DISPLAY AND BUSINESS CARD ADS - DETAILS AND RATES

The deadline is the first of the month for display and business card ad artwork, payment and repeat requests.

Advertising is accepted only for early items related to radio, communication, etc. All items must be described fairly; reproductions, reprints and not-original items must be so identified. Advertisers agree to respond promptly to inquiries and orders, and to resolve problems promptly if the buyer is not satisfied.

All advertising must be prepaid; see "Payment" paragraph above. Late ads will be run only if space and time permit. Since artwork is reduced to 63% in the printing process, originals must be the artwork size listed below. Do not send in artwork on art board or send negatives. Ads should be typeset or typed neatly with a carbon ribbon, black printing on white. No reverse type if A.R.C. is to make up the ad. If you want us to prepare your ad, include the one-time cost below for A.R.C. to make up the ad.

Photos should be at an 85 line screen; otherwise, add $10.00 per photo for screening. Do not cut or trim photos or glue photos to artwork; submit separately.

If you are confused by these requirements and terms, please contact A.R.C. before beginning to prepare your ad. We will be happy to advise you on your ad ideas, estimate how much the ad will cost, recommend an ad size, etc.

We assume that advertisers want all ads which are submitted to run without delay; therefore, we will run the ad and bill for any additional work required for the ad to meet these specifications. A late ad will be run beginning with the next month. "Tear sheets" will be sent only for 1/2 and full page ads, and if requested when the ad is submitted.

Business card ads are limited to one per advertiser.

The 3-month rates represent about a 10% discount, the 6-month rates, 20%. Placement requests for display ads: add 15% but call first. Clubs: write for discount policy.

EDITOR'S COMMENTS

This month, two of our contributors strike strong nostalgic themes — one social, the other political — reminding us of how the history of radio has reflected life in the 20th century.

On the social side, Carl Shirley's Our Boys article evokes the times when the "all-American boy" was encouraged to be a model of industry and integrity through such publications as the pamphlet featured on our cover. "Our boys" sold magazines, door-to-door, for the Saturday Evening Post and other Curtis Publishing magazines. Prizes were awarded depending on how many subscriptions were sold, and in 1922 the prizes included radio sets. If you remember getting a radio set as a prize, how about a note (brief, please) about your experience.

On the political side, Harold Iserning's article on the Sears "Election Model" radio seems more than timely. In 1936, not only was Franklin D. Roosevelt running for a second term, he was also running against the governor of a small state — Alfred M. Landon of Kansas. Taking advantage of the season, Sears put out its 5-tube set and touted it as an "Election Model."

Radio Miscellanea returns to the pages of A.R.C. after several years' absence. In response to many requests for a regular letters column, we will now include as often as possible an extra page for letters, comments, and short items of general interest.

Richard Arnold contributes an article on the uncommon Atwater Kent Model 21, which is often mistaken for the more common Model 20 Compact. Although their panels are (almost) the same, the 5-tube Model 21 uses Type 199 tubes instead of the more common Type 201-A tubes used in the Model 20.

Communications receivers are represented in this issue by Ronald Oberholtzer's article on the Lafayette KT-320, a set that he built from a kit years ago.

Our report on the Antique Radio Club of Illinois' Radiofest 1992 includes the $30,000-plus auction, as well as an interesting panoramic flea market photo taken by Bill Ross. With over 800 guests attending and over 300 seller permits issued, is this becoming the largest annual radio event?

We also have a report of an auction on June 13,

PRINTED WITHOUT COMMENT

Tim Verthein reports that he has taken immediate steps to correct his outstanding problems. He also reports that he has had nearly 200 customers over the past 16 months, and he does his best to "run an honest shop and have customers open their packages or pick up their radios, and smile."

1992, by the Larry Ruder Auction Service, which is planning additional radio auctions in the future.

Following up on his February 1992 article on reforming electrolytic capacitors, James Di Ruzza provides us with additional information on this useful procedure.

A good cross section of today's collectibles graces this month's Photo Review section. There you will see a tombstone, a cathedral, and a portable, as well as sets in the following categories: foreign, plastic, Art Deco, and 50s novelty.

100th Issue. November 1992 marks our 100th issue, and as a way to celebrate, we will have a few added pages. A full report is planned on the September Antique Wireless Association conference, auction and events. Additional comments on repairing IF transformers are beginning to come in and may be included in the November issue. If you wish to add to the information, send your comments in as quickly as possible.

Multiday meets on the horizon include the Oct. 16-18 Vintage Radio and Phonograph Society convention in the Dallas, Texas area; the Oct. 30-31 fall show in Mississippi; the Ohio Buckeye group's show on Oct. 31-Nov. 1 in Ohio; and the Southern California club's meet on Nov. 20-21.

A.R.C. leads in antique radio! No other monthly radio publication comes within 20% of A.R.C.'s numbers: over 7400 subscribers and over 700 classified ads each month. As a source of buyers and sellers, and as a forum for information exchange, we receive many kudos from grateful subscribers. In the words of a new subscriber, "...I am delighted with your publication — such a wealth of information!" And from an advertiser, "...The response was tremendous!" Which brings us to the next subject..

Renew Now and Save! Again, a reminder so that you will not be surprised on January 1st when, after 18 months of no increase, subscription and advertising rates will have to be increased a bit over 10%. Call or write to renew/extend your subscription at the current rates to avoid the increase.

That's all for now. I'm off to the A.W.A. conference while this issue is being printed. Hope to see you there. Happy collecting.

John V. Terrey

ON THE COVER

When Carl Shirley sent us the October 1922 issue of Our Boys, it seemed a "natural" for our cover seventy years later. Our Boys was a pamphlet mailed to boys who sold magazines for Curtis Publishing. Although Carl Shirley was one of those boys, he found this pamphlet at an antique mall.

The cover is reprinted with the permission of The Curtis Publishing Company.

RADIO MISCELLANEA

"Antique Radio Classified" invites its readers to contribute letters and information for inclusion in "Radio Miscellanea" and elsewhere in the magazine. The topic should be of general interest and sent to A.R.C., P.O. Box 2, Carlisle, MA 01741. All material submitted should be verified for accuracy and may be edited for publication, which is not guaranteed. See the masthead for more details.

Belated Vintage Quiz Answers

Dear Editor:

Although I spent several hours working on your Vintage Quiz (A.R.C., December 1991) I didn't get around to sending in my choices. I graded myself on the answers in the February issue and received a 9½. May I suggest the following alternate answers to those given:

3. Plug
6. Cathode ("Cat-throwed")
10. Meter ("Meat-er")
14. Short wave
17. Crystal ("Cry-still")

On No. 16, the clue is "to be" (peanut to be).

On No. 18, I didn't recognize the button logo on the blouse until I read the answer. Perhaps the original publication had larger drawings.

Anyway, it was fun. Let us have more in the future.

Dear Editor:

Last issue [September 1992, p. 15], Gary Arnold of North Carolina asked for information about a man in a picture he had. ...Last summer, I purchased some photos from a dealer in Columbus, Ohio. The pictures were supposedly from a Cleveland newspaper morgue, and they caught my fancy. Included is a photo identical to the one Mr. Arnold is curious about. On the back of my copy is the following:

James Harris Rogers of Hyattsville, Md., is the inventor of an underground radio system by which wireless message may be sent and received under ground or water without the use of aerials. The chief and obvious advantage of the invention is that it eliminates or greatly reduces static disturbances, both voluntary and involuntary, which have hitherto interfered with the complete success of wireless. The invention was practically perfected when the U. S. entered the war, and Mr. Rogers promptly offered it to the Navy. It has been adopted, and played no small part in winning the war.

In this photograph, Mr. Rogers is shown with the apparatus which he has installed in his own premises, where he has received messages from Berlin, Paris, and Rome. At his feet is a small case which contains a portable outfit for setting up anywhere a wire can be stuck in the ground. This portable apparatus can communicate with the nearby home station as well as receive messages from afar.

January 17, 1919, Copyright by Harris & Ewing

There's a handwritten note that Rogers died on December 12, 1920.

Hope [this information] helps.

Karen McCoy, Oklahoma City, OK

Dear Editor:

Kudos to A.R.C.

Dear Editor:

I really look forward to the arrival of A.R.C. every month. Thank you for helping the antique radio hobby "happen" and gain respectability. People are starting to have good feelings and experience nostalgia when they see a radio that reminds them of some happy memory. Someday, the popularity of our hobby will allow me to open my private "Nevins Museum of Radio" to the public...

...I feel privileged to be a part of such a neat hobby. Thanks to everybody for their help.

Kenneth R. Nevins, Blissfield, MI

Emerson Radio Identification

Dear Editor:

Just a short note concerning the Emerson radio listed as "Model Unknown" in Photo Review on page 16 of the July 1992 issue. According to A Blast From the Past, it is Model DB315 (see page 261) and was introduced in 1940. Some reference books list it as being introduced in 1939. I have the same model and its serial number is DB-3182984.

French Polishing and Finish Restoration

Dear Editor:

There is a very good article on French polishing and finish restoration in Fine Woodworking, June 1992, p. 46. Of particular interest is [information on] how to build up areas of missing finish and how to color these areas.

Our Boys Work to Win Radios

BY CARL SHIRLEY

In the 1920s, '30s, and '40s, countless thousands of boys in America were "employed" by national companies to sell goods door-to-door in their hometowns. These young entrepreneurs earned a small amount of money, but worked primarily for prizes, which were awarded based on the quantity of items sold and the value of the premiums.

A small monthly magazine called Our Boys was sent to what was apparently a huge number of young salesmen of The Saturday Evening Post, The Home Journal, and The Country Gentleman — all products of the Curtis Publishing Company. Our Boys informed these "P-J-G" salesmen, as they were called, about forthcoming articles in the company's magazines, provided them with tips on better salesmanship, entertained them with jokes, and told them stories about the accomplishments of other boys.

In addition, the magazine undertook a little moral training and encouraged the boys to do well in all their endeavors: "The successful P-J-G salesman will set aside a part of each day for study, another for play, another for his Curtis business, and will do his level best to make a high mark in every one of them."

The super premium for October 1922 was the Aeriola Senior set, shown in Figure 1. Any boy could earn this set by selling a whopping 800 more copies of The Home Journal than he had sold in August. Other prizes included a Gled radio crystal set, shown in Figure 2, and Federal 53-W headphones.

The cover of the October 1922 issue [reproduced on our cover] illustrates the pleasure the boys would have from the radio prize they had worked so hard to win. In addition, the article reprinted on the following pages entitled "When You Hook Up Your Radio Outfit" both generated and reflected the excitement of radio in the early 1920s.

(More "Our Boys" on following pages.)

(Carl R. Shirley, 824 Fairwood Dr., Columbia, SC 29209)

Our Boys excerpts and illustrations are reprinted with permission of the Curtis Publishing Company.

Carl Shirley, Professor of Spanish at the University of South Carolina, collects 1930s sets. As a boy, he sold both magazines and save and knew the lure of winning wonderful prizes, such as radios.

Figure 1. This Aeriola Sr. radio receiving set was a prize to any boy selling over 800 more copies of "The Home Journal" than he had sold in August. The booklet describes the set as "...an up-to-the-minute, reliable 'bulb' radio receiving set. The set is portable and the upkeep expense very small. Outfit includes 1 aëriotron W.D.-11 D vacuum tube, 1 filament dry cell, 1 plate dry battery, head telephone receivers, antenna equipment and full instructions."

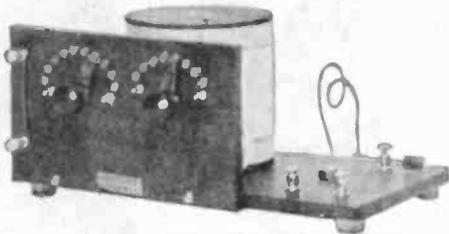

Figure 2. This Gled crystal radio was awarded to any boy who sold 140 more copies of "The Home Journal" than he had sold in August. It was described as: "A complete crystal receiving set made from U.S. Government Bureau of Standards plans. As soon as you have rigged up your aerial and secured your headphones, you'll be ready to operate."

When You Hook Up

WHAT were you doing last year at this time? We'll bet if somebody had told you last fall that in another year you could have a wireless telephone installed in your own house you would have said he was crazy.

But now you have the opportunity to earn a real radio receiving set. Several weeks from now, if you get busy and sign up regular customers, the expressman may stop at your house and hand you a large box in which is your radio outfit. Oh, boy! Then the fun begins. We can imagine how thrilled you will be, how your hands will tremble when you start to open the box!

"Mother! Look!" you cry. "My radio is here! Where is my screw-driver?"

Of course you know where it is, but you're a little excited.

Now the box is opened. You take out the antenna equipment, aëriotron WD-11-B vacuum tube, filament dry cell, plate dry battery, headphones and the receiving instrument itself.

"Ah! Here is the instruction sheet. What shall I do first? Oh yes, 'erect antenna.'"

Probably you had selected the location for your aërial long before the receiving set arrived. If you live in a small town and there is a distance of about 150 feet between your house and a neighboring house or garage you will begin immediately to stretch the No. 14 copper-weld antenna wire between the highest points of the two buildings.

If you live in the city the roof of your house is the logical location for your aërial.

You'll have lots of fun erecting the antenna and you'll find that it really is a very simple task.

Into the room that you select, through the window nearest your aërial, you bring the lead-in wire. The protector is then fastened to the window frame and a "ground" is made to the water pipe.

Oh, boy! Real sport this winter on your Scout hikes. Strap the Aëriola Sr. on your back, sling a wire over a tree branch and pick up news from home.

You are ready now to hook up to your instrument, place headphones on your ears and pick up a wireless message.

Will you enjoy it? We'll say so!

A few twists—and all is secure outside the top-floor window.

Then the antenna wire is stretched over to the roof of the garage. A long span, high above the ground, brings great results.

You'll Have Lots of Fun

The insulated "lead-in" wire goes through the porcelain tube right into your radio den, where you and your chums are due to spend many a thrilling evening.

A reprint of page 6 of "Our Boys," October 1922, shows a winner hooking up his radio prize.

—Your Radio Outfit

WE'VE been talking a whole lot about the Aëriola Sr. Radio outfit, but don't forget that there's another radio receiving set offered—the crystal set.

We (meaning the Editor of OUR BOYS) have had some interesting experiences with this little crystal set, so suppose we tell you all about it:

We had been talking with the Voucher

A new bulb was inserted, and even then they couldn't pick up anything from XYZ Station. Aha! They didn't know that the musicians were having their pictures taken.

Man about radio and asked him if the crystal set really worked. He handed over one of the "Gled" Knock-Down Outfits and said: "Take it home and try it out for yourself."

That night we opened the box, spread out all the material, and got to work following the plans outlined in the book of instructions. It only took a couple of hours to completely assemble the set. It sure was an interesting job. Every piece of the apparatus was lettered, showing where one part fitted on to the other. It was more fun and more instructive than working out a puzzle. Easier, too!

The next day we put up our aerial. Now, although a good aerial is supposed to be somewhere around one hundred feet long, we had room on our roof for only about fifty feet, so we took broomsticks and put them up front and back, stretched the wire, and ran the lead-in down to the set. Next we ran our "ground" wire to a radiator pipe, put on the headphones and adjusted the little "cat whisker" on the crystal detector.

That evening the Wanamaker Store here in Philadelphia broadcasted a three-hour musical program, and we didn't miss one single minute of it. The piano solos and violin music and singing and everything was just as clear as though we were hearing it over a telephone!

Almost every evening since then we've been enjoying concerts sent from stations anywhere from five to eight miles away.

We were really surprised how simple it was to set up one of the "Gled" Knock-down sets. But we were more surprised at the wonderful way the outfit worked!

—Erecting Your Aerial

Almost finished now! When the wires are connected with the P. A. Protector your house is protected during all thunder storms—more so than it was before.

Now you're ready to hook up to your Aëriola Sr. receiver, put the phones on and—

Listen in to a good concert. Ana say! Maybe "Sis" won't enjoy it, too.

A reprint of page 7 of "Our Boys," October 1922. The article describes the excitement of a potential winner as he assembles his prize — a Gled crystal set.

Sears Silvertone Model 4500 The Election Model Radio

BY HAROLD ISENRING

Harold Isenring reminds us that times haven't changed. Election news coverage was as important in 1936 as it is in 1992, and the radio industry hastened to meet the demands of the day. (Editor)

The Sears Silvertone Model 4500 radio, shown in Figures 1 and 2, was promoted in 1936 as the "Election Model" to appeal to the voters' appetite for news coverage about the coming presidential election. The radio coverage of the 1936 election was sure to eclipse that of 1932.

Model 4500 is a good example of the innovative radio designs built by the Colonial Radio Corp., 254 Rano St., Buffalo, New York. Colonial was the prime source of radios for Sears Roebuck & Co. from the early 1930s to the late 1940s. Since 1936 was Sears' 50th anniversary year, special effort was made to create quality in the Model 4500.

THE COMPONENTS

As noted in the diagram in Figure 3, the set uses 5 tubes, 2 Type 6D6s in the tuned RF stages, a Type 6C6 detector, a Type 43 audio output and a Type 1V rectifier. The first RF input is untuned and includes the set's volume control. Both RF tube cathodes are controlled. A 2-gang variable capacitor tunes both RF stages. The 6C6 power detector drives the Class A 43 output tube to about 1 watt into a 5-inch electromagnet speaker. The audio range is from 100 to 3000 Hz. (AM stations in 1936 did not broadcast audio beyond 3800 Hz.) A very stable, well bypassed source for the 15 volts required by the Type 6C6 detector screen was obtained by connecting it to the Type 43 cathode.

The 4500 was one of the first radios to use the new iron core coils in the RF stages. Because of these coils, the set is unusually selective for a 2-RF stage TRF radio. The RF pentode plates are loaded up on RF chokes. The signal is "over the top" coupled by a 15 pF capacitor to the tuned iron core RF coils.

The 4500 is different from the usual, hot running, midget radios of its day. It has no internal filament ballast resistors or hot line cords. It is a cool operating set — it has a power transformer!

The power transformer is of the auto type, making the chassis hot to ground. The cabinet completely encloses the chassis. The bottom metal pan is insulated from the chassis by four rubber, mushroom-type insulators. Later versions used a power transformer with a separate primary winding. A bypass capacitor from one side of the line to the chassis was added to eliminate hum modulation on powerful local stations.

An AC-DC chassis was made available for the DC districts that still existed downtown in some of our large cities in 1936. The Type 1V rectifier and power transformer were replaced with a 25Z5 voltage doubler and a ballast resistor in the line cord. A screwdriver is required to switch the set manually from AC to DC.

THE CABINET

The cabinet made by Chicago Molded Products is of solid color Bakelite. The special dyes for the cabinet cost around $20,000. Early production had three colors — black, brown and ivory. Many other colors were added in 1937. The black one, Model 4500, sold for $10.95 —

Sears Roebuck and Co.

Election Model. Made to sell at a low price, this "compact" offers many features. The cabinet is moulded in modern design and may be had in 3 color schemes. Five tubes are used and the speaker is of the dynamic type, enabling fine reproduction of the 2 W. of audio power. The dial is calibrated in Kc from 540 to 1,720; which is the tuning range of the receiver. An iron core antenna coil assures high sensitivity from the TRF circuit.

Radio-Craft, October, 1936, p. 204.

$8.88 on sale. Ivory was $2 more.

The antenna is a hank of flexible wire usually stretched out in back of the cabinet and hidden under the rug. Loop antennas were not to be rediscovered until 1938.

1936 was the start of Sears' present identification system. Each set was identified as to its cabinet style by a model number. Changes to the cabinet caused a letter to follow the original model number. The original Model 4500 was black with a white dial. Model 4500A was black with a more eye-pleasing black tuning dial with gold lettering.

The chassis have their own numbering system. Model 4500A had a chassis Number 101393. The first three numbers are the source number for Colonial Radio Corp. In this case, 393 was the actual chassis identification. If a change was made in the chassis, the number was increased.

Atwater Kent Model 21 Compact Dry Cell Receiving Set

BY RICHARD ARNOLD

In the summer of 1925 the Atwater Kent Company made what turned out to be a limited edition, very special radio — the compact Model 21.

This 5-tube, tuned radio frequency (TRF), dry cell radio looked just like the Model 20C (20 Compact), except for the chassis. See Figure 1. Instead of using the standard 201-A tubes as the other Series 20 radios did, the Model 21 used the RCA short-pin, UV base 199 dry cell tube, as seen in Figure 2.

An Atwater Kent ad reads as follows:

Model 21 compact dry cell receiving set. This model is exactly the same in size and finish as the Model 20 compact, except its electrical assembly is designed for the use of dry cell tubes and dry cell batteries. It is especially useful in those places where storage battery charging facilities are not available.

Two stages of TRF amplification, a detector and two stages of audio frequency amplification. Non-squealing, non-radiating. Part No. 7780 Model 21 compact receiving set including battery cable, but without tubes, $80.00.

Note the manufacturer's label and warranty label on the bottom of the photo in Figure 3.

Radio manufacturers of the time, except, it would seem, for Atwater Kent, were putting pressure on RCA, the maker of the UV199 tube, to stop making the short-pin UV base in favor of the longer pin UX base. The UV 199 tube had a small bayonet pin protruding from one side of its base. As the tube was pushed down into the restraining shell, the bayonet pin would lock into place when engaged in the L-shaped slot of the shell. The

AK 21 Ring Design

By Dave Crocker

It is possible to distinguish an AK Model 21 from an AK Model 20 Compact by looking only at the front panel! Look carefully at the small bump, or bubble, at the top center of the rheostat control unit — the unit on the far right in Figure 1 above. The Model 21 has a ring molded into the bump whereas the Model 20, like all other AK models, has a smooth bump without a ring as shown below:

AK 21

Other AK Models

Atwater Kent expert Ralph O. Williams has suggested that the Model 21 ring design provided a way for assembly line workers to distinguish the unique rheostat control unit used in the Model 21 (required for the 1 ½-volt Type 199 tubes) from the unit used in other models.

manufacturers wished to eliminate the much more expensive tube-restraining shell of the UV199 for a less expensive spring clip design that simply grasped the longer pins as they were pushed down into the sockets.

RCA complied and began to manufacture the UX199. This new tube was unusable in the smaller rings of the Model 21 because the side pin had been eliminated and a rim had been placed around the UX base.

Atwater Kent had just put the Model 21 into production when all this happened. The company had made 17,584 sets when it stopped production in 1925. No Model 21 receivers were made in 1926. However, factory records indicate that 7,208 of the ones made in 1925 were returned to the factory in 1926. This means that only about 10,376 of the radios found their way into household service.

Why Atwater Kent wasn't aware of this major tube design change that would adversely affect one of its production radios is unclear. It is clear, however, that Atwater Kent made no other radios using either the UV or UX199 dry cell tubes.

Since 1985, Richard Arnold's collecting interest has been primarily in cathedrals and 1920s battery sets. His collection of over 60 radios ranges from crystal sets to a 1928 American Bosch desk radio in a Pooley cabinet. His prize is the 1932 Jackson Bell Peter Pan featured in the June 1991 issue of A.R.C.

PHOTO REVIEW

This column presents in pictorial form many of the more unusual radios, speakers, tubes, advertising, and other old radio-related items from our readers' collections. The photos are meant to help increase awareness of what's available in the radio collecting hobby. Send in any size photos from your collection. Photos must be sharp in detail, contain a single item, and preferably have a light-colored background. A short, descriptive paragraph MUST be included with each photo. Please note that receipt of photos is not acknowledged, publishing is not guaranteed, and photos are not returned.

SHARP MODEL UC228 - This Japanese set, probably from the early 1950s, uses miniature tubes and operates on the broadcast band and 3.98 to 12 Mc on the shortwave band. The nameplate on the left side says "Harpers." (Doyle Roberts - Clinton, AR)

SHELLEY RADIO CO. - This "Commuter" radio, manufactured in Los Angeles, Ca., around 1937, features an Art Deco Bakelite front, but the rest of the cabinet is wood. The Golden Gate bridge and San Francisco Bay are drawn on the translucent celluloid dial. The grille cloth is not original. (Adam Schoolsky - Fremont, CA)

VIKING CATHEDRAL - This set resembles the style of the Ozarka Co. products. It has a 5-tube chassis of 1931 vintage and uses a projection of the needle on the dial face to indicate stations. Does anyone recognize the name of the manufacturer? (Walter V. Worth - Wollaston, MA)

MAJESTIC MODEL 7P420 - This 1948 portable AC-DC battery set has Majestic's slogan and logo prominently displayed on the front of the set. It uses 7 miniature tubes. (Doug Burskey - Mansfield, OH)

PHOTO REVIEW

EVEREADY CO. (GREAT BRITAIN) LTD. MODEL J "SAUCE PAN" RADIO - This battery set (90 V B, 1 1/2 V A) was marketed by Eveready's export company. First manufactured in 1950, the set was designed for sale in isolated districts of underdeveloped countries, particularly Africa. (I bought my set in 1951, and I wonder if it is possibly the only one in this country. (Ken Greenberg - Skokie, IL))

ATWATER KENT MODEL 856 - Made in 1935, this set is an example of some of Atwater Kent's last products. It has 3 wave bands and uses 6 metal tubes and an 8" electro-dynamic speaker. (Doug Burskey - Mansfield, OH)

SATELLITE RADIO - This funny set was made by Aurora Plastics Corp. in West Hempstead, New York, in the late 1950s. (Erwin Macho - Vienna, Austria)

FADA MODEL 167A BATTERY SET - This set was made in 1924 as a kit set before Fada started manufacturing assembled radios. The case is my own home brew design in oak wood. This is a 5-tube straight neutrodyne circuit. Note the binding posts for the batteries along the front bottom. Later models removed them to the rear. (Walter V. Worth - Wollaston, MA)

COMMUNICATIONS RECEIVERS

The Lafayette KT-320 Communications Receiver

BY RONALD L. OBERHOLTZER

Back in 1942, I went to work for RCA as a tester. I wanted to test transmitters, but that line had not yet started production. Instead, I began aligning and smoke testing AR-44 receivers. After about two months at this job, I had developed a warm spot in my heart for a communications receiver; however, the war interfered with my desire to own one.

After the war was over, I tried some of the receivers available but was not satisfied with any I could afford. I had assembled dozens of small kits — many produced by Lafayette Radio, a company that stocked everything in the radio line, much like Radio Shack today.

In 1961, Lafayette advertised a communications receiver in either kit or finished form. This turned out to be just what I was looking for. This radio had everything a shortwave listener or ham could desire. Of course I bought the kit, Model KT-320, shown in Figure 1. Two notable goodies were a Q multiplier and provisions for single sideband (SSB) reception. In all, there were 11 front panel controls and a professional finish on the steel cabinet.

The instruction book was much better than I had expected, with a 2-sided 16- x 20-inch parts location and wiring diagram. As I completed each step, I found many more pages with good diagrams. The larger diagrams were included in the book, reduced to page size but still very readable. The assembly was beginning to look quite regal, and I hoped that it would work as well as it looked.

FEATURES

As can be seen in Figure 1, the dial face is an elaborate piece with 4 main bands and 6 band-spread markings calibrated for the ham bands. A vertical tuning meter is on the left-hand side of the dial glass. Along the bottom from left to right is a phone jack, the function switch, the audio gain control, a selectivity control, the Q multiplier-BFO (beat frequency oscillator) controls, the band select switch, an IF gain control, an antenna trim control, and two toggle switches for manual or automatic gain and automatic noise limiter on-off. On the right side are the main tuning and band-spread tuning controls. For a cheap receiver, all these features are a big plus.

The function switch has four positions: OFF, REC-AM, SEND, Q-MULT. The SEND position takes the B-plus off the two IF tubes to quiet the receiver during transmission. This SEND position is connected to a jack on the rear of the set for a station automatic cut off during transmissions. The Q-MULT position is for SSB and continuous wave (CW) reception. The two toggle switches are set to MVC (manual volume control) and ANL-OFF (automatic noise limiter-off) for CW and SSB operation.

ASSEMBLY

Assembly is straightforward, and the wiring instructions are quite easy to follow. In the appropriate places, simple tests are listed to keep you on the right track. On completion of the wiring, more simple tests are recommended before the smoke test. A full-page chart lists all pertinent voltages before alignment. After IF alignment, the BFO and Q-multiplier are adjusted quite easily because of good design. The RF alignment is most complicated and covers two pages. I connected a 100 Kc and 1 Mc marker generator, zeroed to station WWV for RF alignment. This resulted in a precision alignment which holds today!

About here I should explain that a terminal strip on the rear provides connections for a matching 8-ohm speaker. A headphone jack on the front panel shuts off the speaker when a phone plug is inserted. The instruction book then describes the design and construction of suitable antennas, followed by connections for automatic shutoff when transmitting. Several pages give hints on operation of the controls. Circuit theory, dial stringing, a good schematic and a spread list of worldwide shortwave stations complete the instruction book.

This has been one of the best kit projects ever. The instruction book has no errors and is more than adequate, much more than average. The material furnished is very good, and the design is excellent. I live on the East Coast, and this set still brings in WWVH in Hawaii when the skip is right. For a 31-year old kit, I think this reception is exceptional. Lafayette Company is long gone, but this product still serves its purpose.

(Ronald L. Oberholtzer, 604 Winslow Ave., North Cape May, NJ 08204-3054)

Ronald Oberholtzer has been interested in radio since his boyhood in the early 1920s, when he and his father, using a WD-12 tube, built sets for neighbors and friends. His long career in electronics ranged from working on RCA's first radar set to projects focusing on underwater sound and missiles and on computers. He holds a First Class Radio-Telephone ticket with a radar endorsement.

RADIO MISCELLANEA

Forbes Mentions A.R.C.

A.R.C. was pleased to be mentioned as a resource for antique radio/TV information in Forbes magazine, August 17, 1992. The article entitled "Pioneers of the Wireless Society" by Christie Brown alerts the uninitiated to the fact that ours is "a collecting arena where prices have not jumped over the moon." Brown points out that for serious collectors what really counts is not operability but "a model's rarity, historical significance or outstanding design." He refers to the well-known collections of Chicago dentist Barry Janov and advertising executive Daniel Gustafson. Janov started with a 1931 GE tombstone radio in 1970 and now has over 200 radios dating from 1916 to 1960. Gustafson's TV collection, dating from 1927 to 1961, is one of the largest in the world. The two friends meet every Sunday to exchange radio/TV news. Both Barry and Dan are among A.R.C.'s earliest subscribers, and we're happy that they find A.R.C. a useful resource. (Editor)

More on Auction Prices

On the issue of listing or not listing auction buybacks or seller's reserves: buybacks should be [listed] because they are almost as valid as true sales. For example, if I buy back my radio at $300, someone else in the audience obviously bid $290 or $295. Thus, buyback prices are only slightly higher than the best bids in the group and are legitimate indicators of value! Reserve limits, on the other hand, are not very useful since they may be much higher than the best bid.

MEET & AUCTION REPORT

ARCI — Radiofest 1992 August 6-8 — Elgin, Illinois

COMPILED FROM REPORTS BY BILL ROSS AND JEFF AULIK

The Antique Radio Club of Illinois (ARCI) held its annual Radiofest on August 6-8, 1992, at the Holiday Inn Holidome/Convention Center in Elgin, Illinois. This tenth anniversary meet was a tremendous success by any measure. Ideal weather, over 300 sellers' permits issued for the flea market, and more than 800 guests from 39 states and 5 countries combined to make this the largest Radiofest ever. The panoramic view of the flea market on these pages, taken by Bill Ross, gives a sense of the enormity of this event.

The main exhibit, capably orchestrated by Scott Hagerman, featured radios and televisions of the Art Deco period. Chrome-front, mirror and other seldom seen sets of the 1930s, including a pre-war GE television, rounded out the display. Tours of the new Motorola Museum and Ralph Murchow's Historical Radio Museum were another interesting offering, and both were well attended. Several items from this display, plus a few old equipment contest entries are shown here.

The Thursday night auction included 375 lots which sold for over $30,000. (This total excludes seller buybacks of about $3,000 and lots failing to receive a minimum $25 opening bid.)

Among the more interesting items were several seldom seen crystal sets selling in the $300 range, such as the Beaver Baby Grand and Lambert sets. Prices for foreign crystal sets were strong — up to $700. The Atwater Kent breadboards, not in the best of condition, were not the most sought-after models and fetched no more than $625. A Regency TR-1, the first transistor radio, brought $325.

ARCI expects to book the entire Elgin Holiday Inn for Radiofest 1993, August 4-7. Plan on being there.

The following is a selection of items offered, excluding buybacks and items failing to receive the minimum bid of $25. Conditions are as described by the seller.

More on Reforming Aluminum Electrolytic Capacitors

BY JAMES A. DI RUZZA

In his article "Replacement of Electrolytic Capacitors in AC/DC Radios" (February 1992 issue of A.R.C.), James Di Ruzza discussed the need for reforming electrolytic capacitors. This article provides additional information on the subject, including a method for reforming the dielectric in electrolytic capacitors. (Editor)

As I described in a previous article, if an aluminum foil-type electrolytic capacitor is not used for a period of time, it will develop a higher than normal leakage current due to the loss of its film dielectric. This loss of dielectric will occur if the capacitor is installed in a radio that has not been operated for a year or more, or if the capacitor is new and left idle on the shelf. The period of time the capacitor has spent in an idle state will determine the amount of increase in its leakage current.

All electrolytic capacitors exhibit some leakage current, even good electrolytic capacitors with a properly formed dielectric. So how can we tell when a capacitor's leakage current is excessive? Normal leakage current for electrolytic capacitors is specified in ANSI-C-62 — the commercial standard for the testing and reforming of aluminum electrolytic capacitors, as set forth by the American National Standards Institute. The military version is MIL-C-62, which is adapted verbatim from ANSI-C-62.

This specification provides a formula for determining permissible leakage current. The formula is as follows:  $I = (K \times C) + 0.3$ , where "I" equals the leakage current in milliamperes (mA); "C" equals the rated capacitance expressed in microfarads (mF); and "K" equals a constant based on the capacitor's rated working voltage (Vdc). (See Table I for a listing of these constants.)

For example, the maximum leakage current

K	WORKING VOLTAGE
0.01	15 to 100 volts
0.02	101 to 250 volts
0.025	251 to 350 volts
0.4	351 to 450 volts

Table I

for a 40 mF electrolytic capacitor rated at 150 Vdc can be calculated as follows:

$$\begin{aligned} I &= (K \times C) + 0.3 \\ &= (0.02 \times 40) + 0.3 \\ &= 0.8 + 0.3 \\ &= 1.1 \text{ mA} \end{aligned}$$

When there is any doubt about the condition of a dormant electrolytic capacitor, it should be tested for both capacitance value and excessive leakage current. If the capacitor fails these tests, it may be possible to recondition the capacitor by reforming the dielectric.

As indicated in the diagram in Figure 1, the equipment required for the reforming process consists of a variable DC power supply, a voltmeter for monitoring the applied DC voltage and an ammeter for measuring the charge/leakage current.

The reforming procedure is accomplished as follows: (1) Turn on the DC power supply and set its voltage output to zero. (2) Connect the capacitor as shown in Figure 1. (3) Slowly increase the power supply output voltage until the charging current reaches 10 mA. (4) As the charging current diminishes, again increase the output voltage to obtain a charging current of 10 mA. (5) Continue to adjust the output voltage to maintain 10 mA of charging current until the capacitor's working voltage is reached. CAUTION: Do not exceed the DC voltage rating of the capacitor at any time during the reforming procedure. (6) Allow the capacitor to charge at its rated DC voltage until the charging/leakage current decreases to the value as calculated by the formula given above or to 10 mA, whichever is smaller.

The time required to complete the reforming process will vary depending upon the capacitor's rated capacitance and working voltage and the length of time it has not been used. Capacitors that have been dormant for a long period of time or have a low working voltage or a high capacitance will require a longer reforming time. A final leakage current that is greater than the permissible limit probably indicates that the capacitor cannot be reformed.

When the reforming process is completed, the capacitor should be tested again with a suitable capacitor tester before being placed in service.

MESSAGE: We are not running our usual ad this month. Thanks to your response, our "green sheet" has just about been cleaned out! We will continue to supply orders from our 1992 flyer, but will not send out any more. We are working on a super new catalog for 1993, with more of the old parts and supplies you need that others do not have. We have several new crystal set items coming. Too much to describe here. Watch for announcement about our 1993 catalog! In the interim how about dropping a card to that person who needs a small, inexpensive item to finish his or her restoration, a part you have a dozen of. Sure, you won't make much money, but what happens when you need a part like that? How about a simple postcard to thank someone for sending you a copy of the information you asked for. Please write a few more cards and letters. Respond to surveys. Add your voice! Help a junior collector. Treat older folks fairly. Let's keep courtesy and fairness in our fine hobby. Support your local radio club! Dick Mackiewicz, Alice Villard, 1549 N. River Rd., Coventry, CT 06238. (203) 742-8552

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING POLICY

ONE FREE 20-WORD AD for subscribers in each issue; additional words are 15¢ each. See details below. Classified ads must be received (not just postmarked!) by NOON on the ad deadline. Late ads are held for the following issue. Please enclose correct payment with all ads. Stamps or cash are OK for small amounts. (Canadian and other foreign advertisers, please see "Payment" on page two for methods.) "Free words" cannot be accumulated from month to month; free words must be requested when ad is submitted.

Please write each ad on a separate sheet of paper, especially when included with other A.R.C. correspondence. Include SUB# with ad. Ads may be sent in advance; but, write each ad on a separate piece of paper and indicate the month (or successive two months) you want the ad to run.

Please write legibly and use both capital and small letters. Do not use dashes between words. Some numbers and letters can look alike, for example 1, l and I (the number one, the capital i and the small L.) Write the following characters clearly (especially in model numbers): 1, l and I; 0, O, o, Q and D; r and n; 6, b and G; V, U, u, v and Y; A and R; 5, S and s; 2, Z and z. We try to correct spelling errors, so when using an uncommon word or manufacturer which looks similar to a common word or manufacturer, note it so that we do not "correct" it. Editor's comments are in [brackets].

Advertising is accepted only for early items related to radio, communication, etc. All items must be described fairly; reproductions, reprints and not-original items must be identified as such. Advertisers agree to respond promptly to inquiries and orders, and to resolve problems promptly if the buyer is not satisfied.

Publisher reserves the right to edit ads without notification to the advertiser and to reject ads for any reason. Publisher is not responsible for errors due to illegibly written ads or for any other reason. Since club activities receive free advertising on the Coming Radio Events page, the free 20 words may not be used for club activity ads. See inside front cover for additional information.

CLASSIFIED AD DETAILS

Deadline: NOON - 10th of the month!

Classified ads must have a standard heading such as WANTED, FOR SALE, FOR TRADE, FOR SALE/TRADE, SERVICES, MESSAGE, HELP, AUCTION, MEET, etc. This heading is the only bold or all-capitalized words allowed in the ad. Capitalize only manufacturer names, model names, etc. Wanted and For Sale ads are mixed together to encourage the reading of all ads, including the Wanted ads. This standard ad format makes scanning the ads easier.

Before writing your ad, please look over the ads in a recent issue of A.R.C., and try to write your ad in the same style. Full name and address is required in all classified ads; we will add it if you forget.

To encourage varied content of the ads, the same classified ad may be run only once per issue and for only two consecutive months. (To run an ad longer, use a boxed classified or display ad.)

Classified Ad Rates per Month

$8.00 per month for each photo or drawing

(If ad is canceled, this amount cannot always be refunded.)
