COMMENT

Beginning with this issue we meet the demand of a great many of our subscribers and introduce our first listing of slots. The demand for these has continued to increase. Sales have been brisk. Reports have come in that good machines at reasonable prices move very fast on the market today. There is therefore no doubt that the fact sales of slots are going ahead is a sure indication of the general trend thruout most of the country. Those that deal in slots will find our new listing one of the most welcome for as it will continue week after week it will eventually have command of the entire situation just as our other lists have at this time.

Note how the entire market has suddenly and completely revised itself. Check over the enclosed Confidential Price lists carefully. Especially the Free Play Games list which has had almost a 100% change around. The other lists, too, are a perfect indication of the trend of the market. The pessimism that was around in some parts of the country at last made itself felt and prices were extremely upset. Now they have started to right themselves, as the men began to realize that this industry would continue thru the war and that this still was the best business in the world. The Confidential Price Lists are therefore more important than ever to the members of the coin machines industry for they are today the barometer of business conditions thruout the entire nation.

The music men continue to wonder about the record situation. The announcement by Owens-Illinois Glass that they have substituted glass instead of steel in the radio transcription records has brought about a wave of hope among many. This announcement was published in Fortune magazine. The belief among many of the music men at this time is that there is a certainty that records can be made of glass. Optimism is still persisting that the Department of Justice using their star Thurman Arnold are sure to settle L'Affaire Petrillo to everyone's satisfaction.

The applause that greeted the first issue of The Cash Box in its new speedy, bulletin form was most amazing. Letters appeared from everywhere in the country. Many instantly taking advantage of the free want ads and rushing these into The Cash Box offices so that they would reach here before Friday. Some subscribers suggested that the ad continue on a T.F. (Until Forbidden) basis. The men were all enthused over The Cash Box and believe that it at last solves a very important and acute problem for the trade by keeping news and views and other inside matters extremely confidential and at the same time gives them a medium thru which they can address each other.

Movement of almost all types of machines was extremely good this past week. The leading sellers in the field continued to complain that they could use much more business (but so could every industry in the world today) and yet a great many are behind in shipments of machines. Many have orders far in advance. Many routes have changed hands, too, and this has brought about more action on the market. Some of the deals made involved much cash. One Brooklyn music route went over to new people for better than $25,000.00. This certainly does not indicate any loss in value of equipment nor take. In fact, most music men report that the take continues to hold up.

The boom for records is getting greater every day. In the East the new Capitol Records have clicked. Leading music operators predict that because this record stands up so well and shows such little wear that with a few more hits like Strip Polka - Capitol will be leading the field. More and more ops going over to this record and orders have absolutely swamped the firm. Much credit to Modern of New York City for putting this one over the top.

Salesmen scooting about the country persist in rumors that there are great possibilities apparent in Pennsylvania at this time. Digging into these rumors we did learn a few small decisions were good but that this does not yet mean a thing as far as the state is concerned. It may if an appeal pending in Superior Court comes thru in good shape. At the present time some of the smaller towns continuing to run pins

(a few consoles scattered here and there on the sneak) but mostly the state has gone over to music and in a big way, being one of the best organized in this category.

From the Midwest comes reports that certain territories are really doing grand jobs. Western Michigan is coming along fine. The take here is much better than was ever expected. The machines running right along. Counter games are quite prominent. Some of the oldest types are seen about as the men continue to place them here and there.

In general the business seems to have flowed into the rural districts and because war work is piling into the smaller towns the take continues on with the surety that the industry will outlast the war because of the small town men. There are a great many at work at this time to try and open some of the better towns and if they continue there is no doubt that they will after elections are over.

Arcades are still the starring attractions in this business. From down West Virginia way comes word that many have even opened there. It seems that the average op with equipment on hand is gathering it all under one roof and letting it run. Suggestion of The Cash Box is that these men first get in touch with experts who know the field and learn the ins and outs of just what is required for successful Arcade operation. Arcade leaders are among the most generous of all men in this industry in handing out free advice and help and those men contemplating setting up spots should take advantage of this fact.
