Gettin' LOUD And P(u)MP(ed)

From the streets and its urban poets come steely-edged tomes, nightmares and lofty dreams. Its on the streets that the respective visions of the impresarios of LOUD and PMP record labels were forged, and from where the respective label svengali's built a power base. LOUD's Steve Rifkind has turned the Wu Tang Clan and Tha Alkaholiks from street corner franchises into international hip hop chain reactions. He now is poised to turn the might of his "Street Team" promotion philosophy into a multimedia affair via Enhanced CD releases from some among the label's new crop of artists who are ready to get, well, LOUD. Likewise, PMP's Paul Stewart is looking to turn his acknowledged skills, which have helped earn artists such as Naughty By Nature, Pharcyde, Coolio and Montell Jordan into coveted acts, to grow his stable of young acts. Cash Box urban editor Peter Miro examines how they're doing it.

Lead Story

Counterfeiters Get Prison Time

EIGHT MUSIC COUNTERFEITERS indicted last year in Philadelphia in a federal court were recently sentenced to prison terms ranging from 21 months to six years, according to the Recording Industry Assn. of America. The eight defendants, who were part of a larger group of 17 arrested and indicted in two cassette counterfeiting rings, were sentenced after pleading guilty to charges of conspiracy, copyright infringement, trafficking in counterfeit labels and money laundering in the U.S. District Court of the Eastern District, Pennsylvania.

Three principals in the case received federal prison terms between 21 months and six years, while the remaining defendants received suspended jail sentences and/or felony probation. Forfeiture of personal and real property up to $1 million dollars, fines as high as $30,000, including court costs, and supervised release as long as three years upon completion of prison terms were other features of the sentences.

The group of eight was led by New Jersey-based brothers Nadeem and Ibrahim Khalil, and also included Abraham Mousa, Bajes Aljakes, Isam Asalieh, Nadar Aljacksy, Bruce Valen and Liwaa Darwish. The Khalil brothers pled guilty and testified for the government in the case involving nine others involved in the other counterfeiting ring. Those defendants were convicted and are now awaiting sentencing.

RIAA senior regional anti-piracy counsel Chuck Lawhorn credited U.S. Attorneys Bill Nugent and Judith Aaron for closing the biggest counterfeit cassette operation in the history of the RIAA. According to the organization, based solely on blank cassettes supplied and acquired by the defendants, the counterfeiting rings could have caused a $96 million displacement in legitimate sales, or a third of the music industry's annual piracy loss. The Bogus tapes were earmarked for street vendors and flea markets in the Eastern United States.

News Briefs

MORRISSEY = MERCURY: Singer/songwriter Morrissey has signed a long-term worldwide contract with Mercury Records according to Mercury president/CEO Danny Goldberg and Allison Hanamura, sr. vp/gm, West Coast. Morrissey is presently working on material for a new album which will be released in early 1997.

Plans are for Morrissey to do extensive U.S. touring in 1997, as well as Japan, Australia and Europe. His last major New York concert was a sell out at Madison Square Garden and his last major Los Angeles date broke the Beatles sell out record at the Hollywood Bowl.

Commenting on the signing Goldberg said, "There are very few chances to sign someone of Morrissey's stature. Allison, I and everyone at Mercury are thrilled beyond words."

THAT NUTTY PROFESSOR EDDIE MURPHY has bowed The Comedy Label, a company that will be dedicated to bringing the entire recorded genre under one roof. Based in Atlanta, GA, the company will be headed by Ron Wilson, who will serve as president/CEO, while Murphy's brother and creator of the Paramount Pictures film Vampire In Brooklyn, Vernon Lynch, will serve as co-senior executive vp along with Marcus King, who also manages Jamie Foxx and Mark Curry.

The Label's first planned project is a parody album, featuring Crazy Al Cayne, described as "an urban Weird Al Yankovich-type." But Lynch says, "The company's focus is to build the largest comedy catalog in the world by creating new products and by acquiring existing catalogs. The Label is pursuing several alternative media and non-traditional distribution outlets. Our media interests range from educational children's products, which include the voices of popular animated characters, to distribution of the Label's content on the World Wide Web."

BARRY/GREENWICH CATALOG AT POLYGRAM: PolyGram Music Publishing Group (PMPG) has acquired the Jeff Barry/Ellie Greenwich catalogs, consisting of approximately 150 titles. The agreement was announced by PMPG president David Simoné, Barry and Greenwich. The catalogs contain a stable of classics which dominated the recording charts throughout the 1960s and contain such tunes as "Chapel Of Love," "Be My Baby" and "Do Wah Diddy Diddy," written by the duo.

Simoné, making the announcement said, "These treasured compositions are timeless and make a welcome addition to our catalog. This is a spectacular acquisition for us and I am sure every other publisher is looking at us with envy! We intend to aggressively promote these compositions through artist covers, as well as film and television exposure, using our relationships both within and outside of the PolyGram Family."

■ Dave Dannheisser has been named vp of promotion at Warner Bros. Records. The 23-year veteran of the company joined up in 1973 as a local promotion rep in Charlotte, NC and rose through the ranks to serve as national rock promotion director until his current appointment. ■ In its continued reorganization, Motown Records, L.P. has made a trio of appointments. Adrian White has been appointed sr. vp of business and legal affairs for the company, a post calling for White to oversee all aspects of the department for all divisions of Motown, including music, film, television and publishing. The executive will also handle negotiations of all talent contracts for artists, songwriters, producers, composers and soundtrack album agreements. She comes to the company from Sony Music Entertainment where she served as records counsel before being promoted eventually to vp/sr. counsel West Coast. Chip David has been named vp/controller of finance for Motown. He will oversee all accounting aspects for the label and serve as a liaison to Motown distribution partner PolyGram on financial matters. David was an audit sr. manager at Ernst & Young LLP prior to joining Motown. And Serena Gallagher's appointment as vp of publicity is official. The press and media specialist will develop and implement public relations campaigns for the company's recording artists and staff. She recently topped her own agency, Gallagher Communications Group, Inc., where she first worked with Motown president/CEO Andre Harrell and other luminaries such as Russell Simmons and Sean "Puffy" Coombs, and on an array of artists and music and television projects. ■ Jive Records also has announced a trio of appointments. David McPherson has been upped to sr. dir. of A&R. Previously a director in the department, McPherson had been with Jive two years, and prior to that served in a similar capacity at Mercury Records. Kenyatta "Tally" Galbreath has been promoted to manager of A&R/sample clearance for the label. Previously a coordinator working in the department, he has been with the label for three years. And Bryan Adams has been named assoc. dir. of publicity for Jive. He comes to the job with experience gleaned at Tommy Boy Records.

■ Arista Records has named Sid McCain assoc. dir. of publicity. Her new duties make her responsible for the development and implementation of press campaigns for the label's alternative and developing rock roster. ■ Wendy Weisberg has joined Virgin Records as assoc. dir. of publicity, and will work media outlets in the Western half of the U.S. Weisberg previously was manager of media relations at Relativity Records, and before that dir. of publicity for Alias Records. She also worked at I.R.S. Records.

■ Julie Glaze has been named manager of motion picture & TV music/creative for MCA Music Publishing, for whom she will work closely with music supervisors and film and TV execs to promote the company's catalog and artists and writer roster. She previously was a music coordinator at New Line Cinema, and also has worked as an independent music supervisor and video producer.

Columbia Records recording artists The Presidents of The United States of America's self-titled debut album was recently certified Double Platinum and Sony Music execs celebrated with the band during a plaque presentation. Shown are (l-r): Josh Sarubin, Columbia A&R director; Chris Ballew, Presidents; Don Ienner, Col president; Jason Finn and Dave Dederer, Presidents; Staci Slater, The Talent House manager; and Thomas D. Mottola, Sony Music Entertainment president/CEO.

WHAT'S THE ATTRACTION: It is hard to believe that someone who had a hand in blasting out such classic tunes as "Radio Radio" and "Oliver's Army" with Elvis Costello is composing music that could be considered new age material. But if Mr. Costello can record an entire album with a string quartet then his keyboardist with The Attractions, Steve Naive, should be more than able to show his abilities with a solo work It's Raining Somewhere—Contemplative Jazz released by Knitting Factory Works marks a departure for both the artist and the label. The four pieces presented on this CD, all recorded live at the concert space that bears the same name as the company, are highly atmospheric with the only effect being the echo of the piano that Naive is playing. They could easily be the soundtrack to anybody's slow, rainy day looking out of the window, but they have the ability to suddenly soar into a new direction making them more than background music. The Knitting Factory label which is best known for releasing avant garde jazz is stretching its wings into a whole different arena with an LP that defies previously defined boundaries. A small shower might just get some new blooms for both the artist and the company.

PAINTING WITH A SOFT BRUSH: Throughout their career the Red House Painters have been known for a melancholy look at life that was combined with dirge sensibilities. With their fifth album, Songs for a Blue Guitar, they strike some quite different poses. Led by the reticent Mark Kozelek, this LP started out as his solo project as a way for him to rest after the recording of the last Red House Painters' work. Unlike what has come before, Songs marks some quite different approaches that would have been thought almost heretical compared to what has come before. Leaving out most of the lengthy production that gave their previous material a lacquered feeling, Kozelek wanted a more natural sound. Guitars that have a volume louder than a whisper and a dynamism that almost rocks at times. Add into the mix a number of covers including Yes' Long Distance Runaround, almost making it into a summer spree, and an extended deconstruction of Paul McCartney's Silly Love Songs and you have a new direction to which the Red House Painters are aiming into. Songs for a Blue Guitar is the first release on Supreme Recordings, the label run by movie producer/director John Hughes and Jeff Jacquin, since the label teamed up with Island Records.

OFF VINE GOES NUTS: Well, psychotic, technically, as American Recordings hosted a dinner for their Lollapalooza up and comer, Psychotica, followed by a small club headlining gig by Patrick Briggs and co at the Dragonfly.

ACOUSTIC UNDERGROUND is what the National Academy of Songwriters is calling their monthly "Songwriters in the Round" series at L.A.'s Jack's Sugar Shack club. The first half of the August 12th program featured songwriter artists, Boxtown, Kevin Danzig, Michael McNevin, Smokey Miles, Dave Morrison and Warren Sellers. The second half of the program, Writers in the Round, featured writer/producer Paul Chiten, (who has penned songs for Natalie Cole and Donna Summer, among others) and John Andrew Parks, who wrote the Kenny Rogers hit, "Planet Texas."

THAT GUY WHO SWORE HE WAS GONNA RETIRE A COUPLE OF YEARS AGO, Ozzy Osborne is back one more time with Ozz Fest '96, featuring a huge bill that will include the madman himself along with Sepultura and Prong. The tour will climax with two all day festivals in San Bernardino and Phoenix, where the bill will be expanded to include Slayer, Fear Factory and Neurosis. The venue concourses will be packed with a wild assortment of exhibitionists such as tattoo artists, body piercers and psychics.

THIS WEEK'S BUTTHOLE SURFERS ITEM The purveyors of "Pepper" and other beloved tunes, the Butthole Surfers will be appearing on the MTV Arena section of America On Line. In the meantime, AOL Live recently hosted, well (duh) live appearances by Harry Connick Jr., Maxi Priest, Everything But The Girl and Sponge.

LOUD/PMP RECORDS: Joined At The Hip

By Peter Miro

THIS IS A BRIEF TALE of two urban music labels joined at the hip in search of commercial success. Each is centered around a visionary founder, reflecting a laid-back management style, with policies and details executed by energetic, youthful staffers committed to the artform. Steve Rifkind, founder of LOUD Records, and the Steve Rifkind Company, is an iconoclast who made good on his vision of street level record promotions, an approach that is now a widely-emulated industry standard. Paul Stewart ("DJ P") is applying his Midas touch for himself with his PMP Records label after launching the careers of some of the major new acts in the business, including Domino, Coolio, Warren G, and Montell Jordan. Friends for many years, Rifkind and Stewart both choose their words carefully. That is, when they can be flagged down for a comment during their onerous schedules. But their mogul-minded actions have influenced the language and tastes of today's urban music buyers. As their collective fortunes mesh, they are masterminding a future wave of urban music product and marketing techniques for the industry to follow.

Glancing around LOUD Records' West Coast offices, one sees a maze of conduits, vents, piping, wiring, ducting and florescent lamps. Shiny stripped-down vitals free of industrial grunge cover the second-floor ceiling of the Melrose Ave. lo-rise. Slightly below ceiling height, the personality of the tenant and the nature of the musical beast they're hawking to the world becomes apparent. White brick walls are papered with the tools of record label commerce. Posters of rap acts past and present, promotional stickers, photos and the like cover nearly every free inch of space. Boxes of product vie for room between partitions, desks and a few comfortable chairs. Not quite the sizable New York digs LOUD leases in the Vibe Building, but adequate for the mission at hand, which is to make the record buyer aware of the label's product. Nestled in her cubicle, Noa Ochi, national director of publicity, points and clicks to the future of record promotion on her computer: The Enhanced CD.

Produced by an in-house staff, LOUD's ground-breaking marketing wrinkle is being inaugurated with new artist XHIBIT, a West Coast native with a fierce style now generating an advance buzz for his skills on his "Paparazzi" single, culled from his October '96 debut LP At The Speed Of Life. For the cost of a regular CD, the user can load the Enhanced CD into a Mac, IBM or CD ROM machine, as well as a CD player. (It's also called the Tri-CD) Click the mouse to hear XHIBIT's single, read his bio, view footage of a live interview, or preview LOUD catalog excerpts to a musical backdrop. Computer-literate record buyers receive one month free access to the Internet. As was the case with Rifkind's innovative "Street Team" promotion concept in 1984, nobody else is doing it at present. Also available is a white label 12" promo single of XHIBIT's "Eyes May Shine" for mix show jocks, and a cassette sampler with some remarkable freestyle flowing performed for radio. "The Foundation" is the LP's second single. Ochi says the album was pushed back from a summer '96 release to build more hype, adding that "the East Coast is just now picking up on it."

Enhanced CDs are still in production for other marquee releases LOUD has in the works, namely Mobb Deep and Wu Tang Clan, currently preparing yet-untitled albums. Both are due in November '96. "Godfather Part III" is the first single expected from the Mobb Deep project, but Wu Tang Clan works cloaked in secrecy behind the walls of their Staten Island mansion for now. "We won't have a thing from them till near completion," Ochi continues. "They keep their stuff on lockdown." No videos are in production for either group as yet.

Besides forging ancillary label deals of their own, Wu Tang Clan launched Wu Tang Management for new artists, and have designed their own clothing line. The first "Wu Wear" Store opens in Atlanta, August 19.

Elsewhere, The Alkaholiks are on tour, the only hip hop act on a bill of alternative rock bands, keeping company with the likes of Fishbone, 311 and Orange Nine Millimeter. Their LP-in-progress won't be ready until early '97, but the rap trio has previewed two songs from their upcoming LP as part of their set to a rave response. "The crowd loves them," Ochi reports. "All the other groups are trying to hang with them, get to know them. Last month, Wild Cowboys, the new release by Brand Nubian rapper Sadat X penetrated the rap LP charts, offering a taste of the Wild West with its Posse-themed video for the single "Hang Em High" to support that project.

Rifkind expressed strong feelings for the upcoming works by Xhibit, Wu Tang Clan, Mobb Deep, Alkaholiks. He's also big on the upcoming Funkmaster Flex project, and anticipates gold-level sales. Rifkind doesn't want LOUD Records to be known just for Wu Tang. "We want to make it a full-fledged label. We're just looking for a few hit records." Responding to the comment that LOUD's premier gold and platinum artists are East Coast-based, Rifkind retorts, "We don't believe in East vs. West. We just believe in signing groups with a vision that have a plan, willing to roll up their sleeves and work hard."

At first, Rifkind didn't refer to the staple agents of his marketing company those folks who are employed to go where potential music buyers hang out, passing out stickers, flyers, promo material and product to create awareness of a new artist "Street teams"

"I called it a bunch of interns who were young enough to want to be down for the music who were just music junkies." Rifkind's company is currently promoting six feature films, utilizing more of a plan at the street level. In about three weeks, he will announce a "huge venture" pact with one of the biggest companies in the U.S. "if not the biggest." Asked why the major labels weren't clear on the Street Team concept beforehand, "It's not that they don't understand it," he says. "They were brought up a different way. It's tough to teach an old dog new tricks."

Besides a loose "hands-off" management approach, ("I don't believe in looking over somebody's shoulder"), everyone at LOUD Records is encouraged to put in their ideas for marketing, with joint New York-L.A. meetings convened for that purpose. "The whole staff is A&R," adds Ochi. "We all listen to the album to pick singles." "LOUD is definitely a family," injects Lance Crumes, Ochi's assistant. "If we hear a group we like, we wait to bring it to Steve. He's open to listen to our ideas and concerns." Ochi sets up interviews, meets with press, builds relationships and acts as artist management in some cases.

Tatia Smith is the director of national video promotions, responsible for nursing video projects to fruition. Her duties range from getting directors, submitting treatments, to talking to BET, MTV and The Box. Smith says there's a science to timing out the release of videos to the marketplace. She elaborates on the Street Team concept further. "They consist of players within their market, closely connected to what's happening. They have relationships with radio, have PD's try product, get in free at clubs, retailers cheer when they walk in. Those are Street Team. We don't want couch potatoes."

Promotions director Orlando Penderson supervises street-level campaigns for LOUD and SRC, and operates Club Unity, a teen nightclub in Downtown L.A., to provide monthly promotions. He covers California with an state-wide, eight-man Street Team and has connections with several record pools. SRC clients include Columbia, EMI, Geffen, and Def Jam. Penderson says that 120% goes into every project, but it's easier to work a good album rather than a bad one.

LOUD wants it known it's on the constant lookout for new artists but gangsta rap need not apply.

Paul Stewart's PMP Label is an arrow's flight from LOUD Records. The former DJ, club promoter, and Def Jam A&R consultant brought in attorney Tony Abner as vp/gm. Stewart's modest lo-rise penthouse office is lined with gold and platinum records from the artists he's divined from obscurity to stardom. "At first, I was just hooking people up. After their success, I started to learn the game." Framed Naughty By Nature, Phareyde, and Coolio discs gleam in the light. Stewart is on the phone discussing an upcoming video project. "We gotta have the super duper D.P. We need somebody good. Really ready to hustle." Stewart can appreciate the task in question. He directed the new Delinquent Habits "Lower Eastside" video, and has a role in Anthony Bone's "Cool 2 Da Bone" video shoot, offering a black female-spurned twist on Charlie's Angels. At present, the label is tallying respectable sales of the Delinquent Habits project, thanks to the "Tres Delinquentes" single appeal. PMP has acquired R&B/jazz flavored vocalist Adrianna Evans debut LP from Capitol Records, and is also promoting Oaktown rappers Off Da Hook. Like Rifkind, Stewart also doesn't want PMP to be pigeonholed as a hip hop label.

"We both come from promotion backgrounds," comments Stewart. "Companies probably mirror the people that run them. I would like to think of myself as a hard-working hustler who started from nothing, trying to better himself. I try to find the same types of people. We handle our business."

ALBUM REVIEWS By Peter Miro

THE 2 LIVE CREW: Shake a Lil' Somethin' (Lil' Joe XR 2152) Producers: Joseph Weinburger, David "Mr. Mixx" Hobbs.

The nasty guys who helped entice the flower of Florida girlhood are back. They bought their name from Luther Campbell outright so they have unchallenged title to the role. Their first solo project combines social commentary with some bass music energy, and a few erotic vignettes to boot. "Bulldagger Stole My B..." is a courageous airing of an issue that's not often discussed. "Skeeta Man" is prefaced by a type 96 sex scene that will show a girl how to be had if she didn't have a clue beforehand. "Savage In The Sack," and "Mega Mixx" are other attention grabbers. Be advised that Fresh Kid Lee, Brother Marquis and Mr. Mixx are back in the saddle again and they've brought their riding crops and spurs for recalcitrant females with this new joint.

SUGAR HILL GANG: The Best Of/Rappers Delight (Rhino R2 71986) Producers: David McLees & Shannita Williams-Alleyne.

Eleven cuts from pioneers of hip hop are offered on this Rhino collection for nostalgia buffs. The most famous of course is "Rapper's Delight," with the famous Bernard Edwards/Nile Rodgers bass riff off "Good Times." Can't say one will feel the twitch from the rest of the collection that may have been felt on 1978-79 era dance floors, but it documents the creative flavor of the originals Wonder Mike and Big Hank exuded in their prime.

VARIOUS ARTISTS: Supercop Soundtrack (Interscope INTD-90088) Producers: Ray Santamaria, Bob Weinstein, Harvey Weinstein, Scott Greenstein, Jeffery Kimball.

"I'll Do It," by the Dogg Pound, "Made Niggas" by 2Pac featuring the Outlawz and "What's Love Got To Do With It" with Warren G and Adina Howard gives this largely rock-skewed CD an urban lift. If this is the dubbed American film score, then the rock pacings of Devo, Tom Jones and Black Grape must have been chosen to keep pace with the flying fists and Buster Keaton-like physical comedy Jackie Chan injects into his films. It's the only way to figure the synchronicity of this material.

PICK OF THE WEEK

AMBERSUNSHOWER: Walter T. Smith (Gee Street/Island PRCD 7214-2) Producers: P.M. Dawn, Derek Trotman, Tikk Takk, Lucky, Minnesota.

This is one of the most joyful, unnumbered albums to come out in a long time, offered by a self-styled poetess who can bend her notes with aplomb, peel away layers of her soul at which to peer, and have one admiring the twists and turns of her creative impetus. Definitely an alternative artist, but that's not to say she'll be cursed from mainstream radio because of it. "Running Song," adds a fresh musculature to a Loose Ends "Hangin' On A String" skeletal structure, and simultaneously boasts impressive vocal flows. If one had to peg her fast, ambersunshower vocally combines Mary J. Blige with M'Shell Ndegeocello, but with the tools of folk rock, and hip hop thrown in for good measure, pulls stuff from her hat like "Serengeti Plains" and "Desoto" that jazzheads and Phil Spector alike will admire for their sonic masonry. The album drops August 13, and the world will be better for it.

THE RHYTHM

By Peter Miro

Maurice White embarks on the next phase of a prodigious musical career as head of newly-formed Kalimba Records.

KALIMBA STORY CONTINUED: Earth Wind & Fire founder Maurice White has opened the doors to Kalimba Records, a boutique label that will sign artists in all genres of music. White will serve as the company's president and chief executive officer. EWF co-manager Art Macnow is the head of the label's business affairs. Named for the African thumb piano featured in many of EWF's recordings, the Kalimba offices will have a state-of-the-art recording studio in their Santa Monica, CA headquarters, expected to be completed next month. Initially, the label plans to issue three or four albums per year, some of which will be produced or co-produced by White.

White co-produced the debut release of keyboardist Freddie Ravel, the first artist signed to the label. Ravel's Sol To Soul release is still in the top half of the contemporary jazz charts. Contemporary jazz-hop outfit Hypnofunk, is another White-produced project presently being shopped to potential distributors. White recently completed producing, singing and co-writing on the newest EWF album, and is in the midst of producing Urban Knights II for GRP Records, following up last year's critically-praised jazz release Urban Knights.

"Now that I'm no longer touring with Earth, Wind & Fire, I'm focused on the next phase of my career," says White. "With the record label, I'm charged about finding and developing new talent and helping true artists realize their potential. Throughout my career, I've had the good fortune to work with some of the industry's greatest record executives. Those experiences helped prepare me to run a successful label."

OTHERWORLDLY: EWF bassist and co-founder Verdine White and producer Rick Scott continue to shop their Alternative Groove radio pilot, containing cutting edge R&B/hip hop/soul artists who have proven difficult to format on mainstream urban playlists. Maverick Records artist Me'Shell Ndegeocello appeared on the initial tape, performing her succulent romantic ode "Soul Searching" from the Higher Learning soundtrack. All told, it's a peerless tune. (Seal, Maysa Leak, Lenny Kravitz and others offer stylistic gems on the pilot, and a second installment is being circulated.) However, Scott reports that Maverick has hit snags trying to get radio airplay for Me'Shell's songs. Her unabashed Peace Beyond Passion LP has elicited considerable praise, albeit mixed with controversy, but scant airtime. Enter Alternative Groove, a program which appears to be more prescient about including her work than radio is at present. Scott observed that his weekly two hour broadcast would be a worthy forum for similar artists, once it finds a home.

ADDRHYTHM: Prior to the summer recess of the 104th Congress, Republican leadership rejected House Concurrent Resolution 151, a bill that officially recognizes the cultural and global economic influence of African-American music, a multi-billion-dollar commodity. Rep. Chaka Fattah (D-Penn.) obtained 91 co-sponsors for the bill, also backed by The International Assn. Of African-American Music (IAAAM), but a House floor vote on the issue was declined. As a result, support for HCR 151 must be canvassed from scratch. Interested parties may contact Rep. William Goodling, chairman of the Education and Economic Committee (201) 225-5836, or Speaker Newt Gingrich, (201) 225-0600. Both are key figures for the bill's passage. Had to admire and respect Stevie Wonder for his tactful rendering of John Lennon's "Imagine" during closing ceremonies at the Atlanta Summer Olympics. It was one visionary saluting another who was consumed by a violent America, trying to salve fresh wounds inflicted by intolerance and terror tactics. As the late tire magnate Sam Winston said, "Once again..."

THE RHYME

Warner Bros. Records artist Drawz has a singles deal for now, but he's just a Thin Line away from LP recognition.

ADDING TO THE AMBIENCE of the Warner Bros. film A Thin Line Between Love & Hate is an introspective chant by new artist Lance "Drawz" Simmons on the soundtrack single "Thin Line." Drawz has a knack for putting an R&B spin onto hip hop beats. So much so that he earned a singles deal from the label, which is promoting his single "U Da 1" b/w "Da Contact." Drawz grew up with rapper Korrupt from the Dogg Pound, and Avalanche. Both inspired him to adapt his gospel background to urban music projects. Soul music is at the core of his productions, but Drawz says he likes to rap about things that have happened in real life. "I like deep music. I want that same feeling that you get from an R. Kelly album," muses Drawz. "I want to write produce, perform, to do the Teddy Riley thing." Both sides of his single suggest a swirling fusion of R&B and hip hop inside of a clear glass sphere. That's a deliberate effect of "Da Contact." "When you turn the song off, I want you to still feel like you're high, still feel the contact." To Drawz Rakim and Big Daddy Kane were the number one rappers while he was growing up. Just about everyone has an opinion about East vs. West, and Drawz offers an important view. "That's kind of crazy to me. It's all about the money. All this heefing, we need to stop this wack s---. It proves who's better when it comes to albums and record sales. If you're going to say 'I can outwrite Biggy, I can outtrap Snoop' prove it." Drawz is working on an album called The Wayz Of Life, and is collaborating on Players Don't Paint Pretty Pictures with several gifted artists he's with whom working.

KKBT SUMMER JAM '96: For the third consecutive year, L.A.'s KKBT 92.3 The Beat presents their annual Summer Jam Charity concert at Irvine Meadows Amphitheater, August 11. Strife-free racial neutrality is the selling point of the event, which benefits charities that counter AIDS, HIV, gang violence and drug abuse. Talent for this year's show includes, Ice Cube, Mack 10, W.C. & the Maad Circle, LL Cool J, S.W.V., Bone Thugs & Harmony, Montell Jordan, Total, MC Lyte, Immature, Monifah, Kris Kross, Tony Rich, Tha Mexakinz, and many more.

ADDRHYME: Cash Box was in attendance for the premiere of Phat Beach at Hollywood's Galaxy Theater, a black-themed beach movie, thought misogynistic by a few because of the insatiable desires of one of the lead characters, but largely all in fun. Also accompanied TVT/Blunt Records artists and publicists to the afterset at the cavernous Paradise 24 nightclub. Unlike California beaches in the movie, that's where the real party people were stomping. New Yorkers in the house were really feeling the West Coast party vibe, since they're used to seeing wallflowers at home. But their clubs do close much later. If you told a New Yorker to go home at 1:45 a.m. he wouldn't be hearing that, but that's how L.A. parties roll because of the liquor laws.

Grammy Winner Method Man joined Noo Trybe Recording artist Shyheim on the set of this newest video "Shaolin Style." Method Man is a member of the Wu Tang Clan and is featured in Shyheim's new video.

Urban Singles Reviews

By Peter Miro

NEW EDITION: "Hit Me Off" (MCA MCA5P-3791)

The Stone Cold Gentlemen are all grown and offer a glimpse of how they've matured on this ultra funky remix by N.E. Spyder with $120 Million Man Shaq D on the mic. Johnny Gill and Bobby Brown vocally dominate the proceedings which should establish an urban radio presence for their upcoming reunion album. Seven edits to choose from. The video is also circulating towards this end in national markets.

32 F/SONIA MOORE: "Comin' Down" (Rap A Lot/Noo Trybe 7087 6 11542 2 DPRO-11542)

Yet another player conversation from the label that gives them a forum to spit game as they see it. This cut is marked by a female chorus and a key rap vocal. From the upcoming LP The Wicked Buddah Baby Safe and mellow enough for mainstream radio with this edit.

KOKANE: "4 Ryders Only" (Street Life/All American 72392 78068-2)

A sample of "Mary Jane" by Rick James undercoats this head nodding strut, on its O.G. single, instrumental and Club Joint versions. Listen closely, and it's a cheerfully rendered tale of a heist liberating jewelry from face down victims. Something about "Ryders" that makes this a meaningful activity. May get underground rotation and club play for its rhythm tracks. Offers insightful Mafia lectures, in case one wants to tell various factions apart.

Jazz Reviews

By M.R. Martinez

■ HIROSHIMA: Urban World Music (Qwest/WB 9 46234-2). Producers: Various.

This is an aptly-titled album for this veteran ensemble, which melds a variety of musical influences and styles into each song, creating the inevitable question as to where it can be played at radio and how it can be promoted. To their credit, the members of Hiroshima build on the strong NAC/jazz fan base that they have developed since the early '80s, starting with the opening track and projected single "Unspoken Love." But that track could easily play at Quiet Storm formats and garner a broader adult audience. The tireless groove of "None Of Us Are Free," which rolls along aboard a thick bass groove serving as the foundation for swirling textures and some hearty vocals, is a likely urban entry. And "Koto Blues" with its delicate, articulate piano/koto interplay as a natural for smooth jazz and jazz formats. The label has sent sampler packages to NAC/jazz formats and a separate sampler to urban/AC radio to perk interest. A three song sampler of snippets of the album is being given away at retail with each purchase of Warner Bros. product, there is selective street marketing ("snipping") and there is a heavy poster campaign. The group kicks off a tour of selected urban markets August 16 at L.A.'s Greek Theatre.

■ STANLEY COWELL: Brilliant Circles (Black Lion BLCD 760204). Producers: Chris Whent & Alan Bates.

Black Lion has created a staple of fine, previously unheralded reissue recordings by artists that have contributed to the bright filament of modern jazz. Pianist Cowell plays a smart, intelligent mixture of exploratory jazz, all of which was recorded September 25, 1969 at New York City's Olmsted Studios. Cowell, then a young lion honing his individual voice, was joined by a few of his favorite friends, including trumpeter Woody Shaw, Tyrone Washington on reeds, Bobby Hutcherson on vibes, bassist Reggie Workman and Joe Chambers on drums. The music's intelligence is derived from an introspective examination of tonality and rhythm, especially on "Earthly Heavens." The post-bop musings of "Boo Ann's Grand" starts out conventionally enough, before taking a few angular twists and turns along the way. This compilation from that session features a pair of previously unreleased offerings including the title track and "Musical Prayers." On "Brilliant Circles," Cowell and company tread more harmonic grounds, in more sunny territory, without forsaking detours into unique perspectives. A press blitz, co-op advertising in major jazz publications and in-store signage are part of the marketing campaign.

■ ART BLAKEY'S JAZZ MESSENGERS: The Art Of Jazz (In + Out IOR 77028 2). Producer: Mike Hennessey.

The legacy of Art Blakey and the various incarnations of his Jazz Messengers will echo for some time to come, and this recording—featuring some of his most illustrious alumni—will surely add to the resonance. Recorded live Oct. 9, 1989 (just a year before he left this corporeal plane), at the Leverkusener Jazz Festival for German TV station ZDE, the music is both a tribute to his enduring spirit and the relevance of his contributions up until his passing. Long-time collaborator Jackie McLean may have said of his death that "The school is closed for good," but the players who passed through his band are fully capable of tutoring his lesson plan. Those who participated on this concert album, many of whom continue to make their own vital contributions, include McLean, Terence Blanchard, Donald Harrison, Freddie Hubbard, Wayne Shorter, Benny Golson, Roy Haynes, Buster Williams, Walter Davis, Jr., Curtis Fuller and Michele Hendricks.

■ JAMES MOODY: Young At Heart (Warner Bros. 9 46227-2). Producers: Matt Pierson & Gil Goldstein.

Known for his soulful saxophone renderings of standards, his personal material and even pop material from all hues of the musical rainbow, it shouldn't be a total surprise that James Moody serves up a menu of tunes closely associated with —The Chairman—Frank Sinatra. Even though backed on much of the album by flourishing strings, Moody keeps things fresh and soulful with his playing and characteristic scat singing. The sly treatment of "Love And Marriage" is enough to make TV's Bundy family stop bickering; "Nancy (With The Laughing Face)" is bluesy, yet wistful, with a swaying undertow; Moody is in fine forlorn horn form on "Only The Lonely;" and "It Was A Very Good Year" makes for a pleasingly reflective soundscape. A dapper album from a dapper gentleman.

■ GREG ABATE QUINTET: Bop Lives (Blue Chip Jazz 4001). Producer: Mark Morganelli.

Abate's rich alto tones are ably complimented by the trumpet and flugelhorn of the oft underrated Claudio Roditi. This lively traditional bop album doesn't try to reinvent as much as bring fresh homage to what has come before. All of the players seem to know this and they revisit through arrangements generous enough to permit individual expression. Roditi provides some invigorating moments on "Love's No Secret," while pianist Kenny Barron's intro to "Happenin'" provides a flurry of craftsmanship. Bassist Rufus Reid shows up tasteful and articulate during a solo on "Blues For H.O." And drummer Ben Riley, who keeps crisp tempo throughout the album, picks some choice breaks and skin bruising on the title track "Bop Live!" Barron is also aggressive and tasteful on Monk's "Ask Me Now" and the band is enlivened on Barron's "Voyage."

REVIEWS By Héctor Reséndez

AZUCAR MORENO: Esclava De Tu Piel (Sony/Globo, 81979) Producer: Ricardo E. Martinez. POP.

The Spanish sister duo, Azucar Moreno, has always managed to keep up with the times and in the limelight. On their latest album, Esclava De Tu Piel (Slave Of Your Flesh), there's a burst of fresh creativity, especially when it comes to the hauntingly beautiful ballads. Perhaps the world could have done without a flamenco version of "Hava Nagila," but, then again, the internationally renowned duo is famous for its sensuality and ability to titillate audiences world-wide. The album boasts of using the latest modern technology and accomplished composers. The album's first single, "Solo Se Vive Una Vez," guarantees unrestricted visas for these fantastic flamenco gypsies of the world.

The former member of the Pop Mexican group, Magneto, strikes out on his own. The solo album by Charlie was recorded in Milan, Italy, at Baby Studio and produced by Peter Felisatti. It features a duet, "La Fuerza De La Sangre" (Blood's Force) with his older brother, Flavio Cesar, who is a prominently successful singer. Sony Latin is releasing another four tracks from the album: "Estoy Exitado," "Que Te Han Visto Llorar," "Mi Fantasia," and "Necisito Una Compañera." Charlie can also be seen on the soap opera Agujetas De Color De Rosa and later in the drama Confidente De Secundaria.

CHARLIE: Charlie (Sony Latin, 81953) Producers: Peter Felisatti, Fernando Figueroa and Antonio Berumen. POP-ROCK.

CHARLIE BYRD: Charlie Byrd (Milestone, 47005) Producers: Orrin Keepnews and Ed Michel. TROPICAL-JAZZ-BRAZILIAN.

Jazz guitarist Charlie Byrd has been mistakenly credited with having created the bossa nova movement in the U.S. In the liner notes of Charlie Byrd, the guitarist noted, "I was just lucky to be involved with the first successful recordings (with Stan Getz) of it." In 1961 President Kennedy had sent the Charlie Byrd trio on a State Department tour of Latin America. That trip eventually led to the recordings on this reissue album. The first 12 tracks were originally released on the album Latin Impressions. The remaining 11 tracks are from Byrd's Once More! Charlie Byrd's Bossa Nova. Aficionados of Brazilian music and jazz buffs will cherish this remarkable homage to a true master guitarist.

PICK OF THE WEEK

ADELA DALTO: Papo Boco (Milestone/Venus, 9253) Producer: Todd Barkan and Aloisio Aguiar. TROPICAL-JAZZ.

The late Jorge Dalto gave the world many musical moments to forever cherish. One of his living legacies is the talent and artistry of his wife, Adela Dalto, whom he encouraged to begin her professional career. Our good fortune has been the several decades of incredibly creative music from this Chicana, who was raised in Gary, Indiana. Once you listen to this beautifully eclectic recording, you'll keep playing it over and over again. The title tune is named after a "healing spirit," a voodoo god - Papo Boco - who protects us from other people's envy. Owning this album, however, won't help your chances of getting any kind of protection! It's tropical salsa, jazz, Brazilian, and highly enjoyable.

THE LATIN LOWDOWN

News From U.S. & Latin America

By Hector Resendez

RMM SIGNS TWO INTERNATIONAL ARTISTS: There's been a flurry of activity emanating from the offices of RMM Records and Video in New York. President Ralph Mercado scored another market rattling coup with the signing of Dominican pianist Michel Camilo early last month. Well-known in the Latin jazz concert circuit, Camilo signed with RMM's Tropijazz label. He plans to produce and begin recording his new album this October.

Says A&R director Eddie Rodriguez, "This is a new era for Tropijazz Records, and signing Michel Camilo, makes us the number one Latin jazz label in the world. We are excited about our future and with the creative genius of Michel Camilo on board, we will take our music into the next century." That era, as many observers would openly venture to say, is fast upon us.

Mercado's RMM rapidly growing family of high caliber talent, as well as its surging subsidiaries, has been astonishing the entire Latin music industry. For example, the Tropijazz label alone has signed some of the top names in the field like Grammy Award winners Tito Puente and Eddie Palmieri, to mention just a couple. RMM hasn't begun to stop just there. Concert promotions, music publishing, major motion pictures and other business ventures are on the drawing boards while others are in position to launch soon, real soon!

On the Salsa scene, Colombian artist Jerry Galante also joined the RMM label. Known for his more romantic style of the genre, Galante is one the better known Colombian artists.

Galante's style caught Mercado's eagle eye for prospective talent during the concert "Colombia te Canta." RMM plans to handle the promotion, distribution and booking for Galante. His first project for the label will be Estoy Enamorado due for street release at any moment.

New Tropical product that has been released is material from salsa vocalists Michael Stuart and Miles Peña. Puerto Rican Michael Stuart's album Cuentos de la Vecindad (release date was August 6) is kicking off with the single "Yo Te Amo." The debut song first appeared on RMM's Recordando A Selena. The album was produced by Angel Fernandez who has collaborated with David Byrne and Ray Barretto.

Cuban singer Miles Peña will also be releasing his third album for RMM this August 13th. Entitled Torbellino de Amor. The Humberto Ramirez production packs a strong selection of varied material including a Spanish version of the Boys II Men hit, "No Dejemos Que Muera El Amor."

SINGLES REVIEWS By Daina Darzin

■ GODFLESH: "Hunter" (Earache moshi 157cd)
 Heavier than heavy, more cold, menacing and industrial than any band you could name, including Nine Inch Nails, perennial cult favorite Godflesh is back with a new disc and a heavy radio music track that smokes. Assaultive, doom-laden rhythms, nasty and relentless as they want to be, are the focal point of this active rock station adventure pick. The British band is tentatively scheduled for opening slots on Ministry's fall tour.

■ ALICE IN CHAINS: "Over Now" (Sony ct 67703)
 The darkest and most guitar-oriented of the Seattle bands, Alice In Chains' gloomy, glamorous, druggy angst would seem a strange choice for the MTV "Unplugged" treatment, but the band proves everyone wrong with this spirited, uncharacteristically homey track. "Over Now" still retains the band's moody vibe, but finely-crafted acoustic guitar as opposed to Alice In Chains' typical firebomb-and-reverb approach. An automatic add at active rock, this rather laid-back track could work on any number of other rock formats.

■ JAWBOX: "Cornflake Girl" (Tag/Atlantic PRCD 6850)
 Critical and cult darlings Jawbox put a skewed, uncompromising spin on a cover of labelmate Tori Amos' tune, lending its own trademark of jangly, heavy, well-planned cacophony of sound to the proceedings. Jawbox is currently on an extended headlining tour; "Cornflake Girl" is currently getting spot spins at modern rock stations nationwide.

■ ORLEANS: "I'm On Your Side" (Dinosaur/BMG 76401-84506-2)
 Already winging its way to AAA and A/C radio, Orleans' sweet, catchy single marks the comeback that the veteran band began on last year's Can't Stop Rockin' Tour with Fleetwood Mac, REO Speedwagon and Pat Benatar. The purveyors of the '70s hit "Still The One," the band has created a similarly lilting, harmony-heavy, mellow rock tune that's born for heavy airplay.

■ STATE OF GRACE: "Hello" (RCA RDJ 644459-2)
 A hazy, sexy, ethereal dreamscape that mixes Sarah Simmonds' breathy, soaring vocals with a lush, undulating, psychedelic groove. "Hello" is just the thing for modern rock stations. As an import single, "Hello" had considerable impact on the import charts; the George Morel and Darrin Friedman produced re-mix was also a top ten killer on the dance charts. Now the tune is back as part of Jamboreebop, the band's major label debut, which is already garnering critical acclaim across the board.

ALBUM REVIEWS by Daina Darzin

■ CHALK FARM: Notwithstanding (ACK 67613 S1)

Melodies are the focal point of this well-crafted debut from a new L.A. band, which makes them a good candidate for radio play on any number of formats. Chalk FarM blend a folksy, acoustic lilt into the soaring, intricate guitar of "Live Tomorrow," accompanied by thoughtful lyrics and frontman Michael Duff's effortless voice. The first single, "Lie On Lie" injects a jazzy melancholy into the proceedings. Produced by Matt Hyde (Porno For Pyros), Notwithstanding is one of those discs where less is more—impeccable rather than bombastic, imbued with a natural grace. Chalk FarM is currently on tour with the Goo Goo Dolls.

■ EMMET SWIMMING: Arlington To Boston (Epic EK 67642)

"She's piercing her nipples in the name of art" sings Emmet Swimming's Todd Watts, accompanied by a loopy, syncopated rhythm that underscores the tale of hip living in "Arlington." A happy, tongue-in-cheek disc, Emmet Swimming's third effort deliberately tries for a positive, optimistic vibe, coupled with charming, Gin Blossoms-ish tunes like the amusing "Sellout." ("If we could just change who we are/They told us we'd be stars.") The band's 1994 Wake disc was a grass-roots success which won both Album of the Year and Alternative Album of the Year in Washington, D.C.'s WAMMIE awards. A hard-working touring outfit with a growing

■ FROSTED: Cold (DGC DGCD-A-25003)

Ex-GoGo Jane Wiedlin proves she hasn't lost her touch for fun, bouncy power pop with this, the debut disc of her new band, Frosted. Cuts like "Never" and "Dis-integrated" (Wiedlin's lament about the travails of the music biz) sparkle with zippy guitars, sweet harmonies and an undeniably infectious energy. "Shoulder The Sky" slows matters down to a hazy, gloom-tinted power ballad. Wiedlin has a solid career since The GoGo's, both as a solo artist and as a member of Fur, which had a top ten hit with "Rush Hour," so Frosted comes with a built-in fan base that should serve the band in good stead.

■ ROBYN HITCHCOCK: Moss Elixir (Warner Bros. 46302)

Eclectic, critically-acclaimed singer/songwriter Robyn Hitchcock returns with a more acoustic, spare disc than his previous efforts, but Hitchcock's trademarks—a dead-on sense of melody, witty, smart lyrics—remain. The first single, "Alright Yeah," is an upbeat thing, but the real gems on Moss Elixir are the plaintive, moody "Speed Of Things" and the edgy, jangle of "You And Oblivion." In conjunction with this disc, Warner Bros. also released an extremely limited edition vinyl companion piece entitled Mossy Liquor (Outtakes And Prototypes); certain tracks will share common titles with the CD, but the versions will be different, making this the first time a major label has officialy released an entirely unique CD/LP. Robyn Hitchcock will be touring the U.S. this summer.

■ SLEEPER: The It Girl (Arista 07822-18824-2)

The spirit of XTC and other quirky, charming, jaunty English bands lives on in Sleeper, an extremely promising entry in the current Brit-pop invasion. Charismatic frontwoman Louise Wener has the feisty, take-no-crap attitude of Garbage's Shirley Manson but a voice that's more suited to Sleeper's unabashedly poppy sound and radio-friendly, harmonious cuts like "Feeling Peaky." Supporting it's 1995 disc, Smart, Sleeper toured stadiums with R.E.M. and The Cranberries, and propelled by that disc's Top 20 British single, "Inbetweeners," went gold in the U.K. The It Girl is near perfectly produced by Stephen Street (Blur, The Cranberries, The Smiths).

WB's Tin Looks At Least Silver

By John Goff

a bit so he's turned his attention from baseball (Bull Durham, Cobb) to the manicured greens of the links. There are some good laughs here, and he's even managed to get Kevin Costner to lighten up, something Costner needed after Wyatt Earp and Waterworld. They'd paired successfully before in Durham, and if you listen closely you can hear echoes of that here, notably in male-female character relationship. But it worked then and serves now.

Sheldon and John Norville's story is light: Costner's a Texas goofball, once hot golfer unable to "play it safe," who always "goes for it"—"it" being the unreachable shot, in anything—but that's also his charm and the magnet which draws the people and attention to his action. He's a good ol' boy, loyal and something of a showboater. How can you not like someone like that?... You can't. Characters like this are always intriguing, and so are the people who gather around them. Like Rene Russo, a psychologist/therapist in need of some herself, always GOLFERS ALWAYS LOOK GRIM on the courses during TV broadcasts. They're not always that way, obviously, but, I suppose if you're playing for several hundred thousands of dollars and an endorsement or two, it could be grim.

Well, co-writer/director Ron Shelton wants the hackers to lighten up attracted to the screwups; and Cheech Marin, Costner's caddy/friend/conscience—and a colorful crew of smalltown observationists living through Costner's capers. Even the Don Johnson character, proving that straight arrow types also have a few curves of their own.

It's just a romp, and it's time for one. A little romance, a little fun, nothing taken seriously, arguments are settled via testosterone-driven tough golf shot challenges in lieu of fisticuffs or violence and everybody leaves the theatre with a smile on their face. Don Johnson loses Russo to Costner but finds another almost immediately; and it's all done with grins, good natures and even when everyone is mad at everyone else the anger is never ill-natured, spiteful or cutting. You just have to like people whose intent it is just go enjoy life and allow others to do the same.

The trio of stars—Costner, Johnson and Russo—are doing their best in hitting the TV talk shows, drumming up business. They all seem to be having fun with it, and it's obvious on screen they had fun making it—there is a good chemistry between Russo and Costner as well as a likeability factor between Costner and Johnson which is also affecting on screen. The material is charming and well-presented and William Ross' music emulates TV's Great Sports Moments on the links, but relaxes into a country-western, Tex-Mex-tinged sound (central setting is Texas), outside which is in keeping with the character of the piece and presents a charm of its own. Good soundtrack. All considered it looks to be profitable for the Warner Bros. presentation, Regency Enterprises. Gary Foster production.

Costner seems more relaxed than he has in a long time and gets into the skin of the golfer. Johnson is sly as the pro circuit charity darling and seems perfectly at home in the clubhouses and on the greens. Russo continues in a light comedy vein from her earlier turn in Get Shorty and displays a genuine feel for the genre. And Cheech Marin works wonderfully on several levels as the pal/caddy. The one time stand up comedian is building as solid a character career as anyone could want, and gets better each time around.

Par's Escape From L.A. Escapist Fare

By J.G.

SNAKE PLISSKEN'S BACK. When last seen he'd Escape (d) From New York, also with the help of director John Carpenter and producer Debra Hill, and he looked a lot like Kurt Russell with a patch over one eye. Nothing's changed in that respect since they've moved coasts to L.A. The trio is back as: producers, Hill & Russell; writers, Carpenter, Hill and Russell; starring Russell; directed by Carpenter who, along with Nick Castle, created the original characters. And if you liked Escape From New York you'll like Escape From L.A., especially if you're familiar with L.A.

Carpenter and crew utilize up-to-the-moment FX and are particularly inventive with holographic image use for both story purpose and futuristic projection of technology.

One thing about projecting into the future, you have a wide open field. The only things limiting writers are their imaginations. Carpenter, Hill and Russell's projection of L.A., after a big quake has separated it from the rest of the U.S. and the Moral Majority ruling party has declared it to be a giant prison for immoralists and/or other criminals, doesn't give it a helluva lot of differentiation than it is today. Well, maybe a little more rubble on the streets, but the locals?...just look out your window.

They have some fun with crumbled landmarks—Universal Studios tour, L.A. Coliseum, Disneyland, Sunset and Hollywood Boulevards, Beverly Hills Hotel as a plastic surgeon's domain—and it looks like they had a great deal of fun writing this. How much of the L.A. "in" gags will translate across the country and overseas is debatable but they don't dwell on it enough to harm the action. And there's plenty of that. Whether there's enough total over-the-top action to return a profit on the reportedly $50 million cost is questionable, especially coming on the heels of such a huge visual action summer this smaller-visioned Escape could suffer in comparison at the boxoffice.

Carpenter, Hill and Russell recycle the hook of infecting the hiss-whispering legendary Snake with a virus to give a rush time element to the story. He has to get a black box out of the hands of bad guy, Che Guevara lookalike George Corraface, so that the world's power can't be shut down causing everything, the world, to begin all over again, literally—an intriguing thought the creative trio utilizes nicely and which won't be revealed here. Just say, that Snake's a slippery one.

Russell has a patent on the character of Snake, delivering everything, even death, offhandedly and simply in the course of what needs to be done. Stacy Keach drapes himself in the mantle of behind-the-scenes controller of U.S. President Cliff Robertson and seems to enjoy the change of pace. Steve Buscemi is a pasty-faced seller of CD maps to stars homes and seems to base his character on a lizard, able to turn colors for camouflage. Peter Fonda is an old hippy, riding tsunamis down Wilshire Blvd. on his surfboard (See, it's not all serious here) and Pam Grier turns up as the gender-bent (vocally, at least) head of some nefarious operation working out of what looks to be the remains of Mann's Chinese Theatre. Bruce Campbell has fun as the ultimate Bev Hills plastic surgeon—wouldn't be L.A. without one of those. These old pros invest it all with a spirit of fun and adventure. Michelle Forbes, as Keach's right hand, catches the spirit a bit. Valeria Golina and A.J. Langer want to play it serious, however. Carpenter should have told the girls they weren't doing Ezterhaus.

Carpenter, partners with Shirley Walker to do the score here, which runs from pretty standard action fare to a surfing, Beach Boys motif for the tsunami sequence and a fun soundtrack grouping featuring an eclectic bunch ranging from Tori Amos to the Butthole Surfers to Randy Newman, Dick Dale and White Zombie. All bases are pretty well covered. Soundtrack is released on Lava Records.

N2K OPENS NEW PATHWAYS: You can't sit still on the Information Superhighway, a fact of which online music entertainment company N2K, Inc. has demonstrated it is abundantly aware. The company recently redesigned its Music Boulevard online retail apparatus, has acquired the widely hit Rocktropolis website and has made an entry into the Japanese market with its groundbreaking Jazz Central Station. The company also is building a classical music website that will soon be launched with a special section devoted to the life and music of Leonard Bernstein.

The retooling and expansion has been spearheaded by N2K toppers Larry Rosen, Dave Grusin and Jon Diamond. The redesign of Music Boulevard will now enable users to more easily browse all N2K's catalog titles and also link with the genre-specific sites that are part of its web. "Music Boulevard will continue to solidify the natural convergence of the online and music communities by providing information, education and entertainment to music fans via the Internet," comments Rosen, who is chairman of N2K, Inc.

One of the Web's most complete online music stores, Music Boulevard stocks more than 150,000 CD's and cassettes, permitting convenient purchasing for site users, and also hooking music fans up with information regarding their favorite artists, including bios and discographies, album reviews, a view of cover art and a host of audio samples. Charts, reviews and cutting edge articles from a variety of major publications are also accessible through the site.

One of those sites will now be Rocktropolis, the award-winning rock music site based in Los Angeles, which will be the West Coast cornerstone for N2K's operations. Rob Lord will head up the Rocktropolis site as vp of rock sites for N2K. He comes to the job with pedigree, having founded in November, 1993 Internet Underground Music Archive (IUMA), designed as a low-cost forum for musicians, unsigned artists and fans. The site is credited with about 250,000 hits daily.

Working closely with Rocktropolis founder Nick Turner (who will stay on as a full-time consultant concentrating on developing relationships for the site), Lord will oversee the site, as rock 'n' roll theme park providing high-quality music, film, entertainment and pop culture information for rock buffs. Rocktropolis is currently featuring sites for Sting, Prince and Soundgarden, and will be the home to N2K's "Stones World" and "Outside" sites devoted to the Rolling Stones and David Bowie, respectively.

"With the addition of our new Los Angeles office, N2K Inc. is ensured a West Coast presence necessary to stay in touch with the fast-moving music and technology industries there," Rosen comments. "Rob Lord's unprecedented expertise in music new media will provide us with expert guidance in this fever-pitched environment."

A Japanese language version of Jazz Central Station recently debuted with an eye on attracting wider use of the site in a market that has long supported jazz. Both the English and Japanese versions feature jazz of all ilk and style—from traditional to contemporary hybrids—and the multimedia environment mixes live music, video, photography, graphics and text. Audio samples, album reviews, liner notes, artists bios and discographies, listings of upcoming releases, tour schedules, concerts and festivals and online chats with artists, producers and educators are all part of the menu.

Rosen and company believe that the N2K stretch of the Information Superhighway represents "a new model of electronic commerce providing information, entertainment and education for music fans."

QUICK HIT: Porno For Pyros leader and ENIT festival impresario Perry Farrell will host "Pepsi Live @ Ticketmaster Online" Aug. 13 at 6:00 p.m. (ET) during an hour of chat about the multimedia musical, sensory and communal touring experience. Online users will have a chance to win tickets to the festival which will feature performances by Porno For Pyros, Black Grape, Love And Rockets, Lady Miss Kier, Orb, Meat Beat Manifesto, Buju Banton, and on select dates, Pharcyde, Sun Ra Arkestra, The Flying Neutrinos and Rabbit In The Moon...Salem Communications Corp. recently acquired The Word In Music, a contemporary Christian music satellite service originating from Colorado Springs, CO. While TWIM will continue to provide programming to affiliate radio stations nationwide, Ken Sasso, Salem vp of programming, will direct production and programming. The Salem Radio Network will provide affiliate services from its Dallas headquarters. "As a format, Contemporary Christian Music is ready to move into many markets," commented SRN vp/gm Paul Martin. "We hope to feed that growth with a high quality way to operate stations economically."

News From The United Kingdom, Ireland & Europe

By Hal Levy

TOP UK SINGLES: Spice Girls' "Wannabe" is hanging onto the top spot, denying newcomer Robbie Williams' "Freedom" that position, so the debut record is second. Newcomer Suede's "Trash" is three and Dodgy's "Good Enough" seems good enough to come onto the charts at four, pushing Los Del Rio's "Macarena" to five and Fugees' "Killing Me Softly" slides down to six while Peter Andre/Bubbler Ranx's "Mysterious Girl" lands on seven. Bone Thugs-N-Harmony's "The Crossroads" hits the charts at eight and Underworld's "Born Slippy" goes to nine with Wink's "Higher State of Consciousness 96 Remixes" hanging on the charts at the ten spot.

Alanis Morissette's Jagged Little Pill is still the favorite in the UK album sales and Bill Whelan's Riverdance—The Show also hangs onto top music video sales. Also holding down their positions are Seven in video rentals and The Swan Princess in video sales. Mega Drive and Super Nintendo top rentals are still Atlanta '96 Olympic Games and at the boxoffice, Warner Bros./UIP's Twister has knocked Paramount/UIP's Mission: Impossible down to second place.

The top single in the European market is still Fugees' "Killing Me Softly" leading in almost every country so it's easier to list what countries it doesn't head the charts. Spain and Macedonia favor Gary Barlow's "Forever Love" while Livin' Joy's "Don't Stop Movin'" is moving in Latvia. Backstreet Boys' "Get Down" is in Lithuania and France favors Carrapicno's "Tic Tac Tac."

The Fugees are also major players in the European album markets leading in Germany, Austria and Belgium with their The Score. Bette Midler's Experience The Divine leads in Denmark, Holland and Norway while Mr. President's We See The Same Sun shines in Finland and Switzerland.

The UK's reading John Collis' Van Morrison: Inarticulate Speech of the Heart (Little, Brown) and Mick Middle's From Joy Division to New Order: The Factory Story (Virgin), the story of the Manchester independent label Factory.

On the bestseller list we find that Jack Ramsay's SAS: The Soldiers' Story (Macmillan) back on top in the non-fiction hardback listings with John Grisham's The Runaway Jury (Century) also reclaiming first spot on the fiction hardback list. Margaret Forster's Hidden Lives: A Family Memoir (Penguin) still heads the non-fiction paperback list while Patricia D. Cornwell's From Potter's Field (Warners) comes back to head the fiction list.

THE BULLS ARE RUNNING as Thorn EMI at £16.98 is up 0.5% and Rank Organization's £4.72 price is up 2.6%. PolyGram's Nlf 91.00 is up 2.9%.

KING OF THE MOUNTAIN? But for how long? This week, four of the top ten singles are newcomers that have become instant hits. But where will they be next week? Last week's number three, Manic Street Preacher's "Everything Must Go," went off the list after its first week, as did Alanis Morissette's "Head Over Feet" and Nenah Cherry's "Woman." Market mavens say that the charts are no longer reliable because of the instant hits made by slick marketing and bargain prices the first week of release, only. This, together with early promotion on radio stations weeks in advance and television spots hitting a couple of days before release almost guarantee that, if the record is by a major player, it will be on the top of the list, at least the first week. But the market is seeing more and more of the top ten debut records disappearing the second week.

HELP WANTED by the consumer electronics industry which needs new technology to help the sagging market. And it looked like the Digital Video Disc system was the answer. That is until last week when Sony and Philips announced plans for licensing patents for a new generation of DVD. The entire industry's DVD systems were due to hit the market in September, but the date had been pushed up because of difficulties the companies were having on reaching an agreement on the licensing issues as well as finalizing a copyright agreement with both Hollywood and the computer industry. Matsushita, Toshiba and other companies have been working on the joint licensing of all DVD patents to make it easier for manufacturers to buy all rights at one time, instead of having to deal with many companies. The actions of Sony and Philips, part of the group, seems to have ended the negotiations between the other major companies.

THE BUZZ AT THE GALWAY ARTS FESTIVAL was that the UK's Radiohead is The Britpop group that is next headed for superstardom. The music festival followed on the heels of the Galway Film Festival which saw the TC Rice Award, presented by New York producer TC Rice going to Orla Walsh for her Bent Out Of Shape film.

TRIPLE THREAT: Actor Anthony Hopkins is now an actor/director/musician. Hopkins is credited with directing, starring and writing the film score for his new film, Uncle Vanya, which is set in Wales. However, George Fenton, a film and theatrical composer gets credit for musical direction and arrangement.

GET OUT YOUR ORDER BOOK FOR SLOT MACHINES as everyone in the UK's gaming field is waiting to see where the Home Secretary is going to grant the 13 new gaming licenses proposed for cities across England, which could total some 23 casinos. All the UK giants: London Clubs, Rank, Stakis and Ladbroke are in there making plans for the big bonanza. Last year alone, at the existing clubs, people bet some £2.5 billion on slot machines and gambling tables. Revenues are expected to go up by 10% to 30% with the new casinos together with expected relaxation of laws on membership and advertising which will make it easier to attract tourists as well as locals.

BRING THE FAMILY to Dublin's Century City, a games arcade combined with sports bar and restaurant. The theme is time travel and the Sheridan Group said they are aiming at the family market and are planning an adjacent interactive and virtual reality facility for the children. For the old folks the games arcade will have more than 100 slot machines. The company has also won the contract to build a similar venue in Bournemouth in the UK.

RAGING BULL IN INSTAN-BUL: At least that's what they're saying about Ibrahim Tatis, the top selling singer in Turkey, who sells more records than any other musician in the country, even though his songs were banned in 1989 by the ministry of culture because the songs, written and sung in the Arabesque style, were considered damaging for the country's morale because of their sadness. Last Year Tatis' girlfriend ended up in the hospital and he was accused of battering her, but the case never went to trial. Then he was a prominent figure at a leading mafia-type hood's funeral. And recently he has been accused of ordering the killing of a shop owner who cursed him because his fans were blocking the entrance to his store. A journalist says he has a tape in which Tatis admitted ordering the killing which one of his assistants confessed to carrying out.

YOU DON'T GO THERE FOR THE FOOD: The "there" will be London's Marvel Mania Restaurant, to be run jointly by the Planet Hollywood people and the comic book giant Marvel Entertainment. The 300-seat restaurant will feature food as well as animation artwork, electronic sounds and light shows. And, of course, there'll be space for merchandising T-shirts and other items featuring Marvel comic book characters.

HOL-Y T-SHIRTS: Look out Marvel Mania, Hard Rock Cafe and Planet Hollywood, together with the Fashion Cafes and Disney Stores and Warner Stores because, coming on the market are the Vatican Stores. The U.S.'s John Edward Connelly Associates have won sole global rights to reproduce art works from the Vatican museums. And the company expects to set up a chain of stores in a number of countries within the next two years with interiors designed like little Vaticans with Sistine Chapel ceilings and other Vatican interior designs. And, of course, they'll be selling ashtrays, pens, ties and T-shirts all with the Vatican logo.

BLACK SEA-D: Wanna cheap CD? Well, head for Bulgaria on the Black Sea. The country has become Europe's biggest manufacturer of pirate CDs. It's estimated that some 20 million are pushed out each year. The situation is so bad that President Clinton raised the issue with the Bulgarian government recently. However, the Bulgarian National Investigation Agency says it has had an anti-piracy initiative underway for the past three months and that it has closed down a factory that was producing some five million units a year. And, together with the police, they have conducted many raids and confiscated counterfeit materials. But outside observers claim that these steps are inadequate and as a matter of fact, the number of counterfeits is growing.

THE MERCURY GOES UP on September 10th when the annual Mercury Music Prize for the UK's "Best of Britain" album is awarded. The prize is given for creativity rather than sales, and covers the whole range of British music. Bookmakers are quoting odds of 2-1 for Oasis' What's The Story Morning Glory with Pulp's Different Class at 3-1. The charity album, War Child: Help is 6-1 with Mark Morrison's Return Of The Mack 7-1. Manic Street Preachers' Everything Must Go is 8-1 and Black Grape's It's Great When You're Straight...Yeah going at 9-1 with dance music's Underworld's Second Toughest In The Infants also quoted at 9-1.

THE SOUND OF MUSIC wasn't music to the ears of UK composer and record producer John Salmon. In 1987 he bought a £1,250 sound system and found it faulty. When the store couldn't fix it, he returned it and thought that was the end. However, the finance company disagreed and when he refused to pay the full amount they took him to court. Well, six years later he won his case and collected £12,000 for the time he spent working on the case. And it took another year to win another £12,000 for costs.

COMING UP at week's end is Rank Organization's strategic review. The company is expected to report interim pre-tax earnings of £170 million compared to last year's £157.8 million for the six-month period to June 29. Andrew Teare, the new CEO has given no indication of what plans he has, but the market is looking at what he has done, namely the buying up of the outstanding stake in the Hard Rock Cafe group. There are reports that the company wants to focus more of its business in the fast growing entertainment & leisure fields, and there may be a sell-off of the company's share in Rank Zerox, which is valued at more than £1 billion.

DO YOU UNDERSTAND ENGLISH? Well, the Brits obviously don't. So that's why Trainspotting is being re-dubbed into "American English." And you remember the sub-titles in The Commitments? Well, it doesn't only work with words, it also brings problems on the humor market. Remember A Fish Called Wanda? Well, the prequel is going to be called Fierce Creatures and it looks like some of the jokes and actions are going to have to be cut because the American audiences don't understand, or like, certain things, at least according to the sneak previews in the States.

Three Legends Chosen For Hall Of Fame

By Wendy Newcomer

PATSY MONTANA, BUCK OWENS AND RAY PRICE were picked as the Country Music Assn.'s 1996 inductees into the Country Music Hall Of Fame. Owens, Price, and the late Montana will be formally inducted during the telecast of "The 30th Annual CMA Awards" to be broadcast Wednesday, October 2 on CBS.

"Each of this year's Hall Of Fame inductees is a musical innovator in his or her own right," said Ed Benson, CMA executive director. "CMA is delighted to recognize their outstanding achievements by bestowing them with the highest honor in Country Music."

The late Montana, who died earlier this year, is credited as the first female country artist to sell a million records with her 1935 classic "I Want To Be A Cowboy's Sweetheart" (later covered by Suzy Bogguss). Before her death, Montana commented on her years of intense touring compared to that of some of country music's newer artists. "When we first started traveling on the road, we didn't have conveniences like hair dryers and air conditioning...I just wonder how many miles I have slept cramped in a car with my head on the neck of that bass fiddle. I sometimes wonder if some of these younger artists could do what we did. You have to have endurance to be in this business."

Owens gained fame as a pioneer of the "Bakersfield Sound" and as the co-host of the country music/comedy series "Hee Haw." Owens enjoyed success with his now-classics "Love's Gonna Live Here," "Together Again," "I've Got A Tiger By The Tail," and "Act Naturally." "I'd like to be remembered as a guy that came along and did his music, did his best and showed up on time, clean and ready to do the job, wrote a few songs, and had a hell of a time," Owens said.

The third inductee, Grand Ole Opry star Ray Price, had top 10 singles like "Don't Let The Stars Get In Your Eyes" and "Talk To Your Heart." Price hit number one with "Crazy Arms" and "For The Good Times," which also hit number one on the pop charts and garnered Price a Grammy Award. When asked about his innovative style of country/pop and the supposed limited field of country music, Price said, "I never felt I had to come in the back door." Price is also known for opening doors for other artists, including Willie Nelson and the late Roger Miller.

The announcement of the three performer's inductions into the Hall Of Fame follows a recent change in the induction process, which will allow 10 new members into the Country Music Hall Of Fame through 1998. Beginning this year, inductees will be in each of three categories: Open, Career Achieved National Prominence During the 1950s, and Career Achieved National Prominence Prior to 1950. In addition, a non-performer will be inducted in 1998.

Album Reviews By Wendy Newcomer

LEANN RIMES: Blue (MCG/Curb D2-77821)

The name on everyone's lips these days is LeAnn Rimes, the teenage darling who sounds like she's lived a couple of lifetimes already. The title cut from Blue made Rimes an instant success; her Patsy Cline treatment was a refreshing addition to radio. There's absolutely no question that the girl can sing—she's a true talent, and several of the songs will probably make it as singles. However, Rimes and her team might have wanted to use a tad more discretion in picking songs. It's more than a little disconcerting hearing an adolescent singing the lyrics "My baby gives me satisfaction/my baby is a full-time lover/my baby is a full-grown man..." (from "My Baby"). No doubt, it must be difficult to choose age-appropriate songs that don't include references to eighth grade math class. On a positive note, though, Rimes shows potential for career longevity in "One Way Ticket," "Honestly," and "The Light In Your Eyes." Rimes' vocal maturity is beautiful and remarkable. It will be interesting to see how this maturity meshes with impending adulthood.

CHRIS WARD: One Step Beyond (Giant 2-24653-A)

Contemporary country singers (males especially) of late have had to wrestle with the recognition factor when it comes to finding a distinguishing sound. One Step Beyond finds Chris Ward occasionally struggling with the identity problem, and occasionally walking away a winner. A definite winner is the first single, "Fall Reaching," a ballad that is so well-written that Ward just seems to cruise through it. Other album highlights are "Love Me To Death," "It All Started With A Lie," "Back To Earth," and "Only God Could Stop Me Lovin' You." With an army of the best songwriters in town and Ward's own strength as a singer, this former SWAT Team member's debut might have enough muscle to make it.

MICHELLE WRIGHT: For Me It's You (Arista 07822-18815-2)

Four years ago, Michelle Wright hit the radio with "Take It Like A Man," a song that showcased the grit and grace of the Canadian country superstar. In 1996, Wright fans can at long last hear new stuff. The "U.S. comeback" album features Wright produced by four different producers (uncommon for a country project). Even with all of this varied input, Wright comes out sounding like she owns the songs. "Nobody's Girl," "We've Tried Everything Else," "The Answer Is Ycs," and the Wright-penned "What Love Looks Like" are all standouts. Wright wears her femininity like a comfortable shoe; she's able to convey a confidence that is provocative without going too over the edge for country radio. Playlists should welcome this long-lost husky voice back to the airwaves.

PICK OF THE WEEK

SHAVER: Highway Of Life (Justice JR 2301-2)

Don't listen to Highway Of Life for Billy Joe Shaver's golden pipes, or the album's slick production values. You'll find neither on Shaver's latest album. The whole thing was recorded in Austin, TX, with the exception of "The First and Last Time." According to the liner notes, that song was "recorded in an empty kitchen in Nashville before Billy Joe moved back to Texas." Do, however, listen to Highway Of Life for some of the best songwriting this planet has ever experienced. Shaver's writing knows no geographical boundaries; he tackles Texas in "West Texas Waltz," and everywhere from New York to Paris in "Yesterday Tomorrow Was Today." Shaver also crosses emotional boundaries, touching on lost love ("Tomorrow's Goodbye," "The First And Last Time") and found love ("Comin' On Strong"). Billy Joe Shaver travels the highway of life with reckless abandon; yet with each song he manages to bring the deepest feelings safely home.

Asian Expo Set For Singapore In '97

CHICAGO—The 1997 Asian Amusement Expo convention will be held at the Singapore International Convention & Exhibition Centre in Singapore during the period of June 11-12, 1997. Announcement was made by the show's committee chairman Ron Carrara (Acclaim/Lazer-Tron Corp.)

A survey sent to exhibitors, visitors and IAAPA members, following the 1996 Hong Kong show, revealed a strong response in favor of holding Asian Amusement expo on a Hong Kong-Singapore rotation. "Singapore's strategic location serves as a springboard to neighboring markets that will allow us to broaden the scope of attendance at the 1997 event and build on our past success in Hong Kong," stated Carrara.

IAAPA executive director John Graff commented, "We are excited about the opportunities Singapore as a venue can offer to our members and participants. Singapore is one of the leading growth markets for amusement products in the development of the amusement industry in Southeast Asia."

Bob Fay, AAMA executive director added, "AAMA and IAAPA's sponsorship of this event gives it the edge on other events in Asia because we can grow and develop the show as a member service rather than a profit center. AAE continues to be the most cost-effective venue for manufacturers and suppliers of amusement products and services to bring their products to market in Asia, with booth costs among the lowest of any international trade show in the world."

This year, volume discounts will be offered to manufacturers and suppliers based on the number of booths for which they contract and admission to trade visitors will include access to all seminars at a no-charge for pre-registered visitors, and at a cost of $10 U.S. for on-site registration. A blockbuster educational program and a full agenda of social events are planned for 1997, which will be announced in the coming months. Exhibition hours will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on June 11 and 12.

The Asian Amusement Expo is sponsored by the American Amusement Machine Association and the International Association of Amusement Parks & Attractions and is open exclusively to the trade.

NAMA Operating Ratio Report Survey Results

CHICAGO—The vending industry showed modest increases in 1995 in both sales and profits, according to a report just released by the National Automatic Merchandising Association.

The 1996 NAMA Operating Ratio Report showed a 3.4% gain in total sales volume over last year among companies who participated in both years' surveys. These same companies delivered an average operating profit of 4.4%, up from 4.2%. In contrast, the report showed that an aggregate of all companies who answered the survey—whether or not they also participated the previous year—experienced somewhat lower results, with operating profits of 3.8%, compared to 3.9% in the prior year.

The report also highlights the ability of high-performing companies (those in the top 25% of profitability) to generate better gross margins and lower personnel costs than the industry average. This is true for the average of all participating companies, and especially for those repeat participants.

Operating profitability also improved for companies with sales of less than $1 million in 1995. The repeat participants in this category showed an increase in their gross margin percentage of about 1%. When coupled with stable operating expenses between the two years, operating profit went from a loss of 2.1% of sales for the group as a whole, to a loss of 0.9%.

The 1996 Operating Ratio Report, now available from NAMA, was compiled by Management Foresight, a unit of Arthur Andersen & Company. It is the only report of its kind in the industry, and is the 49th annual edition.

Vending service companies commonly use the report to determine in which areas their operations deviate significantly from the industry overall, and from other companies of their size.

Easy-to-read charts with detailed financial information include such comparisons as:

- Sales per vending route
- Sales per employee broken down to route, maintenance and repair, warehouse, supervisor and all others.
- Sales per machine, by product
- Gross profit by product
- Operating expenses in 14 key categories
- Payroll expenses for 6 job categories
- Return on vending assets
- Inventory Turnovers
- Equipment depreciation policies

"This report enables operators to identify specific areas of opportunity for improvement," said James Rost, president of NAMA. "It can be one of the most important tools that operators have at their disposal to improve their businesses."

The 1996 Operating Ratio Report was sent free to all survey participants. NAMA members who did not participate may order a copy for $100. The cost for non-members is $250, but $150 of that amount may be applied toward full year membership if they join NAMA within 60 days of purchase.

To order a copy, call the NAMA office in Chicago at 312-346-0370.
