It's A Trip For ICM

Trip Brown resigned from the William Morris Agency January 3rd and is making the short drive down Wilshire Blvd. to the ICM office where he becomes a vice-president. He is bringing with him several acts including Candlebox and longtime clients the Red Hot Chili Peppers. The addition of Brown to the Beverly Hills office is a significant step towards Bill Elson's goal of bolstering ICM's presence on the West Coast. "We're excited to have Trip join us and feel that he will be a really good fit with Andy Somers and the other agents in our office," said Elson. Brown was one of the Triad agents which merged into William Morris in late '92. Prior to that, he worked at ITG but he initially established himself in the agency business with the now defunct DMA in his hometown of Detroit. In fact, the day he resigned from William Morris, Brown later went to The Forum to watch the Lakers play the Pistons. Although he cheered for his Motor City home boys, he said he wasn't about to wear his Pistons shirt into Inglewood. Now that's a street smart agent.

The Woodstock Ticket Count

Woodstock Ventures and PolyGram Diversified Entertainment say 164,006 tickets were sold to Woodstock '94. The promoters gave the final ticket accounting to Ulster County officials last week and also paid the county $19,608, which was part of the original agreement. However, county Treasurer Lewis Krischner said the county is not happy with the less than $250,000 it received for allowing the concert to be held in Saugerties. The Town of Saugerties has sued the promoters claiming the breakdown in security prevented the sale of additional tickets to the festival. The town wants a state court to order the promoters to pay $1.26 million, which is what Saugerties would have received if the concert had sold out at its 250,000 capacity.

Denver Airport Delays Ground Concert Plans

A group of businessmen filed suit against the city of Denver because a concert site, two hangars at Stapleton International Airport, was not available for the group's "Rocky Mountain Music Festival." Stapleton was expected to cease operations last March when the new Denver International Airport opened but DIA's opening has been delayed several times and still has no firm date. The group, going by the name The Boyz Events Group Inc., filed the $350,000 breach of contract suit December 27th in Denver District Court claiming the head of the Stapleton 2000 redevelopment office, Errol Stevens, committed the city to provide the site and "to act as a major sponsor" for a three-day

OASIS

Oasis, the modern English press darling, recently crossed the pond bringing its massive media hype and chart topping pop music to America. This Manchester quintet is praised as the second coming of the Beatles yet it's natural for an air of skepticism to surround any band pegged as the next big thing. But for brothers Noel and Liam Gallagher and mates Paul Arthurs (aka Bonehead), Tony McCarroll and Paul McGuigan, Oasis is more than just hype.

The band's work philosophy coupled with its catchy, psychedelic flavored songs puts it in the front line of the 90s British Invasion. However, numerous English bands have retreated in the face of a similar challenge. Oasis runs the risk of the same fateful fortune but guitarist/songwriter Noel Gallagher believes the band's good songs and a willingness to work outside of its home turf gives it the cannons needed to be victorious in the States.

Gallagher told POLLSTAR that many popular British bands don't successfully crossover to North America because they are not determined to work at it. "The thing a lot of bands do when they get out there is they sort of play one show in Canada, and then they'll play the main ones down the East Coast and the main ones down the West Coast and they'll miss the rest of it because its not deemed important enough." Gallagher said he thinks a lot of English bands come to the States and do about ten gigs expecting to impact the country. "It's not going to happen, really."

Gallagher said the attitude of many bands alienates the audience. "English bands always end up slaggin' America. If they don't like it so much, 'Why don't you piss it off?' Which is generally what they do. It's like Blur and Suede and Manic Street Preachers. All these bands are quite successful in England but they get pissed off with the culture of America and they go around saying how much they hate the place and how they're so far away from home and their mothers. Most people don't want to hear all that." Gallagher said an audience just wants to know if its a good or bad band and how far they have to travel to see it. "Oasis is a good band and [fans] can come see us in their home town without traveling to a different state." Because of that, he thinks the band will have a certain level of success.

Oasis made its first jaunt to America last summer and is now embarking on its second U.S. tour. The band is headlining clubs and, as with its last tour, deliberately staying away from support and festival slots. "We just went on our own and took in local support bands and all the gigs were sold out, virtually. I think you should do it yourself and have people come see your gigs because they want to come to your gigs. I don't see the point of playing in a half-full stadium to all the people eating hamburgers. I'd rather play at 50 people in a club."

Nevertheless, the band-mates make no bones about wanting to be extremely successful. "You've got to have ambition — you've got to want to be the biggest band on the planet. And you've got to be ready to do the work. It would be worse if you sat around and said 'we'd like to be the biggest band since the Beatles' and then turned every fucking piece of work down that comes your way because you couldn't be bothered with doing it. I think you've got to have goals and you might as well have the biggest ones." Gallagher pointed out that there is another benefit in saying you're going to be a superstar band — the psychology of brainwashing.

"If you go around telling everybody that you're going to be the biggest band in the world, then you will convince half the people half the time anyway."

Though the band members believe in themselves, they are not ego-driven. As a matter of fact, Gallagher finds some band analogies embarrassing, especially the "B" one. "I've only done one album. I won't have anyone comparing us to the Beatles. We don't really believe we're better than the Beatles — not yet. If we can put out as many records as they did, then... but I don't think Definitely Maybe (Oasis' debut Epic/Creation release) is as good as Revolver. But we could definitely write Revolver or the White Album." He said the band-mates don't take themselves too seriously but they take the music "very, very, very" seriously. "You definitely meet pop stars who think they are the resurrection. We've got big musical egos — we do say we write the best songs — but as human beings, we're quite down to earth really."

Oasis signed to Creation when Alan McGee caught their first gig, which was in Glasgow. The band had "gently persuaded" the promoter to put them on stage and after seeing four songs, McGee signed them on the spot. Oasis didn't know McGee was in the audience and Gallagher said the band was "staggered" that it happened so easily. "We knew they were good songs but we thought we'd have to send lots of demos out and play the game a bit."

The band met its manager, Marcus Russell of Ignition Management, through Gallagher's friendship with ex-Smith guitarist Johnny Marr. "When we started the band, [Marr] phoned up his manager and says, 'I've seen the future' or something like that. Then I took the advice of me mate and I thought, 'Well if he's good enough for one of the Smiths, then he's fucking good enough for me'."

So, does Oasis believe it will be the huge sensation that the press is making it out to be? In one word, Gallagher would say "probably." He said, "All we have to do is go in and record the best songs that we can and the people will decide whether we become the biggest band in the world. It's all up to the kids at the end of the day. All we want to do is go there (America) and play gigs and sell records to people who want to listen. I think there always has been, and always will be, something magical about five geezers on a stage with fucking no effects pedals and just guitars. That's the spirit of rock'n'roll, is it not?"

Aerosmith Finds Liberty In Philadelphia

Short Items Of Note

Restless Heart, which recently parted ways with RCA/Nashville, is taking a year long hiatus. A management spokesperson said some members of the band are working on their own writing projects.... BNA Entertainment recently changed its name to BNA Records. In addition, Kenny Chesney, who had been on Capricorn, has been added to the label's roster.... BMG, EMI Music, Sony Pictures Entertainment and Warner Music Group have entered into a joint venture with Rupert Murdoch for the expansion of STAR TV's pan-Asian music channel, Channel V. The deal will provide China, India and markets across the region access to international and locally-produced music videos. Despite the equity deal, STAR TV does not get exclusive access to the four music companies' videos and will still face competition from its former partner, MTV Asia.

Looking For A Private Garden?

The New Jersey Highway Authority is exploring the financial benefits of privatizing the Garden State Arts Center, it was announced January 5th. The NJ Highway Authority issued a Request for Proposal to the entertainment industry at large and scheduled a mandatory proposal conference for January 23rd. The Authority has operated the 10,802-capacity shed since 1968. According to the NJHA, the venue had a record breaking year in '94, however, they are looking at privatization as a way to overcome the increasing difficulty of booking acts into such a relatively small facility. The NJHA will be open to all types of proposals, ranging from alternative modes of management and operation to altering the existing physical structure to the actual construction of a new, larger facility.

A Rocky Mountain Legal High

John Denver's drunk driving trial was put on hold December 22nd after defense lawyer Walter Gerash blamed the prosecutor for leaking results of the singer's incriminating blood alcohol test to the press. Though Pitkin County Court Judge Tam Scott had previously issued a gag order to prevent publication of the test results, a county court clerk testified that Scott and prosecutor Lawson Wills authorized the release of the court file containing the blood test. According to the clerk, the prosecutor had indicated that the results had been taken out of the file. Judge Scott suspended proceedings pending a ruling on an order to appoint a special prosecutor. He also said it must be determined whether he could continue as judge. And at a pretrial motions hearing December 27th, Gerash argued that a hearing to restore Denver's suspended drivers license coupled with his criminal trial has put the singer in double jeopardy. After Denver crashed his Porsche into a tree last August, his license was restored because his blood-alcohol test was administered 2 hours, 10 minutes after the crash. Colorado state law requires the test to be given within 2 hours of an automobile accident. If Denver is convicted, it would be his second DUI in two years and he would face a minimum of 7 days in jail.

Rancid Keeps Indie Religion & Writes Own Epitaph

After what appeared to be a signed, sealed and delivered agreement, Rancid announced they are remaining on Epitaph Records and not signing to Epic as widely reported. The band said staying with Epitaph was a decision motivated from the heart not the pocketbook. Rancid is scheduled to go into the studio shortly to record their third album for the indie label which is also home to The Offspring. Rancid's current release, Let's Go, as well as its self-titled debut were produced by Epitaph prexy and former Bad Religion guitarist/songwriter Brett Gurewitz.

Left Eye And The Falcon

Lisa "Left Eye" Lopes of TLC and Atlanta Falcon Andre Rison appeared in court together December 29th where Lopes pled guilty to torching Rison's Atlanta mansion. During the hearing, Rison admitted to hitting Lopes but later said his admission was just done to put the case behind him. Superior Court Judge Alice Bonner had asked Rison why he was violent with Lopes. The wide receiver said he doesn't "come home and hit on her," but the judge told him he was in denial. She said they couldn't go on with the proceeding unless he admitted he beat Lopes, which he finally did. Later, Rison told reporters, "Sometimes you just have to say some things to get to the point where you can move on with your life. The people who know me best know the truth and everything will come out some day. But I'm not someone who abuses people." Lopes was sentenced to a halfway house and five years probation plus a $10,000 fine. Lopes could have been sentenced to 20 years in prison for the arson charge but prosecutors agreed to the lighter sentence. Lopes must stay at the halfway house for approximately four months and Judge Bonner ruled that $1,545 of the fine should go to the county to pay for the medical expenses of two fire-fighters who were injured while battling the blaze. Lopes was also ordered to undergo treatment for alcohol abuse and counseling for battered women. Rison was not charged with beating Lopes. Rison said he forgives Lopes for the fire and still plans to marry her.

Could Be An Annual Honor

SMG has promoted Lance Elder to GM of the Nassau Veterans Memorial Coliseum on Long Island. He was formerly assistant GM of the venue. Elder succeeds Neil Sulkes who has been transferred to SMG's corporate headquarters in Philadelphia where he will concentrate on his duties as senior VP of bookings and event development..... Lou Viola, who left APA several months ago, has joined US Concepts in New York as VP of Entertainment..... Trish Heimers resigned from BMG December 29th where she was VP/corporate communications. She will stay on at the company long enough to direct its Grammy activities. Prior to joining BMG in 1991, Heimers was public relations veep for the RIAA. Heimers plans to pursue entrepreneurial ventures in documentary film production..... Elizabeth Bradley has been appointed general manager of the O'Keefe Centre in Toronto. Bradley is the first woman to head the civic-owned theatre and will also oversee a planned renovation of the facility.

Miscellaneous Family Values

Steven Tyler's 16-year-old daughter told "A Current Affair" that she does not think her 46-year-old father should be groping himself during his performances. Mia Tyler said she wishes her dad would act his age in public. She said her pop's stage behavior is disgusting and after a recent concert at the Meadowlands in New Jersey, she told him to knock it off. Mia said her dad told her that Aerosmith's young fans like his stage antics..... Wynonna and Arch B. Kelley III became new parents December 23th when their boy, Elijah Judd Kelley, was born at a Nashville hospital. The baby's father and members of Wynonna's family, including her mother and sister, were in the delivery room at the time of Elijah's birth..... A man who was found trespassing at Madonna's Hollywood Hills home pleaded no contest to the charge December 29th and was sentenced to six months in jail. Robert J. Wasserburger had previously been sentenced to 30 days in jail for trespassing at Maddie's house last October and was ordered to stay away from her. But on December 12th, he showed up at the front gate and rang the bell 30 times claiming he was Madonna's brother and also claiming to be a police officer..... The week's prior to Kurt Cobain's death were filled with intense turmoil according to recent interviews with his widow, Courtney Love. Love recently told Spin magazine that she threatened to kill herself in front of Cobain several weeks before his suicide. Love says she was despondent over Cobain's drug problems and constant threats of suicide. Love told Spin that she grabbed a revolver, put it to her head and said, "I'm going to pull this right now. I cannot see you die." Love said Cobain was screaming, "There's no safety. You don't understand ... it's going to go off." Love said her husband got the gun away from her and she said if he hadn't, she was seriously going to "blow my head off, right in front of him." Love said Cobain's ashes have been scattered under a weeping willow tree outside her home, in a living room altar, beneath a Buddha in her bedroom and in India. She also said Cobain might still be alive had she maintained her practice of Tibetan Buddhism, though what she meant by that isn't exactly clear. Love earlier told Rolling Stone that some of her actions drove her troubled husband to suicide.

broadcast license to Canada's New Country Network. NCN was scheduled to be available as of January 1st, at which time CMT would have to stop all broadcasts. Nashville-based CMT said December 22nd it plans to file a petition with the U.S. claiming the decision to banish the broadcast violates the North American Free Trade Agreement. CMT, which is owned by Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. and Gaylord Entertainment, enlisted the aid of U.S. trade representative Mickey Kantor who warned Canada's trade minister of the possibility of retaliation. A spokesperson for Canada's External Affairs Department said the United States has no grounds for retaliation under NAFTA's investment provisions. CMT technically has no investment in Canada because it simply beams a signal into the country, the spokesperson said.

Carlene Carter Warms Hearts In Icy Edmonton

Legal Grievs

Tupac Shakur spent the holidays at a hospital's prison wing because he wasn't able to post the $3 million bail that was required to keep him free until he is sentenced on a sex-abuse conviction. Shakur, who is still under medical treatment for gunshot injuries, surrendered at Bellevue Hospital in New York December 23rd. Unless he raises funds for his bail, it is likely he will remain in custody at the hospital's prison ward until his January 17th sentencing, according to a spokesperson from the Corrections Department. Shakur also is scheduled to appear in court in Los Angeles on January 25th to face weapons charges.... A Rome civil court has banned the sale of Michael Jackson's Dangerous album in Italy after ruling that one of the songs on the record was plagiarized from a song by Italian singer Al Bano. Bano brought suit against Jackson in May 1992 claiming the similarities between his song "I Cigni di Balaka" (The Swans of Balaka) and Jackson's "Will You Be There" were not coincidental. In his ruling, Rome magistrate Domenico Bonaccorsi said, "Besides the differences in language and text, both songs appear identical." The ruling gave both parties 120 days to make representations before a final decision on any further action including setting damages. Jackson's attorneys reportedly responded to the order by calling it invalid and saying the ruling is of a preliminary and temporary nature.... A jury unanimously sided with MCA Records in its $4 million trademark infringement lawsuit against Charly Records. The suit is part of MCA's ongoing battle to guard against unauthorized use of its Chess catalog, which consists of 25,000 master recordings of songs from the '50s through early '70s.

Obituaries

Ted Hawkins, 58, died January 1st at Centinela Medical Center in Los Angeles. Hawkins, who made a living as a street singer for about 30 years before being signed to DGC Records in March, had been admitted to the hospital December 29th in a coma caused by a stroke. He never regained consciousness. "The Unstoppable Ted Hawkins" recorded five solo works prior to signing with DGC but only achieved international success recently. Hawkins, who was "discovered" performing on the streets of Los Angeles, had planned a theatre level tour of Australia in March and was just beginning to seize a broad audience for his critically acclaimed performances.... Maureen Cox Tigrett, 47, died December 30th, 63 days after a bone marrow transplant to treat leukemia. Tigrett, who died at the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center in Seattle, was the first wife of Ringo Starr and was currently married to Isaac Tigrett, co-founder of the Hard Rock Cafe and the House of Blues chains. Starr and their three adult children were at Tigrett's bedside when she died, as were Isaac Tigrett and the couple's 7-year-old daughter. Tigrett had divorced Starr in 1975 after ten years of marriage. Zak Starkey, 29, Tigrett and Starr's eldest son, donated the bone marrow for his mother's transplant.... Blues singer Buddy Ace, 57, died December 24th. The singer, whose real name was Johnny Lee Land, was performing at a Waco, Texas night club when he suffered a massive heart attack. Ace had recently recorded a new album which his agent said will be released this month as planned.... Singer/songwriter Howard Crockett, 69, died of lung cancer December 27th. He was best known for writing the country music classic "Honky Tonk Man." Of his more than 200 songs, four went gold, two platinum and one double platinum.... Al DiTolla, 68, IATSE prexy since 1986, died December 20th of complications from brain surgery he had last summer. DiTolla, who joined the union in 1952, had resigned his position just days earlier due to his failing health.... Dan Hamilton, 49, died December 22nd from complications of abdominal surgery. Hamilton was part of Hamilton, Joe Frank and Reynolds which had the 1971 hit "Don't Pull Your Love."

U.K. News Report

(London) The music scene here at the start of the new year is always fairly unremarkable - both the weather and the mindset of the ticket-buying public is pretty bleak and most people in the business have got used to a slow start in January. Still, for some this quiet time is useful. The SHEPHERDS BUSH EMPIRE has only two shows this month - Angelique Kidjo and Kathy Mattea in the third week of January. This will give the new operations director, John Northcote (brought in by the recently contracted owners, the Break For The Border Group) time to implement administrative changes. Agents and promoters alike are still amazed that former owner Andrew Marler managed to keep news of the takeover so quiet until just before Christmas..... The BRITTON ACADEMY is taking advantage of the time of year to set in motion some long-awaited physical changes to the building. The venue, which was originally built as a cinema in 1929, will be closed for the whole of January, to start the first phase of a major refurbishment plan. Over £1.6 million funding has finally come through for the project. A number of improvements will take place over the next four years. First on the list is a facelift for the exterior of the building, and improvements to women's washroom facilities. Aside from cosmetics, the management team at Britton are installing 1,226 removable seats in the downstairs auditorium. This will enable the range of entertainment at the venue to be expanded further. Last year saw experiments with dance performances by Michael Clark and the introduction of monthly "alternative" film nights under the banner of Cinema Fume (all-smoking, all-drinking, live band and movie nights). Manager Simon Parkes wants the venue to become a familiar home to all varieties of entertainment in the future..... But while these first weeks of 1995 are not a startling exception to the rule, there are a few more interesting shows than you might normally find in the January concert calendar. R. KELLY comes into town this first week for his first arena dates in the UK and JODECI is hot on his heels next week, with Father MC supporting. The Irish themed package, "A Woman's Heart," has also picked this quiet time of the year to make it's live debut in England..... JOE JACKSON starts his tour on January 14th, after a few years absence from the live scene, with nine dates around the country promoted by Harvey Goldsmith. He continues on an extensive tour around Europe through mid-March. Jackson's special guest here is Paul Kelly, who on his continuing world jaunt, also has a few warm-up dates booked at The Borderline..... At indie level, JEFF BUCKLEY graces our shores again from the 14th, supported by Dutch band, BETTIE SERVEERT, for a couple of dates at the start of a long European tour. He doesn't get back to the UK again until the beginning of March. Meanwhile VERUCA SALT will be headlining the "NME Carlsberg Brat Bus Tour", supported by Marion, which kicks off on January 14th for a tour of clubs around the country. It will be the first tour by Vercuca Salt of the UK, following a showcase at Highbury Garage last August. The end of January sees a good bout of touring activity. The BLACK CROWES start their tour, SUEDE will be back on the road again and WEEZER arrive for their debut UK tour..... Does all this mean that artist management is starting to listen to promoters and agents when they tell them not to tour the UK all at the same time - In the autumn or spring/summer? Well, maybe this year is the beginning of a gig calendar that is spread just a little more evenly over the whole 12 months..... This column gets a few weeks rest and will return with the January 30th issue.

Australian News Report

(Sydney) The Frontier Touring Company hasn't officially announced dates for PEARL JAM's March tour but you will find a list of the first dates in this week's Route Book. The Sydney date will be the first concert by an international act at the enormous Eastern Creek speedway site on the outskirts of the city since Guns N' Roses played there several years ago..... Well, well, yours truly talks to Frontier Touring Company's MICHAEL CHUGG a lot during the course of the year but hardly ever gets to see him. All this changed in the days leading up to Christmas when we both found ourselves in our home town of Launceston in Tasmania. For five days Chugg was easy to find early in the morning - in the local park watching his kids playing whilst working his mobile, no doubt finalising Pearl Jam dates and keeping tabs on Frontier's myriad of other upcoming tours..... Although I haven't been supplied with dates, and don't know the promoter, ads have been appearing in the press for concerts by ELO PT. 2 for March. Given the touring traffic around that time it'd be a brave person punting on it being a success..... There's still no word on when THE EAGLES Australian concert dates will be rescheduled for - and given their current overseas itinerary the rumour is that they won't set foot on these shores till the later part of '95. But will those holding tickets be prepared to hang on to them for that long?..... The Sydney Morning Herald's influential critic Bruce Elder has pinpointed tours by GARTH BROOKS and the late TED HAWKINS as the major successes of the '94 year. Brooks he considered a perfect example of record company (EMI) marketing and hard work given that Australia has traditionally not had a huge market for anything but the most conservative of country artists. In Hawkins' case it showed what can be achieved by a record company (MCA/Geffen) dealing with a truly inspired artist - even if, as in Hawkins' case, there's none of the usual promotional tools like videos and radio support available..... At least one Australian promoter has been approached about co-ordinating a brief showcase tour by the somewhat legendary JIMMY WEBB in April. The tour idea has been instigated by Webb's manager and his Australian publisher, Roger Grierson, head of PolyGram Music..... BJORN AGAIN, the Abba tribute band which has been the most successful combo to emerge from the Australian tribute band fixation of the past five years, has moved from large club venues to theatres with a concert announced for the State Theatre in Sydney on February 14th..... Talking of tribute bands, New Years Eve in Sydney featured a show at Fisherman's Wharf billed as MONTEREY POP FESTIVAL. The bill? Try The Australian Jimi Hendrix Experience, The Who Show, The Animals Show, The Australian Stones Show, Otis (sic) Redding Show, The Bob Dylan Show, The Byrds Show, Neil Young Tribute and Simon & Garfunkle Tribute. Even I know a heap of those people weren't at the original Monterey! But what a show it must have been. Wish I'd had TV and video rights..... Scottish world music group MOUTH MUSIC are amongst the latest additions to the Australian summer touring craziness with a run of February dates..... As well as their appearance at some Big Day Out Shows HOLE will be doing a number of pub shows. PRIMAL SCREAM will also tread the boards for some other shows besides their BDO commitments. In Sydney they play the 800 capacity Metro Theatre which is currently Sydney's hippest venue. OFFSPRING are also doing some pub gigs..... CANNIBAL CORPSE is being described as "straight forward vicious death metal with lots of ripping riffs and power" and will tour Australia in February..... French band the HAPPY DRIVERS ("seeing the Stray Cats as a bunch of psychotics on speed") tour Australia for the third time in February..... Just before Christmas the PPCA (Phonographic Performance Company of Australia Ltd.) released the first ever statistical collation of the most broadcast artists and most broadcast recordings on radio in 1994. As the chart reveals, the most broadcast artist in 1994 was BILLY JOEL and the most broadcast title was his River Of Dreams. The fourth most broadcast artist and the most broadcast Australian artist was JOHN FARNHAM. Farnham responded by saying: "It's very flattering to be so high in the playlist but I will be even more happier when radio starts paying as much attention to new Aussie talent as they have kindly placed on me." Warren Fahey, director of Larrikin Entertainment, one of Australia's largest independent record label's said: "The results show that 1994 was a low point for new talent on radio. It's pretty hard to find a new Aussie act in the top 50 most broadcast recordings. The last 12 months have seen a host of new Australian tracks released by a host of new record labels in Australia only to be ignored by radio. The public should be hearing more new and less old - not more old and less new. The nut of the problem is the "retro" radio format and the sooner radio moves to programming contemporary music the healthier Australian creativity will be. Personally, I think the whole of Australia is on a golden oldie overdose and the new year will most probably witness the introduction of bolder formats."..... As part of their expansion MCA/GEFFEN have departed from the offices of BMG in North Sydney and have set up new offices in the Crows Nest area of the city..... Aaaa, the wits in the Australian industry haven't let Christmas dull their sense of humour. Already there's speculation that there'll be a benefit concert organised to help relieve Jimmy Barnes' current financial woes. The talk goes so far as to speculation it'll all be based around a COLD CHISEL reformation, but then we've been hearing those rumours for the past couple of years..... MUSHROOM RECORDS has announced that NICK PONTIKOS has joined the label's Sydney-based A&R team.
