

RAYMOND PAIGE, KHJ

By DICK CREEDON

ARIGID baton directed by a flexible brain occupying the skull of Raymond Paige, musical director of KHJ, has accomplished what has been called impossible in the past. Heaven, to the manager of a radio station, is a place where radio orchestras can play symphonies, grand operas, musical comedies, jazz and popular ballads with equal facility. Probably every major station has experimented hopefully with orchestras and directors in the hope of creating such a heaven on earth. But Raymond Paige if the records of radio history are complete and accurate, is the first mortal to make the splendid little idea work smoothly. Therefore, Mr. Paige automatically becomes an immortal—although he is still subject to colds, chilblains, stomach aches and the various disappointments of life. Let us be very blunt about the whole matter: The KHJ orchestra, when directed by Raymond Paige, can play all types of music with equal facility. And what are you going to do about it? Tune in, possibly.

William S. Paley, chief of the Columbia Broadcasting System, was deeply impressed by the really glaring virtues of Los Angeles on his recent visit. But the shock from which he is now recovering came when he discovered that the same orchestra and director which he had heard playing a Lohengrin Opera Miniature at eight o'clock one evening was batting out a hot, fast dance broadcast at nine the same night—with convincing distinction in both cases. According to Mr. Paley, it really isn't being done in the East.

Although Mr. Paige would win the musical decathlon at the Olympic games, he insists that there are directors who would break the tape first in any single event. It is just too bad that the leaders of the great symphony orchestra—many of them, at least—can't even get off their marks when it comes to playing even the light classics, let alone jazz and musical comedy. And it is equally sad for the managers of radio stations that our geniuses of syncopation give up when confronted by anything cooler than 175 degrees fahrenheit—let's say, centi-grade—easier to spell—or born before 1910.

For all this there's a reason. You might as well know the whole truth now. When little Raymond was 14 years old Chicago thought it saw through its smoke another fiddle genius. The lad was clever with the bow. One night, in a fairly conspicuous recital, a four-year-old Russian with large ears was pushed in on a kiddie kar and made our boy look like a ham without mustard.

For six weeks Raymond did not feel like eating. Then he made a second discovery: That the four-year-old had, in turn, been completely outclassed by a Bulgarian, age three and three-quarters. Immediately, this being an age of specialization, the future musical director of KHJ determined to specialize in generalizing. He wandered or ran from one field of music to another and with his tremendous power of absorption, unusual physical and mental vitality, an amazing enthusiasm, gathered experience. Playing in symphony and grand opera orchestras; attending hundreds of rehearsals under the great conductors of grand opera and symphony; learning musical comedy at the feet of Victor Herbert and going on the road as concert master of a musical comedy show; headfirst into the show business; making the Orpheum and Pantages circuits; in charge of routing, revision, coaching acts for the Publix houses; drilling dancing and vocal choruses, preparing jazz band novelties; learning dance music from the big jazz boys and conducting his own bands in big hotels and theaters; and finally into the lap of radio and KHJ. Musically speaking, Raymond Paige has been everywhere and is at home everyplace. He is a glutton for experience and saves and catalogues everyone of them for future use. In radio, future use means tonight or tomorrow at the latest. Six nights a week, KHJ draws heavily upon his knowledge of symphony music, musical comedy, jazz and showmanship. Raymond Paige is a rare leader, a demon for any form of punishment, a spouting fountain of ideas and, as far as KHJ is concerned, is the pink pearl of radio.

Value of Train Radio Disputed

CONSIDERABLE difference of opinion as to the practicability of radio service on trains appears to prevail between engineers of the Federal Radio Commission and those of the Canadian National Railways.

According to views attributed to commission engineers, radio reception on moving trains is not successful as entertainment. In the United States, train service is usually afforded through a loudspeaker operating from a set worked by a train employee, and passengers object, some on the ground that they do not care for radio and others not caring for the particular program offered. Adoption of the Canadian idea of furnishing earphones, if practical, would not be successful, it is believed, because phones are only about 70 per cent effective in the reception of the voice and about 20 per cent effective in the reception of music.

The number of passengers who listened to broadcasts on the Canadian National Railways last year was 210,000, an increase of 80 per cent over 1928, and a still further increase is expected for 1930, despite a general decrease in travel, it was declared by officials of the radio service of the railways, in discussing train radio.

"The increase in listeners," it was asserted, "is in no small measure due to the service rendered by the radio operators. While some railways in the United States which have recently equipped their trains with receivers do not furnish operators but allow the set to be operated by the passengers themselves or by the car porter, the Canadian National Railways has always carried operators, and without these men, in Canada at least, reception on trains would be very confusing and unsatisfactory.

"The day has long since passed when radio on trains was a novelty that inspired many amusing incidents. The individual who believed the operator's brass buttons qualified him to tune in Peru on a stormy summer afternoon is of the past. Now radio on trains is an expected service and has been brought to this point of efficiency by the skill of the operators in handling modern alternating current receivers or combination phonograph and radio sets. Their skill and the use of this equipment is founded on experience gleaned over years of effort, going right back to the early days when radio generally was not up to present day standards."

"Sixty-four operators are required to man Canadian National radio equipped trains. These men are carefully chosen and trained. Each maintains a log throughout his run which shows clearly the stations received, the quality of reception and other details of interest. A mine of information has thus been gathered regarding station coverage and transmission. This information has also paved the way for the gradual extension of the service."

The Canadian railways not only offer radio entertainment on their trains, but three new boats recently put into service by them on the Pacific Coast have also been equipped with loudspeakers in the lounges and other public rooms. Vessels in the West Indian service are being similarly equipped, it is stated.

Charlie Wellman, KHJ's Prince of Pep, recently resigned, tosses his highly imported sombrero into the field of commercial radio and announces that in the future he will be a carefreelance serving as many masters as are willing to sign on the profusely dotted line. Charlie plans to take entire charge of several large accounts and nurse them into large, healthy children much after the manner Charles W. Hamp has employed so remuneratively.

Station KFQW in Seattle seems to be the Spokane radio announcers' farm. KFPY has just added to its staff Wallace Brazeal, former continuity writer and announcer for the Seattle station. Wheeler Smith and Bill Templeton, also of the KFPY announcing staff, are both former employees of KFQW. Don Phillips, of KGA, and Harry Long, popular KHQ announcer, are former KFQW employees.

Bill Simmons, the yodeling cowboy, and Chuck Darling, harmonica player with Bill's troop, have sold their song, "Rocky Mountain Sweetheart." It will be on Victor records (done by Bill himself) and on the music stands. It promises to give "Springtime in the Rockies" a good run.

* * *

Calmon Lubovski, noted violinist of KNX, Hollywood, recently completed a series of engagements with several of the leading talking pictures producers, playing for a number of the feature films to be released shortly.

* * *

Submerging the greatest heartache his life had known, Freeman H. Talbot, good showman who manages KOA in Denver, led his Silver State Light Opera Company to a signal success in its initial broadcast over an international NBC network recently. Nine days before the broadcast was scheduled his only child, Kathryn Louise, two years and ten months old, was instantly killed when the automobile in which she was riding with her mother was struck by another car and overturned. Mr. Talbot has found it hard many times before, during his many years in show business, to go on with the show. In this instance, his supreme test, he still was the good showman and the show went on as scheduled.

KPO pins its faith in two of its dashing blonde beauties to capture the coveted title of "The World's Most Beautiful Radio Artists."

They have been entered by the Hale Brothers-Chronicle station in the contest which is being held at the New Madison Square Garden in New York. The two KPO entries who will match their pulchritude against the best every station in the nation has to offer are Emily Hardy, soprano, and Benay Venuta, blues singer.

Sunny Cohan, KFRC's new personality singer, is a recent graduate of Roosevelt High School in Oakland. Her widespread popularity on the air has been the result of only about six months' work before the microphone. As a small child she appeared in the kiddies revues, singing and dancing. In high school she took leading parts in all of the dramatic productions. Sunny is heard regularly on KFRC, including the Happy Go Lucky Hour and the Jamboree.

* * *

Easton Kent, whose tenor voice is a favorite with NBC audiences, is a benedict now. He and Miss Emelyn Beattie, pretty San Francisco pianist, were married at Del Monte August 27. The wedding was a bit different from most occasions of the kind, in that it was not announced beforehand, and the wedding breakfast preceded the ceremony. The couple stopped at San Jose, on their way to Del Monte, and the breakfast took place in the home of friends there. Kent and his bride have known each other for a long while, but few knew of their engagement, not even their respective families.

"Ten o'Clock Tom" on KFRC is Jim Moseley, who hails from Texas originally—San Antonio, to be exact. Jim was a salesman for several years, but he always carried his guitar and ukulele with him. One night he fell in with some show people at the hotel where he was staying and they offered him a job to go along with them. Since that time he has remained in the show business, playing in vaudeville, radio and musical comedies. He had a skit with "Miss Chicago" which ran for over a year. He took Cliff Edwards' place in "Sunny."

One of the diverting sights of the annual banquet given by the Radio Pioneers, select group of veteran broadcasters of Southern California, was the appearance of J. Howard Johnson, of KNX, Hollywood, his 300-pound, six-foot-four frame coyly masked with an exceedingly skimpy white jacket of the Spanish type and his equator bound in a red sash. All the Pioneers had to wear the same rig, so Howard wasn't de trop—merely distingue.

Milly Kilmer, announcer and factotum of KTBS, Shreveport, La. paid a visit to KF1-KECA recently at Los Angeles—incidentally, a visit that officials of these stations will not soon forget.

Milly, who is 100 pounds of concentrated Southern vivacity and wit, soundly berated officials for not letting her in sooner, bewitched several announcers in the program department, and after singing several songs over KECA, promised to return next summer.

Cady Kilmer, Milly's more demure and just as charming sister, accompanied her.

And now Midget Golf has invaded radio! The first of the NBC artists to fall is Harold Peary, who has built his own miniature course in the yard of his Oakland home.

* * *

Walter W. Cribbins, of KPO, whose daily chats are an inspiration, was formerly a newspaper man, past president of the Pacific Coast Ad Club and is one of the foremost successful advertising men on the Pacific Coast. As a contributor of articles to leading magazines, he ranks with the best. His stories carry the same heart appeal as is evidenced in his broadcasts.

* * *

William Harper, relief announcer on the KJBS Owl Program, had the biggest "request" night on record at this station, during the Labor Day holiday. Approximately 400 requests were received by telephone and telegraph during the program Sunday morning from midnight to sunrise. Owls from as far away as Fresno, Los Angeles and Reno telephoned in for their favorite records and kept Bill on the jump supplying music for their holiday festivities. Reception of KJBS at distant points this summer has been reported as exceptionally good.

* * *

Elsie Taylor, San Diego and Los Angeles radio artist, has joined the KJR and Northwest Broadcasting System artists'

staff. She will be heard in concerts over KJR regularly hereafter. Miss Taylor became known to California listeners by her appearances over KFSD, San Diego, and KHJ, Los Angeles. Besides her radio work, Miss Taylor has engaged extensively in oratorio and recital work, and as an instructor in voice.

* * *

Add Mamie Stark to the list of artists who make the Sunday programs of KECA, Los Angeles, lively, tuneful and interesting. Miss Stark boasts a voice of great range, which, however, tends to the lower register so emphatically that she calls herself a contra-contralto.

"I have sung over nearly all Los Angeles stations, and over KSL and KDYL in Colorado," says Miss Stark. "I have also worked in opera and concert.

"And, oh, yes—I am married and have nine children, and hope to have a few more."

* * *

Harry McKnight, KTAB tenor, says his hobby is walking. We wanted to ask, "Alone?" But we drew our own conclusion from the "what the well-dressed man will wear" suit he had on. And anyway, I guess we need never worry that these tenors will be lonely.

* * *

An unscheduled, unrehearsed "private symphony" was the good fortune which met a group of National Broadcasting Company executives and stars who were at the home of Phyllida Ashley, NBC pianist, the other evening. Sigismund Stojowski and Antonia Brico came from the San Francisco Symphony performance to join the group, and before long, Stojowski had plunged into his Symphonic Rhapsody which had just thrilled the Civic Auditorium audience.

Joyce Barthelson, whose piano solos are a favorite with NBC network dialers, played the second piano part, and Brico conducted with the same verve with which she led the San Francisco Symphony.

She and Miss Barthelson were school-mates not so many years ago, and Phyllida Ashley and her piano-duo partner, Eileen Fealy, are old friends of Stojowski.

* * *

Linn Church, KFRC's newest addition to the announcing staff, attended Harvard and the University of California, graduating from the latter institution. He has had a varied experience in business, including much public speaking. He says that he enjoys the "challenge" the unresponsive microphone offers.

Personal Pickups

By GYPSY

Mrs. M. A. W., Seattle Wash.—Yes, Bobbe Deane is the wife of Ted Maxwell. Reports are conflicting as to the whereabouts of "Magnolia" (Georgia Simmons). Some have her in Hollywood, others say she is in Honolulu. As soon as I learn definitely I shall be glad to pass on the information to you.

"Henry" and "Charlie" of the former trio are still in San Francisco, and are heard regularly over NBC. "Henry," you know, is Bennie Walker. "Charlie" is Charles Marshall. Donald G. Gray was affiliated with KPO. He is now appearing in dramatic broadcasts from the San Francisco studios of the National Broadcasting Company.

* * *

M. H., Los Angeles, Cal.—Mildred Bailey (KPO) once remarked that had there been a piccolo in her home instead of a piano she'd have learned to play that, for her childhood urge to produce musical sounds amounted almost to an obsession. At fourteen she ran away to New York City intent upon gaining professional fame. Unlike the story books, she endured no hardships, found an immediate position and came face to face with a certain Child Labor law, not to mention anxious parents. Thus she returned home to finish school, win scholarships, and what nots. Mildred's make-up is contradictory as it is intriguing. Just as one catalogues her as a victim of melancholia, up pops an imp with the most surprising mirth and wit, leaving one utterly bewildered. Her love of animals is outstanding. Dogs come first. Since her present activities prohibit kennels, she has converted her studio into a veritable gallery with canine etchings.

* * *

R. L., Oakland, Cal.—Ross Peterson says he does occasionally accept a pupil, but I would suggest you communicate with him personally on the matter. A letter addressed to him in care of the National Broadcasting Company, San Francisco, will reach him.

* * *

M. Mc., San Francisco, Cal.—When I first met Cecil Underwood (NBC) I asked him if he had—ah perhaps—ah forsaken the ministry for radio? His reply was in the negative. Being a persistent soul, I ventured another question. "Are you the son of a clergyman?" Mr. Underwood looked mystified. "That's funny," he said, "You're the 'steenth person to ask me that." Somewhat later he chanced to remove his large shell-rimmed spectacles and behold!—an entirely different personality; years younger, with nice blue eyes and an expression of—well—more material, if you know what I mean. I discovered he had followed a business career for several years, that his advent into radio had been sheer accident and, tasting of its potentialities, had decided to give it his all. He is about 30 years old, has dark, smooth hair, measures six feet, weighs 165 pounds, is married and is the father of three children.

* * *

F. M. C., Centerville, Cal.—Mabel Adams has been a regular feature with Station KQW for three years, and sings, in addition to her radio work, at churches and clubs. She is a Californian by birth, is married, has a small son and makes her home in San Jose. Her favorite recreation lies in current fiction, she is fond of dancing and her chief characteristic is punctuality. A very friendly, human sort; dark brown eyes, black hair always neatly in place, pleasant, generous features with a little quirk to lips that seem to find difficulty in remaining sombre.

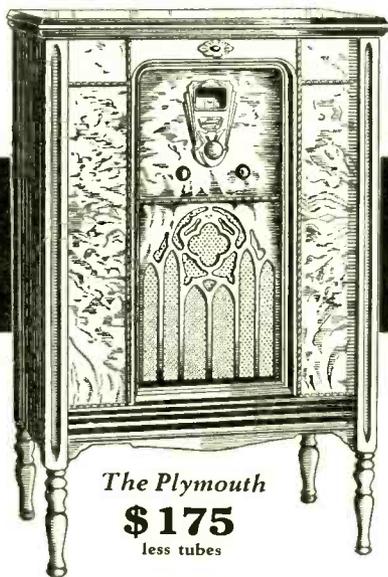

* * *

E. L., Spokane, Wash.—If pets come under hobbies, then Mr. H. C. Connette's hobby is "Mimi." "Mimi" is one Siamese cat Mr. Connette brought back from the Orient a few years ago. Mr. C. lives on the top-most hill over in Sausalito. It is his custom to walk each day to the station at an early hour. The distance is about a mile and a half. Imagine his amazement when the other morning, arriving at the station, his eyes perceived "Mimi." She had followed close behind and now sat waiting pensively for a smile of approval. Goodness me! (Those were not his exact words.) What to do? Mr. C.'s train was on schedule. Approaching, in fact. Ah! Yonder palpitated a taxi. A few hurried words of instruction to the driver, a quick movement toward his wallet, and our Mr. C. made a dash for the last car. As he boarded the platform he caught a glimpse of "Mimi" (naughty "Mimi") gracefully reclining on taxied upholstery, enjoying the scenery on her homeward journey.

HOWARD

WHEN you buy your radio . . . remember, you are the one who will pay for it and either greatly enjoy or deeply regret your choice.

Experts in radio engineering agree that the HOWARD is one of the best radios made. Enthusiastic owners recommend it to their friends. Does not this speak volumes for this radio's high quality . . . the fact that the HOWARD bears a good name everywhere? No other claims are necessary.

Empire Builders Back on the Air

EMPIRE Builders are back on the air with a new series of western romances, railway stories and historical sketches.

The "Old Timer" who has endeared himself to millions of radio fans is back with his chuckles and characteristic colloquialisms. The "Old Timer" is Harvey Hays who has been featured in Empire Builders since it first went on the air.

The transfer of the Empire Builders productions from New York to Chicago this year will result in the loss of Miss Virginia Gardiner, who attained radio stardom through the medium of these programs.

Interesting additions to the Empire Builders cast are two promising young players who are new to the national networks. By coincidence, both hail from the University of Wisconsin. They were selected after a series of auditions this summer in which hundreds of prospective radio actors and actresses were heard.

The ingenue whose various disappointments, predicaments and successes may be expected to hold the radio audiences in breathless suspense during the forthcoming series, will be Miss Bernadine Flynn, who has had important parts in such Broadway successes as "Joseph" and "Strictly Dishonorable." Her voice is charming in its richness, she has exceptional talent in emotional roles and sings as well as acts.

The juvenile lead who is generally called upon in Empire Builder playlets to enact the part of the he man hero of the wide open spaces will be Don Ameche, who played with Fiske O'Hara in "Jerry For Short" and with Texas Guinan in vaudeville in New York.

While actors and actresses for radio playlets are selected for the quality of their speaking voices and cleverness in interpreting various roles, Empire Builders has been fortunate in finding two young persons who will not need professional singers to double for them when the script calls for singing. And if television comes along during this new series of playlets—well, if photographs are to be believed, Empire Builders will be sitting pretty!

Atwater Kent Audition, Oct. 20

NATIONAL fame and the open door to a musical career are beckoning to hundreds of young men and women singers throughout Northern California. Local contests in the nationwide audition for 1930 sponsored by the Atwater Kent Foundation are now being held, in some communities already completed, and the state test looms as the next step for the winners of the local auditions.

California has been divided into two sections, north and south, for the purposes of the preliminary stages of the national try-outs. The audition for Northern California will be held over KPO, San Francisco on Monday evening, October 20 at 10:00 o'clock, when the winners of the local auditions will strive for the honor of entering the district contest for the nine western states, embracing California, Oregon, Washington, Arizona, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Utah and Nevada, which will also be held over KPO, Monday evening, November 17.

In the state and district auditions the identity of the singers will be concealed and they will be announced over the radio by number only, so as to insure an impartial vote for the singers based entirely on the quality of their voices. The vote of the radio audience will count 40 per cent and those of the official judges 60 per cent in determining the winners.

Cash prizes in the amount of $25,000.00 and one and two years tuition in leading American musical conservatories are being competed for. Five boys and five girls will share the awards, the first boy and girl each receiving $5,000.00 in cash, two years tuition and gold decorations. The second place boy and girl receiving $3,000.00 each; third place $2,000.00 each; fourth place $1,500.00 each; fifth place $1,000.00 each, together with one year's tuition.

A notable fact in the selection of the singers by the judges is the consistency shown in judging the voices. In many instances the winners of last year are repeating their victories, as is the case of Miss Folli and Smith of San Francisco, William Matchan of San Luis Obispo and Gertrude Schuckman, of Santa Rosa.

Mildred Bailey, KPO

By CARL T. NUNAN

MILDRED BAILEY, KPO's petite, blonde pianist and librarian, has an interesting hobby, which she delights in talking about. It is fish raising!

"I spend all my spare time at home watching my lebistes reticulatus swimming about among the vallisneria or watching my Siamese Fighting Fish engage in mortal combat," were her first remarks when the subject of fish was broached, during an interview.

MILDRED BAILEY

"The lebistes reticulatus, commonly known as 'the goopy' is a viviparous fish and make fine pets, from my point of view" stated Mildred, "but the saddest part of raising them is when the 'fighters' eat the baby 'goopies'."

"Say!" said Mildred with enthusiasm, "did you ever watch Siamese fish fight? No, well you sure have something to look forward to—what a fight they put up—they start in by swimming around, glaring fish-eyed—and then all of a sudden they strike and literally tear off big chunks of each other. The fight usually ends when one of them gets a strangle hold on the other's fin and holds him down under the water until he drowns. Sounds funny, doesn't it, but that's the truth. You see, this particular type of fish must take in a supply of fresh air every minute or so. It is simply a case of the survival of the fittest."

In my aquarium which sets atop my grand piano at home, I have about fifty 'goopies' and six pairs of 'Siamese Fighters,'—what are they worth?—oh, commercially close to $100.00 but to me they are priceless."

Being wise in the ways of fish, and remembering that scientists have claimed that fish have souls and that noises bother them, your interviewer asked Miss Bailey if her playing on the piano disturbed them. "No," stated Miss Bailey, "they do not seem to mind—not even the males when they tend the hatch—you know it's the male fighters who build the egg nest and hatch the eggs"—some gladiators, we remarked!

But Miss Bailey has more serious work to do than raising fish. It is keeping KPO's Musical Library in such order that whenever a certain piece of music is wanted it is immediately available. No mean task when one considers the thousands of musical works that go to make up an adequate and modern library of musical literature. When not busy filing music Miss Bailey is busy playing it on various programs, or singing it—she has a pleasing contralto voice that often charms the KPO audience.

And this pretty little blonde whose hobby is "all wet" was born at Binghamton, New York, twenty-nine years ago. There she grew to young womanhood. Her musical studies—piano, voice, harmony and composition terminated at the Ithaca Conservatory of Music, New York City. Like most artists of the radio Miss Bailey has done her bit on the legitimate stage. She saw service with the Red Cross, cheering many a weary soldier boy with her singing and happy, buoyant spirit. In that she brought them close to God and home.

Nineteen-twenty-two found her in San Francisco, singing over KPO as the other member of the Miller and Bailey harmony duo. Paramount Theater patrons will remember her as the accompanist, who appeared at that theater when it was known as the Granada, with Maurice Gunsky, when that star first rose to brilliancy in the radio firmament, several years ago. Since that time Miss Bailey has been prominently identified with KPO broadcasts and as an accompanist she has no peer. Her thorough musicianship making her work of outstanding character.

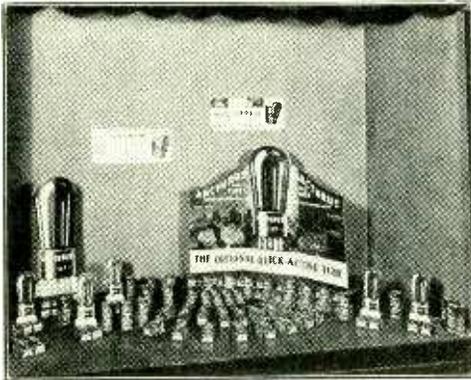

Stopping Unwelcome Radio

KING CAROL'S Rumania is reported to be combatting alleged propaganda from Moscow's new 100,000-watt broadcasting station by counter-broadcasting an interfering signal on the same wave length, which ruins the Moscow broadcasts. Now Germany is considering doing the same thing when Moscow broadcasts in German.

Arcturus Display Unit Sent to Trade

A beautifully lithographed nine-color display unit on Arcturus Blue Radio Tubes is being sent to the trade.

This unit consists of a center panel, a large tube cut-out, five tube cutouts and two window streamers. The center piece has been designed, aside from its attractiveness, to create an atmosphere around the product and the lifelike reproduction which Arcturus Tubes give.

The Arcturus Radio Tube Company, Newark, N. J., states that they will gladly send one of these units to all dealers, upon request to the main office.

Retail Trade Going Ahead

ALL SIGNS point to improvement in the radio business, the month of September marking the beginning of the season of better reception, improved programs and consequently greater incentive to purchase radio sets. The maintenance of sales averages shown in previous years and so far this year should bring the total retail turnover of radio apparatus in this country to approximately $645,000,000 for 1930.

During the first six months of this year, American dealers sold $231,000,000 worth of radio sets, tubes and parts. This compares with $224,000,000 during the same months of 1929.

There was the usual seasonal slump during the second quarter of 1930, only $87,000,000 worth of apparatus being sold after first quarter sales of $144,000,000. Third quarter returns have not yet been gathered. The best retail market, of course, is found during the fourth quarter months of October, November and December.

 VALUE

NEVER mind big words and lavish claims. Beware of bewildering technical terms. When you buy a radio you buy it for enjoyment. Let your own EYES and EARS decide. That's the answer. Not the voice of the salesman, but the voice of the radio. That radio is the biggest value which gives you the most enjoyment for the least money. Right now you may be partial to some particular make. But before you buy it, hear a JACKSON BELL. Close your eyes and just listen. Then notice the price. That's what we mean by value. Try it. At any JACKSON BELL dealer.

California's most famous love story—the romance of Concepcion Arguello and Count Rezanof—has been chosen for the next drama in the "Let's Get Associated" series, the opening episode of which will be presented tonight. The story of Dona Concepcion, daughter of the commandant of San Francisco's Presidio in the days when California belonged to Spain, and her tragic love for the sophisticated Russian count is one of the most exquisite in the history of the West. A cast of National Players supports Jack and Ethyl as Rezanof and Concepcion.

Broadcasting Making U. S. One Big Family

BROADCASTING is doing more than probably any other medium yet devised to solidify national spirit and is truly making of residents of the United States, from aboriginal Indian to the most recently arrived immigrant, one big family, according to Commissioner Harold A. Lafount of the Federal Radio Commission.

During a recent trip through the West, Mr. Lafount made a study of the extent to which radio was being used among the Indians, and upon his return expressed surprise at the enthusiasm with which the red brother has adopted the paleface's invention.

"Like all other people," he said, "the Indians marvel at radio and the results obtained. To them there is something divine in pulling good music, including their native songs and instrumental offerings, out of the air."

"Living as they do in remote sections in pueblos (the original apartment houses), the radio has brought much sunshine into their lives, broadening their vision and giving them a much better understanding of modern America and its institutions. Only a small portion of the Indians own receiving sets, but living as they do in pueblos, tents, caves and huts, one receiving set can accommodate several families. At all hours of the day and night they can be seen huddled in groups enjoying radio programs."

In some sections, where the Indian population predominates, the commissioner found broadcasters devote much attention to programs of special interest to them. Considerable material is designed to aid the Indian children in their school work and to understand and speak the English language correctly.

"The radio," Mr. Lafount commented, "is cementing closely the American people, including the Indians. In all history no such instrumentality has before been available whereby every citizen can daily keep his hand on the pulse of the nation and in touch with its manifold activities."

Little Room for More Stations

WITH more than 300 broadcasting stations of 500 watts or more power in operation, out of a total of approximately 620 broadcasters, there is apparently little or no room for additional high power stations under the allocation plan now being followed by the Federal Radio Commission.

Only by severely restricting the operating time of existing stations, many of which already are working on part-time schedules, would it be possible to provide for additional high-power transmitters, and in view of the fact that further curtailment of time would make operation of many stations impossible from a financial standpoint the commission is reluctant to force in new stations.

To considerable extent the same holds true of low-power stations operating on local wavelengths, of which there are as many as 52 on one channel. While there is no fixed limit under the allocation plan to the number of local stations that can be assigned on the same channel, there is, of course, a definite limit to the number which can operate simultaneously without interference, and there is also a practical limit to the number of stations which can share time, barring the few which, for one reason or another, desire to come on the air for only a few hours a week.

With this situation prevailing, it appears likely that few of the approximately 100 applications for new stations listed for hearing by the radio commission can be granted. While the majority of these applications are for low-power stations, there are several seeking power of from 500 to 5000 watts. Great difficulty would be encountered in giving the latter place in most of the zones, and while there is some room for additional local stations in certain areas, it is not believed that all of those applying for space can be provided for.

During the next few weeks the commission will hold hearings on a number of applications for construction permits for new stations, in deciding which, it is indicated, it will adhere to its policy of permitting new stations only where they will not interfere with existing broadcasters.

JOSEPH HORNİK, NBC

AN Austrian violinist who was recognized internationally before he came to California, Joseph Hornik, NBC orchestral conductor, has won thousands of "home-folk" through the performances he has given before the microphone in the San Francisco studios.

"Just a few thousand more admirers"

Not to Joe, he takes every performance seriously and those invisible listeners to whom he plays are as real as if they sat before him in a great theatre.

"I visualize my audience," Joe smiles. "Otherwise, how could I play sympathetically?"

Before he came to the National Broadcasting Company, Hornik literally "fiddled" his way around the world. From Austria he visited various countries of Western Europe, went into Russia, the Orient and finally found himself in San Francisco.

Hornik spent his youth in Vienna, his native city, where he studied under several of the great masters. With the outbreak of the World War, he was in Russia, where he was concluding a series of engagements as soloist and conductor at cafes in Moscow.

"Russia was 'difficult' to say the least, then, so I set out for the Orient with the thought that almost any other country would be more to my liking," the conductor explains.

Japan and China offered Hornik fascinating fields, he confesses.

"My appearance in the NBC studios is decidedly a chance affair," the conductor explains in an interview. "You see, I was walking along Market Street one day and met Max Dolin. He invited me to NBC, so I came. I had been here just a short while from the Orient.

That was when Dolin was musical director of the NBC Pacific Division.

Hornik enjoyed popularity immediately as a soloist and shortly was conducting. He now presents some of the most important of the network performances and to the daytime audience he is known and loved as the genial leader of the Magazine Melodists—a job he just recently turned over to another widely known conductor, Edward Fitzpatrick.

Hobbies?

"Work," is Hornik's answer.

There is no question about that. The energetic orchestra leader can be found at the studios almost any hour of the day or night.

Radio Takes "Question Mark" Welcome to France

FEW people in the United States who listened in to the broadcast reports of the landing of the French airplane "Question Mark" on Long Island after its epoch-making flight from Le Bourget Field, Paris, realized that, thanks to radio, the people of France were as close to the scene of action as they were, yet all of France was listening to the same reports by the same announcers as the intrepid aviators, Captain Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte taxied down Curtiss Field after a 4100-mile flight across the Atlantic.

Transmission across the ocean by the short-wave stations which broadcast the "Question Mark's" arrival not only to France but to practically every other civilized country in the world, was declared to be excellent. Great enthusiasm was aroused in the flyers' native country by the occasional interjection into the broadcast of comments in French by some of the announcers, which brought the event directly to those in France who could not understand English, as did the very brief radio address of Captain Coste, first in English and then in his native tongue.

The radio equipment of the "Question Mark," even though it failed during the latter part of the flight, was declared by Captain Coste to have been a tremendous source of comfort, although, fortunately, at no time was its use necessary to the success of the trip.

The Status of British Radio

OPERATING as a government monopoly, but under a royal charter which keeps it free from the vicissitudes of politics, the British Broadcasting Corporation's status is likened to that of the Bank of England in the 1930 Year Book of the B. B. C. The annual review of the activities of the largest radio organization outside the United States devotes a chapter to clarifying wrong conceptions of the B. B. C. as a government department.

"It is a self-governing corporation," explains the Year Book, "operating under a royal charter and license. The activities are limited only by that charter and license. The Postmaster General is responsible to Parliament for the B. B. C.'s observance of these limits, but he does not direct the activities of the B. B. C."

"The Bank of England is constituted by charter; the Royal Academy and other societies have charters; many public services in this country work under royal charters. They are not government departments, nor is the B. B. C."

Only insofar as it is publicly owned does the corporate organization of the British radio system differ from that of the networks in the United States, where broadcasting is entirely in private hands. The British radio manufacturing industry, however, is as highly competitive as the American. There are more than 200 radio set manufacturers in Great Britain. The B. B. C. Year Book estimates that there is a radio in one home of every three in the British Isles.

Anti-Trust Speech Recorded

FORMER U. S. Senator James A. Reed's speech on the "March of Monopoly" and the radio trust, delivered over a Columbia network last summer, has been recorded and made available to 118 broadcasting stations, which have promised to broadcast it, according to Oswald F. Schutte, executive secretary of the Radio Protective Association.

Identifying Interference

IS IT static or other forms of electrical interference that is marring reception? To assist listeners in identifying radio's "parasites," a Czechoslovakian firm has produced a phonograph record in which every known form of interference is included, from natural atmospheric to the noises created by household appliances. Wireless World of London reports that listeners and radio clubs are highly enthusiastic over this idea and that a wide circulation has been gained for the records.

Bernice Berwin plays Phyllis and Thomas Kelly is her youthful companion. Jim Larton Yarborough has the role of the young detective-sergeant. Fred Thomas is the "Mayor of the City of the Dead," and George Rand plays Dr. Tooner, mysterious, eccentric physician who wanders about the graveyard.
