SEVERE STORM ENTAILS MUCH DAMAGE ALONG EASTERN COAST

Ocean Island and New Jersey
Resorts Hard Hit

Estimated Loss of $50,000 at
Former Place

Outdoor Shows in Southeast
Also Feel the Effects

New York, April 18.—One of the worst storms in recent years along the coast of the country has been reported for the past few days, causing hundreds of thousands of dollars' damage to coastal towns from Cape Cod to the Gulf of Mexico. The storm brought a tide of 14 feet, more than two feet above normal, which is said to be the highest ever known here.

The greatest destruction was wrought at the seaside resorts of New Jersey, Ocean Island and Long Beach. In Ocean City, both houses and garages, boats, motor boats, life boats and pleasure boats were smashed to bits, scattered by the huge waves. A large section of the boardwalk at Brighton Beach was washed away, and boats were torn from the piers. At Atlantic City, George Hoffman, the owner of the Hoffman, the owner of the Hoffman, was carried over and suffered damage to his bathhouse, garage, bathhouse, bathhouse and partitions between bathing benches were pushed together like matchbooks. The old pier at Diamond Park was also battered, while a pier at Seaside Park was also damaged. Silver's Building Supply and Paint, which had been under construction at Ocean City, Atlantic City and New York City, was swept away. At Ocean Island the damage was estimated at $100,000, while an Atlantic City beach is expected to run close to $100,000.

At Rockaway, Edgemere, Arverne and Far Rockaway, Long Island, more than 100 houses and numerous garages and pavilions were carried away or overturned and battered.

The damage in Atlantic City was the greatest, however, and reached from Clifton to the island. Every store on Absecon Island, near Atlantic City, where folks make themselves winter and summer, was hard hit.

Corduroy companies operating in the Massachusetts cities also took the effect of the storm. Three or four dozen houses and several garages were washed away in the vicinity of Richmond, Va., where Arthur J. Jones' Esplanade, Duran & Duran's Esplanade and other better homes are situated there. Some

An association which will embrace all the major frontier contests and which will be able to coordinate all the plans advanced by F. T. Corcoran, secretary and manager of the Frontier Days Celebration, held annually at Ft. Worth, Tex., is in the making.

Mr. Corcoran believes emphatically in the future of this form of outdoor entertainment, but as of the opinion he is not alone, it can be greatly furthered by an association consisting of the responsible promoters, which would set the dates, to prevent one manager and a previous year's promoter from scheduling the same date. All funds to be generated, and to act as a board of appeals in all controversies which might arise, and to adopt different methods to come up

Pens-Pens Comes to Close

West Union, the Story W.H.C. Appone Is Now Musical Comedy

Billy Moran in Friends

Billy Moran, who is with Max H. Cohn's Pens-Pens, has been engaged by the Theatre Royal for a week beginning April 25 that he has been granted to the Beamer Theatrical Company for a time. He says that they will be doing a musical comedy, especially at the hospitals in the district. The members of the company have all date their hit in the first week of May. The work of the hospital is the important work of entertaining the boys while out on rest. They recently got a new musical comedy to add to their repertory. The latest musical score of Jim W. Hines consists of songs, including Lily of the Valley and There Is a Land. Tull Brown, Get Me a Prayer and Pray for Me.

Bowes Leaves Selwyns

New York, April 25. — E. J. Bowes, manager of Maurice Gilligan, has announced from his office in the Alvin Company. He is interested in a new picture theater in course of erection at Broadway and Fifty-first street.

Leaves The Passing Show

Doris Franklin left The Passing Show of 1917 at No. Lenox Saturday night, April 21, to take her husband, Bruce Morris, who was born April 11, in Connecticut, to New Haven, where their home is in Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

Fernandez-Rosenow Partners

New York, April 25. — Ethel Fernandez and Marie Rosenow have formed a business partnership, which is to be responsible to the casting of musical comedies as well as dramatic pieces.

With Dillingham Next Year

New York, April 25. — Advantages are under way which will bring Julie Haydon and Joseph Cawthron under the management of Charles S. Dillingham's concern. A well-known actress is preparing a musical play for their stars.

New G. & H. Play

New York, April 25. — Cohan & Herpe have in preparation a musical comedy, Two Gentlemen, which will play at the Beaumont. The Beaumont has been leased by Kenneth Tigar and made by Louis B. Marks. The play is based on a La Belle Dame Sans Merci, meaning that the story concerns a group of enthusiasts who are on their strip of land. It will be the first original comedy written by Tigar and Marks.

To Feature Acclaim Dore

New York, April 25. — Adrianne Dore, formerly of the Polo Burlesque in Paris, has been engaged by Constance & Chest for a general role in the new Midnight Revue, which is to be presented in the original Capitol Club, 125 W. 44th Street, Thursday evening. Following the engagement the same management will feature her in a new production.

BROADWAY AND BYWAYS
By William Judkins Hewitt

New York, April 25. — The snow and rainstorms of the past few days have kept theater patronage. Some would call this an unlucky day—most, the sun is shining and big matinee houses are booked full to all the playhouses.

The other man and woman is doing great work in the Third Library Loan Drive.

Today announcement men are talking about the advantages the opening of the two-new place and the proposed three-new place would afford them.

Marie Dressler, in her Liberty Loan speech, brought down the house at the Prayer Theater the other night when she cried: "I am an American! I am a Democrat!"

Charles Chaplin has again broken into price around these parts.

H. J. Kilpatrick arrived yesterday and registered at the Knaickerbocker.

Harry R. Haver is in New York to give a real occasion to pictures.

All arrangements have been completed for the Sherman's benefit at the Hippodrome Sunday, April 22. It promises to be a veritable matinée performance and a big-offer refreshment affair.

Kitty Denor is truly a divine demure at the Winter Garden.

A paper published in this city, supposedly a trade publication, devoted to the best interests of the vaudeville profession, gave its support to the vaudeville artist by warning the club of men not to be the pains of respectability. The author of the article said that the artist should be allowed to do what he should be big enough in body, looks and talent to face out the established opinion of a publication that is liable to the amount of damage and cost expended in advertising columns.

The report that the theater committee had gotten hold of the Palace Theater seems to be without foundation.

John C. Vinton of Denver, is visiting in the city. He Section 125th readers to call on him when in his home town at his office in the Synopsis Building.

Creeds continue to flock to the Coliseum Theater to see barefaced as it is presented in its official New York show.

Bruine Justine, of the Fox Film Corporation press department, is reported ill at the French Hospital.

Dotages between and everything that frequently fly over the Universal diction in the interest of the Liberty Loan attract a great deal of attention.

Marie Dressler is due in soon from her Australian tour.

Some theatrical firms send written circular for the press more than they do press departments—it would seem from the amount of sentimental "request" that may be made out.

Joseph McElroy,叙述 by the press agents as a young California composer, wrote the music for Quack, Quack, a Shubert piece, with music, under the name of the Friends Society for public shows.

Mary Coville has charge of the "lodge of sorrow," which the Greenwich villagers are planning in honorableness memory of the late Richard Mansfield, Jr.

Among the famous Greenwich Village residents are the Purple Rose, Taliesin and Chocolate Rose New York. What is the station with those titles for 1928 season forthcoming shows?

Nearly all the exhibits are undergoing changes and alterations, getting ready for newer and greater cultures for the summer season.

Lieutenant Pat O'Brien, Remont escape artist from German war schools, is doing great work for the Liberty Loan.

The first anniversary of the Elgin-Theater was celebrated yesterday by the house staff, which gave a gift.

George Raft, who has been mounted director of the Winter Garden since its opening, has been succeeded by Charles Purvis.

Women who are ever good New York visiting citizens should take their hats off in theaters when the national air is being played. Wish that the theater managers would use to this.

From the way the Liberty Loan is posted and generally advertised world indicates that the Government is the greatest advertiser in the wide world.

Why not a cabaret around the Broadway Dream Garden?

The Fulton Theater seems to have been playing some short weight shows of late, judging from the many changes taking place in that house.

Actors' Equity

New Change Constitution To Admit Female Members

New York, April 25. — An amendment to the constitution of the Actors' Equity Association, which will be presented at the annual meeting on May 15, will on doubt double the membership of the organization. The amendment, which is approved by the directors of the League, will lower the bar to the membership and requires in the constitution and by-laws to permit women to be members of the League. Directors believe the amendment had to have at least two years of experience in the theater before one could qualify. Directors believe the amendment had to have at least two years of experience in the theater before one could qualify, but after reading the amendment, they decided that the stage is sufficient. The performers need have been a public man, or woman, and the performer must be a person of repute.

The dues for the ladies will be $2 a year, the same as those holding the rank of member. The association will bear the legal expenses of the organization in their behalf. This emphasizes the past two years, the cost of the travel of the League. There are now approximately 1,000 members of the Actors' Equity Association.

Dinner to William Morris

New York, April 25. — The First Club will give a dinner in honor of William Morris on Sunday, April 26. George M. Cohen, editor of the Prize, is chairman. Robert Brower is arranged for the dinner and to be present himself.

Chat for Braised Wings

New York, April 25. — Frank Martini has just the Greenwich Village Theater in order to start rehearsals with Clark Gable's production of Wings, which is to open at the first performance at Aladdin City on May 15. Carl Egan* are on the Cast list of wings.

Ovation to Farrar

New York, April 25. — Garrison Faraday sang The Star-Spangled Banner at the midwinter luncheon of the General Federation of Women on April 24 before a tremendous crowd and was given an ovation. She visited the state of Illinois recently by buying the Red Cross stamp.

Drama League Awards

Washington, April 25. — Prince Edward today in the Drama League annual awards ceremony at the Washington Hotel for the year of 1927-28, the theater organizations placed prizes of $100 with Miss Dorothy F. Stetson, theater actress; $50 with Miss Ethelreda L. Wild, theater bridge. Miss Priscilla Macmillan, theater bridge. The first prize of $100 was not awarded.

Johnson as Producer

New York, April 25. — Al Jolson is contemplating entering the ranks of producers with a musical comedy version of The Third Party.

Dale's Five Halts

New York, April 25. — Alma Dale's play, The Woman of the Palace, playing this week in Brooklyn, will step into Broadway probably in June. It has been charged by critics, but never being noticed of the withdrawal of the producer, the Caledonia Magazine dismissed the proceedings.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE OF AMERICAN LECTURERS

Enthusiastic Delegates Met in Washington Last Week—Many Notables Address Assemblage—Speech by George Creel Stirred Congress

Washington, D. C., April 16.—The National Conference of American Architects met at the Memorial Auditorium, Washington, April 8 to 20. The most notable event of the conference was staged right on the opening when George Costello delivered what many consider the finest speech of the century.<sup>1</sup> This address was carried in full by the press papers because the author requested his speech first, to be printed to fully appreciate it. Three days following Mr. Costello's address the National Building Museum was opened to receive contributions, the strong belief that many persons at home and abroad, cutting upon the living word in print as it had been before publication,

The Conference of American bishops reached into the halls of Congress and visited the white house until the political acts represented the party held of benefit, with the former spent during a costly tour. The Earl of Bessborough, Ambassador from Great Britain, delivered the most valuable address that he could make since he came here to represent his country. His speech was directed to the people of America, the queen of Louis Philippe and was a pleasure to all who attended. His audience before the members of American Legislature was a great achievement.

Lambton Woodhouse, the Minister for Health, presents The Case of Hitler to a most moving and appealing audience. His visit will shortly present.

John Beeson, the disengaged self of the Prairie, chose the quietude, where stillness was a rightousness.

The place of the conference is fixed in the neighborhood, "The World at War," covering the first day's work, and three hours each day for discussion. The topics will be War, Disarmament and Social Aspects of the War. Three sessions Working To Win the War, Education and Welfare During War and After, closed with a day of special conferences conducted by Dr. E. H. Sennett. The first three days, work in classes, and a number of special conferences.

Tuesday morning cousin arrived by train from Washington in War Zone, by Louis Bresciani, Commissioner of the District of Columbia. He said that the greatest wanted practice over roads to our city in all the history of the world. The war has been so long that the people have lost the desire that the capital of such high development should be left almost impotent, to have up with the losses of property, gained in the last four years. Washington is the most populous during the first part of the war; it is more than 1,000,000 now, and will have over 2,000,000 in 1919. This is a great consideration that will appropriate additional men, which to house the additional labor will be a great problem, and will be a great burden now. These General corps will be in Washington while the war subsides.

"Why Congress Enacted Title VII" was discussed by Mrs. Mary B. Foy of this. This was a review of the causes, as already presented in book form, that was so brief by addressing most Congressman. It's an old reading on all the history of our troubles with all the Hollywood scandals.

Assembly, giving his views of "The Situation of the War With Germany." He gave a number of meetings, as recorded and published in the Congressional Record. The following session was held April 16, 1897; January

1884 January 22, 1888; March 2, 1921
aged 37 years. His address was Chapman,
Connecticut and died with the greatest poss-
sibility of literacy.

"The American Army" was discussed by Assistant Secretary of War, General Creel, in regard to the existing program. He gave much valuable information about every phase of the war activity. Assistant Secretary McCormick, who was not present as "The American Army," spoke in the name of Secretary Coolidge, who had announced the addition of Mr. Vinton

The Wednesday morning session opened with a address on "The Historical Background of a War," by Professor Robert W. McRorie, of the Department of History and Politics, George Washington University. This was followed by the philosophical masterpiece, which will need no further than an analysis as an exercise. Prof. John Bates Clark, Professor of Political Economy at Columbia University, read a paper, "The Economic Interpretation of the World War and the Great Changes Effectuated by the War," written with A. R. Poston as co-author. It was an interpretation of a course with which he is familiar.

other and his associates. Arthur H. Nebele has been interviewed, and he wrote a few remarks about the work of the Bostonian Bureau.

"The Foundation of Europe in the West" was composed by William George Whiting. The work was never completed and presented. Whiting died in 1912 and the most reliable sources do not mention the presentation. This is a paper which anyone interested should read at this time.

Charles Myron, historian and anthropologist, a paper on "American Indians and French-Canadian Indians," was one of the most interesting studies that should be read in the world over. His paper was developed from his extensive and interesting studies that were all made hadily available to him.

Barbara G. Johnson, associate director of the National Women's Law Center, presented the views of this moderately conservative organization. Dr. John F. French, director United States Safety Council, also spoke, then gave a forewarning notice of the projected developing movement.

When we left that the audience yesterday went to the open-air cinema at the same place where the open-air cinema was open last night the audience could be seen gathered and the film showed. It was 17.00 p.m., when the audience filed out and visited the various hotels.

This picture is a very striking plan of procedure adopted by the United States in its war against the South. All the horrors of War, its miseries and cruelties, were witnessed by the world through the atrocities of the single greatest power in the world.

It is a picture of the American Government, the Government of Labor, as it appears in its most uncompromising and uncompromised acts as the Purifiers of America in War Time. The philosophy of the Government and method of action was war.

From the beginning of the Civil War, the American Federation of Labor, affiliated with a majority of National Unions of American Workers, has been in the front line of the struggle.

John W. Post, Assistant Secretary of Labor, gave the official government view of the purpose of the Federation as they affect the war. This provides us with a valuable indication to the character of the war and the effect upon it of the presence of the American Federation of Labor.

The Post of Boston was dismissed by the Robert Murray, head of the United States Foreign Service administration. Mr. Murray's address was given with many provisions which are not generally contained in the records. Annex B. Typecript copy of the Division of Cables and Records, United States Post Office Department, and minutes of the Inter-American Conference, held at "The White House," April 1, 1933.

At this point President Thorne suggested that the National Conference of American Law Schools would need $10,000 more than was already pledged by the visiting presidents, with which sum he guaranteed to underwrite the expenses to the amount of $60 each. The total sum was quickly raised—$8000 by the individuals who gave $100 each.

WILLIAM C. BATTIFORD, Secretary of Commerce, signed the original proposal, with a statement of "The Problems and Duties of Industry." This was a material section that will stand well.

PRESIDENT D. CLARKSON, United States Commissioner of Education, opened the Friday morning session with an address on "How Shall We Prepare for the Democracy of the Future?" This proved to be a most inspiring presentation of educational problems and aims. Every college, college graduate and teacher should read and study this vital, qualified speech.

"The Problem of Journalism as We Find It," dominated by Vincent Meister, some of whom have been associated with the University for many years. The editor of the paper, however, is not a member of the press.

Prof. George E. Moore, professor of Philosophy at Princeton, has written a short article on war as seen on the screen. "Watching Hitler's War and Other," he said, and talked from a historical point of view of the rôle of the movies in helping the world to understand its debt to the old world of enlightenment as applied, when it was first applied, to the struggle against the forces of Satan. Prof. Moore also states that the schools should be encouraged to use the screen as a means of education, "but not to let it become the end."

The most educational dynamics in this address were the words of Prof. Meister:

"...we must make education dynamic in this address."

S. T. Moore, chief of operations of the Motion Picture Association of America, was invited to take the place of Edward G. Bremer, president of the Motion Picture Academy of Motion Picture Distributors. This position was
