The Editor's Letters (In Random Order)

Most people would agree that the biggest change to non-commercial radio these last few years has been the proliferation of online capabilities. Terrestrial radio stations were always locked into a certain marketplace by the very nature of their being. Yet, what was once regarded as a neighborhood mouthpiece is now a global commodity with regional ties. The ability to be heard worldwide means that the old local show needs to be redefined, for what is local now?

The most obvious answer is that local music is from the surrounding area within which a broadcaster resides. Though in an online community where audience is based upon ISPs rather than zip codes, who the hell cares about this limited definition? I'm pretty sure most artists do. For when regional pride works to an artist's advantage, it can sometimes define an entire genre—Krautrock, Detroit house, Belgian waffles... and so on.

You've likely noticed a great deal of non-North American coverage through the many CMJ offerings lately. As developing artists from all over the map continue to improve their craft, so too must we find the ability to draw attention to their hard work. Fortunately for everyone else in the world, the dwindling dollar means it's easier than ever to get themselves and/or their music to the US. This increased accessibility to different musical territories is unprecedented.

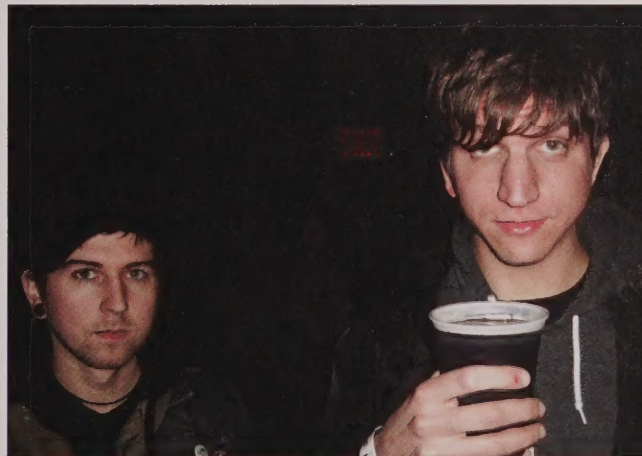

While it's certainly important for us all to continue extending our reach for a new audience or talent pool, we need to do so while strengthening local ties to the immediate community. Many local acts—and the local radio that broadcasts them—exude a particular sensibility gleaned from their hometown experience. And it's that exotic flavor fans everywhere are attracted to—that, and really strong talent.

Rev. MOOSE

Crystal Stilts

Alight Of Night (SLUMBERLAND)

Shrouded in a cloak of static guitars and lo-fi soundsystems, Crystal Stilts perfect a new breed of lo-fi surf rock that has been ripped away from the usual shores by mad, mad riptides then shorn to bits upon the breakers. An almost spiritual experience, this debut album is dotted with bizarre pop songs and after-midnight minimalist psychedelia that echo the sounds of '60s "The"-named guitar twangers as well as end of the century post-punk noise rockers. Over distorted guitars come tambourines ringing like distant sleighbells piercing through a midwinter blizzard, giving a spooky veil to the opening track, "The Dazzled," and the eponymous "Crystal Stilts" (yeah, they went there) mixes a "Wipe Out" bassline with jangley pop and echoing, monotone vocals. Surf's down. LH

Dears

Missiles (DANGERBIRD)

It's inspiring to see that after so many members have come and gone, the Dears are still creating lush, breathtaking constructions. Murray Lightburn, with more support than ever from Natalia Yanchak, continues to build incredible sound terrains, harkening back to the early days of the Canadian indie-rock boon. Their last two studio albums were similar in style, featuring epic pop creations of orchestral beauty. "Dream Job" is another excellent example of the band's haunting ability to build complex songs. However, some of this album's moments are more stripped back, allowing Lightburn to demonstrate his vocals are just as significant as the music. Though the comparisons of Lightburn to Morrissey are old news, he is slowly becoming a similarly iconic voice. JP

Gang Gang Dance

Saint Dymphna (SOCIAL REGISTRY)

Gang Gang Dance's fourth album pushes their mercurial sound even further into dance party territory, as even the most ethereal tracks have an underlying glowstick step. On "Princes," guest MC

Tinchy Stryder spits pretty standard raps over nearly "Chopsticks" piano, '80s video game noises, and the shrill vocals of a giggling nymph floating in and out of the scene. "Inners Pace" is not only a great pun, but a sonic kaleidoscope that stutters, bounces, repeats and rewinds. It's like using every noise and hitting every button on your first keyboard to show mom and dad what cool music you can make with your new toy—inadvertently making it sound like a futuristic, culture-fusing orchestra of flashing lights and neon. TK

Sebastien Grainger

Sebastien Grainger And The Mountains

(SADDLE CREEK)

Better known as the drummer/vocalist of Canadian dance-punk duo Death From Above 1979, Sebastien Grainger reinvents himself with his first full-length solo album. Embracing the change fans have so desperately imagined since the announcement of DFA79's split, Grainger's euphonious aspirations mark a drastic turn. The music of Sebastien Grainger And The Mountains is dirty dance-rock packed with Pixies-esque guitar riffs, buoyant synthesized hooks, cymbal-heavy drums, and Grainger's signature lo-fi vocals, crooned instead of yelled this time around. A seemingly vast departure from Death From Above's pandemonium, it sounds as if Grainger has simply channeled his once abrasive tendencies into more danceable music, clean enough to capture new ears but with enough punk rock residue to keep old fans tuned in. LAC

Hank IV

Refuge In Genre (SILTBREEZE)

Though a Volcano Suns revival sounds too good (and odd) to be true, let's lump this San Francisco gang into a junkyard pile with Brooklyn's Freshkills and Philly's Pissed Jeans then immediately seek a bottle of chlorine. More catchy than Pissed Jeans, more apt to blow a bloodvessel than Freshkills, and with a singer that may have actually seen the Volcano Suns, Hank IV are also the most proudly rock'n'roll band on the recently resurgent frazzle-bash label, Siltbreeze. All that substrata babble pertains, pal, because this second Hank IV heave is some serious, sweaty, used bin re-pound for cats who know what a used bin is, and empty it more frequently than their brew-battered bladders. A bumper crop of searing stab-rock! ED

School Of Seven Bells

Alpinisms (GHOSTLY INTERNATIONAL)

When Ben Curtis left Secret Machines to regroup with the twin team of Alejandra and Claudia Deheza, there were grumbings from the secretly mechanical fanbase. But once the chant-like, minimalist overtures of "Iamundernodisguise" give way to the rest of Alpinisms' delta-wave-ready squall of psych-synths, the grumbling will get lost in the undertow. The Deheza sisters can bring a robotic feel to the electronic atmosphere, and they've got a unique gift for singing parallel-fifths that flare up over the dirty drum loops and airy dream pop. When they're on, as in the epic closer, "My Cabal," it's downright transcendent. If you really wanted to ignore the out-of-body atmosphere, Alpinisms would be a watertight, three-chord pop album. But why ignore the atmosphere? TT

Sleeping In The Aviary

Expensive Vomit In A Cheap Hotel

(SCIENCE OF SOUND)

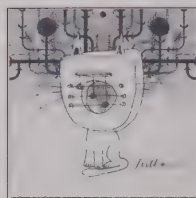

Despite lyrically heavy content—and the fact that this album was written the very same week frontman Elliott Kozel experienced the deaths of two close friends—Expensive is nonetheless full of blithely charming up-tempo songs. At nearly 45 minutes long, the band's second album provides a pleasantly tailored listen throughout. While songs like "Write On" are incredibly infectious, other tunes, like "You're A Party," crescendo with polished nonchalance and delicacy. Then "Things Look Good" has a Dylan-esque vibe to it with a friendly harmonica, nostalgic gritty vocals and catchy guitar chords. Alternately somber, poignant, lively, or even a bit waltzy, Expensive Vomit In A Cheap Hotel will leave you neither nauseous nor drowsy. CG

Teith

Oak City (THIRTY GHOSTS)

If done well (and Oak City is), synth-heavy instrumental rock can be more than just artful background noise. It can convey stories and give vividly to emotions when words might muddle the feeling. "Coffee Is A Cruel Mistress" greets you as you get out of bed with heavy, sluggish beats, the sounds of steel scraping against sandpaper mimicking dragging feet. Then a half-beat pause and the track explodes into static, cymbals, drums and rapid blips like a robot computing equations—a disorienting, chaotic, caffeinated crackle. Oak City spins four such tales with IDM programming techniques, industrial percussion and layers of sound that weave in and out of focus, allowing room to give the music your own language. TK

Totally Michael

Totally Michael (IHEARTCOMIX)

It's a shame that there's a rap group already using the name Little Brother, because Bloomington, Indiana's Totally Michael comes off like the giddy, sugar-addled sibling of Brooklyn's pop-tastic indie label, IHEARTCOMIX. Atop paper-thin synthesizer wooshes and plucky beats, and shoved along with the enthusiasm of an army of 13-year-old boys, Totally Michael regales us with tales of bicycle rides, cheerleaders and crushes on Winona Ryder ("I'm not a high class retail outlet, but I'd like you to steal my heart.") The key to Michael's success is that, like his spiritual predecessor, the almighty Andrew W.K., his hilarious music never sounds like some ironic hipster put-on. Witness "Casual Satisfaction," certainly the most sincere song about boners in recent memory. MT

LOUD ROCK

Cradle Of Filth

Godspeed On The Devil's Thunder

(ROADRUNNER)

Dani Filth's low rumble evokes a hunched, hooded figure chanting the album's narrative of Gilles De Rais, a 15th century French nobleman who fought alongside Joan Of Arc before becoming a serial killer. It's a story perfectly suited for COF's faster, clearer musicianship, haunting melodies, symphonic interludes and Dani's bat-shriek screams that mirror De Rais' victims' pain. Most of today's metal falls somewhere between those teetering on the edge of hard punk and the gaggle of bands with interchangeable breakdowns and deep vocals. So whether you love or hate them, there's something to be said about Cradle Of Filth polishing their unique, sociopath-writes-a-musical sound and keeping it relevant on their ninth release. TK

RP

Squarepusher

Just A Souvenir (WARP)

This far into the Squarepusher catalogue, it follows that Tom Jenkinson would feel like settling down. His twelfth album takes ingredients from acid jazz and IDM and blends them with Jenkinson's blazingly virtuosic bass playing to nevertheless make something weirdly grounded (for Squarepusher). Bass lines skip, pummel and screech their way through the strangeness. "Tensor In Green" sounds like an acid trip soundtrack to the Haunted Mansion ride at Disneyworld; and the acoustic noodlings of "Aqueduct" open up into temporal manias of electronic ADD. The flirtations with free jazz on "Duotone Moonbeam" (caution: a union with eternal spirit may occur) are as far from an Amen break as you can get, but in typical Squarepusher fashion, its sounds even weirder than it sounds. TT

TRIPLE A

Lucinda Williams

Little Honey (UNIVERSAL)

On her ninth studio album, the queen of Americana-rock returns with some of her most urgent work to date. The raucous opening track, "Real Love," is brimming with blues-bursting guitars, soulful country twang, and Williams' sultry snarl. On "Little Rock Star," she gives Pete Doherty a good ol' finger-wag, with Matthew Sweet and Susanna Hoffs contributing haunting harmonies. The highlight is the barn-burning duet with Elvis Costello, "Jailhouse Tears," where Williams repeatedly tells her "three time loser" lover how he's "all fucked up." To close, Williams does an enormous cover of AC/DC's "It's a Long Way To The Top (If You Wanna Rock 'N' Roll)," with such grit that Bon Scott would've raised his glass. This ain't your uncle's Lucinda. TD

JAZZ

Sleepy John Estes

On Highway 80 (DELMARK)

The previously unreleased Highway 80 was a throwback to old blues techniques even in 1974, when this was recorded. The surefire setup: put two legendary bluesmen in a studio with the familiarity that comes from a near lifetime of collaboration to produce timeless music. Sleepy John Estes (vocals, guitar) is joined by Hammie Nixon, who plays amazing harmonica and even legitimizes the kazoo as an instrument. Blues fans will appreciate the traditional recording methods when they hear the raw emotion in tracks like "President Kennedy." The ease with which the musicians work together shines through, especially on "Vernita Blues," where Nixon's harmonica and Estes' guitar sound as if they're one instrument played by one incredible musician. PGB

HIP-HOP

Mighty Underdogs

Droppin' Science Fiction (DEFINITIVE JUX)

The rap supergroup comprised of Blackalicious's Gift Of Gab, Latryx's Lateef The Truth Speaker and producer Headnodic finally completes its full-length debut. "Underdogs" is appropriate—these under-the-radar titans of rhyme don't have nearly the profile they deserve in the rap scene. When wild west gunfights are subject matter ("Gunfight"), and an entire track is dedicated to a cappella dog bark beats ("Doglude"), originality is apparent. The beats in general are out of this world, and each track is meticulously adjusted to suit the odd topics at hand. But this is still a standard rap record in one sense: the trip is supported by a bevy of guest stars, including DJ Shadow, Damien "JR" Gong/Marley, Raashan Ahmad and more. JP

Aterciopelados

Rio (NACIONAL)

Colombian acoustic duo Aterciopelados (literally "the velvety ones"), intertwine meticulous song craft and poignant lyrics on this socially conscious album. The two, Andrea Echeverri and Hector Buitrago, tackle a plethora of issues from hot-button immigration laws to the protection of Colombia's lifeblood, its rivers. Recorded in their hometown of Bogotá and mixed in New York by Héctor Castillo (who has worked with Brazilian Girls, Gustavo Cerati and David Bowie), Rio exudes a fresh international spirit. In addition to popular guests like Colombian rapper Gloria "Goya" Martinez and Andean band Kapary Walka, frontwoman Echeverri's six-year old daughter, Milagros, adds a sweet innocence to the already charming "Ataque De Risa" (laughter attack) that balances the mainly serious intent throughout. LH

Lead Single: "Floodgates Released"

Release Date/Add Date: October 21/at radio

Radio: Marc Debiak, radio@eyeballrecords.com

Distributor: ADA

AN ALBATROSS The An Albatross Family Album (Eyeball)

CMJ.com

The kookcore slicer-dicers from a metaphysical road somewhere between Philly and Brooklyn add loads of guest musicians and attendant orchestrated ballyhoo to their explosive psych-punk.

RIYL: Mars Volta, Jaguar Love, Locust

Key Tracks: "Floodgates Released," "... And Now Emerges The Silver Pilgrim," "Starving On Rabbit Meat"

Web: www.analbatross.com

Tour Diary: This ever-touring band—known for their incendiary circus of a live show—are currently on a full US run with equally manic Japanese brain-blast rockers, DMBQ. There will then be stops October 24 at Knitting Factory for CMJ Music Marathon followed by PopMontreal, with UK and European jaunts afterwards.

Fun Fact: In addition to the basic five-man lineup, 17 musicians and other special guests, including a "spiritual advisor," make their way in and out of Family Album. The record's roll call is a reunion of virtually all of the band's current and former members from 1999–2008.

Bloc Party

Lead Single: "Mercury"

Release Date/Add Date: Out now/at radio

Radio: The Syndicate, college@thesyn.com

Distributor: WEA

BLOC PARTY Intimacy (Atlantic)

CMJ.com

On their stealthily recorded and released third album, Bloc Party both refine their past accomplishments and push their sound further with dance rock numbers, echo-drenched ballads and electro-ragers.

RIYL: Chemical Brothers, Cure, Franz Ferdinand

Key Tracks: "Mercury," "Ares," "Halo"

Web: www.blocparty.com

Tour Diary: Kele and the boys played the main stage at Lollapalooza this summer, and performed a free show at New York City's Roseland Ballroom.

Namedropping: The group split production duties between Paul Epworth and Jacknife Lee, who helmed their first two albums.

Fun Fact: Bloc Party recorded Intimacy in secret, and surprised their fans by releasing it in late August via their website shortly after premiering the lead single, "Mercury." The physical copy, available now, includes additional tracks like the song "Talons."

Moonlighting: The Web 2.0-savvy band first announced the existence of their new album during a web chat.

Deerhunter

Release Date/Add Date: October 28/at radio

Radio: Amanda Colbenson, amanda@chouetteshop.com

Distributor: Revolver

DEERHUNTER Microcastle (Kranky)

CMJ.com

Atlanta's Deerhunter can summon noise as terrifying as Christopher Walken challenging you to a game of Russian roulette. But on their third album, they also offer up melodies as graceful as a young fawn.

RIYL: Sonic Youth, Liars, Jesus And Mary Chain

Key Tracks: "Nothing Ever Happened," "Little Kids," "Never Stops"

Web: www.deerhuntertheband.blogspot.com

Namedropping: Producer Nicolas Vernhes recorded the group at Rare Book Room studio, after having mixed the group's previous album, Cryptograms.

Fun Fact: After Microcastle leaked to the internet months before its release, the group recorded another album, Weird Era Cont., that was intended as a surprise for fans who purchased the album. That also leaked.

Moonlighting: Singer Bradford Cox releases solo albums of ambient pop under the moniker Atlas Sound; guitarist Lockett Pundt records as Lotus Plaza; and bassist Josh Fauver also works with the group Sudden Infant Death Syndrome.

Kaiser Chiefs

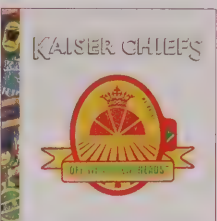

Lead Single: "Never Miss A Beat"

Release Date/Add Date: October 28/at radio

Radio: Adreana Thompson, andreana.thompson@umusic.com

KAISER CHIEFS Off With Their Heads (Universal/B-Unique)

CMJ.com

These Leeds gentlemen deliver another album full of ebullient neo-punk tunes and shout-able harmonies. Off With Their Heads is a foot-tapping, hopelessly, unabashedly catchy third record.

RIYL: Bloc Party, Bravery, Fratellis

Key Tracks: "Never Miss A Beat," "Good Days Bad Days," "Always Happens Like That."

Web: www.kaiserchiefs.co.uk

Tour Diary: The band will begin gallivanting around the UK October 8. By November 11, they'll be hitting the US, playing in Los Angeles, Chicago and New York City.

Namedropping: Off was helmed by hot-shot producer Mark Ronson. It features backup vocals from New Young Pony Club and Lily Allen on the first single, "Never Miss A Beat," and Allen sings again on "Always Happens Like That."

Fun Fact: Kaiser Chiefs took their name from a South African football club that Lucas Radebe, former Leeds defender, once played for.

O'Death

Lead Single: "Lowtide"

Release Date/Add Date: October 28/at radio

Radio: Justin Gressley, justin@aaminc.com

O'DEATH Broken Hymns, Limbs And Skin (Kemado)

CMJ.com

Mixing dark punk and fast-tempo folk, this Brooklyn band's second album keeps you hooked to the very end with inventive and deliberate drumming, screeching violins and swooping vocals in a ragged gothic brew.

RIYL: Catfish Haven, Devendra Banhart, Iron And Wine.

Key Tracks: "Lowtide," "On An Aching Sea," "Lean-To"

Web: www.odeath.net

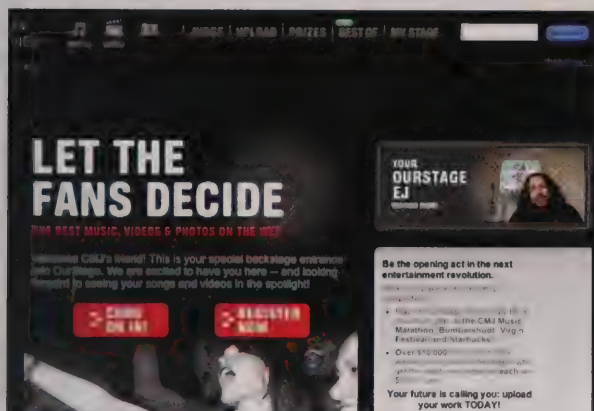

Tour Diary: O'Death has a tour planned that spans the US and Canada starting October 30 and not ending until the beginning of December.

Fun Fact: For "On An Aching Sea," drummer David Rogers-Berry replaced his drum kit with scrap metal and found items, many of which were destroyed during the recording process.

As Seen On: The band will be featured October 28 on NPR's "World Café."

Smuggling New Zealand's Most Delicious Kiwis Across Borders

Story By Lisa Hresko

Japan's got its noise scene, Norway has black metal flooding its fjords, Germany is bumping with chest-pounding urban DJs. But what happens when we turn our ears southwards, across the Pacific and far below the Tropic Of Capricorn? Winter is summer and summer is winter and football is rugby and your toilet flushes backwards! What the hell is going on there? The music climate favors a more sedate rock scene than its northerly counterparts and the language of choice is a rather accented version of the Queen's English. No it's not the Twilight Zone (or Middle Earth). You're in New Zealand now.

Aside from the International Date Line and gaping ocean, not much separates us in the musical sense. Although the music from the islands is diverse, it heavily leans toward twee melodies and experimental indie, two types of tunesmithing that have been getting more notice than ever in the crowded Stateside market. Sure it might be far off on the map and stakes claims to Antarctica, but New Zealand is a hot-spot (literally, the countryside is dotted with volcanoes and stunning black sand beaches) for emerging artists. True, perhaps we haven't taken enough notice of the homeland of CMJ favorites Die! Die! Die! or Sub Pop signees the Brunettes and the Ruby Suns, but even in our internet age where it's easy to track down sounds, it's truer than ever that the live show is still one of the best ways to engrain your band into another country's consciousness. And New Zealand's isolated locale is an inherently hard bridge to cross between it and even its closest neighbors.

Enter NZ On Air's Phase Five Program, a government agency that works with musical artists to breach these barriers, breaking the levies to let the flood of Kiwi musicians wash over a high-profile international audience. On Air focuses on the broadcast media area of both national and international promotions, helping bands get airplay for almost 20 years. Over time the program has been a success, garnering an increasing amount of airplay for Kiwi acts on both New Zealand and North American radio. NZ On Air's Mike McClung (NZ Music Promotion) and Brendan Smyth (NZ Music Manager) tell CMJ about their strategic plan of attack.

Tell us a bit about yourselves.

Brendan Smyth: I've been with NZ On Air since the beginning, 1989, when the agency was set up. Before that I was ten years at the Arts Council which is like the National Endowment For The Arts in America. At the Arts Council, I did the music job. At NZ On Air, I did the radio job, but that became a music-on-the-radio job. I created and still run all of NZ On Air's programs to get more New Zealand music on the radio. I've got no music credentials at all! I can't sing and I can't play the guitar, but I am a big fan. Still I get a buzz from a loud Shihad show or hearing an advance of the amazing new Cut Off Your Hands record.

Mike McClung: I'm not too sure how I ended up working in music seeing as I can't play a note and definitely can't sing. After finishing high school I got a job at a local radio station as the midnight-to-dawn jock. Thankfully, it wasn't long before I got promoted. I worked in radio for ten years, both on-air and as a music programmer. That led into a six-year stint working for EMI Music New Zealand in promotions and marketing. Around that time we were signing a lot of New Zealand acts and putting a good local roster together, so it was a great place to work. Then in 2006 Brendan Smyth asked me if I would like to work with him on the Phase Five scheme at NZ On Air, and here I am.

Give us a little background on NZ On Air.

BS: NZ On Air is like the Arts Council of the airwaves, like the National Endowment For The Arts, except that it's all about broadcasting—radio and television, but nowadays also “transmission on demand,” as it extends to the internet. The main mission is to make sure that New Zealand culture and identity is well represented on the New Zealand airwaves so that we are not swamped by imported culture. NZ On Air is fundamentally a funding agency, mostly funding programs that will get played on radio and television—drama shows, documentaries, arts programs, etc. We are a government agency, and so we are taxpayer-funded. NZ On Air is mostly about television production funding. But under the Broadcasting Act, which is NZ On Air's mandate, we are also challenged to get more New Zealand music played on the radio, without resorting to quotas like Australia, France and Canada, but using positive funding intervention. For example, we fund albums by bands with good airplay prospects; we fund nearly 200 music videos a year; we have a new artist discovery program where we seek out unsigned bands and fund a debut radio single; we fund networked or syndicated New Zealand music shows for radio; we produce the Kiwi Hit Disc, which is a sampler disc of new New Zealand music that we deliver to every radio station in the land every month; and we employ radio pluggers to promote the Kiwi Hit Disc at radio. All up, we spend NZ$5.5 million a year on promoting New Zealand music.

When NZ On Air started, New Zealand music was pretty much invisible on the radio in [our country]. Not on student radio, which has always championed local music, but on commercial radio it was less than 2%. Today it's about 20%, which is still not enough from our point of view, but it's ten times more than it was, and that has really stimulated the whole New Zealand music economy.

What about Phase Five?

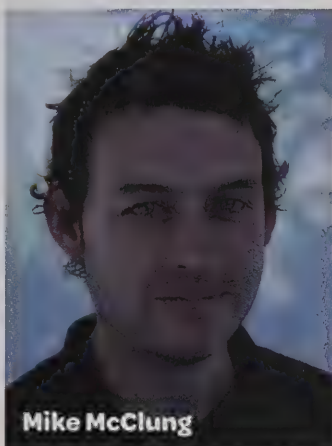

BS: Most of NZ On Air's music work is focused on the New Zealand airwaves. That's 85% of our work. But a couple of years ago we branched out internationally via what we call the Phase Five plan. The Phase Five mission is to introduce New Zealand music to the world, to get New Zealand names, faces and sounds out to an international audience using the music media so that bands and local labels can grow the audience for their work beyond the tiny New Zealand market.

What happened to Phases One through Four?

BS: "Phase Five" is really just a working name for the international program, but it has stuck! We called it Phase Five because if you look back on the evolution of NZ On Air's work, it has developed in five waves. Phases One through Four are focused on the local airplay campaign; Phase Five is the international airplay campaign. Phase One was funding for music videos and radio shows back in 1991; Phase Two was when we started making the Kiwi Hit Disc in 1993; Phase Three was employing our own pluggers in 1997; Phase Four was the result of a boost in our funding by the new Labour-led government in 2000 when the NZ On Air music budget doubled. Then we introduced three new programs: More Plugger Power, which means more resources for promotion; More Music Television, which helped get our great C4 national music television channel off the ground; and More Money For Making And Marketing Music, which is funding for albums and debut radio singles by new artists.

How are you actively getting New Zealand music out to the world?

MC: We may be biased, but we reckon the music coming out of New Zealand is world class, so we like to let the music speak for itself. Hence the bulk of our promotion is via CD samplers. We marry that with an online presence at www.kiwihits.com.

Mike McClung

"We may be biased, but we reckon the music coming out of New Zealand is world class, so we like to let the music speak for itself."
– Mike McClung

In terms of college radio, we teamed up with CMJ for the first time last year and have been producing a series of Phase Five NZ Music CD samplers that go out four times a year with CMJ New Music Report. The role of these samplers is to provide exposure and build a profile for the artists and give people in the industry an insight into some of the music being made in New Zealand. We also work with an artist development company in L.A., and with trade publications in the UK and Australia to help spread the word.

One of the challenges of living in a small country at the bottom of the world is that a territory like the US is so far away. So for our artists to take a shot at the US market, it takes a considerable financial investment. We run a funding program whereby we assist acts with the cost of a promotional campaign in an overseas market. So if a NZ act is releasing a record in the US we can kick in and offer some financial assistance towards the cost of a radio promo campaign.

The government in New Zealand has been tremendously supportive of the arts in recent years, and there are also other agencies in NZ charged with helping get our music out to the world. Our sister agency, the NZ

Brendan Smyth

Music Commission, offers a funding scheme called Outward Sound that offers grants for artists to explore and exploit international opportunities.

How has US college radio benefited your artists?

MC: When we were formulating our plan for the US, we knew the college stations would be infinitely more open to new music than the commercial networks, so trying to develop a relationship with college radio was a no-brainer, really. And we're realistic.

We know it's not going to happen overnight, but we are starting to see some impact. Two Kiwi acts have picked up US management as a result of our involvement with college radio. In terms of airplay, we've invested in the college radio campaigns for Liam Finn, the Brunettes and the Ruby Suns, and they've all gone well. The hook-up with CMJ has worked well for us. We had a great NZ showcase at CMJ Music Marathon last year, and we're back again to showcase four new bands this year.

Summarize your personal NZ On Air mission in 10 words or less!

BS: Get as much New Zealand music out to as many people as possible.

MC: Worldwide domination! Well, maybe not worldwide... but certainly some of it!

CMJ PRESENTS... PHASE FIVE NZ MUSIC »»» <<<

It's time to get the annual CMJ Music Marathon New Zealand update underway. The Kiwis have once again compiled a winning CD of all their best new music of the year so far and we're delighted to be offering it to conference attendees again – as well as plugging the New Zealand party as one of the must-try-and-get-into events on badge-holder's CMJ to-do list.

Last year, Rhys Darby – a.k.a Murray Hewitt from HBO's Flight Of The Conchords – hosted a packed-out shindig at The Delancey. This year the New Zealand party is back again at The Delancey, this time on opening night – Tuesday October 21st at 7PM.

RHYDARBY will be there again with Cut Off Your Hands, The Ruby Suns, The Naked and Famous and Bang Bang Eche performing.

The Class of 2008 CD kicks off with CUT OFF YOUR HANDS 'Happy As Can Be'. This bustling Spector-esque number is the opening track from the group's forthcoming debut album, produced in London by man-of-the-moment Bernard Butler. The ex-Suede man's pop smarts are a perfect match for COYH and this is an exciting taste of an album that is set to explode in '09. Their live show is one not to be missed – the group has recently toured with other hot acts including Black Kids and UK's Wombats.

'Kenya Dig It' is a spectacular blast of worldbeat psychedelia from THE RUBY SUNS Sub Pop album Sea Lion, a melting pot of Ryan McPhun's influences including The Beach Boys harmonies of his southern California birthplace, the Polynesian spirituality of his adopted home in New Zealand and the rhythms found in his African travels. "Culture clashes never sounded so good" remarked the Allmusicguide while English magazine Mojo called it "twinkly fairytale pop that's bold and forward-looking in equal measure ... this one's a real brain-buster." The Ruby Suns follow their CMJ dates with a European tour accompanying some equally bonkers folkadelicists in the form of San Francisco duo The Dodos.

THE NAKED AND FAMOUS have been the newest kids to storm the airwaves of New Zealand's college radio equivalent, the b.net. Two EP releases in quick succession on the Round Trip Mars label have received rave reviews and college airplay. In the studio, they are a duo consisting of Thom Powers and Alisa Xayalith but the live band they bring to the CMJ Music Marathon sees the line-up extended with four players onstage. 'Serenade' is the track that kicked off their debut EP This Machine and its whimsical electronipopica sets an infectious tone that never lets up. They lifted their name from a Tricky song and there is a sense of style and purpose about this act that will see them going places tomorrow!

The intentions of youthful Christchurch dance punkers BANG BANG ECHE are laid out clear as can be in their ferociously catchy '4 To The Floor'. Their raw, barely containable synth and guitar grooves scream out to be a monster hit with the hook "from Tokyo to France, you know you want to dance!" nailing the sentiment home in a massive tune that wouldn't be out of place on the roster of DFA or Modular. Already emerging as a bloggers' favorite, Bang Bang Eche's sound was described on Stranded in Stereo as "a place where jagged synthesizer noises accentuate dance beats and the lyrics swing from meaningless to oddly coherent. They don't caricature the genre; they just press all its boundaries and all its buttons".

The riotous ride that is the career of DIE! DIE! DIE! continues apace in '08. The hypnotic 'White Horses' is dragged kicking and screaming off their latest album Promises Promises (SAF Recordings) and showcases the emerging mix of sharp melody with trademark DDD musical angst that has seen that album widely praised. The three brashniks of Kiwi pop-punk will be (literally) tearing it up onstage as always at CMJ this year. The Die! Die! Die! live show is unrivalled for mayhem among New Zealand acts aside from perhaps the outstanding shows regularly delivered by...

THE MINT CHICKS Now residents of Portland Oregon and also operating in the three-legged power-pop form of a trio, The Mint Chicks have spent recent months cooking up a steaming brew of DIY home recording and animation studio action that will soon see the light of day as their new album Screens. Meanwhile, their classic Flying Nun album Crazy?Yes!Dumb?No! from 2007 finally saw the light of day in the USA this month through French label Milan Records. Local Cut in their new hometown called it "a tricked-out schizo-pop epic that's one part Blood Brothers, one part Unicorns". The album was a multi-award winner at the NZ Music Awards last year and it is great to see it out here at last.

PHASE FIVE IS A PROJECT DEVELOPED BY NZ ON AIR
TO INTRODUCE NEW MUSIC FROM NEW ZEALAND TO THE WORLD

CMJ PRESENTS... PHASE FIVE NZ MUSIC »»»<<<

CHRIS KNOWL, at the venerable age of 56, continues to knock out his lo-fi anthems – in fact the latest release by his new band The Nothing (A Warm Gun, released on Chris's own A Major Label) was mixed in what he calls "glorious mono", eschewing all stereo effects. What is bringing the Flying Nun legend and sometime Tall Dwarf to American ears in 2008 however is a Heineken television commercial that uses his track 'It's Love' from the year 2000 album, Beat (Thirsty Ear). We love the person who went out of their way and onto the iTunes store to deliver this rasping comment: "You could torture the snot out of someone with 'It's Love'. It's not music. There's no rhythm, beat or melody, it's just so freaking la-la-la-la-annoying...". By the way, they happen to be in the minority and the song is a justifiable iTunes smash!

COLLAPSING CITIES decamped from Auckland to London in May and their song 'Seriously' is looming like an equally hooky smash. London magazine Loud & Quiet called it "cosmic Bowie" and the band was recently picked by NME as one of "10 Hopes For The Future" after appearing at the Reading and Leeds festivals. The quartet is generating quite a buzz over the pond. Classically slacker guitar pop with echoes of many NZ acts such as the Jean Paul Sartre Experience as well as artists like Pavement, Collapsing Cities also maintain a kick-ass dancefloor appeal on many tracks from their debut album Elixir Always (Pastel Pistol). According to Loud & Quiet it's "Prozac pop – indie to get you out of bed in the morning and onto the dancefloor".

Art rockers BATTLE CIRCUS deliver a heavily textured blast of dynamic rock in the form of 'Love In A Fallout Shelter' from their acclaimed release The Half Light Symphony. Touring Germany with the Dresden Dolls' Amanda Palmer in October will undoubtedly put this group's mark on the international map – and you may recognize their music from the teaser campaign for HBO's new hit vampire series from Alan Ball, True Blood.

COCO SOLID's double album The Radical Bad Attack has been a recent sensation in NZ, collecting five star reviews for its unadulterated blend of rampant, grinding electrorapattack. 'Elektrik Love' is lifted from that album, remarkably the underground act's fifth album since debuting in 2003 with Rap n Roll. "Smart as Stephen Hawking, sexy as Bridgette Bardot, full of monster techno riffs and truly seismic bass it's the most exciting local album I've heard all year, and the funniest," said NZ's Sunday Star Times critic of their Denim & Leather album and this new one takes it to another level altogether, mixing all sorts of techno, surf, nature and rocking sounds into Coco Solid's trademark electro-rap bangers.

The final selection on the disc is PITCH BLACK's 'Rude Mechanicals', title track to their new release on Dubmission Records. Q magazine called this electro-dub duo's music "fresh, modern and impossibly hypnotic" and they have been plying their sonic journey since 1997. Their sound is distinctive; ranging from organic ambient beginnings and layered soundscapes to skanking keyboards, cutting acid riffs and thumping rhythmic grooves, with dub being the glue that holds their sound together. One critic has described them as like "Richie Hawtin meets King Tubby, or Rhythm and Sound in Technicolor". Pitch Black live shows are legendary – with sonic and visual temperatures often in the red zone as they hack their way through layers of sound and projected effects. Pitch Black are making appearances in the USA from mid-October and this is another NZ show not to miss if you are lucky enough to be nearby.

you're independent but not alone...

Are you playing colleges or college towns?

If the answer is yes then you need BMI!

College Radio is a huge part of the development of many artists and BMI is the best in tracking and royalty payments for college radio.

- First performing rights organization to monitor and pay royalties for college radio airplay, starting in 1989.
- Largest sample of college radio stations. Over 800 college radio stations logged each year.
- Largest music-use reporting sample with more than 50,000 hours of music airplay.
- Millions of dollars of royalties distributed every year.
- More than 20,000 checks are distributed to songwriters each year.

If you are in the beginning stage of your career you may be doing gigs in college towns and getting college radio airplay.

With BMI you will always be in the best position when it comes to getting paid.

College radio stations play a great variety of music and break a lot of new artists.

Women

Women (Jagjaguwar)

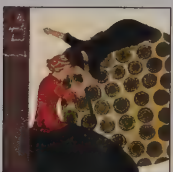

These Canadians' tweaked-out experiments in texture have bizarre, weirdly catchy results on their self-titled debut. It just went for adds in a big way, moving 134 spots at Radio 200

(162-28). Meet some Women at CMJ Music Marathon on October 22 at the Cake Shop.

Radio: Geo Corona, geo@terrorbird.com

Spinto Band

Moonwink (Park The Van)

Since 1997 these Delaware boys have been packing their rough-edged, Casio-washed indie rock with handclaps, horns, and soft-sung vocals. Their new album hits Radio 200 hard this week (D-66).

Radio: Doug Blake, doug@piratepirate.com

Crystal Antlers

EP (Touch And Go)

Equal parts bad-trip psychedelia, classic rock and reverb, this Long Beach, California, quintet that's known for explosive live shows make a high debut this week at Radio 200 (D-69). And you're in luck: they're playing CMJ Music Marathon October 25 at the Bowery Ballroom.

Radio: Justin Gressley, justin@aaminc.com

Land Of Talk

Some Are Lakes (Saddle Creek)

This female-fronted pop trio from Montreal goes from low-key pick scrapings to spirited indie rock in only a few measures. Proving they're more than just talk, Some Are Lakes debuts at 64 this week at Radio 200 (D-64). They talk it up at CMJ Music Marathon October 24 at the Brooklyn Masonic Temple.

Station Of The Year Nominees

CMJ is proud to present the 2008 Station Of The Year nominees. These stations have successfully taken an active role in the community, provided innovative programming, and served as model stations. They are constantly raising the bar as to what can be, and should be, expected for college and non-commercial radio stations now and in the future. SOTY nominees, we salute you.

KEXP 90.3 FM

Seattle, WA

3,300 watts

University Of Washington

www.kexp.org

KEXP is a non-commercial station supported by worldwide listeners. Broadcasting from the University Of Washington, KEXP gains notice as a purveyor of the best new music from multiple genres. In addition to commanding a powerful web presence and holding hundreds of in-studio broadcasts each year, 2008 marked a new project, Radio Liberation, which airs four KEXP-produced shows Monday through Friday on WNYE in New York City. KEXP has laid claim to the SOTY award for three years running.

RLC 90.3 FM

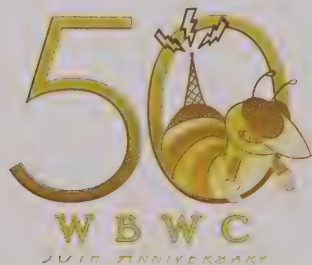

Piscataway, NJ

200 watts

Rutgers University

www.thecore.fm

Student-run RLC, founded as a carrier current, dorm-only station and better known to listeners as "The Core," serves both Rutgers University and the greater central New Jersey community. Through the last year RLC has made the most of a brand new signal, 85% stronger than in the past, with in-studio performances (including the Slits and Soundpool), more organized programming and an on-campus concert with local heroes the Gaslight Anthem. With 12 nominations for this year's awards ceremony, RLC is ready to show everyone that a small station can have a huge impact on its community.

WBWC 88.3 FM

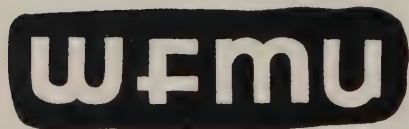

Berea, OH

4,000 watts

Baldwin-Wallace College

www.wbwc.com

WBWC, "The Sting"—a modern rock station with humble beginnings as an AM station—celebrated its 50th anniversary this past March. Modeled after stations with professional resources, WBWC—the first student-run college radio station to perform a remote broadcast from Cleveland's Rock And Roll Hall of Fame And Museum—brings both modern rock as well as community news to the campus and greater Cleveland area, and retains an extensive alumni network.

WFMU 91.1 FM

Jersey City, NJ

1,440 watts

www.wfmua.org

WFMU, an independent, listener-supported public radio station, is currently the longest running freeform radio station in the United States, and celebrates its 50th anniversary this year. An extensive online presence includes live audio streaming in several formats, on-demand audio archives, podcasts and a popular blog. WFMU aims to serve the community by emphasizing diversity within its unique freeform programming, broadening listeners' exposure to music and ideas that are absent on commercial and even other non-commercial stations. In 2008, WFMU hosted and broadcast three free concerts in New York City, featuring performances by Sonic Youth, the Feelies, the Ex, Extra Golden, and others. In December WFMU will launch the Free Music Archive, a curated, non-commercial website featuring free and legal music downloads that have been licensed by their creators via Creative Commons.

2008 CMJ College Radio Awards Nominees

Wrapping up the festivities at CMJ Music Marathon's College Day with a bang are the 2008 College Radio Awards, with custom-made awards from Ghost-Town Studio. The award ceremony, designed to reward the hardworking radio stations and industry members that have helped college radio flourish, will take place on Thursday, October 23 in NYU's Eisner And Lubin Auditorium at 3:45 p.m. Voting will take place on-site during CMJ Music Marathon at the CMJ booth, College Radio Mixer and College Day event from a list of nominees chosen by the college radio community. Anyone with a CMJ Music Marathon badge is eligible to vote. And the nominees are...

Lala
Bill Nguyen
Founder
www.lala.com

Lala is an ad-free music store/social networking site that helps its members in discovering new music. The tracks are cheap (mostly 89 cents), the "websongs" even cheaper (10 cents to purchase a song kept exclusively on your browser). And with features like "CD swapping" and "following" (finding new music by watching what your friends listen to), Lala is the next step in online music—or so says its founder, Bill Nguyen.

Where music plays.

How did the idea for your social site—strictly for music, with filters to help search and options for things like CD swapping—come from?

One thing I thought about was, it's so easy now to distribute. Before, some cheesy guy in a Cadillac would give you a check and then distribute your music. But now all of a sudden you just put your music on MySpace. So I just kept thinking, if people are making more music and it's easier than ever to distribute it, why wouldn't this be considered the greatest period of music history ever, right? When we thought about it we realized it's a search problem. So my inspiration really with Lala was how do you bring all of this amazing music that's available everywhere and put it onto the web where people can discover it? The stuff that we're launching pretty soon is going to be all about helping people discover new music, which we think is awesome. It's kind of like a big giant version of all the work that CMJ's been doing.

How do you get the artists' okay to stream full versions of their songs on your site?

One of the things we said to the artists is there's been this big move with MySpace Music and Imeem where music is free, but the problem is you sacrifice so much, because their business is based on advertising. So that means they have to stick a lot of ads and a lot of pages between you and the music. And so we built a business model where we let people try music, and if they want to discover it, they're going to want to listen to it again and again. So we created all different kinds of concepts of lowering prices of mp3s, creating the idea of a web song, and we basically built a music site without any advertising. It's just about the music. I'm really excited about [the websong] because it's a tenth of the cost of an mp3, and I get to keep it forever in a browser.

Can independent artists get their tracks on there?

We've created a really cool program with TuneCore where basically if you're an independent artist you just dump your stuff on TuneCore, and it shows up immediately on Lala. You can do TuneCore or CD Baby or The Orchard, all of the independent labels and all the independent aggregators that are involved in the network of labels that we've put together. The point with Lala is that if you're really into music and you like listening to the radio, we're going to build so many new, cool, crazy things to help you fall in love with music again. So that was our whole plan. That was the inspiration for us.

Utopian, apocalyptic and transcendental all at the same time, Telestrion's songs dance on fire...

Julian Cope
HeadHeritage.co.UK

Psychedelic hard rock, providing plenty of stoner riffs and just enough Moog, Mellotron, and Theremin to keep things interesting.

Telestrion's profound intensity and mysterious liquid nature make their self-titled full-length the aural equivalent of a lava lamp. The band has created a private little world in which we can tune out everything around us and contemplate inner space. Terence McKenna would be proud.

THE SERVICE INDUSTRY

Keep The Babies Warm

New album from the power-pop supergroup that includes former members of the Wannabes, Cher U.K., Dumptruck and Spoon, following quickly on the heels of their Spring '08 release Limited Coverage, arguably the finest piece of Bolshevik Psychedelia this country has ever produced. The band seeks to convert musical consumers of all stripes as the well-heeled, slick sound of this new set niftily conceals the band's ideological message and slyly indoctrinates new adherents to the cause, delivering adamant everyman anthems with style, charisma and chutzpah.

Sub Pop Seeks College Radio Promoter

The esteemed Seattle label is seeking a hardworking, motivated person to do college radio promotions. This is a full-time/salaried position. College radio experience (either at a station or as a promoter) is preferred. Looking for a self-starter who can manage mailings, tracking calls, band relations and minimal travel for work. Attention to detail, a professional attitude and strong interest in music are a must!

Please send your resume to Susan Busch: susanb@subpop.com
