Here are 6 sensible reasons why the smart CATV operator should borrow from Cable Funding Corp.

1. We'll finance all facets of cable operations.
2. We give you more leverage.
3. We've got a flexible repayment policy.
4. We make loan decisions quickly.
5. We can help you solve operational problems.
6. We're the biggest. And we're independent.

If all this makes sense to you, just call our president, Harold Ewen, at (212) 371-3700 for more information. It just might be the smartest thing you'll do today.

Another First For Economy

Fifteen years ago, Economy Finance became one of the first financial institutions to lend money for CATV.

Through the years, we've been among the first to introduce such plans to the radio and television industry as ten-year term, no equity kicker and the two-year principal moratorium.

Now, Economy is pleased to announce another first.

Firstmark. Our new name, and the name for our growing family of affiliated companies, which offer diversified financial services on an international scale.

So, when you want to see who's first in creative financial services . . . look to Firstmark.

Broadcasters established new records during the year 1972 in the use of satellites for transmission of international events.

From abroad, TV programs "live via satellite" brought such events as the Winter Olympics in Japan and the Summer Olympics in West Germany, President Nixon's trips to the People's Republic of China and to the Soviet Union, and the final Apollo mission to the moon.

During 1972, the world's broadcasters used a total of 6,792 half-channel hours* of satellite time systemwide, an increase of 96 percent over the previous year—and the eighth straight year of greater use of the global system for TV.

Since the first commercial telecasts via the Early Bird satellite in mid-1965, the number of program transmissions via satellite has grown from about five per month to an average of 327 programs per month.

Highlights of 1972

Multi-language telecasts of the XX Olympiad from Munich accounted for a record 1,022 half-channel hours*, more than double the previous record set for satellite TV during the World Cup Soccer matches in Mexico in June 1970. The games at Munich generated 277 separate program transmissions worldwide, making it the most intensely covered single event in satellite history.

The Winter Olympics from Sapporo, Japan, in February, and President Nixon's eight-day journey to the People's Republic of China later that same month had held the record for satellite TV usage in any one month, only to be broken later in the year by the Munich Games.

Other notable satellite TV events of the year included: Apollo 16 and final Apollo 17 mission, Japan-U.S. summit talks, Japanese Prime Minister Tanaka's visit to the People's Republic of China (primarily to viewers in Japan), the Democratic and Republican national conventions and U.S. national elections, Viet Nam reports, Miss Universe contest, continuing Arab-Israeli conflicts, and sports ranging from the World Series and professional football to soccer and the International Curling Championships.

* (TV time is expressed in half-channel hours, that is, each up leg from the originating point to the satellite is a half-channel and each down leg to the receiving point is another half-channel, and the time used is totaled in hours. For example, a one-hour program from Europe to the U.S. and Brazil would total three half-channel hours).

Although TV is perhaps the most dramatic form of satellite usage, it accounts for less than 3 percent of global system revenues. By far the greatest usage of the system, accounting for approximately 80 percent of revenues, is for telephony.

Daily TV Via Satellites

A relatively new development in international TV has been the use of satellites for daily news telecasts.

Spain has used satellites regularly since the spring of 1971 for telecasts to its Canary Islands possessions, transmitting an average of three separate 30-minute feeds daily, seven days a week. In addition, Spain also operates the Iberoamerican service consisting of a 10-minute news feed via satellite five days a week to multiple points in Latin America. Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Peru and Venezuela participate fairly regularly, and other Latin American countries join the network as events warrant.

France started daily news telecasts via satellite in October 1972. These French newscasts began as 30-minute programs daily to Martinique where the French operate the Trois-Ilets earth station. The daily program consists of 10 minutes of European and world news and 20 minutes of French-interest news. Now, Jordan and Israel share in the first 10 minutes; Ivory Coast, Morocco and Zaïre share the last 20 minutes with Martinique.

Telecasting via satellite between communities of countries with common cultural or economic ties promises to develop further in the future.

The Global System

The bulk of all international long-haul communications is now sent via satellites. The existing global satellite system, with more than 4,000 full-time circuits in use, relays all forms of high quality overseas commercial communications, including telephone, telegraph and telex, facsimile and photos, data and television.

New earth stations, and more advanced satellites, entering service constantly add to the growth and further expansion of the system to meet steadily increasing demands.

High-capacity Intelsat IV satellites stationed in synchronous orbits at 22,300 miles altitude above the Atlantic, Pacific and Indian Oceans form the space segment of the global system. Each satellite, essentially a radio relay tower in space, provides services to an area embracing almost 65 million square miles, or about one-third of the earth's surface.

The earth stations in the system form the essential ground links. A worldwide network of more than 80 earth station antennas was in commercial operation by mid-1973, making possible direct satellite communications to every continent of the world. By sending and receiving signals through a satellite, one station can communicate with another, or with many other stations operating with the same satellite at the same time. As a result, broadcasters have made increasing use of the satellite system as a uniquely versatile means for widespread overseas TV program distribution—telecasts originating at one point may be delivered simultaneously to many receiving points or countries.

To bring the opening ceremonies of the Munich Olympics to viewers around the world, for example, four different satellites were used to relay the transmissions simultaneously to 26 different receiving earth stations in all parts of the world.

Ownership of System Facilities; Comsat's Role

Different ownership arrangements apply to the satellites, and to the earth stations, in the system.

The International Telecommunications Satellite Organization, or Intelsat, owns the satellites in the global system. Intelsat, which operates under permanent international agreements, had grown to a membership of 82 countries by mid-1973. Comsat, the U. S. representative in this multi-national partnership, is the largest investor in Intelsat and supplies technical and operational management services for the system.

The earth stations are owned and operated by individual agencies or entities of the countries or areas in which they are located.

U. S. earth stations in the global system operated by Comsat are located in Maine, West Virginia, Puerto Rico, Washington, California, Hawaii and Alaska. Comsat also owns 50 percent of a station on Guam.

Getting from Here to There

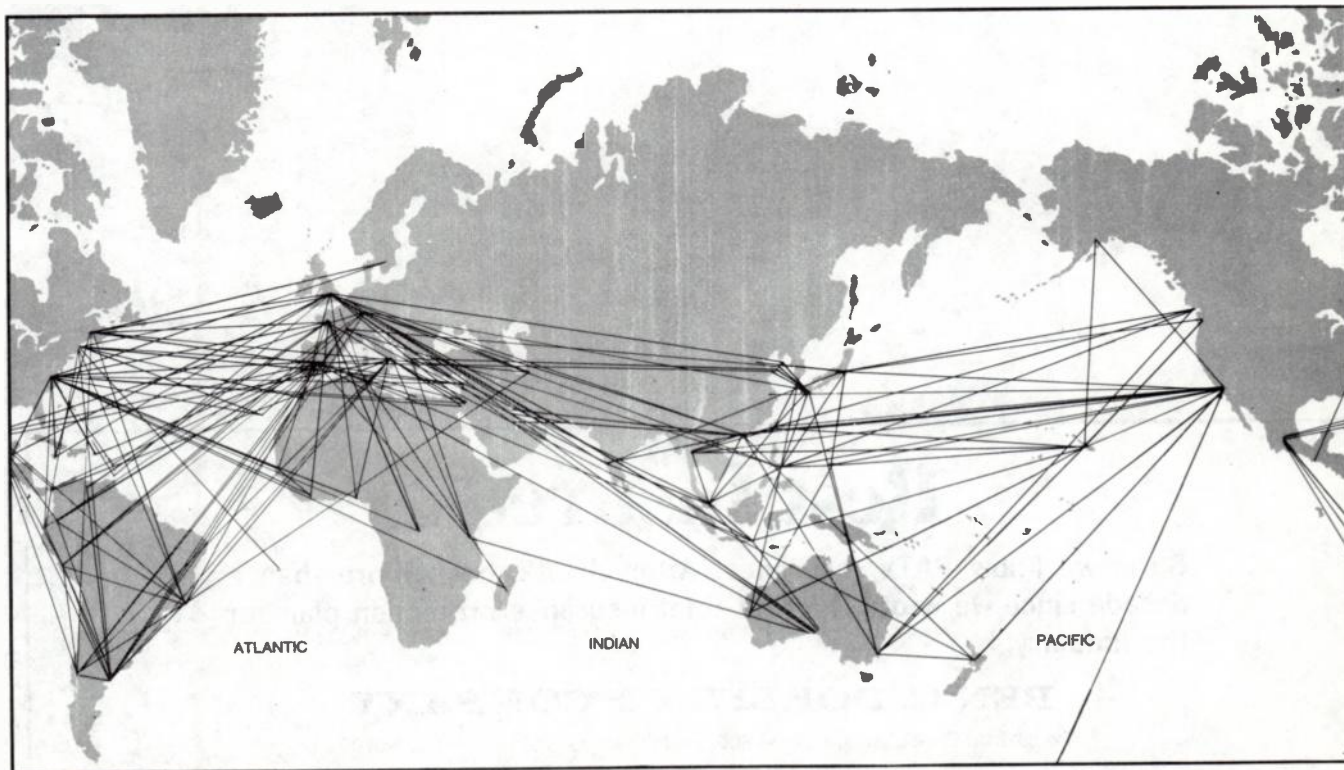

Lines of satellite communications, when viewed graphically, run in an intricate maze between earth station points (see Comsat map)—from the U. S. to many overseas points in the Atlantic and Pacific, and between many foreign points. There are more than 260 different satellite pathways among the countries of the world. New earth stations enter the system each year, constantly expanding the reach of satellite communications to new areas of the world.

The following list indicates earth stations in commercial operation as of mid-1973; the symbols (A, P or I) indicate the ocean areas in which the station operates (in some cases the station site has more than one antenna operating with satellites in more than one ocean area).

Direct Lines of Communications: New international channels of communication have been established via satellites between many different countries. The number of lines in this artist's view represent the hundreds of communications pathways between earth stations operating in the global satellite communications system.

Comsat

TV Rates Overseas (As of June 1, 1973)

Comsat's rates on file with the FCC cover its charges to other carrier companies for a TV half-channel, that is, for service between a U. S. earth station and a satellite. The rates do not include services added by terrestrial carrier companies in their charges to broadcasters; nor do they include the other half-channel from the satellite to another earth station, or a gateway city abroad.

Comsat rates are the same for monochrome or color. The Comsat half-channel rates below include video and Type II (8 kHz) audio:

Atlantic

U.S. mainland or Puerto Rico to Argentina, Belgium, Brazil, Canary Islands, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, France, Germany, Greece, Iran, Israel, Italy, Ivory Coast, Jordan, Malagasy Republic, Morocco, Nigeria, Peru, Senegal, Spain, Sweden, United Kingdom, Venezuela, and Zaire (Rep. of)—$650 for the first 10 minutes, $17 for each additional minute.

U. S. mainland or Puerto Rico to Barbados, Jamaica, Martinique, Nicaragua, Trinidad and Tobago, Panama or Mexico—$440 for the first 10 minutes, $12.50 for each additional minute.

*U.S. mainland to Puerto Rico—$414 for first 10 minutes, $11.40 for each additional minute.

Pacific

U.S. mainland or Alaska to Australia, China (Rep. of), Guam, Hong Kong, Japan, Korea (Rep. of), New Zealand, Philippines, Thailand and The People's Republic of China—$725 for first 10 minutes, $20.50 for each additional minute.

*U. S. mainland or Alaska to Hawaii—$40 for first 10 minutes, $12.50 for each additional minute.

*Hawaii to Alaska—same as above Mainland/Hawaii.

*U. S. mainland to Alaska—$414 for first 10 minutes, $11.40 for each additional minute.

Hawaii to Australia, China (Rep. of), Guam, Hong Kong, Japan, Korea (Rep. of), New Zealand, Philippines, Thailand, The People's Republic of China—$650 for first 10 minutes, $17 for each additional minute.

*Because both space legs and both earth stations are U.S., the through rate is double the half-channel rate.

Guam to Australia, China (Rep. of), Hawaii, Hong Kong, Japan, Korea (Rep. of), New Zealand, Philippines, Thailand and the People's Republic of China—$650 for first 10 minutes, $17 for each additional minute.

	1st 10	additional
Guam to Canada, Alaska	$725.00	$20.50
Hawaii to Canada	440.00	12.50
Alaska to Canada	414.00	11.40

Comsat will file basic TV rates to other countries as new earth stations enter the system, opening new areas to satellite services.

New Advances

A new system employing advanced digital techniques for transmission of TV promises economies and improved service in some TV applications in the future. The system, called DITEC, was developed by Comsat Laboratories.

Instead of using conventional FM (frequency modulation) now in use, the system converts the standard video and audio signals into digital format on a single carrier. Two TV programs can be relayed using the same satellite capacity now required for a single TV program. Or, trading this improved capacity for power, small and inexpensive earth stations can receive the same broadcast-quality TV program that now requires the use of larger and more costly earth stations. In a public demonstration at the National Association of Broadcasters Convention in Washington, D.C., in March 1973, the DITEC system was used for television relayed via satellite to a mobile earth station equipped with a 15-foot diameter antenna located on the lawn of a downtown hotel.

Comsat General Corp.

COMSAT is engaged in new enterprises, including domestic U. S. satellite services, and has plans for participation in specialized satellite systems serving the Navy, commercial maritime industry, and the aeronautical industry.

To strengthen its role in these programs and to pursue other new opportunities, Comsat has formed a new wholly-owned subsidiary, Comsat General Corp.

Comsat General, in turn, holds a one-third interest, along with MCI Communications Inc. and Lockheed Aircraft Corp., in another new company, called CML Satellite Corp. for development of a separate multi-purpose domestic satellite system.

Rest Insured

Sure, we know CATV insurance. After all, it's been more than a decade since we wrote the first total insurance protection plan for the industry.

ALABAMA

AUBURN UNIVERSITY, Auburn (36830).

BA, MA (speech). John Lopiccolo Jr., head of mass communications area; J. W. Sanders, asst. professor; C. Doug James, instructor.

Radio-TV-film courses available: 15.

Facilities: State ETV network, 2 radio & 2 TV studio-classrooms, closed-circuit TV, film studio, darkroom, video tape facilities, student operated FM radio station WEGL.

UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA, University (35488).

AB, MA (broadcast & film communication). W. Knox Hagood, dept. chmn.; Richard M. Hartsook, George Katz & Dr. James M. Rose, asst. professors; Robert W. Jones & Richard Deason, lecturers.

Broadcast & film communication courses available: 32.

Facilities: carrier current radio station WUAL-AM and 10-watt non-commercial stereo station WUAL-FM, 2 TV studios, 4 radio lab-classrooms. Also participates in Ala. ETV Network. Alabama Broadcasters Association located on campus.

ALASKA

UNIVERSITY OF ALASKA, Fairbanks (99701).

BA (speech, drama & radio). Walter Ensign, head.

Radio-TV courses available: 8.

Facilities: 2 radio classrooms, station KUAC(FM), KUAC-TV, KMPS (AM-carrier current).

ARIZONA

ARIZONA STATE UNIVERSITY, Tempe (85281).

BA & BS (mass communications & broadcasting). Joe W. Milner, chairman; Donald E. Brown, professor; Robert Ellis, assoc. professor & dir., bureau of broadcasting; ElDean Bennett & Benjamin Silver, asst. professors; Joseph P. Zesbaugh, instructor.

Radio-TV courses available: 16.

Facilities: KAET (TV), 3 TV studios and 4 classrooms, carrier current radio station KASN, mobile unit, closed-circuit TV, color facilities.

UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA, Tucson (85721).

MA (radio-TV). Frank Barreca, dept. head.

Radio-TV courses available: 29.

Facilities: 2 TV & 2 radio classrooms, KUAT-TV, radio KUAT, closed-circuit TV, kinescope, color facilities, video tape facilities, mobile unit, film studios, sound dubbing, film processing & print.

ARKANSAS

ARKANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, Jonesboro (72401).

BS (radio-TV). Charles L. Rasberry, dir. of bcstg.

Radio-TV courses available: 14.

Facilities: Radio KASU-FM, 6 TV & radio lab-classrooms, closed-circuit TV, remote TV van.

JOHN BROWN UNIVERSITY, Siloam Springs (72761).

BA (broadcasting). Dr. Ralph C. Kennedy, professor; Carl D. Windsor, instructor.

Radio-TV-film courses available: 8.

Facilities: 1 radio & 1 TV lab-classroom, radio station KUOA AM-FM, carrier current station KJBU, closed-circuit TV, VTR.

CALIFORNIA

CALIFORNIA STATE COLLEGE AT FULLERTON, Fullerton (92631).

BA, MA (communications). Dr. J. William Maxwell & Dr. Martin Klein, professors; Dr. George Mastrolanni, assoc. professor; Dr. Fenton Calhoun & Wm. Berg, asst. professors.

Radio-TV-film courses available: 20.

Facilities: 1 radio & 1 TV lab-classroom, closed-circuit TV, 2 VTRs, film studio.

CALIFORNIA STATE POLYTECHNIC COLLEGE, San Luis Obispo (93401).

BA (journalism). John Healey & Loren Nicholson, professors; Ed Zuchelli, asst. professor.

Radio-TV-film courses available: 5.

Facilities: 2 radio & 1 TV lab-classrooms, radio station KCPR-FM, closed circuit TV, VTR, film studio.

CALIFORNIA STATE UNIVERSITY, CHICO, Chico (95926).

BA (mass communications, broadcast emphasis). George Rogers, chairman, assoc. professor.

Radio-TV courses available: 22.

Facilities: 1 TV & 3 radio lab-classrooms, KCHO(FM), carrier current radio KCSC, closed-circuit TV, video tape facilities, KIXE-TV.

CALIFORNIA STATE UNIVERSITY AT LONG BEACH, Long Beach (90840).

BA (broadcasting). B. J. Langston, chairman, assoc. professor; Howard Martin, assoc. professor; Hubert Morehead, professor; Dan Baker, assoc. professor & TV coordinator; Sydney Hill, asst. professor, radio-TV-film; Sandra McMillan, asst. professor.

General Description

A CATV (or cable television) system as defined by the FCC is as follows: "Any facility that, in whole or in part, receives directly, or indirectly over the air, and amplifies or otherwise modifies the signals transmitting programs broadcast by one or more television or radio stations and distributes such signals by wire or cable to subscribing members of the public who pay for such service, but such term shall not include (1) any such facility that serves fewer than 50 subscribers, or (2) any such facility that serves only the residents of one or more apartment dwellings under common ownership, control, or management, and commercial establishments located on the premises of such an apartment house.

NOTE: In general, each separate and district community or municipal entity (including unincorporated communities within unincorporated areas and single, discrete, unincorporated areas) served by cable television facilities constitutes a separate cable television system, even if there is a single headend and identical ownership of facilities extending into several communities. See e.g., Telerama, Inc., 3 FCC 2d 585 (1966); Mission Cable TV, Inc., 4 FCC 2d 236 (1966)."

Television Factbook counts as one system those subscribers in a community or communities which are primarily served by one headend.

(*) Indicates firm holds franchise, is not yet operating.

(†) Indicates application for franchise is pending.

Cross reference in all capital letters (e.g., CRAIG AFB) indicates community is served by an operating system. Cross reference with initial capital & lower case letters (e.g., Brighton) indicates franchise only, service planned by an operating system or from another franchise under construction.

N.A. means information is not available.

Subscriber Counts

Subscriber count is as of latest information received from system operator. Dates have been inserted to show latest correspondence from system operator or figures filed with FCC on Form 325 for year ending Dec. 31, 1971. If no date is shown, subscriber count for 1973 had not been furnished to Television Factbook at time of publication.

Computation of subscribers is based on FCC formula wherein (1) The total individual-dwelling subscribers are added to (2) Total revenues from bulk-rate subscribers (such as motels) divided by rate of individual-dwelling units.

Potential

Potential is the number of subscribers expected within 5 years.

Top-100 Market

Indicates whether or not system lies within 35-mile radius of a Top-100 television market (or markets) as defined by FCC Rules & Regulations Governing CATV.

1973-74 Edition

Population

Total number of people living in community or communities served by system as based on 1970 census or figures supplied by system operators.

Began

Date on which system was in operation in community.

Channel Capacity

Number of 6-MHz channels system can carry.

Two-Way

Indicates whether or not system has 2-way capability between subscriber & system operator.

Signals

TV stations that are received over the air or via CARS or private microwave or translator are listed by call letters & city. CC indicates common carrier. CAC indicates Certificate Application of Compliance as filed with FCC.

Channel Utilization

Specifies the number of channels employed for each of the following services:

TV signal carriage

Automated (time-weather, news ticker, etc.) program originations without background music

Automated program originations with background music

Non-automated program originations

AM and/or FM signals delivered to radio receivers

Channels available but not in use

Originations

Both current and planned, as well as automated & non-automated, are shown with the number of hours they are carried on the system during a week. Originations are carried on one (1) channel unless otherwise indicated [e.g., (168-2) indicates 168 hours per week offered on 2 channels of origination]. Channel sharing is also indicated.

Automatic originations (e.g., time-weather, news ticker, etc.) are those which are mechanically delivered on system at predetermined times.

Non-automatic originations or local live are those which are originated or produced by the system operator, channel lessee or other user, or agent of either, the content or setting of which is geographically local, primarily involves appearances by local persons, or primarily focuses on issues or subjects of local interest.

A CATV network program is any program furnished to the system by a CATV network (national, regional or special) or by a series of interconnected CATV systems. Delayed telecasts of programs originated by CATV networks or series of interconnected CATV systems are classified as a network.

Film is any program consisting of presentation of feature or syndicated films.

Tape is any program presented via video tape.

Advertising rates are given when available; highest rates are shown.

Equipment

Makes of non-origination (e.g., headend, amplifiers & cable) in addition to originating equipment are shown, as provided by system operator.

Subscriber Fee

Charges for installation & monthly service are shown.

Plant

Miles of plant in existence are listed; additional miles planned are specified separately.

Homes in front of plant indicates number of homes passed by cable and currently accessible to cable.

Homes in franchised area indicates number of dwelling units in area for which system holds franchise.

City Fee

Amount paid by system operator to the city (or other franchising authority) including percent of gross, flat fee, etc.

Ownership

Officers, titles & percentages are listed as furnished by system operators to Television Factbook or to the FCC.

Multiple CATV system operators are listed in Group Ownership of CATV Systems in U.S. following this directory.

Broadcasting interests, interests in manufacturing, microwave, telephone, publishing, etc., companies are listed. Complete list of Broadcasters with CATV Interests also follows this directory.

Recent sales of systems are reported on individual systems as well as in Group Ownership of Systems.

Information is as supplied by FCC, system operators, franchise holders, applicants, city officials, equipment makers & other sources. Though data is frequently incomplete, it is the best obtainable through diligent inquiry.

A complete list of CATV systems in Canada, Canadian Group Owners & Canadian Broadcasters with CATV Interests follows this directory.

Statistical tables of CATV industry development (1952-1973), originations, largest systems, etc., are found on pages 83-a and 84-a.

Maintenance of Directory

This directory may be kept up-to-the-minute each week through subscription to services of Television Digest, the Factbook's associated authoritative weekly newsletter, and its CATV & TV station activity addenda. These addenda report all latest CATV & station applications, permits, modifications, sales, construction starts, principals, addresses, microwaves, etc. For details, write Television Digest, 1836 Jefferson Place NW, Washington, D.C. 20036. Here are 6 sensible reasons why the smart CATV operator should borrow from Cable Funding Corp.

1. We'll finance all facets of cable operations.
2. We give you more leverage.
3. We've got a flexible repayment policy.
4. We make loan decisions quickly.
5. We can help you solve operational problems.
6. We're the biggest. And we're independent.

If all this makes sense to you, just call our president, Harold Ewen, at (212) 371-3700 for more information. It just might be the smartest thing you'll do today.

1. Extensive computerized data bank — continuously updated. First ever offered to all organizations concerned with cable.

Factbook Research, Inc.

2. Special analyses of any material now in data bank — tailored to meet specific needs.

3. Immediate readouts developed for industry and government to aid marketing manufacturing and regulatory planning with firmer base of solid, up-to-the-minute information than ever before.

4. New kinds of data not now available in the data bank, or anywhere else, gathered and analyzed at specification of client.

Telecommunications newest computerized research in cable and cable-related areas

What Is Factbook Research, Inc.?

Factbook Research, Inc. (FRI) is a joint venture of Television Digest, Inc. and CTBS Group, Inc. Television Digest, Inc. has been publishing for 29 years: The authoritative Washington Weekly newsletter Television Digest; Television Factbook, the principal annual directory of cable and telecasting data; CATV Addenda to the Factbook the comprehensive report of weekly activity in cable systems, franchises, applications and FCC authorizations; the annual CATV & Station Coverage Atlas, displaying all cable systems on state maps, along with Grade A, Grade

B contours and 35-mile contours of all TV stations, including complete text of FCC cable rules.

CTBS Group, Inc., headquartered in Wellesley Hills, Mass., has 3 operating subsidiaries. The major subsidiary is Temple, Barker & Sloane, Inc. (TBS) a management consulting firm. TBS was formed 3 years ago by several consultants previously with Harbridge House; it has grown to include more than 20 consultants on its professional staff. The other 2 operating subsidiaries are Decision Research Corp., a market research company, active in industrial and consumer fields, and CTBS Capital, Inc., an investment counseling firm.

Why Use the Computer? The computer data bank includes all essential information from the Television Factbook; all available material filed with the FCC by all cable systems; all information included in the weekly CATV Addenda; all data from the annual CATV Atlas; geographic coordinates of all communities and TV stations in the U.S., and their relationship to cable systems and TV stations; special payable tabulations and analyses, etc.

All of the above vital information, constantly updated — plus extremely complex analyses of other ever-changing cable data — is provided quickly and accurately via computer.

Everybody talks about CATV . . . But only the CATV & Station Coverage Atlas nails down the facts.

Every fact important to CATV has been brought up to date, checked, cross-checked and indexed for easy day-to-day use.

The CATV & Station Coverage Atlas contains everything for the Cable System Owner to operate under the FCC Rules Governing CATV.

In addition to the new Rules and latest AMENDMENTS, the new ATLAS includes Color-Coded Grade A&B Contours of all TV Stations, Maps of their 35-Mile Zone Areas showing Locations of all CATV Systems, a Microwave Route Map, a Directory of CATV Equipment Manufacturers and Suppliers, plus a full list of all Television Stations significantly viewed county-by-county, state-by-state.

Many more distinct features found only in the new CATV & Station Coverage Atlas make it the industry's single most important and informative reference work.

For your own copy, use the special order card bound inside the Stations Volume.
