Soul Music: Today's Way Of Looking At It

In the not too distant past, the strength of soul music would on occasion receive something of a left-handed compliment. With a good deal of justification, the praise for this area of the music business went on the order of: "when things are kind of dull from the pop end of things, soul music rushes in to fill the vacuum, and the industry then sees how consistent is the success of this music."

One would think at this point of time that to some degree the two fields of music are in a reverse position, meaning that is the very influence of soul music that is deciding much of the creative thrust in pop music today. Even the phrase "crossover hit" is becoming an increasingly outdated reference to the power of soul music. For a glance at any week's Top 100 reveals any number of "soul-market" recordings that display an immediate "pop market" strength, racing up the charts in tandem with their impact on the soul charts. Latter-wise, of course, there still remain those recordings that do not "cross-over," which in our view is as it should be. Just as, certainly, not all country music recordings or jazz, for that matter, make it on a broad chart basis. As we have stated here before, America's musical heritage is one of diverse origins, and it's a healthy sign that specific markets still exist for various kinds of music, even though there can be a happy spill-over at times.

In the case of soul music, however, we have seen much of it move into the mainstream of our pop music flow. For it is obviously a package of music that contains many elements that appeal to an audience that now extends far beyond its basic roots. The basic excitement, the directness and honesty of its message are all, to be sure, a reflection of the vast social changes that have taken place in our society over the past decade. But, before we begin to over-philosophize, we must emphasize that it's the basic message of the music itself that has brought it to its rightful place in the evolution of pop music: what is fine in soul music is what is fine in America's contribution to music as a whole.

Surely, soul music has now passed the stage where it is measured by the "vacuum it fills." Soul music is of such a nature today that it seems to be the best safe-guard against the creation of music vacuums. And it just sounds great as it achieves this!

CBS 'Family Of Music' Confab Draws 1000 To LA; Big LP Flow

LOS ANGELES — Themed on its "Family of Music" concept, CBS Records hosted more than 1000 of its creative and administrative family at its 1974 annual convention at the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles last week. More than 70 new album releases were unveiled (see separate story).

Reps of the Columbia, Epic and Columbia Custom Labels, members of the CBS International family from throughout the world, artists and guests attended the week-long activities, which concluded on Sat. (3) night with the company's traditional dinner and show, highlighted by the appearance of Barbra Streisand.

Conventioneers had good reason to cheer even prior to their arrival at the convention site, since the company had recently revealed that it had achieved the most successful financial six months in history.

Top Execs Speak

Attendees heard talks by a number of key CBS personnel, including Arthur Taylor, president of CBS, Inc., who had addressed the label's convention in San Francisco last year. Others who spoke included Goddard Lieberson, president of CBS Records Group; Irwin Segelstein, president of CBS Records; Walter Yetnikoff, president of CBS International; Bruce Lundvall, vp of marketing at CBS Records; Jack Craig, vp of sales and distribution at CBS Records, and Ron Alexenburg, vp of sales and distribution at Epic and Columbia Custom Labels.

A key highlight of this year's meetings, based on the theme "The Family of Music 74," was the presentation of album product on Columbia, Epic and the Columbia Custom Labels. The albums were spotlighted via a multimedia presentation produced by Arnold Levine, vice president of advertising and sales promotion materials, CBS Records. The presentation combined live, slide and filmed entertainment.

Of the albums previewed, 30 were from the Columbia label, while Ron Alexenburg introduced 18 on Epic and 17 on the Custom Labels and Stax Records. Represented was product from Invictus, Monument, Mums, Philadelphia International, T-Neck, Stax, Volt, Enter-

ABC Buys Paramount, Dot, Blue Thumb; G & W Retains Famous Music Pubs

NEW YORK — ABC Records is set to acquire Famous Music's record labels, including Paramount, Dot and Blue Thumb in a deal reached Tuesday, July 30th. Full transfer is expected to take place within 30 days.

It was unclear at press time as to the nature of the reorganization of the famous labels under the ABC-Dunhill banner. Further reports revealed that some execs associated with the acquired labels would be attending last weekend's sales meeting of ABC-Dunhill Records in Hollywood. Also, Peter Schekeryk of Neighborhood Records, nationally distributed by Famous, was due to make an appearance.

The acquisition of the Famous labels, which had been under the direction of president Tony Martell, came as a surprise to tradesters as rumors of an impending sale of the company earlier in the week were decidedly in favor of a deal with Motown Records. Price is a reported $4-4½ million for the labels.

Gulf & Western retains Famous Music Publishing, the 42-year-old division of Paramount Pictures Corp.

U.S. & Soviet Song Royalty Agreement Seen

NEW YORK — The presidents of ASCAP and BMI anticipate an agreement with the Soviet Union copyright agency, VAAP, by the end of the year.

This historic step in guaranteeing the payment of royalties to American writers whose works are performed in the Soviet Union and Soviet writers whose works are performed here is designed to end years of attempts to achieve royalty recognition for American writers in the Soviet Union.

Stanley Adams, president of ASCAP, and Ed Gramer, president of BMI, have been in the Soviet Union negotiating with Doris D. Pankin, head of VAAP, on a separate basis. Gramer has journeyed to the Soviet Union first, and upon his return last week, a BMI spokesman said, he revealed an "agreement in principle." Adams, still in the Soviet Union, was reported by the New York Times to have stated that "things are going well as identify the roadblocks," although further meetings may be arranged later this year, possibly in the U.S.

The Soviets last year became a signatory to the Universal Copyright Convention. They have already made copyright agreements with agencies in England and France and a deal with the Germans is in the works.

VAAP, a Government unit, answers to the Conference of Sponsors of the Agency, which represents not only the creators of musical works, but those of other artistic endeavors.

Lundvall Named Col. V.P. & Gen. Mgr.

HOLLYWOOD — Bruce Lundvall has been promoted to the newly created post of vice president and general manager of Columbia Records, it was announced at the CBS Convention in Hollywood last week by Irwin Segelstein, Columbia's president.

Lundvall, will in his new position, supervise A&R marketing sales distribution and promotion.

Lundvall joined Columbia in 1960 and was, until his promotion, vice president of marketing for the firm.

"Mama" Cass Dead At 33

HOLLYWOOD — Cass Elliot, forever known as "Mama Cass" of the immensely popular sixties vocal group, the Mamas and the Papas, was found dead in her London apartment the night of July 29th.

Lennon/ATV Writing Deal

NEW YORK — John Lennon and ATV Music Publishing have signed agreements whereby musical compositions written by the former Beatle will be co-published throughout the world by Lennon and ATV Music. The new arrangements continue Lennon's association with ATV Music, which began in 1969 when ATV acquired Northern Songs Ltd., the publisher of all of the Lennon-McCartney compositions written prior to 1973.

Worldwide administration of the Lennon compositions will be controlled by Lennon, who has set up offices for his publishing and recording activities at 1370 Avenue of the Americas, New York City. Geoffrey Heath, managing director of ATV Music, and Sam Trust, president of ATV Music's American operation, recently completed meetings in New York with Lennon to review and coordinate plans for the administration and exploitation of Lennon's compositions.

ATV Music has also entered into similar co-publishing arrangements with Yoko Ono who is presently completing a new album prior to a concert tour in Japan in August.

Lennon and Ono were assisted by Jack Gill, chairman of ATV Music Publishing, during the negotiations.

Surrounding John Lennon are (l to r) Irving Chezar, Sam Trust and Steve Love, all of ATV Music.

Midem — Jan. 18-24

CANNES — MIDEM 9, the international record and music publishing market, will convene in Cannes at the Palais des Festivals from Jan. 18-24. Some changes are expected for MIDEM's traditional gala shows, including the use of a large tent accommodating 5000 persons. Also, the general public may be admitted for the first time. Formal attire for gala attendance has been dropped.

FRONT COVER

Bobby Vinton To ABC Records

LOS ANGELES — Jay Lasker, president of ABC Records, has announced the signing of Bobby Vinton to the label. Vinton's first single, "My Melody of Love" has been set for immediate release.

Vinton comes to ABC after 15 years at Epic Records, where he recorded such songs as "Roses Are Red," "Blue Velvet," "There, I've Said It Again" and "Mr. Lonely." "My Melody of Love" marks his reunion with producer Bob Morgan, and now his personal manager.

"Bobby Vinton's ability to make records that appeal to all age groups makes him an especially valuable addition to our roster," Jay Lasker stated. "We look forward to a long and profitable association with this fine artist."

Injunctions In Piracy Actions

OKLAHOMA CITY — State District Court Judge Jack R. Parr has issued a temporary injunction against Magnitron, Inc., and Alvin R. (Buddy) Warner, the company's vice president, barring them from making or selling unauthorized duplications of tape recordings produced by CBS Records, A & M Records, MCA Records, Warner Bros. Records and Elektra Records. Magnitron and Warner were also barred from using album titles or the names or likenesses of the performers who record for the five record companies.

The issuance of the injunction climaxed a series of suits that was inaugurated last Jan. when CBS, A & M, MCA and Warner Bros. brought an action in U. S. District Court in Massachusetts, charging Magnitron and Wildlife Enterprises, a distributor of Magnitron tapes, with unfair competition. In April, the defendants' motion that the case be dismissed for lack of jurisdiction was denied by the court and the action is still pending.

Meanwhile, in Feb. Magnitron instituted a suit in the Oklahoma State District Court against all four of the record companies, plus Elektra Records, alleging loss of business by virtue of the record companies' threats to their customers. In March, the record companies filed their answer along with a cross-petition seeking a permanent injunction and damages. The temporary injunction issued by Judge Parr is an outgrowth of that action.

Magnitron has meanwhile testified that it is no longer in business.

MINNEAPOLIS — U. S. District Court Judge Earl R. Larson has issued a permanent injunction against Big Wheel Racing and Marine, Inc., barring the firm from making unauthorized duplications of sound recordings manufactured or distributed by CBS Inc., or advertising or selling such sound recordings.

The issuance of the injunction climaxed a civil unfair competition action brought by CBS Records against Big Wheel and Leonard B. Hoberman, the firm's president.

Receiving these awards were Julie Godsey, Lou Mann, Dan Pinckard and Sam Harrell. In addition, there were these awards given to Epic/Custom personnel: the First Annual Silver-Tongued Devil Award was given to Dan Walker, local promotion manager, Epic/Custom, Seattle branch, for being the most "devilishly articulate" LPM in the field this year; the "Ray Free, here, WHN" Award was given to Ray Free, local promotion manager, Epic/Custom, New York branch; and a certificate was given to John Babcock, director of artist relations, Epic/Custom West Coast, for meritorious service in the area of artist relations.

Backer Exits Impulse

LOS ANGELES — At presstime it was learned that Steve Backer had left his post as general manager of the ABC/Impulse label to begin a production operation on the east coast. The separation from Impulse was on amicable terms for all concerned.

Harrison's Dark Horse Premiere Releases

HOLLYWOOD — Webster defines a "dark horse," as "... an unknown or little known competitor that unexpectedly wins," but Jerry Moss, A & M's president, is about to change that connotation by turning the newly acquired George Harrison Dark Horse label into an eminently known label competitor, beginning with the projected August/September album releases of English group Splinter to be followed next by Ravi Shankar and Friends.

Merchandising of the label itself for industry and consumer recognition has already been expedited by a Sunset Boulevard billboard which displays the striking Dark Horse logo of a vatic, vaulted stallion, majestic and invincible looking. The slogan which accompanies the stallion is "Running on a dark race course with A & M Records."

It was learned that this phrase is from a new Harrison-penned tune called "Dark Horse," whose lyric goes "I'm a dark horse running on a dark race course."

The Dark Horse/A&M/Ode distribution deal was negotiated by Moss in Paris this past April and on that dynamic association, Moss maintained "George Harrison has always exhibited flawless taste in records and so we can look forward to some terrific releases."

The track records of both A & M and Harrison assures Dark Horse a strong track bet; a steed to succeed.

Merchandising Seminar Held At CBS Meeting

LOS ANGELES — Al Teller, vice president of merchandising at CBS Records, moderated a special merchandising meeting at the CBS Records Convention.

The meeting began with a review of the major merchandising campaigns initiated in the first half of 1974 and plans were discussed for various key merchandising campaigns set to be launched in the months following the convention.

There was also a panel session discussion between field personnel and such New York staffers as Roselind Blanch, director of merchandising planning administration, CBS Records; Linda Barton, director of product management, Columbia Records; Steve Harris, director of artist development; Bruce Harris, product management, Epic & Custom Labels, Columbia Records; Peggy Mulhall, manager of broadcast advertising, Columbia Records; Arnold Levine, vp and creative director, CBS Records; and Bob Gordon, manager of retail advertising, CBS Records.

There was also an extensive review of the newly established computerized retail fulfillment center. Assorted new innovations, made possible by this new advertising display system, were deliberated at the merchandising meeting.

Also included in the meeting was a special presentation by Frank Mooney, branch manager, CBS Records, Los Angeles, and Randy Brown, former field sales manager of the L.A. branch and now branch manager, CBS Records, Denver, concerning a Charlie Rich television promotion campaign initiated by the CBS Records Los Angeles Sales Office.

Responsible for the stage productions for the numerous presentations and performances during the convention were Chip Monck and Abe Jacob, of CMI Consultants, New York.

CBS Pres. Taylor Sees Big Future for Columbia

HOLLYWOOD — Arthur Taylor, president of CBS, speaking at the first formal evening of entertainment at the CBS Convention in this city's Century Plaza Hotel, was obviously very proud of the Columbia Record division's performance during the past twelve months, and told the 1000 assembled members of the division so with sensitivity and great sincerity.

Taylor, more involved with, and closer to the record operation of the huge CBS Corporation than any previous president, recognized the huge obstacles of personnel changes and a rapidly changing economy that had to be overcome during the last year, and expressed his pride in the team that was able to handle this transition and maintain the "CBS good taste" while doing it. "The transition was made with a sense of responsibility," Taylor went on, "and we're still number one in the world."

"It's a dramatically changing world in which experience doesn't seem to matter much anymore, but one in which the ability to innovate" is the true test, said Taylor. And he went on to express special thanks to a few of the people whom he felt played a key role in this year's Columbia success story.

"CBS and I, personally, owe a special debt of gratitude to Goddard Lieberman who returned to a position which he never really left," Taylor went on. He thanked Columbia president Irwin Siegelstein "who in the past 12 months became a record man." He also highlighted Walter Yetnikoff's (CBS Int'l pres.) ability to handle the "acute and complex problems he deals with" on a world level, "and his division is second to none."

Looking to the future, as CBS heads into the second half century of its operation, Taylor seemed confident of CBS Records' position in the market place. "The team is functioning strongly, and the momentum is increasing. CBS has developed an ability to do things right and well, and no matter what comes up in the future, we'll be alright."

Taylor's comments were followed by Segelstein's introduction of the evening's entertainment which included Mac Davis, Johnny Taylor from the Stax family, who was introduced by Stax topper Al Bell, George Jones and Tammy Wynette, Janis Ian and closed with Santana at 3:45 am. A&R heads Charlie Koppelman and Don Ellis introduced a number of the acts.

Zamoiski Moves Disk, Tape Div. To Larger Qtrs

BALTIMORE — Citing continued music growth, the Jos. M. Zamoiski Co. last week (22) moved its record and tape division to its Baltimore distribution center at 1101 DeSoto Road. "Our increase in space will be approximately 20% larger in order to facilitate services," according to Jerome Steinberg, general manager of distribution, and Jim Lavis, general manager of the rack division.

All Washington area dealers should call locally, 953-3400, and all Baltimore area dealers should call locally, 644-2900, advised Steinberg and Lavis.

Along with Mel Phillips, associate director of national promotion at Epic and Columbia Custom Labels, Monteiro presented the five new singles as well as several other future singles on the Epic/Custom Labels.

Three new Epic singles presented to the CBS Records personnel at the convention were David Houston's "Can't You Feel It," Donovan's "Rock 'n Roll With Me," and Redbone's "Suzie Girl." Two new Custom Label singles previewed were The Soul Survivors' "City Of Brotherly Love" on the TSOP label, and Steppenwolf's "Straight Shootin' Women" on the Mums label. All five singles are scheduled for release immediately after the convention.

Other possible singles on the Epic and Custom labels were also introduced both at the singles presentation and at the separate album presentation.

HOLLYWOOD — A presentation on Saturday paid tribute to conductor-composer Leonard Bernstein in recognition of his "distinguished association" with Columbia Masterworks. The ceremony came during CBS Records' 1974 Convention.

Bernstein was represented by Harry Kraut, director of Amberson Productions. Amberson is the production company which is involved in every media aspect of Bernstein's work: conducting, composing, recording, film, television, music, theater, writing and lecturing.

The first half of the program featured a slide presentation with music and narration tracing Bernstein's career on and off records, from the night in Nov. of 1943, when, at 25, he made his historic debut with the N.Y. Philharmonic when he substituted for the ailing Bruno Walter, to the present. The retrospective focused particular attention on Bernstein's long recording career with Columbia Masterworks.

The four new Bernstein recordings are: Mahler: Symphony No. 2 ("Resurrection"), with Janet Baker, Sheila Armstrong, the Edinburgh Festival Chorus and the London Symphony; Bernstein: "Dybbuk" (complete ballet), New York City Ballet Orchestra, Bernstein; Bernstein: "Trouble in Tahiti" (a one-act opera), with Nancy Williams, Julian Patrick, Michael Clarke, Mark Brown and the Columbia Wind Ensemble, Bernstein; Haydn: Symphonies No. 95 and 96 ("Miracle"), New York Philharmonic.

CBS Int'l. LA Meet Held As Unit Completes Best Year

LOS ANGELES — CBS Records International marked its most "successful year to date" as delegates from six continents assembled for a week-long series of meetings in conjunction with CBS Records' 1974 Convention at the Century Plaza Hotel.

With CBS International president Walter Yetnikoff presiding, more than 100 representatives of the company's affiliates and subsidiaries gathered for a series of meetings and panel sessions. In addition to delegates from the New York office, executives were on hand from Europe, Japan, South Africa, Australia, Latin America and Canada.

Four Major Meets

The CBS Records International Conference was highlighted by four important meetings:

On Tuesday, International chief Yetnikoff chaired a general meeting which included a panel consisting of Dick Asher (executive vice-CBS International managing director CBS U.K.), Nick Cirillo (vice-president of operations CBS International, New York), Peter de Rougemont (vice president, CBS International European Operations), Terry Lynd (vice president and general manager, CBS Canada), Norio Ohga (president, CBS/Sony), Bill Smith (managing director, CBS Australia) and Manuel Villarreal (vice president, Latin American Operations).

This General Meeting was attended by all CBS International Conference delegates, and included a lengthy question-and-answer session regarding the conducting of business on an international basis and the problems presently facing this business.

On Wednesday, Bunny Freidus (director of U.S. pop product) chaired a marketing meeting for all marketing, promotions and merchandising delegates. The major topics of this meeting centered around the effectiveness of worldwide promotions, release planning, films and artist tours. Present musical trends also were discussed.

On Friday, Peter de Rougemont chaired a European managers meeting for 20 of the International Conference's ranking executives.

Prior to the convention, CBS International manufacturing representatives from Latin America, Japan, Canada, Australia, England, and the European Continent met for, inspection tours of Columbia Records three plants in Terre Haute, Ind., and the completely-automated Columbia Record plant in Santa Maria, Calif. On Wednesday, they gathered at the Century Plaza Hotel for an afternoon meeting chaired by Michi Yoshimura (director of manufacturing and engineering services, CBS International, New York). The meeting focused on many of the problems confronting today's international manufacturing market, and various delegates related experiences and concepts which they felt might prove beneficial to one another. On Friday, this same International manufacturing group participated in a joint meeting with representatives from Columbia Records to discuss the availability of critical materials and to exchange ideas for future developments. This joint meeting was co-chaired by Sam Burger (vice president, U.S. Disc and Tape Manufacturing) and by International's Michi Yoshimura.

Throughout the week, CBS Records International delegates took part in the various meetings and planned activities of the CBS Records Convention.

Baker To CTI

NEW YORK — Chet Baker, one of the major exponents of the "cool" style of jazz in the 1950s, has signed a long term recording contract with Creed Taylor's CTI Records.

Born in Yale, Okla., Baker reached national prominence with Gerry Mulligan, whose pianoless quartet, characterized by its quiet and lyrical contrapuntal melodies, established a new style of playing in the early fifties.

While with Mulligan, in 1953, Baker won the New Star Award in Down Beat's first International Jazz Critics Poll. That year, he left Mulligan to form his own group, and won, in the next two years, both the Down Beat and the Metronome readers' polls.

After several years in Europe, Baker recently returned to the U.S. He has just completed his first album for CTI, in which he plays opposite Paul Desmond. The album is set to be released in the early Fall.

New CBS LP's In Multi-Media Presentations

LOS ANGELES — A two day, multi-media presentation offering detailed previews of upcoming albums on the Columbia, Epic and Columbia Custom Labels premiered at last week's CBS Records' convention. The two part preview was produced by Arnold Levine, vice president of advertising at CBS Records.

Based on the theme, "The Family Of Music 74," the initial installment of the two-part program was unveiled on Friday, via a slide presentation spotlighting both new and established artists on CBS Records. Beginning with an audio-visual look at artists who came to the company as "unknowns" and played their way to superstar status, the presentation traced the careers of such diversified groups as Edgar Winter, Herbie Hancock and Earth, Wind and Fire before progressing to a list of newcomers.

The second half of "The Family Of Music 74," on Saturday, combined segments of live, filmed and slide entertainment. The show was begun with a live sketch by the Firesign Theater, who offered running comedic commentary on a thematic basis throughout the proceedings. The film and slide portion of the event portrayed the musical careers of a variety of CBS artists, ending with a brief preview of their forthcoming albums. The visuals were geared to the music in such a manner as to compliment the songs in either an emotional or comedic light. The filmed segments offered glimpses of the artists in both candid and "in concert" situations, as well as implementing scattered scenes from a variety of cinematic sources, including several W.C. Fields shorts and the feature length production, "Elephant Walk." Interviews with artists, producers and A&R men were "voiced over" the visuals. In addition, "live" performances by newcomers Stardrive (Columbia) and LaBelle (Epic) highlighted the final portion of the show.

Levine Comments

Commenting on both days of the event, Levine stated: "The attempt of the entire presentation was to present the music and to preview the albums in such a way that the overall effect was enjoyable and well paced. We tried to vary our visuals by inserting eye-catching designs and amusing graphics in a musical format that was both cohesive and dramatic.

"This year's presentation was more 'in depth' than last year's feature length film in that we were highlighting some sixty future recordings for 1974 as opposed to last year's twenty to thirty. It required many all night sessions of work and the talents of many gifted people."

Some of the most important work in preparing the presentation involved scripting and the editing and mixing of music, and Levine gave much credit to Joel Steiger, who prepared the script and aided in the sound mix, and Nancy Steiger, who worked on the sound mix.

Levine also credited Ted Bernstein, who supplied visuals and artwork; Angelo Mazzarino, who art directed the presentation, and Don Hunstein, Sandy Speiser and Art Maillet, who did all shooting of visuals. The presentation was programmed by Bob Fine and Al Weisner under the direction of Bill Lyons.

SR's 'Environment' Product Now Indie; Names 18 For Dist.

NEW YORK — Five years ago, Syntonic Research, Inc., a specialist in "psychoacoustic" research, marketed its "Environments" LP, and after the release of three albums through Atlantic Records, the company has decided to go independent.

Says SR president I.S. Teibel: "We like the flexibility of controlling our own products from concepts through testing and pressing and marketing. These are highly unusual records and we hate to see them buried in a vast release list, although Atlantic has done a fine job for us over the years and will continue to market the first three releases in the Environments Series."

Syntonic currently has 18 distributors in the U.S. They include Heilicher Bros., all branches; Muscal Isle, Handleman, SMG, New York; Music Merchants of New England; A&L Distributing, Philadelphia; ABC, Seattle; MS Distributing, Chicago; Arc/Kay, Detroit; Transcontinental, Buffalo; Commercial Music, St. Louis; All West Distributing, Los Angeles; Disc Records, Cleveland; National Record Mart, Pittsburgh; One Stop, Hartford, and Nylan Brothers, Honolulu. Tara International of New York is currently handling global licenses.

SR's first two releases through indie distributors are "Environments Disc Four," featuring "violent/soothing" thunderstorms, and "gentle rain in a pine forest," and "The Erickson Tapes," featuring renaissance and baroque music.

CBS Seminar On Disk 'Exposure'

LOS ANGELES — "Musical Exposure" Seminar exploring current and new opportunities in artist promo and development was conducted on the Friday (2) phase of CBS Records' 1974 convention. The seminar, moderated by Jack Craigo, vice president of sales and distribution at CBS, examined, with the participation of experts, the impact of various types of media on the consumer's selection of recorded music. A panel, drawn up by Steve Harris, director of artist development, offered commentary and fielded questions from the floor.

Dave Marsh, original editor of Creem magazine, former music critic for Newsday, former editor of The Real Paper and New York editor of Creem, represented the press, discussing the importance of the rock press in establishing artists' careers. Ed Rubin, president of Magna Artists (representing such talents as Kris Kristofferson, Loudon Wainwright, New Riders of the Purple Sage, Roger McGuinn), outlined the importance of booking the right situation in terms of artist career building and new trends in music on the college campus scene. The Black Sabbath catalog, which consists entirely of gold albums, also includes two other platinum winners, "Paranoid" and "Master of Reality." The Doobie Brothers went the platinum route last with "The Captain and Me," while their latest "What Were Once Vices Are Now Habits" has already gone gold.

Monck Again Stages CBS' Convention

LOS ANGELES — Chip Monck, who has staged concerts for the Rolling Stones and other major groups, was called on to do the staging for CBS Records' 1974 Convention. Monck was chiefly responsible for converting the main ballroom of the Century Plaza Hotel, scene of the dinner shows for the convention, into a multi-purpose concert hall.

Monck, who also staged the Columbia and Epic Convention last year at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco, was faced again with the challenge of transforming a ballroom into a flexible cabaret big enough to accommodate a 32-piece orchestra, yet intimate enough to present some of CBS Records' smaller, unamplified acts. He was joined by Abe Jacob, a sound expert who is Monck's associate in CMI Consultants, Inc.

Stevie Wonder Presents Syreeta

is some title for an album. Sure, it's produced and arranged by Stevie Wonder. But that's only half of it. The other half is Syreeta herself. And for that you only need to listen. Listen to her lyrics. Listen to her voice. Look at her beauty. You might call her wonder woman.

CBS Convention Opening Session Features Talks And Anti-Piracy Progress Report

LOS ANGELES — The opening session on Monday of CBS Records' 1974 Convention was highlighted by remarks by key executives and a special presentation on the CBS Records effort and music industry support toward combating illegal tape piracy. Participating in the session were Goddard Lieberman, president, CBS Records Group; Irwin Segelstein, president, CBS Records; Bruce Lundvall, vice president marketing, CBS Records; Ron Alexenburg, vice president, sales and distribution, Epic and Columbia Custom Labels, and Jim Tyrrell, vice president, national sales, Epic, Custom Labels and Stax.

The convention was opened with the introduction of Goddard Lieberman and Irwin Segelstein's welcoming of CBS staffers and guests. Bruce Lundvall then praised the company's personnel, citing their versatility, self-motivation and expertise. Lundvall added, "The CBS Records standard of excellence is at the highest level." Lundvall called on Jack Craig, who cited three "external influences that have challenged the music industry during the past year:

"Economics: money, and its availability (credit), and its value (inflation), and the spendable remainder (how much is left in the consumer's budget for the purchase of recorded music).

Law: the Federal Trade Commission's requirements of equal treatment for all customers within a similar category; sub-distribution, jobbing, and the marketing position of the individual retail merchant.

Consumerism: Music change; the consumer's taste change; the youthful record buyer of 1969 and 1970, now four years later, has deepened and expanded as have the rock musicians who created the initial 'turn on' of the late '60's."

Additionally, Craig stated, "We believe that the economy business will shelf out at $2.99 this Fall and during 1975," and called the computer pack the most positive talk of the industry for 1974. Said Craig: "The computer pack moves point of purchase display material directly to each unit operated by the full line retail merchant. The computer pack

GRC Names Hughes To Creative Position

ATLANTA — Michael Thevis, president of General Recording Corporation (GRC), has announced the appointment of Jimmy Hughes to the title of creative services director of GRC, Aware and Hotlanta labels.

Hughes will be responsible for creative design and coordination of all trade and consumer advertising for GRC. He is also accountable for all album cover designs for product releases.

Most recently Hughes coordinated the final printing of the new Red, White & Blue (grass) album cover, "Pickin' Up."

Prior to joining GRC, Hughes was art director for a magazine publisher in Los Angeles for two years. Preceding this he taught graphic design at Watts Media Center in L.A., and served as art director for Ga-Van productions, a professional modeling troupe. In 1972, Hughes and his wife Theri formed the company "Autumn Dreams" in which they were responsible for designing the new ABC/Dunhill Rufus album, "Rags to Rufus."

Hughes will report directly to Buz Wilburn, president of GRDC.

provides immediate artist tour support to the retail merchant."

Ron Alexenburg, vice president, sales and distribution, Epic and Columbia Custom Labels, welcomed all Custom Label representatives and brought attention to the eleven gold records already earned this year. He pointed to the significance of the Charlie Rich success story, accounting for three and one-half million units on two albums alone. Alexenburg was presented with a plaque for "23 in '73," signifying the 23 gold records earned in 1973. He stressed the continuing dramatic success of Columbia Custom Labels and issued the challenge for the coming year.

Jim Tyrrell, vice president, national sales, Epic, Columbia Custom Labels and Stax, in applauding Epic and the Columbia Custom Labels for their successful efforts. Tyrrell cited the various A&R departments for their constant awareness and pulse on quality record product.

The final presentation of the opening meeting was an in depth report on anti-piracy. Don Biederman, general attorney, CBS Records Group, noted the strides made toward bringing about court decisions constituting piracy as unfair competition. Biederman informed attendees that these decisions, many of which have been tested through appeals, and many of which have been created by the reversal of pro-piracy decisions, are now receiving at least some enforcement action in every state except South Dakota.

Edward Kelman, senior attorney, CBS Records Group, presented a slide presentation of the CBS Records effort and industry effort in curtailing illegal piracy. Kelman announced plans for an intensive lobbying campaign to be launched this Fall. Currently, 27 state statutes are in effect against piracy.

Jules Yarnell, special counsel, RIAA, joined the CBS Records' executives in lauding efforts being made on behalf of anti-piracy. He stressed the importance of vigorous enforcement of anti-piracy laws and the necessity for strict punishment as a means of halting these illegal activities. Yarnell informed the attendees of strong supportive efforts by the Justice Department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Burt Pines, city attorney of Los Angeles, concluded the anti-piracy presentation by reiterating the necessity of legal enforcement and gave the city of Los Angeles' support to the anti-piracy campaign.

The Kinks, 10 Years Later: RCA Celebrates

NEW YORK — RCA Records is hosting various "little celebrations" to mark the occasion of the Kinks first big American hit, "You Really Got Me," 10 years ago.

A new single, "Mirror of Love," culled from the group's latest RCA LP, "Preservation Act 2," is a re-recording of another hit by the group, and forms the basis of the campaign. RCA is "re-issuing" the original Kinks T-shirt which was manufactured when the group first came to RCA. In support of "Mirror of Love," all reviewer copies of the record are being serviced with mirror labels. Additionally, RCA has reflected on various ideas and has designed a heart-shaped mirror emblazoned with "Mirror of Love," which will be sent to disk jockeys and reviewers.

Cassette Player Is Music 'Tutor'

SAN ANTONIO — An electronic music tutor that makes it possible for students to play along and compare with professional artists at home or in the classroom through prerecorded magnetic audio cassettes was demonstrated for the first time last week at the Annual Bandmasters Conference here.

Called MLS, the new Music Learning System is a joint enterprise of Warner Bros. Publications, Inc. and Goldmark Communications Corporation. Both organizations are subsidiaries of Warner Communications Inc.

MLS, which represents a new concept in music learning and practice, was developed by Dr. Peter C. Goldmark, president of Goldmark Communications and former head of CBS Laboratories.

The MLS system, which has been under development for more than two years, is a compact, portable tape-cassette system for use in the home or classroom. MLS can be used with any musical instrument and voice practice.

An exclusive four-track tape control and specially designed MLS player recorder enables a student or musician to play along with recorded musical groups with his own instrument substituting for the instrument in the group to which he is listening. For example, MLS makes it possible for a student practicing the trumpet to take the place of the trumpet player in the original arrange prerecorded on MLS tape cassettes.

Accompanying sheet music designed by Warner Bros. Publications is synchronized with electronic voice signals and beat instructions from the MLS system. The MLS magnetic tape tracks include:

- Ensemble track, prerecorded without the instrument the student is studying.
- Soloist track, prerecorded with the instrument and without the rest of the group.
- Index Voice track containing electronic signals, voice instructions and beats coordinated with the MLS sheet music.
- The student track for recording alone to compare with professional artists.

A library of Warner Bros. Publications MLS tape cassettes and coordinated sheet music is being assembled for the MLS system to bring a wide variety of famous bands and orchestras, classical music, popular and rock groups, country music artists and accompanists into the classroom or home through the unique system.

MLS, which is as easy to play as an ordinary tape cassette player, can also be used to play any standard four-track tape cassettes for general listening pleasure in monoaural or stereo.

DiMaria Named VP At Sound Pit Studio

HOLLYWOOD — Michael Thevis, president of the Sound Pit recording studio announces the appointment and promotion of Tony DiMaria to vice-president of the Atlanta-based studio.

DiMaria, former general manager of the $2-million facility, brings an extensive background to Thevis' music complex prefaced by over 20 years in the industry as musician, producer, arranger, composer and executive administrator.

"Being in Atlanta working with Mr. Thevis is the highlight of my 23-years in the music industry," DiMaria stated. "The energy level present in the Atlanta music scene today is so positive that artists and producers from all over the world are coming here and discovering an exciting future beyond imagination."

While serving as general manager, he was instrumental in initiating the Sound Pit remodeling which included installation and refinement of the Westlake audio monitor system, dolby noise reduction units, new 3-M tape machines, hi-speed duplicators, and modifications of the 24/32 track Flickinger console.

Newest of the additions incorporated at the Sound Pit during DiMaria's tenure includes a Neumann disc mastering lathe, marking the emergence of the first such unit in the southeast. Since installing this mastering unit in the Atlanta studio, the equipment has been utilized not only by those artists recording on Thevis' GRC, Aware and Hotlanta record labels, but producers across the country have used the lathe in mastering singles and lp's for various record labels. "The greatest advantage of the lathe," DiMaria explained, "is its convenience, cost-saving and quality control of the final product. Before, we had to fly to Los Angeles, master the product and return to Atlanta, taking anywhere from one to three days. If we weren't satisfied with the finished material, we'd return to the coast, spend another several days and Since moving to San Francisco, His Master's Wheels has seen a flurry of activity. Producer Elliot Mazer has been very active there. He has just completed an LP by Andy Fairweather Low to be released by A&M in July. With the continuing expansion of the Sound Pit and its facilities, DiMaria has named several assistants to the growing staff including the appointment of Milan Bogdan as chief engineer and Glenn Meadows as associate engineer/technician. EAST COASTINGS — Back from vacation, off and running again, the answer to the Rock and Roll: The Way We Were photoquiz #19 of two weeks back was the Dixie Cups, one of the original Red Bird "girl groups" who scored and scored again in the early and mid '60's with such smashes as "Chapel Of Love," "Little Bell" and others too numerous to mention. The final entry in this series, #20, is probably the toughest of them all. This group had but one hit back in the mid-sixties, a comic spin off of a major hit of the day. Have no idea where these three guys are today, but from the sound of their hit, well, they could be just about anywhere, possibly in hiding. Answer here next week.

Lots of "thanks you's" to open with here. First to MGM/Polydor Records for the fine time down in Atlanta, Ga. with the Atlanta Rhythm Section, a great band of southern rockers certain to make a dent on the charts one of these days. The group's performance, at Alex Cooley's Electric Ballroom (a fine club in every respect) followed a fun picnic at the Railroad Pavillion at Stone Mountain Park in Stone Mountain, Ga. (marred somewhat by a flash thunderstorm, but a good time nonetheless) and a photo session at the Governor's Mansion in Atlanta where "we all" met Georgia Governor Jimmy Carter. Atlanta still remains in my mind and heart as the finest city in America (next to the Apple, of course) . . . Another "thank you" to the nice folks at Famous Music here in New York for the good time down at the Bottom Line for the incredible Voices Of East Harlem last week. The crowds at the club were, unfortunately, small, but a good time was had by all anyway. The group is better than ever before, one of the most exciting r&b stage acts around today and a certain supergroup once their latest LP, "Can You Feel It" gets rolling (which it should, it's a fine LP). Among those seen up and dancing with the group in the audience were such Famous luminaries as Fred Ruppert, Barb Pepe and Sue Ellen Wolfson . . . Another thanks to MGM/Polydor again, particularly, Ira Leslie, for the fine Japanese dinner last week with Link Wray, a fine guitarist and an equally fine fellow.

Before leaving for vacation, I stuck around town long enough to catch the lovely Linda Ronstadt at the Schaefer Festival in Central Park. Looking prettier than ever in a long, flowing multi-colored dress, the lady again knocked this city on it's ear with another great performance. Following the show, Linda, the band and myself limoed down to the Bottom Line for the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band's Friday shows. With little coaxing, Linda got up on stage and sang four tunes with the band to the absolute delight of the packed house. Before the evening was over, as many as fourteen different performers were up and playing and singing with the Dirt Band. Of those, Wendy Waldman, Ian Matthews, Linda's entire band (including the incredible Ed Black on pedal steel, Andrew Gold, Ken Edwards and Bob Worford) and a few friends of the Dirt Band boogeyed until the early morning hours. It was a great way to kick off a vacation.

Steely Dan will record their next album in New York shortly. Charlie Calello will be doing the arranging . . . Kris Kristofferson has begun a major tour of Australia, New Zealand and Japan . . . James Taylor and Carly Simon dropped into the Record Plant East last week to visit with friends currently recording there. After visiting John Lennon, cutting a new LP with Klaus Voorman, Nicky Hopkins, Jesse Ed Davis, and Jim Keltner (among others), the couple slipped into Linda Ronstadt's sessions (being produced by manager Peter Asher). Linda's album, by the way, is scheduled for September release and should be her best to date . . . In mid-October, Dave Mason will embark on a 55-city tour, and then go off to Europe where a live LP will be recorded . . . The upcoming Roy Wood LP will be entitled "I Got My Own Album To Do" . . . The new George Harrison single will be entitled "Legs" and will be coming through Apple . . . David Bowie's next LP will be "Live In London" . . . Bowie will be making a movie with Marc Bolan. Both will be co-starring . . . Vangelis Patathanassion, of the Greek group Aphrodites Child, will be replacing Rick Wakeman in Yes.

Birthdays: Rock And Roll Style: Those celebrating this week include Maureen Starr (Mrs. Ringo) and Larry Knechtel (both August 4); Rick Huxley (the Dave Clark 5, remember) (August 5); David Steinberg (August 9); Ian Anderson (Jethro Tull) (August 10); Bobby Hatfield (Righteous Brothers) (also August 10); and Denis Payton (also the Dave Clark 5) (August 11) Happy days to all.

A couple of personal notes to add. First, thanks to Mike David for filling in for me last week while I was roaming around "Mother Country." Secondly, it was great spending a good part of the weekend with Mr. & Mrs. David Budge down in Atlanta. Just like old times again for "Mott & Co."

COMMENT — This week I won't be offering my own comment, but I am interested in hearing your comments on anything you'd like to comment on concerning the music industry. You can send your comments to me in care of this column. The most interesting comments and those that deserve to be heard by others will be printed in this column in the coming weeks, so please enclose your name so credit can be given where it is due. This experiment may not bring about any changes in our industry, but it may just make more people aware of the shortcomings we must overcome.

POINTS WEST — This Business of Partygoing — If someone were looking for a new cause to develop into a charitable organization, there would be more than one thousand immediate contributors to the "Keep The 20th Fox 'Hello Dolly' Set A National Landmark and Fight The Invasion of the Condominium." The first 1,000 contributors would be all of the people who attended a super block party staged by the CBS International Record Division on the "Dolly" set as part of the Columbia Convention. Shuttled to the site on a double decker bus, it was a deja vu feeling walking into little old New York in the early 1900s . . . because the set was alive with people and action. Franks were being deep fried in batter; pizza was being served with sassparilla by young ladies in appropriate costumes; the Columbia pitching stars were trying to knock the bathing beauty off her platform and into the pool; the organ grinder and his monkey were hurdy-gurdying all over the set and a barber-shop quartet was blending to the great delight of the a&r department's ears. Fire-eaters, magicians, stunt men staging a shootout and the set that reminded many of the people of the neighborhood in which they grew up or visited their grandparents all added up to a super evening of pleasant conversation, giving everyone an opportunity to meet the International Columbia reps and rap with them for a while.

Meanwhile, down at Malibu Beach this past weekend, novelist Gwen Davis threw quite a party for RCA recording artists Bill & Taffy. The party, which was held at Joel Gray's beach house exemplified the word "party." Bill & Taffy performed songs from their new album entitled "Aces" to the enjoyment of such celebrities as Burgess Meredith, Larry Hagman, Jaye P. Morgan just to name a few. Dyan Canon, Peter Fonda and Jerry Moss could be seen strolling up and down the beach. Bill & Taffy are on quite a promotional tour having already visited San Francisco, LA, Denver & Seattle. They now go to Memphis, Dallas and Atlanta.

Congrats to John & Annie Denver who have adopted a little baby boy named Zachary John . . . Black Oak Arkansas were seen joking around in the Speaker of the House's chair in the Maryland state capital much to the delight of the tourists present . . . Jay Gruska, singer-songwriter has just completed his first album for ABC records. He writes exclusively for Harrison Music and ABC executives and Hannah Russell, prexy of Harrison music, have nothing but raves about the lp entitled, "Gruska on Gruska" . . . Jerry Fuller, who recently stopped by Cash Box is keeping busy producing Johnny Mathis and some others . . . Dusty Springfield and friends, are recording her new ABC/Dunhill album at 914 Sound in Blauvelt, NY with Brooks Arthur at the producing helm. Brooks stated that, "Dusty is one of the most exciting performers I have the pleasure to know and the lp is coming along just great" . . . The Doobie Brothers and Firesign Theatre into the Burbank Studios to record their new lps for Columbia and Warner Bros. respectively.

PFM, Italian rock band on Manticore, had four guitars worth $2,000 stolen from their locked dressing room the night after a performance at LA's Whisky. A no-questions-asked reward of $500 is being offered by the group for the return of the instruments. Those interested should contact Tony Harrington at LA's Atlantic Records.

Hot on the heels of a successful European concert tour, Eric Burdon is recording an album for the newly-formed Far Out record label at the Record Plant in Sausalito. Genesis are finishing up a two-record set in England, and will be touring the states in November.

The Flo and Eddie Radio Show, or experience, is now syndicated in 25 markets. Words & Music . . .

Mel Mandel

Expectation is an intrinsic part of our daily lives. One can hardly go about doing anything which doesn't entail the psychological process of expectation. For example even now that this column has mentioned the word expectation if next one was to flash before your eyes the letters e.x.p.e.c.t.a. and then suddenly stop at letter a, you'd probably anticipate the remaining letters to be revealed. And if they were not dispensed one would either experience puzzlement or disappointment that their expectation to the outcome of a certain situation turned out in some other less predictable, desirable way.

When most people listen to songs which they've never heard before there's an existing automatic, almost reflex like propensity to try to guess the scheme of the rhyme of the lyrical verses. Usually this is a facile sort of songwriter's sport and one which the layman listener can also determine without too much difficulty. In fact one might even go as far to say that the song whose lyrical rhyme can indeed be correctly anticipated is often the most viably commercial since its lyric is easily remembered and easy to sing along to. On the subject of "expectation versus disappointment," even this columnist experiences adverse disappointment when a composer goes out of his way to deliberately divert what might have been the fulfillment of the listener's expectation.

Now that the reader has been sufficiently introduced to the world of musical expectation we can proceed here to mention that when this reporter first interviewed the songwriting team of Norman Sachs and Mel Mandel recently, he didn't know quite what to expect (as is always the case when it comes to meeting anyone new but particularly so when you're not even familiar with their professional works) except that the pair had penned the score to Charles Dickens' "Great Expectations," the Robert Fryer production of Sir Lew Grade and NBC's musical television collaboration.

The interview was set at a Hollywood restaurant, onerously sonorous with clanking dishes pardonable only because of the fine food they carried. Norman and Mel were delayed. As new arrivals to the west coast, they found themselves momentarily without a car. They were loaned a Lincoln Continental which looked fabulous on the outside but whose internal condition had been somewhat weakened due to some perilous stunt participation in one of film producer Paul Heller's 'Kung Fu' action packed thrillers. They got into the luxurious Lincoln 'expecting' to get to the restaurant for the interview without any problems. However this was challenged somewhat when the brakes went out. Troupers which they are, perhaps had something to do with them getting to the interview in spite of bleak brakes.

Not knowing anything about their predicament and still not knowing what to expect of the twosome, they entered resembling characters out of another Dickens novel; the ghosts from "A Christmas Carol."

After a brief explanation and some restorative spirits, Norman and Mel were ready to open up a bit. They talked about their early songwriting days of writing material for the weekly satire series "That Was The Week That Was," and of their recent tv musical score to "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," and then talk sequed to "Great Expectation," which stars Sir Michael Redgrave, Kirk Douglas, Michael York, Sarah Miles, and Margaret Leighton among others. Mel disclosed that many of these actors will be making their singing debut which will be available on a soundtrack (no label has been set yet). The idea of Margaret Leighton or Sir Michael Redgrave should proffer a variety of different "expectations." A mirthful Mel mused over the possibility of legit actors hitting the pop charts. "Can't you see it now," he quipped "Kirk Douglas is number one with a bullet this week."

Having examined "expectation," and "Great Expectations," it may be wise to mentioned something on the word "great." Norman has always avoided the node of intentionally setting out to write anything with the mandate of something having to be "great," because this expectation is sure to produce disappointment. So he frowns on the person who sets out to write "the great American novel or any other premeditated greatness."

The luncheon was over but the interview had barely begun, all that had been gleaned over clanking dishes were frothy exchanges on "expectations." The afternoon apercu wasn't quite enough to derive at anything more than only becoming acquainted with Norm Sachs and Mel Mandel. Fortunately before their exit they extended an invitation to meet with them to hear their score of "Expectations." The score happens to be "Great." In fact after hearing it one feels confident that if Dickens himself had been alive and had collaborated on the musical he might have changed the title to "Brilliant Expectations."

The music which Norman has composed is fabulously romantic and Mel's lyrics are tenderly timeless like "... there's a way you can keep time away/ You can stop all your clocks in a point in the day/ That you want to remember or you want to forget/ It doesn't quite matter/ It doesn't ... and yet/ It's your life and who knows what life might have been/ Who knows what world I'd be in if clocks had continued to spin and spin." The title tune called "Great Expectations," is potentially another pop standard in the genre of "The Way We Were," and which promises to be a major copyright. Chappel has the publishing to the Sacks/Mandel score. Perhaps it's ironic that the songwriting team who wrote for "That Was The Week That Was," have come up with songs in the caliber of "The Way We Were," since both of those titles are past tense, while "Great Expectations," "is" great and "will be," an important contribution to the music industry.

Apropos to our subject are the words of an eighteen century poet "Never expect anything beforehand/ so a very sentient friend once advised/ only when an offering in life should arise/ does one accept with open hands/ For to survey the world with a wanton hand/ bred on expectation/ is the surest way of touching disappointment/ Use rather a cautious hand/ One which is not turned up in a 'give me' position/ But palm down so that it's fingers are prepared to explore/ all that touches it's lifespan/ So know then that only when it touches/ Does one begin to feel ... never beforehand."

Norman's hands are palm down, his fingers exploring the keys of the piano while Mel examines emotions via lyrics and the two of them feel the world around them, they creatively inspect the world rather than expect from it.

picks of the week

STEVIE WONDER (Tamla 54242F)

You Haven't Done Nothin' (3:20) (Stein & Van Stock/Black Bull, ASCAP — S. Wonder)
From his magnificent "Fulfillingness' First Finale" LP comes this super track filled with the memories of the great "Superstition" a while back. The true genius of the artist comes shining through here and certainly guarantees him yet another #1 disk. Musically, horns, keyboards, bass and guitar highlight and vocally, aside from Stevie's magic, the Jackson 5 is right in there on "doo wops." Don't miss this one. It's really somethin'. Flip: No info. available.

TONY ORLANDO AND DAWN (Bell 601)

Steppin' Out (Gonna Boogie Tonight) (2:51) (Levine & Brown, BMI — I. Levine, L. Brown)
This ragtime extravaganza from Tony and his two lovely ladies is definitely this trio's next #1 single, and probably in short order, too. Considering the success of their summer TV series, the group is more popular now than ever before. This disk, from their "Ragtime Follies" LP is a strong one and will make tracks to the top shortly. Flip: No info. available.

OLIVIA NEWTON-JOHN (MCA 4028C)

I Honestly Love You (3:36) (Irving/Woolnough/Broadside, BMI — P. Allen, J. Barry)
Olivia's latest is this tender love song culled from her recent "If You Love Me, Let Me Know" LP. This time, another facet of this performer's gem-like talent is shown and it's a side that should bring her even greater successes. Vocally the lady is magnificent in soft, almost girlish, yet highly sensual manner, and perfect for the simple arrangement. Should be a strong pop and country chart item shortly. Honestly. Flip: No info. available.

BROWNSVILLE STATION (Big Tree 16001)

Kings Of The Party (3:20) (Big Leaf, ASCAP — M. Lutz, H. Weck, C. Koda)
A hard driving, hard rocking party record that certainly lives up to its title, this is the latest from Brownsville and another sure ticket onto the playlists of America, with rising chart standing along the way. Discos will certainly express interest here as this is a top flight rocker that will generate lots of dancing along the way. Brownsville is one of the top rock bands in America. This disk is why. Flip: No info. available.

BLUE SWEDE (EMI/Capitol 3938)

Never My Love (2:27) (Warner-Tamerlane, BMI — D. Addrissi, R. Addrissi)
The old Association smash is back again this time in hard rocking (yes, hard rocking) form by Blue Swede. The track is a powerhouse and gives the tune a completely new identity that is certain to be as infectious as the group's last "Hooked On A Feeling." Great harmonies and top flight musical backing makes this a sure shot for high chart standing. Flip: No info. available.

BOWIE (RCA PB-10026)

1984 (3:21) (Main Man/Chrysalis, ASCAP — Bowie)
This second single from "Diamond Dogs" has already attracted major market station attention and now that it's in single release, there should be no stopping the success of this disk. The combination and intensity of both words and music make this a true pop delight in classic Bowie form. It's time for another Bowie hit single and this is the perfect choice. The artist is ready for an assault on the Top 40. Flip: No info. available.

DAVE LOGGINS (Vanguard 35177)

Building Condemned (3:39) (Antique/Leeds, ASCAP — D. Loggins)
"Please Come To Boston" is Dave's current smash, but this oldie, culled from his earlier recording days on Vanguard is another powerful outing that should do well as a result of his current success. Lyrically this is a powerhouse and the backing chorus and rhythm section helps to complete this totally complete musical experience. The future looks bright for this artist and earlier material like this track should solidify that future considerably. Flip: No info. available.

SISTER JANET MEAD (A&M 1611)

Take My Hand (2:36) (Canberra, BMI — U. Hicks)
Sister Janet, who hit a few months back with "The Lord's Prayer" looks to have yet another smash on her hands with this soft, sensitive song featuring a sweet string arrangement and choral harmonies that do tend to soothe. Her pretty vocal quality is enough to carry the track, but when all entities are combined, this is a powerful piece of work. Flip: No info. available.

THE DRIFTERS (Bell 600)

Kissin' In The Back Row Of The Movies (3:28) (Cookaway, ASCAP — T. Macaulay, R. Greenaway)
This is the type of disk that made the Drifters the '60's super group they were. Considering the fact that this is currently a Top 5 record in England, it looks as if those good old days of success will return shortly. This bright pop outing, highly contemporary, yet reminiscent of those earlier Drifters' tracks will happen here shortly. If you remember, and like, this group's "Saturday Night At The Movies," you'll love this one. This is one revitalized group we're happy to see back on the charts again. Flip: No info. available.

KEITH HAMPSHIRE (A&M 1605)

Forever And Ever (Baby I'm Gonna Be Yours) (3:22) (Pocket Full Of Tunes, BMI — J. Cymbal, P. Clinger)
Tender ballad, performed as only this great artist can, looks to be Keith's biggest yet. The arrangement here is the key and the artist takes it all the way home, backed by a strong rhythm section and chorus, along with some sweet strings that tie the package together. If this article has eluded your attention in the past, check him out now, the time is right. Flip: No info. available.

JOE BATAAN (RCA PA-10033)

Latin Strut (3:16) (Kenya, ASCAP — Deodato)
This strong disco item was originally released on Mericana Records a couple of months back and started showing strong signs so RCA bought the disk and here it is ready to really roll. A major east coast disco item this track, written by Deodato is filled with exciting percussion and, naturally, the superb flute work of Bataan. A lively pop, r&b and Latin programming item that just won't miss. Strut On! Flip: Peace, Friendship And Solidarity (4:03) (Trina Jill, ASCAP — J. Bataan).

ROBERT KNIGHT (Monument ZS7 8612)

Better Get Ready For Love (2:43) (Beechwood, BMI — S. Rogers, B. Cason)
Robert's hit track record is excellent and this powerhouse looks to continue that streak. A super production, full of strings and things, this top flight pop/r&b disk was released a few weeks back, but looks ready to break loose now. Great hooks abound as Robert takes the vocals to the heights and ties all together with drive and determination. A welcome add to any playlist looking for some real action. Get ready! Flip: Somebody's Baby (2:23) (Rising Sun, BMI — B. Cason, M. Gayden).

PETER NOONE (Casablanca 0017)

Meet Me On The Corner Down By Joe's Cafe (2:58) (Barry Mason/Mustard — T. Macaulay, B. Mason)
Yes, this is the same Peter Noone who led Herman's Hermits to stardom in those British Invasion '60's. This time, on his second go round on his solo career, his own ship should come in, this time on the strength of this greatly entertaining British honky tonker, slightly reminiscent of his "Leaning On The Lamppost" with the Hermits. Have yourself a bloody good time. British style. Flip: No info. available.

SCAFFOLD (Warner Brothers 8001)

Liverpool Lou (2:58) (Miller, ASCAP — D. Behan)
Mike McGear is the leader of Scaffold. He's also Paul McCartney's brother (who happened to produce this disk). This track is a good timey English pub-like song that is infectious as it is entertaining and should turn out to be a smash for this very talented band. If it's fun you're after in a rather unique way (at least for Americans), this is the ticket. Get onto Scaffold. A good time is guaranteed for all. Flip: No info. available.

HUDSON BROTHERS (Casablanca 0108)

So You Are A Star (3:45) (Lornhole, BMI — Hudson Brothers)
In their former incarnation on MCA/Rocket, these boys were known as simply Hudson and proved their talents. Now on their new label, this debut is even more powerful. There's a strong Stealer's Wheel feel here, highlighted by some simply incredible Beatle-like harmonies. This pretty ballad is a definite hitbound. Any station passing on this disk is making a mistake. This group is definitely destined for stardom. Flip: No info. available.

LOLEATTA HOLLOWAY (Aware 037)

H'E*L*P M'E M*Y L'O*R*D (2:56) (Moonsong/Act One/BMI — S. Dees)
No, Virginia, the title has nothing to do with M*A*S*H or S*P*Y*S, but what this is is solid r&b almost gospel with vocals a good deal like the intensity of, say, Aretha Franklin. Strong arrangement may take this across the boards to the pop side of things and give Loleatta (pronounced Lolita) the recognition she deserves. Give this a chance, the response to this one should be strong. Chart help looks to be on the way. Flip: No info. available.

LITTLE BEAVER (Cat 1993)

Party Down (Part 1) (3:14) (Sherlyn, BMI — W. Hale)
From the folks that recently brought you "Rock Your Baby" by George MacCrae comes this super disco item by one of the people on that same session. The same infectious quality of "Rock Your Baby" is present with a couple of new, unusual twists that makes this track even more enticing. T. K. Productions looks to be becoming a major force in pop/r&b circles. With disks like this one, it's no wonder. Flip: Party Down (Part 2) (Credits Same As Above).

SAM NEELY (A&M 1612)

You Can Have Her (3:00) (Harvard/Big Billy, BMI — W. Cook)
This is the same oldie made popular by many artists, including Dionne Warwick, but Sam has added a new twist — a new arrangement that should make this one bigger than ever before. A country rocker that intensifies as the track moves up, the eventual gospelizing makes this a real toe tapper that should be accepted on both pop and country levels. Sam is a real talent, who's been around for a while. Looks like it's time for him to break out. Flip: No info. available.

BONNIE KOLOC (Ovation 1049)

You're Gonna Love Yourself In The Morning (2:15) (Combine, BMI — D. Fritts)
This lady is a vocal magician and this track, the title song of her latest masterful LP release, should bring her the recognition she has deserved for a few years now. Vocally, the lady is a seeming cross between a Joan Baez and a Judy Collins and, that, with the song, makes for a very entertaining two minutes. Stations have been playing this cut for some time and listeners have been responding. Join the parade. This lady's on the way. Flip: No info. available.

THE SOUTHER, HILLMAN, FURAY BAND (Asylum 45201)

Fallin' In Love (3:30) (Song Mountain, ASCAP — R. Furay)
This initial single release from SHF's debut LP is the perfect choice. A spirited country rocker (the most requested album cut to date) with the distinctive vocals of Richie Furay up front, and some great harmonies by the trio, along with some fine backing music. All in all, this one will get the trio off in the top 40 market, and might even go all the way. A true supergroup has been born. Flip: No info. available.

FINAL TOUCH (Blue Thumb 258)

It's Spinning Love (2:13) (Albomo, BMI — C. Spencer, E. Pitt, G. Allen)
A super r&b disk with incredible pop potential, this disk debuts one of the most talented new groups to come around in some time. Steady rocking with vocals more than slightly reminiscent of the Miracles in their hey day, this one is chock full of all those good things that hits are made of. Check the hooks and excellent arrangement (especially on those strings). No way this will miss the mark. Only the beginning from Final Touch. Flip: We Belong Together (2:59) (Albomo, BMI — L. Hodelin, P. Shells).

JONES GIRLS (Paramount 0291)

Will You Be There (3:17) (Aopa/Right Step, ASCAP — Q. Joseph, T. Green, D. Reed, O. Wright)
Already generating some strong r&b action, this moving track by these lovely ladies is a strong enough track to cross the boards and make these ladies known around most pop music circles. Tight harmonies from the girls along with a bright arrangement makes for a total entertainment experience. Discos take note. This one is a mover and right to get them up on the floor. Flip: No info. available.

#19301

PRODUCED BY GLIMMER TWINS FOR PROMOTION E.B.V.

THE FOUR TOPS ANTHOLOGY — Motown M9-809A3

Lead vocalist Levi Stubbs sings with an impassioned urgency, crying, pleading, like the world's gonna blow up in an hour. The Four Tops have always been exciting, original, and compelling, belting their fine brand of pop-rock soul. The group's former producers/composers Holland-Dozier-Holland considered them their favorite artists, and supplied them with the best songs: "I Can't Help Myself," "Shake Me Wake Me," "Standing in the Shadows of Love," "Bernadette," and "It's the Same Old Song." This three-record set is a fine tribute to this great group, who've retained their original lineup after all these years.

RHINOS, WINOS & LUNATICS — Man — United Artists UA-LA247-G

A guitar-dominated sextet blessed with superb musicianship, Man have often been referred to as the "Grateful Dead" or the "Allman Brothers of Wales." Their use of parallel, piercing lead guitar runs also gives them a bit of Guess Who flavoring. Other times the lead patterns are repeated, taking the background while spacey, Pink Floyd-like electronic sounds fill the air. On tour here recently with Hawkwind, Man stole the show, bolstered by lead vocalist/rocker Deke Leonard, who is obviously rooted in the Sun rockabilly sound. Definitely one of the better bands around today.

JEFFREY COMANOR — Jeffrey Comanor — Epic KE 32832

Although Comanor's innocent, labial-constricted delivery smacks of Paul Williams, overall his smile-evoking presentation reminds one of Loggins and Messina. The lilting "No One Rides the Railroads, Anymore" recalls the sentiment of Kenny Loggins, as does the whimsical, gentle "My Blue Lady." Other cuts, like "Swamp Stomper," are all-out, spirited, insistent cajun rockers. He's a good songwriter, and not altogether unfamiliar — he has seven Fifth Dimension hit B-sides to his credit.

THE SONGS OF JIM WEATHERLY — Jim Weatherly — Buddah BDS 5608

Weatherly, who's composed a few of the hits for Gladys Knight and the Pips ("Midnight Train to Georgia," etc.), has released a collection of his-composed country ballads. Amazingly moving is "Where Do I Put Her Memory" — "I can't chase it, erase it, I just have to face it..." Weatherly's mournful voice is very fragile here, just one side of a complete tear-flooding breakdown. "My First Day Without Her" is an aching look at lost love. Nick DeCaro arranged the album, furnishing the caressing strings which complement the perfect, contemplative moods.

newcomer picks

DUCKS DELUXE — Ducks Deluxe — RCA LPL 1-5008

Ducks Deluxe are the most amazing group of rockers to emerge out of England in quite some time. Originally a pub band, this leather-coated quartet have energized their sound to come off as a cross between Carl Perkins and Deep Purple. Loud, compelling, danceable fare like "Fireball" (stylistically similar to Lou Reed's "Sweet Jane"), "Coast to Coast" and "Nervous Breakdown" explore their musical jaunt across the USA. "Daddy Put The Bomp" is more subdued, hypnotic, with a throbbing rhythm and a (at times) creeping vocal. These guys offer the freshest sound in rock heard in ages.

WIDESCREEN — Rupert Holmes — Epic KE 32864

This LP is a terrific mood piece. The title, "Widescreen," alludes to a movie, and Holmes does his best to create one aurally with swirling strings and accents complementing the lyrical mood. "Life's a constant disappointment when you live on celluloid," says Holmes, depressed that the good-times of the movie world are only fantasy. Sometimes, sloppy, blaring horns recreate the 1930's mellowness perfectly, while "Psycho Drama" is an effective reading of a radio drama. Much in the mold of Billy Joel's "Piano Man" — more pop than rock — "Widescreen" is one of the most enjoyable and original concepts to appear in some time.

RORY GALLAGHER
IRISH TOUR '74..

JUNIOR WALKER & THE ALL STARS ANTHOLOGY — Motown M7-786R2

The best of Junior Walker is right here. One of Motown's first artists, hits included in this double LP set are: "Shotgun," "Do the Boomerang," "Shake and Fingerpop," "These Eyes," and "Road Runner." Walker's own, recognizable brand of pop R&B is characterized by his Texas-styled tenor sax, sweetly winding, and by his warm, blurred vocal delivery. While promulgating more than one dance craze himself, Walker's happy, funky follickers are especially suited for dancing.

IRISH TOUR '74 — Rory Gallagher — Polydor PD2-9501

Gaining more followers with each sweeping tour of the States, Ireland's Rory Gallagher stings his guitar over the methodical blues rhythms of the backing trio. His husky, guttural vocals angrily spout words in the manner of Johnny Winter during the rockers, like "Cradle Rock." There's plenty of jamming, too; on "Walk On Hot Coals" the band pulls all stops as Rory slashes his guitar and goes crazy. Acoustic moments such as "I Wonder Who (Who's Gonna Be Your Sweet Man)" features his voice in a more subtle intensity accompanied by the rapid fingering of his delta blues guitar. It's a complete, drink-inspired evening for getting down.

CAN YOU FEEL IT — The Voices of East Harlem — Just Sunshine JSS-3504

Rarely will one come across a vocal group more talented or more joyous than the Voices of East Harlem. There's ten of 'em, and their refreshing, lively voices are decidedly positive in effect. "Just Got to Be Myself" is a soul-searching cry for one's self, while, in another light, "Jimmy Joe Lee" winds up in jail with no one to pay his bail. It's tastefully arranged, with the instruments — supplying an irresistible rhythm and tasty embellishments — wisely subordinating themselves to the excellent vocals. The Voices of East Harlem have made another fine album to join the ones they've done in the past.

BORN AGAIN — Rare Bird — Polydor PD 6506

On selections like "Body And Soul," jazzy electric piano and synchopated rhythmic patterns combine with soulful, Rascals-like vocals, defining Rare Bird as white soul. Then, on things like "Peace of Mind," their touching harmonies echo the Hollies. "Red Man," with a dancing piano, slowly builds as a tender saga of the American Indian's hopeless plight unfolds. It's the best realized cut. As a whole this trio — keyboards more stressed than guitars — presents intricate patterns, tasty rhymes, and a hardy lead vocalist in Steve Gould. Very promising artists, indeed.

CECILIO AND KAPONO — Cecilio and Kapono — Columbia KC 32928

To our recollection, Henry "Kapono" Kaaihue and Cecilio Rodriguez are the first rock act to break out of Hawaii, rather than another Cheech and Chong comedy duo as their names and appearance suggest. Their debut LP is crisply produced and features backup by some of the best studio musicians around: Lee Sklar, Russ Kunkle, Craig Doerge, Jim Horn. Cecilio and Kapono emit a happy, sensitive exuberance, which, when coupled with their rich, warm harmonies, recalls Loggins and Messina. Here, of course, the former are more concerned with a thorough, imaginative pop approach, while the latter owe a bit more to the country and down-home folk idioms.

THE EDUCATION OF SONNY CARSON — Original Soundtrack — Paramount PAS 1045

The titles of the selections coupled with the cover photos of a dashing figure of a welled black man fleeing the cops tell the action-packed story of Sonny Carson. From robberies and chases to rumbles, junkies and funeral parlors, Sonny in the end re-evaluates his changed life and former familiar surroundings on "the road to nowhere" in the exceptional "Sonny's Theme (Where Do I Go From Here?)." "Exercise Run" exudes a lot of drama with its flute-brass interchange that is compensated for later by comparatively soothing piano and pleasant echo flute interludes. Definitely a soundtrack of which to take notice.

The Osmonds

SUPERSTAR THEATRE, TROPICANA HOTEL, LAS VEGAS — The Osmonds recent opening was a colossally spectacular production, perhaps one of the most lavish ever to adorn the capacious showroom (just reopened for the MGM recording "superstars"). The Osmonds' show begins with a filmed montage of their early days and it succeeds in delighting the audience while at the same time inculcating just how talented and dedicated this entertaining family is. The film set the mood for the superbly staged show which was to follow which included their hits "One Bad Apple," "Yo-Yo," and "Crazy Horses." There were also impressive solos by Donnie, Jimmie, and Marie Osmond, the latest accretion to the act. In addition to a fast pace, energetic show, credit must also be given to the ingenious and foudroyant lighting and sets. The Osmonds ostensibly proved that their act was not just 'another show' but rather a triumphant musical event which is not to be missed.

Bruce Springsteen
Cecilio and Kapono

TROUBADOUR, L.A. — Cecilio and Kapono, a hirsute Hawaiian duo sharing acoustic and electric guitars, opened the show. Seemingly attempting to be another Seals and Crofts, their pleasant harmonies over easy flowing rhythms painted pastoral settings of necessary retreats out in the country. They performed an exceptional rendition of Elton John's "Where to Now St. Peter," and in general, sang a lot about Colorado. Instrumentally they made much use of a colorful wah-wah guitar, at times percussively popping the muted strings. Unlike their debut LP, the pair were short on inspiration, and originality.

Bruce Springsteen is great. Initially he was a scruffy, scowling, moody figure whose physical emulation of early Bob Dylan was mirrored in his rhythmic, image-laden poetry and in his whiney vocals and acoustic guitar accompaniment.

Now, while Springsteen, behind red glasses and beneath curly hair, does exude a James Dean cold intensity, happily gone is his Dylan demeanor. Now, with a saxophonist, two keyboards — organ and piano — bass and drums, Springsteen's meaty style and grinding rhythms approaches Van Morrison's fiery brand of white R&B (exp. "It Stoned Me"). Unlike the immobile Morrison, however, Springsteen dashes across the stage like Chuck Berry, breaks into an engagingly wide grin, or disjointedly stiffens like a marionette. He's more natural now, and it's satisfying seeing such a talent comfortable with himself.

During his extra-long two hour set — Springsteen musically and lyrically captured the passion and hardships of the city, dealing with various illusions, desperate situations. "Incident of 57th Street" captures a boy caught between two life styles: success and pressure in the money world, or a surreal form of happiness as an unproductive lay-about. Also performed were "The E Street Shuffle," "Kitty's Back," "New York Serenade," and "Jungleland." Pulling a complete surprise, the band swirled into a driving, powerful wall of sound for the Crystals old "And Then He Kissed Me." Judging by the stupendous applause, Springsteen is well on his way towards gaining acceptance on the merits of his own identity.

Cold Blood
Ballinjack

BOTTOM LINE, NYC — Our musical times, as they have had tendencies in the past, have changed considerably. Whether it be better or worse now depends on who's doing the talking. In the case of "San Francisco Music" or the "Bay Area Sound" the changes are more than just obvious. Cold Blood is one of the prime examples.

Cold Blood is an eight man, one woman (and what a woman) band from that San Francisco Bay area. Their beginnings, around the time of the Fillmores East and West, proved them to be one of the more popular blues-rock fusion bands in existence. In this, their first New York City appearance in a good few years, the group demonstrated that not only has their music changed, but their attitude as well.

Fronted by foxy Lydia Pense, a funky, bluesy wailer if there ever was one, Cold Blood, in front of a near packed house, kept the crowd in ecstasy throughout the course of their one hour plus set. In performing material from their earlier period all the way up to material from their latest LP, "Lydia," the group sounded better than ever through a more powerful rhythm section and a seemingly more intense performance by Lydia herself. Unlike their earlier days, the group related far better to their audience and seemingly had a better time performing (even though there was some monitor trouble throughout the set). The highlight was the group's smashing blues-rocker "Down To The Bone," a tune that brought a roaring ovation from the audience. It was good to see this group back in the city again. Here's hoping they don't wait as long to come back, next time for a longer engagement.

Opening was Ballinjack, a four man band who've been performing in this area for some time now. Their set, although flashing occasional bright spots was, for the most part, lackluster. Rock and roll of this rather bland nature has been heard far too many times in the past. The group has no current label affiliation.

Henry Mancini
Cleo Lane

HOLLYWOOD BOWL — Cleo Lane was the guest artist with Henry Mancini, but she was no guest to the audience that insisted on four encores. Her songs were dynamic as she let herself go with "It Might As Well Be Spring" — "Feeling Good" — Stevie Wonder's "Looking for Another Pure Love" and her unbelievable version of Jerome Kern's "Bill." All her arrangements were by her husband, director-composer John Dankworth. "Bill" is featured on her hit RCA album "Cleo Lane Live at Carnegie Hall."

Henry Mancini, conducting the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, opened with the overture from "That's Entertainment," and followed with a medley of Barry White's "Love Theme" and Gamble and Huff's "T.S.O.P." His version of "The Entertainer," which Mancini played on the piano, was outstanding. He remarked that this is one of the most difficult tunes he has ever played.

Mancini's tribute to Victor Young had the entire Bowl audience in a very romantic and nostalgic mood. He continued to captivate with many of his own songs, including themes from "Pink Panther," "Mr. Lucky," and "Peter Gunn," along with ballads — "Charade," "Dear Heart," "Days of Wine and Roses," "Moon River" and "The Sweetheart Tree." Truly a night to remember.

Barry White

GREEK THEATRE, Los Angeles — A night with many stars, both Hollywood and celestial, was the setting for Love and Barry White — the man and his music.

The evening began with Dancing Waters and Laser Images, which was a special light and water show. Colored lights in many forms danced on a large screen, while fountains of water moved to the background music from "Together Brothers" — 20th Century's new Barry White theme album from the picture of the same name.

The warm night of glorious music included gold record songs from "Love Unlimited" the popular singing trio of Glodean and Linda James and Diane Taylor. Off the stage, Glodean is Mrs. Barry White. Love Unlimited featured "Walking in the Rain" as the water fountains danced in the background. This gave a perfect setting to the song.

The Love Unlimited Orchestra played many of the songs from the ever popular Barry White collection, including the fantastic "Love Theme."

Barry White, dressed all in white, made a grand entrance through the audience as he received a standing ovation. He sang, he played the piano, as he totally entertained, with many of his songs of love and togetherness.

Atlanta Rhythm Section

THE ELECTRIC BALLROOM, Atlanta, Ga. — The great state of Georgia has in recent years, given birth to some of the finest bands in the country currently recording. Of those, the Allman Brothers, Lynyrd Skynyrd, the Marshall Tucker Band, Grinderswitch and Wet Willie immediately come to mind, but make room. The Atlanta Rhythm Section is back on the scene and ready to storm to the top of that list.

The Electric Ballroom, created by Alex Cooley, is one of the finest clubs in the South. It's large so that lots of folks can dance as well as listen, the sound system is excellent so that the sounds can be heard properly from any point in the club, and, most importantly, the energy level of those great Atlanta fans is in abundance so that everyone has a good time. When a group as talented as the Atlanta Rhythm Section comes to play, you just know that all of those positives are gonna make the evening's entertainment that much more entertaining and that a good time is a sure shot.

The particular evening I attended one of the group's performances, the energy level seemed to be that much higher. In performing material from their latest Polydor LP, "Third Annual Pipe Dream," as well as material from the group's two previous album efforts on Decca (now MCA), they proved that the past couple of years have been well spent in perfecting a top flight stage act and tightening up their music to near perfection.

Standout tunes performed included "Back Up Against The Wall," a strong rocker from a couple of years back, a super cover of McCartney's "Live And Let Die" and a rousing dedication to the band's home town "Deauville," all of which had the crowd hooting and hollering for more. It looks like this time around the Rhythm Section is ready and the public along with them. Lots of good Southern music is coming your way, so when the Atlanta Rhythm Section comes to your town (which they will be shortly as a tour has just begun), it is sincerely urged that you take the time to listen. One performance will lead to many others.

Dick Feller

THE EXIT INN, Nashville — Like the Pied Piper, Dick Feller took a very willing and responsive audience into a delightful and refreshing evening when he opened his set at the Exit Inn (25). Working only with his guitar, which he "picks" Merle Travis style, Dick interspersed the show with a wit which was delivered with perfect timing and showmanship.

The show, which was composed of all self-written material with the exception of "Dueling Banjos" and "Merle's Boogie," was opened with "The Sum Of Marcie's Blues" a sensitive poignant ballad. This was followed by "The Night Miss Nancy Ann's Hotel For Single Girls Burned Down" (Tex Williams) and "Any Old Wind That Blows" (Johnny Cash). "She's Taken A Gentle Lover" could have many interpretations, according to the lyric, and the "Fool Across The Hall" was funny, funny, funny. "Biff, The Friendly Purple Bear" — a captured day-dream — brought thunderous approval and was followed by "Lord Mr. Ford," which was a top chart hit for Jerry Reed.

Back in a serious vein came "Your Lady Is A Woman" and "Daisy Hill." "Making The Best Of A Bad Situation," Dick Feller's current hit on Elektra Records, showed this versatile artist at his best and brought a standing ovation — something that seldom happens at the Exit Inn. The audience asked for an encore and got one in "Cry For Lori." With his distinctive voice, unusual instrumental ability, combined with unique material, it would seem that this new Elektra artist is destined to be "one hell of a feller."

The Voices Of East Harlem
Ray Bryant Trio

THE BOTTOM LINE, NYC — The crowds weren't there but they should have been for before the night was over, the Voices of East Harlem had rocked this club on its ear and left memories in the minds and souls of the quarter filled house that would linger for some time to come.

On tour to promote their latest Just Sunshine (Famous) LP, "Can You Feel It," the revamped Voices were more dynamic than ever before and proved that they have become one of the most dynamic r&b acts in the business today. The nine singers featured (and backed by) a very tight band of rockers dressed identically, offered a wealth of material, much of which is included in their latest LP release, and showed a new stage act, chock full of incredible dance steps (particularly the funky bump and robot, respectively), before eventually taking their show to the people in the audience and getting everyone up and dancing with the group.

The tastiest moments of the hour plus set were the group's renditions of their current single release, "Can You Feel It" (the tune on which the group drifted into the crowd, getting the folks up), and a very funky "Wanted Dead Or Alive" which featured the five excellent female vocalists. All in all, the Voices have finally blossomed and are ready to take the public by storm. The years of "paying dues" seems finally to be paying off. These are "voices" that will certainly be heard with greater clarity as the months roll by.

Opening the show was the Ray Bryant Trio, The Cadet artists, led by Bryant on piano, played a smooth set of jazz that the audience seemed to appreciate. Material included repertoires of Duke Ellington and Billie Holliday, as well as original material by the group.

Syreeta: On The 'Right' Path

"I'm going left, 'til you lead me to the right, lead me to what is right," is the lyrical statement of Syreeta which also captures a modicum of her spiritual quest. In an exclusive Cash Box interview with the Motown recording artist formerly married to Stevie Wonder, Syreeta Wright shed some light on what's been right and what's been wrong in her burgeoning career and life. She's a very gracious and grateful person and the only wrong thing she could think of was that she sometimes deems events in her life to be "wrong," only because they didn't quite turn out the way she thought then that they should have.

Syreeta has since discovered that what she thought was wrong eventually turned out to be "tant mieux," or so much the better in the long run. That's in the long run, however this kind wisdom is never penetrable as long as one thinks of an event in one's life as a permanent, interminable "thing." Syreeta has learned instead to perceive the unfoldment of Life as a series of events, each with a beginning, a middle and an end, rather than thought of as tenacious things, unchanging. The "events," in Syreeta's life include her marriage to Stevie who was the first to discover her songwriting abilities and who then gave her the opportunity to write the lyrics to "Signed, Sealed, and Delivered." After that first songwriting assignment the two collaborated on many tunes and found that their synergetic partnership was Wonder-ously Wright.

It was Syreeta who was influential in spurring Stevie on to write about subjects other than just "love," although she is a firm believer that "omnia vincit amor," or "Love conquers all." However even Syreeta prefers writing about "events," in a fashion less prosaic than "Signed, Sealed, Delivered, I'm Yours." She takes a basic step in this direction on her new Motown album called "Stevie Wonder presents Syreeta." On the album her supple voice sings about love and life as she's experienced it rather than a love that's been theorized. Her prayer-like philosophical lyric "Lead me to what is right," from her new single "I'm Goin' Left," is a thought Syreeta has been firmly concerned about since she was a little girl looking out at the firmament's stars and wondering what her connection is with the universe.

This kind of prodigious pondering has caused her to investigate alternative philosophies one of those being the science of creative intelligence, or transcendental meditation. This particular doctrine based on eliminating stress through mantras is something she also introduced to Stevie. In fact it was this form of enlightenment which abated much of the stress she experienced during the dissolution of hers and Stevie's marriage. The end of their nexus caused a nadir, a time of depression in her life. A time for needing to do a little introspection, to see it as an "event," perhaps to see it even as verification that life is ever-changing, which is a beautiful process. During this period of adjustment which occurred last summer, Syreeta went on a transcendental meditation pilgrimage to Ethiopia. There off the beaten path in the bushland, three hours away by car to the nearest phone, Syreeta practiced meditation and listened to spiritually inspiring discussions. One such conversation was on the subject of love and how everything comes out of love. This may have been the impetus for her writing "Universal Sound of the World," one of the tunes on her new album.

Syreeta considers music itself to be a tremendously spiritual experience. She elaborated with "Anything that universally brings people together and makes them like what they're doing is spiritual to me." If anything is really right for Syreeta Wright, singing is and she testifies that thru it "we're all a part of the same thing. Being a star is fine as long as you let others know that they're a star as well." If studying the stars in the sky as a child taught her anything it may have been as she so perfectly stated that in essence we're all stars, some like Syreeta, are just a little more easy to see.

Strawbs: A 'Classic' Combination

David Cousins is the sole survivor and only original group member of an exquisite musical ensemble of musicians called Strawbs. Sole survivor because in the group's seven year history there have been fourteen personnel changes, giving the music world such musicians as Rick Wakeman and the newly formed Hudson & Ford duo. To have survived all that change must have indeed been frustrating for David Cousins. He and Tony Hooper were the originators of the Strawberry Hill Boys, an energy driven innovative bluegrass duo who made some very strange sounds (esoteric pickin') to the residents of the British Isles. At the time Cousins was playing banjo and Tony was playing guitar. When they saw that the kind of music they were into was a bit too alien for the British ear, they decided to expand their resources into a more elaborate musical form. This was during the folk song period in England which was '62-'63 concurrent with the movement in our country. The Strawberry Hill Boys were abbreviated to the "Strawbs" and to the cutting off of their bluegrass roots which David said became sort of a joke. And since the inception of the Strawbs back in 1967 their eight released albums stand as a definite hybrid musical form that is totally eclectic and at the same time is very unique, direct and visual. By visual, I mean, that their concept is more like a musical metaphor that blends and synthesizes the rhythm and the melody lines to the perfect balance. Cousins, told me that he felt music ran on two paths, i.e. the melody line and the rhythm line. He feels that Frankie Laine, for example, typified the melody line, and that the Stones typify the rhythm line. The Beatles best exemplify the perfect balance and or musical equilibrium which has been synthesized between these two musical paths. Consequently, Cousins who has maintained a consistency of motivation for Strawbs has always tried to maintain the magic balance of these two musical paths. The synthesis of these elements is then flavored with an Elizabethan flair and at times the Medieval textures and lyrical allusions connote a Gothic feel to their musical compositions. Listening to LPs as "From The Witchwood," "Bursting At The Seams," and their newest A & M LP "Hero and Heroine," can take the attentive listener back through a musical time journey. An unmistakable lush metaphorical trip that connotes sometimes surreal and always fanciful images that places this group in a genre all of its own.

Strawbs

Cousins, who has always written a majority of the group's material over the years stands as the guiding light of Strawbs and its concept. After all with the constant turnover of personnel it must have been very difficult to keep starting anew every time someone left the group. This of course necessitated a never ending repetition of older material for the new members to accustom themselves to what the Strawbs style was all about. For as Cousins said, "When the new band learned the older songs the musical style became apparent." And he continued by saying, "Strawbs can do what they want to do as long as it is Strawbs."

Cousins, classically oriented by his own admission, said, "I never liked electric rock or brass guitars. I became a folk singer for this reason." Interestingly enough the second LP, which is over six years old, featured a classical cellist which at the time was quite unconventional. The Strawbs were eclectic and classically oriented before it was fashionable to be so. So, it can be said that this group has always represented an innovative and inspired musical force on the so often jaded pop scene. And when one attends a Strawbs concert there is an older more laid-back audience present at their shows which seems to lack the conventional foul mouthed brazen up-starts.

Curious as to the constant turnover of Strawbs personnel Cousins replied that in the case of Rick Wakeman he wanted to be more of an innovator than he could be as one-fifth of Strawbs. In other words the musical direction he wished to pursue was at odds with the orchestral splendor a unified Strawbs allowed. Consequently, he left Strawbs in 1971 following the release of the superb "From The Withwood" LP. Asking Cousins if there was any animosity between he and Wakeman he said, "On the contrary Rick and I always get together when we are in the same town. We are very good friends and love to carry on." The same holds true for the Hudson and Ford duo who left Strawbs in 1973 following the "Bursting At The Seams" LP. They all get together when they can and just love to carry on at the local pub or whatever.

The group as it is now consists of David Cousins on lead guitar, Dave Lambert on guitar, John Hawken on keyboards, Rod Coombes on drums and Chas Cronk on bass and their current LP is "Hero And Heroine." As always, lush harmonies that have always abounded on Strawbs LPs and polished instrumentation come together to form that perfect synthesis which is always the refreshingly unique sound of the Strawbs.

Black Music's Inroads On White Mkt, Paces Innovation & Competition

NEW YORK — As black music continued to make major inroads on the musical taste of the white population of America, black radio is becoming big business. No longer can a station do anything it pleases and get away with it because it's "the only game in town." As black radio continues to gain a larger audience of non-black listeners, other sharp businessmen are awakening to the potential of this vehicle and are offering competition in more and more markets each passing month.

The effect, however, is a positive one in that it's resulting in many stations taking a closer look at their format, technique, jocks, civic involvement, promotional attitudes and the like. But most noticed is a new attention to format.

Many black radio stations have been making innovations of late and a number of new stations are turning to black music from other formats. Others are looking for new, innovative approaches. For example, station WNJR in New Jersey, with the guidance of Harvey Lynch, general manager of the station, switched to a black rock programming format with a playlist numbering well over 50 selections per week as well as programming newly released LP cuts, all basically black product. Frankie Crocker (WBLS-FM) music director, is one of the leaders in developing a creative format with black LP product, described as 'The Black Experience In Sound.' But, the impact is a vast cross-section of listeners. Bob Anderson, KPRS-FM in Kansas City, asst general manager as well as music director, runs a playlist of 20 LPs with 2-3 cuts played from each LP totalling the equivalent of some 50 records. This is on the AM portion of the station. The gospel LP list is 10. An average of 5 albums are selected each week, including gospel. (By the way, Bob informs us that the station call letters on the AM portion is going to be changed to KPRT to distinguish it from the FM. Also, the FM vehicle is slated to switch to 100,000 watts Aug. 15. The FM actually operates like an AM with a playlist of 40, keyed to top selling single product.)

These are but a few examples of creativity in black communications. Veterans on the black scene, such as Al Jefferson (WWIN) Baltimore; E. Rodney Jones (WVON) Chicago; Sonny Taylor Chicago; George Frazier and Rick

No mistaking the influence of gospel upon the music market. Dave Crawford has produced The Mighty Clouds of Joy — a top act in the gospel field — with an LP, "It's Time," appropriately entitled. The group is in a funk groove that should have them hitting the mainstream of r&b & pop in no time. "Time" is a solid cut as well as "Laugh." The product is outstanding throughout. . . . The r&b setup at RCA is as follows: Tom Draper, director of r&b; Marty Mack, nat'l r&b promo mgr.; and 4 regional specialists: Chip Donelson, east coast; LeRoy Phillips, midwest; Gene Burleson, South, S.E.; John Young, Southwest and Kelvyn Ventour, local Detroit. Ray Harris is the nat'l r&b product manager. 20th's R&B "Together"

HOLLYWOOD — With the NATRA convention now in town 20th Century Records' president Russ Regan and national R&B promotion director Hosea Wilson have big plans for those in attendance. "We'll be showing a new movie," said Wilson. "Together Brothers, starring Calvin Lockhart. It's about a little kid who sees a murder, and then is stalked by the killer. The movie's music features Barry White, Love Unlimited, and the Love Unlimited Orchestra. Afterwards we'll have a cocktail party." The event, which includes a presidential reception for NATRA head Cecil Hale, co-hosted by Barry White, takes place at the Century Plaza Hotel.

20th Century has experienced an enormous degree of success in its two-year history, primarily with a fine R&B roster. "You have to be enthusiastic," explained Hosea about promotion. "If the radio announcers and program directors like you, they'll play your records. You have to please everybody and be available when they want you. I don't have an answering service like these other guys do — people can call me direct and I'll speak to them. You have to be honest, too, because your word means a helluva lot. You've gotta have a good product too."

Hosea is proud of his staff which includes Vernon Thomas, east coast regional; Norm Thrasher, southern regional; and Maurice Warfield, west coast. His other kudos go to Tom Rodden, vice president general manager in charge of marketing, and Paul Lovelace, pop promotion director, who assisted in crossing over R&B product to the pop stations.

"Zaire 74," Historic All-Back Three-Day Music Festival Set For African Republic September 20, 21, 22 (Super Bowl of Music World to Precede Foreman-Ali Fight)

NEW YORK — "A momentous musical event" will take place in the African national of the Republic of Zaire (formerly the Belgian Congo). It was announced this week, by the promoters of the festival Don King and Lloyd Price, who head up Festival of Zaire, Inc.

Following months of negotiations, a three-day continuous all-Black musical experience called "Zaire 74" will be held in the 20 du Mai Stadium (capacity: 100,000) in Kinshasa, capital of the Republic of Zaire on September 20, 21, 22.

King and Price were granted rights by Le Bureau de President du Zaire to present a three-day musical festival preceding the Foreman-Ali fight.

Subsequently, an agreement was concluded by Festival in Zaire, Inc. with "Zaire 74" headed by Stewart Levine and Hugh Masekala, to physically produce the super bowl of the music world — the Olympics of Black musical sound.

Levine and Masekala said that Alan Pariser has been named executive coordinator of "Zaire 74".

Masekala said, "Zaire 74" will bring together in a "Black cultural explosion" the elite of Black-American contemporary pop-rock performers with their African counterparts as well as outstanding black artists from other nations around the world."

"Zaire 74" will be part of a week-long celebration leading up to the world's heavyweight championship fight between world champion George Foreman and challenger and former champion Muhammad Ali.

"Zaire 74" will be a spiritual commitment by Blacks from all over the world," Price said, "bringing together two cultures linked by a similar heritage and joined in a celebration of life, a re-dedication through music — the communication of our generation by young and old alike."

Masekala, famous trumpeter-vocalist from South Africa has been at the forefront of African and contemporary music for many years.

Levine, who has been a long-time friend and associate of Masekala, is a partner along with Masekala in Chisa Records and is a producer with a long history in the music business.

Pariser is the founder of the Monterey Pop festival and has been a personal manager for such stars as Delaney and Bonnie and Dave Mason.

Lloyd Price, an internationally-known rock and roll artist has more than 20 million record sales to his credit.

Don King, who is also a director and vice-president of Video Techniques, Inc., is the actual promoter of the Foreman-Ali fight and was responsible for raising the $10 million to be split equally between the two fighters.

King said, "In this greatest musical event in the history of the world, 300,000 people will be listening to the music of Black performers acknowledging their roots and heritage — people who have had their beginnings in swamps and ghettos. That's what these three days of musical awareness are committed to — beginning the blend of cultures and raising high the human interests by this one momentous effort."

Levine and Masekala said that top Black stars have already been signed and they will be announced shortly. In addition, negotiations are almost completed with a major Hollywood production company to film the week-long activities for a forthcoming theatrical feature to be released internationally.

Levine and Masekala also revealed that a series of albums will be produced and will be distributed by at least two major record companies.

"Zaire 74" is located in New York at Suite 303, 39 West 55th Street, New York, New York 10019 (212) 757-2707. All information relative to special VIP package tours and arrangements for traveling to the Republic of Zaire for both the three-day music festival and the Foreman-Ali fight will be handled by Alan Pariser at "Zaire 74" headquarters.

All legal affairs are being handled by the law firm Caper and Thall, 1780 Broadway, N.Y. (212) 765-5038.

Rocky G. Promotions Expands

NEW YORK — The independent black promotion company, Rocky G. Promotions, now in its second year serving the Boston to Washington market, announced that it will expand its operations from black AM and FM stations, to include "all mainstream FM stations." Stated Rocky G., "There are a number of reasons for this move, but first among them is the quality and number of black LPs. Black music is at the beginning of a tremendous new growth cycle, and it is clear that the entire FM spectrum is where these new albums belong and where they are going."

Rocky G. also noted the recent emergence of black FM stations as a major force in each market, citing, for example, WBLS in New York City, WDAS in Philadelphia and WHUR in Washington, D.C. "In this boom situation," he said, "one must not overlook the powerful influence of jazz albums and jazz stations. While jazz is being heard with increasing frequency on the major pop and rock FM stations, FM jazz stations have broadened their format to include music from the fine new black pop albums." In this latter situation, Rocky G. mentioned WRVR in New York and WWDB in Philadelphia.

Joining Rocky G. in his expanded operations are his two daughters, Maria and Michelle, both college students, who have worked informally with their father for the last several years. The young women will be responsible for store and discotheque contacts and reports.

Along with the excellence of the new product, Rocky G. stated that the expansion of his operations was the fruit of his

Warner Bros. Believes In Soul

NEW SIGNINGS (Mary Wells, Candi Stanton & Silver, Gold & Platinum)

NEW YORK — Warner Bros. Records has more than doubled its R&B activities since the time of last year's NATRA meet. This expansion has been seen in terms of artists, personnel, affiliate labels and, most impressively, in the area of hit records. David Banks, Warner Bros. director of special projects, whose responsibilities cover Warners' involvement in Black music puts it this way: "We've lived up to our 'we believe in soul' motto and we've reaped the rewards because our efforts go beyond a mere slogan. The sales of Ashford & Simpson, Tower of Power and Graham Central Station clearly are not the product of rhetoric — we've broken these acts and others through careful planning, true expertise in the field and plain old hard work. Our involvement can be summed up in two words: total commitment."

In conjunction with the convention, Warner Bros. is putting out a special NATRA release including Paul Kelly's "Hooked, Hogtied and Collared," as well as an album of previously unreleased material by Richard Pryor, "Pryor Commitments" plus two double album collections by Earth, Wind & Fire ("Another Time") and Herbie Hancock ("Treasure Chest"). In addition to these releases, Warner Bros. has recently put out new albums by Tower of Power's Lenny Williams, Lorraine Ellison, The Meters ("Rejuvenation"), while distributing "Up For the Down Stroke," the new Parliament album on Casablanca.

Part of the reason for Warners' current soul success lies in its R&B promotion force which includes Ed Pugh in the Southeast, Harold Burnside in the Washington-Baltimore-Philadelphia markets, Bob Frost in the Northeast, Ron Ellison in the Midwest, Lou Wills covering the West Coast and Southwest, plus WEA men Willie Smith in Cleveland and Charlie Geer working out of Atlanta.

Black music is an important component in the releases of a number of Warner distributed labels. Casablanca Records has such artists as Gloria Scott (produced by Barry White), Karen Pree, Greg Perry and Danny Cox, in addition to the Parliament. Casablanca also is the home of the administrative and promotional talents of Cecil Holmes. The Kwanza label has come up with a winner in Black Ivory and is preparing a release by Arnold Blair produced by Ed Townsend, while InnoVation II Records, based in Chicago, has such artists as The Quadrphonics, Windy Cit and The Lost Generation on its growing roster. Williams Memorial C&W Festival To Be Held Sept. 13, 14 & 15 In Ala. At Cathedral Caverns Park

Hank Williams, who left his indelible mark on country and western music, loved spectacular shows. On Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 13, 14 and 15, 1974, the most spectacular country and western show will be held in honor of the late singer and songwriter.

Featuring the top names in country music, the three-day event will be performed to raise funds to build the Hank Williams Memorial Museum in Montgomery, in which priceless memorabilia, musical artifacts and personal possessions will be displayed. A multi-media show, depicting Hank Williams career and his influence on country and western music is being planned as one of the exciting exhibits in the museum.

The premier Hank Williams Memorial Country & Western Music Festival will be held this year in the world's largest underground theater at Cathedral Caverns Park near Guntersville, Alabama. Seven or eight shows are planned over the three-day affair and each show will have a seating capacity of 5 to 6,000. The auditorium will provide perfect natural acoustics and air conditioning by nature. Expected attendance for the three days will be from 35,000 to 50,000.

Along with the late musician's son, Hank Williams, Jr., a widely known country and western performer, other headline stars from Nashville will be on hand to provide the finest entertainment.

The project, approved by the Hank Williams Memorial Commission and its Honorary Chairman, Governor George C. Wallace of Alabama, is being coordinated by Sam Stephens of Stephens Marketing Associates of Montgomery. Governor Wallace has given his support to the Hank Williams Memorial Commission and hopefully will be present. Working hand-in-hand in the preliminary plans have been Stephens, the State Bureau of Publicity and Information, professional musicians in Nashville and the Memorial Commission.

Chairman of the Commission, Montgomery Circuit Judge Richard P. Emmet, stated, "This project is a most worthwhile cause to build a lasting monument to a man's genius. Through this effort, a dream of Hank Williams' admirers will become a reality."

Set amid the colorful foothills of the Appalachian mountains of northeast Alabama, the caverns are near Lake Guntersville, which zigzags in and out of the Tennessee River valley coves. Atop a 500-foot bluff overlooking the water is a luxurious lodge, 100 rooms, 60 executive cottages, a convention center-recreation complex and an 18-hole championship golf course.

CONWAY TWITTY (MCA 40282)

I See The Want To In Your Eyes (2:47) (Rose Bridge, BMI — Wayne Carson)

Conway's sense of vocal richness touches anything he does with a special sensitivity. This ballad is heart rending and Conway's vocal interpretation is outstanding. The "want to" Conway sees in his woman's eyes is something any male can easily relate to. The tune is treated with a tender feeling and will carry Conway to the top in good stead. Flip: Girl From Tupelo (2:39) (Hello Darlin', SESAC — Kenny Hart)

REX ALLEN, JR. (Warner Bros. 8000)

Another Goodbye Song (2:52) (Tree, BMI — Martha Sharp — Larry Butler)

A great follow-up to Rex's "Goodbye" this song sort of picks up the mood of the last tune. But the approach is fresh and the richness of Rex's smooth voice can never be heard too much. The theme is aging and how to deal with it and reminiscing and will you still love me when I'm 64. A fine tune it will carry Rex up the charts. Flip: No info. available.

GUY & RALNA (Ranwood 1000)

Loving You (2:22) (Elvis Presley, BMI — Leiver — Stoller)

One of the better country duos, Guy and Ralna give their music a very special harmonious balance. The tune is sweet and tender and the orchestration is lush. Together they blend beautifully and singing apart they are accomplished professionals. The tune is arranged beautifully and should get very positive response. Flip: You're The One (Glenwood/Arcane, ASCAP — Morrison)

DAVE DUDLEY (Rice 5069)

Counterfeit Cowboy (3:03) (Newkeys, Ronnie Rogers)

An infectious bounce starts this record with a flash. Dave's narrative vocal technique is interspersed with some fine singing. Dave's resonant vocal richness places him in a class all by himself. The lyric of this tune is very good and the instrumentation is full and adds to the overall effect of this disk which looks good. Flip: No info. available.

GARY SARGEANTS (Mercury 73608)

Day Time Lover (2:30) (Hallnote, BMI — T. T. Hall)

Gary, one of the Storytellers, is an accomplished vocalist and guitar player in his own right. An easy-paced tune the lyric is penned by the "storyteller" himself. Gary handles the vocal with great skill and the easy feel the disk has is its instant appeal that should get some definite response for Gary. Flip: Too Low To Get High (2:40) (Hallnote, BMI — G. Sargeants — B. Lusk).

GRANDMOTHER MAYBELLE CARTER (Columbia 3-10009)

Picture On The Wall (2:18) (Peer, BMI — C. P. Reeves — C. E. MOODY — B. Lander)

Mother Maybelle Carter has always been regarded as a veritable country institution. And with good reason. Her inimitable voice is true country and this record will at once find its way into your heart. The picture on the wall is of her mother and the resulting nostalgia trip is done very well. Good instrumentation rounds this out to roll up those charts. Flip: No info. available.

HANK PARKER (Country Showcase America, 153)

Makin' My Way Back To Idaho (2:26) (Ricci Mareno, SESAC — Jerry Gillespie)

An up-tempo delight, Hank's vocal is rich and aptly demonstrates the flexibility of his voice. Hank is making his way back to Idaho to see his woman. The arrangement is full with solid instrumentation and fine background harmonies. The record demonstrates a definite potential and programmers should pick up on it. Flip: Number One (2:10) (Ricci Mareno, SESAC — S. Barrett — R. Mareno).

EDDIE RABBITT (Elektra 45895)

You Get To Me (2:45) (Briarpatch, BMI — Eddie Rabbit)

A fine country rocker, Eddie has got a lot more than carrots going for him. The tune is laid-back in the great tradition and the lyric is penned by the artist. The instrumentation is very mellow and Eddie will be sure to get you after just one listening. The tune is well paced and Eddie's vocal power is mellow and should get some good play. Flip: No info. available.

DIANA WILLIAMS (Warner Bros. 7829)

Good Nights Make Good Mornings (2:47) (Cedarwood, BMI — Naomi Martin)

An easy-paced ballad, Diana's sweet voice is marked by smoothness and flow that is very special. The song is a tender tune and the lyric is quite pleasing. The truth of the statement is axiomatic. Her vocal prowess is powerful yet delicate and the accompanying instrumentation augments the record for some very positive chart response. Flip: No info. available.

NEAL DAVENPORT (MCA 40275)

Didn't Wanna Come (3:04) (Four Tay, BMI — Neal Davenport — Howard O. White, Jr.)

The great appeal of Neal's smooth stylized vocal approach makes his voice suitable for the country and pop markets. This tune is a narrative interspersed with some fine vocals and great instrumentation. The lyric is very good and Neal's future is going to amount to a lot more than just sitting on the davenport. Flip: No info. available.

LINDA WEST (API 1052)

I Hear Those Church Bells Ringing (2:32) (Pocket Full Of Tunes/Saturday Night, BMI — Irwin Levin — L. Russell Brown)

An up-tempo delightful ditty. Linda's vocal sparkles with the richness of her very infectious lilt. Linda seems to be hearing those church bells ringing because she wants to get married. The arrangement is full and the instrumentation augments Linda's bright vocal. For a debut disk Linda certainly displays a wealth of potential and should get definite response. Flip: (Put Your Wife) Back In Your Lie (2:22) (BMI — Danny Rhw)

THE AMERICAN YOUTH CHOIR (Trilogy 1015)

If You Don't Know Your Bible (You Haven't Got A Prayer) (1:57) (Spiral, ASCAP — Gladys Shelley)

An up-tempo fresh arrangement of what could otherwise be just another gospel tune. The approach is fresh and the vocals are clean and rich and the harmonies are very good. The arrangement does much to augment the tune and the advice which is imparted can definitely do all of us some good. Listen and learn. Flip: No info. available.

COUNTRY IS — Tom T. Hall — Mercury SRM-1-1009

Tom T.'s eagerly awaited follow-up to "For The People In The Last Hard Town," his new LP is, as always, a new and refreshing experience as all of his material. Tom T. is a true innovator. A progressive musician who is beyond categorization, ergo his appeal and acceptability in both the country and pop markets. And that is what "Country Is" is all about. Country is whatever you want it to be. This LP for Tom T. is a part of his musical maturation process which brings more experiential vignettes and more complex musical arrangements. The title track is exceptional as is "Forget It," "Gone To Hell In A Basket," and a fine reworking of the classic "Over The Rainbow."

COUNTRY — Anne Murray — Capitol ST-11324

Anne Murray, who has always had a strong representation in both the pop and country markets is featured on this collection of recordings that chronicle her long association with Capitol. The material includes such classics as "Snowbird," and "Danny's Song." As always the divine Ms. Murray's completely fresh approach to her vocals leaves the listener in a delightful state. Her vocal delivery is smooth and has a characteristic sweetness that puts her stylized musical identity in a class by itself. Some of the finest contemporary writers of today are included on the LP as Gordon Lightfoot, Kenny Loggins, John D. Loudermilk, and Gene MacLellan.

I JUST STARTED HATIN' CHEATIN' SONGS TODAY — Moe Bandy — GRC 10005

In a country music world that seems to be getting more commercial by the day it is a real treat to find new talent the calibre of Moe Bandy who sings country music the way it should be sung. Country music that is real and true and breathes the freshness into a jaded music scene. Both his current release "Honky Tonk Amnesia," and his first hit which is the title track are included on Moe's debut LP. His vocal delivery is very different and places Moe's inimitable style as something very special. Included in this prize package are "How Long Does It Take (To Be A Stranger)," "Smoke Filled Bar," and "Cowboys And Playboys."

THAT'S YOU AND ME — Hank Snow — RCA 0608

Hank Snow's reputation as a musician has always stood as an institution among his fellow performers. Interestingly enough he has had the longest standing relationship with any record company of any other performer. And one listen to any of his fine LPs especially this, his newest, will tell you why Hank is one of the very best. The selection of material on Hank's new LP is excellent and his vocal performance is captured beautifully by the production of the incomparable Chet Atkins and Ronny Light. The smooth voiced troubadour sings such favorites as "Birth Of The Blues," "Paper Roses," Merle Haggard's "Mama Tried," and Hank's current hit "That's You And Me."

editorial

There's a fire burning throughout the music and games operating business these days that's getting operators more money per dollar invested in service and equipment . . . more money by upping the play price on both music and games, and by demanding either a minimum guarantee per machine or a service charge per machine, per collection visit.

Joe Robbins, Empire vice president, recently issued a letter to his fellow distributors advising of a prominent midwest operator who has secured a $2.00 per machine service charge per collection period on his route . . . and while only halfway finished contacting all his location owners, the operator has not met one bit of resistance. As Joe tells it:

"This operator explained to his customers that the service charge was absolutely necessary to at least partially meet the spiraling costs in equipment, labor, service, etc. Location owners do read the papers. They are aware of every businessman's problems today. They themselves have increased the cost of food and drink to their customers. Two dollars per machine is a small increase and something that cannot hurt the location, but in total, can help the operator. Please remember," Robbins wrote, "two dollars is not seemingly a lot of money, but in an operation of 200 pieces, it means an increase in collections of $400 per week or $20,800 per year."

The $2.00 service charge is really not a new idea, but, oddly, it is new in practice. The service charge is just one of countless good ideas advanced by tradesters over the years that remained just that — good ideas, period! We are grateful to learn of at least one operator doing it.

Other programs underway these days (thanks to the more courageous operators in this industry) include 35¢ and even 50¢ play on pool tables, straight quarter play on music boxes, minimum guarantees on both music and games as well as straight equipment leasing based upon sensible terms to the operator.

Every machine factory and distributor is acutely troubled these days over the skyrocketing costs the operator must contend with. It's a tough thing to sell equipment these days, essentially because the operator has difficulty paying cash, and going down the finance route makes less sense than ever before. Therefore, every level of the industry wants to see more money in the operator's pocket but it's the operator who's got to make sure he gets it. Keep that fire burning you pioneers and let's help get all your buddies onto the program too.

Incomat Set For October 23-25

VIENNA, AUSTRIA — INCOMAT, the International Exhibition of the Coin Machine Business, will convene this fall for the sixth time since 1964. The exposition is not only limited to a special field, but presents a representative cross-section of vending, servicing, and amusement equipment. Lectures and discussions will be held.

Highlights of the convention are the opening remarks by the minister of commerce and industries, the meeting of the exhibitors and congress participants from Europe and overseas, and the social events which include a vast sight-seeing tour and the final banquet. The bash is scheduled for October 23-25 in Vienna's beautiful Palais Auerspurg.

Ramtek Inaugurates "Solid State Schools"

SUNNYVALE — Ramtek Corporation has begun a series of free "Solid State Schools" for service personnel in the coin-operated amusement industry. The first classes, starting this month, will be for Ramtek distributors. Additional sessions are scheduled for all other distributors and route operator service personnel.

Each school will take five days and will include two days of classroom instruction and three days of actual test bench work on troubleshooting and service. Attendees will also be given a tour of an integrated circuit manufacturing plant.

According to Mel McEwan, Ramtek sales manager, "the rapid growth of electronic video games and the increased use of electronic devices in traditional games, such as flippers, has created a knowledge gap for route operators. We plan to help fill this gap by covering the electronics technology generally used in all games, not just our own."

Applications for upcoming Solid State Schools can be sent to Ramtek Corp., 292 Commercial Street, Sunnyvale, California 94086.

Rowe Conference Sept 12-13 Boston

WHIPPANY, N.J. — The 1974 National Distributor Meeting of Rowe International, Inc. will be held at Copley Plaza Hotel in Boston, September 12-13. The meeting will begin early Thursday morning, with free time being slated in the afternoon for seeing the area. In the evening there will be a banquet, and on Friday the meeting will resume until adjournment around noon. Rowe's new phonographs will be unveiled at the Thursday session.

"Copley Square smacks of the history and famous food Boston is known for, and should prove more interesting than last year's Las Vegas jaunt," said Dan Denman. "If you lost money in Vegas last year," joked Denman, "this year you'll find that the trip to Boston will be money in your pocket for you and your salesman. The information you'll get and the new phonographs you'll see have been developed for making history . . . and money," he declared.

Cal. Supreme Court Scores For Trade

SACRAMENTO, CALIF. — In a recent California Supreme Court Decision, the justices decided by a vote of 5 to 2 that any ordinance within the state which prohibited games of skill (including flipper games) was unconstitutional. In an opinion rendered by Justice Marshall McComb, he declared of the original anti-flipper law:

"The ordinance had the intent to prohibit only games of chance because games of skill did not come into existence until years after the original ordinance was written. The ordinance's prohibition of amusement games is void," concluded the Justice. He added that state law preempts local ordinances.

The latter statement is important to California operators since many communities have established their own anti-games laws. In some communities, no games whatsoever have been permitted. Now, no communities can subvert the state law which clearly opens up every area to pure amusement devices of description.

Four More Columbia Oldies From Gold-Mar

NEW YORK — Four new nostalgic MOA oldie singles have arrived at the nation's key one stops last week for operator use. Culled from the treasury of Columbia Records, the singles all bear the Gold-Mor label (national distributors for jukebox music product).

The singles and artists are:
 Harry James with "Sleepy Lagoon" b/w "Two O'Clock Jump."
 Wes and Larry Elgart with "As Time Goes By" b/w "Unforgettable."
 Ray Coniff singers with "Taking a Chance on Love" b/w "Goodnight Sweetheart." Gold-Mor president Bernie Yudkofsky advised that the "Goodnight Sweetheart" side has been in great demand by the trade as a closing tune at taverns.
 Finally, there's the Mitch Miller sing-along single "Side by Side" b/w "My Melancholy Baby."
 All four records (limited editions all) are now available at most key operator one stops.

Banner Air Hockey Tourney Held In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA — Michael Dickstein, a 21 year old biology major at Penn State University, swept two straight games in the championship round from Stuart Zimmerman, 25, a production manager for Control Switch, Inc., Folcroft, Pa., to win the First Annual Delaware Valley Air Hockey Championships at the Philadelphia Marriott (July 20).

In the semi-final round Garcia Wilkins, 22, an accounting major at the University of Pennsylvania, defeated Joseph Brooks, 21, a clerk for Acme Markets, for third place honors. Wilkins is a resident of west Philadelphia while Brooks resides in northeast Philadelphia.

Dickstein is a native of the Mount Airy section of Philadelphia and is employed by Funtime U.S.A. in State College, Pa.

"I hope someday there is a professional Air Hockey circuit and that I'll be playing on it," he said. "After all, they laughed at table tennis 30 years ago." Zimmerman lives in the East Falls section of Philadelphia.

Dickstein won a home model Air Hockey table plus an Escape Weekend for two at the Philadelphia Marriott. Zimmerman received two shares of Marriott Corporation Stock for his second place finish. Third place winner, Wilkins, was awarded dinner for two in the Marriott's King's Wharf restaurant.

Some 122 Air Hockey enthusiasts from the greater Delaware Valley area competed in the Air Hockey event held for the benefit of Fight For Sight of Greater Philadelphia. Tournament co-sponsors were Banner Specialty Company and the Philadelphia Marriott.

Joseph C. Scott, president of the world champion Philadelphia Flyers, served as general chairman for the fund raising competition.

Seeburg Slots Hit The Jackpot

LAS VEGAS — One hundred new, electro-mechanical Seeburg slot machines have been installed in the casino of the MGM Grand Hotel in Las Vegas. George D'Arcy, director of automated gaming for the hotel, reported that the design of the Seeburg machines "attracts customers and the positive indexing of the reels lends assurance to each play."

Modifications to components and circuitry in the new machines have simplified service, reduced down time and provide the ultimate in security, according to D'Arcy.

Seeburg's experience in the design and styling of coin amusement games, vending machines and phonographs was utilized when it decided to manufacture and market slot machines in 1973.

"The machines in the MGM Grand Hotel and other leading Las Vegas casinos reflect this experience and are approved by the Nevada State Gaming Commission," according to D'Arcy.

Seeburg's entry into this market was influenced by the trend toward legalized gambling in other states and abroad. The company anticipates that the attraction of considerable revenues accruing to governments from such operations is likely to increase the number that will permit gambling in the years ahead.

Slot machines are assembled at Seeburg Industries, Inc.'s plant in Chicago.

American Shuffleboard Sales Zoom ; Shuffle Tourney Held in Turnersville

UNION CITY, N.J. — Sol Lipkin, national sales director for American Shuffleboard Co. here, has reported that the firm is enjoying a record sales year for shuffleboard tables, both coin and home models, as well as for their line of pool tables. Said Lipkin: "Shuffleboards are doing fabulously. Normal shipping schedule 2-3 weeks on all models. That is the 9' Royal Bank Shot, 12' Royal Cushion, and of course, the 22' Royal models. This is one of the surprising things of '74." I have never seen anything like it. Orders are coming in from all over the country. When September rolls around I anticipate a terrific fall and winter on our shuffleboard line.

"Our home line is also very strong. The future looks terrific, but of course a little problem. Raw materials. It's a way of life today. It seems we fight it and fight it and fight it. We are back ordered on accessories like 50,000 cases of wax and 1,000's of sets of weight and certain things like that. It's a normal way of life!

"At our 1st professional Shuffleboard Tournament at Wedgewood Country Club, Turnersville, New Jersey, we had 48 double teams entered. Teams from six states which are New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia. What a show! You'll hear a lot more about this type of action in the fall. Plans are now underway for a Shuffleboard Leagues tournament to be held in Norfolk, Virginia," he declared.

BEAT INFLATION!

Today, more than ever before, pinball games are the backbone of operators' earnings. But soaring material and labor costs will continue to push up factory prices. Today is your last chance to pick up some of the greatest Bally games ever built at the lowest prices you'll ever again see. Spruce up your routes for fall and winter operations by grabbing these proved profit producers today at yesterday's prices.

The first committee meeting of the local coin machine division of United Jewish Appeal will be held this Wednesday (Aug. 7th) at UJA headquarters on 58th Street, beginning at 6:00 PM. According to campaign leaders Al Denver and Harold Kaufman, "Because of the critical situation in Israel and urgent local humanitarian needs, it is imperative that we organize a full scale and thorough campaign in our industry. Every operator's cooperation is essential. We'll be counting on you." Just one editorial note on the UJA. We've personally attended probably a hundred committee meetings and have always marveled at the fact that just a handful of people, like Al, Harold and the few others, have spearheaded the annual campaign with so little assistance from others in the industry. Why, we wonder, aren't these committee meetings loaded with the guys from every borough of the city, as well as the Westchester and upstate group? You know, it's an important, super important campaign and we expect the UJA joints to be loaded with operators this Wednesday. And that means everyone, whether or not they ever served on the committee. Everyone's welcome!

U.S. Billiards' sales director Len Schneller out to Los Angeles last week to visit his distributors on Pico Blvd. Len's currently talking up 50¢ pool table play utilizing the drop chute mech on their Butcherblock coin tables. And he's pointing to success stories with 50¢ play in many parts of the country, most notably in Texas, New York, Oklahoma and the Dakotas where operators are getting into it in a big way. . . . Allied's sales heavy Gene Lipkin back from two week vacation which took him from weekend stay at Hutchenson Island to week's visit to the West Coast. . . . Just heard that Stan Nankoff has joined up with Paramount-ARA's operation in metro New York. . . . Up New England way, we wish our best wishes to Bob Jones who has exited the company which still bears his name to go back into amusement and gaming machine export under the company name ARJAY EXPORT CO. See separate story this issue. . . . Other news from the Boston area has it that Joe Dillon is the new general manager at Seeburg in Randolph. Congrats. . . . Over in Willimantic, Conn. we learn a couple of enterprising young operators named Tom and Mike Riquier are getting really into jobbing and distributing lately under their name T&M Distributing Co. The Riquiers are reported to be really knowledgable, aggressive fellows, bound to make a big name for themselves. Also understand they are stocking complete parts for Wurlitzer phonographs.

CALIFORNIA CLIPPINGS

CMMA's new executive director Fred Maggiora, busy for the past few weeks touring around California, meeting operating members of the association, was formerly vice-mayor of Oakland (where CMMA headquarters is located). Fred succeeded coin business patriarch George Miller, now retired to his home in Sacramento. . . . Big doings in the Los Angeles Country area right now. Many of the Charter Cities are being "forced" by Supreme Court decision to open up for flipper games. The recent 5-2 decision in Sacramento threw out anti-flipper laws, including those local ordinances which operators have been blocked by all these years. See separate story this issue. . . . Atari sales director Pat Karns is planning to hold a two day service seminar on their current games lineup at the Regency in downtown L.A. August 8-9 (Thurs.-Fri.). The educational affair will no doubt be accompanied by refreshments and dinner and Pat hopes all the service people in the area turn out in strength. Seminar is being held in conjunction with local Atari distributors C.A. Robinson and Circle International. . . . Mickie (ACA) Greenman and his charming Missus Mildred still raving about the swell time they had in Europe, most notably in London where they were the guests of Ralph Mandell and his wife Ray. Mandell is exec at Associated Leisure Sales Ltd., distributors there for Rally and Sports Center (ACA's games). Back on the home front, Mickie spent all day Wednesday last week at their arcade in Torrance, rearranging equipment, etc. . . . Look for really startling exec appointment to take place at a prominent Northern California games factory next week's issue. . . . War vets at the Palo Alto Veterans Hospital and at Lettermen Hospital in San Francisco were recipients of brand new "Wipe Out" video games recently, courtesy of the folks at Ramtek. . . . Lila Thatcher at Meadows Games, Inc. in Sunnyvale recently wrote us saying: An international distributor has this to say about the FLIM FLAM. "For the first time in history, we have a TV game that we have had for over two months without a service call. It is the first TV game in history that can be shipped without checking it out. . . . and we suggest that you ask any operator in the New England area who has FLIM FLAM if it isn't just about the best piece he has ever bought in the video field."

CHICAGO CHATTER

The Chicago Dynamic Industries factory, which closed for vacation on July 26, will resume production on Monday, August 12. The parts department, however, remained in operation throughout the vacation period. . . . Firm's current expansion and remodeling program is progressing beautifully, we understand. Upon completion of work at Plant #2, located at 2300 Logan, the factory will have just about doubled its present space. The additional site, with its 103,000 sq. ft., will house assembly lines as well as other departmental facilities, to be ultimately moved into the new space! . . . As for "Speed Shift" — Bob Sherwood said it's doing extremely well! . . . Incidentally, we'd like to extend congratulations to Bob and his new bride, the former Chris Lexow. Nuptials took place on Sunday, August 4, in suburban Mount Prospect. Many traders met the lovely lady at the ChiCoin national distributors meeting a couple of months back.

PRODUCTION WAS RESUMED last Monday (29) at the D. Gottlieb & Co. Northlake plant, following the annual vacation shutdown.

SINCE RETURNING FROM vacation last week World Wide Dist.'s Art Wood has been one mighty busy fella! Art heads up the distrib's Springfield, Ill. office, which is a very active one — and a handy source of supply for operators in the southern territory. Because customers depend upon him so much, when he's away he's really missed!

THE LOCAL IAAPA OFFICE has issued a tentative itinerary for its upcoming 1974 tour of amusement facilities in England, France, Holland, Germany and Russia, which gets underway in late September. In addition to visiting various selected outdoor facilities in these countries, members taking the trip will have an opportunity to see the site of the soon to be completed Fabuland in France, which will be opened to the public in 1977.

BUSINESS IS GOOD AT National Coin Machine Exchange. In fact, Mort Levinson said they'll most likely chalk up a record sales total for the month of July! Considering the fact that July and August are usually kind of slow months for business — that's good news! Mort also mentioned that, with the current reduction in price, he's moving a lot of Wurlitzer phonographs!

ON THE SINGLES SCENE: Talked to Joe Ceddia of Lormar and learned that area ops are showing interest in the following new releases: "I Love My Friend" by Charlie Rich (Epic), "Who Do You Think You Are" by Bo Donaldson & the Heywoods (ABC), "I Shot The Sheriff" by Eric Clapton (RSO), "The Air That I Breathe" by The Hollies (Epic) and "Can't Get Enough Of Your Love" by Barry White (20th Century).

MILWAUKEE MENTIONS

This year's resort season, with still a month to go, should be a banner one if tourist traffic continues at its present pace, and current weather conditions prevail. Vacationers and weekend visitors are flocking to the various resorts throughout the state and operators who service these spots are, hopefully, reaping the rewards of increased collections!

MARIE PIERCE OF Pierce Music in Brodhead said she's enjoying a prosperous tourist season this year. Although she was in the process of changing prices on cigarette machines when we spoke to her, she said collections on these machines have been on the rise — as have been prices, unfortunately!

A recently installed bicycle trail within a short distance of Pierce's has been attracting tourists and, Marie said, this is a contributing factor to the increase in collections in cigarette machines and phonographs, as well.

AND SPEAKING OF COLLECTIONS — We hear from MCI's sales and marketing manager JoAn Mason that "The Safe" is certainly doing quite well in this department! JoAn was in the home office last week, preparing her itinerary for her next business trip.

ON THE SUBJECT OF QUARTER PLAY — Red Jacomet of Red's Novelty, here in Milwaukee, is all for it! "We have put several pinball machines out on straight quarter play," he said, "and they're showing the highest gross over any other pins in the locations!" Red strongly feels that ops must convert to quarter play in order to come out ahead, under present economic conditions.

TORONTO: Norton Vernor, who just recently opened his Record Warehouse dealing in "deletes" has apparently caused some concern within the camp of major record manufacturers. Vernor has been buying his deleted stock in the U.S., bringing it into Canada (600,000 pieces at a crack) legally and marketing his albums, cassettes and 8-tracks to dealers and one-stops. Prime concern of some of the majors is the fact that some of the deleted product is still active in Canada.

Says Vernor: "What I'm doing is legal. I bring my deletes into Canada, pay the required duty, and become part of free enterprise." Vernor is building a successful business and has bought deletes from major companies in Canada, which makes him question the complaints of some of the majors. He is now setting up national distribution centers across the nation.

GRT's newest recording unit, McLean & McLean, has apparently fallen out of favour of some of this country's promoters. They had been booked on the major Canadian tour with Lighthouse but because of language used in their act, they were dropped while playing Saskatoon. It has been reported they have also been dropped from this year's CNE Grandstand Show, which would have put them in front of an audience of more than twenty-two thousand. Meanwhile their album, produced by Skip Prokop from a "live" taping at Toronto's Chimney, is now off and the label's national promotion manager, Jeff Burns, is trying to find the best direction for the group's "toilet rock."

The Tinker's Moon cover version of "Shang-A-Lang" has shown early indication of being the first Canadian group effort of capturing a national audience with a cover. The single is now added to many major Canadian outlets including CKLW/Windsor, CKLG/Vancouver, CKY/Winnipeg and CFGO/Ottawa. In view of CKLW charting the single, Polydor in the U.S. has now shipped across that nation.

The Can-Base (Vancouver) production of "I Believe" by Songbird has made excellent gains for the recently bowed Mushroom label. Out of that same camp comes an album by Alexis, a Windsor native now making her home in Vancouver.

RCA Euro Promo Push On McCrae

NEW YORK — RCA Records, who has released "Rock Your Baby" internationally in Europe, Canada, Latin America, Australia and Japan, are introducing George McCrae to Europe.

In a two-day promotion, McCrae and his wife, Gwen, were first flown to Holland where an international press reception was arranged in their honor on Wednesday, July 24, in Amsterdam. Later that day, a television crew from Germany taped McCrae singing "Rock Your Baby" for a film to be shown throughout Europe. On Thursday, July 25, the Dutch TV show, "Top Pop," which regularly presents the top thirty hits in Holland, filmed McCrae miming his hit song, for immediate airing throughout that country. Included, too, in McCrae's schedule was a taped interview in New York with a Japanese syndicate for airing on five radio stations in Tokyo.

On Aug. 6, McCrae will guest star on a "Soul Train" TV program to be aired at a later date. McCrae has also been scheduled to appear at The Canadian National Exhibition on Aug. 27.

A HIT IN ANY LANGUAGE!! — The Argentinian composer and pianist Ariel Ramirez was in The Netherlands recently to receive a platinum disc to mark the worldwide sales of one million copies of his "Misa Criolla."

Ramirez was presented with this disc by Piet R. Schellevis, president of Phonogram International in Baarn. The presentation took place during an "Asado" — a barbecue party a la South American, in the Hofstede "Oud Bussem" in Naarden.

When, in 1966, the "Misa Criolla" was broadcast for the first time on Argentinian radio, thousands of listeners demanded an immediate repeat. The radio station was forced to take the emergency step of repeating the work after the "official" close-down — almost certainly a unique occurrence in the history of sound broadcasting. Since then "Misa Criolla" has conquered listeners throughout the whole world. (l-r) Schellevis, Ramirez.

Nippon-Columbia Reform Structure

TOKYO — Nippon-Columbia Co., has recently carried out the reformation of its structure and related personnel to increase efficiency.

The main points of the reformation of the structure are three-fold. First, the planning section has been reorganized to planning-room for strengthening and expansion of its function. Second, the business-control section has been newly established to control the business from the view point of the entire company. Third, sound mechanism section, recording mechanism section and electric business section have been newly established.

Australia

Two recent visitors down under for concert dates were songstress Nana Mouskouri and Bell Records star Gary Glitter.

On hand to present gold records to the stars at separate receptions was Phonogram Recordings General manager Mr. Ross Barlow. Nana Mouskouri received a plaque representing twenty gold records, and Gary Glitter accepted his awards in Melbourne.

Singer songwriter Kris Kristofferson — a former Rhodes Scholar, also arrived here recently for a four-state tour.

Kristofferson is accompanied by his wife, singer Rita Coolidge, and baby daughter Casey.

Great Britain

Pye Records Louis Benjamin has announced the signing of a deal whereby Pye Records will license the Stax Records label in the U.K. and Eire. The deal was negotiated between Pye's Louis Benjamin and Stax executive John Burton. The deal covers all previous Stax material and all future product. Commenting on the deal John Burton said "We have come to Pye because of their distribution facilities. We will be doing our own promotion with our own promotion force working closely with Pye. Britain will be the base for our European operations and we want Stax within the Pye group. We are in a period of growth, with current chart records and exposure with soul, pop, jazz and country and western. Stax is now a total record company, and we are planning for acts to visit the U.K. on a regular basis, and for them to find real acceptance." Stax was previously with Polydor.

Following this announcement Pye has negotiated a similar deal with Buddah Records. This was negotiated by Pye's Walter Woyda and Buddah vice-president Eric Steinmetz. The deal is for all Buddah and Kama Sutra product and covers the U.K., Eire and certain other territories. First releases under the pact will be by Curtis Mayfield and Gladys Knight and the Pips. Buddah was with Pye back in 1968.

GTO ON THE GO — GTO Records executives David Joseph (l-r), Laurence Myers and Dick Leahy visit CASH BOX publisher George Albert. Myers and Leahy were in the U.S. to discuss distribution and licensing of the newly formed GTO label.

Following the recent departure from Bell Records of Dick Leahy and in the States of Larry Uttal and Irv Beigel it has been learned that Bell staffers Michael Peyton, Alan Watson, Susan Davidge and Mike Benton have left to join Leahy's new GTO Records company. They join the company with same positions they previously held at Bell. Michael Peyton — marketing & promotion manager, Susan Davidge — general manager, Allan Watson — international manager. This leaves Bell with promotion manager David Bridger and a handful of secretaries. As yet no new appointments have been announced, but new releases are still being issued. GTO Records are being manufactured and distributed through Phonodisk.

Cyril Shane, head of the Cyril Shane Organization has reported a very good year on the charts scene for his Pedro Music and AVEMB Songs catalogues. Earlier in the year Pedro copyrights "Don't Stay Away Too Long" by Peters & Lee and "You Keep Me Hanging On" were riding high in the charts, and he also has the new Peters & Lee A side "Rainbow." His AVEMB Songs copyright "Saxophone Jones" has just been released by Limme & The Family Cookin', and he also has the new Stylistics single "Let's Put It All Together/I Take It Out On You" and most of the album.

A GOLD LETTER — The Lettermen took time out from their sell-out, six-day concerts at the Cultural Center of the Philippines (July 12-15, 17-18) to receive gold record awards for the outstanding sales of their "Alive Again Naturally" album, from Dyna Products, Inc., exclusive Philippine manufacturer and distributor of Capitol Records. From left to right are Donny Pike (who received the award for his brother Jim), Buddy Medina (Capitol label manager, Philippines), Tony Butala, James G. Dy (executive vice-president, Dyna Products), and Gary Pike.

John L. Wasserman, San Francisco Chronicle
