COVER STORY

10 Going On Instinct
Coming off of its icy, mood-swing of a debut, Denali now offers The Instinct, a warmer, more straightforward rock record that finds classic guitar riffs and cozy atmospherics nuzzling up to singer Maura Davis's intoxicating croon. And with the record's swirling soundscapes and dizzying dynamics, Denali is definitely turning dreams into reality: "For me," says guitarist Cam DiNunzio, "it's pretty much the band I've always wanted to be in, but never really knew how to create."

UNSIGNED ARTIST PROFILE HERO PATTERN

Members: Jason Kundrath (vocals, guitar), Rob Fitzgerald (bass, vocals), Pierre Marceau (guitar, vocals), Mike Kundrath (drums)

Base Of Operations: Sparta, New Jersey.

Formed: September, 2001 in Sparta.

Releases: The Reception split EP; Cut You Out

"Hero Pattern makes powerful and passionate indie rock that marries modern, kinetic textures to classic pop sensibilities in order to create a sound that is as timeless as it is vibrantly, undeniably now."

That's how this on-the-rise New Jersey quartet eloquently describes its sound who are we to argue? Cut You Out is an extremely promising debut album, made all the more impressive by the dedication on the part of the band that got this music out there in the first place. "The first and most important thing we did as a band was head into a good studio (the Pigeon Club in Hoboken, New Jersey) and record the tracks that would become the Reception EP — a split release with our friend and fellow New Jersey artist, Val Emmich," explains frontman Jason Kundrath. "While we didn't promote this release to press, radio or record labels, we were able to use it to get gigs in the metro area and establish contacts with promoters and bookers.

"It was also with this release that we first met and began working with Kristin Bredimus, who would become our manager," he continues. "She heard potential in the recordings and helped us put out our full-length record (recorded at Mad Moose Recordings in Morris Plains, New Jersey)."

Citing influences that range from Elvis Costello to At The Drive-In, the four bandmembers bring their diverse tastes together to form a fully coherent, hook-driven monster of a rock group, shining most brightly, appropriately, on their album's second track, "Monster." "The four of us are all on the same page," asserts Kundrath. "We have the same vision for our career and the same high level of dedication. We have great chemistry both onstage and off, and we've also had the good fortune of hooking up with the best manager in the world, who provides us with consistent focus, direction and encouragement. Her role in this team is priceless."

Of course, it doesn't hurt that Kundrath is joined in the band by his own brother, Mike, as well as bassist Rob Fitzgerald, who he's been playing with for seven years now. It was in 2001 that the full current lineup cemented itself, with Mike Kundrath and Pierre Marceau being invited to officially join up in a bit of an offbeat way: "Rob and I bought a couple of sappy Hallmarks from the local drug store and presented them to Pierre and Michael, formally asking them to join forces with us. They accepted our offer, Hero Pattern was born, and we entered the studio on the following day, united."

From there, things have just gotten better. "We've shared bills with some of our most admired bands," says Kundrath. "Pilot To Gunner, Ted Leo/Pharmacists, Dismemberment Plan and most recently, Superdrag, who we opened for at their farewell show at the Paradise Rock Club, during Boston's NEMO music conference." ("Best show ever," he quips of the latter gig.)

For Hero Pattern, the future is promising, and the present is rock solid. Take Cut You Out for a spin, and you'll see what we mean.

WORLD LEADER PRETEND

Fit For Faded (Self-Released)

High on a dose of OK Computer, World Leader Pretend forged the sonic template for the creation of Fit For Faded, which was written three years ago by two 18-year-olds and recorded on an $800 budget. It's easy to tell which tracks the New Orleans band knocked down and reconstructed in its own image: Opener "Panic Button" might not be as layered as "Paranoid Android," but it hints at the same grandeur, acting as the album's magnum opus. The keyboards on "A Small Thought" are akin to the xylophone that makes up the backbone of "No Surprises," with the song's progression revealing the complex songwriting of singer/guitarist Keith Ferguson — which is only masked in simplicity. Meanwhile, "Shape Shifter" may sound like Bleach-era Nirvana trying to emulate Mr. Bungle, but it also acts as the disc's "Electioneering." Even though Fit For Faded takes some cues from Oxford's finest, it's also the birthing of a young band's own sound. If WLP retains anything from its OK Computer fascination, it should realize that from here, it can go anywhere. — Brad Maybe

CMJ GETS CONNECTED

By this time, there's no doubt that file sharing has had a major impact on the music business — positive for some, and disastrous for others. Sure, lots of people will download a band's single before going out and buying the album, but there are also millions of people who download entire albums and only make the occasional foray into music stores to buy another 50-pack of CD-Rs. Downloaders usually justify their actions with one of several excuses: they might say CDs are overpriced, so they're taking money away from labels, not artists; or, the music industry is outdated and trying to make up for it by suing 17-year-old single mothers who are blind war veterans living in ghettos with broken legs, so it deserves everything it gets. Well, guess what — CD prices are dropping (Universal just announced plans to slash MSRPs on almost all CDs in the U.S.); and downloading has not only wreaked havoc on the thousands who have lost their jobs at major labels within the past two years, but small, independent labels, artists and record stores are all buckling under the weight of the new business landscape, as well. Meanwhile, the RIAA has done absolutely nothing to improve on its big bully, cigar-chomping, Mafioso image; and yes, major labels totally missed the online distribution boat, only offering sites that were overpriced, difficult to navigate, and containing very little of their catalogues. Even now, much hope has been placed in the hands of legitimate download sites like Apple's iTunes and BuyMusic.com, but the truth of the matter is, for the moment, even singles that hit the top of Billboard's "Hot Digital Tracks" chart usually only have online sales of a couple thousand downloads. And while every little bit helps, with single tracks selling at a buck a pop, it's not exactly the music sales revolution we've been promised.

As online music stores progress and continue to become more popular, record labels adapt, the RIAA continues to sue anyone that dares to look it in the eye, and the government decides the fate of digital rights, the next year will undoubtedly set the standard for the way music is marketed and distributed for the next era. With the launch of "Connected," CMJ will be there to keep you up-to-date on all the changes including the RIAA's latest anti-piracy tactics, emerging technology, changes in digital copyright law, the latest MP3 players, Internet radio station profiles, and the issues that affect all of us. STREETS All Got Our Runnins (Vice) Following up his breakthrough debut, Original Pirate Material, Mike Skinner, a.k.a. the Streets, tides over his fans with this online-only EP, which continues to mash Hip-Hop with British garage and two-step to create the perfect soundtrack for late nights of smoked-up Nintendo gaming. The EP's eight tracks (including four Original Pirate Material remixes) continue along the same Wu-vein of dark and musty musical blankets laying the foundation for Skinner's Guinness-soaked, playful cockney drawl half-rapping about London pub life. From the Oompa Loompa jam of "Give Me Back My Lighter" to the orchestral spasm of the title track and the instrumental sludge of "Streets Score," Skinner once again takes listeners through the back alleys of his psyche.

AZURE RAY

Hold On Love (Saddle Creek) When Orenda Fink and Maria Taylor — the two southern sirens that make up Azure Ray - collaborated on Moby's 18 record last year, who would have thought that the work would have had such a profound impact on their own music? On their third full-length, not only do the velvet-voiced crooners push the beats up in the mix, but the songs themselves are more upbeat and brighter than past efforts, piercing a ray of sunshine into the hearts of the gothic femme-folk duo's ballads. Not to say that Hold On Love is a completely new direction for the girls — mopey acoustic guitar plucks and organ chimes still press up against the silken vocal harmonies to fill all the cracks and crevices, but tracks like "New Resolution" find listeners being pushed deeper into the aural sweet spot, propelled by pulsing electronic and organic rhythms and lush waves of strings. "Look To Me," meanwhile, smolders with slow-burning atmospherics that nestle up to the

BETH GIBBONS AND RUSTIN MAN

Out Of Season (Sanctuary) Ever since Beth Gibbons lamented, "Nobody loves me," on the first Portishead album, she has held an esteemed place in the pantheon of melancholy musical deities. Blessed with a chameleon-like voice that can sound as dangerous as it does shattered, Gibbons thrived on the beats thrown her way by bandmate Geoff Barrow. And it's because of that uncanny ability to adapt her singing to the music that Gibbons remains astonishing even when the beat is gone. This semi-solo album, conceived with former Talk Talk member Paul Webb (operating as Rustin Man), serves as a showcase for just what the vocalist can do, as she morphs from sultry Jazz singer to wistful folkstress to torch song bearer. Lead single "Tom The Model" is the most reminiscent of Gibbons' regular band, but it's when she becomes almost unrecognizable, singing over quiet acoustic guitar ("Resolve") or a somber piano line ("Show"), that things get really interesting. Out Of Season either sees Beth Gibbons finally taking off her mask, or simply trying on a series of new ones. It's stunning, either way. — Doug Levy

AND THE MESCALEROS

Streetcore (Hellcat)

Joe Strummer was just getting started. His passing in late 2002 at age 50 came before he could savor The Clash's induction into the Rock And Roll Hall Of Fame. But awards were never Strummer's aim. His recent records with the Mescaleros were after something deeper and dubbier than he'd ever done before, while still holding tight the political fervor the Clash used to shake (and tear down) walls. The 10 songs on Streetcore prove Strummer still had a lot to say, and he packed it into some of his most memorable choruses. "Coma Girl" leads the set with a great air-guitar riff in the refrain, as the bolder "Arms Aloft" gives younger punkers something to shoot for with its incendiary chorus. The band throbs and throws its muscle into those tracks and into warped reggae meltdown "Get Down Moses," but the power was always fully in Strummer's hands, as evident on the two acoustic tracks -"Long Shadow" and the haunting cover of Bob Marley's "Redemption Song." Joe's gone. But he went down swinging.

HEY MERCEDES

Loses Control (Vagrant) A nation of millions (emo fans, that is) was already rooting for Hey Mercedes because of the band members' past affiliation — three of the Hey Mercedes kids started out in Braid, a group that is often elevated to a pedestal in the genre. However, Hey Mercedes's sophomore effort, Loses Control, is beefier, with more girth than anything Braid ever did. Ultimately, the past is just the past for Hey Mercedes, and it ain't looking back. Loses Control doesn't resist big power-pop ("Playing Your Song"), nor does it nix the semi-anthemic, postpunk style ("Boy Destroyers") that's spreading to MTV and mainstream rock radio like a plague. But it does wisely stray from the lovelorn "my grrrl left me" topics, instead centering in a wealth of impressive hooks. And, despite the title, this is a wellthought out, eloquently executed indie rock record that could quite conceivably see the same kind of platinum-sized success as Jimmy Eat World, while maintaining the underthe-radar cred of bands like the Get Up Kids.

TRACHTEN-BURG FAMILY SLIDESHOW PLAYERS

Vintage Slide Collections From Seattle, Vol I (Bar/None) As the saying goes: The family that plays hyper-quirky performance art-pop together, stays together. The Trachtenburg Family Slideshow Players — piano-playin' poppa Jason, slide-projectionist momma Tina Piña and pigtailed little drummer girl Rachel Piña (who, at nine-yearsold, can drum circles around Meg White) — perform sparse oddball pop based on slides excavated from yard sales. The bulk of Vintage is a giddy, six-song concept piece based on corporate performance-evaluation slides, sounding like vintage They Might Be Giants digesting Fast Food Nation. Without Tina's visual cornucopia of scavenged slides, the lyrics come off as a post-"Desolation Row," post-"Loser" barrage of non-sequiturs ("Frank Sinatra is Amish... We'll take a trip on a fast blurry bike") — turning accessible tunes into subversive jabberwocky with a flick of the context knob. Luckily, highlights "Mountain Trip To Japan, 1959" and Countrysides (iMUSIC) Eons before hipsters made "altcountry" a category on their MP3 players, Cracker's David Lowery was lobbing chunks of rock, pop and twang at the country music spittoon with a wink and a tug at his trucker cap. On Countrysides, Cracker tackles eight country near-classics, from luminaries such as Hank Williams Jr., Merle Haggard and Dwight Yoakum. The songs might hold a glimmer of recognition to some, but it won't matter, because Cracker took some liberties with the lyrics, while holding true to the music's pickup truck-driving spirit. Williams's "Family Tradition" and Ray Wyley Hubbard's "Up Against The Wall Redneck Mothers" are your standouts, but it's the disc's one original that will get the most attention. Far be it for Lowery not to indulge himself — he uses the country music storytelling platform impeccably to blast the band's former record label on the hysterical and cynical "Ain't Gonna Suck Itself." The only thing that would make this record better is a Crackerfied version of Barbara Mandrell's "I Was Alt-Country When Alt-Country Wasn't Cool."

CRACKER

BRIAN JONESTOWN MASSACRE

And This Is Our Music

(Tee-Pee)

People have always claimed that LSD from San Francisco is some of the best. So, if a young Brian Jones and Keith Richards ever acquired a batch of Owsley's finest back in '65, the result would surely have altered music history forever. Luckily, the Stones were an ocean apart from the experimental hippies of the mid-'60s. To compensate, however, modern idealist Anton Newcombe formed a musical contingent that has seen 40 members drift through its ranks in over a decade. Dubbed the Brian Jonestown Massacre, the group is a heavy dose of twisted psychedelic rock that claims to be "paid for by the committee to keep music evil." Its latest album is drenched with such lysergic instrumentals as "You Look Great When I'm Fucked Up" and "Prozac Vs. Heroin Revisited," alongside masterful rock jaunts layered with strings, horns and Newcombe's somber-vet-powerful vocals. Cruising along the psychedelic highway, And This Is Our Music stops occasionally to give respect to influential genres from the past, but primarily to refuel the mind for a long journey into the depths of unconscious delight.

LORETTA

The Translation (Benchmark) Although the members of Loretta reside in Indiana, the music they make could just as easily have come from the British Isles. With huge hooks and expansive choruses, this is a band that is just begging to be heard rocking out in stadiums. Producers Ken Lewis

(David Byrne, Soul Asylum, Public Enemy) and Paul Mahern (Lisa Germano, John Mellancamp) helped to give this record a sound that's dense, textured and mature, making it sound as if it could be the band's third album, even though it's only the first. All you people who stopped listening to Radiohead after OK Computer take note: Loretta's "Stolypin Neckties" could have come straight off The Bends. But don't call the band a 'head wannabe — the chaotic guitars on "Sinking Ships," for one, are obviously more influenced by late-'80s/early-'90s

American indie rock. With a very promising debut like this, give these guys a hightech studio and a huge video budget, and who knows what they might accomplish?

going on instinct

Acting on Instinct, Denali chips away at its icy exterior, revealing a record that makes dreams come true. Story by Louis Miller * Photos by Drew Goren ike any responsible rock star, Maura Davis knows the importance of having a good backup plan: "If it doesn't happen with Denali, I'm studying to get my B.A. to become an autopsy assistant," she says, in her characteristically hushed voice.

The singer/guitarist/keyboardist allows a long silence to ensue before she adds, "That's my other dream." A half-smirk creeps onto her lips, and her deep doe-eyes avert the disbelieving stares — she knows cutting up corpses isn't exactly the typical contingency plan, but there isn't even a hint of sarcasm in her voice.

Keeley Davis, Maura's older brother and Denali's bassist/synth player, shakes his head as he mutters under his breath, "I don't know where she got that," as if he's reliving their childhood memories, searching for the exact moment that caused his little sister's fascination with the other side of life.

Though unconventional, the sensuous singer's other professional goals seem oddly appropriate. The eerie isolation, creepy romanticism and bone-chilling conclusiveness that are usually reserved for spots in the morgue saturated the Richmond, Virginia quartet's debut eponymous album, released last year; guitars shimmer brightly before dropping into the depths of a digital dirge, with ultramodern blips cutting through Maura's fallen-angel moans. Guitarist Cam DiNunzio's six-string soliloquies soothe drummer Jonathan Fuller's fractured tub-thumping into glacial torch songs, ushering legions of fans into the band's icy embrace.

The band's debut was a dream come true for the young frontwoman, who had spent her childhood in the shadow of her older brother, who played in the angular post-rock outfit Engine Down with Fuller. "I've watched Jonathan and Keeley in bands since I was in middle school," recalls Maura. "I was just like, 'Oh, I wanna do that so bad!' Because, you know, they just look so glorious on stage. I dreamed about it."

Again, Keeley looks down, shaking his head at his obliviousness: "I had no idea."

But in April of 2000, when Maura finally approached Keeley with rough versions of some songs she'd been toying with, he was quick to jump on the opportunity to help her flesh them out, bringing them into a full band dynamic. "For me it was a chance to do something that I've always wanted to do," he explains. "Jonathan and I have been in bands that catered more to heavy rock guitars, but it didn't seem like there was an end to what we could try to do [with Denali]."

The band came together quickly, playing up and down the East Coast, scheduling shows around Maura's school schedule. Fronting her first band, Maura was hooked: "The feeling that you get when you play a big show in front of a lot of people and they appreciate your music — that's definitely even better than I thought it would be," she gushes.

The band quickly recorded a five-song demo that garnered the attention of Jade Tree, which soon invited it to join the label's roster. Denali's debut album swept up College Radio charts and brought in a fan base that spread far beyond the normal "scene." "This is the first band that I've ever been in that my parents like," shrugs Keeley.

Quick on the heels of last year's Denali, the band's follow-up, The Instinct, shows the incredible growth of a more mature and cohesive band. "With the first album, it was my first band and our first record, and I didn't really know what I was doing," confesses Maura. "I feel a lot more comfortable with my songwriting for this record. I wanted there to be more aggressive songs; I didn't want to be the girl that plays all of the sad songs and was always depressed."

Even though Maura may not have wanted to play the role of the despondent, anguished artist, the feelings were hard to avoid while writing for the record. "When I wrote it, it was at a period where all of these life-changing things were happening," she remembers. "You break up with your boyfriend, you fall in love with somebody else, and you get depressed for a while." But Maura's bubbly disposition makes it clear she doesn't feel sorry for herself. "It was very convenient," she continues, cheerily, "because I really had an easy time writing the songs and the lyrics — they just kind of came out."

With her heart squarely on her sleeve, Maura's writing took a step back from the spacey atmospherics and drugged-up despair that saturated her band's debut. Instead, The Instinct finds the band focusing on a more aggressive frontal charge, with the DiNunzio-Davis twin-guitar attack pairing with Keeley's throbbing basslines to chase down the tumbling tom-toms, creating the perfect cradle to spotlight Maura's mesmerizing vocals. The classically trained chanteuse weaves her silky wails between the pulsing rhythms, borrowing as much from Billie Holiday and Ella Fitzgerald as she does from Björk and Portishead's Beth Gibbons, to whom she is often compared. The result is a more determined, warmer rock record that still manages to subtly marry the electronic with the organic.

"With this record, we wanted to get a more progressive sound, and have it be more present and in your face," asserts Fuller. "The other record is really distant, which is cool, but we wanted this one to be like ka-booom! We learned to make everything count, and we stripped away any excess things and tried to be in the most pure form."

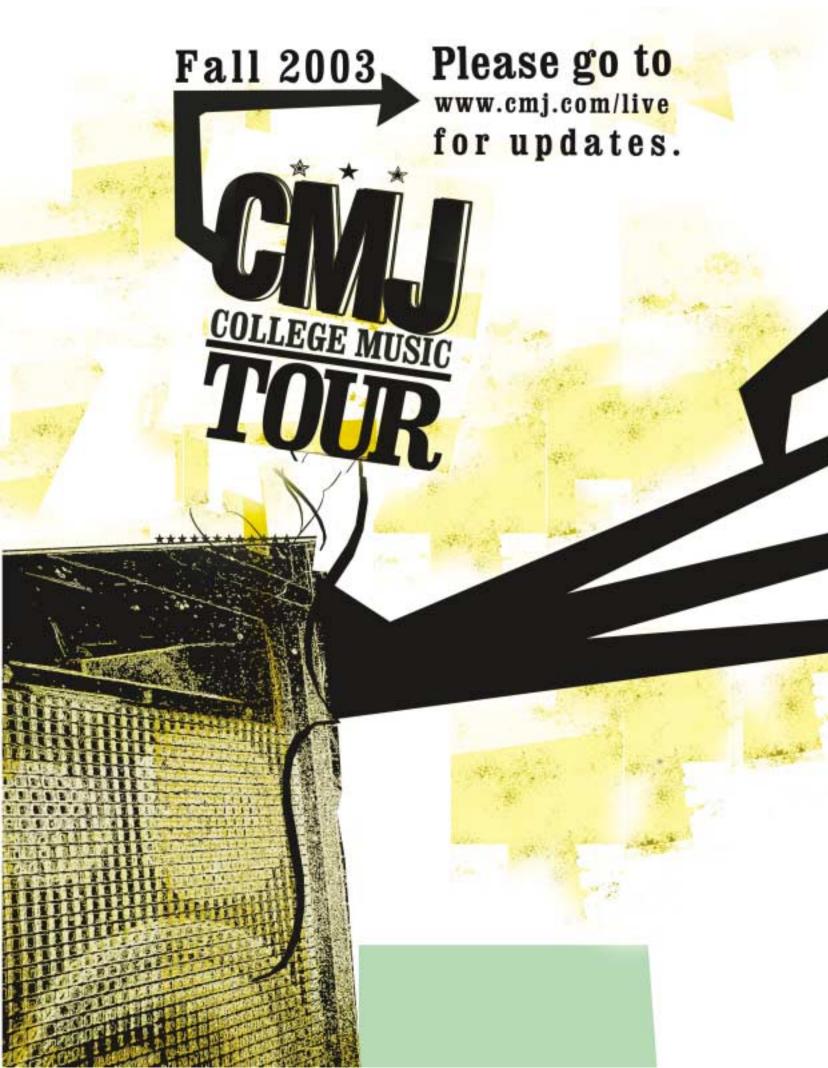

The Instinct is just that; an intrinsic tour de force that explodes with energy, grabbing listeners the first time, while still staying true to fans who have come to expect the minor-key beauty and sultry depth from the group's live show. "With the first record, people would see us live and be like, 'Yeah, you know, the record's cool, but it doesn't capture what you do," explains DiNunzio. "[We wanted] to connect immediately with the people who listen to the record, instead of waiting for them to find the right venue to listen to it — like a snowy evening in Tibet. I wanted people to be able to put the record in anywhere that they were and go, 'This is an amazing record. It floors me right here.'"

Indeed, The Instinct blasts off with "Hold Your Breath" — the album's first single, which allowed the band to shoot its first video. The jittery and slanted number finds Maura's vocals lilting up and down the register, held down only by Fuller's hyper-syncopated drumming. The song then flows seamlessly into the album highlight, "Surface," which plants Jimmy Page riffs over rapid-fire snare-rolls. Meanwhile, "Normal Days" helps wrangle in the end of the disc with a slow-burning build-up of tension that explodes into a searing chorus, with lush production equaled only by its haunting demeanor.

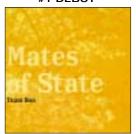

With what may end up being its career-defining album, Denali now sits poised for whatever looms ahead. But are its members ready for stardom? "I've always wanted to be on the VMAs," asserts Maura.

Again, there's no sarcasm in her voice, but slowly, that half-smile returns to her mouth as she continues, "But I'm happy with the way things are now, too." This time, Keeley knowingly nods along in wholehearted agreement. NMR oor Guided By Voices. Always the bridesmaid, never the bride. While GBV was busy growing roots at No. 2, My Morning Jacket swooped in to take over No. 1 and sent Ween packing all the way down to No. 10 in the process. Although It Still Moves absolutely deserves the honor, the disc still has some stiff competition, as the Raveonettes (6-3*) and Belle And Sebastian (62-6*) also took control of the Top 10 this week. Meanwhile, the Rapture (15-11*) and Thursday (19-14*) are looking good and should break into the Top 10 next week, as well. Also, don't count out Grandpa Bowie (83-27*), as the ageless icon's latest, Reality, is making significant progress. Boasting a cover of Jonathan Richman's "Pablo Picasso," which was popularized by Burning Sensations in the 1984 cult hit Repo Man, Bowie's Reality is a solid release for the elder statesman. He's got an original take on the line, "Pablo Picasso was never called an asshole," but he jazzes up the bleak post-punk heart with a warmer, new wave flare. Nobody ever called Mates Of State assholes, either. Its latest, Team Boo, entered the Radio 200 at No. 29. Other notable debuts of the week include: Atmosphere (D-37*), Apollo Sunshine (D-43*), the Shins (D-70*), Elvis Costello (D-84*) and KMFDM (D-89*).

KALX GETS TO THE BOTTOM OF THINGS

KALX/Berkeley, CA has its annual fundraiser coming up on Oct. 24. The station will solicit donations from 6 a.m. until midnight over the course of the 10-day event, offering CDs and T-shirts as gifts for listeners making donations. Having hit the $50,000 mark the past three years, the station has its eyes set on that goal again this year. In other station news, KALX has just hardwired local venue Bottom Of The Hill and will air the Epoxies' Sept. 26 performance there. Now that the station has a direct link to the venue, it hopes to broadcast more live

SKANKIN' AT WHUS

WHUS/Storrs, CT held the Westside Ska Festival on Sept. 20. Five hundred listeners gathered on the University of Connecticut campus to "skank away the summer." Bubba's

Fat Friend, Skaliosis, Lost In The Shuffle, Flip Ya For Real,

Super Specs and Big D. And The Kids Table all played the free event. WHUS even handed out some T-shirts and novelties from Blue Q., makers of the ever-popular Mullet Shampoo.

WMFO'S ADDICTIVE BENEFIT

On Oct. 4, WMFO/Medford, MA will host Coffee 'N'

Smokes, the second annual benefit for the station. The Bamboo Kids, Downbeat 5, Muck And The Mire and the Time Beings will all play the benefit gig, to be held at the Abbey Lounge in Somerville. Tickets are $8.

WMSE AND PABST:

PERFECT TOGETHER

WMSE/ Milwaukee, WI is sponsoring a few shows on the Milwaukee School of Engineering campus. On Oct. 17, Rufio and Motion City Soundtrack will play at the Todd Wehr Auditorium on campus, and then the Trachtenburg Family

Slideshow Players will perform on Nov. 8. In addition, the station is also working with the historic Pabst Theater in Milwaukee; WMSE sponsored jazz trio the Bad Plus there on Sept. 10 and will also sponsor a performance by the Cowboy Junkies at the landmark venue on Oct. 9. Furthermore, Danish duo the Raveonettes stopped by the station to play a set before its performance in town on Sept. 22

(how about hooking up CMJ with a copy of that?), and the Kills will be dropping by the station on Oct. 2.

RADIO K TURNS 10!

KUOM/Minneapolis, MN is planning to celebrate "10 Years Of Real College Radio," with special programming and concerts, during the entire month of "RocKtober." The hootenanny begins on Oct. 1 with a 10th Anniversary Kick-Off Party, featuring the Soviettes, Faux Jean and the Owls. The station will also hold a 10-day on-air fundraiser, dubbed the Fall PowerSurge. In addition, Death Cab For Cutie, the Long Winters, Polara and others will help Radio K celebrate its decade on the air with performances and visits scheduled throughout the month. And, if all that wasn't enough, Radio K will also release Stuck On AM 4, the latest installment of live recordings from the station. The disc, which will be released on Oct. 1, features Spoon, Tegan And Sara, Kid Dakota, Rilo Kiley, Lisa Germano, Har Mar Superstar, Sondre Lerche and more.

WHFR VOTED THE BEST, TURNS GREEN

Readers of the Detroit News have named WHFR/Dearborn,

MI "Michigan's Best Campus Radio Station" of 2003 in the paper's annual readers' poll. Congrats! In other news, the station will sponsor The Zone's Green Halloween Party on Oct. 25. WHFR's Origix and DC. who can be heard on "The Zone Radio Show," will host the event, which will feature some of Michigan's best artists. Undaground Affiliate, Ultramaddness, Hell's Kitchen, Grim Reality, Bag Of Hammers and Dice are all slated to perform. The $2 cover will go straight to WHFR.

CMJ SILVER SALUTE

Throughout 2003, CMJ will salute one classic College Radio album per issue in celebration of our 25th Anniversary.

PUSSY GALORE

Groovy Hate Fuck (Shove)

As if the song titles didn't say it all ("Cunt Tease," "Kill Yourself," "You Look Like A Jew"), the self-released debut 12-inch by New York-via-D.C. über-scuzzy anti-punk band Pussy Galore was as brash as brash gets. Groovy Hate Fuck was either a sick noisy joke by bored university intellectuals or brilliant deconstructionist rock by fuck-ups who couldn't play a note, but still made contemporaries Sonic Youth and Big Black look like, well, pussies. Punk tenets were exposed as fashionista fodder, metallic clatter was banged out like Einstürzende Neubauten covering Nuggets, out-of-tune blooz riffs were pigfucked, and film school dropouts snarled dirtball swears under an ungodly din. Head Pussy Jon Spencer would later lead his Blues Explosion to the Alternative Nation, while Neil Hagerty formed the slightly cleaned-up Royal Trux, but the whole Pussy posse paved the way for the provocative noise-mongers on labels like Skin Graft and Load. Teen pussy power! — Christopher R. Weingarten

Important Note: During the RAM BETA testing period, only a select number of stations are included in constructing the RAM chart and therefore a statistically reliable sample is not yet available. We are working with different variations of our technology and information presentation in plain view, so you can participate in RAM's development. If you have any questions or suggestions please email ram@cmj.com.

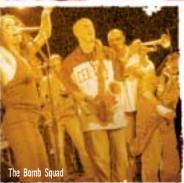

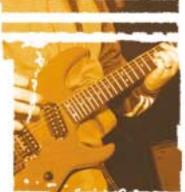

WHO WILL PLAY LIVE ON THE 31st ANNUAL AMERICAN MUSIC AWARDS? YOUR VOTE COUNTS.

3 remaining Finalists are entering the final round of Competition. On 10/23/03, they'll compete at the Knitting Factory during the CMJ Music Marathon in NYC. Only one deserving unsigned act will win the chance to perform LIVE on the AMAs, 11/16/03 on ABC-TV, 8:00p.m. (ET/PT).

aves The Day's fourth album, In Reverie, oozes with change for the now established band. Featuring a more upbeat, almost Beatles-esque pop sound, a different vocal approach on the part of singer Chris Conley and a few songs harboring some unusually dark themes, this new endeavor takes the band out of the pop-punk category and into a delicate, more mature realm of songwriting. CMJ recently had the opportunity to chat with Conley and bassist Eben D'Amico while they were on tour in Switzerland, about life on the road and what it was like to follow up their last release, the extremely successful Stay What You Are.

Chris, your voice sounds quite different on this new album. Fans are a bit taken aback. Why is that?

Conley: Over the last few years of touring, after playing so many shows in a year, singing so many songs night after night over time, I had to learn how to use my voice a little better. I had to learn how to relax and not strain, because that will wear you out on the road. I just learned how to relax, so that's why it sounds different on this album. I understand that it's different — I remember when Jawbreaker came out with their album Dear You; Blake [Schwarzenbach]'s voice sounded different, and I was upset at the time. But later, it became one of my favorite albums. I think it was the initial shock that threw me, so I can understand why people would react like that.

How would you categorize the vibe of In Reverie?

Conley: It's just about life in general — it's not easy; it's bound to be hard for everybody at various points. It is hard to stay focused on the positive; it's easy to slip underneath the water, and that's just life in general for me. I only assume what it's like for other people. The lyrics on the album, for me, are dealing with that struggle, of keeping your head above the water.

You're all from the New York/New Jersey area — were you guys home during the blackout?

Conley: Actually we were on a plane, on the runway at JFK, on the way to Los Angeles to shoot the video for "Anywhere With You." The captain announced that the power was out and that we were going to try and leave before they shut down the airport. They crammed a few more people onto the plane and we made it into the air about three minutes before they shut the airport down, so we were able to go and make the video.

D'Amico: I can't even think of how bad it must have been for those people stuck in the subways. Have you ever read the book The Mole People? It's about the people who live in the subways in New York City. It's real — a true story. It will make you never want to go on the subway anymore. It's crazy; quite a page-turner.

So what's this video like? Is it true "Anywhere With You" is not the original title?

Conley: We just saw the rough cut of the video yesterday. It's just us playing in a recording studio, standing in a circle, facing each other. And yes, the song was called "Cactus Stomp" — it was kind of random, and it was throwing people off a bit, so we changed it. D'Amico: It was called that before it had lyrics. Once it had lyrics, it didn't make sense. It was one of the first songs written for this record. We had a lot of demo material to work with, but when we started to work on the record that song stood out to us.

"It's easy to slip underneath the water, and that's just life in general for me. I only assume what it's like for other people."

— Saves The Day's Chris Conley

How's life on the road? Do you guys really get along?

D'Amico: I think we get along as well as any group of 10 or 12 people does in an extremely small space. You're physically close to each other every day for a long, long time. I think the fact that we haven't mauled each other yet is a testament to the fact that we get along.

Do you guys have any favorite rest stops?

D'Amico: I love the rest stops in the U.K. They actually have really excellent CD selections and they're really cheap too. We stopped somewhere the other day at 3 a.m. and I found the entire Motown singles collection for 12 pounds. I paid 60 or 70 bucks for that back home, so that's exciting. It makes stopping for gas fun for me.

Ah, so you guys are into Motown.

D'Amico: Motown is perfection in pop music. I think that's where pop music peaked.

ARE THERE ANY MUSIC PEOPLE LEFT RUNNING THE RECORD BUSINESS?

Answer this question many more at CMJ Music Marathon. Register at www.cmj.com/marathon FRIEND OR FOE?: Sure, the Warped Tour is fun most of the time, but sometimes you just have to fight. WBER's Joey Guisto was none too happy when he saw Kung Fu's Andrew J. Brawley make that fist at the Buffalo Warped Tour date, as he knew he was "cruising for a bruising," as they say. Luckily, Guisto's 10 years of intense martial arts training in the Andes paid off.

SHADES OF DISORDER: Okay, so the plan was that all Mooney Suzuki band members would wear sunglasses, and all WRRG staffers wouldn't. You'd think people could follow directions just once, wouldn't you? One time. Is that so much to ask? (Back, left to right): The Mooney Suzuki's Michael Bangs and Augie Wilson, WRRG's Jesse Valenciana, Erika Valenciana, Kelli Lynch and Dee Dee Feliciano, and (front) MS's Graham Tyler, WRRG's Rick Linus and MS's Sammy James Jr.

JOINING THE 'FOLD: No, WSOU still hasn't figured out how to take a hi-resolution digital photo, but what can we say? We love those guys anyway. Even if their nicknames can't quite compare to Avenged Sevenfold's. (Left to right) AS's Synyster Gates, WSOU's Tubby and Matt Tomasetti, Matt Gamba, AS's The Rev, Jen O'Brien, AS's Johnny Christ, WSOU's Jen Kajzer, AS's M. Shadows, WSOU's Brian "Hard" Coursen and AS's Zacky Vengeance.

If you've got industry related schmooze shots that you'd like to see featured in CMJ, send your hi-res 300dpi shots to dougl@cmj.com. Professionally taken prints can be sent to Doug Levy, CMJ New Music Report, 151 W. 25 Street, 12th Floor, New York, NY 10001. Please make sure all the people in the shots are identified.

ecently, CMJ caught up with Shai Hulud guitarist Matt Fox, who revealed that the group is apparently splitting up, due to some internal friction with singer Geert Van Der Velde. Rather than try to find a fourth singer for its fourth album, the band has decided to part ways. Interestingly enough, Shai Hulud will do a brief tour with original singer Chad Gilbert, who left the band to play guitar for New Found Glory. Fox and other members of the group will form a new band, sans Van Der Velde. So, it's almost as though the Hulud is just changing its name and getting a new singer. • If you get a chance to go see the Cave In/From Autumn To Ashes tour, make sure that you catch Cave In. Even if you aren't into the band's new stuff, because it's not as heavy as its past output, you still need to go. The Boston band is digging deep into its rich metalcore arsenal and playing tunes from 1999's Until Your Heart Stops, which is a near perfect metalcore album

Exhumed's realistic "dead shots."

— which, come to think of it, is probably the reason why Cave In changed its sound in the first place; when you make something perfect, you can't do it twice. • Dillinger Escape Plan has been performing new songs on the Take Action Tour. The new stuff is extremely memorable; it's still the same DEP noise that's frenetic enough to cause an epileptic seizure, but it's more along the lines of quirky Mr. Bungle noise. Those who were fortunate enough to be at the band's Philadelphia show were treated to a truly historical event: Original DEP singer Dimitri Minakakis came out and sang "43% Burnt" with his replacement, Greg Puciato. • As we went to press, Nile's The Art Of Noise II tour was set to kickoff on Sept. 30, with Kreator, Amon Amarth, Vader and Goatwhore in-tow. The band will also co-headline the first annual New Iersev Metal And Hardcore Fest, which takes place in Asbury Park, New Jersey, on November 14-15. Exhumed's Anatomy Is Destiny (pictured left) has been banned in Germany, due to the realistic "dead shots" featured on the cover art. Wait. Aren't Germans known for their rather limitpushing pornography? And they can't handle a bloody metal album cover? Pft. Sounds > like a real double standard, if you ask us. Exhumed vocalist/guitarist Matt Harvey commented, "Censorshit...here we go again. Well, censorship is nothing new to Exhumed, especially in Germany. It never fails that someone there is hell-bent on filtering what people can see and hear. Ultimately, despite every effort on the part of both Exhumed and Relapse to release *Anatomy Is*Destiny the way that it was intended, outside pressure from government ratings groups has blocked our record from being distributed in its current form.

The criticism leveled at the artwork on Anatomy is Destiny is that it was 'far too realistic.' The fact that we are encountering this is nothing but a sign that we're doing something right challenging the boundaries of morality and provoking an extreme reaction." • Project 86 have recorded a new album. tentatively titled Songs To Burn Your Bridges By. The band is currently embroiled in the mixing process with producer Matt Hyde (Hatebreed, Slayer). Hoobastank has dropped off this fall's Deftones tour. • Black Dahlia Murder is employing the Internet to find a new singer. The band has posted an instrumental version of "Funeral Thirst" on its Web site, www.theblackdahliamurder. com, which hopefuls can download and then record their vocals along with the music for submission to the band! And you though the 'Net was only for rumors and shit talking. • Cathedral has signed to Nuclear Blast America and a new album is due in early 2004.

LOUD ROCK Q&A... POISON THE WELL'S RYAN PRIMACK!

On the road in support of its Atlantic Records debut, You Come Before You, Poison The Well is currently enjoying a headline run with this year's edition of the Take Action Tour, a yearly jaunt that benefits the National Hopeline Network, an organization which lends support to suicidal youth. PTW guitarist Ryan Primack took some time to chat with CMJ about his band's involvement.

What's the number one reason that Poison The Well is on the Take Action Tour?

There isn't anything more important than people helping each other. The Take Action Tour is probably my biggest cause.

How does this type of tour help the cause?

Because music can often save wayward, damaged youths that are often contemplating suicide.

But what is the correlation between this type of music and the National Hopeline Network? Why does it work?

Because the bands on this tour, as far as I can speak for, are all really rooted in a scene that promotes people helping each other.

What band helped you get through a rough period in your life?

The Beatles have gotten me through rough periods in my life.

H.I.M.

Razorblade Romance (Universal) Loud Rock fans are sure to love H.I.M. for its music — a gothically tinged, new wave'ish entry into the heavy metal sweepstakes — and the metal specific cultural signifiers the band has incorporated into its image. For example, H.I.M. frequently references "666," named its Web site www.heartagram.com and has songs with titles like "Join Me In Death" and "Death Is In Love With Us." With some bands, this use of "dark things" would be cheesy, but with H.I.M., the bleak blackness and sadomasochism are essential components to the entire package. In Europe, the band is bigger than John Holmes, and with Razorblade Romance, the cult of H.I.M. has the potential to enrapture U.S. audiences — especially those who would prefer to kill, rather than cry over, an ex-lover. This is hard rock for those damned when it comes to love, but rather than wallowing in "woe is me" sap, H.I.M. weaves a tapestry of downtrodden anthems that make their points through singer Ville Valo's bellows and the band's respect for '80s music imbibed with an edge, rather than relentless screaming and riffing.

BURST

Prey On Life (Relapse)

Even though the suits at major labels have finally seemed to recognize that rap-metal is about as fresh as mayonnaise that's been sitting in sun for three days, there's still a plethora of dumbed-down metal filtering down from the mainstream. We'll be "PC" and not name any names, but we know that you know who we're talking 'bout. Conversely, it's labels like Relapse that continue to roll up their sleeves and dive in face first to scour the underground to find a band like Burst. Prey On Life refuses to adhere to any genre specifications and standards; instead, the band pounds out progressive metal that's sure to delight metal and hardcore fans the globe over. You won't find any melodic vocals, but you will be assaulted by Burst's knack for offering up a shimmering melody in the middle of a shitkickin' riff. See "Sculpt The Lives" for a more concrete example.

TRIVIUM

Ember To Inferno (Lifeforce)

Trivium calls Florida home. Given the Sunshine State's propensity for fostering so much death metal, you might be quick to assume that Ember To Inferno is a steaming slab of death. Not so. The album studies dutifully and diligently at the University of Metalcore, all the while taking classes in Euro-metal, especially on tracks like "Pillars Of Serpents" and "Fugue (A Revelation)." Let this review serve as a cheat sheet for all you radio programmers; if bands like Killswitch Engage, which skillfully marries retro and modern elements, light your metal heart on fire, then Trivium will set you ablaze.

FRANK LOWE DEAD AT 60

Tenor saxophonist Frank Lowe, who was part of New York City's avant-garde Jazz scene from the early-'70s onward, died

Frank Lowe

Sept. 19 at the home of his family. He was 60. A victim of complications arising from lung cancer, Lowe was taken out of the hospital the week before his death so that he could spend his final days at home after a long battle with the illness.

Lowe played the Vision Festival as part of Billy Bang's Sextet last May, at which point the saxophonist had already had one lung removed and, perhaps more telling, his signature grey dreadlocks were gone. His performance was a promising one: he was not quite his old self, but there was enough fire to give many in the audience hope that it was the start of a new beginning for the under-appreciated saxophonist.

Unfortunately, he never recovered.

Lowe was part of the post-Coltrane generation of avant-garde saxophonists. Over the years he played with Alice Coltrane, Rashied Ali, Sun Ra, Don Cherry, Joseph Jarman, Lester Bowie, Billy Bang, Joe McPhee, Saxemble and many others. A comprehensive discography can be found at www.mindspring.com/~scala/lowe.htm.

NOTES ON JAZZ: REWRITING HISTORY FOR A NEW FUTURE

As Jazz remix albums Verve Remixed 2 and Bird Up charge up the charts to join Madlib's Shades Of Blue (which has already been there for quite some time), it's heartening to note that these albums have been embraced at CMJ Jazz radio. Even though each has a different approach, all three have their merits.

As we continue to move forward, remixing has become as ubiquitous in Jazz as it has in Hip-Hop and dance music. It's interesting that folks on the cutting edge of music and technology find Jazz music so appealing. No doubt the music's open song structures make it desirable source material, but some, like Bird Up's Matthew Backer, claim there is a spiritual kinship with artists as well. Of course, it doesn't hurt that these remix artists are able to collaborate with legends that are often no longer with us. In effect, through these collaborations they are able to rewrite the history book and put the music in the here-and-now.

From the Jazz-heads' point of view, these discs will hopefully turn new audiences onto the music. (Verve even makes it easy by simultaneously releasing Verve Unmixed, which sells about half as well as its sister CD.) Unfortunately, that same cross-marketing hope was held for the Ken Burns packaging extravaganza that surrounded his Jazz documentary. In that case, a lot of Ken Burns product was sold, but there wasn't much overall impact or a long-term increase in sales numbers. Perhaps this time will be different.

One thing is for sure: some of the remixes now available are extremely compelling; the Funky Lowlives' version of Dizzy Gillespie's "Manteca" on Verve Remixed 2 is a slamming dance cut that should draw all but the dead out onto the dance floor. And the Hal Willner-led collaboration on Bird Up's "Salt Peanuts (The Mr. Peanut Chronicles)," featuring the talents of Kronos Quartet, Dr. John and Mocean Worker, is a rich tapestry of sounds, ideas and music that almost seems to be the work of divine providence.

It remains to be seen what the outcome of this Jazz remixing movement will be. Is it the bastard child of Jazz and other more modern forms? Yes. Is it a new style of Jazz? Maybe — if it is, it's not likely that any of the remixers consider themselves Jazz musicians, unless they were already. Jazz has gone through so many changes over the years, evolving and modernizing to stay current; but can the new movement in Jazz be carried on by artists not willing to be officially associated with the music?

Perhaps the answer lies in Jazz's history: Many of Jazz's standards come from pop songwriters of the time. No one will ever confuse Cole Porter, the Gershwins or the Tin Pan Alley composers with being Jazz musicians. It's the musicians' ability to turn the songs inside-out with style and improvisation that make it Jazz. Thus, we'd have to say that music couldn't be carried on without a Jazz approach. Remixing is remixing, regardless of the source material used, and some of it is very cool. And even though it's not Jazz in the strict sense of music with improvisation, there are some worthwhile similarities and differences that can be discussed in dialogue.

CMJ's Jazz section will be exploring various aspects of Jazz remixing and the electronic music interface in the weeks to come: There will be interviews with the producers of Bird Up and Verve Remixed 2 in this column. Moreover, this year's CMJ Music Marathon panel will be devoted to the topic of remixing and Jazz. Those attending the convention should plan on attending the panel, which includes Verve's Dahlia Ambach Caplin, Bird Up's Matthew Backer, Mocean Worker, Soulive's Eric Krasno, CMJ Jazz columnist Tad Hendrickson and perhaps a few surprise guests, as well.

ABBEY LINCOLN

It's Me (Verve)

Through a myriad of colors, moods, emotions and her singular — though somewhat limited — vocal range, the sage Abbey Lincoln comes closer to the spirit of Billie Holiday's music than any of her peers. Lincoln got off to a bang in the late-'50s and came back with several solid releases in the '90s. Now, with It's Me, the follow up to 2000's great Over The Years, Lincoln puts forth yet another strong effort, this time with a backing band fleshed out by an orchestra (a first!) on seven tunes. Always a writer, Lincoln had a hand in six tunes here, which stand up nicely next to Hoagy Carmichael's "Skylark" and songs from such contemporaries as Cedar Walton. The Lincoln-penned slow ballad "They Call It Jazz" is a heartfelt love letter to the music, but the album's highlight is the gospel-flavored title cut — the voice and piano arrangement is sold with exceptional performances by Lincoln and pianist Kenny Barron.

JOHN MCLAUGHLIN

Thieves And Poets (Verve)

The mighty John McLaughlin returns with an interesting album that shows two sides of the guitar master. McLaughlin the composer is spotlighted using the Deutsche Kammerphilharmonie Orchestra on the 27-minute title track in three movements. Here, the guitarist solos on acoustic as the majestic-sounding orchestra envelopes him, expanding the voicings of his playing and adding layers of harmonies and rhythm. Conversely, the rest of the album is rounded out by four standards that feature acoustic bass guitarist Helmut Schartlmueller and the classical acoustic guitar Aighetta Quartet, which McLaughlin used to record the Bill Evans tribute, Time Remembered. Rather than doing another Evans tribute, however, the sextet pays tribute to four of McLaughlin's favorite pianists, using each pianist's style as a template for the interpretation. This pithy and piquant work is a bit outside conventional Jazz, but is well worth the voyage.

MAROON

Who The Sky Betrays (Head Fulla Brains)

It's hard to put a finger on Maroon's sound, as the New York quartet comes from a Jazz background, but also features heavy doses of atmospheric modern rock and downtown Jazz. Singer Hillary Maroon's voice recalls Cassandra Wilson, as she works her own horn-like melody lines and cadences with a freedom not usually allowed for singers who have to stick to tight song structures. Highlights include the torchy original "Will It Matter To Me," the way-out-there "When The Storm Comes" and a cover of Radiohead's "The Tourist."

BASEMENT JAXX: AN INSIDER'S LOOK AT KISH KASH

Basement Jaxx (a.k.a. Simon Radcliffe and Felix Burton) landed on the world's dance music radar at a time when trance was at its peak. Luckily, the Jaxx's 1999 debut, Remedy, was a unique combination of house, Hip-Hop, R&B, and soul that provided an antidote to the trance infection. Then, the group's sophomore effort, 2001's Rooty, spawned the massive Pringle-popping single "Where's Your Head At?" and gained the duo global recognition. The much-anticipated new record, Kish Kash, takes all the magic from the first two and turns it into one monstrous Basement Jaxx bomb that might just be this year's finest dance record. Collaborations with Meshell Ndegéocello, Mercury Prize-winner Dizzee Rascal, the Bellrays' Lisa Kekaula, Siouxsie Sioux and N*Sync's JC Chasez provide added depth and diversity to the Jaxx's already uncategorizable sound. CMJ recently spoke with Radcliffe, who gave us a run down of each track on the disc.

"GOOD LUCK"

We got Lisa from the Bellrays to come over. Her music is very straight rock 'n' roll, and we thought it would be interesting to get someone like that and juxtapose it with something more alternative than we would do. When we recorded the song, it sounded really good, but very traditional. We needed to make it more relevant and "Basement Jaxx" and contemporary, so we went through many different stages trying to make the chorus powerful. One of the effects of this process is that on "Kish Kash," the song with Siouxsie Sioux on it, the backing track is the attempted chorus for "Good Luck." This is the way we often work - one thing comes out of another.

Meshell happened to be in London playing five nights at the Jazz Café, so we got a CD to her of the basic idea for "Right Here's The Spot" and "Feels Like Home," both of which she liked. She came into the studio one night and did "Right Here's The Spot" and the next morning, before she flew back to America, she did "Feels Like Home." By the end of it, she was absolutely exhausted, so we made a little bed for her in the vocal booth out of soundproofing cushion, and she went to sleep in the booth until it was time for her to go.

"BENJILUDE"

This features a 70-year-old guy that walks around Brixton with a Stetson hat, a large stick and a kind of poncho. Felix befriended him when he used to live in Brixton and got him to come into the studio. We like interludes; used sparingly and wisely, they help to blend things.

"LUCKY STAR"

The groove is a sample that Felix discovered. We started working on the beats and decided that we wanted some chatter on it. At the time, we had a white label of Dizzee Rascal's "I Luv U." Dance music being so bland, his track was like punk music. It's real and raw and exciting. He came in the studio and did the first verse, and then he went off to record his album - after that, he blew up, and we couldn't get a hold of him. We thought we were going to have to scrap the track. Luckily, at the last minute we got a hold of him and he did the last verse.

"PETRILUDE"

This features a friend of ours who does Jazz poetry performances. He came into the studio and just did some free association, just talking about life in a deep Jazz-ual way.

"SUPERSONIC"

This is an amalgamation of two songs we were working on. One was called "Sacred Steel," and the other song was the original incarnation of "Supersonic." We found the backing music to be slightly lacking on this track, and we then found that the "Sacred Steel" track was the same pitch and only a couple of tempos difference, so we stuck both tracks together and it worked.

"PLUG IT IN"

One day a friend of mine that works for live gave me a call and said that JC from N*Sync was in town looking for English producers to work with. He said that IC wanted to come down and meet us, and we said that was fine. We happened to be working on "Plug It In" the day he came in, and we asked him if he wanted to try some vocals on the song. He went in and tried a few things and he can just really sing. He was totally open to what we wanted and was totally respectful. He iust listened to what we said and did it.

"COSMOLUDE"

This is music from a four-track recording that I did when I was about 18. We took that recording and reversed it. The first half of the album is really in your face, so this just tells you that it's time to chill out.

"IF I EVER RECOVER"

This is a song that Felix wrote and sings, and the subject is one that he wishes to remain vague. Felix has a great voice. Before they know it's him, a lot of people say that they think Felix sounds like a girl, and one person thought he actually sounded like Dusty Springfield! That's a nice compliment.

"KISH KASH"

The theme of this is about money, and Siouxsie Sioux took this idea further and wrote the lyrics. I can't say that I've followed her career, and I was never a goth, but she definitely has a cool voice and is her own person. She commands a lot of respect for what she did and when she did it — being a part of the whole punk thing.

"TONIGHT"

This was originally an instrumental, and then we got this girl named Phoebe to come in. She did this vocal that has a filmy, '50s, blues/Jazz sound to it. She doesn't normally sing that way, but she sort of fell into this role she was playing and did that voice. It sounds like we sampled it from an old film.

"HOT AND COLD"

This features Felix on the first verse and a girl named Emily Oldfield on the second verse. My father met her parents somewhere and he told them that I work in the music business. Her parents said, "Our 18year-old girl is a singer, and she'd love to meet Simon and find out how to get into the business." So she took the train down, only to have a talk, but as we're often prone to do, we asked her to jump into the vocal booth to see what she could do. If she only knew we were talking about her!

"LIVING ROOM"

This is the closest thing to an actual jam session that we've released. I'm just playing guitar and Felix is singing, and then we just puts some beats behind it.

"FEELS LIKE HOME"

This is the first piece of music we worked on after months of touring for Rooty. We were exhausted and I was questioning what it was all about whether the Basement Jaxx was still true. Touring and hearing the same songs night after night — after a while, all your enthusiasm just goes. We got a bit lost touring and wanted to have a break. The first thing we came into the studio to do was just something that was soothing; saying that everything is all right. So we did the music, and when Meshell was in town, we sent it to her. We kind of suspected that she would be into this, because we felt it was her vibe. True enough, it was.

Kish Kash is at radio Oct. 21.

SATOSHI TOMIIE AND HECTOR ROMERO

Undulation 1 (Saw)

In just two short years, Saw Recordings has built up a worldwide reputation for delivering solid house music. Of the 21 singles the label has released, not one has been available in any format other than vinyl — setting the perfect stage for Undulation 1, a disc packed with Saw's greatest cuts and mixed to perfection by label bosses Satoshi Tomiie and Hector Romero. "Sketch," from Medway And Sean Cusick, starts it all off on the somewhat spooky side, serving as the perfect intro before Blue Haze's "Rumble Funk" meets Bipath's "Paranoize" in a progressive dance floor war. From there, tracks shift between the electro bounce of Missy ZeZe And Presslaboys' "E.F.X. (European Fusion X-perience)" to the dark bang of Madam's "Penetration (Madam vs. Bipath Flipped Dub)," through to a stroll down Lexicon Avenue with three versions of the group's monstrous track "Why R U Here." The mix winds down with "Scandal In New York," from Tomiie's newest project, Ice, and closes with a brand spankin' new track from Echomen, titled "Cure."

MARK FARINA

Air Farina (Om)

Mark Farina became an international sensation for mixing instrumental Hip-Hop with jazzy soul, in a style dubbed "Mushroom Jazz." The appropriately named Mushroom Jazz CD series soon followed and helped to launch OM records, while becoming an instant classic on its own — due in part to the inclusion on the first disc of one of 1997's best tracks, Blue Boy's "Remember Me." Several more mix CDs followed, but with such a busy schedule, Farina never got around to record his artist album... until now. Despite a wealth of collaborators, including OM labelmates Kaskade and People Under The Stairs, the sound of Air Farina remains distinctly his own; Farina doesn't get too risky here and sticks closely to the formula that made his DJing popular. Meaning that, most importantly, he has created an album's worth of material that sounds just the way his fans will think it should.

CHEMICAL BROTHERS

The Singles 93–03 (Astralwerks)

We all know how dope the Chemical Brothers are, but sometimes it takes a massive compilation like this to really show how much an act means to dance music. It's all here: tracks from the early days ("Song To The Siren," "Chemical Beats"); the collaborations ("Setting Sun," "Let Forever Be," "Out Of Control," "The Test") and the new stuff ("Golden Path" and "Get Yourself High"). However, if you get your hands on it, the real treat lies in a limited bonus CD packed with loads of unreleased songs and remixes. The Chemical Brothers have rocked the block for the last decade — and here's to another 10 years.

Those of you familiar with the Ladies Lounge at the Warped Tour will be happy to know that it has been expanded to a nationwide jaunt, dubbed the "Girlz Garage Tour." Participants include snottybut-intelligent Hip-Hop trio Northern State (pictured), The Start, Brassy, the Peak Show and poppy girl group Lillix. The big show kicks off Oct. 20 in Boston and wraps up Nov. 22 in Detroit.

Def Jux recording artist C-Rayz Walz is spreading the word of real Hip-Hop this fall: the next stop on his road trip is Oct. 18 at The Vibe in Austin, Texas. Visit www.definitivejux.net for more information on Walz and his tour.

Headbanger's Ball has made a triumphant return to MTV2, and to celebrate the comeback, we're getting ready for what's sure to be one of the season's most intense live shows. The "Headbanger's Ball Tour" features the mighty Killswitch Engage, Shadows Fall and Lamb Of God, three of the 10 Loud Rock bands that CMJ put on its cover in June. This traveling monster-fest runs from Oct. 28 to Dec. 3. You've been warned.

Legendary German DJ Paul van Dyk is coming to America for a few select dates: Oct. 30 in Los Angeles; Oct. 31 in Seattle; Nov. 11 in Charlotte, North Carolina; and Nov. 15 in Las Vegas.

The always-charming Ted Leo And The Pharmacists are embarking on an extensive American outing, including a show at New York's legendary CBGB's on Oct. 24 that will see Leo and the gang play as part of the CMJ Music Marathon. See www.tedleo.com for the full report.

The shy Scottish Nick Drake admirers in Belle And Sebastian are coming out of their shells long enough for some U.S. concerts in support of their latest release, Dear Catastrophe Waitress. Frontman Stuart Murdoch brings the traveling circus to Atlanta on Oct. 26, with the tour continuing until Nov. 14.

British rock band Elbow is finishing up some U.S. dates promoting its excellent new album, Cast Of Thousands. The remaining dates are Oct. 17 in Seattle; Oct. 18 in Portland, Oregon; Oct. 20 in San Francisco; and Oct. 21 in Los Angeles, so catch them while you still can!

CMJ REWARDS SWEEPSTAKES OFFICIAL RULES

HART OF THE MATTER

hen CMJ's Steve Ciabattoni came to me following an interview with Elvis Costello—who opened up about his latest release North (No. 15 debut on this week's Retail 100), and spoke candidly about life as a Universal artist, downloading, JumpSTART, his favorite record store and his engagement to Diana Krall—there was no other decision to make but this: let the man speak out. It's an honor for me to turn the column's spotlight on a legend this week. Er, Elvis that is, not Steve.

You wrote this very tender record amid a more raucous tour with your band the Imposters. Was this the music you wanted to hear after coming home?

I just started to hear this music because that's where my feelings lay at the time. I don't know if it was the music I wanted to hear, but it was the music I was hearing. I'm very fortunate in that respect because I've left myself open to different types of music. I can enjoy screaming my head off with the Imposters and then come home to find these songs taking up my late evenings and small hours.

It's romantic stuff, in the sense that romance can be about bliss and joy or about crying and cutting an ex-lover's face out of old photographs.

The great thing is that everybody will hear it differently. I haven't tried to make a record so specific to one person's experience that no one person can understand it. But I know that everything on the record is true and I know that I feel it. So I hope that people feel one way or the other—or some other kind of mood entirely. Then I will feel we've achieved something.

You've written some mellow, standardsinspired songs before, but these seem much more personal, very unmasked.

The minute you do something that's fresh to you, somebody will say, "Ah, well it's a version of this." It isn't a standards-related record. Yes it's informed by all of the music I've listened to, but it has as much to do with songs I've listened to from the 19th century as it does songs from the 1940s and '50s. Certainly the emotional language of these songs is much less coded than you would find in the era of Ira Gershwin or Lorenz Hart. They obeyed certain romantic conventions and their brilliance was in making those romantic conventions make you feel some genuine human emotion and truth. But they didn't do it by revealing the raw sense of experience. And there is some of that raw sense of experience in some of these songs on North. Somebody like Joni

Mitchell made it possible for other people to abuse the liberty that her brilliance put into the language of songwriting. She made it possible for people to feel like you could speak directly. The point that they missed is that you have to have her power to do it really well. A lot of bad imitators came after just simply spewing out their experiences unedited. I don't think my record sounds any better if you know anything about my life. I won't deny that some of the emotional touches of the songs are things that I can very much understand. But you don't have to know anything about me any more than you have to know about any of those songwriters from the '40s and '50s, and that's where I do pay some allegiance to them. But then there are other elements where the songs have a more classical structure. A song like "You Turned To Me," for example. If you can keep your ears open to learn, there's a beautiful sense of miniaturization in some of those classical pieces. Schubert is a great songwriter. If you don't listen to him, you might as well not call yourself a songwriter. You've got to listen to him as much as Lennon and McCartney or Bob Dylan or Kurt Cobain or Thom Yorke, or some of the lesser-known guys like Ron Sexsmith or Tim Hardin. You've got to listen to it all.

Where do you like to buy records when you're on the road? Didn't your mother work in a record shop?

Yes she did. I was very lucky, the years when I was growing up were very rich in music. My dad kept an open mind about music as well. He gave me my first Joni Mitchell record, my first Grateful Dead record and my first Mingus record. My single favorite store is Village Music in Mill Valley, California, and I've been going there for 20 years or more. It's always a thrill to go there. There's always something I find there in the vinyl store—obviously they're selling CDs now—but I like to find records that haven't been reissued. I like to hunt around, but I'm not a collector who's into the different labels or editions. I'm into the music. That's all I care about.

Both labels and retailers have grave concerns about downloading. Do you see the war on music piracy to be as futile as the war on drugs?

Well, pirating music won't actually kill you like drugs. It's your choice if you want to fuck yourself up. If people want to share stuff they're making themselves and put it up on the Internet so people can get it, that's a very valuable use of this resource. Stealing other people's music and putting it up there is not acceptable. Even though everybody admits that it's slow and not good quality, there's still the temptation for people who don't understand the morality of it, or they don't understand the way the business works. They imagine that everybody that makes records are millionaires. It is unambiguously stealing to download. I won't listen to any bullshit argument about music being free or that it's a blow against the corporations. That's nonsense. The corporations, by the by, have been stealing both from the artists and the audience for years and Universal just admitted it by lowering their prices 30 percent because they are in such dire straits. It's a desperate fire sale tactic by an industry that's admitting its utter bankruptcy in terms of creativity.

I say that as a Universal artist. And I have a very good relationship with one particular division of Universal, but in the main, the record companies have been set up as the casino and they've had the game fixed for years. [They] have been stealing from the artists by not paying them their due royalty, and stealing from the public by overcharging. And for the RIAA to sue individuals like 12-year-old girls is just ludicrous. Utterly ridiculous and toothless. What they should be doing is going after the conduit through which the file-sharing services exist. Why don't AOL sue themselves? They own the record company and the thing through which the file-sharers are abusing their copyrights. They could sue themselves and cut out the middleman.

On to another contentious topic. So, at the wedding, who gets to pick the music? [Laughs] That's a state secret.

-Interview By Steve Ciabattoni

Notes	One of emo's best and brightest—formed from the demise of Chicago's revered proto-emo ensemble Braid—Hey Mercedes returns with a bigger, fatter sound for their sophomore release. Produced by Sean Slade and Paul Q. Kolderie (Radiohead, Dinosaur Jr.). Part of the November CMJ New Music Mobile Program—look for your in-store play disc this week.	Part of the November CMJ New Music Mobile program, Wilson unleashes her trademark sensual voice on originals and covers (Sting, Dylan, Willie Nelson, Muddy Waters and Abbey Lincoln). Made in Cassandra's hometown of Jackson, Mississippi—her 14th release! Currently featured on PBS's Martin Scorsese-produced The Blues —(see installment directed by Wim Wenders).	A collection of delightfully warped guitar pop. The aptly named To My Surprise is the ultra-poppy side-project of—get this—M. Shawn Crahan the clown from platinum grindcore nonet Slipknot! Produced by none other than Rick Rubin, great for fans of Cheap Trick and Joe Jackson. Contact Marc (schapiro@roadrunnerecords.com) for in-store play copies, stickers and videos.	Atmospheric emocore co-produced by Chad Taylor, guitarist from Live. Recommended for fans of Sense Field and Cave In. High-profile color print ads: Amp, Rockpile, Alternative Press, Revolver, Wonka Vision, Zero, Caustic Truths, MeanStreet, Chord, Destroy All and many more. Played Hellfest 2003. Color posters (3k) and two-song CD samplers (30k) available, contact raj_debah@redmusic.com.

COUNTER CULTURE: WAX 'N' FACTS Section by Kory Grow • kgrow@cmj.com

reative Loafing [the famed Atlanta alt-weekly] printed a pretty funny review of the record store," says Sean Bourne, manager of Hotlanta's Wax 'N' Facts, "describing us as, 'Opinionated. Helpful. Prejudiced.' We'll always give you an opinion, it's kind of High Fidelity-ish."

One opinion that Sean is currently very vocal about concerns the recent Universal pricing strategy. "Bigger record stores are used to suckling off the big teat, and now the big teat is saying, 'We're not sure if we like doing this anymore,'" Sean says. "Most of what we sell is indie stuff. What did Barsuk do? Did they jump at the chance to sign with major distro? Heck no! They, like us, would just assume keep their options open. We like dealing with one-stops and independent distributors. We might take a hit in a cost here or there, but it affords us much more flexibility in getting product on the shelves."

Staying uncompromisingly independent is how Wax 'N' Facts has made a name for itself for the last 27 years. Founded in 1976, Wax 'N' Facts originally sold both records and books, nixing books after a couple of months. Wax 'N' Facts, naturally, specializes in vinyl (two-thirds of it used), focusing on indie rock and classic R&B—a dedication to eclecticism that has garnered them numerous accolades... including being named Atlanta's best record store by the aforementioned Loafing.

Q&A with Sean Bourne, manager, Wax 'N' Facts

What local press affects sales most?

Creative Loafing and the Atlanta Journal-Constitution. There's a real good monthly magazine called Stomp And Stammer that we often advertise in, and they cover a lot of stuff that's real relevant to what we sell.

What radio station affects sales most?

WCLK, which is the Clark Atlanta University jazz station. They do a lot of urban, hip-hop and jazz. For indie rock, [Georgia State University's] WRAS and WRFG, the local community station. We like the little stations. The radio programming in Atlanta is so screwed up, it's such narrowcasting, you wouldn't believe it.

Wax and fax.

Do you have in-stores?

Our latest in-store was Patrick Park. He's not getting any airplay, as far as I can tell. We had posters and inserts and a well-timed ad in Stomp And Stammer. In the past, we've had Cracker, John Wesley Harding and John Doe. We haven't done many in-stores lately, because it's really hard to set them up.

What is your most effective program? I'd have to say word-of-mouth [Laughs]

I'd have to say word-of-mouth. [Laughs] We don't have too many programs.

What other programs do you offer? Are any of them discretionary?

We have an ISIS listening station, BMG popped one in not too long ago and we will set one up of our own pretty soon—but co-op dollars will probably be the first to go. We have some billboard space out front that faces the street, with album covers. Thousands of cars move up Moreland Avenue every day, so the labels like to have it, even if we're not selling a lot of that particular album. Inside, we rent out poster space to labels. Of course, we do value-adds and have a giveaway section.

What types of non-traditional promotions have worked best?

It's not non-traditional... we cut our prices. We operate on a 25-to-20 percent margin. We definitely are at 40 percent markup at the high-end. That cuts into our ability to give people a discount. We're competitive with a lot of places that offer really cheap prices the first day, or first week, but our prices are that way all of the time.

What display materials work best for you? Definitely posters but we like the big ply-

Definitely posters, but we like the big plyboard displays. Mobiles are nice, too. But in-store play still draws the most attention.

What records are your current and alltime favorites?

Loneliness Knows My Name, by Patrick Park and Jethro Tull's Benefit.

What's the first record you bought? Where?

My first album I bought was In-A-Gadda-Da-Vida by Iron Butterfly at the K-Mart in Savannah, Georgia.

What's the best concert you've attended?

Jellyfish, at the Cotton Club right after Spilt Milk came out, on one of the first headlining shows after touring with Tears For Fears. None of their gear or computers worked, so they just played like a rock 'n' roll band, and I thought they were just incredible.

NEWSWORTHY

Last Unicorn Put To Sleep

The Last Unicorn chain will soon be down to the last of the Last. The Washington Mills location of two-store New York institution Last Unicorn is packing its horn and moving all its magical wares into its New Hartford store.

"We are 'consolidating stores,' as we like to call it," says Marc Smith, owner of the 'corn. The Last Unicorn's lease is up in October, but their problems are less financial and are more of a "there-goes-the-neighborhood" variety: a Best Buy, a Target, a Super Wal-Mart and a Barnes And Noble all recently opened within a half-mile of one of their stores—and that's the one they're keeping open!

Last Unicorn Washington Mills carried over 100,000 pieces of used vinyl, which they are clearing out in a massive Mill draining that goes until the store's Columbus Day weekend shuttering. So far the sale has been an overwhelming success. "It's like people were starving for music," Marc says. "We just sold tons of catalog stuff. We need to go out of business at least once a year!"

Universal Removes Prices From New Plan

Only a few weeks after Universal announced their controversial JumpSTART program—a plan to lower the list price of all CDs to $12.98 while simultaneously removing all coop ads within retail—the company has said that it will not specify a price on the CDs, succumbing to pressure from major retailers.

Instead of putting a consumerfriendly "$12.98" sticker on all their product, Universal will put stickers on CDs that plainly state that they are priced lower—although Universal believes that most retailers will price them near $13 anyway. While many retailers have applauded that decision, most are still reeling from Universal's move to force retailers into bearing the brunt of the margin squeeze and giving up co-op space to their now lower-margined artists.

In other news, the CMJ Retail Coincidence Of The Week: Universal's top three retail customers are Best Buy, Wal-Mart and Target!

Bizarro World Update: Kazaa Sues Record Labels

In a ballsy legal move, the company behind the Kazaa filesharing service—scorn of the RIAA and perpetual burr in record company ass-filed a lawsuit in late September accusing entertainment companies of using unauthorized versions of its software to hunt down filesharers Sharman Networks, the makers of Kaaza (hey, thanks for helping us download that new Ying Yang Twins album, guys!) claim the companies have been using "Kazaa Lite," an advertisementfree (and quite delicious sounding) replica of Kazaa, to get on the network.

The case Kazaa suing the record industry for copyright infringement will be settled in the U.S. Justice Department's new "Irony Court." Place your "quotey-fingers" on the Bible and swear to tell the "truth," dudes!

This September, Looney Tunes once again saved the day by showing independent retail's brute force in developing artists. Over 300 kids sulked into the West Babylon, New York retailer to rub satchel-to-satchel with fellow fans of Vagrant's emo-metalcore stormtroopers From Autumn To Ashes (above). Looney Tunes owner Karl C. Groeger Jr. watched from inside his 4,000-square-foot store. "The place was mobbed," Karl says, "you couldn't move another inch.'

If that wasn't enough, Saves The Day played the following Monday to 350 fans. And more Looney Tunes in-stores followed: Yellowcard, On The Might Of Princes and Matchbook Romance. "It's like emo-punk heaven-bliss these six weeks," Karl says.

Astronomers will be attending all of the in-stores, tearfully reminiscing over a recently closed local planetarium by watching the stars tattooed on everyone's arms.

REPORTING DATES Sept. 26 - Sept. 30

CMJ REPORTING HOURS

6 a.m. Friday – 2 p.m. Tuesday EST www.cmj.com/reporting/

NOTE TO REPORTERS: Printed playlists reflect airplay reported to CMJ two weeks prior to the magazine's cover date. The number of station playlists printed each week in CMJ is randomly determined by available space.

CMJ REPORTING GUIDELINES

CMJ Airplay Reporters must submit reports weekly, via the online interface located at www.cmj.com, prior to 2 p.m. (ET) every Tuesday afternoon, abiding to the following guidelines:

- "Adds" are the new and current albums that a CMJ Airplay Reporter makes available for airplay and reasonably expects will receive airplay during the forthcoming week.
- Albums reported in a CMJ Airplay Reporter's Top 30 playlist must represent the 30 most played current albums on the station during the preceding week. Because we are a "new" music publication whose charts are album-based, reporting re-currents (or recordings more than a year old) or singles is not necessary.
- Airplay reports that do not correlate with actual airplay, also known as "paper adds," are not permitted under any circumstances.
- When CMJ cannot vouch for the accuracy of an artist and/or recording on a station's airplay report (we do so by investigating our own internal database, searching the Internet and/or consulting with online music retailers), the listing in question will emain in its position on the playlist however, it will be preceded by an asterisk, as in "Beatles, to designate that it could not be verified at press time. CMJ will then utilize all available resources to verify the unverified listing either prior to the week's reporting close or before the next week's reporting period commences.

OK SMARTY PANTS, HOW WOULD YOU FIX THE MUSIC BUSINESS?

Answer this question and so much more at CMJ Music Marathon. Register at www.cmj.com/marathon

SIRIUS

CMJ & SIRIUS SATELLITE RADIO have teamed to bring you the weekly CMJ New Music Report radio show, a two-hour program featuring tracks from the Top 20 CDs at college and non-commercial radio, as reported to CMJ. In addition, each show highlights the Artist Of The Month from our sister publication, CMJ New Music Monthly, the weekly No. 1 songs at Loud Rock, Hip-Hop and Retail, the Tour Of The Week, plenty of music news and lots more.

Hear the show on Sirius' Entertainment stream

135 SATURDAYS AT 10 A.M. (ET)
& SUNDAYS AT 8 P.M. (ET)

Commencing Autumn 2003, the CMJ New Music Report radio show will be made available to college and non-commercial broadcasters via syndication, complete with revenue-generating underwriting opportunities to directly benefit your station.

it's ON

For details on how your station can clear the CMJ New Music Report show, send an Email to Mike Boyle at mikeb@cmj.com.

If you're a music industry company that would like to have your message heard on either the CMJ/Sirius show or the syndicated version, call Mike Boyle at 917.606.1908, Ext. 261 or send an Email to mikeb@cmj.com.

To find out how you can get Sirius Satellite Radio, featuring 100 digital sound-quality, coast-to-coast streams of satellite radio (60 commercial-free, plus 40 streams of sports, news and entertainment), visit www.siriusradio.com.
