13 of the First 15 Shows Now on WOW

Thirteen of the "first 15" evening radio programs on the air are NBC network shows carried by Red WOW.

The C. E. Hooper national ratings, issued October 16, covering the entire United States, listed the "first 15" as follows:

Charles McCarthy, for Chase & Sanborn, rated 28.3, at the top of the list.

Fibber McGee and Molly, the Johnson Wax show, rated 27.7, and was second.

Third place went to General Foods' "Aldrich Family," with a rating of 25.6. Bob Hope's show for Pepsodent rated 25.4. Others on the list following in order are Maxwell House "Coffee Time," "Lux Radio Theater," Wal-ter Winchell, Jack Benny, Eddie Cantor, "One Man's Family," "Mr. District Attorney," Major Bowes, Burns and Allen, Rudy Vallee and Kay Kyser. It should be pointed out thetail

It should be pointed out that the Bob Hope rating was based only on his second broadcast of the season. The same is true of the Jack Benny program, which did not resume this fall until October 5, and, therefore, had little opportunity to build a program rating before the mid-October Hooper survey was made. made.

Only two non-NBC shows are included in the "first 15," and both of these are on CBS. No Mutual or Blue network shows were rated in the "first 15."

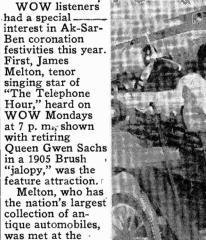

This report on the Hooper ratings is reported in the October 20 issue of "Broadcasting" magazine.

"THE FREE WILL WIN"... BRADSHAW

But Nations to be "Bled Almost White"

Free governments of the world will win the war, but in doing so they will be "bled almost white." This was the assertion of De Emmett Brad-shaw, President of the Woodmen of the World Life Insurance Society, in an address recently over Stations WFAA and KGKO in connection with Fraternal Day at the Texas State Fair.

De E. Bradshaw

The address, titled "Fraternalism and Its Rela-tionship to Defense," attracted na-tional attention and provoked editorial comment throughout the south.

"We'll win the war," Mr. Brad-shaw said. "Free governments will succeed, but they will be bled al-most white. The European coun-tries have been destroyed one after another. Germany itself will topple, and Russia will suffer untold dis-aster. England will be largely re-duced to ashes. I shall be surprised if Rome itself does not suffer the fate of many other cities."

Following this prediction, Mr. Bradshaw painted a brighter word-picture of world conditions at the end of the war.

"There are those who insist that when peace is declared there will be general desolation. One would think, from hearing them talk, that everything would disappear; that we would have no more street cars, buses, automobiles, refrigerators, airplanes, streamlined trains or ra-dios, but that is a mistake. We have learned to use these things as necessities, and we will not sur-render them. Behind the making of all these things there will be the same power which is behind them now, and that is sufficient capital to construct them and give them to those who are willing to work in order that they may have them."

Mr. Bradshaw warned, however, at . . . "we cannot hope to sucthat . . ceed and build up a competency by working shorter hours a week and fewer weeks in the year."

As a future course of action, Mr. Bradshaw asserted that we should be working now on plans to utilize all manufacturing plants now pro-ducing war material for those things which can be used during peace times

He admonished: "Let us continue our faith and make it stronger that our hope may be enlarged; that our purposes may be to serve our neighbors and to serve our fellow men, and to serve the mem-bers of foreign nations and to do good everywhere and at all times, and that thereby we may express to all the over-shadowing power of fraternalism, and that this fraternal-

Religion has occupied a big place nation has no right to recognize in the news within the past few any government that would deny weeks. This has come about by the its citizens the privileges of relistatement of President Roosevelt concerning religious freedom and the status of the church in Rus-sia. Everyone who has studied the constitution of the U. S. S. R., and who knows the his-tory of the Rev. R. R. Brown Soviet's attitude toward religion, was surprised at the President's utterances.

Discussing this situation, Monsignor Sheen of the Catholic University of Washington, D. C., gave a most illuminating analysis in a recent radio talk. He showed that although the constitution of the Russian government permits religious worship, it does not permit religious teaching or propaganda. Yet, it gives full freedom to anti-Yet, it gives full freedom to anti-religious propaganda. Because reli-gious preaching and teaching have been prohibited, children and young people have been denied this vital training. While the anti-religious and anti-God groups have carried on their destructive propaganda, many faithful have been either put to death or banished for their devo-tion to their convictions. The anti-God museum in Russia contains the most blasphemous exhibits to be found anywhere. That the Presi-dent of the United States is sympathetic toward such an attitude we cannot believe. To him, reli-gious freedom implies all of the tra-ditional heritage of our glorious

In our country there is no at-tempt to force men to accept the belief or forms of any of the many prevailing religious groups. Nor, on the other hand, do we deny to any-one the right to preach or teach the things they believe. In New York City, the great metropolis of our country, we heard one person preach the Gospel of Christ to an outdoor audience, while only a short distance away another proclaimed his atheism and Godlessness. Both had equal protection. One of the strange circumstances of this war is that we should be of this war is that we should be involved with a country that has tried to push God out of its thought and government. If, as some reli-gious leaders have declared, the President should be successful in having Russia give true religious freedom to her people, it would in-deed be a beneficient result of this bloody conflict bloody conflict.

gious freedom, when we grant such, liberties to their subjects when they come to our shores, whether they be citizens or not. As a nation, we should remember that faith in God is more a part of our American life than faith in our government, for, after all, democracy is a product of the faith of those who came to our shores in search of religious freedom. We need to safeguard this most priceless heritage. America can no more expect to get along without God than we can exist without rain and sunshine.

It seems that it takes a world crisis like the present one to create a deep sense of spiritual need. But religion must be something more to us than a Sunday cloak or a one-day-a-week responsibility. It will be lamentable if the world feels that it can recover itself by political and economic means and ignore the value and the necessity of a great spiritual awakening.

Radio is playing a great patt in making men and women God-con-scious. We hope that we may build up a defense of faith as well as physical armament, so that the God-less religious philosophics of dis less religious philosophies of dictator countries shall never take root in our land.

Remember WOW will have its Thanksgiving service on the tradi-tional Thanksgiving Day, which will be November 27.

EASY ASSIGNMENT

A part of speech and diction courses at many colleges and high schools this fall is the "Sherlock Holmes" radio program.

Professors in voice say that Basil Rathbone, who plays the part of Sherlock Holmes, has the most perfect diction on the air. His speech is clean cut; his pronunciation perfect; his inflection tops.

Sherlock Holmes, now a tradition of the air, is an easy assignment, because the stories are thrilling mysteries that never grow old. The program was one of the first regularly broadcast dramatic programs.

Chances Better It Will Stick This Time

"Because the American people will sit at the peace table by radio, the world has a better opportunity now to form a permanent and lasting peace than ever before in its history," according to Neville Miller, President of the National Association of Broadcasters. Neville Miller spoke before a luncheon of 1,000 business executives and broadcasters in Omaha in connection with the 10th District NAB meeting, October 15 and 16.

"Peace is going to come to this world some day," Mr. Miller said. "The making of a permanent peace will be a more difficult task than the prosecution of the war. We cannot forget the noble, but vain, efforts of Woodrow Wilson 20 years ago to establish a permanent peace.

"Radio now offers the world a great opportunity because peoples throughout the world will know instantaneously detailed progress of the peace negotiations. With an informed world citizenry, the peace made after this war is over has a greater opportunity of being a permanent peace."

"THIN MAN" IS NEW DRAMA TWIST

Laughs, Chills and Romance in New Series

Note.—This is the first of a series of special articles giving details about new shows on WOW this fall and winter.—The Editor.

fall and winter.—The Editor. "The Thin Man" is fast develop-ing into one of the most popular dramatic features on the air. "The Thin Man" gives a new twist to the old-time "whodunnit." First, it is a mystery story; second, it is a comedy, and last, it includes a romance. Its format is derived from the famous movie which starred William Powell and Myrna Low Its author is the man who Loy. Its author is the man who wrote the famous movie, Dashiell Hammett.

Leading characters in "The Thin Man" are Lester Damon, a young New York actor who sounds a lot like William Powell, and Claudie Morgan, a niece of Comedian Frank Morgan and a daughter of the dis-tinguished actor, Ralph Morgan. "The Thin Man" is heard on WOW via the NBC Red network at 7 p.m., Wednesdays. Each episode of "The Thin Man" is complete in itself, but the same two leading characters, "Nick Charles" and his wife, "Nora," are heard every week. The other mem-bers of the cast are changed from work to work to out the story.

"The Thin Man" is one of the 1941 summer substitue shows that has proved to be so popular that it was continued for this fall and winter.

CLAUDIA . . .

Claudia Morgan, who springs from one of the profession's most dis-tinguished families, was given the nod for the much-desired part only after long and careful consideration by Script Writer Dashiell Ham-mett and Himan Brown, who di-rects the series. In announcing the choice, both agreed on Ham-mett's description that "Miss Mor-gan is a perfect characterization of "The Thin Man's" charming but impulsive helpmate."

Despite her youth, Claudia has appeared in 32 plays and currently is starring in the Broadway success, "The Man Who Came to Dinner." No stranger to radio, she has been featured in many drama broadcasts and has made numerous guest appearances on popular variety programs.

Una Merkel to SOB-SISTER Star in New Radio Series

Radio has drafted another Hollywood celebrity. Una Merkel, famous as a comedienne on the dizzy blonde side, has signed to play the lead role in "Nancy Bacon Reporting," a new feature of Philip Mor-ris' "Johnny Presents" series on Tuesday nights at 7 p. m. Una does her first journalistic stint November 4.

"Nancy Bacon Reporting" is a newspaper drama series. Miss Merkel's reporter, however, will veer slightly to the left from the usual heroic newshawk, for the high purdrama series will share spotlight honors on "Johnny Presents" with Ray Block and his orchestra, the Swing Fourteen and Vocalists Bev-erly and Audrey Marsh.

It is highly probable that Una Merkel started her dramatic career with pretty serious intentions, but she has made her name as a female fall guy. Born a Kentuckian, she started her professional training in a New York dramatic school. Her numerous Broad way appearance numerous Broadway appearances included "Coquette," "The Poor Nut," "Two by Two" and "Pigs." Her Hollywood triumphs are too numerous to list.

Fall Is Here So Martha Tells How Corn Bread Should Be Made

This is the season for introducing our fall foods, and certainly one of the favorites is a really good corn-bread. So many homemakers are looking for a good recipe for corn-bread, with the emphasis on the "good," that we feel it quite in order to present one in this column. Combread is no longer a food which belongs to the south, even though it is present at practically every meal that is served.

At certain seasons, right now, for this golden bread blends with our meals. Wild game, baked ham, baked beans, and many other dishes, seem somewhat deserted if not ac-companied with combread. But the

After inveigling Maurice Evans, the "Daddy," Cantor had no difficulty having the suave, dignified actor do back-flips for the edification of Dinah Shore, Harry von Zell and Bert "The Mad Russian" Gordon.

That "sponsor" heard on Jack Benny's opening program of the season was none other than House Jameson, who serves time as Henry Aldrich's father on Thursday eve-nings. In our opinion, he is the league's best. He played with Kansas City last year and with St. Louis the two years previous. You'll remember him as the fellow who always wore the baseball cap. He's a great play-maker, and he's a left-hander.

Champ Player

Hudson has played on two cham-pionship clubs during the past four years, and has averaged 50 points each season for the past four he's played. Omaha's great need for some time now has been for a good center ice man, and in Ace Hudson we have the finest. Club Women Seek Better Radio Law

The Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs' session October 15, women's Clubs' session October 15, at McCook, went on record as fa-voring a delay in the enforcement of new Federal Communications regulations effecting radio broad-casting. The resolution was intro-duced by Mrs. W. F. Ottman of Omaha, State Chairman of Radio.

The Federation asserted that the new FCC regulations should not be put into effect until full and open hearings by the senatorial and con-gressional committees have been concluded. The consensus was that from these hearings there might develop a better law or radio act covering some of the disputed points in the FCC's new rulings.

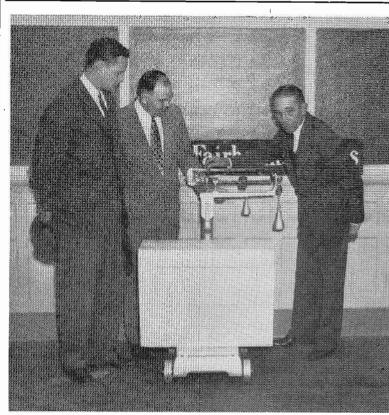

The second part of the regulation recommended that any new per-sonnel for the FCC should include a person or persons with radio experience.

The FCC's new regulations effect clear channel stations, newspaper-owned stations, and network and affiliate relationships.
