Seagram Said To Plan Four Music Groups Following PolyGram Acquisition

As Seagram Co.'s acquisition of PolyGram NV goes ahead as scheduled, Seagram has planned to cut $300 million in costs from the combined PolyGram and Universal music groups. As reported first in the Los Angeles Times, Seagram plans to consolidate the combined U.S. music operations into four groups. Labels including Motown, Geffen, A&M and Mercury will be dramatically downsized. The changes are expected to roll out gradually starting in January, after the $10.4 billion deal closes in December. Sources told the Los Angeles Times that roughly 20% of Universal and PolyGram's 15,500 workers could be laid off during the restructuring. The four U.S. units are expected to consist of Interscope Music Group (including Interscope Records, Geffen Records and A&M Records), MCA Records Group (including MCA Nashville), Universal Records Group (including Motown and Def Jam Recordings) and the Island-Mercury Group (including Mercury Nashville). The Interscope group is expected to be headed by Ted Field, Jimmy Iovine and Tom Whalley; the MCA Group is expected to continue

SLACKERS

The Question (Hellcat-Epitaph)

The Slackers harken back to the ska heyday of Desmond Dekker and the Rock Steady 7 on The Question, the New York City octet's third and best album to date. The years of influence punk has exacted on reggae's great uncle does not affect the smooth, classic skank on this collection. The group works its soulful grooves into a traditional, mid-tempo bounce, anchored by the toasted crooning of frontman Marq Lyn. Elements of vintage Harlem swing, New Orleans funk and Stax Volt-flavored R&B weave in and out of the crisp brass sections and Wurlitzer-based melodies of songs like "And I Wonder?" and "Feed My Girl." "Mountainside" finds the band experimenting with sitar drones and calypso vibes in an effort to stretch the boundaries of their already expansive sound, while the jaunty "Power" displays a bit of their rock roots, recalling classic Elvis Costello. The only question left to ask about The Question is why all new ska records don't sound so respectful and together. - Ron Hart

BARE JR.

Boo-Tay (Immortal-Epic)

Nashville's Bobby Bare, Jr. son of the country music great of the same name - is living proof that a bright white hope for the future of country rock can come from one of the most hit factoryoriented music cities in the country. Granted, Bare Sr. was a bit of an anomaly kimself, trading a brief career as a pop crooner for his first love, country music, and innovating in the latter genre by adding horns to his recordings and using poet Shel Silverstein as a lyricist on an entire album. In the case of the Bares, the apple doesn't fall far from the tree, and Bobby Jr. proves to be a genrestretcher himself on his band's debut, Boo-Tay. While his neck is redder than the likes of Wilco and Son Volt, Bare Jr. borrows from the same gritty underground rock scene that sparked insurgent country. Mind you, Bare Ir. isn't exactly a bunch of bare-footed Confederate flagwavers, either, but it knows how to kick up some dust while reveling in its country twang. An essential listen for foot-stompin' altcountry fans. - Cheryl Botchick

KRUDER & DORFMEISTER

The K&D Sessions (Stud!o K7)

ii Before the electronic boom, a studio "remixer" was merely a hired flunky whose raison d'être was to make other people's music more accessible for radio or nightclub play. Now, artists such as Germany's Peter Kruder and Richard Dorfmeister are hyped as pop stars, heralded for their prowess as remixers, DIs and producers. K&D are aural chemists whose skill lies in breaking down tracks to their basic elements and then re-synthesizing them. Remix albums come and go, but The K&D Sessions is a double-CD offering that features the remixers as the main talent. Assembling the best of Kruder and Dorfmeister's remix work (as well as two original cuts) from the past five years, the album's track listing (including artists such as Roni Size, Depeche Mode and Bone Thugs-N-Harmony) confirms its eclecticism. But the team effectively rewrites each track using classic funk, lounge, hiphop, drum 'n' bass and acid jazz elements, resulting in a soulful, cohesive downtempo collection that far exceeds initial expectations to stand as an alluring body of work in its own right. - M. ### 4 HERO

Two Pages (Talkin' Loud-Mercury)

11 The U.K.'s Mark Clair and Dego McFarlane (a.k.a. 4 Hero) have been pushing the limits of drum 'n' bass's often rigid rhythmic form since the early '90s. Now with the epic. 19-track Two Pages (the duo's first stateside full-length), 4 Hero has made an album approaching the breadth and conceptual unity of Goldie's Timeless or Roni Size's New Forms, wrapping the genre's jittery snare movements in the lush textures and mellow vibes of '70s jazz fusion. The album's first half sticks close to cool jazz and soul styles, moving its lithe breakbeats and sparse bass lines to the background, making room for a gooey assortment of fusion touchstones — fretless double bass soloing, rich string and horn charts, groovy electric piano mixed with buttery smooth female vocals. As the album progresses into its latter half, 4 Hero's darker, more subversive persona comes to the fore, cloaking the underlying jazz and R&B sensibilities in heavier, techno-informed drum programming and touches of sci-fi weirdness. It's an uneven mix of soft and warm, and cold and hard, but a compelling, ambitious one nonetheless. - Colin Helms

Robbie Robertson Joins DreamWorks Staff

Robbie Robertson has joined the DreamWorks Records team in the unusual role of "creative plenipotentiary." In this role, Robertson will act as a "label muse" of sorts and will assume both "artistic and executive activities at the company." Robertson's duties for DreamWorks are expected to include A&R and soundtrack work. "What strikes me about this work I'm doing for DreamWorks is that it feels so natural," Robertson said. "David [Geffen] and Mo [Ostin] insisted that I only involve myself in what I'm absolutely passionate about, in what I think I can truly bring magic to. And that's what I'm doing." After his career with The Band, Robertson launched a solo career in 1987. Capitol Records released his last album, Contact From The Underworld Of Redboy, this summer.

K-tel Posts First-Quarter Loss

K-tel International Inc. reported sales of $18 million in the first fiscal quarter that ended on September 30, compared with $25 million last year. K-tel's first-quarter net loss was $3.1 million compared with earnings of $1.2 million last year. The company attributed the loss to its curtailed third-party media-buying operations, and expenses due to discontinued marketing and distribution of lines including retail home-video products. K-tel also posted a $600,000 loss from continued investments in its new online commerce business. "The company continues to refocus and position itself to be a prominent long-term strategic player in the e-commerce arena," said K-tel Chairman/CEO Philip Kives. "In doing so, we are eliminating certain marginal business lines and focusing on existing profitable business units which have natural synergies with our e-commerce operations."

Rick James Suffers Stroke, Recovery Expected

Funk legend Rick James, best known for his 1981 disco/funk hit "Superfreak" and his '90s legal woes, suffered a stroke on November 6. James underwent surgery on November 10 and was still recovering at press time. The 50-year-old singer broke a blood vessel in the back of his neck during a performance on November 6 at Mile High Stadium in Denver. James finished the concert but later collapsed offstage. On November 9, James complained of numbness in his right side, and doctors at Cedars-Sinai Hospital (at his home in Los Angeles) confirmed that he had suffered a stroke. Doctors speculate that the blood vessel ruptured as a result of repeated rhythmic whiplash motion of the head and neck, commonly referred to as "rock 'n' roll neck," according to a statement made by James's spokesman Steve Levesque. Following his surgery, James is unable to walk but he is fully cognizant of his surroundings. Doctors hope that James can regain full mobility through rehabilitation and his positive attitude. The 15 remaining dates of his tour in support of 1997's Urban Rhapsody have been postponed and will resume following James's recovery. In lieu of flowers and cards, James has requested that donations be made to the Leukemia Foundation in the honor of William "Head" Johnson, his younger brother who recently succumbed to

Brian Setzer Sues Former Bandmate Over Early Material

Neo-swing kingpin Brian Setzer has filed a federal lawsuit against Ken Kinnally, a former member of the Bloodless Pharaohs, Setzer's pre-Stray Cats band. In the suit, filed in U.S. District Court in Los Angeles, Setzer accuses Kinnally of copyright infringement and unauthorized sound trafficking. In addition to undetermined damages, Setzer seeks to halt the sale and distribution of the album Brian Setzer And The Bloodless Pharaohs. The collection of unpolished studio tracks from 1978 and live recordings from 1979, was released by Collectible Records in 1996. Kinnally allegedly licensed the songs without Setzer's knowledge or permission. Collectible Records has since pulled the record from stores and is not named as a defendant in the suit. Setzer's manager, Dave Kaplan, told Rolling Stone that the singer is not after money, and he is merely seeking to protect himself and his audience from "poor quality work that he has nothing to do with.

If convicted of all the charges, Preston could face 20 years in jail. ## THE KLEZMATICS

Interview by Tad Hendrickson

Frank London is a member of the Klez-matics, the postmodern klezmer band from

New York City known for applying a downtown aesthetic to traditional Yiddish music.
The Well, the group's fifth CD, is a collaboration with Chava Alberstein, Israel's first lady of song.

CMJ: You just played a show at New York City's Town Hall with Chava. Is it difficult to please an audience that places so much religious significance on music?

London: I've always worked under the assumption that I try to please myself. For me the most amazing thing is [that] we don't have a homogeneous audience. Normal Klezmatics shows are a mix of older and younger people, and also Jewish music people and world music people and new music people. Now take that and add a whole group of Israeli people who come to just hear Chava, and you really have a heterogeneous crowd.

How long did you spend working on The Well?

We spent two weeks in a rehearsal room. [Chava] presented the poems and the melodies, and we worked on the arrangements and extra writing. Then we had two weeks in the studio. Enough to make it work, but not as much as we'd like.

What's the intersection between Klezmer music and Jimi Hendrix?

Nothing. We're the intersection. You're the intersection. That was the conceptual leap that the Klezmatics made early on. There were all these klezmer bands starting up, playing music exactly how it used to be played. Instead of trying to copy it or mix genres, which is a little bit fun and a little bit shallow, we decided to play klezmer music pretty straight. But we are going to allow [our personalities into] everything we are [playing]—in an authentic way. That was the conceptual leap that opened the whole thing eight years ago.

Matador Records, Belle & Sebastian's U.S. label, will probably release the material on This Is Just A Modern Rock Song at a later date, but the label will purchase some copies of the import that will be sold in select U.S. record stores in December. ### Kristen Hersh Releases Album, Demos Online

Kristen Hersh is demonstrating her online savvy with two new projects: an album available exclusively online, and a subscription service providing exclusive tracks in the MP3 format. Amazon.com, CDnow, UBL, Music Blvd. and 4AD mail order are all selling the 12-track album Murder, Misery, And Then Goodnight, which is the first in a series of 4AD 'Net-only releases. In an online posting, Hersh said the album was recorded for her kids. "It's a bunch of songs my parents sang to me when I was little," she wrote. "When I began to compile some old family songs in the hope of giving [my children] a taste of my warm, fuzzy childhood, I was intrigued to find that my soundtrack had been...let's just say evil. In these songs, people die. And they die big."

Hersh fans can also track her current songwriting process through "Works In Progress." Subscribers to the series pay $14.95 to download (in CD-quality MP3 format) one unreleased song every month for a year. The songs are also available for free download in the RealAudio format. "I've always wished I could simply record and 'mail' my songs to people who wanted them," the former Throwing Muses frontwoman said on her Web site. "Now I can." ### Kingsmen Win Legal Battle To Collect 'Louie Louie' Royalties

Early rockers the Kingsmen, whose 1963 version of "Louie Louie" has become one of the most recognizable songs in rock history, are finally about to be paid for the hit song. In 1968, the band signed a contract with Gusto Records and GML Inc, the record companies that hold the rights to the recording, and the companies were supposed to pay the band 9% of future licensing fees and profits from the record. In 1993, the group had never received any of the royalties and filed suit against Gusto and GML. Lawyers for the record companies tested the validity of the Kingsmen claim by insisting they were protected by the statute of limitations since the contract was signed in 1968. However, lawyers for the Kingsmen argued that each royalty payment is a new obligation that constantly renews the contract. A federal judge in California ruled in favor of the Kingsmen and granted them the royalties owed, although there is no firm estimate of the amount of money the band will collect. Gusto and GML appealed to the Supreme Court, but the high court declined to hear the case, letting the lower court's decision

Ian Brown's Appeal Denied

Former Stone Roses frontman Ian Brown's appeal against a fourmonth jail term was denied. Brown will serve his time in Manchester, England, following his verbal abuse and threatening of a flight attendant and an airline captain in February. Brown had been scheduled to tour the U.K. and Ireland from November 12 to December 3, but he has postponed his tour plans until next year. Mercury Records, which has pushed back the release of Brown's solo debut Unfinished Monkey Business, said that the delay has nothing to do with this incident.

SINGLE ARTISTS

Alternative Tentacles, the San Francisco-based label founded by ex-Dead Kennedys front-man Jello Biafra, has just released another of the singer's spoken word albums. The three-disc If Evolution Is Outlawed, Only Outlaws Will Evolve marks the controversial entrepreneur's fifth entry into the all-talk format (not including the "Die For Oil Sucker" vinyl single he released in 1991). Evolution collects monologues including "Depends On The Drug," "Wake Up And Smell The Noise," "Talk On The Death Penalty — When Psychopaths Guard The Henhouse" and several items under the heading of "Talk On Censorship," including "Bridge To The New Dark Ages" and "Which Way To The Zoo?"

Armed with three guitars and a drum set, a trio of Bikini Kill alumni (Kathi Wilcox, Tobi Vail and Bill Karren) and ex-Bratmobile/current Peechee Molly Neuman crank out some some bass-less, lo-fi garage rock as the Frumpies. Frumpie One Piece (Kill Rock Stars) compiles the group's previously vinyl-only material onto one handy CD. The 24-song disc even includes the four songs from band's recent Eunuch Nights 7" EP.

Beau Sia countered Jewel's recent poetry collection, A Night Without Armor, with the wickedly satirical A Night Without Armor II: The Revenge. Looks like he's back again, this time with a bonafide record. Attack! Attack! Go! (Mouth Almighty-Mercury) coincides with the release of the new Jewel album, and Sia fills his CD with comical, baiting spoken word pieces, recorded alone or over unsophisticated techno beats. Either way, Sia's schtick is entertaining.

Originally released in 1959, Rod McKuen's Beatsville defined an American era when the wholesome goodness of the '50s slid into the chaotic rebellion of the tie-dyed '60s. Stanyam Records has reissued McKuen's Beatnik social commentary just in time for the original LP's 40th anniversary. Hardly reminiscent of Ginsberg or Kerouac, McKuen's sardonic, quick-witted musings never approach poetic levels of seriousness (titles include "Theme From In Search Of Eros," "Co-Existence Bagel Shop Blues," "Get The Hell Out Of My World" and so on). This enhanced-CD edition of Beatsville even boasts a hip, period-styled font called "daddy-o."

Cleopatra Records exhibits a savvy understanding of the times with Desire, a new album of Gene Loves Jezebel remixes. Among others, Spahn Ranch, the Mission U.K., Leaether Strip and Love And Rockets' Kevin Haskins retool many of the U.K. band's foppish dance hits. The collection includes "Motion Of Love," "Desire," "20 Killer Hurts" and more.

The Welsh quinter Catatonia continues to make a name for itself with a new promotional EP, the A's & B's Of Catatonia (Vapor-Warner Bros.). The six-song disc is centered around "I Am The Mob," from the group's latest full-length release, International Velvet. The EP is rounded out by a remix of that track, another previously released song, two non-album entries and a live-in-London version of "Road Rage," recorded last May.

Atavistic has recently re-released John Gavanti, a No Wave operetta, first issued on Hyrax Records in 1981. The 14-track recording is (drumroll, please) a noisy, demented, dowtown New York City interpretation of Mozart's Don Giovanni. Sumner Crane (Mars), Mark Cunningham (Mars; Don King), Don Burg (a.k.a Lucy Hamilton, of Mars and Don King) and Ikue Mori (DNA) are among the conspirators in this Dadaist Carnival of sounds.

Geffen released Aerosmith's A Little South Of Sanity on October 20. The two-disc concert chronicle was recorded around the world, from '93-'98, on tours supporting the Get A Grip and Nine Lives albums. Hits a-plenty include "Janie's Got A Gun," "Love In An Elevator," "Sweet Emotion," "Walk This Way," "Livin' On The Edge" and other MTV staples.

On November 24, Epic Records released the much-anticipated Pearl Jam live album, Live On Two Legs. The 73-minute disc was recorded during the band's 1998 tour supporting Yield. Songs included are "Corduroy," "Given To Fly," "Hail, Hail," "Daughter," "Elderly Woman Behind The Counter In A Small Town," "Untitled," "MFC," "Go," "Red Mosquito," "Even Flow," "Off He Goes," "Nothingman," "Do The Evolution," "Better Man," "Black" and a cover of Neil Young's "Fuckin' Up." The disc's inside sleeve pays homage to Pearl Jam's support staff and crew, while attacking certain troublesome police departments that the band encountered on tour.

Various artists

Fatboy Slim takes on Cornershop's "Brimful Of Asha" while Roni Size messes around with Sarah McLachlan's "Sweet Surrender" on Nettwerk Records' Plastic Compilation Volume 02. Autour De Lucie, Delerium, Crystal Method, Spiritualized, the Chemical Brothers and others also contribute to the second volume of this popular alt-rock remix series.

Bomp Records' What? Stuff is a California punk collector's dream come true. The CD rounds up recordings originally issued on What? Records, a label run by Chris Ahford (ex-Germs). Covering the Los Angeles punk scene from 1977-1980, the disc includes the earliest recordings by the Germs, the Dils, the Eyes, the Controllers, Kaos, the Skulls and Agent Orange. It is also accompanied by short but informative liner notes written by Ashford and rock historian David O. Jones.

Earlier this month, Hollywood Records released the soundtrack to the Touchstone Pictures film The Waterboy. Classic rock chestnats by Creedence Clearwater Revival, the Allman Brothers, the Doors, Rush, and Joe Walsh provide most of the music for the Adam Sandler film. A few current acts, such as Candlebox, the Candyskins and Goldfinger also donate some tunes. Note the latter's punked-up version of Spiral Staircase's "More Today Than Yesterday."

'Tis the season for holiday-themed compilation albums! In keeping with that, BEC Recordings has pressed up Happy Christmas: A BEC Holiday Collection. Modern bands remake classic Christmas times for this eruption of yuletide cheer. Pep Squad's "Feliz Navidad," Joy Electric's "Winter Wonderland," Starflyer 59's "A Holiday Song" and Fold Zandura's "Asia Minor" ought to go well with your eggnog. Meanwhile, Daddy-O-Royalty's Swingin' Christmas features tracks from the Flipped Fedoras, Set 'Em Up Joe, the Swingtips and other up-and-coming neoswing acts. Finally, Arista checks in with Ultimate Christmas, a set of familiar Christmas classics interpreted by Elvis Presley, Dionne Warwick, Nat King Cole, Whitney Houston and others.

Luaka Bop Celebrates 10th Anniversary, Releases 'Beleza Tropical 2' Compilation

By Steve Ciabattoni

In 1988, while still fronting the Talking Heads, David Byrne began compiling tracks for Brazil Classics 1: Beleza Tropical, the album that would launch his Luaka Bop label. Ten years later, Byrne and Luaka Bop are celebrating their anniversary with the release of Beleza Tropical 2: Nova! Mais! Melhor! Byrne's intent with the first compilation, and primarily with the subsequent releases on the label, was to turn people on to music that they would have not otherwise heard or appreciated. In addition to showcasing higher profile names like Gilberto Gil and Sergio Mendes, Beleza Tropical 2 highlights new stars such as Daniella Mercury. "Brazilians are the original masters of mixology, blend and hybridization," Byrne says in the liner notes to Beleza Tropical 2.

With its Brazilian compilations and other releases, Luaka Bop has earned the tag of "world music label," but Label President Yale Evelev suggests that the label's focus is not so specific or regimented. "We're just trying to do records of pop music that other people aren't doing," Evelev says. "Because that's the most exciting thing, to have that sense of discovery or to play something for people who go, 'Wow! That's fantastic.'"

With Byrne, Evelev has managed to grow Luaka Bop into a label with an eclectic roster, featuring such artists Tom Zé, Cornershop, Bloque, Mimi and Los Amigos Invisibles. "When we started with Warner Bros., they had seven ancillary labels," Eveley says. "Now they have one other besides us. I wanted to [run the label] in a way that was different from the way everybody else ran his or her labels. Lots of [labels] say 'we're going to have hits' and they hire a lot of people and they spend a lot of money to make a lot of noise to make sure people know they're there. I've been trying to do different things nowadays to see if we spend a little more money on this, that or the other thing to see what kind of difference it will make - but you really need to spend a lot more money to make a difference."

Much of Luaka Bop's success depends on radio and its listeners becoming more open or more accustomed to hearing pop music that isn't the same old thing. In the last few years, Eveley has noticed some steps in that direction. "When Japanese bands like Cornelius and Kahimi Karie make inroads on the alternative rock scene, I think there's certainly a lot greater acceptance," he says. Luaka Bop helped its own cause with Cornershop's 1997 hit "Brimful Of Asha" from When I Was Born For The 7th Time, but even Eveley admitted he was skeptical about the impact the album might have. "I thought, 'Who in America is gonna want to hear a song about an Indian film star?' I was wrong, and it's a great thing." Evelev says Cornershop's success made Warner Bros. notice that Luaka Bop could make an impact. "Yes, it is left field," says Eveley. "But lots of time you can get to home that way."

Evelev is pleased with the label's success, but he admits that the label is struggling with issues related to its growth. "We don't want to be in a situation where we have this huge overhead that we have to support and that it's all about managing the staff as opposed to working with the musicians," he says. "I hope that we don't have to get any bigger. Because I think that would start to dilute

In 1999, I uaka Bop plans to release a new record by California avant-pop duo Geggy Tah, a Tom Zé remix album featuring Amon Tobin, Soul Coughing, Tortoise, High Llamas and Ui, and an album by Os Mutantes, a pivotal band in Brazil's late '60s Tropicalia movement.

Coxe was airlifted to a nearby hospital and was listed in critical condition for three days. Coxe's injuries include a broken neck, injured spine and some paralysis. On November 13, Peg Udall of the band's label, Whirlybird Records, reported that Simeon is "improving and has some mobility in his hands and feet." Despite the fact that Coxe is in a lot of pain, Udall reports that "his spirits are good, and he's determined that he's going to beat this thing." While Coxe's outlook is improving, Udall wasn't sure about his future musical plans. "Whether or not there will ever be another Silver Apples concert is definitely in question," she says. "It doesn't look real good at the moment." The groundbreaking and influential duo formed in New York in 1967 and broke up three years later. music. Usually working out of his greatly expanded Ariwa Studio in South London, the Professor has produced hundreds of reggae and dub records since his early four-track days.

Mad Professor also runs Ariwa Records, which boasts a catalog of about 200 titles. Ariwa's four latest titles — Lee "Scratch" Perry's Fire In Dub and Dub Fire, Chukki Starr's Ghetto Youth's Livity and the Professor's own Dubtronic — were released in the U.S. on November 10 under a new five-year deal with RAS Records.

Publicist Garret Vandermolen from The Planetary Group sees potential for these releases to crossover to general audiences. "To me it makes sense because of the dub factor that's going on," he says. "People who dig instrumental rock and electronic music might dig instrumental dub. They just need to be educated about it."

These four releases are an ideal beginning to Ariwa's new deal with RAS, which has been the stateside distributor and manufacturer of Ariwa releases for eight years. Dub legend Lee "Scratch" Perry will undoubtedly attract attention, and he's also planning a major market U.S. tour. RAS VP Mark Dickinson looks at Perry as the cornerstone for RAS and Ariwa. "His tours always do really well. He's such a great performer because you never know what he's going to do, and that combination with Mad Professor is phenomenal," says Dickinson.

Mad Professor has also just finished two weeks of promotional dates for the Ariwa releases. While on the road, he mixed studio source tapes to create one-of-a-kind mixes that prove that electronic music DJs aren't the only ones who can get the club crowds moving with a mixing board. This club aesthetic is also reflected in Mad Professor's own Dubtronic album. Dub is still a key element in his music, yet the driving beats of such songs as "Slice Of The Pie," "Drum & Bass In The Asylum" and "Disco Dub" could attract the attention of broadminded club DJs and RPM radio personnel alike.

Both Vandermolen and Dickinson are also excited by the initial buzz about relative newcomer Chukki Starr. "Chukki Starr got the DJ thing going and the Robotiks are awesome," Vandermolen says. "Some people already know about this record, but I think its going to put him in the path for more recognition." Dickinson believes that Starr could even do as well as Macka B, one of Ariwa's biggest-selling artists.

CMJ Music Marathon, MusicFest & FilmFest '98 November 4-7, 1998

8,500 Attendees • 1,000 Bands • 60 Venues

The sun was still shining outside, but dedicated music lovers headed to Brownie's by 3 p.m. on Thursday for the Autotonic cocktail party. Robyn Hitchcock cohort Tim Keegan and his Homer Lounge performed, followed by Cleveland rockers Cobra Verde, and there was also ample time to enjoy the free beer and catch up with industry folks and college radio DJs. L-R: WUNH's Ian Fitzpatrick, Rhino's Bill Smith, Astralwerks' Crystal Stephens, Merge's Martin Hall and Merge's Spott.

Arista's Chris Elles took a college radio posse to Thursday's taping of Comedy Central's The Daily Show. L-R: Linus Lee of KLSU, Jez De Wolf of WRAS, Kerensa Wight or KUGS, Brad Pfranger of WUMS, Casey Kerchner of WICB, Alison Taylor of WUMS, Tracy Mollis of the Syndicate, Chip Adams of KTCU, Scott Gusts of KUMD, Jon Landman of the Syndicate, show host Craig Kilborn, Moose of The Syndicate, Sam Mejias of WCWM, Ron Brown of WNHU, Arista's Chris Elles, Rich Ranck of WMNF and Arista's David Schlank.

After midnight on Friday at Bowlmor Lanes, the lights went out but the energy level went up. Interscope Records hosted the sequel to its popular After Hours party, featuring lights-out bowling and music provided by several DJs. While some partygoers kicked off their street shoes and scrambled for lanes, others were content at the bar. L-R: WITR's Larry Patti, Six By Seven's Chris Olley, Interscope's Lenny LaSalandra, KLCR's Brad Koch and KLCR's Dave Reiney.

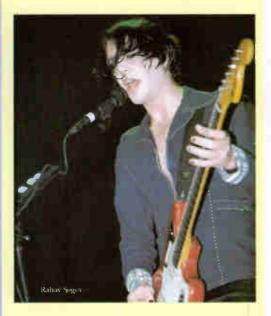

Grand Royal Records President Mark Kates speaks at the President's Panel on Thursday afternoon. The panel included a candid conversation with label presidents Kates, Reprise's Bill Bennett, MCA's Jay Boberg and Reprise's Howie Klein. L-R: Howie Klein, Mark Kates and Moderator Chris Connelly of MTV.

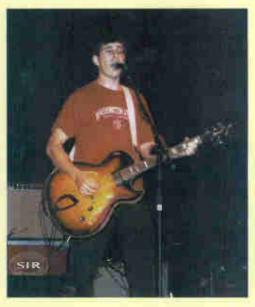

V2 Records act Mercury Rev plays at one of the festival's most popular shows, Friday at the Bowery Ballroom. Other performers that evening were Jack Drag, Poster Children, Built To Spill and Brian Jonestown Massacre.

Nettwerk's Greg Tomlinson, Warner Bros.' Amy Wan and Jetset's Will Simon were in attendance for the Up Records showcase Saturday at Tramps. Up's line-up for the evening included Jana McCall, Tiffany Anders, Mike Johnson, Dina Martina, 764-Hero, Modest Mouse and Land Of The Loops. Modest Mouse also played a sold out show at Maxwell's in Hoboken on Friday.

British band Placebo brought a bit of glamour to the Millennium Hotel's Hudson Theater on Thursday night. The trio headlined Virgin Records' showcase that also included Swedish trip-hop act Whale and British roots rock band Gomez. Independent filmmaker Todd Haynes, who cast Placebo in his new film Velvet Goldmine, was seen rushing to the front of the audience when Placebo frontman Brian Molko began singing "Pure Morning."

Most bands weren't out of bed by 11:30 a.m. on Friday, but Austin, Texas, trio Silver Scooter was already rocking at College Day. The band was the first to take the stage at the Hudson Theater, home to college day's breakfast, panels, performances and the Keynote Address by Bad Religion's Greg Graffin. Performances by Chocolate Genius and Beth Orton were also included on the day's agenda.

CMJ New Music Report Associate Editor Steve Ciabattoni scans in a visitor to the weekly magazine's booth in the exhibit hall. This year's festival badges were encoded with information so the convention's 50 exhibitors can easily contact interested parties after the event.

Japan's DJ Krush spins at CMJ's opening night party at the Roxy. G-Shock and Giant Step presented Ryuichi Sakamoto, Tipsy with Mixmaster Mike, Rob Swift, Wagon Christ, DJ Spooky, Talvin Singh, DJ Krush, Coldcut, Prince Paul with the Automator, We, Badawi and Neotropic.

Q-Burn's Abstract Message kept the beats going Friday afternoon at G-Shock's booth at the Millennium Hotel's exhibit hall. Q-Burns also played at Shine on Wednesday. G-Shock was a presenting sponsor of the CMJ MusicFest for the second year in a row.

Rebecca Gates and Richard Buckner joined the Artists Panel at College Day. Gates, Buckner, His Name Is Alive's Warn Defever, Chocolate Genius's Marc Anthony Thompson, Ben Lee and Franklin's Brian Sokel tackled topics including the diversity of college radio, sampling and copyright issues and relinquishing control to managers.

Geffen's Tony Kiewel, Sub Pop's Jenny Hayo and Mammoth's Andrew Paynter get into the groove (or something) at CMI's opening night party at the Roxy. Aside from offering old friends a place to catch up, the evening's set boasted an impressive lineup of electronic musicians and DIs. About 2,600 people attended the show.

Doug Gillard, frontman for Cleveland rockers Cobra Verde, started the rock action early on Thursday afternoon at the Autotonic party at Brownie's. The show, Cobra Verde's first New York gig since July 1997, included new material that will be released on the band's next album, due in February on Motel Records.

Garage girls the Donnas played for a packed house Thursday at Coney Island High. They closed out Lookout Records' sweat-filled showcase, which also included the Crumbs, Hi-Fives and the Smugglers.

The Autotonic crew and Julie Muncy from Warner Bros. took time in their busy schedule to drop by the offices of Warner Bros. affiliate Luaka Bop Records. L-R: Matt Hanks of Autotonic, Luaka Bop President Yale Evelev, Luaka Bop founder David Byrne, Anthony Delrosario of Autotonic, Julie Muncy of Warner Bros. and Dan Mackta of Autotonic.

Convention attendees flocked to the free newsstand in the exhibition area. A total of 35 music publications were available for the taking, including magazines such as Time Out New York, MOJO, Alternative Press and Smug.

About 60 music directors attended the annual college radio dinner sponsored by Vision Trust and a group of record labels. Gathering at Friend of A Farmer on Thursday were L-R: (back row) GRP/Blue Thumb's Jill Weindorf, Vision Trust's Stephanie LeBeau and TVT's Anya Feldman. (front row) Columbia's Ted Doherty and Moonshine's Sheri Kaplan.

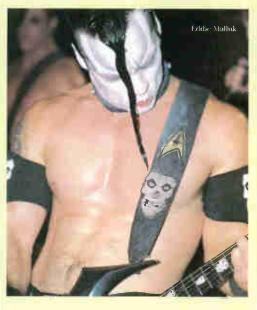

The Syndicate's Moose and Geffen's Tony Kiewel kicked off College Day on the panel entitled "Neighborhood Watch: College Radio's Presence In The Community." Other panelists were KJHK's Andrew Dierks, KVRX's David Shaenfield, KSCU's Kimberly Owens, S.P.E.C.T.R.E.'s Matthew Semancik and March/Emperor Norton Records' Shippy.

New York unsigned band Benna plays at the CDnow Performance Lounge on Friday. Twenty performers were invited to play the intimate stage, providing mood music for the bustling exhibition area.

Dave Sanford from S.P.E.C.T.R.E. Promotions and Heather Sandford from Paradigm Associated Labels celebrate at the release party for the Motel Records compilation, Bombay The Hard Way. Promoters transformed a party space into the Bombay Ballroom. People enjoyed drinks and Indian delicacies from midnight to 4 a.m., while surrounded by contortionists and go-go dancers. Prince Paul and the Automator spun hip-hop, while brave partygoers toked on exotic pipes. DJ Frosty (of Tone Utility and KSCR), DJ Ross (of Sukia) and DJ Rekha (of Basement Bhangra) also kept the music flowing.

East Coast punk legends the Misfits blazed through the Marathon's closing set at CBGB's on Saturday night. The Zomba Publishing showcase also featured Farenheit 451, a hardcore act from the Bronx, New York.

K Records founder and Dub Narcotic Sound System frontman Calvin Johnson shakes it at the K Records showcase at Tramps on Friday night. The evening's earlier performers were Gaze, D+, Silent Lambs, Black Anger and ICU.

During College Day's Artist Panel, Australian teen sensation Ben Lee confesses he doesn't really understand American college radio. Lee also previewed tracks from his forthcoming album during his show at Grand Royal's showcase Saturday at Irving Plaza. Labelmates Money Mark, Buffalo Daughter and Bis also performed.

Guitarist/songwriter Jason Falkner meets WCDB's Kara Brodfuehrer at the Luna Lounge.

Afrika Baby Bambaataa of the Jungle Brothers treated hip-hop lovers to some new tunes as well as old-school favorites like "I'll House You" at their Saturday set at Wetlands. Crowds lined up outside the club well in advance for the evening's heavyweight hip-hop bill, which also included the Mudkids, Afu-Ra, Melky Sedeck, Black Eyed Peas, Lewis Parker and Trumystic Sound Sys-

Radio 200: 99-21 Core Radio: 66-8

The overall stagnancy of the CMJ charts at this time of year makes the leaps made by Stereolab's Aluminum Tunes (Drag City) even more noteworthy. Fueled by a huge 58position leap on the Core Radio chart, the double-CD set jumps 78 positions on the Radio 200. As the third volume in the band's Switched On series, Aluminum Tunes contains rare and unreleased material from 1994-1997, making it a must-have for the band's growing legion of fans at college radio.

HIS NAME IS ALIVE

Radio 200: 102-45 Core Radio: #47 debut

Ft. Lake (4AD) is His Name Is Alive's sixth full-length release, but the ambitious, if enigmatic band, is clearly still capturing the imagination of college programmers. It's likely due to the album's song-to-song versatility, as band frontman Warn Defever tries his hand at even more styles (orchestrated pop, quirky rock, hushed balladry) than before to great success. Currently touring the States with Swedes Komeda, His Name Is Alive should enjoy a fruitful stay on the charts, with a #47 debut on the Core Radio chart and a 57-position jump on the Radio 200 under its belt.

KARATE

Radio 200: 93-46 Core Radio: #45 debut

Karate's latest effort, The Bed Is In The Ocean (Southern), is the band's third, and its second week of chart activity is an indicator of the place it has in the hearts of college programmers. Riding the fence between the emo of bands like Sunny Day Real Estate and the ponderous meanderings of seminal bands like Slint, Karate paves its own stylistic path without adhering to any particular genre. It's an amorphous quality that indie-rock watchers love to see: the album debuts this week at #45 on the Core Radio chart, and takes a 47-position jump on the Radio 200.

GROOVERIDER

Radio 200: 125-53 Core Radio: #56 debut RPM: 9-4

Electronica fans sometimes consider Grooverider the "Godfather of Breakbeat," pointing to his mentoring of artists such as Goldie, Optical and Ed Rush, his Prototype Records label, and the simple fact that he was one of the first DJs to spin drum 'n' bass as evidence. Mysteries Of Funk (Higher Ground/Columbia-CRG) is the highlyanticipated debut of Grooverider as an artist producing original material, though, securing the album's place on CMJ's charts for weeks to come as fans dig deep into the collection.

WEB SITE OF THE WEEK

Reaction Sound System

www.koolout.com/reaction

Contact: Fabian Alsultany Uprise Productions c/o SOB's 200 Varick St., Suite 518 New York, NY 10014 Phone: 212.243.4940 Email: reaction@uprise.com Fax: 212.645.1703

As part of the Pseudo Network, Reaction Sound System is one program that helps fill a multi-cultural music void on the 'Net, where audio and video features help deliver world music to the world. Every Thursday, hosts Fabian Alsultany (D] Sultan32) and Benjamin Kelly (Addis Kelly) round up world music fans worldwide, from reggae newsgroups to lamusica.com, for an intensive, one-hour world music program. The show is later added to the extensive Pseudo archive where fans can revisit past shows anytime. The "United Nations of Groove Music" has been streaming audio/video since April, and past guests have included Hassan Hakmoun, Professor Shehab and Ceal Villar from the band Fiesta. R.S.S. also benefits from the other interests of its hosts. In addition to being a DI and producer, Asultany is a booking agent for the NYC club SOB's and has access to many of the guests who appear on R.S.S. Kelly also DJs around town, but is most respected as the world music buying authority for local record stores such as Kim's Underground, R.S.S. programs what the Web site calls "outernational" music: reggae, qwali, salsa and much more, including rock en español and some drum 'n' bass. The site itself includes links to chats and the aforementioned archive, but the true draw of Reaction Sound System is the captivating, experimental program. For the future, Alsultany and Kelly hope to expand the show to two hours, allowing for one hour of live music. Future guests of the show will include Burning Spear, mutli-platinum Latin artist Michael Stuart and Asian Dub Foundation. — David Day

Liquid Audio Sounds Off To MP3

Liquid Audio (www.liquidaudio.com)

recently issued a cease and desist letter to Z Company, operates the MP3.com site and the Filez.com music search engine. Liquid Audio objected to Filez.com's FTP site links, which led to downloads for a2b2wav programs that de-encrypt Liquid Audio's proprietary audio files while converting the files into the ".wav" format. Wavs may be freely distributed with no obligation to a holder of copyright. The letter states: "The only purpose of the a2b2wav program is to promote music piracy." It also cites an article at www.mp3.com. The article discusses and provides a hyperlink to the program. In its response, Z Company stated that its links did not infringe upon Liquid Audio's copyright rights. Z also noted that at the time of the response, "no servers indexed by Files.com appear to be delivering the a2b2wav file." Thus, Z claims the request to remove the links is a moot point. Z also refuted Liquid Audio's request to remove a2b2way article, citing a lack of legal basis.

ALANIS MORISSETTE

Supposed Former Infatuation Junkie

(Maverick-Reprise)

Canadian-born singer/songwriter Alanis Morissette's follow-up to the post-teen angst of 1995's Jagged Little Pill (which sold a mere 28 million copies) exhibits a level of maturity and self-awareness far beyond the artist's 24 years. Supposed Former Infatuation Junkie is an ambitious album that, through a stream-of-consciousness lyrical style, is bravely personal, intensely thoughtful and revealing, reaching inward where

Jagged lashed out. Compared to Jagged, it's like the return phone call from the psychotic girlfriend seeking understanding. With a lush, multi-layered backdrop of Eastern-influenced music and intricate rhythmic foundations, Junkie moves beyond the pain and bitterness of Morissette's last album and reveals her newfound sense of spirituality. Beyond the thumping first single, "Thank U," Morissette turns in a few musical gems with "Are You Still Mad" and the beautifully uplifting ballad "That I Would Be Good." — Glen Sansone

MANU CHAO Clandestino (Ark 21)

With the release of Clandestino, Mano Chao emerges from the shadow of Manu Negra, the band he fronted for eight years. More intimate and subtle than the circus-like mayhem of his previous rock en Español-meets-Zappa outfit, Clandestino is moody and almost sad, marked by traditional-sounding songs influenced by Chao's travels in the Caribbean, South America and Africa. Comprised primarily of Chao's soulful vocals, acoustic guitar, hand percussion and found sounds, these performances (recorded on Chao's portable studio over the course of three years of travel) stay true to the rich flavor of each song's different cultural inspiration. Clandestino offers up a pan-cultural musical vision that is also one of the best recordings of Chao's career. — Tad Hendrickson

LAGWAGON

Let's Talk About Feelings (Fat Wreck Chords)

Santa Barbara, California's Lagwagon is punk rock band that wears its heart on its sleeve while delivering tough power chords and raking riffage.

The harefooted pace and spit-shined production of Let's Talk About Feelings is offset by the band's poignant lyrical maturity, as suggested by the album's pop-psychologyinfluenced title. The band's notorious sense of humor has taken a back seat this time out as they sing about their feelings without tongue planted in cheek on these well-layered, effervescent tunes. But Lagwagon hasn't become sappy or sissified, as exemplified by "Hurry Up And Wait," a humorous ode to the punk rock lifestyle. Lagwagon isn't afraid to say "I've got issues," which a key distinguishing factor in picking them out from a crowd of their pop-punk peers. — Amy Sciarretto

SCARNELLA

Scarnella (Smells Like)

Scarnella is a collaboration between the Geraldine Fibbers' Carla Bozulich and veteran avant-garde guitarist (and onetime Fib-bers member)

Nels Cline.
The album is largely an improvisational work, rooted in traditional forms
by Bozulich's heart- and throat-grabbing vocal performance, but primarily characterized by the duo's array of effects-tempered guitar experiments. In addition to her guitar and vocal contributions, Bozulich handles bass and sampling keyboard, while Cline spikes the mix with bits of percussion and Farfisa organ. As each songs moves from moments of sparse, forlorn beauty into denser squalls of noise, the pair's performance gains greater momentum and tension, often climaxing in a violent spasm of gnarled feedback and frayed melodic ends. Cline's complex, intuitive playing is a thing of raw, abstract power, and it's ably matched here by Bozulich's alternately fragile and caustic voice. — Colin Helms

ROBYN HITCHCOCK

Storefront Hitchcock (Warner Bros.)

The last time acclaimed director Jonathan Demme shot the performance of a pop artist, the camera's target was the Talking Heads, and the result was Stop Making Sense, one of the best concert films you'll ever experience. Storefront Hitchcock is Demme's

RUNAWAYS UK

Classic Tales (360-Arcade America)

"A journey through a hip-hop fantasy," is the subtitle that adorns Runaways UK's new full-length, perfectly summing up the mental expedition on which the music takes the listener. With a melodic and eclectic hip-hop symphony assembled the oldfashioned way (turntables are used to piece together the main musical elements and effects), Classic Tales' dreamy, ethereal urban ambiance and easygoing flow is offset by rudimentary, vet smooth production tactics and an army of quick-tongued MCs and crooning divas. Sometimes the results are in the form of straight-laced block-rockers. But often, Runaways UK allows abstraction to run its course, melding a barrage of beats with obscure, random melodies and cosmic scratching.

BOLT THROWER

Mercenary (Metal Blade)

This year has been a stellar one for death metal, and closing it out is a vicious new album from a legendary death metal band, Sweden's Bolt Thrower. Bolt Thrower stands alone in quality and originality, with a sound like no other band. You can consider it indebted to stoner rock because of its fuzzy guitar tones and lengthy tracks, but its first loyalty is to death metal, since it sustains a dramatic intensity to rival an out-of-control chainsaw. Who cares if critics lambaste this album, calling it "rote Bolt Thrower," and claiming that we've heard this kind of thing before. Mercenary is still better than the band's IVth Crusade, and it holds its own with ... For Victory.

SAM BLACK CHURCH The Black Comedy (Wonderdrug)

An infusion of black comedy is a great way to win back fans. The sardonic humor and heavy, catchy music on Sam Black Church's fourth album should win back many of its metal-core fans who have been discouraged by the band's flubbed record deal and several years without touring. On The Black Comedy, nothing stands in the way of the bass-heavy guitars, brutal drumming and Jet's omnipresent Phil

INDECISION

Most Precious Blood (Exit)

Indecision has stayed entrenched in the New York scene for the past few years, through the mutations brought about by the changing face of hardcore. This uplifting album features singer Tom Sheehan's voice soaring high above the din of the band, as original guitarist Justin and new bassist Rachel slowly delve deeper into even heavier territory. Indecision is keeping the hardcore angst alive and the roots real.

this year, the CMJ Music Marathon was nevertheless a blast. As always, it took place in the craziest city ever built by man: New York. Though hard rock shows were few and far between, high quality compensated for low quantity, with over-the-top performances from Roadsaw, the Clay People, Nothingface, Shai Hulud, Converge and Neurosis. College Day keynote speaker Greg Graffin spoke a few rightfully critical, yet still optimistic, words of wisdom about the biz. He defended Bad Religion's four-year signing to Atlantic, citing a need for wider distribution. In the same breath, Graffin praised Epitaph for its later successes, while warning artists about the dangers of selling out. Clearly, Graffin has gone bigtime (continued on page 67)

Atlantic Records has released a collection of Tori Amos's 1992-98 videos. In addition to the singer's MTV staples, The Complete Collection features rare Amos clips seen only in Europe or on CD-ROM...Eighteen years after being assassinated in NYC, John Lennon is still not as big as Jesus, but his legend lives on. Capitol's four-CD box set, Lennon Anthology, debuted at number 99 on the Billboard Current Albums chart. The collection of outtakes from his solo career is already the second-best-selling box set of 1998. The former Beatle's widow, Yoko Ono, has taken some heat for including "How Do You Sleep," Lennon's scathing snipe at Paul McCartney, in the collection. Lennon wrote the track shortly after the breakup of the Beatles.

SEAL Human Being (Warner Bros.)

The production brilliance applied by Trevor Horn to Seal's Human Being permeates Seal's expressive voice and tender songwriting, though his studio style is more raw and rootsy this time around, reflecting a beat box production fashion that's found a home at Triple A radio. Seal's songs focus on love and romance, as well as universal concerns of brotherly love. "Colors" ponders whether the world's problems would ease if we were all one race, but ultimately concludes that we'd find something else to bicker over. Influence from keyboardists David Sancious (Sting, Bruce Springsteen) and Mike Garson (David Bowie) also help Seal's sound stay true.

new world news

Even as Tom Zé tops the world charts with Fabrication Defect, Luaka Bop is planning phase two of its campaign to make the Brazilian prankster the king of the international music world. The label will ship a new remix EP, entitled Postmodern Platos Remixes, to radio in early 1999. The EP, which has a February street date, features the mixing talents of such cuttingedge artists as Amon Tobin, Tortoise, Sean Lennon, High Llamas, Soul Coughing and Ui...Mexican Rock/Rap En Español act Molotov has returned to the United States to fill a supporting slot for the Deftones. The south-of-the-border hip-hoppers have followed-up their Grammy-nominated, gold-certified ¿Donde Jugarán Las Niñas?, with Molomix, a disc mostly comprised of Donde remixes. Molomix, which was released November 17, also features a Spanish language send-up of Queen's "Bohemian Rhapsody" entitled "Rap Soda y Bohemia," along with a new track entitled "El Carnal De Las Estrellas." The enhanced CD also features videos for "Puto" and "Cerdo." Molotov is the first major Rock En Español act to embrace the remix format...Tinder Records has several exciting projects on horizon. Cuban expatriate Alma Rosa's third full-length, The Latin Soul, is due out in January. That same month, the Salsa Africa compilation will follow-up the label's Salsa Mundo anthology. Toure Kunda's nephews, Omar Toure and Daby Toure, have recorded a Tinder album called Toure Toure. And finally, Orquesta Aragon will commemorate its 60th year together with a new release.

GILBERTO GIL O Sol De Oslo (Blue Jackel)

A host of collaborators join Gilberto Gil on O Sol De Oslo. In a sense, this album picks up many threads and combines them. There is Marlui Miranda's concern for melding the traditional sounds of South America's indigenous peoples with the modern sounds of Brazilian music; the exotic worldly percussion of Trilok Gurtu; there is the outsider's fascination with Brazilian music in the Norwegian backing band; and, of course, Gil's own singular Bahian take on Brazilian music, which has been one of the most significant voices in world music for the last three decades.

Wave after wave of beautiful music continues to arrive from Cape Verde, the latest record being Lagoa by singer Boy Ge Mendes, who can also heard on Tinder's recent Cape Verdean compilation, The Soul Of Cape Verde. With acoustic guitars, gentle accordion, and Boy Ge Mendes' soaring creole vocals, it's the melancholy, timeless sounds of morna that embues these lovely songs with an intimate sense of beauty.

ART ENSEMBLE OF CHICAGO Coming Home Jamaica (Atlantic)

Coming Home Jamaica will be hailed as a milestone in the Art Ensemble's illustrious 30-plus-year career. Even more amazingly, the group's sound today seems just as fresh, exciting and innovative right now as it did when the Ensemble first led the charge in the 1960s with its credo of "Great black music, ancient to the future." Mingling the avantgarde with classic jazz tradition while throwing in subtle nods to jazz music's roots in New Orleans, the Caribbean and Africa, the Art Ensemble proves that the contributions of Lester Bowie, Malachi Favors, Roscoe Mitchell and Famoudou Don Moye are just as meaningful and significant as ever.

Edible Flowers (Win)

A duo that mingles avant-garde jazz and rock in equal parts, guitarist Nels Cline (Thurston Moore, Mike Watt, Geraldine Fibbers, etc.) and bassist Devin Sarno (Waldo The Dogfaced Boy) first jammed together in 1994. This CD, culled from both live and studio recordings made throughout 1998, begs comparisons that range from Harry Partch to Pink Floyd, but with Cline's explosive guitar playing and Sarno's innovative bass work, it's a record not to be missed.

SPHERE

Sphere (Verve)

The teaming of Kenny Barron, Gary Bartz, Ben Riley and Buster Williams makes this an all-star group. Originally conceived as tribute to Thelonious Sphere Monk, the quartet has reconvened (with Bartz filling in for Charlie Rouse) and continues to offer unique interpretations of classic jazz. This CD is more Monkish than actual Monk, offering originals and covers in the spirit of the late master.

other dimensions

Other Dimensions is a monthly column dedicated to new fringe jazz and improvised releases.

The fiery tenor playing of Ellery Eskelin always deserves the attention of jazz fans and with his intriguing trio playing support, it becomes required listening. Eskelin's Kulak, 29 & 30 (HatArt, c/o Cadence, 315.287.2852, orders@cadencebuilding.com) features the polyrhythmic talents of Jim Black, who lends a strong sense of swing even when making rhythmic leaps, and the singular talents of accordionist/sampler Andrea Parkins, who contributes color ranging from static backgrounds of sound to Albert Ayler-inspired accordion explorations. Eskelin is self-assured enough to let his cohorts take the lead, yet is undoubtedly in complete control when puts the horn to his lips, working his tenor with a master's touch – "Rhyme Or Reason" is indisputable proof of this... Drum Talk (Wobbly Rail, wobbly@mindspring.com) is a two-drummer live date featuring of the late Denis Charles and Susie Ibarra. Charles, sensitive and swinging, never mistakes volume for intensity and fits nicely with Ibarra, whose liberal use of hand percussion colors these pieces with her own musical style. There are many highlights here, but the Philippine Maguindanaoan Kulintang folk medley is an uplifting and lyrical triumph...Jeb Bishop is probably best known outside his native Chicago as the trombonist for the Vandermark 5. The tone of Duets 98 (Wobbly Rail, info same as above) is often contemplative, particularly the duets with cellist Fred Lonberg-Holm and reedist Mats Gustafsson, bassist Josh

Abrams and trumpeter Wadada Leo Smith. Things get more rambunctions on the 13-minute duet with percussionist Hamid Drake, and Ken Vandermark heats things up on his two appearances as well. — Tad Hendrickson

The Third Annual Lincoln Center Awards Gala and Benefit Banquet was held November 9. After a performance at Avery Fisher Hall by Wynton Marsalis and the Lincoln Center Jazz Orchestra, 91-year-old, sage trumpeter Benny Carter received a Jazz At Lincoln Center Award for artistic excellence. Unfortunately, back problems prevented Carter from attending the ceremonies. CBS Newsman Ed Bradley announced Carter's absence, sternly adding the musician "Just has a back problem. He's not on death's doorstep.' Other guest performers at the event included Diana Krall and Bobby Short...On Monday, November 16, legendary trumpeter Clark Terry was the guest of honor at The Blue Note in New York City. An all-star group featuring the talents of Max Roach, Jackie McLean, Phil Woods and Cyrus Chestnut paid tribute to Terry. Money raised by the event (dinner tickets were $150) went to the Emergency Medical Fund of The Jazz Foundation Of America, which offers free medical assistance to jazz musicians...Pianist Jacky Terrasson is working on his next album for Blue Note. Cindy Blackman, percussionist Mino Cinelu, bassist Richard Bona, vibist Stefon Harris, saxophonist Jay Collins and vocalist Miles Griffith will make guest appearances on the disc, which also features bassist Ugonna Okegwo and drummer Jaz Sawyer...Blue Note stringslinger Charlie Hunter will head back into the studio in December. Drummer extraordinaire Leon Parker will be along for the ride...Once the new year kicks in, Delmark will issue unreleased material from saxophonist Sonny Stitt. Also look for new stuff on the label from Cecil Payne, Roscoe Mitchell, Rob Mazurek, Muhal Richard Abrams, Kalaparusha Maurice McIntyre, Anthony Braxton and Malachi Thompson with Sun Ra.

However, the new deal will begin with a new roster for the label; current releases in the Mo Wax stable will remain under Polygram. These titles include 1999 releases from Andrea Parker, Major Force and Peshay. Stay tuned for further developments, as conditions of the deal are likely to change in the coming weeks.

with his integrity intact...Elsewhere, two Loud Rock panels also addressed the state of things. The marketing panel, moderated by Roadrunner's Paul Resta, shed some light on the novel, industrious marketing techniques that have brought the label success over the years. According to Resta, the most effective promotional tool remains non-stop touring, however, Roadrunner also takes the initiative to target non-music stores. By servicing piercing salons and tattoo parlors, for instance, labels are almost guaranteed to reach a wide variety of metalheads. Scary. The Loud Rock radio panel reiterated that college radio is an important starting point, responsible for breaking countless artists, some of whom later shun the medium that gave them life. Band respect for college radio has fallen in the last few years, though, with the increase of major label pressure on the format. Regardless, artists and fans still need to remember that the loud rock underground would be infinitely poorer without non-commercial radio's open-mindedness.

Virginia Rodgrigues Soul Of Brazil

Article by Steve (iabattoni · Photos John Maier Jr.

The small crowd at a recent taping of the PBS series Sessions At West 54th was the first to witness the Brazilian singer Virginia Rodrigues perform in America. The host of the show, David Byrne, hinted at what was in store, relating that he had been listening to a tape of Rodrigues's debut, Sol Negro (Black Sun), non-stop. Her all-acoustic sound is driven by two percussionists, a violist and a bassist. The roosty, home-cooked approach is something Rodrigues plans to continue exploring. "I like acoustic instruments. They look like me. They sound like me," she says through her Portuguese interpreter.

"I think that people had no idea what to expect from me," she says about the performance. "Some people may have been looking at me, thinking it was kind of weird," she adds with a laugh. "Or maybe they were just observing." What the audience observed was a singer with a sterling, powerful voice, nurtured by an upbringing in Christian church choirs and a deep connection to the black folk music of Brazil.

"I used to sing classical music and popular Brazilian music in choirs when I was growing up," she says. "After I left the church, I got close to the black music." Her voice combines those experiences into something deep, if not somber. "I sing what I used to live — what my people used to live," she says. "That's why some people think that my CD is kind of sad, but I am just singing my past and my memories. I had a hard past and a hard life in Brazil. An artist sings or paints whatever they live."

When the great Brazilian singer Caetano Veloso heard Rodrigues perform with the Olodum Theatrical Group, he was so moved that he helped her embark upon a recording career. Sol Negro became a sensation in Brazil; the variety of styles, from buoyant samba to a cappella Latin hymns, spoke to a diverse audience. "When I did [Sol Negro] I decided to put everything in there," she says. "I put my life in the CD. The classical and more erudite music comes from the choirs, and the black music came from when I got close to Candomble," she says, speaking of the Afro-Brazilian religion that is so much a part of the music of Bahia, the state in Brazil where Rodrigues was born.

Bahia is often referred to as the "New Orleans of Brazil," but that tag fails to relate how deeply music permeates Bahian culture. "In Bahia people like to sing in the streets," she says. "People sing on the bus, people sing everywhere. Like [Sol Negro's] 'Negrume Da Noite,' it's something that people just clap in the streets and they start to sing," she says, smiling broadly as she claps out the rhythm of the song.

If Bahia has constant music and rhythm, then there must be dancing. When Rodrigues sings a samba, she dances as well, swinging her colorful skirt about as she moves her ample frame around the stage with surprising grace. She chuckles bashfully when asked about her dancing. "I've always danced. I dance at home. I dance at concerts. When I was a child I wanted to be a dancer in classical ballet, but my mother couldn't afford the school. But in Bahia, everybody does samba. Everybody knows it. They are born with that."

Many Sessions performers use the luxury of the live-to-tape format and stop and start their performances, opting for multiple retakes. Rodrigues, however, performed her set straight through, redoing only the final song because of a technical problem. She began and ended her set with songs devoted to saints. The purity of her voice praises those figures, but the struggles and joys she sings about are clearly meant to comfort us here on Earth. During her set, off camera, David Byrne, danced barefoot off-camera, smiling — lost in the music.

MINISTER OF MUSIC, SOUNDS TRUE

Phone: 303 665 3151 ext.132 Email: joeld@soundstue.com

Interview by Steve Ciabattoni

Sounds True was founded in 1985 by Tami Simon, who sought to disseminate spiritual wisdom via spoken-word audio tapes. A direct mail-order catalog included several outsourced music titles to complement the audio material. Eventually, Simon began licensing music, and she launched Sounds True's record label operations in 1996. Hamdulillah, the second volume of recordings from Morocco's Fes Festival, is the latest title in the label's discography. In addition to working in A&R, Joel Davis oversees Sounds True's sales, marketing, design and copywriting, among other activities.

What is the focus of Sounds True?

Our focus is on sacred world music. We're looking for music that serves as a sort of direct transmission from the artist's source of inspiration, through the artist, to the listener. The music itself may not always be sacred in a religious context, but it should convey an underlying spirituality and take the listener to a personal sacred space. These recordings should be made primarily with acoustic instruments — no synthesizers, please.

What draws you to the types of music you've been releasing?

I want artists who play the kind of music they play because they have to. It's what their entire being tells them to do. The Fes Festival is a perfect example. This music is a way of life for them. They don't only play it to make a record or [to perform] in front of an audience. They play it because their spirit requires them to, because it's how they express an essential truth about themselves and/or their culture and traditions.

What's next?

In February, Zaghareed comes from El-Funoun, the Palestinian Popular Arts Group. This music and dance troupe, based in Ramallah in the West Bank, has been together since 1979, enduring all forms of adversity to further their mission of preserving and also challenging traditional Palestinian culture. Zaghareed is the first volume in Sounds True's Cafe International series, which we're doing in association with Dan Rosenberg, creator, producer and host of the "Cafe International" world music and interview program (www.cafeint.com) on WCBN in Ann Arbor, Michigan, and WDTR in Detroit. We also just finished making a record with oud master Hamza El Din.

How are you working to help your label find its niche in a genre that often has an uphill battle in the marketplace and in radio?

We're trying to create our own niche as a sacred world music label. I attended the WOMEX (World Music Expo) convention in Stockholm, Sweden, in October and learned a lot. There are a lot of world music labels out there, and the market isn't growing quite as quickly as all of us would hope. It's very difficult for our audience to expose themselves to this sort of music. If a person wants to hear it, they have to make an effort to find it, because they're not going to hear it on MTV or their local highwatt FM station. If it weren't for college/community radio and a very small handful of publications, as well as the Internet, you'd have to travel the world or spend a lot of money at the record store to find out what's what. (I highly recommend both methods, by the way.)

What is your relationship with college radio like? Because we're not in constant contact with radio, we often find ourselves talking to two or three different music directors at any given station over the course of a year, which means educating these different directors about us. Lately, we've scaled back our approach to radio. Instead of sending to all the CMJ New World reporters, we send to the stations who have a proven history of playing Sounds True's music and/or the stations we feel to be the most influential. Personally, I hate taking this "bigger is better" attitude - my background is in radio and I want to do all I can to support it — but it's a fiscal reality. We will gladly send an airplay demo to anyone who requests one. College and community radio are the only outposts in an otherwise bleak radio landscape that are daring and creative enough to play an eclectic mix of music, including world music. They want to hear something new and different. At a time when it's hard to tell the difference from one commercial station to the next, I think all of us small, niche labels owe a huge debt of gratitude to these stations that make it a point to play what no one else is playing.

What was the first profound experience you had with "world music"?

My first real encounter with world music came when I began volunteering at KGNU-FM in Boulder, Colorado. Discovering that great station's vast and eclectic music archive was like landing on Planet Utopia. I'd flip through the tens of thousands of records and bring home a dozen each night, absorbing it all. I've had many profound world music experiences. Even though it's not world music in the commercial sense, one encounter that jumps to mind is jamming with a Vietnamese man and his wife in a tiny little rooftop studio, in a hotel in Tuy Hoa, on the south Vientnam coast. He and I played keys, his wife played my guitar. Another was seeing Yungchen Lhamo one Sunday evening at the Knitting Factory. She sang a cappella, accompanied only by digital delay. The show had already started when I arrived, but this gentle music hit me like a ton of bricks the instant I entered the room.
