We've got a system for everything. And everything for your system.

Whether your plans call for a complete CATV system, or simply for components, we can supply anything you need. Systematically.

Scientific Atlanta builds all its own equipment. From antennas. To preamplifiers. To signal processors. To phase-lock modulators. To distribution amplifiers. To home terminals.

And we build all kinds of systems, too. From head ends. To distribution systems. To two way systems. What's more, our experts can design your total system. Then, put it all together. And up in the air.

We've been leaders in space electronics since 1953. We're in Cable communications. Telecommunications. Satellite communications. And we're systematic about everything. Our products. Our installations. Our service. Our systems.

In the industry we're known as the most creative innovators in CATV. One of the few far-sighted full line suppliers whose products are engineered not just for today. But far into the future.

So if you're looking for a complete system or part of a system, give us a call. We've got a system for everything. And everything for your system.

UTILITY TOOL CORPORATION

1973-74 Edition

JST cable preparation tools are ideal for removing the jackets of any CATV trunk and distribution cable. Actually lifts the jacket when it starts to cut. Thus, the blade never touches the aluminum shield.

SST cable preparation tools remove the aluminum sheath and dielectric of any standard (polyethylene dielectric) CATV trunk or distribution cable. The cutting blade never touches the center conductor. You get a smooth, square cut with no burrs. The aluminum jacket is never distorted or squashed.

DST cable preparation tools are excellent for the low loss polystyrene cables, as well as air dielectric cables. It removes the aluminum sheath and dielectric from any size cable of this type. No blade ever touches the center conductor, eliminating the possibility of knicks (which can cause trouble calls).

The CCT cable coring tool is indispensable for coring any size (.412, .500 or .750) cable. Working from the inside out, it removes the dielectric (adjustable up to 1") completely from under the sheath. The use of this tool assures easy insertion of the stainless steel sleeve.
