ANTIQUE RADIO CLASSIFIED

EDITOR'S COMMENTS

As we go to press this month, the eyes of much of the world are on Athens and the Olympics. Our own focus on European auctions seems to tie into that scene of extraordinary achievement. Collectors following the European auction scene recently have reason to be as excited about the offerings as Olympic followers must be about the athletes they are championing.

In past years, I myself have greatly enjoyed the Auction Team Köln auctions in Cologne, Germany, and the National Vintage Communications Fair in Birmingham, England. Though it's been a while since my travel plans included Europe, three major auctions in a 30-day period this year were almost irresistible. I finally succumbed to the lure of the Bonhams' Morse to Marconi auction in London, an event A.R.C. had previewed in the May 2004 issue. London also offered another temptation — four antiquarian book fairs that were not to be missed.

As on past trips, I also hoped to visit Gerald Welles' museum, and the fact that he was hosting his annual "Garden Party" seemed the perfect opportunity. However, I was told that the party had been "overbooked" — a good sign of general interest, but not so good for last minute foreign visitors.

I wish I could have included Paris and Cologne in my trip, but then, my managing editor would have asked, "Have you no restraint?" When it comes to old radios, the answer has to be, "Not much."

The London auction was unusual in its concentration on telegraph, both land and sea, with few actual radio items offered. Reflecting on the whole event, I have to conclude that it was disappointing in that attendance was low and nearly one-half the items were passed, including the two featured items. Still, the telecommunications part of the auction yielded significant proceeds — $93,883.

The striking radios on our cover are an indication of why the Sothebys Paris auction of the Pierre Lescure collection was a major event. The wide variety of Art Deco radios offered was impressive. Three Hopalong Cassidy radios sold for $400 each, while Emerson character radios like Mickey and Snow White, numerous Catalins, and even a jukebox or two rounded out this outstanding Americana collection, which accounted for $410,450 of the $2,628,205 grand total.

A stand-out item was the Sparten Nocturne, selling at the appropriate price of $58,344. I don't remember ever seeing this set at auction before, and I imagine that it caused quite a stir among bidders.

Past experience leaves me with no doubt that the Cologne auction was exciting. This well-organized technology auction included 84 mostly European radios and TV sets, totaling $46,000 of the $350,000 grand total. The highlight was a 1960s "Space Age" design TV, radio, tape deck console, selling for over $9,000.

Back on the home front, George Potter reminds us that U.S. auctions need not take a back seat. He reports that the VRPS spring auction, which is the smaller of the club's two auctions, still brought over $19,000. Though none of the pricier sets usually seen in the fall auction show up in this one, a solid variety was in evidence, and the results were laudable. I look forward to attending the club's 30th anniversary celebration from November 12 to 14.

Photo Review offers two of many kinds of sets — two battery sets, two sets from the 1930s and the 1950s, and two European crystal sets. One interesting single item is a microphone in the guise of a telephone.

And incidentally, this issue is particularly chock-full of photos — a total of 52 photos of identifiable radios spreads from the cover on through the articles and Photo Review. These photos are a reminder of the infinite variety of collectible items available to us today.

Photos often lead to more information surfacing on a subject, as in the case of Geoff Shearer's Crosley 2C1. Geoff writes about the response he received to his request in the July 2003 Photo Review for information that enabled him to restore his basketcase. A.R.C. contacts do make a difference.

Contacts are also made through our Web site. Barbara Levow responded to our Radio Row article on the Web with a photo of her unusual birthday present — a Cortlandt St. sign. You'll enjoy reading about her memories of that historic area.

A.R.C. Benefits. Be sure to take advantage of A.R.C.'s many benefits: a toll-free number (866) 371-0512; the Web: www.antiqueradio.com; Discover, Visa, American Express, and MasterCard accepted; books shipped free in the U.S. by book rate; and to subscribers, a ten percent discount on all book orders.

Coming Radio Events: The September events list includes 32 meetings, 7 swap meets, and 3 auctions for a total of 42 activities. For now, I'm off to A.W.A. where I'm looking forward to seeing some of you.

Happy Collecting!

John V. Terrey, Editor

ON THE COVER

Our cover photo, courtesy of Sothebys Paris, shows what the auction house called an "array of rare Catalan radios in eye-popping colors — the tip of the iceberg of the Pierre Lescure collection." Nine of the ten radios in this photo sold and brought $75,000 of the $385,000 total for radios and jukeboxes. Top row, left to right: an Automatic Radio Co. Tom Thumb selling at $10,940; a Fada L56, no sale; and an Air King 52 at $13,127. Second row: Three Emerson BT245s selling at $8,022, $4,084 and $2,334; and a Fada 115 Bullet at $2,480. Third row: a Sparten Cloisonné selling at $9,043; an Emerson BT245 at $5,251; and a Motorola 51X16 at $5,834. Bottom row: a Motorola 50XC selling at $10,940 and a General Electric L622 Jewe' Box at $3,647. Thanks to Sothebys also for the photos included in the report on this auction.

AUCTION REPORT

European Auctions — Spring 2004

Paris — London — Köln Radio Items Exceed $550,000

COMPILED FROM VARIOUS SOURCES BY JOHN V. TERREY

The heated European auction scene last spring certainly created a stir in the radio-collecting community. A.R.C. reports here on three of those auctions — 1) Sotheby's auction of the Lescure collection of American popular culture in Paris, France, in May; 2) Bonhams' auction of Morse to Marconi items in London, England, in June; and 3) Auction Team Köln's auction of old technology in Köln, Germany, in May.

The radio-related items in these auctions totaled $410,450, $93,883 and $46,939 respectively, making a grand total in excess of $550,000 — proceeds that attest to the vitality of our avocation.

The April Dorotheum old radio auction in Vienna, not received in time to include here, totaled $8,100. (Editor)

Sotheby's Auction — The Pierre Lescure Collection

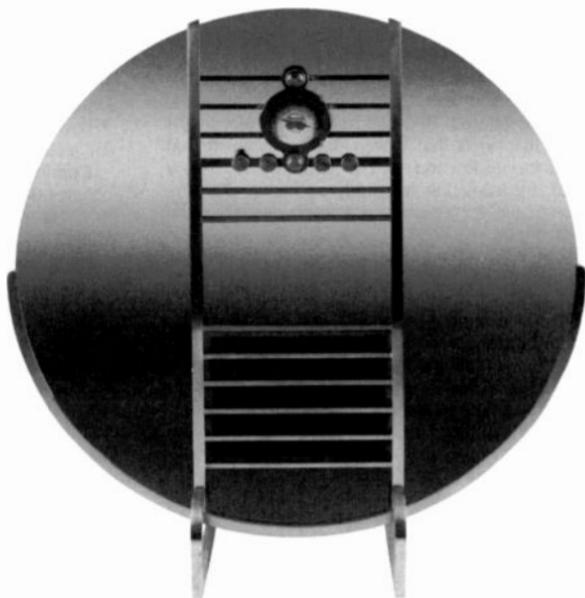

Paris, France — May 27, 2004

COMPILED FROM INFORMATION CONTRIBUTED BY SOTHEBY'S

On May 27, 2004, in Paris, France, Sotheby's auction of the Pierre Lescure collection proved a wild and well-merited success. The exhibition at the Galerie Charpentier attracted 1,700 visitors; 100 bidders, previously unknown to Sotheby's, bid successfully; and between 250 to 300 people came to watch the sale. The crowd bid actively, unfazed by the competition with the 20 telephone lines communicating bids from the United States, France, Switzerland, Italy, and Germany. The bids were openly applauded several times, and at the end of the sale the audience paid homage to the collector with a standing ovation.

The Lescure Auction totaled $2,628,205, including a buyer's premium of 20 percent, of which radios and jukeboxes totaled $410,450, with a breakdown of $380,216 for radios and $25,234 for jukeboxes. Results in all categories were impressive with pin-ups, paintings, toys and illustrations totaling $2,217,755.

Although the bidding at the auction was in euros, all values used in this report have been converted to dollars using an exchange rate of 1 euro = 1.2155 dollars.

According to Florence de Botton, Director of the Contemporary Art Department and director of the sale, Pierre Lescure's personality and professionalism combined with Sotheby's international promotion of the sale helped to attract a diverse range of collectors of radios, toys, pin-ups, and contemporary art.

THE LESCURE RADIO COLLECTION

Radios and illustrated works were offered during the first part of the sale. The Pierre Lescure collection included the most important assembly of Catalin radios in the world, with over 70 lots. The collection included rare and sought after models created by such well-known manufacturers as Addison, Fada, Emerson, and Motorola, and by designers such as Norman Bel Geddes and Harold Van Doren.

The highest bid during the first session, $58,344, was for the Spartan Nocturne blue-mirror set, a monumental radio in the shape of a vertical disc, circa 1936. Originally designed to decorate the lounge of a luxury hotel, the mirror form of the blue radio was created by Walter Dorwin Teague, a designer for Kodak and Boeing. Another blue-mirror radio, a Spartan 517 "Sled" was acquired by the Pompidou Museum for $4,084.

In 1941, Motorola created dynamic S-Grill radios in diverse colors. A black and red model

ABOUT PIERRE LESCURE

Seen here is Pierre Lescure, surrounded by a sampling of the many objects and artwork that have brought him so much pleasure. (Photo copyright Battistini)

Over 20 years ago, Pierre Lescure began collecting radios, paintings, toys and illustrations, all related to 20th century America. His collection of about 300 lots reflects a period during which "industrial design invaded the domestic sphere where form adapts to function, materials become slick, and colors become brighter."

Pierre Lescure is a connoisseur of both music and film, and for over 15 years, he was the head of Canal Plus, the premier pay channel in Europe. His career has spanned radio, television and film, and to all three, he has made major contributions. His collection of American popular culture offered an original interpretation of the "American Dream" to an appreciative audience.

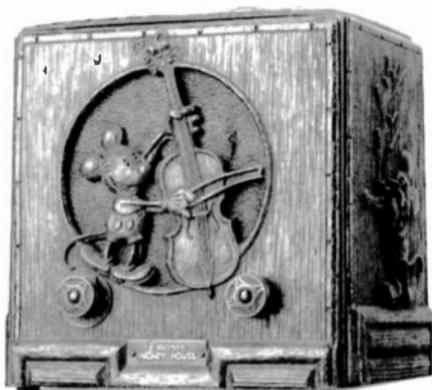

Three "Cowboy Radios" were sold as a lot for $1,313. Included were two 1950 Arvin Hop-A-Long Cassidy sets and a 1951 Silvertone 4-233.

was bought by the Pompidou Museum for $5,834. A 50XC vermilion red marbled model was sold for $10,940. The first radio ever produced in plastic, a rare lavender Air King 52, manufactured in 1933, was sold for $13,127

Pierre Lescure expressed his satisfaction after the sale: "The financial success, in addition to the sheer excitement and enthusiasm that this sale generated in Paris and abroad, particularly in the United States, is extremely rewarding for me. Many of my favorite artists achieved record prices. Several new bidders at Sotheby's left with the objects that allow them to dream, like me, regardless of what their respective monetary value is.

"This is the sort of bittersweet pleasure that I have been experiencing since I decided to let Sotheby's organize the sale. The success of the sale is the culmination of the pleasures that I have experienced in regard to the sale of my collection."

The following listing shows prices in U.S. dollars and includes a buyer's premium of 20%. 1 Euro = $1.215. Some multiple lots and radios with defects have been omitted.

Auction Team Köln — Old Technology Auction Köln, Germany — May 22, 2004

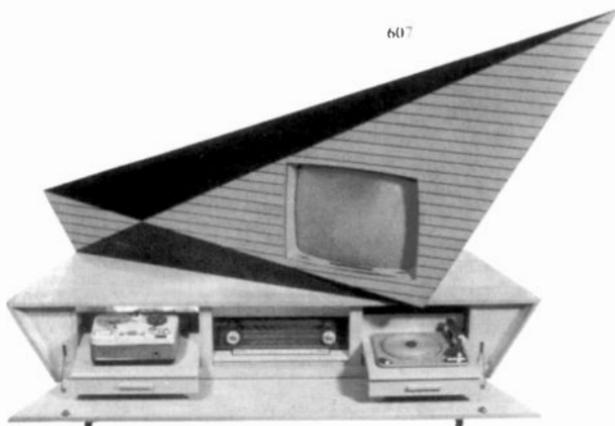

BY JOHN TERREY

Auction Team Köln held its semiannual Old Technology Auction in May 22, 2004, in Köln, Germany. In addition to 84 radios and television lots, this auction included clocks, office antiques (telephones, calculators, typewriters, etc.), sewing machines, toasters, smoking antiques, scientific instruments, old medical items, mechanical music and toys, resulting in a total offering of 763 lots.

I have attended this auction in the past and find it exciting. Usually there is standing room only with over 150 bidders present. I often meet fellow radio collectors from Europe there, and it's an occasion to get together informally before or after the auction.

This auction total was just over $300,000 and the radio portion totaled $46,838. The totals and the listing below include a buyer's premium of 20.17 percent. (Conversion: $1.20 = 1 euro).

The auction is well organized and executed. A catalog is available describing and picturing every lot in color. New this year is the addition of brief descriptions in English — a great help to potential bidders and to me in putting together this report. The catalog listing includes the opening bid (or reserve), and high and low estimates. No time is wasted on an item that does not bring the reserve. This is important since even at the usual pace of 120 lots per hour, the auction lasts over six hours.

The Komet Kuba de Luxe, described in the catalog as "The most famous TV set in the world," includes a B/W TV set, an Imperial stereo radio, a Dual 1007 record player, and a Telefunken Magnetophon 76 tape deck. In nearly perfect original condition, this 1962 item sold for $9,373.

The bidding is in German, but there is a number display showing the current bid in euros. And, for us English-speaking folk, the two auction house principals, Uwe and Astrid Breker, and the auctioneer, all speak excellent English and are always willing to help, even during the bidding itself.

I was not personally at this auction and have compiled this report from information furnished by the auction house in their catalog and on their web site. Some incompletely described and multi-item lots have been omitted. For this reason, there are a number of literature/book and tube lots which are not included in this listing. The photos here are taken from the auction catalog.

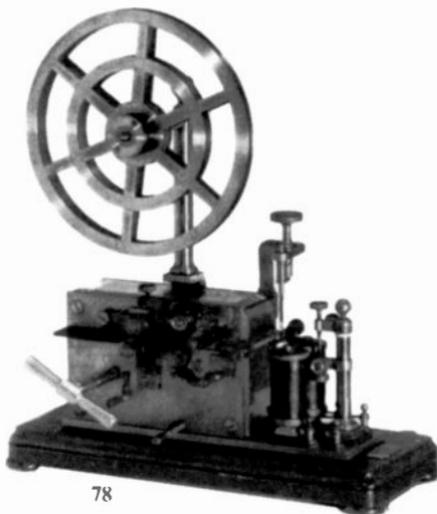

In its spring newsletter, Auction Team Köln comments on the "steady upward trend" in auction activities in the past year, as demonstrated by increasing prices for unusual items and stable prices for standard items. Radio collecting is obviously alive and well.

The next Auction Team Köln Old Technology Auction will be held on November 27, 2004.

Bonhams Auction — From Morse to Marconi London, England — June 3, 2004

REPORTED BY JOHN TERREY

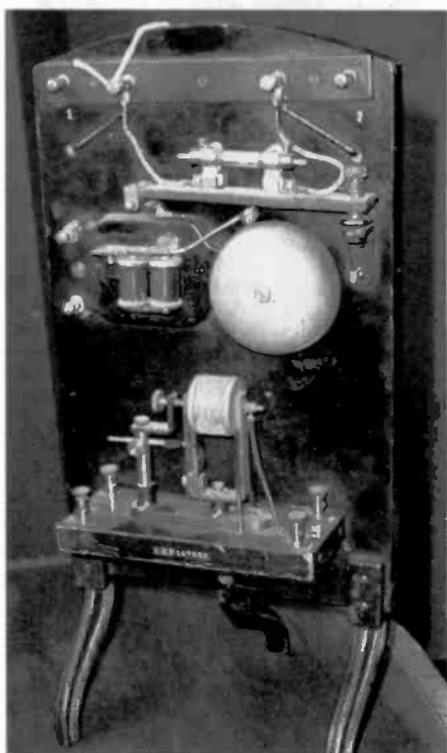

As advertised, the Bonhams Morse to Marconi Auction — The Birth of Telecommunications — was a historic event. Nearly 200 items related to early telecommunications were offered. Total sales were $93,883 including a buyer's premium of 19.5 percent (Conversion: $1.90 = 1 £). After the telecommunications items were sold, about 50 other scientific instruments were offered bringing the total sale for the day to $454,079.

Unfortunately, several of the featured items, including the Cooke & Wheatstone ABC Telegraph receiver and the Magnetic Telegraph Company account book, were passed. In fact only about 51 percent of the offered items were sold, bringing the auction results well under the expectations reported to A.R.C. earlier this year of £600,000 (or $1,140,000). For comparative purposes, 100 percent of the other scientific instruments were sold, and one lot, a pair of Vincenzo Coronelli globes, sold for $284,335.

I attended this auction and observed that attendance was low. At about an hour into the sale, I counted only 21 persons in the sales room plus two or three telephones active for telephone bidders. However, from my personal experience at many specialty auctions, I've learned that such a low number is not unusual. Often dealers are present to bid for absentee buyers they represent; absentee bids are sent by buyers from all over the globe by letter, fax and e-mail. On the other hand, I have seen well over a hundred bidders at scientific instrument auctions held by Christie's in London, and, of course, over 150 bidders usually show up for the almost monthly Estes radio auctions in the U.S.

In talking to buyers and prospective buyers before, at, and after the sale, I heard comments that the published estimates might have been a bit high. High estimates can discourage prospective bidders from participating. Also, the lack of estimates in the catalog for two of the pricier telecommunications items might have "turned off" some major buyers.

For comparison, estimates for the Coronelli globes mentioned above were printed in the catalog as from £150,000 to £200,000, whereas the Cooke and Wheatstone item, one of the two estimates omitted in the catalog, was listed at £40,000 to £60,000 on the Web site. And high estimates, mean high reserves, since the reserve, the price under which the auctioneer will not sell the item, is often about one-half of the low estimate.

Were the estimates (reserves) actually high? I compared the sold prices with the average of the published low and high estimates. For the "other scientific instrument" portion of the auction, the selling price averaged 9 percent above the average of the estimates. For the telecommunication portion of the auction, the average price was 17 percent below the average estimates.

Desmond Squire, a London dealer I have known for several years and who attended the auction commented: "... I thought it to be flat, with little competing interest... The major items were unrealistically overpriced resulting in a lack of bidders and any kind of buzz. Selling these kinds of objects is difficult, as many are one of a kind. There is no established market or price structure... Major players will want to bid against real competitors and not high reserves... The results list says it all."

Thanks to Desmond Squire for these comments. Desmond is a London-based dealer in early wireless and telegraphy, cryptography, and early computing, together with books on the same. Desmond's email is dgs@scienceantiques.com.

The listing omits items passed and some multiple-items lots. Prices are in dollars and include buyer's premium of 19.5 percent.

PHOTO REVIEW

This column presents in pictorial form many of the more unusual radios, speakers, tubes, advertising, and other old radio-related items from our readers' collections. The photos are meant to help increase awareness of what's available in the radio collecting hobby. Send in any size photos from your collection. Photos must be sharp in detail, contain a single item, and preferably have a light-colored background. A short, descriptive paragraph MUST be included with each photo. FREED-EISEMANN MODEL 10 – This 5-tube battery receiver was manufactured in 1926 in New York City by the Freed-Eisemann Radio Corporation. It uses Type 201A tubes in its Neutrodyne circuit. (Wally Worth – Wollaston, MA)

ISARIA TYPE D CRYSTAL SET– This rare crystal set was manufactured by Isaria Zählerwerke in 1924/25. It is a German set with variometer tuning and a black metal case. The plug-in crystal detector is called "Red Star," a very expensive component. (Erwin Macho – Vienna, Austria)

STROMBERG-CARLSON MICROPHONE – Even though this item looks like a 1920s candlestick telephone, in reality, it is a microphone manufactured by the Stromberg-Carlson Tel. Mfg. Co., Rochester, New York. It is 11" tall and has a "Press To Talk" lever on the side. (Dave Crocker – Mashpee, MA)

1-TUBE RECEIVER, MANUFACTURER UNKNOWN – This very small, 1-tube radio is a mystery. Inside is a variable plate tuning condenser and a tapped variocoupler with spiderweb coils. A rheostat, tube socket, phone jack, and Fahnstock clips complete the circuit. Can anyone identify this set? (Wally Worth – Wollaston, MA)

TRUETONE MODEL D-2121 – This 5-tube, wood cabinet set was manufactured in 1958 for Western Auto Supply of Kansas City, Missouri. It is a battery-operated radio for farm use and has a rotatable external antenna on top of the cabinet. (C.R. "Ron" Lawrence – Matthews, NC)

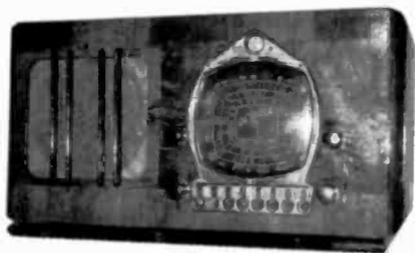

LORENZ EDAT 25 CRYSTAL SET – Manufactured in 1925 in Germany by C. Lorenz A.G., this set has variometer tuning. On the tuning knob you can read "LORENZ." There are jacks for two headphones. (Erwin Macho – Vienna, Austria)

MOTOROLA MODEL 53H4 – This 1953, red, 5-tube radio was manufactured by the Galvin Mfg. Co. of Chicago. In addition to red, it was also offered in ebony, gray, and green. It boasted the "Extended Tone" larger speaker and a design that is truly 1950s "dashboard" style. It sold for $24.95. (Dave Crocker – Mashpee, MA)

MAJESTIC MODEL 650 – This mid-1930s console has an unusual chrome-plated, 8-tube chassis. It tunes three bands. In the back is an old delivery tag that suggests it was originally owned by a movie theater in Vermont. (Carl D. Sutton – Ironton, OH)

DETROLA MODEL 175E – This rather large 1937 table set has the tuning capabilities of the "Big Dial" consoles. It measures 21" wide. A 10-tube radio with motorized push-button tuning, it receives two shortwave bands and the broadcast band. (Carl D. Sutton – Ironton, OH)

RESTORATION TOPICS

The Crosley 2C1 and ARC's Helping Hand

BY GEOFF SHEARER

Geoff Shearer's story of restoring an unusual Crosley radio provides another example of how A.R.C. and fellow collectors help to provide information and solutions. (Editor)

The radio shown in Figure 1 first appeared in the Photo Review section of the July 2003 issue of A.R.C. I submitted the photograph because I thought the radio was unusual for a number of reasons — the speaker arrangement, the tube count and type, the knobs like the Crosley "Widget," and the embossed metal cabinet.

As found, the cardboard front panel had water damage, the back panel and the tubes were missing, and the chassis was rusted. Figure 2 provides a rear view of the radio.

The cardboard front panel is imprinted with a nautical design with simulated embroidery. This front panel also functions as the speaker's diaphragm. The armature of a magnetic speaker driver is attached to the front panel and can be seen in Figure 2. This AC-operated radio uses two tubes: a Type 12A7 and a Type 6F7.

THE "HELPING HAND"

In response to my request for more information in the Photo Review, Bob White of Cincinnati, Ohio, informed me that the set is a Crosley Model 2C1 and that the back cover used a cut-out sunburst design. He confirmed that the front panel was made of cardboard and that it could be removed from the set. He also informed me that other versions of the radio used a front panel with an "Artists" theme that was glued to the cabinet and difficult to remove. I asked him if he was up to duplicating the front panel for my radio, and he came through!

Figure 1. This 2-tube Crosley Model 2C1, ca. 1934, has some unique features, including the cardboard panel/speaker diaphragm.

Bob took the radio to Terry Hauke, a friend in Cincinnati, who owns a printing company. Bob documented the step-by-step printing process for this article:

- Step 1. Take a photo of the front of the radio.
- Step 2. Print the image.
- Step 3. Transfer the image to "crack & peel" which has backing that you peel off and it sticks like a bumper sticker.
- Step 4. Take a piece of corrugated cardboard and lacquer the side that is to receive the image.
- Step 5. Transfer the image and apply four coats of lacquer to the surface.

The difference between my set and Bob's lies in the color. My cover has a green background and his is brownish, indicating possible variations. Bob also made a back for me. He traced it on cardboard. He cut it using a razor and a small punch for the round areas. He then painted it to match. The replacement back panel is shown in Figure 3.

So, how much did this cost me? This article — that was it. This article is more about the care and brotherhood that we experience in this hobby than the actual process of getting a collectible back to its original appearance. Bob had to go way out of his way to help me, and he did it with style. Thanks a million!

Cortlandt Street Sign Radio Row Memories

BY BARBARA LEVOW

Cortlandt Street of Radio Row fame and the tragic site of the World Trade Center remains in our collective radio memory. As Barbara Levow's article shows, the A.R.C. Web site creates more opportunities for sharing memories. (Editor)

Recently, while surfing the Web, I found your page about Cortlandt Street. [See A.R.C., September '98.] Thank you. It triggered many memories. I used to go to Cortlandt Street with my father around 1960.

My uncle owned a men's haberdasher on Greenwich Street, and we would walk to Cortlandt Street

About 15 years ago when I lived in New York City before I retired, I was given the original street sign shown in Figure 1 as a birthday present. It had come from a store called "Irreplaceable Artifacts" on 2nd Avenue and Houston Street in the East Village. This store had tons of old street signs. About two years ago, the store building collapsed, and the entire inventory of signs and memorabilia was destroyed. This sign may be the only Cortlandt Street sign remaining in existence.

Your Web map [September '98, p. 8] shows North Radio on the corner of Washington and Cortlandt. This store became Metro Radio run by Sy Denby. After the World Trade Center was built, I believe Metro moved to West Broadway and Chambers St. and later closed.

Two radio stores mentioned in your article as "around Union Sq." were Packard (Union Sq.) and Dale (14th Street and 8th Avenue). Both were owned by Stanley Leger.

Barry Electronics at Broadway and Spring is still in business and is now on 2nd Avenue and East 6th Street. Barry Gensler was killed in a boating accident in the 1960s, and his wife Kitty has run the business since.

Cantor the Cabinet King was just that — tons of cabinets. However, radios and televisions were also sold.

Movements in and out of Cortlandt Street were common. Even Radio Shack moved to Cortlandt Street, but I can't remember when. Advanced moved from Cortlandt to West 45th Street in mid-Manhattan, as did many other radio stores.

Blan the Radio Man survived as Blan Electronics and is still in lower Manhattan about four blocks from City Hall. Blan was an eccentric who would menace customers with a high voltage Tesla coil-like device.

[Other articles on Cortlandt Street and Radio Row may be found in the following issues of A.R.C.: November '91; October '98; February '99; November '01; September '02].

AUCTION REPORT

Vintage Radio & Phonograph Society Spring Auction Grapevine, Texas — March 20, 2004

REPORTED BY GEORGE POTTER

The Vintage Radio & Phonograph Society (VRPS) spring auction was held March 20, 2004, at the Grapevine Convention Center, in Grapevine, Texas. The doors were open at 6:30 A.M. for unloading, and by 9:30 A.M., almost all the gear that was coming had arrived. Our president and auctioneer Jim Sargent started the auction promptly at 10 A.M. Both Bill Werzner from Houston and Clyde Vaughn of Allen, Texas, helped Jim Sargent out with the auctioning.

Registered bidders numbered 101, and total attendance was 142. The final auction statistics were 422 lots with 46 passes. Total proceeds were $19,569.

Among the interesting equipment items on the auction block were a Crosley 50, a Chelsea Five, a Philco grandfather clock, an Aeriola Senior, a Sears Roebuck version of the ACE 3B Crosley, and several TVs — two Predictas, one 3-inch Pilot, two 7-inch Motorolas, and one vertical 7-inch Sentinel portable. There were also numerous cathedrals, including a Philco 90, which was restored and was bid up to only $310. There were six 1L6 tubes, which went for the asking price of $30 each. Numerous consoles appeared, but only one console was completely restored. The two Zenith consoles sold for $100 and $125 respectively, as both needed restoration. A Philco chair-side (Queen Anne style), with a large ornate wood remote speaker, sold for $110.

A seldom seen Zenith Wincharger — yes, with a yellow tail — and with a centrifugal spring balancer and tower base did not sell. This one even had an original propeller with copper leading edges!

An Abbotwares horse, missing an ear and the saddle, still sold for $80.

This chrome Radio Savings crystal set, N.O.S., with original cylindrical box, sold for $200.

Several horns with exotic names, such as Holtzer-Cabot and Mozart Final, were sprinkled among Atwater Kent, Utah, and Magnavox. A Columbia Graphonola phonograph showed up, and there was even a wood roller organ.

The majority of test instruments were left out of this listing, as well as boxes of multiple wood or Bakelite sets sold for parts.

A warning: Auction prices are not current values. Our selection of auction items is not necessarily complete. A listing such as this cannot adequately include the condition of cabinets, chassis, transformers, tubes, the operating status of the set, and the inclusion of incorrect, restored or replica components, etc. Auction prices are the result of the excitement of the auction process, the skill of the auctioneer and the specific interests of the participants. Nevertheless, auction prices serve as useful references and as another element in the value determining process. The possibility of error always exists, and if we are notified, corrections will be reported.

Watch for exciting news about the VRPS 30th anniversary celebration at the annual fall convention, November 12-14, 2004. Multiple activities are planned, including five auctions, a contest, a flea market, an awards banquet, and more.

CLASSIFIED ADS • DETAILS AND RATES

ONE FREE 20-WORD AD for subscribers in each issue; additional words are 29c each. See details below. Classified ads sent by mail, fax, e-mail or by any other method must be received (not just postmarked!) by Noon Eastern Time on the classified ad deadline date to guarantee inclusion in the current issue. Late ads are held for the following issue. Please enclose correct payment with all ads. Cash is OK for small amounts. (Canadian and other foreign advertisers, please see "Payment" on opposite page for methods.) "Free words" cannot be accumulated from month to month; free words must be requested when ad is submitted.

Faxed & e-mailed ads: Please see additional information on opposite page.

When including ads with other A.R.C. correspondence, write the ads on a separate piece of paper. Include SUB# with ad. Ads may be sent in advance; but, write each ad on a separate piece of paper and indicate the month (or successive months up to your subscription expiration; 12-months, maximum) you want the ad to run.

To minimize our typing errors: Please write legibly. Use both capital and small letters. Do not use a dash between words. Carefully write the following numbers and letters (especially in model numbers) since some can look alike; for example 1, I and l (the number one, the capital i and the small L.) Also: 0, O, o, Q and D; v, r and n; 6, b and G; V, U, u, v and Y; A and R; 5, S and s; 2, Z and z. We try to correct spelling errors, so when using an uncommon word or manufacturer which we might mistake as a more common word or manufacturer, note it so that we do not "correct" it. Editor's annotations are in [brackets] in ads.

Advertising is accepted only for early items related to radio, communication, etc. All items must be described fairly; reproductions, reprints and not-original items must be so identified. Advertisers must agree to respond promptly to inquiries and orders, to resolve problems promptly if the buyer is not satisfied, and to comply with a buyer's refund request on unaltered returned items.

Classified ads must have a standard heading such as WANTED, FOR SALE, FOR TRADE, FOR SALE/TRADE, SERVICES, MESSAGE, HELP, AUCTION, MEET, FREE. This heading is the only bold or all-capitalized words allowed in the ad. Capitalize only manufacturer names, model names, etc. This standard ad format makes scanning the ads easier.

Before writing your ad, please look over the ads in a recent issue of A.R.C., and try to write your ad in the same style. Full name (or company name) and address is required in all classified ads; we will add it if you forget.

The publisher reserves the right to edit ads without notification to the advertiser and to reject ads for any reason. Names other than the advertiser will be edited out of ads. Ads with non-radio-related items will be returned or edited unless the non-radio-related items are for trade of radio-related items, or they are incidental to and appear at the end of an otherwise acceptable ad. Vintage Radio & Phonograph Society Convention 2004

Thirty Years Celebration- 1974-2004

So what does an organization do to celebrate their 30th year? The Vintage Radio & Phonograph Society (VRPS) decided to do it in style: from November 12th through 14th, at its 29th annual convention, the members will witness three live auctions, 2 silent auctions, a contest of some of the finest antique radios, phonographs and related equipment ever assembled, technical sessions, a flea market, an awards banquet and entertainment of the quality befitting a 30th anniversary celebration.

Door prizes, raffles and very nice gift to each paid attendee await those making the journey to Mesquite, Texas (near Dallas) this fall. Read our SoundWaves newsletter or on the VRPS website: www.vrps.org for any additional information on events.

But wait, someone will surely ask what is the banquet entertainment we are so proud of? I would like to be able to announce to you that the Vocal Majority, an internationally known singing group in Dallas, will be there to perform. Well, I cannot, as you see, the Vocal Majority consist of 200+ very talented male singing artists. If this group were all to attend, we would have no room left for the banquet guests to sit. However, we have done the next best thing. A barbershop quartet from the Vocal Majority has agreed to perform for us, as the evening entertainment. This award winning group is known as the Dallas Blend.

But, even that is not enough. James "Rick" Wilkins, nationally known phonograph historian and collector, will be recording several of the songs on wax cylinders using equipment circa 1893. We boldly venture to think that in this age of digital recordings, this will be the first such records produced on wax in this century! In fact, the last known recordings of this kind, were done at the 1978 VRPS convention. Mr. Wilkins also did those recordings using the same 111 year old equipment.

Plan to join us, for a weekend of fun and entertainment and witness history in the making. We do expect a full house, so make your plans now to join us November 12-14, 2004.

REGISTRATION:

To attend Convention 2004 you must be a member of VRPS (Annual dues $17.50). Please write for a convention 2004 brochure, which will be sent out in September. Pre-registration is $15 @ door is $20. Banquet tickets are $17 advance, $20 @ door (Limited Available).

Special rates at the Hampton Inn Suites in Mesquite, Texas are $69 single/double, contact 1-800-HAMPTON. Write VRPS at: VRPS, PO Box 165345, Irving, Texas 75016 or E-mail: hsargent@swbell.net or DeForest22@aol.com or the VRPS website at: www.vrps.org
