ETHER GLEANINGS

By J. CLARENCE MYERS

WE glided by the office's Tilly, the Toiler, who doubles in brass as the official watch dog for the skipper's sancto sanctorum t'other day and shocked him with the announcement that we had given birth to an idea. Busy as he was the Skipper (that's what we call the boss) took time out to listen, for these occasions are quite rare, indeed.

Well, sir, we reminded him as how Christmas was almost upon us and that everybody likes to get hold of a few extra nickels at that time and that the spirit of the Yuletide season lightened men's hearts and made them susceptible to less serious things in life. All of which led up to the fact that we wanted to run a limerick contest in this department.

To add to the fun our readers will get in adding the last line to the limerick, we're going to award one dollar each week from now until Christmas for the best line submitted to each week's limerick.

Well, the skipper didn't do what he usually does with our ideas. Said he'd let us put this one to work. And so here goes, gang! Fill in the last line of Limerick Number 1 and mail it to Ether Gleanings, Broadcast Weekly, San Francisco.

The folks in Honolulu and Manila were given the opportunity of listening in on the annual "Big Game" between California and Stanford, traditional gridiron rivals, last Saturday. The Associated Oil Company, which spent a small fortune to bring all the major contests to the sets of Western dialers, augmented their extensive sports program to the extent of short-waving the pork-hide classic to the other side of the world. While Pacific Coast listeners tuned in the game, beginning at 2 p. m., the audience of Station KGMB, in Honolulu, heard it at 11:15 a. m., and those who dialed it from Station KZRM at Manila did so at 5:45 a. m. Sunday morning.

Thirteen Don Lee-CBS stations in the West broadcast the Big Game, with KFRC the key station.

Incidentally, KFRC proved a mecca for football fans Saturday. The station was broadcasting the sport for approximately six hours, which included the transmission of two eastern games in the morning.

Uncle Sam's postoffice department at San Francisco has already started its "Do your Christmas mailing early" campaign over the air. KYA is broadcasting a special studio program which features a talk by the San Francisco postmaster.

A busy man this Scotty Mortland. In addition to his NBC program, he is now heard over KJBS thrice weekly—Mondays, Tuesdays and Saturdays—in an informal chat about everything. You can dial him Mondays and Fridays at 9:15 a. m. and Saturdays from 1:30 to 1:45 p. m. "Talkathons" is the name of his program.

* * *

One of the newer Don Lee chain events that is causing quite a bit of notice is Black Rhapsody, which is released 8:30 o'clock Sunday nights, originating at KHJ for the net. Earl Dancer's negro chorus of eighty-seven voices is the feature of the production, which is interspersed with dramatic interpolations from the typewriter of Jack Van Nostrand, continuity chief for the Don Lee net. He is the son of Superior Judge John J. Van Nostrand of San Francisco.

* * *

Golden voiced Irving Kennedy has returned to the Silhouettes program on the Sunday night NBC schedule.

* * *

They are featuring Lucille Kirtley now on that Sunday night "Wings of Song" bill on KPO at 10:30 o'clock.

* * *

Al Cormack, KFRC chief technician, was busier than a centipede on roller skates a few days ago gathering special radio equipment for the Byrd Antarctic expedition. Admiral Byrd cabled Cormack from Wellington, New Zealand, to get the additional apparatus for him and the San Francisco man had to scramble about at high speed to get it in time to ship it on a boat leaving the same day for the antipodes.

* * *

G. W. Payne, commercial manager of the entire NBC network, is a San Francisco visitor, looking the situation over and getting acquainted with this link of the chain. He visits Los Angeles next.

The Standard Symphony Series is going visiting. For the next few weeks we will hear the orchestras of various Pacific Coast cities on the Thursday night broadcast. On Thanksgiving night the Seattle Symphony under direction of Basil Cameron will be heard; December 7—Los Angeles Philharmonic under baton of Otto Klenperer; December 14—San Francisco Symphony with Issay Dobrowen waiving the stick. Last Thursday the Portland Symphony, under direction of Willem van Hoogstraten, was heard.

One might term Henry Hyde, radio's stargazer, one of the microphones hardy perennials. For seven years or more has been keeping his listeners posted on the activities of the heavenly bodies, telling us when Mars goes visiting, why the moon effects the tide, how many million years it would take to go to the sun, how comets get that way, ad infinitum. And now he's back on the air again after a vacation and may be dialed on KPO Sundays at 5:45 o'clock. In his present series, however, Mr. Hyde is discussing science in general and astronomical subjects in particular, but not exclusively as he always had heretofore.

"We're hopping around like a nudist in a cactus patch," writes Monroe Upton. Lord Bilgewater to you, in a letter from San Bernardino to this scrivener. He has reference to the tour being made by Al Pearce and his Gang throughout Southern California. They will terminate a week's engagement at San Diego this week. The eighteen performers of the gang, who are under contract to Fanchon and Marco, played seven performances in two days at San Bernardino, Upton writes. This in addition to their regular chain broadcast over the NBC every day.

Fred J. Hart, owner of KQW, turned over the facilities of his radio station to the San Jose police and United States Department of Justice agents to aid them in the solution of the recent atrocious Brooke Hart murder case. Thorough descriptions of the kidnaped youth, appeals from the parents and authorities, and news bulletins at regular intervals produces organ tones from piano strings. It was played by Robert C. Newell.

Broadcasts direct from the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House in New York for a number of this season's operas are scheduled to start some time late in December. The NBC plans to broadcast parts of the various operas from coast to coast, as it did at this time last year.

* * *

KMBC at Kansas City was given a nationwide welcome on the air with its new transmitter last Saturday when CBS stations throughout the country broadcast special tributes to it. The station was on the air forty-two hours without a break. KFRC released three one-half hour programs which emanated from there.

* * *

It's Nanette LaSalle now, if you please. The NBC newcomer changed her front name of Dolly to Nanette, because it sounded better on the air.

The OPEN CIRCUIT

This department is open to all. Send in your letters. Anonymous letters will not be published. Give full name and address.

ALTHOUGH I have been a reader for some time of your very fine little book BROADCAST WEEKLY, this is my first letter to you. However, I have decided to take advantage of your kind offer under the heading of "The Open Circuit" which reads as follows—This Department is open to all. Send in your letters.

Many of the letters sent in are interesting and constructive, while others are very unfair and childish. The ones to which I refer as unfair and childish are those that find fault with, and criticize artists, announcers and programs in general. When one feels the urge to send in letters of criticism with the names of artists given therein, it is well to remember that no one is forced to listen to an artist, also that the ability of an artist is, and always has been a matter of personal opinion. Radio is a free gift of entertainment for the public, and it seems to me that instead of taking time to write in letters of complaint, it would be a bigger and better idea to use the mentioned time in turning the dial to something more enjoyable to the listener, thereby refraining from unfairness and unkindness to those who devote their time and energy to the happiness and enjoyment of the public.

I trust that you will find space for this letter, as it is written in good faith by one who salutes all those on the air and also sends good wishes for the continued success of your magazine.

Mrs. C. D. C., Spokane, Wash.

MY HUSBAND and I wish to thank you for the weekly enjoyment we receive, when the BROADCAST WEEKLY arrives at our household. We have been enjoying it ever since we received a sample copy from a friend, where upon we subscribed for two years and in addition have already sent you our order for Christmas Gifts of the WEEKLY to be sent to our friends and I know they are going to enjoy it as much as we do ourselves.

Presuming that it will be in order to make note of our favorites at this time, I want to tell you and the cast of "Catherine the Great," that we appreciate them more than anything on the radio during the whole week. Friends laugh at us when we will not accept an invitation out on Wednesdays, not during the time they are on the air. I would rather miss a meal than miss "Catherine the Great," and dread the day when all good things have to come to the end.

The adventures of Sherlock Holmes was our next favorite and we hope to hear them on the air again soon.

Last night's broadcast of "One Man's Family" was extra good, although some of them have been rather dry and long drawn out, as if they were afraid they would give us a little too much show for that hour, which tends to make one turn the dial and thereby lose interest in the family.

I will be sorry for the day when we will not be able to tune in during different periods of the day for the ever interesting news items. We also enjoy the Baron and Ed Wynn, they are exceedingly interesting and amusing.

One of the various organ recitals my husband to sleep every night and I have to stay awake and turn off the radio, we enjoy their soothing harmony to the fullest and we are not elderly folks yet.

Al Pearce's new idea of failing to broadcast our favorites daily, is going to make this family find another dial for that hour, after being a listener for over four years, I feel as if they belong to me and though I have never seen them and do not wish too. I will miss them.

Thanking you again for the delights of your wee magazine.

MY BROADCAST WEEKLY reached me this morning. The BROADCAST WEEKLY always brings me much enjoyment.

In reading the Open Circuit page I discovered a letter by Arnold M., Mill Valley, in which he asks why we cannot have more band concerts by the U. S. Army and Navy and Marines, as we used to get, instead of jazz and blues singers, etc.

Hurrah! for Arnold M.

I wish we had more Arnold M.'s in our country. I, too, like good music—the kind that is elevating and inspiring. To me band music is the only music that makes you just sit back and rest and recall all sorts of events. It really gives one something about which to think.

Let us have some more good music.

Gertrude E. T., Lexington, Ore.

MICROPHONE GOSSIP

• • • Fred Shields' age, which has been estimated by radio listeners at from forty to fifty years, is actually thirty years. Shields, although a young man, is a seasoned radio executive and is an announcer and production man at KNX. Born in Kansas City, Missouri, Fred is married and has two young daughters. He recently was loaned by KNX to NBC for the announcing work on the Durante, Etting, Rubinoff hour when that show was produced in Hollywood. Shields was interested in the "little theatre movement" some years ago and then went to WDAF in Kansas City. His hobby is poetry and the heavier classics in literature, but his special hobby is collecting pay checks—a hobby he has developed into a fine art.

• • • One of Tony Cabooch's greatest thrills came when he received more than 12,000 letters after a single broadcast from a St. Louis station. The influx resulted when the Italian dialect comedian, now heard over WMAQ, read his poem, "Lindybergh 'a' Fly," commemorating Lindbergh's flight.

• • • Back in Norfolk, Va., Leah Ray, who sings with Phil Harris' NBC orchestra on the Northam Warren program, edited the school paper and averaged 94 in all her high school subjects.

• • • Jackie Archer, one of Al Pearce's star pianists, has two prides and joys in her life. First her three-year-old baby boy, and secondly her Bechstein piano.

• • • Harry McNaughton, Bottle to Phil Baker in the Armour program heard transcontinentally each Friday over an NBC network, was in the Pathé studio fire in New York City in 1929, when ten people were killed and twenty others injured.

Clad as Ben Hur, McNaughton was on the upper floor of the studio when the fire alarm was sounded. He reached the main floor just as a tremendous blast shook the building. In the ensuing darkness Harry groped toward an exit. He came upon a bewildered extra girl crying for help. Tucking her under his arm, he made his way safely to the street. The extra later found her way to stardom in the movies. She is Constance Cummings.

• • • Verna Felton of the National Players is the only NBC woman announcer in the West. It is her voice which ushers on and off the air Harold J. Burdick, whose "Do You Believe in Ghosts?" program is a feature of the NBC-KGO network.

Verna is the daughter of a well-known theatrical family, making her debut with her mother, Clara Allen, noted actress who is favorite in Canada. Verna has been on the stage since she was five years old, and is well known to stock and legitimate audiences all over the Pacific Coast, as well as those in the East, which saw her in Broadway productions with Leo Ditrichstein.

• • • Jack Joy, hard working musical director and production manager of KFWB, spends all his spare hours roaming around his huge home atop the Hollywoodland Hills. Joy, with his wife and three dogs, owns one of the biggest and roomiest homes in Hollywood. The front room or parlor alone is slightly over forty feet long, furnished in an intriguing Chinese mode.

• • • Tizzie Lish's recipe for Hallowe'en included hot dogs, with the insides removed, and the skins filled with air. As the guest punctured these with a fork the hostess said: Hallow-weenie, hallow-weenie"! Wasn't that duckie?

• • • Versatile and genial William H. Wright, KFRC's production manager, whom hundreds of radio artists affectionately call "Bill," whose air characterizations are eagerly awaited by a million listeners up and down the coast, finds a character after his own heart as Uncle Louie in his new program, "Pet Shop on the Air." Heard three nights a week over KFRC.

• • • During a single year at the University of Virginia, Vance Graham of KOA announcing staff won three medals in oratory, declamation and debate.

• • • "Sheriff" Loyal Underwood and his gang have returned from a tour of the "great southwest." The Sheriff toured Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, New Mexico and Arizona with his boys. The entire trip was made by auto bus. "We're glad to be back in California, and you can take it from me, after a tour through the deserts, the highways and the biways and the wide open spaces, southern California looks gur-r-rand!"

Sheriff Underwood and his boys, including Smoky, Ace, Hilo and Pete and Pewee, together with a couple of additional "originals" from the "wide open spaces," will soon be heard again on KNX.

• • • KMTR, Hollywood, announces the formation of a new network to be known as the California Broadcasting System. This system opened for commercial accounts November 20, and will encompass KMTR, Hollywood, KGER, Long Beach, and KREG, Santa Ana.

• • • Laryngitis, nemesis of microphone stars, probably won't bother members of the Byrd Expedition during their CBS broadcasts from Little America. The Antarctic announcer, Charles J. V. Murphy, points out that it is usually too cold to have a "cold" in those parts. Germs ordinarily don't exist in such sub-zero temperatures. So, Announcer Murphy expects only one husky voice—that of Mike, the Malamute dog.

• • • Harrison Holliway, KFRC Manager, and Al Cormack, KFRC engineer, with Paul Rickenbacher, KHJ Production Manager, made the trip and broadcast twice from the U. S. Navy's dirigible Macon during its recent flight to Los Angeles and return. Both broadcasts going over the coast to coast CBS chain.

• • • In a surprise move which shocked the radio industry, Naylor Rogers, vice-president and general manager of Hollywood's 25,000-watt station KNX, announced the resignation of Drury Lane, Program Director during the past three years. At the same time, Mr. Rogers appointed Van C. Newkirk, ex-network executive, to the position of Program Director and Production Manager. Rogers also elevated Edith Todesca, young Boston girl, to the position of Assistant Program Director. She is the only woman to hold such a position in independent radio circles.

Discussing his resignation after almost seven years of affiliation with KNX, Drury Lane expressed himself as desirous of continuing a singing career, abandoned several years ago when he completely lost his voice. His voice recovered, he now intends to buy a ranch within easy distance of Los Angeles. He and his wife, Doris Malloy, famous screen writer, will make their home on the ranch. Lane will study "selling" songs and improve the power of his voice, which has returned to normal after intensive study.

Lane has been signed as a staff singer by Mr. Rogers, who said:

"Drury Lane's last official act as Program Director was to sign Drury Lane, singer, for KNX, on contract."

• • • He plays the guitar, sings, does comedy characters, master of ceremonies a show and handles a big business—that's Al Pearce, head man of the Al Pearce Gang, and now he says he can cook, too. Lemon pies are his specialty, he claims.

It all came out when the Gang was playing in Bakersfield recently and some local baker was cleaning up on the show's publicity by baking lemon pies with Al's name on them and calling them Al Pearce pies.

Al said he could bake a better pie than that himself, and will shortly be put to the test at Mabel Todd's apartment, with various members of the Gang cheering him on. The comedians will be there in full force. They all love pies.

• • • Joe Penner first saw daylight in an unpronounceable town in Hungary and might have been there yet if his mother had not been a singer and had not come to Detroit for an engagement with an opera company there. Joe, starting to learn English at 9, was the delight of his classmates at school. He had various jobs, after leaving high school, including selling subscriptions and filing papers at the Ford offices. Was property man with a traveling variety show and managed to take over a comedian's part. After trouping the lower circuits he got a real chance in the road company of the Greenwich Village Follies. Then came the Public circuit of movie houses, two-reelers for Warner Brothers, experiences in various revues, and more vaudeville, as a big-timer. First radioed with Vallee, now has own program.

• • • In answer to a Healdsburg reader who queries us about the whereabouts of Jack Delaney and his band, formerly on KLL: The popular maestro is vacationing after appearing over the Oakland station for four consecutive years. He stepped down from the ether stage September 30. After a vacation he plans to organize a new band and will probably return to the air.

• • • When Jack Benny talks about Waukegan, Ill., in his NBC broadcasts he's not trying to kid the public. Waukegan was really his birthplace and he's proud of it.

• • • Travis Hale, member of the Three Cheers, has been appointed program director for the daily Al Pearce broadcasts. Hale has been in radio for over seven years. He began as a banjo and harmony team with E. J. Derry, Jr., in Kansas City, as a side issue to their regular work. Derry is also a member of the Three Cheers.

• • • Phil Harris, of whom Chicago thoroughly approves, has settled down there, as he proved recently when he ordered two of his polo ponies shipped there from the Coast.

• • • Moran and Mack, the two Irishmen who climbed the ladder of fame as black-face mimics, once flipped a coin to determine whether they would talk in a high or a low register. Mack won. The long, slow drawl known as Mack's voice, is natural for him. But Moran must drop his voice several tones to do his famous character rôle.

• • • Mary Novis of KMTR is a sister of Donald Novis.

Miss Novis is a popular soloist and is well known by both stage and radio audiences.

• • • Celebrities are everywhere these nights at the NBC studios. In one single evening, the following persons faced the microphone from New York. . . . John McCormack, Cyrena Van Gordon, Tom Mix, George Arliss, Irene Dunne, Ely Culbertson, H. L. Mencken, Warden Lewis E. Lawes, Charles Correll and Freeman Gosden. Others of note who visited the studios were Mrs. Arliss, Mrs. Culbertson, Owen D. Young and Paul Whiteman.

• • • Wayne (Waltz) King, now heard via CBS, made his radio debut six years ago; is a composer of popular songs, including "Goofus," and is an enthusiastic aviator. . . . Bing Crosby first introduced "When the Blue of the Night" as a theme song, and then "Echo in the Valley." Now he'll offer on unpublished tune called "Loveliness" as the theme of his new CBS series. . . . Moran and Mack are one of the few big-time comedy teams who do not require the services of a script writer. Charley Mack, himself, writes all their stuff. . . . Nino Martini, who was an expert horseman during his youthful days in Verona, Italy, had to elude a very worried groom in order to enjoy a brisk canter on a spirited horse in Central Park the other day.

• • • Andy Andrews, character singer with the Al Pearce Gang, has carried a silver dollar in his pocket for eight years. Sort of a good luck piece, he claims. He says he began carrying the dollar when working with a band in Denver, where he used it for a monologue in an English comedy song.

Other members of the troupe, however, say Andy has carried the dollar longer than he admits. With reference to an outstanding characteristic of the Scotch nature, they insist Andy still hangs onto the first dollar he ever earned. Andy just gives them that Glasgow smile.

• • • Charles Tazewell is a young man with a warm smile, but his associates sometimes wonder why. Charlie is a Columbia continuity writer who easily expresses himself with both pen and paint. His source of inspiration, however, seems to be less varied. Throughout the past season, Tazewell distinguished himself in preparing dramatizations of such famous horror stories as "The Mask of the Red Death" and "The Body Snatcher," and even went so far as to write an original radio play entitled "Death on Gowdy Street." Recently, when Mrs. Tazewell decided that a wall in their apartment should be decorated with an oil painting, Tazewell volunteered to paint a landscape. He used as a model a snapshot he had taken while visiting in Vermont last summer. It was a picture of one of his favorite summer haunts, an old country graveyard.

• • • Don Allen, announcer at KFWB, has been in the habit of standing on a street corner, each morning, waiting for a bus. Several times he was aware of a girl peeping out from behind a curtain on a corner house. Finally, one day, she came out with an autograph book and asked him to sign. When he finished she said, without looking at his signature, thank you Mr. Stuart. (Nick Stuart to you.) Don is still burning.

• • • Al. Pearce says the most enthusiastic audience he ever faced was composed of the prisoners on Alcatraz Island, where he took some of the members of his Gang for a show. The thousand or more army prisoners fairly rocked the island with laughter and applause. Alcatraz is the island in the San Francisco Bay which will soon be used for the most desperate and unruly Federal prisoners. It has been dubbed "Devil's Island" since the Government announced this change in its occupancy.

• • • When Richard Crooks was a boy soprano, his accompanist on several occasions was Les Weelans, announcer at KOA, Denver.

• • • Ernie Wehl's (KFWB) exceptional likeness to Harold Lloyd, screen comedian, gets him out of all sorts of jams. Latest bit of luck for the brilliant pianist happened the other evening while attending a theater. The manager rushed over, grabbed his hand and ushered him immediately to the best seats in the house—to Wehl's bewilderment!

SILHOUETTES

REAL music on a harmonica? Musicians scoff at the idea until they hear Johnny O'Brien of NBC. This tall boy, whose eyes have a woodland glint in them, performs almost impossible chromatic feats upon his modern equivalent of Pan's pipes. Johnny will attempt almost anything that an orchestra can play, and his programs have lifted harmonica playing out of the category of something anybody can do into a rare craftsmanship, all the finer because it is altogether self-taught.

One of Johnny's greatest admirers is James Hartley, known as "Harmonica Jim" on the vaudeville stage for many years, and now a harmonica authority who goes about the country teaching youngsters how to play his favorite instrument, in the interests of one of the largest harmonica-building companies in the nation.

"Your Johnny O'Brien is one of the greatest musicians in America," Hartley wrote a western radio editor not long ago. "He can do everything any other harmonica player can do, as well or better than most of the headliners. He would be a star on any radio chain anywhere and in any theatre."

It was Johnny's ability to play difficult classics of music on an ordinary harmonica which first attracted Hartley's attention, but small boys, who form a large and enthusiastic wing in his army of fans, are attracted by the irresistible swing of his melodies, the freedom with which he executes them and the color with which his personality invests almost any microphone or stage production. He is a member of Charlie Marshall's Mavericks, and a star on the Carefree Carnival, transcontinental broadcast heard Saturday nights, and he and Manuel Tapia, guitar player, comprise a unique duo in which their dissimilar instruments produce strangely harmonious effects.

Johnny was born in San Francisco twenty-nine years ago. He began playing the harmonica when he was as small as his youngest fan of today, but it did not occur to him until a few years ago that his dexterity with scales and chords might prove anything but an interesting hobby. Graduated from high school, Johnny was attending a business school when he happened to drop in at the old Orpheum theater one night. On the vaudeville program was a harmonica team which entertained the audience with their music and a bit of patter. Johnny decided that while they played well, he could play better, and with the youthful honesty that is part of his temperament, he made his way backstage and asked the team how he should go about becoming a vaudeville headliner.

His naive frankness carried him over the first hurdle of a tryout; his ability did the rest. That was in 1917, and not long afterward the NBC harmonica master found himself at the Warfield Theater, strangely at home in his new surroundings. Johnny has never suffered from stage fright; he knows his own ability, loves to play the harmonica, and regards an audience of several thousand with the same friendly unconcern that he did the troops of small boys who used to follow him into his father's grocery store on Bernal Heights, San Francisco, to hear him tootle on his first mouth organ. He brought that mouth organ with him as a mascot when he joined the NBC staff in 1929.

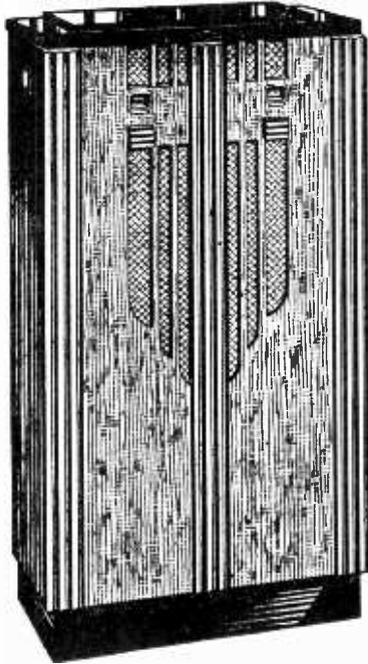

Notes and musical arrangements mean nothing to him. Throughout his theatrical career, which included Orpheum and Pantages tours, and an engagement in a production starring Olsen and Johnsen, Johnny played, as he still does, by ear. He buys his harmonicas by the gross, always carries his favorite type (one with a three-inch playing radius called the Marine Band) in his coat pocket, and uses up as many as a dozen in one program, if his numbers include "Poet and Peasant" or some of his other favorites. Boxing and swimming are his favorite physical diversions; he won the amateur boxing championship of the West Coast in 1921.

BERT LAHR, born in Yorkville section of New York, where once again the breweries and beer gardens are flowing merrily. By the time he was sixteen, he was looking for jobs in vaudeville, and for many years thereafter the grind was hard, what with minor road shows, small time varieties burlesque. In 1916 a show called "Boys and Girls of Avenue B" needed a comic, as a fellow named Jack Pearl had quit. Bert got the job, using the same German dialect, and it wasn't till after the war—which he spent scrubbing floor at a naval training station that he dropped the "Dutch" lingo. More trouping followed, until his opportunity in 1927, with "Hold Everything," and a year later "Flying High." These hits made him a big Broadway success. In radio he has been on the Magic Carpet program, on Chase and Sanborn with Rubinoff and now Royal Gelatin with George Olsen.

MARY ROSSETTI is the tall, willowy type who may wear a bulky fur coat without worrying about an unbecoming silhouette. Her eyes are blue and her hair is black. New York is her home state. Mary's earliest ambition was to be a motion picture actress. She concentrated her attention to the details necessary for such a career only to fall in love with musical comedy instead. Later, when she married, radio offered a means for keeping her professional interests alive and her home intact. Has a small son who receives much of her time.

THE RITZ — $87.50

A beautiful console radio — the very last word in beauty, style and smartness. Piano finish, modernistic cabinet with center panel and sides of striped walnut and pilasters of dark walnut.

Many have called this new Majestic the most beautiful—and the smartest—radio design ever created. Very modern, but not extreme. Very colorful, with its contrasting wood tones—rosewood, walnut, natural, and ebony—but a most restful, satisfying piece of furniture to live with.

The "Smart Set" of Radio

Majestic

THE LIDO — $103.50

Here is a radio that "belongs" in modern settings, or will add a welcome touch of originality to more usual environments. A new and refreshing note in design that gets away from the deadly-dull monotony of the ordinary radio. Five different tones of woods are employed—from natural to ebony.

Houses the famous Majestic superheterodyne chassis with the new "DUO-VALVE" tubes. These tubes are also self-shielded—molten metal fused directly on the glass effectively shutting out interference.
