THE CLASS OF

SSUE EDITED BY PHYLLIS STARK REPORTERS: IVORY M. JONES, TONY SANDERS, CHUCK TAYLOR, BRAM TEITELMAN, PHYLLIS STARK AND KEN TUCKER

REMEMBER SENIOR YEAR OF HIGH SCHOOL when your classmates voted for the best, worst and "most likely to" in a variety of embarrassing categories? Well, we at Billboard Radio Monitor are still reliving our high school years—at least in our minds. So as the national spotlight turns on country music for the Nov. 15 Country Music Assn. Awards in New York, we also shine the light on the best, worst and weirdest in country radio and music.

Read on to find out who has the best ears in the business? Who went from the Big Wheel to satellite radio big cheese in record time? Who has the longest title? The best mascot? What is the best slogan that never quite made it onto the air? What is the best country drinking song? And who have we designated as most likely to succeed?

MOST LIKELY TO SUCCEED ROCKIE LYNNE

WITH HIS DEBUT SINGLE, "Lipstick," off to a fast start on the country airplay chart, and his debut Universal South album due March 7, Rockie Lynne seems poised for stardom.

He will be helped along by his fierce work ethic, his telegenic face and, most of all, his triple-threat talent as a singer, song-writer and guitar whiz. (As evidence of the work ethic, he still hones his guitar skills for two hours a day, though he hardly needs the practice.) Lynne, a North Carolina native who now lives near Minneapolis, wrote or co-wrote all the songs on his debut, which is chock-full of potential singles.

Universal Music Group CEO Doug Morris, who brought Lynne to the attention of Universal South partners Tony Brown and Tim DuBois, signed the charismatic artist to a six-album deal. Brown co-produced Lynne's album with Blake Chancey.

"What an honor," Lynne says of being named most likely to succeed. He considers himself successful already just for getting to do what he loves for a living. "Any level of success for me is more than I thought I'd achieve."

At a recent performance in Wheeling, W.Va., Lynne had his first experience with hearing the audience singing the words of his single back to him. He was floored. "It's all over the top for me," he says of his rising fame. "I'm just glad to be part of the music business."

—PHYLLIS STARK

MOST LIKELY TO ROCK YOUR WORLD KTYS DALLAS

THERE WAS A TIME in the not so distant past that Infinity country/rock hybrid WYUU (Outlaw Country) Tampa, Fla., would have been a shoo-in for this honor, but sadly, that station is now known as "La Nueva," a Spanish top 40. So instead, the honor goes to ABC Radio KTYS (the Twister) Dallas for playing the Bon Jovi song "Who Says You Can't Go Home?" in significant rotation.

Of course, the song is not without its country merit, as Sugarland's Jennifer Nettles is featured prominently, and she will perform it with Jon Bon Jovi on the Nov. 15 Country Music Assn. Awards show in New York.

Although Mercury Nashville, Sugarland's label, plans to eventually work the cut to country radio, it was not a label rep that suggested that the Twister play the song.

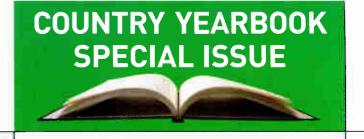

"I caught the CMT ["Crossroads" special featuring both acts] and planned to TiVo the song," PD Crash Poteet says. "Then the day the Bon Jovi album came out, my middayer Scott Gaines brought in a copy of the mixed track, and it blew us away."

A couple hundred spins later, Poteet says the song is "taking on its own life for sure . . . the phones have been monstrous. It's a great fit for us, and Jon [Bon Jovi] really lets Jennifer Nettles shine on the cut. [I am] thinking it may be another Kid Rock/Sheryl Crow 'Picture.'" —KEN TUCKER

LONGEST STINT BETWEEN COUNTRY RADIO GIGS

CHARLIE MONK, SIRIUS SATELLITE RADIO

IN TODAY'S RADIO CLIMATE, it is not unusual for radio personalities to be off the air as they go from station to station. However, in Charlie Monk's case, 33 years passed before country music fans were able to hear his voice float over the airwaves again.

Today, Monk serves as creative adviser for Sirius Satellite Radio's country music streams and does some on-air work there as well. Prior to joining Sirius in August 2004, he did a short stint as morning show co-host at talk WGFX (the Zone) Nashville. Before that, however, Monk's last radio gig was during the early 1970s when he served as PD at country WMTS Murfreesboro, Tenn.

During his time away from radio, Monk kept country music close to his heart, working in the music publishing business, first

MOST CONSISTENTLY SUCCESSFUL PROGRAMMER

WMIL MILWAUKEE'S KERRY WOLFE

KERRY WOLFE IS VERY HUMBLE FOR SOMEONE with more than 24 years of radio broadcast experience who juggles the roles of director of programming for Clear Channel's six-station Milwaukee cluster and PD at country WMIL. Even with a list of achievements that includes helping WMIL maintain its status as one of the market's top-rated stations (it ranked No. 2 in Arbitron's summer book with a 7.5 12-plus share), he is not quite ready to toot his own horn.

"One of the keys to my success is hiring good people," he says. "I think I have a good instinct for finding quality, top-notch and talented individuals."

In the last four Arbitron books, WMIL has not fallen below a 5.5 rating 12-plus. Wolfe believes his opendoor policy has played a role in his station's success.

"I don't hide behind a locked door or fail to return phone calls," he says, adding that the format itself makes it easy to excel in his roles.

"We're one big happy family in the country music community most of the time. That's what I like about the format."

—IVORY M. JONES

at ASCAP and later at his own company, Monk Family Music, in addition to dabbling in songwriting and production. He remained a familiar figure to radio as the longtime host of Country Radio Seminar's annual New Faces show.

"I'm a showbiz groupie. I just love hanging around show folks," he says. Since returning to his radio roots, Monk says he is having a blast, though he still has some catching up to do. "The world of radio changed while I was away. I'm glad I was just beautiful and talented, otherwise I would not be able to fit in at all," he jokes. "I'm already up to 1995, technologically." —IVORY M. JONES

NEXT CAREER MOVE TREND REAL ESTATE

a new field: real estate. Now a licensed real estate agent with Coldwell Banker in Alpharetta, Ga., Wood is the latest former record promotion executive to segue to that line of work.

She joins former Capitol Records VP of promotion Terry Stevens and longtime country independent promoters Susan Turner and Tari Laes in the real estate business. Former Mercury and Virgin VP of promotion Larry Hughes also chucked the record business after nearly 25 years and spent a few years working in real estate.

But Hughes may be bucking the trend. He recently rejoined the music world as the Southeast regional promoter at 903 Music.

BEST CAREER CHANGE—RADIO CLEDUS T. JUDD AND CHAD BROCK, MORNINGS, WQYK TAMPA, FLA.

DID HE CHANGE HIS CAREER FOR THIS? Yes, and comedian/song parodist Cledus T. Judd has no regrets about becoming a morning host alongside fellow recording artist Chad Brock. In fact, he says his move to radio is the best thing he has done in his career so far.

Judd says that radio has always been his first love, from the time he was the morning man at his school station in seventh grade. "I always said throughout the course of my career that [radio] was where I wanted to be and where I would be, I just wanted to build up the Rolodex and connections [first]. Ten years of building those relationships with all these great people really paid off."

An Atlanta native, Judd says he would do the show only in Atlanta or Tampa, because of the weather. "I damn sure don't want to get up in Chicago somewhere, where it's dreary and miserable," he says. "I'd be hanging from a shower rod somewhere."

As for Brock, he cites his family as one of the main reasons he scaled back his recording career for a more stationary job.

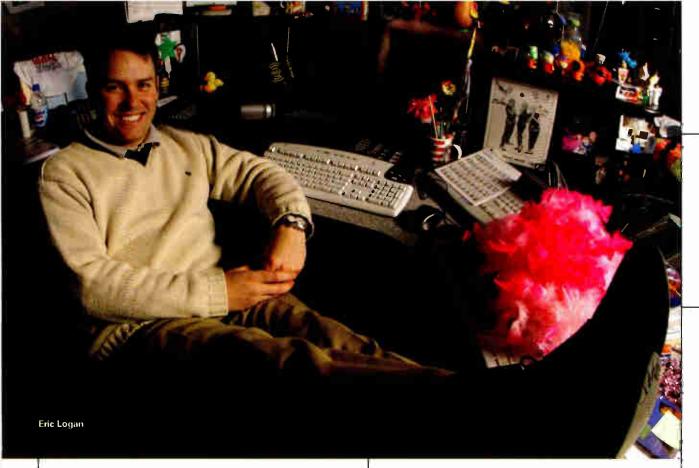

Radio, he says, came naturally to him: "I've done so many radio tours that it wasn't a chore to get up at 6 in the morning."

Brock also points to the biography for his second album, in which he stated that if he was not a musician, he would want to be doing morning radio somewhere. Now he is doing both.

While Judd and Brock made a career change, that does not mean their music careers are over. WQYK is allowing them to take time to tour and promote their albums. Judd's next release, a multi-artist tribute to Ray Stevens, is due from Koch Records early next year.

—BRAM TEITELMAN

BIGGEST TITLE WITH FEWEST WRINKLES ERIC LOGAN, XM SATELLITE RADIO

XM EXECUTIVE VP OF PROGRAMMING Eric

Logan had an inauspicious start to his career. His first radio job, when he was 15, was at country KXXY Oklahoma City as station mascot Chuck the Duck. But he was not done with the anthropomorphic animal kingdom, as he was lured across the street to rival KEBC, where he became Cody the Coyote.

"At that point, I thought my career path was going to land me in San Diego to be the San Diego Chicken," Logan quips.

Far from it. With his second mascot job came the condition that he could learn the board and get on the air. By his senior year, he was going to high school during the day, playing baseball after school and was the night jock at KEBC. By the time he was 21, he was PD there, and wound up in programming in a top 10 market (San Francisco) before he was 25 (four days before, actually).

Since then, Logan has worked his way steadily and quickly up the ladder, becoming a GM, Infinity country format captain, VP of programming for Infinity, president of programming for Citadel Broadcasting and finally, head of programming for XM.

Have we mentioned that he is not even 35 until his next birthday?

When asked what it takes to advance up the ranks so quickly, Logan answers "flexibility" without hesitation. "You have to be increasingly flexible, look at opportunities, move quick and know that it can't always be the way you ultimately wanted," he says. "I was fortunate to be young, adventurous, and seeing the country appealed to me . . . If you see something you're interested in, you have to chase it hard and go get it."

And Logan leaves us with some parting words he got from a friend: "If you're going to work in this business, make sure you don't have anything more than can fit in a U-Haul trailer."

—BRAM TEITELMAN

MOST WELCOME COMEBACK

NEAL McCOY

WHETHER ON OR OFF THE CHARTS, Neal McCoy has always been a favorite with the fans and a steady performer on the fouring circuit. But it took starting his own label, 903 Music, to get back into the upper reaches of the sales and airplay charts.

McCoy's current single, "Billy's Got His Beer Goggles On," is No. 11 on the Billboard Radio Monitor country airplay chart this issue, marking his highest-charting single since "The Shake" in October 1997.

His album "That's Life" debuted at No. 8 on Billboard's Top Country Albums chart in September and sold more than 25,000 copies in its first week, according to Nielsen SoundScan. Both are high-water marks for the Texas native, who has three platinum albums and one gold album to his credit.

When the single came out in April, many programmers were surprisingly quick to play music from an unproven new label and an artist who has not had a major radio hit in eight years. Others have needed some convincing.

"We weren't sure how [radio] was going to respond," McCoy admitted recently to Billboard. "We were just hoping they'd give us an open attitude, and they have. Not to say we haven't been struggling at some stations. We've had to prove ourselves."

-KEN TUCKER

BEST COUNTRY MARKET SALT LAKE CITY

SPANNING 37 COUNTIES in a vast and mountainous zone covering all of Utah and parts of four neighboring states, Salt Lake City's designated market area is the largest in the nation.

While Salt Lake City is Arbitron's No. 31 market, in terms of country album sales, it ranks in the top 20, according to Nielsen SoundScan, with 616,897 units sold this year through Oct. 30.

Out of 54 AM and FM outlets that appeared in the spring 2005 Arbitron survey for Salt Lake City, a dozen program country.

The most recent addition came in October, when Citadel flipped its KENZ from alternative to classic country. Prior to that, Simmons Media Group launched country KEGA in 2003. The station has averaged a 2.0 for the four books through spring 2005.

Locally owned KSOP (the Cowboy) is still kickin' out the country favorites, the way it has been since it came on the air in 1964. The FM had a 4.0 12-plus in the spring. Its AM sister signed on in 1955 and also programs country.

Citadel's KUBL (K-Bull) leads the country pack in Arbitron shares, now using the frequency that had been home to heritage country KKAT. In the spring, KUBL pulled a 6.3 share 12-plus.

The KKAT calls returned in October, when Citadel flipped KENZ and simulcast classic country on its AM sister.

—TONY SANDERS

JON RANDALL, 'I SHOULDN'T DO THIS'

A BEAUTIFULLY WRITTEN AND SUNG BALLAD

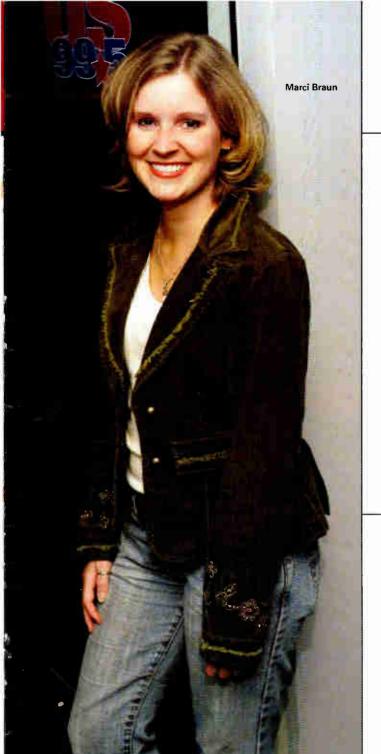

about infidelity, this single (and Randall's entire Epic album, "Walking Among the Living," for that matter) was largely ignored by radio, as most of his music has been.

"I've just given into the fact that, after all these years, I'm not finding a lot of support" at radio, Randall told Billboard last month. "I want to be viable at radio . . . but that's out of my hands."

"Walking Among the Living" features background vocals from Patty Loveless, another artist who released a brilliant Epic album this year that radio overlooked

WADE JESSEN and PHYLLIS STARK

MARCI BRAUN, INFINITY WUSN (US99.5) CHICAGO

ALTHOUGH MARCI BRAUN SEEMS momentarily stumped when asked why she thinks she has been picked as Billboard Radio Monitor's best MD, her PD, Mike Peterson, does not hesitate to reply.

"Her worthiness comes from her ability to charm everybody," he says. "She's got an incredible passion for the music. Plus, I think Marci's best-known for her people skills. People find her extremely comfortable to be around."

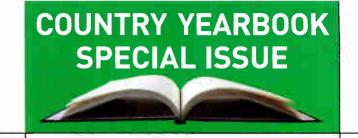

Braun agrees that her passion for the country format is what fuels her.

"One of the keys to success is having fun and enjoying it, which is easy," she says. "It's such a great business to work in."

After cutting her teeth at Midwest country WNCY Green Bay, Wis., as APD/MD, Braun returned to her hometown of Chicago last year and began working at WUSN, a move she is still grateful for.

"I got to come back home and work for the station I grew up listening to," she says. "How cool is that?"

-IVORY M. JONES

BEST PD IN NEED OF A GIG LEE LOGAN

VETERAN COUNTRY PROGRAMMER Lee Logan is testament to the fact that the world of radio is often a crazy one.

Although he has years of experience under his belt—including programming stints at KSAN San Francisco and WSM-FM Nashville—he has been pounding the pavement in search of his next gig since leaving his temporary post as PD at Clear Channel's country startup KBKO (the Big 96.5) Bakersfield, Calif., in August.

He says his reason for leaving was simple—his time was up.

"The whole situation had a time limitation to it, so there were no specific reasons other than the fact that the project was over," he says.

Since then, he has been working on several consulting projects with Shane Media, but he is eager to dive back into radio full time.

"I'm just looking for a job that allows me to operate in a great leadership role and mentor people inside a radio station to make a team of radio people a cohesive whole," he says. "Other than that, I'm really not that fussy."

—IVORY M. JONES

MOST DESERVING OF A NEW RECORD DEAL DARRYL WORLEY

SINCE LEAVING DREAMWORKS RECORDS

when it shut down during the summer, the talented Darryl Worley has been reduced to singing the jingle in those ubiquitous "I Found Love at a Kmart Store" ads.

Please. Worley deserves better.

The tall, dark and handsome artist is a stone-cold country singer who needs a shot at another label that will make him and his music a priority.

A recent publisher pitch sheet indicated that Worley, who has two No. 1 albums and three No. 1 hits to his credit, is looking for a batch of "good ole heartfelt, pissed off at Nashville songs" for his next project.

We hope he is not too "pissed off" to make a comeback.

And whoever signs him needs to rerelease the single that was just gaining steam when DreamWorks folded. It featured the memorable line "I love her, she hates me, and I drink."

—PHYLLIS STARK

COOLEST HD SIDE CHANNEL WKIS MIAMI'S GRETCHEN 99.9

WHILE MOST RADIO GROUPS are considering using high-definition side channels to fill in market format blanks—an admirable enough idea—the staff at Beasley WKIS (Kiss Country) Miami decided that the best strategy was to stoke its own fire. The result: Gretchen 99.9.

The commercial-free station, already cooking online at wkis.com, is inspired by, named after and voiced by its "Redneck Woman" namesake, Gretchen Wilson. Core acts at the format include Hank Williams Jr., the Charlie Daniels Band, the Allman Brothers, Montgomery Gentry, Lynyrd Skynyrd, Travis Tritt, Toby Keith and, of course, Wilson.

"So much great music has been left on the sidelines because it didn't fit this soccer-mom direction that country has taken over the past several years," says WKIS PD Bob Barnett, who dreamed up the format. "Here's a hot superstar act who has changed the face and environment of country music. Her whole personality is politically incorrect—it's OK to drink and have fun again and be a redneck and rock with your country."

Barnett reasoned that he was not likely to attract a lot of listeners to, say, a classical or '50s HD side channel by promoting it to Kiss' "Mr. and Mrs. Country Listener. This format offers synergy for our audience."

WKIS began aggressive on-air promotion of Gretchen 99.9 when it launched in August, and since then, Barnett has watched Web hits increase exponentially, which obviously benefits both outlets. "We've sent e-mail blasts to listeners, and the response is amazing. We've got long-term sampling and very generous 'TSL."

He adds that in order for HD to succeed, listeners need an incentive to buy new receivers. He is doing his part to push the new technology while increasing his audience.

"Finding something to captivate consumers and to convince them to buy an HD receiver is the most critical part of the product," Barnett says. "Yes, it enhances the listening experience, but you need content as incentive."

At the very least, Kiss has found a lifelong ally in Wilson, who is played about every 30 minutes on Gretchen 99.9. "She was very flattered," Barnett says. "She says she spends a lot of time listening and gives it a thumbs up."

—CHUCK TAYLOR

BEST COUNTRY MARKET WITHOUT A COUNTRY STATION NEW YORK

DESPITE THE FACT THAT there has not been a full-time country station in New York since 2002, there are still a significant number of country albums sold in the metropolitan area, according to Nielsen SoundScan.

Through Oct. 23, roughly 1.3 million country albums have been sold in Gotham, making it the No. 2 market for country sales, behind Los Angeles. That number is down from 2004, when approximately 1.46 million records were sold during the same period, though it still ranked second to Los Angeles.

In 2001, the last full year there was a country station in the metro, New York was the No. 1 SoundScan-designated market area, even though Big City Radio's WYNY (Y107) quadcast did not provide full-market coverage.

While no major broadcaster has stepped in to fill the void since WYNY went away, there is some good news on the horizon, although it is dependent on high-definition radio achieving critical mass. Infinity Radio CEO Joel Hollander recently told attendees at Advertising Week 2005 that when it comes to New York, "One of the first formats we'd put on an HD signal is country. That's a no-brainer."

—KEN TUCKER

WPOC BALTIMORE'S ANNIE SANDOR

ANNIE SANDOR IS COMMITTED TO her job as promotions manager at Clear Channel country WPOC Baltimore. She will turn 30 in December and has just bought her first house in the city so she can have an 11-minute commute door-to-door

Her philosophy on her job is to "always be the hippest kid in the room. I might not always have the best idea," she says, "but I need to implement it the best."

Sandor arrived at WPOC last year after having worked at Clear Channel country WWYZ Hartford, Conn., since 2000.

She says her promotion ideas come from virtually everywhere. "Maybe my dry cleaner will say something to me that sets something off, or I'll read girl magazines like Cosmopolitan and US Weekly and People or technology magazines. It really comes from everyday life."

Her creativity tends to percolate when she is doing something else. "The best promos that I've written come to me in the shower," she says, "and I'll have to write it down while I'm in the shower."

For Sandor, the way to create a successful station is to "fit into the listener's lifestyle—everything from movies to tech gadgets to cars, tires, everything. You need to relate to your listener."

Part of that relating means remembering that, even as station staffers, "we are listeners, too. You just have to keep thinking of it that way."

—TONY SANDERS

BEST COUNTRY ADAPTATION OF JACK WLHK (HANK-FM) INDIANAPOLIS

HANK IS THE ON-AIR PERSONA of WLHK (Hank-FM) Indianapolis, still believed to be the only station programming a country version of the eelectic Jack/Bob format. The call letters stand for "We like Hank."

With the help of OM David Edgar and the airstaff, Hank has taken on a personality all its own. In fact, the station has created a character to go with the name. Part Hank Williams Jr. and part Hank Hill from "King of the Hill," the character is "your buddy that might be having a party on the weekend and has a whole bunch of CDs hanging around the house," Edgar told Billboard Radio Monitor in May.

The station flipped March 24 from adult top 40 WENS to the Hank format. Listener share has jumped quickly since then.

Until the arrival of Hank, market leader WFMS was the only country game in town. In the winter Arbitrons, WFMS dominated with an 11.4 share 12-plus. But Hank debuted in the spring ratings with a 5.1 share 12-plus and earned a 5.3 in the summer. WFMS has lost 1.3 share points in the same period, moving from a winter 11.4 to a spring 10.3 to a summer 10.1.

Hank plays about 15 currents and has a large recurrents category. Edgar said in May that 30%-40% of the music is from the last five years, 20% falls prior to 1989 and "the rest is right there in the middle."

—TONY SANDERS

MOST MISSED LABEL DREAMWORKS RECORDS NASHVILLE

ONCE A PROUD AND SUCCESSFUL INDIE label, DreamWorks Records Nashville was shuttered in August, 15 months after it became part of Universal Music Group Nashville and on the heels of losing its only superstar, DreamWorks' Nashville division opened in 1998 under the direction of producer James Stroud, now co-chairman of UMGN with Luke Lewis.

Toby Keith

Once it got cooking, DreamWorks became a much-admired and envied company on Music Row. At its peak as a stand-alone label, DreamWorks had nearly 25 employees and its promotion department won Billboard Radio Monitor's promotion team of the year award in 2002.

In addition to making a superstar out of Keith, DreamWorks launched the careers of Darryl Worley, Jessica Andrews and Jimmy Wayne, all of whom lost their deals in the shutdown and have yet to sign with another label.

When the label merged with UMGN, Keith told Billboard Radio Monitor in August, "We went from being an independent to one of the biggest and best labels in town, and in the merger we lost all identity. We were the little dog that barked loud [and] grew up to be a big dog, and when we merged we were powerless."

Keith split to start his own label, Show Dog Nashville, over the summer.

—PHYLLIS STARK

MOST RADICAL FORMAT HOP SKIP BISHOP

WHEN LABEL VET SKIP BISHOP moved to Nashville earlier this year, he had the Lord on his side, or at least as part of his career. But after less than two months as VP of mainstream promotion and marketing at Christian music company Provident Label Group, Bishop segued from Jesus to Alan Jackson, as VP of national promotion at Arista Nashville.

This is just the latest page of his career that, before Provident, saw him as CEO of independent radio promotion firm Bishop Bait & Tackle Promotion and Marketing, which he founded in 1997. Prior to that, Bishop worked in top 40 promotion at MCA and RCA.

ARBITRON OVERACHIEVER KBEQ KANSAS CITY

INFINITY KBEQ (Q104) KANSAS CITY had an amazing summer book, moving 3.0-6.1 12-plus, good for a jump from No. 12 to No. 1 in the market. That marks the first 12-plus No. 1 in KBEQ's 12 years as a country station.

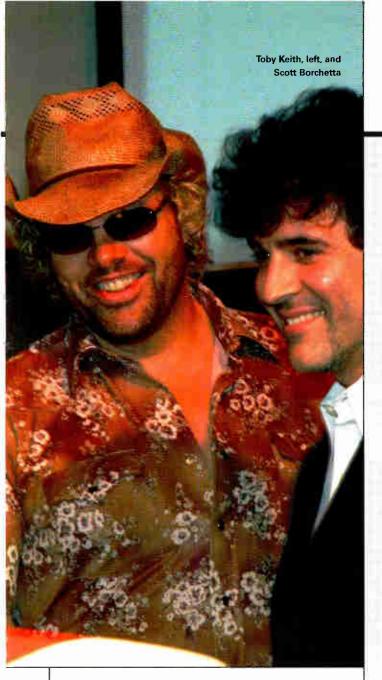

The news was just as good 25-54, where the station went 4.2-6.9. In addition, PD Mike Kennedy says, the station was strong with women in the 18-49 and 25-54 cells.

While Kennedy says he is "thrilled" with the outcome, he is a programming veteran who knows enough not to bank too heavily on one book. "I think the spring book was uncharacteristically soft for us, which makes the summer number look larger," he says.

Still, Kennedy gives credit where it is due. "There is a certain amount of excitement surrounding the music right now, and I think our on-air personalities make it fun to listen to our station," he says. Kennedy is part of KBEQ's morning team.

What makes the station's feat that much more impressive is that it has two format competitors: Infinity sister KFKF and Entercom's WDAF. "Across the board, this is the strongest showing for our station ever," Kennedy says, then jokes: "Now, let the jinx begin."

MOST PROMISING NEW LABELS BIG MACHINE RECORDS/ SHOW DOG NASHVILLE

JUST A FEW WEEKS after their splashy Sept. 1 debut, sister labels Big Machine and Show Dog already had a strong presence on the country airplay chart with ascending singles from Toby Keith ("Big Blue Note," now in the top 10). Danielle Peck ("I Don't") and Jack Ingram ("Wherever You Are").

With industry veteran Scott Borchetta and Keith himself at the helm, and an A-list promotion team assembled, we expected nothing less.

MOST DIVERSE PROGRAMMING GIG SCOTT LINDY

How does Sirius Satellite Radio director of country programming Scott Lindy find room in his brain to oversee programming for the sateaster's four country formats, plus bluegrass, contemporary Christian, Christian rock and all-Elvis channels? In a word: focus.

Somehow, Lindy has yet to accidentally place Paith Hill on the bluegrass channel or Gretchen Wilson on Elvis Radio.

The third-generation radio man—who Billboard Radio Monitor deems the most diverse country programmer in the nation—came to the job after working in oldies, top 40, album rock, classic rock, AC and country radio.

"Having a diverse radio background is key in this position,"

MOST LIKELY TO ROCKET KZKX LINCOLN, NEB., OM BRIAN JENNINGS

WHILE HE LOVES HIS JOB and his market, KZKX Lincoln, Neb., OM Brian Jennings is simply too good not to be programming in a major market someday. That is why Billboard Radio Monitor has chosen him as the country programmer to watch.

Jennings grew up in Wichita, Kan., and began his radio career in his hometown, moving north to work in Salina, Kan., before heading further north to Lincoln. He joined Clear Channel's KZKX in 1998 and was upped to PD in 2000.

Next year, the station will celebrate its 30th anniversary. And Jennings is also celebrating three decades for himself: He turned 30 in October.

KZKX has plenty of heritage to celebrate, Jennings says, but that does not mean it is not hip enough to bring more 18- to 34-year-olds into the country tent.

"This station has never been toppled in country ratings," he says. "I definitely want to keep [it] No. 1, but my vision is to start bringing that 18-34 [demo] into country music again."

Jennings will probably stay in Lincoln for a while, at least until Clear Channel figures out a way to entice him into the bigger leagues. He met his wife in Lincoln, and her family is from there. The couple has two young boys.

"This October marks seven years that I've been here," he says. "That's the longest I've been in any place and, as you know, in radio, seven years is a long time."

—TONY SANDERS

Lindy says. "The way we program at Sirius, knowledge of the music is as important as your programming creativity. Being able to work with many formats is something that drew me here.

"The big daily question is, Which great idea to work on today?" he continues. "Trying to spread my time throughout all of the channels I direct is the challenge."

Again, it comes down to taking things one at a time and giving them full concentration, Lindy says. "Big issues and opportunities can be considered collectively, but to really tune up one channel, you've got to focus on just that kind of music and target audience. Narrowly focusing your approach is extremely fulfilling for a PD like myself."

But does Lindy actually listen to all of the channels he executes? "I probably listen to New Country more than anything, but I am also a fairly recent bluegrass convert, listening to a lot of Uncle Earl and Cherryholmes," he says. Elvis Radio is Lindy's favorite for in-car listening. But he says, "The truth is, I have 30 presets on my Sirius radio, and a week will not go by where I don't listen to all 30 and surf for more." —CHUCK TAYLOR

COUNTRY FANS ARE WIRED

CHART COMMENTARY BY JOE FLEISCHER

WHAT BETTER CHART TO FEATURE for a countrythemed issue than one showing downloads and spins in the Nashville market? Country music has been a big favorite of U.S. downloaders for years, flying in the face of the common misconception that country folk do not download. But when you realize that country music strongholds like Nashville, Dallas, Houston, Atlanta and Birmingham, Ala., are some of the United States' most advanced technology centers, it is clear that iPods and CD-Rs all over the country are chock-full of Gretchen Wilson, Big & Rich, George Strait, Kenny Chesney, Toby Keith and many others. This week in Nashville, Craig Morgan, Josh Gracin and Billy Currington top the chart, while Faith Hill, Rascal Flatts and Montgomery Gentry look like strong contenders to hit the summit any minute.

EXCLUSIVE ROUND TABLE

AP Associated Press

AP Associ

TO MONETIZE RADIO'S INVESTMENT in the Internet, programmers and managers must first pull back from the logic that has guided them for years. Their basic broadcasting DNA has to be completely rewritten.

Simply put, they need to be deprogrammed.

While radio can successfully extend its brands online, the two are entirely different mediums. Merely replicating radio for the Internet negates all the characteristics that make the Web so powerful: interactivity, customization, on-demand capability and the like.

Such was the consensus among the four Web gurus who gathered Oct. 20 at Billhoard Radio Monitor headquarters in New York for the third in a continuing series of exclusive round-table discussions. While the exces who oversee the online efforts for Clear Channel, Infinity, Eramis and National Public Radio agree there is money to be made in cyberspace, there are stark contrasts in their Internet strategies.

"Get out of the broadcast concept and get into the brand concept," Emmis Interactive VP Rey Mena said. "Look at it more broadly and examine what the [online] brand experience is like. It's a learning process to get out of the broadcast mind-set and more into a brand concept, which to some extent is foreign to radio."

"The products are very different when you add text, video" and other elements, said Gerrit Meier, senior VP/GM of Clear Channel Online Music & Radio. "You need to sell and position it differently. It's a brand-new challenge."

Matt Timothy, VP of streaming media for Infinity Broadcasting, said the Web fundamentally changes the business model from one predicated on the PD as gatekeeper to one where control is spread to the listener. "To win, we have to give as much control to the user as possible, all while hitting $50^{\circ}_{10}-60^{\circ}_{10}$ margins."

How different is the Web business model from radio? So different that "success is a punishing experience on the Internet," NPR executive VP Ken Stern said. "The more people listen, the more bandwidth costs you have."

Traditional media is a one-to-many relationship. New media is a one-to-one relationship, multiplied many times. "But when programmers think of the Internet, they tend to think of that one-to-many relationship," Mena said. To change their thinking, Emmis recruited "people who get the space" in the hope of spreading that understanding. "Some markets get it—they have that 'Aha' moment where all of a sudden everything's clicking," Mena said. "But others haven't."

A similar dynamic is taking place at Infinity, Timothy said. "There are pockets of light across the country."

No longer does NPR, perhaps the most aggressive radio entity on the Web, think of its sites as an extension of the on-air experience. "It is an entirely different experience," Stern said. "We need to retrain ourselves." The regimen includes taking stock of online consumers' needs and wants and how they think about content. "It's not by a clock," Stern said. "It's by topic or by show or what they need at that time of day." NPR sorts its robust podcast offerings by topic, by editorial choice and by number of requests received. Served in bite-size portions, they run in six- to 13-minute bursts rather than radio's standard longer forms.

"It's an entire community experience," Stern said about NPR's Web effort, which involves local affiliates' sites and national offerings. "It's not just audio, it's print, it's photography, and it's video to a certain extent. Our users are educating us to not think about this as 'radio online.' It's hard to teach old dogs new tricks, but I think we're finally getting there."

Round-table participants agreed that radio is playing catch-up on the Internet. Case in point: station Web sites. Visitors to Clear Channel sites were not getting the quality online experience they had grown accustomed to from other sites, the company concluded. So its online unit systematically overhauled station sites—using best practices from top Internet destinations.

"Our sites were terrible," Meier said. "There was clutter, unreadable navigation bars, banner ads that were stretching for miles." To woo at-work listeners, the company also increased the number of stations streaming on the Net from less than 100 at the beginning of the year to 400-plus now. Meier said, "Audiences told us, 'We don't have radios at work anymore. We have computers.'"

IREA S OR NOT TO STREAM? BY PAUL HEINE

he only company represented at the Billboard Radio Monitor round table not streaming any of its stations was Emmis. While it does not see the inability to listen online as a deterrent or harmful to its brands, Emmis Interactive VP Rey Mena said it is an issue the company wrestles with.

"Our PDs want it, but we look at the economics, and it's tough to do," he said. "There's no way to contain the costs. The more listeners you have, the more you pay."

The issue is exacerbated when Emmis stations like R&B/hiphop WQHT (Hot 97) New York and rhythmic top 40 KPWR (Power 106) Los Angeles become global brands. The company does not see value in incurring significant costs so listeners outside their local markets can listen online. "How do you contain or manage that? How do you turn it into a business?" Mena asked. He said Emmis is taking a wait-and-see attitude.

After years of refusing to stream. Infinity, which owns many of the pre-eminent news brands in the country, advanced its Internet radio strategy in the spring by beginning to stream 11 of its news and news/talk stations.

Infinity Broadcasting VP of streaming media Matt Timothy compared streaming to the launch of cable TV. "When CNN started, here were the fat and happy Big Three [networks]. Look at them now. It's the same thing now with online radio. Being a part of that at the beginning is a good thing for us."

AN EASY CALL FOR NEWS

"It's tougher on the music side," Mena said. "On the news side, it's a layup. You're serving what's almost a gated community. On the music side it's a commodity. You've got 1,000 jukeboxes, and it becomes, 'How much can your brand break through that clutter?" "

Rev Mena

As an industry, a wait-and-see approach "is very dangerous," Timothy said. "However, we need to get some sobriety on these costs."

NPR executive VP Ken Stern equated the public broadcaster's online streams to "an office service," with listening spikes generated by headline-grabbing world events, such as Hurricane Katrina, the war in Iraq and elections.

The Internet strategy for Infinity's all-news stations involves deeper coverage that does not fit the stringent on-air news wheel, such as live press conferences. "There's a lot of stuff happening that doesn't fit into a one-minute story," Timothy said. Intrigued by a story they heard on the radio during their morning commute, listeners can find expanded coverage on their computer after they arrive at work. Infinity N/T outlets promote this incessantly on the air.

Another tent pole for news stations is traffic. Timothy said Infinity stations have "extended the traffic habit backwards," luring listeners to their Web sites to check traffic conditions before they leave work for the commute home.

Characterizing online listening growth as "phenomenal," Gerrit Meier, senior VP/GM for Clear Channel Online Music & Radio, said AC WLTW (Lite FM) New York promotes its streams in a new TV spot. The commercial portrays workers in cubicles listening to the station online.

Timothy reported "very good success" selling online-only spots. "We're selling all the avails, some packaged with on-air, some not."

Some advertisers choose streaming spots over on-air, Meier said. "They start there, and then maybe you get them to go on-air. You can sell everything and do it cheap, you can incentivize or use the inventory for yourself." Clear Channel stations like top 40 WHTZ (Z100) New York carry fewer spots online than on-air.

Some of NPR's best-known affiliates, like trend-setting triple-As KCRW Los Angeles and WXPN Philadelphia, market outside their signal contours and have larger audiences online than over the air.

Clear Channel is experiencing the same thing in some of its smaller markets, where stations have vigorously promoted

Meier believes online ad rates will ultimately achieve parity with their on-air counterparts. But first, broadcasters need to betterdemonstrate their marketing effectiveness. Online ads give advertisers more targeting options; for example, it "allows you to give 45plus men in the Northeast to a car maker for one model and women under 35 in California for a different model," Meier said.

WHAT BUSINESS IS THIS?

The introspection Emmis went through to find its place on the Internet led to a critical question: What business are we in? "Our conclusion is we're in the relationship business," Mena said.

Three goals drive the company's online strategy: understanding what drives the relationship, utilizing the Web to strengthen that relationship and redefining the value proposition Emmis offers advertisers.

"Leveraging that relationship is the special sauce," Mena said. Timothy recognized the brand advantage radio has over other mediums. "We have a collection of powerful local brands," he said. "You don't see that with TV. Find me a guy who's loyal to channel two, and I'll show you someone who is unbalanced. Yet [sports WFAN] the Fan [New York] and Z100 have that lovalty. Infinity's strategy is to extend that loyalty online. Our audience is growing a digital habit, and we have to be there in lock step with them."

MINING THE DATABASE

THE WEB'S "KILLER APP" is the marketing and sales potential of a large database of loyal listeners. Stations can sell the value of this direct, one-on-one access to consumers. Databases can be sliced and diced to meet client needs.

Right now, we sell in a commoditized, 60-second ad world," Timothy said. "Now we have the ability to offer" advertisers incredible ways to tell their stories: 'Hey, Chevy dealer, here's a whole bunch of Honda drivers-what do you want to tell them?"

"We're talking about selling communities, whether they be Green Day fans or Honda owners," Timothy added. "That's where the success is going to be. But we have to deliver on the value of being a member of this club."

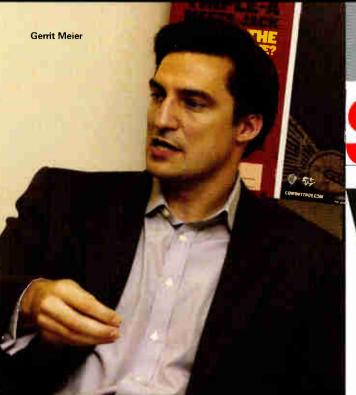

One way Clear Channel's WHTZ (Z100) New York delivers value to members of its Z-VIP loyal listener club is with its annual Jingle Ball concert. This year's event, to be held Dec. 16 at Madison Square Garden, features Kanye West, Shakira, Backstreet Boys, Sean Paul, Frankie J, Ludacris, Fall Out Boy and the Click Five, with more to be announced.

Tickets are sold exclusively to Z-VIP members via Ticketmaster. Registration for membership is free at z100.com. Last year, tickets sold out in 15 minutes.

"Z-VIP is a big driver for on-air events," exclusive previews and such station festivals as Jingle Ball and

"VIP clubs [represent] listeners saying, 'I want to have a conversation [with the radio station],' " Mena said. "You're separating that audience and deeming them more valuable. When we started, it was all about growing the database. Initially, we didn't know what to do with it. Now we mine the data, and it tells a story that has value for programming, marketing and sales."

Database mining helps stations understand their audiences better and permits them to "learn from how they engage you," Mena said. "It's more than a database, it's your listeners." -PAUL HEINE hat business models are helping radio cash in on the Web? Based on strategies heard Oct. 20 at an exclusive Billboard Radio Monitor round-table discussion in New York, they are as different as Sens. Ted Kennedy and Orrin Hatch's views on the president's latest Supreme Court nominee.

Expecting a sponsorship windfall once its online audience reaches critical mass, NPR believes in building the product first—before the business model. "We're devotees of the Google view of the world. If you fulfill a service that people need and bring people together, you'll figure out the business models in the long term," NPR executive VP Ken Stern said.

Clear Channel Online Music & Radio senior VP/GM Gerrit Meier agreed.

"I don't believe you can establish the business model first and then try to build" the product, Meier said. "Build it and they will come—and so will the money. You're either committed to the space or you're not."

Saying he is "jealous of the NPR world" and its ability "to launch and learn," Infinity Broadcasting VP of streaming media Matt Timothy said the company has to "launch and make."

Emmis has a slightly different view and believes in establishing a sound business plan first. That is why it does not stream. Putting the revenue model ahead of the product leads to success—and success breeds success, Emmis Interactive VP Rey Mena said. "Once money starts coming in, you'd be surprised how quickly people pay attention," he said.

With radio revenue growing by an anemic $1^{\circ}6-2^{\circ}6$ in 2005 and online advertising growing by $9^{\circ}6-13^{\circ}6$, it is little wonder broadcasters are flocking to the Web.

"Some of these radio markets feel threatened by their slow growth," Meier said, cautioning against viewing the Web as a place to make a quick buck. "Build a business. Get advertisers to trust what you can do online and show them the effectiveness of that. If you think online can make up for your economic losses this year or next, you're burning yourself for the future."

Mena said that monetizing the Web comes down to education. "This is a three-year ongoing process, not a seminar," he said. "You go from selling tile and banner ads to selling contextual advertising and more sophisticated programs. The education is critical at all levels, including the advertisers. Some of our competitors are giving away the Internet."

Clear Channel's biggest online successes have been in small markets, where ideas can be turned around quicker, according to Meier. The company has made a considerable investment, employing 50 people in its Online Music & Radio unit, encompassing business development, online support, content, marketing, creative design and news. By absorbing much of the local stations' financial responsibility for the Internet, the company hopes to take the fear and time pressure away from stations. "We say to them: 'Demonstrate growth,' and we factor that into their evaluations," Meier said. "Later they'll have to do Internet budgets, and they will be held to that."

Under former America Online exec Evan Harrison, Clear Channel's Web strategy is to enhance local station brands with exclusive and original on-demand online content. Among the initiatives this year are a Web concert series, streaming music from new and developing artists, streaming high-profile fulllength CDs before their street dates and providing podcasts of morning-show bits.

"You give them content that they otherwise wouldn't have," Meier explained. "It's almost secondary that it's online. Programmers are embracing it. Then the really good salespeople take that to advertisers."

Timothy compares selling the Web to bending metal. "We've been wrapped in this business model, this one way of doing things," he said. "For ad sales it's a whole different glossary: a banner, a skyscraper, cost per acquisition."

Shunning "that battle over banner ads, tile ads and skyscraper ads," Mena said Emmis focuses on selling ideas rather than competing with high-traffic destinations like Yahoo.

"We create and execute programs for advertisers that are completely different than what you typically see from other radio groups," he said. "It's not about just hitting a CPM [cost-perthousand] goal in a negotiation. It's about focusing on results which puts us in a completely different light. We don't need to be in the tonnage business to be successful."

Blending on-air and online campaigns makes advertising more effective, while adding dimensionality to the business, Mena said. It also helps advertisers more precisely target audiences. Combining the two in one campaign frequently nets better results, he said. "In some cases, the push on-air has been almost minimal," Mena said. That helps reduce clutter, especially when, in some cases, it takes four weeks of 20 spots to make a promotion effective. "Once advertisers see the results, it starts clicking."

KEYS OPENS UP WITH ANOTHER NO. 1; TWISTA, BROWN BAG CHART-TOPPERS

BY ANTHONY COLOMBO, RAPHAEL GEORGE, WADE JESSEN AND PATRICK McGOWAN

Alicia Keys earns her record-tying sixth No. 1 at Adult R&B as "Unbreakable" (RMG), the first track from her "Unplugged" set,

Elsewhere, Twista earns his third No. 1 in two years at R&B/Hip-Hop with "Girl Tonite" (Atlantic). He ties 50 Cent for the most No. 1s by a rapper since the start of 2004, a total exceeded only by Usher, who has tallied five chart-toppers in that time frame.

Also joining the ranks of No. 1 artists is Chris Brown, who moves to the top of the Rhythmic Top 40 chart with "Run It!" (Zomba) after sitting for two weeks in the runner-up position. The track also moves 6-4 at Mainstream Top 40 and earns the chart's Greatest Gainer tag for the second straight week.

CLARKSON BOUNCES BACK TO NO. 1 AT MAINSTREAM

Kelly Clarkson's "Because of You" (RMG) returns to No. 1 on the Mainstream Top 40 chart after conceding the lead position to Kanye West's "Gold Digger" (IDJMG) the past two weeks. "Because" is the first song to return to No. 1 two weeks after falling from the top slot since January 2001 when Destiny's Child's seven-week run at No. 1 with "Independent Women Part 1" was interrupted by Shaggy's "It Wasn't Me."

At Adult Top 40, "Because" climbs 12-5 and is the chart's Greatest Gainer with a 446-spin improvement. The track is Clarkson's fourth consecutive top five at the format, making her only the third female artist to hit that level in the chart's history, following Sheryl Crow (in 1997) and Alanis Morissette (in 1998).

A little lower on the Adult Top 40 chart, INXS returns after an extended hiatus as the top debut with "Pretty Vegas" at No. 31. The band took to the TV airwaves on "INXS: Rock Star" to find a new lead singer this past summer. With winner J.D. Fortune now at the forefront, the band returns to the chart for the first time since 1997's "Elegantly Wasted."

'ROAD' LEADS TO THREE CHESNEY DEBUTS

As "Who You'd Be Today" (BNA), the lead single from Kenny Chesney's "The Road and the Radio," moves 3-2 on the Country chart, the track is joined on the chart's lower end by three additional songs from the album. "Living in Fast Forward" takes the chart's highest debut at No. 54. The title track enters at No. 58 and "Beer in Mexico" starts at No. 60.

CAMP, THIRD DAY STAKE CHRISTIAN NO. 1 CLAIM

For the first time in the history of the Billboard Radio Monitor Christian charts, both singles lists sport new No. 1 songs in the same week. On Christian Adult Contemporary, Jeremy Camp collects his third No. 1 with "This Man" (BEC). The song moves 4-1 and takes the chart's biggest gain—up 666,000 impressions. On the multiformat Christian Songs list, "This Man" bullets at No. 4 and takes that chart's biggest increase as well. That list is led by Third Day's "Cry Out to Jesus" (Essential), which posts 4.4 million impressions and hops 3-1. The track bullets at No. 3 on Christian Adult Contemporary.

No. 1 Fare For Death Cab At Triple-A

Death Cab for Cutie scores a Triple-A No. 1 in its first appearance on the chart as "Soul Meets Body" (Atlantic) climbs 3-1. The band becomes the first act to reach the Triple-A pole position with its debut chart effort since Michael Andrews did so (with help from Gary Jules) on "Mad World" in the April 9, 2004, issue.

On the Heritage Rock chart, the Rolling Stones' "Oh No, Not Again" (Virgin) grabs the Greatest Gainer title for a fourth straight week as it jumps 12-7. The only other song to accomplish that in 2005 is this week's No. 1, Nickelback's "Photograph" (Roadrunner/IDIMG).

Hasidic reggae artist Matisyahu makes his first chart appearance as "King Without a Crown" (Epic) enters Modern Rock at No. 39. The track first started garnering airplay in April and was recently upstreamed from Sony Music's independent label Red Ink.

HitPREDICTOR column

THE LADIES have it this week in two formats. The rhythmic top 40 and R&B/hip-hop HitPredictor charts are dominated by solo female artists, while male artists find themselves alone in the winner's circle at adult top 40 and modern rock, the only other formats with debuts on this week's charts.

Beyoncé has found her group Destiny's Child on the HitPredictor charts a number of times recently, but "Check on It" is her first solo HP pick in more than a year. The song scores a very high 91.6 at rhythmic top 40.

Keyshia Cole's "I Should Have Cheated" also debuts at rhythmic top 40. The song scores an equally impressive 89.9. It has already appeared on the HitPredictor R&B/hip-hop chart and is currently a top five record at that format on the Billhourd Radio Monitor charts.

Girls Got Rhythm

Beyoncé, Keyshia Cole, Faith Evans Claim Week's Debuts At R&B, Top 40

Faith Evans debuts on the HitPredictor R&B/hip-hop chart with her latest, "Tru Love." The song is her second HP pick this year after earlier single "Again" first scored here and eventually went top 10 at the format. Common breaks the girls only rule by debuting at R&B/hip-hop with "Testify."

Rob Thomas earns an HP star for his new single, "Ever the Same." The track debuts at adult top 40 with a score of 84.5. On the modern rock tally, Fall Out Boy earns its second HitPredictor pick for "Dance, Dance."

Promo scheduling

The best use the best.

"I'm very comfortable manipulating Selector and LINKER to get the rotations and flow I want for my songs and produced elements. The log shows up in my automation system just the way I planned it with no surprises. I get a clear look at song and promo history and turnover computations, while running analysis on airplay, artist and promo distribution and daypart spread. With Selector and LINKER it's easy to put my strategy on air."
