Broadcasters Required To Use Full Power

BROADCASTING stations failing to use the full power for which they are licensed will be reduced to the power they are using in an effort of the Federal Radio Commission to eliminate waste. Transmitters also are to be operated so as to emit signals of the quality demanded by the commission, and if operating at a higher power than will permit the 75 per cent modulation required will be reduced to a power that will permit such modulation.

A considerable number of stations are not providing signals of the requisite quality, receiving tests have shown. In many cases this is due to the efforts of the broadcaster to use higher power than the equipment can handle with the necessary modulation. These stations have been warned to bring their equipment to a point of perfection which will enable it to comply with the regulations, under penalty of power reduction if the necessary modulation is not achieved.

Surveys have also shown that some stations are licensed for higher power than they are actually using. Thus, in the view of officials here, constitutes a waste of facilities, since the power not being used in most instances would be gladly accepted by other broadcasters whose applications for power increases cannot be granted. However, if power is taken away from stations not using it, there is little probability that it would result in increases for other stations, since many states have been given more than their equitable share and the commission would welcome an opportunity to make a reduction.

There has been, in recent months, a decided tightening up of the enforcement of regulations. Members of the commission have taken the attitude that by this time there should be no doubt as to what is required of broadcasters and that, therefore, there is no excuse for not living up to the regulations.

Another Storm Brewing

I have just read the March 29-April 4 issue of BROADCAST WEEKLY and cannot let the letter from Albert E. of Mabton, Wash., get by without response.

To read his letter people would just naturally get the impression that our Northwest didn't have a station worth mentioning. I wonder what, in his opinion, is wrong with the Portland, Tacoma, Seattle and Spokane stations. The various stations in these cities bring us all the NBC, CBS and UBC programs, as well as their own excellent studio programs. What more does he want for nothing?

And as for that very pointed remark about KHQ—well, that was one too many for me. KHQ has a fine staff of announcers, excellent musicians and a variety of entertainers of which any station could be proud. I have listened to a lot of programs from various stations throughout the country and enjoy all types of music and entertainment, and in my opinion KHQ puts on some programs that are as good as any I have had the pleasure of listening to anywhere. Also, I know of no other station that tries harder to please its listeners. I do not mean by all of this that I think KHQ is the best station on the air. There are too many good stations to make such a broad statement as that about any of them. But I do think it is among the best, and Washington can be proud of it. So there you have the other side of the story.

Miss Hazel H., Leavenworth, Wash., March 26

"The Air Is Full of Wonderful Things"

Just a line to agree with R. F. B's, Kelso, Wash., February 28 letter in your March 22 issue.

Personally I believe most of the southern folks are so interested in listening to KFRC and KGO that they are missing various other marvelous programs.

For instance, what is wrong with KNX? Their programs are wonderful, and the boys who sing and cut up in "Soup to Nuts," "Airdales," and "Royal Order of Optimistic Donuts" are hard to beat. Also a word of praise for Frank Watanabe and Hon. Archie and June Purcell.

And up north here, I firmly believe the group of artists broadcasting over KJR are the best in the Northwest, and I wish the KFRC and KGO debaters could hear those artists some afternoon at 2 p. m. in the Mardi Gras.

I also wish to name them and hope the pictures of those who haven't already appeared in BROADCAST WEEKLY will soon follow, as I am making a scrapbook.

They are: Elmore Vincent, Ivan Ditmar, Grant Merrill, Chet Cathers, Al Shotz, Ward Ireland, Bob Monsen, Homer Sweetman, Glen Eaton, Olive Reynolds, Marjorie Robillard, The Musical Racketeers, all marvelous performers, and I certainly miss KJR's program in BROADCAST WEEKLY. Hoping it will appear next week, and as booster always for BROADCAST WEEKLY.

Lloyd B. F., Portland, Ore., March 23.

More Old Time Hymns

I heartily approve of the suggestion of H. E. S. of Sacramento, of arranging the programs by hours instead of by station. I wish that more stations would devote a thirty-minute period to old-time hymns. KFOX has this program, but I have only been able to tune in once or twice. I am too far away for daytime reception. I would like to hear a male quartet sing these.

Fern T. K., Bellevue, Wash., March 21

Let Them Know You Appreciate Them

Just a few lines to let you know I enjoy your BROADCAST WEEKLY very, very much. I have been listening to such splendid programs for a long time, so am more than pleased to see the pictures of our artists. I agree very much with David W. J. of Sacramento in regard to our splendid announcers; they are surely half of the programs, so let's let more of them know we appreciate them. I think radio so very wonderful, to sit in our homes and just turn the dial to any kind of program we like to hear and there are so many beautiful ones. I have the picture of the Happy Go Lucky bunch. By having the pictures of the artists and announcers, I think we enjoy them more, so will be looking forward to future programs and pictures.

Programs Do Change

KFRC is my favorite station, with KGO a close second. The Happy Go Lucky Hour is one of the best hours on the air, but I would like to hear it on Saturdays or at least two nights a week. Last Monday's Jamboree (March 23) was the best I have heard in a long time. They were terrible for a while. Gerda Lundberg is certainly good, and I hope to hear her more often on KFRC.

I don't see why the stations have to take off some of their best programs. "Songology," with Tommy Harris, was fine, as were the "Golden Bear Cats." Now they are both off the air. I also enjoyed "Melody a Minute" (the jazz).

The Spotlight Revue on KGO is splendid, as is the Pepper Box on KTAB.

I think it would be much more convenient if the programs were arranged by the hour instead of by the station, I would also like to see pictures of different artists, and not the same ones over and over. Why not Gerda Lundberg's? I haven't seen hers yet.

Good luck to BROADCAST WEEKLY.

Anne C., Vallejo, March 28

Just Full of Bouquets

May I add my voice to the many others that are shouting in unison, "Three cheers for BROADCAST WEEKLY"? My family as well as myself find it really entertaining as well as useful and helpful. "Personal Pickups" give us all of the information we could possibly desire. And as for the pictures—well, there's no comparison between them and the "Best Bets." We all seem to remember our favorite stations, or perhaps I should say programs, with little or no difficulty whatever.

I am following in the footsteps of countless others when I say KFRC, KPO, KGO and KHJ have proved to be the most entertaining stations to me. Likewise I go to school and times are far and few in between before I hear the "Happy-Go-Lucky" hour, so naturally I am 100 per cent for having it in the evening at least once a week. I don't wish to appear selfish in stating this in regard to the shut-ins, as I can see both sides of the situation. But they get to hear it five days a week, while the workers and scholars practically never have the privilege. But if the shut-ins refuse to give it up (and I don't blame them in the least) why couldn't they put it on one night a week besides the five days?

I certainly admire Charles Cartier, of KFRC, for his perfect singing. I haven't found anyone to equal him. And if it must be confessed I don't care if I do.

And also may I give a bouquet to Cal of the Pearce combination for his splendid voice. Especially when he sings the chosen notes of "Egyptian Ella." Oh, yes, I'm full of bouquets today. One goes for that charming announcer of KPO by the name of Marion Fonville. He's a perfect and ideal announcer if there ever was one. And the other goes for the newly originated "Who Cares" hour of KPO. It starts in where "Happy-Go-Lucky" leaves off.

Ultimately I am going to sign off, but before I do I wish to state a request. I would like and appreciate greatly a large photograph of Charlie Cartier. There has been a small one of him in a back number, but naturally a large one would be more desirable.

Jane D., Sacramento, March 28

(Editor's Note: Your request is granted in this issue.)

Full Page Pictures Go Over Big

I have been a reader of BROADCAST WEEKLY for over a year and think it is splendid; each and every week shows an improvement. The full-page picture idea went over big; gives us a chance to see some of our favorite artists.

KFRC is my favorite, with KXL a close second. Would appreciate it so much if you would print a picture of Jackie's Novelty Trio, who play on KXL on Thursday nights. They are my favorites from this side. Thanking you, and wishing you lots of success, I am

Louise M., Oakland, March 28

More Educational Broadcasts

The letter of Henry F. E., Myrtle Creek, Oregon, so well expresses the attitude of our family that we wish to thank him for stating so plainly the annoyances that the intelligent radio listener must put up with.

Will the time ever come when a broadcasting station will be established for the sole purpose of purveying only the best in music, drama, and things essentially educational? And by educational I mean science, politics, economics, and sociological subjects. The sponsors of such would be surprised to find how much real intelligence and culture exists out in the radio audience. I believe there are many who would contribute to the financial support of such a station, and it would not necessarily preclude advertising except quackery.

Mrs. F. W. L., Pasadena, March 28

... SILHOUETTES ...

WHEN Thomas Kelly, NBC actor, gets fan-mail whose writers tell him they wonder what he looks like, he smiles to himself. His unknown correspondents probably have seen him at some time or another if they go to the theater, for this versatile young actor who plays so many kinds of roles before the microphone has played just as many on the stage.

His years are comparatively few, but many an old trouper might envy him the varied and interesting parts he has created. Such widely different plays as "Kismet" and "Seventeen" have known his presence in the leading roles; he was the Caliph in the former, and the youthful hero of the Tarkington play in the latter. He was a principal in the original "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" company, and a member of the Ben Greet Company of Shakespearian Players. He has taught school, written stories for magazines, and all in all enjoyed a full career.

He was given his first "love interest" part in the rôle of Billy Wiggs in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," in London, then returned to America to play in "Cousin Kate," "Captain Jinks" and "Alice Sit by the Fire" with Ethel Barrymore and her uncle, the late, beloved John Drew. Then came three seasons with Ben Greet, now Sir Phillip Ben Greet, in classical repertoire, when they toured with a repertoire of fourteen plays.

"Kismet" with Otis Skinner followed, and Tom played the Caliph in that spectacular drama until the war and four years of service in France interrupted it. His regiment, the 58th Heavy Artillery, was wholly volunteer.

Returning to civil life, he followed his brother Gregory Kelly as Willie in "Seventeen" with the original company. Tom remained a member of it, touring the country as far as the Coast, then back to the East he went to take the post of director of the dramatic department in the Ithaca Conservatory of Music and Drama. He headed the department for four years.

One of his vacations, Tom played with a summer Shakespearian company and met a girl from California named Dorothy Desmond. A swift-moving romance followed, and after their honeymoon, Dorothy and Tom came to California together to visit the bride's family. The Coast called them back recently, and a radio engagement for both of them with the National Broadcasting Company has held them ever since.

IF it were not for radio, Michael Raffetto, NBC actor, might be addressing juries instead of a microphone. The player whose voice adds interest to many dramas broadcast from the San Francisco studios of the National Broadcasting Company, started his career as an attorney.

The dramatic aspect of the average courtroom, in which witnesses, prisoners, judge, and jury partake of the characteristics of performers in a play, was an eternal fascination to the youthful lawyer. A radio enthusiast, he was curious to see how such drama could be brought to hearers through the ether. He wrote a series of plays under the title of "The Arm of the Law," and brought them to NBC.

The plays were accepted, and before their writer realized it, he was, too. Engaged for the part of the quaint old lawyer who was the central figure in the series, Raffetto played his rôle so well that when the series ended, he remained on the NBC staff.

Despite the fact that he had originally intended to be a lawyer, Raffetto came to radio with a solid background of theatrical training. Acting was a hobby with him when he was a student of the University of California. While he was collecting his degrees of A.B. and Dr. of Jurisprudence, he found relaxation by acting as director of student dramatics. He appeared in many of the Greek theater plays in Berkeley, which led to association with Irving Pichel, noted California actor and stage director. His legal practice helped to enrich the voice already thus trained.

MICHAEL RAFFETTO

The young radio actor has a colorful background in his own family history. His grandfather was a forty-niner who came from Italy to seek California gold. The son of the pioneer, who was Raffetto's father, built the famous old Placerville Inn which still stands today.

MARIE LION, soprano, is a new artist to KPO audiences, but she comes from one of California's oldest pioneer families.

Marie is the daughter of the late Gustave Lion, whose father, Lazzard Lion, came to San Francisco from Forbach, France, in 1845, and a few years later opened a store on the site where one of San Francisco's leading department stores now stands.

History records the brilliant wedding of Lazzard Lion to Zulima Mary Martin, also of France, at the old Santa Clara Mission in 1857, the year he established a furniture store at San Jose, and which is still controlled by the Lion family. The firm celebrates its seventy-fifth anniversary next month.

And so today the name of this distinguished pioneer family is being perpetuated musically over KPO by this sterling daughter. In the early days, when California history was in the making, two members of her family were scintillating as stars of the musical firmament. Her uncle, the late Ed Jobson, who abandoned a singer's career to follow the footlights, became one of the best known character actors of the movies, starring in such features as "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," "The Covered Wagon," and many others. The other was a cousin, Charles Dugan, whom oldtimers will recall opened with Emilie Melville in "Pinafore" in the 70s. Then he toured with Lillian Russell and later returned to become endeared to the San Francisco public at the famous old Baldwin Theater, where he played for many months.

MARIE LION

Miss Lion's radio debut was made two months ago as a principal of the Wednesday afternoon matinee program. She is now heard regularly on the 9:30 to 10:30 Wednesday morning period over KPO.

Her hobbies lean to photography and painting—painting landscapes is her favorite diversion. No scenes escapes her brush.

IF Mr. Webster, of dictionary fame, had to define certain words by radio personalities, he might well describe "versatility" by offering the name of Tom Breneman as a synonym.

KNX in Hollywood recently announced that this young veteran of western radio had joined its staff despite the bids of certain motion picture interests for his services.

Tom Breneman possesses a real record of achievement as a background for his new step up the ladder of fame in radio. To account for all his radio creations and successes would take much space, but Tom's modesty will not permit telling it all.

TOM BRENEMAN

KNX calls Tom "artist producer," which, when analyzed, means that Tom is the creator of "Tom and Wash," the comedy skit which is released nightly, except Fridays, at 10 o'clock from the Hollywood station, writing, producing and acting the feature in a true "one-man show" style.

"The Radio Periscope," "Senator Ezra Simpson," "Herr Snicklefritsch," "Lord Eatonswallow," and lately the "Optimistic Do-nuts" and "The Ad-Lib Man" all bear the Breneman stamp of production. Quite a week's work for a young fellow.

While comedy is essentially Tom's forte, he is a musician of no mean ability, possessing a fine baritone voice which is often heard to his own piano accompaniment.

With his work at KNX, and aside from sitting in advisory councils for motion picture executives, preparing an occasional scenario, short story or newspaper article, Tom has absolutely nothing to do.

Wait! That's not all!

He arises at six-thirty in the morning, three days a week (haven't checked on this, however), that he may get in 18 holes of golf, and incidentally he shoots in the low 80's and that's "something." Tom loves all sports; has a sense of humor as keen as a new blade; a bright smile and a cheery word for everybody and a great group of well-wishers throughout the profession.

Breneman is 29 years old, six feet tall; brown-eyed, dark-haired and married. He has toured every state in the Union in vaudeville and musical comedy. Is it any wonder Tom is prematurely gray?

MICROPHONE GOSSIP

• • • Capt. "Bill" Royle, genial laugh provoker at the San Francisco studios of the NBC, is an "oldtimer" when it comes to radio. Royle saw service in the war as an aviator. Upon returning from the war he went into the business of teaching others how to fly. Radio is his avocation.

• • • It was announced recently that Walter Bunker, Jr., was the only fraternity man at KFRC. It now develops that Dick Rickard is a Phi Kappa Psi and Mort Gleason (of the Buccaneers) a Kappa Delta Rho. Walter Bunker is a Phi Delta Theta.

• • • Margery Prevost, whose writing heretofore has been confined to the screen, has been added to the staff of KFI-KECA, Los Angeles, as a continuity writer in the preparation of special programs.

• • • Frank Shaw, who used to entertain at Coffee Dan's, is coming back to his old stand. He returns from the East, where his funny songs and funny facial expressions won for him a great many admirers. Incidentally, Shaw will handle the "mike" on all Coffee Dan broadcasts over KJBS, including the daily midnight frolic.

• • • Dedicated to a policy of coverage of sports events KTAB has adopted the slogan of the "The sport page of the air." Last year KTAB broadcast the football games from Kezar Stadium, and this winter presented the ice hockey games from the Oakland ice arena, the final basketball game between Stanford and California, the soccer football games from Ewing Field, and is now offering the exclusive broadcast of the spring baseball games from the new Seal Stadium. Ernie Smith has handled these broadcasts and has received more than 3000 letters in the last two months. Most of these letters are from "shut-ins" who are unable to attend these sports events.

• • • Harry Geise, KMTR, claims to have put the first continuity program over the air in Chicago, over WQJ in 1924. Mr. Geise tells us that most radio fans have a confused conception of what a "continuity" program really is—it is not the "Cecil and Sally" or Amos and Andy type of feature, nor is a continuity merely advertising copy read between musical selections—a continuity blends music, songs, ideas, into a complete whole—a finished, rehearsed program presenting entertainment and the advertiser's message as well.

• • • The reason that Marion Fonville, KPO's announcer with the southern accent, is so pious came to light recently during a lunch at which a number of KPO operators were present. According to Ed Manning, chief engineer, Fonville is a hound for cherry pie—and states Ed, "he thinks nothing of eating a whole pie at a sitting as desert with a regular lunch."

• • • Marriage is soon to claim another entertainer at KOA. Miss Janet Bible, who croons with the Nightcappers on Monday nights and with the Troubadours on Saturday afternoons at the NBC Denver station, is to be married on May 1 to Norris Schroeder, popular Denver baritone. They will spend their honeymoon in California. Mr. Schroeder is to sing the baritone lead in a community oratorio given in Los Angeles on May 8.

• • • A treasured souvenir was a contribution to Frank Coombs' Midnight Revelers program over KJR and KEX, when a four-hour Alaska Night program was released. The souvenir was a piece of the outer covering of the airship "Norga" and a piece of the envelope of the Norga which crossed the north pole with Amundsen and landed at Teller, Alaska, where the ship was dismantled. The souvenir was sent to Coombs by William McAdams of Teller.

• • • Lord Bilgewater of KFRC has received an honorary membership card in the Golden Gate Cricket Club. This permits him to indulge in the good old English pastime on the Golden Gate Cricket grounds. It also permits him to make donations towards the upkeep of the club.

• • • Irving Kennedy is now having the long-awaited pleasure of entertaining his father in San Francisco. The popular NBC tenor's father made the trip from New York via the Panama Canal. Although he had a fine sea trip, he plans on making the trip back home by motor, with son Irving at the wheel.

• • • KGER's Sunshine Club, week days at 7 a. m., is now given by Harold Newton and Doris Dolan, in songs and piano with the assistance of Mel Roach. Jack Strock, one of the other announcers, used to get up early enough to help out on this half-hour broadcast, but he is getting lazy and delegated the duties to Mel.

• • • Georgia Stark, brilliant coloratura soprano, has been added to the staff of KFI-KECA, Los Angeles, to sing operatic roles in the Italian repertoire. Miss Stark, vivacious but not a brunette, was born in Joplin, Mo., almost twenty-eight years ago. She attracted attention at the age of eight by an impromptu appearance of a lodge concert in her native city, where ability—as many other things in Missouri—has to be shown to be believed. "I was kind of pushed into grand opera," says Miss Stark. "I had no idea that I possessed the flair or ability, but my teachers insisted and here I am, a grand opera soprano. I wouldn't be anything else for anything."

• • • The English accent employed by the "Honorable Archie" in the "Frank Watanabe and the Honorable Archie" episodes, famous nightly features at KNX, Hollywood, is not affected. It is the natural speech of Reginald Sharland, who is a Londoner, although now a citizen of the United States.

• • • Dell Raymond of KJBS, who spends a great deal of time arranging charitable performances, is getting together a show for the government prisoners at Mare Island. Many local radio artists have already signified their willingness to lend their support.

• • • The Mardi Gras gang of the NWBS now has its mascot. It came to Ward Ireland, master of ceremonies, through the mail, and it is a stuffed dog of the week-kneede type which is now theogue.

• • • Frank Cope, KJBS announcer, has a hobby for clarinets. Recently while broadcasting a Ted Lewis record Frank picked up his gob stick and played right along with the jazz king, but forgot to finish with the record. He was quick to apologize to the listeners, however, but placed the blame on poor Mr. Lewis, who, by the way, is a good clarinetist, too.

• • • The four thespians appearing before the KTAB mike every Tuesday and Friday night at 7:15 in the college comic strip: Educating Wuzzy, are the same in real life as they are before the mike. None of them are old enough to vote. Gerda Lundberg who plays the blond baby-doll, Helen, is a bundle of irresistible personality. Matter of fact Peggy O'Neil is Peggy Jensen, business like midget at the PBX board of KTAB; John Murphy is played by Paul O'Neill, a recruit from the Peninsula Chapter of De Molay, and Wuzzy is the sweet-crooning young adonis popular with evening dance audiences as Muzzy Marcellino.

• • • While a high school student in Warsaw, Russia, Arthur Schwarzman of NBC's Pacific Division staff joined the Czar's army. When the Bolsheviks took charge, he escaped into Germany. After some time in America he married Barbara Merkle, talented harpist. Schwarzman plays the piano and both he and his wife are heard on many programs over NBC

• • • Frank Ausman, six foot two, is no longer on KGER's announcing staff. But he ambles down to the studio at 6 o'clock each Sunday eve to read "Adventures in Philosophy" with appropriate organ background.

• • • Don Wilson has been named chief announcer for KFI-KECA, Los Angeles. The title, which is new at the Anthony stations, was granted after Wilson had in fact carried out the duties of chief announcer for months. The announcing staff at KFI-KECA now consists of Wilson, Kenneth Carpenter, Harold Isbell, Yale Whitney, Tom Hanlon, Floyd Marion and Ralph Robertson, each of whom is specialized in one of the types of announcing—concert, sports, popular, news and novelty programs.

Out of the Frying Pan

By ALEXANDER WOOLLCOTT

Alexander Woollcott had already climbed to the peaks of popularity as a critic of books and the drama in New York City before the advent of radio. And then it was a number of years before he was inveigled into a broadcasting studio. Unlike most writers, he preferred to have a very pleasant voice with which to give to the nation the stories and criticisms which had made him one of New York's most beloved personalities. He has broadcast over the Columbia network as a book reviewer and as the Town Crier.

THIS is the lament of one who, in nervous horror of the typographical error, retreated from printed journalism to oral journalism only to find that the radio, too, has for its minions an equivalent of that nightmare. There have been times when I felt that the microphones of the Columbia Broadcasting System were actually leering at me in anticipation of a slip-of-the-tongue.

It was something like (remarkably like) two-and-twenty years ago that I first became what the late Oscar Wilde used to call "an ink-stained wretch." At intervals between going to sundry schools and colleges, I had tried my hand without conspicuous success at such trades as that of bank clerk, canning factory operative, waiter and janitor. I had at various times been a man with a hoe and a man with a napkin. But, in the fall of 1909, I became, at last, a man with a notebook, and was so enraptured with all the glamor and excitement of the daily newspaper that I fully intended to be buried from the city desk. But before twenty years of it had passed, I was ready to throw up my hands and my job. It was only because the pace had grown too fast for me, and not because any other craft had grown to seem (or ever could grow to seem) more attractive. It was only that I was a little too much like the chameleon who was put on a piece of Scotch plaid and died trying to make good.

With morning papers going to press earlier and earlier, and with the theatrical performances I was supposed to review being held later and later, I found myself slowly being squeezed to death between the final curtain and the first edition. In the last six months of my servitude I used to rise from my seat on the aisle at that moment when the leading man and the leading woman were unmistakably gravitating toward the center of the stage for the final clinch which the theater still regards as a happy ending. Trampling over women and children, I would hurry through eight blocks of Times Square streets, each street as congested as Coney Island at Mardi Gras or Macy's basement the week before Christmas. Awry and exhausted, I would reach the office set aside for the sinister purpose, and fling myself at a waiting typewriter. Beside that machine two telegraph operators were crouched in readiness to snatch each paragraph as it left a brain already numb. I would write the second paragraph to the rat-a-tat-tat of telegraph keys dispatching the first one by direct wire to the composing room of the New York World. While I would be writing paragraph three they would be sending paragraph two, and a linotype machine at the World would be turning paragraph one into type. When I was writing paragraph four I would be filled with hazy memories of what I had said in paragraph one, and haunted by a dark suspicion that it would turn out upon inspection next morning to be something I might better not have said at all.

Such a pace set every night for the communication of excruciatingly unimportant matter was enough to make any old-time reporter feel much as Balto would have felt if they had got him all ready for the famous trek to Nome and then told him what he had to carry was macaroons.

But what filled with nightmare the intervening hours between the last paragraph and my glimpse of next morning's paper was my fear that to the inadequacies of my own composition had been added a few caprices of the composing room. In the old days there had been time enough for me to get the proof and catch the errors before they became final. But such leisurely refinements had long since been put up in the attic along with the high bicycle and the mah-jong set.

Of course such hasty work is always full of errors. Sometimes they are the writer's own. Imagine for yourself the emotion of the London correspondent who found that, in his haste at the news of Princess Mary's engagement to Viscount Lascelles, he had upset the gravity of America by cabling this sentence:

"All England rejoices that the Princess Mary is going to marry an Englishman, and everywhere the hope is expressed that the Prince of Wales will do likewise."

But such an emotion is as nothing to the sense of hopelessness which floods a reporter when the most painstaking work of his own is wrecked by the carelessness of the printer. For instance, I knew a reporter who aged visibly when he read in the paper the interview he had written with a celebrated archaeologist on the eve of the latter's departure for extended research in Africa. "The Professor," he wrote, "will spend a year exploring two large ruined cities." "The Professor," he read next day with considerable surprise, "will spend a year exploring two large ruined cuties."

My own misadventures in print never achieved such heroic proportions as that, but they were bad enough to make me turn with relief to oral journalism, where I could at least escape the mischief a hurried printer can do to one's most flawless prose. But I soon found with a sinking heart that the radio has its equivalent of the typographical error. That equivalent is the Spoonerism. This is the popular name given for the havoc that can be wrought by a twisted tongue. It is a namesake of the late Dr. Spooner of Oxford, who was famous for such oral disasters. In the midst of a sermon, for instance, he wished to allude to Victoria as "the dear old Queen," but he spoke of her as "the queer old Dean" to the hopeless confusion of his congregation. Then he meant to make an impression on a laggard student by telling him he had wasted a whole term, only he said instead that the boy had tasted a whole worm, and the moral effect of the lecture was lost in the ensuing hysteria.

Of course the Spoonerism is the pitfall of the actor. I remember how a romantic melodrama in Philadelphia was once wrecked by one. The heroine, in a critical moment, fell to laughing so helplessly that they had to ring down the curtain. What had upset her gravity was a scene where a nervous young actor was supposed to leap from his concealment behind a curtain and cry out: "I will stab you with this dagger!" But in his nervousness he said: "I will dab you with this stagger," and so broke up the performance.

Within the past year I have been broadcasting over the Columbia network, sometimes as The Town Crier, and sometimes as The Early Bookworm. In that latter capacity I have chatted from coast to coast about many books I have read and some I haven't, and already the fear of a Spoonerism bedews this old brow with the moisture of apprehension. It was bad enough when I referred to myself with great dignity as "The Crown Tire." But what really is shortening my life is the suspicion that sooner or later I shall refer to myself as the Burly Hookworm.

Details of the New KFI 50 KW Transmitter

INTERESTING details of the 50-kilowatt transmitter being constructed by Earle C. Anthony, Inc., under authority of a federal permit authorizing that power for KFI, were released today in an official announcement.

The giant station will be located in a thirty-acre tract in the vicinity of Northham, Los Angeles County, near the Orange County line at an approximate distance of twenty miles. This location was decided upon after exhaustive field strength tests by engineers, which proved that a perfect "circular pattern" was obtained at that point, insuring equal radiation in all directions.

The exterior, visible features of the new station consist mainly of the two towers and the building that houses the transmitter. The towers will be 400 feet high, placed 700 feet apart, and placed so that they form, with the building, an almost equilateral triangle, the building being 495 feet from the middle point between the towers. Double insulation is a feature of the towers which have been purchased from and will be erected by the Pacific Iron and Steel Company at a cost of $17,600.

The towers will be lighted in compliance with the Department of Commerce regulation for air traffic.

The building, designed by Donald Parkinson and built by the P. J. Walker Company, is to cost $25,000 and consists of a brick, steel and concrete, Class A, two-story structure. The lower floor will house the power plant and the upper will contain the transmitter.

The ground system, elaborate and advanced in design, includes the feature of having twenty miles of copper wire plowed into the ground.

The transmitter itself, costing $153,000 is built by the RCA Victor Corporation and will be installed by them. It is of 50-kilowatt power with 100 per cent modulation. The electrical contract is handled by the General Electric Company.

The prices quoted above for building transmitter, and towers do not represent the total investment. Costs of the property, telephone installation, equipment, housing facilities for employees, will appreciably increase the total.

PERSONAL PICKUPS

BY GYPSY

Mrs. F. T. M., Oakland.—Yes, Harold Peary (NBC) is one of the end men in the El Sidelo Minstrels. Your other question was answered in Broadcast Weekly in the March 29 issue. Harold is a brute only on the air, despite his square-built physique and fermata mustache. A more peaceful citizen does not live; nary a discolored eye, kind to women and children and good natured beyond words. At the age of twelve he experienced a severe attack of stage to the public with the Tribune Juveniles in Oakland and henceforth directed his energies toward things pertaining to the theatre. There was a short intermission when his thoughts turned to police reporting, but he soon discovered that vocal expression was his real forte and joyously returned to his old love. He is athletically inclined, likes to play baseball and is something of a wrestler.

A. L., Sacramento.—Pearl King Tanner regards with affection a furry little cat named "Madame Queen." Captain Royle owns a German police dog who answers to the name of "Lobo." Seldy Roach has a fondness for birds. There are ten canaries in his aviary and not one is for sale. H. C. Connett is worshipped by and loves in return a haughty Siamese feline who insists upon following him to his train of a morning. Jack Keough is part owner of a Persian beauty. (His charming sister is the other partner.) Bennie Walker adopted a kitten related to the Persian beauty and is the proud possessor of an "intelligent" dog and "uncanny" parrot, besides. The stories he relates about his trio—but then Benny's imagination is one of his most endearing characteristics. More next time.

Alice, Sacramento.—John Moss has left KFRC for glamorous Hollywood. Abe Bloom is free lancing these days and appears at irregular intervals over various stations. No definite schedule. Al Pearce has finally broken down and confessed that he is married. Mrs. Pearce is not of the profession.

Sunny, Santa Clara.—Wint Cotton (KTAB) is 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighs 135 pounds, has brown eyes and hair and is twenty-four or twenty-five years old. He was born in Shreveport, Louisiana, spent half of his boyhood playing hookey from school, loves to ride horseback and go fishing. Basketball is his best game, the rose his favorite flower, modern music his choice expression, fried chicken his "dish." Sometimes he reads poetry or seeks out an unused pipe organ where he may while away an hour or so over strange, mysterious chords and he is generous in his admiration of such individuals as Robinson Jeffers, Bill Hay and Morton Downey. His vocation, or perhaps it is his avocation now, is stocks and bonds. There is no suggestion of "my radio audience" about Wint. He is devoid of furbelows, never boasts of his achievements and is a comfortable, refreshing sort to have around.

Mrs. N. W. T., Seattle.—Harry Stanton (NBC) is the self-same Harry you knew up north. You might tell the girls he is still single and as handsome as ever. Yes, the Swedish "Sophie" of the Spotlight Revue is Imelda Montagne. Also, you are right in regard to Dickie. He is the son of Imelda (Montagne) and Richard LeGrand. Since you so heartily applaud the women who continue their professional work after marriage, especially those whose endeavors keep them in such close proximity with their husbands, perhaps you would like a few more names to add to your list: Eva Garcia, Mrs. Howard Milholland; Dorothy Desmond, Mrs. Thomas Kelly; Mary Groom, Mrs. Mynard Jones; Emily Linden, Mrs. Anthony Linden; Emma Knox, Mrs. Baldwin McGaw; Helen Hoover, Mrs. Art Lindsay; Virginia Flohri, Mrs. Carl Haverlin.

M. D., Sacramento.—Peggy Jensen (KTAB) is 5 feet tall and weighs 98 pounds. She has dark hair of a tumbled curly shoulder length, big brown eyes and a piquant little face that is topped off with the most surprisingly heavy brows, just as though some emotional artist in a moment of recklessness had flourished his brush in a gesture of defiance or something. Like the petite breathing doll who is proverbially capable, so also is Peggy. She designs and makes all of her clothes, has a keen business sense and is spiritedly independent. She wears white becomingly, is never without at least one gardenia, likes to dance, play tennis, swim, and her pet hobby is a miniature studio where she draws or paints portraits of her friends.

E. C., Parkwater.—James Riddel (KHQ) hails from Chicago, is twenty-seven years old, a combination of Scotch and German, is married and has a little girl aged three. A wee lassie with curly red hair just like her daddy's. Radio has claimed him for almost ten years. Here and there have been intervals when vaudeville took him away, but the microphone gets him back every time. He is 5 feet 11½ inches tall, weighs 145 pounds, has blue eyes, splendidly balanced features and a fine intellectual forehead. His favorite sports are golf, handball and tennis. He prefers classical and sacred music to jazz, is one of the few men who does not care for the color blue, likes mashed potatoes so well he could make a meal of them and cannot endure after-dinner speakers.

Mrs. W. W., Tacoma.—Edna Fisher (KFRC) is in private life Mrs. Milton Hayes.

F. W., San Jose.—Harvey Orr and Urban Hartman are still at KPO. Doug Richardson is said to be devoting his time to electrical transcriptions, but intends to resume radio activities at an early date.

E. C. N., Cheney.—Georgie Stohl, formerly of KYA, has left the ether waves to accept an engagement in Hollywood at the Chinese theatre.

SALT LAKE'S TABERNACLE CHOIR AND ORGAN

Salt Lake's Tabernacle Organ Speaks to the Nation Weekly

PIONEER foresight and industry transformed a mid-nineteenth century sagebrush waste into a cultural outpost of the West, a monument to which achievement stands the Mormon Tabernacle and its matchless organ, both of which have received the generous praise of appreciative travelers from all the world.

In those mid-nineteenth century days, Indians were seen more often filing through desert canyons and begging food from white settlements than they were read about in story books. In those days white folks were mighty scattered. There were less than forty thousand of them in the whole territory of Utah, a stretch of land covering the major portion of four present-day western states; and there were less than eight thousand in Salt Lake City when an auditorium which stands today among the largest in the world was in the process of construction. Into it went native materials, painstaking toil, and not a little constructive genius. Into it also went an organ built by pioneer labor under pioneer supervision which, with its modernized features, stands today as one of the world's largest and most complete instruments.

In 1870, three years after the dedication of the Tabernacle, a choir was organized and has since been in continuous existence. This organization had achieved an international reputation before the advent of radio broadcasting. It was through the efforts and the foresight of Mr. Earl J. Glade, managing director of KSL, and a pioneer of commercial radio broadcasting in the West, that a coast-to-coast NBC network and the Tabernacle organ and choir got together in July, 1929. The result was a standing order for weekly deliveries of such programs.

Such, briefly, is the historical setting of a nation-wide feature which originates with KSL weekly at 4:15 p. m., mountain standard time, and presents from the Mormon Tabernacle sacred and secular master works of music, from the ponderous fugues of Bach to the melodious sketches of Mac-

Dowell and psalm and hymn arrangements of native musicians, interpreted by a choir of three hundred voices with accompaniments and solo presentations from the great Tabernacle organ, world-famed for its mellow majesty.

The Tabernacle choir, which numbers among its membership many concert artists and professional performers, is a volunteer organization. Monday afternoon in Salt Lake City finds the members of this unique organization leaving homes and business pursuits to add individual contributions to the great volume of majestic melody. Public-spirited employers willingly dismiss their assistants weekly for participation in the broadcast.

If one could visit the Tabernacle on the afternoon of broadcast days he would find the organ and choir seats in the west end of the great oval structure shut off from the remaining four-fifths of the building by a two-thousand-pound golden velour curtain suspended from the one-hundred-fifty-foot span of the roof, dropping the entire seventy feet from dome to floor.

Such a visitor would find the director, Anthony C. Lund, arranging last-minute details; he would find one of the three Tabernacle organists, Edward P. Kimball, Alexander Schreiner or Frank W. Asper, all European trained masters of organ, seated at the console. One would also be apt to meet the supervising glance of Bishop David A. Smith, president of the choir, and to see Richard Evans, the rather earnest announcer, making a final check of chronometer, signal lights and continuity.

As the warning signal comes, introductory background music is heard from the organ. With the final flash of the red light comes the steady spoken word of greeting and introduction to a half-hour broadcast, while music lovers nation-wide hear the program during which a cultural center in the tops of the western mountains sends out greetings in the language of matchless music.

ON A SINGLE KNOB

15 TO 650 METERS

NO COILS TO CHANGE

PILOT UNIVERSAL SUPER WASP RECEIVER

Pilot's wonderful wave band changing switch, incorporated in the new Universal Super-Wasp, revolutionizes the short wave art. No longer need numerous coils be changed to cover the various wave bands. No longer need dial settings change each time the same distant stations are tuned in. You can log permanently all the stations you can get throughout the world, you can tune from the short waves to the high ship waves without removing your hand from the single control knob.

Universal Features Revolutionizing the Short Wave Art

Complete coverage all wave bands from 15 to 650 meters without coil changing. Complete A. C. operated chassis in cabinet. (Also available in battery model) . . . All Metal Chassis . . . Highly sensitive and selective circuit . . . Screen Grid TRF amplifier plus Screen Grid Detector . . . 227 First Audio Stage . . . Two 245's in push-pull output stage . . . Stations can be logged permanently on dial . . . Regeneration control does not alter tuning . . . Provision for Phonograph Pick-up . . . Earphone Jack on Front Panel . . . Illuminated Dials . . . Handsome Walnut Cabinet . . . Most advanced construction yet used for short wave work . . . In kit form for easy home assembly; no drilling or cutting, all parts fully prepared.

NOTICE TO "HAMS": Pilot will continue building the original Super-Wasp in kit form for licensed amateurs and others who want to spread the tuning on their pet wave bands and add their own audio features. A. C. and battery models.

A program

S and W

Mellow'd
Melodies

TONIGHT
System

8:30
P. M.

The plaintive, haunting beauty of Irish melodies will strike responsive chords in your heart . . . the merry, mad gayety of Celtic dances will enthrall you . . . as this S and W program, "A Bit of Old Erin," unfolds its lovely music and song. Of especial interest will be the playing of Barbara Merkley, harpist, in old Irish refrains.

9:30—Associated Spotlight Review: KGO, KHQ, KOMO, KGW, KFI

"The Sheik, or if the Truth Were Only Known," a flaming farce of the desert by Walter Beban, is one of the chief non-sensical bits of the Associated Spotlight Revue. After hundreds of tests for a voice with the proper amount of "it," Dick Le Grand has been cast in the title part, that of the over-romantic and dusky Arab. A more serious side to the revue will be found in the dramatic sketch written by Carlton E. Morse for Jack and Ethyl. School bells will ring forth when the "School Days" session of the Associated Spotlight Revue takes place. Le Grand, as Professor Knickelbine, will handle this period of fun.

S and W mellow'd COFFEE

LISTEN . . . . . to the S and W Mellow'd
Melodies Every Friday Night

at 8:30 over the NBC System and you will understand why hundreds of thousands of those who appreciate fine things always tune in this beautiful program.

ENJOY . . . . .
A Cup of S and W
Mellow'd Coffee

and you will realize why those same particular people insist on the rich, smooth mellowness, the delightful fragrance and aroma for which this superlatively fine coffee is famous.

S and W

the mellow'd COFFEE
