THERE seems to be a concerted move, all over the country, to abolish the "shrieking Dervish"—the loudspeaker that hangs in front of many radio stores, and blares all day or evening long. We believe this move is a good thing. More rotten radio reproduction has been broadcast in this manner than through any other agency. The sidewalk banshee kills more radio than it advertises. Just why a dealer will pick out the poorest speaker he has in stock and hang it in front of his store to advertise his business remains a mystery. There ought to be an ordinance against it in every city and town in the country. Radio doesn't have to be ballyhooed like a side show. It is a thing of quality and ought to be sold as such. A lot of folks have been opposed to radio because all they ever heard of it was the blasting cadences of a tin speaker hanging over the door of a "jipp" store.

STATION KWKH, in Shreveport, La., has been the first station penalized in the United States for "objectionable language" over the air. W. K. Henderson, "boss" of the station, has been placed on probation for thirty days by the Federal Radio Commission. We heard Henderson a couple of times, and marveled that he got away with what he did. Henderson has a grievance against chain stores. He has spent hours on the air broadcasting the evils of the chain store. When he got warmed up he let his utterances glow with incandescent enthusiasm which would have lighted a fifty-watt lamp twenty feet away. Now he has been spanked for it, and rightfully, too.

SOMEBODY with a knowledge of business, Spanish, and radio can make a fortune for himself in Buenos Aires. The town needs a radio director. There are 22 stations in Buenos Aires alone, all of which exist practically without income, and whose programs are of the most sketchy variety. There are no sponsors and no one buys time. Yet radio sets are sold everywhere, and the people are wild about broadcasting. A fortune awaits the man who can pool the station in a working arrangement, provide an income, and guarantee good programs. Reception conditions are said to be excellent, but American stations can be heard only when the 22 "racketeers" shut down.

"WELL, boys," said the sheriff of Muskogee, Okla., to the prisoners in his jail. "What kind of music do you like over the radio?" The sheriff likes contented prisoners and nothing annoys him like picking out a broadcast and then finding out that his assortment of prisoners do not like it. To the sheriff's surprise, the "jail fellows" announced that they liked "sad and dreamy compositions by old masters." Now the sheriff has to spend all his time hunting up classical music for the boys. He can't hear his favorite jazz until after all the boys are in bed, late at night. This is too bad. Why don't the folks up there get the sheriff another radio set for his own use?

The RADIO TATTLER

By EARLE ENNIS

AT LAST the coast guard is going to do something more useful than chase rum runners. It is going north on ice patrol. There is no connection, in this instance, between cracked ice and liquor. Also, chasing icebergs does not cause international complications, when some cutter commander gets absent-minded and fires a shot across the bows of an iceberg. The boys of the service welcome it, too. They don't get so many dirty looks as they do when chasing rum runners.

The annual search for icebergs started after the Titanic disaster in 1912. The liner ran into an iceberg and lost two-thirds of its crew and passengers. Everybody was greatly surprised that an iceberg had wandered down into the ship lanes, despite the fact that ships had been dodging them there since the time of Columbus. It is mighty hard to surprise some people. You often have to kill a lot of them before they wake up.

In that year, an international conference was held in London. The powers agreed something ought to be done about it. One official had a fine idea. They'd have an ice patrol. And, said he:

"Let's shove it over on the revenue cutter service. They've got a lot of time on their hands. And it saves wear and tear on the navy."

So the cutter boys got it. They've had it ever since. The practice they've had catching rum runners has made them mighty good at playing tag with icebergs. There isn't an iceberg from Pt. Barrow to Spitzbergen that doesn't know a revenue cutter the instant it shows up. In fact, the Esquimaux themselves have gotten so they can tell a government cutter from a Kyack when they see one stuck in the ice. Hardly ever is a cutter mistaken, any more, for a seal or a reindeer.

On the Pacific Coast the cutters don't do much ice patrol work. The chambers of commerce don't like to have it get out that we have ice out here. Nothing but sunshine. But back in the East, where they have to account for the coal bills some way, they concede a certain amount of snow and ice. In Maine, it is claimed that the Canadians spend all winter breaking icebergs loose and shoving them down on America and but for this, they say, Maine would have a climate like Florida.

The ice patrol cutters go north and watch the ship lanes. The crews had to learn a new set of nautical terms. They could no longer say "Land ho!" when they saw a frappe mountain moving their way. When a look-out spots a berg from the crow's-nest, he gives the official cheerio: "Ice ho!"

"Where away?" asks the first officer, sticking his head out of the binnacle.

"Three points'n'arf off the stabb'rd verenda."

"Aye, aye."

The f. o. whistles down the tube to the radio operator and gives him the dope. The op raps his key and broadcasts to the world on a set time schedule the lat., and long., of the berg. And all the rum runners keep away from that part of the North Sea. They should run down an iceberg when they don't have to!

The cutters also report to headquarters and twice a day NAA, Washington; NAD, Boston; NAH, New York, and NAM, Norfolk, broadcast to any and all that a mountain of cocktail shaker material is loose in the ship lane and to watch out. Now and then, if the berg comes too close to New York, the ice trust sends out a tug with a fire hose and squirts steam on the berg until it sinks with discouragement, and removes competition.

The most important work that the cutters do, on ice patrol, is to find out where the berg is going. Reading the intentions of an iceberg by looking it in the face calls for rare skill, yet so good are the revenue boys at it that hardly a berg escapes. In fact icebergs have to be quite adroit to get where they are going. Most of them travel two-thirds under water, like a speculative stock on Wall Street, to fool the government.

Ice patrol work is cold, hard, difficult and dangerous stuff, and it takes men to do it. The more men it takes, the easier it will be for the rum runners to reach port without interference. That's why the rum runners favor ice patrol work, even more than do the revenue boys.

MICROPHONE GOSSIP

Edward Manning, KPO's Chief Operator, had air aspirations long before he became interested in radio. That was back in 1911 when aviation was in its swaddling clothes. He became an aviation mechanic with lofty ideas—he wanted to learn to fly. Ask him about Latham, Walter Brookins, Paulhan, Parmalee, Eugene Ely, Lincoln Beachy, Art Smith, Danny Davidson—he will tell you all about their accomplishments and of many of their hair-raising escapes from death. But of his own mishaps he maintains a discreet silence—he is modest—dislikes bragging—refuses to talk. But he is a veteran of the flying game—his pal Danny Davidson was killed in China—since that time Ed has refused to fly—so he took to radio that he might help fill the air with music—a sort of requiem for his former buddie.

Charlie Wellman, the West's "Prince of Pep," KHJ's radio veteran who accumulates more fame with every year, put on a request program between 1 and 2:30 a. m., the morning that brought King George's Five-Power Naval Parley speech to KHJ via the CBS. The Prince of Pep sang fifty-six numbers in the ninety minutes. Plenty of pepper left in the old pepper pot! Four hundred requests were received between 1:30 and 2:30 o'clock.

Versatility is one of the pre-requisites for a radio entertainer, but few artists are so talented as Virginia Spencer. This charming young lady is becomingly modest in setting forth her talents, but those who have heard her over KYA are in a position to judge her accomplishments. With the composition of "Music Box Tune," a tinkling melody, Virginia Spencer took her place as a composer of merit, and when not busy playing someone else's works, she is composing selections of her own—not only the music and melodies and rhythms an what-nots—but the words as well.

Al Kelli, accordionist, and Ernie Lohrman, pianist, commence a new series of entertaining programs over KJBS on Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Mr. Kelli is well known in musical circles and toured the Orpheum circuit for more than seven years. Mr. Lohrman will be remembered by many as former orchestra leader at the Apollo Cafe.

Twenty years of stage and motion picture experience lies behind Alexander Joseph Macdonald, KVI announcer. His work has taken him into all the states in this country, most of the counties of Europe, and on a trip around the world. Macdonald has been an actor, singer, comedian and announcer. He matriculated at Manhattan College, New York City.

Burr McIntosh, KFWB's cheerful philosopher, after a brief absence because of illness, is now on the Sunday night program at 7:30 o'clock with his thirty minutes of cheer and happiness.

"Dobbsie's" Thursday morning broadcasts from KPO, which he calls Tin Pan Alley of Radio, inspired by a visit he made to New York's "Tin Pan Alley," has been instrumental in bringing to light some new and tuneful compositions. Among the first program's harvest were two numbers composed but still unpublished, by Merton Bories, KPO's Production Manager.

They are "Honolulu Lullaby" and "Happiness Isle." Those who heard them predict two more song hits to be added to Bories' already fast swelling list—it was he who wrote that splendid number, "Sailing Along To Hawaii," "Consolation," "Why Do I Always Remember" and scores of others equally successful.

Peggy Hamilton, the fashion authority, who, more than anyone, or all persons, has convinced the world that Hollywood is a style center, has inaugurated a series of fashion radio revues at KHJ. Miss Hamilton, stars of the stage and screen, and an array of marvelously-gowned models create a charming and authoritative fashion parade for the air audience. A capacity crowd fills the studios for this weekly eye and earful. The persuasive Peggy talks entertainingly and learnedly upon the History of Clothes and Accessories.

Six million school children were expected to lend languid ears to the first American School of the Air broadcast—Columbia's painless cultural method—which was broadcast over the national CBS network to KHJ, the Don Lee station in Los Angeles, February 4. This splendidly conceived educational series will bring authoritative and immensely attractive lectures on red-blooded subjects into the schoolrooms of America. Grigsby-Grunow Company, co-sponsors with Columbia of the project, have already loaned 40,000 Majestic receiving sets to schools wishing to take advantage of the situation.

Don E. Gilman, vice-president of NBC in charge of the Pacific Division, left recently for the North Pacific section to visit the trio of stations affiliated with the National Broadcasting Company and to speak before the Pacific Advertising Clubs' Association directors at the mid-winter conference in Portland and afterward will visit in Seattle and Tacoma, where he has speaking engagements.

Lloyd E. Yoder, manager of the NBC Press Relations Department, will accompany Mr. Gilman on the trip north. They will be met there by Harry Anderson, Sales Department head, who goes north on business and to attend the ad club meetings.

KFRC's Assistant Traffic Manager, who keeps the tangle of hundreds of weekly programs originating all over the country (and world, since the King George broadcast) straightens out and provides what is known as a "daily wire circuit set up," giving the time to the second for the various programs, for announcers and operators (whew, we're about out of breath) is a woman. But, no, we're wrong, she's a pretty girl, and her name is Dorothy Gillespie.

During the short time Cecil and Sally have been broadcasting over KPO they have been awarded with over 5000 letters from radio fans complimenting their highly amusing episodes of "The Funniest Things." The letters come from all points of the West—some from the Hawaiian Islands, others from remote eastern cities and town—but all with the same content—approval. The pair of KPO humorists are in real life Johnny Patrick, who writes the humanly realistic skits that deal with the romances of a modern youth and girl—Helen Troy being the girl. Johnny also draws the "Cecil and Sally Comic Strip of the Air," a clever creation with a "kick" in it. If you have not yet heard these laugh provokers you have a treat in store for you when you tune in to KPO any week day evening 9 to 9:10 o'clock.

KFWB posts a new notice on the bulletin board. It has no immediate need of uke players, pianists, sopranos, tenors, or juveniles.

But it can use something out of the ordinary . . . like a one-man band playing the coarina, musical saw and big bass drum all at the same time.

"We can always find use for something unusual," says Miss Florence Israel, KFWB's program arranger, "and, although we hold auditions each week, the times are few and far between when we 'discover' usable talent in novelty form."

Anita C., San Francisco, Cal. The "Alarm Clock" announcer at KJBS is Charles Parker, a San Francisco boy. He has dark brown hair, hazel eyes, weighs 148 pounds and is 5 feet 9 inches tall. (You might look up his picture in the January 26 to February 1 issue of Broadcast Weekly.) A healthy good humor is Charles' principal characteristic. It takes at least a blow-out en route to the station after a late start from home or a meal where spinach is soloed or dominates, to disturb his happy mental equilibrium.

Mrs. M. L., Stockton, Cal.—Cotton Bond was born in Madison, Virginia. His education was received at Washington, D. C., where, at the Force School, he was a classmate of Kermit Roosevelt.

H. T. S., San Francisco, Cal.—Anna Kristina has brown eyes and reddish brown hair. She is not tall, not short, not fat, not thin. The type who emerges from a fashionable shop wearing a new ensemble without having had to wait for alterations. (Anna does a lot of emerging, too. She is generously endowed with mental acuteness and has a certain directness about her that is as admirable as it is stimulating. You might "speak for yourself, John." There is no violent husband to fear and Anna reads English perfectly.

Helen K., Santa Barbara, Cal.—According to all reports, Don Hunt, formerly of KFI, is in New York supervising rehearsals for a new musical comedy written by himself.

Mrs. Palmer, Esparto, Cal.—Since leaving San Francisco and KFRC, Tom Gerunovich has been broadcasting over station KMOX, St. Louis, Mo., but he has just signed a contract to play at the William Penn Hotel at Pittsburgh, and the station from which he will be heard has not been determined as is written. Wint Cotton is said to be touring in vaudeville. Your other question is answered elsewhere in this column.

John J., Alameda, Cal.—Yes, Margaret O'Dea is now heard from station KFRC and

George Eldredge has gone to the National Broadcasting Co.

Mrs. F. D. M., San Francisco, Cal.—"Babykins" really is a child and an adorable one. Her name is Frances Jean McGlinchey. She is six years old, was born in Los Angeles, began her radio career two years ago and has sung over KMIC, KFI, KTAB, KLX, KYA and KFRC. "Babykins" looks for all the world like a beautiful, live doll. A normal youngster in every way. Climbs trees, skates, loves animals; her menagerie at the present time consists of one dog, three puppies, one cat, one pony, three ducks and a canary. She lives with her parents at Livermore.

Mrs. Irene P., Yolo Co., Cal.—Yes, Frank Moss is married. He has no children of his own, but Jay Brewster, librarian at KFRC, is a step-son. Mr. Moss is invariably termed the "Old Music Master," although he is not old and does not wear a velvet jacket or flowing tie. Some people, it seems, just have an aura about them and the title somehow expresses the love and respect that is felt by his associates. He is a student of Harold Bauer, has studied in Paris and was for several years director of the Punahon School of Music in Honolulu.

J. A. C., Berkeley, Cal.—Most artists love their homes, but few take unto themselves the responsibilities involved with the zest and pleasure that Imelda Montague (NBC) does. She loves every phase of it from the early morning risings to get Junior off to school, the Monday duties, darning and sewing days to the Sunday guest dinners. And the wonder of it is that she is but 4 feet 11 inches in height and weighs only 95 pounds.

Mrs. H. T., Sacramento, Cal.—Clark Wilson has brown eyes and dark hair becomingly touched with gray. He weighs 185 pounds, is 5 feet 10 inches tall, was born in Iowa but has lived most of his life in California. From his mother he learned to speak Bohemian before he learned English. You should hear him pronounce Dvorak. His studies and profession have taken him abroad many times and he has a charming, interesting personality.

RADIO COSTS 33c A MONTH

WHAT does it cost to run an A.C. radio set?

Housewives who jockey the family budget often look askance at the little music box in the corner and wonder how much the little devil eats up. Well, a New York power company has worked it out. It costs about $3.90 a year for current for the radio set.

The company determined this when it changed its 25-cycle current to 60-cycle, such as we have here on the Pacific Coast, to meet the demands of radio users. It inaugurated an investigation to find out if the change would pay the company, and uncovered an amazing thing, viz., that while the current consumed is infinitesimal, the total of current used in thousands of homes equipped with radio is startling.

The figures indicated that the electric set last year was worth $10,000,000 in revenue to the power companies of the country. At that, only ten percent of the homes are equipped with radio. If the time ever comes when each house has a radio the power industry can look forward to an annual income of $100,000,000. This does not take into consideration the juice used by ranges, flatirons, ironers, oil burners, vacuum cleaners, washing machines, fans, toasters, percolators, water heaters and scores of other devices.

The annual electric set operating cost of $3.90 is predicated on the average nationwide kilowatt cost of 6.55 cents per kilowatt hour.

ARCTURUS ANNOUNCES

D. C. LINE

The Arcturus Radio Tube Company, of Newark, New Jersey, relinquishes its qualifications as the "world's largest exclusive manufacturer of a. c. tubes," as it adds to its radio vacuum tube line with the complete complement of battery type tubes, according to their announcement made today.

The addition to the Arcturus tubes consist of d. c. designs incorporating original engineering developments on standard types for all battery receivers, designated as types 012A, 101A, 099, 122 and 071A. These are, respectively, semi-power amplifier, standard r. f., a. f. amplifier and detector, dry cell low current, screen-grid and power amplifier types.

It is claimed that the characteristic Arcturus uniformity and long life has been engineered into these tubes, the design of which covers a developmental period of three years.

"BLUE LAW" GANG SEEKS RADIO CONTROL

THE reform element, which for a number of years has been trying to grab control of the motion picture industry, has now gone after radio. In a bill introduced in the House of Representatives by Congressman Lankford of Georgia, control of all radio activities in the United States is sought for regulative purposes.

Lankford has been an outstanding figure in "Blue Law" legislation. He was the author of a number of measures which imposed the blue law restrictions on the District of Columbia. He has been an active figure in the motion picture control movement. Now he wants to organize a Department of Public Welfare, backed by $1,000,000 of national money, to dictate entertainment for schools, colleges, churches, lodges and clubs, in the radio and motion picture field.

Lankford, in his bill, frankly says that one of the major purposes of the proposed department is to secure "any and all legal rights that may not now be owned by the United States government, to the fullest and most complete control of the sending and receiving of all radio communications within the United States." The bill provides that the new department supply "radio service" to such executive, legislative and judicial branches of the government as may aid them in discharge of their duties and powers, and also to such organizations in the scholastic, ecclesiastical and fraternal fields as may need it, all at government expense.

The bill further provides that no commercial messages shall be transmitted except upon approval of the Department of General Welfare, and then only in such a way "as not to interfere with the uses to which the radio service is herein dedicated." In this provision is seen the fine hand of Soviet influence, the bill following the policy recently adopted in Russia where the government handles all broadcasts, using only such material as meets the approval of the party in power.

Candidates for office, according to the bill, will be allowed to present their political claims, only upon the approval of the secretary of the department who goes over their utterances in advance and determines whether or not they shall broadcast.

Startled by the scope of the bill, and the sinister hint of possible Russian influence behind the legislation, in furtherance of the world program of Soviet activity, radio agencies, newspapers and congressmen have lined up against the bill. Efforts are being made to kill it in the house committee, which is the graveyard of "freak" legislation.

BERNICE BERWIN, NBC

By MONROE R. UPTON

FIRST, observe the picture of Miss Berwin that goes with this little story. It misrepresents. Miss Berwin is at least ten times more comely. She belongs to that category of young ladies whose charm is not adequately suggested by stilled light and shadow. (This really shouldn't be a serious handicap in life except to those interested in matrimony by mail.)

Bernice is a decided brunette with very much alive brown eyes. Which is just a way of saying that she has very beautiful brown eyes. She is a confident young lady, unselfconscious, and gives one the impression that she is quite capable of getting what she wants, whatever it jolly well might be. She is slender and just the right height. We don't just remember the "details" of her dress (the eyes had us stymied), but we do know that she dresses just a little better than "pleasing." Not merely with taste, but with some art thrown in. Come to think of it, there was a blue kerchief draped at a tantalizing angle over the right shoulder. (Clothes may not make the man, but if worn properly they often make the man's heart beat faster.)

Perhaps you don't realize when you listen to the leading lady of the NBC Players that you are loyal to a native daughter. Bernice was born in San Francisco, and while a babe in arms was hurriedly bundled over to Oakland by her mother during the visitation of the earth—pardon—fire in 1906. Age? Here's a pencil.

From then on the sunshine of the East Bay and the guidance of her mother made her what she is today. Although her mother never went on the stage her heart was in dramatic work and she began early to mold her daughter's ambitions. Bernice remembers one of the first of her acts, directed by her mother, with the parlor for a stage, when she spoke a little piece while lugging a trunk under one tiny arm. Or, maybe it was a small suitcase.

And so, by the time our heroine was in high school, where she arrived, by the way, before she should have, chronologically speaking, she was all primed to take the lead in things dramatic. Three years later college gave her the chance to shine. In her last year at Berkeley she played the lead in "Dulcy."

Before leaving her college career it is interesting to note that she has her AB in French. Also that she studied the piano for a good many years and was acknowledged to have a brilliant future in music, though she has given it up for dramatic activities.

With her college reputation Bernice did not find it difficult to go on the stage. She played at both the Fulton, in Oakland, and at the Alcazar in San Francisco, at the latter house playing the lead in "Lombardi Ltd." opposite Leo Carrillo. For the most part she was cast as the ingenue lead. She came to the NBC players via KGO. Instead of Broadway, or the Hollywood lots claiming her, she graduated to the largest and most promising field of all, the radio. She has been with NBC for about two years.

Perhaps Bernice is best known for her work as Ethyl in the Jack and Ethyl stories. Just now, with Jack and Ethyl gone "folksy," she is wondering just how the radio audience will like them. Personally, she enjoys the change. She also plays in Memory Lane, Tales Never Told, and the new Westerns that John Hamlin, weaver of tales of the woolly West, is fashioning for the air. She confesses, however, a regret that the Legends have been taken off. They gave her an opportunity for real serious work, the kind she must have a certain amount of to keep her artistic stomach from feeling that her mind is shut. She loves comedy, too, but for a balanced diet she requires some of the vitamins only found in tragedy.

Offstage our leading lady has not a few interests. As an athlete she says she is an excellent cook. Outside of brewing batches of fudge in the kitchen during adolescent days, in connection with the entertainment of admiring males, she never had the opportunity to cook until after she was married some three years ago to Brooks Berlin, the lawyer. Then she first horrified her relatives by collecting cook books, and ended by astonishing them when she promptly became a first-class cook.

She loves to dance. Her eyes sparkle just a little more like the stars when she abandons herself to the rhythm of the modern dance. As for reading, her taste is for the modern, serious novel, with food for thought. She mentioned Warwick Deeping, and "Dark

Star," a recent novel by the English girl, Lorna Moon, whose life has been such a decided tragedy.

There have been times when she decided to let the drama shift for itself and devote her talents to playing bridge and other social activities. But she has always returned to the career which gives the serious side of her nature an opportunity to develop. That this serious side is not obvious in her is evident in the fact that a fortune teller recently told her she was "just a butterfly." (Yes, we guess that all women go to fortune tellers.)

Bernice explains that the felicity of her married life with Brooks Berlin is based upon the difference in their temperament. She is a bit like a cyclone, changing her direction without reason or warning, while her husband is more like a summer Nor'wester, steady and reliable. They balance each other, and their differences are a source of admiration.

Outside of her principal interest, her dramatic work on the air, she has a penchant for putting words on paper, and some day, she says, she shall write. And then there is golf. She has her eye on that, too. We give her six months to be shooting ladies' par out at Lincoln after she first drives off.

P. S.—We called up the maternity ward at the hospital and they told us that a babe in arms is anywhere from one day to two years.

UNCLE SAM SWAMPED WITH PATENTS

WHAT'S new in radio? Well—let's look at the patent office and see.

Inventions are being developed at the rate of 85,000 a year, according to the applications for patent protection. At the present time the patent office is faced with just 113,000 applications. Of this number some 2,000 cover radio devices.

Uncle Sam grants nearly 1000 patents a week. For the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1929, the government granted just 43,000 patents—one out of every two asked for being given. This means that at least half of the applicants either had nothing, or someone else had beaten them to it.

More than 5000 patents have been granted in the past ten years. Of these, the most important have been tied up in the courts as one individual or group tried to get the patent right away from someone else. Many of them are still in the courts. Many of the ideas today on which patents are asked cover improvements which are far ahead of the art. That is—an inventor will anticipate that such and such a thing will some day be needed. He takes out a patent and then waits. There are hundreds of these.

RECEPTION POOR IN SOUTH AMERICA

Cincinnati, O.—South America will experience a genuine radio boom this year as a result of the action of the Argentine government in taking over control of broadcasting. This is the belief of Senor Carlos de Dominicis, a member of the firm of H. J. Chilibroste & Co., distributors of Crosley radio sets in the Argentine. While in Cincinnati recently, Senor Dominicis spent some time in the studios of the Crosley stations, WLW and WSAI, to take back information and pictures concerning broadcasting activities in North America.

Senor Dominicis explained that there are twenty-two stations within the city limits of Buenos Aires and that these stations had been deviating from their assigned wave lengths. The result was that broadcast reception was extremely poor, due to interference. The government, however, has just taken control and ordered all broadcasting stations to move their transmitters out of the city limits during the next nine months. The Secretary of Communications, a member of the Argentine cabinet, will enforce these regulations. This department's duties correspond to those of the Federal Radio Commission in the United States.

Senor Dominicis expressed the belief that with reception conditions improved as a result of government intervention, the sale of receiving sets will increase considerably. In spite of poor reception conditions and the fact that little attention is given to the production of programs, the sale of receivers has been brisk in the territory, Crosley sales having doubled in Argentine and Uruguay during 1929.

According to Dominicis, the twenty-two broadcasting stations in Buenos Aires present extremely sketchy entertainment made up almost entirely of phonograph records. Station WLW, in Cincinnati, 6000 miles away, can generally be picked up outside of Buenos Aires and is a prime favorite with Argentine radio fans, he said.

A PAGE FROM THE NBC WOMAN'S MAGAZINE OF THE AIR

By MADONNA M. TODD

OUTSIDE of a lesson in millinery or a course in manual training or blacksmithing, you can get always anything you want during the National Broadcasting Company's morning broadcast between 10:30 and 11:30 o'clock of the Woman's Magazine of the Air."

That's not our own comment, but we realize it is true, nevertheless.

Now that Camay is discussed by Helen Chase, there's "beauty in the air" and beyond that we've interior decorating, housekeeping hints, helps in laundering and entertaining (to go from one extreme to the other) discussions of food products and almost anything else of which one can think.

Bennie Walker, editor, and Helen Chase presented the new Camay feature for the first time about a fortnight ago. It's great to learn from Miss Chase just how to keep the complexion perfect or to improve the skin in spite of our being outside a lot or living in a city where dust and smoke must be fought the year around.

Miss Chase, incidentally, doesn't appear with Bennie's magazine personnel excepting during the Camay Feature on Monday mornings. You must listen then to hear her.

"I learned something interesting while I was 'looking up' Camay," she volunteered today. "It was that 73 real dermatologists in America have signed certificates approving Camay . . . these dermatologists know what they're talking about. They all made chemical analysis before they approved the new product."

Heard with Miss Chase on Mondays are Joseph Hornik, director, and the WMA Melodists who contribute instrumental selections. Bennie Walker, reading the week's index, is there and Helen Webster chats a bit about the various uses to which Clorox can be put.

Helen Webster gave us quite a shock today when she said, "Well, we're going to introduce a new baby during Wednesday's magazine broadcast."

It's not clear yet what Helen meant, so the only answer is to tune in during the Easier Housekeeping Feature. She has another talk during the week that has especial promise. It is titled "Toning Down a Too

IRVING KENNEDY

Bright Room" and will be heard during Tuesday's Lady Pepperell Feature. Needless to suggest, there are plenty of rooms in homes we all visit that can well be done over as Miss Webster advises.

Then while one is "toning down" one can follow Miss Webster's Fuller Feature suggestions for "Beautifying With Paint Products," and freshen up the furniture, pillows and even the curtains with Oronite . . . so Magnolia, Henry and Charley insist during their Wednesday morning comedy feature.

Turning a few more Magazine "pages" one finds Ann Holden helping to plan a February holiday party—which obviously must be red and white . . . and then turning to the business of making soup that puts romance into the family's dinner. Ann can jump from soup to cake and tell you how to make spice cake on a moment's notice . . . imagine that! The Wright, Wedgewood, California Catsup and Crisco producers present Miss Holden this week on Tuesday and Thursday. Friday she offers new Kraft salads and closes the Magazine for the week with an Alpine talk. The M. J. B. Chef makes his bow on Friday, too, and there are other features just as worth while but we can't list them all just now.

It would be a rank injustice, of course, to pass up Little Bennie.

He's the "juvenile" whose baby voice one must ask Bennie Walker about if one wants to know just exactly who the little fellow is.

Ann Holden is responsible for Little Bennie's addition to the Magazine personnel, but hundreds of "fan" letters insured his remaining. He's one of the most popular performers now. Thursday during Impromptu Feature is his day.

While we're on the subject of features of the Magazine, we again list some of the NBC headliners whose voices are heard each week—we might miss a few, but among them are Phyllis Campbell, Marian Gilbert, Eileen Piggott, Barbara Blanchard, Gail Taylor, Lucile Kirtley, Peggy Chapman and Mildred Montague, Leonard and Hinds, Douglas Richardson, Myron Niesley, Irving Kennedy, John Teel, Gwynfi Jones, Harry Stanton, Henry Starr, Jack Deane and William Powers.

MR. WILLIAM WRIGHT

known to GOLDEN STATE
Jamboreeadors as
"Herr Hans von Hamburg"

—has no doubt afforded you many a hearty laugh with his humorous characterization of "der Professor of Hamburger University."

Herr Hamburg may get his science twisted, but his humor is straight from the shoulder. And he is just one of many featured artists of the Golden State Jamboree, presented each Monday night, from 8 to 10 over stations KFRC, KHJ and KMJ.

You can depend upon two happy hours of entertainment when you tune in on the Jamboree. . . . And for pure, rich milk and cream,—sweet, fresh butter and other dairy products, you can depend upon Golden State!

Merle Alcock, contralto, will also be heard during the broadcast. The general performance will be under the direction of Gennaro Papi. An orchestra of 50 pieces will be used.
