Monterey Establishes New Windy City Beachhead

Ron Kaplan and Garry Buck resigned their positions at American Famous Talent October 4th and entered into a partnership with Monterey Peninsula Artists to open a new boutique agency in Chicago. The new company, Monterey International, Inc., will represent blues, jazz, American roots and world artists with an emphasis on international markets. Kaplan told POLLSTAR, "This is going to be a perfect compliment to Monterey Peninsula and Monterey Artists. It's going to create a full circle to the family. Concentrating on roots music, blues, jazz and world music, we are going to complement what they already have in the country, rock and contemporary divisions." Kaplan and Buck said they couldn't have made this deal with anyone except Fred Bohlander, Dan Weiner and Paul Goldman. Goldman is the Monterey partner who will be primary liaison with the new venture. "The Monterey family had the same vision that we had, to be able to develop this style of music with the same kind of principals and the same force that they've developed their other two offices. And it means a lot to us and I think that should mean a lot to the industry," the duo told POLLSTAR. Monterey International's roster will be announced in about a week. At AFT, Buck was responsible agent for Buddy Guy, Pato Banton and Koko Taylor among others. Kaplan's clients included Robben Ford, Johnny Winter, Ronny Jordan, Sonny Landreth, John Mayall and Ted Hawkins. AFT's owner, Ric Bracamontes, told POLLSTAR, "About 50 percent of my roster might go to the other side." Bracamontes also said AFT plans on announcing some new signings as well as some in-house promotions in the near future. He said AFT intends to compete head on with the new Monterey office. "I'm certainly going to be the underdog ... not having the backing of a major agency like that. But I'm used to that because that's how AFT grew to what it is today." Monterey International, Inc. is officially open for business as of October 10th. The address is 200 W. Superior, Suite 202, Chicago, IL 60610. Phone is (312) 640-7500; fax 640-7515.

Bobby Brown, ICM & The Old Lady From Brooklyn

A Brooklyn woman filed suit in New York Supreme Court against Bobby Brown and ICM because she forked over $30,000 for a concert that never happened. Althea Durant, who has been referred to as "the little old lady from Brooklyn," invested her life savings to bring Bobby Brown to her native island of Trinidad. Durant's lawyer, Wallace Collins, told POLLSTAR Durant met with Brown's brother and manager, Tommy Brown, and gave him a check for $30,000 made out to ICM for the deposit on the concert. ICM's Phil Casey told POLLSTAR that the agency had never heard of Durant until the lawsuit surfaced. He said negotiations for the Bobby Brown tour were between Brown's people, including ICM, and a Caribbean promoter who now seems to be nowhere to be found. Casey blames the promoter saying, "It's a typical situation where a promoter went and got somebody to invest in a tour, she couldn't pull the rest of the money together or couldn't pull the shows off and she went under." Both Casey and Collins agree, Durant was not a party to any contract. Casey used that point to strengthen the argument that Brown and ICM were not involved with Durant. Collins used that point to strengthen the argument that Durant can't be held to any 'non-refundable' stipulation. Collins said, "They don't have a deal with my client that says my client knew that this was a non-refundable retainer." He said, "The only arrangement that I have is a check that went to you (ICM) and you didn't deliver anything for it." Collins said if Brown or ICM wants to go after the promoter, that's fine, but Durant doesn't really have any connection with her because of the fact that the check was made out to ICM. Casey said, "She (Durant) got taken by a woman in the Caribbean. It's not our fault. It's not anything that we did. There certainly wasn't any misrepresentations or fraud because we never spoke to her."

The Ticket Fee Disclosure Act Of 1994

The "Ticket Fee Disclosure Act Of 1994" went before the House Transportation and Finance Subcommittee September 29th. The proposed bill would require ticket distributors, as well as resellers, to print all charges on a receipt if it's not already on the ducat being sold. Ticketmaster VP/general counsel Ned Goldstein testified that TM supports the pending legislation. He said TM currently discloses its charges and it intends to continue

BONEY JAMES

It was about seven years ago during Randy Crawford's tour of Scandinavia that her saxophone player started complaining that his "American style" per diem wasn't enough to provide him with a couple of beers after the gig. So he joked, "Oh, I just won't eat for the next couple of days." Someone replied, "We'll just have to call you 'Boney James' then." And so Boney James is the way the world would come to know this contemporary funky jazz sax man formerly known as James Oppenheim.

James, a multifaceted musician, is literate in many instruments including keyboards, flute and clarinet. Starting his career as a jack-of-all-trades touring with acts like Morris Day, Ray Parker Jr., The Isley Brothers and Tina Marie, James yearned to set aside all his other instruments and concentrate on the sax. So he decided to give up the security of being a supporting musician and dove head first into a solo career.

But James said his support role was a great learning experience. "It's great to be a sideman because you really just have to show up and play for the most part. And being the artist is a lot more work, that's for sure. But it's more fulfilling. You're playing your own music and you don't get so frustrated as you do when you're a sideman — or as [frustrated as] I did, first of all, because I couldn't play enough saxophone and, second of all, just because sometimes the music wasn't exactly what you wanted it to be."

James kicked off his solo career with a release on the now defunct Spindletop Records. With practically no advertising or retail distribution support, the 1992 record, Trust, made the top 10 on NAC and contemporary jazz charts. About a year later, after selling about 50,000 copies, the release went out of print. James said he can't account for the success of that album. "I was very surprised. I mean, I thought the record was good but I just didn't think anybody would pay any attention to it." Unfortunately, Spindletop couldn't handle orders for the record. James said, "That was a very depressing period when I'd be playing gigs and people would come up to me and say, 'I have ordered your record six times. I've been waiting for six months. It's not coming.' And they'd get pissed at me."

James' latest release, Backbone, was also recorded with Spindletop. He said when the time came to turn the album in, things looked a little scary. "They were making noises like they were going into bankruptcy. The rights for both of these records would probably have been tied up in some sort of legal proceeding for a while and so I thought, 'Oh well, there goes my career.'" Luckily, James' manager, Howard Lowell, introduced the record to some other labels and Warner Bros. came to the rescue.

Warner Bros. bought Backbone and signed James in December of '93. James said he was nervous at first to sign with such a big company not knowing if he would get any attention but the folks from the Bunny wasted no time in getting his album off the ground. He said the great thing about Warner Bros. is that they didn't already have a contemporary sax player. And that turned out to be a really good thing for James. "Right away the R&B department got really behind the record and the jazz department was already into it. They gave it a nice big push and lots of promotion and they sent me out and I traveled all around promoting." With Backbone, James is again hitting the top of those NAC and contemporary jazz charts. Warner Bros. also bought the rights for Trust and rereleased it last week.

This saxophonist has a love for his instrument and an excitement for his art that surpasses his quest for fame or fortune. He said, "I like playing gigs. I mean, that's why I became a musician. All the rest of it is just extra."

James explained his humble way of reacting to the amount of success he's gained so far — success that, he says, was unexpected. "I'm very philosophical and I expect the worst and I hope for the best all the time ... so I'll tell myself, 'Oh, no one's gonna buy it. It's gonna be a big failure.' And then I'm always surprised." James said that attitude comes from working in the music business for so long. "There are lots of frustrations and disappointments along the way so you have to develop a way to deal with it or you'll go crazy. I always assume that everything's gonna bomb. And then when it doesn't, I let myself be happy for a little while until I have to start working on the next thing."

Though James accepts the fact that his style of music isn't as widely recognized by some popular formats, he still has hopes of crossing over into the mainstream. He said, "I think that the music I make has potential to crossover into other formats just because it's got other elements in it. It's not really jazz, in a way. It's instrumental music but it's very funky and song oriented so I feel like there's hope for me to crossover. I'll just keep doing what I'm doing and hopefully people will pick up on it. But I'm certainly happy to be appreciated within the genre of music that I'm in... I play the saxophone. What are you gonna do about it? If I was a singer it would be another thing."

Boney James will zig-zag from the West Coast to the East Coast playing major cities through December. He is booked by Jim Gosnell at APA in Los Angeles and Mario Tirado at APA in NY.

the practice whether or not it is required by law. Rep. Gary Condit acknowledged during the hearing that TM had been "forthcoming" and that TM had been "helpful and supportive in this effort" to get the bill passed. A survey conducted by the U.S. Public Interest Research Group was presented at the hearing by PIRG's Bill Wood which claimed that TM's fees were much higher than had been previously stated. That survey showed that TM charged an average of $3.75 per ticket (20 percent of face value) in those markets where Wood claims TM holds a virtual monopoly. The PIRG survey was very limited, covering 80 events in 10 states, and only looked at telephone sales which are always higher because they must include credit card company fees. Goldstein later told POLLSTAR he questioned the accuracy of Wood's statistics. "We think Bill Wood is clearly related to Ed Wood and got most of his information from 'Plan 9 From Outer Space'," Goldstein said. Also during the hearing, Christian White, acting director of the Federal Trade Commission, urged lawmakers to consider taking the bill a step further by requiring that service charges appear in all print and broadcast advertisements. That suggestion would be ludicrous unless the lawmakers also mandated that concert promoters actually advertise the base cost of the ticket as well — something few do today. Meanwhile, the U.S. Justice Department is continuing its look into accusations of monopolistic business practices in the ticketing industry. It is questioning why TM was given approval for its 1991 buyout of Ticketron. Justice investigators have also conducted interviews with managers, promoters and venue operators in several states. Executives from several software and indie ticketing firms have also been visited by the Feds.

Luther In London

Luther Vandross was congratulated by Epic and Sony Music execs after his triumphant September 13th show with the London Symphony Orchestra at the Royal Albert Hall in London. The concert was filmed for Vandross' first U.S. television special which is scheduled to air in November. (L-R) Robert Bowlin of Sony Int'l, Epic's David Glew, Vandross, Sony U.K.'s Paul Burger, Sony Entertainment's Michele Anthony, and Paul Russell of Sony Europe.

Rudnick Takes On The Big Five

Rick Smith and Shep Alster of New York-based Smith/Alster & Company hired ex-federal prosecutor Marvin Rudnick to take on the five major record distributors. Smith and Alster claim Sony, EMI, BMG, PolyGram and MCA have conspired to shut their company out of the lucrative cutout market. The suit charges the majors, as well as two East Coast distributors, Surplus Records & Tapes and Countrywide Record Distributors, with antitrust violations, racketeering and defamation. The suit claims the majors granted Surplus and Countrywide secret exclusive rights to purchase cutouts regardless of competitive prices offered by Smith/Alster. Smith and Alster reportedly were told by industry executives that it would take years to work their way into a preferred position in the cutout industry. The $75 million suit was filed September 29th in Los Angeles Superior Court. Rudnick has taken on the recording industry before. In 1988 he relentlessly pursued suspected Mafia figure Sal Pisello's ties to an MCA Records cutout deal. Rudnick sent Pisello to prison for a 4-year sentence but was booted from the Reagan-run U.S. Department of Justice because of the way he handled the case.

Blakely Lands At APA

Former ICM agent Troy Blakely has found a new home at the Agency For The Performing Arts. Blakely starts October 17th at the APA office in New York City. He is bringing with him to APA longtime client Boston. The band is expected to tour during the first half of next year although Blakely said the exact time period hasn't been set. The Black Crowes, which left ICM within hours of Blakely's departure from the agency (can you say key man clause), have opted to sign with CAA.

A Blockbuster Punch Against T-Shirt Counterfeiter

Julian Traczyk, a British citizen residing in Long Beach, Calif., was arrested September 29th for sales and distribution of counterfeit concert t-shirts. After a four month investigation based at the Glen Helen Blockbuster Pavilion, the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department served a search warrant on Traczyk and seized 5,760 t-shirts bearing service marks from various artists and concerts including Lollapalooza, Jimmy Buffett, Aerosmith and Nirvana. The investigation also turned up bills of lading that indicate Traczyk was doing business in other states. Captain Tom Denham told POLLSTAR, "We are working with the FBI right now because of interstate [operations]." Traczyk was charged with felony manufacture or sale of a counterfeit trademark. He posted $15,000 bail and is free pending arraignment. No other arrests have been made but Denham said the investigation is continuing and additional arrests and seizures may be forthcoming. The efforts of the Sheriff's department has eliminated some of the bootleg t-shirt problem at Glen Helen

1994 Country Music Association Awards

Vince Gill was the big winner at the 28th annual Country Music Association awards — again. Gill made history when he became the first person to win top male vocalist four years in a row. He was also voted entertainer of the year at the October 5th awards ceremonies which were broadcast from the Grand Ole Opry House in Nashville. Brooks & Dunn took home the vocal duo award for a third straight year and Diamond Rio was also honored for three years in a row as top vocal group. John Michael Montgomery was a big winner taking home the Horizon Award for most promising newcomer as well as the single of the year award. And Merle Haggard was formally inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame.

A Tale Of Two Jeffs

Rap singer Jeffrey Miree, who claims his stage name "Jazzy Jeff" was misappropriated, filed a $30 million lawsuit against Zomba Recording Corp. and Jeffrey Townes (aka DJ Jazzy Jeff) in Manhattan's federal court. The suit states Miree was signed to Zomba in 1985 and released an album which yielded a moderately successful single, "King Heroin." The suit claims Zomba later signed Jeffrey Townes, now known as DJ Jazzy Jeff, in 1987 and wrongly allowed him to use the "valuable and distinctive stage name." Miree said his second Zomba album was completed in '87 but never released. In 1988, Zomba released the first DJ Jazzy Jeff and the Fresh Prince album, I'm The DJ, He's the Rapper. Miree said he decided to file suit after two different New York newspaper articles confused the two artists. Zomba VP of business affairs Dan Zucker said, "We have not reviewed the complaint and have no comment."

Mellencamp's Ashtrays Aren't As Full

John Mellencamp is facing the demon and working to keep his 80-cigarette-a-day habit under control. Following his mild heart attack in August, the rocker says he has cut down to four or five smokes a day. And contrary to speculation, Mellencamp says his heart problem was not caused by cocaine abuse. "Anybody who knows me, knows that I haven't drank or taken drugs since the early '70s," Mellencamp told the Herald-Times of Bloomington, Ind. "Do people really think you can live that stereotypical drugged-up lifestyle and still make records for 20 years?" he asked. Mellencamp, who canceled the remainder of his tour when his heart problem was diagnosed, is working at getting his 300-count cholesterol level under control with medication, diet and exercise. His doctors told him he could finish his tour but Mellencamp said he was in "no mood." Mellencamp decided to take some time off to spend with his wife, Elaine Irwin, who is pregnant with the couple's second child. "I'm even beginning to think this heart attack was a good thing in some ways," Mellencamp said. "This cycle of make a record, tour, make a record, tour, has been going on for 20 years now. I don't even know why I do it sometimes." Plans for an "early greatest hits" package and an acoustic record are in the works.

New Kiel Center Arena Opens In St. Louis

The Kiel Center in St. Louis opened two months ahead of schedule October 8th with a dedication and open house. The new 21,000-seat, $135 million arena has a big grand opening week planned with an NBA exhibition game between the Chicago Bulls and Washington Bullets October 14th and a Billy Joel concert October 15th. Clapton are also scheduled to stop at the new arena during its opening month. Kiel Center's president Jud Perkins, who had a hand in developing the Epcot Center in Florida and also worked at Madison Square Garden before heading up the Kiel project, said he hopes to emulate Disney's success as far as maintaining a high standard of service. The facility features luxury boxes costing $37,500 to $120,000 a season, 20-foot-wide concourses, and seats that have three more inches of leg room and two more inches of padding than those at the old St. Louis Arena. The building also has twice as many women's restrooms as the old building, which has been closed down while local officials decide what to do with it.

A Rose Grows In Portland

Construction on the Rose Quarter project (formally known as the Oregon Arena Project) in Portland is right on schedule. The $262 million, 20,340-seat Rose Garden Arena and related complex is scheduled to open in October '95.

Conflict Resolution

Vince Neil says he was punched in the face October 1st by a West Hollywood nightclub manager who refused to serve alcohol to his date. Neil told sheriff's deputies that he and Michael Najjar, manager of Bar One nightclub on Sunset Blvd., were arguing because Najjar refused to serve the girl, saying she appeared to be underage. In the midst of the argument, the club manager suddenly hit the rocker in the face and then fled, Neil said. The L.A. County District Attorney's Office is reviewing the case to determine if any charges should be filed.... Doug Thaler announced the amicable end of his 12-year management association with Motley Crue. "While the personal friendships amongst us all have remained strong, the artist-manager relationship had grown stale and non-gratifying for both sides these past couple of years," Thaler said. "Upon completing their present Japanese tour, I expect the band will be making decisions about their future direction for which they will have most sincere wishes.".... Slaughter announced it was ending its five-year relationship with Chrysalis/EMI because of "persistent internal restructuring" and "corporate instability the label has experienced over the past couple of years." In a statement, the band said, "Slaughter and managers Budd Carr and Will Sharpe have deemed the current Chrysalis environment to be non-conducive to the group's continued and future success. Moreover, with the recent appointment of Davitt Sigerson as President and CEO of the EMI Records Group, Slaughter's fate was clearly lying in the hands of an executive whose proven creative vision is contrary to the rock 'n' roll orientation of the original Chrysalis Records to which the band first signed." Calls to Chrysalis/EMI were not returned.... The Modesto, Calif., woman who has brought a paternity suit against Michael Jackson was on the losing end of initial DNA tests which showed a better than 99 percent probability that the woman's ex-husband was the father. Michelle Flowers claims that MJ raped her at a New Year's Eve party in 1982 resulting in the conception of her 10-year-old son.

Wouldn't It Be Nice

The Beach Boy vs. Beach Boy suit got underway October 4th in Los Angeles. Mike Love is suing his cousin Brian Wilson for royalties and writing credits he says are owed to him. Love claims he wrote 79 songs with Wilson but only received credit on 31. He now wants a piece of a $10 million settlement Wilson received in 1992 after suing over the way his father had signed away rights to the songs. Wilson's lawyers reportedly said that Love is 25 to 30 years too late in bringing the claim for credit to songs he either didn't write or barely contributed to.

Short Items Of Note

Karen Carpenter came alive on film and sang before a full house gathered for the premiere celebration of the Richard and Karen Carpenter Performing Arts Center at Calif. State Univ. Long Beach. The October 1st event, "A Song for You," included performances by Richard Carpenter, Herb Alpert, Rita Coolidge, Redd Kross, John Byner, and Marilyn McCoo. Proceeds from the gala benefitted the new 1,162 theatre.... UB40 drew 32,000 people to Green Point stadium in Cape Town September 30th, the largest audience convened for an international artist in South Africa since a cultural boycott of the apartheid system ended two years ago. UB40 broke the 23,000-attendance record Bryan Adams set earlier this year..... Sandy Couch has been hired to serve as Ogden Entertainment Service's national director of sponsorships. Couch, who joins Ogden's Rosemont office, will focus on national event and tour sponsorship deals, naming rights, and will assist buildings with signage sales..... Andrew Allen has been named prexy of Alternative Distribution Alliance, the WEA backed indie pipeline. Allen has previously held executive slots at RCA and Island..... NFL commissioner Paul Tagliabue said the NFL is considering building a stadium in Los Angeles in which it would hold the Super Bowl on a rotating basis. During an interview on the Fox Network's halftime show October 2nd, Tagliabue said the NFL floated the idea of a partnership with the city of L.A. and the state of California during recent team meetings. The idea got an icy reception from Southland politicians who aren't anxious to build another venue when they just spent $60 million to repair the quake damaged Memorial Coliseum..... The merger between Viacom and Blockbuster was approved September 29th by stockholders of both companies. Blockbuster chairman Wayne Huizenga will briefly serve as Viacom vice-chairman before departing with stock worth about $400 million. Regarding his decision to walk away from Blockbuster, Huizenga told the Wall Street Journal, "I'm either going to be the lead guy, or I'm not going to stay around."

Riverport Stamps AIDS Awareness On Show

The St. Louis Post Office honors the AIDS Foundation of St. Louis with the "AIDS Awareness Stamp." The "Spread The Truth—Not The Virus Campaign" received a special edition of the stamp prior to the August 27th Chicago concert at Riverport Amphitheatre. Foundation reps provided fans with AIDS info. Bruce Allen Cites Chart Reality Check

Vancouver-based artist manager Bruce Allen, who now handles Martina McBride, remembers exactly when his call to country music came — May 25, 1991. "I was sitting in producer Mutt Lange's recording studio in England reading Billboard magazine. That was the day of the change-over from the charts you could bribe your way up, to the present SoundScan chart," Allen said during his keynote address to open Country Music Week proceedings in Canada, according to The Record. "That day the top 200 album chart went from having six country acts on it to having 31. And who the hell was this Garth Brooks cat? I make no bones about it. If there had been 31 jazz albums in the chart and Rhasan Roland Kirk was number three, I'd be in the jazz business today."

Patti's Place

Patti LaBelle opened her new nightclub, Chez LaBelle, October 5th in Philadelphia's NewMarket waterfront development area. The 300-seat cabaret was designed to give fledgling performers a new place to work. "This is a way for me to open doors for some of the undiscovered talent in Philadelphia," LaBelle said. The club opened with an original play-musical revue, "Chance's Champion," which will run until the end of the year. Chez LaBelle is a joint venture between LaBelle, her husband/manager Armstead Edwards, and Music Fair Group prexy Rick Gross.

Obituaries

After a two-year battle with cancer, Dennis Wolfberg, 48, died October 3rd at his home in Culver City, Calif. Wolfberg, whose stand-up career had moved from comedy clubs to theatres, was also well known for his role as an eccentric scientist on the TV series "Quantum Leap." He had continued performing up until a few weeks ago. The comedian with the outlandish facial expressions had been an elementary school teacher in the South Bronx for 12 years prior to launching his stand-up career in 1979..... Jazz critic, composer, musician, and author Leonard Feather, 80, died September 22nd in Encino, Calif. He had been undergoing treatment for pneumonia for six weeks prior to his death. Feather had spent the past few months of his life completing a revision of his acclaimed book, "Encyclopedia of Jazz."..... Julie Styne, 88, died September 20th at Mount Sinai Hospital in New York. Styne, who had undergone open heart surgery six weeks before his death, penned scores for numerous Broadway shows including "Funny Girl" and "Gypsy." He was also credited with discovering Barbra Streisand and convincing producers of "Funny Girl" to cast her in the lead. Styne wrote more than 1,500 songs including "Diamonds Are a Girl's Best Friend" for Marilyn Monroe, "People" for Streisand, and "Everything's Coming Up Roses" for Ethel Merman..... Daniel Gatton Jr., 49, was found dead October 4th in Newburg, Md., of an apparent suicide. Police said they found a weapon nearby. Gatton's agent, Patrick Day, described the guitarist as a "master of all genres" and a draw in the mid-Atlantic area. Gatton did two records for Elektra but his latest product was on Big Mo.

This includes material written to be performed on tour with Jon and a 40-piece dance troupe from central China. U.S. dates will come next summer. /// Also signed, Island/Mango recording artist Baaba Maal who will do a North American tour during February-March. Baaba has just released his third major release on Mango Records, Firin' in Fouta, mixed at Peter Gabriel's Real World Studios. His melancholy tone, everlasting melodies and remarkable rhythms are only complemented by his extraordinary stage performances. Major markets now being routed with an all-star 13 piece group. Don't miss out on this Senegalese tradition.

ROSEBUD AGENCY: Mike Kappus

Duke Robillard received a great response on his Paris date with John Hammond and J.J. Cale, as well as his own U.K. headlining dates. His Temptation CD continues to pick up radio play and we are open to package and support options in the U.S. throughout the year and early '95. /// BeauSoleil featuring Michael Doucet has a few dates available in the South in December as well as California dates around New Year's. January and February dates are available in the Midwest and Northeast and we are already holding dates into next summer for the group. Their new CD, L'Echo, has just been released on Rhino Records. /// The Dirty Dozen Brass Band still has some availabilities in November and December and we are open to package ideas. /// Charlie Musselwhite joined Bonnie Raitt for a song at her Shoreline Amphitheatre date. (They dueted on her current album.) We are now setting plans for extensive worldwide touring for Charlie throughout 1995. /// The Blind Boys of Alabama featuring Clarence Fountain have West Coast, Midwest and East Coast availabilities in January, February and March respectively. They just received the NEA's lifetime achievement award which was presented to them by Hillary Clinton.

Between The Dates

The "Hell Freezes Over" tour melted down last week, as organizers announced the postponement of all remaining 1994 dates for the EAGLES. Glenn Frey's chronic gastro-intestinal problems had been forcing the band to postpone all dates since the second Philadelphia show on September 17th. Hoping that Frey's condition would improve, the band made decisions on a day-by-day basis, cancelling some dates only 24 to 48 hours before showtime. Finally, Frey's doctor recommended immediate surgery, effectively cutting short one of the largest tours of the year. Plans call for rescheduling the remainder of the tour for early 1995. Refunds are being offered although fans are being encouraged to hang onto their tickets. One date has already been rescheduled. The Rose Bowl, originally scheduled for October 8th, has been rescheduled for January 21st. Frey was set to go under the knife October 6th.... CROSBY, STILLS & NASH have cancelled their October string of dates. David Crosby is apparently facing a seriously health problem and is currently being evaluated for a treatment regimen which might include liver transplant surgery. Stephen Stills said Crosby is "an old warrior," and Graham Nash said he expects Crosby to fully recover and the trio to be back on the road next summer.... Singin' With The Big Bands is the title of the latest album by BARRY MANILOW. Produced by Phil Ramone and Maniow, the album features Maniow singing the hits from the Big Band Era with the bands that made them famous, including the Glenn Miller Orchestra, Tommy Dorsey Orchestra, and the Duke Ellington Orchestra. No word yet on whether he will take the show on the road.... If you are flying in to attend the ROCK THE ROCKIES concert next Memorial Day Weekend in Denver, we suggest you don't check any bags at the airport. The concert is scheduled for STAPLETON AIRPORT and is obviously based on the assumption that Denver's new airport and its legendary automated baggage system will somehow be operational by then and Stapleton will have been shut down — that or concert fans will be dodging 747's on the runways. Lynyrd Skynyrd, Foreigner, Bad Company, Charlie Daniels, Tanya Tucker, John Berry, The Smithereens, Jeff Foxworthy, and the Freddy Jones Band are on the bill which is being sponsored by Skoal chewing tobacco. That company is offering a free ticket to the show as part of an offer that also includes free samples of its product, which the ad reminds everyone is something which may cause mouth cancer.... It's been a big year for interactive CD-ROMs. Todd Rundgren, Peter Gabriel, and TAFKAP (The Artist Formerly Known As Prince) all have CDs on the market for use in personal computers. Now Geffen Records and Jasmine Multimedia Publishing have introduced VID GRID. The interactive Windows CD-ROM game features several full-length videos by artists such as Guns N' Roses, Metallica, Van Halen, and Jimi Hendrix. However, the screen is broken down into segments, and the individual segments are then scrambled. The object is, by dragging and clicking with the mouse, to put the squares in proper order. Kind of like an electronic jigsaw puzzle. Now this may sound easy, but music videos usually consist of short, abrupt edits with the overall picture changing every few seconds. Peter Gabriel's "Sledgehammer" was a breeze, but we've been working on Metallica's "Enter Sandman" for the last two days.

U.K. News Report

(London) STING's former accountant KEITH MOORE, was up before a London magistrate this week charged with stealing £3.3 million from the artist. Sting called in Scotland Yard's fraud investigation squad two years ago when it was suspected that the accountancy practice of Moore Sloane (not connected with entertainment accountants Sloane & Co.) owed him a substantial sum of money. Moore's company was subsequently declared bankrupt while the police continued their investigations. There was no comment on the matter from Sting's manager, MILES COPELAND. The artist himself is currently touring South Africa..... The PERFORMING RIGHT SOCIETY (PRS, the British royalty collection agency) has started legal proceedings against GLASTONBURY FESTIVAL organiser, Michael Eavis. Eavis has only paid £41,600 of the £72,000 fee charged by PRS for live performance royalties at the 1993 festival. He has also paid only £43,000 of the 1994 fee of £110,000. For such large music events, PRS bases its rate for live performance royalties on 3 percent of net ticket sales. Eavis maintains that the ticket price for the festival includes much more than just live music and that Glastonbury's PRS fee should be calculated accordingly. Although negotiations between the two parties are scheduled for next month, PRS has warned that it may seek to take out an injunction to prevent next year's 25th anniversary event from taking place if the outstanding amounts are not paid in full. PRS is still negotiating with U2 and various publishers, who earlier this year, started a legal battle to overturn certain rulings governing membership of the society..... NEIL O'BRIEN has left the MEAN FIDDLER ORGANISATION and has not yet announced his future plans. He had been with the company for six years and was the principal booker for THE FORUM in North London. Before his departure, he was due to take over the running of THE GRAND in South London. O'Brien is replaced at The Forum by BRYN ORMROD, whom he had been working with for six months. although no statement has been issued from either party, the split was reportedly amicable. However, O'Brien is the second key booker within the MFO to leave the company this year. DAVE PHILLIPS departed in January and is now concentrating on promoting dance acts..... Some promoters are complaining that as the busy autumn season kicks in, the market remains generally depressed with too many tours chasing the same audiences. Recent disappointments were ARRESTED DEVELOPMENT who had to cancel several shows on their tour. The band's last tour was a complete sell-out. Likewise, SUGAR has not done the level of business expected on its tour which ends October 6. Sales for STILTSKIN's first UK tour are also well below expectations. However, the other side of the coin reveals that certain acts are doing good business. JJ CALE returns to the UK for the first time in 17 years to perform a three sell-out shows at the Labatts Hammersmith Apollo. Among the other acts about to tour here, the hot tickets belong to Suede, Counting Crows, Green Day and Spin Doctors..... One of London's most popular venues at the moment seems to be The SHEPHERDS BUSH EMPIRE. The seven-month old concert hall is averaging about three or four shows per week, with attendance figures around 80 percent and rising. The management is awaiting confirmation of a late licence which would permit club nights, which are a major contribution to the profitability of most venues. The busy schedule should be enough to deflect popular gossip that the venue is up for sale. There has been speculation since the venue opened in March that the developers had over-invested in refurbishing the theatre. A spokesperson for the Empire said: "There is no way Andrew Marier is interested in selling the venue - if anything it will be a flagship for other venues." Whether the market can support any more venues is doubtful in its current state. Venues like the well-established, 4,272 capacity BRIXTON ACADEMY have suffered from lower attendance figures this season. Yet this is not deterring the management team, led by Simon Parkes, from considering running another London venue on behalf of the local council..... London's favourite venue rumour, is that the legendary RAINBOW (which is an architectural twin of the Brixton Academy) will reopen. The venue hosted most major rock acts through the seventies and holds nostalgic memories for many in the business. The latest bout of speculation has been fueled by news that its owners (an evangelical group, which had used the former rock venue as a meeting place) have sold it to a private company. Whether the new owners, Lawrence, Korshaw and Prior will take an outstanding planning application for the building a stage further, remains to be seen. The odds on The Rainbow ever reopening are not high, as it would require massive investment to restore it to any sort of functional state.

Tickets go on sale next week at A$63.90 in Sydney..... Latest big name added to the end of year concert run is that person who may or may not currently be calling himself PRINCE. Paul Dainty was the promoter for Prince's last tour but this one has gone to the FRONTIER TOURING COMPANY after what I understand was some pretty ferocious bidding..... DUET PRODUCTIONS have announced a BOYZ II MEN tour during November and December. No detailed dates were available at press time - but the the November 27th show is at the Sydney Entertainment Centre. The foursomes debut album, Cooleyhighharmony , went double platinum in Australia with 140,000 sales in 1991 and their new album was released last week..... MICHAEL COPPEL has announced a second ("and definitely final") Sydney concert from the PET SHOP BOYS. The new show is at the Sydney Entertainment Centre on November 5th..... The Frontier Touring Company have added a fifth Sydney concert for BILLY JOEL at the 12,000 seat Entertainment Centre on December 5th..... According to BMG, March and April has been put aside for a TAKE THAT concert tour..... There's rumours doing the rounds that Rich and Chris from the BLACK CROWES will be in Australia for a quick promo visit in November to promote their album America . Also rumoured is that the band may kick off their world tour in Australia in December..... Sony Music Australia have announced that HARRY CONNICK, JR. will arrive here on October 10th for a six day promotional tour. Connick will visit Sydney and Melbourne with the tour finishing in Perth with a performance at a telethon in that city. Connick will also be doing a one-off performance at The Basement (capacity 500) in Sydney on October 12th. A full scale tour is being talked about for sometime in '95..... Former Australian business man CHRISTOPHER SKASE (who has spent the last few years hiding out in Spain and trying to avoid being returned home to face trial) has claimed his first music industry victim. At the 11th hour a satirical single titled "Skase Chase," due for release on the Fable label, was withdrawn on the advice of EMI's lawyers (which distribute Fable) who suggested there could be quite serious legal ramifications regarding the forthcoming case against Skase..... There's some talk around the traps that promoter KEVIN JACOBSEN has gained the rights to the $10 million production of the musical, "BEAUTY AND THE BEAST." Jacobsen isn't saying anything about the production in Australia but sources expect it to run for a 12 month period in each capital city..... Michael Gudinski's MUSHROOM RECORDS has established a new development label called BARK which will be handled by Jo Corbett in Sydney and Bill Page in Melbourne. The first release on Bark is from Sydney band Pollyanna..... Last week DIG (Directions In Groove) had their album Deeper released in Japan. The release is on the Quattro Records label who will be touring DIG to promote the album in the near future via their string of venues. Deeper is now released throughout Europe, USA, Canada, Hong Kong, and South America..... ELTON JOHN's song from The Lion King , "Can You Feel The Love Tonight," has gone Platinum in this country and becomes Elt's biggest single in Australia in a decade - which is good news for the folks at PolyGram. Meanwhile The Lion King album (thru Sony) has also gone Platinum.
