The Ear Inspires the Pen

Mrs. Francis J. Jung, 3228 West Adams Boulevard, Los Angeles 16, Calif.

Sirs: I would like to make a comment on "Lux Radio Theatre." I am in seventh heaven these past few weeks, with "Lux" temporarily broadcast at a listening hour. I have a small family, and it's impossible to tune in a program of that nature at, what is for most folks, dinner-time. Isn't there some way we folks with small children can plead for this program at its present leisurely hour permanently?

That's the penalty you pay for living in Los Angeles, Mrs. Jung. In the East, the folks ordinarily get "Lux" at 9 p.m. and it's only because the daylight saving time would have pushed the program to 5 p.m. locally, that CBS is transcribing it and playing it back at what, for us here on the West Coast, is a much better listening slot. Both CBS and NBC have had a policy against transcribing shows. In this case, it's a question of waxing the program for later coast release. Ever since ABC accepted Bing for a transcontinental program, lots of folks have been wishing CBS and NBC would break down and make things a little more convenient for fans. Letters like yours help to bring pressure, and who knows? Maybe some day . . .

Ernestyne Whitley, 1231 Celis Road, San Fernando, Calif.

Sirs: Just opened my May 25 Radio Life to a letter from an L.A. reader, panning our "Bing." No wonder this person didn't sign a name. It would probably wind up in justifiable homicide, for I fear he or she stands pretty much alone.

Maybe Crosby can't "sing," but whatever it is he does, we're all for it. I don't believe anyone other than a technician can tell whether a show is live or transcribed, without having been told by the announcer. Glad to see you boosting "Ladies Day." I had the pleasure of seeing the show and meeting the boys, and believe they are tops.

A bunch of stinkweed to a very important (he thinks) pageboy at CBS for his insulting treatment of an elderly lady unfamiliar with studio rules recently.

Irene C. Nelson, 1150 South Lake Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: "Radio Reader, Los Angeles," whose letter appears in your May 25 magazine, is apparently devoid of humor. . . . I am sorry I cannot find any excuse for your printing such an anonymous letter. Fortunately, a reputation such as Bing's is not lost through such letter writing or printing.

We thank you for your opinion. Miss Nelson. However, as a magazine which operates entirely on an "innocent bystander" basis, we have made it our policy to print every comment received, whether pro or con. Nearly every listener has an idea of his own, you know, and the right to express it is certainly a blessed privilege.

Ann McCollum, 3202 Dow Avenue, Redondo Beach, Calif.

Sirs: All right, Radio Life, how about giving Ben Morris a break for a change? Some of your readers act as if he had committed some terrible crime by taking Jack Webb's place on the "Pat Novak" show! Personally, I think he's doing a fine job, and I can't see what possible good your continued printing of those letters can do. I always say, if people can't say something nice, let them say nothing.

Incidentally, I recommend "Ladies Day" most highly to the unfortunates who do not yet listen! It's one of the most enjoyable programs on the air. Thanks too, for a fine magazine.

We agree. Ben Morris is doing a good job and deserves recognition for it. It wasn't easy to step in and take over as he did.

E. Bernard, 756 South Normandie Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif.

Sirs: My faith in human nature has been restored. J. H. Green has voiced my thoughts, with a request to bring Cliff Arquette back on the air. His quick wit, his clean humor was welcome every morning. The only advantage I can see in the present "Glamour Manor" program is that it gives me a perfect half hour to run the vacuum. Kenny Baker's voice is a gift that should have a proper setting . . . not the slapstick would-be comedy of the present Elbow Room.

Mrs. Rose D. Fox, 882 Riverside Drive, Chino, Calif.

Sirs: Truly, the ear does inspire the pen! Like many others, I feel a more or less mild irritation when a beautiful program is followed by a singing commercial extolling the glories of a certain laxative, but it doesn't bother me too much. . . . I can turn the dial.

But something I heard last Friday capped the climax. Sandwiched between "Light of the World" and "Life Can Be Beautiful" was a dramatized Chigger Bite, no less! Now I've heard everything.

GENTLE READERS

Every week the Ear Inspires the Pen Department seems to grow, both in size and in vigor of content. Sometimes those who have made bold to write frankly get approving letters from other readers; sometimes they rate a few brickbats. Here's our problem, Messrs. and Mesdames Anthony: we don't like to print anything unless the writer is willing to affix name and address to his comment. If you want us to withhold printing same, just say so and we'll oblige. Fair enough? Okay, let ear inspire pen (which also writes name and address of sender).

Mrs. Hannah R. Rice, 757 South Berendo Street, Los Angeles 5, Calif.

Sirs: I would like to know what became of Phil Baker on the "Take It or Leave It" show. I always enjoyed listening to him, also his accordion playing. His departure from the program came rather suddenly.

What became of Cass Daley? I think she is one of the best comedienne on the air, and she certainly had a large following when she was on the air last year on her own program, "Fitch Bandwagon." Sponsors, take notice.

Red Barber, whom you have been hearing on "Take It or Leave It" these last weeks, was substituting only temporarily for Phil Baker. But watch for a change in this program. Cass Daley has been off the air due to heavy picture commitments. Whether she will be back with another show soon has not been definitely determined. We miss her, too.

W. A. Wiley, 739 Junipero Avenue, Long Beach, Calif.

Sirs: We were disappointed when the Old Ranger's "Death Valley" stories went off the air, however we went along with it while Cassie and Bobby were still on the show. Now we don't tune in at all. We old-timers were much interested in "Death Valley Days," as our ancestors were among the 49'ers who came across that country. Enjoy your magazine very much.

W. P. Shepherd, End of Fair Oaks Avenue, Altadena, Calif.

Sirs: It is suggested that you publish an index giving the names and addresses of radio program sponsors. Such an index should give: Name of sponsor and address, title of program, station and time.

Such an index could be made a source of income to you, and it would be appreciated by your readers.

Thank you, Mr. Shepherd, for your suggestion, and how about it, readers?

Esther Orum, 11929 Venice Boulevard, Los Angeles 34, Calif.

Sirs: My girl friend and I listen regularly to "Johnny Modero," and like it very much.

Blanche E. Earle, Pasadena, Calif.

Sirs: You receive so many compliments on your good little publication, you surely will not mind a bit of constructive criticism.

Radio Life is my source of information for schedules, as I give away daily newspapers as soon as read. Several times I have found programs changed and been unable to locate them. Recently, I was anxious to hear the Atwater Kent Award Program, listed for 6 p.m. on KECA, and it had been changed to 6:30. Of course I realize programs are frequently changed without notice, which is entirely beyond your control.

But every Tuesday or Wednesday I buy two Radio Life magazines which lie around until Sunday, when the former ones have expired. There is probably good reason for printing the magazine so far in advance, but it allows several more days for changes to be un-recorded.

Your kindly-put suggestion was very welcome, Miss Earle, and we do wish ourselves, that we could cover such changes right up to the very last moment. However, our magazine has a large out-of-town circulation as well, and it is necessary to print at least several days ahead in order to accommodate the folks who would otherwise receive our information too late through the mail. We do try to maintain the highest degree of accuracy possible, but sometimes, as you say, changes go into effect too late for correction.

Ruth Preston, 503 Sixteenth Street, Santa Monica, Calif.

Sirs: I would like to know what happened to Roy Rogers' program on NBC Saturdays? Is he off for the summer, or for good? I hope just for the summer. I see all of his pictures and like him and Dale Evans very much.

Roy recently left the air when his sponsor decided to trim the radio budget. Perhaps he'll be back in not too long a while for someone else.

C. E. Motter, 724 1/2 Edgeware Road, Los Angeles 26, Calif.

Sirs: You ask our preference of radio programs now on the air, rather than so much criticism of radio generally. So, let me say that I prefer comedies, especially where they do not turn us against their products with silly long-drawn-out and repetitious commercials, such as the ads for Pall Mall Cigarettes. I also like Galen Drake, Art Baker, Burritt Wheeler, etc., for their condemnation of degeneration, race hatred and prejudice.

I would like to hear, too, a symposium on the Brotherhood of Man, with all races represented dramatically, and believe that such a program could do good even in anarchist, lawless, mob-ruled neighborhoods.

Mrs. Joe Blackstone, 317 1/2 West 60th St., Los Angeles 3, Calif.

Sirs: Like others I have my pet peeves. Mine is about "Dr. Christian" and "Gildersleeve" conflicting, and about the Big Three and other good shows crowding each other on Wednesday nights. We have an impressionable youngster of four at our home, so mysteries are out for us, regardless!

As far as commercials go, I never have heard enough of Jack Benny's quartet, even when I listen to both shows. I certainly like it. Also, for the wonderful programs we wouldn't have without them, I think we should tolerate commercials.

Yes, if "Point Sublime" could only return to the air! I thought my little boy would never forgive them when Arquette and Captain Billy went off, but Kenny Baker is good and especially with children listening.

How about a story of Fred Waring with pictures of the whole outfit, especially of "Lumpy Brown." And who is Johnny Oleson's "Bumby"?

Radio Life has been taking a stand against conflicting programs for many years. We especially deplore conflicts of similar type shows and when they carry the same listener appeal to a similar potential buying audience, we think the sponsors are doing an injustice not only to the listeners but to themselves. Incidentally, Johnny Oleson's "Bumby" is supposed to be a hush-hush identity.

Alvina Chamberlain, 1133 South Eiden, Los Angeles 6, Calif.

Sirs: Noticed in Radio Life a couple of times recently that "Scramby Amby" would be back on the air, KHJ, 4:30 p.m. Saturday. I was overjoyed to think it was coming back, but could never get it. Has it been changed? Would you tell us what happened?

"Scramby Amby" was given a last-minute shuffle by Mutual before it had begun. Likewise, we were not notified properly of the change until several stories and references to the show had already been released.

DRAMA WITH A FRENCH, ITALIAN, Spanish or English accent. "Nothing to it," assures lovely Helen, who masters them all

An expert with dialects, Helen speaks three other languages as fluently as English . . . French, Italian and Spanish. Her mother, who also holds a degree as a Doctor of Philosophy, was formerly a language professor for seven years at Columbia University, and has tutored both Helen and her older brother, Robert, from the time they were children. In addition, Helen made several trips to the continent as a youngster, visiting friends and relatives in Italy, France, England and Spain. This extraordinary background in language is apparent in a sort of smooth polish of speech and manner rarely found even in grown-ups. Perhaps it is part-explanation too, why Helen seems so much more adult than her years.

Happy Home

Her family life is unusually harmonious and happy. Her brother, Robert, who will be married July 20, is now a teacher at Roosevelt High School in Los Angeles, having spent three years at Columbia and final degree training at U.S.C. Helen's father, who sang with the Philadelphia opera company before the war, is now with I. Magnin as one of the coast's foremost fashion designers. The Ciancaglinis (Helen's real name is Elena Ciancaglini) live in an ambling four-bedroom stucco in Burbank, just a few turns from former Lockheed Air Terminal. Altogether, the family has been quite active in the arts from the time that Helen was six years old, the protegee of Theodora Irvine, and playing her initial role as "Cosette" in "Les Miserables."

It was Dimitri Ostrov, notable New York casting director, who first spotted Helen thereafter, in such Juvenile Actors' productions as "Quality Street", "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," and "Anne of Green Gables", and wisely concluded that she was good acting material for Arthur Hammerstein's "One Flight Down." From her major portrayal of "Betty," Helen merited enough rave notices to land her firmly in New York radio.

At this time, as well, she was acting in foreign languages, with the Italian Theater of Art Company, headed by internationally famous Giuseppe Sterni. Franz Werfel's moving "Song of Bernadette" was then in the hands of Hollywood's casting directors. As one of the leading possibilities for "Bernadette," Helen was "imported" to the West Coast. At final judging, however, she was considered too young for the part (she was then fourteen). The family had moved west too, so they all decided to stay, and for the next few years Helen concerned herself with graduation from Burbank High School, in the class of '43.

She had enrolled in her first se-

Percolating Mentality, and That Fabulous Source of Energy, Keep Spunky Helen Gerald Moving as Fast as Her Saddle Shoes Can Go

By Judy Maguire

IT WAS a sloshy afternoon when radio bobby-soxer Helen Gerald bustled in to see us. In saddle shoes, bright green sweater, gray chalk stripe coat and flapping head scarf, she didn't look an inch like the upsweep pictures we'd seen of her before.

Nor did she talk like them. Whisk went the bandana. Swoosh went her fingers through her hair. "If I'm mussed, you understand," she explained matter-of-factly. "It isn't a bit nice out." Within a space of about two minutes more we also learned that: she'd had a colossal day at U.S.C., she hadn't seen us for such a long time, she loved the way we wore our hair, our new offices were beautiful, and she'd like to go somewhere and have a cup of coffee.

A perpetual enthusiast, Helen nonetheless thinks as fast as she talks. Her eyes literally crackle with intelligence and vitality, and she uses her smile as an ingratiating punctuation mark for every busy sentence. Scarcely twenty-one, so far she has successfully combined a college drama major and psychology minor with microphone work on nearly every major dramatic show, and noteworthy emoting in ten motion pictures.

Men of Music--

No. 41 of a Series

The Sportsmen

THE Sportsmen are back from their first taste of vaudeville. Away to Chicago had gone the quartet with ol' Massah Benny's show for a week of breaking attendance and box office records at the Chicago Theater. After making their mark there, the boys and those lively, corny, great arrangements of theirs were taken by Benny to the Roxy, in New York. Here the troupe toppled the all-time high daily record of theater attendance.

However, the Sportsmen's enthusiasm for stage work holds no treason to the radio medium that supplied them with more than forty different shows on which they've worked.

Attempting to snatch their enthusiastic quotes from the air and tag them on the proper speakers when the boys are wound up is like pinning down leaves skittering in the face of a strong wind. But the en masse consensus was: "Doing that vaudeville with Benny, Rochester and the gang gave us a new perspective on ourselves we would never have experienced otherwise. Periodically everyone in radio should take a flier at this sort of thing . . . make it part of their career. We enjoyed actually having a chance to see what reaction we were getting, and what went over best with audiences. We found that people want us to be funny. Our novelty tunes 'Sipping Cider Through a Straw', 'Brazen Little Raisin' or 'Wyoming' wow 'em. They were milder about our straight pop tunes."

They Applaud Vaudeville From On Stage and Off, Call It "Good Training", and Helped to Shatter Attendance Records With Their Own Funny Acts

By Jane Pelgram

It's easy to combine their quotes on a subject in which they are so completely in accord, but impossible to think of this slick working unit who heckled Jack Benny so successfully through the past year, as anything but four. Each possesses a vibrant, outstanding personality all his own.

Talkative One

Bill Days is referred to as the top tenor, and he's the boy who is the business manager within the group. Bill claims to spend most of his time on the telephone, and this probably accounts for the fact that he talks more than the rest of the boys.

Max Smith, second tenor, is the quiet one of the group when they aren't warbling, and augments his musical duties by being secretary-treasurer of the group. Max keeps tab on the bills and signs the checks. It was he, too, who kept a complete day-by-day log of the boys' eastern junket.

Marty Sperzel, baritone, manages their business office hidden away in the Otto K. Olesen Building in Hollywood, and can be depended on to line up the quartet when duty calls.

The member supplying the bass voice is Gurney Bell. In the role of librarian he keeps his finger on musical matters, and he's also the guy who usually starts the nonsense among the group. The foursome love to clown, and kid each other continuously and unmercifully. Some of their best arrangements grow out of this kidding around, and in order to keep up the spontaneity only short rehearsals are held.

Two Arrangers

John Rarig, onetime singer with the group, is first arranger, Jeff Alexander the other, and the Sportsmen's lively ideas keep these two hopping.

The present group began working together in 1943, and you've since heard them on a galaxy of shows that included the Benny show, Ginny Simms show, Judy Canova and Eddie Cantor hours and Jack Haley's show. Incorporated into an organization, they keep a regular business

That's What Peggy Lee Calls the "Summer Electric Hour" with Woody Herman and Hubby Dave Barbour

Sundays, 12:30 p.m.
CBS-KNX-KSDJ

PEGGY LEE, Woody Herman and Dave Barbour together on one program sounds like a disc jockey's dream. But this time the dream is real—the talented young trio takes over the "Summer Electric Hour" for what should be a high spot in anybody's summer vacation.

All graduates of the name band business, the threesome has never worked together before, but each admires the other's talents. "We're crazy about that Woody," said the moonbeam blonde, Peggy, speaking for herself and husband Dave. "In fact, I was a Herman fan before I ever got out of North Dakota. I used to listen to Woody on a program that came from Hollywood, before he was famous." Back in Jamestown, North Dakota, Peggy never imagined she'd be starring on her own program from Hollywood with this same Herman. Or that her future husband and present co-star would be Dave Barbour, who played a torrid guitar on many of the records she spun while she dreamed of being a famous singer.

When Peggy joined the great Benny Goodman band as featured vocalist, this same Barbour was contributing his guitar in the rhythm section. Partnership of Lee and Barbour which resulted in matrimony has also given the world of popular music such hit numbers as "You Was Right, Baby," "What More Can a Woman Do?," "I Don't Know Enough About You," "If I Had a Chance With You," "It's a Good Day" and "Everything Is Movin' Too Fast"—all numbers that deserve an encore on their summer show.

Hit Tunes

The third member of the trio, Woodrow Wilson Herman, who made his professional debut as "The Boy Wonder of the Clarinet," is best known as the bandleader who gave the record fans such prize items as "Fan It", "Golden Wedding", "Blues on Parade," "Caldonia," and many other numbers you just try and get.

Starting out with the bands of Gus Arnheim, Harry Sosnik and Isham Jones, Woody became known as a good man on a clarinet and later as the leader of "The Band That Plays the Blues". Recently having disbanded his musical crew, Woody was heard for a while as a disc jockey (and a good one) on station KLAC. Now that he's going in for the vocals and emceeing of the summer program, fans who remember his fast chirping on his own records hope he'll repeat some of their favorites.

"This is what I call a happy arrangement," beamed Peggy, speaking of the show. "I think Woody's wonderful and I love working with my husband. And I'd say that even if he wasn't my husband!" she laughed.

A show for youth, the young people presenting it are starting off with musical reputations and standards high. Guests will be drawn from the younger ranks of the celebrity lists—Diana Lynn and Donald O'Connor will be the first two. Popular music in a variety of aspects will be dished out, and there'll be a dash, to quote Peggy, "of humorous blues and an occasional 'artistic number'."

LIKE MOST MUSICIANS and singers, Peggy and Dave relax at home with music and song—voilà, such hits as "It's a Good Day" and "I Don't Know Enough About You."

"Peter Carver," her husband, is handsome, romantic, wealthy, important, social and successful (and, as played by Ned Wever, the possessor of a thrilling speaking voice). And though "Lora's" happiness has been threatened lately by "Harley Lawton," her first husband; "Gale MacDonald," her nasty little sister-in-law; "Princess Erica Van Kuyper," an unscrupulous American girl with a phony

Blond, blue-eyed Jan Miner, who plays "Lora" with great understanding and an occasional heart-tug, did her own share of triumphing over obstacles in order to make acting her career.

Lack of confidence and the fear that she wasn't beautiful enough to make good as an actress were Jan's particular obstacles, and ask any unsure-of-herself adolescent if those doubts can't loom as large as the moon at times. RADIO IN REVIEW

NEWS and COMMENT

For Love o' Mike (General Comment)

Cinders in the 'Private Eye'

There seems to be a blueprint for success on the air this season—just get yourself a show about a "private eye". We've decided to take the easy road to radio riches and fame by creating one of our own. After a quick listen to a couple of hundred detective stories in the last few weeks, it was easy. Anybody can do it—and most everybody has.

Our private eye will be called "William Casey". He has a secretary, "Millie", who has a sort of joyless affection for him. She never tells him so, but she keeps worrying about his safety—thus tipping her mitt, as they say. He merely states from time to time that he admires her work, a statement which merely gives "Millie" a case of the sulks.

"Casey" also has a pal, and here we've run into a little difficulty. We can't decide whether to make "Pal" intelligent and drunk or dumb and sober. Hmmmm, maybe we'll make him all four.

Each week our detective will get involved with a different femme fatale. This creature will be almost censorable—but not quite. She'll be mixed up with one or more of the shady characters in the script, but at the denouement of each story she will be revealed as (a) the real murderer, or (b) an innocent victim of circumstances, "shielding the man she loves". In this latter case, she will, of course, commit suicide.

By dint of careful study of many current scripts, we've decided to break our story down to six basic scenes. One: we meet all the characters and one is found dead under mysterious circumstances a couple of seconds after talking to "Casey" about a case. Two: "Casey" discovers a clue. Three: he discovers another clue, contradicting the first one. Four: he is involved in terrible trouble and comes close to death. Five: he discovers that the first clue leads to the real murderer—the second was just to throw him off the track—and he traps the killer. Six: he explains to the audience what happened.

Now all this sounds pretty bald—but we're going to fix that. Our detective isn't going to talk just like any guy. He's going to sound poetic and picturesque—even if we have to make up new words to do it.

He will never say, "Some guy hit me on the head and knocked me out." Heavens, how would anybody know he was a detective? Instead he will say, "A gorilla loomed up as large as the Empire State before my gin-soaked eyes. I felt the smash of lead flattening my skull like a squashed bug . . . it made a sound like a rotten cantaloupe being dropped on a wet cement floor. I felt as if the inside of my head had splintered like a plate

DON'T BE A MissDit*

NEXT WEEK

How does an actor get in the mood to portray a "private eye" on the air? Next week we take you on a sleuthing jaunt with Van Heflin, who's playing "Philip Marlowe" for the summer. Van rode a police prowler car, studied the spectrograph, checked the polarograph—oh, well, you just get next week's Radio Life and learn all about it.

Bet you're dying to know more about the clever little actor who says, "Yes, Poopsie dear" on the Dennis Day show and enacts the role of Mr. Milquetoast on many more airshows. The low-down's in next week's Radio Life in the story, "Dinky Dink."

Swooping again is "Hawk Larabee"—cowboy hero who's fast on the trigger and slow-drawly on the humor. Meet him in next week's issue.

Whaddya know! There's a gal so busy helping "Bride and Groom" couples march to the altar that she scarcely has time for romance herself. But for you intrigued males, we'll tell you how to reach "Miss Cupid" in next week's Radio Life.

One way to learn your way around a kilocycle is in a school room, and next week Radio Life presents the first of a series on "Readin', Ritin', 'n' Radio"—in this instance, L. A. City College's courses. U. S. C.'s will follow soon.

Hugh Brundage is our Mike-mom of the week and singer Johnny Desmond, discovered while an entertaining G.I., is profiled in the music department.

*She wanted to read it, but she missed it!

glass window. Smoke closed in on me until everything went as black as a curtain of watermelon seeds and as cold as an Eskimo's Christmas Eve." See?

We can hardly wait till we get to the part of the script where our "Casey" describes the weekly femme fatale to the listeners. He won't merely state that she was a "beautiful girl with a low speaking voice". Anybody could say that. It takes a private eye to say, "She looked like Ravel's 'Bolero' come to life. Her amber cat's eyes gave me a glance like the noise of wind in high tension wires. When she spoke, her voice reminded me of the sound you make by dropping heavy stones into deep, still water."

We read part of our idea to a radio-listening friend. It was a mistake. "Stop!" she cried. "If I hear one more of those guys, my ears are going to flatten out and droop over like the leaves of an old rubber plant in a hot room."

And all over the country we could hear the noise of radios turning off with the metallic click of peas being shelled into a new aluminum saucepan.

Voices on Vine Street

"Of course it's a new gag—it's only been used a couple of times before." . . . "They tried to call me for the part, but I was out of town." . . . You'll discover a music treat when you tune KECA any Monday, Wednesday or Friday afternoon at 1:30, beginning July 14th, for "Discoveries by Duchin". Well-known man of music Eddy Duchin will present an all-instrumental group with guest singers, under sponsorship of Kreml Hair Tonic and Shampoo. Following as it does the hour-long Paul Whiteman Club, the Duchin series promises to rate in the "high-Hoopers" from the start.

Also new this week is the "Lights Out" series which takes over the Henry Morgan spot on your ABC-KECA dial Wednesday nights at 9:30. The long-time thriller, starring Boris Karloff, the bare mention of whose name is enough to send chills down the spines of all mystery fans, will be heard from July 16 thru Sept. 3 for Eversharp, Inc.

ABC's popular "Treasury Agent" series moves into the 7:30 Monday night spot vacated by "The New Adventures of Sherlock Holmes"... and "Retribution", favorite psychological dramas, written and produced by Dwight Hauser, will be heard at 9 p.m. Tuesdays over KECA-ABC... Have you heard veteran newsman Graeme Fletcher, now occupying KECA's air Monday thru Friday mornings at 7:30? Fletcher, a native of South Carolina, studied journalism at William and Mary College, worked as a reporter on several southern newspapers and lectured on journalism and political science in leading southwestern universities. After five years in the U.S. Marines, which included taking part in the famous Nicaraguan campaign, Fletcher turned to radio and during the last 14 years has worked more than 16,000 news programs.

Of all the audience participation shows, one which keeps contestants on their mental toes as well as requiring physical skill in throwing darts is "Darts for Dough", heard every Sunday afternoon on ABC-KECA at 2 o'clock. Fun for the studio audience and home listeners as well, here's lovely Jane Adams, Universal starlet, who is assistant "dartmaster".

Jane Adams

Speaking of audiences, ABC's Sunday "Lassie Show", headlining the famous dog star, is a favorite with Hollywood visitors and stars as well. Almost any Sunday morning some of the brightest stars of screen and radio, with their "small-fry", are to be seen in the audience... Vacationers at famous resorts like to keep up with their favorite radio programs... One resort proprietor in Michigan wrote a typical letter to a network executive stating, "I've had several inquiries from families who'll visit my place this summer as to whether 'The Greatest Story Ever Told' can be heard in this area. I gave them the name of the nearest ABC station, and might add that I think it's a wonderful compliment for your program."

... Always a Good Show on 790 ...

AROUND RADIO: There's a new leading man in "The Sheriff" series... Bob Roberts, former announcer at KYW, Philadelphia, has been signed to replace Bob Haag in the role of Mark Chase... "The Sheriff" is heard on KECA at 6:30 p.m. Fridays... Ralph Waldo Emerson, organist on the "Lum 'n Abner" program (KECA, 8 p.m. Monday thru Thursday) recently installed a horse-shoe pitching course at his Valley home... First the milkman, then the laundryman, and later the mailman, joined Emerson in the game... Now Emerson claims he has the only civil servicemen's league in the Valley!... Now fans all over the nation have a chance to win one of Tom Breneman's famous wishing rings... Those wishing to enter wishes in the contest should write them on postcards addressed to Tom Breneman, Breakfast in Hollywood, California.

Radio in Review

Sunday, 4 p. m.) is out on the loose!

"People are more fun than anybody" on this copyrighted new radio brain-tempest, starring "The Off-Guard Conversation". On one single broadcast, the microphone traveled to the cigar counter of a hotel lobby and watched a man wonder whether he'd dropped a new $10 bill... snuck up on an electrician while he unperturbedly helped ABC's reporter figure costs on a home-model electric chair... hung around the waiting room of a doctor's office as two expectant fathers compared their wives' constitutions... hid (undetected) under the chair of a "private eye"... recorded merrily away when the program's sleuth accosted and argued with a man about his mustache.

Permission to use incidents is procured from the individuals, so this outrageous new view of life as she is lived is legal. Occasionally there's need for erasing (the man got noisily bothered about his mustache) and a pleasant voice interrupts "Censored, Censored, Censored." But most of these words-unawares are delightfully entertaining... radio's own March of Time, with no cramped style on subjects!

The dozen or so radio reporters who travel about the five New York boroughs gathering "material" for the show remain anonymous. Studio narration is Lamont Johnson's and Dorian St. George announces. The whole unusual series is an original Alan A. Funt production.

We've always believed that the flavor of real people talking real talk is something that no actor could possibly approximate. When these same "real people" set up before a mike, however, they usually turn into Mr. and Mrs. Joe Doakes, unable to project anything but a self-conscious murmuring of their name, age and occupation.

At last, real life conversations are brought onto the air intact. You may feel a slight twinge of conscience about the propriety of eavesdropping, but the sound of private conversation plucked from the office, street or coffee shop also gives you a strange feeling of omniscience and somehow turns out to be oddly moving.

"Fiesta"

We've heard tell that "Fiesta", KNX at 8 p. m. on Fridays, is one of CBS's most popular audience shows because it's "so much fun to watch." Happily, a good deal of this spirit comes through to the listeners. The name "Fiesta" is no misnomer. The cast of singers and musicians contrives to make the show sound like a gay party.

Star of the show is the explosive Latin from Manhattan, Olga San Juan, whose bombastic vocals may lack the subtlety of a Carmen Miranda's, but whose showmanship and enthusiasm key the tempo of the half hour. Olga specializes in those bingo-bango South American songs whose lyrics seem to be made up chiefly of sounds like "chi-chi-chi-chi-bim-bim-boom" with an occasional yelp and a "dr-r-r-r-rrr!" thrown in for good measure.

Olga also carries much of the dialogue that aids in tying the musical numbers together. Usually the slight plot-thread in the show is concerned with a slight mixup between romantic baritone Bob Graham as the "Americano" and Harry Bartell as "Pancho", a south-of-the-border comic, vying for Olga's attention.

"Pancho's" comedy is in the familiar "you know my seester's neck—well she's in the reever up to eet" vein. (The voice rising on the last word in each sentence.) Naturally, Bob wins these romantic squabbles in a song—but "Pancho" wins the laughs.

Señor Wilbur de la Hatch (known as plain Wilbur Hatch on his other shows) supplies the music in Señor Lud el Gluskin's absence. In addition to being satisfyingly Latin, the arrangements are gay and theatrical enough for those folks who can take a samba or leave it alone. The five Brazilian Samba Kings supply authentic Brazilian rhythms to which Olga San Juan more than does justice.

The best recommendation we can pass on regarding this program is that several listeners we know, who were formerly allergic to Latin American music of any kind (due probably to injuries received in conga lines), think that this show is fun. Olé!

"Plays by Ear"

Learning that author Hector Chevigny is blind, some will want to hear his NBC "Plays by Ear" through morbid curiosity or hypocritical pity. No such attitudes are welcome.

With great simplicity, Chevigny takes the microphone (KFI, Mondays, 7:30 p. m.) to host this compelling Monday half-hour of miraculous wisdom and drama. The series originates in New York, and we would surmise from the few pauses in his introduction that he is reading from script in Braille. Otherwise the entire work is that of a man who holds with no sodden sympathy for his handicap . . . who wants his listeners to know the fantasy he has seen in the dark.

Chevigny writes with the smash of a Huxley or a Wylie . . . but his pen holds new ink . . . indelible compassion. Beneath the surging surface of this ridiculous, neurotic, colossal, beloved century he contends that there is a vital circulating vein of basically fine humanity. Atom-worried, labor-bewailing, delinquent-weary dialers will be grateful to know someone thinks so.

Casting of these dramas could perhaps be better, is our comparison of opinions. Joseph Curtin's mature voice recently was out of whack with the character of a thirtyish, susceptible-to-romance scientist. Musical offset is heavy and a little typed, for so much inspired whimsy.

But such paltry quibblings are chaff before the wind. What one magnificent mind can do with sustaining radio time is the monumental consideration. Corwin, Oboler and Welles have found a fourth crusader.

"Housewives' Exchange"

Laconic Jack Sherman casually announces himself as the "old Skipper of the Skillet" (reminiscent of anything?) daily over KFVD at 11:30 a. m., to dust off the recipes stacking up at the station, and to deal out the prizes.

Right now, the program is prize-happy. One prize goes to the daily sender-in of the best set of lyrics to the show's theme, "Humoresque". Another goes to the lucky woman whose phone number Jack has picked from the "Exchange" member roster, to call with the week's quiz question. The puzzler just now is "What are the first seven words to the Declaration of Independence?" Third prize is on the membership contest.

For the sake of variety, probably, Jack really does give a few household hints of real worth, regarding the utilization of leftovers, how to bake a maple sugar pie, or the care and fooling of husbands who shy from disguised dishes.

The jackpot on the big membership contest is a David Jones Third Dimensional Sound radio, installed in any room of the winner's home, and finished to match the surroundings.

If you want to pick up some helpful hints, a laugh or two, and a chance at getting in on the goodies, better listen fast. The big contest goes off July 25, so gather your clan, have them all join "Housewives Exchange", then as quickly as they can, sit down and write Jack a letter telling him all about how you got them to join.

"Club 15"

Brother Crosby (Bob, that is) got off with a bang Monday night, June 30, on the new five-night-a-week, 8:30, KNX melody-variety offering, "Club 15".

Margaret Whiting joins the vocal offerings Monday, Wednesday and Friday, pretty Patti Clayton on Tuesday and Thursday. No effort is spared to make this nightly fifteen minutes a hit. Jerry Grey, long associated with Glenn Miller arrangements, does the scoring; the sprightly Modernaires get aboard with their novelties and backgrounds; Writer Carroll Carroll and Producer Cal Kuhl (the same partnership who contributed to the success of another Crosby—Bing, on the "Kraft Music Hall") supply the lightly-written dialogue that smacks of being strictly ad lib.

Undoubtedly there will be equally as many wry and scornful "Oh-no-ers" as "Yes-why-not-ers?" to the suggestion that in the wooing of a new audience Mr. Crosby would have done well to stand by the fame acquired through a distinctive styling that other musicians termed "phoney" Dixieland—then went to hear anyway. But if Mr. Crosby brought any disappointment to some dialers in leaving by the way-side the swell beat and style that immortalized "South Rampart Street Parade" or "World Is Waiting for the Sunrise", a few sessions of listening to "Club 15" will alleviate your sense of loss.

It needn't be an ordinary clambake, and Bob's just the boy who should know this. The baritone who has seen them come and go since the days when the Dorsey brothers had an orchestra together, to which he added his vocals, can turn up something pretty interesting with this opportunity. Hope he hasn't forgotten.

"Sunny Side of the Atom"

"The Sunny Side of the Atom", Columbia Network's Documentary Unit production of Monday, June 30, ran for an hour. That's a long time in the face of conflicting dramas, and it is barely possible that a few may have switched away to pursue other offerings. Not to a more lively show, nor a better narrated one. Nor to a more interesting nor mysterious one. There weren't any on the air.

To portray the Documentary Unit researcher who criss-crossed the country in several months of travel to visit America's main centers of atomic energy research, Agnes Moorehead was the perfect choice. Aggie's always in time with the show. Her introspective dialogue matched the mood perfectly on every occasion.

The actual data assembled for the program on the beneficial uses of atomic energy were as enlightening as news of the atom bomb had been.

The wind-up scene between researcher Moorehead and a cab driver who thought "The atom should be sent back to where it came from" was a natural as an awakener and an appeal for more of us to learn about this "sunny side of the atom", to talk about it, read about it, and know that science in a period of a few years can convert atomic energy into feeding the world, striking oil where no oil exists, and tracing down disease to its eradication.

The broadcast was directed by Carl A. Beier, with the musical score composed and conducted by Robert Stringer.

The dosage of knowledge in this first of radio's comprehensive pictures of the constructive uses of atomic energy certainly turned a treatment into a treat.

Playbacks (Critical Comment)

"Wendy Warren And the News"

A cunning trap has been set by CBS for opposed-to-soap-opera dialers. Sly Walter Winchellish news flashes introduce the fifteen minutes beginning at 10:00 a. m. and the unsuspecting reporting voices of Douglas Edwards and "Wendy Warren" innocently carry through.

But before you can say Jack Robinson, Edwards and "Miss Warren" have left their news studio, waved goodbye, and oopsie-daisy, you're plunk in the middle of "Wendy's" romances and harassments, whether you like it or not. Dilemmas are fairly standard—two loves, a demanding career and the menacing sheathed sarcasms of a jealous "other woman". Then back comes your announcer with his Maxwell House Coffee commercials, and before your head's free of the ether, the operation's over. Painless?

Analytically, we'd call the entire trick cutting off noses to spite faces. In so surreptitiously snagging the news-listener, we think the program endangers its own main following, the soap opera contingent. In the long run, blunt honesty would be the best policy. The combination of current events and drama is novel enough to attract attention without arriving in pulled-up coat collar and dark glasses.

We would suggest that "Wendy" and Mr. Edwards indulge in a little outside-the-studio-door patter, to indicate that they are on their way into a news broadcast, but that dramatic folderol will follow. "Wendy", incidentally, is enacted by Florence Freeman, whose voice we have always liked. Charles Provo and John Picard write the show. Tom McDermott directs.

"Welcome Travelers"

Another good idea that seems to us to have gone slightly wrong is ABC's "Welcome Travelers", heard every week day at 9:00 a. m. on KECA.

The premise is an exciting one—informal interviews with people traveling to or through Chicago. The program in practice, however, becomes just another audience participation show, perhaps a little more strident than most. It's aired from the famed College Inn of Chicago's Hotel Sherman, and ace emcee Tommy Bartlett is aided by Jim Ameche and Bob Cunningham in corralling his subjects.

People from such points as New Jersey, Kentucky, Texas, New York and even as far afield as India are put through the audience participation stunts. As in most shows of this type, it's the interviewees who make or break the program each day. The gentleman from India, for example, was interesting and informative about his country and his travels—or as much as he could be between emcee questions.

From a totally different point of view than that intended by the producers of the show, the program is fascinating—and that's if you're interested in phonetics. The conglomeration of accents that we Americans can dream up is truly amazing when they're all heard on one show.

On Mike (About Studio Happenings)

Irony of It

Francis X. Bushman, idol of millions in the days of silent movies, played Major Carson in NBC's opening "Rexall Theatre". His first line in the show was "I hate silent movies."

Dunked!

Our thanks to a Redlands KPRO listener for sending in this recent "When Trade Winds Call" mike-boner. He reports the following: "To the familiar theme strains of 'Aloha' we were startled to hear our announcer say: 'As the sun pulls away from the shore, and our boat sinks slowly in the west.' In fact, we were so startled we turned off the radio without waiting to find out if any lives were lost. We do hope that help arrived in time and that all on board were rescued. It would be sad indeed to learn that the announcer had gone down with his ship!"

TAKE THAT!

For three consecutive weeks, a pretty girl visitor to NBC's "Contented Hour" broadcasts sat in the first row and snapped picture after picture of conductor Percy Faith. At the last program Faith, whose hobby is photography, had a comeback. As the show went off the air, he bowed to the applause, whipped a mini-camera from his pocket . . . and snapped the startled little fan back!

RECORD NOTES TO YOU

By ANDY MANSFIELD

- 1 note—fair
 - 2 notes—pleasing
 - 3 notes—very good
- Chord in G—tops

(This week's column is by Andy's capable little missus, Virginia Lee, pinch-hitting for Andy, who was called east by the death of his mother.—Editor.)

RECORD OF THE WEEK:

With a combination like Bing Crosby, Dick Haymes and the Andrews Sisters, any record's bound to be good . . . but give 'em two Berlin show hits like "There's No Business Like Show Business" and "Anything You Can Do, I Can Do Better" (from "Annie Get Your Gun") and say, "Here 'tis kiddies — have fun!" and they combo themselves into a rating we've never given a single platter: a neat Chord in G! (Decca 40039)

ANITA O'DAY

Introduced by the boys in the back room calling for her to sing, Anita does just that by chirping the old familiar "Ace in the Hole" . . . and a swell job on "Sometimes I'm Happy" to justify with ease the three-note rating. (Signature 15127)

FRANK SINATRA

Smooth waxings by the Voice, backed by the dependable Stordahl orchestra (with the Pied Pipers) on "Ain't Cha Ever Comin' Back?" . . . and the natural Italian chorus on "I Have But One Heart" boost this one up to three notes. (Columbia 37544)

JIMMY DURANTE

The unpredictable Jimmy bursts forth in typical Durante style and arrangement on "I'll Do the Strut-Away in My Cut-Away", and "I'm Feelin' Mighty Low" (ably assisted by Candy Candido) for a magnitudinous tree notes. (MGM 30015)

MARGARET WHITING

With the hit-headed "Don't Tell Me" and "What Are You Doing New Year's Eve?", Maggie adds her own individual style to satisfy all comers . . . give it a spin and you'll see why Mansfield gave it three notes. (Capitol 427)

BOB CASE ORCH.

Occasionally new bands spring up overnight, but here's one that should give Freddy Martin much concern. Not only does it sound like Martin, but the scoring of "Rhapsody in Blue" and "Someone to Watch Over Me" are the same . . . and the tenor sax man must have taken lessons from Freddy . . . but whether it's "Bob Case" or Freddy Martin, here's a smooth three-notes worth of wax. NBC Star and Guest Columnist

MY FRIENDS ARE ALWAYS saying to me, "Eve, how do you buy those hats?" (Some of them are always saying, "Eve, why do you buy those hats?" but let's skip that.)

If it's such a burning question as all that, I shall take this heaven-sent opportunity to outline what I consider the proper procedure in buying a hat. After all, I like to pass on advice to the gal-pals just as well as the next Emily Post.

First, girls, I must insist that you have a clear mind when you set out for the milliner's. If there's anything that befogs the view of John Fredrics' latest masterpiece, it's a mind all cluttered with details like: did I turn out the gas under the coffee-pot, or what do you suppose Nellie meant by what she said at lunch, or are my stocking seams straight. So before you even think of taking the plunge, take a deep breath and blow all the muggy little thoughts away.

IT IS EQUALLY IMPORTANT that you embark on this venture alone. Don't take a girl friend with you. She will automatically decide on the most unbecoming hat in the place, insist that it is "just your style" and, chances are, talk you into it. That may be good for her morale, but it will play whaley with yours.

And, above all, don't take a man friend along. He'll hate the whole idea to start with, he'll fix his fancy on something that might be fine for Sunbonnet Sue but that you wouldn't wear to a drive-in, and when he sees the hats you like, he'll howl and whoop like a six-year-old at an Abbott and Costello picture.

IT IS IMPERATIVE that you try on every hat on the premises. If you don't, you are likely to miss the one-and-only, that hat that was made for you, simply because it was tucked away on a top shelf in the stockroom Encampment of the International Girl Scouts, KHJ, 5:30 p.m. (15 min.) Mutual interviews a few of the 27 delegates from foreign countries in attendance, during this coast to coast special broadcast.

WHAT'S BACK

News

Wednesday, July 16—Dr. Wallace Sterling and the News, KNX, 6:30 p.m. (15 min.) Radio's comprehensive news-coverer returns with a new weekly time spot.

and the saleswoman didn't want to climb on the ladder to get it.

When you have all the hats around you, look to make sure that another customer hasn't selfishly snagged some for herself. If she has, and seems to be dawdling over her selection, send your girl over to borrow the hats for a moment. Smile sweetly as the girl goes over, and the other customer is trapped.

Now it is time to narrow down your selection. Some people rely on general becomingness, a color that goes with something else in your wardrobe and a type that is suited to what you usually wear, but I think that's taking the narrow-minded viewpoint.

Will this hat make Lizzie Glutz green with envy? Lizzie Glutz is my best friend (you substitute the name of your own best friend, of course), and to see her turn pea green with envy is the greatest joy I know. It is far more of a triumph than to knock dead ten of my greatest enemies any day.

Will this hat make Clark Gable propose? That's bound to be an inducement. (I don't have a date with him anyhow, but what the heck—a girl can dream, can't she?)

Will this hat make Hedda Hopper sit up and take notice? That is the acid test, but of course. Such a hat is worth more than rubies.

When I get a "yes" answer on those three questions—well, frankly, if I ever do I'll faint dead away from the shock, and someone else will undoubtedly snap it up while they're waving the spirits of ammonia in front of my poor unhatted head!

WHERE'S DA FIRE?

Twenty minutes before airtime on a recent KHJ "Gas Again" show, emcee Bob Purcell discovered that guest Alan Young had missed connections and was stranded across town. A police car, waiting to go on the program with a Police Show plug, immediately volunteered assistance, and with sirens screaming went to the rescue. Breathless Young arrived to gasp the essential words into a microphone, just as Purcell finished his introduction.

FISH STORY

Carleton E. Morse and NBC's "One Man's Family" had a world's record dinner at the Hollywood Brown Derby recently. The group dined on a thirty-three and a half pound rainbow trout sent to Morse as a gift by the Sandpoint, Idaho, Chamber of Commerce. The giant fish was the largest of its kind ever taken to date.

HELP YOURSELF, SONNY

Two real potatoes were necessary sound effects on a recent dramatization of Mutual's "A Brighter Tomorrow", so producer Ted Corday dispatched a small page-boy to the restaurant downstairs. As the broadcast neared, no potatoes, so Corday sent out a searching party. Star Gabriel Heatter found the perspiring youngster in the freight elevator, ankle-deep in 150 pounds of spuds, and shamefacedly trying to stuff them back into a torn gunny sack. As he grabbed two potatoes and ran, the youngster tried to explain—"The chef told me to help myself."

THE BOUNDING MAIN

Arthur "Dagwood" Lake has christened his sixty-five-foot racing yacht "The Blondie", in honor of the CBS series.

COLLABORATION

"Texas Red," the new western tune recently waxed by Mercury, is a 100 per cent NBC "Grand Ole Opry" product. Original idea for the song was supplied by "Opry" announcer Louie Buck. Curley Kinsey, bass singer with Wally Fowler's Oak Ridge quartet, helped on the lyrics, and Wally, himself, supplied the music.

HOLD IT!

Assigned to get an exclusive shot of NBC's Perry Como, a photographer arrived just three minutes before the singer was due onstage. Because of another appointment, he couldn't wait for the end of Como's performance, so in a burst of speed the photog set up his tripod, adjusted camera and flash bulb and shot. He was back the next day for a retake. In the rush he had forgotten to put film in his camera.

BACK TO COLLEGE
 Seventeen-year-old Anita Gordon gained fame as songstress on NBC's Bergen-McCarthy show without the usual apprenticeship with a dance band. Anita has always had a yen to sing at a college dance, so recently she joined Dave Rose's orchestra for a UCLA prom.

DEFINITION

Talking over their summer plans, Arthur "Dagwood" Lake told Penny "Blondie" Singleton that he'd bought a small farm and was going to be a regular gentleman farmer all this year. "A gentleman farmer" defined Penny. "is someone who raises nothing but his hat."

FASHION SHOW

For their final broadcast of the season (July 6), Phil Spitalny's all-girl orchestra chose a collection of "Hour of Charm" costumes from the past twelve years, in a parade of changing fashions since they first went on the air.

NEWS FOR CUES

Mutual producer Elbert Walker has invented a gadget for back-timing radio rehearsals, which, he claims, takes half the headaches out of a cue-giver's job. The gadget will be on the market soon.

FRENCH ACCENT

Shopping in the west not long ago, French opera diva Lily Pons saw some match covers she wanted to have engraved for NBC "Telephone Hour" producer Wally Magill and his wife. The Magills were delighted with their gift, but much amused at the spelling. Miss Pons had, no doubt, given her order phonetically, and the covers read: "THE MAGIELS".

SOLO PERFORMANCE

Although Lassie, MGM dog star, has a son who is her stand-in when making motion pictures, she does all her own rehearsing for her Sunday ABC "Lassie Show."

Contests and Offers

"MYSTERY THEATRE," KFI, 9:30 p.m. Fridays—For ten cents in coin and the panel from a Mollie Brushless Shaving Cream package, program offers five Personna Precision Blades, regularly retailing at ten for $1.
 ZEKE MANNERS SHOW, KECA, 7:45 a.m. Monday through Friday—Also sponsored by Mollie Brushless Shaving Cream. Same offer as foregoing.
 CHARLIE ARLINGTON PLATTER TIME, KHJ, 1:00 p.m. Saturdays—Would-be disc jockeys get their chances to spin wax on Charlie's own four-hour show, for the best letter on "my favorite music" received each week. Winner may also interview a musical star of his own choosing. Address Charlie Arlington, KHJ, 5515 Meirose Avenue, Hollywood 38.

SOAPBOX—NOT OPERA

Announcer Wendell Niles' fourteen-year-old son, Denny, is looking forward to this year's Soap Box Derby. Young Niles, who won neighborhood heats last season, worked all winter on a "teardrop model" speedster with which he hopes to capture the 1947 title.

IDENTIFICATION

The "Talking People" heard on Meredith Willson's new CBS "Showroom" are: Betty Allen, Norma Zimmer, Bob Hamlin, Bob Stevens and John Rarig—who are also the program's vocal quintet.

mester at U.S.C., when she was called for an interview at RKO. It was her first picture part, as Zambiti, the jungle school teacher in "Tarzan and the Leopard Woman." From then on, Helen found her schedule jammed. Booked immediately after for 20th Century's "Bell for Adano," Republic's "GI War Brides" and the first of Gilbert Roland's new series as "The Cisco Kid" ("The Gay Caballero") she combined her acting with college. You'll also see her soon in the last of Sidney Toler's "Charlie Chan" pictures, a murderous collection of mayhem called "The Trap", and in Columbia's narrative fancy, "Cigarette Girl," in which she shares billing with Ludwig Donath.

Air Credits

Deeply appreciative of any casting effort in her behalf, Helen expressed special gratitude to CBS producer Tom Hargis for his help in establishing her in West Coast radio. As regular featured actress on "Romance of the Ranchos," Helen's voice has been heard in every pitch and accent on "Dr. Christian," Dennis Day, "Tapes-tries of Life," "Theater of Romance" and endless other air-timers.

Helen is completely occupied most of the time, with either her studies or her work, so dates no boy in particular and a great many of them in general. As lively as she is lovely, she sees no reason she can't eventually combine both marriage and career should "the right man" come along, specifically someone with a nice chuckle and an air of ease and naturalness. Now and then she finds space to read, and her favorite book, she says, is Hector Malot's "Sans Famille," but her particular author, Victor Hugo.

Her college combination of drama and psychology is the result of an interesting conclusion . . . that an actress must know as much about people and herself as she does about her art . . . a theory, incidentally, which is characteristic of Helen's entire mental processes. Tremendously ambitious, she thinks everything she wants to do straight through in a direct, concise line. On campus she also is a member of Zeta Phi Eta, national professional speakers' sorority, and her professional scripting, producing and idea-ing have been behind many of U.S.C.'s dramatic productions.

Breezily impervious to nail-biting, she usually maps things out ahead and efficiently waits for the result. She found it hard to answer, though, when we asked her whether she'd rather act in pictures or radio, if it came to a final choice. "They're both such different mediums," she reasoned.

"Then you'd probably vote for a combination?" we suggested.

"Mais certainement!" she smiled. . . which is the Gerald way of saying, "But certainly!"

humming (pun permitted) with radio, picture, recording jobs, and singing in other quartets and vocal groups.

Latest recording is a series of the school songs for U.C.L.A. and City College. The generous gentlemen turned over exclusive rights on the latter group to City College in order that sales proceeds might expedite the school effort to enlarge the curriculum into a four-year period.

Ask any of the four their hobbies and all will name some outdoor sport. Their schooling was practically secondary to the athletic events in which they participated.

But ask them who their favorite vocalist is and they'll look blank. Just start naming names, though, and they'll greet each mention with a shout of enthusiasm. . . "Oh, she's wonderful!" or "He's tops!" until you get down to "The Groaner", and he's pretty unanimously the guy they'll finally choose.

Some of the almost forgotten pleasures crowded out of their lives by a busy day-and-night radio schedule came in for pursuit while the gang were in the east. The other stage productions in Gotham saw them in attendance when they got away from their own show at the Roxy. And New York's excellent eating places must have done a landslide business. Any of the boys will eat pie at the drop of a plate.

It would seem the advent of television should merely prove a boon to the well-dressed four who don identical suits for their radio shows. Certainly then, too, they can give that vaudeville treatment to their famous rendition of "Old Jack Benny Had a Farm" or "Chloe", those hilarious ditties that made history in the annals of radio commercials.

"That's when our troubles will start, though," sighed Bill Days.

"Yep," Max Smith put in briefly, "that's it."

At a question as to what troubles television could start, Gurney Bell started to explain. "Four men might agree on the same suit of clothes, certainly."

"But," Marty Sperzel finished sadly, "what four guys are there who'll agree on the same tie?"

YES INDEEDY!

Between shows at the New York Paramount Theatre, NBC's Perry Como received an "emergency call" from Dallas, Texas. On the other end of the line was fan Gloria Evanston, who blithely said she just wanted "to chat". The "emergency", she explained, was that she was spending her last $3.55 on the call, completely depleting her allowance.

Thomas Cassidy

The Dignified Voice of "Evening Concert" Informs the Fans of The Gas Company Music Program

Monday through Saturday, 8:00 p.m.
KFAC

OH, YOU'RE not Thomas Cassidy!" is the greeting usually accorded this miker in an introduction. Possessor of a low, dignified voice and a manner that conveys his personal interest in the great musical classics, he is afraid that the mental picture he projects is one of a paunchy, elderly pedant. At any rate, Cassidy is about thirty years younger than the fond fans of the Gas Company's "Evening Concert" imagine him, and in addition to his love of classical music he exercises a healthy interest in the songs of Bing Crosby.

"I guess people who listen to classical music don't write letters," he sighed when we asked him about the mail he receives regarding this popular series. Though the great segment of the listening public which turns on the "Evening Concert" night after night may not express its enthusiasm by mail, a more unusual tribute to the program is the fact that it has turned up as a background in two recent novels, according to Cassidy!

This miker's interest in classical music is a twenty-four-hour-a-day affair. "I'm always thinking about the 'Evening Concert,'" he laughed, "it's like a drug." He enjoys digging up brand new recordings never before heard locally and rediscovering rare classics. Three mornings a week he teaches voice at his own musical alma mater, the Los Angeles California Institute of Music and Allied Arts. A concert baritone, Cassidy admits that his enjoyment in working with the "Evening Concert" is so great that he has turned down vocal opportunities to continue with it.

A Bing Admirer

His present love of classical music started with an interest in singing as a small boy. And that's where Bing Crosby comes in! Bing was his first musical enthusiasm. "In fact, I used to croon like Crosby," he smiled, and then amended himself, "no, that's not right—nobody croons like Crosby!" Cassidy started studying concert baritone, and while a student with Irmalee Campbell he started on the path that led eventually to radio. His teacher asked him one night to see a girl student home to Ninety-First Street. "I remember thinking to myself, 'Wouldn't it be awful to come this far to see a girl every night!' Well, you know what happened—I took her home every night for weeks and we finally got married."

Mrs. Cassidy liked Thomas's speaking voice and thought he ought to be a radio announcer. He went down and auditioned at KMPC. He didn't win but he surprised himself by being much better than he had suspected. He got an opportunity on an NBC station in Boise, Idaho, where he announced, did some writing, programming, interviews and concert criticism. Auditioning at KFAC for his present berth on the "Concert," he was chosen over a field of thirty-seven entrants.

"Musical background and luck," is the terse reason Cassidy gives for his break. He has been with the program for four years now and has enjoyed every minute of it. He has taken only one day off in that time and doesn't know whether or not he wants to take his scheduled vacation. He does all the programming for the "Concert" and can remember to the date when he last played a selection. He follows the accepted style of concert programming used by symphony conductors and builds the show like a regular concert. "We open with an overture so people can finish their dishes and sit down in time to catch the symphony. Do you realize that a conductor programs five concerts a year while I have to do six a week? Multiply that by fifty-two and see what you get!" And the answer multiplied by Thomas Cassidy's four years on the program will give you a statistical idea of the work involved.

1250 Programs!

KFAC's wonderful record library is the source of these nightly concerts. In addition to the station's efficient musical cross index of records, Cassidy has compiled one of his own. Requests to the "Concert" usually take care of themselves, as he programs so far in advance that they are usually scheduled automatically. He has repeated only one program intact and that is his "Voices of the Golden Age of Opera". He prides himself on never talking down to his audience, and he keeps his musical introductions as short as possible. He wisely concludes that he would soon run out of material, concerning his music and musicians if he tried to

Radio's Mythical Springdale

TOWNS and people are pretty much the same the country over," Springdale's Mayor of the Town will tell you. "But I like to talk about Springdale because I've watched it grow from the time those big elm trees in the City Hall Park were put out as saplings. All the places along Main Street . . . Grayson's Drug Store, the Bon Ton Department Store and the Bijou Theater, way on up past our two newspapers, the Globe and the Clarion, I've seen them all spring up.

"And all those green lawns everyone keeps so nice, and their flower gardens all over the place, people planted because they were proud of their town and wanted it to look well. When it came to naming a new street each time, folks wanted it to sound as pretty as it looks, and you'll find most of the streets are called Locust, Maple, Pine or Walnut. I live on Elm Street in that roomy-looking, old-fashioned house with the cupola on top. It has a high board fence behind it, and a picket fence out in front.

"Twenty miles to the south of Springdale is Crescent City. Marilly, my housekeeper, sometimes takes Butch over there for the day, but most of the time Butch and I head out to the north of town, on the River Road. There's an old swimming hole out there at Rock Creek, and a nice grove for picnicking.

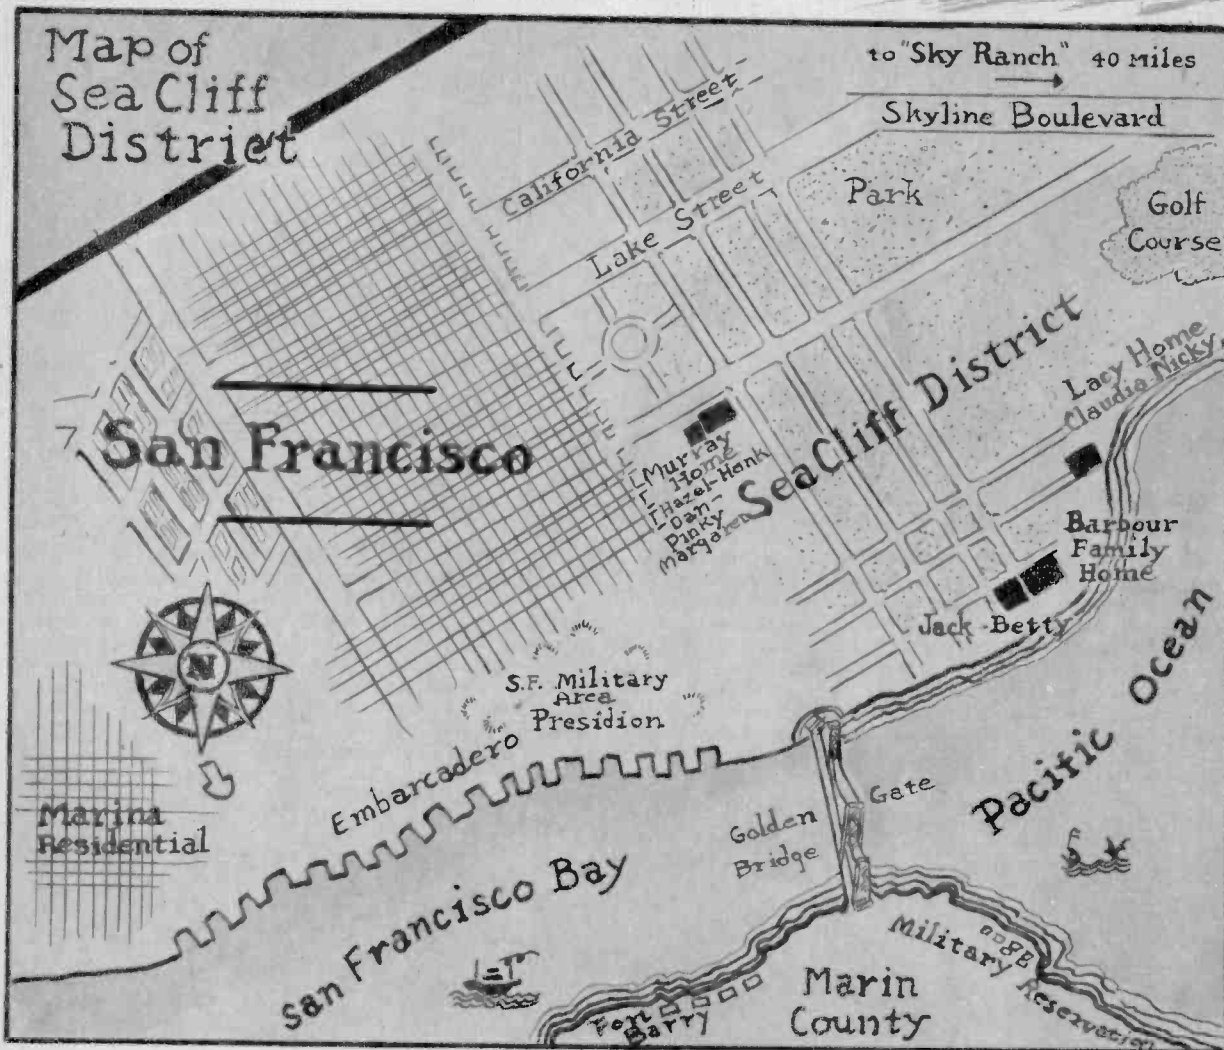

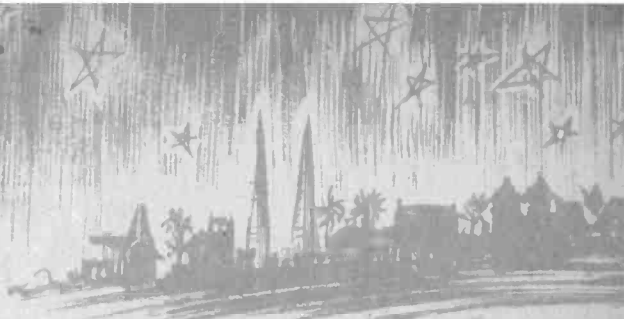

"It's kind of hard, offhand, to tell you more about Springdale. You have to know all the people who make it tick—Archie Chamberlain, our Chief of Police; Judge Williams, who next to me is the best checker player in town; Sexton Meader and our Reverend Dinwiddie. None of us are so proud of the part of Springdale just beyond the tracks at the foot of Hill Street. You understand there's nothing really bad down there, just some juke joints and a couple of pool rooms.

"If you want to know any more, think of your own town. I guess our folks and the places they've built up are just the same as any place else. Between now and next fall when we come visiting on the radio again, stop by my house some evening. We'll sit on the porch and I'll talk your arm off. Butch and Peewee Taylor and Bitsy Morgan will be playing out under the street lamp in front of the house. That's a standing invitation, and I'll be looking for you."

Barbours' Harbor

Sunday, 11:30 a.m.
NBC-KFI-KFSD

OVER a million people live in San Francisco's area—one of superlative hotels, stately churches, queer signs, big trees, clattery cable cars and ghosts.

Up on one of San Francisco's hills, across the fabulous Golden Gate Bridge from the sear sides of Marin County, lies the "Sea Cliff District", a portion given over equally to baronial estates and suburban divisions. Shaded by gray-trunked eucalypti and great twisted oaks, the streets here march along in more orderly precision than many of the big city's thoroughfares.

Up above the coast, on which the long rollers from the blue Pacific break, live Mother and Father Barbour, in the family home back of its stately hedge of sturdy geranium.

From far and near, almost every Sunday, the Barbour children stop at this peaceful haven.

Cliffie journeys in almost forty miles along Skyline Boulevard from the Sky Ranch. Hazel and Daniel Murray en route with Pinky, Hank, and Margaret, come from their home just outside the exclusive Sea Cliff District. As you know, Jack and Betty live just next door, and can slip right through the hedge to join the elder Barbours.

The Lacy home (little Skipper is now living there with Claudia and Nicky) is in the other direction, but the six blocks aren't far, so the Lacys too, stroll down to join the family conclave, or wander down the lawn to the sea wall to watch the racing sculls and the speed boats in the water beyond.

You've all had a glimpse of the Barbour family tree through Sunday radio visits. You've been able to follow their satisfactions and their tragedies, their moving about and the settling of their homes. So if our little map doesn't hold all the landmarks you might expect, remember we've left it open as a playground for your imagination.

▲ RIGHT ON THE BEAM, WITH SCRIPT and serious demeanor, is Tobe Reed, Jr., here reading the sponsor's word on "Maxwell House Coffee Time" summer show starring Frances Langford. Tobe Sr.'s chores on the Burns and Allen summer replacement demand both announcing and acting talents. Reed got into radio fifteen years ago because he had "sense enough to come in out of the rain". He was wandering around the streets of San Francisco when a shower sent him scurrying for protection. He ran into the nearest building, CBS, and walked right into an audition.

▲ IDEAS DON'T COME on the banks of quiet streams, that's why books, papers, phones and typewriter clutter up the desk where Tobe Jr. pinch-hits for his father. All this equipment is essential to Reed, who started out as general reporter on the San Francisco Chronicle and continued with his own radio program "Headlines of the Past," about ten years ago. Though able to handle anything in radio from commercials to straight acting and gag-throwing, Reed is essentially a narrator, was heard on "Don't You Believe It" and is readying another series of narrative stories with punch endings.

Tobe, Jr., poses in paternal manner, for Reed spends hour after hour checking and re-checking broadcasts, especially his narrative shows. In his library, however, are the best of other programs on which he's worked, including the Walter Pidgeon series, Fanny Brice's "Baby Snooks", Bob Burns, and "Duffy's Tavern". Home recordings are also a Reed hobby. His most prized record, Tobe Jr.'s first words, "bad man!"

G HERE is probably no more industrious man in radio than Tobe Reed, and the things he works hardest at is keeping work a secret.

"Work is for dull people," he says, and believes not a word of it.

It's all part of a game, and it finally climaxed itself when he soft-soaped his three-year-old son, Tobe, Jr., into posing for some pictures for Radio Life.

AS ANY FATHER KNOWS, and in this case, father's son, work can't be confined to the job. Here "the boys" take a hand with little Tobe's year-old sister, Melinda, who reflects such masculine attention by being healthy, bright as a button, with a favorite vocabulary of "hubba, hubba, hubba" said with considerable aplomb.

LITTLE TOBE REACHES FOR MUSICAL director Carmen Dragon's baton. Junior comes by his musical tastes naturally—his daddy established a record with the old "Fitch Bandwagon"—168 consecutive Sundays on the air with the nation's top bands.

IT'S BEEN A TOUGH DAY for both Senior and Junior Reeds, so they invade the easiest chair to exchange small talk. Photo in background is of wife and mother, Mrs. Reed, the girl Tobe married four years ago. Her maiden surname was Reed, too, so that makes it unanimous.

← HAL STYLES, whose show business experience boasts a varied background, has fostered many radio programs, found jobs for more than 30,000 unemployed on his "Help Thy Neighbor."

In Style With Styles

From Musical Comedy and Vaudeville, Hal Styles Has Brought Initiative And Originality to the Kilocycles, With Latest Venture an Air School

BACK in the days when radio was "wireless" and messages were transmitted in feeble dots and dashes, Hal Styles was graduated from a "ham" operator to a seagoing officer in company with such men as David Sarnoff, now president of RCA. Voyages around the world and from pole to pole tarnished the gold braid on his uniform and sent him back for a five-year hitch in his first interest, show business—vaudeville and musical comedy.

Those were the days when commercial broadcasting was shedding its swaddling clothes, casting loving eyes on the entertainment business, and Styles decided it was time for him to wed his technical knowledge of this new medium to his fondness for show business proper. So, in 1932, Hal Styles came to California and inaugurated his first news commentary in radio, "Searchlight on World Events," over KFAC. It wasn't long until Styles' infectious personality promoted him to the post of "Your Friendly Counselor" on KFI. Along about that time, he produced and starred in a half-hour variety show, "Joy, Incorporated", on KMTR . . . and a smoothie, "Satin Silhouettes", over KFWB.

Then Hal Styles became the special events man extraordinary! He parachuted to earth with a portable transmitter strapped to his back, a mike in his hand, and described his jump to the audience.

Unusual Accomplishments

He broadcast from a diving suit as he walked around the bottom of the Pacific Ocean. He broadcast from jails and hospitals. Then, when depression hit, when there were no jobs to be had, Hal Styles with his "Help Thy Neighbor" program found more than 30,000 jobs for unemployed men and women!

There have been many successful Hal Styles programs—many which will reflect Styles' interest in helping his fellow men. For instance, "Young America Speaks" was his original radio program devoted to the problems of juvenile delinquency. "Lest Ye Forget" was his original program dedicated to the problems of returning servicemen, which, among other things, found over 2,000 homes for veterans and their families.

In line with his penchant for helping the other fellow, Hal Styles last spring, sensing the tremendous flowering that was due in the radio field—with more than 500 AM and 600 FM applications granted in the last year—took over a radio school, immediately impressed his own personality upon it. Thus the Hal Styles School of Radio was born. It was immediately approved for veteran training.

When Hal does have a spare hour these days, he spends it with his chickens, ducks, turkeys, geese—and even goats—on his rancho in Reseda. And he even finds an occasional hour to take down the fiddle and bow that were his constant companions back in his vaudeville days.

elucidate on the selections on a six-a-week basis. (Right here may we throw a bouquet? Cassidy's commercials are quiet, intelligent and informative.)

He credits Sir Thomas Beecham with tossing him his greatest compliment. He met Beecham at the Hollywood Bowl and invited him to KFAC to hear the recordings of several symphonies the conductor had made but never heard played. Sir Thomas sat in the studio and conducted while Cassidy played the records. Sir Thomas enjoyed himself hugely, thanked Cassidy and then suddenly, thinking back, asked in astonishment, "But I say, when did you change the records?" Sir Thomas, on hearing that the mikeman was also a singer, grew expansive. "Come to England and I'll put you, on, old boy," he told Cassidy.

Children Musical

Cassidy's two children, Dickie, three, and Peggy Anne, one and a half, are both going to be musical, he thinks. "Dickie knows KFAC and whenever he hears classical music he says, 'That's Daddy's station.'" Dickie is also a "Whoa Bill" fan, and according to his father was rendered speechless for the first and only time by a visit to "Uncle Whoa Bill's" Friday children's party.

Lawrence Tibbet and Igor Gorin are this baritone's favorite baritones. He has what he calls a minor collection of classical records—mostly vocal and mostly baritone. He likes popular music—"to dance to".

On Sunday, his one day off, what does he do for recreation? He takes a postman's holiday and goes to a concert!
