in an alphabetical list of all coin machines and accessories now made by them and actively on the market.

This list should be sent at the earliest moment possible to Walter W. Hurd, The Billboard, 155 North Clark Street, Chicago.

We want to publish a complete alphabetical list of every coin machine and accessory product, together with a brief description, in our 1941 Coin Machine Show Number. An early response to this request will enable us to make the list a worthy feature.

With the co-operation of all manufacturers we can make it a complete buying guide for the industry. With the co-operation of all manufacturers we can make it a real boost for every machine on the market, for every manufacturer, and for the industry as a whole.

Please make out your list alphabetically, giving the trade name of the machine or product, and after each name give a brief description of the machine or product. Please make descriptions very brief in order to assist our editorial staff in compiling the list.

The list will be published under three general classifications: Music Machines, Amusement Games, Vending Machines. Accessories will be listed under the general classification to which they belong or under a miscellaneous heading. The name of the manufacturer will be given in each case.

We want to list every known coin-operated machine or product now actively on the market. The information you send will also be kept in our files for the information of prospective buyers.

We cannot undertake to list any machines or products except those duly reported by manufacturers in response to this request. Remember, an alphabetical list of all coin machines, products, or accessories now actively on the market, with a brief description of each machine.

Export Official Sees Big Market In So. America

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—The outlook for export sales in Central and South America is most optimistic, according to John S. Haber, in charge of foreign sales for the Philco Radio & Television Corporation here. Haber, who has just returned to the United States, visited Cuba, Chile, Peru, Colombia, and all of the Central American countries on an extended market survey.

The last country visited was Mexico, where he spent more than two months. It is here, Haber predicts, that the greatest strides will be made. "Only several weeks prior to the recent inauguration of Mexico's President Camacho, many people predicted revolution," said Haber. "Now that the inauguration is over a new note of optimism has been struck. Banks have lowered their interest rates and general business has picked up amazingly."

"Definite signs of prosperity in Mexico are indicated by the increase in new buildings, renovation of old buildings, lack of available office and store space, and the reception given 1941 model automobiles," concluded Haber.

Massillon, O., Moves To Legalize Trade Stimulators

MASSILLON, O., Dec. 28.—Moving to legalize gambling, city council has adopted an ordinance which would permit and license the use of slotbooks, trade cards, and other similar trade stimulators. The measure goes to Mayor W. Lash for his approval.

The measure was adopted under suspension of rules at a recent meeting by a vote of 7 to 2. The mayor will decide who will get licenses, which would cost $50 a year, if the ordinance is adopted.

Police Chief Stanley Switter would serve as temporary inspector to see to it that slotbooks are first stamped as having passed thru city hall and to make sure that none makes more than 20 per cent profit.

The cards must pay out in trade.

"Due to the fact that I am not thoroly familiar with the set-up as embodied in the ordinance, I am going to give this every consideration," said Mayor Lash. However, a second 7 to 2 vote by council could carry the ordinance over his veto, should he refuse to sign it.

Coin Machines Force Enlargement of Mints

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—The Philadelphia Mint, unable to keep up with an unprecedented demand for coins as a result of the national defense program and the increasing popularity of automatic and vending machines, soon will launch a $35,000 improvement program to make it the most modern in the country, if not in the world. New rolling mills will be installed, electric melting furnaces will replace the present gas burners, and mechanical devices will be introduced to eliminate the hand-pouring methods now used.

When the program is completed a year hence, mint officials said, production capacity will have been nearly doubled.

Minneapolis-St. Paul

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 28.—With the Twin Cities immersed in Christmas shopping and celebration coin machine business naturally fell off a bit, coinmen report.

Optimism over the coming year runs high here and prospects for one of the finest coin machine years are sighted by many.

The talk these days among coinmen almost always turns to the 1941 Coin Machine Show and what a grand time is being expected in the Windy City. Distributors report that while reservations are coming in for the official Twin City train to Chicago, many of the operators are planning to drive.

Lou Wolcher, of Advance Automatic Sales Company, San Francisco, stopped in the other day to chat with his old pal, William (Spanky) Cohen of Silent Sales Company. Lou was flying to New York, where he will be met by Mrs. Wolcher. In time for New Year's Eve, from Manhattan the Wolchers will head for Florida, returning to Chicago in time for the 1941 Coin Machine Show.

Bill Cohen, filled with the Christmas spirit, is wondering what to expect next. At a Hanukkah play at Temple Israel Sunday Bill's young son enacted the role of Haman, the Hitler of thousands of years ago.

At La Beau Novelty Company business has been going good. Rock-Olas keep getting a good share of business at La Beau.

Sam Taran, of Mayflower Novelty Company, spent several days in Chicago last week visiting with manufacturers.

Chuck Carter, of Star Novelty Company, St. Paul, has been going great with his pinball and novelty route, opening several new locations.

Frank Subjeck, operator from Winona, Minn., has installed a 12-box remote control Wurlitzer job in Winona. He's walking on air delighted with the way the installation has taken hold.

Vern Foster, in charge of the Acme Novelty Company record department, reports a sizable increase in disk business despite the holiday slump. All numbers are getting a heavy play, she told Oscar (Ozzie) Truppman, Acme sales manager.

L. N. Jensen of Chippewa Falls, Wis., was another visitor to the local sector.

Sid Levin, of Hy-G. Amusement Company, is back on the job again after a week's sojourn holding a nurse's hand in St. Mary's Hospital here. An infection laid Sid low during that period.

Another aller back on his feet and able to get out and around once more is Joe Healy, Hibbing (Minn.) operator, who came to the Twin Cities the other day on business.

Loaded with deer is the best way to describe Bill Hattestad of Cottonwood, Minn., who came up with a sizable chunk of venison for the boys.

Harry Lerner, of H & L Novelty Company, is a busy man these days, so much so he is forgetting his route—if that be possible—to sell tickets and advertising. Harry, who is an officer of the Emanuel Cohen Center Men's Club here, is out doing an excellent job in promoting the club's amateur boxing show. All proceeds will go to the Center.

Glen Ratcliffe, Wurlitzer music merchant from Superior, Wis., dropped in at Acme Novelty Company this week to look over the new Colonial model with a view of introducing it into his territory.

Here on a holiday buying tour and coin machine business were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Sundem of Montevideo, Minn.

Oakley Pearl, of Acme Novelty's auditing department, has returned from a visit to Acme's Milwaukee office.

A sport that's real sport is ice fishing—spearing 'em right thru a fish hole—and Don Leary, of Automatic Sales Company, is an ice fisherman who knows how to spear the minnows. Don has returned from Big White Fish Lake north of Brainerd, Minn., where he had excellent luck fishing thru the ice.

No trade paper publisher can claim that an advertisement will do more selling than an actual exhibit in the midst of several thousand of the nation's biggest and most important operators. That is why the manufacturers will be represented at the Convention.

On the other hand, no one can possibly claim that an exhibit at the CMI show will be seen by all of the country's operators. There will be thousands who do attend, that's true, but there will be many more thousands unable to make the trip. These prospects will be at home waiting to read all about the Convention and Trade Show. For more than 10 years they have looked to The Billboard's Convention Special as the only complete "index" of new machine announcements. Plans Under Way For Northwest Show in March

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 28.—With the appointment of several committee chairmen, plans for the third annual Northwest Coin Machine Show were under way this week in full force. Originally scheduled to take place in February, the show dates have been changed to March 25-26, and the spot the Radisson Hotel here. By that time the hotel will have completed installation of its new ballroom.

The show is being sponsored by the Minnesota Amusement Games Association, of which Tom Crosby, of Parham, is president. Considerable interest has been aroused among coin machine operators throughout the Northwest toward the forthcoming show. Many of them remember the fine exhibit put on by the association last year and are looking forward to another excellent time in March.

Crosby has appointed Doug Gleason, of Midget Sales Company and president of the Minneapolis Amusement Games Association, as chairman of the entertainment committee. Don Leary, of Automatic Sales, has been named publicity chairman.

"The 1941 Northwest Coin Machine Show will be one of the finest in the country," reports Don Leary. "We are planning to introduce a number of new features, and our displays will be among the most elaborate ever exhibited. Already distributors are inquiring about the show with a view to taking space for exhibiting their products. In March, when the coin machine show of the Northwest is on in full force here, Minneapolis and the Twin Cities will be the mecca of coinmen from all parts of the country. We are certain we're going to stage a show that will not soon be forgotten by the hundreds who will attend."

"A PAIR OF BEAUTIES," declare officials of the Daval Company, Chicago. "No, not necessarily the girls—we mean Daval's new twin small counter games, Cub and Ace."

Coach Conzelman Of Chi Cardinals At Show Luncheon

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—James Conzelman, coach and vice-president of the Chicago Cardinals professional football team, will be a guest speaker at the opening day luncheon in connection with the Coin Machine Industries, Inc., exposition at the Sherman Hotel January 13, according to an announcement made today by James Gilmore, general manager and secretary of the association.

Conzelman undoubtedly is one of the most entertaining after-dinner speakers in the country. His brilliant wit and professional delivery and poise have made him one of the most sought-after speakers in the Middle West.

Conzelman's contract calls for a recital of his recollections of the Washington U.-Missouri game of 10 years ago, his first year as coach of the Washington team. The story is one of the funniest football yarns ever spun. If members of the association need be convinced beforehand, Gilmore said, all they have to do is remember that Jimmy has been the top speaker for two seasons at the fall quarterback club meetings sponsored by The Chicago Herald-American, meetings which have been studded with brilliant oratory.

Showing Soon on Night Bomber

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Claude R. Kirk, head of C. R. Kirk & Company, reports that a number of prominent distributors in the coin machine field have indicated that they will be present at Kirk headquarters for the formal presentation of Night Bomber.

"The private showing at our offices will be attended by distributors only, at which time plans will be presented regarding the distribution of Night Bomber," said Kirk. "The showing will be held starting January 13."

Cleveland Soundies Showing Attracts Many

CLEVELAND, Dec. 28.—Midwest Specialties, Inc., held a press, radio, and screen preview of the Roosevelt-Mills Panorama movie machine and soundies December 18 in the Rainbow Room of Hotel Carter. More than 100 guests attended the showing.

Urban R. Anderson, president of Midwest Specialties, distributor of the machine in Northern Ohio, presented many soundies reels.

Altho the machines cannot be delivered until after the first of the year, the organization has contracts at this time for more than 20 of the machines, it was said.

Grand National Ready for Show

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—"Registration by remote control is the friendly service we're offering," reports Mac Churria, of Grand National Sales. "We're sending out thousands of registration blanks to operators who are planning to come into Chicago for the convention. When these blanks are filled, we register our friends automatically, so there's no waste of time—no standing in line."

At the present time Grand National is the scene of double activity because of its annual pre-inventory sale and extensive preparations for the show. "In gratitude for the biggest year in our history we are planning many surprises. We're still holding booth 206, and we invite our friends to come as early as possible to get in on the extra fun. Al Sehring, head of Grand National, and I will be at the Sherman morning, noon, and night."

SLUG CONVICTION IN OMAHA

Industry Swings Into Action, Stopping Phony Coin Sale

Officials of national coin machine associations aid in prosecution

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Federal authorities have stepped in to take an active part in the fight against slugs of a type which have become prevalent in many communities during the past few months, according to C. S. Darling, secretary of Automatic Phonograph Manufacturers' Association and National Automatic Merchandising Association.

The first conviction in Federal Court against a seller of slugs of this type was returned in Omaha December 20, following a jury trial in the United States District Court which had consumed most of the three preceding days.

The defendant in this case was Max A. Wasserman, who operates a novelty store in Omaha. In September an indictment was returned by the federal grand jury charging Wasserman with possession and sale of "falsely made and counterfeited coins" in violation of Section 278 of Title 18 of the Federal Criminal Code, and also charged him with "issuing . . . tokens and devices . . . intended to be used as money for and instead of the 5-cent piece authorized by law" in violation of Section 262 of the Code. The jury returned a verdict of guilty on all three counts.

May Appeal

Sentence will not be passed by the Judge for another week. Reports indicate that the defendant will appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

John F. Dahl, Omaha, cigarette machine operator, and another Omaha citizen made the original complaints which brought about the conviction, and the case was prosecuted by Emmett L. Murphy, Assistant United States Attorney, under the direction of J. T. Votava, United States Attorney at Omaha.

Darling reports that he and his assistant, F. J. Newman, who attended the Omaha trial, have been co-operating closely with federal authorities for several months on slug matters, and that the situation in other parts of the country may warrant other similar actions.

Many operators of cigarette, candy, and soft drink vending machines and of phonographs have reported to Darling in the past few months the increasing prevalence of slugs, and other operators who are suffering losses from slugs are invited to write him in detail about their

Laws Violated

The two sections of the federal law (Title 18 of the Federal Criminal Code) under which the conviction of Wasserman was obtained are as follows:

"Section 278. (Criminal Code, Section 184.) Counterfeiting minor coins.—Whoever shall falsely make, forge, or counterfeit, or cause or procure to be falsely made, forged, or counterfeited, or shall willingly aid or assist in falsely making, forging, or counterfeiting any coin in the resemblance or similitude of any of the minor coins which have been or hereafter may be coined at the mints of the United States; or whoever shall pass, utter, publish, or sell, or bring "to the United States or any place subject to the jurisdiction thereof, from any foreign place, or have in his possession any such false, forged, or counterfeited coin, with intent to defraud any person whomsoever, shall be fined not more than $1,000 and imprisoned not more than three years. (R. S. See, §438; Mar. 4, 1909, c. 321, p. 164, 33 Stat. 1119.)"

"Section 262. (Criminal Code, Sec. 168.) Whoever, not lawfully authorized, shall make, issue, or pass or cause to be made, issued or passed, any coin, card, token, or device in metal or its compounds, which may be intended to be used as money for any 1 cent, 2 cent, 3 cent, or 5-cent piece now or hereafter authorized by law or for coins of equal value shall be fined not more than $1,000."

and imprisoned not more than five years. (R. S. §442; March 4, 1909. See Ch. 321.)"

Case Sets Precedent

OMAHA, Dec. 28.—A jury here in Federal Court may have ended the use of slugs which is said to have resulted in heavy losses by operators of coin machines.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty in the case of Max Wasserman, wholesale novelty distributor, who was accused on three counts of violating the counterfeiting laws thru sale and possession of the slugs. Two counts covered "de luxe" slugs that Wasserman was accused of owning and vending, the third count covered any slugs intended to be used as money.

Emmett Murphy, assistant United States Attorney, told The Billboard the case is the first in the country to cover sale and possession of slugs. If the verdict is upheld in the higher courts, he said, it will put a stop to the sale, manufacture and possession of slugs.

Illegitimate use of slugs, federal officials said, has kept pace with the growing popularity of coin machines. Judge Donohoe deferred sentence on Wasserman, and the defendant's attorney indicated he would appeal.

Important Data

TO ALL COIN MACHINE MEN:

In this issue is printed a registration blank for the 1941 Coin Machine Show. The necessary credentials entitling coinmen to admission will be ready for all those who use this blank. Coinmen who fail to make advance registration will be required to register before entering the convention floor. Advance registration will eliminate annoying delay in obtaining these credentials.

TO MUSIC MACHINE OPERATORS:

A ballot appears in the music section which has provision for the nomination of the three top recordings and the three top recording orchestras or artists of 1940. The results of this poll, conducted under the auspices of Coin Machine Industries, Inc., will be announced during the 1941 Coin Machine Show in Chicago.

TO ASSOCIATION SECRETARIES:

Each year we publish a directory of trade associations in the coin machine industry. This directory is used generally by the trade for correspondence with the various associations. We are requesting association officials to give us the necessary data for bringing the directory up to date.

Association officials are requested to answer the following questions and mail to Walter W. Hurd, The Billboard, 155 N. Clark Street, Chicago:

1. Give full name of association.
2. Official headquarters address of the association.
3. Name and address of the secretary and president.
4. Names of other officers and directors.
5. Times of regular meetings of the association.

Many associations send an annual report for publication in the convention issue of The Billboard, telling what the association has done during the present year and what it plans to do next year.

These reports give good publicity to your association and are very helpful as an exchange of ideas with other associations. We would appreciate having a report from your organization.

Address all communications to Walter W. Hurd, The Billboard, 155 N. Clark Street, Chicago. (New Chicago office is in the Ashland Building — Just across the street from the Sherman Hotel.)

Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 28.—Baltimore will be well represented at the 1941 coin machine show at Chicago. It is reported in the trade here that Baltimore's representation will be in excess of 30 persons.

Bally's Attention is riding the popularity wave here, judging from the manner in which the new number has been selling in this area under the distributorship of the Calvert Novelty Company. Arthur Nyberg, head of the Calvert organization, has announced he is offering Attention with a personal money-back guarantee.

Audrey Hollins, personal secretary to Art Nyberg, Calvert Novelty Company, will become a bride in the near future, her engagement to James J. Morris having been announced.

William J. Claire, manager of Keystone Novelty Company, states the Packard Pla-Mor has won immediate favor in this area and that the only difficulty now is getting enough of the units to take care of orders. The demand, he said, is substantially greater than the supply.

The demand for Rock-Ola wall boxes has so far exceeded the supply that the Hub Enterprises has been unable to supply it, states Aaron Goldsmith, president of the firm. The demand for the units, he said, has been phenomenal.

The lure of higher pay for mechanics in the aircraft, shipbuilding, and other industries in Baltimore engaged on orders for the national defense program has entailed a hardship for distributors who maintain service departments. There is no doubt but what the plants engaged on national defense work can offer higher wages than private industry.

Industry Going on Radio for Good Will

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 28.—The new year is expected to find amusement machine operators and distributors in this area coming out of their shell and taking advantage of the various mediums of advertising, principally the radio and newspapers, to exploit their business in the territory in much the same manner as any other legitimate enterprise. During 1940 the only machine concern getting up a sales message directly to the general public was the Berlo Vending Company. Carrying on an intensive campaign in both newspapers and radio, Berlo is generally credited for the popularity of the candy vending machines, the company's prime concern.

It is interesting to note that radio has not only let down the uncalled-for barriers but is even encouraging the use of radio advertising on part of amusement machine operators. Just before the holiday season two operators at nearby Chester, Pa., took advantage of that fact and placed spot announcements on WIP here to advertise the facilities of the company and the machines. The early results justified the continued use of radio in 1941. Two pioneers in this connection are the Leco Vending Machine Company, which is one of the participating sponsors on WIP's "It's a Fact" recorded program on Thursdays, and Workman's Vending Machine Company, one of the Chester merchants participating in the sponsorship of the station's recorded Chester Prepares program on Tuesdays. The commercial announcements used are solely for the exploitation of music machines and "games of skill."

Still another getting to the attention of the public is Lou Hindin, head of Garden State Amusement at near-by Camden, N. J. Another first was noted when Hindin last week took an advertisement in The Camden Courier-Post publicly wishing success to a new location owner, in this instance being the grand opening of Archie's Tavern at near-by Gloucester City, N. J., a generous gesture that can't help creating good will all around.

Allied Prepared For Show Visitors

Mills

they say, have already advised them that they will stop in while in Chicago.

In order to be prepared Harry and Sam are on a rampage. They plan to show their visitors one of the most complete arrays of machines ever assembled, all ready for immediate shipment.

"Allied will have open house for visitors, both at its display offices and at the Sherman Hotel," said Sam. "Due to Harry Le Vine's past affiliations with manufacturers many of the industry's leaders will be among the visitors. We extend a cordial welcome to the entire coin machine industry to stop in at Allied and exchange greetings with us while they're in Chicago."

Celebration of Oregon Supreme Court Victory

PORLTAND, Ore., Dec. 28.—More than 120 Oregon and Washington operators, jobbers, and distributors celebrated the success of their cause in the Oregon Supreme Court with a stag dinner in the Heathman Hotel's Georgian Room December 20.

Highlight was the presenting of tokens of esteem to the honored guests, Walter R. Fuller, local cafe owner, and Ace Arnsberg, president of Portland Operators' Association, for the parts they played in getting Supreme Court approval of pinball games for amusement.

It was announced to the more than 50 columnists present that their contributions in the inauguration of a charity policy made it possible to present more than 500 new toys to the Toy and Joy-makers, charitable Christmas project sponsored by the fire department. Bud Wright, of Western Distributors, Inc., toastmaster, made the presentation to representatives of Toy and Joymakers. Harry Nemer, local operator, headed the operators' charity committee.

Good for a big laugh was the unveiling of a mammoth picture of Arnsberg in African hunting costume, taken by J. Frank Meier, of Exhibit Supply Company, recent host to Arnsberg at Palm Springs, Calif.

Among visitors were Lou Wolcher, of Advanced Automatic Sales, San Francisco, and Solly Solomon, Seattle manager for Western Distributors. Manufacturers and distributors were well represented in the big list of door prizes.

Telegrams read expressed the inability of Erle Crabtree, of Mills; Jack R. Moore, and Ralph Herzig, attorney in the court test, to attend the meeting. An entertainment program followed the banquet and a session to discuss coming legislation and gambling vs. amusement was postponed.

Chicago's 1940 Retail Trade $1,700,000,000

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—The value of Chicago's 1940 retail trade will advance to approximately $1,700,000,000 this year from $1,507,000,000 in 1939, Lawrence H. Whiting, chairman of the domestic commerce committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce, estimates. "Continued and substantial advances" were predicted for 1941.

Wholesale and manufacturing improvement should keep pace with retail gains, according to Whiting. "While actual figures have not been released as yet by the census investigators, all signs are upward," Whiting said.

"Members of our headquarters staff," he asserted, "who keep close tab on Chicago business, indicate that the 1940 combined total for wholesale, manufacturing, and retail will approximate $10,000,000,000. This compares with $6,900,000,000 in 1935 and $4,900,000,000 in 1933. What these figures indicate in brief is that Chicago this year, as for some years past, will do approximately one-twelfth of the nation's total wholesale, manufacturing, and retail business."

Robbins Handling New Game Spitfire

BROOKLYN, Dec. 28.—In a special deal just consummated with the manufacturer, we have taken over the national sales program of Spitfire, a new counter skill game," report Dave Robbins, head of D. Robbins & Company, Brooklyn.

"Spitfire," he continued, "is a clever game following a war theme. The machine has a moving airplane which is controlled by the player. A ball of gum is vended into the plane and represents a bomb. Below the plane is a battleship with two funnels. The object of the game is to move the plane over the battleship and release the bomb so that it falls into one of the funnels. All skillful hits are recorded. Spitfire has a large ball gum capacity, holding over 1,000 balls. The game will be exhibited at the Coin Machine Show in booth L12.

Pinball Boom Days Back, Says Heiman

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—"The market on all types of pinball games is expanding at a clip that harks back to the boom days," said Harry Heiman, sales manager of National Coin Machine Exchange, Chicago, on his return from a flying trip thru the Central States.

"There is every indication that 1941 will reach new peaks in the point of sales volume, attributable to the better industrial conditions as well as a marked change in the licensing conditions," continued Heiman.

"Never before in the history of National Coin, of Chicago, have we had so many late reconditioned games on our floors to fit the purse of large and small buyers. To give operators a chance to load up on sound, dependable games at bargain prices, we have slashed all prices and feel sure our values will defy competition. All used games are so thoroughly reconditioned that many look like new!"

Joseph Schwartz, president, added: "We guarantee all equipment so that operators buying from us know they are getting 100 cents on every dollar. Colleagues are invited to visit us and satisfy themselves that we have what they want at prices they can afford to pay."

More Movie Mentions About Coin Machines

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 28.—Additional mentions of coin machines in motion pictures were in The Hit Parade of 1941 and Go West. In the former, one of the supporting players comes into a drug store and two of his co-workers give him the check, whereupon he puts a coin in the machine, gives the check to the clerk, and says: "Take it out of my winnings and keep the change for me." Sure enough, just as he is walking out the door the sound effects give the impression that the jackpot has been hit.

Groucho Marx, in the scene on an Indian reservation, is telling the Indian chief what the white man has done for the Indians and says words to the effect that they put the Indian and buffalo on a nickel and then invented bell machines to take away the nickels.

Central Distributors in Enlarged Quarters

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 28.—The new and enlarged quarters of the Central Distributing Company at 23d and Grand streets, Kansas City, will be the scene of the unveiling of Wurlitzer's 1941 Victory model phonographs. The event, an open-house party, is scheduled to take place on National Wurlitzer Days, January 5 and 6.

Central Distributing Company's new facilities are said to be the finest and most complete in this section of the country. The smart display rooms were designed by the Rudolph Wurlitzer Company's stylist, Paul Fuller. All appointments and furnishings are in perfect harmony.

Service facilities have received even more careful attention, according to Central Distributing Owners Tim Crummet and Mindley Mason. "Our building consists of three floors," they report, "with convenient shipping and loading platforms to expedite the movement of merchandise."

Showrooms and offices occupy the first floor of the building, with receiving, shipping, parts, and service departments on the second floor. A stock of used phonographs will be maintained on the third floor.

The entire efforts of the Central Distributing Company for 1941 will be devoted to the distribution only of Wurlitzer phonographs and auxiliary and remote control equipment, they report.

Distributors To Gather At Daval Booth

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—According to officials of the Daval Company, Chicago, there will be plenty of men at booths 52 and 53 to tell operators all about Daval's new counter games at the 1941 Coin Machine Show. Officials report that most of Daval's distributors have indicated that they will spend time at the booths to meet and greet men from their own territories.

Such distributors as Electro-Ball Company; Sicking, Inc.; Atlas Novelty Company; Banner Specialty Company, B. D. Lazar Company; Seaboard Sales, Inc.; Trimount Coin Machine Company, H. G. Payne Company; Silent Sales Company; Mosley Vending Machine Exchange; Mayflower Novelty Company, the Markepp Company, Ideal Novelty Company, and the Mac Mohr Company report that they will visit at booths 52 and 53 to meet customers from their own territories.

"We are all proud of the great comeback that Al Douglas and Dave Helfenstein have made this year," said a distributor. "Not only will we make it our business to stop off at the booths 52 and 53 for a few hours each, but we are all going to tell the trade what great games Daval has built."

It is believed by Daval officials that its booths will have the greatest gathering of distributors from all over the country.

GEORGE ROSSERO, Packard Manufacturing Corporation factory manager, was formerly with Nordyco & Marmon Motor Car Company. He also was with Holcomb & Hoke, Indianapolis, and Thomas & Skinner Steel Products, Indianapolis, holding key positions. Holcomb & Hoke at one time built the Electramuse phonograph.

Bally Doubles Its Show Space

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Bally Manufacturing Company will have the largest display in the history of the company at the 1941 Coin Machine Show, according to statement by George Jenkins, Bally's general sales manager. "In order to present the most complete and varied line in Bally's history," Jenkins explained, "we have doubled the space used last year. The Bally exhibit will occupy the north end of the main exposition hall. In this space we will display the new Bally line which will insure a dominating position in 1941 for Bally distributors and operators. The 1941 Bally line will embrace practically every field of operation."

"Altho the Bally space will be packed with an array of new machines, ample space will be provided to permit operators and distributors to inspect the line in comfort."

Air Raider Play At New Heights

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Concluding days of 1940 saw play on Air Raider, Keeney machine gun game, reach a new high level, according to J. H. (Jack) Keeney, head of J. H. Keeney & Company.

"The holiday spirit, stronger this year than for several years past, was much evident on locations throughout the country," said Keeney.

"The fact that there has been more money available to the public made it possible for location patrons to spend time and money on personal recreation as well as on gift shopping. Reports from our distributors, who have been watching Air Raider play closely, state that play on the gun was as great, and in many cases greater than at any other time since its release."

"Air Raider's powerful attraction was well demonstrated during the holiday week. A game has to have something on the ball to be able to compete against all the excitement of Christmas and New Year's Day preparation and celebration, and Air Raider conclusively proved its worth as a location money-maker under those conditions."

Keeney advised that production on Air Raider continues at a brisk rate in response to continuing demand.

Reliable Specialty Takes Show Booth

CLEVELAND, Dec. 28.—Reliable Specialty Company, Cleveland, announces it will be represented at the 1941 Coin Machine Show and that representatives will be on hand to display and demonstrate the firm's products.

Reliable will show its full line of wall organs, corner wall organs, auxiliary speakers, and cabinet stands at booth number 247.

BEHOLD THE PRIDE OF SPOKANE, WASH. An office of beauty shines out into the night. These new display rooms are occupied by the Standard Sales Company, Rock-Ola distributor. H. D. Severson, owner of the firm, reports that expanding phonograph business forced acquisition of this fine new location.
