at lowest possible prices

SUPERLATIVE performance at the lowest possible price! This requirement is uppermost in the minds of those who today are contemplating the purchase of radio receivers. And so, in accordance with the Crosley policy of providing what the public will buy, Crosley has set about to meet this demand.

In doing so, Crosley engineers and technicians have left nothing undone to give you, the radio dealer, and in turn, your customers, the greatest and most sensational values that have ever been offered in the radio industry. Consequently, Crosley radio receivers are in demand today.

Today's "buyers' market" has put its stamp of approval on the amazing Crosley models. It has professed its satisfaction in terms of greater sales. So perfectly does Crosley reflect the needs, requirements and tastes of the radio-buying public that NO ONE can afford to be without a Crosley.

MEXICO AND CUBA INVADING U. S. FREQUENCIES

REBELLION against the domination by the United States of the broadcasting frequencies of North America may in the near future force a recasting of the entire broadcasting set-up of this country through the appropriation by Mexico and Cuba of frequencies now used by important American stations.

The two southern republics are not parties to the agreement whereby the frequencies between 550 and 1,500 kilocycles were divided between the United States and Canada, and while in the past they have so arranged their broadcasting so as not to interfere with American stations, recent developments indicate abandonment of that policy.

When the informal agreement between the United States and Canada was made neither that country nor Mexico or Cuba were important factors in the broadcasting field. Since then, however, all three countries have licensed a number of stations and repeated complaint has been voiced regarding the alleged seizure by the United States of the lion's share of frequencies.

With respect to Cuba and Mexico, which were given no frequencies of their own but were expected to put their stations on channels that would not cause interference in this country, the situation is denominated another example of "Yankee imperialism." Recently there has been little regard for American stations, and broadcasters in both countries are permitted to select practically any frequency they fancy.

The lack of formal agreements with Mexico and Cuba respecting the use of broadcasting frequencies may within a year or two bring about a chaotic situation in American broadcasting almost as bad as that existing prior to the enactment of the radio act of 1927.

Mexico may prove a fertile field for the broadcaster who cannot secure a license in the United States.

If broadcasters who are rejected by our own authorities erect stations in Cuba or Mexico, where they can easily penetrate the United States, the major purpose of the radio law, to reduce interference and eliminate undesirable stations, will be defeated. The authorities of the two countries are said to view the erection of stations by Americans with complacency as giving them both additional revenue for their governments and improved service for their people, to say nothing of sticking a barb in Uncle Sam.

Surrounded by countries hostile to our domination of the broadcasting band, the United States faces a bloodless war which apparently can be averted only by a treaty of peace providing for a new distribution of frequencies. Besides this danger, the question of vested rights becomes a problem of secondary importance.

PERSONAL PICKUPS

BY GYPSY

Mrs. G. M. N., Couer d'Alene — Gladys Weimar is the name of the young lady who is known as "Alice from Wonderland" in the children's programs to which you refer on KFIO. She is about twenty-three years old, less than five feet in height, weighs 110 pounds, has ash-blond hair and greenish-gray eyes that are brimful of mischief one minute and so wistfully sad the next, one feels an unmistakable lump in one's throat. Gladys was born in Seattle, is related to Glenna Collette, had a great uncle who was knighted by Queen Victoria, attended Holy Names Academy in Spokane and graduated from a finishing school and a conservatory of music in her home state. She is a pianist, harpist and organist; has enacted leading rôles in various well-known stage plays, writes short stories and conducts a kindergarten in addition to her activities on the air. Her outstanding characteristics are a deep sense of loyalty, love of animals and flowers and she is endowed with what is inadequately termed personality and charm.

D. D. R., San Francisco.—Your question is a bit out of my line. Will you communicate directly with Paul Ash? He may be reached at the Warfield Theatre.

Helen, San Francisco.—John S. Young (NBC) is athletically built, has pleasant blue eyes, a wide, generous mouth, unusually broad forehead, slightly wavy hair and looks so clean you suspect him of spending half his time under a shower. His birthplace is Springfield, Mass., his ancestry is English and Scotch-Irish and the S. between his first and last names stands for Shaw. As a boy he wanted nothing quite as much as to make West Point. Instead he landed in Yale, went to Cornell and Syracuse for a while, received an appointment to West Point, found he no longer yearned to wear beautiful uniforms and returned to Yale. After he had earned his degree he spent two years as a graduate student in the famous "47 Workshop" under Professor George Pierce Barker in the Yale University School of the Theatre. Collecting autographed portraits of internationally known personages is his favorite hobby, refusing to answer telephone calls before noon is his most annoying fault and announcing receptions at New York's City Hall is among his preferred duties. He has been with NBC for five years and his voice, in addition to being heard on radio, is heard also in some four thousand theatres weekly with newsreels, travelogues and "sport slants" pictures.

Verne Kelsey.—I have an important letter for you. Will you advise me of your present address that I may forward it?

Mrs. A. L. P., Lodi.—Norman Neilson (KFRC) is about twenty-seven years old. Monroe Upton's eyes are blue and his hair is a light shade of brown. William Wright is six feet tall.

Mrs. C. J., Oakland.—Coon and Sanders (NBC) are Carlton Allyn Coon and Joe L. Sanders, both white, in their thirties and both claimants to Indian forbears. Mr. Coon was born in Rochester, Minn., and Mr. Sanders is a native of Thayer, Kansas.

Elaine, Sparks.—Paul Carson (NBC) specialized in music at Northwestern University and later went to Paris to continue his studies. He has been playing piano and organ as far back as he can remember, and excepting the time spent in service during the war, has passed few days without touching a keyboard or manual even though for a period of years he served as an executive for a theatrical syndicate. What does he do in his spare time? My dear, he hasn't any, at present. Each morning, save Monday, he is up ahead of the sun and on the air at seven o'clock. After his concert, he breakfasts, returns to the studio and is on hand for innumerable broadcasts, as soloist or accompanist, during the afternoon and evening. The strange part of it is that he seems to thrive on work. He never looks depleted and is always cheerful. You will find some of your other questions answered elsewhere on this page; the rest will appear in an early issue.

Mrs. J. S., San Francisco.—Tom Shirley, formerly of NBC, has gone to Salt Lake City, where he is on the staff at Station KDYL. Big Brother Ken, formerly of KNX, is now broadcasting from KECA.

Mrs. W. G., San Francisco.—"Mac" is still a regular feature of Station KFRC. Abe Bloom may be heard over KJBS during the "Bridge Hour." George Taylor, Adele Burlan, Virginia Spencer (KYA) and Abe are all single.

T.B., Seattle.—Fray and Braggiotti (CBS) who appeared in San Francisco recently with Maurice Chevalier, are both single. Mr. Fray (Jack is his first name) is rather tall, with blue, grave, intelligent eyes, dark brown hair, twenty-eight years of age and charmingly unassuming, with an air of philosophical reflection that dispels one's pet belief that all Frenchmen are an unconstrained flirtatious species unto themselves. Mario Braggiotti is twenty-six years old, dark-eyed, dark-haired, moderately tall and possesses many of the characteristics of his partner. He was born in Florence, Italy, but has lived most of his life in Paris and speaks French like a native. The boys met some years ago while both were students at a music conservatoire and were the first team to combine the classics and jazz in European concerts. Their association with Maurice Chevalier dates back to about three years. This was their first trip West, and though we were having the worst weather in ages, they politely insisted our San Francisco was a glorious place. Mario makes a good many of the intricate arrangements which have caused so much wonder and admiration, although frequently they work on them together and their daily routine is not complete without at least four hours of concentrated practice.

MICROPHONE GOSSIP

• • • Paramount has engaged Arthur Tracy, Columbia's "Street Singer," for his first movie short, a one-reel feature entitled "The Russian Lullaby."

• • • Nat Shilkret, NBC director-composer, has three brothers: Jack, Lou, and Fred. Each of the Shilkrets is a pianist.

• • • Gerda Lundberg of KTAB is now vocal soloist with the Hotel Oakland dance orchestra every Saturday night. That's good! Gerda should be where she can be seen.

• • • When Vincent Sorey was a student at the music conservatory at Turin, he won a prize entitling him to a course of study with the great Ysay at Brussels. Vincent had a chance to buy a fine Santo Serafino violin at a bargain price. In order to raise money to purchase the instrument, which he intended to use during his scholarship studies, he went on a concert tour to South America. Upon his return to Turin with the necessary funds he learned to his keen disappointment that Brussels was practically in ruins from an enemy invasion and that as a consequence he would be unable to study there.

• • • Johnnie Walker of "Isle of Golden Dreams" fame (KOIN) was born in a little town in the lead and silver mining district of northern Idaho. His family moved to Spokane soon afterward and he attended school there. He started his musical career at the age of 17 with a traveling musical comedy show. He played in stock companies for several years, continuing his musical studies during that time. At the age of 21 he started his first dance band. Walker came to KOIN in 1930 as the "conductor" of the "Merry-Go-Round." Then Walker originated the feature of "Dreamin' Time"; the success of this presentation inspired the "Isle of Golden Dreams," which was released to the Columbia-Don Lee system as a sustaining feature, later to be sold to a prominent financial organization. This program is broadcast every Wednesday night at 9:30 o'clock.

• • • Colonel Lemuel Q. Stoopnagle of the team of Stoopnagle and Budd, has won another high mark of distinction. A Tampa, Florida, fan, the owner of a kitten with twenty-four toes and a like number of claws, has named the animal after the comedian. The kitty has seven toes on each of his front paws and five apiece on the hind ones.

• • • The many thousands of listeners who tune in to KNX, in Hollywood, to hear the soft, crooning voice of Gertrude Ridenaur do not know that the formerly wealthy young society matron of Kansas was once in the course of a meteoric rise to fame as a dancer. Al Jolson picked her to do a specialty black-bottom number in his act when he was appearing in Kansas City. Miss Ridenaur was a well-known figure upon the stage in the mid-west before entering radio as a singer of popular songs. Having attained an enviable position in Kansas City as a singer over WDAF, she came to the Pacific Coast two months ago, and has been heard over KNX with increasing frequency ever since.

• • • Minneapolis, Minn., seems to have contributed a good deal to radio, judging by the large number of NBC artists who first saw the light of day there. Arthur Ward, musical arranger; Dell Perry, "Piano Capers" star; Ann Holden, domestic science editor of the Woman's Magazine of the Air, and Jane Burns, studio hostess, are among the San Francisco studio folk who hail from Minneapolis.

• • • Alyce La Salle, the petite French girl, has taken Gerda Lundberg's place on KTAB's "Girl and Boy" program.

• • • Kenneth Roberts, Columbia announcer, went through law school, but did so only to satisfy his parents. After graduation Ken decided to show his independence and refused to seek a position in a lawyer's office. His parents also showed theirs and refused to let the future announcer live at home. There followed stage experience, and then radio.

• • • Frank Crumit and Julia Sanderson, NBC headliners, dropped in on Rudy Vallee at the Pennsylvania Grill recently. Vallee suddenly broke into his routine, and called on Crumit to sing his "Gay Caballero." Frank got up, cleared his throat, hesitated, and had to admit that at the moment he could not remember the words of one of the most famous of the songs written by none other than Mr. Frank Crumit. Some quick prompting by Miss Sanderson saved the day.

• • • Grace Le Page of KTAB recently sang a number called "I Love to Hear You Singing." A little later a telegram arrived which read: "So do we."

• • • One of Kate Smith's (CBS) most treasured possessions is a diamond studded gold medal which was presented to her by a post of the American Legion in recognition of the great joy she brought to many veterans.

• • • There are four NBC announcers listed in Pierre Key's Musical Who's Who. They are Graham McNamee, John S. Young, Milton J. Cross and Alois Havrilla. These four men are the only radio announcers listed.

• • • Larry Murphy, Columbia tenor, at one time trained cornet players at the naval musicians' school attached to the Norfolk base. Later he was transferred to sea duty and took up vocal studies during his infrequent shore leaves. . . . Speaking of mariners, Count von Luckner always carries a watch presented him by members of his famous sea-raider's crew. On the back of the timepiece is engraved a facsimile of the "See Adler"—the engraving having been done by the sailors with gramophone needles.

• • • Broadcasters are familiar with most of the problems incidental to getting well known but temperamental folk before the microphone, but the most difficult "speaker" NBC ever has handled was Madame Pele, whose "voice" was carried all the way from Honolulu to the United States recently when KGU broadcast the eruption of Kilauea, volcano where Pele, according to Hawaiian tradition, dwells. Two thousand miles of telephone wire were required for the job of laying wire from the volcano crater to the nearest telephone terminal, three and a half miles away. The wire had to be carried by hand, four men to a spool, and the job took six hours, with thirty-two men working steadily all the time.

• • • One of the requirements that Gene Quaw has made for every member of his band is that they keep in training just like a track team. Whenever Gene has an applicant for his band, the first question is not "What do you play?" or "In what bands have you been?" but "How fast can you negotiate the 100-yard dash?"

The seven men in Gene Quaw's orchestra play a total of twenty-four instruments, and while they are playing you sort of lose track of the boys. On one chorus they're in their regular positions, and on the next strain the bass player is at the trombone, the violinist is pumping away at the tuba, a big tenor sax has given way to an oboe, and so on, far, far into the night. Experts have tried to stop watch the orchestra changing positions between choruses, but the band is too fast.

• • • Irving Kennedy, NBC tenor, has enjoyed the honor most popular radio artists know, of having babies named for him, but never until now was he asked to be godfather to a canary.

A tiny girl in Santa Rosa, however, wrote to the singer recently and told him she had named her pet canary "Irving Kennedy" for her favorite star.

"He seems to know your voice," she wrote to Irving, "for he only sings when you are on the air."

• • • Vincent Sorey, Columbia conductor who was only 15 when he received a diploma for excellence in playing the violin, was the youngest graduate of the Royal Conservatory of Music at Torino, Italy. One of Sorey's most-remembered experiences was playing for Woodrow Wilson when the war president was entertained at Torino after the Peace Conference.

• • • Vincent Lopez, NBC conductor and pianist, is troubled by calloused fingers. He plays as many as 1000 notes a minute in his solos of fast tempo.

• • • Ted White, NBC tenor, is a pianist of talent, but he has never played before the microphone save to accompany his own singing, which he prefers to do whenever possible.

SILHOUETTES

PAUL CARSON, NBC organist and "Builder of the Bridge to Dreamland" to the several hundred radio listeners who write to him every month, belongs to an interesting family.

His father and grandfather both were clergymen; the latter was associated with the Wesleys in Ireland and was one of the proponents of the religious movement they started. On the paternal side, Carson is descended from Sir Edward Carson, noted Irishman; his mother is English. His parents met in America soon after both arrived in this country.

Paul was born in Bridgeport, Illinois, and in boyhood knew the peripatetic life which is peculiar to clergymen's families, living in many cities and never feeling he "belonged" to any one locality. He was just five and a half when he first learned to play the organ—a small, cottage reed affair, upon which his mother painfully taught him to play two hymns—"Nearer My God to Thee" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul."

One of Paul's best anecdotes is how, just as his father started the Sunday morning service one day, he looked around and discovered that the regular organist had not arrived. With a motion imperceptible to the congregation, he beckoned the six-year-old Paul to the empty seat and announced, "We shall now sing 'Nearer My God to Thee.'"

The elder Carson had a sense of humor which his son has inherited—together with a sense of showmanship. As the time approached for the second hymn he ruffled the pages of the book as if it was difficult to make a decision.

"Let us sing 'Jesus Lover of My Soul,'" he finally announced, and Paul played the second and last item in his repertoire. But there was a third hymn period to be filled, and the youthful pinch-hitter at the organ waited with anxety to see how the emergency would be met. As the time came, the Rev. Carson again opened his hymn book, looked through it and then said:

"That last hymn we sang—'Jesus Lover of My Soul'—was so beautiful that I cannot think of any other song to compare with it. Let us repeat it now"—and that was that.

the war broke out. For three years he drove an ambulance and acted as stretcher-bearer in France, and when the Armistice was signed he was transferred to the overseas entertainment committee and traveled over encampments putting on shows for American men still stationed in France and Germany.

He came to Los Angeles to live when he returned to America, and immediately became one of the most popular church organists in the West, directing choir work and oratorios and appearing in numerous recitals. He also played in some of Los Angeles' largest picture houses, and when radio broadcasting first was started in Southern California he used to contribute his services just because he enjoyed it. Soon he was obliged to devote more and more time to ether audiences. He came to San Francisco three years ago and has been with the National Broadcasting Company there ever since.

Carson's Bridge to Dreamland, heard Sunday nights over the NBC-KGO network, is his most popular program, but he is heard on many other San Francisco presentations, including "Memory Lane," in which he supplies musical interludes. He has been heard transcontinentally each successive Easter on which the beautiful sunrise service on Mt. Davidson has been broadcast from San Francisco.

Although music, and particularly the organ, is his career, Carson is interested in all forms of artistic endeavor.

One of the reasons he is a successful musician, he believes, is because he has an intense love for beauty in all forms. He has one of the largest libraries in San Francisco, and also one of the finest collections of Persian rugs and rare works of art. He is still considerably under forty.

A SLIP of a girl who looks as if she might have come out of a book is Floy Margaret Hughes, youthful NBC actress who has played in most of the children's dramas broadcast from the San Francisco studios of the Pacific Division.

So many "book" characters has Floy dramatized on the air that this appearance of hers is not remarkable. She has been Elsie Dinsmore, Cinderella, and many another girlhood heroine since she joined the NBC staff a year or so ago.

It was an entertainment at the Tamalpais High School in which Floy appeared, which introduced her to radio. The play was broadcast through the school building with the aid of microphones and loudspeakers, and the unusual quality of the youthful "leading lady's" voice was remarked.

Just at this time H. C. Connette, author of "Memory Lane," NBC's serial of a small mid-western town of late nineties, introduced Josephine Conway, Billy Smithers' youthful "sweetheart," in the story. A little girl with a real "little girl" voice without sophistication in its tones, and still with the ability to use the Hoosier dialect of "Memory Lane" was needed for the part. Someone in the program department at NBC recalled the little Tamalpais

FLOY MARGARET HUGHES

High School student, and Floy Margaret became Josephine Conway.

She has appeared in most of the children's radio dramas broadcast from the San Francisco studios of the Pacific Division since then.

Poetry is Floy's hobby, and most of her radio salary goes to the purchase of additions to her library, already extensive. She recently was graduated from high school, and looks forward with eagerness to the day when she will graduate from "little girl" roles to grown-up ones. To play Shakespearian roles is her hope.

A SLIM, poised little figure with a smooth boyish coiffure, steps before the microphone, and through the ether floats a glorious, silver voice—Barbara Blanchard on the air.

One of the most charming members of the feminine portion of NBC's artist staff, Barbara is known to thousands of persons who hear her on the ether, as a concert artist and recitalist of rare ability.

Barbara was born in Oakland, California, and at six her greatest ambition in life was to be a choir singer. An indulgent grandmother used to make her "choir bonnets" as a reward for good behavior, and the youthful Barbara would stand in an imaginary choir singing lustily.

"All of which sounds very unworldly, but I didn't keep up that attitude," reflects Barbara today. "The first money I earned by singing went to buy a ring. I still have the ring, too—wouldn't part with it for anything!"

At seventeen, Barbara was a soloist of reputation in the East Bay district. She sang at benefit entertainments given by the Shriners, glee clubs, and similar organizations; appeared as Yum-Yum in "The Mikado," and went to New York with the San Francisco Real Estate Glee Club. Returning, she toured the Orpheum circuit, then appeared in Fanchon and Marco productions.

She came to NBC in 1927, to sing light operas once a week. Now she is a featured soloist on many programs.

... RADIO NEWS ...

FURTHER revision of existing radio law will be required to deal with the perplexing question of vested rights, in the opinion of leading members of the bar and the radio industry, who see in the present law and regulations no final settlement of the problem.

The very fact that the law requires applicants for licenses to sign a waiver of any right they may have in a frequency because of prior use, it is contended, unquestionably shows that Congress considered that such rights may possibly exist.

This, however, is but one of many questions which inevitably must be given consideration in the near future, both by our own agencies and by international conferences, it is held. The invasion of the ether by television, transoceanic telephony and picture transmission, all of tremendous commercial importance; the use of radio for police and aeronautical services, the demands for frequencies for other purposes, and the potential use of radio for the transmission of power and heat have tremendously complicated the simple situation of a few years ago when radio was confined to broadcasting, ship communication and amateur operation.

Settlement of these problems involves a fair distribution of frequencies between the various services—a distribution, it is pointed out, which must be sufficiently flexible to make provision for future new and now undreamed of uses of radio—not only in the United States but throughout the world as a whole, the latter in order that frequencies used for one purpose here may not be used for another in some foreign country with consequent interference to both.

Fortunately, it has been discovered that the field of radio frequencies is by no means as limited as originally conceived. A few years ago it was believed that the highest usable frequency was 28,000 kilocycles; today it has been proven that highly efficient operation may be secured as far up as 50,000 kilocycles, and there are indications of usable frequencies even above that limit.

Thus there is now ample room for all existing services, and as these quarters become cramped it is expected science will come to the rescue with new instruments which will permit a narrowing of the separation now necessary between stations on adjoining frequencies, permitting more transmitters in a given band. These additional frequencies, it is asserted, will be urgently needed should the rest of the world undertake to catch up with the radio development which has been accomplished in this country in the past ten years.

RADIO service ten years hence may be dominated by the newspapers of the country, which already are making use of this new medium of communication to an extent unknown to those outside the two industries.

More than one-seventh of all the broadcasting stations in the United States—91 out of 614, to be exact—are owned by newspapers, but this is only one branch of the radio field in which the newspapers are interested, according to Thad H. Brown, general counsel of the Federal Radio Commission.

Speaking before a gathering of newspaper men in Ohio, Mr. Brown outlined some of the ways in which the newspaper industry today is using radio, aside from the transoceanic services for the transmission of foreign news reports. Two very important radio news services are in operation, he said, one a regular press association service disseminated by radio by Press Wireless, Inc., which has stations in Needham, Mass.; Hicksville, Long Island; Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles, and has stations under construction in Honolulu and fifteen American cities, and the other a news distribution service using automatic printers, operated by the American Radio News Corporation with stations at Carlstadt, N. J., and Chicago, and others under construction in San Francisco, Denver, and Atlanta.

"The life of a newspaper man has never been the proverbial 'bed of roses,'" Mr. Brown declared, "and if the last ten years in the life of radio is any indication of what he may expect in the next ten years, he will have to add to his already much burdened brain a wealth of knowledge and information constantly being brought to light by this important science, as well as the facts concerning its rapid development and advancement."

While the newspapers today are engaged actively in broadcasting, as evidenced by the large proportion of stations operated, a much wider field is foreseen for them within the next ten years by Dr. A. N. Goldsmith, vice-president of the Radio Corporation of America.

"It is doubtful," Dr. Goldsmith declares, "if the home installation of 1940 will be a purely radio installation, unless radio is regarded as a general term covering the whole family of entertainment enterprises for the home. Radio telephone broadcast reception, radio television broadcast reception, radio facsimile broadcast reception of photographs, printed texts or drawings; electrical phonographs, home sound motion picture reproductions and electrical musical instruments are all a part of the family of radio devices."

The newspapers, it is asserted by those seeking to peer into the future, will find their field in the first three, furnishing broadcasts of news and television pictures of current events, and facsimiles of educational and other features now printed in newspapers and designed for study. The problem of securing subscriptions to cover the cost of these services, of course, is left to the future.

REVISION of the Federal Radio Commission's allocations of cleared channels so as to permit the use on the Pacific Coast of frequencies assigned to stations along the Atlantic, and vice versa, is proposed in a bill introduced in Congress by Senator Dill of Washington as a means of securing more service from the forty cleared channels.

Interference would be prevented by restricting the use of the divided frequencies to stations west of the furthestmost Rocky Mountains and east of the Alleghanies.

As a result of the commission's policy of restricting cleared channels to individual stations, Senator Dill asserted, "there are a considerable number of radio wavelengths on the Pacific Coast which are never used by any stations that are of any service to the people west of the Mississippi River, and a considerable number on the Atlantic Coast which are of no service to people east of the Mississippi."

Division of the cleared channels would be accomplished by a provision of the bill that no frequency used for broadcasting shall be reserved for the use of one station for a distance of more than 2,300 miles, airline. Stations on cleared channels between the two ranges of mountains therefore would not be affected.

The additional stations that could be licensed along the two coasts under this proposal would not be included in the quotas of the zones in which located because, the Senator pointed out, "the people who live along the coast on either side of the country have no radio service from stations on the ocean side, and therefore it is only proper they should have a larger number of stations than the interior sections."

The present system of allocating cleared channels to single stations, he asserted, constitutes a waste of facilities which, in view of the pressure of applications for additional stations, is indefensible. As an example of the possibilities of the plan, he pointed to the joint use of a cleared channel by stations WGY at Schenectady, N. Y., and KGO at Oakland, Calif., permitted by court order over the opposition of the Radio Commission.

HALF-TIME stations which fail to come to an agreement with the other station on their frequency as to the division of broadcasting periods will have their operating periods fixed for them by the Federal Radio Commission. Recent orders of the commission required all stations to file schedules of operation by February 1, and reports indicate that a number of broadcasters are having difficulty in coming to an amicable agreement with the others with whom they share time.

All time-sharing stations in this class which cannot agree upon division of time have been given their choice of two plans worked out by the commission. The first of these plans divides the day into three-hour periods, from 6 a. m. to 12 p. m., during which the stations are alternately on the air. The other gives the station from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. three days a week, and from 6 p. m. to midnight the other three. Sunday being divided into three-hour periods on which the stations alternate.

All half-time stations will be required to adopt one of these plans and to adhere to the schedule decided upon. It will, of course, be necessary for both stations on a frequency to adopt the same plan.

The requirement that one of the above plans be adopted also extends to half time stations which as yet have no partner on their frequency, some of which have heretofore been operating full time.

CRITIQUE OF THE WEEK

By DYAL TURNER

WAS I excited over ol' war-horse Gibbons' interestin' picture on January 13? I'll say. By the ghost o' G. Kahn an' the manchus, how the mighty have fallen. Hope that verbal machine gunner takes care o' himself. He's a swell guy. When I start livin' in the past I'll have a rip-snortin' good time tellin' anybody who'll listen how I heard hist'ry in the makin'. Radio's wonderful, huh?

* * *

Golly, I wish they'd lay off some o' those amateur dialects they sling around KPO. Only impersonator that's registered with me to date is the Carmencita girl. She sounds fetchin' if not entirely authentic.

* * *

Earl Towner's Tea Time Tunes on Friday afternoons via KFRC are palatable. Amelia thinks so, too. Throws her bridge parties on that day. Tells me the girls go for the melodious strains in a big way. Program comes in 'bout the time they've outgabbbed themselves an' are in a mood for un-laxation.

* * *

Edison Gilham up at National'd convert anybody into a rootin' xylophone fan. That boy sure knows his bench an' tools.

* * *

Twilight Tunes comin' thru' NBC is pleasin'. That is—when they don't slip in a coupla trumpet solos. Makes no never mind how fine the soloists are—brass an' twilight just don't go together.

* * *

You haven't made me laugh since the first time you went on, Johnny Medbury. But I'm a glutton for punishment. I'll hang on 'll you do. Ennyhow, you're original. Say—got any good lookers 'mong those snapshots you're collectin'?

* * *

What was once the high spot o' the week is degeneratin' into severely commonplace entertainment. I'm speakin' o' the Spotlight Revue on National. Programs of late sound stuffy. Merry-go-roundish. Forced. No more spontaneity. Washed up. Snap out of it, girls an' boys. Ol' Man Discard 'll gitcha if you don't watch out.

What's happened to Loyce Whiteman? Is she using her voice too much? It's begun soundin' mechanical. Every-dayish.

I'm prayin' for self-control. Dunno if it'll work, though. If you hear a terrible crash one o' these nights you'll know I've smashed somethin'. An' it'll be brought about by that asinine "Was That the Human Thing to Do?" Of all the tawdry lyrics an' clumsy intervals! Tripe's high praise for it. When they start for that word thing—ugh! my blood pressure. 'Melia's got to the point where she refuses to listen to dance stuff for fear that thing 'll be shrieked at 'er. Says it gives 'er the same sensation as witnessing an accident.

* * *

Haven't heard a real play in weeks, outside o' Split Seconds.

* * *

Whoever the shover-offs are on Columbia, I wish they'd begin shovin' off Madame Hopper—say, 30 minutes before they do. Even if she offered good artists, which she doesn't, they wouldn't get to second base with her in the wings.

* * *

Impression of (the average) announcer's sales talk: Blah-blah-blah-blah-blahblablahblablah. Blah-blah-blah-blah-blahblablahblablah—thank the lord that's over. True, the talks are often badly written. Unimaginatve. Cold. Superfluous. Syrupy. Still, you'd think the boys that get paid for voicin' 'em would show some ingenuity an' pride. My idea of a real advertiser is a man like Tony Wons. Or that chap they have on Sherlock Holmes. Those boys sound SINCERE. Proud of their respective products. Sold on 'em all the way. They don't resort to coercion. Neither do they plead. They've jus' learned the secret of mixing intelligence with sincerity.

Where in heaven's name did they find the female calliope that comes thru' with Earl Burtnett's programs? Whattsa matter, NBC, don't you like your KPO chain?

The OPEN CIRCUIT

This department is open to all. Send in your letters. Anonymous letters will not be published. Give full name and address.

That's Something

I received my prize today. Although I can't ride in it, or listen to its beautiful tone, or even praise its delicious ice cream, at least I can write with it. It's a mighty nice pencil and that's something. So thank you for the token of my skill even though I'm not as good as I thought I was.

Sincerely,

P. H. V., N. Sacramento, Jan. 20

Crema, Take Note

A. Mr. Alexander C. asks in your magazine how many of us would like Bing Crosby at 8:15 instead of 8. I certainly would, as I do not have the opportunity to listen in at the present time, as Amos 'n' Andy take up my attention at 8 o'clock.

B. A., Sausalito, Calif., Jan. 23

More Details Wanted

It seems to be the custom when writing to the Open Circuit to praise BROADCAST WEEKLY. Possibly this is done to insure publication of the letter. Whether or not this is necessary, I should like to say that I find, and have found for the past three years, BROADCAST WEEKLY an invaluable aid in getting greater enjoyment from my radio.

It seems also to be the custom, while still praising the magazine, often to make some suggestions for its improvement. The service rendered by your magazine would be vastly improved if you could give details on some of the more important programs. In running through some old Broadcasts I find that in many cases you list details of NBC-KGO programs. If you could make a strong effort to get the publicity department of NBC to supply you with these details on the more important NBC-KGO and NBC-KPO programs, you will have overcome the one great advantage newspaper radio columns now have over BROADCAST WEEKLY. Speakers and subjects on programs like the Sentinels of the Republic series are almost necessary, yet we do not find them. Compositions to be played on presentations like the New York Philharmonic Symphony program (CBS) also would be appreciated.

It may be argued that you haven't enough space to do this. Yet I notice that in recent issues you devote from five pages upwards in each number to station lists, time charts, etc., repeating them each week. Couldn't this space be more profitably devoted to program details, which is after all what we buy your publication for?

Won't you do something about this matter?

Yours for a better (if not bigger) BROADCAST WEEKLY.

Wm. R. McD., Sacramento, Calif., Jan. 25

Morons May Object

Have been a reader of BROADCAST WEEKLY for quite some time and it has saved me a lot of time in selecting programs. But it is getting to be very discouraging to me to look at the NBC, CBS and DL program lineups after 9 p. m. KGO, which used to be my favorite station, seems to have been conquered by an avalanche of jazz dance bands, which have replaced the dramas, Hill Billies, Nomads, Coquettes, etc. The sponsors must take the evening radio audience for morons and jazz hungry saps. The only solution to this problem, in my opinion, is for the lovers of intelligent entertainment to protest to NBC and CBS (unless they want the type of entertainment now in vogue), or to tune in on the Canadian and independent stations. The 15-minute CBS programs get very tiresome to me. Wouldn't a good half hour or hour program once or twice a week promote more good will than a few minutes every evening? Or do the sponsors think we have to be pounded at every night?

Thanking you, with best wishes, I am

Henry C., Aberdeen, Wash., Jan. 24

P. S.—Tell Dyal Turner to keep up his good work.

How About "The Reader's Guide"?

We have read Dyal Turner always since he started, sometimes with disagreement, oftener with approval. But his first comment in this issue, January 24, makes us say amen heartily. The more so because of the most recent glaring example of discourtesy on the part of the KGO national chain.

It would be bad enough to drop the Reader's Guide, even with an excuse, but there was not one word of explanation. We wrote about it to the station, and still a deep silence. Can you tell us what becomes of good programs when they are taken off? Likewise what the listener can do to get back what they want? If the program directors do not read the BROADCAST WEEKLY they ought to do so. So come on all you Joseph Henry Jackson fans and give them thunder till they put that feature back at the same or a better time.

Another thing—why does not KOA send you a complete program, all day and every day. You serve far enough east of the coast to make it a good idea for them to do so. I suppose we are right in thinking that is their fault? (Note: No, it's our fault.)

Yours for an all year round courtesy to listeners' time.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. M., Rudyard, Mont., Jan. 24

Sure, Come on In

May I come in? No answer so here goes.

Gee, they sure have it in for Walter Winchell, huh? Poor ole Walt. He gets the razzberries as well as the applause. The only reason I can figure out is that everybody's sore about him getting the news first. Everybody listens to him and then the "gossip" is second-handed. Of course he gets paid for that "gossip" and can't walk out on Mr. Lucky Strike during the program. Since you're not getting paid to listen (at least they haven't announced yet about their listeners receiving commissions) why not turn the dial.

I have my dislikes as well as my likes but I can't seem to help to like my dislikes by writing them out. Sometime, just for fun, take yourself all apart, pick out your faults, write them in a letter, and send it to yourself. See how much you appreciate it to receive such a complimentary letter.

KFRC is our favorite station but they have their faults as well as the rest of the stations. Usually keep tuned in though—just so we won't miss anything. Some people are funny that way.

The only advantage there is to the complaints sent in is that each complaint about a program or artist makes my determination as strong as possible to hear them. Sometimes it's a tip on something I didn't know about.

Have taken your little book for a long time and it's a wonder.

Will have to close now 'cause I'm getting thirsty. Will drink this glass of—water—(fooled you, didn't I?) to Walter Winchell and his "gossip."

Sincerely,

K. S., Sonoma, Calif., Jan. 19

P. S.—If this should by any chance be printed please do not print my full name. What a razzing I would get! Winchell's would be mild beside mine. Thanks.

Bing vs. Amos 'n' Andy

A letter in the January 24-30 issue of BROADCAST WEEKLY has inspired me to express my views with the hope that others may do the same.

Especially interesting in this issue was the article on the Happy-Go-Lucky gang. Their program is delightful.

But, as another writer has asked, what has happened to "Nocturne," with marvelous Ann Leaf at the organ, and the golden-voiced Ben Ally? I enjoyed that program more than any other, and it would mean a great deal to have it back.

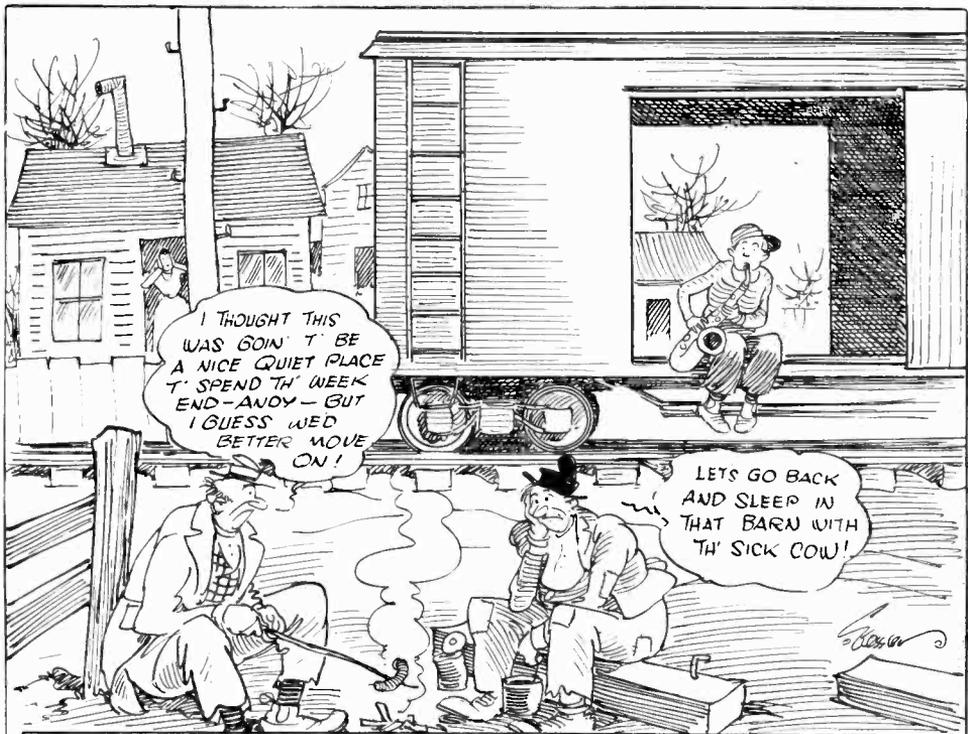

Also if Bing Crosby could sing at 8:15 instead of 8:00, it wouldn't conflict with Amos 'n' Andy, and I am sure there are many others who would agree with me.

I notice that B. A. Rolfe has returned to New York. I agree with him perfectly that slow, dreamy dance rhythms are preferred. If Lucky Strike would only cut out those testimonial letters, their hour would be perfect.

I was greatly interested in a bit about "Myrt and Marge" in Microphone Gossip. It would be fascinating to know more about them. Their program is delightful.

I'm looking forward with great interest to future issues.

HUBERT P VALLEE, OTHERWISE RUDY VALLEE, SLEPT IN A BOX CAR SOMETIMES TO ESCAPE HIS FATHER'S WRATH, CAUSED BY PLAYING THE SAXOPHONE, WHEN HE WAS A BOY IN WESTBROOK, MAINE

RUDY VALLEE

No single radio figure ever has quite aroused the storm of comment that has surrounded Rudy Vallée since he rocketed to national fame four years ago. To many he is the romantic vagabond lover, the most appealing voice on the air. Through oftentimes embarrassing adoration and frequent criticism, Vallée has plodded on, undiscouraged, to unequalled acclaim. He has become an idol at less than 30.

Five years ago he left Yale and his Westbrook, Maine, home for New York. His father was proprietor of the town's drug store and Rudy worked as an usher in the local movie house. He studied saxophone by means of a correspondence school course with Rudy Wiedoeft, still a master of this instrument. From Wiedoeft he borrowed his first name, for "Hubert" he was christened.

In January, 1928, he sang in a New York night club and, after making the rounds of the broadcasting studios, he finally landed a job with the Herbert Entertainers on WMCA at $25 a program.

His peculiar manner of singing, his intimate way of introducing his music, his moody, distant bearing attracted nation-wide attention.

Shortly, thereafter, the National Broadcasting Co. offered him an exclusive contract. Now he sings for Fleischmann and religiously eats yeast.

KOLB AND DILL, NBC

THIRTY-FOUR years ago, two young fellows jiggled side by side in the auditorium of an Ohio town hall. Between their songs and dances, they poked fun at each other in German dialect; the tall one denouncing the shorter one, and the shorter one coming right back with current gags of the day.

"We ought to do this professionally," the tall one told the little chap later, after the show.

"Well, why not?" Max Dill answered Clarence Kolb—and a theatrical partnership ranking with the most famous, was formed.

Today, as they are preparing to go on the air for the first time, presenting "The Dinglebenders" three night a week through the NBC-KPO network, under sponsorship of the Gilmore Oil Company, they call themselves the world's oldest active team.

Although they were both born in Cleveland, Ohio, and attended school there together, Kolb and Dill are altogether identified with the Pacific Coast in their own mind, and in the hearts of their audiences. Following their first appearance in vaudeville, they arrived in San Francisco in 1899 on a tour of the Orpheum circuit. Later, with their act "Together Side by Side," they went to Australia, and played theaters and music halls there for a year. When they returned, they decided to make California and the West Coast their permanent abiding place, and here they have stayed, save for departures to fill vaudeville engagements.

The West is traditionally loyal to its own performers, but few of these have so secure a hold upon the affections of audiences as have Clarence Kolb and Max Dill. The two comedians have built their productions in the West, for western audiences, for almost a whole generation.

Behind their system of producing their own shows, lies a story. In 1899, after they played the Orpheum theater here, in a bill which included Jesse Bartlett Davis, McKail and Daniels and other names now famous, the firm of Fisher and Redman contracted for their services. Two years later Fisher and Redman both retired, with $200,000 apiece, earned on Kolb and Dill productions.

When they returned from Australia, the two decided that if producers could make that much money, they'd better be their own producers. Sid Ackerman, manager of the Grand Opera House in San Francisco, lent them money and played them in his own theater. Four weeks later, the partners repaid the loan, with $5000 to boot for Ackerman.

"Stars are usually failures when they try to be their own managers," explains Kolb today. "But we decided it was better to be big frogs in a small puddle than to try to be big frogs in the larger theatrical field. The 'puddle' has grown, and we were lucky enough to grow with it, that's all!"

The partners have built their homes as well as their careers in the West. Kolb owns five acres of fruit orchards near Centerville, where he and his wife retire whenever theatrical engagements permit. One of the veteran comedian's hobbies is dogs and he is the owner of Humberstone Lord Jim, champion wire hair. Another is agriculture—he's as proud of the dried apricots he ships from his ranch as he is of Lord Jim—and still another is fine water-fowl—he raises swan and fancy ducks to swim on the lakes of his beautiful estate.

Dill's home is in Hollywood, where Mrs. Dill and two younger scions of the comedians dynasty were waiting with ears glued to the loudspeaker Tuesday night, February 2, when the rotund Max and the long, tall Clarence made their debut "together side by side."

"We never were even close to a microphone before," chuckles the jovial Dill as he talks about "The Dinglebenders."

"We're going back in this serial to the kind of plot folks used to love in the old days," muses Kolb. "There was a time in the theater, recently, when audiences wanted sophisticated entertainment, something a bit daring. We tried to meet the demand, because we've always felt it was up to us to give people what they want, not try to force our ideas upon them.

"But the tide has turned in the last year or so. Simplicity, kindness, wholesomeness, have come back into fashion, and 'The Dinglebenders' is going to contain all these three as well as a lot of fun for the youngsters!"
