PURPOSE. Antique Radio Classified is published for people involved in the radio collecting hobby. Its purpose is to stimulate growth of the hobby through the buying, selling and trading of radios and related items, and to provide a monthly forum for the interchange of ideas and information.

WRITING TO ANTIQUE RADIO CLASSIFIED. All correspondence should be sent to:

Antique Radio Classified
 P.O. Box 2, Carlisle, MA 01741.

Your ads, renewals, letters, etc. can be handled faster and more efficiently if (1) each is on a separate piece of paper, and (2) your name, address and SUB# is written on each.

Unfortunately, A.R.C. is not staffed to answer letters with questions about antique radios or requests for advice. However, A.R.C. does solicit letters of interest to its readers and will publish them as space permits. A.R.C. assumes that permission is given to edit and to publish all correspondence received unless otherwise indicated.

GUARANTEE. You may cancel your subscription at any time and receive a pro rata refund for issues not yet mailed. If errors to ads are made by A.R.C., upon request a free correction will be run in the next available issue.

PAYMENT. Please send in full payment with your order or ad. A.R.C. does not carry accounts; all subscriptions, ads, etc. must be prepaid. Pay in U.S. funds; checks drawn on a U.S. bank or money orders are preferred. Make check out to "A.R.C." U.S. stamps or cash are OK for small amounts. Canadian payers may send a Canadian check in U.S. funds, but please add $1.00 (U.S.) for conversion costs. On request, subscriptions will be prorated to amount sent, minimum term is one year.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS. Please notify us 4 weeks in advance of a change of address. Send both your new and old address, and include your SUB# and effective date of your new address. Temporary address changes can be made also.

SUBMISSION OF MATERIAL. Antique Radio Classified welcomes and solicits information that pertains or relates to radio history or collecting. This may include articles, book reviews, photos, information on upcoming radio events, meetings, antique radio organizations, radio auctions and price reports, sources of old radio and restoration supplies, and other related and interesting material. All material submitted should be neat and verified for accuracy. Unless prior arrangements are made, all submitted materials may be edited, become the property of Antique Radio Classified and will not be returned.

MAILING OF ISSUES. A.R.C. is available by subscription in the U.S. either by First or Second Class mail (Second Class is the way most magazines are mailed). First Class copies usually are received by the fifth of the month; copies by Second Class mail, by the tenth. The mailing of First Class copies is staggered, with those living farthest away mailed on the first day, and local copies mailed the last day. All non-U.S. copies are mailed on the first day. All Second Class copies are mailed on the last day. Mailing is usually completed by the 25th of the month.

ETHICS. No person involved in the production of A.R.C. is to act on any information in the magazine until they receive their copy through the mail.

DISCLAIMER. The publisher is not responsible for any buying and selling transactions incurred, or for any other use of the contents of this publication.

Antique Radio Classified subscription rates, frequency of publication, content, policies, size and ad details, and rates are subject to change at any time by A.R.C.

DISPLAY AND BUSINESS CARD ADS - DETAILS AND RATES

Advertising is accepted only for items related to antique radios, communication, electricity, etc. All items must be described fairly; reproductions, reprints and not-original items must be so identified. Advertisers agree to respond promptly to inquiries and orders, and to resolve problems promptly if the buyer is not satisfied.

The deadline for display and business card ad artwork, payment and repeat requests is the first of the month. All advertising must be prepaid; see "Payment" paragraph above. Late ads will be run only if space and time permits. As artwork is reduced to 63% in the printing process, originals should be the artwork size listed below. Do not send in artwork on art board or send negatives. Ads should be typeset or typed neatly with a carbon ribbon. If you want us to prepare your ad, include the one-time cost listed below for A.R.C. to make up the ad.

"Tear sheets" will be sent only for 1/2 and full page ads, if requested when ad is submitted.

Business card ads are limited to one per advertiser.

Photos should be at an 85 line screen; otherwise, add

$8.00 per photo for screening. (Do not glue photos to artwork; submit separately.) If you are confused by these requirements and terms, please write or call A.R.C. before beginning to prepare your ad.

We will be happy to advise you on your ad ideas, estimate how much the ad will cost, recommend an ad size, etc.

We assume that advertisers want all ads which are submitted to run without delay; therefore, we will run the ad and bill for any additional work required for the ad to meet these specifications. A late ad will be run beginning with the next month.

The 3-month rates represent about a 10% discount, the 6-month rates, 20%. Clubs, write for discount rates.

ANTIQUE RADIO CLASSIFIED

EDITOR'S COMMENTS

This month the lead article is Part I in a series of photographic essays on the Atlantic Radio Company, an early 1920's radio supply house. Ron Boucher, a collector, acquired the photos a few years ago and suggested that A.R.C. print them in a series. Ron also has a few copies of Atlantic Radio's dealer newsletter, the source of the drawing on this month's cover, and we will print excerpts from that as well.

The DeForest Everyman Crystal Set, also from the 1920s, is described in an article by Richard Arnold. This affordable 1922 set cost only $27.95, when others were costing over $200.

As early radios become harder to find and as the years pass, the collecting scene turns to later gear, such as transistor radios and the RCA 45 rpm changer covered in this issue by Stephen Raymer.

Those adventurous with at least one non-working cathedral or other superheterodyne may want to read Part 9 of the series on repairing AC radios. In this installment, Richard Foster covers some of the more ticklish problems: troubleshooting the oscillator, RF and IF stages, and set alignment. Good luck!

In Radio Ramblings..., Mike Koste recalls his childhood experiences with "The Monster in the Basement", a non-working ten-inch console television which became his "personal rocket ship." Now as a grown-up collector, Mike is still looking for this nostalgic set.

The Club Spotlight features the Puget Sound Antique Radio Association, a 100-member club which is seventeen-years-old. Photo Review ranges from crystal sets to coin-operated radios, battery sets and novelty transistor radios.

Book Reviews. Robert Enemark reviewed a biography of H. H. Beverage, the inventor of the Beverage antenna, and also the story of the Navy World War I state-of-the-art radio station - NBD.

Speaking of books, I have recently seen the proofs of a new book on Catalin radios by John Sideli. John, one of the first to realize the collectibility of the Catalin sets of the 1930s and 40s, has put together an extensive full color collector's guide on the subject. A review of this book will appear in a future issue.

New Rates. As announced on this page last month, subscription rates are going up, and a full discussion of the increase appears on the following page. Since the new rates do not go into effect until July 1, you have until then to extend your subscription at the current rates.

A.R.C. OnLine. Many thanks to the twenty of you who expressed an interest, but it is difficult to go nationwide with so few participants. We probably will take another look at this service later this year. In the meantime, if anyone else is interested, drop A.R.C. a line, and we will keep your name on file.

Visa, MasterCard and Fax. Yes, A.R.C. now accepts Visa and MasterCard for all orders, subscriptions, books, advertising, etc. The minimum charge is $10.00. Credit card payment and a Fax have been frequently requested services. When charging to your credit card, please include the name on the card, the card number, the expiration date, and your signature. We will have a Fax soon, and will print the Fax number in A.R.C.

Writing to A.R.C. We encourage all readers to submit photos for the Photo Review, letters, articles, and anything else of general interest to radio collectors. Unfortunately, we cannot personally answer all the letters we receive. But be assured, we keep the letters, photos, etc. on file and regularly reconsider them. Often it takes months, and sometimes years, before we publish letters and photos. We periodically go through our files, and often find something that was not used for some reason years ago, but that now fits our needs and/or is timely.

Club Events. There are twenty club events scheduled in May. I encourage all of you to make it to one of these events. A day at a meet is the best and quickest way to develop a broad understanding of antique radio collecting, to get a feel for prices, and to meet other collectors.

In closing, I would like to thank the thousands of subscribers who have made A.R.C. what it is today. Thanks for your letters, photos, articles, ads, and support. Here at A.R.C. we strive each month to put out the best magazine we can, and pledge to keep A.R.C. the leading publication in the antique radio collecting community.

Happy collecting,

John V. Terrey

ON THE COVER

The cover introduces Part I of a photographic essay of the Atlantic Radio Company. The cover illustration is a drawing from the November 1924 issue of The Atlantic Radio Dealer, a dealer newsletter published by the Atlantic Radio Company.

FROM THE PUBLISHER

The Good News: A.R.C. Continues To Get Better! The Bad News: Subscription Rates Are Going Up!

First, A Few Facts:

Did you know that since 1985...

- The number of pages in each issue of A.R.C. has increased over 280%.
- The number of For Sale and Wanted ads in each issue has increased over 400%.
- The number of readers of your free ads has increased over 650%.
- Yet, the basic subscription rate has increased only 33%, and the rates for classified ads have not increased at all.

After holding our subscription rate increases to a minimum for several years, we are forced to make a 20% increase in our subscription rates as of July 1. This is a necessary increase and will insure A.R.C.'s continued growth in quality, subscribers, number of pages, ads and services.

This sampling of unsolicited comments received over just the last few weeks speaks for itself: "I love your articles and the whole concept of the magazine in general." "I really got great response to the last ads, obtaining a mint set of dials for my Hammarlund HQ-120." "I, for one, am deeply appreciative for the facsimile of the 'Crosley Pup' label." "A.R.C. is looking great!" "It is getting better all the time!" "Keep up the good work!" "I am very happy with the magazine." "I enjoy your Antique Radio Classified." "Really enjoyed the Ekco article in the March issue." "Thank you from a satisfied customer." And the compliments go on and on like this. Of course, none of these letters suggested that rates be increased.

But, in response to my announcement last month of a pending rate increase, I did get a few (however, very few) letters against the increase: "Hope the additional pages/postage won't lead to another price increase," said one letter. Another suggested that advertising rates be increased. This is something we do regularly and will continue to do (in 1985 a full-page display ad cost $25; now it costs $110).

The Details. A one year subscription by second class mail will go up to $24.00; first class mail will go up to $36.00. (Essentially all of the differential between the second and first class rates is for postage and the envelope.) There will be no change in the policy for extra issues for early renewals and two-year subscriptions. New six-month trial and foreign rates will be announced in the next issue.

Also, the cost for additional words in classified ads will increase to 15¢ per word, but there will be no change in the free twenty-word policy. New display, boxed classified, photo and non-subscriber ad rates will be announced soon.

The Good News: If you renew or extend your subscription for up to two years by July 1, you may do so at the current rates. And, if it's received before your expiration month, you get an extra month free.

New Services: Almost daily, we are asked if we accept credit cards or have a Fax. Now A.R.C. accepts Visa and MasterCard for amounts over $10.00. If you wish to charge your renewal, ad, books, etc., include your card number, the expiration date, your name as it appears on the card, and your signature.

We expect to have a Fax soon and will announce the telephone number in A.R.C.

Just Where Do Your Subscription Dollars Go? To begin with, we open nearly 100 pieces of mail per day. Over a month, this includes 200+ new and 350+ renewal subscriptions and over 500 ads which have to be typed and proofread. The ads must then be typeset and combined with the display advertisements, many of which we also typeset. Photos must be screened (prepared for printing). Information from nearly three dozen clubs is reviewed to report the coming radio events. Articles are typed, edited, proofread, typeset and combined with photos. The entire magazine is then assembled and taken to the printer. While the magazine is at the printer, the subscription records are updated and mailing labels printed.

A week later, the printing is complete. The magazines are labeled and prepared for mailing. The result is over 70 sacks and bins of mail (1000+ pounds) delivered to the post office. Hopefully, each of you receive your copy soon after mailing.

Costs are also incurred as we reach out through advertising to radio collectors unaware of A.R.C. and other collector organizations. Subscribers benefit by accessing an ever growing base of collectors for buying and selling.

Eight people are now involved in publishing A.R.C., most working part-time, putting in over 500 hours in a month. Add to this the efforts of the printer as well as other needed services.

A rate increase is necessary to keep A.R.C. a quality publication. Still, it is delivered to each of you for only $2.00 each month ($3.00 for first class).

Here are a few more of the letters that continue to tell us that we are on the right track: "I take three old radio publications - A.R.C. is best by far." "Thanks for providing this service and a fine publication." And finally, a typical letter from a new subscriber: "I'd also like to compliment you on your fine magazine. I am a new subscriber, but have been collecting and repairing old radios for years. Now I've found that I'm not alone!"

The DeForest Everyman Crystal Set

BY RICHARD ARNOLD

On a quiet Sunday evening in 1922, atop the large Westinghouse building in Newark, New Jersey, the stars were twinkling in the sky and magic was brewing in the air. Downstairs in a room with whitewashed walls were the members of a Broadway theater orchestra. Ed Wynn's theatrical show "The Perfect Fool" was about to become the first such performance to be transmitted by radio. An estimated fifty-thousand "machines" were within receiving distance. Assuming five listeners to each receiver, the audience numbered about a quarter-million.

Receivers of the time varied in price from around $25 to $200, along with a nominal charge for installation. One of these early 1922 receivers was the Everyman Radiophone, and I'm sure that many folks listened to this history-making broadcast on this receiver. At $27.95 complete, most people could afford one.

The Everyman, as shown in Figure 1, was a product of the world renowned DeForest Co. The set was advertised as one of the best instruments of the crystal detector type on the market.

This set consists of a tuning coil controlled by two knobs on the panel so that the incoming signal can be easily tuned in. This signal passes through the tuning coil to a crystal detector, which recreates the audio signal originating at the transmitter. The range of the set is from 150 to 800 meters, but a special connection is provided by means of which honeycomb coils can be added to the circuit. This allows the set to respond to wavelengths of up to 20,000 meters.

The radio is mounted in a handsome walnut finished cabinet with a carrying handle. A space is provided for the honeycomb coils and a headset. The cabinet measures 10x8x7 inches and weighs five pounds. The crystal detector is enclosed in a glass tube and has spring tension. A paper in the lid provides operating instructions. Also, a small circuit diagram is attached to the inside bottom of the box on the receiver section, shown in Figure 2.

The set pictured in this article is not a DeForest set, but one that was made in Canada under a license agreement with DeForest by the Canadian Independent Telephone Company of Toronto. The receivers are almost identical except for the nametag in the center of the faceplate just above the detector. The DeForest tag is square while the Canadian is a rectangle.

The Atlantic Radio Company—Part I

CONTRIBUTED BY RON BOUCHER

The good luck of Ron Boucher at an estate sale near Goffstown, New Hampshire, makes this article possible. The sale took place on property which once belonged to a Mr. E. P. Gordon (see Figure 1), the advertising manager of the once prosperous Atlantic Radio Company of Boston, Massachusetts.

Among the items Ron fortunately acquired was some Atlantic Radio dealer advertising newsletters, some original letters written to Mr. Gordon from RCA, and a collection of photographs of the Atlantic Radio Company from 1922-1925. Some of these photographs appear in this article, and others will appear in future issues of A.R.C.

The Atlantic Radio Company was a distributor of early radio equipment. Their main store, shown in Figure 2, was located in Boston, Mass., with branches in Portland, Maine, and Burlington, Vermont. These outlets supplied hundreds of radio dealers in the New England area. Atlantic Radio featured the RCA Radiola line of receiving equipment but sold other major brands such as DeForest and Grebe. Boston-area manufacturers like General Radio, Clapp-Eastham and Amrad were also represented.

In this issue, A.R.C. has printed the photos of the Atlantic Radio storefronts as well as interesting shots of their interiors as they appeared in 1924. Future articles will include pictures of Atlantic Radio displays at Boston radio shows, specific equipment sold, and publicity shots of people using early RCA radios. Every photograph is a tempting, nostalgic trip that makes one wish for a time machine, a few thousand dollars, and a big truck.

FROM RADIOS TO PHOTOGRAPHS

Ron says, "These photos are among my most prized possessions. I just love to take a magnifying glass to them and find all kinds of hidden details."

"Both my grandparents and a few aunts and uncles had console radios from the 30s when I was a kid. I enjoyed fooling around with them, especially the shortwave. This is how my interest started; I'm sure this is a common story.

"I really got serious about antique radios about ten years ago when I began restoring sets for friends. I decided there was something to this and began advertising for antique radio repair. Soon after that, I needed an outlet for the excess radios I was restoring, and I began selling locally.

"Someone from California heard about me and convinced me to start shipping some radios to him. Oh, the deals he got!

"One Sunday, at a flea market a collector told me I was crazy doing all the restoration work when most serious collectors prefer to do their own anyway. I began selling radios 'as found' and later put out lists. What I send now is more like a small catalog. I send these on request, but repeat mailings go to people who place orders, as my time is limited. [Ron's list can be obtained by sending a large SASE to the address below.]

"I have done business in 49 states but never in Wyoming, even after ten years. I've sent things to every continent except Antarctica. When I first began, I met someone who had been selling radios for ten years, and that seemed like a lifetime. I still remember many of the first radios I sold and have managed to buy some of them back (nostalgial).

"I love finding these treasures and like the satisfaction of putting a big stack of good catalogs in the mailbox.

"Every so often I make a great find. One such find were these photographs of the Atlantic Radio Company in the 20s. At the same sale there were Volume 1 QSTs, an unused DeForest spherical audion, very early Radio News magazines, etc.

"Mostly I collect cathedrals, and few plastics, so I am not that well-informed about early battery sets. Someone familiar with this period could date some of these photos rather closely; there's enough evidence in many of them. In one you can see several magazines on the counter. Most in this group I date at about 1924.

"I have a record of all the radios I've sold since 1982. Based on my figures I can say which sets are the most common, at least in this area of the country."

RADIO RAMBLINGS...

The Monster In the Basement

BY MIKE KOSTE

"The Monster in the Basement" was an oak-armoured G.E. console with a huge round dial, a ten-inch screen and at least a zillion knobs. My dad could have simply discarded it when it breathed its last in the early fifties, but instead, that electronic mammoth became my own personal rocket ship. You see, when I wasn't being hypnotized by the glow of our new Philco set, viewing the exploits of Rocky Jones, Commander Cody or Captain Video, this first-generation vidiot was down in the cellar perched at the controls of an atomic powered galactic cruiser, zapping bad guys with the flick of a switch.

These, of course, were cosmic intruders who could only be seen through the eyes of a precocious four-year-old with an overly active imagination on an old TV that didn't work. Mom was totally convinced that one day she'd find me down there burned to a crisp with one of my fingers stuck in a tube socket. (You know how mothers can be when it comes to kids and voltage.) Eventually she managed to convince Pop to either disarm the old G.E. so I couldn't kill myself or get rid of it altogether. Imagine my sorrow in watching him methodically remove the chassis, then the speaker, then the picture tube, and rendering them useless with a couple of quick hammer blows. The shattered remains of my fantasy vehicle were put out for the trash man while the splintered cabinet was thoughtlessly tossed onto the woodpile.

As this young boy grew and became independently mobile, I was sure that one day I'd find another interplanetary dashboard to replace the one that was mercilessly destroyed. By the time I was able to ride a two-wheeler and leave the sanctity of the yard, my wish came true.

Wednesday was trash day – which meant Tuesday after school was the time to scour the neighborhood for treasures. Living in a disposable society served by the Industry of Planned Obsolescence, rarely a week went by without somebody bidding heave-ho to a faded Fada or a telly void of vision; anything with knobs was fair game. At the request of my parents, I'd always ask the former owners for permission to have first pickings of their discards. Funny how most of them treated my trash-picking like a buffet supper: "Take as much as you want, but eat what you take." (Translation: "Don't litter my lawn with loose parts.")

Figuring that I was going through one of those childhood phases, my folks were tolerant of my pack-ratting, as long as I didn't bring anything into the house. (After all, that old radio's probably crawling with germs!) They were kind enough to designate a corner of the garage for my tinkering, and soon I'd salvaged a rather impressive heap (by today's standards) of dead Crosleys, Arbor-phones, Zeniths and Strombergs. Anything I could haul home on a red Radio Flyer wagon became another important component in the most technically advanced fighting machine in the universe.

But the day I brought home the washing machine, Mom and Pop insisted that we sit down for a talk. They didn't lose their tempers. Simply put, they felt my junking had gotten out of hand. Somehow I got the impression they'd be a lot happier if I collected stamps. I tried my best to explain that once I'd dismantled the Kenmore, I'd put it up on wheels, strap on a Daisy air rifle, rig up an old superhet for radar, and use it as an Army tank. Unamused, they used the power of persuasion that all parents are born with to inform me that my days as spaceman and suburban archeologist were over.

Sadly, that Tuesday, my friends Bremer Tully, Atwater Kent and Jackson Bell were boxed up and left on the curb to suffer the same fate as the Monster in the Basement.

Not a lot has changed since those carefree days of my youth – except now, I know better. First and foremost, I treat Mr. Tully, Kent and Bell with a lot more respect. Secondly, all the knobs and 01-As in the world won't make a spaceship fly. And finally, even though I traded that red Radio Flyer for a pickup truck a long time ago, I still look forward to Wednesdays. Only now, there isn't much left to pick.

(Mike Koste, 57 Tennis Ave., Ambler, PA 19002)

Years later Mike was able to identify that Monster in the Basement. Seems it was a 1948 General Electric "Super Distance" Model 801, which is a ten-inch television set and an AM radio receiver together in a huge console cabinet with doors. If your interest is aroused, you can see this monster pictured on page 94 of Morgan McMahon's book "Flick of the Switch". (Editor)

The RCA 45 rpm Changer

BY STEPHEN N. RAYMER

Early in 1949, RCA introduced the 45 rpm record and its associated player. Nobody could have imagined the success that would follow. A smaller company would never have pulled it off. Only RCA, with its vast resources in recording, entertainment, marketing, and manufacturing would have the power to introduce a new style of record in a market already dominated by 78's and the new long-playing microgroove discs.

The new 45's and matching phonographs were hailed as a step toward better fidelity and distortion-free reproduction of recorded music. Actually, it was an affordable way for millions of postwar kids to listen to their favorite hits without ruining their parents' more expensive phonograph.

The new records were made of sturdy "vinylite" and could play up to five minutes each, just right for the new pop tunes of the day. They were also a perfect medium for artists who could produce only one hit song, and not enough material for an album.

The original RP-168 mechanism, much like the one shown in Figure 1, used 65 parts and could stack as many as eight records at a time on its large, red plastic capped center spindle which housed a silent, fast dropping changer mechanism. The actual elapsed time between the end of one record and the start of the next is about a second and a half. These early sets were changer/pickup units only and had no amplifiers. They operated through radio sets (usually RCA models) that came equipped with a phonograph jack. Complete portable versions also became available that needed no separate amplifying system to play through, like the model shown in Figure 2.

In 1951, the smoother running RP-190 was introduced. It used 82 parts and could play up to twelve records. In 1955, a single play "slide-omatic" mechanism was introduced. Finally, in 1960, to keep up with a maturing market, RCA introduced the AP1, an under-the-dash unit capable of stacking fourteen records. For the first time ever, people could listen to the music of their choice while driving a car.

Although the popularity of the 45 has faded, its impact on American culture remains. The records are still being made on a limited basis, mainly for the jukebox market. Most hit songs from the fifties to the present are still available on re-recorded discs. Many early original 45 records have become quite collectible.

PHOTO REVIEW

This column presents in pictorial form many of the more unusual radios, speakers, tubes, advertising, and other radio-related items (covering the years 1900-1950's) from our readers' collections. The photos are meant to help increase awareness of what's available in the radio collecting hobby. Send in any size photos from your collection. Photos must be sharp in detail, contain a single item, and preferably have a light-colored background. A short description must be included with each submitted item. Please note that receipt of photos is not acknowledged, publishing is not guaranteed, and photos are not returned.

NOVELTY TRANSISTOR RADIO - This is the Fleetwood Model NTR-6G manufactured in the early 1960s. It is a transistorized globe radio with a polar ON/OFF/VOL control switch. (John S. Neuman - San Marcos, CA)

ZENITH PORTABLE - The Zenith Model 6G601L ("L" for leather) has a nice brown leather case. Inside is a large AM wavemagnet at the rear of the case. The dial face surround is of nicely finished wood. This receiver was manufactured in the early 1940s. (Bob Moore - Lakewood, CO)

CROSLLEY MODEL VIII - This is a 1923 three-tube TRF receiver. The older style dial controls, the ground post scribed "E" (earth), and the period after the model number on the panel quickly identify it as an early production set. Inside are the early-type wood book tuning condensers and porcelain tube sockets. (Dave Crocker - Lyndonville, VT)

CRYSTAL DISPLAY - Air Champ radio crystal elements were sold in packets stapled to this cardboard display. The crystals are mounted in lead within a metal holder. There are fifteen original packets remaining on the board. One corner of the display is broken away. (Michael Crain - Harveys Lake, PA)

STEINITE - This is the Steinite Type 26-1 made by the Tri City Electric Supply Company. It is a one-tube regenerative receiver. (Frank R. White - Olathe, KS)

---

CLINTON MODEL 216 - Circa 1935-1940, this five-tube AC/DC Superhet covers standard broadcast and one shortwave band. A small brass label has the name "Clinton," and schematics of Models 149, 215 and 216 are located on the bottom of the wood cabinet. The label says Plant "A" Chicago, U.S.A. The circuit is fairly modern except that there is no automatic volume control and the "volume" control is actually RF gain. (Jay Kinnard - Austin, TX)

---

COIN-OPERATED RADIO - This is the General Electric Model YRB-12-4 AM receiver manufactured for Radio Matic of America, Inc. of Indianapolis, Indiana. The radio operates for one hour of intermittent or continuous reception for a quarter. (Tim Rall - Sharonville, OH)

---

ARTISTIC EMERSON - This set, circa 1938, is all curves in its styling on the top, front and sides. This is sometimes referred to as a "violin style" cabinet. The manufacturer was the Emerson Company, and the cabinet was made by Ingraham of Bristol, Ct. Model number is unknown. (Jim Antaki - Pittsburg, PA)

All You Need To Know About Repairing AC Radios - Part 9

BY RICHARD C. FOSTER, 12 SHAWMUT AVE., COCHITUATE, MA 01778

Troubleshooting the Oscillator, RF and IF Stages, and Alignment

This is the ninth part of a series on basic AC radio repair. This series presents useful hints for both the new collector and the veteran.

In Part 8 (A.F.C., October 1989), we reviewed components and testing of high voltage circuits. Several problem scenarios were described, and probable causes and possible fixes were suggested. Thus, we covered the locating and correcting of the majority of set problems which occurred in the parts subjected to high voltage.

Refer to Parts 1 and 2 of this series (Feb. and Apr. 1988) for details on tools, test equipment, safety, etc. IMPORTANT: do not plug the radio in until you have read the safety tips and warnings in these two installments! (Editor)

In this part I will first deal with troubleshooting the oscillator, RF and IF stages, and will then outline the steps necessary for alignment of these stages.

TROUBLESHOOTING

Let's assume that you have checked your power supply and repaired it if necessary. As described in Part 8, you then placed your finger on the grid cap of the detector tube, or on the middle terminal of the volume control. In either case, this resulted in a loud hum from the speaker. A voltage check shows things to be normal, but the set won't do anything. Is there anything you can do if you don't have a lot of test equipment to assist you? Yes, there is, if you systematically proceed with the following steps!

Step 1. Test all the tubes in the RF and IF sections of the set. You probably already did this, but it is surprising how often one can forget. Since it is the last thing to try, often a tube thought good is actually defective.

Indeed, once in a while, removing a tube can cause the lead inside one of the tube pins to pull out of the solder inside the pin, and it will test bad. Resolder this pin.

Another common problem is bad socket contacts, particularly in early thirties' Philco sets. Clean the pins with crocus cloth or a fine steel wool (make sure no strands are left between pins), and tighten the socket contacts by pinching them with a pair of small needle-nose pliers.

Step 2. A silent superhet, or one where only one station comes in very broadly, almost always indicates a non-functioning oscillator. A tube that tests fine for emission may refuse to oscillate, or may oscillate only at certain frequencies. On certain bands in this circuit, accurate values of resistance and capacity and capacitors that show very low leakage are essential.

Step 3. Look through the set for two things: 1) Bad rubber-covered wire with crumbling rubber must be replaced. 2) Look for places where wires touch or where they were crowded tightly around two or three contacts on a tube socket or shorted to the chassis. Pressure over fifty years can cause breakdown at these points, as can condensation.

Smaller sets will not have as many stages; they often eliminate the RF amplifier and one of the IFs, and combine the oscillator and mixer. Work step-by-step from the second detector to the "front end."

Start at the grid of the 2nd detector. Touch the grid cap or grid prong indicated in your tube manual. When you touch the grid, a hum should issue from the speaker. If not, this stage is defective.

When working under the set, use a capacitor (.05 md., for example) and hold one lead in your hand while touching the other lead to the pins. This is a good safety tip.

Step 5. We need to check the IF stage(s). To do this most effectively, we need a test oscillator or a signal generator that will put out the intermediate frequency of the set (a value like 455 Kc or 260 Kc) modulated with an audio tone so that you can hear it. Signal generators can be had in local "wanted" and "for sale" ads or at radio meets for very little money. They are essential for working on superhets.

Begin by injecting a signal at the plate terminal of the last IF. I like to clip a capacitor to the lead of the generator. Holding the capacitor, rather than the lead, keeps my fingers away from the dangerously high plate voltage. You should hear the tone in the speaker. Then move backwards to the grid of the same IF. You are checking the output side of the tube, then the input side. If either one of these tests fails to produce sound, check the circuitry and the tube in question.

Step 6. Next, move to the plate of the first detector (often called mixer, modulator or translator). Try your probe there. You should hear sound. Then move to the grid, which should also give results at the speaker.

Step 7. Some sets use separate oscillator tubes. Some combine the functions in a pentagrid converter like a 6A7 or a 6A8.

How can you tell if your oscillator is working? Follow Armstrong's discovery, and beat the oscillator with another signal, mixing the two signals to make a third audible signal.

Here's how: You look in the big book (Rider's), and it tells you that the IF is 455 Kc. The oscillator tunes 455 Kc above the desired signal at all times. If 800 Kc is chosen for the signal, the oscillator would then be received at 1255 Kc (if it's working). Take your transistor radio, place it near your set on the bench, and tune it to 1255. By tuning the test set slowly up and down past 800 Kc, you will hear a loud squeal in your transistor radio as you pass by. If you hear nothing, check your oscillator tube, the coils and associated components.

Step 8. You got the oscillator to work. Now the set plays, although not necessarily well.

Clip your antenna to the grid of the mixer tube. If the performance comes way up, even if hum is present, it's time to check the antenna coil or RF amplifier. In the case of an RF amplifier, you can move your antenna to that grid. Performance should improve, not drop off.

You can also use your signal generator for this test. Be fussy in checking. I once had a Philco 118 which features a wave trap in the antenna circuit to keep the IF from feeding back into the set. Although it checked out for continuity, something had gone wrong with the coil over fifty years and it was blocking all the signals, not just the IF. I had to bypass it.

By now you should have a receiver that sounds fairly decent.

IF ALIGNMENT

Here is a primer on IF alignment. I will then describe how to make the oscillator track.

IF alignment means adjusting or tuning all of the intermediate frequency transformers to the value the engineers determined, be it 175 Kc, 260 Kc, 455 Kc or some other. This gives top performance.

The IF transformers are adjusted by turning the IF trimmer screws which are usually on the top of the IF cans (underneath the cans on many RCA/G.E. products, or seemingly any old place on early Philcos). See Figure 2.

The Rider books give complete alignment instructions for most sets. You must check the location of the screws you are going to turn, and you ought to make a diagram showing the location and order of adjustment.

Being human, I often shortcut the instructions a bit by making a pickup coil from Bell wire that I put around the mixer tube and connect to the output of the signal generator. If the set has a separate oscillator tube, I pull it out.

If you're working on an early 30's RCA/G.E. product like the Radiola R-50 or an RCA "bath-tub" chassis such as a Model R-4, R-7 or R-7A, you must disable the AVC (Automatic Volume Control). Make a dummy tube to replace the AVC tube while aligning. A dummy is a tube with one of the filament pins sawn off. The reason is that the strong signal from the generator can cause the AVC to turn the volume down, making you think you've passed a peak.

Step 1. Begin with the IF transformer closest to the 2nd detector, and move from there to the "front end" just as you did in your isolation check. The correct order is secondary followed by primary. Keep the volume of the set up, and turn down the generator as the volume grows, and it likely will to the point where the volume may be excessive and damage the speaker.

Step 2. Do these adjustment carefully. As you turn the screws, you should find a peak of sound with a drop-off on either side. Adjust the trimmers to the peak.

TRACKING THE OSCILLATOR

Now, and not before, you may adjust the screws on the trimmers of the variable capacitor or under the set. See your Rider's manual, and don't take on any multi-band set until you've had some practice. Be sure the dial is set correctly in relation to the variable capacitor before beginning.

Next, we need to make the oscillator track. Here you tell it where to start. As I have a strong local station at 590 Kc, I use that, but you may want to use your generator set at 600 Kc. The 600 Kc padder is usually under the chassis somewhere on a piece of porcelain. Tune in the signal and see where it is on the dial. Too high? Remove capacity by unscrewing the padder. Too low? Add capacity by tightening the padder. You should "rock" or tune the variable back and forth here to be sure you're on the peak. Then tune to 1400 Kc (my strong local station is 1430 Kc, close enough), and adjust the trimmer. This one is almost always on the variable capacitor. Find it by putting your finger to the stator sections until you find the one that when touched causes new stations to come in. On five-tube AC/DC sets, the 1400 Kc padder is usually on the smallest (oscillator) section of the variable capacitor.

Repeat the 600 and 1400 Kc adjustments. Then move to the remaining section(s) of the variable capacitor, and peak them at 1400 Kc.

It is often quite surprising how far out of alignment many sets can get over the years through changes in coil values, tampering and vibration. Careful alignment makes a big difference in performance. If the set sounds crummy, align it again, for something wasn't done right. Or take two "orange drops" and call me in the morning.

LETTERS

Dear Editor,

The cover of Feb. 1990 A.R.C. perked the memory a bit. Way back during the 40s, I had a Westinghouse radio in a cabinet the size and appearance of a grandfather clock; I don't remember if it had a clock, but the unit had a remote control box with many buttons connected by a cable to the set. The buttons were for volume up, volume down, tone up, tone down, tuner higher, tuner lower, and a series of buttons for the band chosen. There also was provision for a record player. This was the first radio I had seen where the whole system was remote controlled.

L. Luke, Coshocton, Ohio

Dear Editor,

The lawyer for the Foothill Electronics Museum [See "Foothill Museum Ordered to Close," March 1990 A.R.C.] went before a judge on our motion to remain in the building until a trial. On Tuesday, March 27, the judge gave Perham until early April to come up with a $150,000 bond to protect the college against loss, and if we can come up with this bond, we can go to trial in five months. At the hearing, he seemed more concerned over the amount of money that the college was losing by being prevented from converting the museum building into classroom space than by any harm to us. He also asked several times why we did not go to court back in 1978 when this issue first surfaced.

Mike Adams, Scotts Valley, California

Dear Editor,

The Philco All-Wave Aerial on the October '89 cover did eliminate static noise build up, a common problem with long wire aerials. Philco solved the problem by installing a 5 megohm resistor in parallel with the spark gap inside of the lightning arrester. This drained static build up to ground giving static-free reception.

Stanley Caesar, Midwest City, Oklahoma

Dear Editor,

I am a newcomer to this interesting radio collecting (and contagious) hobby, and I believe the hobby will grow as our younger people become aware of it.

As a youngster in the "golden days" of radio, the 1930s, I did some playing around with radios but did not seriously pursue it as either a hobby or profession. Instead, I drifted into the advertising field and then to "country newspaper" work.

I would like to suggest that you might consider setting aside space for a "newcomers' corner." I think there are many neophytes, like myself, who will welcome such a feature (not all are seasoned professionals or electronic experts!). For that reason I especially looked forward to those issues which contained articles by James A. Fred. I have learned much from these articles. I suggest short articles on repairs with questions from readers and answers.

You have an excellent publication.

BOOK REVIEW

GENIUS AT RIVERHEAD by Alberta I. Wallen

and

THE FABULOUS RADIO NBD by Brandon Wentworth

REVIEWED BY ROBERT B. ENEMARK

The Genius at Riverhead is a biography of H. H. Beverage and a tribute to this outstanding radio engineering pioneer who invented the antenna of the same name. The tale is tedious, covering birth to retirement including even the family tree. However, there are some interesting anecdotes about his work with Dr. Alexander at G. E., with NBD at Otter Cliffs, Maine, with RCA at Riverhead, N. J., and others during both World Wars. His contributions to military communications during these wars won him many citations.

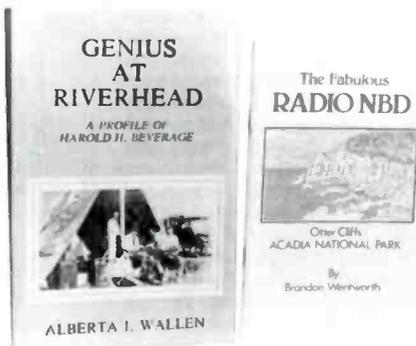

A word on the Beverage antenna. A wire one or more wavelengths long is run from a receiving site in the direction of the station to be received, and is terminated at its far end. Signals from the opposite direction are nearly zero, including noise, due to its unidirectional response. In addition, stations within the forward pattern can be nulled out if causing interference. This antenna has much better directivity than a loop antenna and is much quieter. It is usually strung close to the ground and works best on low frequency, vertically polarized signals. Due to the larger, forward tilt of these signals over poorly conducting ground, signals from the Beverage are stronger under such conditions.

As chief of RCA radio receiving stations for nine years and Chief Research Engineer from 1921-1941, he pioneered in space and frequency diversity reception, multiplexing, antennas, and coupling circuits among other work. In this he was awarded well over 30 patents. He had a ham radio station in 1908 at the age of fifteen, and later held the call W2MBL. He was president of the IRE (later IEEE) in 1937, and a fellow in this and other engineering societies.

There are some good pictures of his 1908 and 1915 wireless sets, some of early radio pioneers, but more than half are of Dr. Beverage, his family, and his personal life.

A fair copy of Beverage's Nov. 1922 QST article, the first published account of his "new" antenna, appears in the appendix, but the graph legends are blurred. Also included are listings of his patents, awards, and accomplishments.

A rigorous disclosure of the Beverage antenna and coupling circuits appears in the Transactions of the AIEE for 1923, 51 pages authored by Beverage, C. Rice, and E. Kellogg. More recent papers on this include "The Beverage Handbook" by Victor A. Mizek, 1977, and another QST article by Beverage and Doug DeMaw featured in the January 1982 issue, 60 years after the original one. That issue of QST has on its cover a picture of the Beverage antenna that appeared in the 1922 article. The cover of Wallen's book has an artist's rendition, in gold, of that same photo.

The Fabulous Radio NBD tells the story not only of the best radio receiving station the Navy had during and just after WWI, but also of interesting tales of those times. Lt. Fabbri, the wealthy ham operator whose station was the nucleus of NBD at Otter Cliffs, Maine, was the commanding officer and NBD's driving force. State-of-the-art antennas included Beverage, monster Pickard crossed-loops with goniometers, and flat-tops with counterpoises terminated in the ocean. It was here that H. H. Beverage found out that his "barrage" antenna was actually aperiodic - the first unidirectional antenna.

Each receiver was kept in its own building, had its own antennas, and was assigned to copy only one particular station. NBD worked day and night and at its peak logged 54,000 words in over 1000 messages during two days, without errors. Its 5 KW remote transmitter seven miles to the southwest was only occasionally used.

It is well written and organized, with interesting photos of that era. Tragically, Lt. Fabbri died of pneumonia in 1922 at age 44.

Genius at Riverhead by Alberta I. Wallen, hardcover, 128 pages with 34 illustrations and a 33-page appendix, costs $15.95. The Fabulous Radio NBD by Brandon Wentworth, a 34-page pamphlet with 22 photos and illustrations (1984), costs $4.95. Both books are available from the Ham Radio Bookstore, Greenville, NH 03048, (603) 878-1441. Add $3.75 shipping per order.

CLUB SPOTLIGHT

Puget Sound Antique Radio Association PSARA

Founded in 1973, the Puget Sound Antique Radio Association has about 100 members in the Seattle, Washington, area. The club is comprised of people from all walks of life whose common interest is the preservation and restoration of antique radio and wireless equipment.

PSARA publishes a sixteen-page monthly newsletter - The Horn Of Plenty - for all members.

The club shares publication information and printing with the Oregon club, the Northwest Vintage Radio Society. The publication contains meeting minutes, feature articles, club news, and classified ads, which are free to both active and associate members.

PSARA maintains a permanent display of antique radio and related items as well as a library at the Shoreline Museum, on the second floor of the Ronald School building, at 749 N. 175th Street, Seattle, Washington 98133, (206) 542-7111. It is located near Linden Avenue N., about one block west of Aurora Avenue and U.S. 99, and two miles west of I-5 in North Seattle. The museum is open to the public on Sundays, and other times by special appointment.

Active membership is open to residents of the state of Washington who are interested in antique radio/wireless equipment. An active member is expected to attend at least four meetings annually and has full voting privileges. Associate membership is open to any individual, business, or organization who cannot attend meetings on a regular basis; an associate member cannot vote or become a club officer.

To become a member, attend two consecutive meetings; during the second meeting the club will vote on your petition for membership. A two-thirds' majority vote from the members present will elect you to membership, which becomes active once you pay your annual dues.

The club holds its meetings on the third Sunday of each month, second Sunday in December only, at the Ronald School/Shoreline Historical Museum. A swap meet in the parking lot begins at 11 a.m., and the business meeting in the school building begins at 1 p.m. The meeting includes club news, light refreshments, and a guest speaker with a topic of general interest. Annual events include a contest and display, invitational swap meet, and an auction.

Coming Soon... Fixing Up Nice Old Radios

The definitive antique radio repair book

- Covers everything from crystal sets to the Scott 800-B
- Easy to understand. No higher math. All terms explained. Fix most radios with a $20 multimeter! Adapt an old Hallicrafters for a signal generator!
- Uses actual photos of the insides of your favorite radios, some as big as 8x10. Covers actual repair jobs in detail. Many schematics. Your favorite radios are in it. AK, Zenith, Bosch, Scott, National, Hallicrafters, Crosley 50, Radiola III, 17, 25, R28-p, Philco and many others. Thousands of dollars worth of radios were tested, fixed and photographed for this book.
- For the advanced worker, too. Explains Wunderlich AVC, crystal filters, Scott and Zenith push buttons and band-switches. Shows how to align old radios with a digital scanning receiver and look at RF waveforms of autodyne detectors with a dual trace scope.
- Written by Ed Romney, former Mass Radio instructor, broadcast engineer and experienced technical writer. Professionally typeset and printed.

Only $19 - Coming soon - Look for announcements...

You heard it right.

The newest audio magazine is all about vacuum tubes!

Glass Audio features the best vacuum tube designs for audio reproduction—past and contemporary. The new designs take advantage of improved components and control techniques that make the end results far superior to anything possible during the early days of audio's rebirth after World War II.

That's why tubes are having such a renaissance of interest as a perfectionist approach to good sound. And that's why tubes are reappearing in original equipment, in high end consumer and professional audio systems.

Published twice a year, in June and December, Glass Audio will inform you about new innovations in the field and about parts sources. We'll also include modification projects, reviews of technical basics and regular columns such as Tube Troubles, Tube Tips and much more.

WIRELESS COMMUNICATION IN THE UNITED STATES

The Early Development of American Radio
Operating Companies

BY THORN L. MAYES, W6AX
240 Pages - 160 Illustrations

The glory days of high powered wireless, 300,000 watt spark transmitters, 1,000,000 watt arc transmitters and mighty Alexanderson alternators with antennas as long as nine miles.

Factual accounts of alternators, arcs and sparks, and of coherers, barretters and tikkers!

Unscrupulous stock promotions that by chance yielded technical breakthroughs.

Excerpts from unpublished letters of pioneers and early drawings of quenched gap spark transmitters.

Prepared for publication by Westinghouse engineer, Arthur C. Goodnow, W1DM.

DISPLAY ADVERTISEMENTS

Kurt & Diane Nauck
are delighted to announce their 3rd
TREMENDOUS MUSIC AUCTION

consisting of fine and rare
78 rpm RECORDS, CYLINDERS & DIAMOND DISCS

Included in this auction will be examples from the following categories:

- * Berliners
- * Early Classical & Operatic
- * Electric Diamond Discs
- * Victor Picture Records
- * Pre-Dog Victors
- * Puzzle Records
- * Mercury Picture Records
- * Rare Jazz & Blues

- * Edison Sample Records
- * Edison Long Plays
- * Vogue Picture Records
- * ...and much, much more!

In addition to records, this auction will contain rare books and catalogs, piano rolls, phonographs, parts and accessories. The records pictured on this page comprise some of the lots to be found in the auction.

If you were not a bidder in our last auction, you may receive a copy of the auction catalog by sending $3.00 along with your name, address, phone number and a want list if you have one. We will be mailing catalogs beginning in April, and the auction itself will close in June. This is a MAIL auction, not a public one, so you bid from your own home. (You wouldn't want to come to Houston in the summertime, anyway!)

If you have valuable records to sell, we would be very interested to hear from you. We pay fair prices for good material, and will travel to inspect sizeable collections. Please call us or, better yet, send a list of your records. We look forward to doing business with you!

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING POLICY

ONE FREE 20-WORD AD for subscribers in each issue; additional words are 10¢ each. See details below. All classified ads must be received (not just postmarked!) by the ad deadline. Late ads are held for the following issue. Please enclose correct payment with all ads. Stamps or cash are OK for small amounts. (Canadian and other foreign advertisers, please see "Payment" on page two for methods.) "Free words" cannot be accumulated from month to month; free words must be requested when ad is submitted.

Please write each ad on a separate sheet of paper, especially when included with other A.R.C. correspondence. Include SUB# with ad. Ads may be sent in advance; but, write each ad on a separate piece of paper and indicate the month (or successive two months) you want the ad to run.

Please write legibly and use both capital and small letters. Do not use dashes between words. Some numbers and letters can look alike, for example 1, l and I (the number one, the capital I and the small L.) Write the following characters clearly (especially in model numbers): 1, l and I; 0, O, o, Q and D; r and n; 6, b and G; V, U, u, v and Y; A and R; 5, S and s; 2, Z and z. We try to correct spelling errors, so when using an uncommon word or manufacturer which looks similar to a common word or manufacturer, note it so that we do not "correct" it. Editor's comments are in [brackets].

Advertising is accepted only for items related to antique radios, communication, electricity, etc. All items must be described fairly; reproductions, reprints and not-original items must be identified as such. Advertisers agree to respond promptly to inquiries and orders, and to resolve problems promptly if the buyer is not satisfied.

Publisher reserves the right to edit ads without notification to the advertiser and to reject ads for any reason. Publisher is not responsible for errors due to illegibly written ads or for any other reason. Since club activities receive free advertising on the Coming Radio Events page, the free 20 words may not be used for club activity ads. See inside front cover for additional information.

CLASSIFIED AD DETAILS

Deadline: 10th of the month!

Classified ads must have a standard heading such as WANTED, FOR SALE, FOR TRADE, FOR SALE/TRADE, SERVICES, MESSAGE, HELP, etc. This heading is the only bold or all-capitalized words allowed in the ad. Capitalize only manufacturer names, model names, etc. Wanted and For Sale ads are mixed together to encourage the reading of all ads, including the Wanted ads. This standard ad format makes scanning the ads easier.

Before writing your ad, please look over the ads in a recent issue of A.R.C., and try to write your ad in the same style. Full name and address is required in all classified ads; we will add it if you forget.

To encourage varied content of the ads, multiple insertions of the same classified ad are limited to two successive months. (To run an ad longer, use a boxed classified or display ad.)

Classified Ad Rates per Month

Subscribers:

First 20 words: FREE***

10¢ per word for extra words over 20 plus

10¢ per word for a shaded ad (count all words including free words).

* Subscribers may take 20 free words on only one ad each month.

Non-Subscribers:

20¢ per word plus

10¢ per word for shaded ad.

Please do not forget to send in the extra 10¢ per word when your classified ad runs over the free 20 words; your payment will be appreciated, and it will help to keep A.R.C. healthy.

BOXED CLASSIFIED AD DETAILS

Deadline: 5th of the month!

Boxed classified ads can run unchanged for three months or more. No words are free. Ads may be shaded and may include bold and all-capitalized words freely. The ad need not begin with For Sale, etc.

Minimum run is 3 months, prepaid.

Boxed Classified Ad Rates per Month

Nonshaded ads:

16¢ per word for all words,* none free, plus

10¢ per word for each bold word plus

10¢ per word for each all-caps word.

Shaded Ads:

26¢ per word for all words* plus

10¢ per word for each all-caps word.

Note: All words in shaded ads are bold.

Non-Subscribers:

Add 15¢ per word to above costs.

*Three of the total words can be bold-all-caps at no extra charge.

PHOTO & DRAWING DETAILS

Deadline for classified and boxed classified ads with drawings or photos: 5th of the month.

Drawings and photos are encouraged as the response to your ad is much larger and the reader knows better what you want or are selling. Send in your drawing or photograph, and A.R.C. will reduce it or enlarge it as needed.

Photo and Drawing Rates per Month

$6.00 per month for each photo or drawing

IMPORTANT — COUNTING WORDS — IMPORTANT

The standard headings: WANTED, FOR SALE, etc., count as one word each time used in an ad. Name, address and (one) telephone number, count as 6 words, regardless of length. Ham call letters and business name can be included in the 6 words and do not count extra. Full name and address is required in all classified ads — it does not cost extra! Each additional word, abbreviation, model number or number group, extra telephone numbers, etc. count as one word. Hyphenated words count as two words.
