WASHINGTON THIS WEEK

The Commission has terminated, without action, the proceeding to designate its algorithm as the official standard for calculating propagation predictions for FM and TV. The FCC expressed doubt that the proposed algorithm could be economically implemented on the type of personal computers typically used by consultants and applicants.

The FCC has upheld a Mass Media Bureau action allotting 100.7 A to Clearmore, OK, and 94.5 A to Locust Grove, OK, over the objection of KXOJ, Inc. and Fred Weinberg.

The application of Rahu Broadcasting, Inc. for renewal of its license to operate WGKR, 1310, Perry, FL, has been dismissed.

More FCC announcements of retirement, this week Raymond W. Seddon, Senior EBS Electronics Engineer, George Enuton, Assistant Chief of the FM branch, Audio Services Division, and Bill Meintell, Engineer in the Mass Media Bureau's Policy and Rules Division will leave the FCC.

WASHINGTON THIS WEEK

The FCC has upheld a decision by the Mass Media Bureau dismissing the application of Nicholasville Broadcasting Corporation for a new FM station on 102.5 MHz at Nicholasville, KY. The FCC originally returned the applications when it could not determine, which transmitter site Nicholasville intended to use. The site they listed on the application and as plotted on the geographic site map differed.

The Commission has denied the appeal of ALJ Frysiak's decision dismissing with prejudice the application of Morgan Hill FM, LP, for a New FM station on 96.1 MHz at Morgan Hill, CA.

On remand, the FCC has granted the application of Pepper Schultz for a new FM station at Sparks, NV and denied the competing application of Comstock Broadcasting, Inc.

M STREETRadio Annual Update

WASHINGTON THIS WEEK

As you can see from the length of this issue the FCC had a slow week radio wise. The announcements were full of telephone press releases, TV-translator news, changes to STL links, licenses to cover for LPTV, and just about every other service. Since it is a slow week there is space to let people who do not already know, that M Street carries all information released in the week prior to the publication date. The size of each weeks M Street will vary with the amount of information released by the FCC and by the number of researched and reported format changes. We mail M Street out just as soon as the previous weeks information can be compiled. If you have additional information on an item we carry, know of a format change, or if you need help with an item you see please give us a call.
