Radio Contributes to NRA's Success

THE Divine Protector who has guided the destiny of this nation through so many perils in the past seems again to have come to its rescue at a decisive moment.

Only men divinely inspired and spiritually fortified would have dared attempt or could have accomplished what the "National Recovery Administration" has contributed to American confidence and economic rehabilitation during the past six months. Never before in world history has any nation conceived or attempted so stupendous and determined an attack on human misery and commercial maladjustment.

No one questions its necessity. Few take issue with either its fundamental soundness as an economic plan or its general feasibility as a practical measure. But, more important to its success than either of these is the loyalty and observance it can command as a rigid revolutionary code of business ethics. Nothing on earth can defeat it except deceit and dissent among the very people it is designed to benefit. It is the severest test of moral stamina and mass intelligence by which this country has ever been measured—a test that will, in truth, determine "whether this nation or any other nation, so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure."

In this as in previous great conflicts, there will be slackers, dissenters, deserters, "conscientious objectors," and profiteers. The present generation will not live to see the time when hypocrisy shall have completely vanished from business or proposals of co-operation and conciliation for the common good shall command unanimous support.

But, if we—the millions of us who do believe in coöperation, the golden rule, and patriotic service—if "we do our part," then the NRA plan, regardless of possible minor defects, will succeed even beyond the most sanguine expectations of its great champion, and this country and its people will thrive and prosper as never before in their history. And for each man the test is his own conscience.

NRA's success means much to radio. Augmented audience buying will encourage and justify sponsors in spending more money for new and better programs, and simultaneously inspire inventive genius to devise new means of increasing radio enjoyment. No group of commercial enterprises is contributing more effectively, more willingly, and more generously to the support of NRA than are the commercial broadcasting companies. In fact, the extent to which The President and his co-workers have relied upon radio, establishes the fact that the complete success of the plan would be greatly delayed and seriously handicapped without this spontaneous and gratuitous coöperation of these patriotic, public-spirited institutions.

Are you doing your part? Have you signed the pledge? Do you look for the red, white and blue emblem in the window before you make a purchase? You will see this symbol of allegiance in the window of your magazine's headquarters—BROADCAST WEEKLY proudly announces that it has lined up behind President Roosevelt. Representing so great a part of the purchasing power and commercial activity of the country, the radio audience and its allied enterprises are sufficient alone to make this great humanitarian project a success. Let's do it—now.

M·J·B DEMI-TASSE REVUE

SCORE another hit for the M. J. B. Demi-Tasse Revue!

And give it an extra heavy chalk mark, too.

The one and only Eddie Lambert has been "drafted" into the Demi-Tasse family.

At a staggering sum, the nationally famous comedian, whose particular style of Jewish dialect, outrageously elongated shoes and "preponderant" height of 4 feet 10 inches (in stocking feet), have brought him fame for many years, was signed by the coffee blenders.

Lambert, who has "grown up on the stage," has been engaged by the M.J.B. Coffee Company, according to Weston Settlemier, advertising manager, to act as master of ceremonies and in addition will have a couple of "spots" of his own on the program.

It is his first radio contract and he was skeptical of the broadcasting business at first, but now after rehearsals and his first program last Monday night, he's as enthusiastic about his new job as a baby with a new toy.

Theater audiences throughout America know Lambert as a past master at the art of being funny, and, even greater than that—original. His excruciatingly ridiculous shoes, something like four feet in length, unusual height, hairless head and inimitable style of comedy, has kept him on the top rung of the ladder of Fame for many years.

Patrons of the Keith-Orpheum circuit theaters have laughed till they cried at the half pint comedian. Whenever Eddie Lambert was billed the house was assured of a capacity attendance. He always brought in the customers and the cash wherever he played, and the vaudeville house managers always welcomed the appearance of the fun-maker at their theater, naturally.

Probably you will recall Lambert's act entitled "Little Chinderella," which he used with tremendous success for years on the vaudeville patrons throughout the country. He originated that act and gained much fame and large followings through it.

Since his vaudeville career, Lambert has starred for several seasons in the Greenwich Village Follies in New York, the Winter Garden Revue and the Nine O'clock Revue. The latter will be remembered by San Francisco theater-goers. It appeared at a local theater not so long ago.

Like so many other famous personalities of the theatrical world, Lambert has been prevailed upon by the talkies to lend his unusual talents. And to this end he has been busily engaged for the past few months. He has appeared in major rôles in a number of full length productions and has completed a series of comedy shorts, in which he is featured for M-G-M.

In fact, Lambert is not divorcing himself from the film capital during his broadcasting contract. He is continuing his activities before the movie cameras and studio "mikes," but is hopping up to the San Francisco studios of the National Broadcasting Company by airplane every Monday morning. He works the rehearsals for the Demi-Tasse Revue all day, puts on the program at night and on Tuesday, at the crack of dawn, is winging southward again to resume his duties before the cameras.

Lambert's style of presentation is different from the usual Jewish comic and that, coupled with his keen sense of what the public wants and his showmanship, are responsible for the success that he is today and has been for several decades.

He possesses a particularly good "radio voice" which carries unusually well. The listener needn't lose a word when Lambert is speaking. Unlike many dialect comedians, Lambert doesn't muffle a word that he utters. This, naturally, is to his advantage and serves to make him even more popular with his audiences.

Interesting is the manner in which Lambert made an audition for the M.J.B. Company, after he had been talked into going on radio. He was right in the midst of a talkie production at Hollywood and couldn't come up to San Francisco for the audition. He went to KFI's studios in Los Angeles, secured the assistance of the orchestra and a few other artists, built his act, rehearsed it, and then put on the finished product.

The audition was carried over land wires from KFI in the southern city to the NBC broadcasting plant in San Francisco, 500 miles away. There it was monitored, amplified and "piped" over to the Titan Recording Laboratories, a couple of miles away in San Francisco. Then the whole audition was cut in wax. For thirty minutes, while the audition went on, the recording apparatus faithfully took down a permanent record of everything that was said or played. Max Graf, one of the executives of the recording laboratories, claims that it was the first time that such a feat had been done for audition purposes.

In bringing Eddie Lambert to the Demi-Tasse fold, the M.J.B. Company is carrying out its policy of presenting the best and outstanding personalities in their respective line of endeavor. M.J.B. has "discovered" and built up to stardom in the radio world more microphone personalities than any other broadcast sponsor, during their four years or more on the air.

George Olsen and his equally famous wife, Ethel Shutta, were on the M.J.B. payroll way back when. They are national stars now. Phil Harris is another orchestra conductor whose rise in the entertainment realm was largely due to the coastwise radio broadcasts of the Demi-Tasse Revue programs, which served greatly to popularize him with the dialing audience. He is going big now in the East.

Donald Novis stepped from the Demi-Tasse Revue program to national fame and an income that rivals that of the President of the United States. Ditto Bing Crosby, another "local boy who made good in the big town" after "graduating" from the M.J.B. radio presentations.

John P. Medbury, nationally known as a humorist and contributor to newspapers and magazines, "went places" on the air after serving out his contract on the Demi-Tasse. And there are a number of others, who have been built up by M.J.B. for some big chain or eastern concern to grab.

Eddie Lambert, new to radio now, has a big future in store for him on the air, if he follows in the footsteps of his predecessors on the Demi-Tasse Revue.

In securing the services of this most unique comedian, the M. J. B. company is satisfied that it has reached another milestone in its forward path to better radio entertainment.

In the years that it has been presenting entertainment for the Western radio audience, the coffee blenders have maintained a strict policy to bring only the very best obtainable to represent them before the microphones.

Lambert, they feel, will become a sensation on the air after two or three broadcasts and his appearances looked forward to by the dialing public up and down the Pacific slope.

No artist or group of artists stays on an M. J. B. program until he or she becomes "stale." They are taken off the program while at the height of popularity with the dialers.

MICROPHONE GOSSIP

• • • Eugene Mancini, KYA romantic tenor, who has gained wide popularity as conductor of the weekly "Souvenirs of Italy" program heard from that station, has now been booked for a weekly half-hour song recital on Monday nights. Although only three of these "solo" broadcasts have so far gone out, fan mail already testifies that Mr. Mancini shows signs of becoming one of the station's greatest drawing cards.

• • • Two new compositions especially arranged by Vincent Sorey for his Columbia Gauchos were introduced on the air the other evening and were rewarded with a deluge of fan mail requesting their repetition. The numbers were "Uman," an exotic South American tribal dance song discovered by Sorey, and a new bolero entitled "Carmen-cita" written by Carmen Cortes.

• • • Jane Froman, the attractive young soprano, who alternates in a new Columbia series of broadcasts with Howard Marsh, tenor, always wanted to be a circus rider and jump through paper hoops. Marsh, in his boyhood years, longed to be a trapeze artist. Miss Froman claims her ambition to be a dashing bareback rider arose from the peculiar temperament of an antiquated Shetland pony she owned as a little girl. This animal, a native of Kansas City, had a peculiar shuffle that never developed faster than a walk, and finally died of sleeping sickness.

• • • Bert Lahr, the worried man of radio, will bring his comedy character to a program with George Olsen, sponsored by Royal Gelatin, beginning October 4.

• • • Donald Novis, NBC tenor, planned a long vacation at his home in California, but his fans decided otherwise. Instead of some six weeks on the West Coast, Novis will be lucky to get a fortnight in his home state. Theaters in St. Louis and Chicago have booked him for personal appearances en route from New York to Los Angeles.

• • • Helen Evans O'Neill, well known stage star who is enacting the rôle of Queen Elizabeth in KMTR's Monday night feature "English Clarinets" is the first and only woman commander of a chapter of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War. She is commander of the Atterbury Chapter in Washington, D. C.

Miss O'Neill comes by the distinction honestly, for she was enlisted in the U. S. Navy as a Yeomanette during the World War, and was wounded in action.

• • • Richard Holman, popular author-actor-director who has produced many of KYA's dramas and who is heard regularly in KYA's cub reporter skit, Milly and Billy, had his first crack at straight announcing the other day. Dick was elected to record for sound film on a news strip being made for the promotion of San Francisco's Harbor Day. Without previous experience, in this particular line, Dick did an excellent job of acquainting folks with facts about our harbor.

• • • Johnny Marvin, the lonesome singer of the air, corresponds with several thousand young folks in the United States—all of them under 18—whom he met when he was lecturing in public schools on the value of an education.

When he was headlining in vaudeville, he used to appear at various schools and urge the pupils to make certain that they got an education—something he didn't get until he was 26 and could afford to carry a valet with him, the valet being a former college professor who taught the Oklahoma youth his three r's. He hasn't made any lecture tours for five years, but each year he gets letters from several thousand of the lads who promised him they'd keep on in school until they graduated. The letters tell him they have made good their promises.

• • • An unusual letter arrived for Andre Kostelanetz, Columbia conductor, the other day. It was a fervent plea from a prisoner serving a life term in a near-by state institution. In simple, moving words this man told Kostelanetz of all that radio and music had meant to him during the limited periods he was allowed to hear it while serving his time. On several occasions he had heard Kostelanetz conduct his Columbia programs and, influenced by them, he wrote a number of song lyrics. In his letter he pleaded with Kostelanetz to set one of them to music. Providing the lyrics are suitable, Kostelanetz has already agreed to do so, and hopes the resultant collaboration will merit an early first performance on his "Andre Kostelanetz presents . . ." program.

• • • Eddie Peabody, "banjo boy" who leads NBC audiences down the Safeway to Happiness Wednesday nights, has always depended on his music for audience entertainment. He has the distinction of being probably the only single star of his kind who has never used a joke, a gag or a wisecrack in his stage lines or radio script.

• • • Louise Taber, who conducts the Golden Memories period on Sunday afternoons over KTAB, is the daughter of the late I. W. Taber, one of San Francisco's earliest photographers. She has hundreds of valuable manuscripts relating to the early history of California.

• • • Jack Parker, top tenor of the Men About Town, wrestles an hour a day, even in July, to keep in physical trim, and his mat opponents include Bert Lahr and Lee Sims. . . . So far the movies haven't shown James Melton a play he'd like to take part in, so no signee contract until. . . . Jane Froman, rising at dawn, vocalizes while she plays golf, with nobody to hear but her caddie and the birdies she hopes to make on every green. . . . Wilfred Glenn, basso of the Revelers, is dicking to sing the deep rôles in the proposed Gilbert and Sullivan revivals, his favorite pastime. . . . Frank Black finally arranged "Valencia" for the Revelers after losing the original arrangement, but he copied it note for note off their record of the song. . . .

• • • Though many bizarre ideas come out of the radio and broadcast industry, there are all the elements of genuine novelty and practicability in the announcement reaching BROADCAST WEEKLY that Freeman Lang, Hollywood sound-studio owner, has created a floating audition suite. . . . a sort of radio showboat. The craft will sail coastwise from San Diego to Seattle at stated intervals during the year, with stops at various ports of call. Station executives, agencies, and sponsors will all be invited to board the Deirdre at each harbor for a preview of Freeman Lang transcriptions. The seagoing audition salon will be fully equipped with panels, p. a. system turntables and other apparatus. A short-wave transmitter has already started being erected on the craft. The Deirdre was fashioned at the Fellows and Stewart shipyards in Wilmington, and is equipped with twin diesel engines. The power craft has a cruising radius of 2,000 miles; carries a power tender and two dinghies; and even includes a live bait tank with circulating water and a diver's outfit. The boat carries a crew of three, sleeps fourteen and has salon-deck accommodations for larger daytime groups.

• • • Charles Hart, NBC conductor, knows the batting averages of virtually every great baseball player of the last twenty years. He always reads the sports page first when he opens a newspaper, and he has an uncanny memory for names and scores in sports events of all kinds.

By J. CLARENCE MYERS

IT has been our lot to be assigned many pleasant stories to "cover" in the past decade, but the acme of them all was the all-star program over KYA the other night in connection with the official opening of BROADCAST WEEKLY's swanky new radio store in San Francisco and the subsequent supper party at the Bal Tabarin.

Rarely have we seen or heard such an array of NBC talent squeezed in on a half hour broadcast. Every contributor was a star.

The skit, cleverly penned by Ted Maxwell, was realistic and entertaining throughout. Each artist on the program was at his or her best that night and made a microphone delivery that they can well be proud of.

The climax, the decision to bring Jack and Ethel in "Roads to Hollywood," back on the air, was the surprise of the broadcast and must have been met with united approval of the folks listening in.

The broadcast moved swiftly and kept up that pace throughout. Not a lull in it, as one by one the NBC's stellar performers paraded before the microphone.

Bob Waldrop, one of the network's ace mikemen, took the rôle of master of ceremonies for the opening portion of the broadcast, later turning the job over to Bennie Walker, whose efficiency along that line is ultra.

One by one the stars arrived for the broadcast, first Clarence Hayes, Gail Taylor, Irving Kennedy, the Coquettes—Annette Hastings, Marjorie Primley and Imelda Montagne—Bennie Walker, Carlton Morse, Bobbe Deane, Ted Maxwell, Bernice Berwin, Johnny O'Brien.

Following the broadcast a delightful supper party was held at Frank Martinelli's grand café, the Bal Tabarin, with the radio stars who contributed to the program as honor guests.

When the patrons learned that so many celebrities were in their midst, they prevailed upon Kay Kyser, director of the "Bal" orchestra, to introduce some of them, which he did. And just to show that they were good sports, a number of the radio people sang for the café throng.

And a swell time was had by all!

* * *

May all your troubles be—

And congratulations, Helen and Bill. Hope your married happiness is never ending. "Big" Bill Andrews, chief of the NBC's announcing staff here, is a benedict. He and Helen Musselman, pretty blonde actress and singer of the network, were married last Monday at a noon wedding at the First Congregational Church in Alameda.

Seems they were both bitten by the love bug about three years ago. Miss Musselman made her début before a "mike" then on the "Memory Lane" program and Andrews was doing the announcing. They are two of the youngest members of the artist staff at the NBC. Because radio schedules interfered, the couple had to cut their honeymoon to three days.

* * *

A couple of production manager shifts have occurred at local stations in the past week.

Frank Galvin, formerly announcer and program m. c. for KTAB, has been moved into the production manager's chair at that station. And Bob Bence, KFRC mikeman, was named assistant production boss at KFRC, under Bill Wright.

* * *

Charles Hamp and Tom Mitchell, both of whom offer programs that are similar on the air, are fast friends. They went on a fishing expedition to the Carquinez Straits recently, but nary a finny creature did they land. 'Twas a good outing, though, they agreed, and they had plenty of time to talk over old times.

Al Pearce and his Gang, on a theatrical tour, played in Vancouver, B. C., August 22.

"The Old Timers" is a new broadcast feature at KTAB. It may be dialed Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, from 12:15 to 12:30 p. m. The contributing artists are Paul McNally, Eddie McNally and Buster Becker. Glenhall Taylor is producing it and Jack Hall is the announcer.

Hereabouts:

First Attempt

FOR the past two years I have been reading BROADCAST WEEKLY, and the opinions and comments of different readers in the Open Circuit. This is my first attempt to express my opinions, so may I have a place in your Open Circuit?

First, I want to say I don't know what I'd do without BROADCAST WEEKLY, both in the way of station programs and in information about the radio stars. Second, I think Tommy Harris is one of the best singers on the Coast, in his style, and all those who heard him sing "Cottage for Sale" on the "Carefree Carnival" will readily agree with me, I'm sure. Another thing, I wish Tim Ryan, comedian, would stick to comedy and leave the imitations of such stars as Al Jolson and Ted Lewis, etc. to Tommy Harris, who is wonderful at it.

I enjoy such programs as "One Man's Family," "Standard on Parade," "Carefree Carnival," "Al Pearce and His Gang," and I think "Personal Closeups" with Gypsy are very interesting; also enjoy Edna Fischer's piano interpretations very much. I should like to see some full-page photographs of the stars in your magazine soon again. Thank you, and I remain

Sincerely,

Mary E. P., Berkeley, Calif.

Meets Don Smith

JUST a few days ago something nice happened and as I feel that other radio fans would like to hear about it, here goes:

It was my pleasure to meet Don Smith, tenor, who has made a great name for himself and has shared honors with the great Madame Schumann-Heink. He is now being held over by popular demand in Seattle. Mr. Smith was very busy rehearsing for the next show, but he did take time off to talk to us, and I would like to say that he is one of the nicest persons I have ever met. He isn't all wrapped up in himself as some people of lesser importance are. I take my hat off to him for it. He has a very nice personality—need more be said?

It would please me very much to see a picture of him in the BROADCAST WEEKLY.

Speaking of BROADCAST WEEKLY, I feel as if the magazine is all mine—but don't we all? It is nice!

With best wishes to your big little book and to Don Smith,

Tressa A. M., Seattle, Wash.

Congratulates Authors and Sponsors

PERMIT me to express the great pleasure derived from my radio evening programs as published in your sprightly little magazine, which I would find it difficult to do without.

Particularly do I recommend "One Man's Family," "Standard on Parade," "Captain Don Wilkie," "English Coronets," "Symphony Under the Stars," "Death Valley Days," Paul Carson, Josef Hornik, Curtis Benton and the KGB classic and semi-classic midnight recordings. All these not necessarily in the order mentioned but to their versatility, instruction and pleasure accorded me. My congratulations and appreciation to their authors and sponsors.

Very truly yours,

Colton R., La Jolla, Calif.
