This book is the result of some thirty years of collecting printed materials about broadcasting and its performers and tape recordings of radio programs and their performers from its early pioneer days through its Golden Age. The author is privileged that his audio research materials are preserved in the Luther F. Sies Radio Collection of the Rodgers and Hammerstein Archive of Recorded Sound, New York Library of the Performing Arts at Lincoln Center (Don McCormick, curator). Many persons and institutions have helped me over the years and deserve my thanks.

I begin by acknowledging several significant sources that contained valuable information. First, there was Eric Barnouw's masterful three-volume history of American broadcasting: A Tower in Babel, The Golden Web and The Image Empire. Second, Gleason Archer's basic radio histories, The History of Radio to 1926 and Big Business and Radio, were landmarks in scholarship that proved invaluable to me. Finally, the book that probably best captures the flavor and spirit of Radio's Golden Age is I Looked and I Listened by Ben Gross.

The contemporary periodicals and annuals used most frequently were:

Broadcast Listener (1926–1927)
Broadcast Programs & News — San Francisco/Los Angeles (1939)
Broadcast Program for the Pacific Coast (1923)
Broadcast Weekly (1925–1931)
Broadcasting (1931–1960)
Radio Age (1924–1927)
Radio Broadcasting News (1922–1923)
Radio Digest (in its various formats from 1922 to 1932)
Radio Guide: The Blue Book of Radio (1925–1926)
Radio Guide (later Movie Radio Guide and, still later, Television-Radio Guide)
Radio Listeners' Guide and Call Book (1928)
Radio Stories (1925)
Radio Weekly Post (1925)

Various issues from such papers as the New York Times, the New York Herald-Tribune and the Christian Science Monitor also proved helpful. The same was true for certain issues of Rural Radio, Radio Varieties, Microphone, Tune-In, Fan-

Fare, Tower Radio, Radioland, Radio-Movie Guide, Radio Album, Radio Stars, Radio Mirror and Radio-TV Mirror.

This work was also enhanced by the assistance provided me by the librarians at Columbia University's Oral History Division; the Broadcast Pioneers Library at the University of Maryland; the Yivo Institute for Jewish Research; the Library of Congress; New York City's Library of the Performing Arts at Lincoln Center; and the Research Division of the New York City Public Library.

In addition, Ms. Kathryn Moore Stucker, curator of the Lum and Abner Society Collection; George McWhorter, curator of the Edgar Rice Burroughs Memorial Archive at the University of Louisville; George French of the Metropolitan Washington Old-Time Radio Organization; Mike Mashon, Library of American Broadcasting, University of Maryland; Ronnie Pugh, Country Music Foundation; and Amelia Todd, research assistant, Oral History Research Division, Columbia University, generously provided me with their time, help and knowledge. Most importantly, my wife, Leora, provided me valuable advice and assistance that made this book possible. Her help was indispensable.

Useful information about old-time radio programs can be found in Swartz and Reinehr's Handbook of Old-Time Radio: A Comprehensive Guide to Golden Age Radio Listening and Collecting; Buxton and Owens' The Big Broadcast—1920–1950; and Dunning's Tune in Yesterday: The Ultimate Encyclopedia of Old-Time Radio, 1925–1970. The most accurate guide to program dates and comprehensive information about network programming can be found in Jay Hickerson's The New Revised Ultimate History of Network Programming and Guide to All Circulating Shows, and Harrison B. Summers' Thirty-Year History of Programs Carried on National Networks in the United States—1926–1956.

My gratitude for permission to quote is due the following: WBBM-News Radio, for quotes from WBBM-Radio: Yesterday and Today by Chuck Shaden (© 1988 WBBM-News Radio); May Broadcasting Company, for quotes from KMA Radio: The First Sixty Years by Robert Birkby (© 1985 May Broadcasting Company); and Rosemary Thurber, for quotes from "Soapland," The Beast in Me and Other Animals by James Thurber (© 1948 James Thurber, © 1976 Rosemary Thurber), published by Harcourt Brace & Company.

Many broadcasters have helped me by generously providing information and encouragement. Among these professionals were Mark Halverson, WHO-TV; Mike Stocklin, general manager, KGEZ-AM; Joe Davis, vice-president, WMCA; Don Hansen, station manager, and Jackie Willcoxon, administrative assistant, KMA; Chris Berry, director of news and programming, WBBM; Roy Shapiro, vice-president-general manager, KYW; Dan Fabian, vice-president-general manager, WGN; Ricci Filiar, programming administrator, WJR; Debbie Billinslea, administrative assistant, WHAS; James J. Carter, vice president-general manager, WTAE; Gregory Skaltas, manager, KGU; Herndon Hasty, president, WDAF; Ed Greaney, WMC-TV News; Bob Meyer, vice-president, WSM; Bruce Still, operations-compliance director, WCKY; Jane Graber, promotions director, KCMO; Jennifer Lawhorn, public relations officer, WNYC; Judith Rose, listener service, WHA; Dave Pavlock, WWRO; Jeffrey D. Greenhawt, WQAM; Granville Klink, Jr., engineering consultant, WTOP-Radio; Dick Pust, general manager, KGY; Anne Dieters, WWJ; Ray Watson, senior vice-president-division general manager, KXL; Ken Fearnow, vice president-general manager, WOW; Maria L. Soll, administrative assistant, WOW; Rick Lewis, general manager, WOI; Jill Schroth, promotions director, WAAM; Randy Brown, creative director, KRLD-Texas State Network; Bob Meyer, vice-president-general manager, WSM; Cindy Wood, administrative assistant, WSM; Dennis Sturtz, general manager, KFUE; Doug Brown, program director, WOI; Bob Bruno, vice-president-general manager, WOR; John A. Gambling, formerly WOR; John R. Gambling, WOR; and Philip Eberly.

Other professionals who made significant contributions to my work include Mel Blanc, Norman Corwin, Bing Crosby, Benny Goodman, Brent Gunts, Quincy Howe, Granville Klink, Jr., Ward Quaal, Harry Richman, Robert Lewis

Shayon, Frank Sinatra, Rudy Vallee, Eddie Walker, Irene Wicker and Polly Willis. Their help and well wishes were greatly appreciated. My contacts with these pioneer broadcasters helped me put a human face on Radio's Golden Age. Regrettably, not all of them are now able to accept my thanks.

I am also grateful to the special assistance many others gave me. I am particularly appreciative of the data on stations tirelessly supplied to me by Jim Roggentine and the information about Iowa's pioneer radio stations given to me by broadcast historian Rick Plummer. Hugh Carlson, Marsha Washington George, Frank Bequaert (of Rainy Day Books), Ada Fitzsimmons, Dale Manesis, David G. Hintz (radio coordinator of the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and Museum), and Mrs. Tommy Smalls also were generous with their assistance. Dick Judge, Peter Kanze and Max Schmeid supplied me with some important recorded materials. Dave Siegel also provided me with hard to find program recordings and helpful advice. Finally, my special thanks go to Glenn McDonald, the grandson of Gleason Archer and Polly Willis Archer, two broadcasting pioneers. McDonald, a radio correspondent for United Press, who covered the Vietnam War among other assignments, is not included in this book because he was too young to have broadcast during Radio's Golden Age. He was very helpful to me, supplying me with many of the writings of Gleason Archer and arranging for me to speak with his grandmother, Polly Willis Archer, who sang and played the piano on Chicago's KYW in 1923. My talks with her were both inspiring and informative. It is early broadcasters like her that I want to make sure are recognized.

Finally, I welcome correction of any errors of commission or omission this book contains. Since this is a work in progress, its scope and accuracy can and should be improved with the additional information and corrections others can supply. Those with additions and corrections should send them to the author in care of the publisher. I will acknowledge all responses with thanks. The names and work of pioneer broadcasters should be recognized and recorded before they are lost.

Introduction

Radio was magic. There were no wires or phonograph records. Music and voices just came out of the air into the home. For many Americans in 1922, at least, it seemed like magic to hear these sounds coming from a piece of living room furniture. Other listeners picked the sounds from out of the air by delicately tuning the “cat’s whiskers” of their tiny crystal receivers. These crystal receiving sets worked most of the time. If the set did go dead, the owner frantically moved the “cat’s whisker” to another part of the crystal. If he still could not hear anything, he added a drop of rubbing alcohol to the crystal. As a last resort, he might even bake the crystal in the oven for a few minutes.

Radio provided an exciting new experience for listeners. Many Americans found romance, thrills and excitement in this new invention. Nothing caught the imagination of Americans in the second decade of the twentieth century as much as radio. Variety’s front page headline on March 10, 1922, read: “RADIO SWEEPING COUNTRY—1,000,000 SETS IN USE.” Frederick Lewis Allen has noted that although there was no such thing as radio in the autumn of 1920, by 1922 radio had become a craze (Allen, 1931, p. 165).

Early radio stations broadcast for only a few hours each day and many of them did not broadcast during daytime hours. Others for many years did not broadcast on Sunday. Although at first Americans could only listen a few hours a day, they were fascinated by what they heard and wanted more. Soon they got it. Dunston’s Radio Log and Call Book for 1926 reported that station WEAJ (New York, N.Y.) was broadcasting an average of seven hours a day, excluding Sunday, and that hundreds of stations were on the air. In the middle 1920s, there was a rapid growth of stations with expanded broadcast schedules.

DX-ing, the practice of listening for stations from distant cities, became a popular pastime for many listeners. Variations on the practice of Radio Golf also became popular. Radio Broadcasting News (January 6, 1923, p. 14) described Radio Golf for its readers in this way:

The game was suggested by Frank H. Jones of Tuinucu, Cuba. It is a gentlemen’s game and each person keeps his own score. The method of scoring is as follows:

Let each person make a list of the stations he has heard, and opposite each station give the distance in miles from his location. The total score is found by adding up the miles thus listed. In order to make the game interesting, and permit a great number of persons to participate, it is suggested that only such stations be listed as have been heard on detector tube, without amplification except that obtained by regenerative action of tickler coil or similar regeneration. The distance between your station and the one heard can be easily estimated by scaling the distance on an ordinary map.

Some of the radio golf scores the issue contained were:

Milton L. Johnson, Atchison, Kansas	83,470
L.C. Davis, Berea, Kentucky	71,345
Frank H. Jones, Tuinucu, Cuba	65,000

DX-ing in its many forms excited radio’s listeners.

Annual radio sales soared. The $842,548,000 sales of radio sets in 1929 was a 1,400 percent increase over the 1922 figures (Allen, 1931, p. 165):

1922	$60,000,000	1926	$506,000,000
1923	$136,000,000	1927	$425,600,000
1924	$358,000,000	1928	$650,550,000
1925	$430,000,000	1929	$842,548,000

Always aware of the changing patterns of show business and entertainment in general, Variety carried articles about broadcasting from radio’s earliest days. The first formal reviews of radio programs, however, did not begin until January 7, 1931, when Variety’s “Radio Reports” page first appeared with reviews of Phil Spitalny and his orchestra, Ted Lewis, Gus Van and others.

If radio reflected the lifestyles of Americans, it also changed the way they thought, acted and even spoke. Taken for granted until it had virtually disappeared, radio’s Golden Age was a cornucopia of creativity and talent. Radio broadcasting entertained, informed and maintained morale during the Great Depression, World War II and into the burgeoning postwar period — and did so at no charge to its listeners other than the initial purchase of a receiver. In the fifties, radio fought an unsuccessful rear guard action against television, only to lose its stars, programs, advertisers and much of its audience to that medium, much as vaudeville years before had been overtaken by radio and motion pictures.

For many Americans, mystery, adventure and some children's programs provided vicarious thrills and excitement, being virtual auditory comic strips. Radio was at its best with its comedy, music and dramatic programming. The birth of broadcast journalism as we know it today can be found in the development of great radio news-gathering organizations and the broadcasting of momentous events (the Munich Crisis, D-Day and FDR's death).

Some critics have suggested that radio introduced greater informality into national life. If so, a similar transformation can also be seen in the transition of radio's formal manners (performing in full-dress to broadcast) and the use of overly precise articulation in its early days to the changes reflected by Bing Crosby's floral sports shirts, his casual, conversational broadcast style and his use of magnetic recording tape on his broadcasts. In some instances radio programs appeared to change listener behavior. One example is that of daytime serials ("soap operas"), where the behavior modification technique known as "modeling" provided some possible solutions for many women facing genuine personal problems.

Radio, like comic strips and jazz, was a uniquely American contribution, although other nations did make a few notable contributions to its development. American radio of the Golden Age operated with an efficiency and élan never duplicated before or since. For example, neither radio nor television broadcasting during the Korean or Vietnam war provided a fraction of the positive morale boosting that radio provided during World War II.

Although the work of famous radio performers such as Jack Benny, Fred Allen and Bing Crosby has been preserved on recordings and discussed extensively, there were thousands of other performers and hundreds of programs that have gone largely unnoticed. No recordings exist of these early broadcasts. We are dependent on accounts of them from newspapers and magazines of the period, and on the memories of performers and listeners. Unfortunately, as time passes memories fade and printed records disappear or deteriorate. The author has seen many important printed source materials literally crumble into dust because they were not preserved by micro-filming for the use of future scholars.

This book attempts to remedy the situation by identifying some of those broadcasters and their programs from 1920 to 1960. It ends at 1960 because then ended a significant era in American radio history. By that time, not only had many comedians and programs made the transition from radio to television, but almost all the old favorite radio shows had gone off the air. Then, too, when the radio was turned on, instead of the music of Les Brown or Benny Goodman, it was more likely to play a group with a name like Mama Ego and the Little Ids. One era of radio clearly had ended. Perhaps this book will help to preserve the memories of that great era.

A note on this book's organization: American radio began with the work of individual performers. There were few, if any, programs in the beginning. Singers, musicians, readers, monologists and announcers were some of the varied performers who broadcast in radio's early years. Announcers were the first important figures. They seemed to be glamorous, romantic and mysterious figures. In the early days they were identified only by initials — not always their own. Famous announcer Tommy Cowan, for example, identified himself on the air as AAC.

There were only a few programs broadcast during radio's first decade. Individual performers predominated. True, there were a few early programs such as the Eveready Hour and the Nighthawk Frolic, but they were exceptions. It was the growth and development of network radio — called "chains" in the early days — that helped usher in the use of the "program" format. It was not until the end of the medium's first decade that the networks began to play a major role in broadcasting. Although the network programming concept was well established by 1929, some unaffiliated stations continued to present individuals as their basic programming unit. In order to reflect the nature of American radio as it developed, this book arbitrarily assigns that year (1929) as the last one that individual performers were a significant programming unit. Beginning with 1930, programs are considered the basic programming unit.

Entries prior to 1930, therefore, reflect the work of announcers, singers, musicians, vocal and instrumental groups, newscasters and commentators and actors individually. Program entries, on the other hand, are included from their earliest appearance to 1960. After 1929, individual entries are made only for newscasters, commentators, female commentators and home economists, DJs, singers, musicians, vocal groups and bands providing they had their own programs. If they appeared on another program, their work is recorded as part of the entry for that programming unit. Such a pattern of organization reflects the structure of the growth and development of American radio from its beginning.

Separate entries are included for special topics such as:

BLACK RADIO
 BORDER RADIO
 CHARLATANS, DEMAGOGUES AND POLITICIANS
 COMEDY AND HUMOR
 COMMERCIALS
 COUNTRY-WESTERN (CW) MUSIC ON RADIO
 DAYTIME SERIALS ("SOAP OPERAS")
 DRAMA
 FOREIGN LANGUAGE BROADCASTS
 MUSIC ON RADIO NETWORKS
 NEWS ON RADIO OPERA
 RELIGIOUS BROADCASTING
 ROCK AND ROLL HALL OF FAME AND MUSEUM

How to Use This Encyclopedia

Entries for all individual performers prior to 1930 and newscasters, commentators, singers, vocal and instrumental groups, DJs, and female commentators or home economists with their own programs are listed alphabetically by surname:

Bertha Brainard	as	Brainard, Bertha
Thomas Cowan	as	Cowan, Thomas "Tommy"
Alan Freed	as	Freed, Alan "Moondog"

All programs are listed alphabetically by title, excluding articles such as a, an and the:

The Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin Street	as	(The) Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin Street
The Davey Hour	as	(The) Davey Hour
The Fred Allen Show	as	(The) Fred Allen Show
Grand Central Station	as	Grand Central Station

The work of individual performers after 1929 without programs of their own is included in the entries for the programs on which they worked.

Many broadcasters used professional names instead of their own given names. When known their alternate name is provided in parentheses:

Reed, Theodore Alan (Teddy Bergman)
Ad Weinert (Lee Stevens)

The index should always be used in case there are several entries that might provide information about an individual's work.

Over the years, some radio stations appeared, disappeared and changed locations, only to reappear later with different call letters. When a station is mentioned within an entry, the location cited is correct for the time relevant to the entry — for example, during the years when a particular program was broadcast.

In this book's coverage of radio's first decade, individual broadcasters, such as announcers, musicians, singers and readers, are given individual entries, because performers, not programs, were the basic broadcasting unit. There were few programs listed as such in the 1920s. In coverage of the later years, when programs became the basic unit, entries are made for programs, with any individuals who appeared on them included in the entry.

For example, in the 1920s Will Rogers receives an individual entry for his broadcast appearances. In the next decade, however, when he was a regular performer on the Gulf Oil Program in 1933, his work is included in the Gulf Program entry. The Jack Benny Show entry includes mention of Mary Livingstone, Phil Harris, Dennis Day, Mel Blanc, Don Wilson and, of course, Jack Benny. The program's announcer, Don Wilson, receives a separate entry because of his work in the 1920s.

Entries for newscasters, news commentators, sportscasters and orchestra leaders are not biographical. Instead, entries focus primarily on their verified professional broadcasting appearances. In some instances, chronological gaps in a broadcaster's work might reflect job changes, military service or illness.

A typical information line in a program entry includes (when the information is available) data such as duration, day of broadcast, time of broadcast, station and its location, and year of broadcast. For example:

(15 min., Tuesday, 6:00–6:15 P.M., WBAL, Baltimore, MD, 1935).

The length of time a program was broadcast is supplied when available. The best source for the years the programs were on the air is Jay Hickerson's (1996) The New Revised Ultimate History of Network Radio Programming and Guide to All Circulating Shows and Harrison B. Summers' (1958) Thirty-Year History of Programs Carried on National Networks in the United States—1926–1956.

A few special abbreviations bear mention here. Programs are designated as:

inst. mus. prg.	Instrumental Music Program
vel. mus. prg.	Vocal Music Program
syn.	Syndicated
trans.	Transcribed

Abbreviations used to identify orchestral instrumentation are as follows:

a.	arranger
acc.	accordion
as.	alto saxophone
bar.	baritone saxophone
bj.	banjo
bh.	bass horn
bss.	bassoon
bsx.	bass saxophone
cnm.	concertmaster
con.	conductor
c.	cornet
clr.	clarinet
dir.	director or directed by
d.	drums
eh.	English horn
elg.	electric guitar
f.	flute
g.	guitar
h.	horn
ha.	harmonica
hp.	harp
ldr.	leader
m.	melophone
o.	oboe
or.	organ
p.	piano
pac.	piano accordion
pe.	percussion
pi.	piccolo
s.	saxophone
sb.	string bass
ss.	soprano saxophone
stg.	steel guitar
t.	trumpet
tba.	tuba
tb.	trombone
ts.	tenor saxophone
ty.	tympani
u.	ukulele
v.	violin
vc.	violoncello
vb.	vibraphone
vl.	viola
vcls.	vocals
x.	xylophone

Network abbreviations used are:

AFRS	Armed Forces Radio
ABC	American Broadcasting Company
ABS	Amalgamated Broadcasting System
CBS	Columbia Broadcasting System

MBS	Mutual Broadcasting System
NBC	National Broadcasting Company

Women in early radio did not always receive the recognition they deserved. At times, knowledgeable female commentators were lumped together and designated as “home economists” when they conducted “women’s programs.” This book uses the designation COM-HE to identify such broadcasters.

An explanation of the language found in this book may be useful for those who think some of it insensitive. The language reflects the original sources or periodical accounts. An example of this is the weekly broadcast schedule published for its listeners by station KSTP (St. Paul, MN). It illustrates the language that was in general use in 1928:

Uncle Tom, baritone soloist, will sing two Negro spirituals on the Dusk in Dixie program to be broadcast from KSTP, the National Battery Station, Sunday, November 15 between 8:00 and 8:30 P.M. He has selected “Going Up” and “Ride On Moses” as his offerings for this weekly period of southern music.

As usual the program will open with the stirring strains of “Dixie” and the half hour will include:

Orchestra — The Raccoon and the Bee — Beyer
 Orchestra — Reminiscences of the South — Solomon Baritone Solo — Going Up
 Orchestra — A Little Bit of Honey — Bond
 Orchestra — A Pickaninny Parol — Strauss
 Baritone Solo — Ride On Moses
 Orchestra — Frolic of the Coons

In quoting such sources the intent is not to disregard the significant changes to our language that have occurred over the course of the twentieth century, but to record broadcasting history with the greatest possible accuracy. At times, however, the accuracy of even original sources should be questioned.

Although original sources are considered to be the most accurate basis for the information in this book, at times it was necessary to attempt verification by cross-checking sources. Sometimes even well respected sources contained obvious errors. For example, one of them contained a listing for the D’Orsey Orchestra that actually was a listing for a Tommy Dorsey remote broadcast. When original sources were in conflict about the spelling of a name and no definitive verification was available, possible spelling variations are provided in brackets:

Gabrilowitsch, Ossip [Ossyp]
Gaslight Gayeties [Gaities]
 Goodelle, Niela [Nina].

1 (The) A&P Bandwagon. "Song Bird of the South" Kate Smith was host of the A&P Bandwagon, a variety program sponsored by the A&P Food Company. Variety said the program's chief purpose was to break the time-spot supremacy long held by Rudy Vallee's Fleishmann Hour. Although never a serious threat to Vallee's popularity, the A&P Bandwagon did present entertaining variety fare along with Smith's beautiful singing voice. Comedians Clyde Hager and Henny Youngman appeared on the program as guests. Jack Miller's orchestra and announcers Andre Baruch and Ted Collins were also program regulars (60 min., Thursday, 8:00–9:00 P.M., CBS, 1936).

2 A&P Coffee Time. Kate Smith sang and hosted the variety program, backed by the Jack Miller Orchestra. Frank Galop was the announcer (15 min., Tuesday through Thursday, 7:30–7:45 P.M., CBS, 1935).

3 (The) A&P Gypsies (Orchestra). WEAf (New York, NY) broadcast the first radio appearance of the pioneer radio orchestra in 1923. When they played on WOO (Philadelphia, PA) in 1925, the A&P Gypsies contained only five string players led by Henry Horlick. The Gypsies eventually grew into a 32-piece concert orchestra sponsored, of course, by the A&P Food Company. Jessica Dragonette occasionally sang with the orchestra in 1927. The program was announced, first, by Phil Carlin and, later, by Ed Thorgersen. Typical songs featured were "Shadows of the East" and "Black Eyes."

In 1930, the A&P Gypsies were a 27-piece concert orchestra with vocalists, including tenor Oliver Smith, a male vocal quartet and a string sextet. Milton J. Cross was the announcer (60 min., Monday, 8:30–9:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1930). Later, tenor Frank Parker and bass Emile Cote sang with the Gypsies. Tenor Jan Peerce and the blackface comedy team of Molasses and January were program regulars in 1932. Tenor Ben Klassen replaced Jan Peerce in 1935.

4 A&P Gypsy String Ensemble. Classical music group composed of members of the A&P Gypsies Orchestra (WCAE, Pittsburgh, PA, 1925.)

5 A.L. Alexander's Good Will Court (aka Goodwill Court). A.L. Alexander conducted the informative program on which free legal advice was provided persons who were willing to tell their stories on the air. The program was sponsored by Chase and Sanborn Coffee. After only a short time on the air, the New York State Supreme Court issued a statement that prevented all New York lawyers and judges from appearing on the program. The show then left the air (30 min., Weekly, NBC, 1936). See also A.L. Alexander's Mediation Board.

6 A.L. Alexander's Mediation Board (aka A.L. Alexander's Arbitration Program). Alexander, who had previously produced and moderated A.L. Alexander's Good Will Court program, conducted this one where a judgment was reached by a board of four arbitrators. Instead of the lawyers he had used in his previous series, Alexander this time used a panel of educators and social workers, since a New York lawyers' group had protested against his previous Alexander's Good Will Court program. The sustaining program originated from New York City (60 min., Friday, 9:00–10:00 P.M., WHN, New York, NY, 1939).

7 Aaker, Tom. Newscaster (KROC, Rochester, MN, 1960).

8 Aalbu Sisters. Veteran vaudeville singing team, Vera and Aileen, were radio pioneers (WCCO, Minneapolis–St. Paul, MN, 1925).

9 Aanderson, Bob. Sports (The Sports Show, WNOP, Newport, KY, 1960).

10 Aaroe, Alden. Newscaster (WCHV, Charlottesville, VA, 1939–1941).

11 Aaronson, Irving. Orchestra leader (Irving Aaronson and his Commanders, KFWB, Hollywood, CA, 1929; Irving Aaronson Orchestra, NBC, 1935; WOR, Newark, NJ, 1936; WOR, 1942).

12 Abaray, John. DJ (WBIS, Bristol, CT, 1960).

13 Abas, Nathan. Director, Nathan Abas's Hotel Pennsylvania Orchestra (WJZ, New York, NY, 1925). Violin soloist (KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1927).

14 Abas String Quartet. Instrumental group including Nathan Abas, violinist; Julian Brodetzky, violinist; Michel Penha, cellist; Roman Joseph Verney, viola (KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1929).

15 Abbe, James. Newscaster (KWYO, Sheridan, WY, 1940–1941; KGW, Portland, OR, 1944; James Abbe Observes, KGO, San Francisco, CA, 1946–1947; James Abbe Observes the News, KSJO, San Jose, CA, 1949).

16 Abbey, Jean. COM-HE (Shopping Talk, 15 min., Monday, 9:00–9:15 A.M., WJR, Detroit, MI, 1935).

17 Abbott, Ade. Sportscaster (K GAR, Tucson, AZ, 1938–1939).

18 Abbott, Betty. "Girl baritone" (KHJ, Los Angeles, CA, 1925).

19 Abbott, Bob. DJ (1+80 Club, KAUS, Austin, MN, 1948–1952; KMMT Austin, MN, 1955. Newscaster: KMMT, 1955).

20 Abbott, Bud. DJ (Abbott Habit, WHAS Louisville, KY, 1949).

21 Abbott, Carroll. Sportscaster (KERV, Kerrville, TX, 1956).

33 (The Abbott and Costello Show). The ex-vaudeville and burlesque team of Bud Abbott and Lou Costello survived and flourished during the age of radio and television. They also starred in numerous motion pictures, often doing little more than repeating their old vaudeville routines. One of the typical burlesque gags they used was:

LOU: Where do all the little bugs go?
BUD: Search me.

The boys began working as a team in 1936. They made their radio debut on the Kate Smith Show in 1938 and continued appearing there through 1940, when their own show first appeared as a summer replacement. It became a network feature in 1942.

They introduced their famous "Who's on First?" routine in 1938, a routine they had used years before on stage. Costello's trademark was his plaintive call: "H-e-y-y Abb-ott." Writers for the program were: Ed Cherkose, Paul Conlan, Pat Costello, Don Pringle, Martin A. Ragaway and Len Stern. The orchestras that performed on their NBC program were led by Will Osborne, Leith Stevens and Skinnay Ennis, featuring such vocalists as Marilyn Maxwell and Connie Haines. Ken Niles was the announcer. Sound effects were produced by Floyd Caton (30 min., ABC and NBC, 1940-1949). On their ABC program, they featured vocalist Susan Miller and the Matty Malneck Orchestra. Michael Roy was the announcer.

34 (The Abbott and Costello Kids Show). Abbott and Costello hosted the Saturday morning program for children. Young talent appeared on the program that also included quizzes and games (30 min., Saturday A.M., ABC, 1947-1949).

35 (The Abbott Mysteries). Helbros Watch Company sponsored the mystery program that Variety called a weak imitation of The Thin Man. Adapted from the "Pat Abbott" novels of Frances Crane, Howard Merrill wrote the radio scripts and Roger Bower directed the program. The program began as Helbros' summer replacement for Quick as a Flash on MBS. When the program returned to the air on NBC in 1954, it was renamed The Adventures of the Abbotts. Chuck Webster and Julie Stevens were the first to play Pat Abbott, a smart-aleck private detective and his wife, Jean, who managed each week to bicker their way to the successful solution of a murder mystery. Les Tremayne and Alice Reinheart later played the title roles. Also in the cast were: Elspeth Eric, Ted Osborne, Jean Ellyn, Luis Van Rooten, Sidney Slon and Louis Sorin. Music was supplied by Albert Burhman's orchestra. Cy Harrice was the announcer (30 min., P.M., MBS and NBC).

36 Abbott's Radio Star Revue. Baritone Martin Bills and operatic soprano Josephine Lucchese appeared weekly on the music program sponsored by Abbott's Diaries. Arthur Morgan was the announcer (15 min., Monday, 7:45-8:00 P.M., KYW, Philadelphia, PA, 1936).

37 ABC Safety Club. The program, intended for children ages three to twelve, sought to teach the need for safety. Emphasis was placed on watching out for traffic on the way to school, not playing with matches and avoiding scalding hot water from the faucet (KVOO, Tulsa, OK, 1927).

38 Abdou, Gloria. COM-HE (WCAE, Pittsburgh, PA, 1956-1957).

39 (The Abe Burrows Show). Versatile comedian-writer-composer Burrows was featured on the 15-minute comedy program. The talented Burrows mixed his funny commentary with performances of his own compositions. He performed his comedy routines and sang his song creations accompanied by the Milton Delugg Quartet. The program ran for only 29 weeks (15 min., P.M., CBS, 1948).

53 Abie's Irish Rose. The situation comedy sponsored by Drene shampoo was first broadcast in 1942. It was based on the popular, long-running Broadway play by the same name written by Anne Nichols. The premise and the basis for most of its humor was the courtship and marriage of a Jewish boy with an Irish Catholic girl. Sydney Smith and Betty Winkler originated the roles of Abie and his Rosemary. Actors who appeared on the program were: Bill Adams, Charne Allen, Anna Appel, Joe Boland, Richard Bond, Clayton "Bud" Collyer, Richard Coogan, Paul Douglas, Carl Eastman, Florence Freeman, Dolores Gillen, Walter Kinsella, Mercedes McCambridge, Amanda Randolph, Alan Reed (Teddy Bergman), Marion Shockley, Menasha Skulnik, Sydney Smith, Julie Stevens, Fred Sullivan, Ann Thomas, Marion White and Betty Winkler. First broadcast in 1932, the format had the program's announcer visiting Captain and Mrs. Diamond at their light house residence. The Captain would then tell his weekly story (30 min., Sunday, 3:00-3:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1936).

- 188 (The Adventures of Casanova). Even Errol Flynn in the title role failed to lift the dramatic series above the level of the average adventure program. William Robson wrote, produced and directed the program. Music was supplied by Walter Schumann (30 min., Thursday, 8:00-8:30 P.M., MBS, 1952).

189 (The) Adventures of Dr. Doolittle. The 15-minute daytime children's serial program was based on the Dr. Doolittle stories of Hugh Loftus (Transcribed, 15 min., Tuesday & Thursday, 5:30–5:45 P.M.).

190 (The) Adventures of Frank Merriwell. The exploits of Frank Merriwell, the fictional creation of author Phil Strong, formed the basis for the dramatic serial for children Lawson Zerbe, Jean Gillespie, Harold Studer and Al Hodge were in the cast (30 min., Saturday, 10:00–10:30 A.M., NBC-Red, New York, NY, 1946).

191 (The) Adventures of Frank Race. Buckley Angell wrote and Joel Murcott produced the transcribed dramatic adventure series loosely based on the life of adventurer Frank Race. Tom Collins played the title role on the program that unfortunately never provided the excitement a good adventure series needed to attract listeners (30 min., Saturday, 10:00–10:30 P.M., WINS, New York, NY, 1949).

192 (The) Adventures of Helen and Mary. An early serial drama for children (30 min., Saturday, 12:00–12:30 P.M., CBS, 1929).

193 (The) Adventures of Judge Quaker State. Quaker State Oil Company sponsored the weekly daytime serial that told the story of a genial old judge played by John Ince (KFAC, Los Angeles, CA, 1932).

194 (The) Adventures of Maisie. Ann Sothorn played the role of secretary Maisie Revere, whose funny escapades made this a popular show. Written by Arthur Phillips and John L. Green, the music was provided by Harry Zimmerman. In addition to Sothorn the cast included: Laurene Tuttle, Howard McNear, Gerald Mohr, Peter Leeds, William Conrad, Hans Conreid, Frank Nelson, Stanley Waxman, Herb Butterfield, Elvia Allman, Hal Gerard, Hy Averbach, Bea Benadaret, Bob Cole, Will Wright, Sandra Gould, Sheldon Leonard, Joan Banks, Byron Kane, Edgar Barrier, Stanley Miller, Tommy Bernard, Griff Bernard, Sammy Hill, Ernest Whitman, Roy Glenn, GeGe Pearson, Arthur Q. Bryan, Marvin Miller, Earl Lee, Wally Maher, Pat McGeehan, John McGovern, Jerry Hausner, Barney Phillips, Henry Bartel, Isabel Randolph, Ed Macks, Donald Woods and Norman Fields (30 min., CBS & MBS, 1945–1952).

195 (The) Adventures of Mr. Meek. Lever Brothers Company sponsored the dramatic series that was virtually a reverse mirror image of One Man's Family. The program portrayed the life of a milktoast, Mortimer Meek. Meek was played by Frank Readick and his wife by Adelaide Klein. Jack Smart and Doris Dudley also appeared as members of the Meek family (30 min., Wednesday, 7:30–8:00 P.M., WABC-CBS, 1940).

196 (The) Adventures of Philip Marlowe. Pepsodent Toothpaste sponsored the program that was originally broadcast as a summer replacement for the Bob Hope Show in 1947 on NBC. Van Heflin originated the role of Raymond Chandler's tough private eye on the exciting dramatic series. When the program went on the CBS regular schedule, Marlowe was played by Gerald Mohr. The program's writers were Gene Levitt and Robert Mitchell. Norman Macdonnell was the producer-director. Sound effects were produced by Clark Casey and Cliff Thorsness (30 min., P.M. weekly, NBC and CBS, 1947–1951). When Gerald Mohr played Marlowe the program began with him saying: "Get this and get it straight! Crime is a sucker's road and those who travel it wind up in the gutter, the prison or the grave." In a later version, the announcer followed this opening statement by saying: "From the pen of Raymond Chandler, outstanding author of crime fiction, comes his most famous character in The Adventures of Philip Marlowe ... now with Gerald Horn starring as Philip Marlowe we bring you tonight's transcribed story "The Headless Peacock."

197 (The) Adventures of Pinocchio. The quarter-hour transcribed serial program for children was based on the story of a puppet who turned into a mischievous little boy. Music was supplied by Paul Sawtelle.

198 (The) Adventures of Sam and Dick. Children's serial drama (15 min., Monday, 4:45–5:00 P.M., NBC).

199 (The) Adventures of Sonny and Buddy. The daytime children's serial told the story of two talented young singers who were kidnapped by a traveling medicine show operator. The operator's daughter, Beth, and Charcoal, a black helper, also appeared in the story. Sonny and Buddy performed in blackface as Rastus and Sambo, accompanied by Beth who played the piano with Charcoal on banjo. While traveling with the medicine show, the children experienced many adventures (Transcribed, 15 min., probably mid-1930s).

200 (The) Adventures of the Falcon. The program opened with the announcement: "Once again the National Broadcasting Company brings you The Adventures of the Falcon starring Les Damon. The transcribed Adventures of the Falcon are dedicated to private investigators everywhere, who, like Mike Waring, risk their lives to aid law enforcement agencies. So join him now when the Falcon solves The Case of the Amorous Bookkeeper" (30 min., 1950–1952). Originally introduced in a short story by Michael Arlen as Gay Stanhope Falcon, the main character's name was changed several times when he appeared in motion pictures and on radio. In the movies he was known as Gay Lawrence and Tom Lawrence. Tom took over the role of the Falcon when his brother, Gay, was killed. On the radio, however, he was known as Michael Waring. On the earlier programs he was introduced as "that freelance detective who's always ready with a hand for oppressed men and an eye for repressed women." The other actors who played the title role over the years were: Barry Kroeger, Les Damon, James Meighan, George Petrie and Les Tremayne. Music was provided by the orchestras of Emerson Buckley and Harry Sosnik and organist Bob Hamilton. Ross Dunbar and Ed Herlihy were the announcers. The program appeared on ABC, MBS and NBC at various times between 1943 and 1954.

201 Adventures with Stamps. Ernest A. Kehr and his guests talked about stamps and stamp collecting on the weekly sustaining program. Dick Bradley was the announcer (15 min., Tuesday, 9:00–9:15 P.M., WNEW, 1949).

202 Aeolian Ensemble. Musical group (Aeolian Ensemble, instr. mus. prg., CBS, 1939).

203 Aeolian Quartet of the Kold and Dill Company. Vocal group (KGY, Lacey, WA, 1922).

204 Aeolian Trio. Instrumental trio comprised of violinist Jeanete Rauhut, cellist Doris Eckler and pianist-organist Harriett Poole (KFWM, Oakland, CA, 1929).

205 Aerial Serenaders. Instrumental trio consisting of Minnie von Bremen, zither; Berthl Schaeberle, zither; and Carl Schaeberle, violin (KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1927).

206 Aerials. The Aerials were a popular male quartet that included tenors Eugene Dressler and Paul Mallory, baritone Fred Hunty and bass Frank Collins (WMAQ, Chicago, IL and WQJ, Chicago, IL, 1928).

207 (The) Affairs of Ann Scotland. Arlene Francis played the title role of Ann Scotland, a female detective who combined great personal charm with a breezy manner. The program was written by Barbara Owens and directed by Helen Mack. In addition to Francis, the cast included: Howard McNear, David Ellis, Cathy Lewis and Howard Duff (30 min., Wednesday, 9:00–9:30 P.M., WJZ, New York, NY, 1946).

208 (The) Affairs of Peter Salem. Louis Vittes wrote the interesting sustaining program about a clever small town detective played by Santos Ortega. Also in the cast were Jack Grimes, Everett Sloane, Luis Van Rooten, Ann Sheperd and Jean Elynn. The program was produced by Himan Brown and directed by Mende Brown. Adrian Penner produced the sound effects (30 min., Saturday, 2:30–3:00 P.M., MBS, 1949).

209 (The) Affairs of Roland. Romantic singer Harry Stockwell was featured on the program sponsored by Sensation (Calipygian) Corsets (15 min., Tuesday evening, WOR, Newark, NJ, 1935).

210 (The) Affairs of the Heart. Betsy Logan offered advice to lovelorn listeners on this program (WIDAR, Philadelphia, PA, 1923).

211 (The) Affairs of Tom, Dick and Harry. Marlin Hurt along with Bud and Harry Vandover were a popular Chicago vocal trio. On the sustaining program the trio sang and presented clever comedy sketches. Guest female vocalists made regular appearances. Robert Trendler's orchestra provided the music (30 min., Monday, 9:30–10:00 P.M., C.S.T., MBS, 1941).

212 Affectionately Yours. Tenor Ken Ward, accompanied by organist Shirley Fenne, presented romantic songs on the local music program broadcast five times weekly (15 min., weekdays, 11:00–11:15 A.M., WTAM, Cleveland, OH, 1947).

213 Afield with Ranger Mac. Ranger Mac, portrayed by Wakelin McNeel, conducted the program of nature lore and woodland stories for 17 years on WHA (Madison, WI).

214 Afman, Fred. Sportscaster (WMUU, Greenville, SC, 1952).

215 Afriston, John. Newscaster (Observations, KCSB, San Bernardino, CA, 1948).

216 Afspung, William. Reader (WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1923).

217 (The) After TV Show. This show brings back memories of television's early days when television stations went off the air at midnight. The radio program supposedly was designed for those who had shut off their TV sets and wanted to listen to some pleasant cowboy-western music. Tex Ferguson and his western musical group provided that music (60 min., Saturday and Sunday, 12:00 midnight to 1:00 A.M., WOKO, Albany, NY, 1952).

218 (The) Afternoon News. Newscasters on the daily program were Wallace Fanning, Joseph McCaffrey, Les Higbe and Everett Holles (15 min., Weekdays, MBS, 1954).

219 Against the Storm. Sandra Michael wrote the Peabody Award winning daytime serial that began in 1939 on NBC. Sponsored by Procter & Gamble, the story was about Professor Jason Allen's attempts to warn of the danger of fascism. Shortly after winning the Peabody Award in 1942, the serial went off the air due to a dispute about program content. Roger deKoven played Professor Allen and May Seymour his wife in the first version of the program.

In 1949 when the program returned on MBS, it was sponsored by Phillip Morris cigarettes. This time the story was about Professor Allen and the struggle of liberal faculty members against the conservatives at the college at which he taught. When the program returned for still a third time in 1951, once again it was sponsored by Phillip Morris. This time the program was carried by ABC and told the story of Allen, a professor of English, beginning employment at a new college. His problems were both academic and domestic, as he worried about his daughter's romantic life and his colleagues' antics. Members of the cast over the years included: Joan Alexander, Leslie Bingham, Sarah Burton, Philip Clarke, Edward Corben, Roger DeKoven, Alan Devitt, Jane Erskine, Delores Gillian, Charlotte Holland, Mona Hungerford, Mary Hunter, Rex Ingram, Michael Ingram, Lenore Kingston, Florence Malone, Ian Martin, Ruth Matteson, Eddie Maychoff, James Meighan, James Monks, Claudia Morgan, Arnold Moss, Ethel Owen, William Quinn, Katherine Raht, Elliott Reid, Alexander Scourby, Anne Seymour, May Davenport, Robert Shayne, Lotte Stovsky, Chester Stratton, Joan Tompkins, Walter Vaughn, Sam Wanamaker, Gertrude Warner, and Lawson Zerbe. The announcers were Nelson Case, Ralph Edwards and Richard Stark. Gifted Sandra Michael was the writer and Axel Gruenberg the director (15 min., NBC, MBS and ABC).

220 Agard, Frederick. Tenor (WEBH, Chicago, IL, 1924 and WHT, Chicago, IL, 1925).

221 Agatha Christie's Poirot. Poirot, Christie's famous Belgian detective, was presented in the half-hour mystery program (30 min., Thursday, 8:30-9:00 P.M., MBS, 1945). An interesting feature was the introduction of each program by Agatha Christie via shortwave from London (30 min., Thursday, 8:30-9:00 P.M., MBS, 1945). Sometimes the program is referred to simply as Hercule Poirot.

222 Agee, Bob. Newscaster (WBIR, Knoxville, TN, 1953). DJ (WBIR, 1954-1955).

223 Agee, Jewell. Pianist on experimental station 5 ACW (Fort Smith, AR, 1922).

224 Agee, Olivia. Violinist who also performed on the Fort Smith, Arkansas, experimental station, 5 ACW in 1922.

225 Agee, Lester "Les." DJ (Melody Market, KRHD, Duncan, OK, 1952-1955).

226 Agee, Tom. DJ (WINA, Charlottesville, VA, 1957).

227 Agnew, Charlie. Leader (Charlie Agnew Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WGN, Chicago, IL, 1939; WMAQ, Chicago, IL, 1939; MBS, 1940; WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1942).

228 Agnew, Theodore J. "Ted." Sports-caster (Sportsbook Sportscope, KUBC, Montrose, CA, 1948). DJ (Club #3, KSMA, Santa Maria, CA, 1949).

229 Agnew, Sam. Sportscaster (WKRC, Cincinnati, OH, 1940).

230 Agrait, Gustavo. Newscaster (WIPR, San Juan, PR, 1952).

231 Agresta, Phil. Sportscaster (WBT, Charlotte, NC, 1951-1954). Newscaster (WBT, 1953-1956).

232 Agronsky, Martin. News commentator (NBC-Blue, 1944; ABC and WMAL, Washington, DC, 1945-1954; Events of the Day, WABC, New York, NY, 1955; News of the Hour and Emphasis, NBC, Washington, DC, 1960). Agronsky was an extremely liberal news commentator during his entire career.

233 Ahearn, Jack. Sportscaster (Scholastic Sports, WITB, Baltimore, MD, 1947).

234 Ahearn, Richard. DJ (Bandstand, WKRT, Cortland, NY, 1954).

235 Ahern, (Mrs.) Clara. Leader (Hotel Chisca Philharmonic Orchestra, WMC, Memphis, TN, 1923-24).

240 Ahrens, Walter. Baritone (Walter Ahrens, vcl. mus. prg., WOR, Newark, NJ, 1935-1936).

241 Aichele Novelty Dance Orchestra. Popular local band (WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1923).

242 Aigeltinger, Lester. Singer (Lester Aigeltinger, vcl. mus. prg., WORK, York, PA, 1936).

243 Aiken, Bill. Leader (Bill Aiken Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., KVOR, Colorado Springs, CO, 1940).

244 Aiken, Larry. DJ (WEOA, Evansville, IN, 1957).

245 Aiken, Louis. Newscaster (WINX, Washington, DC, 1945-1946).

246 Aikman, Leola. Soprano (WHT, Chicago, IL, 1926).

247 Ailau, Nubs. Contralto (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1925).

248 Air Cyclopedia. Walter Casey, who conducted the program, claimed that it was the first quiz program for listeners (WMCA, New York, NY, 1930).

249 (The) Air Scout Hour. Marian and Jim Jordan were featured on this show before they achieved popularity on their own Fibber McGee and Molly program (WENR-WBCN, Chicago, IL, 1929-1930).

250 Aird, Tommy. Leader (Tommy Aird Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WPG, Atlantic City, NJ, 1938).

251 Airliners Orchestra. Musical group (Airliners Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., MBS, 1939).

252 Airport Reporter. An airport waiting room served as a studio for Herb Harris and Bob Pollock, where they interviewed passengers arriving in Atlanta (WSB, 1941). When Pollock entered service in World War II, Elmo Ellis took his place. After leaving service, Pollock produced several successful programs before eventually becoming the manager of WSB-AM-FM.

253 Aitkens, Gailes. Newscaster (WAYS, Charlotte, NC, 1944).

254 "AJN." First designation of Milton Cross, when he began announcing at WJZ (New York, NY) and WJY (New York, NY) in 1925. In early radio, announcers and performers were often identified only by initials, incidentally, not necessarily their own. See also Cross, Milton J.

255 Ake, Allan. DJ (KSRC, Socorro, NM, 1960).

256 Aker, Dick. DJ (KTFY, Brownfield, TX, 1954).

257 Akerley, Eugene A. Sportscaster (KID, Idaho Falls, IA, 1948).

258 Akers, Bob. Newscaster (KRIC, Beaumont, TX, 1939-1941; KRIC, 1949; World News, KRIC, 1951).

259 Akers, Carl. Newscaster (KLZ, Denver, CO, 1953).

260 Akers, Dick. Sportscaster (WKBL, Covington, KY, 1956).

261 Akridge, Bing. Sportscaster (WMSD, Muscle Shoals City, AL, 1941).

262 Al and Lee Reiser. Instr. mus. prg. with the popular piano duo of Al and Lee Reiser (NBC, 1935-1938).

263 Al and Pete. Al Cameron from Anderson, Indiana, and Pete Bontsema, who was born in the Netherlands, formed the comedy singing team. Cameron had been a vaudeville performer before teaming with Pete Bontsema on radio. Bontsema was a genuine radio pioneer, one of the original five members of the Red Apple Club program that was broadcast by WCY-WCX. Later in 1929, Al and Pete appeared on KYW (Chicago, IL) and on WBBM (Chicago, IL). They also broadcast in 1929 as the Inspiration Boys on WMAQ (Chicago, IL) and made numerous network appearances. See also The Red Apple Club.

264 Al Bernard and the Merry Minstrels. Veteran radio minstrel man Al Bernard hosted and provided comic turns on the show with such performers such as Emil Casper and tenor Mario Cozzi (NBC, 1935).

265 Al Bernard, Minstrel. Bernard, who previously had broadcast as one of the Raybestos Twins in the 1920s, sang and told jokes on the quarter-hour program (15 min., 11:45 A.M. to 12:00 noon, NBC-Red, 1934).

266 (The) Al Jolson Lifebuoy Show. Lever Brothers sponsored the weekly program, sometimes known as The Lifebuoy Show. Comics Martha Raye, Harry Einstein and Sid Silvers were featured. The star, Al Jolson, was known as the "World's Greatest Entertainer." Music was provided by Lud Gluskin's Orchestra. Tiny Ruffner was the announcer. Variety's critics praised little about the show other than Jolson's singing (30 min., Tuesday, 8:30–9:00 P.M., CBS, 1936–1939).

267 Al Pearce and His Gang. Pearce, who first gained recognition and popularity on West Coast radio, was a comedian blessed with a talented supporting cast. His first version of the "Gang" program, begun in 1932, was 15 minutes in length, although most members of his "gang" had been active since 1927 on West coast radio. After six years of coaxing, Pearce, his brother, Cal, and the gang left California to begin network broadcasting. They came to the NBC-Blue network in 1933. A later network program was broadcast three times a week (15 min., Monday-Wednesday-Friday, 4:00–4:30 P.M. C.S.T., NBC-Red, 1935). Over the years the program's length changed, as did the days it was broadcast. By 1938, for example, Pearce's show was broadcast in two versions by NBC. There was a Friday evening show (30 min., Friday, 8:00–8:30 P.M. C.S.T., NBC-Blue, 1938) and a Monday afternoon version (30 min., Monday, 4:00–4:30 P.M., C.S.T., NBC-Red, 1938).

Pearce created the character of Elmer Blurt, a bumbling door-to-door salesman, whose memorable lines were uttered as he rapped on the door of a prospective customer, "Nobody home. I hope, I hope, I hope." Bill Comstock created the "Tizzie Lish" role. Tizzie gave listeners ridiculous recipes. Other comedienne who added to the fun were Arlene Harris (The Human Chatterbox) and Kitty O'Neil. The other cast members were: Morey Amsterdam, Andy Andrews, Orville Andrews, Artie Auerbach, Harry Foster, Kitty O'Neil, Parker Jennison, Tony Romano, Harry Stewart, Mabel Todd (The Little Ray of Sunshine), Monroe Upton, Hazel Werner and Bill Wright. The program's vocal groups included Marie Green and her Merrie Men and the Three Cheers (E.J. Derry, Travis Hale and Phil Hanna). Pearce's show, in one version or another, was broadcast until 1946. Earlier versions of the show were sometimes called Watch the Fords Go By, Fun Valley and Watch the Fun Go By.

268 (The) Al Trahan Revue. Hudson Motor Car Company sponsored the variety show starring comedian Al Trahan. Graham McNamee hosted the program that also featured music by the singing Saxon Sisters (Grace and Beatrice) and a male singing group consisting of Scrappy Lambert, Randolph Weyant, Leonard Stokes, Robert Moody and Kenneth Christie. Lennie Hayton conducted the orchestra (30 min., Saturday, 10:00–10:30 P.M., NBC-Red Network, New York, NY, 1934).

269 Al X's Dance Orchestra. California band (KMIC, Inglewood, CA, 1928).

270 Alabama Melody Boys. Jazz band (KYW, Chicago, IL, 1923).

271 (The) Alabama Minstrels. Walter Melber, Matthew Mahoney, James Hill, Hank Miller and Eugene O'Haire performed on the radio minstrel show (WGY, Schenectady, NY, 1932).

272 Alabama Troubadours. Vocal group (Alabama Troubadours, vcl. mus. prg., WJR, Detroit, MI, 1935).

273 Aladdin Barn Dance. The early barn dance program presented CW music performed by tenor Hugh Cross (The Smokey Mountain Boy); Karl Davis on mandolin; Hartford Connecticut Taylor on guitar; Slim Miller on violin; and John Lair. Lair, who "played" jug, was the group's leader. The Mantle Lamp Company, manufacturer of Aladdin Lamps, sponsored the program (30 min., Saturday, 8:30–9:00 P.M., WLS, Chicago, IL, 1932).

274 Aladdin Lamp Dramas. Homer Griffith played the part of Jim Higgins, owner, manager, actor and ticket taker at the Aladdin Hayloft Theater where the Aladdin Players performed brief dramatic sketches. The actors included Dorothy McDonald, Agnes Hedrick, Hazel Dopheide, Les Pugh, Al Halus and, of course, Homer Griffith (30 min., Saturday, 9:30–10:00 P.M., C.S.T., WLS, Chicago, IL, 1935–1936).

275 Aladdin Orchestra. Popular local band (WOR, Newark, NJ, 1923).

276 Alameda Scots' Band. Music group directed by Adolph F. Nelson (KGO, San Francisco, CA, 1926).

277 Alamo Theater Orchestra. House band broadcasting from the Alamo Theater, Louisville, Kentucky led by Harry S. Currie; (WHAS, Louisville, KY, 1923–1924).

278 Alampi, Phil. Newscaster (Farm News, ABC, 1948; Freedom Gardener, WJZ New York, NY, 1948–1951).

279 Alan, Lee. DJ (WKMH, Dearborn, MI, 1960).

280 Alan, Marc. Sportscaster (WMPS, TN, 1953).

281 Alan, Pat. Newscaster (WCLO, Janesville, WI, 1945–1946).

282 Alan Courtney. Courtney, a popular New York DJ, conducted his three-hour all-night sustaining recording music program with many special attractions. He frequently interviewed guests such as Bea Wain and Andre Baruch. Courtney also conducted a job search for the unemployed on his program and offered listeners membership in his All Night Club. Inspirational talks by various ministers and organ interludes rounded out his show (180 min., Sunday, 12:00 midnight to 3:00 A.M., WMCA, New York, NY, 1941).

283 (The) Alan Courtney Show. After previously conducting a three-hour DJ show, Courtney returned in 1948 to host a live, half-hour music show locally broadcast five times weekly. Singer Marilyn Towne and the Ray Ross Orchestra were featured (30 min., Monday through Friday, 12:00 noon to 12:30 P.M., WNEW, New York, NY, 1948).

284 (The) Alan Young Show. On January 19, 1949, comedian Alan Young's program took the place of A Date with Judy. Comedian Young was joined on the program by Jim Backus and Minerva Pious. The Peter Van Steeden Orchestra and Four Chicks and a Chuck provided the music on the half-hour show (30 min., Weekly, 1949). An earlier run had appeared on NBC in 1944–1947, after a successful summer replacement assignment for the Eddie Cantor Show. Also appearing with Young were Charlie Cantor, Ed Begley, Ruth Perrott, Doris Singleton, Ken Christy and Jean Gillespie. The Smart Set Quintet (Mike Corrigan, Patricia Corrigan, Leo Dukehorn, Gerry Salathiel and Gloria Wood) also appeared frequently. The program's announcers were Larry Elliott, Michael Roy and Jimmy Wallington. The writers were Sam Packard, Norman Paul, Dave Schwartz and Jay Sommers, and the director was Eddie Pola. On the shows, Young always was the target of someone who wished to take advantage of him.

285 Alarie, Dick. Sportscaster (WPCCT, Putnam, CT, 1956).

286 Alban, Dave. DJ (WALK, Patchogue, NY, 1957; Carnival of Music, WJNO, West Palm Beach, FL, 1960).

- 340 Aldrich, Philip. Violinist (KTAB, Oakland, CA, 1925).
- 341 (The Aldrich Family. Clifford Goldsmith's play. What a Life, was the source for this highly successful family situation comedy about an upper-middle class family, not so joyfully experiencing the adolescent growing pains of their son, Henry. Ezra Stone as Henry became a star of stage and radio when he weakly answered his mother's call of "HENRY — HENRY ALDRICH," by croaking, "Coming, Mother." Rudy Vallee first introduced the family's story on his Fleischmann Hour Program. It was then heard for many weeks on the Kate Smith Hour, before premiering as its own program on NBC-Blue in 1939. Despite the show's many cast changes over the years, it remained one of the funniest situation comedies on radio. The cast included: Judith Abbott, Jone Allison, Charita Bauer, Ed Begley, Lenrow Bernard, Ethel Blume, Eddie Bracken, Bobby Ellis, Betty Field, Clyde Fillmore, Jean Gillespie, Raymond Ives, Joan Jackson, House James, Dickie Jones, Jackie Kelk, Ann Lincoln, Mary Mason, Agnes Moorehead, Lea Penman, Charles Powers, Leona Powers, Katherine Raht, Thelma Ritter, Mary Rolfe, Pat Ryan, Mary Shipp, Howard Smith, Ezra Stone, Norman Tokar, Dick Van Patten, Ward Wilson, Ethel Wilson and Alice Yourman. The program's directors were Edwin Duerr, Sam Fuller, George McGarrett, Joseph Scibetta, Lester Vail, Day Tuttle and Bob Welsh. George Bryan, Ralph Paul, Dan Seymour, Harry Von Zell and Dwight Weist were the announcers. The writers were Clifford Goldsmith, Ed Jurist, Pat and Ed Joudry, Phil Sharp, Sam Taylor, Frank Tarrow and Norman Tokar. Jack Miller conducted the orchestra. Sound effects were produced by Bill Brinkmeyer (30 min., Weekly, NBC-Blue, CBS, 1939-1953).

- 345 (The Alec Templeton Show. Templeton returned once more to radio from 1947 to 1948. The program, sponsored by Standard Brands, essentially reprised his earlier one. The brilliant performer was assisted this time by singer Eugenie Baird and Dan Dalden's orchestra (30 min., Sunday, 8:00-8:30 P.M., NBC, 1947).
- 346 Alec Templeton Time. Blind British pianist-comedian Templeton first appeared on network radio as a summer replacement for the Fibber McGee and Molly program. Templeton's stock in trade was his witty treatment of the classics and popular songs that he loaded with heavy doses of satire. Additional music was supplied by the Billy Mills Orchestra and vocalist Edna O Dell. Former motion picture star Conrad Nagel was the announcer (30 min., Tuesday, 9:30-10:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1939). After leaving the air in 1941, the program returned to the network briefly from 1943 to 1944.

387 Alger, E. Bella. Talked on "The Care of Clothing" (KFAE, Pullman, WA, 1923).

388 Alias June Doe. A complete story was presented weekly on the 30-minute program sponsored by Toni Home Permanent. The program's title came from the premise that on each program a lovely magazine editor posed as different characters in order to research a story. Written by Kay Phillips, John M. Hayes and E. Jack Newman, the cast included: Tudor Owens, Eric Sinclair, Lamont Johnson and the Starlighters. Frank Martin was the announcer (30 min., Saturday, 1:30-2:00 P.M., CBS, 1951).

389 Alias Jimmy Valentine. Bert Lytell played the title role on the program, loosely based on the fictional character created by O. Henry. Sponsored by Larus & Brothers Company, the story focused on Jimmy Valentine, an expert safe cracker just out of prison. The suspense grew out of Jimmy's attempt to go straight. As the story began, Jimmy got a job as a bank clerk and met the banker's daughter, who immediately has faith in him. However, another bank clerk who had his eye on the same young woman, began to make trouble for Jimmy. Can he go straight and overcome his troubles? That was the question constantly posed by the program (15 min., Thursday, 7:30-7:45 P.M., NBC-Blue 1937-1938).

390 (The) Alice Foote MacDougal Hour. The music program was broadcast Tuesday evenings (6:30-7:00 P.M., WABC-CBS, 1929). The Candlelight Dance Orchestra conducted by Bela Loblo was featured.

391 (The) Alice Jane McHenry Program. A twelve-year-old singer described by Variety as a good soprano, McHenry was billed as "the upside-down tummy girl," because she had experienced a series of operations to correct an inverted stomach. International Diamond Appraising and Gold Buying Company sponsored her weekly 15-minute program (WHN, New York, NY, 1935).

392 (The) Alice Hutchins Drake Program. Miss Drake broadcast more than 100 programs on which she presented book reviews and talked about art works and sight-seeing in the Washington, D.C., area (WRC, Washington, DC, 1931).

479 Allen, Ida Bailey. Known as "The Happy Homemaker," Allen was a pioneer broadcaster of women's programs. Her early programs were called Hospitality Talk (WGI, Medford Hillside, MA, 1923); The Homemakers Hour (WMCA, New York, NY, 1926) and the National Radio Homemakers Hour (CBS, 1929). Allen was a trained dietician, cooking school instructor and cookbook author before becoming a radio cooking instructor. She was said to have been one of the three best known conductors of women's programs in the 1920s. It is interesting to note that the other two were fictional — Aunt Sammy and Betty Crocker. Allen's listener popularity was due in large part to her perceived integrity. Her statement on her program's sponsors in 1929, for instance, reflects her philosophy: "I have always felt that I must give to my readers and listeners-in — the best. When the time came to invite several food manufacturers to sponsor the National Radio Home-Makers Club air meetings, the whole country was scoured to find the best. That is why the Royal Baking Powder Company, the Pillsbury Flour Mills Company and the Beech-Nut Packing Company are mentioned in our broadcasts, and why I am proud to tell you about their products and the place they occupy in the Balanced Ration."

Allen was one of the most talented and respected women working in early radio. She was the author of twenty-three books on foods, cooking and home economics. Her successful radio career lasted well into the 1930s: Visiting with Ida Bailey Allen (15 min., Thursday, CBS, 1933). In the late 1920s, in conjunction with her National Radio Home-Makers Club, she edited a weekly newsletter (The Radio Home-Makers) that sold for the price of 50 cents per year. This newsletter contained a front page article written by Allen on such topics as "Buying for Two," several recipes, dates and topics of Allen's future broadcasts and many of her sponsor's advertisements.

- 619 Amadon, Arthur. DJ (WBZ-WBZA, Boston-Springfield, MA, 1948).
- 620 Amador, Charlie. Newscaster (KEPO, El Paso, TX, 1953).
- 621 Amaizo's Gitanos. Spanish orchestra (Instr. mus. program, NBC, 1928).
- 622 (The) Amalgamated Broadcasting System (ABS). In 1935, six small Atlantic Coast radio stations joined together as a network to "revolutionize" broadcast operations. Ed Wynn, the major stockholder called it a "New Deal in broadcasting." He said actors would be "unhindered." Advertising would be limited to ten words before and after each program. There was little attention paid to the new network, however, by either sponsors or listeners. Wynn, who was the president of the organization, left most of its management to others. He soon, however, saw evidence of fraudulent dealings and graft. Since he had invested $250,000 in the company, one day he simply walked out. A great deal of gossip swirled around Wynn. Some 300 law suits were filed against him. The Amalgamated Broadcast System's life was a short one. It went bankrupt after only a few months.
- 623 Aman, Lloyd. DJ (Nite Owl, KALE, Richland, WA, 1952).
- 624 Amanda of Honeymoon Hill. Another of the Frank and Anne Hummert daytime serial productions, Amanda of Honeymoon Hill was written by Elizabeth Todd. The story concerned Amanda, a "beauty with flaming hair" from a working class family married to Edward Leighton, a man from a wealthy old southern family. The show opened with the announcer saying: "This is the story of Edward and Amanda who now, in spite of the hatred of both their families, seek happiness on Honeymoon Hill in Virginia, in a world that few Americans know." The program's cast over the years included: Edward Andrews, Sanford Bickart, John Brown, John Connery, Paul Conrad, Staats Cotsworth, Boyd Crawford, Roger DeKoven, Florence Eéney, Elizabeth Eustis, Ruth Gates, Joy Hathaway, Rod Hendrickson, Juano Hernandez, Irene Hubbard, John M. James, Lamont Johnson, Evelyn Juster, Jackie Kelk, George Lambert, Elizabeth Love, John (Jack) MacBryde, Florence Malone, Jay Meredith, John Raby, Ricard Rider, Cecil Roy, Helen Shields, Muriel Starr, Chester Stratton, Reese Taylor, Linda Watkins, Patricia Wheel and Ruth Yorke. The program announcers were Frank Gallop, Hugh Conover and Howard Claney. The directors were Arnold Michaelis and Ernest Ricca (15 min., Monday through Friday, NBC-Blue, CBS, 1940-1946).
- 625 Amateur Authors. Matley Kemp produced the sustaining program on which amateur writers were given an opportunity to have their scripts broadcast (30 min., Tuesday, 9:00-9:30 P.M., KFWB, Los Angeles, CA, 1938).
- 626 Amateur Night on Beale Street. Memphis, Tennessee. Listeners enjoyed the unusual amateur program presented by six co-op sponsors. Unlike the Major Bowes Amateur Hour, where a gong was used, this show stopped unlucky amateurs mid-performance by a gun shot (WNBR, Memphis, TN, 1935).
- 627 Amateur Try-Out Hour. KEX (Portland, Oregon) broadcast the unique program on Monday afternoons from 5:00-6:00 P.M. in 1928, for the sole purpose of finding amateur talent for their broadcast schedule.
- 628 Amauli, Guilio. Newscaster (WHOM, Jersey City, NJ, 1941).
- 629 (The) Amazing Mrs. Danbury. When Martin Hurt, who portrayed Beulah, died in 1946, Tums sponsored Agnes Moorehead in Calamity Jane as a replacement program. Although Moorehead was bright and funny on the program as she twisted men around her finger with ease, it lasted for only one season. Tums replaced it with The Amazing Mrs. Danbury. On this program, Miss Moorehead played Mrs. Jonathan Danbury, the widowed owner of a town's leading department store. Cathy Lewis and Dan Wolfe were also in the cast and Ken Niles was the announcer. Variety called it good entertainment with Moorehead performing at her best as a sharp-tongued old lady (30 min., Sunday, 8:00-8:30 P.M., CBS, 1946).
- 630 Ambassador Hotel Concert Orchestra. Orchestra directed by Josef Rosenfeld (KNX, Hollywood, CA, 1925-1926).
- 631 Ambassador Hotel Dance Orchestra. Hollywood dance band (KNX, Los Angeles, CA, 1926).

Although he never was as nationally prominent as his brother Don, Jim Ameche had a long successful career as announcer, actor and DJ. Probably his best known acting jobs were in the title roles of Jack Armstrong the All-American Boy and Silver Eagle, Mountie.
- 641 Amend, Eddie, DJ (Rhythms by Request, KHON, Honolulu, HI, 1949).
- 642 America Calling. During the Korean War, Regent cigarettes sponsored the music program hosted by Rebel Randall on which records were played from servicemen's requests. In addition, wives and sweethearts of overseas servicemen were allowed to place telephone calls to them during the program. The same idea was used previously during World War II on the Transatlantic Call program. Guest stars such as Dinah Shore frequently appeared on the program. The announcer was George Walsh (30 min., Sunday, 4:00-4:30 P.M., CBS, 1952).
- 643 America Flies. Dick Bircher broadcast the flying lessons he was giving to stenographer Ursula Carroll (WCAU, Philadelphia, PA, 1940).
- 644 America in Music. John Trasker Howard narrated the musical series that its announcer claimed "depicted the panorama of American life as painted in native melodies." Howard was supported by a concert orchestra with instrumental and vocal soloists (NBC-Blue, 1935).
- 645 America Sings. S.C. Johnson Company sponsored the variety program that was a summer replacement for Fibber McGee and Molly in 1940. Comedian Cliff Nazarro and Meredith Willson's orchestra were featured (30 min., Tuesday, 9:00-9:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1940).
- 646 American Ace Coffee Time. Grant Turner hosted the CW music program broadcast from Nashville's Ryman Auditorium, the home of the Grand Ole Opry. The American Ace Coffee Company was the sponsor. Roy Acuff and the Smokey Mountain Boys were featured (WSM, Nashville, TN, 1948-1949).
- 647 American Adventure. Dr. Stanley High was the commentator on the weekly series of 13 programs that presented the saga of a typical American family. The program's theme was the epic of America and American life (NBC-Blue, 1935).
- 648 American Album of Familiar Music. The long-running good music program, sponsored by Bayer Aspirin, was broadcast by NBC from 1931 through 1951. The show concluded its broadcast run in 1952 on ABC. Over the years Frank Munn, Vivian Della Chiesa, Evelyn MacGregor, Jean Dickenson, Daniel Lieberfeld, Arden and Arden, Donald Dame, Bertrand Hersch, Gustave Haenschen and Abe Lyman were the show's featured performers. Frank and Anne Hummert were the show's producers, James Haupt the director and Andre Baruch, Roger Krupp and Howard Clancy the announcers (30 min., Sunday, NBC and ABC, 1931-1952).
- 649 (The American Company of Arkansas Hour. Music for the program was provided by singer Sue Bearnoff, pianist Mrs. W.B. Goetz and Lloyd Hemphill on banjo (KGHI, Little Rock, AR, 1927-1928).
- 650 American Dye Works Orchestra. Popular California radio band (KFWB, Hollywood, CA, 1926).
- 651 American Family Robinson. The transcribed series was broadcast in the midst of the Great Depression. It stressed family values, hard work and the strength of the American economic system. The program was funded and produced by an organization of industrial manufacturers (15-min., Transcribed, Monday through Friday, WIND, Chicago, IL, 1935; WCBD, Waukegan, IL, 1936; WWVA, Wheeling, WV, 1935).
- 652 American Fireside - A Half-Hour of Civilization. Although the program's title was somewhat pretentious, it did present a series of talks by "men and women who have contributed to the mental life of the nation." The first speaker was novelist Dorothy Canfield Fisher (9:30-9:45 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1934).
- 653 American Home Banquet. A half-hour music program, American Home Banquet was broadcast five times weekly (30 min., Monday through Friday, 6:30-7:00 P.M., WEAJ, New York, NY, 1929).
- 654 (An American in England. Written, produced and directed by Norman Corwin, this was a World War II production that emphasized the contribution England had and was making in the war against Hitler. The series was a combination of dramatic and documentary elements. Some programs were broadcast from England, others from the United States. Their casts included such British and American performers as: David Baxter, Edna Best, Leslie Bradley, Laidman Browne, John Bryning, Clifford Buckton, Gwen Day Burrows, Gerald Cooper, Philip Cunningham, Terence deMarney, Tommy Duggan, Olga Edwards, Lyn Evans, Paul Fierro, Richard George, Dorothy Greene, Angela Gynne, Betty Hardy, Nicholas Joy, Joseph Julian, Curigwen Lewis, Frank Lovejoy, Robert Marsden, James McKechnie, Joan Miller, Edward R. Morrow, Tommy Palmer, MacDonald Parke, Harry Ross, Alfred Shirley, Everett Sloane, Dorothy Smith, John Snagge, Julian Somers, Thorley Walters, Arthur Young and Gladys Young.
- 655 American LaFrance Orchestra. Commercial radio band (WFAA-NBC, Dallas, TX, 1927).
- 656 American Legion Band of Little Rock, Arkansas. Legion Commander Lloyd Judd directed the hour program featuring a local American Legion post band (WLBN, Little Rock, AR, 1928).
- 657 American Legion Championship Band. American Legion musical group (American Legion Championship Band, instr. mus. prg., NBC, 1939).
- 658 (The American Melody Hour. Frank and Anne Hummert produced the good music program that featured such performers as Bob Hannon, Evelyn MacGregor, Stanley McClelland, the Knightsbridge Chorus and Victor Arden's orchestra. The announcer opened it this way: "Next - the American Melody Hour dedicated to the druggists of America, who supply you with Bayer Aspirin. Ladies and gentlemen, here's the American Melody Hour bringing you the songs of the day so you can know them all, sing them all your self." It was an excellent musical program (Weekly, 30 min., CBS, 1947).
- 659 American Music Hall. Leonard Blair produced and Joe Graham directed the sustaining music program that featured such performers as Paul Whiteman, Larry Douglas, June Valli and Glen Osser's Orchestra. John Hicks was the announcer (60 min., Sunday, 8:00-9:00 P.M., ABC, 1952).
- 660 (The American Musical Festival. The program, begun in 1940, was a musical celebration of American values, tradition and heritage. Broadcast annually between the birthdays of Lincoln and Washington, it presented symphony, swing, opera, popular music, folk music, jazz, chamber music, marches and ballads. Among the famous musicians, music groups, guest conductors and composers that appeared on the program were Morton Gould, Deems Taylor, Oscar Levant, Aaron Copeland, Richard Hale, Roy Harris, Jules Bledsoe, the Kolisch Quartet, Ralph Kirkpatrick, the American Ballad Singers, Benny Goodman, Burl Ives, Tommy Dorsey, Earl Robinson, Lucas Foss, Leonard Bernstein and Virgil Thomson (WNYC, New York, NY, 1940).
- 661 American Musical Review. Soprano Vivienne Segal, tenor Frank Munn and violinist Bertrand Hirsch appeared on the half-hour music program with an orchestra directed by Gus Haenschen (30 min., Sunday, 8:30-9:00 P.M., NBC, 1935).
- 662 American Orchestral Society's Orchestra. Orchestra directed by Chambers Clifton (WJZ, New York, NY, 1923).
- 663 American Pageant of Youth. Youthful performers, at least one of whom later enjoyed great success on radio, were featured on the program. They included comedian Pinky Mitchell, the Four Bars Quartet, hillbilly singer Billy Pape, baritone Cy Bofird, soprano Margaret Laren, comedians Ginger Snap, Ezra Stone and Sandy Douglas plus the music of Johnny Johnston's orchestra (30 min., NBC, 1936).

664 American Philharmonic Orchestra. Symphonic orchestra directed by F. Longo (KYA, San Francisco, CA, 1929).

665 (The) American Radiator Musical Interlude. The music program sponsored by the American Radiator Company featured bass Sigurd Nillssen. Graham McNamee was the announcer (Saturday, 30 min., 7:30–8:00 P.M., NBC, 1935).

666 (The) American Radio Warblers. Canaries chirped and sang their hearts out accompanied by background organ music on the American Radio Warblers, a pleasant 15-minute program that had been on the air in one form or another since 1937. Sometimes the program was called Hartz Mountain Canaries, the Master Radio Canaries or American Radio Canaries. Individual birds, such as "Frankie the Crooner" were often featured (15 min., Sunday, 2:15–2:30 P.M., MBS, 1952).

667 (The) American Review. The variety show featuring the music of the Freddy Martin Orchestra and the comedy of the Marx Brothers was sponsored by the American Oil company (30 min., Sunday, 7:00–7:00 P.M., CBS, 1934).

668 American Salon Orchestra. Francesco Longo directed the orchestra (KJR, Seattle, WA, 1928).

669 (The) American School of the Air. CBS broadcast the American School of the Air, one of the finest educational programs presented by network radio during Radio's Golden Age. Written by Harry Granich, Edward Mahley and Howard Rodman, topics on history, literature, geography and current affairs were covered. Many schools made the program, broadcast Monday through Friday, required listening for their students. One of the popular features used to teach geography was the program's "Hamilton Family" segment, on which pieces of geographical information were provided by the dramatic segments that portrayed the family's fictional world tour. The members of the Hamilton family were portrayed by Albert Aley, Betty Garde, Gene Leonard, John Marks, Ruth Russell and Walter Teley. Knowles Enriken and Kirby Hawkes directed the Hamilton Family segment.

One of the program's most stimulating programs was on Tuesday, November 16, 1937, when the Sage of Baltimore, H.L. Mencken, spoke on "Americanisms" to differentiate American English from that spoken in Great Britain. Lexicographer Cabell Greet also discussed American Dialects on the program. The next day's program was devoted to a geography lesson—"Ireland and Its High Civilization."

Among the program's various hosts and frequent performers were Lyman Bryson, Ray Collins, Parker Fennelly, Mitzi Gould and Chester Stratton. The program's various directors were Howard Barnes, Oliver Daniel, John Dietz, Robert B. Hudson, Leon Levine, Marx Loeb, Earle McGill, Richard Sanville and Albert Ward. The music was directed by Channon Collinge and Dorothy Gordon. Robert Trout was the announcer (CBS, 1930–1948).

670 (The) American Singers. Popular male quartet (WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1929).

671 (The) American Theater Wing Lecture Hall. The sustaining quarter-hour lecture program presented distinguished critic Harold Clurman discussing various aspects of American theater news and trends. Paul Brentson was the announcer (15 min., Wednesday, 10:00–10:25 P.M., WNEW, New York, NY, 1949).

672 (The) American Way. Horace Heidt conducted his orchestra and hosted the program on which young amateur performers competed against each other. John Morris was the producer-director of the show sponsored by Lucky Strike cigarettes (30 min., Thursday, 10:00–10:30 P.M., CBS, 1953).

673 (The) American Weekly Program. The transcribed quarter-hour program presented dramatized stories from the Hearst newspapers' Sunday supplement. Begun in 1933, after 36 programs the name was changed to Front Page Drama and broadcast for 5 more years (15 min., transcribed on various stations, 1933). See also Front Page Drama.

674 American Women. David Hannon, Frank and Doris Hursley wrote the series that was designed to encourage the recruitment of women for the World War II war effort. The series was narrated by Eliese Kummer and Charlotte Manson. The producers and directors were Bob Brown and Ted Robertson (30 min., CBS, 1943). See also Wartime Radio.

675 Americanization. The Key Men of America, a "patriotic organization," sponsored the 30 week series in which they argued against the presence of "undesirable immigrants and Reds" in the United States (KTHS, Hot Springs National Park, AR, 1928).

676 America's Flying Rhythm Symphony. Actor DeWolf Hopper narrated the good music program that presented symphonic music performed by 86 musicians from the Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra (30 min., NBC, 1935).

677 America's Grub Street Speaks. Thomas L. Stix, head of the Book League of America, conducted the program on which he discussed current books and their authors. Blair Niles later took over the program (15 min., Saturday, 6:00–6:15 P.M., CBS, 1933).

678 America's Music. Henry Cook narrated the sustaining music program on which Joseph Gallicchio's orchestra provided the music and mezzo-soprano Lois Ray and baritone Bill Snary the vocals (30 min., Sunday, 2:00–2:30 P.M., NBC, 1951).

679 America's Town Meeting (aka America's Town Meeting of the Air). Topics of social significance were discussed by panels comprised of distinguished political personages on the program broadcast from 1935 to 1956. George V. Denny, Jr., was the moderator of the program that emanated from New York's Town Hall. Marion Carter, radio director of Town Hall, assisted Denny. Over the years the program was on the air, the directors were Wylie Adams, Leonard Blair and Richard Ritter. George Gunn, Ed Herlihy and Gene Kirby were the announcers (30 min., Thursday, 8:30–9:00 P.M., ABC, 1947).

680 Ames, Adrienne. News analyst and commentator (Kitchen Kapers, WHN, New York, NY, 1942).

681 Ames, Don. Sportscaster (KXEL, Waterloo, IA, 1945).

682 Ames, Edward C. Newscaster (WSPD, Toledo, OH, 1938–1939).

683 Ames, Mary Ellis. COM-HE (Mary Ellis Ames, 15 min., Monday through Friday, 11:00–11:15 A.M., CBS, 1933).

684 Ames, Wilson. Organist (Wilson Ames, instr. mus. prg., WKBW, Buffalo, NY, 1942).

685 Amlung, Jack. Leader (Jack Amlung Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WBAP, Fort Worth, TX, 1939).

686 Ammerman, McL. DJ (AM Music. KVLG, La Grange, TX, 1960).

687 Anole, F.E. Newscaster (KDEN, Denver, CO, 1960).

688 Amole, Gene. DJ (Meet the Boys in the Band, KMYR, Denver, CO, 1949).

689 Amols, Mervyn. DJ (Anything Goes, WJLS, Beckley, WV, 1948).

690 Amoo, Lloyd. Newscaster (KRMC, Jamestown, ND, 1938).

691 Amory, Joe. DJ (Off the Record, KWIL, Albany, OR, 1952).

692 Amos, Fred. Newscaster (KGHF, Pueblo, CO, 1944).

693 Amos 'n' Andy. Two of radio's most memorable characters, Amos Jones and Andrew J. Brown, made their appearance when the Amos 'n' Andy program premiered March 19, 1928. No program enjoyed greater popularity or generated greater controversy. From its first broadcast the listening public made it an instant all-time favorite. No radio program before or since has matched its popularity. Motion picture theaters, for example, stopped their movies and piped the program into the theaters for their patrons. If they had not done so, many members of their audience would have stayed home to hear Amos 'n' Andy. It was said that in warm weather when windows were open, one could walk along city streets when the program was on the air and not miss a word of the broadcast.

Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll, two white men, developed and played all the show's characters in 1928. The men first met when both worked for the Joe Bren Company, which produced local shows throughout the country, furnishing the script, costumes, scenery, music and direction to the amateur talent involved. When Gosden first joined the company, he was sent to Durham, North Carolina, to meet an experienced director who was to help him learn the nuts and bolts of how to produce the local shows. That was Charles Correll, who soon became a good friend.

During the next six years Gosden and Correll frequently worked together. When both were promoted to head complimentary divisions of the company in Chicago, they shared an apartment and found that they made a good harmony singing team while accompanying themselves with piano and ukulele. Although still working for the Joe Bren Company, the men were anxious to explore the new and exciting medium of radio. They auditioned as a "song and chatter" team for Chicago's station WEBH, owned by the Edgewater Beach Hotel. Still maintaining their jobs with the Bren Company, the men sang and chattered once a week for WEBH without any remuneration other than the free meals they received at the Edgewater Beach Hotel. Their WEBH program was sometimes listed as The Kinky Kids Parade, the title of a popular song they had written. During this time, Gosden and Correll wrote a few other songs and made a successful personal appearance tour in the greater Chicago area.

In 1926 when they were about to attempt a vaudeville career, they were offered a WGN (Chicago, IL) staff position at $50 a week for both. A year before WGN had hired Jim and Marion Jordan—later famous for their Fibber McGee and Molly program—for their The Smiths program, which might have been radio's first serial drama (soap opera). The potential value of a program with a continuing story to attract a large listening audience was not lost on WGN executives, who planned to develop another series based on a comic strip such as The Gumps. When Gosden and Correll were approached with the idea, they suggested they use their talent and experience to create an original show called Sam 'n' Henry, which they first broadcast on January 12, 1926.

In Sam 'n' Henry, Gosden (Sam) and Correll (Henry) used their previous experience with blackface comedy to tell the story of two uneducated black men who left their Birmingham, Alabama, home to travel to Chicago seeking employment. Sam 'n' Henry began with the two men riding in a mule drawn buckboard traveling to the Birmingham railroad station:

SAM: Henry, did you evah see a mule as slow as dis one?

HENRY: Oh, dis mule is fas' enough. We gonna git to de depot alright.

SAM: You know dat Chicago train don't wait fo' nobody. It jes' goes on. les' stops and goes right on.

HENRY: Well, we ain't got but two mo' blocks to go. Don't be so 'patient. Don't be so 'patient.

SAM: I hope dey got fastah mules dan dis up in Chicago.

HENRY: You know some o' de boys said dey was goin' to be down dere to de depot to tell us go'bye and take dis mule back.

SAM: Not only some o' de boys, but Liza goin' to be down dere too and she's gonna kiss me go'bye she said. You know, Henry, I kin'a hate to leave dat dere gal.

After reaching Chicago, Sam and Henry encountered adventures similar to those found on the Amos 'n' Andy program a few years later. For example, they joined a lodge, the Jewels of the Crown, whose head man was the Most Precious Diamond. Later in Amos 'n' Andy, the leading characters joined the Mystic Knights of the Sea Lodge headed by George "Kingfish" Stevens.

Sam 'n' Henry's popularity in the Chicago area arose more from the humorous characters portrayed than from a funny plot or comic situations with which they were confronted. In retrospect it can be seen that Sam 'n' Henry was the means by which Gosden and Correll developed and polished their writing and performing skills, unknowingly preparing themselves for the good fortune and popularity they would soon enjoy with Amos 'n' Andy. After 586 episodes of Sam 'n' Henry, Gosden and Correll left WGN for greater opportunities at WMAQ (Chicago, IL). When Gosden and Correll left WGN, they were forced to leave Sam 'n' Henry behind, because WGN and the Chicago Tribune owned the copyright. Using the same voices and similar characterizations as before, Gosden and Correll developed Amos 'n' Andy.

Their new program made its first appearance on Chicago's WMAQ on March 19, 1928. Amos 'n' Andy began as a 15-minute program broadcast six times a week at 11:00 P.M., before being moved to a 7:00–7:15 P.M. slot five times weekly. On November 19, 1929, it was announced that NBC had signed Gosden and Correll at the rate of $1,000 a week for their daily program. In 1943, the format changed to a weekly 30-minute program.

When it first appeared, Amos 'n' Andy became the first syndicated radio program. It was broadcast by many stations from two 12" transcription disks of five minutes each per program. By summer it became a sensation wherever it was heard, and on August 19, 1929, NBC placed it on its Blue network. Two months after it first appeared, Pepsodent toothpaste began sponsoring Amos 'n' Andy on one of the earliest coast-to-coast networks. Although some stations broadcast the program by transcription, the announcer, Bill Hay, always introduced it as "Amos 'n' Andy, in person."

The program's national acceptance was immediate. Merlin Aylesworth, president of NBC, observed that Gosden and Correll had developed a "new art form" that combined the elements of a magazine serial with those of a newspaper comic strip. Some of the credit, however should go to the creative planning performed long before at WGN headquarters. By 1931–1932, the program was said to reach 40 million listeners.

Some of the program's trademark lines became famous such as Andy's "I'se regusted," when frustrated and upset. When Amos was surprised and bewildered, a frequent occasion in the early broadcasts, he would exclaim, "Awa! Awa!" As any long-running program must, Amos 'n' Andy showed some changes in the characters portrayed and the language used. It can be noted that throughout the program's long life the southern accents were retained, but standard grammar and correct pronunciation always used, unless for specific comic purpose. The most obvious character development was that of Amos, for he was transformed into an intelligent, family man who was also a successful business man. The most important line that was added over the years was the Kingfish's quizzical expression of surprise, "Holy Mackerel!"

Amos 'n' Andy in its early years broadcast serial stories that lasted two or three weeks. In those early years it frequently presented trials, in which Andy was confronted by women with breach of promise suits. Although the charges lodged against Andy by Madame Queen in 1931 saw the introduction of one of his greatest nemesis who would return over the years to bother him, she was not the first lady who charged him with tampering with her affections. In 1928, it was the Widow Parker who charged in court that Andy had promised to marry her.

On the witness stand, Mrs. Parker testified how Andy had come into her life, led her on and then tossed her aside. After a testimony filled with tearful intermissions, Mrs. Parker fainted and had to be carried from the witness stand. It was at this time that Andy's lawyer (Mr. Spielman) had his last attempt to counsel Andy before he took the witness stand in his own defense:

SPELTMAN: (quietly to Andy) And Brown, when you get on the witness stand, admit nothing.

ANDY: Do what to nuthin'?

SPELTMAN: I say, when you get on the witness stand, admit nothing.

His lawyer further counseled Andy as to what he should say on the witness stand:

SPELTMAN: Now, Brown, you can occasionally use the expression, "I don't remember." Now don't forget that. Now, what are you going to say?

ANDY: Now don't forget dat.

SPELTMAN: No, no. You don't remember.

ANDY: Oh, dat's right. You don't remember.

SPELTMAN: No, no. "I don't remember."

Andy faithfully followed his lawyer's advice when asked to raise his right hand and even when asked his name, he replied, "I don't remember." After finally taking the witness stand, he was asked by the plaintiff's lawyer, "Your name is Andrew Brown?" Following Mr. Spielman's advice faithfully, Andy, of course, replied, "I don't remember." As in his other trials, Andy escaped more by fate than by his own good behavior or sense.

Despite the program's popularity from its earliest years, controversy soon arose because of the claim it presented unfavorable stereotypes of Blacks as uneducated and shiftless. True enough, Amos 'n' Andy grew out of the blackface minstrel show tradition when it first started. Yet, when the program is viewed in the context of the show business of 1920s and 1930s, its humor appears much milder than most of the other comedy styles and routines of the time. Blackface comedy teams and minstrel shows were staples of both vaudeville and early radio. Molasses and January (Pick Malone and Pat Padgett, who had first performed on radio as Pick and Pat) and Honey Boy and Sassafras (George Fields and Johnnie Walsh) were but two of the many black-face teams that appeared on early radio. Some of the many minstrel shows that were listener favorites were: The Burnt Cork Review (WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1926), Haymaker's Minstrels (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1920s), Sealy Air Weavers Minstrels (NBC, 1927–1928), Dutch Masters Minstrels (1928–1932), Sinclair Weiner Minstrels (NBC, 1932–1936) and Molle Minstrels (1934–1935). Minstrel shows were frequently broadcast until the late 1930s, when the format practically disappeared (Wertheim, 1979, p. 28). The Dutch Masters Minstrels program demonstrates what the minstrel show comedy was like. (See also the Dutch Masters Minstrels program entry for examples of their humor.)

Even before Amos 'n' Andy became a successful television program, it was heavily criticized by the N.A.A.C.P. and some other critics for its portrayal of African-Americans. Although some characters on Amos 'n' Andy were indeed shiftless, lazy and not too intelligent, they were presented in a situation comedy, much as had been done with the Irish, Jews, Italians and Germans. Other radio programs of the time frequently carried ethnic and racial portrayals that combined these comic elements without attracting much attention or criticism. Some examples of this were: Mrs. Nussbaum on the Fred Allen Show portrayed by Minerva Pious; Bert Gordon as the Mad Russian on the Eddy Cantor Show; Eddie Anderson as Rochester on the Jack Benny Show; and Eddie Green as Eddie the Waiter on Duffy's Tavern.

After the program made a transition to television in 1951, criticism began to escalate until the network decided to cancel it in 1953. When the uproar continued against the program's constant reruns and world wide syndication, the network banned its use entirely. Gosden and Correll, who never appeared on the television show, remained on radio as DJs on their Amos 'n' Andy Music Hall program that was broadcast from 1954 to 1960. By this time Gosden and Correll had broadcast more than 10,000 programs.

One of the most touching moments of the Amos 'n' Andy program always was the annual Christmas program. Repeated some 30 times, the program had Amos talking to his little daughter, Arabella, before she went to sleep on Christmas Eve. He told her the Christmas message and ended the program by reciting The Lord's Prayer for her.

Throughout its entire run, Gosden supplied the voices of Amos, the Kingfish and Lightning, while Correll those of Andy and Henry Van Porter. Other valuable contributors to the program's humor were Eddie Green as Stonewall the lawyer and Ernestine Wade as Sapphire, Kingfish's wife. Other cast members included: Elinor Harriot, Terry Howard, Johnny Lee, Madaline Lee, Lou Lubin and Harriette Widmer. The orchestra and choir was conducted by Jeff Alexander. The Jubalaires singing group (Theodore Brooks, Caleb Ginyard, John Jennings and George MacFadden) sometimes appeared, and organ interludes by Gaylord Carter were frequently used. The producers were Bob Connolly and Bill Moser and the directors were Andrew Love and Glenn Middleton. In addition to Gosden and Correll, the writers were Bob Connolly, Octavus Roy Cohen, Bob Fisher, Paul Franklin, Harvey Helm, Shirley Illo, Bill Moser, Bob Moss and Arthur Slander. The program's first and best remembered announcer was Bill Hay, whose "Here they are" ("Heah they ah") in his pleasant southern accented speech became a program trademark. The other announcers were Olan Soule, Del Sharbutt and Harlow Wilcox. The executive producers were Bob Connolly and Bill Moser. Glenn Middleton and Andrew Lowe were the program's directors. Sound effects were created by Frank Pittman, Gus Bayz, Dave Light and Ed Ludes.

The program appeared on CBS television from 1951 to 1953, the first TV show to feature an all Black cast. It was seen in syndication until 1966, when it was pulled from circulation by CBS because of protests by such groups as the National Association of Colored People (NAACP). CBS had begun selling the program to various African countries, causing the Kenyan government to ban the program in 1963. Two years later the show was finally pulled from circulation. See also Correll, Charles; Gosden, Freeman and The Kinky Kids Parade.

694 Amos 'n' Andy Minstrels (aka The Mystic Knights of the Sea Friday Night Minstrel Show). Gosden and Correll shattered radio tradition by adding a minstrel show segment each Friday. On their first show Amos sang, as did their first guest, Frank Parker. Also on that first show was the Vagabond Male Quartet, a group that sounded suspiciously like the Mills Brothers. Noble Cain's a capella choir also appeared with the NBC Orchestra conducted by Joseph Gallicchio. Bill Hay was the interlocutor and Basil Loughrane the announcer (15 min., Friday, 7:00–7:15 P.M., NBC-Red, 1936).

695 (The) Amos 'n' Andy Music Hall. By this time in their careers, Gosden and Correll had become little more than glorified DJs, who occasionally interviewed special guests who appeared with them. Harlow Wilcox was their announcer (25 min., Monday through Friday, 9:30–9:55 P.M., CBS, 1954). Gosden and Correll's first show in this format was broadcast September 23, 1954.

696 Amphion Quartet. Singing group consisting of baritone H.C. Wisler, bass Joseph Mersey, and tenors T.G. Wilson and Robert Ream (WTAM, Cleveland, OH, 1923).

697 Amphion Ensemble. The Amphion Ensemble included Lydia Harlow, cellist; Doris Tirrell, pianist; Davis Leavitt, clarinetist; William Toris, flutist; and William Benson, violinist (WBC, Boston-Springfield, MA, 1925).

698 (The) Ampico Hour of Music. The Ampico Company sponsored the program of good music (Thursday, 8:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1927–1928). One performer on the program was Russian pianist Leo Ornstein.

699 (The) Amrad Banjo-Mandolin Club Orchestra. Music group directed by W. Eugene Hammett (WGI, Medford Hillside, MA, 1923).

700 (The) Amrad's Women's Club Talk. May Bliss Dickinson conducted the early woman's program (WGI, Medford Hillside, MA, 1923).

701 Amsberry, Bob, DJ (Squirrely Bird, KEX, Portland, OR, 1948).

702 Amstel, Felix. Leader (Felix Amstel Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WCAU, Philadelphia, PA and WTIC, Hartford, CT, 1935).

703 Amsterdam, Morey. Entertainer Amsterdam was billed as the "Original Radio Mimic" (KGO, Oakland, CA, 1926). DJ (For People Only, WHN, New York, NY, 1947).

704 Amsterdam Concert Orchestra. Local band (WGY, Schenectady, NY, 1925).

705 Amy Lou's Shopping Hour. "Amy Lou" hosted the hour-long program, broadcast 10:00–11:00 A.M., in which shopping tips, sales and specials were discussed (KFSD, San Diego, CA, 1927).

706 An Analysis of Propaganda. The Analysis of Propaganda program was broadcast during World War II. Each week on the informative sustaining program, Siegfried Wegener analyzed several foreign propaganda broadcasts (15 min., Friday, 6:15–6:30 P.M., KFEL, Denver, CO, 1941).

707 Anastapolis, John. Sportscaster (WGIH, Marion, IL, 1955).

708 Ancell, Bob, DJ (WTVN, Columbus OH, 1960).

709 Ancient and Honorable Order of the Hoot Owls. This was one of the many variety shows that flourished and persisted on early American radio. One of the featured acts on the show was Forrest Berg and George Smith ("The Village Blacksmith"). It was broadcast weekly (KGW, Portland, OR, 1930).

710 Anderly, B.H. Newscaster (Noontime News, KLIZ, Brainer, MN, 1947). DJ (Concert Miniatures, KLIZ, 1947).

711 Anders, Bill. Sportscaster (KFYO Lubbock, TX, 1950).

712 Andersen, Bert, DJ (KTAC, Tacoma WA, 1957).

713 Andersen, Robert "Bob." Newscaster (KGO, San Francisco, CA and KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1938–1939; KSFO, San Francisco, CA, 1940–1941).

- 922 (The) Anybods. The story of an "average American family" was broadcast each weekday evening. The family included a husband and wife (George and Gertrude) and their children (Buddy and Junior). All the show's characters were played by Bob Herrick and Hazel Dopheide on the 10 minute program (10 min., Monday through Friday, KMOX, St. Louis, MO, 1930).
- 923 Anything Goes. Gene Rayburn and Jack Lescoulie, one time trombonist in the Ben Bernie orchestra, jointly hosted the early morning show. They gave time signals, weather reports, news summaries, funny skits and lively patter. The program began with an introduction by Rayburn and Lescoulie: "I'm Jack ... I'm Gene ... and Anything Goes" (120 min., Monday through Friday, 7:00–9:00 A.M., WNEW, New York, NY, 1947). After the program went off the air, Rayburn teamed with DJ Dee Finch to conduct another popular New York early morning show. When Gene Rayburn left Dee Finch, the latter was joined by witty comedian-DJ Gene Klavan, who had previously conducted a successful morning show in Baltimore (210 min., Monday through Saturday, 7:00–9:10 A.M., WNEW, New York, NY, 1952).
- 924 Anway, Joseph. Reader (WLDS, Independence, MO, 1925).

- 962 Archer, Vance. Sports caster (Sports for All, KNEX, McPherson, KS, 1950).
- 963 Archer, (Dean) Gleason. Legal scholar, educator, broadcaster and radio historian Gleason was the president of Boston's Suffolk Law School and author of many reference works for lawyers and students of the law and history books for children. For several seasons he broadcast a series of weekly lectures on the law for laymen on his Laws That Safeguard Society program. The scholarly series presented with clarity and precision was carried by 40 NBC stations on Saturday evening in the early 1930s. On January 16, 1932, Archer delivered his 77th lecture program. His subject on that broadcast was "Marriage Law." Archer's widow, Polly Willis Archer, was a pioneer broadcaster who had performed on KYW (Chicago, IL) in 1923. See also Laws That Safeguard Society and Willis, Polly.
- 964 Archibald, Vernon. Baritone (CBS, New York, NY, 1928 and WEA, New York, NY, 1929).
- 965 Archie Andrews. First heard in 1943 on MBS in a 15-minute format, the comedy show had become 30 minutes in length by the time it went off the air in 1953. The program was based on the comic strip of the same name by Bob Montana. The sponsor was Swift Premium Meats, makers of Swift Premium franks "in the sanitary, flavor saving cellophane wrapped one-pound package." Variety critically commented that the acting and writing of the Archie Andrews program was below the standards of such other teenage shows as the Aldrich Family and A Date with Judy. Over the years the program's cast included: Peggy Allenby, Cameron Andrews, Fred Barron, Burt Boyer, Maurice Franklin, Joy Geffen, Paul Gordon, Bill Griffiths, Jack Grimes, Doris Grundy, Bob Hastings, Vinton Hayworth, Grace Keady, Arthur Kohl, Joe Latham, Arthur Maitland, Gloria Mann, Charles Mullen, Rosemary Rice, Vivian Smolen, Harlan Stone, Jr., Reese Taylor and Alice Yourman. Created by John L. Goldwater, the program was written by Carl Jampel and Howard Merrill. The producers and directors included Floyd Holm, Kenneth W. MacGregor and Herbert M. Moss. Ken Banghart and Dick Dudley were the announcers (30 min., NBC, 1945).

1007 Arlen, Judith. Vocalist (Judith Arlen, vcl. mus. prg., CBS, 1939, 1942). Even though papers and other publications of the time list both a Judith Arlen and a Joan Arlen, they may indicate the same performer.

1008 Arlin, Harold W. Famous pioneer announcer (KDKA, Pittsburgh, PA, 1925). Arlin, considered to have been the first full-time announcer on the KDKA staff, was one of the great pioneers of early American radio. His training was as an electrical engineer. When he entered a Westinghouse training program, he attracted the attention of Leo Rosenberg, who offered him an announcing job at KDKA. He accepted and became one of early radio's most popular announcers. Soon after starting at KDKA, Arlin most likely became the first DJ when he played phonograph records on the air. Although at first he announced neither their titles or their performers, he soon began to do so in response to listener requests. Immediately after he began giving this information, the sale of phonograph records in his area greatly increased.

On August 5, 1921, Arlin on KDKA broadcast the first baseball play-by-play from Forbes Field. Later, on August 6, 1921, he became the first man to broadcast a tennis match. Approximately two months later, he broadcast the Pittsburgh–West Virginia football game. KDKA claimed that Arlin was the first to broadcast football play-by-play with the University of Pittsburgh–West Virginia University game.

1043 Armstrong, Don. DJ (WQAM, Miami, FL, 1960).

1044 Armstrong, Edwin Howard. Inventor Armstrong pioneered in radio by inventing and developing the superheterodyne circuit that produced clearer reception and better tonal quality for listeners. Although frustrated much of his life by undeserved setbacks in patent infringement cases, Armstrong is now generally recognized as one of the most important contributors to the development of American radio. His significant contributions include such radio circuitry improvements as the development of regenerative, super-regenerative and superheterodyne circuits. These improvements provided greater amplification of signals received without the howling noise usually associated with signal regeneration. Armstrong became wealthy when he sold the rights to his superheterodyne circuit to RCA in 1922. Eleven years later Armstrong demonstrated his wideband FM (frequency modulation) system that is recognized as the beginning of multiplexing and high fidelity (Lewis, 1993, p. 259). Despite his several significant contributions, Armstrong committed suicide in 1954, believing himself a failure. Throughout his life, the introverted Armstrong contributed as much or more than did his counterpart and bitter rival — the extroverted Lee DeForest.

1045 Armstrong, Frank. Sports caster (WJPR, Greenville, MS, 1942; Sports Parade, WDSG, Dyersburg, TN, 1947).

1046 Armstrong, Harry. Armstrong told tales and recounted his "Reminiscences of Minstrel Days" (WBAY, New York, NY, 1922).

- 1055 Armstrong, William "Army." Sports-caster (WOMI, Owensboro, KY, 1946; Sports News and Views, WOMI, 1948-1951).
- 1056 Armstrong of the S.B.I. Most of the characters that originally appeared on the popular children's daytime serial, Jack Armstrong, also appeared on this show. Unlike the original program, this one ran 30 minutes in length and was broadcast twice weekly. A complete story was told each time. Jack appeared on the program as an investigator for the Scientific Bureau of Investigation — an organization roughly mirroring the FBI. Charles Flynn played the title role assisted by: Patricia Dunlap, Ken Griffin, Carlton KaDell and Dick York. The announcers were Ed Prentiss and Ken Nordine. James Jewell was the show's producer-director and chief writer. Other writers who contributed to the show were Paul Fairman, Alan Fishburn, Thomas Elvidge, Donald Gallagher, Jack Lawrence and Kermit Slobb (30 min., Tuesday and Thursday, 7:30-8:00 P.M., ABC, 1950).
- 1057 Armstrong Quaker Oats Orchestra. Band featured on the Parisian Vocal Concert program (WABC, New York, NY, 1928; WLW, Cincinnati, OH and WJZ, New York, NY, 1929).
- 1058 Armstrong Quakers. The weekly musical program presented soprano Lois Bennett, "The Quaker Girl," the Armstrong Quakers Orchestra, contralto Mary Hopple, a male vocal quartet and Victor Arden conducting the orchestra (30 min, Friday, 10:00-10:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1928-1931).
- 1059 (The) Army Hour. The Army Hour program, an official broadcast report of the United States War Department, began during the World War II era. At that time numerous soldier interviews were broadcast along with generally upbeat Army news. Ed Herlihy was the announcer. In the following years the program broadcast various news features about the Army and its achievements (NBC, 1944).
- 1060 Arndt, (Professor) William. Professor Arndt conducted a series of radio Bible classes (WFUO, St. Louis, MO, 1925-1926).
- 1061 Arnesen, Arne. Violinist (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1924 and KSD, St. Louis, MO, 1924-1926). Arnesen was also the leader of Arne Arnesen's Concert Orchestra (KSD, St. Louis, MO, 1925).
- 1062 Arnett, Eddie. DJ (WIZE, Springfield, OH, 1960).
- 1063 Arnheim, Gus. Popular California band leader. Arnheim formerly was a pianist with the Abe Lyman Orchestra before starting his own band. His programs often originated from Hollywood's Coconut Grove and featured songs by Bing Crosby. Arnheim's 1928 band included: Arnheim, ldr. and p.; Walter Holzhaus, t. and vcls.; Stanley Green, t.; Marlo Imes, tb.; Nelson Hall, g. and vcls.; Joe Krechter and Tom Sandvall, cl. and as. During the early days of radio, the Arnheim band, playing from the Coconut Grove in Los Angeles, broadcast every evening other than Sunday (KNX, Los Angeles, CA, 1927-1929). The band also appeared on the Gus Arnheim Orchestra instr. mus. prg. (CBS, 1932-1936; WMAQ, Chicago, IL, 1936 and WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1942).

- 1094 Arnold, Walter. Newscaster (KFOX, Long Beach, CA, 1940).
- 1095 Arnold and McNatt. Country music star-to-be Eddy Arnold brought his smooth singing style to the program on which he teamed with country fiddler Speedy McNatt (WTJS, Jackson, MI, 1938). The men teamed together until Arnold left to join Pee Wee King's Golden West Cowboys and appear on the Grand Ole Opry in 1938-1939.
- 1096 Arnoldi, Florence Lake. Coloratura soprano (WCAW, Omaha, NE, 1925).
- 1097 Arnoux, G.C. ("Uncle Billy," "GCA" or "CAM"). Arnoux began his announcing career at station WGI (Medford Hillside, MA, 1923), where he also told "Peter Rabbit and Johnny Chipmunk" stories on his Uncle Billy children's program (WGI, 1923). After WGI, where he was known as "GCA," he went to WBAP (Dallas, TX) as an announcer from 1923 to 1924 and told tales of cowboys and western life. Arnoux was WBAP's first announcer. Known for his excellent diction and well modulated voice, Arnoux had made a successful transition from newspaper man to pioneer announcer. He left the Dallas station to become the manager-announcer-director at KTHS (Hot Springs National Park, AR) in 1924.
- Arnoux was the announcer on KTHS's inaugural broadcast, a remote broadcast from Hot Springs' New Arlington Hotel ballroom featuring the Meyer Davis Orchestra. He began that program with, "Greetings to radioland. Station KTHS in Hot Springs National Park, Arkansas, is now on the air."
- Arnoux also did many sports' re-creation broadcasts in the late 1920s such as: The 1925 World Series between the Washington Senators and Pittsburgh Pirates; the Dempsey-Tunney fight in 1926; the Dixie Minor League Series between Dallas and New Orleans; the Jack Sharkey-Jack Dempsey bout and Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney fight in 1927.
- Arnoux became manager of KTAR (Norfolk, VA) in 1931 and, later, the president and general manager of the station. During a talent search in 1931, Arnoux found two young Mena, Arkansas, businessmen, who entertained friends with their blackface act. The pair he found was "Chet" Lauck and Norris "Tuffy" Goff. After the two men appeared on KTHS (Hot Springs, AR, 1931) with musicians Oleu Wilhite and Cliff and Bill Beavers, they went on to network fame as Lum and Abner. Arnoux died in 1966 at the age of 71 after serving as president of the National Association of Broadcasters.

1098 Arnoux, Natalie. Violinist (KFDM, Beaumont, TX, 1928).

1099 Arnow, Ed. Newscaster (NBC, San Francisco, CA, 1960). Sportscaster (NBC, 1960).

1106 Around the Melodian. "The days of yesteryear" were depicted in music on the popular local program directed by Frederick R. Huber and supervised by Gustav Klemm. The continuity script was written by Broughton Tall. The featured singers were Jane Kirby, soprano; Maud Albert, contralto; John Wilburn, tenor; Walter Linthicum, bass; Charlie Grace, tenor; and Charlie Thorp, tenor. John H. Elterman was the program's organist (30 min., Saturday, 9:00-9:30 P.M., WBAL, Baltimore, MD, 1929-1930). The favorites of its listening public were "Annie Laurie," "O Susanna," and "My Darling Nellie Gray."

1107 Around the Old Parlor. Organist Bill O'Connor and vocalist Howard Peterson appeared on the quarter-hour music program (15 min., Saturday, 10:15-10:30 A.M., WLS, Chicago, IL, 1938).

1108 Around the Samovar. Concert singer Mme. Dora Boescher, soprano Mme. Zinaida Nicolina, baritone Eli Spivak, violinist Mlle. Elaine Kazanova and Peter Biljou's Balalika Orchestra, conducted by M. Biljou, appeared on the program that presented primarily Russian music (Saturday, 9:30-10:00 P.M., CBS, 1929-1930).

1109 Around the Town. The evening show toured various New York night clubs and broadcast music directly from their dance floors (180 min., nightly, 11:00 P.M.-2:00 A.M., WMCA, New York, NY, 1932).

1110 Around the Town with WDAF. Every Saturday nights from 8:00-10:00 P.M., the station presented remote musical broadcasts from various Kansas City hotels, theaters and dining rooms (WDAF, Kansas City, MO, 1926).

1111 Around the World with Betty Ross. Journalist Ross talked about her adventures that had taken her from the Russian steppes to the Arabian desert (NBC, early-1930s).

1112 Around the World with Libby. Libby-McNeil-Libby sponsored the weekly series of musical tours around the world. Songs of many countries were performed by vocal soloists and the orchestra conducted by Josef Pasternack. Toscha Seidel also conducted the orchestra at times. Alwyn E.W. Bach was the announcer (NBC-Blue, 1929). A Pacific Coast version was also broadcast in the same year with Alois Havrilla as the announcer.

1113 Arpeako Minstrel Show. The old-fashioned radio minstrel show broadcast by WHAM (Rochester, NY, 1932) presented the usual gags, blackface jokes, songs, and skits.

1114 Arquette, Cliff. Veteran radio actor-comedian Arquette turned DJ on his Carnival program (WAMR, Venice, FL, 1960).

1115 Arrasmith, Herb. DJ (West by Request, KERN, Bakersfield, CA, 1948).

1143 Arthur, Jerry. DJ (Make Merry with Jerry, WLAD, Danbury, CT, 1949).

1144 Arthur, Jon. Newscaster (WIBC, Indianapolis, IN, 1942; Woman's Side of the News, WSAI, Cincinnati, OH, 1947). DJ (The Jon Arthur Show, WSAI, 1948-1949).

1145 Arthur, Zin. Leader (Zin Arthur Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WFIL, Philadelphia, PA, 1938).

1146 Arthur Godfrey. Godfrey talked and sang on his entertaining morning program, sponsored by Cornation Milk. Billboard (June 20, 1940) suggested that few one-man shows reached Godfrey's quality and concluded: "The guy's good." Millions of listeners in later years agreed (15 min., Wednesday, 9:00-9:15 A.M., MBS, 1940). When Godfrey conducted an early morning music and weather show on WJSV (Washington, DC) in the 1930s, he often kidded a furrier sponsor by the name of Zlotnick, whose shop was located on G Street just above 10th Street in downtown Washington, DC. Godfrey often referred disparagingly to Zlotnick's shop and the sign of the large white bear that marked its location. Since everyone in Washington knew where it was located, Godfrey seldom gave the shop's exact address when doing a commercial for Zlotnick. Merely saying it was located "at the sign of the dirty white bear" was enough. Klink (1996) tells an amusing story about the time when Godfrey was leaving Washington to go to work in New York and the station gave him a going away luncheon at the Federal Club. As Godfrey was saying farewell to everyone, the "dirty white bear" was rolled on the stage behind him without him noticing. When the audience broke out in laughter, Godfrey wondered what was going on, until he turned, saw the bear and laughed loudly.

Godfrey probably was the most popular radio personality of the Golden Age. People liked him and bought his sponsor's products. At the peak of his popularity he had an estimated audience of 82 million for both his radio and television programs. His $150 million dollar commercial billings represented 12 per cent of the total CBS yearly revenues (Tollin, 1997, p. 30). However, Godfrey's popularity began to wane on October 19, 1952, when he fired a young singer—Julius LaRosa—on the air during his Arthur Godfrey Time morning show. Godfrey's image for many of his faithful listeners was damaged irreparably. See also Arthur Godfrey Time.

1147 Arthur Godfrey Time. Godfrey was at the peak of his radio career with this program and his Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts program that ran concurrently. Godfrey warbled, played his uke and exchanged small talk with cast members Jeanette Davis, the Mariners and members of the Archie Bleyer Orchestra. Tony Marvin was the announcer. Over the years Godfrey's performers included: the Chordettes vocal quartet (Janet Erlet, Carol Hagedorn, Jinny Osborn and Dottie Schwartz), Patti Clayton, Bill Lawrence, the Mariners vocal quartet (Nathaniel Dickerson, Martin Karl, James Lewis and Thomas Lockard), Frank Parker, Marion Marlowe and Lu Ann Simms (60 min., Monday through Friday, 10:30-11:30 A.M., CBS, 1948). Earlier in 1946, his gang included Marshall Young, Frank Saunders, James Vair Dusen, Jeanette Davis and the Lud Flatow Orchestra (CBS, 1946).

In 1947, Tony Marvin opened the program with these words: "Yes, it's Arthur Godfrey Time with all the little Godfreys—Jeanette Davis, the Mariners, Archie Bleyer and his orchestra and a studio of wonderful people. And here's that man himself—Arthur Godfrey." Godfrey's tremendous popularity arose from a variety of things. First, it probably was his homey, down-to-earth conversational style and his "just folks" approach. Second, and probably equally important, was his knack of kidding his sponsors. This began early in his career while he was doing the morning program at WJSV (Washington, DC) and he started to tease Zlotnick, one of his favorite sponsors. Godfrey enjoyed talking about Zlotnick the Furrier at the sign of the big Polar Bear, one of the strangest signs in the nation's capital. Godfrey is best remembered for an incident that occurred on the Arthur Godfrey Time broadcast of October 19, 1952, when he fired singer Julius LaRosa on the air. See also Arthur Godfrey.

1148 Arthur Godfrey's Digest. The "best" of Godfrey's weekly morning shows were re-broadcast on the weekly transcribed program (30 min., Saturday, 9:30-10:00 P.M., CBS, 1950).

1149 Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts. Godfrey presented many young and talented performers to the listening audience on the half-hour sustaining network program (30 min., Tuesday, 9:00-9:30 P.M., CBS, 1946).

1150 Arthur Hopkins Presents. Broadway producer Hopkins presented a series of five plays with distinguished performers. He opened the series by presenting Thornton Wilder's Our Town with Frank Craven, Helen Carew, Philip Coolidge, Evelyn Varden, Thomas W. Rors, John Thomas, Mary Patton and Howard Smith. Wynn Wright directed the excellent sustaining program (60 min., Wednesday, 11:30-12:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1943).

1151 Arthur Murray's Course in Ball Room Dancing by Radiophone. Murray, although a stutterer, was a gifted salesman of himself and his product (WGI, Hillside, MA, 1924). Another program by Murray broadcast that year on many stations was listed as Arthur Murray's Dancing Lesson # 5 (WHAS, Louisville, KY; WOC, Davenport, IA; WNAC, Boston, MA; WLW, Cincinnati, OH; WGY, Schenectady, NY; WMC, Memphis, TN; WRC, Washington, DC; WGI, Medford Hillside, MA; WBZ, Boston-Springfield, MA; WCAE, Pittsburgh, PA; WHAM, Rochester, NY; WGR, Buffalo, NY; KYW, Chicago, IL; and WSAD, Providence, RI). This was an impressive group of stations in 1924.

1152 Arthur Smith and His Cracker Jacks. CW mus. prg. (15 min., transcribed, various stations, 1948). Smith was a popular CW musician who enjoyed a long successful career on various shows.

1153 Arthur Smith's Carolina Corner. CW mus. prg. (15 min., transcribed, various stations, 1950).

1154 Arthurs, Winifred C. "Bill." Newscaster (Buckeye Briefs, WRFD, Worthington, OH, 1951-1960).

1155 Artman, Marion. COM-HE (WGAP, Maryville, TN, 1956-1957).

1156 Artman, Paul. DJ (Bandstand, WJPR, Greenville, MS, 1947; Big Jamboree, WNLA, Indianola, MS, 1955).

1157 Arturo's Caballeros Orchestra. Popular local orchestra (instr. mus. prg., WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1942).

1158 Arty Hall's Southern Rubes. The network CW music program was performed by a group of "musical farmers" (15 min., Monday through Friday, 6:15-6:30 P.M. C.S.T., NBC-Blue, 1936).

1159 Artzt, Billy. Artzt was the orchestra leader on the Planters Pickers program (NBC-Red Network, New York, NY, 1929).

1160 Arundel, Arthur W. News analyst (Editorial Commentary, WAVA, Arlington, VA, 1960).

1161 Arvin, Ray. Sportscaster (KORN, Fremont, NE, 1945). News analyst (Commentary, WREN, Topeka, KS, 1949).

1162 As the Twig Is Bent. Barbara Terrell and George Coulouris starred in the daytime serial sponsored by Post Toasties cereal. The story concerned a young school teacher working in a rural community. The program was revived twice. Once as We Love and Learn and, later, as The Story of Ruby Valentine. The latter was unique in that it was the first network African-American "soap opera." The cast members who worked on the program are listed in the We Love and Learn entry (15 min., Monday through Friday, 1:15-1:30 P.M., WNAC, Boston, MA, 1941). See also We Love and Learn and The Story of Ruby Valentine.

1163 As We Are. The discussion program of the early 1950s presented a positive view of the American scene (15 min., Monday, 11:00-11:15 P.M., NBC-Red Network, early 1950s).

1164 As You Like It. This broadcast of Shakespeare's play is thought to be one of the first dramatic presentations of the work of that genius ever to be broadcast (WCAL, Northfield, MN, 1922).

1165 Asbell, Ferrell. Newscaster (WDVH, Gainesville, FL, 1960).

1166 Ashbaugh, Don. Sportscaster (KBNE, Boulder City, NV, 1946).

1167 Ashburn, Bonnie. Sportscaster (KOWH, Omaha, NE, 1942).

1168 Ashburn, Ron. DJ (WNOX, Knoxville, TN, 1952).

1169 Asbury Park Dance Orchestra. Amusement park dance orchestra (WMCA, New York, NY, 1925).

1170 Ascarelli, G. Newscaster (WHOM, Jersey City, NJ, 1940-1942).

1171 Ash, Harry. Leader (Harry Ash and his Royal Novelty Orchestra, WNYC, New York, NY, 1924; Ash's Canadian Orchestra, WNYC, New York, NY, 1925).

- 1172 Ash, Ken. Sportscaster (Sports Quiz, WHAV, Haverhill, MA, 1948–1951).
- 1173 Ash, Merrill. Newscaster (KOMO, Seattle, WA, 1946, 1953–1954).
- 1174 Ash, Paul. Ash was the orchestra leader and host of the Merry Mad Gang program broadcast from Chicago's Oriental Theater (WGN, Chicago, IL, 1926).
- 1175 Ashard, Dick. Newscaster (Cedar City, UT, 1946).
- 1176 Ashbaugh, Don. Newscaster (KBNE, Boulder City, NV, 1946).
- 1177 Ashby, Dick. DJ (940 Special, WMAZ, Macon, GA, 1952).
- 1178 Ashby, Fanny. Singer known as "The Sunshine Radio Girl" (KFSG, Los Angeles, CA, 1925).
- 1179 Ashcroft, Frank. Singer (Frank Ashcroft, vcl. mus. prg., KLRA, Little Rock, AR, 1930s).
- 1180 Ashenbrenner, Walter. Violinist (WJAZ, Chicago, IL, 1923).
- 1181 Ashenfelder, Louis (The Louis Ashenfelder Company). Louis Ashenfelder directed the grand opera company that broadcast "Manon" and "La Boheme" (WRNY, New York, NY, 1926).
- 1182 Asher and Little Jimmy (Sizemore). Father and son CW singing team (Asher and Little Jimmy, CW vcl. mus. prg., WIDZ, Tuscola, IL, 1937; WSM, Nashville, TN, 1938–1939 and WHAS, Louisville, KY, 1935, 1939). The father and son act recorded numerous transcribed programs broadcast by many stations. They also appeared on the Grand Ole Opry.
- 1183 Asher, Frederick M. Newscaster (WDCR, Hanover, NH, 1960).
- 1184 Asher, James D. Newscaster (WJDA, Quincy, MA, 1957–1960).
- 1185 Asher, Warren. DJ (Rural Roundup, WFOR, Hattiesburg, MS, 1947).

- 1209 (The) Associated Spotlight. The entertaining program, sponsored by the Associated Oil Company, contained comedy, music and dramatic episodes. Cecil Underwood was the program's host. Producer and continuity writer Caryl Coleman also performed in many of the program's comedy skits. Playwright and orchestra leader Walter Beban wrote over 200 skits for the show and was also the musical director. Bobbe Deane played "hundreds of characters" in Beban's skits, including the "Sassy Little" role. Imelda Montagne played "Sophie Svenson" in Beban's School Days skits. Tenor Irving Kennedy, who previously had worked with the Marx Brothers in their stage hit Cocanuts, played the role of "Ikey Lechinsky" in School Days. Monroe Upton played "Lord Bilgewater."
- Many of the popular "School Days" segments were written by Captain William Royle, who also played "Ishud Sokitoyou" and "Spud McGuire" in them. Max Waizman played "Herr Fitzmeyer the Schoolteacher" and Bennie Walker played "Bennie Fischel. Musical selections were also performed by bass Armand Girard; "Miss Ethyl Associated," a beautiful unidentified soprano; Alice Joy; Welsh tenor Gwynfi Jones; the versatile Annette Hastings, who played the piano, organ and sang; and the Cyclot Four vocal quartet that included Marjorie Primley singing and playing the piano. Another interesting performer on the Associated Spotlight was Harold Perez (later famous as Harold Peary), who played the parts of "George Washington U.S. Lee" and the "Laughing Villain." Don Thompson wrote and narrated the program's "Champions of the West" segment that presented biographies of various sports champions. Thompson also broadcast football play-by-play for the Associated Oil Company. The program was broadcast on the NBC-Pacific Coast network in 1932.

- 1255 Attorney at Law. S.C. Johnson sponsored the summer replacement for the Fibber McGee and Molly program. Young attorney Terry Regan, his assistant and his efficient secretary, played respectively by Jim Ameche, Arthur Jacobson and Fran Carlon, successfully battled to secure justice for Regan's clients. Sometimes known as Terry Regan—Attorney at Law, the program originally was a daily 15-minute daytime serial before expanding to half an hour. Other members of the cast were Lucy Gilman, Grace Lockwood, June Meredith and Fred Sullivan (30 min., Tuesday, 8:30-9:00 P.M., NBC, 1938).
- 1256 Attorney for the Defense. Al Hodge played the role of Roger Allen, a successful lawyer, who battled each week against an aggressive, politically ambitious DA on the sustaining program. Milton Kramer wrote, Herb Rice produced and Ernest Rice directed the summer replacement for The Shadow. A few early episodes were broadcast that featured two old comrades from the I Love a Mystery program, Michael Raffetto and Barton Yarborough, in the leading roles (30 min., Sunday, 5:00-5:30 P.M., MBS, 1946).
- 1257 Atwater, Gilbert. Newscaster (WCNW, Brooklyn, NY, 1941-1942).

- 1263 Atwater Kent Orchestra. The commercially sponsored (Atwater Kent Radio Company) orchestra was conducted by Paul Finstein (KNX, Los Angeles, CA, 1925) and by Nicoli Berezowski. (KNX, 1926). Later, Louis Edin conducted the orchestra on the Atwater Kent Hour network program (NBC-Red, New York, NY, 1927).
- 1264 (The Atwater Kent Program. Atwater Kent sponsored the distinguished weekly musical program that featured sopranos Mabel Garrison, Hulda Lashanska and Edith Mason; baritones George Cehanovsky, Alfredo Gandolfi, William Simmons and Lawrence Tibbett; tenors Beniamino Gigli, Frederick Jagel and Allen McQuhae; violinists John Corigliano and Efreim Zimbalist; pianist Katherine Stewart; and other singers including Harold Nason and Genevieve Rowe. The Atwater Kent orchestra was conducted by Louis Edin.
- The program was first broadcast October 4, 1925, on WEAF. On May 2, 1926, the program concluded its first series of broadcasts with a Music Week Festival program that was broadcast that day. The special program included performances by contralto Kathryn Meisle, tenor Allen McQuhae, pianist John Powell and violinist Albert Spalding. Frances Alda, Louise Homer and Josef Homman also appeared. The following year (1927), the Atwater Kent Company sponsored its first National Radio Auditions. Agnes Davis won the first contest with her performance of "Pace, Pace, Mio Dio" from Verdi's La Forza del Destino and Wilbur Evans took second place by singing Flegier's "Le Cor." In the following years, the Atwater Kent auditions [See also The Atwater Kent Auditions.] brought recognition to and furthered the musical and radio careers of Hazel Arth (1928), Josephine Antoine (1929) and Thomas L. Thomas and Lydia Summers (1932), along with others (60 min., Sunday, 9:15-10:15 P.M., NBC-Blue Network, 1925-1931). Programs of this nature brought good music and many talented performers to listeners. For example, the program was often used in schools as a means to encourage music appreciation by pupils. As part of the music appreciation program in the Dallas, Texas, schools students were assigned to listen to the program and write a review of it.

1265 Atwater Kent Quartette. Members of the singing group were Victor Edmonds, 1st tenor; George Rasply, 2nd tenor; James Davies, bass; and Erwyn Mutch, baritone (NBC, 1929).

Uncle Roy (Roy Girardin), a WEEI announcer, co-hosted the program with Gustin (60 min., Saturday, 10:00–11:00 A.M., WEEI, Boston, MA, 1937).

1291 Aunt Jane. Another Aunt who told stories for children (WOC, Davenport, IA, 1928).

1292 Aunt Jemima. Singer Tess Gardella first played the role after Lew Leslie named her "Aunt Jemima" and brought her to vaudeville. She performed in blackface. Famous before coming to radio, Gardella had played the Palace in 1922 (CBS, 1928). Harriette Widmer, also played the stereotypical "blackface mammy" portrayed on the Aunt Jemima pancake mix box. She entertained by singing and performing comedy routines (15 min., Saturday 9:45–10:00 A.M., NBC-Blue, 1937). The Quaker Oats Company later broadcast the program in a five-minute format (1942–1944). Over the years the program's cast included: Harriette Widmer in the title role, Bill Miller and Mary Ann Mercer as vocalists and the Old Plantation Sextet. Harry Walsh was musical director and Marvin Miller the announcer. The program was written by Mason Ancker and directed by Palmer Clark. In later years Aunt Jemima was played by Amanda Randolph.

1293 (The) Aunt Jemima Man. Comic Phil Cook sang and joked his way through the quarter-hour early morning program sponsored by Quaker Oats and broadcast six times weekly (15 min., Monday through Saturday, 8:00–8:15 A.M., NBC-Blue, 1930).

1294 Aunt Jemima on the Air. Buck and Wheat, a blackface comedy team, were featured on this Quaker Oats sponsored program broadcast by NBC in 1937. Vance McCune played Wheat, one member of the comedy team.

1296 Aunt Mary. An unidentified woman delivered talks on child rearing and training (WOR, Newark, NJ, 1936).

1297 Aunt Nell. This unidentified Aunt told children's stories (KGW, Portland, OR, 1923–1924).

1335 Autels, Van. Sportscaster (KTAR, Phoenix, AZ, 1960).

1336 Author/Author. Humorist and author S.J. Perelman conducted the sustaining panel show on which an incomplete mystery plot sent in by a listener was read to a group of four authors. After a few moments each author attempted to complete the story. The panel of authors included the Ellery Queen writing team, Frederic Dannay and Manfred Lee, as regulars. Poet Ogden Nash later replaced Perelman as program host (30 min., Friday, 8:30–9:00 P.M., MBS, 1939).

1337 Author Meets the Critics. The interesting program ran at various times from 1946 to 1951 with Barry Gray and John McCaffery as host on MBS, NBC and ABC. The format brought together two critics — one pro and one con — to review a book during the first half of the program. During the second half the author was allowed to respond directly to their comments (30 min., Wednesday, 10:30–11:00 P.M., MBS, 1947).

1339 Autobiographies of Infamous Bugs and Rodents. Unique in concept, the program was devoted to household pests and their eradication (15 min., Tuesday, 6:30–6:45 P.M., KQW, San Jose, CA, 1927).

1340 Automatic Disc Duo Orchestra. Commercial dance band (WJZ, New York, NY, 1928 and WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1929).

1341 Autry, Gene (aka The Oklahoma Yodeling Cowboy). Cowboy singer-actor Autry, born Sept 29, 1908, first appeared on KVOO (Tulsa, OK, 1927–1929). After he recorded for Sears' Conqueror label, he appeared on the company's Chicago station (Conqueror Record Time, WLS, Chicago, IL, 1930–1931). From 1930 to 1934 Autry appeared on the National Barn Dance (WLS, Chicago, IL). After great success on the show, he left for Hollywood to star in numerous western movies.

1342 Autumn in New York. Alfredo Antonini's orchestra was featured on the sustaining music program with singers Jimmy Carroll and Frances Greer (30 min., Friday, 9:30–10:00 P.M., CBS, 1952). In January, 1953, Autumn in New York became There's Music in the Air. See also There's Music in the Air.

1343 Auulea, H. Leader of the H. Auulea School of Hawaiian Music Orchestra (WFAA, Dallas, TX, 1926).

1344 Dixies Circus. Bob Sherwood was joined on the 15-minute show by a 12-year-old girl who listened to his tales of his interesting experiences in the circus (15 min., Saturday, 7:15–7:30 P.M., NBC, 1930).

1345 Auxer, Ed. DJ (WSBT, South Bend, IN, 1960).

1346 Avalon Club Orchestra. New York jazz band (WHN, New York, NY, 1926).

1347 Avalon Time Program. Comedian Red Skelton made his radio debut on the program. He was assisted by Edna Stirlwell, Del King, singers Curt Massey and Red Foley and the Bob Strong Orchestra. Skelton's show was sponsored by Raleigh Cigarettes in 1947 and Tide from 1950–1952.

1348 Averitt, Helen. Singer (KFRU, Columbia, MO, 1926).

1349 Avery, Ann Matheson. Contralto (KOIN, Portland, OR, 1928).

1350 Avery, Bob. Sportscaster (WTHT, Hartford, CT, 1942).

1351 Avery, Charles. Newscaster (WFPG, Atlantic City, NJ, 1951).

1352 Avery, Chuck. DJ (Top of the Morning, WLNA, Peekskill, NY, 1954).

1353 Avery, Don. Newscaster (KROW, Oakland, CA, 1939).

1354 Avery, Gaylord "Gay." Newscaster (KFAB, Lincoln, NE, 1946–1948).

1355 Avery, Leslie Hart. DJ (Evening Concert, KRE, Berkeley, CA, 1960).

1356 Avery, Marc. DJ (KAIR, Tucson, AZ, 1960).

1357 Avery, Martin. Newscaster (WLNH, Laconia, NE, 1940).

1358 Avey, Gary M. DJ (KYOS, Merced, CA, 1960).

1359 Avey, (Mrs.) Thomas. Soprano (KTHS, Hot Springs National Park, AR, 1928).

- 1402 Babe Ruth Boy's Club. The great baseball star told stories of his baseball career, conducted this radio boy's club and promoted the many contests conducted on the program. Standard Oil of New Jersey sponsored the transcribed program (15 min., Wednesday, 6:30-6:45 P.M., MBS, 1934).
- 1403 Abner, (Mrs.) R.E. Harpist (WSM, Nashville, TN).
- 1404 Babes in Radio. Created by Grant Maxwell, who also produced and directed the program like an old "Hollywood campus movie." A "line" of 18 girls, who sang, danced and told jokes, were featured. A studio audience always witnessed the weekly show (30 min., Weekly, KTAB, San Francisco, CA, 1934).
- 1405 Babington, Stan. Newscaster (WGRC, New Albany, IN, 1942).
- 1406 Bab's Lady Orchestra. The orchestra often broadcast with soprano Mary Lane and tenor J. Leslie Pitcher (KJR, Seattle, WA, 1927-1928).
- 1407 Babson, Roger. Economist Babson broadcast his weekly Babson Reports (WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1924). He also gave business talks (WDAF, Kansas City, MO, 1925).
- 1408 Babson Finance Period (aka The Babson Finance Program). Distinguished economist Roger Babson provided financial and general economic information on the unusual program that also included musical selections by an orchestra directed by Harry Salter. The music played was selected because they were favorites of various highly successful American corporation officers. For example, one program featured the favorite music of the president of the Welch Grape Juice Company (15 min., Saturday, 8:15-8:30 P.M., CBS, 1929-1930).
- 1409 (The) Baby Corner. Baby care topics were the subjects discussed on the 15-minute program (15 min., Monday through Friday, 1:15-1:30 P.M., WROW, Albany, NY, 1949).
- Baby Rose Marie see Rose Marie
- 1410 Baby Snooks. Fanny Brice (Fannie Borach) played the role of Snooks, a mischievous little girl who kept her bedeviled father, played by Hanley Stafford (Alfred John Austin), in a constant state of agitated frustration. Brice began her career as a comedienne-singer in vaudeville and on the Broadway stage, where she starred in several versions of the Ziegfeld Follies. Brice's repertoire ranged from torch songs like "My Man" to the comic "Second Hand Rose." Fanny had performed a baby routine in vaudeville many years before she did on radio. She introduced Snooks on CBS radio on the Ziegfeld Follies [radio] Show of February 29, 1936. After that she played Snooks on the Good News of 1938 and the Maxwell House Coffee Time programs on NBC. She returned to CBS for the Baby Snooks Show, which ran until 1949, when she went back to NBC.
- Over the years in addition to Stafford her cast members included: Gale Gordon, Hans Conried, Sara Berner, Georgia Ellis, Arlene Harris and Lalive Brownell. Music was conducted by Carmen Dragon and Meredith Willson. Songs were performed by Bob Graham. The announcers were John Conte, Ken Roberts and Harlow Wilcox. Ted Bliss, Walter Bunker and Roy Rowlan were the directors. The program was produced by Mann Holiner and written by Bill Danch, Devary Freeman, Everett Freeman, Jess Oppenheimer and Jerry Seelen.
- 1411 Baby Yvonne. Baby Yvonne, a great Tennessee favorite, was a six-year-old mentalist, who appeared on this sustaining program with her mother, Princess Yvonne (15 min., Monday-Wednesday-Friday, 5:15-5:30 P.M., WNOX, Knoxville, TN, 1936).
- 1412 Bacal, Dave. Organist, pianist and novachord Bacal first appeared on radio in 1929 (WIP, Philadelphia, PA). He also played with the Charlie Gaylord, Al Kavelin and Leo Zollo orchestras.

1413 Bach, Alwyn E.W. Baritone-announcer (WBZ, Boston-Springfield, MA, 1924 and NBC, New York, NY, 1928). Bach was the announcer on such network programs as Moment Musicale, Freed Orchestradians, Echoes of the Orient, Heroes of the World, Old Man Sunshine, Lehn and Fink Serenaders, Famous Loves, Maxwell House Melodies, Around the World with Libby and Three Kings and a Queen. Bach later was a newscaster (KYW, Philadelphia, PA, 1947-1948).

1414 Bach, H.E. Announcer (WBZ, Springfield, MA, 1925).

1415 Bach, Joe. Sportscaster (WHLI, Niagara Falls, NY, 1940).

1416 Bach, Richard. Organist (Richard Bach, instr. mus. prg., WIP, Philadelphia, PA, 1935).

1417 Bacha, Robert. DJ (Rise 'n' Shine, WNCC, Barnesboro, PA, 1960).

1418 (The Bachelor of Song). A vel. mus. prg. by an unidentified romantic tenor (WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1935).

1419 (The Bachelor Poet). Norman Pearce read romantic poetry written for the program in his rich, baritone voice. The Lipton Tea Company sponsored this version of the program that also featured contralto Annette King. Donald Dowd was the announcer; (15 min., Monday-Wednesday-Friday, 10:15-10:30 P.M., WMAQ, Chicago, IL, 1937). Another version of the Bachelor Poet program presented Norman Pearce alone reading his romantic poetry. Billboard was none too kind in a review that said Pearce made Eddie Guest look good (15 min., Thursday, 8:00-8:15 P.M., WMCA, New York, NY, 1938).

1420 Bachelor's Children. Bess Flynn wrote the long running (1936-1946) daytime serial that centered on Dr. Robert Graham, his friend Sam Ryder and his adopted twin daughters, Ruth Ann and Janet Dexter. After Graham reared the adopted twin sisters, who were the daughters of a deceased World War I friend, he eventually married one of them. His friend, Sam, married the other. Old Dutch Cleanser was the original sponsor of the interesting daytime drama.

Old Dutch Cleanser delivered this message about the program in 1939:

This story of Bachelor's Children is dedicated to the radio audience of America by the makers of Old Dutch Cleanser in the interest of better cleaning. The loyalty and friendly interest of this great audience is evidenced by the thousands upon thousands of letters we have received. We trust that Bachelor's Children will entertain you in the future as it has in the past, and that Old Dutch Cleanser will merit your continued use.

The author, Bess Flynn, was one of the most skilled writers of daytime serials [See also Daytime Serials]. She explained the program's beginning in this way:

Dr. Robert Graham was a bachelor—35 years old—the only surviving child of a father who had spent his life in the practice of medicine. Dr. Graham had been brought up by his father with the ideals of the old-time family physician, and had learned to love his profession as something more than merely a means to earn a livelihood. To him it means a creed—the privilege of giving to his fellow human beings not only of professional skill, but of his personal interest as well. Men and women from all classes of society found their way to his office which he maintains in a part of the home where he was born and raised and where his father had also practiced his profession.

In place of the mother whom he lost at the age of eight, Dr. Graham had been reared by Miss Ellen Collins who came to them as a housekeeper and stayed to fill the place of mother as well, to her "Dr. Bob." After the death of the "old doctor," as she always called him, her whole life was centered about the young doctor whom she had come to love as her own son, and whom she alternately spoils and scolds.

At the beginning of the program, Dr. Graham, while entertaining his closest friend, Sam Ryder—likewise a bachelor, but eight years younger than the doctor—received a letter from James Dexter, his top sergeant during the war. He was greatly surprised as he had lost all contact with Dexter since they had returned home at the close of the war. Dexter had written from his death bed asking Dr. Graham to take his motherless twin children under his care, since he was dying penniless and knew of no one else to whom he might turn in his necessity.

When Dr. Graham agreed, he was surprised that Dexter's children were two attractive twin girls—eighteen years old! Many interesting complications and adventures arose from the intriguing beginning.

Movie Radio Guide gave the program its award for the best daytime radio serial of 1942. The performers on the program over the years were: Ruth Bailey, Muriel Brenner, Frank Dane, Dorothy Denver, Patricia Dunlap, Laurette Fillbrandt, Charles Flynn, Janice Gilbert, David Gothard, Marjorie Hannan, Alice Hill, Peg Hillias, John Hodiak, Raymond Edward Johnson, Ginger Jones, Art Kohl, Sonda Love, Marie Nelson, Nelson Olmstead, Mary Patton, Arthur Peterson, Marion Reed, Olga Rosenova, Olan Soule, Hugh Studebaker, Helen Van Tuyl, Beryl Vaughn, and Kay Westfall. The program was directed by Burt Lee and Russ Young. Don Gordon and Russ Young were the announcers (15 min., Monday through Friday, CBS, 1936-1946).

1421 Bacher, Jeanne. COM-HE (KGST, Fresno, CA, 1956-1957).

1422 Bachman, Charlie. DJ (Football Predictions, WILS, Lansing, MI, 1947).

1423 Bachman's Million Dollar Band. Local radio band (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1926).

1424 Bacho, Bob. DJ (Memorable Music, WNCC, Barnesboro, PA, 1954).

1425 Bachrad, Marv. Sports (WNAR, Norristown, PA, 1960).

1426 Back, Gunnar. Newscaster (WJNO, West Palm Beach, FL, 1938; WJSV, Washington, DC, 1939; WTOP, Washington, DC, 1945-1946; Events of the Day and The World and You, ABC, Washington, DC, 1955).

1427 Back, Howard. Newscaster (WERC, Erie, PA, 1948).

1428 Back Bay Matinee. Bob Elliot, a popular Boston DJ, conducted the program before he met Ray Goulding and joined with him to create the Bob and Ray team. Back Bay Matinee was broadcast six times per week (120 min., Monday through Saturday, 2:00-4:00 P.M., WHDH, Boston, MA, 1948). See also Bob and Ray.

1429 (The Back Home Hour). A large symphony orchestra and chorus performed on the weekly radio religious service. Famous evangelist Billy Sunday occasionally preached the program's sermon (60 min., Saturday, 11:00-12:00 midnight, CBS, 1929). Although he had not achieved his national fame on radio, Sunday at 69 began broadcasting in 1929 at the peak of his career. Even in his old age, the dynamic Sunday was aggressive "in the service of the Lord." The Back Home Hour remained on the network until Sunday's death in 1935. See also Sunday, Billy.

1430 Back of the News in Washington. Newspaper correspondent William Hard broadcast the early network program of political analysis (15 min., Monday, 7:45-8:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1930).

1431 Back to God Hour. In 1947, Harry Schultze, followed by Peter Eversheld and Joel Nederland, conducted the network religious program that later moved to television (MBS, 1947).

1432 Back to the Bible. Theodore Epp inaugurated the religious program in Lincoln, NE, in 1939. Each daily program included a Bible lesson. The program was still on radio in the 1980s.

1433 Back Where I Come From. Nicholas Ray wrote and Alan Lomax researched the informative sustaining program. Clifton Fadiman was the host. He was joined by the Luther Layman Singers and the Golden Gate Quartet (15 min., Monday, 10:30-10:45 P.M., CBS, 1940).

1434 Backlin, Jim. DJ (KCJB, Minot, ND, 1951; KFJR, Bismark, ND, 1957).

1435 Backman, John. DJ (All Star Dance Party, KWAL, Wallace, ID, 1947).

1436 Backmann, Art. DJ (WKUL, Cullman, AL, 1956).

1437 Backmann, Barton. Pianist (KYW, Chicago, IL, 1924).

1438 Backstage Review. Earl Nightingale was the host of the sustaining musical review program. Charlie Agnew's Orchestra, the Skylarks vocal group and vocalists Don Orlando and George Ramsby were regular performers (30 min., Monday through Friday, 11:00-11:30 P.M., WBBM, Chicago, IL, 1949).

1439 Backstage Wife (aka Mary Noble, Backstage Wife). The well-known opening of the daytime serial told of the trials and tribulations faced by Mary Noble, the backstage wife. It went like this: "Backstage Wife, the story of Mary Noble, and what it means to be the wife of a famous Broadway star—dream sweetheart of a million other women." The role of Mary was played by Vivian Fridell and Claire Niesen.

Mary, a stenographer from Iowa, faced many difficult times married to a romantic Broadway star, and the program presented everyone of them in detail. Because the program was broadcast from 1935 to 1959, the cast members involved were many: Hoyt Allen, Charmie Allen, George Ansell, Anita Anton, Luise Barclay, Anne Burr, Helen Claire, Donna Creade, Leo Curley, Frank Dane, Susan Douglas, Patricia Dunlap, Virginia Dwyer, Louise Fitch, Dorothy Francis, Vivian Fridell, Don Gallagher, Maxine Garenas, Norman Gottschalk, Ken Griffin, Joyce Hayward, Rod Hendrickson, Carl Henshaw, Wilda Hinkel, John M. James, Ginger Jones, Carlton KaDell, Bonita Kay, Charlotte Keane, Mandel Kramer, Eloise Kummer, John Larkin, Paul Luther, Ken Lynch, Alan MacAteer, Charlotte Manson, Sherman Marks, Bess McCammon, John McGovern, Malcolm Meecham, James Meighan, Marvin Miller, George Niese, Claire Niesen, Ethel Owen, Eileen Palmer, George Petrie, Kay Renwick, Bartlett Robinson, Elmira Roessler, Dorothy Sands, Betty Ruth Smith, Guy Sorel, Dan Sutter, Henrietta Tedro, Phil Truex, Vicki Vola, Andree Wallace, Charles Webster, Ethel Wilson and Lesley Woods. The several announcers were: Sandy Becker, Harry Clark, Ford Bond and Roger Krupp. Lou Jacobson, Les Mitchel, Joe Mansheld, Richard Leonard and Blair Walliser were the directors. Frank and Anne Hummert were the producers-writers. Other writers who worked on the program included: Ruth Borden, Ned Calmer, Phil Thorne and Elizabeth Todd (15 min., Monday through Friday, MBS and NBC, 1935-1939).

1440 Backstedt, William. Leader (William Backstedt's Old-Timers Orchestra, KFRC, San Francisco, CA, 1925; KJR, Seattle, WA, 1927).

1447 Badeaux, Ed. DJ (The Mail Bag, KXYZ, Houston, TX, 1948).

1449 Badger Four. Male vocal quartet (WHT, Chicago, IL, 1926).

1450 Badger's Hollywood Californians. Popular local orchestra (KFI, Los Angeles, CA, 1926).

1451 Badillo, Samuel. Newscaster (WIAC, San Juan, PR, 1942).

1452 Baebler, Phil. Tenor (WEAF, New York, NY, 1925).

1453 Baer, Arthur "Bugs." Humorist-newspaper columnist Baer delivered funny stories and commentary on his quarter-hour show. Lou Jacobson, Joe Mansfield, Les Mitchel, Blair Walliser and Fred Weihe were the directors. Chet Hill supplied sound effects. Some examples of Baer's remarks about lawyers illustrate his type of humor: "Always count your fingers after shaking hands with a lawyer." Speaking to an audience of lawyers, he once addressed them as the "Consolidated Ambulance Chasers of America" (15 min., WJZ, New York, NY, 1925).

1454 Baer, Emanuel. Assistant Conductor (Rivoli Orchestra, WNYC, New York, NY, 1925).

1455 Baer, Johnny. Vocalist (Johnny Baer, vcl. mus. prg., KDKA, Pittsburgh, PA, 1936).

1456 Baer, Max. DJ (Max Baer Show, KFBK, Sacramento, CA, 1951-1952). On this program ex-heavyweight champion Baer tried his hand at radio again as a DJ. Much earlier he had appeared in an adventure series. See also Lucky Smith.

1457 Baer, Moe. Leader (Moe Baer Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WDBJ, Roanoke, VA, 1935).

1458 Baerg, Royce. DJ (Musical Varieties, KNEX, McPherson, KS, 1952).

Wells and Fred Lightner the writers of the sustaining program. Fred Collins was the announcer. Organ inclusions were performed by Paul Taubman (30 min., Tuesday, 9:00–9:30 P.M., NBC, 1935).

1843 Baron Munchausen. Jack Pearl created the long-winded Baron Munchausen, a character immediately popular with listeners. An example of the Baron's tall tales was this one: "In 1602, I was sitting starving in my tent in the middle of the Sahara Desert, when a Scotch musician came along. He was a sand piper you know. He was on his way to the ocean to go to court. He wanted to get a herring. So I said to him, 'Have you got anything to eat?' And he said, 'Why don't you eat the sand that is here?' I ate the sand, and I was so hungry that pretty soon I had made a hole ten miles deep and there was a whale in it. The whale was sitting there saying, 'I'm a great guy. I'm a great guy.' He was an awful blow hard. So I ate the whale, too. And when I cut him up, I found a man sitting in his stomach, reading. The man said, 'Hello. What are you doing in my house?' I said, 'You're not in a house. You're in a whale's stomach.' He just said, 'Well, well. Anyway, I was so interested in this magazine I didn't know it.' So I took the magazine away from him." 1923 Barrymore, Ethel. Actress Barrymore was introduced as "The Laughing Lady" (WJZ, Boston-Springfield, MA, 1923). The distinguished Broadway star was respectfully known as "The First Lady of the American Stage." Although well known for her work on stage in The Corn is Green, it was her performance in the motion picture None But the Lonely Heart that won her an Oscar as best Supporting Actress in 1944. Ethel Barrymore was the great aunt of current motion picture star Drew Barrymore, who reflects some of her great aunt's beauty.

Ethel Barrymore and her equally famous brothers, Lionel and John, frequently appeared on radio, occasionally in comedy skits, but usually in dramatic productions. Ethel most often appeared as a guest star on programs, but did perform in a short-lived situation comedy, Miss Hattie, with young Dick Van Patter on ABC (1944–1945). Brother Lionel, who was also a talented stage and film star, won the motion picture's Academy Award in 1931 for his work in A Free Soul. He was best known as a radio actor for his annual portrayal of "Ebenezer Scrooge" in Dickens' Christmas Carol and as "Dr. Gillespie" in the Dr. Kildare dramatic series with Lew Ayres.

Major Broadway and motion picture star John Barrymore was known variously as "The Great Profile" and "The Greatest Lover on the Screen." Perhaps he is best known on radio for his comedy role on the Rudy Vallee Show. All the members of the Barrymore family made major contributions to the American theater. According to a family legend, the Barrymores had acting in their blood since the time of Shakespeare (Biography, April 1998, p. 36).

- 2187 Becker, Don. Musician, script writer and producer Becker was born May 28, 1907. He made his first radio appearance as a ukulele player, after he had worked as a "Boy Wonder" performer in night clubs and vaudeville (WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1926). He became assistant general manager, announcer, sound engineer, writer and publicity man at WLW four years later. In addition, he taught radio ukulele lessons on the station in 1928–1929.
- Becker in the years that followed wrote more than 2,000 radio scripts. While writing scripts at WSAI (Cincinnati, OH) before returning to WLW, he created such fictitious sponsors on his programs as "The Dolly Dimple Steam Roller Corporation of Podunk," makers of the Flat-enmflat 8, whose motto was "A steam roller in every home."

2232 Beecher, Gene. Leader (Gene Beecher Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., NBC, 1935–1936; KVOO, Tulsa, OK, 1940).

2233 Beecher, Ralph. Leader (Ralph Beecher Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., CBS, 1935).

2234 Beechinor, Bob. DJ (Campus Serenade, KEEN, San Jose, CA, 1947).

2235 (The) Beechnut Hour. Beechnut Chewing Gum sponsored comedian Phil Baker on the variety show (30 min., Weekly, 1932). See also The Phil Baker Show.

2237 Beem, George. Marimba soloist (WCBT, Zion, IL, 1926).

2238 Beemer, Brace. Later famous for playing the role of the Lone Ranger, Beemer began his career as an actor and announcer on an Indianapolis, Indiana, radio station in 1922. See also The Lone Ranger.

2239 Beers, Betty. DJ (WEAB, Greer, SC, 1955). COM-HE (WEAB, 1956).

2240 Beers, Bobby. DJ (Bobby's Bandstand, KOA, Denver, CO, 1952).

2241 Bee's Prairie Crooners. CW mus. prg. (WMMN, Fairmont, WV, 1938).

2242 Beethoven Trio. The Beethoven Trio included Maurice Greenberg, violinist; Samuel Aldaman, violinist; and Dorothy Marino, pianist (WBZ, Boston-Springfield, MA, 1924).

2243 Beggar's Bowl. Basil Ruysdael wrote and narrated the dramatic program about a British Secret Service man in India, who plied his trade while disguised as a beggar. George Shackley provided oriental background music (30 min., Thursday, 10:30–11:00 P.M., WOR, Newark, NJ, 1932).

2244 Beggs, Hugh. Pianist (WHO, Des Moines, IA, 1925).

2245 Beghold, Kenneth "Ken." Newscaster (WBAX, Wilkes-Barre, PA, 1939–1940). DJ (Early Bird, WGBI, Scranton, PA, 1948–1949).

2249 Behan, John. Tenor (John Behan, vcl. mus. prg., WHO, Des Moines, IA, 1935).

2250 Behind Prison Bars. Sloane's Liniment, manufactured by the William R. Warner Company, sponsored the dramatic program about prison life. Variety said this was an improvement over Warden Lewis E. Lawes' former prison show—Twenty Thousand Years in Sing Sing—because its budget was enlarged. After the dramatic portion of the program was completed, Warden Lawes answered questions about crime and prison life that were asked by the audience (30 min., Monday, 10:00–10:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1938). Later in 1946–1947, a similar program—The Crime Cases of Warden Lawes—was broadcast by MBS.

2251 Behind the Mike. Pioneer radio announcer Graham McNamee hosted the program that took listeners behind the scenes of radio. Even McNamee could not keep a potentially interesting concept from becoming lack luster. For example, the May 18, 1941, program superficially treated sound effects; radio columnist Al Simon provided a few funny broadcasting stories focusing on fluffs; McNamee and announcer Gilbert Martin conducted a question-and-answer session based on listener letters; and Alma Kitchell told a human interest story about a potential juvenile delinquent, whose life was "changed" when he became interested in listening to radio. The program ended with Sylvia Foos singing a song. Mort Lewis wrote the program. Ernie Watson composed and conducted the original music for the program (30 min., NBC-Blue, 1941).

2253 Behm, Bernice. Soprano (KMA, Shenandoah, IA, 1928).

2270 Belding, Lee. DJ (You Name It, KXLO, Lewiston, ME, 1948).

2271 Belding, (Mrs.) Violet. Contralto (KTHS, Hot Springs National Park, AR, 1928).

2272 Belham, William. Reader (WHAG, New York, New York, 1925).

2273 Believe It or Not. Robert I. "Believe It or Not" Ripley presented dramatizations and told stories about the oddities and strange facts he discovered. The program was broadcast on a sustaining basis (15 min., Monday through Friday, 1:45–1:00 P.M., NBC, 1947). Ripley for many years was famous for his syndicated newspaper "Believe It or Not" cartoon feature. After replacing Joe Penner on The Baker's Broadcast, he became a nationally known personality who frequently appeared on radio as a purveyor of oddities and strange events. Ripley's programs included dramatic vignettes and the individuals involved in the oddities. Ripley made the transition to television with Believe It or Not on March 1, 1949. After his death in 1950, radio veteran Robert St. John succeeded him as host on the television show.

Ripley always sought notable "broadcast firsts." It is claimed that in 1940 he presented the Duke of Windsor on his first American broadcast. Edward, the Duke of Windsor, incidentally, figured in another significant event in American radio history. His broadcast as Edward VIII abdicating the British crown was broadcast December 10, 1936, and heard in the United States via short wave. On one of radio's most dramatic moments, he said that he was unable to carry the burden of the crown without the "love of the woman ... [he] loved."

A popular figure during his younger years, Prince Edward became king when his father died in January 1936. Edward had caused some eyebrows to be raised previously by his playboy reputation and independence, but it was his romance with Wallis Warfield Simpson, a married American, who had previously been divorced, that caused the crisis that led to his abdication.

When Mrs. Simpson instituted divorce proceedings and word spread that the King planned to marry her and make her queen, the crisis resulted that led to his dramatically memorable broadcast. Americans listened enthralled as the British King renounced his throne. All of this, of course, made Ripley's broadcast of the Duke significant. See also The Baker's Broadcast and The Joe Penner Show.

Benson introduced himself as "Your old friend and swing master." He came onto the Chicago radio scene from Mississippi. Benson respected the street culture he knew so well and the experience of southern immigrants who had come to Chicago. He created an effect that was entirely different from that of the other DJs.

His real name was Arthur Leaner. Before entering radio he conducted church services. Entering broadcasting when a station owner came to him and urged him to do a DJ show, Leaner changed his name to Al Benson, accepted the station owner's offer and began a successful DJ career. Benson became an effective commercial salesman and was a powerful influence in the music industry until he retired from radio in 1963. Along with Jack Leroy Cooper, Benson helped Chicago to become known as the "Black Radio Capital of the World." See also Black Radio.

2678 (The) Big Guy. The Big Guy, a private investigator, solved crimes and caught the bad guys on the interesting adventure show. The cast included Henry Calvin in the title role joined by David Anderson, Joan Laser, Bill Zuckert, Linda Watkins and Sandy Strauss. Organ interludes were provided by Jim Ward. Peter Roberts was the announcer (30 min., Weekly, NBC, 1950).

2679 Big Jeff Bass and the Radio Playboys. Big Jeff Bass headed the CW music group on his local early morning show. The program featured his wife, singer-comedienne Tootsie Bass (90 min., Weekdays, WLAC, Nashville, TN, World War II era).

2680 (The) Big Show. Professor Herman "Und Come It Now" Schnitzel was the zany host-comedian on the weekly variety program that also featured Frank and Charlie—the Hill Billy Boys, accordionist Johnny Troffoli, saxophonist Walter Beban, the blues singing crooner, Jozenia Van der Ende and the Trocadero Orchestra directed by Vinton LaFerrer, (120 min., 10:00 P.M. to midnight, KFI-NBC-Pacific Coast Network, San Francisco, CA, 1928).

2681 (The) Big Show. A weekly network variety show sponsored by Ex-Lax, the program featured the songs of Gertrude Niesen and the comedy team of Block and Sully. Lud Gluskin's orchestra provided the music (30 min., CBS, 1934). An earlier version, also sponsored by Ex-

Lax laxatives, had presented comedienne Lulu McConnell, contralto Niesen and the Isham Jones Orchestra. Future motion picture actor Paul Douglas was the announcer. The program was written by David Freeman (30 min., Monday, 9:30-10:00 P.M., CBS, 1933-1934).

2682 (The) Big Show. In an unsuccessful attempt to compete with the inroads of television, NBC radio presented this costly series broadcast from 1950 to 1952. Program costs each week were reported to be at least $50,000. Writers on the 90-minute variety show were Goodman Ace, Selma Diamond, Mort Green, George Foster, Welbourn Kelley and Frank Wilson. The announcer was Ed Herlihy. At times Tallulah Bankhead and Fred Allen served as the hosts who greeted a number of guest stars including: Clive Brooks, Portland Hoffa, Frankie Laine, Ethel Merman, Margaret Phillips, Hugh Reilly, Herb Shriner, Margaret Truman, Joan Davis, Judy Holliday, Dennis King, Lisa Kirk, Groucho Marx, Fran Warren, Luerene Boyer, George Jessel, Joe Frisco, Peter Lorre, Sheppard Strudwick and Fibber McGee and Molly (90 min., Sunday, 6:00-7:30 P.M., NBC, 1950-1952).

2683 Big Sister. One of the most popular daytime serials, Big Sister was sponsored by both Rinso and Procter & Gamble, two of the country's largest soap producers, while the program was on the air. Filled with many clichés of daytime serials, the show nevertheless featured many talented radio actors, some of whom gained considerable fame on the Broadway stage and in motion pictures. The title character, originated by Alice Frost, experienced problems both with her romance and marriage and with her attempts to care for her younger sister and brother.

The cast included: Mason Adams, Vera Allen, Jim Ameche Jr., Marjorie Anderson, Ed Begley, Alan Reed (Ted Bergman), Horace Braham, Patsy Campbell, Fran Carden, Peggy Conklin, Staats Cotsworth, Guy deVestel, Susan Douglas, Eric Dressler, Helene Dumas, Elspeth Eric, Louise Fitch, Arlene Francis, Alice Frost, Martin Gabel, David Gothard, Charlotte Holland, Joe Julian, Teri Keane, Alexander Kirkland, Adelaide Klein, Richard Kollmar, Barry Kroeger, Elizabeth Love, Nancy Marshall, Ian Martin, Grace Matthews, Mercedes McCambridge, Paul McGrath, Dorothy McGuire, Arnold Moss, Erin O'Brien-Moore, Michael O'Day, Santos Ortega, Oscar Polok, Carl Benton Reid, Ruth Schafer, Ann Shepherd (Scheindel Kalish), Everett Sloane, Haila Stoddard, Chester Stratton, Joan Tompkins, Evelyn Varden, Harold Vermilyea, Charles Webster, Ned Wever, and Richard Widmark. The announcers were Jim Ameche and Hugh Conover. The show was created by Lillian Lauferty and written by Carl Bixby, Julian Funt, Robert Newman and Bill Sweets. Mitchell Grayson, Theodore T. Hunton and Thomas F. Victor, Jr., were the directors. The musical director was William Meeder. Sound effects were produced by Bill Brown. Richard Liebert was the organist. The program was first broadcast in 1936 (15 min., Monday through Friday, CBS, 1936-1952).

2684 (The) Big Six of the Air. The six attractions presented each week on this lively half-hour show were the Frank Black Orchestra; the piano team of Phil Ohman and Victor Arden; tenor Lewis James; contralto Welcome Lewis; and a male quartet consisting of tenors Henry Shope and Frank Parker, baritone John Sleagle and bass Elliott Shaw. Jimmy Wallington was the announcer (30 min., Thursday, 9:00-9:30 P.M., NBC-Red Network, 1932).

2685 Big Time. Comic Johnny Hart presented humorous sketches and the Joseph Bonime Orchestra the music on the weekly network program (15 min., 8:00-8:15 P.M., WEAJ, New York, NY, 1932).

2686 Big Town. Jerry McGill was the producer, writer and director of the series about Steve Wilson, the fighting editor of the Illustrated Press, a crusading newspaper. Edward G. Robinson created the role of Steve Wilson, who was ably assisted by Lorelei Kilbourne, the newspaper's society editor, played by Claire Trevor. These roles were played later by Edward Pawley, Walter Greaza, Ona Munson and Fran Carlton. The program was broadcast by both CBS and NBC during the years it was on the air (1937-1954). The cast members during these years included: Mason Adams, Casey Allen, Helen Brown, Fran Carlton, Ted deCorsia, Robert Dryden, Gale Gordon, Walter Greaza, Larry Haines, Jerry Hausner, Cy Kendall, Donald MacDonald, Ed MacDonald, Ona Munson, Michael O'Day, Edward Pawley, George Petrie, Thelma Ritter, Edward G. Robinson, Jack Smart, Claire Trevor, Dwight Weist, Robbie Winkler, Paula Winslowe and Lawson Zerbe. Dwight Weist was the narrator and Ken Niles the announcer. Joseph Bell, William N. Robinson, Richard Uhl and Crane Wilbur were the directors. Leith Stevens was the musical director and John Gart the organist. Sound effects were by John Powers.

The program was first broadcast in 1937 over CBS. The show opened with a newsboy's cries of "Extra! Extra!" That was followed by the announcer saying: "Lever Brothers, makers of Lifebuoy health soap, are proud to present Big Town—the story of fighting editor Steve Wilson of the Illustrated Press, whose newspaper creed stands for freedom and justice against the forces of intolerance and evil. Now Big Town and Steve Wilson's story headlined 'Murder in the Snow.'"

2687 Big Yank. Red Foley was the host and featured singer on this CW music program sponsored by the Reliance Manufacturing Company, makers of Big Yank overalls. Tommy Tanner, Reggie Cross, Howard Black and Dan Hosmer played the roles of Jimmy, Jonas, Jasper and Uncle Buster on the show (15 min., 6:30-6:45 A.M. CST, WLS, Chicago, IL, 1937).

- 2714 Bill Judge's Celtic Minstrels. The sustaining program of Irish reels and hornpipes was according to Billboard, "the answer to an Irishman's prayer." Singer George Gilmore, pianist Johnnie Peters and flutist Jack Monohan accompanied by Elizabeth Koerner, performed the stirring Irish music (15 min., Sunday, 12:00–12:15 P.M., WELI, New Haven, CT, 1937).
- 2715 Bill, Mack and Johnny. Vcl. mus. prg. by a male trio not otherwise identified (KFH, Wichita, KS, 1939).
- 2716 Bill Schudt's Going to Press. Various reporters, editors and publishers had their say on this interesting weekly news program (15 min., Wednesday, 6:00–6:15 P.M., WABC, New York, NY, 1931).
- 2717 Bill Stern's Sports Newsreel. Famous sportscaster Stern presented dramatic sports stories, often exaggerated and sometimes fictitious, on his weekly show. He always presented a guest star on each program and related some sports event or activity to them. Some of Stern's guests included: Tommy Dorsey, Elsa Maxwell, Babe Ruth, Ezra Stone, Lucille Ball, Joan Edwards, Dinah Shore, Vivian Blaine, Cab Calloway, Mischa Auer, Sammy Kaye, Roddy MacDowell, Mickey Rooney, Guy Lombardo, Eddie Cantor, Morton Downey, Rudy Vallee, Spike Jones and Frankie Frisch. (15 min., Sunday, NBC, 1945–1947). Bill Stern was famous for exaggerating the effects of sports on the life of famous people and, sometimes, of even manufacturing "facts" for the sake of a more dramatic impact. Even during his play-by-play of sports events, Stern frequently was thought to make the games exciting, no matter what was happening on the playing field. David Brinkley (1995, p. 18) tells the story of how Grantland Rice one day was sitting in the press box watching a baseball game and listening to Bill Stern, who was sitting nearby broadcasting it. Although the ball game was exciting, Stern's broadcast of it was "frenzied with excitement." Rice wrote: "There were two entirely different games played here today — one on the field and another on the radio."
- 2718 Billich, George. DJ (Campus Clambake, WOLF, Syracuse, NY, 1947). Sportscaster (Sportscoop, WOLF, 1947).

- 2724 Billmeyer, Doug. Newscaster (KMO, Tacoma, WA, 1942; KFPY, Spokane, WA, 1944).
- 2725 Billquist, Art. Baritone (WCFL, Chicago, IL, 1928).
- 2726 Bills, Dick. DJ (Dick Bills Show, KOB, Albuquerque, NM, 1952).
- 2727 Bill's Hawaiian Players Orchestra. Instr. mus. prg. (KFEQ, St. Joseph, MO, 1939).
- 2728 Billy and Betty. James McCallion and Audrey Egane played the title roles on the daytime serial program for adolescents sponsored by the Sheffield Farms Company. They played a brother and sister of high school age, who published an amateur newspaper and experienced the usual problems faced by adolescents (15 min., Monday through Friday, 6:45–7:00 P.M., WEAJ, New York, NY, 1935).
- 2729 Billy and Helen. The husband and wife singing team of Harold Marshall and Helen Wilson was a great local favorite (KOIL, Council Bluffs, IA, 1928). Their program also contained brief skits based on the normal events that occur in married life.
- 2730 Billy and His Uke. An otherwise unidentified ukulele performer, Billy crooned as he played (KFJZ, Fort Worth, TX, 1928).
- 2731 Billy Bachelor. A dramatic series consisting of small town sketches (NBC, 1932–1933). See also Wheatenville.

- 2736 Bilson, Elizabeth. Soprano (Elizabeth Bilson, vcl. mus. prg., WBAL, Baltimore, MD, 1934).
- 2737 Biltmore Boys Orchestra. Instr. mus. prg. (NBC, 1939).
- 2738 Biltmore Hotel Dance Orchestra. Hotel band led by Don Clark (KHJ, Los Angeles, CA, 1925; WSB, Atlanta, GA, 1926; KNX, Los Angeles, CA, 1928).
- 2739 Binegar, Lewis. Newscaster (WCAT, Rapid City, SD, 1942).
- 2740 Bing, Herman. Tenor (WOK, Chicago, IL, 1925).
- 2741 Bing Crosby Philco Time (aka Philco Radio Time). The program included the usual high quality blend of music and comedy that Crosby always provided. It was most noteworthy because it was the first major transcribed network show ever broadcast. Usually network prohibitions against the broadcast of recorded major programs had banned such performances. Crosby resented the demands of broadcasting the Kraft Music Hall live. When NBC refused him the right to record it, Crosby moved to ABC in 1947 with a transcribed show for Philco. For the 1947–1948 season, he used magnetic recording tape and, in effect, was influential in bringing magnetic tape recording to broadcast production and, later, to use in the home.

2742 Bingenheimer, W.A. Bingenheimer was an announcer who proudly proclaimed WNJ, Newark, NJ, to be "The Voice of Newark." (WNJ, Newark, NJ, 1926).

2848 Black Cat Orchestra. Pittsburgh jazz band (KDKA, Pittsburgh, PA, 1924 and WTAY, Oak Park, IL, 1925).

2849 (The) Black Flame of the Amazon. Some portions of the dramatic adventure series were based on the expedition led by explorer Harold Noise in the mountains of Colombia, where he found gold. The announcer proudly proclaimed the program was based on "the adventures of Harold Noise, adventurer, explorer and scientist in the darkest jungles of South America." The characters in the story were Noise; Pedro, Noise's assistant; Jim and Jean Brady, two of the explorer's old friends; and a friendly native by the name of Keyto. The program claimed that it contributed to the listeners' knowledge of the "strange savage customs, fierce animals and the weird tropical plants found in South America." Hi-Speed Gasoline and Melrose Ham sponsored the transcribed program (15 min., Transcribed, 1930s).

2850 (The) Black Mask Serenaders. A masked male vocal quartet whose identities remained a secret were featured (WCKY, Covington, KY, early 1930s).

2851 (The) Black Museum. Orson Welles was the narrator of this BBC production, that was written by Ira Marion and produced by Harry Alan Towers. The sustaining show was based on items related to various crimes that were found in Scotland Yard's museum. The show appeared to have been copied, Variety said, from NBC's Whitehall 1212. Welles' narration always added interest to the show (30 min., Tuesday, 8:30–9:00 P.M., MBS, 1952).

2852 Black Radio. No more important aspect of radio history or American culture has been more neglected than Black Radio, its programs, performers and their positive effects upon American life. Fortunately, this too long neglected topic was researched, described and portrayed in an excellent 13-week series Black Radio: Telling It Like It Was, produced by Radio Smithsonian with Jacquie Gales Webb as series director. Other recent contributions have included books such as Cantor's Wheelin' on Beale Street, Palmer's Deep Blues and Lornell's Happy in the Service of the Lord: African-American Sacred Vocal Harmony Quartets in Memphis. Nevertheless, more intensive studies should be undertaken on this important topic.

All too often studies of Black radio have concentrated on the negative aspects. As they correctly concluded, many Blacks felt that the stereotypes of them presented in early radio were demeaning. The few exceptions were seldom noted. Nashville's WSM, for example, frequently presented such fine African-American groups as the Fiske Jubilee Singers among others in the early 1920s. Even that station's Grand Ole Opry had as one of its earliest stars Black harmonica virtuoso, DeFord Bailey. Hampton Roads, Virginia, radio stations in the early years presented the Sterling Jubilee Singers as the CIO Singers on a program sponsored by the Congress of Industrial Organizations. The fine Golden Gate Quartet, who began singing together as high school students, had their own program on WIS (Columbia, SC) in 1936. In the 1930s, black gospel groups such as the Utica Jubilee Quartet were on a syndicated series and the Southernaires were on network shows that gained national recognition for both groups. The number of positive Black images and featured performers on radio, however, were all too few. Demeaning radio portrayals far outnumbered them. Even when sophisticated Duke Ellington's band played at Harlem's Cotton Club, it was introduced on the air as a Jungle Orchestra, a term rightfully resented. Negative stereotypes that probably carried the greatest hurt can be traced to the minstrel show forms of entertainment that were often broadcast in the middle 1920s and extended into the following decade, when the popularity of this program type eventually faded.

In 1947, Ebony magazine estimated that there were some 3,000 DJs on radio in the United States and only 16 of them were Black. A notable event occurred in 1949 that set in motion a reversal of this situation. That was when station WDIA, Memphis, Tennessee, became the first American station to have an entirely Black announcing staff that included such talented broadcasters as B.B. King and Rufus Thomas. Known as the "Mother Station of the Negroes," WDIA was the first station in the United States to have all-Black DJs playing all-Black music with programming led by Nat D. Williams' Tan Town Jamboree. WDIA was renowned for its service to the Black community, which earned it the title of "The Goodwill Station." Shortly after WDIA increased its power to 50,000 watts, it justifiably advertised itself as: "WDIA, The Goodwill Station, is the FIRST—and the only 50,000 watts station programmed exclusively for Negroes.—truly one of America's GREAT stations!"

Another important contribution of stations like WDIA and Black DJs, not always fully appreciated, is that of the religious influence exerted by such groups as the Wings Over Jordan Choir and the First Church of the Deliverance group when their music was played by DJs on these stations. The many contributions of Black Radio, its talented broadcasters and astute executives to American culture should be recognized. All played an important role in and made significant contributions to American radio history. *See also An Open Letter on Race Relations; Aunt Carrie; Camp Meeting of the Air; Ayers, Cesta; Benson, Al (Al Leaner); Black America Speaks; Bondu, Dave and Mayme; Brown, Gatemouth; Chattie Hattie; C.I.O. 2869 Bladon, Doyle. DJ (Happy Time, KFOR, Lincoln, NE, 1952).

2870 (The Blah Club. The Blah Club was one of the earliest of the zany variety programs that were so appealing to listeners of early radio. Credit for originating the program and acting as master of ceremonies and comedian was "Dizzy Izzy," otherwise known as "EKC" (Eugene Konecky).

Dizzy Izzy was the official poet laureate and humorist of stations WOAW and WOW (Omaha, NE). Dizzy Izzy's philosophy maintained that the "world was full of blah and that he [Izzy] was a little wild flower getting wilder every hour (On the Air—A Magazine of Radio, April, 1926, p. 11).

The program broadcast sessions of the Blah Club, whose residents included Dizzy Izzy, of course, Cy Perkins, Fred Jensen, Bill Goodrich, Eddie Stewart, Gus Swanson and Mac Ohman, all of whom were residents of Podunk Center. The broadcasts came from Cy Perkins' combined post office, grocery, barber shop, beauty parlor, drug store, restaurant, shoe shine parlor and undertaker's parlor. Other entertainers who added to the mid-afternoon mahem and madcap antics were Lew Ferris the "Eiffel Tower of Radio," Sid Jolson and pianist Louise Race. Another featured performer was composer Barry J. Sisk, who played the piano with his knuckles. Sisk was the acclaimed composer of the official American Legion march, "Armistice Day Forever."

The Blah Club's slogan was: "A little nonsense now and then is relished by the wisest men." The program was one of the earliest "nutty club" shows broadcast (On the Air, April, 1926, p.12).

The Blah Club was unique in that it was broadcast in the afternoon. The size of the Club's "membership" is an indication of how many listeners agreed with its philosophy of BLAH. During the first four months it was on the air, the Club attracted more than 35,000 members and had 25,000 applications still on file waiting for action. Dizzy Izzy boasted that he conducted the program with the other "inmates of the Omaha Psychopathic Institution known as the Blah Club (WOAW, 120 min., Friday, 4:00-6:00 P.M., WOAW, Omaha, NE, 1926).

2985 "Blue Boy" (a canary). Leader on the Blue Boy Canaries program, he was said to "know" three hundred songs. "The World Is Waiting for the Sunshine" was the canary's most popular selection. Big Boy, another canary, played a secondary role to Blue Boy on the program. Both birds were said to be Blue Forest Rollers (NBC, 1929-30).

2986 (The) Blue Coal Minstrels. Glen Alden was the interlocutor on the old fashion transcribed minstrel show. It opened with the traditional command: "Ladies and gentlemen be seated." Tambo and Bones were the End Men. Vocal selections were provided by the Blue Coal Quartet (15 min., Transcribed, Various Stations, Middle 1930s).

2987 Blue Coal Radio Revue. The first half-hour of the program featured the George Earle Orchestra. The second half was the Shadow mystery program (60 min., Sunday, 5:30-6:30 P.M., CBS, 1932). See also The Shadow.

2988 Blue Correspondents Abroad. World War II news correspondents of the NBC-Blue network reported daily on events from their particular part of the world (15 min., Weekdays, 1:15-1:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1944-1945).

2989 Blue Correspondents at Home and Abroad. Blue network correspondents reported the news on the weekly program (15 min., Sunday, 9:00-9:15 A.M., NBC-Blue, 1945).

2994 Blue Melody Hour. Joseph Honi conducted the orchestra on the good music program (30 min., Sunday, 8:00-8:30 A.M., NBC-Blue, 1937).

2995 Blue Monday Jamboree. The Blue Monday Jamboree was a West Coast variety show that contained music, comedy and a dramatic sketch (a detective story). The music was provided by baritone Harvey Austin and the Hawaiians and Mac's Haywire Orchestra (Monday evening, 8:00-10:00 P.M., KFRC, San Francisco, CA, 1927). A 1930 version, broadcast from 8:00 to 10:00 P.M., starred Harry "Mac" McClintock and virtually all of station KFRC's talent. Jazz singer Abe Bloom, known as the "Joy Boy of KFRC," was featured on this version, along with comedians Monroe Upton (Simpj Fits), Harold Watanabe, Pedro (Eugene Hawes) & Dippy; contraltos Margaret O'Dea and Lucille Ather-ton Harger; singers Edna Hazel Warner, Juanita Tennyson, Jean Wakefield and Edna O'Keefe; tenors Bob Olsen, Raymond Marlowe and Norman Neilsen; baritone Harold Dane; the vocal team of the Pearce Brothers; and a band led by saxophonist Mickey Gillette.

In 1931, the Blue Monday Jamboree added hilarious comedy sketches performed by Al Pearce as Silas Solomon; Eugene Hawes as Pedro; Monroe Upton as Lord Bilgewater; Tommy Monroe as Lem; and Arnold McGuire as Lafe. Edna O'Keefe assisted the comics in their routines and singer Norma Schiller was added as a regular cast member. Harrison Halloway was the host on the Blue Monday Jamboree, a genuinely pioneering radio program that was still going strong in 1935. Cast regulars on the last version of the show were singers Jean Ellington and Midge Williams, an 18-year-old Black blues singer; Murray and Harris, a team known as "The Crackpots of Comedy" and Clauce Sweetan's Orchestra (60 min., Monday, 9:00–10:00 P.M., KFRC-CBS-Pacific Coast Network, 1935). See also Al Pearce and Simpy Fits.

3026 Boardman, Barry. DJ (Dance on the Down Beat, WKOZ, Kosciusko, MS, 1954).

3027 Boardman, Epley. Singer (KW'SC, Pullman, WA, 1925).

3028 Boardman, Frank. Sportscaster (Sports Roundup, KSWO, Lawton, OK, 1947). DJ (1380 Club, KSWO, 1948; Frank Boardman Show, KWFY, Wichita Falls, TX, 1949).

3029 Boarman, Patrick. Newscaster (CBS, 1947).

3030 Boas, Jack. Boas, the "Hunting and Fishing Scout" of the New York Hardware and Trading Company, talked about his specialty (KFWB, Hollywood, CA, 1925).

3031 Boating for Fun. H.E. Jamison talked about sailing, safety and boat maintenance (15 min., Thursday, 10:15–10:30 P.M., KIRO, Seattle, WA, 1948).

3032 Boaz, Joan. Blues singer (Joan Boaz, vel. mus. prg., WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1935).

3033 Bob and Babe. Unidentified performers who specialized in "singing and clogging" (KMA, Shannandoah, IA, 1926).

3034 Bob and Ray. Ray Goulding started as an announcer and newscaster at WHDH (Boston, MA), where he met Bob Elliott. They both began joking on the air and soon were given a show of their own. Their gentle satire and innovative comedy included the creation of such comic characters as Mary McGoon, Charles the Poet and Wally Ballou. Their show included such comic interludes as Mary Backstaye Wife; Hawaii Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Man; One Feller's Family; The Gathering Dusk; and Linda Lovely. The team's formal debut was on Boston's WHDH broadcasting prior to the Red Sox baseball games. They later did their show on NBC in 1951.

After appearing on various other network shows, they performed regular five-minute comedy spots on Monitor in 1954; a DJ show for Mutual in 1956, and later a 15-minute Monday through Friday show for CBS (Bob and Ray, 15 min., Monday through Friday, 5:45–6:00 P.M., NBC, 1951; The Bob and Ray Show, NBC, CBS & Mutual, 1956). Always funny, their satire never cruelly skewered their targets. See also Comedy and Humor and Matinee with Bob and Ray.

3035 Bob Atcher Presents. Cowboy singer Bob Atcher hosted the CW music program featuring Don White, the Benson Valley Sweethearts and Lou Clatt's Orchestra (30 min., Monday through Friday, 1:30–2:00 P.M., WLS, Chicago, IL, 1951).

3036 Bob Barton — Hollywood Reporter. Barton discussed motion pictures and their stars (WAAF, Chicago, IL, 1935).

3037 Bob Becker's Dog Chats. Becker talked about all aspects of dog care and appreciation (15 min., 4:30–4:30 P.M., NBC, 1935).

3038 (The) Bob Burns Show (aka The Arkansas Traveler). Campbell Soup sponsored the dramatic series that presented Burns as a loveable hobo, who rode the rails all over the country. Each week he became involved in the lives of the people he tried to help. The announcers were Verne Smith and Gayne Whitman (25 min., 8:30–8:55 P.M., CBS, 1941). Burns first appeared on radio on Rudy Vallee's Fleischmann Hour, before he became a regular for five years on the Kraft Music Hall with Bing Crosby for five years. Burns is remembered for the invention of a "musical instrument" called the bazooka, an odd-looking and weird sounding, strangely shaped piece of pipe that he played too frequently. R.G. Dun Cigars sponsored Burns in a later format (The Bob Burns Show, 15 min., Tuesday, 6:30–6:45 P.M., CBS, 1942) that Variety said was more effective than his previous one had proved to be. This time Burns delivered his humorous dialogue more effectively. Frank Burke was the show's announcer. In 1944, Burns hosted his Bob Burns Lifebuoy Show with Cass Daley, Spike Jones and the City Slickers and guest stars that included Frank Sinatra.

3039 Bob Byron. Music and comedy by Byron, a whistling pianist, made his program an entertaining one (CBS, 1937).

3040 (The) Bob Crosby Show. Singer Kay Armen, the Emil Cote Choir and Gus Haenschen's Orchestra were featured in addition to singer Crosby (30 min., Sunday, 10:30–11:00 P.M., NBC, 1950). Formerly, the program was called the Pet Milk Show. Later, Crosby, his band and vocalist Joanie O'Brien were featured on a show by the same name sponsored by the U.S. Marine Corps. Jimmy Wallington was the announcer (15 min., Transcribed, middle or late 1950s).

3041 Bob Crosby's Night Shift. Bob Crosby joined the large number of celebrities and musical performers who became DJs (60 min., 9:00-10:00 P.M., ABC, 1950).

3042 (The) Bob Eberle Show. Popular singer Eberle performed live and played recorded music (15 min., Monday through Friday, 11:45-12:00 noon, WABC, 1957).

3043 (The) Bob Hawk Show. Quizmaster Bob Hawk conducted the quiz on which members of the studio audience answered increasingly difficult questions in order to become a L-E-M-A-C (Camel spelled backward) and win prizes offered by sponsor Camel Cigarettes (30 min., Weekly, CBS, NBC, 1945-1953). Bob Hawk made his reputation by conducting several popular radio quiz shows. See also Quixie Doodles and Take It or Leave It.

3044 (The) Bob Hope Show. Bob Hope was another vaudeville and Broadway comedian who found great success on radio. A quick-witted comic unafraid to gently tweak authority figures, he was praised for entertaining servicemen at various training camps from World War II through Viet Nam. Hope always had an excellent supporting ensemble that included talented second bananas, vocalists and a first-rate band.

Best known for his breezy, irreverent humor, Hope also appeared in many motion pictures. He was most famous for the "Road" pictures that also starred Bing Crosby. Hope began in vaudeville, started in the Follies, and appeared on Broadway in the Jerome Kern musical, Roberta. Hope made his first radio appearance on Rudy Vallee's Fleischmann Hour in 1934. On September 27, 1938, Hope began his Pepsodent show for NBC that ran until 1950. From 1951 to 1958 Chesterfield cigarettes sponsored the show Hope broadcast from various military bases where he entertained service personnel. The show featured Jimmy Wakely, Marilyn Maxwell and Jerry Colonna (30 min., NBC, 1951-1958).

For many years during the run of Hope's shows, Barbara Jo Allen played the role of the distracted and somewhat disturbed comedy character of Vera Vague. "Professor" Jerry Colonna played the maniacal stooge who frequently upstaged Hope. Over the years Hope's cast members included: Barbara Jo Allen, Elvia Allman, Jerry Colonna, Frank Fontaine, Claire Hazel, Irene Ryan, Blanche Stewart and Patricia Wilder. The various orchestras on the show were Les Brown, Al Goodman, Skinnay Ennis and Red Nichols. His vocalists were Doris Day, Trudy Erwin, Frances Langford, Judy Garland and Gloria Jean. The vocal groups on the show were: Three Hits and a Miss (eventually changed to Six Hits and a Miss to include Pauline Byrnes, Marvin Bailey, Vincent Degen, Howard Hudson, Mack McLean, Jerry Preshaw and Bill Seckler. His writers included: Jack Douglas, Fred S. Fox, Hal Block, Al Josefsberg, Samuel Kurtzman, Larry Marks, Ted McKay, Albert Schwartz, Mel Shavelson and Norman Sullivan. The program's announcers were Hy Averback, Art Baker, Bill Goodwin, Larry Keating, Jackson Weaver and Wendell Niles (CBS, NBC, 1938-1958). Hope made a successful transition from radio to television. His 1996 television special, Laughing with the Presidents, marked Hope's 58th year on NBC radio and television.

3045 Bob Johnson and Ilene Woods. The vocal team of Johnson and Woods made this a pleasant daily musical feature (15 min., 11:45-12:00 noon, NBC-Blue, 1945).

3046 Bob Wills and the Texas Playboys. Wills' fine western swing band appeared on several stations before broadcasting on KXLA (Los Angeles, CA), during his appearance at the Harmony Ballroom in Los Angeles. At the time his group included Jack Lloyd, Keith Coleman and vocalist Louise Rowe. Wills attracted guest stars such as Molly Bee and Patsy Montana (30 min., Monday through Friday, 12:30-1:00 P.M., KXLA, Los Angeles, CA, 1953).

3047 Bobb, Charles J. DJ (Sunset and Vine, KVOB, Alexandria, LA, 1948; Music Shop, KVOB, 1949).

3048 Bobbitt, Happy. DJ (Coffee Time, WBOB, Galax, VA, 1947).

3049 Bobby Benson and the B-Bar-B Riders (aka Bobby Benson and Sunny Jim and Bobby Benson's Adventures). The daytime serial first appeared in several formats with different names (15 min., Monday through Friday, 5:15-5:30 P.M., CBS, 1935). The program returned in 1949 on MBS as a summer replacement for Straight Arrow. In its first format sponsored by H-O Oats cereal, the program offered its young listeners a large number of premiums for package tops or a single top alone and cash such as: Ranger's badge for 2 box tops or 1 and 5 cents; Rodeo rope with directions how to spin it for 5 box tops or 1 box top and 15 cents; Ranger's bandanna for 2 box tops or 1 box top and 5 cents; Cartridge belt for 5 box tops or 1 and 15 cents; Ranger's gun for 5 box tops or 1 and 15 cents; Gun holster for 5 box tops or 1 and 15 cents; Ranger's cuffs for 8 box tops or 1 and 30 cents; Ranger's spurs for 10 box tops or 1 box top and 35 cents; Ranger's hat for 20 box tops or 1 box top and 85 cents; and Ranger's chaps for 25 box tops or 1 box top and $1.45. It should be remembered that money in the Great Depression era was scarce for many listeners.

The later sustaining western adventure series featured 12-year-old Bobby as the leading character. Variety noted that somehow this later version never seemed to be as entertaining as the version broadcast earlier. The cast of the latter program included: Ivan Carey, Craig McDonnell, Charles Irving and Don Knotts. Bob Emerick was the announcer (30 min., Tuesday and Thursday, 5:00-5:30 P.M., MBS, 1949). Don Knotts as Wally Wales provided entertaining comic relief.

3051 Bobby Hackett and the Best Jazz Band in the Land. Brilliant jazz cornetist Hackett led his little band from Nick's Restaurant in New York's Greenwich Village (30 min., Networks, 1940s).

3052 (The) Bobby Sherwood Show. Band leader Sherwood played piano and trumpet on his show, as well as performing DJ duties (30 min., Monday through Friday, 5:00-5:30 P.M., 1955).

3053 Bobisud, Walt. DJ (KBKR, Baker, OR, 1947).

3054 Bobrow, Norm. DJ (Jazz at the Philharmonic, KOMO, Seattle, WA, 1952).

- 3190 Book Chats. WOI, the station of Iowa State University, originated the program about books and their authors. It was rebroadcast by the State University of Iowa's station (WSUI) in 1936.
- 3191 (The) Book Club. The Book Club program arose from the need of many rural Iowans to gain access to books at a time when county roads were unpaved and local libraries few. At that time station WOI in cooperation with the Iowa State University Library invited listeners to borrow certain books by mail from the university library. Each month club members received a booklet listing the titles available to them. The program was broadcast daily from Monday to Friday, 10:05 to 10:30 A.M. In 1940, the lending library function was discontinued, but the radio program continued. After the lending operation ceased, the program's format changed to one on which a reader each day would read a portion of a book. Bambi was the first book read on the program. It was read a few pages a time over a period of seven weeks. The readers during the program's run included Andy Woolfries, Ruth Galvin, Betty Wells, Marjorie Donaldson, Victoria Hargrave, Lucille Gibb, Charlotte Peterson, Ed Wegner, Martha Duncan, Ray Giese and Erik Warren. Program Director Doug Brown took over as reader in 1964 and continues in that role today (WOI, Ames, IA).
- 3192 (The) Book House Story Man. Don Carney (later Uncle Don) starred on the early comedy show (WOR, Newark, NJ, 1930).

3216 Borden Quartet. Male vocal quartet including Harry Stanton, Myron Niesley, Ben Klassen and Austin Mosher (NEC-Pacific Coast, 1929).

3217 Border Radio. Lax enforcement and the absence of adequate Mexican broadcasting regulations and unlimited transmission power allowed some broadcasters to blanket the United States without any possible control from Washington, DC. Twelve of these virtually unregulated high powered stations were in operation by 1934, two of whom were operated by Americans Norman E. Baker and John Romulus Brinkley (Sterling and Kitross, 1978, p. 134).

Baker's station in Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, boasted with the slogan that said it “Covers America like a blanket.” By October 15, 1934, Brinkley's XER (XERA) began to transmit with 500,000 watts power. As early as 1931, Broadcasting magazine (November 1, 1931, p. 10) warned against Brinkley's XER, located at Villa Acuna, Mexico, and the interference it was causing Atlanta's WSB and Montreal's CKAC, among others, but the situation only worsened.

Although Mexican border stations existed all the way from California to the Gulf of Mexico, the most famous ones were located across the Rio Grande adjacent to Texas in such places as Villa Acuna and Nuevo Laredo. All these stations changed call letters and transmitting power frequently. Almost all the stations' programming was in English and much of it was by transcription.

Unhindered and unregulated by the Mexican government and not limited by adherence to any international broadcasting agreements, the stations frequently expanded their transmitting power, sometimes to as much as 500,000 or 1,000,000 watts. This booming power could be heard all over the United States and Canada. Their transmitting power attracted advertisers of all types in an effort to spread their messages across the North American continent day and night. These advertisers included patent medicine salesmen, evangelical preachers, medical quacks, fortune tellers, numerologists and diverse charlatans of all types. Unregulated both as to content, broadcast practices and transmitter power, the stations boomed out their commercials for baby chicks, hair-dye, Bibles, song books and patent medicines.

Professional broadcasters said that most of the Mexican border station's broadcasts were by “spooks.” In radio terminology, “spooks” meant commercial charlatans. Many of these “spooks” began their broadcasts in this way: “Ladies and gentlemen, I do not claim to be infallible, but if anything is troubling you, if there are any questions related to love, marriage, romance or the future — write to me and enclose one dollar. I will answer your troubling questions.” The broadcasters who used such spiels were astrologer Koran, Brandon the Man of Destiny, psychic Gayle Norman the Second, Hindu mentalist Marijah and Ethel Dunan “the Good Samaritan.” Norman, who broadcast from XEAW and WEPN, reportedly received 2,000 letters a day. Each of these psychics were said to have received from $400 to $2,000 a day from listeners in the the United States, the Philippines, Greenland, Cuba and Alaska, because the super power Mexican stations boomed their messages all over the world to gullible listeners.

Country-western (CW) music was a staple program element sandwiched between the hard-sell commercials. Reaching all over the continent during the Great Depression, the Border Stations played a major role in popularizing CW music and its performers. Many CW performers moved to Texas and produced transcriptions there for use on the border stations. The famous Carter Family was one of the best known.

The Carter Family resided in San Antonio, Texas, and Del Rio, Texas, for three years in the late 1930s. Like most other country-western performers, the Carters stayed in the United States and sent the transcriptions they made in Texas across the border to Mexican stations like XERA and XEG. Another CW group that traveled to Texas was the Pickard Family. Obed “Dad” Pickard and his family can be heard on still existent recordings extolling the virtues of Pe-Ru-Na tonic to build up resistance against colds and combat them if already present. Pickard also warned that you could lose your job and look old if you didn't use Kolor-Bak hair dye. The Pickards also provided entertaining gospel and country music between commercials [See also Pickard, Obed “Dad”].

By far the worst offenders on Border Radio were medical quacks such as Dr. John Romulus Brinkley and Norman Baker, both of whose medical and broadcasting licenses had previously been suspended in the United States. Brinkley's claims for the cure of impotence and prostate cancer and his goat gland operation were blatantly untrue, but many gullible sufferers responded to his attacks on the medical profession and its practitioners. Listening to transcript one of his broadcasts still in existence provides ample evidence of both Brinkley's persuasive skill and menace [See also Charlatans, Demagogues and Politicians and Baker, Norman].

Two particular chilling Brinkley techniques were demonstrated in his dramatizations of “ordinary folks” with medical problems and his “Letter to Johnny” broadcast. During his dramatized episodes, he launched particularly virulent attacks against the medical profession, while boasting of his [Brinkley's] success and skill in treating disease. For example, one dramatized episode included such lines as, “They intend to take out your prostate gland, just like they did Uncle John.” Following this line, a description was given of how Uncle John died. Continuing with virulent attacks on medical professionals as money grabbers, the actors stopped just short of calling doctors killers. Mixed with this virulent was much praise for Brinkley: “They say Dr. Brinkley is a quack. Well he's the doctor I want. Thank God for such quacks. The Hell with ethics. Dr. Brinkley, here we come.” Radio never carried any more savage attacks against doctors in general, nor so much self-praise for one in particular.

When he was 48, Brinkley addressed a radio message to his six-year-old son. He began by saying: “Johnny boy, Johnny boy. This is daddy talking to you on August 23, 1933. I'm sitting here in the offices of the Radio Victor Company in Chicago making this record, because I believe you would like to hear daddy's voice after he is gone. I have wanted to hear the voice of my own daddy, who passed away when I was ten years of age." Since Johnny's birthday was soon coming up, Dr. Brinkley said he was sure Johnny would receive many gifts from relative and friends — an alert to his listeners to send his son a few presents. Egotistical and self-righteous, Brinkley in this broadcast was not above comparing himself to Lincoln, when he was not ranting against the "powers" that were arrayed against him. Brinkley cleverly and highly effectively mixed emotion and family values with his self-advertisement.

Brinkley's broadcasting, however, was eventually terminated [See also Charlatans, Demagogues and Politicians]. As the result of the North American Regional Broadcast Agreement (NARBA) among countries of North and Central America, the Mexican Border stations were shut down in 1941, but they were not gone forever. In a few years they were broadcasting again, but this time the country music they had popularized gradually began to be replaced by rock-and-roll. Many American DJs, including Wolfman Jack, got their experience on these stations. By 1986, agreements between Canada, Mexico and the United States finally muted the effects of broadcasts by powerful border stations by granting local American stations the right to broadcast on clear channel frequencies.

3218 Border Riders. CW music group (CW mus. prg., WWVA, Wheeling, WV, 1936–1938; 1942).

She was a regular on the WJZ (New York, NY) announcing staff in the mid-1920s with colleagues Milton J. Cross and Norman Brokenshire. Brainard also reviewed plays and discussed theater news and events when she initiated a series of programs of dramatic criticism on WJZ, May 9, 1922.

When she got the idea of a newspaper column of the air, WJZ accepted it immediately. She opened her program with the announcement: "Bertha Brainard broadcasts Broadway." Her program, Broadcasting Broadway, was heard over WJZ-WJY, New York, NY and Schenectady, NY, 1922-1924. She soon got the idea of interviewing various people on her program. Her first interviewee was Nellie Ravell. Brainard became the program manager of the National Broadcasting Company when it was formed in 1926, the beginning of her highly successful executive career in broadcasting.

3554 Breakfast Bandstand. DJ Ray Olson conducted the early morning program of recorded music sponsored by Nabisco (7:15 A.M., Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, WOW, Omaha, NE, 1948).

3555 Breakfast Club (aka The Pepper Pot Program and The Smile Before Breakfast Program). Don McNeill hosted the long-running (1933–1968) variety program that appeared in a 60-minute format on both NBC and ABC.

Originating from Chicago on June 23, 1933, with genial McNeill as host, the program projected an atmosphere of warmth and sincerity from its inception. Before McNeill took over in 1933, the program had been called The Pepper Pot, hosted by announcers Bill Kephart and King Bard and featuring the music of Walter Blaufuss and a small orchestra. When McNeill took over as host, the program's name was changed to Smiles Before Breakfast. Later the same year the name was changed once more to The Breakfast Club.

McNeill's 1933 cast included violinist Sleepy Joe Englehart and singer Dick Teela. Among the features introduced that year was "Memory Time." The following year Marion and Jim Jordan (later famous as Fibber McGee and Molly) appeared often as "Toots and Chickie," along with other performers such as the Merry Macs, the Songfellows, Three C's, the Morin Sisters, the Ranch Boys, Bill Thompson, guitarist Jack Rose and Jack Owens.

Small talk, jokes, songs and comedy skits were featured on every show, but it was the personality of McNeill and his cast members that attracted a large audience of devoted listeners. The program always included a great deal of sentimental talk about old folks in "homes" and lots of sentimental poetry. The early version of the program featured Evelyn Lynn, who sang and read poetry; singer Nancy Martin; Jack Owens, singer and second banana; and guitarist Jack Rose. Fran Allison joined the program in 1937 with her comic character of Aunt Fanny.

A regular feature of the show was "Memory Time," an uplifting sentimental segment of poetry and inspirational stories. Then, too, there was "Prayer Time," a segment begun during World War II and the "Sunshine Shower" featuring cards and letters to residents in rest and nursing homes. During McNeill's summer vacations he was replaced by such show business veterans as Ole Olsen, Peter Donald and Joe E. Brown. Special features of the program included the daily march around the breakfast table and the morning prayer. Sam Cowling regularly offered his "Fiction and Fact from Sam's Almanac" and Fran Allison, hilarious as Aunt Fanny, contributed gossip, small talk and still more gossip.

The program's cast over the years was extensive and contained many who would attain great popularity and professional success. Fibber McGee and Molly, Homer and Jethro, Fran Allison and Johnny Desmond are a few examples. The other performers included: Eugenie Baird, Jack Baker, Helen Jane Behilke, the Cadets (Jack Halloran, Al Scheibe, Al Stracke and Homer Snodgrass), Ted Claire, Douglas Craig, Janette Davis, Clark Dennis, the Escorts and Betty (Douglas Claire, Douglas Craig, Floyd Holm, Cliff Peterson and Betty Olson), Johnny Johnson, Annette King, Evelyn Lynn, Marion Mann, Nancy Martin, the Merry Macs (Cheri McKay, Joe McMichael, Judd McMichael and Ted McMichael), the Morin Sisters, Ranch Boys, Edna O'Dell, Jack Owens, Gale Page, Cliff Peterson, Russell Pratt, the Ranch Boys, Jack Rose, the Songfellows, Mildred Stanley, Dick Teela, Bill Thompson, Johnny Thompson, the Three C's, the Three Romeos (Sam Cowling, Gil Jones and Louie Perkins), the Vagabonds (Ray Grant, John Jordan and Robert O'Neil), and Ilene Woods. The program announcers included: Bob Brown, Don Dowd, Franklyn Ferguson, Charles Irving, Fred Kasper, Durward Kirby, Bob McKee, Bob Murphy, Ken Nordine and Louis Roen. At various times the orchestra was led by Eddie Ballantine, Walter Blaufuss, Joe Gallichio, Harry Kogen and Rex Mauphin. The program was directed by Cliff Peterson, who earlier had performed comedy routines using a Swedish accent (60 min., Monday through Friday, 8:00–9:00 P.M., NBC, 1935).

An example of the material that McNeill presented during the World War II era was "A Letter From a Son to his Dead Father":

Dear Dad:

I am writing this to you, though you have been dead thirty years. I feel I must say some things to you, things I didn't know when I was a boy in your house, and things that I was too stupid to say.

It is only now, after passing through the long, hard school of years, only now when my hair is grey, that I understand how you felt. I must have been a bitter trial to you. I believed my own petty wisdom, and I know now how ridiculous it was compared to the calm, ripe, wholesome wisdom that was yours.

Most of all, I want to confess my worst sin against you. It was the feeling I had that you didn't understand; you understood me better than I did myself. Your wisdom flowed around mine as an ocean around an island. How patient you were with me; how full of long suffering and kindness. How pathetic, it now comes home to me, were your efforts to get close to me, to win my confidence, to be my pal. I wouldn't let you. I couldn't. What was it held me aloof? I didn't know, but it was tragic, that wall that rises between a boy and his father, and their frantic attempts to see through it and climb over it.

I wish you were here now, across the table from me, just for one hour, so that I could tell you how there's no wall anymore. I understand you now, Dad, and God how I love you and wish I could go back and be your boy again. I know now how I could make you happy every day. I know how you felt. It took a good many years for this prodigal son, and all sons are in a measure prodigal, to come to himself. I've come. I see it all now. I know what a rich and priceless thing, and one least understood, is that mighty love and tenderness and craving to help, which a father feels toward his boy, for I have a boy of my own.

It is he that makes me want to go back to you and get down on my knees and ask you to hear me, Dad, and believe me.

McNeill frequently used material of this nature to appeal to his large listening audience.

3556 (The Breakfast Club Review). Ball Brothers sponsored the reprise of Don McNeill and his gang's Breakfast Club program on the weekly digest of his daily program (25 min., Saturday, 9:30-9:55 P.M., ABC, 1955).

3557 Breakfast Express. Recorded music, time checks, numerous contests and giveaways plus some comedy chatter were the main ingredients of the Chicago early morning show. Don Norman was the host and Edna Erne his willing foil (120 min., Monday through Friday, 7:00-9:00 A.M., WAAF, Chicago, IL, 1938).

3558 Breakfast in Hollywood (aka Breakfast at Sardi's and Breneman's Hollywood). The show opened with the announcer's greeting: "Good morning. From America's newest fine restaurant, Tom Breneman's on Vine Street between Hollywood and Sunset Boulevard, Kellogg's Pep and Procter & Gamble's Ivory Flakes serves you Breakfast in Hollywood." Breneman gave corsages to visiting ladies, passed out silly prizes to the oldest, tallest, etc., and he made them laugh by trying on their hats. When Breneman died, Garry Moore tried to take his place as host in 1948 without much success. (30 min., Monday through Friday, NBC, ABC, NBC, 1943-1954). See also Tom Breneman, Tom and Wash and Tom and His Mule Hercules.

3559 Breakfast in the Blue Ridge. CW singing stars Lulu Belle and Scotty, stars of the National Barn Dance for many years, appeared on the transcribed series of programs (15 min., Transcribed, Various stations, late 1940s).

3560 Breakfast with Binnie and Mike. Motion picture actress Binnie Barnes and Mike Frankevitch conducted the local early morning husband-and-wife talk show (30 min., Monday through Friday, 8:30-9:00 A.M., KFVD, Los Angeles, CA, 1947).

3562 Breakfast with the Brooks. Irma Lemke and David Kroman were the first local husband-and-wife talk team in the Schenectady area (30 min., Monday through Friday, 9:30-10:00 A.M., WGY, Schenectady, NY, 1946).

3563 Breakfast with the Lynns. Movie star Jeffrey Lynn and his wife, Robin Chandler, were vacation replacements for Dorothy and Dick and supplied the same type of husband-and-wife talk as Dorothy Killgallen and her spouse, Richard Kollmar (45 min., Monday through Friday, 8:15-9:00 A.M. and Sunday, 11:15-12:00 noon, 1951).

When he joined WJZ in 1923, the announcing staff included Tommy Cowan, Milton J. Cross and Lewis Reid. Brokenshire became nationally famous in 1925, when he competed against WEA's Graham McNamee in covering Calvin Coolidge's presidential inauguration. His description of the event with his emphasis on the colorful elements brought him great popularity. In 1926, he left WJZ to become the first free lance announcer, but then reversed his professional choice by joining WFBH (New York, NY)—a station whose call letters were eventually changed to WPCH—to join the other staff announcers: Alois Havrilla, Walter Neff and Lewis Reid. In 1927, he joined WPG (Atlantic City, NJ) and then moved to WCAU (Philadelphia, PA). He left WCAU in 1929 to join station WABC (New York, NY) and the CBS organization. Announcing such CBS programs as the La Palina Hour, Brokenshire's customary opening was, "How do you do, ladies and gentlemen. How DO you DO?" It was this distinctive opening trademark that listeners remembered once they heard it. Later, Brokenshire became a DJ, hosting The Norman Brokenshire Show (WNBC, New York, NY, 1947–1948) and the Brokenshire Broadcasting program (WNBC, New York, NY, 1949).

3950 Brown, (Rev.) R.R. Reverend Brown broadcast church and chapel services (WOAW, Omaha, NE, 1926). Brown's World Radio Congregation was first broadcast on April 8, 1923, by WOAW—a station that later became WOW. When Brown was asked to give a religious service the first Sunday station WOAW was on the air, his sermon became the first non-denominational religious service broadcast (Ward, 1994, p. 31). After a short time, Brown recognized that his radio services were in effect a "kind of church" and formed a "World Radio Congregation" that by 1925 had attracted a listening audience of more than 100,000. Less than ten years later, he had a weekly national audience of half a million. Brown was considered by many to be the minister of the first American radio church and was called "The Billy Sunday of the Air." In 1948, WOW stated that the program had never missed a Sunday service since its inception.

- 4118 Buck Rogers in the 25th Century. Buck Rogers was a fighter pilot in World War I, who was trapped in a cave-in and overcome by its gas. Centuries later he awoke from a state of suspended animation to find himself Buck Rogers in the 25th Century. Assisted by his female friend, Wilma Deering and the brains of Dr. Huer, the super scientist, Buck overcame the villainies concocted by Killer Kane and friends. Based on the comic strip written by Phil Nowlan and drawn by Phil Calkins, the dramatic daytime serial for children appeared from 1932 to 1947 in various formats with many different sponsors. The earliest version featured Matt Crowley and Curtis Arnall playing the title role (15 min., Monday through Friday, 5:00–5:15 P.M., CBS, 1935). Variety reported the show's reincarnation in 1946 with John Larkin, Virginia Vass and Edgar Stehli playing the leading roles of Buck, Wilma Deering and Dr. Huer. Tom Dougall was the writer. General Foods' Post Toasties was the sponsor (15 min., Monday through Friday, 4:45–5:00 P.M., MBS, 1946).
- The many performers who appeared on the program in its various formats over the years were: Curtis Arnall, Matt Crowley, Carl Frank, Alice Frost, Joe Granby, Walter Greaza, Henry Gurvey, John Larkin, Ronald Liss, Junius Matthews, Elaine Melchoir, John Monks, Dan Oeko, Frank Readick, Adele Ronson, Jack Roseleigh, Bill Shelley, Everett Sloane, Edgar Stehli, Paul Stewart, Walter Tetley, Fred Utaal, Walter Vaughn, Arthur Vinton, Vicki Vola, Dwight Weist and Eustace Wyatt. The announcers were Paul Douglas, Jack Johnstone and Fred Utaal. The later writers were Dick Calkins, Joe A. Cross and Albert G. Miller. Jack Johnstone was the versatile producer, director and writer.

- 4311 Burns, William. Singer on the Ken-rad Cabin Nights program (NBC-Blue, New York, NY, 1929).
- 4312 Burns and Allen. The veteran vaude-ville comedy team of George Burns and Gracie Allen made their first national network appear-ance on the Robert Burns Panatella Program in 1932. Two years later they had their own net-work radio show on CBS. One of the famous routines of this endearing pair was George's fam-iliar closing of "Say good night, Gracie" and her immediate response, "Good night, Gracie." Music was supplied by the bands of Ray Noble and Meredith Willson. The program's an-nouncers were Bill Goodwin and Harry Von Zell. When the program left radio in 1950, Burns and Allen began a successful run on tele-vision (CBS, NBC, 1932-1950).
- Nathan Birnbaum (George Burns), a lackluster dancer and former seal trainer, and Grace Ethel Cecile Rosalie Allen (Gracie Allen), half of a sister dancing act, became a vaudeville team in 1922. George once said of their act, "We had a hunger for something more important than fame — food!" Although George started as the comedian with Gracie playing the "straight man," he soon realized that she was the one who got the laughs and reversed the roles. They be-came a highly successful team, soon winning the coveted next to last closing spot on the vaude-ville bill and they stayed there.
- George's voice often conveyed the frustration he felt as Gracie played the "dumb female" role. Clearly, the audience loved Gracie's sweet im-mocence, no matter how bewildered or unknow-ing her behavior might be. They never would allow George to verbally attack or abuse Gracie, for they loved her. This audience reaction per-sisted throughout their entire show business car-eer.
- Two of the team's vaudeville routines demon-strate their style of humor:
- GEORGE: You're so smart. Name three kinds of nuts.
- GRACIE: Walnuts, chestnuts and forget-me-nuts.
- GEORGE: What did you take up at school?
- GRACIE: Everything that wasn't nailed down.
- Gracie was radio's most beloved comedienne, whose sweet innocence superseded the "dumb female" she portrayed. Only Jack Benny sur-passed her excellent sense of timing. George, on the other hand, became radio's best straight man. Like their friend Jack Benny, Burns and Allen were one of the few vaudeville acts to make the successful transition, first, to radio and, later, to television. Bob Hope, on the other hand, although enjoying a long run on television did so only with "specials," not on a series with permanent characters and plot line.

Two of Burns and Allen's most famous running gags were Gracie's search for her "lost" brother in 1933 and her campaign as candidate of the Surprise Party for President in 1940. Their typical gags are exemplified by three examples:

GEORGE: Gracie, why should I give your mother a bushel of nuts? What did she ever do for me?

GRACIE: Why George, she gave you me, and I'm as good as nuts.

GEORGE: Did the nurse ever happen to drop you on your head when you were a baby?

GRACIE: Oh, no, we couldn't afford a nurse, my mother had to do it.

GEORGE: You had a smart mother.

GRACIE: Smartness runs in my family. When I went to school I was so smart my teacher was in my class for five years.

GRACIE: Where do you keep your money?

GEORGE: In a bank.

GRACIE: What interest do you get?

GEORGE: Four percent.

GRACIE: Ha! I get eight.

GEORGE: You get eight?

GRACIE: Yep—I keep it in two banks.

George worked almost until the time he died on March 9, 1996 at age 100. He outlived Gracie by 32 years, but he continued to mention her when he performed stand-up. George played the role of God in his last two films. In retrospect, no radio team has been more appreciated than Burns and Allen. Their long successful career warrants their recognition as the best comedy team in American Radio's Golden Age.

CST, NBC-Red, 1935).

4652 Campus Serenaders. Students' dance orchestra from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute (WHAZ, Troy, NY, 1924).

4653 Campy's Corner. After Brooklyn Dodger catcher Roy Campanella was severely injured in an automobile accident, New York Herald-Tribune sports columnist Bob Cook suggested the idea of taping a sports news program at Campanella's bedside. Chris Schenkel and sports guests appeared regularly with Campanella on the five-minute transcribed program sponsored by P. Ballentine beer and R.J. Reynolds cigarettes (5 min., Monday through Friday, 6:00-6:05 P.M., WINS, New York, NY, 1958).

4654 Can You Top This? Ward Wilson hosted the often raucous comedy show that gave listeners the opportunity to "top" the panel of comedians with their jokes and win a prize of $25 if they successfully topped all four panelists. Peter Donald, with his skilful use of dialects, told the jokes submitted by listeners. A "Laugh Meter," actually a volume indicator meter, registered the "laugh" achieved by Donald and each of the panel members when they told their jokes. The funny panelists included Harry Hershfield, Joe Laurie, Jr., and "Senator" Ed Ford.

Originated by Senator Ford (Edward M. Ford), the program was broadcast on MBS, NBC and ABC from 1940 to 1954. Ward Wilson was the program's host and Charles Stark the announcer. Alan Dingwall, Jay Clark and Roger Bower were the directors. The show also enjoyed a brief television run.

4655 (The) Canada Lee [DJ] Show. Distinguished Broadway actor Canada Lee as a DJ played only records made by Black artists (30 min., Saturday, 8:00-8:30 P.M., WNEW, New York, NY, 1948).

4665 Candelori Dance Orchestra. Instr. mus. prg. (WOO, Philadelphia, PA, 1925).

4666 Candid Microphone. Allen Funt's Candid Microphone moved to CBS with Philip Morris cigarettes as sponsor, after first having been heard as a sustaining program on ABC. Unsuspecting persons were placed in strange, mostly humorous, situations and their reactions recorded. Later, Funt transformed the program into a successful television program. Variety commented that when the program was really unrehearsed, it was somewhat annoying to hear unwary persons being harassed merely to get a laugh at their expense. This criticism was equally applicable to the television version that appeared years later. The radio program was first heard on ABC in 1947. The narrators were Alan Funt and Don Hollenbeck. Ken Roberts was the announcer. Music was supplied by Bernie Green's orchestra (30 min., Tuesday, 9:00-9:30 P.M., CBS, 1950).

4667 Candlyn T. Frederick. Pianist (WGY, Schenectady, NY, 1923).

4692 Canton, Louis. Singer Canton was known as "The Steel Mill Tenor" (WOR, Newark, NJ, 1926).

4693 Cantor, Eddie. A famous comedian-singer, who starred in vaudeville and musical comedy, Cantor appeared on the Eveready Hour program (WEAF, New York, NY, 1925). Earlier the banjo-eyed comedian had appeared on the inaugural broadcast of station WIDY (Roselle Park, NJ, December 14, 1921). Cantor's first regularly scheduled radio appearances were on the Chase and Sanborn Hour, a program frequently known merely as the Eddie Cantor Show. His most famous show, however, was called Time to Smile, named to remind listeners of his toothpaste sponsors. The Ipana sponsored program was on the air from 1940 to 1946. Cantor was known both for his authoritarian manner and his advancement of the careers of many young performers such as Burns and Allen, Deanna Durbin, Bobby Breen and Dinah Shore. He also popularized the work of Bert Gordon, whose hilarious antics deservedly earned him the designation of "The Mad Russian" and Harry Einstein, whose "Parkyarkarkas" characterization of genial stupidity earned him a loyal following. Over the years, the Cantor program's cast included: John Brown, Maude Davis, Shirley Dinsdale, Harry Einstein, Sidney Fields, Bert Gordon, Frank Nelson, Nan Rae, Alan Reed (Teddy Bergman), Dave Rubinoff, Lionel Stander and Veola Vonn. The announcers were Harry Von Zell and Jimmy Wallington. The talented singers who appeared on the program included Bobby Breen, Dianna Durbin, Nora Martin, Dinah Shore and Margaret Whiting and the Sportsman Quartet (male vocal group). The orchestras over the years were Cookie Fairchild, Louis Gress, Jacques Renard and George Stoll, Ed Beloin, Matt Brooks, Carroll Carroll, Bob Colwell, Eddie Davis, Izzy Elinson, David Freedman, Everett Freeman, Barbara Hotchkiss, Sam Moore, Bobbie O'Brien, Phil Rapp, John Quillen and Phil Rapp were the writers. The directors were Vic Knight, Manning Ostroff and Abbott K. Spencer. Like many other personalities, Cantor eventually became a DJ (NBC, 1951-1954). His daughter Marilyn also performed DJ duties in 1952. See also Cantor, Eddie and Cantor, Marilyn.

4694 Cantor, Marilyn. Marilyn Cantor, Eddie's daughter, took over for DJ Bea Kalmus on the Republic Star Time program sponsored by Republic Stores. In addition to playing records, Miss Cantor interviewed celebrity guests such as Delores Gray. Bill Lang was the program's announcer (30 min., Monday through Saturday, WMGM, New York, NY, 1952).

4695 Cantrell, Margaret, and Miss Neal. Harmony singing team known as Neal and Cantrell (WOR, Newark, NJ and WHN New York, NY, 1924).

4698 Caparo, Joe. Leader (Joe Caparo Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., KTHS, Hot Springs, AR, 1939-1940).

4700 Capitol Orchestra. Oscar Baum conducted the Capitol Orchestra (WCCO, Minneapolis-St. Paul, MN, 1928).

4701 Capitol Schmitzel Bankers. Music and gags were supplied by Otto Schultz, Fritz Schott and Vic Lyon on the popular local program sponsored by the Capitol City Brewing Company (15 min., Sunday, 12:45-1:00 P.M., KMOS, Jefferson City, MO, 1938).

4719 Captain Danger. None of the actors were identified on the exciting children's dramatic series sponsored by Wilshire Club Beverages. The program followed the adventures of Captain Danger, Dan and Diana Dangerfield and Doolittle Nohow Jones fighting Malay Pirates in the South Seas (15 min., 5:15-5:30 P.M., KHJ, Los Angeles, CA, 1941).

Captain Dobbsie's Ship of Joy see Dobbs, Hugh Barrett

4720 Captain Henry's Showboat. Charles Winninger, as Captain Henry, played a Mississippi showboat captain and hosted the show sponsored by Maxwell House Coffee. His verbal trademark was "You ain't seen nothing yet." The show's talented cast included Jules Bledsoe, the Hall-Johnson Choir, Mabel Jackson, Molasses and January, Lanny Ross, Annette Henshaw and the Don Voorhees Orchestra (60 min., Thursday, 9:00-10:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1932).

4721 Captain Jack. Don Ameche played the title role in the dramatic network adventure series broadcast in 1935.

4722 Captain Midnight. The sound of a gong and an airplane swooping toward the earth alerted young listeners that the Captain Midnight daytime adventure series was on the air. After experiencing many daring adventures in the first World War, the fictional Captain Red Albright assumed the role of Captain Midnight, commander of the Secret Squadron. The Squadron was a super secret government organization with a mission to fight evil throughout the world. Although the Captain fought several arch villains, but by far his most dangerous adversary was Ivan Shark.

Captain Midnight was assisted by his mechanic, Ichabod Mudd, and his two young helpers, Chuck Ramsey and Joyce Ryan. Over the years Captain Midnight was played by Ed Prentiss, Bill Bouche and Paul Barnes. The villainous Ivan Shark was played by Boris Aplon. The program's cast included: Paul Barnes, Joe Bivens, Bill Bouche, Johnny Coons, Maurice Copeland, Earl George, Sharon Grainger, Art Hern, Sherman Marks, Marvin Miller, Marilou Neumayer, Angeline Orr, Ed Prentiss, Rene Rodier, Bill Rose, Olan Soule and Hugh Studebaker. 4723 Captain Tim Healy's Ivory Soap Stamp Club. During the years from 1938 to 1945, Healy conducted many programs for stamp collectors — young and old, but the best known was Captain Tim Healy's Ivory Soap Club. Healy was a world traveler, skillful lecturer and engrossing storyteller. In his effort to interest young listeners in stamps, he frequently reminded them that, "You never know when a fortune might be lying around your own home." After telling his fascinating stamp stories, he offered stamp albums and packets as premiums. He closed his show by saying, "And so, good night boys and girls from 8 to 80. Next Wednesday night I will bring you another fascinating story behind a stamp." Healy knew precisely how to appeal to both adults and children (15 min., Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 5:45-6:00 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1935). He was on the air from 1933 to 1945 for various sponsors with essentially the same format on his Adventures with Captain Tim, Captain Tim's Adventures and Captain Tim's Adventure Stories programs.

4724 Captains of Industry. This program dramatized the lives of successful businessmen such as Elbert Gary, Marcus Hanna, Philip Danforth Armour, John Davis Rockefeller, King Champ Gillette, Henry Clay Frick, Henry Morrison Flagler, P.T. Barnum, Edward L. Doheny, 4750 (The) Career of Alice Blair. Standard Oil Company sponsored this transcribed daytime serial that told the trials and tribulations of Alice Blair, a small town girl who journeyed to the big city to seek career opportunities. Innocently, she became involved in a scandal with a prominent man. When she returned to her home town, she received a cool reception from her old friends, who considered her guilty of what the vicious gossips said about her. Despite the scandal, Tom Harrington asked to marry her. The program dramatized Alice's problems and how she coped with them. The cast members included: Bill Adams, George Baxter, Helaine Freeman, Betty Moran, Martha Scott and Lawson Zerbe. The announcer was Alan Kent (15 min., Monday through Friday, 9:30-9:45 A.M., WOR, Newark, NJ, 1939).

4830 Carney, Don (Howard Rice). Although famous for his "Uncle Don" role, his real name was Howard Rice. Before starting his radio career, he had enjoyed a successful vaudeville career playing the piano while standing on his head as "Don Carney, the Trick Pianist." Carney gained fame by conducting his popular children's radio program each weekday evening as "Uncle Don." When he began his Uncle Don program in September, 1928, he was initiating a format that would last for 21 years: (30 min., Monday through Friday, 6:00-6:30 P.M., WOR, Newark, NJ, 1928).

Carney began his radio career as an announcer at WMCA, New York, NY, in 1928 before moving to WOR. He appeared on the Book House Story Man comedy show on WOR in 1930. In addition, he played the role of Luke Higgins on the Main Street Sketches show. For a relatively short time in 1933, Carney conducted a program about animals known as the The Don Carney Show, sponsored by Spratt's Dog Food, Fish

Food and Bird Seed. It was first broadcast on CBS, then WOR (Newark, NJ) and, finally, the NBC-Blue Network. On the program Uncle Don talked about the friendship between dogs and man and then told a story about some animal, usually a dog (15 min., Monday, 8:30-8:45 P.M., NBC-Blue Network, 1933). Carney has been followed by a story, perhaps apocryphal, that supposedly occurred after he had concluded one of his children's programs. The story goes that, unknowingly, he said into an open microphone, "That will hold the little bastards" and it was broadcast. See also Rice, Howard, and Uncle Don.

4831 Carney, Jack. DJ (WLL, St. Louis, MO, 1957-1958). Carney was a popular rock-and-roll DJ in the St. Louis area during the late 1950s.

- 4901 Carsen, Bill. Leader (Bill Carsen Orchestra, instr. mus. prg.; MBS, 1942).
- 4902 Carson, Fiddlin' John. Carson, a violinist and pioneer country music artist, was the winner of several Old Time Fiddlers Championships in the 1920s. He recorded his famous rendition of "The Old Hen Cackled and the Rooster Crowed" for Okeh records in 1923. His first radio appearances began in 1922 (WSB, Atlanta, GA, 1922-1925).
- 4903 Carson, Fiddlin' John, and Uncle Am Stewart. Country-western instrumental team (WSB, Atlanta, GA, 1925). See also Carson, Fiddlin' John.
- 4904 Carson (Carlson), Hugh. Singer (Hugh Carlson, vcl. mus. prg.; WGN, Chicago, IL, 1942).
- 4905 Carson, John "Johnny." DJ (The John Carson Show, WOW, Omaha, NE, 1948). Johnny Carson graduated from his DJ job on radio to great prominence with his classic Tonight Show on TV. Carson's television work makes him well deserving of the recognition accorded him as a broadcasting genius.
- Johnny Carson was born in Norfolk, Nebraska. It was his Midwestern All-American persona that helped him achieve stardom on television's Tonight Show. Carson consistently communicated a warm, genial friendliness to which his audience readily responded. His pleasant manner and comic skills enabled him to appeal to the broadest possible public. In addition, it was Carson's interviewing skills that made him seem sincerely interested in all his guests on The Tonight Show.
- He acknowledged the influences of Jack Benny, particularly the great radio comedian's masterful sense of timing that was evident in Carson's performances. Another influence was Fred Allen's Mighty Allen Art Players adopted as Carson's Mighty Art Players. Carson's own early show business interests and experience also contributed to his eventual television stardom. He began doing magic tricks for money as "The Great Carson," while still a teenager. During his service in the Navy, he added skills as a ventriloquist. His brief radio career at WOW (Omaha, NE) was his first step toward a great broadcasting career.
- After hosting several network television programs, Carson was selected by NBC to become the permanent host of The Tonight Show, replacing a series of interim hosts who had filled in when Jack Parr left the show. On The Tonight Show, Carson clearly demonstrated his understanding of comedy and television. His vast audience certainly appreciated his many talents and pleasant manner. For example, Carson's last Tonight show reached an estimated audience of 50 million, the largest ever attracted by a late night program.
- 4906 Carson, Kit. DJ (Late Dancing Party, WFEB, Sylacauga, AL, 1954; Number Please, WFEB, 1955).
- 4907 Carson, Paul. San Francisco radio organist Carson was known as "The Musing Organist Builder of the Bridge to Dreamland" (1929).
- 4908 Carson, Rusty. DJ (KBYE, Oklahoma City, OK, 1955).
- 4909 Carson, William S. Tenor (WCAE, Pittsburgh, PA, 1925).
- 4910 Carson Brothers Saxophone Quartet. Instr. music group (KDKA, Pittsburgh, PA, 1923).
- 4911 Carson Robison's Buckaroos. Robison was the leader of a busy CW music group that did much to popularize CW music on radio. His theme usually was "Home Sweet Home on the Range." His programs and sponsors in the 1930s were many: (Carson Robison's Buckaroos (CW mus. prg. sponsored by Asper Gum, 15 min., Monday, 8:00-8:15 P.M., CBS, 1935; Carson Robison's Buckaroos, CW mus. prg. sponsored by Serval by transcription, WLS, Cincinnati, OH, 1936; Carson Robison and His Buckaroos, a transcribed CW program sponsored by Crazy Water Crystals (laxative), 15 min., Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, Transcribed, Various Stations and Times, 1936; Carson Robison and His Buckaroos, sponsored by Musterole Ointment, presented a popular band of CW musicians and singers that included Bill Pearl, John Mitchell, Dick Sawyer and Dick van Hall-butg. Variety praised the program as an outstanding country-western music group, 30 min., Monday, 8:00-8:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1938-1939).

4913 Carson Robison's Triple Bar X Program. Carson Robison combined CW music with comedy sketches on the entertaining show. Millie June played most of the program's female roles (1953).

4914 Carswell, Tom. DJ (Matinee in Rhythm, WCOA, Pensacola, FL, 1947; Studio Party, WORZ, Orlando, FL, 1950). Sportscaster (WORZ, 1948).

Conservative analyst Carter made his radio debut in 1930, when a rugby football game was scheduled at the Philadelphia Navy Yard and no member of the WCAU (Philadelphia, PA) staff knew the game. Englishman Carter, who knew rugby, was the ideal choice of the station to handle the match. He then became a regular member of the WCAU news staff. The kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby in 1932 provided him with an opportunity to make his network debut (15 min., Monday through Friday, 7:45-8:00 P.M., CBS, 1932).

Born in Baku, Russia, where his father was in the British Consular Service, Carter eventually worked as a free lance correspondent for the London Daily Mail. After joining CBS as a newscaster, he was no stranger to controversy. He soon began to attack FDR's policies and earn the enmity of big labor. CBS removed him from the air August 26, 1938. He returned to broadcast for Mutual intermittently from 1939 until his death in 1944.

4917 Carter, Callis "Cal." DJ (Musical Clock, KAMD, Camden, AR, 1947-1952). Sportscaster (KAMD, 1947-1950; Sports Roundup, KAMD, 1952-1953).

4954 Case, George and Marilu. DJ team (WSAI, Cincinnati, OH, 1957).

4955 Case, George T. Newscaster (WRAL, Raleigh, NC, 1939; WTMV, East St. Louis, MO, 1940; World in Review, WINK, Ft. Myers, FL, 1947). Sportscaster (WTMV, 1940).

4956 Case, Jane. Soprano (WDAP, Chicago, IL, 1924).

4957 Case, Ken. Sportscaster (Sports Folio, KTBS, Shreveport, LA, 1948-1955).

4958 Case, Lee. DJ (Alarm Clock Club, WCHA, Chambersburg, PA, 1947; Your Gracer, WITB, Baltimore, MD, 1949). Sportscaster (WCHA, 1947).

4959 Case, Nelson. Announcer, singer and pianist Case was born February 3, 1910. He began his radio career as a pianist at KFON (Long Beach, CA, 1925). The following year he formed his own orchestra and appeared with it on KFON. Case became announcer and singer for KGER (Long Beach, CA) in 1927. He enjoyed a distinguished announcing career for the next several decades.

4960 Case, Sarah. Pianist (WJZ, New York, NY, 1923).

4961 (The Casebook of Gregory Hood). Petri Wine sponsored this dramatic adventure program, a summer replacement for Sherlock Holmes. Gregory Hood was a gentlemen detective, who infuriated the police because he solved their crimes. The tough, debonair Hood was first played by Gale Gordon in the 1946 version.

The format featured actor-announcer Harry Bartell visiting Mr. Hood each week to hear him tell of his latest adventure. Written by Dennis Green and Anthony Boucher, the show was produced by Ned Tollinger (30 min., Monday, 8:30-9:00 P.M., MBS, 1946). When the show was broadcast later by ABC as a sustaining feature, its format was changed. Known as The Casebook of Jeffrey Hood, the leading character, played by Jackson Beck, not only changed his name, but also became a San Francisco importer by day and criminologist by night. Variety praised the latter version as an interesting mystery series (30 min., Saturday, 8:30-9:00 P.M., ABC, 1950). Anthony Boucher, Dennis Green and Ray Buffum were the writers and Frank Cooper the producer. Martin Andrews, Lee Bolen and Ray Buffum were the directors and Art Sorrance produced the sound effects.

4969 Casey, Wynne. COM-HE (WJOY, Burlington, VT, 1956-1957).

4970 Casey at the Mike. Casey, not otherwise identified, but supposedly a famous Harvard football coach talked about that sport each week (15 min., WNAC, Boston, MA, 1937).

4971 Casey Crime Photographer (aka Flashgun Casey and Crime Photographer). Casey, a photographer, who often played detective, and his girl friend, Annie Williams, were kept busy each week catching criminals on the popular crime show. Staats Cotsworth and Alice Reinheart originated these roles. Casey and Annie, when not pursuing criminals seemed to spend the balance of their time at the Blue Note Cafe talking with Ethelbert the bartender, played by John Gibson. Other members of the cast included: Jone Allison, Jackson Beck, Art Carney, Robert Dryden, Betty Furness, John Griggs, Jack Hartley, Bernard Lenrow, Jan Miner, Byrna Raeburn and Leslie Woods. The announcers on the program were Bob Hite, Bill Cullen and Tony Marvin. The writers were Alonzo Deen Cole, Gail Ingram, Harry Ingram and Milton J. Kramer and John Dietz was the director. Sound effects were by Jerry McCarthy and Art Strand. Music was supplied by Archie Bleyer's Orchestra. The talented pianists who played at the Blue Note Cafe during the program's long run were Herman Chittison and Teddy Wilson (CBS, 1943-1955).

5039 (The) Cavalcade of America. DuPont Company sponsored these distinguished dramatizations of important American historical figures and events. The program began October 9, 1935 and ran on radio for 18 years. It ended on March 31, 1953, after 781 broadcasts on CBS and NBC. The company's famous slogan, "Better living through chemistry," was proudly announced frequently.

The Cavalcade of America was conceived as a series of historical dramas of epic proportion and quality. The broadcasts were supposed to be accurate to the smallest detail. In the beginning at least, war and political subjects were taboo. Instead, the program sought to deal with persons or institutions that had made substantial contributions to American progress.

One of the early dramatic episodes, "The Seeing Eye" by Ruth Knight, was introduced in this way: "This evening the DuPont Cavalcade brings you the story of the Seeing Eye, a school in Morristown, New Jersey, where German shepherd dogs are educated as guides for the blind, bringing new opportunities, independence and faith in life to those who walk in darkness. Our scene is Highland Hospital. In a room on the second floor, Donald Dean, college freshman, is recovering from the effects of an automobile accident. His mother meets the doctor outside the door." The drama then began.

Over the years the program featured such performers as: Bill Adams, Ray Collins, Staats Cotsworth, Joseph Cotten, Ted DeCorsia, Edwin Jerome, Ted Jewett, Raymond Edward Johnston, Bill Johnstone, John McIntire, Agnes Moorehead, Jeanette Nolan, Frank Readick, Everett Sloane, Jack Smarr, Paul Stewarr, Luis Van Rooten and Orson Welles. The announcers were Clayton "Bud" Collyer and Gabriel Heatter. Roger Pryor was the producer. Homer Fickett, Paul Stewart, Bill Sweets, John Zoller were the program's directors. Stuart Hawkins, Russ Hughes, Ben Kagan, Peter Lyon, Arthur Miller, Paul Peters, Virginia Radcliffe, Norman Rosten, Edith Sommer, Robert Tallman and Milton Wayne were the writers. Dr. Frank Monaghan was the program's historical consultant and Rosa Rio the organist.

5040 (The) Cavalcade of Music. Host John Connelly played recordings on this program of American popular songs from 1620 to 1950 in their historical and cultural setting. The program was based on the Variety's Musical Cavalcade book (30 min., Monday through Saturday, 9:00–9:30 P.M., WMGM, New York, NY, 1953).

5041 (The) Cavalcade of 1950. This was one of an annual series of programs sponsored by the United Press. Editors of United Press selected the year's biggest news stories and discussed them on the transcribed program. Earl J. Johnson, Vice-President and General News Editor of the United Press, was the narrator. The major stories presented were: the Brinks' armored car robbery; the Alger Hiss conviction for perjury; Florence Chadwick setting a new women's record for swimming the English Channel and the North Koreans crossing the 38th parallel to start the Korean War (15 min., Transcribed, Many Stations, 1950).

5042 (The) Cavalcade Players. Horace Taylor recited poetry and prose selections (NBC-Red, 1927).

5043 (The) Cavaliers. Orchestral mus. prg. (WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1933).

5044 Cavall, Jean. Singer (Jean Cavall, vcl. mus. prg., WXYZ, Detroit, MI, 1942).

5045 Cavallo, Peter. Leader (Peter Cavallo Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., KFEL, Denver, CO, 1939).

5046 Cavanaugh, Gloria B. COM-HE (WJIM, Lansing, MI, 1957).

5047 Cavanaugh, Eddie and Fannie. The Cavanaughs, a husband and wife singing team known as "The Gaelic Twins," often appeared together. Wife Fanny played the piano (WOK, Chicago, IL, 1925 and KYW, Chicago, IL, 1926–1928).

5048 Cavanaugh, Joseph. Sportscaster (WJAC, Johnstown, PA, 1941; WARD, Johnstown, PA, 1947–1950). DJ (Jr. Disc Jockeys, WENE, Endicott, NY, 1948; Hi Neighbor, WARD, 1950–1951; Joe Cavanaugh Show, WARD, 1952–1960).

5049 Cavanaugh, Marian Patricia. Singer (KFI, Los Angeles, CA, 1928).

5050 Cave, Walter H. Sportscaster (KMJ, Fresno, CA, 1944–1946; Sports Arena and Football Scoreboard, KMJ, 1947).

5051 Coverlee, (Dr.) Robert. Sportscaster (WFVA, Fredericksburg, VA, 1944).

5052 Cavin, Patty. COM-HE (WRC, Washington, DC, 1957).

5053 Cavitt, Don. Newscaster (WIBA, Madison, WI, 1945; KFOR, Lincoln, NE, 1946). DJ (Waxing Wise, WHB, Appleton, WI, 1950).

5054 CBS Is There. The excellent program of historical recreations had the added element that they were "covered" by CBS news reporters as though the events were actually taking place at the time of broadcast. The first program in the series was broadcast July 7, 1947, when it "covered" the assassination of Lincoln at Ford's Theater (30 min., Monday, CBS, 1947). The following year the program's title was changed to You Are There. See also You Are There.

5055 CBS Presents Red Barber. Barber, one of radio's greatest sports broadcasters, reported sports news on his program. George Bryan was his announcer (15 min., Monday through Friday, 6:30-6:45 P.M., CBS, 1946). See also Barber, Walter "Red."

5056 CBS Radio Roundup. Singer Dorothea James was featured on the music program (CBS, 1931).

5057 CBS Views the Press. Douglas Edwards replaced Don Hollenbeck on the program that many considered to be somewhat pretentious. How, many critics asked, could CBS attempt a critical review of other news gathering organizations? The program's attempt, at any rate, was short-lived (15 min., weekly, CBS, 1950).

5058 Cecil, Chuck. DJ (KFI, Los Angeles, CA, 1957; Swinging Years, KFI, 1960).

5059 Cecil, Herman. Sports caster (KDNT, Denton, TX, 1940; KCMC, Texarkana, TX, 1942-1949). Newscaster (KCMC, 1942-1946).

5060 Cecil and Sally. Johnny Patrick and Helen Troy played the title roles in the comedy sketch (KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1930). The team later worked at KYA (San Francisco, CA, 1932). Earlier in 1929, the comedy team had appeared on a show called The Funniest Things broadcast on KLRA (Little Rock, AR). Patrick sang and wrote the scripts. Troy sang and played the organ and piano. They were a prolific recording team.

5061 Cecka, Arnold. Newscaster (WHO, Des Moines, IA, 1945).

5062 CeCo Couriers. The weekly musical variety show featured dialect comedian Henry Burbig, who played such characters as "Levy at the Bat," "De Willage Chastnut" and "Dangerous Jake the Jew" (30 min., Monday, 8:00-8:30 P.M., CBS, 1928-1929). A typical interchange between Burbig and Norman Brokenshire, the program's announcer, was as follows: "Hello, Mr. Broken-wire. It's a werry werry nice evening, ain't it?" Brokenshire would respond: "Why it's Henry Burbig." Burbig would then recite one of his poems (Radio Digest, April, 1930, p. 25):

Leetle Jakey Rosenbloom set in de leeving room
Eating some motziss end herring.
He stock in his fork end took out some pork
End ate it end said: "Vot I'm caring!"

Burbig's also broadcast his own version of inside "heestory" (Radio News, June, 1930, p. 106):

Vunce opon ah time ago ... dare lieved in de hold contree, de Pilgrimmees. Each day was dissatisfactioned from de vay de Kink was treating dam, so dey made ah union end wowed dot de Kink was loosing de pipples monee on de shock market end dey couldn't bear no shorter.

In 1923, Burbig was the chief physical instructor at the Hotel McAlpin, the home of station WMCA. While there he met WMCA announcer Snedden Weir, who persuaded him to broadcast his comedy routines on local radio stations. Burbig's dialect humor appealed to many listeners.

5063 Cedar Valley Hillbillies. CW mus. prg. (WMT, Cedar Rapids-Waterloo, IA, 1936).

5064 Cederberg, Cecil. Newscaster (WWJ, Detroit, MI, 1946).

5065 Cedrick, Sir. DJ (Sir Cedric, KTRM, Beaumont, TX, 1950).

5066 Cehanovsky, George. Metropolitan Opera baritone Cehanovsky sang on the Attwater Kent Hour program (NBC, 1929).

5067 Celebrity Night. George Olsen, his orchestra and his wife, singer Ethel Shutta, hosted the weekly variety program. The hosts supplied good music and each week presented famous guests who were nationally known stars of radio, stage or screen (30 min., Saturday, 9:30-10:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1936).

5068 Celebrity Table. Ray Heatherton interviewed various guests on the entertaining local talk show (45 min., Monday through Friday, 11:15-12:00 noon, local New York City radio, 1958).

5069 (The) Celebrity Train. DJ Marty Hogan conducted a popular Chicago program of recorded music (120 min., Monday through Saturday, 11:30-1:30 P.M. CST, WCFL, Chicago, IL, 1948).

5070 (The) Cellphone Program. Emily Post dispensed information on manners as part of the early variety program. Music was supplied by Edward Neil and the Harding Sisters (15 min., Various times, NBC-Blue, 1933).

5071 Central Church Service. Dr. Frederick F. Shannon conducted the radio church service (60 min., Sunday, 11:00-12:00 noon, WENR, Chicago, IL, 1930).

5072 Central Methodist Episcopal Church Services. These church service broadcasts originated from Detroit's Central Methodist Episcopal Church (WCX, Detroit, MI, 1922).

5073 Central Park Casino Orchestra. Dance music was played by Flo Richardson and her girls (WOR, Newark, NJ, 1925).

5074 (The) Central Park Casino Orchestra. Leo Reisman's orchestra provided the music on the program. The announcer was Edward Thorgerson (30 min., Wednesday, 11:30-12:00 midnight, NBC-Red, 1930). This may be the orchestra listed below.

5075 (The) Central Park Casino Orchestra. Instr. mus. prg. (WNAC, Boston, MA, 1932).

5076 Central State Hospital Orchestra. Institutional band (WHAS, Louisville, KY, 1926).

5077 Century Orchestra. WGR (Detroit, MI, 1925; WMAK, Buffalo, NY, 1928).

5078 Ceppes, Mac. Leader (Mac Ceppes Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., MBS, 1945).

5079 Cepuran, Rose. Pianist, organist and hostess (WOW, Omaha, NE, 1929). Cepuran began her study of the piano at the age of 12 with Clara Hoffman Morearty and continued later with Jean Duffield and Dorothy Cogswell.

5080 Cerea, Madeline. Pianist (WOR, Newark, NJ, 1925).

5081 Cermak, Emil, Jr. Flutist (WOAW, Omaha, NE, 1923).

5082 Cerri, Bill. Newscaster (WGAT, Utica, NY, 1947). DJ (WGAT, 1948).

5083 Cervi, Samueline. COM-HE (WCNT, Centralia, IL, 1956).

5084 Cerwin, Connie. Ballad singer (WSWS, Chicago, IL, 1926).

5085 Cerwin, Herbert. Critic Cerwin on his broadcasts discussed a good "book diet" (KQW, San Jose, CA, 1928).

5086 Cesana, Renzo. DJ (The Continental, 60 min., Monday through Saturday, 11:00-12:00 noon, WGMG, New York, NY, 1953). Cesana, known as "The Continental," was a DJ who projected romance with such lines as, "Don't be afraid, darling. You're in a man's apartment."

5087 "CFK." Designation for announcer Corley F. Kirby (WWJ, Detroit, MI, 1924).

5088 Chadbourne, Mortimer. Tenor (WJZ, New York, NY, 1928).

5089 Chadwin, Minerva Tose. Soprano (WIP, Philadelphia, PA, 1926).

5090 Chaffey, C.M. Announcer Chaffey identified his station as "The Schuylkill Valley Echo" (WRAW, Reading, PA, 1926).

5091 Chalfant, Lucille. Coloratura soprano (WEAF, New York, NY, 1923).

5092 Chalk, Sonny. Sports caster (WMOX, Meriden, MS, 1960).

5093 Chalk, Wesley. Sports caster (WCOA, Pensacola, FL, 1938).

5094 (The) Challenge of the Yukon. George W. Trendle and Fran Striker, who previously had developed The Lone Ranger and The Green Hornet, created the story of Sergeant Preston of the Northwest Mounted Police and his adventures in the Yukon. The program made its debut on Detroit's WXYZ in a 15-minute format before being extended to 30 minutes. After some 260 episodes were broadcast on MBS and ABC, the series ended on June 9, 1955. The program opened with the announcer's dramatic: "Now as the howling winds echo across the snow covered reaches of the wild northwest, we present Sergeant Preston of the Yukon brought to you by the Quaker Oats Company, makers of Quaker Puffed Wheat and Quaker Puffed Rice, the delicious cereal shot from guns. It's Yukon King, the swiftest and strongest lead dog of the northwest, breaking the trail for Sergeant Preston of the Northwest Mounted Police in his relentless pursuit of law breakers." A whip cracked. Sergeant Preston was then heard calling, "On King! On you huskies." The cast included:

Brace Beemer, Jay Michael, Paul Sutton and John Todd. The program was directed by Al Hodge. The announcers were Bob Hite and Fred Foy (ABC, 1947–1955).

5095 Challenger, Lilyan May. Mezzo-soprano (WOR, Newark, NJ, 1923; KFWB, Hollywood, CA, 1927).

5096 Chalmers, Eleanor. Miss Chalmers broadcast talks on style and fashion (WQJ, Chicago, IL, 1924).

5097 Chalmers, Jim. Newscaster (WEIM, Pittsburgh, PA, 1946). Sportscaster (Speaking for Sports, WEIM, 1951–1953).

5098 (The) Chalmont Sisters. Singing team (WCAU, Philadelphia, PA, 1926).

5099 (The) Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin Street. The entertaining music program offered good jazz served with a generous dose of tongue-in-cheek humor. In 1943, the program took the place of The Gibson Family. Milton Cross and Gene Hamilton were most often the announcers. Many fine jazz musicians and singers appeared as guests on the show. Regulars at various times were Dinah Shore and Lena Horne and the bands of Henry "Hot Lips" Levine and Paul "Woodwindy" LaValle (30 min., Weekly, ABC, NBC, 1940–1952). The program went on and off the air many times. Most often the program was broadcast on a sustaining basis or as a public service program with appropriate announcements.

5127 Chandler, Mimi. DJ (Coffee Time, WVLC, Lexington-Versailles, KY, 1948–1952).

5128 Chandu the Magician. The well-written adolescent adventure drama was based on the characters created by Harry A. Earnshaw. Gayne Whitman, a star of the stage and silent movies, originated the role of Chandu in 1932. The program was first broadcast on the West Coast in 1932. The sponsor was Beechnut. The producers were Harry A. Earnshaw and Vera M. Oldham of the Earnshaw-Young Advertising Agency, both of whom had previously collaborated in writing the Adventures of Detectives Black and Blue. Chandu was broadcast live and by transcription on 77 stations in 1932–1933. When it began Chandu the Magician was entirely transcribed. The popularity of the program did much to increase the broadcast use of electrical transcriptions.

The program was revived in 1948 on West Coast radio with White Cloud soap as sponsor. It closely followed the original scripts. In 1950, writer Vera Oldham and Sam Dann along with producer-director Cyril Arnbrister brought the program to network radio. At that time Tom Collins played the title role of Chandu, who actually was an American by the name of Frank Chandler. Chandler was an American secret agent, who had learned the arts of magic from a Hindu yogi. Members of the cast in the final format were Tom Collins, Carl Emory, Peter Griffith, Roger deKoven, Susan Thorne, Luis Van Rooten, Viola Vann, Lee Miller, Irene Tedrow, Gertrude Warner. The program was directed by Blair Wallister. Music was provided by Juan Rolando (30 min., Saturday, 8:00–8:30 P.M., ABC, 1949). In previous years, when it was broadcast in a 15-minute format, the title role was played by Gayne Whitman, Jason Robards, Sr., and Howard Hoffman. Others in the cast included Leon Janney, Ian Martin, Margaret MacDonald, Cornelia Osgood, Byrna Raebarn and Olan Soule.

5154 (The) Charis Musical Review. The Charis Corporation presented the music show with singers Ben Alley and Helen Nugent, "The Little Sweethearts of the Air," organist Ann Leaf and a string trio (15 min., Tuesday, 2:15-2:30 P.M., NBC, 1932).

5155 Charlatans, Demagogues and Politicians. American radio in its earliest years provided listeners with a wide variety of programs and performers. It presented amateurs with varying degrees of skill and semi-professionals plus a number of talented professionals. Birds, children, mentalists, ministers and fortune tellers shared air time with various doctors, professors and self-proclaimed authorities, who happily expounded their knowledge and theories. Not all of them, however, possessed the best character or the purest of motives. Some of them were charlatans, others demagogues and many were both. At times the various politicians who appeared on radio were also guilty of excessive rhetorical zeal bordering on outright prevarication.

As interesting and engaging as charlatans and demagogues may seem, the mischief they caused and the potential damage they produced may never be completely excused. Unfortunately, not all the damage inflicted upon listeners was financial. The lasting effects upon thought, attitudes and behavior might have been where the most damage was inflicted by those dynamic demagogic personalities.

One of the most remarkable figures in American radio was John Romulus Brinkley. After dropping out of medical school, Brinkley bought medical diplomas from schools in St. Louis and Kansas City. Setting up a medical office in Greenville, North Carolina, he began to buy newspaper advertising asking men if they were "manly" and "vigorous." It was the beginning of an idea that brought him fame and fortune.

In 1917, Brinkley moved to Milford, Kansas, where he bought a house and an empty drug store. From the drug store he supplied the citizens of Milford with a flood of patent medicines and cure-alls, some of his own making. A major incident in Brinkley's life occurred when one of his patients complained to him of "failing manhood." Brinkley, by chance, commented that if he had some goat glands he wouldn't have this trouble. The patient anxiously asked Brinkley if he could accomplish the transplantation of goat glands. Brinkley performed the operation on the patient in the kitchen of his Milford home. Many other men came to Brinkley when news of his promises of "renewed manhood" spread. Soon, the entire nation became aware of Brinkley's "goat gland" operation.

After returning from a profitable California excursion made under the aegis of Henry Chandler, owner of the Los Angeles Times and radio station KHJ, Brinkley founded and obtained a license for KFKB (Milford, KS) in 1923. This provided him with a powerful means of self-promotion that he soon learned to use masterfully.

With his "southern rural-accented speech," Brinkley began to use his station to extol the miraculous virtues of his goat gland operations for men. He would begin his advertising spiel with a series of barnyard allusions that also frequently appeared in his diagnoses.

Brinkley appeared on his station six days a week. He talked about prostate cancer, masculine rejuvenation and men who were geldings. It is believed that his "rejuvenation work" brought him about 12 million dollars in his 25 years of activity. One of Brinkley's major promotional programs was The Medical Question Box, on which he diagnosed the ailments of listeners who wrote him about their symptoms. In order to profit from the program, he organized some 1500 druggists into the Brinkley Pharmaceutical Association. Brinkley would read the symptoms of the listeners who wrote in and then prescribe by prescription number what they needed. His listeners could then buy either from his mail order pharmacy, or from any of the 1500 druggists he'd organized in his Brinkley Pharmaceutical Association.

An example of The Medical Question Box and how Brinkley diagnosed and prescribed by radio is as follows:

You are listening to Doctor Brinkley speaking from his office over station KFKB. We must dig into our question business this morning. The first question is from somewhere in Missouri. She says she enjoys our talks. She states her case briefly, which I appreciate. She had an operation, with her appendix, ovary and tubes removed a few years ago. She is very nervous and has dizzy spells. She says the salt solution and constipation and liver medicine has already benefited her. In reply to your question Number 1, I am more or less of the opinion that while the symptoms are to a great extent those of a premature menopause, I think they are not, but yet they are due to the fact that you have a very small amount of ovarian substance remaining. In my practice in such cases as this I have for many years used [prescribed] Prescription Number 61 for women. I think you should, as well use Prescription Number 50 and I think if you would go on a vegetable diet, a salt-free diet for a while and use Prescriptions Number 64, 50 and 61, you would be surprised at the benefit you would obtain.

Egocentric, boastful, vulgar and paranoid all are terms that have been used to describe Dr. Brinkley. When a listener wrote to Brinkley requesting birth control information, he used some of the barnyard allusions he often fell back upon: "I suggest that you have your husband sterilized and then you will be safe from having more children, providing you don't get out in anybody else's cow pasture and get in with some other bull."

The doctor rarely was modest about his medical skills or his use of them:

I believe that I have found my place in the world. I believe that I am here for the purpose of performing surgery, advanced surgery and curative surgery. I believe that my surgery work is fifty years ahead of times when it comes to curing insanity, diseases of old age, assisting bright minds and valuable men and women to remain here and finish work of value to the coming generation (Resler, 1958, p. 180).

Nor did Brinkley hesitate to compare himself to Christ. The Kansas City Star quoted him on October 27, 1930, as saying: "I am being persecuted even as Jesus Christ was persecuted. If I am a quack, Dr. Luke was a quack, too, for he did not belong to the American Medical Association."

Brinkley played upon the animosities held by many of his listeners toward doctors and the belief that they practiced medicine with the chief aim to "get their patients on the operating table." He broadcast The Medical Question Box program three times a day. He opened these programs with a confident, "Greetings to my friends in Kansas and elsewhere." He talked his listeners' language and they liked him and his station. They sent him a steady stream of money to purchase items from his pharmacy. His station also prospered.

Station KFKB had other attractions in addition to Dr. Brinkley. Although they also broadcast numerous cowboy singers, yodelers, story tellers, fundamentalist preachers, musicians and music groups of all types to attract listeners, Brinkley remained the station's star attraction. Despite the many attacks on Brinkley by the American Medical Association, station KFKB was voted the most popular station in 1925 and again in 1930 in Radio Digest polls.

Gross (1954, p. 68) has observed that Brinkley opened the floodgates to provide access to radio by all types of diploma mill owners, fortune tellers, clairvoyants, quacks and "assorted nuts and dreamers." Brinkley discovered how radio could be used effectively to sell himself, his operations and his medicines. He used his rural, accented speech to communicate effectively with his audience (Barnouw, 1966, p. 172). His techniques were also used effectively by others, but none more effectively than Huey Long.

Although nationally prominent and controversial, Brinkley was considered a model citizen by his small town neighbors in Milford, Kansas. He contributed financially to support the Milford Sunday school — the Brinkley Methodist Sunday School — and the Brinkley Goats, a local baseball team, in addition to developing a relationship with Kansas State College to offer college courses by radio. Despite his various good works, serious trouble lay ahead for Brinkley.

In 1925, the American Medical Association began shutting down the medical diploma mills that had sold Brinkley his medical degrees. Furthermore, the medical association said that his operations were a fraud (Barnouw, 1966, p. 171). Fighting back, Brinkley used KFKB to attack the A.M.A. and the various states that had revoked his medical license.

The Federal Radio Commission (FRC), the forerunner of the Federal Communication Commission, responded to various newspaper exposes of Brinkley's practices and the pressure exerted by the A.M.A. by refusing to renew KFKB's license in 1930. Brinkley sued, claiming that he was being censored. The court ruled against him, holding that the FRC ruling was not based on Brinkley's broadcasts, but the nature of the programs he broadcast. Despite this controversy and legal setbacks, his station KFKB once more won the Radio Digest's poll as the nation's most popular station.

After refusing to renew Brinkley's station license, the FRC followed its action by refusing renewals to others engaged in questionable broadcast activities. Dr. Norman Baker's station, K'TNT (Muscatine, Iowa) was refused license renewal because of Baker's sale of a cancer cure on his programs and his attacks on physicians in general. The Los Angeles station of Reverend Robert E. Shuler was also refused renewal because of the minister's attacks on various religions and cultural institutions. Norman Baker, one of Brinkley's greatest rivals among the quacks and charlatans of radio's early years, had been a vaudeville performer, mentalist and steam calliope manufacturer. After a successful experience of selling a ten-lesson oil painting course by mail, Baker began operating station K'TNT in Muscatine, Iowa. He quickly ventured into the medical field by offering a veterinary medicine for horses as a cancer cure for humans. When his station's license was denied renewal, Baker moved to Mexico to sell his wares and safely promote his various "cures" from across the Rio Grande.

The Reverend Bob Shuler, whose station's license renewal had also been denied, has been characterized as combining the attributes of Aimee Semple McPherson with those of Huey Long (Carson, 1960, p. 92). Despite his skillful use of these attributes, Shuler was refused license renewal because of his hate broadcasts against other persons and religions.

After his station was refused renewal, Brinkley began broadcasting on XER (later XERA) located in Villa Acuna, Mexico, three miles from Del Rio, Texas. In addition, he still broadcast from Milford, Kansas on KFKB — the successor to KFKB. Although he did not own the Mexican station, Brinkley appeared on it regularly, becoming a regular part of border radio. Brinkley found himself broadcasting on XER (XERA) with its newly expanded power of 500,000 watts that made it the most powerful station in North America.

Brinkley in his later years — the middle 1930s — broadcast his version of fireside chats, in which he praised Ku Klux Klan leader, Gerald B. Winrod; Fritz Kuhn, the leader of the German-American Bund; and Gerald L.K. Smith and William D. Pelley, both leaders of fascist inspired American groups and solid Father Coughlin supporters.

The final blow to Brinkley was the destruction of XERA, by action of the North American Regional Broadcasting Agreement. After traveling to Mexico City in an effort to save the station, he suffered a severe heart attack that eventually led to his death. Brinkley was undoubtedly one of radio's greatest salesmen. Pure charlatan, he opened the door to the fortune tellers, car dealers, lawyers and real estate salesmen who today still operate just within the limits of the law on radio and television. He also assisted the progress of a powerful religious figure — Father Coughlin.

Father Charles E. Coughlin, known as the "Radio Priest," had his own church, the Shrine of the Little Flower of Royal Oak, Michigan in 1925, when he first went on radio. Leo Fitzpatrick, manager of WJR (Detroit, MI), persuaded the priest to try radio as a funds raising technique. Coughlin was given free air time on the station, but had to pay the line charges incurred by broadcasting from his Shrine of the Little Flower.

Coughlin's first broadcasts were designed for children, but when he began to discuss adult topics, he was deluged with letters from listeners praising his work. From that time on, recognizing the power of his broadcasts, Coughlin began to emphasize political and economical topics and attack Communism as poisonous and unregulated Capitalism as evil. His attack on unregulated Capitalism was based on his claim that it operated without respect for human rights. His broadcasts appealed to the populist feelings of many of his listeners. Many Americans suffering under the grim economic conditions of the Great Depression fell under the radio priest's spell, when he began preaching politics. Coughlin blamed the country's economic ills on "international bankers" and the "money changers in the temple." When he further identified them as the "wolves in sheep's clothing who want to shake hands with Russia," he was laying the foundation for his strong anti-Semitic tirades that would soon follow. Encouraged by listener enthusiasm, Coughlin organized the Radio League of the Little Flower with dues of a dollar for a year's membership. His weekly broadcasts were carried by CBS during the early years of the depression. An early supporter of Roosevelt, Coughlin severely criticized President Herbert Hoover's failure to take action to alleviate the nation's poor economic health. When Roosevelt defeated Hoover in the 1932 presidential election, he found a staunch supporter in the Radio Priest. Coughlin remained a strong supporter of FDR and his New Deal until 1934, when his previously enthusiastic comments began, first, to show ambivalence and, later, open hostility. In the summer of 1934 he called President Roosevelt a "liar" and "betrayed." Forced to issue a public apology to the President by the Vatican, Coughlin said that he would have showed more restraint if he had not uttered those words in "the heat of civic interest and righteous anger." His use of the phrase "righteous anger" is particularly significant.

The Vatican's rebuke did not stop Coughlin from his continued tirades and personal attacks. He once called Will Rogers "a millionaire court jester of the billionaire oil men." Still later, Coughlin voiced a near rebellious note when in one of his broadcasts he said, "When the ballot becomes useless, I shall have the courage to stand up and agitate the use of bullets." Before long, Coughlin added anti-Semitic and various other hate messages to his network broadcasts. Warren (1966, p. 155), in his study of Coughlin's radio career, quotes the priest's apologetic explanation of the persecution in Germany by suggesting that the Jews were an aggressively powerful minority that had attained great influence by means of their success in journalism, finance, radio, art and science, despite the many obstacles they had encountered.

One of Coughlin's earliest anti-Semitic attacks carefully couched in "coded language" occurred in a broadcast he made in the fall of 1933, when he blamed the Depression on the "...international bankers who perverted to their selfish ends an economic system which was predicated upon debts and upon payments of those debts in gold." Later in the same broadcast, he condemned, "The liars, the Judases, the high priests, Annas and Calphas, [who] were at work crucifying the brothers of Christ." Saying that there had been a successful conspiracy against the English and the American people, Coughlin went on to say: "The Rothschilds had tricked us." From this point on, Coughlin began to blame Jews for many of the existing economic and social ills. Furthermore, Coughlin explained that Nazism was hostile to Jews because they were responsible for the economic and social ills experienced by Germany after the Treaty of Versailles. Like any skillful demagogue, he had learned how to arouse passions by means of words that were both spoken and left unspoken.

Coughlin frequently said that Nazism was a strong shield against Communism, a product he said was not produced by the Russians, but by a Jewish group that dominated the country (Warren, 1996, p. 156). If Coughlin was not a Fascist, many of his ideas certainly were in accord with that particular philosophy. He consistently harangued against the "contentedness" of persons of "wealth and power." International bankers also came in for their share of the blame for causing the suffering of the "common people" during the depression years. His resonant voice and trilled "rs" helped him proclaim these ideas interspersed with his anti-Semitic messages.

The powerful radio priest was not without his critics. Dr. John Haynes Holmes, a Protestant minister, was one who praised Coughlin's style, but condemned his use of propaganda techniques and its potential dangers. In his condemnation of Coughlin, Holmes also sounded a warning about the possible dangerous misuse of radio. Adolf Hitler in Europe during the same period was a prime example of how the insidious poison of a demagogue could be spread by a skillful broadcaster.

Coughlin's outright anti-Semitism probably was the main reason CBS dropped his program at the end of the 1930-1931 season, when the network decided to replace it with a Church of the Air program that presented rotating speakers of different Christian denominations. When Warren in the course of his research asked Paley for information about the priest's cancellation, he was told he [Paley] would not discuss the matter. This is precisely the same response the author received several years ago when he queried Paley about the Coughlin cancellation.

Paper (1987, p. 61) in a biography of Paley suggests it was Ed Klauber [a CBS executive], who initiated the requirements of fairness and equal presentation of varying points of view for listeners who were not fully informed about the topics under discussion. After Coughlin was dropped from the CBS schedule, he asked his listeners to write Paley requesting his freedom of speech rights, they responded by writing some half million letters to the CBS chief executive.

World War II caused Coughlin's popularity to wane, for some of his ideas were clearly unpatriotic. From a once potent political force, he became merely another small voice critical of capitalism and the government. Not only the priest's anti-Semitism, but also his antagonism toward FDR and his veiled pro-Axis and anti-Allied sympathies caused him to lose public favor. Coughlin was officially "silenced" in 1942 by an agreement he reached with Archbishop Mooney. In effect, he was forbidden public utterances for the next quarter of a century. Unable to continue his broadcasts, he still fulfilled his priestly duties at the Shrine of the Little Flower and the schools for boys and girls associated with it. Father Coughlin died in 1979 at the age of 88 with little public notice. When he was silenced in 1942, perhaps radio's most powerful and dangerous demagogue vanished from the scene and was soon forgotten.

While active, Coughlin showed great skill in inciting and inflaming public opinion, a lesson that was not lost on United States Senator Huey Long. Long learned his lessons well from both John Ronulus Brinkley and the Radio Priest. Huey Long — the Kingfish of Louisiana — combined the skills of a charlatan with the power of a demagogue.

Barnouw (1968, p. 72) correctly points out that Huey Long followed the trail blazed by Dr. Brinkley. Long used radio as effectively as any American demagogue ever had with his heavily accented Southern speech, liberally laced with "down home" references. He used the language of the ordinary man and particularly that of the people of Louisiana. Many Americans fell under his spell after hearing his radio speeches.

First as governor and, later, as senator from Louisiana, the Kingfish quickly became a popular populist spokesman. Like Father Coughlin, Huey Long was an effective radio speaker despite his relatively poor voice and speech patterns. His radio messages carried the siren song of his "Every man a king" slogan and "Share the wealth" idea. One of Huey's radio techniques was to begin his broadcast with a greeting and suggestion that the listener should call some friends to tell them that "Huey was on the radio."

Although a Democrat like Coughlin, Long also became a bitter enemy of Roosevelt and his administration. His criticisms were so strong that prominent Democrats took to the radio to criticize him. General Hugh Johnson, for one, criticized him on NBC in 1934:

You can laugh at Huey Long — you can snort at Father Coughlin — but this country was never under a greater menace.... Added to the ful-de-rol of Senator Long, there comes hurrying over the air the dripping brogue of the Irish-Canadian priest ... musical, blarant back from the very rostrum of religion, it goes straight home to simple souls weary in distress.... Between the team of Huey Long and the priest we have the whole bag of crazy and crafty tricks ... possessed by Peter the Hermit, Napoleon Bonaparte, Sitting Bull, William Hohenzollern, Hitler, Lenin ... boiled down to two with the radio and the newsreel to make them effective. If you don't think Long and Coughlin are dangerous, you don't know the temper of the country in this distress!

For a short period in the early 1930s, Huey Long had gained strong popular support by means of his frequent radio speeches, for which he bought his own air time. Appearing before the microphone at every opportunity, Long launched strong personal attacks against Roosevelt. An example of his style and the content of his messages is this one:

So it has been that while millions have starved and gone naked. So it has been that while babies have cried and died for the lack of milk, the Roosevelt administration has sailed merrily along plowing under and destroying the things to eat and wear.

Later, when preparing to run for president, Long called upon the people to wage a class war, seize the fortunes of the rich and to divide it equally among all the people.

Democrats became increasingly wary of his harsh criticisms of FDR, but on September 10, 1935, Long's threat disappeared when he was assassinated in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Although some Louisianans were saddened by his loss, there were many others who shed no tears for the dead Kingfish.

Brinkley, Coughlin and Huey Long all were involved in politics. Long was a powerful politician, Brinkley an unsuccessful candidate for governor of Kansas and Coughlin an influential national figure. Fortunately, only Long ever achieved public office. Charlatans and demagogues are still to be found in American life, but there are now higher legal and ethical standards and increased restraints imposed by broadcasters on those who would practice fraud and deception. It is still necessary, however, that radio listeners and television viewers critically think about what they see and hear, for there still are politicians and salesmen of various ideas who wish to sing their own particular siren song to the gullible.

5156 Charles, Al. Sportscaster (WAYB, Waynesboro, VA, 1953).

5157 Charles, Bert. Newscaster (WAKR, Akron, OH, 1946). Sportscaster (WAKR, 1947; WVKO, Columbus, OH, 1952-1955).

5158 Charles, Gordon. Newscaster (WTCM, Traverse City, MI, 1947).

5160 Charles, Lewis. Newscaster (Remington-Rand News Program, WINS, New York, NY, 1937; WOV, New York, NY, 1944).

5161 Charles, Milton. Organist (Milton Charles, instr. mus. prg., WBBM, Chicago, IL and CBS, 1935).

5162 Charles, Robert. Newscaster (KWTX, Waco, TX, 1946). DJ (Request Club, KWTX, 1947).

5163 (The Charles Boyer Show). Romantic motion picture star Boyer played the role of a Parisian panhandler on the sustaining romantic drama series. He earned his living by telling stories to tourists. In addition to telling the stories, Boyer also appeared in a variety of roles in the dramatic episodes presented. Hanley Stafford was the announcer (30 min., Tuesday, 9:30-10:00 P.M., NBC, 1950).

5164 Charles Cadmon. Cadmon delivered inspirational talks and recitations on a regularly scheduled basis (WGY, Schenectady, NY, 1925).

5165 Charles Courtney. The sustaining dramatic adventure show was based on the life of Charles Courtney, a locksmith and deep sea diver. When the show began it told how Courtney joined the Marines and was sent to Nicaragua. He found adventure there. One of his first adventures involved a perilous dive into the ocean to free a snarled ship's rudder (30 min., Tuesday, 9:30–10:00 P.M., W4N, New York, NY, 1934).

5166 Charlie and Jessie. Donald Cook and Florence Lake played the title roles on the scatterbrain daytime comedy series about two newlyweds. Diane Bourbon also played a leading feminine role. The sponsor was Campbell Soups. Red Cooper was the writer. Nelson Case was the announcer (15 min., Monday through Friday, 11:00–11:15 A.M., CBS, 1940).

5167 Charlie Chan. Tom Curtin used the character created by Earl Derr Biggers as the basis for the radio mystery series. Other writers for the program over the years included Alfred Bester, Judith Bublick, John Cole and James Ertheim. The producer-directors were Alfred Bester and Chick Vincent. When first broadcast in 1932 on the NBC-Blue network, the title role was created by Walter Connolly. After Connolly, the great Chinese detective was played by Ed Begley in one version and Santos Ortega in another. Leon Janney played the role of the Number One Son in support of both Begley and Ortega (NBC, MBC, ABC, 1932–1938; 1944–1945).

5168 Charlie Freshwater's Cowboy Band. CW mus. prg. (MBS, 1939).

5169 Charlie Hamp Goes to Town. Hamp sang and played the piano on his lively music program sponsored by Morrell's Packing Company (15 min., 10:30–10:45 P.M., PST, KNX, Los Angeles, CA, 1939).

5170 Charlie Hamp—The Voice of Hollywood. Hamp, a former band leader, was at the piano on his program. He played, sang, ad libbed and gossiped about Hollywood and its stars (KNX, Los Angeles, CA, 1935).

5171 Charlie Wellman's Chasin' the Blues. Charlie Wellman, pioneer radio entertainer, hosted his daily afternoon variety program (60 min., Monday through Friday, 3:00–4:00 P.M., KFRC, San Francisco, CA, 1929). See also Wellman, Charlie.

5172 Charlie Wellman's Liqueold Program. Wellman conducted the weekly program of music and comedy (30 min., Monday, 1:30–2:00 P.M., KHJ, Los Angeles, CA, 1928). See also Wellman, Charlie.

5173 Charlie Wellman's Saturday Afternoon Frolic. The versatile Wellman hosted the popular weekly variety show (240 min., Saturday, 2:00–6:00 P.M., KHJ, Los Angeles, CA, 1924). The program later was carried by KFWB, Hollywood, CA, in 1925. See also Wellman, Charlie.

5174 Charlie Wild, Private Eye. The mystery-adventure program sponsored by Wildroot Hair Tonic had the misfortune of following the popular Sam Spade program. Private investigator Wild, originally played by George Petrie, dictated his adventures to a tape recorder when the show opened. Peter Hobbs played Wild's assistant. The program was written by Peter Barry and directed by Carlo DeAngelo. Bill Rogers was the announcer. Kevin O'Morrison and John McQuade played the title role when the program moved to CBS the following year (30 min., Sunday, 5:30–6:00 P.M., NBC, 1950; CBS, 1951).

5176 Charlton, Frederick. Musical hand saw performer (WFLA, Clearwater, FL, 1928).

5177 Charlton, James. Newscaster (WHO, Des Moines, IA, 1946).

5178 Charlton, R.M. "Dick." Newscaster (WTOG, Savannah, GA, 1945–1947; WFRP, Savannah, GA, 1948).

5179 Charm School. Assisted by popular models, John Robert Powers broadcast "charm" information that paid special attention to the beauty problems of the under-twenty age group (15 min., 1:15–1:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1947).

5180 Charm School of the Air. Virginia Clark broadcast beauty and charm hints and Forrest Lewis provided the comic relief on the weekday show from Chicago. Lee Bennett was the announcer (30 min., Monday through Friday, 9:30–10:00 A.M., WGN, Chicago, IL, 1936).

5181 Charney, Mabel. Soprano (WGCP, New York, NY, 1925).

5182 Charvat, Jack. Sportscaster (KTUL, Tulsa, OK, 1944–1953).

5183 Chase, Bob. Newscaster (WIL, St. Louis, MO, 1941–1942). Sportscaster (WOWO, Fort Wayne, IN, 1956–1960). DJ (WOWO, 1955).

5184 Chase, Brandon. DJ (WNLC, New London, CT, 1948–1950). Sportscaster (WNLC, New London, CT, 1948).

5185 Chase, Bud. DJ (Breakfast Biscuits, WHOT, South Bend, IN, 1948; 1290 Club, WMLO, Milwaukee, WI, 1950).

5186 Chase, Frank. Sportscaster (For Men Only, NBC, 1938).

5187 Chase, Glenn. Announcer (WSAZ, Pomeroy, OH, 1926).

5188 Chase, Howard. Sportscaster (WWOR, Worcester, MA, 1953).

5189 Chase, Ilka. DJ (Ilka Chase Show, ABC, 1949).

5190 Chase, Janet. COM-HE (KITN, Olympia, WA, 1957).

5191 Chase, Julie. COM-HE (WTAG, Worcester, MA, 1956–1957).

5192 Chase, Mary Wood. Pianist (WJAZ, Chicago, IL, 1923).

5193 Chase, Milton. Newscaster (World Front, WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1944–1947).

5194 Chase, Sam. Sportscaster (KFBB, Great Falls, MT, 1938).

5195 Chase, Thomas B. Announcer and bass soloist Chase was a member for seven years of the Radio Double Quartette, a popular vocal group that broadcast Sunday mornings on WOW (Omaha, NE, 1929).

5196 Chase, Vicki. Soprano (Vicki Chase, vcl. mus. prg., WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1937; NBC, 1939).

5197 (The) Chase. The premise of the sustaining dramatic show was that at one time or another everyone—physically or psychologically—was either the hunter or the hunted. Each dramatic episode told the story of someone in just such circumstances. The program opened with this announcement: "The National Broadcasting Company invites you by transcription to join The Chase. There is always the hunter and the hunted, the pursuer and the pursued. It may be the voice of authority or a race with death and destruction, the most relentless of the hunters. There are times when laughter is heard as counterpoint and moments when sheer terror is the theme ... but always there is The Chase." Lawrence Klee wrote and Walter McGrew directed the program. Cameron Andrews, Ruth Gilbert, Larry Haines, Kermit Murdock, Karl Swenson and Lucille Wall were in the cast (30 min., Sunday, 8:30–9:00 P.M., NBC, 1952–1953).

5198 (The) Chase and Sanborn Choral Orchestra. The good music program sponsored by Chase and Sanborn Coffee was broadcast in 1929. In addition to the orchestra conducted by either Frank Black or Gustave Haenschen, performers on the program included female crooner Welcome Lewis, the piano team of Phil Ohman and Victor Arden, soprano Mary McCoy and a male quartet. Neil Enslin was the announcer (30 min., Sunday, 8:30–9:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1930).

5199 (The) Chase and Sanborn Hour. The Chase and Sanborn Coffee Company sponsored several popular entertainers in various formats on the show generically designated as the Chase and Sanborn Hour. The program premiered September 13, 1931. Each week the program included an original dramatic episode written by Louis Joseph Vance. Another of the stars featured in its early format was the famous French entertainer, Maurice Chevalier, who was paid the astounding sum for 1931 of $5,000 weekly. Eddie Cantor became one of radio's most popular stars when he appeared on the show. Cantor sang, clowning and introduced the various guest stars that appeared with him each week. The Chase and Sanborn Hour was written by David Freedmen, Carroll Carroll, Bob Colwell, Everett Freeman, Sam Moore and Phil Rapp and directed by Abbott K. Spencer (60 min., Weekly, 8:00–9:00 P.M., NBC, 1935).

Comedian-singer Jimmy Durante and the great torch singer, Ruth Etting, took over when Cantor went on vacation (60 min., Sunday, 8:00–9:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1933). Later that year when star Eddie Cantor took a summer vacation, the cast that replaced him included vaudeville headliner Bert Lahr assisted by the vocal team of Lee Sims and Ilomay Bailey and the Dave Rubinoff Orchestra. It was the 1937 version of the program with host Don Ameche that featured the characters most frequently associated with the program: Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, W.C. Fields, Dorothy Lamour and Ray Noble. Although the show continued to be sponsored by Chase and Sanborn, the program also became to be known as The Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy Show, The Edgar Bergen Hour and The New Edgar Bergen Hour. When Chase and Sanborn's sponsorship ended in 1948, the show's name continued to be associated with Bergen and McCarthy for the remainder of their radio career. During the years the program was broadcast (1937–1956) the cast and guest stars included: Barbara Jo Allen (Vera Vague), Don Ameche, Jim Backus, John Barrymore, Ethel Barrymore, Edgar Bergen, Bob Burns, Nelson Eddy, Norman Field, W.C. Fields, Richard Haydn, Marsha Hunt, Dorothy Lamour, Frances Langford, Eddie Mayehoff, Pat Patrick, Jane Powell, George Raft, Basil Rathbone, Rosalind Russell, Barbara Stanwyck, Rudy Vallee, Orson Welles and the Stroud Twins. The announcers were Ben Alexander, Bill Baldwin, Ken Carpenter and Bill Goodwin. Donald Dixon, Anita Ellis, Dale Evans and Anita Gordon were vocalists who sang with the Robert Armbruster and Ray Noble orchestras. The writers were Alan Smith, Carroll Carroll, Joe Connelly, Royal Foster, Zeno Klinker, Roland MacLane, Dick Mack, Robert Mosher and Stanley Quinn. Earl Ebi was the director.

Edgar Bergen was a radio phenomenon, since it was always thought that a ventriloquist on radio would have no appeal whatsoever for listeners. But Bergen's humor and the character he created — Charlie McCarthy, the world's most famous ventriloquist "dummy" — won him great popularity. Bergen (Edgar Bergen) had starred at the Palace in 1926. His big break came on December 17, 1936, when he appeared on Rudy Vallee's Fleishmann Yeast Hour on NBC. He continued to appear with Vallee until April, 1937. The next month he joined the Chase and Sanborn Hour. In addition to Charlie McCarthy, who was always dressed in a tuxedo with a top hat and monocle, Bergen introduced other characters such as the hayseed hick, Mortimer Snerd (Catch phrase: "Yup ... Yup ... Yup.") and the prim Effie Klinker (Catch phrase: "That's a witty one."). It is interesting to speculate whether or not the name of writer, Zeno Klinker, inspired Bergen to name his female "dummy," Effie Klinker. Regardless of who appeared on the Chase and Sanborn Hour, the star was always wise-guy Charlie McCarthy. W.C. Fields (Claude William Dukenfield) once commented that "Charlie McCarthy is the finest piece of timber I've ever known. In fact, nothing would give me greater pleasure on an evening to be here by my fireside with a good book, a couple of lemonades and Charlie. Yeah, me here in my easy chair and Charlie in the fireplace." Fields described how Charlie abused him: "He [Charlie] alludes to my proboscis as being fashioned of redwood. He was referring, of course, to the slight tinge of carmine which graces my nose. It's ruddy glow, I'm proud to say is the gift of Mother Nature, what a woman. Why, with nothing but my nose to guide me, I once lighted the way for Stanley through darkest Africa." And philosophically, almost reverentially, Fields added, "Listeners get the feeling that Charlie is human, and so does everyone around the studio. Sometimes I get it myself, when I see Edgar Bergen and Charlie off in a corner enjoying a heart to heart talk with themselves. All I know is that the more I hate him the more I love him. But I won't know he's human until he bites me." Charlie's spirit is best caught in his reply to Bergen's admonition: "Young man, women will be the ruination of you" to which Charlie immediately replied, "Can I actually depend on that?" Bergen was a ventriloquist whose lips moved somewhat, making his act an ideal one for radio. Charlie, in fact, often mischievously teased him about how much his lips moved.

The Chase and Sanborn broadcast of December 12, 1937, included one of the most interesting moments in radio history, because of what occurred as the result of it. Written by Arch Oboler, the eight-minute sketch featured Mae West and Don Ameche, as Adam and Eve, in the Garden of Eden. The lines and the situation that caused the furore seem innocuous by today's standards, but the dialog between Eve and the Snake may have smoldered somewhat because of West's sultry voice (Wertheim, 1979, p. 365–366). At any rate, after listening to the program it is impossible to find anything in the sketch that seems objectionable or obscene. Because of the furore that resulted, NBC banned Mae West from appearing on the network and even refused to allow her name to be mentioned. It all seems to have been blown too far out of proportion.

Bergen's daughter, Candice, continues the family's theatrical tradition in films and on television (Murphy Brown). She has written an interesting and informative autobiography describing growing up in the Bergen household with her "brother" Charlie in Knock Wood (1984).

5200 (The Chase and Sanborn Opera Guild). When Eddie Cantor left the Chase and Sanborn Hour on NBC for a program on CBS that was broadcast opposite it, the coffee company tried to compete by broadcasting operas in English (1935, NBC). Deems Taylor was selected as host and narrator. The orchestra was conducted by Maestro Wilfred Pelletier of the Metropolitan Opera with a chorus of 40 plus various guest stars. At first the program attracted an audience, but with Cantor's competition on the CBS schedule opposite it, the listening audience dropped and the program was eventually replaced by Major Bowes Family program (1935, NBC).

5201 Chasins' Music Series. Abram Chasins, a distinguished American composer-pianist, broadcast a series of lecture-recitals (30 min., Saturday, 10:00–10:30 a.m. CST, NBC-Red, 1936).

The program was sponsored by the Oertel Brewing Company (30 min., Monday through Friday, 5:15–5:45 p.m. and Saturday, 6:30–7:00 p.m., WAVE, Louisville, KY, 1949).

5217 Cheerio. Cheerio was the radio name used by the popular broadcaster, Charles K. Field. He read poetry and delivered inspirational talks to his large audience. Probably Cheerio's earliest program was Daily Strength (KGO, Oakland, CA, 1925). When he began broadcasting on the NBC network in 1926, Cheerio had Russell Gilbert's orchestra provide music for the show and Geraldine Rigger sing. At this time, his program was 15 minutes in length, it soon expanded to half an hour (30 min. Monday through Saturday, 8:00–8:30 a.m. and 8:30–9:00 p.m., NBC-Red, 1927–1933). In 1930, Cheerio enlarged his cast to 12 performers, including soprano Lovina Gilbert, known variously as "Gil" and "The Sweet Lady." Pat Kelly and Harrison Isles and his Five Little Peppers Orchestra. A special feature of the show was Miss Lizzie and her canaries—Blue Boy and Dickie. When the canaries sang with "The Sweet Lady," they were known as the Lovebirds. In 1935, the program was broadcast six times per week by NBC-Red in the 8:30–9:00 a.m. time slot. See also Field, Charles K.

5331 Christie, Lewis B. Newscaster (KOCA, Kilgore, TX, 1945). DJ (Eye Opener, KOCA, 1950).

5332 Christofferson, Al. Sportscaster and play-by-play announcer (KTRE, Thief River Falls, MN, 1949-1951).

5333 Christopher, Bob. DJ (Rise 'N Shine, WSAR, Fall River, MA, 1960).

5334 Christopher, Gage. Bass-baritone (KFI, Los Angeles, CA, 1923).

5335 Christopher London. Motion picture star Glen Ford played Christopher London, a private-eye created by Earle Stanley Gardner. Written by Les Crutchfield and directed by William N. Robson, the interesting series was short lived (30 min., Sunday, 7:00-7:30 p.m., NBC, 1950).

5336 Christopher, Robert. Newscaster (WMAN, Mansfield, OH, 1944).

5337 Christopher Wells. DeSoto-Plymouth dealers sponsored this show on which Myron McCormick and Charlotte Laurence played a Winchell-type columnist and his girl Friday. They encountered many adventures as they traveled their news hunting rounds. Music was supplied by Peter Van Steeden's Orchestra. The cast members also included: Joe DeSantis, Wendell Holmes, Jane Lauren and Peter Sapell (30 min., Sunday, 10:00-10:30 p.m., CBS, 1947).

5338 Christy, Al. DJ (Syncopated Clock, WDAF, Kansas City, MO, 1949).

5342 Chubb-Steinberg Orchestra. Popular radio band (W1W, Cincinnati, OH, 1924).

5343 Chuck and Ray. Harmony singing team of Chuck Harris and Ray Ferris (WMBB, Homewood, IL and WOK, Chicago, IL, 1928). These veterans of the Weener Minstrel Show later sang as the Old Harmony Slaves, vcl. mus. prg. (WLS, 1935-1936). They also appeared on other stations such as WHN (New York, NY); WOK (Chicago, IL); WGES (Chicago, IL); and WQJ (Chicago, IL). Frequently they also appeared on the Grand Ole Opry.

5344 (The) Chuck Wagon Boys. CW singing group that consisted of Reggie Cross, Red Foley, Hal O'Halloran and Howard Black (15 min., Tuesday and Thursday, 6:45-7:00 A.M., WLS, Chicago, IL, 1936; WWVA, Richmond, VA, 1942).

5345 (The) Chuck Wagon Gang. CW music group specializing in religious and gospel music (WWVA, Wheeling, WV, 1942). Children Lola, Effie and Ernest sang with Dave "Dad" Carter on Texas local radio in 1935 as the Carter Quartet (KFYO, Lubbock, TX, 1935). The quartet sang cowboy, American and Irish folk ballads, along with some gospel songs. They were sponsored first by Martin's Bakery and, later, by Conoco Oil Company. After moving to WBAP (Fort Worth, TX) in 1936, they sang on a Saturday morning show sponsored by Morton Salt Company.

The Brewley Flour Mills Company persuaded the Carter Quartet to become the radio version of the Brewley's Chuck Wagon Gang. Cy Leland was the group's announcer and manager at the time. Over the years, the group added and lost family members. They engaged in the "flour war" of the 1930s, when other Fort Worth stations featured such other outstanding CW groups as the Light Crust Doughboys, sponsored by Light Crust Flour and Ernest Tubb, sponsored by Gold Chain Flour. When their sponsor offered a picture of the Chuck Wagon Gang, they received 100,000 requests. By 1940, the group sang gospel songs exclusively. They made their first recordings in 1936 and produced 408 masters for Columbia Records by the time they completed their last recording session on September 23, 1975. David P. "Dad" Carter, mother Carrie and, at one time or another, all of their children, with the exception of Clellon sang with the group: Effie, Ernest, Rose, Lola, Anna, Ruth, Ellen, Roy, Eddie and Bettye.

5346 Chuck Wagon Time. The CW mus. prg. featured the Chuckwagon Gang (WGN, Chicago, IL, 1937). See also Chuck Wagon Gang.

5347 (The) Chuckle Chronicle. Russell Pratt and Don McNeill starred in the daytime comedy series as editors for a daily newspaper called the Chuckle Chronicle. One of the paper's campaigns conducted by Pratt and McNeill was "BE-CLEAN-FOR-ONCE-IN-YOUR-LIFE." The paper also employed Professor Marmaduke Courtleigh Twitchett as the children's editor; sports editor Speed O'Blatz; reporter T. Thomas Toofins; and copy boy Nutsy O'Swish (15 min., Monday through Friday, 12:45-1:00 P.M. CST, WMAQ, Chicago, IL, 1936).

5348 Chudnow, Dave. Leader (Dave Chudnow's Ensemble, KFQZ, Hollywood, CA, 1926).

5349 Chumaseo, Kathryn. Contralto (Kathryn Chumaseo, vcl. mus. prg., WOR, Newark, NJ, 1934).

5352 Church, Betty. COM-HE (WARL, Arlington, VA, 1956).

5353 Church, Ross. Leader (Ross Church Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WHP, Harrisburg, PA, 1936).

5354 Church, Wilda Wilson. Director of the KGO Players (KGO, San Francisco, CA, 1924). The following year Church conducted a program dedicated to "the improvement of our native tongue," A Lesson in English, as well as other programs on which she talked about various aspects of music (KGO, 1925).

5355 (The) Church in the Hills. Religious program (30 min., Sunday, 1:30-2:00 P.M., WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1934).

5356 (The) Church of the Air. The program was broadcast in two half-hour segments. The first service from 8:00-8:30 a.m. was conducted by Rev. Z.T. Phillips, Rector of the Epiphany Episcopal Church, Washington, D.C., and the second from 11:00-11:30 A.M. by Rabbi Jonah B. Wise of New York City's Central Synagogue (CBS, 1934).

5357 Church of the Open Door Choir. Professor J.B. Trowbridge directed the vocal group (KTBI, Los Angeles, CA, 1925).

5358 Churches, Glenn. DJ (Jazz, Rhythm and Blues, KCRA, Sacramento, CA, 1954-1957).

5359 Churchill, Dorothy. Soprano (KJBS, San Francisco, CA, 1929)

5365 Cicero, Tendaro. Tenor (WEBJ, New York, NY, 1926).

5366 Ciecuch, Leon. Newscaster (WHOM, Jersey City, NJ, 1941).

5367 Cierpke, (Dr.) Alfred. Newscaster (WDXB, Chattanooga, TN, 1948).

5368 (The) Cigar Band. Versatile Walter Behan conducted the program's orchestra with vocals by Clarence Hayes (Monday, 9:30-10:00 P.M., NBC-Pacific Network, 1929).

5369 Cimers, Jaroslav. Cimers was billed as a "Trombonist ace" (KYW, Chicago, IL, 1928).

5370 Cincinnati String Quartet. A classical music group that included Ernest Park, first violin; Herbert Silbersack, second violin; Herbert Weiss, cello; and Gordon Kahn, viola (WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1923).

5371 Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra. The Cincinnati Symphony broadcast a weekly program of symphonic music for adults, as well as an irregularly scheduled series of concerts for children (Tuesdays, 2:30-3:00 P.M., 1936-1937). Another series for adults was also broadcast weekly (Fridays, 1936-1939). Guest performers who appeared with the orchestra included: Simon Barer, pianist; Gregor Piatigorsky, cellist; pianist Jose Iturbi; violinist Josef Szigeti; organist Charles M. Courboin; Rudolf Ganz, pianist; Severin Eisenberger, pianist; violinist Bronislaw Huberman; and pianists E. Robert Schmitz and Alexander Tansman.

5372 Cincinnati Zither Players. Zither music group (WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1926).

5373 Cinderella Ballroom Orchestra. Los Angeles dance orchestra (KFI, Los Angeles, CA, 1924).

5374 Cinderella. Cinderella, not otherwise identified, was a DJ who played records. Variety said she had a poor "radio voice" and had to "leave at midnight" (60 min., Wednesday, 11:00-12:00 midnight, WHN, New York, NY, 1940).

5375 Cinderella Cafe Orchestra. Popular dance band (WHT, Chicago, IL, 1926).

5376 (The) "Cinderella from Georgia." An unidentified female "crooner" (WFAA, Dallas, TX, 1928).

5377 Cinderella Wolverines. Popular local jazz band (WOR, Newark, NJ, 1924).

5378 Cindy's Cabin Door. Cindy's Cabin Door was a variety show that featured a "colored quartet" and readings by a "colored girl" from the works of Paul Laurence Dunbar (WCKY, Cincinnati, OH, 1934).

5379 (The) Cino Singers Quartet. Richard Fluke directed the vocal group that also consisted of Russell Dunham, Fenton Pugh and Ralph Hartzell. Walter de Vaux was the group's accompanist (WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1929).

5380 (The) C.I.O. Singers (aka Sterling Jubilee Singers). The talented Black singing group was sponsored by the Congress of Industrial Organizations (C.I.O.). They appeared on a Hampton Roads, VA, station in the 1930s.

5381 Civaldo, Al. Sportscaster (Sports Column, WGLS, Decatur, GA, 1953-1955).

5382 (The) Circle. Kellogg Company sponsored the program that probably was the first network "talk show" to feature prominent stars. Ronald Coleman presided over the show whose regular participants included: Madeleine Carroll, Cary Grant, Carole Lombard, Chico and Groucho Marx, Basil Rathbone, Lawrence Tibbett, the Foursome and Bobby Dolan's Orchestra. The regulars discussed a variety of topics, sang, gossiped, traded quips, told jokes and appeared in dramatic sketches. Several ghost stories were dramatized and significant topics such as the freedom of speech and propaganda were discussed. Carroll Carroll, George Faulkner and Dick Mack were the writers and Cal Kuhl the director. Although it was entertaining and highly literate, the show received an undeserved barrage of negative criticism. Variety reported that the show soon disappeared despite its creativity and unique appeal or perhaps because of it (60 min., Sunday, 10:00–11:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1939).

5383 (The) Circle Bar Ranch Boys. CW mus. prg. (KYW, Philadelphia, PA, 1934–1937).

5384 (The) Circle Theater Symphony Orchestra. The symphonic group was directed by Caril D. Elinor (KNX, Los Angeles, CA, 1926).

5385 Circus Days. Courtney Riley Cooper wrote the dramatic series sponsored by the Harold F. Ritchie Company, makers of Scott's Emulsion. The story told of Shoestring Charlie, a circus owner, played by Jack Rosseigh, who was a strong proponent of clean shows. His circus rival, Bill Hayden, on the other hand, was a gyp artist. The program's cast included: Betty Council, Bruce Evans, Griffin Grafts, Henry Gurvey, Milton Herman, Walter Kinsella, Wally Maher, Jack Rosseigh, Ernest Whitman and Frank Wilson (15 min., Friday, 7:30–7:45 P.M., NBC-Red, 1933).

5386 Circus Night in Silvertown. Comedian Joe Cook was the barker on the "circus" program. B.A. Rolfe conducted the orchestra. Phil Duey, Lucy Monroe and Peg LaCentra sang and Tim and Irene Ryan, Teddy Bergman (Alan Reed) and Lew Hearn provided the comedy routines on the simulated circus show (NBC, 1935).

5387 (The) Circuit Rider. The Circuit Rider, an unidentified CW singer, was featured on the CW mus. prg. (WIRE, Indianapolis, IN, 1937).

5388 Ciro Orchestra. Dave Bernie directed the club band (WOR, Newark, NJ, 1925).

5389 Cisler, Steve. Nightly at 8:00 P.M. in 1929, announcer Steve Cisler signed station WLW, (Cincinnati, OH) off the air by saying, "All right, Homer, pull the big switch and let's go home." When hearing this, young listeners knew it meant bedtime for them. Cisler began his radio career after completing high school by taking a summer announcing job at KTHS (Hot Springs National Park, AR). Enrolling at the University of Arkansas in 1925, he began working at the university's station, KFMQ (Little Rock, AK). On his first program Cisler read an agricultural report on "The Castration of Spring Pigs." By 1929, he had moved on to WLW, where he originated his unique trademark sign-off. Cisler returned to manage station KTHS in 1937 and stayed until 1939.

5390 Cisne, Dick. Leader (Dick Cisne Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WHAS, Louisville, KY, 1942).

5391 Cities Service Band of America (aka Band of America Program). Paul LaValle conducted the excellent 48-piece band sponsored by Cities Service Company (30 min., Friday, 8:00–8:30 P.M., NBC, 1948).

5392 Cities Service Concert. The excellent weekly musical program was first broadcast on February 18, 1927, and remained on the air in one format or another until 1956. That first program featured Edwin Franko Goldman's brass band performing the following musical selections: "The William Tell Overture," "The Overture to Mignon," excerpts from Faust and Liszt's "Second Hungarian Rhapsody." Many guests appeared on the program (NBC-Red, 1927).

When the Rosario Bourdon Orchestra replaced the Goldman band later in the first year, the Cavaliers [male] singing group joined them as regular cast members. Other singers, musicians and conductors appearing later on the program were: Jessica Dragonette, the piano team of Frank Banta and Milton Rettenberg, conductor Frank Black, baritone John Seagle, the Men About Town [male quartet], Lucille Manners, Ross Graham and Paul LaValle's band. Sportswriter Grantland Rice gave football scores on some programs. Ford Bond and Edward Thorgerson were the announcers. When the program celebrated its 19th year on the air in 1946, it was reported to be the oldest commercial radio program on the air. Incidentally, Paul LaValle played clarinet in the orchestra on the program's first broadcast in 1927. Nineteen years later LaValle conducted the orchestra on the Cities Service Highways in Melody program. A few years after that he conducted the band on The Cities Service Band of America program, which later became The Band of America show. The Cities Service Concert program's name had changed to Highways of Melody in 1944, when Paul LaValle replaced orchestral conductor Frank Black. Still another name change to The Cities Service Band of America occurred when the Paul LaValle's brass band became the featured attraction in 1948.

5393 Cities Service Salon Orchestra. Salon music group (NBC, 1927).

5394 City Delivery Hour. Bobbie Benedict and "Smokey Joe" Brown sang on the vocal program (30 min., Daily, 6:30–7:00 P.M., WLBN, Little Rock, AR, 1928). The two men who were billed as "The Musical Ice Men," ironically, in real life actually were ice delivery men.

5395 (The) City Delivery Ice Men Orchestra. The program was sponsored by the same City Ice Delivery Company that sponsored the City Delivery Hour. The band broadcast regularly (KGIH, Little Rock, AR, 1928).

5396 City Desk. Frank Gould wrote the dramatic series sponsored by Colgate Brushless Shave Cream. The story focused on two star reporters, played by Charles Stratton and Gertrude Warner, who each week tracked down murderers and other vicious criminals. The other cast members included: Donald Briggs, George Coulouris, Jimmy McCallion, James Meighan, Karl Swenson and Ethel Owen. The writers were Frank Dahm, Frank Gould and Stuart Hawkins and the directors were Himan Brown and Kenneth W. MacGregor. Incidental music was composed by Charles Paul (25 min., Wednesday, 8:30–8:55 P.M., NBC, 1940–1941).

5397 Civic Calendar. Bill Herson was the announcer-host on the program that was devoted to broadcasting community notices free of charge. Entertainment was provided by a tenor and musical interludes by an unidentified pianist (15 min., Monday through Friday, Morning, WFBR, Baltimore, MD, 1936).

5398 Civic Repertory Theater. Eve LeGallienne and associates presented weekly dramatic productions on the interesting show (30 min., Thursday, 6:30–7:00 P.M., CBS, 1930).

5399 Civic Symphony Orchestra of Denver. Horace E. Tureman conducted the hundred-piece orchestra (KOA, Denver, CO, 1925).

5405 Claire, Dorothy Singer (Dorothy Claire, Songs, vel. mus. prg., 30 min., Sunday, 2:00–2:30 P.M., ABC, 1945).

5406 Clancy, Jim. Clancy was the announcer on the Vaudeville Program, a variety show that originated from the Hartford [Connecticut] Theater (WTIC, Hartford, CT, 1928).

5407 Claney, Ray. Newscaster (WMEJ, Daytona Beach, FL, 1945–1946). Sportscaster (WMEJ, Daytona Beach, FL, 1945–1950).

5408 Clapp, Nona. Four-year-old reader Nona Clapp appeared with her sister, Paulie Clapp (KIH, Los Angeles, CA, 1924).

5409 Clapp, Sandy. Sportscaster (WWSR, St. Albans, VT, 1956).

5410 Clapper, Kenneth "Kenny." Sportscaster (Sports Page, WRTA, Altoona, PA, 1952–1953; WRTA, 1956).

5411 Clapper, Raymond. Newscaster (MBS, 1930s–1940s; WMAI, Washington, DC, 1941; MBS-WOR, New York, NY, 1942).

5412 Clara, Lu and Em. This daytime serial was an entertaining mix of drama and comedy (15 min., Monday through Friday, 10:00–10:15 P.M., NBC-Red, 1934). The program originated as a dramatic sketch when Louise Starkey, Isobel Carothers and Helen King were students at Northwestern University. These women in the roles of Clara, Lu and Em, respectively, first broadcast on WGN (Chicago, IL) in 1930, before it appeared on the NBC-Blue network. When Carothers died in 1936 the show went off the air. It returned on CBS in 1942 with Harriet Allyn, Dorothy Day and Fran Harris in the title roles.

- 5535 (The Cleveland Symphony Orchestra. Symphonic music program (60 min., Tuesday, 1:00–2:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1935). The orchestra later broadcast a series of ten network programs (CBS, 1937–1938; NBC, 1939; 60 min., Saturday, 6:00–7:00 P.M., MBS, 1947).
- 5536 (The Clevelanders. Announcer Jay Miltner introduced this music show by saying, "Thirty minutes of good music styled in the distinctive fashion of Walberg Brown and his orchestra with vocals by Ken Ward." Fred Wilson produced the show (30 min., Weekly, NBC, 1950).
- 5537 Cliff and Lolly. Cliff Arquette and Lolly Gookins, sometimes known as the "Nuts of Harmony", combined piano selections and vocals with their zany humor on the entertaining quarter-hour transcribed show (15 min., Transcribed, Various stations, August 3, 1930).
- 5538 Cliff Edwards, Ukulele Ike. Vaudeville singer and recording star Edwards, known as Ukulele Ike, probably was best remembered as the voice of Jiminy Cricket in Disney's Pinocchio and his singing of "When You Wish Upon a Star." Edwards played the Palace and was featured in motion pictures as early as 1929. He claimed to have sold some seventy-four million records during his life time. His radio show featured both his songs and genial patter in 1932. Later in 1945 and 1947, he appeared on a show with the same name (Cliff Edwards, Ukulele Ike, vcl. mus. prg., 15 min., Monday through Friday, 10:30-10:45 A.M., NBC-Blue, 1945; 15 min., Monday through Friday, 4:30-4:45 P.M., ABC, 1947).

5539 Clifford, Bill. Leader (Bill Clifford Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., NBC, 1935).

5547 Clinnick, Frederick A. Cornetist (WGY, Schenectady, NY, 1923-1924).

5548 Clint, Fred. Violinist (KPLA, Los Angeles, CA, 1927).

5549 Clinton, Larry. Leader (Larry Clinton Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., NBC-Blue, 1938-1939; 1942). Clinton began his music career as arranger for the bands of Tommy Dorsey and Glen Gray.

5550 Clipper Gang Plank. The unique quarter-hour program was sponsored by the Wisconsin and Michigan Steamship Company. Bob Heiss recorded interviews with persons taking the S.S. Milwaukee Clipper [a ship] to Muskegon, Michigan. He gave them picture postcards for participating. These interesting interviews were broadcast the same evening they were recorded (15 min., Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 10:15-10:30 P.M., WTMJ, Milwaukee, WI, 1941).

5551 Cliquot Club Eskimos. The popular radio band was led by virtuoso banjoist Henry Reser and named for its sponsor, Cliquot Club ginger ale (1925). In the early days of radio, the sound of a barking dog and sleigh bells were the trademark of the Cliquot Club Eskimos. The band set a record for consecutive broadcasts by an orchestra that extended from 1925 to 1932 on NBC. During that span of years the show was always sponsored by Cliquot Club ginger ale (30 min., Wednesday, 8:00-8:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1927). Merle Johnson and Jimmy Brierly were early members of the band. The personnel remained fairly constant over the years: Reser, ldr., a., and bj.; Matthew Collen, tb.; Joe Davis, clr. and as.; Clarence Doench, clr. and ts.; Paul Rickenbach, p.; Maurice Black, tha.; Paul Raymond, bj.; and Tom Stacks, d. and vcls. In later years the time slot changed (Cliquot Club Eskimos, instr. mus. prg., Weekly, 7:00-7:30 P.M., NBC, 1932). Cliquot Club beverages brought the program back on the air in 1951 with Reser once more leading the band. Vocals on this particular show were performed by Virginia Hauer. The announcer was Murray Lowe (25 min., Sunday, 8:30-8:55 P.M., Yankee Network, 1951). See also Reser, Harry.

5552 Clisbee, Emma J. Leader (Emma J. Clisbee's California Ramblers [orchestra], KGER, Long Beach, CA, 1927).

5553 Clive, Thomas. Leader (Fraternity Tango Orchestra, WJY, New York, NY, 1924).

5554 Cloak and Dagger. Winifred Wolfe wrote the sustaining spy series based on Corey Ford's book, Cloak and Dagger. Joe Julian played the role of the chief OSS agent. (The OSS was the forerunner of the CIA.) Raymond Edward Johnson, Barry Kroeger, Ross Martin and Carl Webber were also in the cast as either agents or villains (30 min., Sunday, 4:00-4:30 P.M., NBC, 1950). The show opened with an announcer asking: "Are you willing to undertake a dangerous mission behind enemy lines, knowing you may never return? What you have heard is the question asked during the war of agents of the OSS—ordinary citizens who to this question answered, 'Yes.' This is Cloak and Dagger. Black warfare, espionage, international intrigue. Those are the weapons of the OSS. Today's adventure—The Norwegian Incident."

5555 Clock, Charlie. DJ (Saturday Nite Record Party, WMTT, Florence, AL, 1949).

5556 (The) Clod Hoppers. An early country string band featured on the Grand Ole Opry (WSM, Nashville, TN, 1927-1930).

5571 Clow, Irma. Harpist (WOAW, Omaha, NE, 1923).

5572 Clow, Ken. DJ (The Night Mayor, KBIZ, Ottumwa, IA, 1955).

5573 (The) Clown of the Air. Bert Davis provided gags and witty chatter on this comedy show (WQJ, Chicago, IL, 1925).

5574 Club Arcady Orchestra. New York club band (WNYC, New York, NY, 1925).

5575 Club Deauville Orchestra. Chicago club band (KYW, Chicago, IL, 1925).

5576 Club 15 (aka Bob Crosby's Club 15). This program appeared in several different formats with various singers featured. An early Club 15 version had Margaret Whiting broadcasting Monday, Wednesday and Friday and Patti Clayton on Tuesday and Thursday (15 min., Monday through Friday, 7:30-7:45 P.M., CBS, 1947). Later that year when Bob Crosby was featured, the program was sometimes known as Bob Crosby's Club 15. After Crosby left the show, he was replaced by Dick Haymes. Campbell Soups sponsored the Haymes version. Evelyn Knight, the Modernaires and the Andrews Sisters were sometimes featured with Haymes. The music was provided by Jerry Gray's Orchestra (1949, CBS).

5577 Club Hollywood Orchestra. Instr. mus. prg. (WTIC, Hartford, CT, 1932).

5578 Club Matinee. A popular hour-long variety program. Club Matinee featured veteran radio wit Ransom Sherman as host. Club Matinee grew out of an earlier network program, The NBC Club Matinee. Sherman eventually was joined on the show as co-host by Thomas Garrison Morfit, who had begun his career on Baltimore's station WBAL, before changing his name to Garry Moore. Music, songs and comedy were also supplied by the Three Romeos (Louise Perkins, Sam Cowling and Gil Jones), guitarist "Sunny Jim" Wolverton, singer Betty Bennett, bassist Bill Short and announcer Durward Kirby. The featured vocalists who appeared on the program were Johnny Johnston, Evelyn Lynne and Phil Shukin. One of the best remembered comedy features of the program was Rex Mauphin's orchestra playing out-of-tune, off-beat and off-key arrangements of such familiar musical selections as the "William Tell Overture". Ransom Sherman was the show's writer. After a five-year run and three year hiatus, the program reappeared on ABC in a 30-minute version (1937-1942, NBC and 1945-1946, ABC).

5579 Club Mayfair Orchestra. Instr. mus. prg. (WAAB, Boston, MA, 1932).

5580 Club of Hearts of the Berean Bible Class, Division of Pulaski County Baptist Brotherhood. The organization sponsored the first KGIH (Little Rock, AR) program that was broadcast on April 27, 1928. O.A. Cook was the announcer who presented the Pulaski Heights Christian Church Choir directed by A.L. Woolfolk and the First Baptist Church Double Quartet under the direction of Miss Martha McAnich. The Double Quartet included Eleanor Stronga and Vera Wyatt, sopranos; Mrs. L.M. Sipes and Ruth Neile, altos; W.C. Ware and W.E. Rhodes, tenors; and H.S. Hale and M. Audrey Blankenship, basses.

Also on the program was the Missouri Pacific Quartet with I. Spann, B.M. Gibson, E.I. Hunt and I.L. Gibson; Mamie Jones, reader; and singer Mrs. L.P. Coleman. Popular music was provided by Lloyd Hemphill and his Entertainers with Mrs. W.B. Gietzman on the piano. Among the band's selections on that program were "Let a Smile Be Your Umbrella," "The Girl of My Dreams" and "Some of These Days." The program also included talks by Henry Donham ("The Layman's Responsibility to the Denomination") and Claude L. Durrett. The program's sponsorship made this an unusual inaugural broadcast.

5581 Club Romance. A night club setting and a romantic story told between songs was the format used on the entertaining program sponsored by Lehn & Fink Products. Baritone Conrad Thibault and soprano Lois Bennett sang the romantic songs accompanied by the Don Voorhees Orchestra (30 min., Sunday, 8:00-8:30 P.M., CBS, 1935).

5582 Club Valspar. Norman Sweetser was the host on the music program that featured soprano Aileen Clark and the William Wirges Orchestra (30 min., Saturday, 9:30-10:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1931).

5583 Club Virginia Orchestra. Popular club band (WEBJ, Chicago, IL, 1925).

5584 Club Wigwam Orchestra. Jazz club band (W1W, Cincinnati, OH, 1925).

5590 Clyde, Sylvia. Soprano (Sylvia Clyde, vcl. mus. prg., WOR, Newark, NJ, 1934-1936).

5591 (The) Clyde Beatty Show. The sustaining children's adventure serial supposedly was based on the life of famous animal trainer and circus performer, Clyde Beatty. Tim Graham, Byron Kane, Eva McVeagh, Vic Perrin and Eric Snowden were in the cast. Larry Thor was the announcer (30 min., Monday-Wednesday-Friday, 5:30-6:00 P.M., MBS, 1951).

5592 Clymer, George. Clymer broadcast a Dog Talks program (WIP, Philadelphia, PA, 1936).

5593 Coakley, Jack. Leader (Jack Coakley Orchestra, KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1926).

5594 Coakley, Tom. Leader (Tom Coakley Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WHAM, Rochester, NY, 1934; WOR, Newark, NJ, 1935; NBC, 1935-1936).

5595 Coarley [Coaley], Jack. Leader (Jack Coarley's Cabirians Orchestra playing from the Cabira Cafe, KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1925). He possibly could be Jack Coakley. See also Jack Coakley.

5596 Coast (Mrs.) Preston. Organist (WSTU, Iowa City, IA, 1926).

5597 Coast to Coast. Malcolm Childs broadcast Hollywood gossip and Lou James performed the same function for Broadway. Both men conducted guest interviews on the program (15 min., Monday, 11:45-12:00 midnight, Network, mid-1930s).

5598 Coast-to-Coast-on-a-Bus. The successor to The Children's Hour, this program was first broadcast in 1927. Milton J. Cross was the conductor on the "bus" that supposedly transported its young crew around the country. Audrey Egan and Madge Tucker portrayed "Mumsy Pig" and "The Lady Next Door," respectively. Like The Children's Hour before it and Philadelphia radio's Horn and Hardart Children's Hour, the program provided the first opportunity for many children who later became major show business performers. Each program began with the sound of a bus horn and a young voice announcing, "The White Rabbit Line - Jumps anywhere, anytime." The cast members over the years included: John Bates, Ann Blyth, Edwin Bruce, Carmina Cansino, Gwen Davies (Estelle Levy), Diana Jean Donnenwirth, Jeanne Elkins, Peter Fernandez, Jean Harris, Bob Hastings, Helen Folt, Tommy Hughes, Jackie Kelk, Donald Kelly, Bill Lipton, Ronald Liss, the Mauch Twins (Billy and Bobby), Jimmy McCallion, Michael O'Dea, Pam Prescott, Billy Redfield, Lawrence Robinson, Niels Robinson, Susan Robinson, Laddie Seaman, Renee and Joy Terry, Joan Tetzel and Eddie Wragge. Madge Tucker was the program's producer, director and writer assisted by Ethel Hart and Hilda Norton. The director was Tom DeLuff and Walter Fleischer the musical director. The 60-minute program was heard on both NBC and ABC from 1927 to 1948.

5599 Coates, C.L. Newscaster (WNOE, New Orleans, LA, 1939).

5600 Coates, Pattison. Baritone (WNYC, New York, NY, 1925; W1LB, Chicago, IL, 1926).

5602 Cobb, Dick. Newscaster, WAAB-WNAC (Boston, MA), 1940.

5603 Cobb, Grover C., Jr. Newscaster (KSAL, Salinas, KS, 1945).

5604 Cobb, Irvin S. Cobb was a famous humorist who appeared frequently on many radio programs of the 1920s. He appeared often with Will Rogers. On one of those occasions when Rogers interviewed Cobb this exchange took place:

ROGERS: What do you do to keep your weight down?

COBB: I don't keep my weight down. It's my weight that is keeping me down.

ROGERS: Do you find yourself going Hollywood?

COBB: Well, I find that I'm talking to myself and worse than that, I'm answering back.

ROGERS: Kind of saying your own yeses?

COBB: Yes, I'm living in Yes Man's Land, which is worse than No Man's Land and during the war.

Cobb later was featured on his own program (Irvin S. Cobb, 30 min., Monday and Friday, 9:00 P.M., CBS, 1933), on which he was assisted by Allan Joslyn, as "Chris," who ran a Gulf filling station and acted as a straight man who fed lines to Cobb. Cobb told stories on the show. He did not do gags or one-liners. The show was sponsored by the Gulf Oil Company.

5605 Cobb, Tye "Ty." Newscaster (KRGV, Weslaco, TX, 1937-1942; News and Views, KRGV, 1947).

5606 Cobb, Wally. DJ (Wally's Follies, WWPB, Miami, FL, 1952).

5757 (The) Collier Radio Hour (Collier Hour). One of the first variety programs on American radio. The Collier Hour was sponsored by Collier's magazine, which had a weekly circulation of 1,500,000 and was published by the Crowell-Collier Publishing Company. The program was broadcast by the NBC-Blue network on Sunday evening at 8:15 P.M. One of its memorable features was a dramatization of the evil doings of the villainous Dr. Fu Manchu, the memorable fictional creation of Sax Rohmer. Although John C. Daly played the role of the hero, it was Arthur Hughes as the arch criminal — Fu Manchu — who is best remembered. Sandra Love played one of Fu Manchu's slave girls. In a later story by Sax Rohmer, Parker Wilson played the role of Yu An Hee See, another of the villain's pawns. Curt Peterson was the announcer in the program's early years (60 min., Sunday, 8:15-9:15 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1927-1932). The Collier Hour was successful from its beginning. Each program contained some dialogue between Uncle Henry and the editor, John B. Kennedy. The program always included a series of dramatizations interspersed with musical interludes. Distinguished speakers and the magazine's staff writers also provided informative commentaries. Each weekly program was representative of that week's magazine fiction, articles and special features such as Grantland Rice's sports articles and Rube Goldberg's "Inventions of Professor Lucifer G. Butts." When editor John B. Kennedy, acting as host and announcer, introduced the appearance of Professor Lucifer Gamaliel Butts, he said: "If the greatness of a man is indicated by the number of cigars named after him, what shall we say of Professor Butts? For after him all cigars are named — eventually if not now." Years after the program left the air, the exploits of Professor Butts still appeared frequently in Collier's Magazine. Music on the program was performed by musicians of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. Performed before a large live audience, each member of the audience received an elaborate program for each broadcast.

The Collier Radio Hour of October 11, 1931, was broadcast by the National Broadcasting Company from the New Amsterdam Roof, "the Auditorium of the Air." Listed as "A radio adaptation of the issue of Collier's for October 17, 1931," it was directed by John B. Kennedy and dramatist Malcolm La Prade assisted by Casting Director Philip Barrison and Musical Director Ernest La Prade. After the Collier Hour Band played Goldman's "On the Road," there was a brief dialog between Mr. Editor (Kennedy) and Uncle Henry; a talk by Eliot Wadsworth, Chairman of the National Committee on Cooperation on Unemployment; the radio debut of Spanish soprano Lucita Romero singing "Clavelitos" accompanied by the Collier Hour Band; a dramatization of the first chapter of J.P. McElvoy's serial, "Are You Listening?"; a visit to the scientific laboratory of Professor Lucifer G. Butts; another vocal selection by soprano Romero; a final musical selection by the band; and closing remarks by John B. Kennedy. The first episode of the "Are You Listening?" serial included performances by Porter Hall, Wendell Hart, Harold Van Amburgh, Adele Ronson, Rose Keane, Eunice Howard, Georgia Harvey, Edward Pawley, Bob Lynn, George Spelvin, Ivan Firth, John Spelvin, Ernest LaPrade and Skippy Barrison.

5789 Colonial Dance Orchestra. Local dance band (WOKO, Peckskill, VA, 1925).

5790 Colonial Dance Orchestra of Brooklyn. Brooklyn jazz band (WHN, New York, NY, 1923).

5791 Colonial Inn Orchestra. Club dance band (WHN, New York, NY, 1923).

5792 Colonel Bill. William C. Gallaher of Leesburg, Virginia, conducted this children's program of Southern legends and folklore sponsored by Suplee Ice Cream. Colonel Bill told charming stories about Jack Rabbit, Billie Possum and Tessie Beaver (15 min., Wednesday, 6:00-6:15 P.M., WIP, Philadelphia, PA, 1935).

5793 Colonel Combs and the Ramblers. CW mus. prg. (WIBW, Topeka, KS, 1939).

5794 Colonel Humphrey Flack. Wendell Holmes played Colonel Humphrey Flack, a pompous confidence man with a walrus mustache, who often helped outwit other confidence men to aid "marks." Frank Maxwell played the role of Garvey, the Colonel's assistant. The program was based on the Saturday Evening Post magazine stories of Everett Rhodes Castle (30 min., Thursday, 8:00-8:30 P.M., NBC, 1947).

5795 Colonel Jack and Shorty's Hillbillies. The Alabama CW string band was sponsored by Crazy Water Crystals on the transcribed music show (Transcribed, Various stations, 1933).

5796 Colonna, Victor. DJ (The Night Owl, WMTW, Portland, ME, 1950).

5797 (The Colorado Cowboys. CW music prg. (KOA, Denver, CO, 1931).

5807 Colton, Lavern. Newscaster (WCOU, Lewiston, ME, 1945). Sports caster (WCOU, Lewiston, ME, 1947).

5808 Colton, Tom. Newscaster (WWSR, St. Albans, VT, 1941-1942). Sports caster (WWSR, 1942; WARE, Ware, MA, 1950).

5809 Colucio, Mildred. Blues singer (WSWS, Chicago, IL, 1927).

5810 Colum, Pdraic. Reader (WEAF, New York, NY, 1926).

5811 Columbia Broadcasting System Dance Band. Don Voorhees led the network dance band that included such outstanding musicians as: Vic Berton, ty.; Philip Gleason, cl.; as.; Jack Hansen, tba.; Leo McConville, t.; Dick McDonough, bj-g.; Miff Mole, tb.; Red Nichols, t.; Joseph Raymond, v.; and Arthur Schutt, p. (CBS, New York, NY, 1928).

5813 Columbia Broadcasting System's All-Soloist Radio Symphony Orchestra. Network studio orchestra (CBS, New York, NY, 1928).

5814 Columbia Experimental Laboratory. The show's content was strange indeed. Actress Georgia Backus demonstrated a technique for radio drama in which everyone spoke to himself and thought for everyone else (30 min., 10:00-10:30 P.M., early 1930s, CBS). Perhaps this was one of the experiments carried out as a forerunner of the Columbia Workshop. See also The Columbia Radio Workshop.

5815 (The Columbia Male Chorus. Freddie Rich conducted the orchestra on a program of semi-classical instrumental and popular choral music (60 min., Sunday, 3:00-4:00 P.M., CBS, 1930).

5816 Columbia Orchestra. New York dance band (WMCA, New York, NY, 1925).

5817 Columbia Phonograph Hour. Columbia Records sponsored the hour long program of concert music (60 min., Wednesday, 10:00-11:00 P.M., CBS, 1927).

5818 Columbia Presents Corwin. The 30-minute anthology series was written, produced and directed by Norman Corwin. Many believe it presented Corwin at his very best. The program premiered on CBS March 7, 1944. Some of the cast members included: Joan Alexander, Charne Allen, Michael Artist, Jim Backus, Harry Bartell, Jackson Beck, Ralph Bell, Roland Bottomley, Bob Bruce, Walter Burke, Kathleen Carnes, Peter Chong, Dane Clark, Lon Clark, Betty Comden, Hans Conreid, Ed Cullen, Shannon Day, Ted deCorsia, Oliver Deering, John Dehner, Peter Donald, Allan Drake, Robert Dryden, Laura Duncan, Jay Malcolm Dunn, Alex Englander, Roy Fant, Norman Field, Joseph Forte, Margaret Foster, Carl Frank, Maurice Franklin, Martin Gabel, Frank Gallop, Tana de Gamez, Ruth Gilbert, the Golden Gate Quartet, Joe Granby, Adolph Green, John Griggs, Larry Haines, Berford Hamden, Robert Harris, Nora Howard, Yung Ying Hsu, Richard Huey, Earl Hyman, Michael Ingram, Burl Ives, Nicholas Joy, Joseph Julian, Byron Kane, Sid Kassell, Donna Keith, Betsy Kelly, Adelaide Klein, Mordecai Kossover, Charles Laughton, Raymond Lawrence, Canada Lee, Peter Leeds, Rosetta Lenoir, Gene Leonard, Elliott Lewis, Katherine Locke, Joan Loring, Frank Lovejoy, Wally Maher, Paul Mann, Harry Marble, Frederic March, Edward Marr, Tony Marvin, Mercedes McCambridge, Myron McCormick, John McGovern, Paul McVey, Peggy Miller, John Moore, Arnold Moss, Kermit Murdock, Franklin Parker, Hank Peters, Minerva Pious, Samuel Raskyn, Ken Renard, Earl Ross, Cecil Roy, Billy Roy, Dick Ryan, Alfred Ryder, James Scott, Eleanor Sherman, William L. Shirer, Everett Sloane, Hester Sondergaard, Giuliana Taberna, Bertram Tanswell, Robert Trout, Lurene Tuttle, Arthur Vinton, Regina Wallace, Josh White, Horace Willard, Mary Lou Williams, Martin Wolfson, Will Wright and Roland Young. See also Drama.

5819 Columbia Presents Shakespeare. During a three month period in 1937, CBS broadcast a series of Shakespearean plays featuring major Hollywood stars. Some of the plays broadcast were: The Taming of the Shrew with Edward G. Robinson; Much Ado About Nothing with Leslie Howard and Rosalind Russell; Julius Caesar with Walter Abel, Thomas Mitchell and Claude Rains; Henry IV with Humphrey Bogart; and Twelfth Night with Tallulah Bankhead, Orson Welles and Sir Cedric Hardwicke.

5820 Columbia Record Shop. The program of recorded music was said by Variety (January 15, 1947, p. 32) to be a "watered down version of Fred Robbins' evening jive session (30 min., Saturday, 10:00-10:30 A.M., WCBS, New York, NY, 1947).

5821 Columbia Salon Orchestra. Vincent Sorey conducted the orchestra on the good music program (15 min., Saturday, 2:30-2:45

P.M., CBS, 1931; WNAC, Boston, MA, 1932; CBS, 1934).

5822 Columbia String Quartet. A small instrumental group, the Columbia String Quartet included Ivor Karmán, Walter Edelstein, Samuel Stillman and Ossip Giskin (Columbia, 1927).

5823 Columbia Variety Hour. Edith Murray, Vera Van, the Eton Brothers and Little Jack Little were featured on the show (45 min., Sunday, 8:00-8:45 P.M., CBS, 1934). Another version was broadcast late Sunday afternoon, featuring Cliff "Ukulele Ike" Edwards, the Do Re Mi Trio, Vera Van, Jerry Cooper, Fray and Braggiotti and the Singing Spinsters sextet (WABC, 1934). A later 1935 version featured the piano duo of Fray and Braggiotti, orchestra conductors Johnny Green, Freddy Rich and Mark Warnow, singers Nick Lucas, Vera Van, Betty Barthell and Loretta Lee (60 min., Tuesday and Thursday, 3:00-4:00 P.M., CBS, 1935).

5824 (The) Columbia Workshop. CBS inaugurated the program in 1936 to stimulate good writing for radio. Although the series did offer many new writers and their work to the listening audience, it was the arrival of Norman Corwin in 1938 at the age of 27 that both invigorated the program and introduced to network radio a genuine creative genius. His contributions were many, including his "We Hold These Truths," a program that celebrated the 150th anniversary of the Bill of Rights in 1941, broadcast eight days after Pearl Harbor. See also Drama.

5825 Columbia's Gay Nineties Revue (aka The Gay Nineties Review). Frank Lovejoy, Beatrice Kay, the Elm City Four, Elizabeth Newberger and the Ray Bloch Orchestra were featured on the popular music show (30 min., Weekly, CBS, 1939-1941). Joe Howard and Lillian Leonard joined the cast later.

5826 Columbia's Magazine of the Air. Broadcast three times a week, the program featured guests of special interest to women. For example, one week's schedule in 1936 included the following guests: Monday, Grand Duchess Marie of Roumania; Wednesday, authors Walter Pitkin and Ethel Cotton; and Friday, columnists Cholly Knickerbocker and Shelah Graham (30 min., Monday, Wednesday and Friday, CBS, 1936).

5827 Columbo, Russ (Ruggerio). Russ Columbo was a popular crooner of the early 1930s, who was a contemporary and rival of both Rudy Vallee and Bing Crosby before he was killed in an automobile accident (Russ Columbo, vcl. mus. prg., 15 min., Tuesday through Saturday, NBC-Blue, 1931). Columbo later was featured with the Jimmy Grier Orchestra (15 min., Sunday, 12:15-12:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1934).

5828 Columbus, John A. DJ (Requestfully Yours, WPUV, Pulaski, VA, 1952).

5829 (The) Column of the Air. Lisa Sergio filled her sustaining radio column with information mainly of interest to women (30 min., Thursday, 10:00-10:30 P.M., WQXR, New York, NY, 1939).

5830 Colvig, Robert. Newscaster (KALE, Portland, OR, 1940).

5831 Colvin, Don. Sportscaster (KSFO, San Francisco, CA, 1937-1939).

5832 Colwell, Terry. Newscaster (WACE, Chicopee, MA, 1947). Sportscaster (WACE, 1947).

5833 Colyar, (Mrs.) George. Pianist (WSM, Nashville, TN, 1928).

5834 Coman, Tom. DJ (Uncle Tom's Gabbin', WTIP, Charleston, WV, 1948).

5835 Combes, Jack. DJ (Insomniac Serenade, WFUN, Huntsville, AL, 1947).

5836 Combs, George, Jr. Newscaster and commentator (WHN, New York, NY, 1938; Editorial Slant of the News, WHN, 1939-1942; 1944-1947; WMGM, New York, NY, 1948).

5837 Combs, Laura. Soprano (WOR, Newark, NJ, 1927).

5838 Combs, Hance and Vance Combs. Old time vocal music team (KMA, Shenandoah, IA, 1928).

5839 Combs, Joe. Tenor (WSM, Nashville, TN, 1928).

5840 Combs, Virgil W. Bandmaster of the Missouri State Prison Concert Band, a popular music group on early radio (WOS, Jefferson City, MO, 1923).

5841 Come On, Let's Sing (aka The Palmolive Community Sing). Colgate-Palmolive sponsored this community sing program. Homer Rodeheaver was the program's song-leader. (Rodeheaver had performed a similar function earlier for evangelist Billy Sunday at his revival meetings.) Music on the show was provided by Joe Green and his Cloister Bells Orchestra. Tiny Ruffner was the announcer (30 min., Wednesday, 9:30-10:00 P.M., CBS, 1936). After Rodeheaver left the program it was sometimes conducted by veteran vaudevillian and recording star Irving Kaufman as "Lazy Dan."

5842 Comedy and Humor. The United States emerged victorious from the First World War a vigorous young nation, keenly aware for the first time that it was a world power. Confident and energetic the nation and its people eagerly entered the decade that appropriately has been called the Roaring Twenties. Blending a curious mix of hedonism and puritanism, they were years of flappers, free love, religious Fundamentalists and Prohibitionists. Restless, aggressive and innovative, the decade produced a burst of artistic activity along with great technological advances. It was an era of explosive growth and change, it was strongly influenced by the automobile, airplane and radio. Early radio humor in the giddy decade of the 1920s can best be characterized by lone performers reading funny literary pieces, delivering monologues or performing blackface minstrel routines that tended to be broad, none too subtle and, intentional or not, frequently insensitive and cruel. There were also late night "variety" programs broadcast by many stations for the pleasure of listeners who enjoyed hearing the music and wisecracks from such night spots in New York's Greenwich Village as Village Grove Nut Club to the merriment hosted by the Merry Old Chief on The Nighthawk Frolic from Kansas City, Missouri.

As the 1920s ended the gaiety faded. The laughter stopped with the Stock Market Crash of 1929 and the onset of the Great Depression. A depressed army of Americans were unemployed. Many once prosperous citizens were going hungry for the first time. National morale was low. It was at this time that radio began to play a major role to improve its listeners' spirits.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt was elected President in 1932 and immediately began to use radio to boost morale by broadcasting his reassuring message that, "The only thing we have to fear is fear itself." His effective Fireside Chats also provided rhetorical reassurance to a nation sorely in need of it. Radio also contributed to national morale with the nightly comedy programs it provided. As the Depression grew ever more grim, radio comedy seemed to get better. The harder the country's economic conditions became, it seemed, the funnier and more entertaining was the humor broadcast.

During the Great Depression, radio brought at least a little joy into homes where it was greatly needed. With the coming of World War II, the best of radio comedy served a somewhat different purpose. Entertaining servicemen far away from home and brightening the spirits of civilians on the home front took precedence. Once more radio made an important contribution to national morale with its bright good humor.

Who provided the radio comedy and humor that meant so much to Americans? Many of the comics and their writers never received the credit their work deserved. But some can be identified. First, there were the comedians who came from vaudeville to achieve success in radio. Among these were Fred Allen, Jack Benny, Burns and Allen, Eddie Cantor and Red Skelton. Then, too, there were the burlesque comics such as Joe Penner and Abbott and Costello. Finally, there were the comedians who gained their fame entirely from their radio work such as Henry Morgan, Jean Shepherd, Stan Freberg and Bob Elliott and Ray Goulding. In a class by himself was Edgar Bergen, a ventriloquist, whose Charlie McCarthy "dummy" became a "real" comic character. Another interesting group were the more visual comics, whose funny costumes, facial expressions or pantomime made them more effective on television than on radio. For one of them, Ed Wynn, who achieved some radio popularity, television came too late. Red Skelton, on the other hand, while funny on radio, was much more successful on television.

Radio comedians, such as Henry Morgan, Jean Shepherd and Stan Freberg, understood the medium best and achieved their success precisely because of this understanding. Not only that, but at their best they could also be considered great humorists like Mark Twain and Will Rogers. Radio listeners enjoyed the critical barbs and good-natured jesting of Rogers for years.

Later, in 1937 Henry Morgan's Here's Morgan program was a 15-minute broadcast, on which he played strange records and made acerbic comments about his sponsors, New York customs and life in general. In many respects, Morgan's monolog format was a forerunner of Jean Shepherd's rambling talks about city life and his nostalgic reminiscences of growing up in a happy Midwestern working family. Shepherd's many talents brought him a large cult following and financial rewards, but his achievements in the many fields in which he worked might have been larger if he could have remained focused on any one of them.

Fred Allen, on the other hand, produced almost all his work for radio. Although only a small part of it has been preserved, enough of his programs survive to demonstrate his comic mastery. Perhaps Johnny Carson expressed it best. When asked by Kenneth Tynan who was the wittiest man he ever knew, Carson named Fred Allen without hesitation. Citing the old vaudeville adage, "A comic is someone who says funny things, and a comedian is one who says things funny," Carson went on to explain his answer. Allen, he said, was a comic, while Jonathan Winters and Mel Brooks were comedians. Although he thought all were funny, Carson's distinction was an important one. Allen stands out as arguably the finest radio comic of them all.

Fred Allen was born John Florence Sullivan on May 31, 1894, in Cambridge, Massachusetts. After completing high school he entered show business as a juggler, performing as an amateur at every possible opportunity. Since it was the era of the "paid" amateur, his juggling immediately brought him financial rewards. He became Fred Allen at the age of 23, purely as the result of an agent's whim. The gift of a name was the only thing anyone ever gave him, for he reached the heights of success in radio entirely on his own. Like another juggler — W.C. Fields — who became a great comedian, Allen's transition from juggling to comedy was a slow, gradual one.

Although radio brought him fame and fortune, he never found it emotionally satisfying. Radio for Allen was big business and hard work, for which he never felt the great affection he had for vaudeville. The comic became Fred Allen in 1917, as the result of an agent's casual phone call. After getting a booking for him at the City Theater, Edgar Allen, a Fox booking agent in Boston, told the theater's manager the name of the juggler for his bill was Fred Allen, and that it remained for the rest of his life. The act of the new Fred Allen depended on his ability to make people laugh with the line of patter he added to augment his juggling skills. Extremely successful in the vaudeville of his day, Allen played New York's Palace Theatre in 1919. From there, he went on to appear in such long-running Broadway shows as The Passing Show of 1922, the Greenwich Village Follies in 1924, and, later, in such reviews as The Little Show and Three's a Crowd, the latter with Libby Holman and Clifton Webb.

While working in The Passing Show, Allen met an attractive chorus girl in the show named Portland Hoffa. Their marriage on May 4, 1927, began a happy lifetime partnership. During the radio years, her call of "Mis-ter A-l-l-en" and "Tally ho, Mr. Allen" became familiar trademarks. Catchwords and phrases were the marks of a successful radio series. The Fred Allen Show had several of them that mostly resulted when the Allen's Alley was added. "Tally ho," always said by Portland, was used in the early Allen programs as a means of closing one segment and providing a transition into another. It indicated to listeners that something was finished, and that it was then proper to go onto something else, usually a song or instrumental selection by the orchestra. At other times, the phrase served as a philosophical "so be it" to close the program.

Repetition of words and phrases for comic effect, of course, is an important element whether it appears in radio comedy or children's nursery rhymes. Allen, himself, took a rather dim view of the need for repeated catch phrases, although many of them naturally grew out of his shows and were continued successfully for years. For Allen, repetition seemed to be little more than a form of pandering to mass taste.

In many respects, when Portland played the "dumb female" role on the Fred Allen program, it was that of a smarter more astringent version of Gracie Allen playing off Fred's much more capable, worldly wise and worn version of George Burns. None of this implies that they copied or imitated the Burns and Allen routines, for this, of course, was far from the case. George and Gracie merely portrayed familiar show business types — as did Fred and Portland — that were later portrayed over and over in radio and television. The "dumb role" was later played on radio by Marie Wilson and in early television, Carol Wayne did the same for years on Johnny Carson's Tonight Show even in the Women's Lib era. All of them represented only a continuation of a familiar show business stereotype of the "dumb female role."

After completing a two-year run with Clifton Webb and Libby Holman in Three's a Crowd, Allen found himself out of work with only a promised role in a show not scheduled to open for six months. It was the spring of 1932, deep in the economic gloom of the Great Depression. The gold rush of vaudeville comedians into radio had begun. Comics such as Ed Wynn, Eddie Cantor and Joe Penner already were enjoying some success in the new medium, due chiefly to the funny costumes and rough-house physical antics they used to make studio audiences laugh. Although they achieved some success, they gave no real evidence of fully understanding radio and its unique possibilities as a medium for comedy.

Allen, facing weeks of inactivity, planned a series of radio programs, assembled a cast and, eventually, auditioned it for the Corn Products Company, who manufactured a beauty bath powder called Linit. His successful audition marked the beginning of the Linit Bath Club Review, whose first program was broadcast October 23, 1932, on the Columbia Broadcasting Company network.

The Linit program established a pattern that was continued until Allen's last network show in 1949. When asked by the sponsor who would write the show, Allen replied, "I will." He wrote everything for the Linit Bath Club Review, and, in fact, almost all the other material he used for the rest of his professional life in radio. Even in later years when there were other writers to help him with the formidable task of writing his weekly program and keeping it both topical and funny, ninety per cent of the writing was done by Allen.

Among the writers who wrote for Allen was Nat Hiken, later famous as the creator of television's Sgt. Bilko; Arnold Auerback, writer of such Broadway hit revues as Bless You All, Inside USA and Call Me Mister and Herman Wouk, probably best known for his novel, The Caine Mutiny. Wouk, recalling that Allen was the show's major writer, remembered that young writers like himself worked only to flesh out the great volume of material that was needed for the weekly programs. Perhaps it was the ever increasing pressure upon Allen of writing the weekly shows and the cumulative effects of hundreds of deadlines successfully met, that aggravated the hypertension that eventually killed him in 1956.

Even though the Linit Bath Club Review received critical praise and better than average audience survey ratings, it ended after only 26 weeks. The following year, while vacationing in Maine, Allen received an urgent call from New York. He learned that Hellmann's Mayonnaise had hired a comedian whose estimated potential far out-weighted his actual performance, and that the company wanted him to return to New York immediately to take over the radio program.

In 1933, The Salad Bowl Review starring Fred Allen was launched. In December, when the show's contract was completed, a new sponsor was eagerly waiting. Allen's next program, The Sal Hepatica Review (The Hour of Smiles), sponsored by Bristol-Myers, was the show that brought him even more favorable critical notice and listener popularity. The Sal Hepatica Review, first broadcast in 1934, became Town Hall Tonight in 1938, when Bristol-Myers decided to use it to sell Ipana toothpaste as well as the laxative Sal Hepatica, and the Texaco Star Theater in 1941, when the Texas Company became its sponsor. Later, several other companies including Blue Bonnet Margarine, Tenderleaf Tea and the Ford Motor Company sponsored Allen. After The Texaco Star Theater ended, regardless of who sponsored it, the program became and continued to be known as The Fred Allen Show, until finally leaving the air June 26, 1949.

Fortunately, recordings of more than sixty hours of Allen's radio programs still exist. After listening to these programs that represent his 17 years of broadcasting, some conclusions are inescapable. There is a pattern running through all the shows. Their content, performances and general over-all quality testify to Allen's astute professionalism and rich comic genius.

The format for each hour program, other than the early ones, contain the newsreels, musical selections, the Portland Hoffa segment, the guest spot and dramatizations of the Mighty Allen Art Players. Some transformations occurred along the way, as the newsreels, for instance, became, first, Allen's Alley and, later, Walking Down Main Street. Guests in the early years were "unknowns" with strange occupations, amateur performers or participants in a roundtable discussion drawn from the studio audience. Whenever a change in format was made, the result invariably was a general improvement in program pace and quality. Except as guest stars, few individual singers performed on the show. One notable exception was Kenny Baker, a talented tenor, who had first gained popularity on The Jack Benny Show. Baker's short stint on the program occurred during the early World War II years.

One program (March 8, 1942), in particular, illustrates the high quality of entertainment that radio brought into American homes during its great years. Kenny Baker on that program sang two selections. The first was "I'll Follow My Secret Heart" and the second, "It Ain't Necessarily So" from Gershwin's Porgy and Bess. After listening to programs of this era, one can readily understand how much a part of this cultural milieu George Gershwin and Fred Allen were. In the maturity of their professional achievements, they can be understood best in light of the spirit and energy we hear in those broadcasts of the 1930s and 1940s. There is a breezy, irreverence there, along with an open, friendly hale-fellow well-met quality in them. A free and lively spirit in spite of the Depression continually emerges. Much of this temperament of the times is displayed in these broadcasts for any listener still able to savor them.

Guests appeared regularly on Allen's early programs with such unusual or interesting occupations as an organ grinder, who naturally brought his monkey with him; an assistant to the Superintendent of the Statue of Liberty; a "stockyard Selznick," as Allen called him, a big man at the Paramount Studios, who was the talent scout responsible for casting all cows and horses in their pictures; and a man who ran a pushcart on the Warner Brothers' motion picture studio lot and knew all the hot dog and hamburger peccadillos of famous movie stars.

The radio audience in the 1930s and early 1940s idolized Major Edward Bowes and his amateur show, perhaps vicariously enjoying the frequent stories of overnight popularity, fame and success achieved by a few of the winning amateur performers. Consequently, many radio programs, incorporated amateurs in some way, hoping to win extra listeners and higher poll ratings by their addition. Allen's true feelings about amateur shows, caused in part, perhaps, by his own "amateur" experience, were not very favorable. Only the giveaway quiz shows annoyed him more. Allen cleverly parodied amateur shows when he played the role of Admiral Crow on one of his own programs.

Allen's burlesque of Major Bowes' program began with an announcer proclaiming, "Station HISKIMNOP presents Admiral Crow and his Amateur Hour." The wildly hilarious antics began when Allen, as Admiral Crow, stepped to the microphone.

ADMIRAL CROW: All right! All right! [Exactly in the style of Major Bowes]

PHONE RINGS

ADMIRAL CROW: Oh, yes. Thank you. [Phone is hung up] Well—the first telephone bulletin is in. 400 votes for Trundle Pulp the Yodeling Taxidermist. Trundle hasn't even been on yet. The votes are coming in from California. There's a difference in time, you know. They say the program is coming over beautifully out there. And here's a message from the Governor of the Thousand Islands. They're making me an honorary beachcomber on Island 702. And thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Pomfret of New Orleans for the corn pone receipt.

As Admiral Crow continued to take call-in votes from around the country, a steady vote-getter was the Whistling Mousetrap Maker.

No doubt hounded by ad agency vice-presidents and network executives, the early Fred Allen Show even contained some amateur contests! One notable contest, whose contestants were winners of a series of amateur competitions in Boston, presented a lyric soprano, a boy-girl "sweetheart singing team," an Irish tenor, a tap-dancer, a trick violin player, a Boston hillbilly trio and a "sneeze expert," who managed to display all the different sneezes he knew.

Another feature of the Fred Allen Show in which "unknowns" participated was Mr. Average Man's Roundtable. The Roundtable feature logically led directly to the asking of questions to such zany products of Allen's imagination as Senator Bloat, poet Thorndyke Swinburne, a low-wattage, itinerant philosopher named Socrates Mulligan and the proverbial "average man," Mr. John Doe, played by Jack Smart, Harry Von Zell, Charlie Cantor and John Brown, respectively. A Jewish-sounding Bronx housewife, Mrs. Prawn—who sounded like, but was not played by Minerva Pious—also appeared occasionally. These burlesque characterizations of politician, poet, philosopher, average man and Bronx housewife, in time, eventually became the Allen's Alley feature.

Dramatizations by the Mighty Allen Art Players—the inspiration for the Mighty Carson Art Players on television's Tonight Show—remained a constant feature of the program and one of its most effective vehicles for satire. Murder mysteries were popular dramatic fare for the Players, who romped through many of them. Their early mysteries featured an Inspector Bungle, who did exactly that most of the time. A little later, Allen introduced the masterful Chinese detective One Long Pan, who often introduced himself by saying, "Ah, greeting and Shalom, kiddies. One Long Pan, oriental Dick Tracy on the job." When a murder victim had been shot, and even sometimes when he apparently had been killed by some other means, this wily sleuth searched dilligently for the "le-wah-law-wah" with which the victim had been dispatched.

When the program went from an hour to a thirty-minute format, the amateurs and the people with unusual occupations were replaced by "name" guests. Therefore, the Mighty Allen Art Players were sometimes joined by celebrities when they presented their epic dramas. Some of the presentations of the Players had such engaging titles as: "The Psychopathic Speculator or He Made a Killing but They Called It Murder," "Admiral Allen Was Leading a Dog's Life, So They Left Him at the South Pole," "Santa Sits Down, or Jingle Bells Won't Ring Tonight," and "The Hardy Family in the Penitentiary, or Life with Father."

Among the memorable guests who joined the Mighty Allen Art Players were Bea Lillie, who romped through Allen's musical "Picadilly," sung to the music of Rodgers and Hammerstein's musical hit of the day, Oklahoma. Another was Tallulah Bankhead, who joined Fred in a classic spoof of husband-and-wife broadcasting teams entitled "Talu and Fred," a skit that deserves recognition as one of radio's best comedy routines.

In 1937, Ed and Pegeen Fitzgerald on New York's station WOR inaugurated the husband-and-wife talk show, a format that was soon copied by several other married couples such as Tex McCrary and Jinx Falkenburg (Tex and Jinx), Dorothy Kilgallen and Richard Kollmar (Dorothy and Dick), Andre Baruch and Bea Wain and, still later, Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy. At one time there was said to be 78 imitators of the Fitzgeralds' format on the air. At its worst, this type program degenerated into little more than a saccharin parade of commercials without much information or entertainment provided for listeners.

As early as 1945, when Tallulah Bankhead visited his program, Fred Allen directed his barbs against inferior husband-and-wife shows. Fred and Tallulah combined as "Talu and Fred" to deliver one of the most devastating radio satires ever perpetrated. Its format was a "regular" segment to illustrate what these programs normally were like, followed by a "grumpy" portion, in which one morning both spouses awoke testy and out of sorts.

At the opening and close of a program on which the James Masons appeared, there was a strange element that was part of Allen's struggle against the Stop the Music program and similar giveaway quiz shows of the time. The program opened and closed with a promise to reimburse any listener who missed a quiz show prize because he was listening to Fred Allen. A curiosity now, the device didn't stop the quiz program, but it remains a novel maneuver in the struggle against them. At the beginning of the program, this announcement was made:

Ladies and Gentlemen, stay tuned to the Fred Allen Show. For the next 30 minutes you are guaranteed that if you—any listeners in the United States—are called on the telephone during the next thirty minutes by any giveaway radio program, and because you are listening to Fred Allen you miss an opportunity to win a refrigerator, a television set, a new car or any amount of cash prize, the National Surety Corporation guarantees that Fred Allen will perform his agreement to reimburse you for any amount of prize money you may have lost up to $5,000. Notice of any claim under this guarantee must be mailed to Mr. Fred Allen by registered mail, care of the National Broadcasting Company, Radio City, New York, and post-marked no later than midnight Monday, March 29, 1948. Relax! Enjoy the Fred Allen Show. For the next thirty minutes you are protected under the terms of a guarantee bond covering all valid claims up to a total of $5,000.

This announcement with slight variation was made at the close of the program as well. No valid claim was ever collected under the guarantee and the competing quiz shows rolled on unchecked.

Many famous guests appeared on the Fred Allen Show. Some of them were Tony Martin, Boris Karloff, Edward Everett Horton, Charlie McCarthy, George Jessel and, of course, most often the aspiring violinist-comedian — Jack Benny.

Benny and Allen, actually the best of friends, participated in what perhaps was radio's greatest "feud." One of the popular radio gimmicks of the time was the "phony feud" between radio performers. Two of the other major "feuds" were those of Ben Bernie—Walter Winchell and Charlie McCarthy—W.C. Fields. What triggered the Allen-Benny feud was an accidental remark made by Allen on a 1937 program that soon grew to be a major topic of jokes for both comedians.

The famous Allen's Alley feature was an outgrowth of his encounters on the early programs with poet Thoryndyke Swinburne, coyly played by announcer Harry Von Zell. On one program on which they were discussing the New York housing shortage, the poet read a poem about overcrowded housing conditions. Influenced by Edgar Guest, the popular homespun radio poet of the time, whose familiar line was, "It takes a heap of living to make a house a home," Thoryndyke let fly by beginning, "It takes a heap of people to make a house a heap." Sad to say, his poetic vision sank even lower after that ambitiously promising beginning.

After Allen left the poet he often would run into John Doe the Average Man. John Brown, the great radio supporting actor whose most famous role probably was that of Digger O'Dell on the William Bendix radio show, The Life of Riley, played the role of John Doe the Average Man. Characteristically, Mr. Doe would angrily carry on a noisy discussion with Allen, only eventually to completely lose control and end by slamming his door shut in a rage, an interesting comment indeed on the "average man." Although both a Socrates Mulligan and John Doe were used as devices for commentary upon topical questions, neither of them survived to be part of Allen's Alley. Even closer to what eventually became Allen's Alley, however, was the introduction of a windbag politician, Senator Bloat; an obviously Jewish housewife, Mrs. Prawn; and the flaky poet, Thoryndyke Swinburne. In the beginning, none of these roles were played by Kenny Delmar, Minerva Pious or Alan Reed, whose portrayals later made these prototypes famous as Senator Claghorn, Pansy Nussbaum and Falstaff Openshaw.

O.O. McIntyre, writer of a daily newspaper column that sometimes contained the feature, "Thoughts While Strolling," was credited by Allen as the precise inspiration for Allen's Alley. Most of the elements for it, however, obviously came as the culmination of the comedian's own creative efforts. When in 1945, after three years of experimentation, the Alley's complete cast of Senator Claghorn, Titus Moody, Mrs. Nussbaum and Falstaff Openshaw was finally assembled, the listeners responded enthusiastically.

When he walked down Allen's Alley with Portland, Allen appeared as a thoughtful, inquiring reporter, a peripatetic commentator on American life. Sometimes, however, he was portrayed as an innocent, picked-on and occasional recipient of attacks by the Alley's residents, but most often a victim of the frequently scheming and manipulating guests who appeared on his show. Each program contained cogent comments on the news, weather, radio, show business and the American scene. With the inception of Allen's Alley, the tone of the comments changed somewhat, and the focus placed upon the Alley's characters themselves. Regardless of what Allen, himself, said, Allen's Alley may have had its beginnings, partially at least, in 1942, because of the pressures of wartime censorship to play down criticism of American life and the national scene. In the great Alley characters he developed, Allen focused directly on individuals, not stereotypes or representatives of any group or race. When Allen began his last season on the air with the January 4, 1949, program, he changed in name only the Allen's Alley feature to Walking Down Main Street in response, no doubt, to a demand made by some network executives who equated any change with progress. Nevertheless, the great characters remained unchanged and continued to perform in their own unique manner.

Senator Claghorn was a Southerner, first, and a politician second. His catch phrase was, "That's a joke, son," and it habitually followed a pun of magnificent, if sometimes horrendous proportions. Claghorn's feelings about the South are indicated by some of his more characteristic statements:

SENATOR CLAGHORN: I can't say "No."

ALLEN: Why not, Senator?

SENATOR CLAGHORN: Because "No" is the abbreviation for north.

SENATOR CLAGHORN: When I leave New York I always take the South Ferry.

SENATOR CLAGHORN: I don't even go to a ballgame unless a southpaw's pitching. I don't even go to see the Dodgers unless Dixie Walker is playing.

The Senator's loyalty to the South was unquestioning and constant, and he felt it necessary to ensure everyone knew exactly what part of the country he preferred. Continuously and loudly, he would offer such gems as, "Where I live, we call the people in Alabama — Yankees." Claghorn's favorite drink, he said, was the Memphis Martini, a tall drink that featured a wad of cotton floating in it with two boll weevils riding on top. Then, too, there was his expression of supreme love for his home region, "I'm from the South. Nobody can make me wear a union suit."

Claghorn's typical puns, always used with his familiar catch phrases, of course, were those based on the names of members of Congress:

CLAGHORN: (Talking about President Truman's recommendation of a National Health Insurance Plan in 1948.) We had a big debate in Congress. Somebody was running down Senator Hill [Hester Hill, D., Alabama.] Running down Senator Hill, that's a joke, son.

CLAGHORN: I was glad to see Senator Aiken back. Senator Aiken [George D. Aiken, R., Vermont]. Senator Aiken back, see that's a joke, son.

Senator Claghorn's dislike for Yankees extended even to baseball, as his account of a game he attended at Yankee Stadium clearly shows:

CLAGHORN: I saw a ball game today. I saw the Yankees beaten. Wahoo!

ALLEN: How could the Yankees lose?

CLAGHORN: The umpire was from the South.

ALLEN: How do you know?

CLAGHORN: Well, after he called three balls, he called a weevil.

ALLEN: You must have had a great day.

CLAGHORN: I hooted those pigeon-plucking Yankees to a fare-thee-well. I gave Bill Dickey the bird. Dickey bird, get it? That's a joke, son.

The joke had considerable meaning on March 20, 1947, for the Yankees seldom lost in those days.

Titus Moody was usually the next character Allen encountered in the Alley. Moody, a crusty old rural New Englander, was played by veteran radio actor, Parker Fennelly. Moody's dry wit and wily skepticism allowed Allen to use his own New England background for this character. After greeting Allen with his customary, "Hello, Bub," Titus was always glad to provide his uniquely idiosyncratic view of the world.

Talented dialectician Peter Donald was also encountered in Allen's Alley playing Ajax Cassidy, who was frequently in an alcoholic haze. Ajax usually greeted Allen with a noisy, "Well — how do ye do?" Cassidy's tales of his countrymen seldom portrayed them in a good light. For example, Ajax once told of a Dumb David Dineen, who came from Ireland on a cattle boat and felt right at home there.

Minerva Pious, another veteran radio actor, who had performed on Allen's programs for many years in different roles, was a regular denizen of Allen's Alley as Pansy Nussbaum, a Bronx Jewish housewife. When Allen knocked on her apartment door, Pansy Nussbaum answered, "Nu," a Yiddish colloquial expression roughly translated as "All right" or "Now what?" When Allen greeted her with, "Well — Mrs.

Nussbaum," she would answer with such responses as: "You were expecting the Fink Spots?" "You were expecting Weinstein Churchill?" "You were expecting Cecil B. Schlemiel?" "You were expecting Emperor Shapiro-Hito?" Pansy Nussbaum was an active urban housewife, busy in her garden growing "rutabagels" and reading the poetry of Heinie Wadsworth Longfellow. She liked to remind Allen that in her earlier days she had been Miss Low Tide at Far Rockaway Beach. Pansy Nussbaum, skillfully played by Minera Pious, was one of Allen's funniest creations.

Usually the last resident of Allen's Alley that Allen encountered was Falstaff Openshaw, played by Allan Reed. Allen variously introduced Falstaff by calling him "The Shoddy Swinburne" or "The Vagabond Voltaire." Although poet Openshaw specialized in "mother poetry," such as "Those Ain't Spots on the Sugar, Mother, You're Putting Your Dice in My Tea," he also produced such epic poems as "Said the Horse Hair to the Violin String, May I Be Your Beau?" These Allen Alley characters and his Mighty Allen Art Players might be radio's most memorable comic routines, but they came at the final years of his great radio humor.

A major change in radio humor came late in the 1920s, when Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll revolutionized radio comedy with their introduction of comic characterization in a serial format with their Sam 'n' Henry and Amos 'n' Andy programs originating from Chicago. Much of the best warm, gentle radio humor came from the midwest and clearly showed its influence. Jean Shepherd was one of its late practitioners. Earlier, there had been Jim and Marian Jordan (Fibber McGee and Molly) and the brilliantly written contribution of Paul Rhymer (Vic and Sade). Fibber McGee and Molly are best remembered for a hall closet that noisily collapsed whenever it was opened. It was perhaps the program that produced more successful spin-offs than any other radio show with Beulah and The Great Gildersleeve. Paul Rhymer's inhabitants of the little house halfway up the next block, on the other hand, however, probably produced the best low-keyed radio humor ever broadcast. It was warmly human and humane.

Fred Allen, on the other hand, was a social critic who took a leisurely, day-at-a-time approach, somewhat in the Will Rogers manner, but he also showed many flashes of the dark, sardonic humor displayed by Mark Twain in his latter years. Had not Mark Twain once observed that Americans enjoyed three precious things: the freedom of speech, freedom of conscience and the prudence never to practice either. Much of Twain's dark humor is echoed in Allen's best work.

Although he never attained the pinnacle of public popularity enjoyed by Jack Benny, Fred Allen enjoyed the admiration of a diverse group of listeners that included intellectuals, artists, news stand dealers and factory workers. His humor—often sardonic and bristling with satire—was one that children and adolescents usually did not enjoy or understand. While youngsters enjoyed Jack Benny's antique wheezing Maxwell car, his adventures with Carmichael the ferocious polar bear that he kept as a pet in his basement, or his infrequent trips to his money vault. Allen's assaults against network and advertising executives meant relatively little to them.

Josh Billings, Mark Twain and Will Rogers were writers with whom Allen most often has been compared. Although such comparisons are valid, there are two others to whom he also bears some resemblance: William Cowper Brann and Ambrose Bierce. Brann the Iconoclast and Bitter Bierce also tossed literary thunderbolts at the hypocrisies and stupidities of their day. Satirists, who are almost inevitably moralists, although most would vehemently deny the accusation, are seldom popular among their fellows. In fact, such social critics may be considered fortunate if they are merely tolerated and not actually banished from the company of all decent men.

Fred Allen, in his own way, was banished from broadcasting when TV finally brought about the end of network radio. Broadcasting's banishment of Allen took the form of refusing to use the comedian's many gifts, because the newer medium of sight and sound made strict demands of conformity—a characteristic attitude of mind and expression that never was Fred's long suit. With the advent of television, rigid demands to conform and avoid experimentation became stronger and stronger. Unfortunately, television, except in rare instances as in the late Omnibus series and on the current Masterpiece Theater programs, have remained bound by the same confining and stuffy restraints.

In 1956, shortly after Allen's death, NBC re-broadcast Conversation, a program in which Fred talked with Clifton Fadiman and Gilbert Seldes about how, if they were given the opportunity, they would live their lives over. Allen continually made the point of how much material radio demanded. He said that although he was well rewarded financially, he had been forced to produce a tremendous amount of material during his 17 years on radio. While in vaudeville, he said, five routine monologues would have lasted a comedian a lifetime. A radio program's demands, on the other hand, were insatiable. "In 39 weeks on radio," he said, "we used more jokes than Weber and Fields used in a lifetime." Continuing he added, "At sixty or so you wind up in a rickety chair with the debris of your aspirations around you."

In response to the question posed by Fadiman, Allen said he would have chosen wealthy parents, so he could have obtained a better education. Furthermore, he confided he would have liked to have been a writer. When Fadiman objected that Allen was a writer, Fred responded, "I never could have been able to support myself in that way."

Most of Allen's writing had been to entertain and enlighten, but some of it was done also to apologize to sensitive souls who didn't always think he was funny. During his lifetime, he had written seven or eight hundred radio scripts and many explanatory letters to NBC vice-presidents. He had also written apologetic letters to the Mayor of Pottstown, Pennsylvania, for supposedly derogatory references to that thriving metropolis; the Philadelphia Hotel Association for making references to the small hotel rooms in that city ("The hotel rooms in Philadelphia are so small, the mice in them are hump-backed."); and to the estate of Earle Derr Biggers for killing off the venerable Chinese sleuth, Charlie Chan, in one of the Mighty Allen Art Players' dramatic presentations.

The major ills of radio and television, as Allen diagnosed them, were advertising agency executives, network vice-presidents and quiz shows. Oddly enough, all three are closely related to each other and to our society. Commenting on "The State of American Humor" on NBC's Living 1949 program, Allen traced its developments from its beginnings in New England and on the frontier. American humor, he said, had its beginnings in a leisurely time and it clearly manifested that characteristic.

Any definition of humor was tricky, Allen insisted. Mark Twain had insisted that sorrow was a secret source of humor, while Josh Billings had said it was, "Wit with a rooster's tail feathers stuck in its cap." Agreeing with both humorists, Allen went on to note that humor makes a man feel good all over. Frequently it was the unexpected, the incongruous present in any situation that was responsible for the laughter. An important role of humor, according to Allen, was that it could be used as a safety valve against the world and its problems. Humor in America soon became attacking and provocative, striking out against pretensions in high and low places. From the time when Artemus Ward wise-cracked, "Most of the girls in Utah marry young, Brigham Young that is" to the gaiety of the minstrel show, the pace was slow and easy, as was the humor. "It was a leisurely age of humor uncorrupted by the Hooper ratings," said Allen.

Soon, however, conditions changed, as vaudeville became the chief vehicle for comedy and the quick one-or two-liners took over. The pace became increasingly frenetic. Snappy humor arrived, yet, there still were some humorists who operated in the old tradition. One was Will Rogers, who seemed to be a wise and witty commentator from another era. Perhaps it was his rapid climb to national popularity on radio in the midst of the Great Depression that enabled Rogers to retain the style, pace and values of an earlier age. When many people were unemployed and doing without, the old values looked particularly good and well worth considering again. Will Rogers supplied that need.

Nothing could be more American than the leisurely delivery and manner of Rogers who said, "Americans are getting just like Ford cars. They all have the same parts, the same upholstery and all make the same noises." When introduced to President Calvin Coolidge, Rogers with his folkier irreverence and innocence, shook the President's hand and said, "I'm sorry. I didn't get the name." Will Rogers' encounters with the famous was a far cry from how Johnny Carson interviewed presidential candidates on the old Tonight Show, or how Bob Hope hobnobbed with the residents of the White House.

Individual sham, hypocrisy and advertising were not the only factors that destroyed radio comedy. Network executives straining for maximum profits also share the responsibility, but, essentially, it was the change in American society that did the most damage. Allen contended, "Radio humor," Allen said, "has lost all its spontaneity. It is the victim of the times—mechanized and urbanized—produced in such quantities, it's downright chaotic." Furthermore, he added, "Radio wit tends to be the product of tired gag-writers. The star comedians are rarely more than a mouthpiece for their writers. Too many comedians survive on the brains of others." He went on to point out there was too much pressure on the comedian to produce too much material, since he not only had to be funny each week, but every moment he was on the air as well.

As to the future of American humor, Allen said, it all depended on whether we slowed down. "If the pace of life slows down, there may then be some hope." On humor in general, he commented, "Laughter is an universal language of mankind. A little nonsense now and then is relieved by the wisest men."

Fred Allen, first on Town Hall Tonight, later while making trips down Allen's Alley, and, finally, during the Walks Down Main Street, served as an early warning system to detect the nonsense prevalent in American society. Once during one of his last programs, Fred and Portland walked down Main Street as usual and asked the question of the day of Senator Claghorn, Titus Moody, Mrs. Nussbaum, Ajax Cassidy and Falstaff Openshaw. After getting their amusing, but generally non-responsive answers, Fred, with a line, perhaps more self-revealing than even he realized, noted, "It's the same every week, Portland. All you get out of a walk down Main Street is the exercise." The closing sentence of Allen's autobiographical Treadmill to Oblivion serves both as prophecy and epitaph: "All that the comedian has to show for his years of work and aggravation is the echo of forgotten laughter."

One bright spot after Allen's departure from radio was the success he enjoyed as an author. His longtime desire to be a real writer must have been partially gratified, at least, by the critical acclaim given Treadmill to Oblivion, his personal account of his radio career. A detailed autobiography of his life up to the time he entered radio, Much Ado About Me, unfinished at his death, was published posthumously and also received lavish critical praise.

Fred Allen died March 17, 1956, St. Patrick's Day, while taking his evening walk on 57th Street in New York City, a fitting date and place for an Irishman who loved New York so much he spent much of his time satirizing it. Much of what Allen said was inescapably right. He was appreciated, but not nearly as much as he deserved.

When the Fred Allen Show left the air in 1949, an era of radio comedy ended and a great vaudevillian, perhaps radio's greatest comedian of them all, was silenced. Radio programming in the 1950s changed drastically. Recorded music and the DJ were mostly heard during the daytime and evening hours. Most daytime serials and comedy shows faded and eventually disappeared. By January 1956, the only comedy show still broadcast weekly was the Charlie McCarthy Show and that only on a sustaining basis.

Some radio comedians such as Jack Benny and Red Skelton made a successful transition to television. Fred Allen did not. Whether it was fatigue, deteriorating health or his disenchantment with the medium, his insightful wit and satirical skill never came through on television. Only two interesting comedy shows were heard on radio by the late 1950s—Bob and Ray and the Stan Freberg Show. Bob Elliott and Ray Goulding, as Bob and Ray had survived with their gentle satire from their modest beginnings on Boston's WHDH in 1946. Elliott and Goulding enjoyed a long, successful career. Freberg's case was different. After many popular recordings, Freberg was given an opportunity to star in his own 15-week Stan Freberg Show series in the summer of 1957. Freberg's show was the biggest budgeted CBS radio show in ten years. The gifted Freberg has claimed that since his show was the last network comedy show broadcast, it made him the last network radio comedian. Jean Shepherd survived on local radio (WOR, New York, NY). Few others survived even on local radio. 5843 (The) Comedy Caravan (aka The Camel Caravan). Jimmy Durante and Garry Moore provided the fun on the comedy show sponsored by Camel cigarettes. Music was supplied by Georgia Gibbs and Jeri Sullivan singing with the Roy Bargy Orchestra. Howard Petrie was the announcer (30 min., 1944).

5844 (The) Comedy of Errors. Jack Bailey hosted the quiz on which contestants attempted to identify errors they spotted in various skits. Fort Pearson was the announcer. Eddie Dursteder provided organ interludes (25 min., Saturday, 7:30–7:55 P.M., MBS, 1950).

5845 (The) Comedy Theater with Harold Lloyd. Movie comedian Lloyd starred on his comedy program (30 min., Sunday, 10:30–11:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1945).

5846 Comer, Carol. COM-HE (WABJ, Adrian, MI, 1956).

5847 Comer, Connie. COM-HF (KBCH, Ocean Lake, OR, 1956).

5848 Comer, Sybil. Soprano (KYW, Chicago, IL, 1924).

5849 Comfort, Roy. Leader (Roy Comfort Orchestra and Roy Comfort's Ensemble, WIP, Philadelphia, PA, 1935).

5850 Comfort's Orchestra. New York jazz band (WGBS, New York, NY, 1925).

5851 Comic Strip of the Air. The comedy sketch was performed by Cecil and Sally, who were not otherwise identified (KUOA, Fayetteville, AR, 1933).

5852 (The) Comic Weekly Man. Hearst newspapers sponsored the transcribed quarter-hour program. An unidentified actor as the Comic Weekly Man read the Sunday comics to a small child ("little honey"). As the narrator, he described the action in the comic strip, but one or two actors delivered most of the comic strip character's lines. Comic strips including Prince Valiant, Hopalong Cassidy, Donald Duck, Dagwood and Blondie and Roy Rogers were read each week. The program opened and closed with a male voice singing, "I'm the Comic Weekly Man—the Jolly Comic Weekly Man" (Transcribed, Many Stations, 1940s and 1950s).

5853 Comin, (Senorita) Julita. Spanish prima donna (WGMS, 1928).

5854 Comly, Sam. Movie reviewer (Sam Comly's Movie Chats, WGBS, New York, NY, 1924).

5855 Commencement Program, University of Vermont. The historic broadcast took place June 16, 1922. It was unique in that a receiving set was installed on the steamer Ticonderoga during an alumni boat ride, in order that the passengers could hear the ceremonies that were taking place on the University of Vermont campus (WCAS, Burlington, VT, 1922).

5856 Commercials. In 1923, WEAJ (New York, NY) announced they would broadcast advertisements at the rate of $100 for ten minutes or $10 per minute. Their first ten-minute commercial was for the Queensborough Realty Corporation attempting to sell units of Long Island's Jefferson Heights Development. At the same time, the station offered a music program sponsored by the Browning King Clothing Company featuring Anna Byrne conducting the Browning King Orchestra. The only commercial announcement on the program was: "You are listening to an hour of dance music by the Browning King Orchestra through the courtesy of Browning King and Company of New York City." Not too many years later the pattern was established of a three-minute commercial every 15 minutes or six minutes an hour.

The sale of commercial time established a precedent that allowed stations to use the best possible entertainers on their broadcasts. In addition, it allowed broadcasters sufficient funds to increase their educational offerings and coverage of public affairs. Advertising made great strides, adding such sales gimmicks as clever slogans and, most entertaining of all, the singing commercial. A few examples of familiar commercial slogans used were:

LS—MFT. Lucky Strikes means fine tobacco.

Smoke Chesterfields. They satisfy.

- Use Ipana for the Smile of Beauty and Sal Hepatica [a laxative] for the Smile of Health. One of the most famous singing commercials was the Pepsi-Cola jingle:
- Pepsi-Cola hits the spot,
Twelve full ounces, that's a lot.
Twice as much for a nickel, too.
Pepsi-Cola is the drink for you.
- This jingle, one of radio's earliest singing commercial, was first broadcast in 1939. Written by Austin Herbert Croon, it was sung by the Tune Twisters vocal trio, consisting of Gene Lanham, Andy Love and Bob Walker.
- 5857 Commerford's Serenaders Orchestra. Local radio band (WHN, New York, NY, 1923).
- 5858 Community Sing (aka The Gillette Community Sing). At times the community sing originated from two different locations: Milton Berle and Wendell Hall conducted the New York portion while Billy Jones and Ernie Hare broadcast from Philadelphia. Announcer Paul Douglas frequently used a portable microphone to walk out into the audience and catch their singing. In reviewing the program, Variety shrewdly pointed out the old show business wisdom, "The ideal act is one in which the audience entertains itself." That was precisely the basis of this program (45 min., 9:00-9:45 P.M., Sunday, CBS, 1936).
- 5859 Community Synagogue of the Air. Each Friday at Sunday, Rabbi Mayer Winkler conducted services assisted by Cantor Paul Lambert and a Hebrew choir (KNX, Los Angeles, CA, 1931).
- 5860 Commuters. Emery Deutsch conducted the orchestra on the music show (15 min., Monday through Saturday, 9:00-9:15 A.M., CBS, 1940s).
- 5861 Como Roof Gardens Orchestra. Club orchestra (KTHS, Hot Springs National Park, AR, 1926).
- 5862 Companion. ABC in cooperation with Woman's Home Companion magazine developed the unusual daytime serial. The program dramatized stories based on the cases of counselor Dr. David R. Mace, who wrote a column for the magazine. Each week a new case from Dr. Mace's files was dramatized. Lon Clark, Martha Greenhouse and Warren Parker were in the cast. Virginia Travers and Hetta Ripley were the writers and Drexel Hines the director (15 min., Monday through Friday, 11:15-11:30 A.M., 1954).
- 5863 Co. C., 121st Engineers, National Guard Band. Military dance orchestra (WCAP, Washington, DC, 1926).
- 5864 (The) Complete Sayings of Jesus. The Agency for Practical Christianity sponsored the transcribed series of five-minute broadcasts (WNAX, Yankton, ND; KRNT, Des Moines, IA; WMT, Cedar Rapids, IA; KMJ, Fresno, CA; WWVA, Wheeling, WV; WBT, Charlotte, NC; and KFBK, Sacramento, CA, 1942).
- 5865 (The) Compinsky Trio. Instr. mus. prg. (WWVA, Wheeling, WV, 1935).
- 5866 Compton, George C. Newscaster (WJPS, Evansville, IN, 1948).
- 5867 Compton, Homer. Tenor (KFAB, Lincoln, NE, 1928).
- 5868 Compton, Ranulf C. Newscaster (WELL, New Haven, CT, 1939).
- 5869 Compton, Walter. News analyst (WOL, Washington, DC, 1937-1941; MBS, 1942-1944).
- 5870 Comstock, Evelyn. Pianist (KFOB, Burlingame, CA, 1926).
- 5871 Comstock, Uncle Frank. Violinist Comstock was an "old-time" country music radio pioneer on radio (KFNE, Shenandoah, IA, 1925).

Carlton Coon ("Coonie") was born Feb. 5, 1894 in Rochester, Minnesota. Before serving in the Army during World War I, he led bands in and around Kansas City. His friend and co-director of the band, Joe Sanders ("The Old Left Hander") was a promising amateur baseball pitcher. During World War I, Sergeant Sanders formed a band called the Camp Bowie Jazz Hounds. After the war he became friends with Coon, and together they formed the Coon-Sanders Novelty Orchestra that included Clyde Hendrick, t.; Carl Nordberg, tb; Harold Thiell and Hal McLain, sax-dr.; Bob Norfleet, bj.; Joe Sanders, p.-vcl. and Carlton Coon, d.-vcl.

The band began broadcasting on December 5, 1922, from the Plantation Grill in Kansas City's Hotel Muehlebach. The band was heard over the entire North American continent and became the first one to broadcast nightly. They became the "Nighthawks" because their broadcast started at midnight. The Kansas City Star on December 4, 1923 wrote: "With more than 1,500 telegrams of congratulation from every state in the Union and Mexico, the WOAF Nighthawks celebrated their first birthday last night, signing off at two o'clock in the morning."

The band began broadcasting on WGN from Chicago's Blackhawk Restaurant in 1923. Their theme was "Nighthawk Blues" composed by Joe Sanders. In 1925, under the aegis of MCA, their booking agency, the band began to tour. They played in 86 cities in four months during the summer of 1927. By the end of 1927, the band was broadcasting several nights each week from the Blackhawk Restaurant. When Florsheim shoes began to sponsor the orchestra's broadcasts, their sponsorship raised the weekly salary per musician from $150 to $200. Musicians in the band at this time included: Carlton Coon, ldr. and vcls.; Joe Sanders, p. and vcls.; Joe Richolson and Bob Pope, t.; Rex Downing, tb; Harold Thiell and John Thiell, cl. and as.; Floyd Estep, cl. and ts.; Elmer Krebs, tba.; and Bill Haid, bj. The band performed on the Maytag Frolic Radio Program, using the theme "Nighthawk Blues," in 1929. A later program also attracted many listeners (Coon-Sanders Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WEA, New York, NY, 1931). After the death of Carlton Coon, Joe Sanders led the band for the next two decades.

6051 Cooper, J. Van Cleft. Pianist Cooper appeared on the Musical Travelog program (WRNY, New York, NY, 1925).

6052 Cooper, Jack Leroy. Black DJ (All Negro Hour, WSBC, Chicago, IL, 1929; Rug Cutters Special and Search for Missing Persons, Chicago radio, 1940s-1960s; Jivin' with Jack Cooper, WAAF, Chicago, IL, 1947; Rug Cutters Special, WSBC, Chicago, IL, 1948). Although he despised the term DJ, Cooper and fellow DJ, Al Benson, were chiefly responsible for Chicago's reputation as the "Capital of Black Radio" (See also Benson, Al). Cooper was also an announcer, program host, newscaster and broadcast executive, but above all he was an innovative pioneer broadcaster.

Cooper was the first Black DJ with a commercially sponsored program. He began his radio career in Washington, DC, in the 1920s on station WCAP, where he appeared as a straight man on a comedy show. In 1929, he moved on to Chicago and bought time on WSBC, an ethnic radio station, where he broadcast variety shows featuring Black talent. One of Cooper's best remembered shows was his All Negro Hour broadcast regularly in 1929. Cooper first went on the air in Chicago on November 23, 1929 with his 15-minute All Negro Hour that was eventually expanded to 30 minutes before finally being broadcast for a full hour in 1935. Broadcasting magazine (November 15, 1935, p. 39) said that Cooper was thought to be the only Negro announcer on commercial radio in the United States in 1935. Four years later, Cooper was broadcasting 5½ hours of black-oriented programming.

His DJ career apparently began in 1931, when a union pianist was not allowed to play on one of Cooper's non-union programs. At that point, he began playing records and discussing the music. His Rug Cutters Special made him one of radio's first DJs, a reputation that did not please him. Although he did not want to be known as a DJ, he began to play rhythm and blues recordings in 1947. Another of his contributions to Chicago radio was his promotion of religious broadcasting and gospel music. On one of his religious programs he introduced the great gospel singer, Mahalia Jackson.

He bought time from six stations and sold numerous advertising spots on all his shows. Cooper was not only a creative broadcaster, but also a highly successful businessman. His many contributions include his broadcasts of Negro League baseball games and those describing missing persons that helped locate more than 20,000 persons in 12 years. He is usually credited as both pioneering in the DJ format and providing news and sports coverage that was targeted specially for Black radio audiences.

6190 Cogle, Bob. Pianist (WDAP, Chicago, IL, 1923).

6191 Coughlin, (Father) Charles E. Father Charles E. Coughlin, the famous radio priest made his first appearance on station WJR (Detroit, MI), broadcasting from his Shrine of the Little Flower in Royal Oak, Michigan, on October 17, 1926. When the station owner of KWK (St. Louis, MO) in 1934 asked his listeners if they wanted to hear Father Coughlin, who at that time found himself in the midst of a controversy caused by his broadcasts, KWK listeners responded dramatically in favor of Coughlin. They responded strongly in the affirmative: YES—21,485, NO—129.

Later that year when Alfred E. Smith criticized the New Deal by talking about "baloney dollars," Coughlin criticized him for his attacks on FDR. In 1934, Coughlin called for a managed and flexible currency that would expand to "bring prices and values in line." It appears that he was appeasing Roosevelt by advancing this inflationary policy of currency expansion. His approach, however, soon changed and he began attacking FDR's policies. Father Coughlin frequently ventured into news analysis and social commentary on his later programs (MBS, 1937). He combined religious talks with social criticism, and there is strong evidence of radical anti-Semitic propaganda in his broadcasts. See also Charlatans, Demagogues and Politicians.

6199 Counce, Lois. COM-HE (WCMA, Corinth, MS, 1956-1957).

6200 Count Basie. Leader (Count Basie Orchestra, an excellent jazz band, NBC and CBS, 1937-1948).

6201 (The) Count of Monte Cristo. Based on the characters created by Alexander Dumas. The entertaining, swashbuckling dramatic series told the story of Edmond Dantes and his servant Rene, who fought injustice and evil. Carleton Young played the title role assisted by Anne Stone and Parley Baer. The weekly program probably was broadcast by transcription (MBS, Chicago, IL, 1946). A 1949 version of the show was written by Anthony Ellis and produced and directed by Jaime Del Valle. Carleton Young once again played the title role. Other cast members in this format were Parley Baer, Virginia Gregg, Jay Novello, Howard McNear, John Dehner and Victor Redman. Charles Arlington and Dick Wynn were the announcers. Music was supplied by Dean Fossler's orchestra (30 min., Sunday, 9:00-9:30 P.M., MBS, 1949). A much earlier version was broadcast daily in 1933 featuring Betty Webb on such stations as WOR (Newark, NJ), WBBM (Chicago, IL), and KNX (Los Angeles, CA).

6202 Counterspy (aka David Harding, Counterspy). First heard in 1942 on the ABC network. Counterspy was the creation of Phillips H. Lord, who also produced the program. The adventure series told the story of David Harding, a specialist in counter espionage. Harding and his assistant were played by Don MacLaughlin and Mandel Kramer. They battled first against Nazis and Japanese agents during World War II and, later, against Communists when the war ended. The program's writers included: Edward J. Adamson, Arva Everitt, Morton Friedman, Milton J. Kramer, Phillips H. Lord, Peggy Lou Mayer, John Mole, Stanley Niss, John Roeburt, Emile C. Tepperman, Palmer Thompson, Jacqueline W. Palmer and Jacqueline W. Trey. The directors were: Leonard Bass, Marx Loeb, Victor Seydel, Robert Steen and Bill Sweets. Lionel Rico, Bob Shepherd and Roger Krupp were the announcers.

6203 Countess Olga Medlologo Albani. George Hicks was the announcer on the music program featuring the lovely mezzo-soprano (15 min., Sunday, 6:15-6:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1930).

6204 (The) Country Church. Rev. W.B. Hogg conducted the popular religious program (30 min., Thursday, 11:30-12:00 noon, CBS, 1935). See also The Country Church of Hollywood.

6205 (The) Country Church of Hollywood. The transcribed religious program was broadcast by numerous stations in the 1930s. Sponsored by the May Company Footwear Department, the serial was broadcast before a live audience with the cast members dressed in the authentic costumes of the period. Former Army Chaplain Reverend W.B. Hogg played the role of old time circuit parson Joseph Hopkins, the central character in the series (Transcribed, Weekly, Various Stations, 1933). The program later appeared on the CBS network. See also The Country Church.

6206 (The) Country Club. Richfield Oil Company sponsored the entertaining variety program (30 min., Weekly, 10:00-10:30 P.M., CBS, 1933). This was the same program format broadcast as The Richfield Country Club on NBC (30 min., Weekly, 10:30-11:00 P.M. and CBS, 1933). See also The Richfield Country Club.

6207 Country Club Arcadians Orchestra. The club dance band was led by Bill Schaeffer (WAPI, 1929).

6208 Country Journal. Burl Ives was the featured singer on the music show (15 min., Saturday, 9:30-9:45 A.M., CBS, 1945).

6209 Country Store. A large studio audience paid a quarter each to attend the weekly country and western music broadcast (KTHS, Hot Springs, AR, 1937).

6210 Country-Western (CW) Music on Radio. Country and western music for many persons was, and too often still is, looked down upon. Many consider it unsophisticated and uncultured to listen to and enjoy "hillbilly" music. Even before the public's general recognition that CW music was a genuine form of expression in American culture, there already was an expansion of its popularity on American radio during the late 1930s and early 1940s. But this faded as did those later cycles of public popularity for calypso and folk music.

Despite the popularity of CW today, it really was there from radio's earliest days for a large number of avid listeners. A large audience enjoyed the Grand Ole Opera from Nashville's WSM and Chicago's WLS production of the National Barn Dance. Then, too, there were various other "barn dances" and "old fashion fiddling” programs broadcast from other parts of the country. Several CW singing stars in the 1930s reached national prominence by means of their network broadcasts. One example is Bradley Kincaid, one of the most admired CW singers of the period, who, incidentally despised being called a “hillbilly,” unlike Uncle Dave Macon, who prided himself on being called exactly that. By their radio broadcasts and records Jimmie Rodgers and a young Gene Autry reached a large audience with their yodeling skills and often tragic story songs. Carson Robison, a composer-performer who brought much fun to CW music, sometimes teamed with Vernon Dahlhart, another tremendously popular recording star, to entertain listeners.

Not all CW music was “old fashioned.” There were also “sophisticated hillbillies and cowboys,” such as the Zeke Manners Gang, an outgrowth of the Beverly Hillbillies group; Louise Massey and the Westerners; and the Hank Keene gang. Eventually, the music broadcast by the National Barn Dance became more sophisticated, often featuring the popular songs of the day along with old favorites smoothly performed.

During the pre-World War II years, the only network CW music shows were the National Barn Dance, the Grand Ole Opry and Gene Autry’s Melody Ranch (Pugh, 1997). Several individual stations were “hotbeds of country music” with a large amount of local programming devoted to the music and its performers. These were WSB (Atlanta, GA); WBT (Charlotte, NC); KMOX (St. Louis, MO); W/WVA (Wheeling, WV); WHO (Des Moines, IA); WLW (Cincinnati, OH); KVOO (Tulsa, OK); KWKH (Shreveport, LA); WNOX (Knoxville, TN); WROL (Knoxville, TN); WHAS (Louisville, KY); WCKY (Covington, KY); and the collection of Mexican border stations (Pugh, 1997).

One steadfast group, almost invariably the largest and most loyal listeners to CW radio programs, was the farmers and their families, who listened early in the morning and at lunch time. Country-western music programs were presented live to fit the work schedules of these hard working farm workers. Not only large metropolitan stations such as Chicago’s WLS met the farmers’ needs and wishes, but hundreds of smaller stations throughout the country did the same. Singers and musicians worked the circuit of these stations that supplied the bulk of CW music for their rural listeners. As Pugh (1997) suggests country-western artists would work these local stations until they had “milked” one territory, before moving on to another. The pattern was a familiar one that can be recognized in the career of most CW artists of the time. It was a rarity for an artist or group to remain at one station for many years.

Although CW music during the 1930s and 1940s was often looked down upon by cultural snobs as “hillbilly,” urban audiences soon heard it and enjoyed it. It remained for perceptive critics such as Gilbert Seldes to point out the importance of American popular arts, and this music certainly was an important part of American life. Although the first influential CW barn dance programs are generally thought to be the National Barn Dance and the Grand Ole Opry, probably the first radio barn dance was broadcast by WBAP (San Antonio, TX) beginning on January 4, 1922. The station at that time presented a 90-minute program of square dance music. Confederate veteran and old-time fiddler Captain J.M. Bonner directed the program. In addition to fiddler Bonner, music was also supplied by Fred Wagner’s Hilo Five Hawaiian orchestra. Another group that later appeared on the WBAP program was the Peacock Fiddle Band of Cleburne, Texas. The program was broadcast irregularly two or three times a month before it became a regularly scheduled Friday night feature in 1929.

The audience for CW music rapidly grew because of local programs. By 1949, there were at least 650 stations broadcasting live CW music talent (Malone, 1985, p. 199) The listening audience also heard it on such programs in the 1930s and 1940s as the Wheeling Jamboree (Wheeling, WV, 1933); the Crazy Barn Dance (WBT, Charlotte, NC, 1934); the Old Fashioned Barn Dance (KMOX, St. Louis, MO, 1930); the Boone County Jamboree—which later became the Midwestern Hayride (WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1936); the Renfro Valley Barn Dance (WHAS, Louisville, KY, 1937); the Saddle Mountain Round-Up (KVOO, Tulsa, OK, 1940s); the Old Dominion Barn Dance (WRVA, Richmond, VA, 1938); the WSB Barn Dance (WSB, Atlanta, GA, 1940); the KWKH Roundup (Shreveport, LA, 1939); the Iowa Barn Dance (WHO, Des Moines, IA, 1930s); the Saturday Night Shindig (WFAA, Dallas, TX, 1932); the Big D Jamboree (KRID, Dallas, TX, 1940s–1950s); and the Louisiana Hayride (KWKH, Shreveport, LA, 1948). The Louisiana Hayride was often known as “The Cradle of the Stars.” Some of the stars that first gained national prominence by appearing on the program were Hank Williams, Slim Whitman, Jim Reeves, Kitty Wells, Faron Young and Johnny and Jack (Johnny Wright and Jack Anglin).

Various trends in CW music can be identified. For example, there were the “cowboy singers,” such as Jules Verne Allen, Gene Autry and Carl T. Sprague. Another was the “western swing movement” exemplified by the music of Milton Brown and Bob Wills. The popularity of the music increases as the years pass. That can best be seen by the growth in country music stations that grew from 1,116 in 1975 to 2,402 in the late 1980s.

6211 (The) Couple Next Door. The funny serial drama started as a local radio comedy sketch on WGN (Chicago, IL), where it was produced by Frank and Anne Hummert. Olan Soule, Eleanor Harriot and Jack Brinkley appeared in the original version that was sponsored by the Holland Furnace Company (15 min., Monday, 8:15–8:30 P.M., WGN, Chicago, IL, 1935). When the program was moved to New York and broadcast on MBS in 1937, Lillian Gish and Harold Vermilyca played the leading roles. A still later version was broadcast from 1957 to 1960 with Peg Lynch and Alan Bunce in the title roles.

6212 Coupee, Al. Sports caster (KRNT, Des Moines, IA, 1949–1953).

6213 Courant Comics. Uncle Ed, not otherwise identified, read the Sunday comics from the Hartford Courant newspaper (25 min., Sunday, 12:35–1:00 P.M., WCCC, Hartford, CT, 1948).

6214 Courchene, (Mme.) Calita Dupont. Pianist and dramatic reader (WBJ, 1923).

6215 Coursey, Alex “Alec.” Newscaster (WQDM, St. Albans, VT, 1938–1939).

6216 Court, Ted. DJ (Morning Digest, WSLs, Roanoke, VA, 1955).

6217 (The) Court of Human Relations. Simulated court proceedings were dramatized on which the attempt was made to adjudicate thorny problems of human relationships. Sponsored by True Story magazine, the program was directed mainly toward women. Percy Hemus played the Judge of the court assisted by such famous actors as Porter Hall, Allyn Joslyn and Brian Donlevy who, at one time or another, played the role of the Court Clerk. It has been said that Van Heflin made his first radio appearance on the Court of Human Relations (Buxton and Owen, 1973, p. 63). The program was first broadcast in 1933 (30 min., Friday, 7:30–8:00 P.M., CBS, 1935).

6218 (The) Court of Missing Heirs. Each week the program dramatized stories of interesting persons who had died without leaving a will. The program attempted to find the missing heirs to these unclaimed fortunes. They once claimed that they had helped missing heirs collect almost a million dollars previously unclaimed. The cast included: Dorothy Day, Jim Goss, Elizabeth Heller, Burr Lee, Tom Shirley and Dick Wells. Music was performed by the orchestra of Peter A. Cavallo, Jr. Fritz Blocki was the producer (30 min., CBS, 1937). A similar program, Are You a Missing Heir? was carried by ABC in 1946.

6241 Cowan, Steve. Newscaster (KGKL, San Angelo, TX, 1941).

6242 Cowan, Thomas "Tommy." When he was assigned by Westinghouse Electric Company as Chief Announcer at the newly established WJZ (New York, NY), Cowan became the first radio announcer in the greater New York area. He inaugurated the station's first broadcast with the announcement, "This is WJZ, WJZ, WJZ, the radio telephone station located in Newark, New Jersey. This is announcer Cowan, Newark." Soon he began to identify himself as "ACN."

In the fall of 1921, WJZ decided to broadcast the World Series between the Yankees and Giants of New York, using the same technique Major Andrew White had used previously to broadcast the Dempsey-Carpentier heavy weight championship boxing bout. Unable to use a remote line from either baseball parks, they decided to have Sandy Hunt sit in a box at the Polo Grounds and telephone a play-by-play account back to Cowan at the WJZ studio. Cowan's exciting delivery of the play-by-play brought an enthusiastic response from his listeners. Cowan also worked as the station's program director. In this role, he was responsible for bringing a great variety of talented performers into the WJZ studios to broadcast. Cowan was hired away from WJZ in 1924 and persuaded to join the WNYC announcing staff (New York, NY). See also deLeath, Vaughn.

6243 Cowanova, Florence. Cowanova was an internationally famous ballet dancer who performed "novelty clog dances" on radio (WDAR, Philadelphia, PA, 1924).

6246 Cowbell Four and the Village Orchestra. Vocal quartet and orchestra (WGY, Schenectady, NY, 1924).

6247 (The) Cowboy Band. CW mus. prg. (MBS, 1939).

6248 (The) Cowboy Caravan. Hosmer Motor Sales sponsored the program of cowboy songs and music. John E. Reilly was the program announcer. Oklahoma Buck Nation was featured (15 min., Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, 8:15-8:30 P.M., WMEX, Boston, MA, 1937).

6249 Cowboy Jamboree. CW mus. prg., KUOA, Siloam Springs, AR, 1939).

6250 Cowboy Jamboree. Bristol-Myers sponsored the local western music program that originated from Kansas City, MO. The talented cast included Frank Wiziard, Tiny Tillman, Jimmy Dallas, Cora Rice, Charley Stewart, Mickey Cottill, the Nash Sisters, Goo Goo and Lenny, and Hoby Shepp with the Cow Town Wranglers (60 min., Saturday, 8:30-9:30 P.M., KMBC, Kansas City, MO, 1955).

6251 Cowboy Jim. Unidentified CW singer (vcl. mus. prg., WORK, York, PA, 1936).

6252 Cowboy Loye. CW singer (vcl. mus. prg., WWVA, Wheeling, WV, 1933-1934; WMMN, Fairmont, WV, 1934-1938). Cowboy

Loye D. Pack was a great listener favorite. He first appeared on WWVA November 11, 1933. When his son was born in 1934, he asked his listeners to help name him. After six days, the Cowboy had received 11,235 names that listeners suggested, an indication of the loyalty listeners felt for their local radio favorites.

6253 Cowboy Loye and the Blue Bonnet Troupe. CW mus. prg. (WMMN, Fairmont, WV, 1938).

6254 Cowboy Tim's Roundup. The "wild west" variety show began as Tom Keene's Roundup. Later, the format was changed with George Martin in the title role performing dramatic sketches. Comedian Doug McTague also appeared along with Joe Shonatona, who played "Snookum" for comedy relief. When McTague returned to Canada, Tex Ritter replaced him and the show became The Lone Star Cowboy, later once again to be renamed Cowboy Tom (15 min., Monday through Friday, WHN, New York, NY, 1933).

6255 Cowboy Tom (aka Cowboy Tom's Roundup). An early western drama series with Tex Ritter and "Chief" Shonatona telling interesting western stories for children. The sponsor was Remington-Rand Company (15 min., Tuesday, 5:45-6:00 P.M., CBS, 1933).

6384 Crime and Peter Chambers. Dane Clark starred on the slow moving transcribed crime drama, Peter Chambers, played by Clark, was a private investigator, who frequently became embroiled in various adventures when asked for help by some beautiful female client. Chambers was frequently assisted by Lt. Louie Parker, "a straight cop and a good friend." Elaine Ross and Leon Janney were also in the cast. The date of the program's last broadcast was September 7, 1954 (30 min., Weekly, NBC, 1954).

6385 Crime Classics. The sustaining summer replacement for Suspense was written by Morton Fine and David Friedkin. Lou Merrill, playing the role of a "connoisseur of crime," narrated these true crime story dramatizations. The cast members included: Herb Butterfield, Mary Croft, Sam Edwards, Georgia Ellis, Bill Johnstone, Tudor Owen and Ben Wright. Elliott Lewis produced and directed. The program opened with the announcement: "Crime Classics, a new series of transcribed crime stories from the records and newspapers of every land — from every time. Your host each week is Thomas Hyland, connoisseur of crime, student of violence and teller of murders." Hyland then said: "Good Evening. This is Crime Classics. I am Thomas Hyland with another true story of crime. Listen." Music was provided by Bernard Hermann. Bob Lamont was the announcer (30 min., Monday, 8:00–8:30 P.M., CBS, 1953–1954).

6386 Crime Doctor. Psychiatrist Dr. Benjamin Ordway solved many difficult cases on the dramatic crime series. Ordway was an amnesiac who became a psychiatrist and criminologist. He eventually learned that he previously — unknown to him — had been a criminal gang leader. Ordway overcame his problems, made suitable amends and went ahead to combat crime. John McIntire created the title role in the original 1940 version. In the several versions broadcast later, Ordway was played by Ray Collins, House Jameson, Hugh Marlowe and Everett Sloane. Other cast members included Edith Arnold, Edgar Stehli, Walter Vaughn and Walter Graeza. Max Marcin was the program's writer and Paul Monroe the director (CBS, 1940–1947).

6387 Crime Does Not Pay. Ira Marion wrote and Max Loeb directed the fast-paced transcribed dramatic program. Donald Buka was the featured actor. After running for several years as a local program (WMGM, New York, NY), it ran on MBS during the 1952 season. The cast included Joseph Wiseman, Richard Hart, Margo, Frank Albertson, Horace McMahon, John Loder, Charles Corbin, Donald Curtis, Mary Wicks, Ward Wilson, Ralph Forbes, Ian Kiehl, Philip Reed, Diana Barrymore, John Sheridan, Ralph Meeker, Una O'Connor and Robert Lowery (30 min., Monday, 7:30–8:00 P.M., WMGM, New York, NY, 1950; MBS, 1952).

6388 (The) Crime Files of Flamond. The program ran for five years on WGN (Chicago, IL) with Myron (Mike) Wallace as Flamond and Patricia Dunlap as Sandra, his assistant in criminal investigation. Flamond's voluminous files of the crimes he had solved supposedly served as the basis for these programs. Flamond was introduced as the "most unusual detective in history — a famous psychoanalyst and personality analyst." When the program returned to the air as a network show, the title role of private investigator Flamond was played by Everett Clarke. In the cast with him were: Muriel Bremner, Maurice Copeland, Harry Elders and Ben Younger. Bob Cunningham was the announcer. George Anderson wrote, W.B. Lewis produced and Myron Golden directed the program (30 min., Wednesday, 8:00–8:30 p.m., MBS, 1953).

6389 Crime Letter from Dan Dodge. Myron McCormick played the title role on the crime drama that used flashbacks to tell the story. Toni Home Permanents sponsored the show on which private investigator Dan Dodge always began by dictating a letter describing one of his recent cases to his secretary, who was played by Shirley Eggleston. Harold Swanton wrote the program that was directed by Charles Irving and Donald Painter (30 min., Friday, 8:00–8:30 P.M., ABC, 1952).

He also was a tenor on the Champion Sparklers program sponsored by Champion Spark Plugs (WJZ, New York, NY, 1927). Cross, who played the Ampico organ, frequently sang the song his listeners requested of him most, "I tittle Mother of Mine." In 1929, Cross announced such NBC network programs as The Jeddo Highlanders, The Roxy Symphony Concert, Old Man Sunshine, The Cathedral Hour, The Syl- vania Foresters, Philco Theatre Memories, Salon Singers and The Old Company Singalongue.

When he first began his radio career, Cross was a talented singer. He had completed the Music Supervisor's course at the Damrosch Institute of Musical Art and toured for several seasons with the Paulist Choristers, covering the entire eastern United States. After touring, Cross worked extensively on church and concert work. He was a soloist at the First Presbyterian Church and a member of the Brooklyn Progressive Synagogue's quartet. His first radio appearance as a vocal soloist was on September 15, 1921.

After joining WJZ on March 13, 1922, as "second announcer," Cross divided his time between singing and announcing before deciding to devote his entire time to announcing. Cross was particularly famous for the announcing and narration duties he performed for many years on Texaco's Metropolitan Opera broadcasts. After the Metropolitan Opera season was over in 1949, Cross acted as DJ and opera recording critic-teacher on his Milton Cross Opera Album program. 6505 (The) Cuckoo Hour. Raymond Knight, a lawyer, actor and playwright, was asked by NBC network executive Bertha Brainard to write a 30-minute comedy show. Knight, who had been a student at Harvard in George Pierce Baker's famous 47 Workshop, was up to the task. The Cuckoo Hour program was the result. The show was considered to be one of the finest satires on radio. Any and all topics and persons were suitable targets for Knight. An example of the show's humor follows:

KNIGHT: Toomey is the favorite soft drink of China. And the theme song on the Toomey Radio Program is heard on all the radios of the country. We now present Miss Lotus Flower singing the Toomey theme song.

LOTUS FLOWER (singing): Drink Toomey only with thine eyes.

The show was first broadcast January 1, 1930. Ambrose J. Weems, played by Knight, was the show's chief character. As manager of radio station KUKU, Weems was always at the center of the program's zany burlesque skits. Mrs. Pennyfeather, a parody of radio's home economists, appeared regularly in these skits. One of her suggestions for baby care was that a toupee should be placed on the baby's head to ward off colds and other upper respiratory illnesses. Alwyn E.W. Bach was the announcer (30 min., Wednesday, 9:30–10:00 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1930). After The Cuckoo Hour went off the air in 1937, Knight became a successful director and network executive at NBC.

- 6640 Czechoslovakian Band. Local ethnic band (WEBJ, New York, NY, 1925).
- 6641 Czuwara, William. Newscaster (WEDC, Chicago, IL, 1944).
- 6642 D'Accardo, Gene. Newscaster (KTRB, Modesto, CA, 1940, 1946; Top Story, KTRB, 1948). Sportscaster (KTRB, 1947; KMOD, Modesto, CA, 1953).
- 6643 Daboul, Joe. DJ (Melody Time, WIRY, Plattsburg, NY, 1949; WMAS, Springfield, MA, 1960). Sportscaster (Sports Hi-Lights, WIRY, 1951).
- 6644 Da Costa, Blanche. Soprano (KOA, Denver, CO, 1929).
- 6645 Dacre, George. DJ (George's Orgy, WFNC, Fayetteville, NC, 1948).
- 6646 Dad Differ. Clarence B. Mooney, a Kansas City newspaperman, wrote the dramatic serial and played the title role. Lee Roberts and Lillian Faust played his daughters, who listened to his homey advice and philosophy. The announcer was Larry Proctor (15 min., Wednesday, 6:45–7:00 P.M., CST, KCMO, Kansas City, MO, 1938).
- 6647 Daddy and Rollo. Author J.P. McAvoy wrote the interesting story about a father and his son. Nick Dawson and 11-year-old Donald Hughes played father and son on the literate program sponsored by La Palina Cigars (15 min., Tuesday-Wednesday-Thursday, 7:45–8:00 P.M., CBS, 1931). A later version featuring Craig McDonnell and George Ward returned to the air on MBS in 1942 with Frank Knight as the announcer.
- 6648 Daddy Winkum. Daddy told bedtime stories for children (KDKA, Pittsburgh, PA, 1924).
- 6649 Dady, Ray E. Newscaster (KWK, Sr. Louis, MO, 1936–1942, 1945–1946).

- 6650 Daehler, Polly. COM-HE (WPAY, Portsmouth, OH, 1956-1957).
- 6651 Daffron, Polly. Newscaster (WRNL, Richmond, VA, 1946).
- 6652 Daffy and Gloomy. Blackface comedy team (KTNT, Muscatine, IA, 1928).

- 6654 Dagenais, Rene. Organist and leader (Rene Dagenais and the South Capitol Theater Orchestra, WBZ, Springfield, MA, 1926).
- 6655 Dagg, William. Sportscaster (WELL, Battle Creek, MI, 1955).
- 6656 Daggett, Uncle John. Uncle John Daggett was an announcer known as the "King of Hosts." He interviewed such stars and personalities as Mary Garden, Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford (KHJ, Los Angeles, CA, 1925). In 1922, he was the conductor of Children's Hour, a popular children's program on which he told children's stories. The program also contained a quiz feature, certainly one of the first on radio. Daggett's skill as announcer was demonstrated after the sudden death of President Warren G. Harding. Thirty minutes after the Associated Press bulletin reported President Harding's death on August 2, 1923, Daggett went on the air with an extemporaneous twenty-minute speech, while pianist Claire Forbes Crane provided background music (KHJ, Los Angeles, CA, 1922-1926). See also The Children's Hour and Uncle John (Daggett).
- 6657 DaGrossa, John "Ox." Sportscaster (Speaking of Sports, WCAU, Philadelphia, PA, 1950-1951).
- 6658 Dahl, Arnold. Tenor (WCCO, Minneapolis-St. Paul, MN, 1928).
- 6659 Dahl, Don. Sportscaster (KDAL, Duluth, MN, 1948-1951). DJ (Open House, KDAL, 1952-1953; On the Sidelines, KDAL, 1954).
- 6660 Dahl, Jon. DJ (Jon's Juke Box, WDMJ, Marquette, MI, 1948).
- 6661 Dahlberg, Jerry. DJ (Gotta Match, KROX, Crookston, MN, 1948). Sportscaster (Accent on Local Sports, KROX, 1948; Sports Page of the Air, KROX, 1949-1960).
- 6662 Dahlgren, Babe. Former Yankee baseball star Dahlgren worked as a sportscaster on his Sports Panorama program (KWKW, Pasadena, CA, 1954).
- 6663 Dahlhart, Vernon (Marion Try Slaughter). Dahlhart was a RCA recording artist, whose early training as a concert singer helped make him become one of the most popular male singers of the 1920s. He picked his name from two west Texas towns. During his career it was said that he recorded under more than 100 different names (Palmer, 1994, p. 54). He specialized in songs of catastrophes and tragedies such as "The Death of Floyd Collins," "The Wreck of the Shenandoah," "Little Marian Parker," and "The Santa Barbara Earthquake" (WEAF, New York, NY, 1927-1928; KFON, Long Beach, CA, 1928). Dahlhart teamed with Carson Robison, a versatile singer-whistler-songwriter-composer from 1925 to 1928. Together they recorded and broadcast such songs as "The John T. Scopes Trail," "Golden Slippers," and "Lucky Lindy [Lindbergh]." The popular team broke up after performing together for some three years. Dahlhart also broadcast and recorded with CW singer, Adelyn Hood (Vernon Dahlhart and Adelyn Hood, CW vcl. mus. prg., WOR, Newark, NJ, 1934).
- 6664 Dahm, Frank. Sports announcer Dahm broadcast both football and baseball games (WGN, 1925-1928). Dahm, a veteran newsman from the Chicago Tribune, before coming to WGN, wrote the early scripts for Little Orphan Annie. He later moved to New York to write such daytime serials as City Desk, Pretty Kitty Kelly and The Sea Hound.
- 6665 Daiger, Fred. Newscaster (WAPI, Birmingham, AL, 1939). Sportscaster (WAPI, 1939; WSUN, St. Petersburg, FL, 1940; WXKW, Albany, NY, 1948).
- 6666 Dail, Ambert. Newscaster (Danville, VA, 1946-1947).
- 6667 Dailey, Bob. Newscaster (WTAM, Cleveland, OH, 1938-1939).
- 6668 Dailey, Frank. Leader (Frank Dailey Orchestra, WAAM, Newark, NJ, 1925; Frank Dailey Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., CBS, 1935; WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1939).
- 6669 Dailey, Hartwell. Newscaster (WLAW, Lawrence, MA, 1945).
- 6670 Dailey, Joe. Leader (Joe Dailey Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., CBS, 1934).
- 6671 Dailey Paskman Minstrels. One of the most memorable early radio minstrel shows was originated and produced by broadcast executive, Dailey Paskman (WGBS, 1928). Paskman was an innovative broadcast pioneer, who became enough of an authority on the minstrel show form of entertainment to collaborate with Sigund Spaeth and write an history of that entertainment form. See also Paskman, Dailey.
- 6672 Dailey, Paul. Newscaster (KOAM, Pittsburg, KS, 1945).
- 6673 Dailey, Tom. Sportscaster (WDOD, Chattanooga, TN, 1937; KVOO, Tulsa, OK, 1939; Sports Time with Falstaff, WOW, Omaha, NE, 1940-1945). DJ (KWK, St. Louis, MO, 1947; Recall It and Win, KWK, 1948; Recall It and Win It, WEW, St. Louis, MO, 1960).
- 6674 Daily, Dick. DJ (1240 Club, WFOY, St. Augustine, FL, 1947).
- 6675 (The) Daily Dozen. Joe Barnett conducted his early physical exercise program (WOR, Newark, NJ, 1922). This type of program became very popular in the early days of radio.
- 6676 Daily Health Drill. An early radio exercise program, the Daily Health Drill was conducted by Wiley Winsor (7:00-7:30 A.M. and 8:00-8:30 A.M., KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1925).
- 6677 Daily, John. Newscaster (John Daily, WKBW, Buffalo, NY, 1942).
- 6678 Dain, Roland "Rollie." Sportscaster (KWLC, Decorah, IA, 1942; KWLC, 1947; KAUS, Austin, MN, 1951-1953; KMMT, Austin, MN, 1954). Newscaster (Noon News, KWLC, 1947).
- 6679 Dakota Jamboree. CW mus. prg. (KCJB, Minot, ND, 1955).
- 6680 Dakota Roundup. CW mus. prg. (WNAX, Yankton, SD, 1939).
- 6681 Dale, Alan. DJ (WOAI, San Antonio, TX, 1960).
- 6682 Dale, Carlotta. Singer (Carlotta Dale, vcl. mus. prg., WCAU, Philadelphia, PA, 1934; NBC-Red, New York, NY, 1935).
- 6683 Dale, Curly. DJ (KFNF, Shenandoah, IA, 1955).
- 6684 Dale, Cyr. Baritone (KFWM, Oakland, CA, 1928).
- 6685 Dale, Dorothy. COM-HE (WBET, Brockton, MA, 1956).
- 6686 Dale, George. Newscaster (WJLS, Beckley, WV, 1939). Sportscaster (WJLS, 1939).
- 6687 Dale, Harold. Sportscaster (WGTC, Greenville, NC, 1940-1942; WABZ, Albemarle, NC, 1947). Newscaster (WGTC, 1941-1942).
- 6688 Dale, Kay. Singer and whistler (WBAL, Baltimore, MD, 1926).
- 6689 Dale, Marvin. Leader (Marvin Dale Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., MBS, 1940 and WBBM, Chicago, IL, 1942).
- 6690 Dale, Rex. DJ (Make Believe Ballroom, WCKY, Cincinnati, OH, 1948-1955).
- 6691 Dale, Stan. DJ (Dale's Guleb, WCOL, Columbus, OH, 1948).
- 6692 Dale, Stephanie. Singer (Stephanie Dale, vcl. mus. prg., WOR, Newark, NJ, 1936).
- 6693 Dale, Sylvano. Dale was billed as the "only tap dancer on the air in the west" (Sylvano Dale, NBC-Pacific Coast Network, 1930).
- 6694 Dale Carnegie. Carnegie, a best selling author well known for his How to Win Friends and Influence People book, told inspirational human interest stories about famous persons on his program. Music was supplied by Harold Sanford's orchestra (30 min., Weekly, 5:30-6:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1933). Carnegie later broadcast a series of dramatic sketches that made the point he always wished to emphasize. For weary Great Depression listeners his inspirational message was reassuring: "Success is a matter of the approach. You can do it, too." The show was sponsored by the Colgate-Palmolive Company (Dale Carnegie, 15 min., Monday, 10:45-11:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1938). A still later version, Interesting Persons, reiterated the same theme.
- 6695 (The) Dale Trio. Singer Eve Casanova joined the Dale Trio [instrumental group] on this music program (WEVD, New York, NY, 1933).
- 6696 Dale's Blue Melody Blues. Trombonist L.L. Dale led the band known as "one of the South's finest jazz orchestras." The orchestra's other members included Hugh "Pickles" Hines on drums; saxophone-clarinetist Roy Mc-Gowan; trombonist Jimmie Freshour; and pianist Al Marney. The band frequently appeared on WSV (Little Rock, AR, 1922).

6697 Daley, Don. Newscaster (WABI, Bangor, ME, 1938).

6698 Daley, Tom. Sportscaster (KVOO, Tulsa, OK, 1938).

6699 Dalheim, Rayner. Leader (Rayner Dalheim's Orchestra, WHT, Chicago, IL, 1926).

6700 Dallas, Carlos. Leader (Carlos Davis Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WTAM, Cleveland, OH, 1934).

6701 Dallas First Baptist Church. The Reverend Dr. George W. Truett conducted regular church services on the program (WFAA, Dallas, TX, 1924).

6703 Dallavo, Bill. Leader (Bill Dallavo and his Orchestra, WOOD, Grand Rapids, MI, 1926).

6704 Dalton, Bob. DJ (WTOP, Washington, DC, 1957).

6705 Dalton, Ham. Newscaster (WIP, Philadelphia, PA, 1936-1936).

6706 Dalton, Irene. Pianist (KFI, Los Angeles, CA, 1928).

6707 Dalton, Kenneth G. Newscaster (WBET, Brockton, MA, 1947-1948).

6708 Dalton, Wanda. COM-HE (KCLW, Hamilton, TX, 1956).

6709 (The) Dalton Brothers. Male vocal group (voc. mus. prg., CBS, 1933, 1935).

6710 Daly, Anne. COM-HE (WPDQ, Jacksonville, FL, 1956).

6711 Daly, Bud. DJ (930 Melody Lane, WSAZ, Huntington, WV, 1952).

6712 Daly, Duke. Leader (Duke Daly Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., MBS, 1934, 1939).

6713 Daly, John. Irish tenor (WJR, Detroit, MI and WWJ, Detroit, MI, 1928).

6714 Daly, John. Actor in the Fu Manchu dramatic segment of the Collier Hour (NBC, New York, NY, 1927-1930). See also The Collier Hour.

6715 Daly, John Charles. Newscaster (WJSV, Washington, DC, 1940-1941; Report to the Nation and The World Today, CBS, 1942, 1944-1948).

6716 Daly Brothers Orchestra. Instr. mus. prg. (WRVA, Richmond, VA, 1938).

6717 Dalzell, John. DJ (Saturday Nite Juke Box, WOWO, Fort Wayne, IN, 1954).

6718 Dalziel, George. Tenor (WCGU, Chicago, IL, 1927).

6719 Dame, Paula. COM-HE (WDOF, Burlington, VT, 1956).

6720 Dameron, Charles "Charlie." Comedian on the Crosley Burnt Corkers minstrel show program (WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1928-1929). Dameron later began a radio singing career (Charlie Dameron, vcl. mus. prg., WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1934).

6721 Dameron, Charles. Newscaster (WFVI, Hollywood, FL, 1946). DJ (Charlie's Top Ten, WFTL, Fort Lauderdale, FL, 1952). He could be the Charlie Dameron who began his career as a comedian and singer.

6722 D'Amico, Nick. Leader (Nick D'Amico Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WXYZ, Detroit, MI, 1942).

6723 Damman Ladies Trio. Female music group (WKAJ, Milwaukee, WI, 1926).

6724 (The) Damon Runyon Theatre. Russell Hughes wrote the comedy program based on Damon Runyon's Broadway characters. John Brown was the narrator of the funny show that contained an excellent cast that included: William Conrad, Larry Dobkin, Sandra Gould, Sheldon Leonard, Frank Lovejoy and Luis Van Rooten (30 min., Saturday, 2:30-3:00 P.M., Syndicated, 1949).

6725 Damrosch, Dr. Walter. Conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra (NBC, 1926). Damrosch was a much beloved and respected conductor, who played an important role in advancing the public's appreciation of serious music. His first radio appearance was on October 29, 1923, when he presented a lecture-recital on Beethoven (WEAF, New York, NY, 1923). By 1929, his Music Appreciation Hour (often known as Damrosch's Music Appreciation Hour) was broadcast by NBC on both the Red and Blue networks simultaneously (Friday, 11:00 A.M. to 12:00 noon, NBC-Red & Blue, 1929).

The program, NBC claimed, had an audience of 6,000,000 school children. The distinguished singer Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink said of Damrosch's endeavors: "Never have I seen such promise of a great musical future for this country. One man is responsible for it all — Walter Damrosch. From the children who are learning at his feet will come the artistry of tomorrow. Perhaps he will also improve the audience so they are less snobbish about American art" (Radio Digest, December, 1933, p. 52). Damrosch's father, composer-conductor Dr. Leopold Damrosch, founded the New York Oratorio Society, the organization that was partially responsible for providing the foundation of the New York Philharmonic Society.

Damrosch's customary opening on the Music Appreciation Program was, "Good morning, my dear young friends." School children liked both his manner and his music. Some classes on the Pacific Coast came to school an hour earlier (at eight o'clock) in order to hear the program (Radio Digest, December, 1933, p. 71). Charles H. Farnsworth, Professor of Music Education at Columbia University, and Ernest La Prade, Damrosch's assistant, prepared manuals to accompany the program. The children's manuals sold for a dime and the teachers' manuals for a quarter. Damrosch's work can best be summarized by saying he proved that it was possible to educate without being dull.

6726 Damski, Henri. Leader (KJR Orchestra, KJR, Seattle, WA, 1928).

6727 Damsky, Leah. Dramatic reader (WGY, Schenectady, NY, 1924).

6728 Dan Dunne, Secret Operative. The 15-minute adventure series was based on a comic strip written by Manurice Zinn. Lou Marcelle played the title role assisted by Lucille Meredith, Myron Gary, Jerry Mohr, Hans Conreid and David Sterling (15 min., Transcribed, Various stations, 1948).

6729 Dan Harding's Wife. Isabel Randolph played the title role on the daytime serial drama written by Ken Robinson. Because his wife was a widow, Dan Harding never appeared on the program. Mrs. Harding bravely carried on after the death in a mining accident of her engineer husband. Her twin children, Donna and Dean Harding, played by Loretta Poynton and Merrill Fugit, were at the center of many of the program's twists and turns of plot. Other members of the cast included: Tommy Birch, Herb Butterfield, William Farnum, Templeton Fox, Alice Goodkin, Robert Griffin, Carl Hanson, Judith Lowry, Herbert Nelson, Hugh Rowlands, Marguerette Shanna and Cliff Soubier. Les Griffith and Norman Berry were the announcers (NBC, 1936-1939).

6730 Dan Healy. Dan Healy hosted the novel sustaining program that gave Broadway chorus girls an opportunity to perform on radio. They sang accompanied only by a piano. Incidentally, Healy's program apparently was the first to use this concept, since NTG's program, which was identical, came on the air a month later (30 min., Friday, 10:00-10:30 P.M., WNEW, New York, NY, 1935). See also NTG and the Chorus Girls.

6731 Dana, E. Harold. Dana was a singer who was said to have been "selected by Tito Ruffo as [the] finest baritone in San Francisco" (KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1923; KTAB, Los Angeles, CA, 1925; KPO, 1928).

6732 Dana, Joe. Newscaster (KOY, Phoenix, AZ, 1937-1940; KSUN, Lowell, AZ, 1939).

6733 Dana, Les. DJ (Show Time, WSPD, Toledo, OH, 1947).

6734 (The) Dancepators Orchestra. Instr. mus. prg. (CBS, 1939 and WNAC, Boston, MA, 1939).

6735 Dancy, Charles. Newscaster (The World at Large, WSIV, Pekin, IL, 1947-1948).

6736 Dancing in the Twin Cities. Two bands, the Jimmy Joy Orchestra and that of Cecil Golly, were featured on the program that presented both bands. One band broadcast from Minneapolis, MN, and the other from St. Paul, MN (NBC, 1935).

6737 Dancing Instruction. Dancing master-entrepreneur Arthur Murray conducted this radio dancing instruction program (WHO, Des Moines, IA, 1924). Murray was prominent in the early days of radio for teaching dancing and actively promoting his business activities by the new medium.

6738 Dandies of Yesterday. The Dandies of Yesterday sang old-time ballads. They were a male quartet not otherwise identified (15 min., Saturday, 6:15–6:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1930).

6739 Dandorand, Tommy. Dandorand, the country violinist and leader of Tommy Dandorand and his Barn Dance Fiddlers group, was from Kankakee, Illinois. His group first appeared on the National Barn Dance on April 19, 1924 (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1924).

6740 Dane, Dudley. DJ (Birthday and Anniversary Club, KFAM, St. Cloud, MN, 1948–1949; KTFI, Twin Falls, ID, 1952). Sportscaster (KFAM, 1949).

6741 Dane, Tom. Newscaster (WBAL, Baltimore, MD, 1939).

6742 Danenbring, Ray. DJ (Alarm Clock Club, KASI, Ames, IA, 1948).

6743 Danero, Camilla. Soprano (KYA, San Francisco, CA, 1927).

6744 Danforth, Ed. Sportscaster (WSB, Atlanta, GA, 1940).

6745 Danforth, Harold Potter. Announcer-director (WDBO, Orlando, FL, 1928).

6746 Danger Fighters. Based on Paul de Kruif's best selling Microbe Hunters, the dramatic series presented dramatizations in which medical researchers attempted to alleviate or eliminate various diseases. Radio Digest critics praised the program and the cast. The Gordon Harris Orchestra provided the music (30 min., Saturday, 8:00–8:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1932).

6747 Dangerous Assignment. Brian Donlevy as secret agent Steve Mitchell traveled to Greece, the Belgian Congo, North Borneo, Munich, Damascus and Havana on various dangerous assignments. The program opened with his admission: "Yeah, danger is my assignment. I get sent to a lot of places I can't even pronounce. They all smell of something though—trouble." Donlevy's rugged depiction of Mitchell was always entertaining and exciting (30 min., Weekly, NBC, 1950).

6748 Dangerous Paradise. Elsie Hitz and Nick Dawson played the leading roles in the dramatic serial sponsored by Woodbury Soap. The story centered around Gale Brewster, an American newspaper woman who was covering stories in the Philippines. After she hired a plane to fly to another island, her pilot was mortally wounded when the plane developed engine trouble and crashed into the sea. When Dan, an American beachcomber, came by in his boat, the badly wounded pilot told her to go on and save herself. Dan took her to an island that was inhabited only by himself and three other men. The plot centered about the potential romance between Elsie and Dan (15 min., Wednesday, 8:30–8:45 P.M., NBC-Red, 1933). Two years later the day of broadcast was changed (Monday, 6:45–7:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1935).

6749 Daniel [Daniels], Betty. COM-HE (WDVH, Gainesville, FL, 1956–1957).

6750 Daniel, Clay. Newscaster (WDNC, Durham, NC, 1939).

6751 Daniel, Dan. Sportscaster (Sports Journal, WHOO, Orlando, FL, 1947–1953; WABT, Birmingham, AL, 1954).

6752 Daniel, John. Newscaster (KWSC, Pullman, WA, 1945).

6753 Daniel, Nathan. DJ (Date with Nate, KTFY, Brownfield, TX, 1949).

6754 Daniels, Bebe. Motion picture star (NBC, 1929).

6755 Daniels, Bob. DJ (KDAL, Duluth, MN, 1948).

6756 Daniels, Ed. DJ (Luncheon Melodies, WGRV, Greenville, TN, 1947).

6757 Daniels, Elizabeth. Newscaster (KDAL, Duluth, MN, 1945).

6758 Daniels, Grant. Newscaster (WSLB, Ogdensburg, NY, 1941, 1945).

6759 Daniels, John. Newscaster (WLOK, Lima, OH, 1945). Sportscaster (WLOK, 1945).

6760 Daniels, John B. Senior announcer (WJZ, New York, NY, 1924–1925; WRC, Washington, DC, 1928).

6761 Daniels, Merrill. DJ (Tunes, Time and Shopping Tips, WRRF, Washington, NC, 1947).

6762 Daniels, Nan. COM-HE (WLEA, Hornell, NY, 1956–1957).

6763 Daniels, Paul. DJ (Matinee, WWNH, Rochester, NH, 1948–1949).

6764 Daniels, Stuart. Newscaster (KLO, Ogden, UT, 1939).

6765 Daniels, William. Tenor (WJZ, New York, NY, 1929).

6766 Daniels, Yvonne. COM-HE (WOBS, Jacksonville, SC, 1956–1957).

6767 Danielson, Jim. DJ (Drugstore Cowboy, KSLM, Salem, OR, 1949).

6768 Dann, Harvey. DJ (WJAG, Norfolk, NE, 1957; Man About Music, KRMD, Shreveport, LA, 1960).

6769 D'Anna, Edward. Leader (Edward D'Anna Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., CBS, 1936).

6770 Dannis, Mel. Newscaster (WCOP, Boston, MA, 1942).

6771 Danny and Augusta. Jackson Beck and Paul Daniels wrote, produced and played all the roles on this sustaining program that dramatized the news. Danny, the cop on the beat, bought a paper each time at his friend August's shop. After the headlines were read, various news events were dramatized (15 min., Wednesday, 12:25–12:30 P.M., WBNX, New York, NY, 1935).

6772 (The Danny Kaye Show). (30 min., Friday, 10:30–11:00 P.M., CBS, 1945). Although frenetic movie comic Kaye was assisted by a fine writing, production and acting team on the program, he never achieved great success on radio. The program was directed by Goodman Ace and written by Ace and Sylvia Fine, Kaye's wife. The cast included: Goodman Ace, Eve Arden, Jim Backus, John Brown, Everett Clark, Jane Cowl, Joan Edwards, Rush Hughes, Butterfly McQueen and Lionel Stander. Music was by the Four Clubmen vocal group and the orchestras of Harry James, Lyn Murray, David Terry and Harry Sosnik (CBS, 1944–1946).

6773 (The Danny Thomas Show). Danny Thomas (Amos Jacobs) was the comedian host on the sustaining variety show that Variety called "unimaginative." The show first appeared on NBC as a sustaining program in 1942. Guitarrist George Barnes, vocalist Marion Mann, Hans Conreid, Marvin Miller and Rex Mauphin's Orchestra were featured. Ben Gage was the announcer (30 min., Wednesday, 9:15–9:45 P.M.). When revived in 1947, the sponsor was Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer. In this version, Thomas was assisted by Eve Arden, Jim Backus and Kenny Delmar. The various orchestras that provided the music were Harry James, Lyn Murray, Harry Sosnik and David Terry. Ken Niles and Dick Joy were the announcers (30 min., Weekly, ABC, 1942–1943; CBS, 1947–1948).

6774 Dan's Musical Dons. Dan's orchestra broadcast from Denver's Arena Club (KOA, Denver, CO, 1927).

6776 Dantro the Planet Man. In the early 1950s, this science-fiction adventure series appeared briefly on several stations by transcription. The opening was as follows: "This is the fascinating story of Dantro the Planet Man, troubleshooter for the League of Planets organization, the law enforcement body for peace and justice in the celestial world, whose headquarters and center of operations are situated in the capital of all the planets—Planeteria Rex. From Mercury to Pluto, wherever danger threatens the universe, you will find Dantro the Planet Man fighting for fair play. In a moment—the planet man." The program was not one of the strongest adventure series on the air (15 min., Transcribed, 1950s).

6786 Dark, Glenn, DJ (KIST, Santa Barbara, CA, 1960).

6787 Dark Destiny. The weekly dramatic series presented weird stories of the occult and the supernatural. Each story was based on the idea that: "There are lives foredoomed from the beginning. There are souls born beneath dark stars who must travel by strange and terrible roads to meet their destinies." Robert Arthur and David Kogan wrote the sustaining horror drama advancing the unlucky, if not the bad seed, theory of heredity. Jack Johnstone was the producer (30 min., Wednesday, 9:30–10:00 P.M., WOR, Newark, NJ, 1942).

6788 Dark Enchantment. Marion Parsonnet produced the unique sustaining program written by William Lennox. It dramatized, Variety said, "Negro versions of fairy tales." Lennox said he had "heard the stories from an elderly Negro." The entertaining program featured unidentified African-American performers. Robert Armbruster composed and conducted the program's special music (30 min., Tuesday, 9:30–10:00 p.m., WOR, Newark, NJ, 1935).

6839 David, Toby. DJ (WJR, Detroit, MI, 1947).

6840 David Harum. Frank and Anne Hummert produced this daytime serial that told the story of David Harum, played consecutively by Wilmer Walter, Craig McDonnell and Cameron Prud'Homme. David, a small town banker with a kind heart and keen mind, helped all those he could by trying to hold in check the scheming citizens of his little town of Hometown. He has been described as a lovable character with a keen mind, who willingly interfered with fate to soften the blows that were intended for his friends.

The program's opening was notable for its theme, "Sunbonnet Sue," that was hummed and strummed by guitarist Stanley Davis. Over the years the cast included: Charmie Allen, Peggy Allenby, Ray Bramley, Donald Briggs, Eva Condon, Joe Curtin, Marjorie Davies, Ethel Everett, Roy Fant, Paul Ford, Bennett Kilpack, Florence Lake, Arthur Maitland, Junius Matthews, Richard McKay, Claudia Morgan, Billy Redfield, Philip Reed, William Shelley, Paul Stewart, Joan Tompkins, Gertrude Warner and Ken Williams. The announcer was Ford Bond. Martha Atwell, John Buckwalter, Arthur Hanna, Ed King and Lester Vail were the directors. Peggy Blake, John DeWitt, Noel B. Gerson, Charles J. Gussman, Johanna Johnston and Mary W. Reeves were the writers.

6841 David Lawrence. Newspaperman-columnist Lawrence broadcast a weekly program of news analysis and commentary (15 min., Sunday, 9:00–9:15 P.M., 1927–1928).

6897 Davis, Elmer. Davis was a distinguished news analyst and commentator (CBS, 1939–1942; WMAL, Washington, DC and ABC, 1946–1947). Hoosier Davis began his career at the New York Times, where he worked for ten years before leaving to become a free lance writer. A liberal, who was a strong supporter of socialist Norman Thomas in 1932, Davis supported FDR after he became president. His strong anti-Fascist views and liberal philosophy made him a patriotic commentator precisely right for his time and place.

Davis previously had a brief career in radio, but returned in 1939 to join CBS to do an uncensored nightly commentary (8:55–9:00 P.M., CBS, 1939). He continued at CBS until 1942, when FDR asked him to head the OWI (Office of War Information), a task he performed admirably throughout the remainder of World War II. After the war's conclusion he returned to broadcasting until 1953, when poor health forced him to retire. Davis was a strong advocate of and spokesman for the freedom of thought and speech. He believed both should be free and completely unhampered. He proved to be one of Senator Joseph F. McCarthy's staunchest foes.

6898 Davis, Emma. Whistler (KFSG, Los Angeles, CA, 1926).

6998 Day in the Life of Dennis Day (aka The Dennis Day Show). Colgate-Palmolive Company sponsored the situation comedy that allowed tenor Dennis Day to show his considerable comic skill. The cast included: Bea Benadaret, John Brown, Barbara Filer, Betty Miles and Frances "Dink" Trout. Ken Carson sang the Lustre Creme Shampoo commercials. Frank Galen was the writer and Frank O'Connor the show's director. Bill Harding was the producer-director (30 min., Thursday, 7:30-8:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1946).

6999 Day on the Old Plantation. The early variety program featured "Uncle Remus and company" (KHJ, Los Angeles, CA, 1923).

7001 Daylie, D. DJ (Daddy-O Show, WAFB, Chicago, IL, 1960).

7002 Day-Ray-O (or Da-Ra-O). A children's story teller, Day-Ray-O broadcast from the "Land-O-Health," where he was the ruler. He would go walking through Slumber Forest with his young listeners and tell them his tales (KGO, San Francisco, CA, 1927).

7003 Daytime Serials ("Soap Operas"). Although they were usually called soap operas, everyone who listened to radio from 1930 to 1950 knew exactly what daytime serials were. Almost everyone knew about Mary Noble, Backstage Wife, Our Gal Sunday and Ma Perkins. Although the 15-minute programming format was often laughed at and even scorned by some critics, the "soaps" did receive some critical study and even praise. Above all, they enjoyed such great popularity with their large, intensely loyal listening audience, that the daytime serial became a unique creation and influential innovation of American radio.

James Thurber in a famous series of New Yorker articles (Thurber, 1973, pp. 191-260) treated daytime serials with a mock serious tone, but studied them carefully with a critical seriousness that had been rarely attempted before. Thurber's articles indicate he was a student of soap opera. His study began with a tongue-in-cheek definition of a soap opera (Thurber, 1973, p. 191):

A soap opera is a kind of sandwich, whose recipe is simple enough, although it took years to compound. Between thick slices of advertising, spread twelve minutes of dialogue, add predicament, villainy, and female suffering in equal measure, throw in a dash of nobility, sprinkle with tears, season with organ music, cover with a rich announcer sauce, and serve five times a week.

The term soap opera probably arose because most of the programs were sponsored by soap companies. However, the shows were also sponsored by many other companies wanting to sell their products to the programs' predominantly female audience. It may have also been the case that the term soap opera was used with the derogatory connotation of the supposed low intelligence and inferior judgment of the women who comprised their audience. Neither Jim and Marian Jordan (Fibber McGee and Molly), nor Gertrude Berg (author of and performer on The Goldbergs) were pleased with the term soap opera. As Berg put it, "The kind of writing that has ended up being played mostly in the daylight hours is the soap opera, an unfortunate nom-de-guerre, by the way, for it unfairly carries an unmistakable aroma with it" (Berg, 1944, p. 123). Use of the term daytime serial helps avoid both the confusion of sole sponsorship of the programs and any derogatory connotation the term may have conveyed in the past for the women who listened to them. Moreover, the term daytime serial more accurately reflects the major characteristics of the programs — the time of their broadcast and their continuing nature.

In the New York City area alone, the amazing number of 36 daytime serials were broadcast from 10:30 A.M. in the morning until 6:00 P.M., Monday through Friday (1947-1948). Ten other serials broadcast outside the New York area brought the number to almost 50 running in the United States at the time. Most likely this was the high water mark for daytime serials, for television soon made its inroads, adding to the reasons that eventually caused their demise. During their golden years, a few top daytime serial actors earned $700 a week. Many stage and screen stars such as Van Heflin, Frank Lovejoy, John Hodiak, Art Carney, Richard Widmark, Macdonald Carey and Ed Begley began as daytime radio serial performers.

Daytime serials had their origin in 1925 on Chicago radio, probably with Jim and Marian Jordan's program, The Smith Family, an early serial drama with comic elements. It was a continuing story of the Smith family and their daily adventures. Later, after gaining fame as Fibber McGee and Molly, the Jordans denied The Smith Family was a "soap opera," because of its broad humor content. Nevertheless, the popularity of The Smith Family program's apparently motivated WGN (Chicago, IL) to present Gosden and Correll's Sam 'n' Henry, the forerunner of Amos 'n' Andy. The latter, one of radio's all time most popular programs, used a daytime serial format. Other sources contend that Pat Barnes had an earlier daytime serial drama, Henry Adams and his Book, on Chicago's WHT in 1925.

Quin Ryan (1965) says the daytime serial was essentially an attempt to transform comic strips into a radio programming format. WGN, it should be noted, was highly successful with such daytime serials as We Are Four, Bachelor's Children and Painted Dreams, the Irna Phillips creation that has been called the first "true" daytime serial.

Ryan (1965) says that Painted Dreams had its origins in 1930, when Irna Phillips came to WGN manager Henry Selinger to propose a program of poetry and inspirational messages for shut-ins. When Selinger hired her on a trial basis, she told him of her idea for a daily radio serial called Sue and Irene, the story of two young girls. When it went on the air the cast included Bess Flynn, Mary Afflick, Alice Hill, Ed Smith and Loni and Lucy Gilman, the daughters of Henry Gilman, WGN's production manager. The program eventually evolved into Painted Dreams first broadcast on September 30, 1930, with Phillips still the writer. The cast remained the same with the addition of author Phillips playing Mother Moynihan, the show's central figure. After Phillips left WGN following a business dispute, Bess Flynn took over both the chores of writing Painted Dreams and playing the leading role of Mother Moynihan. Flynn, the mother of Charles Flynn, radio's Jack Armstrong, became a prolific writer of daytime serials and a busy radio actress.

When The Romance of Helen Trent went on the air in 1933, there were 30 daytime serials being broadcast — most originating from WGN with many of them produced by the Blackett, Sample and Hummert advertising agency. At this early stage in the format's development, Frank Hummert had already begun to play an important role. WGN became a testing ground for many comic strip and daytime serial programs, such as Easy Aces, which Blackett, Sample and Hummert brought to Chicago from Kansas City, before they went on the network. Other important influences on daytime serial writing and production were Elaine Carrington, Anne Hummert and Bess Flynn.

Elaine Carrington in the 1920s had been a prolific writer of fiction for women's magazines and motion pictures. Deciding that radio might be a more lucrative market, she took the opportunity to write Red Adams, a half-hour weekly drama broadcast by NBC. At the end of three months, Red Adams became a 15-minute daytime series sponsored by Beechnut. Noting a similarity in the program's title to a competitor's product, Beechnut insisted the program's title be changed to Red Davis. Procter & Gamble eventually took over sponsorship of the program and once again changed the title to Pepper Young's Family, the name that lasted as long as the show remained on the air.

Carrington's wit and intelligence made her a successfully prolific writer, second only to Irna Phillips in the amount of material she wrote for these weekly programs. Among her other successful daytime serials were Rosemary, Marriage for Two and When a Girl Marries. It was said that in 1938 Carrington produced some 38,000 words a week (Edmonson and Brooks, 1973, p. 51). She explained the success of her stories in this way:

All my scripts are written so that listeners can imagine themselves in the same situations as people in the cast. The daytime serials fill a tremendous hole in lonely people's lives. Listeners take the characters to heart and suffer, live, love and laugh with them.

Women did live vicariously with the daytime serials and probably did some empathic problem solving while they listened.

Frank and Anne Hummert, without doubt, were the two most dominant figures in radio's daytime serials and were the format's major influences in the 1930s and 1940s. At its peak, their production company created and produced most of the daytime serials that were broadcast. One reason often cited as the chief factor for the Hummert's success was their strict control over every aspect of their programs from writing to all other phases of their production. The Hummerts were a veritable daytime serial factory, employing some 200 writers over the years (Thurber, 1973, p. 205). Among the Hummert's programs were Amanda of Honeymoon Hill, Backstage Wife, David Harum, Evelyn Winters, Front Page Farrell, John's Other Wife, Just Plain Bill, Lora Lawton, Lorenzo Jones, Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, Nona from Nowhere, Orphans of Divorce, Our Gal Sunday, Real Stories from Real Life, The Romance of Helen Trent, Second Husband, Skippy, Stella Dallas, Stolen Husband and Young Widder Brown.

At the height of their enterprise, the Hummerts produced 50 different program scripts weekly, a total of some 6,500,000 words yearly. They developed plot lines for each show four to six weeks in advance. After they dictated the plot trends for each show, their ghost writers fleshed out the dialogue and prepared the scripts. As an indication of how well the Hummerts' work was received by listeners and sponsors alike, they could boast in 1941 that some of their shows had been on the air eight years without a change of sponsor, a radio rarity. During World War II, the Hummerts and daytime serials successfully contributed to the war effort [See also Wartime Radio].

The Hummerts' programs were not only popular in the United States, but also in England where they were broadcast by transcription with appropriate words anglicized for that market. They received some 75,000,000 letters a year from their listeners. Frank Hummert explained their programs in this way according to Chase (1942, p. 191):

We write successful stories about unsuccessful people. This means our characters are simply unsuccessful in the material things of life, but highly successful spiritually. Our characters are everyday people and our stories can be understood on Park Avenue and on the prairies.

When Irna Phillips left WGN after a business dispute, Bess Flynn not only took over writing Painted Dreams but also the role of Mother Moynihan. Flynn wrote and produced many other successful daytime serials at WGN such as Bachelor's Children and We Are Four at WGN. She was a skillful writer and versatile radio actress, whose behavior can be contrasted with those of modern broadcasters.

In contrasting early daytime serial broadcasters and their performers with their present day (1998) radio and television counterparts, one similarity and one difference becomes apparent. Contemporary radio listeners and television viewers show a similarity to their earlier predecessors in the way they still strongly identify with the performers and the central characters they play on their programs, often treating them as though they were real persons. The marked difference is that in radio's early days when listeners wrote to their favorite daytime serials, they frequently received warm, personal responses to their letters. Today radio and television performers seldom even look at or read their fan mail and, rarely, if ever, answer it personally, although sponsors and broadcast executives still pay considerable attention to the mail for commercial reasons.

Radio listeners 50 or 60 years ago received considerable attention and often personal replies. Bess Flynn, busy radio writer and actress, took a great personal interest in her listeners' reactions to her shows and their suggestions. This can be seen in the letters Flynn wrote to fans in 1935, 1937 and 1939. Notice should be given that the three letters — the first handwritten — were four years apart. None were form letters. All were personally signed. Today very few fans of contemporary radio, television or motion picture personalities would receive such personal attention, and most likely they would receive none whatsoever.

When Flynn's show, Painted Dreams, was canceled, she expressed disappointment in a handwritten letter to one of her fans:

February 17, 1935

Dear Mary:

Many thanks for the lovely valentine! Your letters and cards have made you very dear to me, although I've never seen you!

Now I have a little surprise to tell you. Cal-Aspirin has canceled "Painted Dreams" to go into effect March 24 for a wild and woolly show called "Mary Sothern," and unless our "Painted Dreams" friends come to the front in a big way, before that date, we may go off the air! But, if enough pressure is brought to bear, they may reconsider, for a sponsor knows well, that our listeners are apt to stop using their product, if they cancel a favorite program. Will you and any of your friends, stand by us? Address Cal-Aspirin — above address [company letterhead].

Many thanks and write to me soon.

Affectionately yours,

(Signed) Mother Moynihan

Two years later, Flynn wrote to the same fan to explain why the story line of Bachelor's Children had taken a certain turn:

September 22, 1937

Dear Mary:

This isn't a regular letter. As you know, I always write those to you personally, but wanted to get a note off and will take care of that letter myself at a later date when I'm not as busy as I am right now.

I'm going to answer only the last part of the letter, and that is your questions. "Bachelor's Children" and "We Are Four" both took to the air for the first time on September 9, 1935 and have been on continuously ever since. There have been no changes in the cast of "Bachelor's Children." Cornelia Osgood was Nancy, but she was replaced by Alice Hill in January of this year. Marjorie Hannon also replaced Elinor Harriot when the latter went to Hollywood.

Yes — but don't whisper it to a soul because it's a secret — the wedding will take place on October 12th. However, I'm sorry to have to tell you that no visitors will be allowed on that day. We have had so many hundreds of requests to be permitted to see the broadcast on the day of the wedding that the sponsors have decided that they will have to bar all. However, any other day but that one, I would be delighted to have you see the show. For the night shows — yes, you have to have tickets which I can secure for you, but all the morning shows, that is, any of mine, all you have to do is let me know when you're going to be here and I will take care of you. I hope you can make it.

With kindest regards, I am

As ever,

In 1939, Flynn once more responded to her fan's comment about the plot twists in Bachelor's Children:

March 7, 1939

Dear Mrs. Smith (not fan's name):

Thank you for your letter of March 1st in regard to "BACHELOR'S CHILDREN."

Yes, I am receiving a few letters every day of complaint against the trend my story is taking just now — but, surprisingly enough — not as many as I had expected. And — before I go further, I want you to know that I am glad to hear from our listeners and to have them voice their views — even though they differ from mine.

In explanation of my reasons for writing the story as I have recently, I believe that, much as we might wish it didn't — life does have its ups and downs for all of us, and since I have always tried to make my story true to life, with characters — not over-drawn — but with the human frailties common to us all, we must expect them to have periods in their lives when it looks as if a kind Providence turned its face away from them.

In the years I have been writing "BACHELOR'S CHILDREN" — the characters have come to be real to me — and their problems are mine. I think of them — not as fictional characters, but as real people and as such, I love them, [feel] sorry about them — am irritated by them [and] suffer with them.

So won't you, please, bear with me just now and believe me when I say that I am not going to spoil the story for you — but have a very definite — and I trust, most interesting sequence of events coming up during the coming months?

Again — may I thank you for your letter — and I hope that you will always feel free to write to me when something in the story occurs which you feel is not as it should be. Please remember that without the cooperation of the listening audience no script can long survive.

Sincerely yours

(Signed) Bess Flynn

After Flynn signed the letter, she recognized that she knew this longtime fan and added a brief note in her own handwriting to it:

Dear Mary: My secretary got this — along with a bunch of fan mail — and answered it — not understanding that I answer your letters personally. So please forgive the formal tone — and do send for our B&C book. Good picture of the author in it — and the other less important characters like Dr. Bob, the twins, etc.

Love

Bess

The personal attention given by sponsors to fan mail can be seen in a 1932 letter to the same fan that was sent by a Battle Creek Food Company's advertising manager:

December 7, 1932

Dear Madam:

With this letter, we are enclosing an autographed photograph of Mother Moynihan which you requested. This manifested interest on your part is deeply appreciated by all of us — and especially by Mother Moynihan. It is our sincere wish that you will continue to enjoy the "Painted Dreams" program. If at any time you have suggestions that would help us in continuing to make this program interesting and entertaining to you, please feel perfectly free to write us.

In a few words preceding and following the program, the announcer, Ed Smith, will continue to give you a brief message on Battle Creek Health Foods. In order to give you more complete information regarding these delicious Health Foods, we are enclosing with our compliments a copy of "Healthful Living" the Battle Creek Diet Book. We hope you will read it carefully because it tells you definitely how to eat, to build and maintain good health. The Battle Creek Health Foods recommended are palatable, easy-to-prepare foods which satisfy a specific need. The health food chart inserted in "Healthful Living" gives you an indication of the wide scope of these famous health building foods.

For your convenience, we enclose the name of the Battle Creek dealer in your community. You will find him a progressive merchant who will gladly help you to select the Battle Creek Health Foods best suited to your needs.

In closing, let us chime in with Ed Smith in saying that Battle Creek Health Foods cost you no more as they replace some of the foods and drugs which would ordinarily be purchased.

Sincerely yours,

THE BATTLE CREEK FOOD COMPANY

Daytime serial actors also responded personally to their fan mail. Actress Alice Hill — already referred to by Bess Flynn in a previous letter — sent a handwritten letter to a fan on April 6, 1937:

April 6, 1937

Dear Mrs. Smith (not fan's name):

Thank you so much for your lovely Easter card. I never cease being surprised as well as terribly pleased to think that our radio friends think enough of us to remember us at the different seasons.

I hope you like the new picture of all of us with our new baby. How is your new little "Ken" getting along?

I am so happy to be working on Mrs. Flynn's show "We Are Four" at 11:45 A.M. as Nancy. Hope you'll listen to it and enjoy it.

Sincerely yours

Alice Hill

Producer-actor Walter Wicker and his actress wife, Irene, later famous as The Singing Lady, also wrote to their fans by sending them typed and personally signed post cards. Notice that these actors kept a file of the fans who wrote them. Although the cards are undated, they were mailed in 1934 when the program went on the air:

Dear Friend:

Because you have been kind enough, during the past, to tell us of your interest in our radio programs, we want you to know in advance about our new program. It is called "SONG OF THE CITY" and is a serial story about the life, adventures and romance of two young women in a big city. We hope you are going to enjoy it a lot. On this program you will hear Irene Wicker as "Rosemary," Irna Phillips as "Ann," Lucy Gillman as "Mary Lou," and myself as "Phillip Lawrence."

"SONG OF THE CITY" will start August 14th, on N.B.C. Station — WMAQ, WLW, WHO, WOW, WIBA, KSTP, and WDAF.

Thank you again for your past interest and support. All of us appreciate it tremendously.

Sincerely — (Signed) Walter Wicker

And later both he and Irene signed this card to the same fan:

Dear Friend — Just a note to thank you very much for your friendly and loyal support of our "Song of the City" Program. Starting April 30th, we go on the air in the mornings, and we hope this new time will make it easier for you and your friends to follow the program. Will you be kind enough to tell all your friends about this new time, and also that on May 7th and 8th there will be synopsis of the story so far, so that a new listener can easily follow it from then on.

Don't forget — we're always very happy to hear from you. We would especially appreciate hearing what you think of this program, we want to do everything we can to make it thoroughly enjoyable to you. So please do write — just address "Song of the City" care National Broadcasting Company, Chicago. And thanks a lot for your friendly interest and help. We do appreciate it so much. Sincerely,

(Signed) Irene Wicker Walter Wicker

"Song of the City" is heard each Tues., Wed. and Thurs., over WLW at 11:30 A.M. E.S.T. — and over WMAQ, WSTP, WHO, WOW, WDAF, WIBA at 10:30 A.M., C.S.T. or 11:30 A.M. Daylight Savings Time.

Joe Kelly, host of the Jolly Joe's Junior Jamboree program at WLS (Chicago, IL) also answered his fans personally [See also Jolly Joe's Junior Jamboree]:

September 12, 1933

Dear Friend:

Your kind letter at hand. Would have answered sooner but have been completely swamped with letters from (little kids) and (big kids) like yourself. Your suggestions in the case of little Earl Bonnes is a very good one. However, there are so many letters from mothers and daddies concerning their children, some of them just as pitiful as Earl's unfortunate accident that I am unable to carry on in one instance only a certain length of time. Earl is home from the hospital now and getting along splendidly. I gave your note to Jolly Joe, Jr., and he is very proud of it. Thanking you for your kind interest and hoping to hear from you again real soon, I beg to remain,

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) Joe Kelly

Personal attention to listeners and their requests was not the only factor that attracted daytime listeners. The programs' content also evoked favorable response. Exactly what were daytime serials about and why did listeners enjoy them so much?

First and foremost, daytime serials focused on family life. The families they portrayed for the most part were identified as "average" people, who most often lived in an "average small town." Usually, the characters were Protestant and middle class. Money seldom seemed to be a problem for them. Housewives did their own work. There were no maids and no nannies. The opening announcement on Rosemary succinctly described its purpose and that of other daytime serials as well: "This is your story. This is your life. This story is about you and your life. Listen and live vicariously the everyday problems faced by women just like you." Many listeners — mostly women — believed that sufficiently to become faithful listeners. Women apparently did live vicariously by listening and were able to solve some of the problems they either faced themselves or thought they might encounter in the future.

Who were daytime serial listeners? Summers (1943, pp. 3-4) in cooperation with the Office of Radio Research, Columbia University, summarized the data collected by Dr. Forest L. Whan from 5,324 Iowa women who listened to daytime serials. Ten major conclusions were drawn on the basis of the data collected:

1. Approximately one-half of all women who lived in "radio homes" were regular listeners to daytime serials.
2. There was no recognizable "daytime serial listening types" identified.
3. Minor differences existed between regular listeners and non-listeners of daytime serials in the proportions of women in various age, educational and place of residence groups.
4. There was evidence of a close relationship between the amount of daytime serial listening and magazine reading.
5. The listening to programs of classical music, audience participation programs and discussions of current affairs decreased as the amount of daytime serial listening increased.

6. No evidence of any major psychological or social difference between regular daytime serial listeners and non-listeners was found.
7. Forty percent of the women who listened regularly to daytime serials believed that serial listening "help them solve the problems of their everyday lives."
8. The audience size of any individual daytime serial was affected by such physical factors as station coverage, time of broadcast and position in the broadcast schedule.
9. Audiences of individual daytime serials varied widely in the proportions of listeners falling within age, educational and place of residence classifications.
10. Audience make-up of individual daytime serials was affected by such factors as setting, plot type and age of the leading character.

Scorn against the much maligned radio "soap operas" and their female listeners came not only from cultural snobs, but from some well-meaning feminists as well. The feminists implied in their criticism that female listeners to daytime serials were uneducated, naive or both. Criticism of this nature, of course, overlooked the many Ph.Ds and business executives who eagerly looked forward to hearing their favorite daily radio serial. Not all daytime serials were scorned. For example, no scorn was directed against Sondra Michaels' Lone Journey and Against the Storm. Against the Storm was praised for its broadcast of poet Edgar Lee Masters reading from his Spoon River Anthology and John Masefield reading his poetry from London by shortwave. Critical praise for these programs, however, was quite rare.

Criticisms often were leveled against the programs' claims that they portrayed the "real life stories" of women living in small towns. If the shows portrayed passionate love affairs, amnesia, violent jealousy, revenge, murders, blindness, automobile accidents and rare life-threatening diseases, presumably these, too, were possible ingredients in the everyday life of American women. Despite these incongruities, one major emphasis that the daytime serials always provided was a positive statement best expressed by one program's name — Life Can Be Beautiful. They unequivocally proclaimed the search for personal happiness was an individual's right and responsibility. The names of the daytime serials indicating this were: Portia Faces Life, Valiant Lady, Lone Journey, Love of Life, One Life to Live, Against the Storm and The Right to Happiness. Regardless of the positive messages of these programs, scorn against them and their listeners never faded. Females — who comprised the large part of their listening audience — were ridiculed by both male and female critics for believing the program's characters were "real people." There were hundreds of stories printed about the personal letters and gifts listeners sent to Mary Noble, Ma Perkins and Amanda of Honeymoon Hill. Certainly the acceptance of fictional characters as "real" did not begin or end with daytime serial listeners. Letters are still addressed to Sherlock Holmes of 221B Baker Street, London, asking for his help in solving a case of some sort. As noted before, when listeners wrote to actors or writers, they often received warm personal responses, even if the listeners' letters were critical.

Regardless of the harsh criticism leveled against them, it was neither the scorn nor the onslaught of television that was solely responsible for the disappearance of the daytime radio serial. Economic factors also played a role. At the height of their popularity in the post-World War II period, there were thirty network serials, producing an impressive bargain for advertisers at a cost per thousand listeners of 49 cents (Edmondson and Brooks, 1973, p. 119). When their listening audience decreased, this meant an advertising rate increase per thousand listeners.

Television's impact and the action of network affiliates to increase local radio programming did combine to hasten the downfall of daytime radio serials. Seeking to increase the advertising rates they could charge, local network affiliates took less and less network programming, an action that allowed them more free time for local recorded music programming. Networks, in response, cut back on the amount of programming they produced. For example, CBS in 1959 reduced network programming from 63 to 30 hours weekly, including the discontinuance of such long-running daytime serials as This Is Nora Drake, Backstage Wife, Our Gal Sunday and The Road of Life. Many local DJ shows were used by affiliate stations to fill these time slots. In Thanksgiving week of 1960, the last remaining daytime radio serials left the air when Ma Perkins, The Road to Happiness, The Second Mrs. Burton and Young Dr. Malone disappeared.

7004 Dayton, Eddie. Ukulele soloist (WMAK, Buffalo, NY, 1928).

7005 "DC." Designation for announcer David C. Clark (WHAM, Rochester, NY, 1924).

7006 DeAbna, Leontine. Contralto (KFI, Los Angeles, CA, 1925).

7007 (The) Deacon. John Howard by means of monologs and stories reconstructed the entire life of a small Midwestern town on the unique program (15 min., Monday, Wednesday and Friday, WGN, Chicago, IL, 1940).

7008 Deal, John H. Newscaster (WHCU, Ithaca, NY, 1944-1946). DJ (Time Service, WHCU, 1947; Dial to Deal, WHCU, 1948).

7009 Deal, William "Bill." DJ (Clock o' the Morning, W'CAM, Camden, NJ, 1948-1954).

7010 Dealer in Dreams. Phil Stewart, the "Dealer," delivered soft, dreamy talks for women, read poetry to them and provided solutions for their personal problems on the program sponsored by the Holland Furnace Company (15 min., 9:00-9:15 A.M., WGN, Chicago, IL, 1942).

7011 Dean, Austin. Newscaster (WCGA, Gainesville, GA, 1941).

7012 Dean, Bev. Newscaster (WCKY, Cincinnati, OH, 1939).

7013 Dean, Bill. DJ (Turntable Terrace, KBIX, Muskogee, OK, 1947). Sportscaster (KBIX, 1947).

7014 Dean, Bill. DJ (The Ossining Hour, WLNA, Peekskill, NY, 1948).

7015 Dean, Bob. Newscaster (WHB, Kansas City, MO, 1944).

7016 Dean, Eddie. Singing with a rich baritone voice and accompanying himself on guitar, Dean performed on KMA (Shenandoah, IA) and WNAX (Yankton, SD) in the middle and late 1920s before moving to WLS (Chicago, IL) in 1929. Dean sang as one of the "Sunshine Coffee Boys" and "The Hawaiians" before emerging as a solo performer. Eddie, who really could sing and ride a horse, starred in several "singing cowboy" movies in the late 1930s and early 1940s.

7017 Dean, Eleanor. Leader (Eleanor Dean Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WIP, Philadelphia, PA, 1935).

7018 Dean, Eulala. Blues singer (KJR, Seattle, WA, 1929).

7019 Dean, Jerome Hanna "Dizzy." Former baseball great Dizzy Dean turned in fine play-by-play baseball broadcasts on the MBS Game of the Day (1951-1953). Dean also co-hosted some interesting sports programs. See also Dizzy Dean.

7020 Dean, Marie. Singer (WOKO, Mt. Beacon, NY, 1925).

7021 Dean, Martha. DJ (Early Risers, WJJD, Chicago, IL, 1949).

7022 Dean, Nina. Soprano (Nina Dean, vcl. mus. prg., NBC, 1939, 1942).

7023 Dean, Pat. COM-HE (WFMD, Frederick, MD, 1957).

7024 Dean, Saralee. Newscaster and announcer (WSBA, York, PA, 1942).

7025 Dean, Stewart [Stuart]. Newscaster (KOMA, Oklahoma City, OK, 1938-1939).

7026 Dean, Wesley "Wes." DJ (Farmfolks Jamboree, KGRI, Henderson, TX, 1952). Sportscaster (KTVE, Longview, TX, 1954).

7027 Deane, Buddy. DJ (Club 1340, WHHM, Memphis, TN, 1948; Wake Up Baltimore, 120 min., Monday through Saturday, 6:30-8:30 P.M., WTTB, Baltimore, MD, 1951-1952).

7028 Deane, David C. Pianist (David Deane, instr. mus. prg., WCKY, Cincinnati, OH, 1942).

7029 Deane, Joe. DJ (Open House, WHEC, Rochester, NY, 1947-1952; WBBF, Rochester, NY, 1955-1957).

7030 Deane, Martha. COME-HE (WOR, New York, NY, 1956-1957). This was a generic name owned by WOR for the performers who conducted women's programs. One of the earliest was Mary Margaret McBride before she left to create her own network program.

7031 (The Deane Sisters. Sisters Berna and Vera were a harmony singing team featured on the network show (15 min., Sunday, 10:45-11:00 P.M., NBC, 1930).

7032 Dear Columbia. The unique program was devoted to letters listeners sent to the network. The host of the program supplied the network's comments and answers (Friday, 8:15-8:45 A.M., CBS, 1935).

7033 Dear Doris Blake. Ms. Blake conducted her lovelorn column of the air. She supplied solutions to the letters sent her by listeners that were often signed with such indications of distress as "Bored," "Worried" and "Perplexed" (15 min., Tuesday, 9:15-9:30 P.M., WMCA, New York, NY, 1940).

7034 Dear Margy. The clever sustaining comedy-mystery program was produced and directed by Cyril Armbruster. The plot concerned an American woman studying in England under the GI Bill of Rights, who met and became a friend of a Scotland Yard Inspector. These roles were played by Mason Adams and Ian Martin, respectively. As might be expected, the American helped the British inspector solve many baffling crimes. The title comes from the American's explanatory letters to her girl friend back home (30 min., Sunday, 4:30-5:00 P.M., MBS, 1953).

7035 Death Fighters. The Wayne County Medical Society and the Detroit News sponsored this program that dramatized various medical discoveries and how they were achieved. Myron Golden wrote the programs, some of which were based on the writings of Paul de Kruif. There were some similarities found in the program to the Danger Fighters network show that was broadcast in 1932 (30 min., Wednesday, 7:00-7:30 P.M., WWJ, Detroit, MI, 1937).

7036 Death Valley Days (sometimes incorrectly referred to as Death Valley Sheriff and The Sheriff). When it first went on the air in 1930, the program opened with the singing of John White, "The Lonesome Cowboy." Later, the more familiar opening began with announcer Dresser Dahlstead introducing the narrator, "The Old Ranger," who was played by John MacBryde, as a bugle call sounded in the background. Sponsored by the Twenty Mule Team Borax Company, the makers of Boraxo, the program was created and originally written by Ruth Woodman, who later was assisted by Ruth Adams Knight. The talented cast included: Jack Arthur, Rosemarie Broncato, Edwin Bruce, Geoffrey Bryant, Frank Butler, Helen Claire, Tim Daniel Frawley, Robert Haag, Harvey Hays, Milton Herman, Harry Humphrey, Jean King, Olyn Landick, Michael Raffetto, George Rand and cowboy singer, John White. The announcer was George Hicks. Music was supplied by Joseph Bonime, who, incidentally, composed the original music for the bugle call heard at the opening of each program. The producer was Dorothy McCann. When Death Valley Days went off the air in 1944, Death Valley Sheriff, a related program, also sponsored by Boraxo, took its place. One of the interesting cast members, who both acted in and directed some of the later programs, was Michael Raffetto (Elwyn Creighton). Raffetto, who practiced law before beginning his acting career, attained his greatest fame as Paul in One Man's Family and Jack Packard in I Love a Mystery. Raffetto was an important member of Carleton E. Morse's radio repertory company (30 min., Monday, 8:30-9:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1932). See also Death Valley Sheriff.

7037 Death Valley Sheriff. The western adventure drama was the story of a modern sheriff, Mark Chase, played over the years by Robert Haag, Don Briggs and Bob Warren. Sponsored by Boraxo, the program opened with the same bugle call that had always opened the Death Valley Days program, but the similarity ended there. After being on the air for a year, its name was changed to The Sheriff (CBS, ABC, 1944-1951).

7038 DeBabary, Joska. Leader (Joska de Babary Orchestra, KYW, Chicago, IL, 1925-1926).

7039 DeBaun, Irma. Soprano DeBraun (Irma DeBraun, voc. mus. prg., WABC, New York, NY, 1928-1929) also played the role of "Peaches" on the popular Evening in Paris program (CBS, New York, NY, 1929).

7040 DeBenedetto, Guiseppe. Tenor (WEAF, New York, NY, 1925).

7041 Debering, Harv. DJ (10 O'Clock Special, KSRV, Ontario, OR, 1947).

7042 DeBie, Dick. Newscaster (KSIG, Crowley, LA, 1947; Tic Tock Tunes, KSIG, 1947).

7043 December Bride. A sustaining situation comedy, December Bride told the story of a couple married eight years, who were confronted with problems presented by a mother-in-law who came to visit them. Spring Byington starred as the mother-in-law. She was assisted by such other cast members as: John Brown, Hans Conried, Hal March, Alan Reed and Doris Singleton. Reuben Ship and Paul Sharp produced and directed the show (30 min., Sunday, 7:00-7:30 P.M., CBS, 1952).

7044 Debnam, Bob. DJ (Pastel Room, WCOG, Greensboro, NC, 1952).

7045 Debnam, W.E. Newscaster (WTAR, Norfolk, VA, 1940; WPTF, Raleigh, NC, 1941-1945; Debnam Views the News, WPTF, 1947-1948).

7046 DeBoer, H.O. Tenor (WOC, Davenport, IA, 1928).

7047 DeBou, George N. DeBou broadcast reminiscences of the old South on the Southern Night Program (WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1922-1923). See also The Southern Night Program.

7048 DeBrine, (Minister) John. DJ (25 min., Monday through Friday, 10:05-10:30 P.M., WMEX, Boston, MA, 1953). Minister DeBrine was probably the first religious DJ on radio.

7049 Debris, Earl. Violinist (WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1923).

7050 DeBueris, John. Clarinetist (WEAF, New York, NY and WGBS, New York, NY, 1928).

7051 DeCampo, Mario. Tenor (Mario DeCampo, vcl. mus. prg., WCAU, Philadelphia, PA, 1934).

7052 DeChing, Baroness. Soprano (Baroness DeChing, vcl. mus. prg., WCAU, Philadelphia, PA, 1934).

7053 Decker, A. Thomas. Newscaster (KALE, Portland, OR, 1944–1946).

7054 Decker, Dimond. Leader (Decker Instrumental Trio, KFQZ, Hollywood, CA, 1926).

7055 Decker, Doris. Blues singer (KFI, Los Angeles, CA, 1928).

7056 Decker, Harry. Leader (Harry Decker's Hawaiians [orchestra], KFWB, Hollywood, CA, 1926).

7057 Decker, Kay. COM-HE (KODI, Cody, WY, 1957).

7058 Decker, Leon. Newscaster (NBC-Blue, 1944).

7059 Decker, Paul. Leader (Paul Decker Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., MBS, 1934–1935, 1939; WLAV, Grand Rapids, MI, 1942).

7060 Decker, Tom. Newscaster (KALE, Portland, OR, 1945).

7061 Decker, Vic. Sportscaster (WHBC, Canton, OH, 1938; Clean Sports for Good Sports, WCMW, Canton, OH, 1947). Newscaster (WCMW, 1946; Timken Time, WCMW, 1947).

7062 deCordova, Pedro. Musical director (Westinghouse Salute, NBC-Blue, 1929).

7063 DeCoy, Robert. DJ (Diggin with Ducky, WMRY, New Orleans, LA, 1949).

7064 Dee, June. COM-HE (WWBB, Wichita, KS, 1956).

7065 Dee, Mary. DJ (Rise and Shine, WSBT, South Bend, IN, 1949; Mary Dee Show, WHOD, Homestead, PA, 1952–1954).

7066 Dee, Sally. Miss Dee conducted a Fashion Review program (KOA, Denver, CO, 1926).

7067 Dee, Squire. DJ (Good Morning, WTRF, Bradenton, FL, 1960).

7068 Dee, Tommy. DJ (Rise and Shine, WBSF, South Bend, IN, 1947–1952).

7069 Deegan, Johnny. DJ (KYW, Philadelphia, PA, 1948).

7070 Deem, Warren. Newscaster (WKBH, LaCrosse, WI, 1940).

7071 (The) Deems Taylor Musical Series. Both NBC divisions—Blue and Red—broadcast the educational course in grand opera with examples sung in English. Although the program originally was broadcast in a 45-minute format, it eventually was reduced to 30 minutes. The program's partial schedule in 1931 was as follows:

- May 3: The Second Reformation
- May 10: The Revolution
- May 17: Verdi
- May 24: The Opera After Wagner

May 31: American Composers and American Opera.

7072 (The) Deep River Boys. Vcl. mus., prg. (CBS, 1939; KDKA, Pittsburgh, PA, 1942). The good vocal group's early program began with the announcer proclaiming: "Columbia presents the Deep River Boys singing the spirituals of the old South...songs of faith and yearning...songs full of hard trials, great tribulations and glory in the day to come. Deep River songs by the Deep River Boys. First, the boys sing an old-time song of faith and help—"Don't Get Weary."

7073 Deer [Dear], Dottie. COM-HE (WFMC, Goldsboro, NC, 1957).

7074 Deering, Henry. Concert pianist (Henry Deering, instr. mus. prg., NBC, 1934).

7075 Dees, James. Baritone (James Dees, vcl. mus. prg., WPTF, Raleigh, NC, 1936).

7076 Deever, Hayes. Tenor (Hayes Deever, vcl. mus. prg., WJAS, Pittsburgh, PA, 1935).

7077 De'ao, Harmonica Joe. Harmonica soloist (KFWM, Oakland, CA, 1927).

7078 Defense Attorney (aka Defense Rests). The program was loosely based on the work of successful female attorney, Martha Ellis Bryan. The writers were Bill Johnston, Cameron Blake and Joel Murcott. Warren Lewis was the producer. Mercedes McCambridge played the leading role of the successful attorney. Other cast members included: Howard Culver, Paul Fries, co-author Bill Johnston and Kay Wiley (30 min., Friday, 8:00–8:30 P.M., ABC, 1951).

7079 Defilipo, Kim. COM-HE (WNOK, Columbia, SC, 1956).

7080 DeForest, Ed. Sportscaster (Ed DeForest's Inside of Sports, KRUX, Phoenix-Glendale, AZ, 1947–1949; KOY, Phoenix, AZ, 1953). DJ (Platter Party, KRUX, Phoenix, AZ, 1948).

7081 De Forest, (Dr.) Lee. Lee De Forest was an early pioneer of radio with an eye for the dramatic event. In the summer of 1908, for instance, he broadcast from the Eiffel Tower in Paris and achieved reception of his signal in Marseilles, exactly 500 miles away. A little more than a year later on January 10, 1910, De Forest broadcast Enrico Caruso singing the role of Turridou in Cavalleria Rusticana from the stage of the Metropolitan Opera. Although probably not more than 50 people heard the Caruso broadcast, public awareness and enthusiasm for radio increased. Next came his development of the "audion" amplifying tube, a modification of John Fleming's vacuum tube. De Forest's invention produced a more powerful tube that strengthened the detection and amplification of radio signals, improved long distance signal reception and helped to create modern electronics (Lewis, 1993, p. 53).

After years of litigation involving patent infringement, De Forest once more began his experimental broadcasts. He made radio history in 1916 with broadcasts transmitted from his experimental station located in New York City. Miss Vaughn deLeath, who from this point on was known as the "original radio girl," agreed to sing "Old Folks at Home" before his microphone. After climbing three flights of creaky stairs to reach De Forest's Highbridge laboratory, the broadcaster dramatically announced to her, "You are about to become the first woman ever to sing for people and continents invisible."

During the summer and fall of 1916, De Forest began broadcasting what some consider to be the first regular radio broadcasts (Archer, 1938, p. 133). Emanating from the Columbia Phonograph Records Laboratory in New York City his broadcasts consisted entirely of Columbia's new recordings. De Forest's programming was praised by the New York press and enthusiastically received by listeners.

After De Forest moved his experimental station from the borough of Manhattan to Highbridge in the Bronx, he demonstrated what may have been the first radio broadcasts of the news, when he personally presented hourly bulletins of the 1916 presidential election results. Unfortunately, he closed his broadcast with the announcement that Charles Evans Hughes had been elected president, an embarrassing error that the next morning's papers corrected. Nevertheless, De Forest's creativity both in invention and actual broadcasting make him one of American radio's pioneering giants. See also Chronology of Radio Growth and Development—1920–1960 Appendix and deLeath, Vaughn.

7082 (The) De Forest Audions. The De Forest Radio Company sponsored this Sunday evening music program (CBS, 1928–1929). The Audions, named after the radio tube invented by Lee De Forest, were a talented brass band.

7083 De'range, Anita. COM-HE (KTMC, McAlester, OK, 1956).

7084 Defreitas, Dick. DJ (It's a Woman's World, WMGM, New York, NY, 1955).

7085 Degele, Charles. Violinist (WHN, New York, NY, 1924).

7086 Degerman, Amy. Pianist (KYW, Chicago, IL, 1923).

7087 DeGonitch, Marianne. Russian opera singer (WGBS, New York, NY, 1928).

7088 DeGraff, Margaret. Harpist (WGY, Schenectady, NY, 1923).

7089 DeGrasse, (Signor) Antonio. Violinist (KTAB, Oakland, CA, 1925–1926).

7090 DeGraw, Louise. COM-HE (KATL, Miles City, MT, 1956–1957).

7091 DeGre, Muriel. COM-HE (WKNY, Kingston, NY, 1956).

7092 DeGrood, Elise. Violinist (WGR, Buffalo, NY, 1923).

7093 Dellarrack, Charles. Concert pianist (Charles DeHarrack, instr. mus. prg., WHK, Cleveland, OH, 1931).

7094 DeHaven, Bob. Sportscaster (KVOO, Tulsa, OK, 1937; WTCN, St. Paul, MN, 1938). DJ (DeHaven Date and Friendly Time, WCCO, Minneapolis, MN, 1948–1949). See also DeHaven's Date.

7095 DeHaven's Date. Popular announcer, sportscaster and radio personality Bob DeHaven hosted the variety show that was one of the most popular local programs of the 1940s. Frankie Roberts, Burt Hanson, Kenny Spears, Bidly Bastian, Irv Wickner, Ernie Garvin and Sally Foster were in the cast (WCCO, Minneapolis, MN, 1940s).

7096 Dehn, Doris. Soprano (Doris Dehn, vcl. mus. prg., WPG, Atlantic City, NJ, 1935–1936).

7097 Deihl, A. Newscaster (KVOE, Santa Ana, CA, 1937).

7098 Dein, Cowell. Pianist-banjoist (KFWI, San Francisco, CA, 1927).

7099 Deines, Nay. Sportscaster (KMMJ, Grand Island, NE, 1941–1956).

7100 Deiro, Pietro. Accordionist (WOR, Newark, NJ, 1929).

7101 Deis, Carol. Contralto (Carol Deis, vcl. mus. prg., NBC, 1935–1937).

7102 Deis, Edward. Singer (WFBH, New York, NY, 1925).

7103 DeJean, Louis. DeJean delivered aviation talks (KFI, Los Angeles, CA, 1928).

7104 DeJon, Lythe Orme. Newscaster (WRON, Ronceverte, WV, 1948).

7105 DeJong, Samuel. Leader (Samuel DeJong Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., CBS, 1934).

7106 DeJonge, Robert. Saxophonist DeJonge was a member with Robert Hazenberg of a saxophone duo (WOOD, Grand Rapids, MI, 1926).

7107 (The DeJurik Sisters. Carolyn and Mary Jane DeJurik were a popular Chicago harmony singing team (WLS, 1937–1938). They were great audience favorites on the National Barn Dance (WLS).

7108 Dekyle, Ben H. DJ (Yaunin' in the Morning, WGSW, Greenwood, SC, 1954).

7109 Del and, Jim. DJ (WWJ, Detroit, MI, 1957).

7110 Delacourt, Tom E. DJ (Morning Digest, WSL, Roanoke, VA, 1954).

7111 Delacroix, Richard. DJ (WJBW, New Orleans, LA, 1957).

7112 Delaney, Bob. Sportscaster (Inside Story on Sports, WHDN, Boston, MS, 1953).

7113 Delaney, Jim. Sportscaster (WMCA, New York, NY, 1954).

7114 Delaney, Verner. Tenor (KPCB, Seattle, WA, 1927).

7115 Delaporte, Ray. Leader (Ray Delaporte Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WBZ, Boston-Springfield, MA, 1932; 1935).

7116 De La Rosa Orchestra. Instr. mus. prg. (WIP, Philadelphia, PA, 1935).

7117 Delcoglin, Frank. CW vocalist (Frank Delcoglin, CW vcl. mus. prg., WDEL, Wilmington, DE, 1938).

7118 Del Monte Musical Comedy. The California Packing Company, producers of Del Monte food products, sponsored the music program featuring soprano Vivienne Segal and Emil Polak, who conducted the orchestra. The program presented condensed versions of Hollywood features, claiming they were “direct from the sound stages.” For example, Victor Herbert’s Mlle. Modeste with Helen Claire and Walter Pidgeon was one of the many presentations (30 min., Saturday, 8:30–9:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1930).

7119 deLeath, Vaughn (Leonore Vonderleith). A singer, composer and pianist, DeLeath was born in Mt. Pulaski, Illinois, September 26, 1900 and known as “The Original Radio Girl.” She claimed she was the first to broadcast live vocal music and that she was the “first lady announcer.” In 1916, Lee De Forest broadcast deLeath singing in New York City. De Forest called her “the first woman to sing for people and continents invisible” (Archer, 1933, p. 133).

Whenever Tommy Cowan needed a singer for WJZ (New York, NY) programming, it is said, he immediately summoned deLeath to the studio [See also Cowan, Tommy]. She is generally credited with originating the “crooning” style of singing. Some contend that deLeath sang in this manner in order to prevent damage to the delicate radio transmitting tubes used in early radio. Non-Skid (January 29, 1930, p. 3), the house journal of the Firestone Tire Company, described deLeath’s voice in this way: “Then came the low contralto of deLeath like the low moan of the wind, the break of the sea, the mother’s lullaby—undistorted to the pioneer radio audience.”

For a time in 1923, she was the leader of Vaughn deLeath’s Merry Melody Makers Orchestra (NBC, 1923) and Vaughn deLeath’s Marshland Orchestra (NBC, 1923). She sang on WGBS (New York, NY, 1925) and appeared on such programs as The Voice of Firestone and the Forban’s Tooth Paste Show. She continued to have her own programs into the next decade: Vaughn de Leath, vcl. mus. prg. (WTAM, Cleveland, OH, 1930; CBS, 1932; NBC, 1935–1936).

Tommy Cowan (1950–1951) said that deLeath was a performer he could always count on to broadcast on short notice in radio’s early days, whenever he was “caught short” or “disappointed with another artist.” Cowan (1950–1951, p. 46) said that he would go to her 38th Street apartment just off Sixth Avenue and find her in the middle of a dinner party. As he recounted it: “I would grab her arm and say, ‘Come on. You’re going to Newark.’ There would be a scene, but she’d finally put on her hat and start for Newark—completely unscheduled.” She built up a tremendous radio following.” He [Cowan, 1950–1951, p. 46] went on to explain why she was such an excellent radio singer in those early days: “She had a marvelous microphone technique. It was all the more marvelous since the microphone had to be humored, and she knew how to humor it.”

DeLeath enjoyed a varied career, appearing on Broadway in Laugh, Clown, Laugh at the Belasco Theater; becoming a successful composer; and performing on early television in 1939. A talented composer, she wrote some two hundred published songs. Some of her compositions were played on The Voice of Firestone during the first years it was on the air. She also hosted a program for aspiring composers, Want to Write a Song? (NBC, 1935).

(15 min., Monday, 8:15 P.M., CBS, 1935).
- 7294 (The) Diary of Jimmy Mattern. Darrell Ware wrote the daytime children's serial about the story of globe trotting Hollywood stunt pilot, Jimmy Mattern. Sponsored by the Pure Oil Company, the program was a popular juvenile daytime serial. The Pure Oil Company gave away three small hardbound books as a premium that described Mattern's radio adventures. The program was produced by Bob White (15 min., Monday through Friday, 5:15-5:30 P.M. CST, WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1936). Mattern's real aviation feats included a July 4-5, 1932 flight with Bennett Griffin from New York City to Berlin, Germany, by way of Newfoundland. This flight set a transatlantic record of 10 hours 15 minutes plus four other world records. Mattern also attempted the first solo flight around the world. He broke all speed records three-fourths of the way around the world before crashing in Siberia. After borrowing another plane, Mattern flew on to New York to complete his flight.

- 7382 Dinner Bell Time (aka The Dinner Bell). This long-time WLS favorite was broadcast each weekday at noon and presented several segments of information for farmers, music, humor and religious elements. Dinner Bell Time was conducted by gregarious Arthur Page. Each program opened with the sound of cowbells and the playing of the "National Anthem."

Farm news and devotional talks were intermixed with entertainment features. Many new-lweds visited the program, and when they did the "Wedding March" was played in their honor. Dr. John Holland, a Methodist minister, appeared regularly on the program for many years. Another popular feature was the Allotted Time Quartet of Elgin, Illinois, whose members were bass E.D. Cooke, tenor Caleb Marlowe, tenor O.R. Hasty and second bass Mayo Haas (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1937). Dinner Bell Time first went on the air March 2, 1926, with organist-pianist Martha Meier Whyland playing three piano solos and Marquis Smith singing "Loch Lomond."

7383 Dinner Music from the Rose Room of the Hotel Astoria. Joseph Knecht conducted the Astoria Hotel Orchestra on the program of classical music. One program that was broadcast in the spring of 1924 included the following selections: "Marche Lorraine" by Ganne; Selections from "Les Huguenots" by Meyerbeer; "The Arlesienne Suite" by Bizet; "Caprice Viennois" by Kreisler; "Entr'acte and Valse" from Copelia by DeLibes; "Habaniera" by Chabrier; "Lob der Fraven" by Strauss; and "Madame Sherry" by Hoshna (WEAF, New York, NY, 1924).

7384 Dinning Sisters. Popular close harmony singing group from the Chicago area (The Dinning Sisters, vcl. mus. prg., NBC, 1939; WJR, Detroit, MI, 1942). The sisters often performed on the National Barn Dance program (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1944). See also The National Barn Dance.

7407 Dixie Boys Orchestra. Music group that broadcast a Sunday afternoon program of tea dance music (WBBM, Chicago, IL, 1925).

7408 Dixie Circus. Uncle Bob Sherwood told tales that were designed to bring the thrill to "modern children" so they could experience what their fathers did "when the circus came to town." Uncle Bob Sherwood, an old time circus clown, told entertaining stories, a novelty band supplied the music, a calliope played and numerous animal sounds were produced by Bradley Barker. Ralph Freese was the announcer (30 min., Friday, 7:30–8:00 p.m., NBC-Blue, 1928–1929). The program was revived in 1934.

7409 Dixie Circus. This music program had a circus theme. Sponsored by Dixie Cups, the cast included Marcella Shields, Phillips Carlin and a "circus band" directed by Ludwig Laurier (30 min., Saturday, 8:00–8:30 p.m., WJZ-Blue, 1930). The program might have been another version of the Dixie Circus program described above.

(The) Dixie Clodhoppers see Binkley Brothers' Dixie Clodhoppers

7449 Dizzy Dean. Former baseball great Jay Hanna "Dizzy" Dean talked baseball with announcer Frank Eschen in his inimitable, frequently ungrammatical style and answered questions sent in by listeners. On this program sponsored by Johnson's Wax, Dean was an entertaining broadcaster. (15 min., Saturday, 5:00-

5:15 P.M., NBC, 1948). When Dean was criticized for using aint, he answered his critics by saying, "A lot of people who don't say aint, aint eating." Two other examples of the Dean broadcasting style are:

The runners had to go back to their respectable bases.

The pitcher and catcher are meeting to see if they're going to have nice cold Falstaff [beer] and a steak after the game.

Even if "Old Diz" sometimes suffered with his syntax, he still was more informative, interesting and entertaining than most other players who followed him on radio and television.

7450 Dizzy Fingers and Bud Taylor. An entertaining music program by an unidentified pianist and singer (WWVA, Wheeling, WV, 1935).

7455 Do You Know the Answer? The unique combination of news and quiz program was conducted by Alan Courtney, a DJ best known as host of The 1280 Club. In between news announcements, Courtney would call various persons chosen at random from the phone hook. If they answered the phone, they got a small prize. If they could correctly answer a question about some news event, they received an even larger prize (WQV, New York, NY, 1942).

7456 Doakes and Doakes. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gibson were a popular vaudeville singing team before they turned to radio and became San Francisco favorites in 1932.

7457 Doan, Douglas. Newscaster (KRBC, Abilene, TX, 1937).

7458 Doan, Ed. Newscaster (WOSU, Columbus, OH, 1940).

7459 Doane, Dorothy. COM-HE (WILS, Lansing, MI, 1957).

7461 Doane, Francis C. Soprano (WBZ, Boston-Springfield, MA, 1923).

7462 Dobbins, Joe. DJ (Yawn Patrol, WBNS, Columbus, OH, 1947).

7463 Dobbs, Dar. DJ (Pop Parade, KIDSH, Boise, ID, 1948).

7464 Dobbs, Hugh Barrett. Affectionately known as "Dobbsie" and "Captain Dobbsie," Hugh Barrett Dobbs first went on the air conducting morning health exercises and "pep club" programs (Health Exercises and Pep Class, KGO, Oakland, CA, 1925). In the evenings Dobbs would deliver talks on Physical Culture for the Family on KGO. His early morning exercise program in July, 1925, was called Energetics. He delivered what the station called Dobbsie's Daily Chat in 1929 assisted by William H. Hancock (30 min., Monday through Friday, KPO, 9:30-10:00 A.M., San Francisco, CA, 1929). That same year Dobbs began his Shell Happy Time program, an inspirational variety show that became a great Pacific Coast favorite (60 min., Monday through Friday, KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1929). The show was known by such varied names as Captain Dobbs Ship of Joy, Shell Happy Time, Shell Ship of Joy or merely The Ship of Joy.

The Ship of Joy (30 min., NBC, 1931) was an inspirational variety program that consisted of poetry for the young and old, but, somehow it mostly seemed to be addressed to those who were alone and needed friends. It contained good music, cheerful patter and inspiring poetry. Captain "Dobbsie" was talented at providing exactly what his listeners needed. As the skipper of the Ship of Joy, he featured violinist Max Dolin; organist "Wee Willie" Hancock; Negro tenor William Powers; soprano Helen Lowe; contralto Eileen Elman; actor Arnold McGuire; concert pianist Eleanor Bernard; pianist Dixie Marsh; violinist Caesar Linden; blind cellist John Faivre; flutist Antonio Linden; and harpist Kathryn Thompson. A comic team of Sambo (Sam Moore) and Ed (Ed Evans) also entertained, sometimes joined by Mrs. Sam Moore playing the role of Mandy. Also featured on the show were: the Whispering Cowboys (tenor Clarence Tollman and Curley David); baritone Edward Radell; Irish tenor Dan O'Brien; tenor Ricardo Jose; soprano Emily Hardy; and singer Annabelle Lee. Theodore Strong was the program's musical director and Edmund "Ed" Evans the staff continuity writer.

The program had one of the largest casts on radio, featuring as it did more than 50 singers, musicians and entertainers plus large orchestras and singing groups. Another of its regular features was Charles Kellogg's singing birds. The orchestras of both Cy Trobbe and Walt Roesner were featured at times. Orthocut Coffee sponsored a later network version of the show (The Ship of Joy, 30 min., Monday, 9:30-10:00 A.M., NBC-Red, 1933). Later, when the show was sponsored by the Stewart-Warner Company (Alemite) a commercial was delivered by Captain Dobbs as the orchestra played "Ave Maria" in the background; (The Ship of Joy, 15 min., Tuesday and Thursday, 10:30-10:45 P.M., CBS, 1935). This version of the show was sponsored by Stewart-Warner Company (Alemite). Captain Dobbsie still hosted the show with music provided by the Radio Ramblers, a mixed quartet and Horace Heidt's orchestra. Dobbs always closed all his shows by joyfully admonishing his listeners, "Happy Day."

7465 Dobbs, Jack. DJ (Platter Party, WZOB, Fort Payne, AL, 1952). Sportscaster (WZOB, 1953).

7466 Doblens, Frank R. Baritone (WHAS, Louisville, KY, 1923).

7467 Dobratz, Delphine. COM-HE (KDUZ, Hutchinson, MN, 1956).

7468 Dobson, Ethel. Soprano (WPG, Atlantic City, NJ, 1925).

7469 Dobson, George. Sportscaster (KTFS, Texarkana, TX, 1948; 1956). DJ (Alarm Clock Club, KAIT, Atlanta, TX, 1949; KTFS, 1954; Rise and Shine, KTFS, 1955).

7470 Dobyn's Shoestring Orchestra. California dance band (KGER, Long Beach, CA, 1929).

7471 Doc Applesauce. Arthur A. Frudenberg conducted a novel show as Doc Applesauce, who read from his book of inspirational poetry, proverbs and philosophy (WIL, St. Louis, MO, 1930). He began in radio as a pioneer announcer (WOAW, Omaha, NE, 1925).

7472 Doc and Grady. Doc Bellamy and Grady Forte were popular country entertainers (KMA, Shanandoah, IA, 1927). Although the team broadcast on KMA with various names, they were always great listener favorites.

7473 Doc Barclay's Daughter. Frank and Anne Hummert produced the 15-minute daytime serial drama broadcast daily Monday through Friday. It told the story of a father's effort to raise his three daughters and assist them with the various problems they encountered. Bennett Kilpack played the role of Doc Barclay, a widowed druggist. Doc's three daughters were played by Elizabeth Reller, Mildred Robin and Vivian Smolen. Janet Gilbert and Albert Hayes were also in the cast. The program's announcer was Tom Shirley (1938–1940, CBS).

7474 Doc Hopkins. Hopkins led a spirited music group on the CW music show (WJJD, Chicago, IL, 1937). Doc Hopkins starred previously on the WWVA Midnight Jamboree (1935).

7475 Doc Savage. Doc Savage, "the man of steel," fought criminals wherever he found them on the sustaining adventure show. The super hero possessed a great power that resided in a magic ring that immediately cast an evil eye over any and all villains that were encountered. The show was written by Ed Gruskin, produced by Charles Michaelson and directed by Garrett E. Hallihan (30 min., Wednesday, 8:00–8:30 P.M., WMCA, New York, NY, 1942).

7476 Doc Schneider's [Snyder's] Yodeling Cowboys. CW mus. prg. (WGY, Schenectady, NY and NBC, 1935).

7477 Doc Schneider's [Snyder's] Texans. CW mus. prg. (NBC, 1936).

7478 Doc Schneider [Snyder] and His Texans. Snyder's music group entertained on the lively CW music show presented by various sponsors (15 min., Monday through Saturday, 6:15–6:30 P.M., NBC, 1938).

7479 Doc Whipple. Whipple was a talented jazz pianist (15 min., NBC, 1936).

7480 Dochee, Jacob. DJ (Opera Favorites, WWJ, Detroit, MI, 1948).

7481 Dr. Allan Roy Dafeo. Dr. Dafeo, whose main claim to fame was his medical care of the Dionne Quintuplets — Yvonne, Annette, Emile, Cecile and Marie — broadcast this program from his hospital at Callender, Ontario, Canada. The program was sponsored by Lysol (15 min., Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 10:45–11:00 A.M., CBS, 1936).

7482 Dr. Arthur Torrance. Torrance, a famous explorer, related his many thrilling experiences on the quarter-hour program (15 min., Saturday, 8:00–8:15 P.M., CBS, 1930).

7483 Dr. Bones and Company. Paul Dumont and Jim Dandy were featured with their songs and patter on this radio minstrel show (15 min., Saturday, 5:30–5:45 P.M., WEAJ, New York, NY, 1935).

7484 Dr. Bundesen's Magazine of the Air. President Bundesen of Chicago's Board of Health started each of his programs with an editorial. Following the editorial, news events were reported by Dr. Hayden Roberts and then dramatized. Dr. Roberts followed the dramatization with another editorial comment. After musical interludes by pianist John Brown and organist Ralph Waldo Emerson, informative talks on nutrition and child rearing were provided and a daily serial drama presented. The daily drama was written by Hayden Roberts, John Welch and Herbert Futran, who also directed. Actors in the program's dramatizations were Al Halus, Maxine Garner, Jack Holden and Joe Kelly. The announcer was Les Tremayne (60 min., Monday through Friday, 9:00–10:00 A.M. CST, WLS, Chicago, 1934).

7486 Dr. Clyde Fisher. Dr. Fisher delivered astronomy talks on his sustaining program (15 min., Wednesday, 10:45–11:00 P.M., CBS, 1936).

7487 Dr. D.R. Hodgdon. Dr. Hodgdon broadcast talks on food and nutrition on his half-hour program four times weekly (30 min., Monday through Thursday, 5:00–5:30 P.M., CBS, 1928).

7488 Dr. Diamond's Medicine Show of the Air. A large cast provided the entertainment on the weekly mix of music, comedy and melodrama (WOAI, San Antonio, TX, 1932).

7489 Doctor Dollar. Unusual success stories about the odd ways men and women had used to make money were dramatized on this novel program (15 min., Tuesday, 6:45–7:00 P.M. CST, WMAQ, Chicago, IL, 1937). Success and money making were popular topics in the midst of the severe economic Depression then in progress.

7490 Dr. Edward Parrish. Parrish, an M.D., broadcast weekly health talks (15 min., MBS, 1938).

7491 Doctor Gino's Musicale. Orce again — as in previous years on the Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin Street program — Gene Hamilton, as Doctor Gino, hosted an entertaining program of Dixieland jazz. Henry "Hot Lips" Levin led the band, and many great jazz performers appeared each week as guest artists on the sustaining program (30 min., Monday, 10:30–11:00 P.M., MBS, 1950). Although the program followed the format of the Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin Street and presented good Dixieland jazz, it never equaled the sharp satire of that entertaining show (ABC, 1951–1952).

Dr. Humphrey Bate and His Possum Hunters see Bate, (Dr.) Humphrey

7492 Dr. Jazz. The jazz music program was hosted by Harry E. Seyer, then a local school superintendent. Seyer later became a Pennsylvania state senator (WSBA, York, PA, 1950).

7493 Dr. John Holland. Reverend Dr. Holland conducted a weekly religious program with the assistance of station organist Ralph Waldo Emerson and, sometimes, by singer "Little George" Goebel (15 min., Saturday, 6:45–7:00 A.M. CST, WLS, Chicago, IL, 1937). George Goebel later enjoyed success as a television comedian.

7494 Dr. Julius Klein. Klein discussed various topics related to national and world business (CBS, 1928–1929).

7495 Dr. Karl Reiland. Rev. Dr. Reiland, formerly the pastor of New York City's St. George Church, was one of the few regularly ordained ministers who appeared on commercially sponsored programs. His religious program was sponsored by the Pepperell Manufacturing Company (15 min., Friday, 7:15–7:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1937).

7496 Dr. Kildare (aka Calling Dr. Kildare and The Story of Dr. Kildare). The Dr. Kildare radio series was based on the stories of Max Brand (Frederick Schiller Faust), whose inspiration was prominent urologist George Winthrop Fish. The program appeared after the release of the popular series of motion pictures about Kildare that began with Young Dr. Kildare (1938) starring Lew Ayres as Kildare and Lionel Barrymore as Dr. Gillespie. The first Dr. Kildare picture was followed by several others including: The Secret of Dr. Kildare (1939); Dr. Kildare's Strange Case (1940); Dr. Kildare Goes Home (1940); Dr. Kildare's Crisis (1940); Dr. Kildare's Victory (1941); and Calling Dr. Gillespie (1942).

Dr. Kildare on radio starred Lew Ayres in the title role of a young doctor mentored by the gruff Dr. Gillespie, played by Lionel Barrymore. Both doctors worked at a large New York City hospital. The cast also included Ted Osborne and Virginia Gregg (30 min., Weekly, MBS, 1951-1952). The popular medical series made a successful transition to NBC television, beginning September 28, 1961, with Richard Chamberlain in the title role and Raymond Massey as his demanding mentor.

7497 Dr. Mu. A "mysterious Chinese philosopher," Dr. Mu provided sage comment and soothing music on his popular program, The Music and Musings of Dr. Mu (WABC, New York, NY, 1928). Dr. Mu was played by George Frame Brown, who also wrote the program on which he dispensed "ancient" precepts and various other choice bits of wisdom with an accompaniment of "oriental" music. Brown later was the creator and writer of the Real Folks program, in which he also played the leading role. See also Brown, George Frame and Real Folks.

7498 Dr. Palmer's Happy Hour Twins. Singing comedy team consisting of Pat Flanagan and Sunshine, his female piano-playing partner (WOC, Davenport, IA, 1928).

7499 Dr. Paul. Russell Thorson was in the title role on this program that was identified as "radio's wonderful story of love and service to humanity." As Dr. Paul, Thorson faced the tensions created by his ambitious wife, who wanted him to leave the small town hospital where he worked to establish a practice in New York City. In addition to Thorson, the cast included: Henry Blair, Sam Edwards, Gloria Gordon, Bob Holton, Janet Logan, Jean Olivet, Willard Waterman and Peggy Webber. Virginia Crosby wrote and Gil Faust directed the daytime serial sponsored by Wesson Oil and Snow Drift soap flakes. The announcer was Vincent Pelletier (15 min., Monday through Friday, 11:00-11:15 A.M., NBC, 1949).

7500 Dr. Pepper Parade. The blackface comedy team of Molasses and January, singers Jack Arthur and Margaret McCrea and the music of the Peter Van Steeden orchestra were featured on the variety show (30 min., Weekly, late 1930s).

7501 Doctor Q. The "Doctor" was a "mysterious masked man" who served as announcer-host (KSTP, St. Paul-Minneapolis, MN, 1929).

7502 Dr. Royal S. Copeland. Weekly 15-minute talks were broadcast by the popular physician (15 min., Monday through Friday, 10:00-10:15 A.M., NBC-Blue, 1927-1930). See also Copeland, Royal S.

7503 Dr. Scholl's Ramblers. The California Ramblers, the Rodeliers Male Quartet and singer Iona Mull appeared on the music show (15 min., Tuesday and Thursday, 7:45-8:00 P.M., NBC, 1931).

7506 (The) Dr. Talks with His Children. An informative monthly program, the Doctor was sponsored by the Hartford Medical Association. Dr. William Lane talked things over with his own adolescent children, Jack and Babs. Their conversations were always directed toward specific health topics (15 min., Saturday, 6:45-7:00, WTIC, Hartford, CT, 1939).

7507 Dr. West's Celebrity Night. Band leader George Olsen and his wife, singer Ethel Shutta, hosted and performed on the entertaining program sponsored by Dr. West's tooth powder. Joe Cook was the guest on the first show of their series (30 min., Saturday, 9:30-10:00 P.M., NBC, 1936).

7508 Dr. Wynne's Food Forum. The American Institute of Food Products sponsored Dr. Shirley Wynne to talk about food, health and her sponsor's products. Dr. Wynne was formerly New York City's Health Commissioner, and, later, president of the Home Institute of Food Products. Ella Mason, the program's home economist, also participated each week. The announcer was Joe O'Brien (30 min., Tuesday, 9:30-10:00 P.M., WMCA, New York, NY, 1940).

7554 Don Amazio, Wizard (aka Don Amazio the Unknown Violinist). A combination musical serial drama and travelog. The program featured an announcer telling the story of a handsome violinist. At the conclusion of each program, Don Amazio, the young violinist, played a violin solo (30 min., Sunday, 8:30–9:00 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1926–1927). The following year the program was broadcast daily in a 15-minute format.

7555 Don Ameche's Real Life Stories. Patterned after the My True Story program, the dramatic series dramatized the stories of men and women with personal problems. Ameche narrated and also played the leading role in each dramatic episode. Other cast members were: Ralph Bell, Jacky Grimes, Evelyn Juster, Santos Ortega, Ruth Warwick and Lawson Zerbe. The program was written by David Driscoll. The producer and director was Himan Brown (30 min., Monday through Friday, 10:30–11:00 A.M., NBC, 1958).

7556 (The) Don Ameche Show. Drene shampoo sponsored this series of dramatic sketches that replaced the Rudy Vallee Show in 1946. Each of the sketches starred veteran motion picture and radio actor Ameche. The program was directed by Carlton Alop and Howard Wiley. The announcer was Marvin Miller (30 min., Weekly, CBS, 1946–1947). Ameche began his professional career by appearing on some of radio's most popular programs: Betty and Bob, The Bickersons, Maxwell House Coffee Show (Bergen and McCarthy), First Nighter, Grand Hotel, Jack Armstrong the All-American Boy and The National Farm and Home Hour.

7557 Don and Helen. An entertaining singing team, Helen also played the piano (Saturday, 6:15–6:30 P.M., WLS, Chicago, IL, 1937 and Saturday, 1:45–2:00 P.M., WLS, 1937).

7559 Don Carlos Marimba Band. Instr. mus. prg. (NBC-Blue, 1930).

7560 Don Jose. Vel. mus., prg. featuring an otherwise unidentified vocalist (NBC, 1935).

7561 (The) Don Juan Hour. The program of semi-classical and chamber music was conducted by George Earle (WOR, Newark, NJ, 1929).

7562 (The) Don Lang Animal Stories. The Christian Hanson Laboratories sponsored the series of true animal tales told with a dramatic flair by Don Lang. Lang also conducted a club for his young listeners (15 min., Tuesday and Thursday, 5:45–6:00 P.M., WABC, New York, NY, 1933).

7563 (The) Don Lee Symphony Orchestra. Instr. mus. prg. (KHJ, Los Angeles, CA, 1928).

7665 Double or Nothing. Various hosts such as Walter Compton, John Reed King, Todd Russell and, finally, Walter O'Keefe posed the questions to contestants on the quiz show. On their last question, contestants were able to either double their winnings or lose them all. The sponsor when it first went on the air in 1940 was Feenamint laxative. The announcer was Fred Cole. The producer was Diana Bourbon and the writers were Harry Bailey, Carroll Carroll and Gerald Rice. The final version of the program broadcast in 1953 was sponsored by Campbell Soups (30 min., Monday through Friday, 3:00-3:30 P.M., CBS, 1953). The long-running show was broadcast on three major networks at one time or another (MBS, CBS, NBC, 1940-1953).

7666 Double Suds Review. Conducted by Home Economist Jane Hamilton, this supposedly was the "first" program of news specially broadcast for women. The sponsors were the American Family Soap Flakes and American Family Soap (WMAQ, Chicago, IL, 1931).

7667 Double Voiced News Commentary. Don Pryor, CBS Special Events Director in San Francisco and Carroll Hansen appeared on the unusual news program for an informal conversation about the news of the day (15 min., 11:45-12:00 noon, KQW, San Francisco, CA, 1942).

7731 Doyle, John. DJ (Johnny Comes Early, KFI, Yakima, WA, 1947).

7732 Doyle, Larry. DJ (Dancing Party, KGA, Spokane, WA, 1948). Sports caster (Great Moments in Sports, KGA, 1948).

7733 Doyle, Leonard. Tenor (WQJ, Chicago, IL, 1926).

7734 Doyle, Victor. Tenor (KTAB, Oakland, CA, 1927).

7735 Dozier, Lydia. Dozier was an operatic soprano with the Cincinnati Civic Opera Company, WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1928).

7736 Dragnet. Although the program supposedly was drawn from the files of the Los Angeles Police Department with the cooperation of its Chief, William Parker, Variety said it glamorized the lives of police detectives. On the other hand, others considered it to be a highly successful attempt to depict police work realistically. There were attempts to make the program realistic by having Sergeant Joe Friday, played by Jack Webb, frequently refer to the time: "Twelve-fifteen. We were working the day watch out of homicide." Friday's assistant was played by Barton Yarborough. Charles McGraw was also in the cast.

After the death of Yarborough in 1951, Friday's assistant was played by Frank Smith. Although Dragnet started as a summer replacement for The Life of Riley, Variety noted that it became, first, one of radio's and, later, television's most popular programs. Initially sponsored by Fatima cigarettes, the sponsorship was later taken over by Chesterfield. In addition to Webb, Yarborough and McGraw, the other cast members included: Richard Boone, Ken Peters, Raymond Burr, Harry Morgan, Stacy Harris, Virginia Gregg, Vic Perrin, Georgia Ellis, Barney Phillips and Marvin Miller. The program was directed by Bill Rousseau. The announcers were George Fenneman and Hal Gibney (30 min., Friday, 10:00-10:30 P.M., NBC, 1949).

7737 Drago, Lou. Ukulele (WAHG, Richmond Hill, NY, 1926).

7738 Dragonette, Jessica. Miss Dragonette was a singer who enjoyed great popularity from her earliest appearances on radio. Dragonette was first known as "Vivian the Coca-Cola Girl" when she appeared on CBS in 1927. She later broadcast under her own name on the Cities Service Concert program, (NBC-Red, New York, NY, 1927-1930); the A&P Gypsies program (NBC, New York, NY, 1927); The General Motors Family Party (NBC, New York, NY, 1927); The Philco Theater Memories (CBS, New York, 1927-1930); and the Hoover Sentinels program (NBC-Blue, 1929). One time when on tour, she attracted 150,000 people to her concert in Chicago's Grant Park—an indication of her great popularity with the listening public.

7739 Drake, Al. Sports caster (WELL, Battle Creek, MI, 1937).

7740 Drake, Alice Hutchins. On her more than 100 programs, Drake presented book reviews along with comments on art in general and painting in particular. In addition, she discussed sight-seeing in Washington (WRC, Washington, DC, 1930).

7741 Drake, Dale. Sports caster (WRR, 1939-1941). Newscaster (WRR, Dallas, TX, 1939).

7742 Drake, Francis B. Newscaster (NBC-Blue, 1945).

7743 Drake, Frank. DJ (WGHI, Norfolk-Newport News, VA, 1957).

7744 Drake, Galen. Newscaster (ABC, 1945-1947). See also Galen Drake.

7745 Drake, John. Newscaster (KCKN, Kansas City, KS, 1941).

7746 Drake, Myron. Newscaster (KTAR, Phoenix, AZ, 1938–1941, 1946). Sports-caster (KTAR, 1940–1941; KTAR, 1946–1954).

7747 Drake, Patti. COM-HE (WORC, Worcester, MA, 1957).

7748 Drake Concert Ensemble. Henry Selinger directed this talented ensemble that included Leon Benditsky, Armand Buisseret, Frank Kiesca, Fred Meinken and Leon Iichtenfeld (WDAP, 1923; WGN, Chicago, IL, 1928).

7749 Drake Hotel Dance Orchestra. Hotel band led by Bobby Mecker (WGN, Chicago, IL, 1928).

7750 Drama. Dramatic productions in radio's early days were few. One of the earliest was the WGY (Schenectady, NY) full length two and a half-hour August 3, 1922, broadcast of Eugene Walter's melodrama, The Wolf directed by Edward H. Smith. Later, The Old Soak was broadcast from New York's Plymouth Theater by WJZ (New York, NY). From these modest beginnings numerous dramatic productions eventually were broadcast, but not all were of high quality.

Norman Corwin, writing as a radio critic in 1935 for the Springfield, MA, Republican observed: "There is about as much creative genius in radio today as there is in a convention of plasterers and plumbers." Certainly a major exception to Corwin's criticism were the pioneering efforts of WGY and the Eveready Hour broadcasts of the early and middle 1920s. Sponsored by the National Carbon Company, the Eveready Hour was first broadcast by WFAF (New York, NY) in December 4, 1923. A variety program, it was one of the first network programs to attract critical praise and wide spread popularity. The program at various times presented minstrel shows, full length dramatic productions and one-act plays with Broadway casts. One of its finest productions was a dramatization of Edna Ferber's Show Boat that was broadcast when her book was first published. In addition to the many famous performers presented on the Eveready Hour, many of its productions featured the first and perhaps greatest radio actress—Rosaline Greene.

Born Rosaline Greenberg in Hempstead, Long Island, she attended New York University, before transferring to Albany State College in her sophomore year to complete her studies. Her first radio acting job came about almost by accident. When station WGY in Schenectady was attempting to assemble a stock company of radio actors, Edward Smith, who wanted to produce and direct dramatic productions, put out a call to area colleges for acting talent. Although only a sophomore at Albany State, Greene was sent to Schenectady by a professor who told her, "You might as well go along, Rosaline. You've got a nice voice" (Greene, 1951, p. 2). She was hired by WGY immediately and appeared the following week in the station's production of Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice. Greene went on to be acclaimed as the leading WGY actress, while working for the magnificent salary of five dollars a week. After she worked at WGY for two years and received even more critical acclaim, her salary was raised to seven dollars and fifty cents a week.

Plays at WGY were broadcast weekly on its regular Theatre Night Friday evening program from 8:00 P.M. to 10:30 or 11:00 P.M., depending upon the play's length. After graduating from Albany State, Greene returned to New York City, where she soon appeared in dramatic productions on Broadway. Returning to radio, she became a regular on The Eveready Hour, one of early radio's most distinguished programs. After playing the leading role in Joan of Arc, she continued on The Eveready Hour for the next three years. Greene said the first real director on radio who had a Broadway background was Gerald Stopp, who had been brought into radio by Bertha Brainard.

After the Eveready Hour, Greene went on to play in many other radio productions—large and small—including daytime serial programs. Incidentally, she always resented the term: "soap opera," considering it demeaning to both performers and their audience (Greene, 1951, p. 27). She appeared in one of New York's first daytime serial programs, The Luck of Joan Christopher, in 1930 sponsored by Hecker's Flour on station WOR (Newark, NJ) three nights a week. Pauline Lord and Lou Tellegen appeared on the program with Greene. In her long radio career, Greene played many roles in all types of programs from heroine in dramatic productions to comedy stooge for Eddie Cantor. Arguably, she was the first and finest actress ever developed by radio [See also Greene, Rosaline].

The quality of early radio's dramatic productions varied greatly, but entertainment was always guaranteed. One writer-producer-director who combined entertainment with a firm philosophical frame of reference was Carleton E. Morse, a veritable one man fiction factory, equally famous for his enormous energy. Morse went to work for NBC in September 1929, the month of the disastrous stock market crash that preceded the Great Depression. Despite the somber economic conditions, Morse was kept busy writing for the many shows that emanated from NBC-San Francisco for many years.

Morse's most memorable program was One Man's Family, an early dramatic serial that ran for some 20 years without losing any of its principal cast members, remarkable proof of its listener popularity and the loyalty and mutual respect that existed between its writer and cast. Morse's suggestions on how to write dramatic radio serials precisely described his own successful approach and the good chemistry that existed between the writer and his actors. Few writers were more prolific than Morse. Most famous for One Man's Family and I Love a Mystery, Morse was fond of using the same actors in all his programs. He often said that the actors he cast in his programs helped him write his shows. Morse felt that there was a definite interaction between his actors playing certain roles and the show's on-going plot.

Morse said that he knew the actors playing the roles so well, that he was not only writing fiction, but something of each actor into the plot (Morse, 1945, p. 116). Since he knew the actors who played in One Man's Family for several years, their personal characteristics, mannerisms and professional skills helped him plot the story. For instance, he thought of actors on the show and their special characteristics in this way: Father Barber (J. Anthony Smythe) was a Republican conservative with strong upper-middle class values; Mother Barber (Minetta Ellen) was a quiet, warmly sympathetic woman whose exchanges with her children were particularly engaging; Paul Barber (Michael Raffetto), the eldest son, had a rich, resonant voice and a coolly controlled serious manner; Hazel (Bernice Berwin) was the oldest daughter whose warm, gentle and serene manner made her an excellent mother; Claudia (Kathleen Wilson) was a light-hearted comedy actress; and Clifford (Barton Yarborough) was an easy going person who sometimes demonstrated a moody disposition.

Writer-director-producer Morse was innovative, prolific and highly successful, not merely because of his own considerable talent and high energy level, but also because he was insightful enough to keep what, in effect, was a repertory company of radio actors together for many years. Between 1931 and 1944 alone, it was estimated that he wrote between 18 and 20 million words for radio. When One Man's Family finally ended in 1959, it was with Book 189. Each "book" was an 80,000 to 100,000 word novella, meaning that millions of words had been written for and spoken on the program. Even if he lacked the versatility of an Arch Oboler or the artistic achievements of a Norman Corwin, no radio writer enjoyed greater listener popularity or remained prolific as long as Carleton E. Morse.

Probably the Columbia Workshop (later the Columbia Radio Workshop) was the most creative series ever broadcast. Originally conceived, developed and produced by Irving Reis, the only criterion for inclusion of a writer's work in the series was that it be creative in concept and innovative in production technique. Begun in 1936, the program became a training ground and testing space for new writing styles and experimental techniques. Sound effects and music became an integral part of the series' productions. Bernard Hermann composed and conducted most of the music for the programs. Erik Barnouw, who saw the 1930s as a renaissance period in American radio, noted that the Columbia Workshop played a major role by its many significant contributions. Orson Welles, Norman Corwin and Arch Oboler were among the major movers in the dramatic changes that occurred and the first two dramatists came out of the Columbia Workshop programs.

After the broadcast of Archibald MacLeish's "The Fall of the City" on April 11, 1937, the program presented the work of such other distinguished writers as Norman Corwin, Lord Dunsany, Steven Vincent Binet, Alfred Kreymborg, Pare Lorentz, Dorothy Parker, Irving Reis, William Saroyan, Wilbur Daniel Steele and Max Wylic. After Reis, William N. Robson took over production of the program. The program was one of William Paley's considerable cultural cen-tribution, but its frequent cancellations and renewals were unfortunate (1936–1941; 1946–1947; 1956–1957). The program became the Columbia Radio Workshop when it was revived in 1956. It is estimated that more than 318 programs were broadcast in the series.

Orson Welles, who gained radio experience on the Columbia Workshop, first attracted national attention as a “boy genius,” responsible for the Mercury Theater productions on Broadway. He came to radio with his Mercury Theater program series in 1938. It was on this series that his “Martian Panic” broadcast made radio history. For Welles, the program was the earth-shaking radio achievement that Citizen Kane was for him in motion pictures. Artistic and critical merit aside, the “Panic Broadcast” was significant for its demonstration of the widespread hysterical reactions a radio broadcast could produce.

Many examples of individual and group hysteria were reported during and after the broadcast. Some listeners who tuned in during the middle of the program believed they were hearing actual news bulletins and battle scene reports of Martian armies invading New Jersey. The hysteria of many others, however, resulted from hearing by word-of-mouth the news that hostile Martians had landed and were terrorizing the country side. Anyone who had been listening from the program’s beginning should have known better, for they were clearly told what they were about to hear.

The program’s opening announcement was: “CBS presents Orson Welles and the Mercury Theatre of the Air in a radio play by Howard Koch suggested by H.G. Wells’ novel, The War of the Worlds.” Welles then came on to explain further: “We know now that in the early years of the twentieth century the world was being watched closely by intelligences greater than man’s, but as mortal as his own, who regarded this earth with envious eyes and surely drew their plans against us. In the thirty-eighth year of the twentieth century came the great disillusionment.”

Despite this opening and three announcements made during the program itself to tell listeners this was an adaptation of H.G. Wells’ War of the Worlds, some listeners responded with irrational hysteria. After the program was over and Welles understood what had transpired, he feigned surprise as to what all the fuss was about. At a press conference the next day, Wells was asked if he was aware of the terror the broadcast would cause. He answered, “Definitely not. The technique I used was not original with me. It was not even new. I anticipated nothing unusual.”

After all, it was true that Welles had concluded the program by saying that it all had been nothing but a Mercury Theatre Halloween prank: “The Mercury Theatre’s own radio version of dressing up in a sheet and jumping out of a bush and saying, ‘Boo!’” He then went on to say, “Remember please, for the next day or so, the terrible lesson you learned tonight. The grinning, global invader of your living room is an inhabitant of the pumpkin patch, and if your doorbell rings and there’s no one there, that was no Martian. It’s Halloween.” Listening to a recording of the “War of the World” broadcast makes one wonder how so many people could believe it was “real” and react as hysterically as some did.

Social psychologist Hadley Cantril in his study of the incident, The Invasion from Mars, noted that in 1938 that of 32,000,000 American families, 27,500,000 had radios. This, he concluded, meant that for many families radio was their major source of information, and, furthermore, one that they had come to trust explicitly.

Another equally reasonable explanation for the hysterical reactions of so many was the state of mind of most Americans in 1938. The year of 1938 had been one in which there was the constant threat of an European war—an almost constant state of crisis that built to a climax only at the last minute giving way to a momentary resolution. Nerves for many citizens were at a breaking point. Hitler and Mussolini in Europe and the Japanese in Asia were menacing forces. A trust in radio combined with the state of the world’s tensions made the American public particularly susceptible to such an erroneous over reaction.

Among the hysterical reactions the program produced was the one in Concrete, Washington, when that city’s power plant failed in the middle of the program and its inhabitants fled frightened into the surrounding hills. On the eastern seaboard, hundreds of doctors and nurses telephoned police stations to volunteer their services. Many officers and men of the National Guard, believing they had been mobilized to battle the Martians, telephoned New Jersey headquarters to ask where they should report for duty.

There was a great diversity of opinion about the event the following day. Welles said he was sorry. Columnist Dorothy Dunbar Bromley scorned the public reaction:

The United States must be the laughing stock of Europe today. To populations who have really been endangered by air raids or the immediate threat of air raids, it will be to laugh that countless Americans were driven into a panic by a make believe radio dramatization of an H.G. Wells’ gas attack on this planet by the Martians.

The New York World-Telegram editorialized:

If so many people could be misled unintentionally, when the purpose was merely to entertain, what could designing politicians not do through control of broadcasting stations? The dictators of Europe use radio to make their people believe falsehoods. We want nothing like that here. Better have American radio remain free to make occasional blunders than start on a course that might, in time, deprive it of freedom to broadcast uncensored truth.

It remained for columnist Heywood Brown to provide the most perceptive comment of all:

I doubt that anything of the sort would have happened four or five months ago. The course of world history has affected national psychology. Jitters have come to roost. We have just gone through a laboratory demonstration of the fact that the peace of Munich hangs heavy over our heads like a thundercloud. If many sane citizens believed that Mars had jumped us suddenly they were not quite as silly as they seemed.

Welles at first was reluctant to accept any responsibility for the program, although he had produced and directed it, but eventually he did say he was sorry. A few years later in 1940, however, Welles tried to take writing credit away from Koch and take it for himself (Callow, 1996, p. 406). No one ever disputed the fact that Welles’ ego was as large as his considerable talent. As a radio actor, probably to his discomfort, he was best known for his short-lived portrayal in the title role of The Shadow. Perhaps Mrs. Hans V. Kaltenborn put the Mars Panic Broadcast in its proper perspective when she said, “Why, anybody should have known it was not a real war. If it had been, the broadcaster would have been Hans.”

A radio dramatist whose body of work has never been equaled was Norman Corwin. A gifted poet with words and sound, he explored radio’s possibilities and used them to their fullest to produce many memorable programs. Corwin was convinced of the value of radio and its unique possibilities. Although early in his career as newspaper man, Corwin had been critical of radio drama and its practitioners, he understood early the uniqueness of radio, its nature and potential. He said that he believed radio would someday develop a literature as great as that of the theater. Corwin’s assessment and prediction was accurate. Welles, Oboler and Corwin were the newcomers to radio who understood the medium’s nature and potential. If Welles had not spread his time and talent in so many different areas, he might have made as many significant contributions to radio as did Norman Corwin and Arch Oboler.

It is no exaggeration to say that Corwin’s work was an important part of radio’s golden age. One of his most memorable programs was his On a Note of Triumph, broadcast on VE Day, May 8, 1945, for which he was credited as writer, director and producer. Billboard magazine described the broadcast as, “The single greatest radio program we have ever heard.” They called Corwin the “poet laureate of radio.” Martin Gabel narrated On a Note of Triumph. The cast included Harry Bartell, Euba Deal, Johnny Bond, Ludwig Donath, Fred Essler, June Foray, Alex Hartford, Ramsey Hill, Merton Koplin, Raymond Lawrence, Elliott Lewis, Joan Lorring, Pat McGeehan, Lucille Meredith, Norbert Muller, Dick Nelson, Jim Nusser, George Sorel, Irene Tedrow, Peter Witt and Joe Worthy. The program’s music was composed by Bernard Hermann and conducted by Lud Gluskin. On a Note of Triumph was a prime example of Corwin’s poetic drama at its best.

Another powerful Corwin program, We Hold These Truths, was a celebration of the United States Constitution. It was broadcast December 15, 1941, only eight days after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. Narrated by Jimmy Stewart, the cast included: Edward Arnold, Lionel Barrymore, Walter Brennan, Bob Burns, Walter Huston, Elliott Lewis, Marjorie Main, Edward G. Robinson, Rudy Vallee and Orson Welles.

During Corwin's long career, he showed respect for radio by providing it with some of its finest moments and contributing such series as The Columbia Workshop and his own So This Is Radio (1939); 26 by Corwin (1941); This Is War (1942); An American in England (1942); Columbia Presents Corwin (1944); and One World Flight (1947).

An assessment of Corwin's work can only be made when it is heard, since his medium was spoken words and sounds. After World War II, some of Corwin's work began to sound shrill and repetitive, but when his words sang, and most of them did, especially when his performers delivered them with an emotional gamut ranging from anger to hysteria, the superior nature of Corwin's work was apparent.

When Corwin first joined CBS, Arch Oboler had already enchanted and challenged his listeners with his Lights Out program, and Orson Welles had scared his listeners out of their wits with his War of the Worlds broadcast. Oboler's style was uniquely different from that of the other two. One of Oboler's characteristics was his stream of consciousness dialogue that gave his programs a great sense of reality combined at times with an imagery of fantasy.

Although he was best known for his Lights Out series and Arch Oboler's Plays on NBC, Oboler also wrote the famous lines delivered by Mae West on the Bergen-McCarthy Maxwell House Coffee Hour that resulted in the actress being banned from the air. After working on Lights Out, Oboler was eager to try his hand at experimental drama by writing, producing and directing it. NBC gave him an opportunity on his Arch Oboler's Plays series broadcast on the network from 1939 to 1940. Experimental in all its dramatic and technical techniques, the program was critically acclaimed as successful. It was so successful that many stars asked to perform on it. Alla Nazimova frequently performed for Oboler, along with others such as: Jimmy Cagney, Bette Davis, Edmund O'Brien and Frank Lovejoy. Probably his best remembered program of the series was his production of the tragic "Johnny Got His Gun" written by Dalton Trumbo.

A revival of the program in the format of Oboler's Plays was broadcast by Mutual Broadcasting System in 1945 [see Lights Out, Plays for Americans, Arch Oboler's Plays, Everyman's Theater, Treasury Star Parade, Free World Theater and Oboler's Plays].

The work of Carleton E. Morse, Norman Corwin and Arch Oboler was similar in that in their best work all three served as writer, producer and director. All three, although varying in style, were radio writers in the strictest and best sense. All had prodigious energy, a love and respect for words and a facility with language. Although different from each other in style, content and substance, all possessed the highest ethical standards and consistently portrayed a strong, consistent point of view.

7751 Dramas of Everyday Life. The Indemnity Insurance Company of North America sponsored the dramatic program about how persons were saved from the dire consequences of automobile accidents, fire, broken windows, etc., by their insurance policies. Margaret (Mike) Schaeffer wrote and played small roles in the dramatized portions of the program. Others in the cast were: Alma Mackenzie, Sam Serota and Al Woods (15 min., Tuesday and Thursday, 8:15-8:30 P.M., WIP, Philadelphia, PA, 1936).

7752 Dream Boat. Emery Deutsch's Orchestra was featured on the pleasant music show (30 min., Thursday, 11:00-11:30 P.M., CBS, 1930).

7753 Dream Daddy. Harry Ehrhart told bedtime stories on his Dream Daddy program (WDAR, Philadelphia, PA, 1923; WLIT, Philadelphia, PA, 1926).

7754 Dream Drama. The veteran radio team of Arthur Allen and Parker Fennelly appeared in the quarter-hour dramatic sketch (NBC, 1935).

7755 (The) Dream Singer. Ralph Kirbery was the popular Dream Singer (15 min., Monday through Friday, 12:00-12:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1932).

7756 Dream Valley. Reginald King read poetry on the weekly sustaining program (15 min., Tuesday, 11:45-12:00 midnight, WPEN, Philadelphia, PA, 1941).

7757 Dreams Come True. Baritone Barry McKinley and the Ray Sinatra Orchestra provided the program's romantic music (15 min., Tuesday, 2:45-3:00 P.M., NBC, 1935).

7758 Dreams of Long Ago. After being off the air for some time, Ethel Park Richardson's dramatizations of sentimental ballads, heart songs and old folk songs returned to NBC in 1936. The program presented dramatic versions of songs such as "The Old Oaken Bucket." The songs were sung by the Vass Trio—Frank, Virginia and Sally—and dramatized by a cast of five actors (30 min., Wednesday, 4:00-4:30 P.M. CST, NBC-Red, 1936).

7759 Dreis, Dave. DJ (KENT, Shreveport, LA, 1955).

7760 Drebing, Carl. Newscaster (KGFX, Pierre, SD, 1937).

7761 Dreeben, Rose. Soprano (WEAF, New York, NY, 1925).

7762 Dreer, Walter. Cello (WIP, Philadelphia, PA, 1926).

7763 Drees, Jack. Sportscaster (WJJD, Chicago, IL, 1938; WIND, Chicago, IL and WJJD, 1939-1941; WIND, 1945; Drees on Sports, WJJD, 1953; WBKB, Chicago, IL, 1955).

7764 Dreier, Alex. Newscaster (News of the World, World News Parade, Dreier Comments, and News at Noon, NBC, 1942; WMAQ, Chicago, IL, 1942-1944; NBC, 1945; WMAQ, 1945-1946; Skelly News, NBC, 1947-1948).

7765 (The) Drene Show. Don Ameche hosted, sang and clowning on this variety show sponsored by Drene Shampoo. Other regular cast members were singer Joanell James and comic Pinky Lee. Each week guest stars such as Ida Lupino appeared. Truman Bradley was the announcer (30 min., 10:00-10:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1946).

7766 Drennan, Lee. DJ (Number Please, KCLV, Clovis, NM, 1954).

7767 Dreno's Orchestra. Instr. mus. prg. (WOR, Newark, NJ, 1935).

7768 Drepperd, Bob. DJ (Morning in Norfolk, WLOW, Norfolk, VA, 1947; PM Club, WLOW, 1948-1949).

7769 Dreschler, Gerry. Newscaster (WISC, Madison, WI, 1948).

7770 Dresden, Rosalie. Singer (Rosalie Dresden, vcl. mus. prg., WSBC, Chicago, IL, 1935).

7771 Dreskell, Lucille. Soprano (KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1926).

7772 Dreslin, Dorothy. Soprano (Dorothy Dreslin, vcl. mus. prg., NBC, 1935-1937, 1939).

7773 Dress Rehearsal. The program's novel format pretended to take listeners behind the scenes as though they were present at a radio program's rehearsal. Singers Mabel Albertson and Morton Bowe was featured along with comedian Joe Rines (30 min., Sunday, 10:30-11:00 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1936).

7774 Dresselhuys, Tom. DJ (Night Watch, KSDN, Aberdeen, SD, 1952).

7775 Drew, Albert "Al." Sportscaster (WBTM, Danville, VA, 1939-1941; WBBB, Burlington, NC, 1942; WCBT, Roanoke Rapids, NC, 1945). Newscaster (WCBT, 1945).

7776 Drew, Dave. DJ (WTAX, Springfield, IL, 1955).

7777 Drew, Ed. Leader (Ed Drew Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WPRO, Providence, RI, 1939).

7778 Drew, Sally. COM-HE (WJER, Dover, OH, 1956-1957).

7779 Dreyfuss, Dick. DJ (Pop Melody Time, WAGM, Presque Isle, ME, 1947-1949).

7780 Drifting Pioneers. CW mus. prg. (WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1938, 1942).

7782 Driscoll, Dave. Newscaster (WOR, Newark, NY, 1938; The Show of the Week, MBS, 1939). Sportscaster (WOR, 1938-1940).

7783 Driscoll, Dick. DJ (Music Before Midnight, KXRA, Alexandria, MN, 1952).

7784 Driscoll, Maurice. Newscaster (KGEZ, Kalispell, MT, 1945-1946).

7785 Driscoll, Richard V. Newscaster (WBTA, Batavia, NY, 1942).

7786 Driscolo, Richard. Newscaster (WLIP, Kenosha, WI, 1948).

- 7787 Driskell, Jim. DJ (WINN, Louisville, KY, 1955).
- 7788 Driury [Drury], Bernard. Driury conducted one of the earliest physical exercise programs on his Daily Dozen program (KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1925).
- 7789 Drive East. As a recognition of the importance of radio to drivers, the drive time show presented the humor of Jean Shepherd and the music of the Tommy Reynolds Orchestra. The program premiered Monday, November 7, 1955 (60 min., Monday through Friday, WOR, New York, NY, 1955). See also Jean Shepherd.
- 7790 Drohlich, Robert "Bob." Newscaster (KDRO, Sedalia, MO, 1939-1942).

- 7833 Duffy's Tavern. Ed Gardner, as Archie, the manager of Duffy's Tavern, "Where the Elite Meet to Eat," was the focal point around which all the comedic action swirled on this popular situation comedy. The Archie character first appeared on a CBS sustaining program, So This Is New York, created by Gardner and George Faulkner. Archie appeared again on Forecast, thanks to Abe Burrows. Forecast was an hour-long show, on which CBS presented pilot and preview versions of programs that were being considered for later network broadcast. Because of the favorable listener response, Duffy's Tavern was placed on the CBS schedule in 1941. During its 11-year run, the show featured many talented comics, notably Shirley Booth as Duffy's daughter, Miss Duffy; Alan Reed (Teddy Bergman) as Clancy the Cop; Charlie Cantor as Finnegan, whose IQ was even below counting or measuring; and Eddie Green as Eddie the waiter in a funny role, somewhat reminiscent of Jack Benny's Rochester. Other members of the cast were: Gloria Erlanger, Sandra Gould, Florence Halop, Florence Robinson, Hazel Shermet, Lurene Tuttle and Dickie Van Patten. Its announcers were: Jack Bailey, Marvin Miller, Rod O'Connor, Jimmy Wallington and Perry Ward. Among the show's many talented writers were Abe Burrows, Raymond Ellis, Ed Gardner, Alan Kent, Bill Manhoff, Larry Marks, Lew Meltzer, Norman Paul, Ed Reynolds and Manny Sachs. Mitchell Benson, Rupert Lucas, Jack Roche and Tony Stanford were the producers. Bob Graham, Tito Guizar, Benay Venuta and Helen Ward sang on the show with the orchestras of Matty Malneck, Reet Veet Reeves and Joe Venuti (CBS, ABC, NBC, 1941-1951).

7952 (The Dutch Masters Minstrels. Dutch Masters Cigars sponsored the radio minstrel show. On the 1930 version, William Shelley was the interlocutor with Paul Dumont and Al Bernard acting as end-men. Singers on that show included Carson Robison, bass Harry Donaghy, tenor Steele Jamison, baritone Darl Bethman and tenor Harold Branch. Instrumental novelties were performed by Charles Magnante, James Boyd and William Carlino (30 min., Saturday, 9:30-10:00 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1930). A year before the cast of the show also had included Percy Hemus, Al Bernard, Steve Porter and Leon Salanthiel and an orchestra conducted by Hugo Mariani. The program was broadcast on a different day the previous year (30 min., Tuesday, 9:30-10:00 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1928-1929). An example of the show's humor from the 1929 version was this exchange between interlocutor Steve Porter and end-man Percy Hemus:

HEMUS: Mistah Porter, that niggah Al Bernard axe me somepin I kant understand.

PORTER: What was it you asked Percy, Al?

BERNARD: I says if a brick mason lays brick, why kaint a plumber lay plums? (Radio Digest, p. 33, December, 1929).

An example of an exchange between interlocutor William Shelley and end-man Al Bernard on the 1930 show was as follows:

SHELLEY: How's you father, Al?

BERNARD: Laziest man livin', Mistuh Shelley.

SHELLEY: Well, Al, I happen to know that your father is a hard working man.

BERNARD: Well, Ah'll tell you why you're wrong. They's 365 days in the year. Father don't work but eight hours a day - that's one third of the time, or 122 days. Well, they's 52 Sundays - that takes off 26 days and leaves 44. He gets two weeks' vacation - that's 14 more days to come off - that makes 30 days. Then there's 11 holidays, so that makes 19. Well, he gets an hour for lunch every day, that's 365 hours or 15 days, and that leaves only 4 days. Look here, Mistuh Shelley, if father goes and gets sick and has to stay home, he's goin' to owe that man money for lettin' him work for him.

A 1936 version presented Al Bernard and Paul Dumont as end-men, tenor Steele Jamison and music by Harold Sanford's Orchestra.

7953 (The Dutch Masters Program. Dutch Masters cigars sponsored the good music show featuring baritone Nelson Eddy, soprano Lillian Taiz and Jack Smart. Music arrangements were made by William Spielter for the orchestra directed by Eugene Ormandy (30 min., Thursday, 8:30-9:00 P.M., CBS, 1931).

8027 Eastman, Morgan L. Conductor (Edison Symphony Orchestra, KYW, Chicago, IL, 1921-1937). The Edison Symphony Orchestra program was a popular Chicago feature in the 1920s and 1930s.

8028 Eastman, Robert "Bob." Newscaster (KGBK, Tyler, TX, 1937; WKY, Oklahoma City, OK, 1938-1940).

8029 Eastman Hotel Orchestra. "Smiling Charlie" Fisher directed the hotel band that broadcast frequently in the mid-1920s.

8030 Easton, Florence. Metropolitan Opera soprano (WJZ, New York, NY, 1927).

8031 (The) Eastman-Kodak Hour. Tenor Victor Edwards, bass James Davies, soprano Della Baker and contralto Helen Oelheim sang on the good music program with David Mendoza's orchestra (60 min., Thursday, 9:00-10:00 P.M., CBS, 1930).

8032 (The) East-West Shrine Football Game. The Shriners sponsored this annual charity football game that probably was first broadcast December 26, 1925 (KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1925).

8033 Easy Aces. Easy Aces, brilliantly written by Goodman Ace, began as a burlesque skit about a husband and wife who teamed together in a bridge game. The show was developed and first broadcast in 1930 on Kansas City radio. The following year it moved to WBBM (Chicago, IL).

By the age of 18, Goodman Ace was already a movie and drama critic on the Kansas City Post. One night, while Ace was broadcasting a Hollywood gossip program, the actors in the show that was to follow his failed to appear. To fill the time slot, Ace and his wife, Jane, ad libbed silly talk about a bridge game. The listeners loved it and Easy Aces was born. On the program, Goodman Ace and his wife, Jane, portrayed the comic roles of the "dumb" wife and the long-suffering, sarcastic husband. Jane's hilarious malapropism was interspersed with her words of doubtful wisdom. When she agreed with her husband she often would respond, "I'll say the world." The Aces produced some of the finest comedy ever broadcast (15 min., Monday-Wednesday-Friday, 9:00-9:15 P.M., WGN, Chicago, IL, 1932). Later the show was broadcast on NBC and CBS. The program left the air after a long run in 1945. Another version returned in 1948 as Mr. Ace and Jane. See also Mr. and Mrs. Ace.

8034 Eaton, Glen. Tenor (KGA, Spokane, WA, 1929).

8035 Eaton, Gordon. Newscaster (WTFB, Fort Lauderdale, FL, 1939). DJ (Music Made in the USA, WCCO, Minneapolis, MN, 1947-1957).

8038 Eaton, Lonnie. Leader (Lonnie Eaton Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WGFI, Scranton, PA, 1937).

8039 Eaton, Richard. Newscaster (WOL, Washington, DC, 1941; WWDC, Washington, DC, 1942-1945; WOOK, Silver Spring, MD, 1947).

8040 Eaton, Tom. Sportscaster (WREB, Holyoke, MA, 1951-1953).

8041 Eb and Zeb. Eb and Zeb was written by John Hasty. The story was about two old residents of Corn Center, the owners and operators of a service station located along the highway where their small town was located. The syndicated rural comedy sketch was a weak and not very funny imitation of Lum and Abner. The program was first broadcast on the West Coast by the Don Lee Network. In what was probably its first broadcasts, Harrison Holloway, the manager of station KFRC (San Francisco, CA), was the announcer. Shell Oil Company was the sponsor. The program's performers were not identified (15 min., Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, 9:15-9:30 P.M., PCT; KFRC, San Francisco, CA, 1932). Later broadcasts probably were by transcription (WTAR, Norfolk, VA, 1935 and WIND, Gary, IN, 1936).

8042 Ebbert, Dick. DJ (Coffee Club, KTIIP, Porterville, CA, 1949).

8043 Ebbin(s), Milton. Leader (Milton Ebbin Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WBZ-WBZA-NBC, Boston-Springfield, MA, 1934).

8055 Echnner, Larry. Leader (Larry Echnner and the Original Collegiate Serenaders, WGBS, New York, NY, 1927).

8056 Echoes of Cairo (aka East of Cairo). Sven and Gene von Hallberg developed and directed the show, as they had done previously with the Echoes of the Orient program. The show differed from the former in that it contained a dramatic sketch with interesting musical interludes. Once again the von Hallbergs composed all the music used on the program and also performed it. Arthur Hughes, Tim Frawley, John McGovern, Agnes Moorhead, Harry Neville and Bill Skelly were cast members. The writer was Ray Scudder and the director, Joseph Bell. Neal Enslin was the announcer (30 min., Wednesday, 8:00-8:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1930). See also Echoes of the Orient.

8057 Echoes of New York. Consolidated Edison Electric Company sponsored the good local variety program hosted by John Reed King, Jane Pickens, Mason Adams, Al Gallodere, the Edisoners, James Van Dyk, Jeffrey Ryan and Charles Herbert Martin performed on the show. Music was supplied by Josef Donime's orchestra. George Hicks was the announcer (30 min., Tuesday, 9:00-9:30 P.M., WJZ, New York, NY, 1946).

8058 Echoes of the Orient. The intriguing music program was originated, developed and produced by Sven von Hallberg and his brother, Gene. Both performed on the show and composed the music played. The program was first broadcast in 1929 (15 min., Sunday, 6:00-6:15 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1929-1930). See also Echoes of Cairo.

8059 Echols, Odis. Leader (Odis Echols Melody Boys Orchestra, KFBI, Wichita, KS, 1942).

8060 Eckels, Damon. Newscaster (WTSP, St. Petersburg, FL, 1946).

8061 Eckert, Charles. A minor league pitcher with the Little Rock Travelers baseball club, Eckert broadcast on Saturday evenings. He played the harmonica and accordion. Fittingly enough, the first musical number he played on his first broadcast was "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" (KLRA, Little Rock, AR, 1929).

8062 Eckert, Dutch. Leader, (Dutch Eckert Orchestra, WSM, Nashville, TN, 1927).

8063 Eckert, Ralph. Baritone (KTAB, Oakland, CA, 1925).

8064 Eckhart, George. Leader (George Eckhart Orchestra, KPLA, Los Angeles, CA, 1928).

8065 Eckler, Dora. Cellist (KFWM, Oakland, CA, 1928).

8066 Eckles, Damon. DJ (Junior DJ Club, WTSP, St. Petersburg, FL, 1947).

8067 Eckles, Pop. DJ (WBGE, Atlanta, GA, 1947).

8068 Ecklund, Victor. Newscaster (WGMB, Honolulu, HI), 1945).

8069 Eckstein, Donna. COM-HE (KTRE, Thief River Falls, MN, 1956).

8070 Eckstine, Charles. Sportscaster (Sports Today, WARK, Hagerstown, MD, 1949).

8071 Eclipse Clippers of Melody Lawn. The Eclipse Lawn Mower Company sponsored the ten-man dance orchestra (WOC, Davenport, IA, 1927; WBAP, San Antonio, TX, 1928).

8072 Economides, Constantin. Mandolin soloist (WNYC, New York, NY, 1925).

8073 Ed and Polly East (aka Ed East and Polly). Contests, interviews and quizzes were regular features of the couple's audience participation program (45 min., Monday through Friday, 9:00–9:45 A.M., NBC-Red, 1945). The program became Ladies Be Seated when Ed and Polly East left the show.

8074 Ed Fitzgerald. Fitzgerald, a former World War I fighter pilot, discussed a wide variety of topics and news events. He always inserted his own interesting commentary on each of the many topics he discussed (15 min., Weekly, MBS, 1938).

8075 Ed Sullivan Entertains. Mennen Shave Cream sponsored newspaper columnist Sullivan, who broadcast show business gossip and conducted interesting celebrity interviews (15 min., Monday, 7:15–7:30 P.M., CBS, 1943). The format on this program was a forerunner Sullivan's highly successful Toast of the Town television show of the 1950s and 1960s.

8076 (The) Ed Sullivan Show. Broadway columnist Sullivan hosted his program of show business news, gossip and celebrity interviews. In addition, each week entertainment was provided by guest performers. Sullivan's show introduced such future comic stars as Jack Pearl and Jack Benny (30 min., Tuesday, CBS, 1932). Sullivan tried radio again in 1942 with a similar format on his Ed Sullivan Entertains show.

Ed Sullivan Entertains was a forerunner of Sullivan's highly successful The Toast of the Town television program. Sullivan once compared his radio and television work by saying (New York Times, May 11, 1997, p. 43): "I was on the ground floor of radio and dropped out of it like a dope. Now I'm on the ground floor of TV, and I'm not giving up on my lease until my landlord evicts me." See also Ed Sullivan Entertains.

8077 Ed Sullivan Show (aka Ed Sullivan). Columnist Sullivan broadcast show business gossip (15 min., Weekly, NBC-Blue, New York, NY, 1946).

8078 Ed Wynn's Uncle Taylor Holmes. Comic Taylor Holmes subbed for Ed Wynn on the variety show that also featured the comic team of Wimp Carlsen and Larry Butler, the Fire Chief Quartet and the Don Voorhees Orchestra. Graham McNamee was the announcer (30 min., Tuesday, 9:30–10:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1933).

8080 (The) Eddie Cantor Show (aka Time to Smile). The great banjo-eyed vaudevillian, Eddie Cantor, sang, told jokes and introduced weekly guest stars on his variety program. One featured performer on the early Cantor program was Bert Gordon "the Mad Russian." The manic Russian was first appeared on The Eddie Cantor Show in 1935 continued with him for many years. Gordon later was featured with Milton Berle on radio. Gordon's famous greeting was, "How do-o-o you do?" Cantor was instrumental in introducing young talent and giving them national network exposure. For example, Bobbie Breen, Deanna Durbin and Dinah Shore first appeared on the network and became regulars on Cantor's program (30 min., Weekly, CBS & NBC, 1931–1946). Cantor's sponsors on his early shows were Chase and Sanborn coffee and Ipana toothpaste. On a later version of The Eddie Cantor Show, sponsored by Philip Morris Cigarettes, Cantor performed DJ duties and shared his entertaining reminiscences of show business. Cantor wrote and directed the show. Archie Scott was the producer (30 min., Sunday, 9:30–10:00 P.M., NBC, 1951). Cantor's last radio program was his Ask Eddie Cantor, a five-minute show on which he answered questions sent in by his listeners (5 min., Transcribed, 1961). See also Cantor, Eddie.

8081 Eddie Condon Jazz Concert. Jazzman Condon hosted the excellent music show. Many famous jazz performers appeared on the entertaining show with Condon. Among many others were: Billy Butterfield, Bobby Hackett, Jonah Jones and Gene Krupa (30 min., Saturday, 1:30–1:00 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1945). Condon also broadcast a transcribed Dixieland jazz show the same year (Eddie Condon All-Stars, Transcribed, 1945).

8082 Eddie Dowling's Revue. Dowling and Ray Dooley were featured on the comedy-music show. Music was supplied by Benny Goodman's orchestra and vocalist Helen Ward (30 min., Tuesday, 9:00–9:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1936). Another version of the show was The Eddie Dowling Elgin Revue, sponsored by the Elgin Watch Company, on which Ray Dooley and Arthur Kay assisted Dowling with comedy routines. Helen Ward and the Goodman band once again provided good swing music (30 min., Thursday, 10:00–10:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1936).

8083 Eddie the Wandering Pianist. Eddie was a pianist not otherwise identified (WEEI, Boston, MA, 1925).

8084 Eddinfield, Sgt. Sportscaster (Army Sports Show, WJLD, Bessemer, AL, 1948).

8085 (The) Eddy Arnold Show. Country singing star Arnold hosted his transcribed program originating from Nashville. Singers Marvin Hughes, Joan Hager, the Anita Kerr Vocal Quintet and comedienne Dotty Dillard appeared with Arnold (30 minutes, Monday through Friday, 8:00–8:30 P.M., CBS, 1956).

8086 Eddy, Carl. Leader (Carl Eddy Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WJAS, Pittsburgh, PA, 1935–1936).

8098 Edes, Arthur F. Chief announcer and program director (WEFI, Boston, MA, 1928). Edes began his radio career as an announcer in the early 1920s (WBZ, Springfield-Boston, MA, 1924) using the designation of "EFA." He reversed his initials to avoid confusion with another pioneer announcer at the station. Edes became the chief announcer at WEEI (Boston, MA) in 1926, where he later became program director and studio manager.

8099 Edgar, Bill. DJ (WBEJ, Elizabethton-Johnson City, TN, 1950; Hillbilly Hits, KTRN, Wichita Falls, TX, 1952–1954).

8100 Edgar, George. DJ (Klan Klub, KLAN, Renton, WA, 1952.) Sportscaster (KLAN, 1955).

8101 (The) Edgar Bergen Show. Richard Hudnut Company sponsored the comedy show with music. Although the program came at the end of Bergen's radio career, his comedy routines with Charlie McCarthy, Mortimer Snerd and Effie Clinker were still hilarious. Ray Noble's orchestra and weekly guests, such as Dorothy Kirsten, made this a thoroughly entertaining show. Bill Baldwin was the announcer (30 min., Sunday, 8:00–8:30 P.M., CBS, 1952). To the end, Charlie's brash character still showed through with his familiar jibe still heard quite frequently: "I'll murder you. So help me, I'll mow you down." See also Maxwell Coffee Time.

8102 Edge, Bob. Sportscaster (Sports Afield with Bob Edge, ABC, 1954). Edge broadcast hunting and fishing lore.

8218 Eleanor Roosevelt. Mrs. Roosevelt, one of America's most respected First Ladies, was a distinguished magazine and newspaper columnist and UN diplomat, in addition to her extensive broadcasting career. The Ponds' Program, sponsored by Ponds' Facial Cream, featured a brief commentary by Mrs. Roosevelt, vocals by Lee Wiley and Leo Reisman's orchestra (NBC, 1932). It's a Woman's World (CBS, 1935) gave her an opportunity to discuss at length various problems faced by women. She conducted a discussion of current events alone on her final show (Eleanor Roosevelt, 45 min., Monday through Friday, 12:30–1:45 P.M., ABC, 1950), which followed her earlier Eleanor and Anne Roosevelt program. See also Eleanor and Anne Roosevelt.

8219 Eleazer, J.M. Newscaster (WFIG, Sumter, SC, 1941).

8220 (The) Electric Hour. Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald were the featured singers on the variety show. Music was supplied by Robert Armbruster's orchestra. The program was sponsored by the Electric Companies of America. On the program's special 1945 Christmas Show the featured guests were Walt Disney, Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck. Soprano Anne Jamison and baritone Bob Shanley appeared in a later version of the program (CBS, 1944–1946).

Eddy's rousing baritone and MacDonald's soaring soprano voice blended perfectly. The co-starring of Eddy and MacDonald in a series of MGM musical films brought them lasting fame and great popularity: Naughty Marietta (1935); Rose Marie (1936); Maytime (1937); The Girl of the Golden West (1938); Sweethearts (1938); New Moon (1940); Bitter Sweet (1940); and I Married an Angel (1942). Miss MacDonald was known as Hollywood's "First Lady of Song." Although happily married to motion picture actor, Gene Raymond, many of her fans mistakenly thought she was married to Eddy, because of the series of romantic pictures in which they appeared together.

8247 Ellen, Joan. COM-11E (WOKE, Oak Ridge, TN, 1956).

8248 Ellen Randolph (aka The Story of Ellen Randolph). Colgate-Palmolive Company sponsored the daytime serial about Ellen Randolph. While traveling in China, Miss Randolph met and married a missionary. When they returned to America, they lived in the home of her wealthy brother. Her trials and tribulations centered about her husband's own feelings of failure and her sister-in-law's allegations that Ellen had an affair with a local resident. The leading roles were originated by Elsie Hitz and John McGovern. Other cast members included: Inge Adams, Fanny May Baldrige, Kathryn Bishop, Milo Boulton, Walter Burke, Macdonald Carey, Ken Daigneau, Helene Dumas, Parker Fennelly, Maurice Franklin, Florida Friebus, Ted Jewett, Jackie Jordan, Bernard Lenrow, John McIntire, Jay Meredith, Effie Ellis Palmer, Robert Regent, Bart Robinson, Edward Trevor, George Wallach, Colleen Ward and Gertrude Warner. 8249 Ellen Rose (Dickey). Ellen Rose Dickey broadcast advice and helpful hints for housewives on The Homemakers' Hour (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1926).

8250 Ellers, Richard. Newscaster (KYA, San Francisco, CA, 1939).

8251 Ellery Queen. Queen, an intellectual master detective, helped his police inspector father solve baffling mysteries on the entertaining mystery series. The program was based on the fictional creation of Frederic Dannay and Michael Bennington. Ellery Queen first appeared on CBS in 1939 with a novel idea known as "The Armchair Detective," in which a prominent weekly guest tried to solve the mystery before Ellery Queen announced the solution. When the program returned to air on June 1, 1947, sponsored by Anacin, it was as a summer replacement for the Bob Burns Show (30 min., Sunday, 6:30–7:00 P.M., CBS, 1947). No cast credit was given for the role of Ellery Queen, as Variety (June 4, 1947, p. 29) explained, "...in an effort to perpetuate the fiction that Ellery is a real character." Despite that, we now know that Queen was played at various times by Hugh Marlowe, Larry Dobkin, Carleton Young and Sidney Smith. The other cast members over the years included: Ted deCorsia, Virginia Gregg, Charlotte Keane, Ed Latimer, Santos Ortega, Marion Shockley, Howard Smith, Bill Smith, Barbara Terrell and Gertrude Warner. The program's directors were Phil Cohen, William P. Rousseau, Robert S. Steele and George Zachary. The producer in 1947 was Don Victor and the announcer was Roger Krupp.

8295 Ellsworth, Jack. DJ (Record Review, WHIM, Providence, RI, 1947; Memories in Melody, WALK, Patchogue, NY, 1952-1957).

8296 Ellsworth Vines, Jr. Tennis star Vines talked about his sport and how to play it well (15 min., Sunday, 9:30-9:45 P.M., NBC-Red, 1934).

8297 Elman, Evelyn. COM-HE (KSTT, Davenport, IA, 1956; KSTT and KTHS, Davenport, IA, 1957).

8298 Elmandt, Robert. Violinist (WJY, New York, NY, 1925).

8299 Elmer, Bob. Sports-caster (WCAU, Philadelphia, PA, 1939; WFIL, Fort Lauderdale, FL, 1940; Speaking of Sports, WQAM, Miami, FL, 1940-1941).

8300 Elmer Everett Yess. Hal K. Dawson and John Eldredge played the title role on the situation comedy at various times. The sponsor was the Plymouth Car Corporation. The sketches focused mostly on the car business. In fact, there was so much talk about buying and selling cars that Variety noted that most of the program seemed like little more than a company promo (15 min., Thursday, 8:00-8:15 P.M., CBS, 1933).

8301 Elmer Orchestra. Popular radio band (WFBH, New York, NY, 1925).

8302 Elmo Roper. Roper, a distinguished pollster, broadcast information that he had elicited about the opinions and attitudes of Americans. Robert Denton was the announcer (15 min., Sunday, 3:30-3:45 P.M., NBC, 1952). NBC committed an embarrassing error on the program's premiere by playing the audition tape. The network corrected their goof by playing the correct program later the same night.

8303 Else, Mickey. DJ (KSD, St. Louis, MO, 1957).

8304 Elsie Lichtenshul. Miss Lichtenshul conducted interviews on her popular Pittsburgh program (15 min., Weekly, WCAE, Pittsburgh, PA, 1935).

8305 Elsmore, Ralph. Singer (Ralph Elsmore, vcl. mus. prg., WCAU, Philadelphia, PA, 1942).

8307 Elsner, Roy. DJ (920 Special, KECK, Odessa, TX, 1947-1952).

8308 Elson, Bob. After working as an announcer (WAMD, Milwaukee, WI, 1927; KWK, St. Louis, MO, 1928; WGN, Chicago, IL, 1929), Elson began a long, successful career as a sports-caster and play-by-play baseball announcer (Bob Elson Sports, 15 min., Monday, 6:00-6:15 P.M., WGN, 1935; football play-by-play and World Series games, MBS and WGN, 1939-1940; WGN, 1945; WIND, Chicago, IL, 1946; WJJD, 1946-1949; WBKB, Chicago, IL, 1951; WIND, 1954; Sports Comments, WCFL, Chicago, IL and NBC, 1960).

8309 Elstner, Anne. Actress Elstner first appeared on radio in 1923 when she performed in an act from Sun Up, a Broadway play in which she was then working (WEAF, New York, NY, 1923). In the years that followed, she was a busy radio actress appearing on such programs as Stella Dallas and Brenda Curtis.

8310 Elston, Bob. Sports-caster (KFVD, Fort Dodge, IA, 1941; 1944; KXEL, Waterloo, IA, 1946-1949; KIOA, Des Moines, IA, 1951; Elston on Sports, KIOA, 1952-1953).

8311 Elstun, C.K. DJ (Carousel, WZIP, Cincinnati, OH, 1960).

8312 Elton Britt and His Pals. Yodeler Britt and his country music group appeared on the popular CW music program (15 min., Monday through Friday, 7:00-7:15 P.M. WMCA, New York, NY, 1938).

8313 Elwell, Roy. DJ (KRLA, Los Angeles, CA, 1959).

8314 Elwood's German Band. Instr. mus. prg. (KFEL, Denver, CO, 1934, 1939).

8315 Ely, Albert. Announcer, staff organist and actor Ely played "Grandpa" on the Children's Hour program broadcast by KSTP (Minneapolis-St. Paul, MN), before he moved on to use his many talents on station KGA (Spokane, WA, 1928).

8316 Ely, Hugh. DJ (The Poor Man's Alarm Clock, WNVN, Norton, VA, 1950).

8317 Elysian Symphony Orchestra. Local symphonic group (KMA, Shenandoah, IA, 1928).

8318 Elysian Trio. The Elysian Trio members were violinist Modesta Mortensen, cellist Elsa Melville and pianist Constance Yates. Vocalist Millicent Benioff often sang with the trio (KTAB, Oakland, CA, 1928).

8319 Ember, George G. Newscaster (Under the Capitol Dome, KSEM, Moses Lake, WA, 1948).

8320 Embody, Dick. DJ (Western Jamboree, KGGF, Coffeyville, KS, 1948-1954).

8321 Embry, Dink. DJ (Early Bird Show, WHOP, Hopkinsville, KY, 1955).

8322 Emerald, Gene. DJ (The Gene Emerald Show, KRNT, Des Moines, IA, 1948-1950).

8324 Emerick, Billy. Singer (KOMO, Seattle, WA, 1927).

8325 Emerick, Frank. Newscaster (KEVR, Seattle, WA, 1941).

8326 Emerson, E. B. Newscaster (KGIV, Alamosa, CO, 1948).

8327 Emerson, Elsie May. Organist (Elsie May Emerson, instr. mus. prg., 13 min., Sunday, 10:45-10:58 A.M., WLS, Chicago, IL, 1937).

8328 Emerson, James. Singer (James Emerson, vcl. mus. prg., WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1936).

8329 Emerson, Jane. Soprano (Jane Emerson, vcl. mus. prg., WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1936).

8330 Emerson, Joe. Baritone (Joe Emerson, vcl. mus. prg., WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1934-1936).

8331 Emerson, Lillian. Pianist (KGHI, Little Rock, AR, 1929).

8332 Emerson, Ralph Waldo. Organist (WDAP, Chicago, IL, 1924; WLS, Chicago, IL, 1924-1937; Ralph Emerson, 15 min., Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 10:30-10:45 A.M., WLS, Chicago, IL, 1937).

8333 (The Emerson Effervescent Hour). The Emerson Company sponsored the 30-minute variety program broadcast on Sunday evenings (30 min., Sunday P.M., CBS, 1927).

8334 Emery, Claire Robbins "Bob." Announcer Emery, also known as "Uncle Bob" and "Brother Bob," told stories for children (WEEL, Boston, MA, 1925). Emery began his radio career years before playing the ukulele and singing on station WGI (Medford Hillside, MA). When he was asked to be Santa Claus at WGI, he devised a program that was "broadcast" to Santa Claus.

At WEEL, Emery appealed to children of the area by starting his Big Brother Bob club, on which he promoted safety and good manners. His Big Brother Club enrolled 30,000 members. A member's dues was one letter a week, in which they described to him some "Big Brother" act (a good deed or safety action) they performed. Emery's ingenuity in advancing child safety brought WEEL considerable public praise in 1928. Big Brother Emery's popularity caused many young listeners to lose interest in the other "aunts, uncles and brothers" broadcasting at the time.

8335 Emery, Ralph. DJ (WMAK, Nashville, TN, 1956). Emery's career in Nashville radio provided him an opportunity to exert a major influence on country music. His all-night DJ show on WSM was one of CW music's major showcases and it made him a great national favorite. An innovative DJ, Emery discovered and promoted many CW performers who went on to gain national fame. Emery combined the skills of a journalist with those of an excellent DJ (Opera Star Spotlight, 285 min., Monday through Saturday, 10:15-3:00 A.M., WSM, Nashville, TN, 1957-1960).

8336 Emes, Marion. Pianist (KFWM, Oakland, CA, 1928).

8337 (The Emily Kimbrough Show). Actress-author Kimbrough interviewed celebrities in the arts, letters, labor and politics on her weekday show (30 min., Monday through Friday, 9:30-10:00 A.M., CBS, 1959). Cornelia Otis Skinner's amusing account of traveling through Europe during the 1920s with Kimbrough was made into the popular 1944 motion picture Our Hearts Were Young and Gay starring Diana Lynn as Kimbrough and Gail Russell as Skinner. A sequel, Our Hearts Were Growing Up, became a film in 1946.

8338 Emily Post. Miss Post, a famous expert on etiquette, presided over this quarter-hour program (15 min., Friday, 11:00-11:15 A.M., CBS, 1931).

8339 Emm, Jack. DJ (Kaffee Klatsch, WHIO, Dayton, OH, 1952; Breakfast in Bedlam, WHIO, 1954-1960).

8340 Emma, Tony. Leader (Tony Emma Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WHK, Cleveland, OH, 1942).

8341 Emmel, Lou. Baritone (KFRC, San Francisco, CA, 1927).

8342 Emmerich, Lee. DJ (Date with a Disc, WKOX, Framingham, MA, 1948-1950).

Sportscaster (Tops in Sports, WKOX, 1947-1950).

8343 Emmet, Christopher. Newscaster (WEVD, New York, NY, 1945-1946).

8344 Emmett, George. Newscaster (KMJ, Fresno, CA, 1941).

8345 Emmons, Marion. Violinist (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1926).

8346 Emmy and Ezra. The "Pennsylvania Dutch" comedy team, not otherwise identified, was a local radio favorite (15 min., Weekly, 12:00-12:15 P.M., WGAL, Lancaster, PA, 1932).

8347 Empey, (Mrs.) Billie. Saxophonist (KTAB, Oakland, CA, 1926).

8348 Empire Builders. The Great Northern Railroad sponsored this critically acclaimed drama series in 1929. The railroad surprised many when they hired Edward Hale Bierstadt for the sole purpose of writing the dramatic serial about incidents related to the railroad's growth and development. The adventure, thrills and romance of various railroad stories were presented by the Old Timer, played by Harvey Hays. The distinguished cast also included Don Ameche, Edward Hale Bierstadt, Bernardine Flynn, Virginia Gardner, Lucille Husting, Raymond Knight and Bob MacGinsey. During the program's broadcast run from 1929 through 1931, the featured orchestras were led by Andy Sanella and Josef Koestner. Harold Sims was the busy sound effects man. John S. Young and Ted Pearson were the announcers.

Edward Hale Bierstadt, who later produced a series called Historic Trails, wrote most of the programs based on real historic incidents. One of the most interesting performers on Empire Builders was whistler Bob MacGinsey (30 min., Monday, 10:30-11:00 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1930). An interesting note is that actress Lucille Husting, who also wrote some of the program's scripts, played the role of her own great-grandmother on one program. In 1928-1929, the program was broadcast only by the Midwestern portion of the NBC network. The first story presented on the program was that of James J. Hill, the builder of the Great Northern Railroad.

8349 Empire State Novelty Orchestra. Metropolitan novelty band (WEAF, New York, NY, 1924).

8350 Empress of Scotland Orchestra. Ocean liner's orchestra (WJZ, New York, NY, 1926; KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1927).

8351 Encore. Robert Merrill, Marguerite Piazza, the Meredith Willson Orchestra and the Ray Charles Singers performed on the sustaining music program. Ken Banghart was the announcer (30 min., Monday, 10:00-10:30 P.M., NBC, 1952).

8352 (The Encore Theatre). Schendley Laboratories sponsored the series of dramatic stories that told of great advances in medicine and of its skillful practitioners. The program began with the following announcement: "The Schendley Laboratories, products of Penicillin — Schendley and Schendley Pharmaceutical—presents The Encore Theatre. Tonight Schendley Laboratories presents another in a new series of great dramatic programs. Some of our stories are fact. The struggles and accomplishments of great men of medicine. Others are fiction—stories of devotion to an ideal, individual heroism or great courage. By these programs, Schendley Laboratories would remind you that medical science and progress is not cold impersonal records or pages of statistics, but a warm human story told in loving terms, whether in the life of medicine's immortals, or the everyday record of service rendered by your own physician. The Encore play tonight "The Life of Louis Pasteur." The actors who appeared in the series included: Ronald Coleman, Robert Young, Virginia Bruce, Robert Taylor, Charles Bickford, Lionel Barrymore, Ida Lupino, Zachary Scott, Hume Cronyn, George Zucco, Franchot Tone and Susan Peters.

8353 Ender, Chic. Singer of specialty songs (WABC, New York, NY, 1929).

8354 Enderly, Lucille. Contralto (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1925).

8355 (The) Endicott-Johnson Hour. Endicott-Johnson Shoe Company sponsored the music program that featured a male quartet and orchestra (30 min., Sunday, CBS, 1930).

8356 Endorsed by Dorsey. Tommy Dorsey was the host on his swinging music show that featured his own band, Buddy Moreno, Sy Oliver, the Herman Chittison Trio, the Clark Sisters and Vera Holley. Tiny Ruffner was the announcer (30 min., late 1940s).

8357 Endresen, R.M. Clarinet and saxophone soloist (KEBY, Portland, OR, 1925).

8358 Engel, Bob. Sports caster (Sports Capsules, WHK, Cleveland, OH, 1960).

8359 Engel, Harold A. Engel initiated and directed the Wisconsin School of the Air, a program that became the College of the Air in 1933. After still another name change, it became the University of the Air. The program presented lectures by various professors from the University of Wisconsin (WHA, Madison, WI, 1933).

8360 Engel, J.O. Newscaster (WIBV, Belleville, IL, 1946).

8361 Engelbrecht, Bettie. COM-HE (WTVK, Knoxville, TN, 1956).

8381 English, Tom. Sports caster (The Tom English Sports Review, WRIC, Toccoa, GA, 1947).

8382 English Literature Series. Hoxie N. Fairchild, Supervisor of Home Studies Courses at Columbia University, offered an interesting perspective on English literature on this series that began July 17, 1923, on WEAJ, New York, NY. By the spring of 1924, Fairchild's program was heard on a three station network that consisted of WEAJ (New York, NY), WCAP (Washington, DC) and WJAR (Providence, RI).

8383 Enich [Emich], Howard L. Newscaster (Noon News Edition, WMAM, Marinette, WI, 1945–1947).

8384 Enna Jettick Melodies. Singers Betsy Ayres and Bessie Wynn appeared on the popular music show with a mixed quartet, an instrumental ensemble and orchestra directed by George Dilworth (15 min., Sunday, 8:00–8:15 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1930). Two years earlier the program's orchestra was conducted by Robert Armbruster. Enna Jennick [shoes] was the sponsor.

8385 Ennis, H. Drummer (Swanee Orchestra, WJZ, New York, NY, 1923).

8386 Ennis, Skinny. Leader (Skinny Ennis Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., MBS, 1935–1939).

8387 Eno, Jack. DJ (One for the Money, WEBR, Buffalo, NY, 1949; Musical Market Basket, WEBR, 1952–1954; Night Patrol, WEBR, 1960).

8388 Eno Crime Club (aka Crime Club, Crime Clues, Eno Crime Clues). Eno laxative sponsored the mystery-adventure program written by Albert G. Miller and Stewart Sterling. The cast included: Georgia Backus, Helen Choate, Ray Collins, Spencer Dean, Brian Donlevy, Helene Dumas, Gloria Holden, Jack MacBryde, Elaine Melchoir, Clyde North, Edward Reese, Adele Ronson and Ruth Yorke (15 min., Monday through Friday, CBS and NBC-Blue, 1931–1933). When the program's format changed in 1934, the name became Eno Crime Club Clues. Sometimes the show was referred to simply as Crime Club or Crime Clues. In its new format, a mystery was dramatized the first night and its solution the second (30 min., Monday and Tuesday, 8:00–8:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1934). The following year the program was broadcast on Tuesdays and Thursdays at the same time. Edward Reese originated the role of the man hunting detective, Spencer Dean, who solved heinous crimes. (CBS, NBC-Blue, 1931–1936).

8389 Enroth, Dick. Sports caster (WLWL, Minneapolis, MN, 1947–1948; Morning Slant on Sports, WLWL, 1949–1951; Newsports, WLWL, 1952–1953; WCCO, Minneapolis, MN, 1954–1960).

- 8444 Escagne, Kearney. DJ (Hayride Jamboree, KANE, New Iberia, LA, 1949).
- 8445 Escape. This horror-adventure series probably represents the last program of its kind. An extremely fine group of actors performed in the sometimes original, often classic, always exciting stories, written for radio by E. Jack Newman, John Dehner and others. The program was directed by Anthony Ellis and Richard Sanville. The producers and directors were Norman Macdonnell and William N. Robson. Richard Sanville directed some of the programs. Roy Rowan, Paul Frees and William Conrad were the announcers. Among the many fine cast members to appear over the years were: Parley Baer, Anthony Barrett, Jack Crushen, John Dehner, Ramsey Hill, Charlie Lung, Jeanette Nolan, Alan Reed (Teddy Bergman), Eric Snowden, Ben Wright, Dave Young and Paula Young. Music was supplied by organist Ivan Ditmars and the orchestra conducted by Leith Stevens (CBS, 1947-1954).
- 8446 Escape with Me. Kathi Norris hosted the sustaining series of complete romantic dramas broadcast weekly. Alice Frost, Fran Laferty and Paul McGrath were in the program's cast (30 min., Thursday, 8:00-8:30 P.M., ABC, 1952).

8466 (The) Eternal Light. The Jewish Theological Seminary provided research and some production costs and NBC the air time for this distinguished program that dramatically portrayed incidents from the Bible and Jewish history (Swartz and Reinehr, 1993, p. 318). Begun in 1946, the program was broadcast well into the 1970s. The cast included; Roger DeKoven, Adelaide Klein, Bernard Lenrow, Norman Rose, Alexander Scourby, Edgar Stehli and Morton Wishengrad. Some of the writers were: Virginia Mazer, Joe Mindel and Morton Wishengrad. Anton M. Leader and Frank Papp were the directors.

8467 (The) Eternal Question. The Wilbur Coon Players presented religious dramas on the local program (30 min., Weekly, 7:00–7:30 P.M., WHO, Davenport, IA, 1930).

8468 Ethel and Albert (aka The Private Life of Ethel and Albert). Ethel and Albert Arbuckle lived in Sandy Harbor, another of those average American small towns on the daytime comedy serial. The show's writer, Peg Lynch, played Ethel during the program's entire run. Alan Bunce played her husband, Albert. Although Peg Lynch and Alan Bunce are best remembered in the title roles, Richard Widmark originated the role of Albert. With the exception of Madeleine Pierce in the role of Baby Suzy, Ethel and Albert were usually the show's only characters. Dolph Gobel, Rosa Rio and Lew White provided organ music. The announcers were George Ansbro, Fred Cole, Cy Harrice, Don Lowe, Glenn Riggs and Herb Sheldon (ABC, 1944–1950). In its sixth year (1950), the show changed from a quarter-hour daytime serial to a 30-minute format and an evening time slot. The humor was always warm hearted and low keyed on the pleasant family show.

Interestingly enough, Baby Susy was talked about for two years before her voice was heard. Although Ethel and Albert usually were the show's only characters heard, occasionally there were appearances by Ed Begley, Leon Janney, Raymond Edward Johnson, Don MacLaughlin, Julie Stevens and Paul Whiteman. The program was first broadcast in 1944 on ABC. The directors were Bob Cotton and William Hamilton (ABC, NBC-Blue, 1944–1950).

8469 Ethel Merman Show. Great Broadway star Merman was joined by Leon Janney and Allen Drake on her sustaining variety show (30 min., Sunday, 9:30–10:00 P.M., NBC, 1949).

8470 Etiquette. Lillian Eichler talked about good manners and how to get them (WGBS, New York, NY, 1925).

8471 Eton Boys (Male Quartet). Popular vcl. mus. prg., (15 min., Wednesday, 3:45–4:00 P.M., CBS, 1933). This program was on the network schedule from 1933–1936. A popular CBS quartet, the Eton Boys' members were Charlie and Jack Day, Art Gentry and Earl Smith. Ray Bloch was their pianist and arranger.

8472 Etting, Ruth. Singer (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1925). Before coming to radio, Ruth Etting first gained popularity as a vaudeville and night club singer in the middle 1920s. In addition, she starred in the 21st edition of the "Ziegfeld Follies" and was known as the "Sweetheart of Columbia Records." In the early 1930s and the 1940s, when she made many radio appearances, she was sometimes called "The Shine On Harvest Moon Girl."

8473 Ettinger, Janet. Soprano (KJBS, San Francisco, CA, 1925–1926).

8474 Etzenhouser, Pauline. Pianist (KIDS, Independence, MO, 1926).

8537 Evarts, Marta. Leader (Marta Evarts Orchestra, KFI, Los Angeles, CA, 1926).

8538 Evelyn and the Hilltoppers. A popular early morning CW music program (15 min., Monday through Friday, 6:15–6:30 A.M. CST, WLS, Chicago, IL, 1937).

8539 Evelyn Winters (aka The Strange Romance of Evelyn Winters). Frank and Anne Hummert produced the daytime serial. Toni Darnay played the heroine who was faced by romantic problems. Evelyn's strange romance was her attraction for her playwright guardian, 15 years her senior, with whom she lived. Although courted by other suitors, her so-called "strange" yearnings for her guardian persisted. Members of the program's cast included: Ralph Bell, Martin Blaine, Flora Campbell, Linda Carlton-Reid, Helen Claire, Stacy Harris, Vinton Hayworth, James Lipton, Mary Mason, Kate McComb, John Moore and Karl Weber. Larry Elliott was the announcer and H.L. Algyir and Peggy Blake the writers. The program was directed by Ernest Ricca (15 min., Monday-through-Friday, 1944–1948. CBS).

8540 (The) Evening Concert. The Pacific Gas and Electric Company in association with its advertising agency, McCann-Erickson, and station KYA presented the two-hour program of transcribed music each evening. The recorded selections included orchestral, instrumental, solo and choral vocal music. It was estimated that in the first two years on the air the program had presented approximately 5,000 musical selections (KYA, San Francisco, CA, 1941–1942).

8541 Evening Echoes. Evening Echoes was a good music program that presented soprano Betty Cooke, violinist Charles Riley and the KDKA Salon Orchestra conducted by Aneurin Bodycombe on a sustaining basis (30 min., Wednesday, 9:00–9:30 P.M., KDKA, Pittsburgh, PA, 1940).

8542 (An) Evening Entertainment. The early variety program combined music, comedy and poetry. Organist Ralph Waldo Emerson, the comedy singing team of Ford and Glenn and the Isham Jones Orchestra supplied the music, and Tony Wons read poetry and prose selections (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1924).

8543 Evening Herald Radiolians Dance Orchestra. Commercially sponsored band (KFI, Los Angeles, CA, 1925).

8544 Evening in Paris. Bourjois Perfume Company sponsored the variety show that combined music and a dramatic sketch with fashion news from Paris. Pierre Brugnion hosted the program and added his pleasant tenor voice to the musical accompaniment of an orchestra directed by Max Smolen. Soprano Irma DeBraun sang and played the role of "Peaches" in the dramatic sketches (30 min., Monday, 9:30–10:00 P.M., CBS, 1930–1932). Two years earlier (1928– 1929) the format was similar, but tenor Frank Parker and actress Agnes Moorhead starred. In a 1933 version that featured soprano Mary McCoy and Nat Shilkret's orchestra, each program was in the form of a miniature musical comedy (30 min., Monday P.M., CBS, 1933). A later format featured Milton Watson, the Pickens Sisters, musical comedy star Odette Hyrtil (or Myrtil), Claire Majette, Katherine Carrington and Mark Warnow's Orchestra (30 min., Monday, 8:30–9:00 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1934–1935). Tenor Morton Downey replaced Milton Watson the following year and the program's time slot was changed (30 min., Monday, 7:30–8:00 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1936).

8545 Evening Musicale. Soprano Marguerite Roas and organist Uda Waldrop performed on the fine music program (KPC, San Francisco, CA, 1929).

8546 Evening Stars. Contralto Paula Hemminghaus and baritone Theodore Webb were featured on the network music show (NBC-Red Network, 1929).

8547 Evenings with Papa Haydn. The four-program music series featured an actor with a German accent taking the part of composer Haydn, who answered questions asked of him by the program's announcer. Musical examples were played when appropriate. The last program of the series included a performance of Haydn's F-Sharp Minor Symphony, No. 45. It was introduced this way: "Yes, Papa Hayden, the symphony we're going to play this evening was written at Esterhaz. The one in F Sharp Minor, No. 45. It dates from 1772."

Haydn responded: "Yes, yes, I remember — the 'Farewell Symphony.' I had some fun with that one too. The Prince had decided to stay at Esterhaz for two more months before moving to Vienna for the winter. My poor musicians were frantic. They were tired of staying out in the country and wanted to go home to their wives and children. I was at that time young and lively, and consequently not any better off than the others. They all came to me in despair, and of course I sympathized with them in full. They even thought of presenting a petition to the Prince." The announcer then interrupted by saying: "What could you do, Papa Haydn?"

Haydn responded by saying: "Well, I am sure that the Prince knew of our disappointment, so I decided to give him a hint with my music. That's how I came to write the 'Farewell Symphony.' We played it at our next concert. Right in the midst of the music, one player snuffed out his candle, folded up his score and silently walked out. Soon another instrument ceased, and the player walked off the stage. Then a third and a fourth — all snuffing out the candles on their music stands and taking their instruments away. The Prince and his guests just sat still in silent wonder. Finally, everyone was gone but Tomasini, the first violinist. I got up myself and went out. With that even Tomasini folded up his music and followed me away." The program humanized Haydn and displayed both his good humor and the genius of his music (CBS, 1933).

8548 Ever Since Eve. Keith Morrison narrated the stories of love and romance dramatized Monday through Friday. Each story was completed in a week. An idea of how love was treated on the show can be understood by the manner in which one story was introduced: "Pat was in love with Brad, and when a woman's in love, she'll do anything." The cast included Elspeth Eric, Leon Janney, John Larkin and Vicki Vola. Bette Ripley was the writer and Dick Hines the show's producer (15 min., Monday through Friday, 11:40–11:55 A.M., ABC, 1954).

8549 Eveready Chamber Orchestra. Max Jacobs conducted the orchestra featured on the distinguished Eveready Hour program (WEAF, New York, NY, 1923–1931).

8550 (The) Eveready Hour. This was unquestionably radio's first super program. Since its first broadcast December 4, 1923, on WEAF (New York, NY) The Eveready Hour entertained, thrilled and informed its audience each week. The first program included a concert orchestra, jazz band and a one-act play starring Gene Lockhart, Lawrence Grattan and Eva Taylor (Buxton and Owen, 1973, p. 79).

Sponsored by the National Carbon Company, the manufacturers of Eveready batteries, the Eveready Hour was a spectacular variety program. Its typical opening was "Tuesday evening means the Eveready Hour, for it is on this day that the National Carbon Company, makers of Eveready flashlight and radio batteries, engages the facilities of these fourteen radio stations. Tonight, the sponsors have included on the program Elsie Janis, who will present hits and bits of former years and guest, Arthur N. Young, who will talk of his experiences while hunting wild animals in Alaska and Africa with bow and arrow." The Eveready Hour contained elements from minstrel shows, comedy, drama, classical music, informative lectures, opera and jazz. Stars from Broadway dramas, musical comedies and the Metropolitan Opera were frequently the program's guest entertainers, as were other interesting and well-known personalities of the time.

Guests on the program could be paid as much as $1,000 for a single performance, a large sum at that time. Guest performers on the program included Will Rogers, Ed Wynn, Wendell Hall, Arthur Argiewicz, Van and Schenk, Weber and Fields, Moran and Mack and the Hall-Johnson Singers among many others. Music was provided by the Eveready Chamber Orchestra conducted by Max Jacobs and the Eveready Orchestra conducted by Nathaniel "Nat" Shilkret (WEAF-NBC-Red, 1923–1931). The program premiered on WEAF (New York, NY) on December 4, 1923.

8551 Eveready Mixed Quartet. Soprano Ethel Wakefield, contralto Mary Groom, tenor Gwynf. Jones and baritone Harold Dana comprised this vocal group (NBC, 1928).

8552 Eveready Orchestra. Nathaniel (Nat) Shilkret conducted the orchestra on the Eveready Hour (NBC, 1923–1931).

8553 Eveready Salon Orchestra. Max Dolin conducted the orchestra on this program of light classical music broadcast over the NBC–Pacific Coast network (30 min., Tuesday, 8:00–8:30 P.M., 1929).

8554 Everett, Cecil Dunavant. Singer (WFAA, Dallas, TX, 1926).

8555 Everett Marshall's Broadway. Marshall broadcast theatrical news and gossip (CBS, 1934).

8557 Everglades Orchestra. Music group (WHN, New York, NY, 1926).

8558 Everhart, Billie. COM-HE (WSAT, Salisbury, NC, 1956).

8559 Evering, Margaret. Contralto (Margaret Evering, vcl. nus. prg., WCAO, Baltimore, MD, 1936).

8565 Everybody's Hour. One of Chicago's favorite Sunday morning programs, Everybody's Hour was hosted by Don Chisholm, known on the program only as Don C. It contained several segments, including music by the Hilltoppers vocal group, organist John Brown, singer Tommy Tanner and the WLS Orchestra. Other segments included the host's discussion of "oddities," ten minutes of news delivered by George Harris, a children's song feature, interviews about hobbies, an almanac of anniversaries and historical events and interviews with prominent men and women (60 min., Sunday, 8:30–9:30 A.M. CST, WLS, Chicago, IL, 1935). The following year John Baker replaced Chisholm as host and organist Ralph Waldo Emerson replaced John Brown. Singer Glen Welty was added to the regular cast. The length and time slot was also changed (30 min., Sunday, 7:30–8:00 A.M. CST, WLS, Chicago, IL, 1936).

The format and cast underwent still more changes in 1937. Host Baker presented new ideas and new inventions, and each week an inventor appeared to discuss his invention. New cast members included organist Elsie Mae Emerson, wife of WLS staff organist Ralph Waldo Emerson; Herb Morrison, later to become famous for his recorded broadcast of the Hindenburg dirigible disaster; baritone Ray Anderson; veteran singer Grace Wilson, the Lawson WMCA Glee Club and the WLS Orchestra conducted by Herman Felber. Finally, 72-year-old Aunt Em Lanning was also added. Aunt Em started her radio career late in life in the mid-1930s. She read her own original stories and poems on station WROK (Rockford, IL), while appearing as the Grandmother on Uncle Jerry's Story Hour broadcast by a Grand Rapids, MI, station. She joined WLS as a member of the Everybody's Hour cast in 1937 to read her original poetry.

8644 Family Hotel. Billy K. Wells wrote this situation comedy that starred Jack Pearl in the role of Peter Pfeiffer. Pfeiffer ran a small, country hotel and faced, mostly successfully, his many problems. Cliff Hall, Pearl's long time stooge from Baron Munchausen days, was also in the cast. Frigidaire Corporation sponsored the show (30 min., Wednesday, 10:00-10:30 P.M., CBS, 1935).

8645 Family Skeleton. Mercedes McCambridge starred in the story of a girl with a dark past and highly uncertain future. Carleton E. Morse wrote, produced and directed the daytime serial sponsored by Sweetheart Soap and Prom Home Permanents. Although Variety praised the program, its time on the air was relatively short. Other members of the cast were John Dehner, Forrest Lewis, James McCallion, Marvin Miller, Marilyn Steiner and Russell Thorson (15 min., Monday through Friday, CBS, 1953).

8646 Family Theater. Buddy Rogers hosted the music program and led his Green Stripe Orchestra on it. Singer Jeanne Lang, the Three Rascals and various guest stars were featured (CBS, 1934). This should not be confused with the Family Theater dramatic program broadcast by NBC from 1947 to 1963.

8647 Family Theater. Father Patrick Peyton hosted the dramatic series that emphasized the importance of love and religion in family life. One enduring slogan that came from the series was: "The family that prays together stays together." Guests who appeared on the show were: Fred Allen, Ethel Barrymore, Ann Blyth, Macdonald Carey, Perry Como, Gary Cooper, Bing Crosby, Irene Dunne, Bob Hope, Ray Milland, Marvin Miller, Maureen O'Sullivan, Spencer Tracy and Loretta Young. Other cast members were: True Boardman, Raymond Edward Johnson, Byron Kane, Jean Paul King, Mandel Kramer and Frank Readick. The writers were Daisy Amoury, Stedman Coles, Len Finger, Ameel Fisher, Joseph L. Greene, Milton J. Kramer, Jerry McGill, Lawrence Menkin, Paul Monash, Bill Rafael and Martin H. Young. Wylie Adams, Clark Andrews, Carl Eastman, Robert H. Nolan and Charles Powers were the directors. The program's announcers were Peter Grant, Hugh James and Roger Krupp (MBS, NBC-Blue, ABC, 1936-1949).

8650 Famous Loves (aka Famous Loves of History). Famous love stories of history were dramatized on the program. Built around actual characters and incidents, the interesting show was written by Katherine Seymour. Sponsored by Natural Bridge shoes, the opening went this way:

Another in the series of Natural Bridge Romances — a series of dramatic sketches based on Famous Loves — is presented by the nation wide distributors of Natural Bridge Arch Shoes for the smart feminine foot. These shoes are modern — fashionable — and retain the natural loveliness of dainty feet — naturally. Dealers of Natural Bridge Arch Shoes can fit almost any foot smartly, comfortably — and at moderate expense. Their slogan is "Good to the foot — good to the eye — good to the pocketbook."

After a portion of the theme was played, the announcer provided an introduction to the evening's story:

In many an Irish cottage, on many a night during the past century, a favorite topic of conversation has been the brave lad Robert Emmet, a youthful martyr to the cause for which he fought — the independence of his native land, Ireland. Robert Emmet, who lived during the latter half of the eighteenth century, was a brilliant student at the University of Dublin, until he left college as a protest against the political restrictions imposed by the English governors. For three years he roamed on the Continent, meeting other exiled Irishmen, and completing plans to free Ireland from the yoke of England. Finally, after an interview with Napoleon and a promise of French aid, he returned to Ireland to carry out his plans, and also — to see again Sarah Curran, the girl he loved. This beautiful girl, daughter of the distinguished lawyer John Curran, had twice rejected him, and after his return he lost all hope that she would ever love him. Nevertheless, he had always been a welcome guest in her father's house, and although he was absorbed in secret plans for Ireland, he could not forget Sarah nor could he resist dropping in from time to time to chat with her. One afternoon in the early spring of 1803, Sarah was strolling in the garden, as Robert Emmet opened the wicket gate and greeted her. "Good day, Sarah. May I stroll with you in the garden?"

Their love story was then dramatized. The program was critically praised for the quality of its writing (15 min., Friday, 8:45-9:00 P.M., NBC-Blue Network, 1929-1931).

8651 Famous Owls Orchestra. The Famous Owls Orchestra, an eight-man group, broadcast from the New Orleans' Roosevelt Hotel (WSMB, New Orleans, LA, 1926).

8652 Famous Trials in History. National Dairy Products sponsored the dramatic series that portrayed a different trial each week (30 min., Sunday, 10:15-10:45 P.M., NBC-Red).

8841 Feyhl, H.W. Announcer who broadcast his station's slogan, the "Penn City Station" (WWAD, Philadelphia, PA, 1926).

8842 Fibber McGee and Molly. After singing on radio as "The O'Henry Twins" in 1925, Jim and Marian Jordan (Fibber McGee and Molly) appeared in the Smith Family, an early serial drama with comic elements (WJBO, Chicago, IL, 1925–1926), later on the Air Scout Hour in 1930 (WENR, Chicago, IL) and, finally, on network radio in 1930 with The Smackouts. They also were comic favorites on Kaltenmeyer's Kindergarten (WMAQ, Chicago, IL & NBC, 1932–1933).

On Fibber McGee and Molly, they played the roles of a lovable windbag and his level-headed wife. The program was sponsored by Johnson Wax throughout its long broadcast run from 1935 to 1952. Old softy Fibber spoke with a loud mouth that was nevertheless driven by a warm heart. The Fibber McGee and Molly characters were developed on their first network show, The Smackouts [See also The Smackouts]. Both The Smackouts and Fibber McGee and Molly were written by Bill Quinn. Phil Leslie eventually joined Quinn to assist him in writing the latter.

Fibber and Molly, the long-time residents of 79 Wistful Vista, were popular radio favorites for many years. Marian Jordan took on various roles on the show such as those of Teeny, Geraldine and Mrs. Wearybottom. The show's excellent ensemble cast included Bill Thompson playing Wallace Wimple; Arthur Q. Bryan as Doc Gamble; and Isobel Randolph as Mrs. Upington. Also included were Hal Peary as the Great Gildersleeve and [Mr.] Marlin Hurt as Beulah. Both later played these title roles in successful radio spin-off shows. Other cast members included: Cliff Arquette, Bea Benaderet, Gene Carroll, Gale Gordon, Jess Kirkpatrick, Shirley Mitchell, Ransom Sherman and Hugh Studebaker. The King's Men Vocal Quartet (Ken Darby, Jon Dodson, Bud Linn, and Rad Robinson) also made frequent appearances. Music was supplied by the orchestras of Rico Marchielli, Billy Mills and Ted Weems. Director Frank Pitman produced the program's sound effects. Harlow Wilcox was the program's announcer.

The couple who lived at 79 Wistful Vista are probably best remembered for the sound effect produced when McGee's hail closet's contents noisily spilled out each week after its door was opened. That disaster and McGee's many ridiculous statements frequently caused Molly to utter her famous catch-phrase, "Heavenly days, McGee." At other times when McGee thought he was being exceptionally witty, she would bring him down to earth with her, "Tain't funny, McGee." See also The Smackouts, Beulah, Kaltenmeyer's Kindergarten and The Great Gildersleeve.

8843 Fichtorne, Kathryn. Contralto (WCAU, Philadelphia, PA, 1926).

8844 Fiddler [Fidler], Dick. Leader (Dick Fiddler Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WGY, Schenectady, NY, 1934, NBC, 1935; WTAM, Cleveland, OH, 1937).

8847 Fidler, Mark. DJ (Sam's Songs, WJBC, Bloomington, IN, 1954).

8848 Fidleroff, Raiya and Gena. The Fidleroff siblings—10 and 14 years of age respectively—played violin solos and duets (KFBK, Sacramento, CA, 1926).

8849 Fiedler, Arthur. DJ (WCRB, Boston, MA, 1955). Fiedler, the distinguished orchestra conductor, became a classical DJ in 1955.

8850 Field, Charles "Chuck." DJ (Wake Up Rogue Valley, KWLN, Ashland, OR, 1947; Flying Discs, KMED, Medford, OR, 1952; KBOY, Medford, OR, 1955).

8851 Field, Charles K. ("Cheerio"). Field, using the name of "Cheerio," began broadcasting on KGO, San Francisco, CA, in 1926, with his message of faith and good cheer. His inspirational talks, homey philosophy and soothing background music brought him many listeners. Cheerio began a six-times weekly network program March 14, 1927, on NBC. His inspirational morning show, containing poetry, music and uplifting messages, quickly became one of the most popular programs on the network. Regular features on his programs were the singing cararries, pianist Harrison Isles, the Parnassus Trio and Emil Seidel's Little Peppers.

In 1934, Cheerio claimed that he never received a penny for broadcasting. "I'll make my money some other way," he said. It should be noted, that he authored many best-selling books containing the poetry and aphorisms used on his programs, for which he was well compensated. Cheerio tried to keep his identity a secret, refusing for many years to give interviews. A unique feature of the program was the "Cheerio Exchange," in which his staff maintained a fund to purchase radios at a discount to be lent to shut-ins. Field's program continued to enjoy great popularity well into the 1930s. From 1937 to 1940, Cheerio broadcast in the evening one day per week as Cheerio's Musical Maniaes. See also Cheerio.

8881 Fifty Flying Fingers. Five typists on each program competed for a $5 prize that was awarded to the fastest one. Each contestant typed unfamiliar copy for three minutes and then read it on the air. The program was sponsored by the Remington-Rand Typewriter Company (30 min., Weekly, KFOR, Lincoln, NE, 1937).

8882 Fights of Yesteryear. Peter King broadcast blow-by-blow accounts of re-creations of great boxing matches. Bob Clement assisted him by providing between rounds "color." The "bouts" included realistically simulated crowd noises when appropriate. This interesting show for boxing fans was sponsored by the Erie Brewing Company. Al Zink was the writer. An example of the show's creativity was provided when the Dempsey-Firpo fight ended in the early rounds with a knock out by Dempsey, and the announcers "returned it to the studio" for an interview with Jimmy Goodrich, a former lightweight champion, to fill the time (30 min., Wednesday, 10:00-10:30 P.M., WEBR, Buffalo, NY, 1939). For an earlier show that recreated famous boxing bouts see the program described by Quin Ryan. See also Ryan, Quin.

8925 Fiorito, Ernie. Leader (Ernie Fiorito Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., MBS, 1934, 1942).

8926 Fiorito, Ted. Pianist (WIBO, Chicago, IL, 1926). Fiorito later became the leader of the popular Ted Fiorito Orchestra (WIBO, Chicago, IL, 1926). Fiorito's popular orchestra made frequent broadcasts from Chicago's Edgewater Beach Hotel (NBC, Chicago, IL, 1929). The band was also busy in the next decade: (Ted Fiorito and his Maytag Orchestra. Fiorito's band was joined by a male trio and the piano team of Retting and Platt on the lively music show, 15 min., Monday, 9:30-9:45 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1930; Ted Fiorito Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., CBS, 1934–1939; MBS, 1937; KXOK, St. Louis, MO, 1939).

8927 Fire Alarms. The series of dramatized stories about firemen was the fire department's version of the police's Calling All Cars program. The sustaining local program, however, lacked the professional polish of the police show (15 min., Monday, 8:45–9:00 P.M., PST, KFAC, Los Angeles, CA, 1936).

8928 Fire Prevention. Real life incidents were dramatized on the program designed to promote safety and the prevention of fires. Smokey Rogers, the fire clown, was the fire chief of the mythical town of Asheville on the program. Others in the cast were Eddie Allan and Della Anne Ragland (15 min., Saturday, 8:15–8:30 A.M. CST, WLS, Chicago, IL, 1936).

8929 (The) Fireman's Orchestra of Oakland (California). B. Russo directed the municipal band (KTAB, Oakland, CA, 1926).

8930 Fireside Party. Henry Hornsbuckle, Patsy Montana, the Kentucky Girls, Hilltoppers and the Prairie Ramblers provided C/W music on the weekly show (60 min., Saturday, 10:00–11:00 P.M., WLS, Chicago, IL, 1938).

8931 Fireside Recital. Graham McNamee hosted the program of classical music. Bass Sigurd Nilssen, Willie Morris and tenor Hardey Johnsen were regular performers. The orchestra was conducted by Frank St. Leger. When St. Leger was on vacation, his place was taken by Vladimir Padwa (30 min., Sunday, 5:30–6:00 P.M. CST, NBC-Red, 1936). Two years later, the program featured Sigurd Nilssen and soprano Helen Marshall (30 min., Sunday, 7:30–8:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1938).

8932 Fireside Songs. Tenor Phil Dewey was featured on the weekly music program (15 min., 10:00–10:15 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1933).

8933 Fireside Thoughts for Men. June Merrill read poetry and gave advice intended to enhance the male ego. Interludes of romantic music added to the sustaining program's atmosphere (30 min., Monday through Friday, 12:30–1:00 A.M., WENR, Chicago, IL, 1947).

8934 First Baptist Church Male Trio. Vocal group included DeWitt Pugh, Charles A. Pugh and Dudley Wendt (KQW, San Jose, CA, 1925).

8935 First Baptist Church Orchestra (Ft. Worth, TX). A 25-piece concert orchestra (WBAP, Fort Worth, TX, 1923).

8936 First Baptist Church (San Jose, CA) Sextet. The religious vocal group's members were Margaret Algar, Mrs. Nylin, Miss Brown, Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Rasmussen and Mrs. Downer (KQW, San Jose, CA, 1925).

8937 (The) First Hundred Years. The situation comedy about the problems faced by a young married couple was written by Jean Holloway. Bea Benadaret, Sam Edwards, Barbara Eilers, Joseph Kearns, Myra Marsh and Earle Ross were in the cast. The announcer was Owen James (30 min., Weekly, 8:30–9:00 P.M., ABC, 1949).

8938 First Love. Rosalind Russell and Jimmy Stewart played the leads in the romantic story of a boy and girl in Hollywood. Grover James wrote and Conrad Nagel directed the interesting romantic drama sponsored by Rogers 1947 Silverware. Coincidentally, one of the company's silverware patterns just happened to be called First Love (30 min., Sunday, 5:00–5:30 P.M., CBS, 1937).

8939 First Methodist Church (Dallas, Texas) Choir. Church vocal group (WFAA, Dallas, TX, 1922).

8940 First Nighter. When the program first went on the air, producer Charles Hughes, himself, played the role of Mr. First Nighter. The Eric Sagerquist Orchestra and actors Don Ameche, June Meredith and Cliff Soubier were featured. Originally, Hughes wanted the program to be a vehicle for 40-word advertisements for ten advertisers. Searching for the ninth advertiser, an associate suggested to Hughes that he contact Campana's Italian Balm Company of Batavia, Illinois. He gave the company a free ad on the following Saturday night program and by Monday, the company committed themselves to sponsor the entire show.

The program presented all types of productions: melodramas, comedies, historical shows, costume dramas, romantic and adventure dramas. Although no scenery was ever used, producer-actor Hughes in an opera cloak, cane and silk top hat sat in an elaborate box to view the show. First broadcast in 1929, the program pretended to be a visit by Mr. First Nighter to a performance at the "Little Theatre just off Times Square." Traffic and crowd noises added to the realism, as did those sounds that were generally heard in a Broadway theater. After Mr. First Nighter was shown to his seat by an usher, a complete story was dramatized on each program. Don Ameche was the male lead from the program's beginning until 1936. Later, the lead was played by Les Tremayne and Olin Soule. The female leads were June Meredith, Betty Lou Gerson and Barbara Luddy. During the period the program was on the air (1929–1953), the cast included: Don Ameche, Don Briggs, Macdonald Carey, Jack Doty, Betty Lou Gerson, Charles P. Hughes, Raymond Edward Johnson, Barbara Luddy, June Meredith, Marvin Miller, Bret Morrison, Michael Rye (Rye Billsbury), Cliff Soubier, Olan Soule, and Les Tremayne. The writers were Edwin Halloran, Virginia Safford Lynne, Arch Oboler and Dan Shuffman. Frank Smith composed the program's original music. The final producer-director was Joe Ainley and Vincent Pelletier was the announcer (30 min., Friday, 9:00–9:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1935). While on the air The First Nighter was broadcast by all major networks, NBC, CBS and MBS.

8941 (The) First Piano Quartet. Several pianists comprised the "quartet" on the fine music program: Edward Edson, Adam Garner (Adam Gelbrunk), Hans Horwitz, Frank Mittler, Vee Padwa and George Robert. Edwin Fadiman was the show's writer-producer and Arthur Austin, James E. Kovach and Paul Knight the director. The announcer was Gene Hamilton (30 min., NBC, 1947).

8993 Fitch, (Dr.) W.E. Fitch was an M.D., who frequently broadcast health talks (WEAF, New York, NY, 1924).

8994 (The Fitch Bandwagon. Originally, the program featured a different name band each week playing their current hits. A new format was introduced in 1945, when Cass Daley's comedy was featured and music relegated to a secondary role. After Miss Daley left the following year, Phil Harris and his wife, Alice Faye, became the program's stars and transformed the show into a situation comedy. In addition to its stars, the Phil Harris-Alice Faye format of the Fitch Bandwagon featured the following performers: Arthur Q. Bryan, June Foray, Sheldon Leonard, Elliott Lewis, Jane Morgan, Robert North, Jeanine Roos, Walter Tetley and Anne Whitfield. The writers were: Dick Chevillat, George D. Faber, Milton Josephsberg, Martin A. Ragaway and Ray Singer. The Phil Harris and the Walter Sharp bands occasionally performed. Jack Costello, Bill Forman and Toby Reed were the announcers. Ward Byron was the producer-writer (NBC, 1937-1948).

8995 (The Fitch Professor. This program was designed to both entertain and sell Fitch Shampoo. Tenor Jack Brooks and an instrumental trio provided the entertainment, while "Professor" Carl Way talked about hair care and sold Fitch Shampoo (CBS, 1930).

9010 (The Fitzgeralds. Ed and Pegeen Fitzgerald broadcast their entertaining and lively version of a husband-and-wife talk show conducted over the breakfast table (15 min., Monday through Friday, 6:45-7:00 A.M., WJZ, New York, NY, 1947). John A. Gambling says that he believes that the Fitzgeralds were the first "Mr. and Mrs." broadcasters on New York radio. John B. Gambling had an early "Mr. and Mrs." show from Macy's department store, but the format for the show was scripted and the "Mrs." was an actress. Perhaps the Fitzgeralds were the first authentic husband and wife team on radio.

In addition to their popular husband-and-wife breakfast show in 1947, Ed and Pegeen also broadcast an evening show with a dinner table setting (The Fitzgeralds, 15 min., Monday through Friday, 6:45-7:00 P.M., WJZ, New York, NY, 1947). Ed and Pegeen were great favorites on New York radio for many years with their interesting husband-and-wife talk shows.

9011 Fitzgibbons, John M. Newscaster (WSAR, Fall River, MA, 1938-1942).

9012 Fitzpatrick, Aiden. Newscaster (WWSW, Pittsburgh, PA, 1940; WSM, Nashville, TN, 1946).

9013 Fitzpatrick, Ed. Leader (Ed Fitzpatrick and his Hotel St. Francis Concert Orchestra, KGO, San Francisco, CA, 1927). Later his band was introduced as, "Music for moderns with Eddie Fitzpatrick and his orchestra from the Del Mar Club in Santa Monica, California" (Network, 1940).

9014 Fitzpatrick, Jack. Newscaster (KLZ, Denver, CO, 1937–1941; KFEL, Denver, CO, 1946). Sportscaster (KLZ, 1939–1941; KFEL, 1946–1949).

9015 Fitzpatrick, Lev. Sportscaster (Sports Spotlight, KHQ, Spokane, WA, 1949).

9016 Fitzpatrick, Leo ("The Merry Old Chief"). Leo Fitzpatrick was not only the "Merry Old Chief," the broadcaster famous for presenting the Coon-Sanders Nighthawks band, but also the Radio Editor of the Kansas City Star. While he was hosting the famous Nighthawks Frolic program, he also appeared as "Mr. R.A. Dio" on station WDAF's (Kansas City, MO) weekly minstrel show. The Nighthawks Frolic was one of the first attempts to broadcast a program regularly at midnight six nights a week. It ran nightly except Sunday for over two years (90 min., Monday through Saturday, 11:30–1:00 A.M., WDAF, 1922). Fitzpatrick claimed that about two million listeners were members of the Nighthawks Club.

Fitzpatrick left WDAF in 1925 to join WJR, Detroit, MI. He soon organized The Jewett Jesters Program, a show similar to The Nighthawks Frolic he had created previously at WDAF. At the Detroit station, Fitzpatrick initiated the famous Red Apple Club program. "Bernice" was the official accompanist for six years, until blues singer–pianist Thelma Bow took over the task. See also Nighthawk Frolic and Red Apple Club.

9017 Fitzsimmons, Rodney. Baritone (Rodney Fitzsimmons, vcl. mus., WPG, Atlantic City, NJ, 1935).

9062 Fleishman, Alfrida. Miss Fleishman was a reader whose specialty was performing "My Mom" as a pianologue accompanied by pianist Alice McClelland (KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1925).

9063 (The) Fleishmann Yeast Program (aka The Fleishmann Sunshine Hour, The Fleishmann Hour, The Sunshine Hour, Rudy Vallee Show and The Royal Gelatin Hour). Standard Brands, maker of Fleishmann's Yeast, sponsored the popular show hosted by orchestra leader-crooner, Rudy Vallee. This program set the pattern for the variety show format that was later copied on both radio and television. Few shows, however, could match the high standards the show consistently maintained. One week, for example, Vallee presented the Louis Armstrong orchestra, a drama written by Octavius Roy Cohen, an appearance by a prominent African-American author, an instrumental group called the Four Nuts of Rhythm and the comedy team of Eddie Green and Gee Gee Jones. Dr. R. E. Lee was the spokesman for Fleishmann's Yeast and its health promoting attributes and Graham McNamee was the announcer (60 min., Friday, 9:00-10:00 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1937).

Among the stars that appeared on the program were Weber and Fields, Bert Lahr, Mae West, Adolphe Menjou, Helen Hayes, Moran and Mack, Robert Montgomery, Jimmy Durante, Katherine Hepburn, Marie Dressler, Borrah Minnevitich and His Harmonia Gang, Lou Holtz, Jules Bledsoe, the Yacht Club Boys, Milton Berle, Peggy Flynn, Chic Sale, Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe, Brad Browne and Al Llewellyn, Grace Moore, Blossom Seeley and Benny Fields, the Keller Sisters, Walter Houston, Fannie Brice, saxophonist Benny Krueger, Dorothy Stone, Charles Collins, Lila Lee, Robert Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Truex with son Philip, Cornelia Otis Skinner, Ilka Chase, Edward Everett Horton, Peggy Conklin, Roger Pryor, Noah Beery, Claude Rains, pianist Henrietta Schumann, George and Howard Shelton, the Duncan Sisters, Monroe Silver, the Good Sisters (Girls of the Golden West), Katherine Perry, Earl "Fatha" Hines, the Stewart Sisters and Ethel Waters.

Another major accomplishment of the Vallee program was the great number of stars who made their first network appearance on the show such as Phil Baker, Milton Berle, Edgar Bergen, Bob Burns, Eddie Cantor, Alice Faye, Red Skelton, Teddy Bergman (later famous as Alan Reed) and Bert Gordon. Vallee (1976) was proud of the quality and variety he presented on his program. He claimed that he had only one guest who appeared more than three times during his first three years on the air. The Fleischmann Hour and the following shows hosted by Vallee presented several features that later were spun-off to become separate programs. Three examples of these spin-offs were the Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, We the People and The Aldrich Family programs. Each week the show was broadcast from the Variety Theater located in New York City's RCA Building before a large appreciative audience.

9147 Flynn, Tony. Sportscaster (WDBC, Escanaba, MI, 1948; WJPG, Green Bay, WI, 1951–1952).

9148 Flywheel, Shyster and Flywheel. Two of the Marx brothers, Groucho and Chico, played the roles of lawyer Waldorf T. Flywheel and his assistant, Emmanuel Ravelli. This was one of a series of weekly programs sponsored by the Standard Oil Company and Colonial Beacon Oil on NBC in the Five Star Theatre series. Another program in the series was Charlie Chan.

Flywheel, Shyster and Flywheel was developed and written by Nat Perrin and Arthur Sheekman, two writers who worked for the Marx brothers on their two highly successful recent motion pictures. George Oppenheimer and Tom McKnight assisted Perrin and Sheekman with the writing chores after the thirteenth program. Although the ratings were never high, the program provided good examples of vintage Marx Brothers' humor.

The program for its first three broadcasts was known as Beagle, Shyster and Beagle. The name was changed to Flywheel, Shyster and Flywheel, when a lawyer named Beagle called to threaten a libel suit. With the exception of a later short-lived series with Groucho and Chico broadcast by NBC in 1934, this was the only Marx Brothers radio show. On the later program sponsored by the American Oil Company, Groucho played Ulysses H. Drivel, an "eagle-eyed" news hound and Chico his "doughty Panelli" (30 min., Monday, 7:00–7:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1932–1933).

9149 Fobes, Allan. Newscaster (KYSM, Mankato, MN, 1948).

9150 Foden, Charles W. Tenor (KDKA, Pittsburgh, PA, 1924).

9151 Foerch, Ole B.J. Organist (Ole B.J. Foerch, instr. mus. prg., WWJ, Detroit, MI, 1932).

9152 Foerstel, Edmund. Conductor (KMTR Concert Orchestra, KMTR, Hollywood, CA, 1926).

9153 (The Fog Lifts). The Bahai World Faith sponsored the transcribed series of dramas with a religious theme. Joe DeSantis, John Griggs, Bob Quigley, William Sears and Les Tremayne appeared in the cast. Bernard Lanpaw was the announcer (15 min., Transcribed, 1947).

9154 Fogarty, Jack [John]. Newscaster (WCPO, Cincinnati, OH, 1941-1942, 1945).

9155 Foland, Merrill. Pianist (WIND, Gary, IN, 1935).

9156 Foland, Myles. DJ (Foland Revue, WWXL, Peoria, IL, 1947; Myles Foland Show, WMBD, Peoria, IL, 1949; WSIV, Pekin, IL, 1950; WIRL, Peoria, IL, 1952; WCOL, Columbus, OH, 1954).

9157 Foley, Elsa Zelinda. Coloratura soprano (KNX, Los Angeles, CA, 1928).

9158 Folger's Male Quartet (aka The Bel Canto Quartet). Folger Coffee Company sponsored this male quartet. The group had two weekly programs on Dallas radio, one as the Folger Male Quartet and the other as The Bel Canto Quartet (WFAA, Dallas, TX, 1927).

9159 Folger's Serenaders [Orchestra]. Commercially sponsored orchestra (WDAF, Kansas City, MO, 1928).

9160 (The Folies Bergere of the Air (aka The Folies Bergere or Folies de Paree). Veteran vaudeville comedians Willie and Eugene Howard were featured on the variety program sponsored by Dr. Lyons' Tooth Powder. The story concerned two American entertainers living in the midst of Paris night life. The program's format consisted of musical numbers and comedy sketches. Fifi D'Orsay sang and acted on the weekly show. Ford Bond was the announcer (30 min., Wednesday, 8:00-8:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1936-1937). When the program's name was changed to the Folies de Paree the following year, the cast remained the same.

9161 Folies Bergere Orchestra. Night club orchestra (WHAR, Atlantic City, NJ, 1926).

Folies de Paree see The Folies Bergere of the Air

9162 Foljambe, Charlotte Tyson. Soprano (KFSG, Los Angeles, CA, 1925-1926).

9163 (The Folk Song Festival). Oscar Brand began the long-running music series in the 1940s. The program continued on the air well into the 1990s (WNYC, New York, NY, 1940s).

9164 (The Folk Song Lady). Vcl. mus. prg. conducted by an otherwise unidentified performer (WIP, Philadelphia, PA, 1936).

9165 Folk Songs from England, Wales, Norway and France. Tenor Paul Reese, baritone Andre DeHaaf, soprano Florence Wilde and contralto Mary Richards were the talented performers on the folk music program (Weekly, 9:00-10:00 P.M., KFI, Los Angeles, CA, 1925).

9166 Foll, Charles. Newscaster (KMO, Tacoma, WA, 1940).

9167 Folley, Lois. COM-HE (KWEW, Hobbs, NM, 1956).

9168 Follis, Jimmy. DJ (Records at Radio Ranch, WFPA, Ft. Payne, AL, 1960).

9169 Follis, Woody. DJ (KTUE, Tulia, TX, 1960).

9170 Follow the Moon. First broadcast in 1936 by the NBC-Red network, the daytime serial featured Elsie Hitz and Nick Dawson in leading roles as husband and wife. Hitz and Dawson had appeared previously as leads in an evening serial drama, Dangerous Paradise. Other cast members of Follow the Moon were: Alan Devitt, Rosaline Greene, Georgette Harvery, William Pringle and Alfred Swenson (15 min., Monday through Friday, NBC-Red, 1937).

Although Variety called the program a routine daytime serial (January 13, 1937, p.40), the story moved fast enough. Before two programs were finished, Elsie Hitz had left one man at the altar and shot the hero, Nick Dawson. The sponsor was Jergens-Woodbury.

9171 Followill, Murray. DJ (Western Hit Parade, KDSX, Denison, TX, 1952).

9172 Folsom, Charlotte. COM-HE (WJBS, DeLand, FL, 1956).

9213 Ford, Whitey (Benjamin F. Ford). CW comedian-musician Ford was known as the "Duke of Paducah." He began his radio career in 1925 by leading his own band (KTHS, Hot Springs National Park, AR, 1925). In later decades, Ford appeared regularly on the Renfro Valley Barn Dance and the Grand Ole Opry as a country comic.

9214 Ford and Glenn Time. These early radio pioneers — Ford Rush and Glenn Howell — were a popular team that performed songs and patter (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1924–1926). Ford possessed a pleasant baritone voice. Glenn who was a good tenor also played the piano. Ford and Glenn as the Lullaby Boys moved on to WJR (Detroit, MI) in 1927 after broadcasting stints at WLS (Chicago, IL) and WJW (Cincinnati, OH). Before joining the WLS staff, the harmony singing team made a highly successful theatrical tour, where they often performed their specialties: "The Woodshed Theater," "Lullaby Time" and the "Radio Song Shop." Radio Digest (October 29, 1927) asked: "Was there ever a pair that could entwine their hearts around the hearts of radio fans like Ford and Glenn?" Their answer was, "No."

9215 (The Ford Hour (aka The Ford Sunday Evening Hour or the Ford Summer Hour). The first program in this music series featured the 70-piece Ford Symphony Orchestra [the Detroit Symphony Orchestra]. Five of the world's most eminent conductors (Fritz Reiner, Eugene Ormandy, Alexander Smallens, Jose Iturbi and Victor Kolar) conducted the orchestra. Baritone John Charles Thomas appeared on the first program. During the first season guest soloists who appeared were violinist Misha Elman, soprano Josephine Antoine, pianist Jose Iturbi, pianist Vladimir Horowitz and baritone Nelson Eddy (60 min., Sunday, CBS, 1936). The program ran from 1934 through 1946 with only a few breaks in continuity.

9216 (The Ford Program. The Ford Motor Company sponsored the program featuring the pleasant music of Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians [orchestra] on CBS (1934).

9217 (The Ford Rhythm Revue. Ferde Grofe conducted the orchestra and soprano

Marguerite Howard and the Buccaneers vocal group performed on the half-hour music show (30 min., Weekly, NBC, 1936).

9218 (The Ford Showroom. Meredith Willson hosted the program and conducted his orchestra on the pleasant music show that also featured singers Ben Gage and Paulene Carter (30 min., Wednesday, 9:30–10:00 P.M., CBS, 1947).

9219 Fordan, Lou. Singer (WHN, New York, NY, 1925).

9220 Fordham, Howard and Jimmie White. Fordham and White were a vocal team known as the "Singing Serenaders" (KFH, Wichita, KS, 1928).

9221 Fordham, Louise. Ballad singer (WKO, San Francisco, CA, 1928).

9222 Fordling, Ida M. Organist (KTAB, Oakland, CA, 1925).

9223 Fordon, Leo. Tenor (WHN, New York, NY, 1924).

9224 Ford's Texas Trumpeters Orchestra. Brass instrumental group (WFAA, Dallas, TX, 1925–1926).

9225 Fordyce, Gerry. Newscaster (WGRC, Louisville, KY, 1944).

9226 (The Forecast School of Cooking. The early morning cooking show was a weekly Saturday morning feature (15 min., Saturday, A.M., NBC-Red, 1933). Earlier, the Forecast School of Cooking program was broadcast four times weekly (NBC-Blue, 1928–1929).

9227 Foreign Language Broadcasts. In all large cities there usually were stations that provided their listening audience with foreign language broadcasts. As early as 1927, Chicago's WEDC began broadcasting instrumental music and vocal selections along with talks in such foreign languages as Polish, Czech and Russian. In New York, stations WEVD and WOV began extensive broadcasting in several foreign languages with Yiddish and Italian predominating. Pittsburgh stations broadcast programs in Slovak and Detroit stations in Polish. WHOM (Jersey City, NJ) carried programs in ten languages in the early 1930s. During the same period, WCDA (New York, NY), known as the "Italian Station," broadcast four grand operas with such prominent artists as soprano Alba Novella with an orchestra under the direction of maestro Carlo Peroni. (WCDA was owned and operated by the Italian Educational Alliance.) John Belluci was the program's director. In 1942, WWRI (New York, NY) added a 45-minute Lithuanian language program to their schedule making a total of eight different foreign language programs broadcast by the station.

New York stations in the mid-1940s offered a wide variety of foreign language broadcasts:

WOV (New York, NY) presented Italian language broadcasts during the day and English ones at night.

WBNX (Bronx, NY) carried programs in German, Yiddish, Lithuanian, Armenian, Spanish, Polish, Greek, Ukranian, French and English.

WHOM (New York, NY) was unique in that in addition to its usual foreign language programs, it added ones in Norwegian for the 100,000 plus Norwegian speaking listeners in the Greater New York Area.

WBVN (Brooklyn, NY) featured Russian, Hungarian and Lithuanian DJs. It also presented the "Jewish Mark Twain," not otherwise identified, who told stories and "The American Court for Peace and Justice."

Some examples of Yiddish programs broadcast in the New York area were:

American Jewish Hour: Yiddish Swing Musical Review. Sponsored by Edelstein's Tuxedo brand cheese, the program was produced and directed by Sam Medoff. It was broadcast in both Yiddish and English and featured Alan Chester, the Dairy Maids, the Barry Sisters and Sam Medoff and his Yiddish Swing Orchestra. The announcer was Lewis Charles (15 min., WHN, New York, NY, July 28, 1940). The program ran into 1955 with its name changed to Yiddish Melodies in Swing. The sponsor in latter years was B. Manischewitz Company, but its format remained the same through the years. A special 1945 program broadcast from the top of Loew's State building featured the Barry Sisters, Seymour Rechtzeit and the Benny Goodman orchestra (WHN, New York, NY, 1945).

Beitate manes tish (Round the Family Table). This radio drama was written and directed by Nuchen Stutchkoff. The sponsor was a matzoh company. A programming example from '39 featured dramatized excerpts from the 1931 diary of a young playwright who marries his sweetheart against the wishes of his parents. He then begins to doubt his artistic abilities and encounters family pressures that lead him to divorce his wife. The young man succeeds in Hollywood, although he thought he would fail. His ex-wife raises their child, but is unable to forget him (WEVD, New York, NY, 1939). The program was broadcast in both Yiddish and English.

(The Congress for Jewish Culture Program. At various times the distinguished program presented social commentary, dramatic readings, biography, poetry and dramatizations in Yiddish (WEVD, New York, NY, 1948–1950).

Der Grammeister. The Yiddish-English language program was sponsored by the Jewish Daily Forward newspaper. At times the format was entirely narrative, but at other times the programs were presented in dramatic form that might contain commentary, poetry or drama (WEVD, New York, NY, 1947–1952).

Der Yiddisher Filosof (The Yiddish Philosopher). Israel Lutsky read letters from listeners and offered them advice for their personal problems. The sponsor was Carnation Milk (New York radio, 1950s).

Fashions in Song with Don Dennis. B. Manischewitz Company and Levine and Smith, the Fashion Headquarters for Well Dressed Women, sponsored the entertaining show on which Dennis sang and casually talked to his listeners (WHN, New York, NY, late 1940s).

Freedom Train: Delayed Pilgrims of 1948-1949. The program developed and presented by the National Council of Jewish Women was presented in both English and Yiddish. It told chiefly survivor stories (WCOP, Boston, MA, 1949).

Golden's Mustard Program. Victor Packer told stories on his show about people and their accomplishments. The sponsor was Golden's Mustard (WLTH, New York, NY, 1940s).

(The) Hammer's Beverage Program. This program was conducted by Victor Packer with co-hosts Raisele and Shaindele, a popular vocal team and the comic patter of the Gay Twins. The sponsor was the Hammer Beverage Company (WLTH, New York, NY, 1940).

It Happened This Week (aka The American Jewish Hour). Stuhmer's Pumpernickel Bread Company and Zion Kosher Meat Products sponsored this program, produced by the Jewish Broadcasting Company and directed by Maurice Rapel. Usually four news events were presented in short dramatizations. One 1940 contest on the program offered booklets of admission tickets to the New York World's Fair for completing the sentence: "I prefer Stuhmer's Pumpernickel bread because...." The announcer was Lewis Charles (WHN, New York, NY, 1940). Another 1940 program contained these four brief news dramatizations: (1) Charges made against England's prime minister Neville Chamberlain of anti-Semitism; (2) Bella Futerman brought back to life by a physician in her Bronx apartment; (3) The leading independent candidate for the Mexican presidency survives a train ambush and makes an inspirational speech; and (4) The crew of the French submarine Pascal takes eight German refugees from an Italian ocean liner to Casablanca where they were questioned as spies.

Jewish Festival and Other Jolly Functions. Seymour Rechtzeit narrated the program honoring Jewish holidays and celebrations in words and music. The sponsor was Pabst Beer (15 min., Weekly, WEVD, New York, NY, 1942).

Jewish Refuge Theater (aka Refugee Theater of the Air). The show premiered December 12, 1938. The dramatic series broadcast in Yiddish and English was unique in that every featured performer was a refugee (30 min., Weekly, WMCA, New York, NY, 1938).

Life Is Funny with Harry Hershfield. Zion Kosher Meat Products and Simon Ackerman Clothing Store sponsored comedian Hershfield on his quarter hour program (15 min., WHN, New York, NY, late 1940s).

Music by New Americans. The music program featuring refugee performers was broadcast weekly (30 min., Weekly, WNYC, New York, NY, 1948).

News of the Week in Review. B. Manischewitz Company sponsored the Yiddish-English program with commentator Mordecai Danzis discussing current events (Weekly, Sunday, WEVD, New York, NY, 1947-1948). The 1952 format of the News of the Week in Review featured Leon Crystal, editorial writer and UN correspondent for the Jewish Daily Forward as commentator (WEVD, New York, NY, 1952).

(The) Quiz Master. A quiz program in English and Yiddish featured teams from two schools competing to demonstrate their knowledge of Jewish history, music, art, etc. Sponsored by B. Manischewitz, the program's announcer was Henry Gladstone (WHN, New York, NY, 1940). The February 9, 1940, program presented an all male team from the Abbey Institute competing against an all female team from the Training School for Secretaries.

Reunion. This English-Yiddish program broadcast live reunions of refugees with their families (WOR, New York, NY, 1947).

(The) Sarah Gorby Show. Another program sponsored by Stuhmer's Bread Company, this one was hosted by Sarah Gorby. Broadcast in Yiddish and Russian, the program featured songs by Goldie Moskowitz (WEVD, New York, NY, 1945).

(The) Sterling Salt Interviews. The Yiddish Vox Pop-type program conducted by Victor Packer presented discussions of various "issues that interest everyone" and interviews from various Brooklyn business locations. Once Packer visited Borenstein Brothers Butchers Market where he interviewed shoppers about Jewish holiday foods. Various songs were mixed in with the program's commercials and interviews. On another program originating from Mr. Epstein's Dairy on Church Avenue in East Flatbush, he asked shoppers: "Should beautiful young women wear make-up on the street?" Still another program was broadcast from Mr. Tannenbaum's Public Market of Brooklyn (WBYN, Brooklyn, NY and WLTH, New York, NY, 1941).

Variety Show. Madame Bertha Hart was the hostess on the program that offered entertainment by singers Dvorele Wasserman, Mr. Redding and Eleanor Kramer accompanied by pianist Jean Rubin. Sometimes political speeches by Rabbi Myron Magnet were included (WCNW, Brooklyn, NY, 1936).

Vi di flegt zugn (As Mother Used to Say). B. Manischewitz Company sponsored the Yiddish-English program conducted by Nuchem Stutchkoff. It discussed Yiddish etymology and presented questions and answers about the Yiddish language and expressions. Commercials were delivered in English (15 min., Weekly, WHN, New York, NY, 1943).

The preceding list contains only a few of the many foreign language programs that appeared on radio from 1920 to 1960. The topic should receive the attention of researchers in order to catalog the many programs that were broadcast during these years and to describe their featured performers.

9228 Foreman, Bill. Leader (The Foreman Banjo Sextet, WFAA, Dallas, TX, 1924).

9229 Foreman, R.L. DJ (Musical Forum, WLIDY, Ladysmith, WI, 1952).

9230 Forever Ernest. Bromo-Seltzer sponsored the situation comedy that starred Jackie

Coogan in the title role. Variety gave it only faint praise when it replaced the Vox Pop program. Arthur Q. Bryan and Lurene Tuttle supported Coogan on the show. Music was supplied by Billy May's Orchestra. Dick Joy was the program's announcer (30 min., Monday, 8:00-8:30 P.M., CBS, 1946).

9257 Fort Devens' Radio Party. The program was broadcast during the early years of World War II from an army base (Ft. Devens, Massachusetts) featuring Army personnel and professional entertainers in 1941. See also War-time Radio.

9258 Fort Laramie. Raymond Burr and Vic Perrin starred in the transcribed sustaining western adventure series. Burr played "Lee Quince, Captain of U.S. Calvary," in the dramatic story, a "saga of fighting men." In one of the early episodes, Burr, the hero, discovered that it was white men who were burning frontier settlers' cabins and scalping victims, not Indians. John Meston wrote and Norman Macdonnell produced and directed the show, whose cast members also included Harry Bartell and Jack Moyles. Music was supplied by Amerigo Moreno. Don Cubberly was the announcer (30 min., Sunday, 5:30-6:00 P.M., CBS, 1955).

9259 Fort Worth Barn Dance. Station WBAP (Fort Worth, TX) first broadcast the program January 4, 1923. It probably was the first barn dance ever broadcast. The National Barn Dance on WLS (Chicago, IL) and the Grand Old Opry on WSM (Nashville, TN) came on the air within the next two years after the Fort Worth Barn Dance was first broadcast. See also Country-Western (CW) Music.

9378 Frank, William. Around the Town (WILM, Wilmington, DE, 1947).

9379 Frank and Dina. Vocal team (WHN, New York, NY, 1924).

9380 Frank and Jackson (aka Harden and Weaver). Frank Harden and Jackson Weaver were popular comic DJs, whose program originated from Washington, D.C. (30 min., Saturday, 2:30–3:00 P.M., ABC, 1952). Harden and Weaver were still at it more than 25 years later — probably a longevity record for DJs in one city.

9381 Frank Buck. Explorer Buck, billed as Frank "Bring 'Em Back Alive" Buck, told of his adventures with appropriate sound effects added to simulate the atmosphere of the jungle. Radio-Keith-Orpheum Motion Picture Company sponsored the program in order to promote their movie showing Buck's exploits. On the program, Buck also interviewed various authorities on animals, such as Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of the New York Zoological Gardens (30 min., Thursday, 11:30–12:00 midnight, WEAJ-Red, 1932). See also Frank Buck's Adventures.

9382 Frank Buck's Adventures (aka The Jungle Adventures of Frank Buck or Bring 'Em Back Alive). The serial drama was based on the exploits of Frank "Bring 'Em Back Alive" Buck (15 min., Monday through Friday, 6:45–7:00 A.M., NBC-Red, 1934). Buck was famous for capturing animals for zoos and circuses. Several movies were made in the form of documentaries showing his animal capturing exploits, but his radio program was not well produced.

9383 (The) Frank Campbell Funeral Parlor Program. Campbell's, the famous New York funeral parlor, sponsored a program of quiet recorded music (15 min., Wednesday, 10:00–10:15 A.M., WMCA, New York, NY, 1934).

9384 Frank Crumit and Julia Sanderson. Crumit and Sanderson sang and joked on their pleasant Sunday afternoon program (30 min., Sunday, 5:30–6:00 P.M., CBS, 1934). The husband-and-wife team also appeared together on other programs including: The Blackstone Plantation, Universal Rhythm and the Battle of the Sexes.

9385 (The) Frank Fay Show. Veteran vaudeville comedian Fay wrote, directed and hosted this variety show sponsored by Standard Brands' Royal Gelatine. Music was supplied by either Eddie Kay's or Bobby Dolan's Orchestra (30 min., Saturday, 9:00–9:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1936). Fay's later show, also known as The Frank Fay Show, was sponsored by Tums for the "Timmy" in 1941 on the NBC-Blue network. The latter show was unique in that the comedian was also the program's writer, producer and host. Harry Salter's Orchestra, tenor Bob Hannon and Beverly and her Boy Friends singing group provided the music.

9386 (The) Frank Fontaine Show. Frank Fontaine, who was first heard on The Original Amateur Hour, was joined on his show by vocalist Helen O'Connell, Mary Jane Croft, announcer Harry Von Zell and Lud Gluskin's Orchestra. S. Rose wrote the sustaining show with Al Schwartz, who was also director and producer (30 min., Sunday, 8:00–8:30 P.M., CBS, 1952).

Fontaine later gained fame playing tipsy Crazy Guggenheim on Jackie Gleason's American Scene Magazine television program on CBS in 1962. Fontaine, as Guggenheim, would greet Gleason, as Joe the Bartender, with a drunken "Hiya, Mr. Dunahy." After he and Gleason traded a few pointless quips, Fontaine would sing a ballad in his beautiful baritone voice.

9387 (The) Frank Luther Show. Tenor Luther, who was sometimes joined by his wife, Dorothy Knox, entertained on this sustaining children's music show (30 min., Saturday, 8:30–9:00 A.M., WNBC, New York, NY, 1947).

9388 (The) Frank Parker Show. Tenor Parker was joined by Paula Kelly, Kay Lorraine and the Modernaires on the transcribed program. Paul Barron's Orchestra supplied the music. Andre Baruch was the announcer (15 min., Transcribed, WNEW, New York, NY, 1947–1949). Parker was also a featured singer on Arthur Godfrey's radio and television programs singing duets with Marion Marlowe.

9389 Frank Simon's Concert Band. Bandmaster Simon conducted his excellent band (NBC, 1935).

9390 (The) Frank Sinatra Show. Toni Home Permanents sponsored Sinatra's return appearance as a DJ. Jerry Laurence was the program's announcer (15 min., Wednesday and Friday, 8:15–8:30 P.M., NBC, 1954). Sinatra also starred in such programs as Songs by Sinatra, Light-Up Time and To Be Perfectly Frank among others during the 1950s.

Sinatra first gained fame in the 1940s as one of the great crooners of the era, singing with the Tommy Dorsey and Harry James bands. His successful movie career was marked by his Academy Award winning performance in James Jones' From Here to Eternity.

Radio played a prominent role in the singer's career. From his earliest radio appearance with the Hoboken Four in 1935 on Major Bowes' Original Amateur Hour through the many big band remote broadcasts on which he starred with the Tommy Dorsey and Harry James orchestras to his own musical and dramatic programs, Sinatra proved himself to be one of the greatest and most versatile entertainers of all time. Sinatra's popularity is evident in that he had a song on the Billboard charts every year from 1955 to 1995 (Newsweek, April 27, 1998, p.69). See also Sinatra, Frank in the Index of Names.

9391 Frank Watanabe and Honorable Archie. Eddie Holden and Reginald Sharland played the title roles on the popular West Coast comedy sketch, with Holden playing the Japanese servant to his master, Honorable Archie (KFRC, San Francisco, CA, 1929). Holder first played the role of the Japanese houseboy in 1923, when he appeared on San Francisco radio. Soon Holden began working with Reginald Sharland in the role of his "boss." The team dissolved when Sharland was forced to move to the desert to treat his arthritis. Holden then carried on alone with his own program — Frank Watanabe (15 min., KECA, Los Angeles, CA, 1936).

9392 (The) Frankie Avalon Show. Singer Avalon hosted and sang on the music show for teenagers sponsored by Charles Pfizer Company. Al Caiola's Orchestra and regular guests such as Paul Anka performed weekly (30 min., Saturday, 7:00–7:30 P.M., ABC, 1959).

9394 Frankish, Grant. Newscaster (WJAX, Jacksonville, FL, 1941; WOBS, Jacksonville, FL, 1948).

- 9436 (The) Fred Allen Show. Many critics have called The Fred Allen Show the best comedy program ever to appear on American radio. Regardless of this statement's validity, it can be agreed that Allen's program consistently produced funny moments because of its combination of good writing and the performance of its excellent ensemble performers over the years. Allen continued to hone his comic skills as writer and performer all through his radio career, which extended from 1932 to 1949. Beginning in 1932 with the Linit Bath Club Revue, he was joined on his broadcasts by his wife, Portland Hoffa. Allen's programs with their various cast members were as follows:
The Linit Bath Club Revue (30 min., Sunday, 9:00-9:30 P.M., CBS, 1932-1933). Sponsored by Corn Products, manufacturers of Linit, the cast included: Allen, Hoffa, Roy Atwell and Jack Smart. Music was supplied by the Lou Katzman Orchestra with vocals by Charles Carlisle. The announcer was Ken Roberts.
The Salad Bowl Revue (30 min., Tuesday, 9:00-9:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1933). Sponsored by Best Foods' Hellman's Mayonnaise, the cast included Allen, Hoffa, Roy Atwell, Jack Smart and Eileen Douglas. Music was by the Ferde Grofe Orchestra with vocals by Phil Ducey. Tiny Ruffner was the announcer.
The Sal Hepatica Revue (30 min., Wednesday, 9:30-10:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1934). Bristol-Myers Company sponsored the show, whose cast included: Allen, Hoffa, Roy Atwell, Jack Smart, Minerva Pious and Irwin Delmore. Music was by the Ferde Grofe Orchestra with vocals by the Songsmiths. The announcer was Tiny Ruffner.
The Hour of Smiles (60 min., Wednesday, 9:00-10:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1934). Bristol-Myers sponsored the show. The cast included: Allen, Hoffa, Roy Atwell, Jack Smart, Irwin Delmore, Eileen Douglas, Minerva Pious, Walter Tetley and Lionel Stander. Music was by Lenny Hayton with vocals by Theodore Webb, the Songsmiths and the Sal Hepatica Singers. Tiny Ruffner was the announcer. The sales pitch stated that the program was sponsored by "Ipana [a toothpaste] for the Smile of Beauty and Sal Hepatica [a laxative] for the Smile of Health."
Town Hall Tonight (60 min., Wednesday, 9:00-10:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1934-1939). Bristol-Myers again sponsored the program. The cast included: Allen, Hoffa, Jack Smart, Eileen Douglas, Minerva Pious, John Brown, Walter Tetley and Lionel Stander. Music was by the Lenny Hayton and Peter Van Steeden orchestras with vocals by the Town Hall Quartet, the Sal Hepatica Singers, the Merry Macs and Lynn Murray and the Town Singers. Harry Von Zell was the announcer.
The Fred Allen Show (60 min., Wednesday, 9:00-10:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1939-1940). Bristol-Myers again sponsored the show with a cast that included: Allen, Hoffa, Minerva Pious, John Brown, Charlie Cantor and Alan Reed. Music was by Peter Van Steeden and vocals by Wynn Murray, the Merry Macs and Lynn Murray and the Town Hall Singers. Harry Von Zell was the announcer.
The Texaco Star Theater (60 min., Wednesday, 9:00-10:00 P.M. and 9:30-10:00 P.M., CBS, 1940-1944). The Texas Company, manufacturers of Texaco gasoline, sponsored the program whose cast included: Allen, Hoffa, Minerva Pious, Alan Reed, Charlie Cantor and John Brown. Music was by the Al Goodman Orchestra with vocals by Wynn Murray, Kenny Baker and Hi Lo Jack and the Dame, Jimmy Wallington and Arthur Godfrey were the announcers.
The Fred Allen Show (30 min., Sunday, 8:30-9:00 P.M. and 8:00-8:30 P.M., NBC, 1945-1949). This program, sponsored by Standard Brands and the Ford Dealers of America, had a cast that included: Allen, Hoffa, Minerva Pious, Alan Reed, Kenny Delmar, Parker Fennelly and Peter Donald. Music was by the Al Goodman Orchestra and vocals by the DeMarco Sisters. The announcer was Kenny Delmar.
Although Allen always did most of his own writing, he was assisted over the years by a talented writing pool that included Arnold Auerbach, Nat Hiken, Herb Lewis, Larry Marks, Albert G. Miller, Harry Tugend, Aaron Ruben and Herman Wouk. One of Allen's most memorable shows, however, did not depend upon skillful writing. It occurred during the 1940 season, when a trained eagle by the name of Captain Ramshaw escaped during a broadcast. As he flew on high, the startled studio audience was splattered by the soaring eagle with unwanted deposits from above. Hilarious fun was had by almost all, including, it seems, Captain Ramshaw.

The composite cast of this great comedy show over the years included such regulars and guests as: Portland Hoffa (Allen), Fred Allen, Roy Atwell, Tallulah Bankhead, Jack Benny, Edgar Bergen, Shirley Booth, John Brown, Charlie Cantor, Bing Crosby, Kenny Delmar, Irwin Delmore, Eileen Douglas, Phil Ducey, Leo Durocher, Maurice Evans, Parker Fennelly, Jack Haley, Oscar Hammerstein II, "Uncle Jim" Harkins, Alfred Hitchcock, Bob Hope, George Jessel, Bert Lahr, Charles Laughton, Sam Levene, Beatrice Lillie, Pamela Mason, James Mason, Lauritz Melchior, Henry Morgan, Minerva Pious, Alan Reed (Teddy Bergman), Doc Rockwell, Richard Rodgers, Jack Smart, Walter Tetley, Helen Traubel and Orson Welles. The orchestras included were those of Al Goodman, Ferde Grofe, Lennie Hayton, Lou Katzman and Peter Van Steeden. The DeMarco Sisters and the Town Hall Quartet (Scrappy Lambert, Bob Moody, Tubby Weyant and Leonard Stokes) vocal groups also appeared. The show was written by Fred Allen, Arnold Auerbach, Nat Hiken, Herb Lewis, Larry Marks, Albert G. Miller, Aaron Ruben, Harry Tugend, Albert G. Miller and Herman Wouk. The directors were Victor Knight and Howard Reilly.

An extended discussion of Allen's radio comedy is included in the Comedy and Humor entry. Two excellent book length treatments of Allen's comedy can be found in Havig's Fred Allen's Radio Comedy and Taylor's Fred Allen—His Life and Wit. Wertheim's Radio Comedy also perceptively analyzes Allen's comic genius. See also Comedy and Humor.

9437 (The) Fred Astaire Show. Dancing motion picture star Fred Astaire hosted his show sponsored by the Packard Motor Car Company. Although performers such as Astaire, comedians Charles Butterworth and Eddie Moran, singer Francis White and Johnny Green's Orchestra were talented, Variety said the show was seldom more than mediocre (60 min., 9:30-10:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1936). The following season after Astaire left the program, it became The Packard Hour.

9438 Fred Waring. Waring's orchestra first appeared on radio on station WWJ (Detroit, MI) in the early 1920s. His first network show featured his fine music plus humorist J.P. Medbury (30 min., Weekly, 10:00-10:30 P.M., CBS, 1933). After appearing on several network shows, Waring was given his own programs known variously as The Chesterfield Supper Club, Chesterfield Time, Pleasure Time, Victory Tunes and The Fred Waring Show. On most of these shows his well-known opening theme was "I Hear Music" and his closing, "Sleep." Over the years his programs' cast included many talented performers: Gordon Berger, Daisy Bernier, Lumpy Brannum, Stuart Churchill, Ruth Cottingham, Diane Courtney, Donna Dae, Johnny "Scat"

9440 (The) Fred Waring Ford Show. Waring's fine orchestra was featured along with Kay Thompson, Priscilla Lane, Rosemary Lane, Tom Waring, Stuart Churchill and Johnny "Scat" Davis on his entertaining show (15 min., CBS, 1935).

9441 (The) Freddy Rich Penthouse Party. Singer GoGo Delays performed with the swinging Freddy Rich band on the lively music show (30 min., Sunday, 8:00-8:30 P.M. CST, CBS, 1936).

9442 Frederic, Marvin. Leader (Marvin Frederic Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WSB, Atlanta, GA, 1937-1938; WJZ-NBC-Red, 1938).

9443 Frederick, George. Announcer (WDAF, Kansas City, MO, 1925).

9444 Frederick, Harland. Newscaster (KSPO, San Francisco, CA, 1945-1947).

9445 Fredericks, Bill. DJ (The Honeydrippers, KWJL, Portland, OR, 1950).

9446 Fredericks, C.W. Violinist (KYA, San Francisco, CA, 1927).

9447 Fredericks, Carlton. Nutritionist Fredericks talked on various nutrition and health topics (Carlton Fredericks, WMGM, New York, NY, 1956). Fredericks enjoyed a long, successful broadcasting career discussing various nutritional subjects. See also Carlton Fredericks.

9448 Fredericks, Dorothy. Singer (Dorothy Fredericks, vcl. mus. prg., WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1934).

9449 Fredericks, Jack. Newscaster (WIBX, Utica, NY, 1946).

9450 Fredericks, Pat. Newscaster (WIDWS, Champaign, IL, 1937). DJ (Coffee Time, WMAF, Springfield, IL, 1952).

9451 Fredericks, Pauline. Newscaster (ABC, 1946-1947). Fredericks was one of the earliest and most respected female news commentators. Her commentary on United Nations activities were both comprehensive and incisive.

Although Fredericks was a successful newscaster, her career undoubtedly was hampered by the not too subtle bias against women newscasters and commentators that was common during her professional career. From radio's earliest days there was an anti-female bias that made it difficult for them to work as announcers, newscasters or commentators. Fredericks found it necessary to lower the pitch of her voice in order to broadcast.

9452 Fredericks, Ruth. COM-HE (WCSS, Amsterdam, NY, 1956).

9453 Fredericks, Vic. Fredericks was billed as an "air comedian" (WBBM, Chicago, IL, 1926).

9454 Fredericks, Walter. Announcer and station owner (WOBV, Charleston, WV, 1928).

9455 Frederics, Frank. DJ (Frank Frederics Show, W'TAM, Cleveland, OH, 1947).

9456 Fredlund, Myrtle. Girl baritone (KOIN, Council Bluffs, IA, 1928).

9457 Free, Joseph B. Baritone (WEAF, New York, NY, 1924-1926).

9458 Free World Theater. The Free World Theater, a public service government sponsored program, was conceived by Arch Oboler as a means to obtain the ideas of famous people about the war then in progress and the peace that would be forthcoming. Oboler wrote to various famous people and world leaders including Aldous Huxley, Henry Wallace, Joseph Stalin and Chiang Kai-shek to seek their ideas. He then wrote approximately one-quarter of the programs that resulted. Music was composed and directed by Gordon Jenkins. The program ran for four months with little critical praise (30 min., Weekly, 1943).

9459 Freed, Alan "Moondog." DJ (Record Review and Matinee, WAKR, Akron, OH, 1947; Request Review, WARK, Akron, OH, 1950; Moon Dog House, WJW, Cleveland, OH, 1952; Alan Freed, WINS, New York, NY, 1956; The Big Beat, KDAY, Hollywood, CA, 1960). Sportscaster (WAKR, 1947). Freed opened his popular DJ programs with his characteristic, "Hey, here we go." He introduced Black music and its performers to white teenagers. The "old Moon Dog" Alan Freed was important for the role he played in popularizing rock-and-roll music.

9460 Freed, Bessie. Pianist (Bessie Freed, instr. mus. prg., WFIL, Philadelphia, PA, 1936).

9461 Freed, Carl. Leader (Carl Freed Harmonica Band, instr. mus. prg., WGN, Chicago, IL, WLW, Cincinnati, OH and WOR, Newark, NJ, 1935).

9462 Freed Orchestradians (aka Freed-Eisman Orchestradians). Phil Spitalny directed the Freed Orchestra. Dick Robertson and guest singers performed on the program (30 min., Monday, 8:00-8:30 P.M., NBC, 1928-1929).

9463 Freede, Beatrice A. COM-HE, (WIDCL, Tarpon Springs, FL, 1956).

9464 Freedom's People. This was the first network program to depict the culture and history of African-Americans by presenting a view of their contributions to American culture. Ambrose Caliver produced and directed the program, assisted by such Black intellectuals as Elaine Locke and Sterling Brown of Howard University. The first program in the series was devoted to music. Such diverse personalities appeared on the distinguished series as boxer Joe Louis, singer Paul Robeson and union leader A. Phillip Randolph (30 min., Monthly, NBC, 1941-1942).

9465 Freeland, Bill. DJ (Sweet Peach Show, WRUF, Gainesville, FL, 1952).

9466 Freeland, (Dr.) Frank. Pianist (WRR, Dallas, TX, 1926).

9467 Freeman, (Dr.) Douglas S. News commentator (WRNL, Richmond, VA, 1940-1941; 1945-1946).

9522 (The) Friendly Philosopher. Pedro de Cordova broadcast his warm, homey philosophy and Will Osborne sang and led his orchestra on the weekly program sponsored by Mazola Oil (15 min., Monday-Wednesday-Friday, 9:45-10:00 A.M., NBC-Red, 1933).

9523 (The) Friendly Philosopher. Homer Griffith broadcast inspirational messages and urged his listeners to undertake good deeds, such as taking needy Chicago tenement children to visit the Chicago World's Fair. When the Cook County Bureau of Public Welfare asked him to take about 10,000 children to visit the Fair during its second year, Griffith's listeners sent in over $3,000 and other items of value to cover the cost. Station WLS (Chicago, IL) then took 9,177 children to the Fair (15 min., Weekly, WLS, Chicago, IL, 1934-1935). Griffith was born January 12, 1893. By 1935, he said he had read more than 10,000 poems on the air and mailed more than 100,000 copies of them to listeners. He produced, wrote, and made electrical transcriptions of his programs that were broadcast by more than 60 stations in 1935 during his fifth year at WLS.

9524 (The) Friendly Philosopher. Homer Griffith, formerly of WLS (Chicago, IL), took his inspirational program to Texas (WFAA, Dallas, TX, 1936). The following year Griffith moved back to WLS (15 min., Saturday, 8:30–8:45 A.M., WLS, Chicago, IL, 1937).

9548 Frogge, John. Newscaster (WGGB, Freeport, NY, 1939–1941, 1945; News of Nassau, WGGB, 1947–1948).

9549 (The) Fro-Joy Player. A program combining a mystery melodrama with musical interludes (30 min., 7:00–7:30 P.M., WJAS Pittsburgh, PA, 1930).

9550 From, Joe. Newscaster (WJWC, Hammond, IN, 1942).

9551 From Dusty Pages. CBS presented these half-hour programs that dramatized various ancient myths and legends (30 min., 6:00–6:30 P.M., CBS, 1930).

9552 Fromme, Galen. Newscaster and sometime DJ (WBAL, Baltimore, MD, 1940, 1945–1946).

9553 Front Page Drama. The transcribed program began as the American Weekly Drama in the 1933–1934 season. The entertaining program dramatized famous newspaper stories of the time.

9554 Front Page Exclusive. Randolph Hearst and Edwin Lee provided news commentary on the program (15 min., MBS, 1955).

9555 Front Page Farrell. Richard Widmark originated the title role of fearless reporter, David Farrell, on the weekday serial drama produced by the prolific husband-and-wife team Frank and Anne Hummert. The sponsor was Anacin and Hills Cold Tablets. Florence Williams played the role of Farrell's wife, Sally. The Farrells and their friends often found themselves embroiled in murder investigations. After Widmark and Williams left the cast, the roles of David and Sally were played by Staats Cotsworth and Virginia Dwyer. Carleton Young also later played Farrell.

The program was a blend of "soap opera and evening thriller," a rare combination in a daytime serial drama. The program was introduced daily as "...the unforgettable story of marriage and a newspaper office—the story of a handsome dashing young star reporter on one of New York's greatest newspapers and the girl he marries on impulse to save her from throwing herself away on a rich man twice her age."

Betty Garde played fast-talking Kay Barnett, David Farrell's fellow reporter on the New York Eagle. Evelyn Varden played Sally's mother, a "victory gardener" during World War II, who always did her part whenever asked. A worshipful Eagle office boy, Sammy Warner, played by George Sturgeon, emulated David Farrell whenever possible.

The program's theme, "You and I," was played by organist Rosa Rio. Over the years the program's cast included: Peter Capell, Frank Chase, Staats Cotsworth, Robert Donley, Virginia Dwyer, Katherine Emmet, Elspeth Eric, Betty Garde, Sylvia Leigh, Athena Lorde, James Monks, William Shelley, Eleanor Sherman, Vivian Smolen, George Sturgeon, James Van Dyk, Evelyn Varden, Richard Widmark, Florence Williams, and Carleton Young. Alvin Boretz, Harold Gast, Bob Saxon, and Robert J. Snow were the program's writers and Bill Sweets and Blair Walliser the directors. Sound effects were produced by Ross Martindale and Manny Segal. John Buckwalter, Arthur Hanna and Ed Slatery were the announcers. (15 min., Monday through Friday, MBS 1941–42, NBC 1942–54).

9556 Front Page Parade. The dramatized Minneapolis news program was sponsored by the Minneapolis Star newspaper. The cast included Hal Parkes, Sylvia Dahl, Louise Youngerman, Ed Abbott and George Grim (Daily, WCCO, Minneapolis, MN, 1939).

9557 Front Porch Serenade. The sounds of frogs and katydids could be heard throughout the show, giving it the proper rural atmospheric touches. The format combined a sketch of country life with CW music. The music and dramatic interludes were performed by Eddie Alan, Tex Atchison, Red Foley, Wilma Williams, Salty Holmes, Dan Hosmer, Chick Hurt, Edith LaCrosse, John Lair, Patsy Mortana, Betty Romaine and Jack Taylor (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1936).

9558 Frontier Days. The western historical serial drama included a dramatic sketch and tenor John White singing cowboy songs. Martin [Marthin] Provensen was the announcer (15 min., 11:00–11:15 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1930).

9559 Frontier Gentleman. John Dehner played the title role of a British newspaper correspondent who travelled the American West in search of stories. As improbable as the show's premise was, Dehner capably played the role, doing everything, as Variety pointed out, from doctoring to fighting. Jerry Goldsmith was the program's musical director. The show premiered Sunday, February 16, 1958 (25 min., Sunday, 2:30–2:55 P.M., CBS, 1958).

9560 Frontier Town. The Bruce Ellis production, an interesting western drama, was syndicated in the late 1940s. Reed Hadley played the leading role of lawyer Chad Remmington, who moved week to week from one exciting adventure to another. He was assisted by Cherokee O'Bannon, his comic sidekick (30 min., Weekly, Syndicated, 1952-1953).

9561 Frontiers of Science. Distinguished news commentator Quincy Howe narrated the sustaining science news program (15 min., Tuesday, 6:45-7:00 P.M., W.C.B.S., New York, NY, 1947).

9562 Froos, Sylvia. Vocalist (Sylvia Froos, vcl. mus. prg., NBC, 1932; CBS, 1934, MBS, 1935, 1938). Although Froos was 18 when she appeared three times a week on the NBC-Blue network in 1932, she was referred to as "Baby Sylvia."

9563 Frosh Vocal Quartet. The members of the male vocal group included Ronald Rice, Alfred Lechenby, Ray Moen and Epley Boardman (KWSC, Pullman, WA, 1926).

9712 Gambling, John B. An Englishman just out of the British Navy in 1925, Gambling took a job at WOR, Newark, NJ, as a studio engineer. One day when an announcer for Bernarr McFadden's early morning exercise program failed to arrive on time, Gambling took over the announcing duties on the hour program and easily talked his way through it. When McFadden left the program shortly thereafter in March 1925, Gambling took over for him. The program developed into his long-running Gam- bling's Musical Clock (at times known as Gambling's Musical Gym Clock). In 1944, Gambling also served as a newscaster on the program. After broadcasting from 1925 to 1959, he was succeeded, first, by his son, John A. Gambling, who conducted the program from 1959 to 1990, and, later still, by his grandson, John R. Gambling, who still hosts the program (WOR, New York, NY, 1998).

9718 Gandy, Art. Newscaster (KHUB, Watsonville, CA, 1942).

9719 Gangbusters. Phillips H. Lord created the program and appeared as its first narrator-host. Eventually, Colonel Norman H. Schwarzkopf of the New Jersey State Police and Lewis J. Valentine, the retired New York City Police Commissioner, succeeded him as narrator. Based on actual police cases, Gangbusters was a later version of the original G-Men program. Originally sponsored by Palmolive Brushless Shaving Cream, the program was heard from 1935 to 1957 in one format or another. Gangbusters made the claim that it was "the only national program that brings you authentic police cases. At the end of each program, "clues" were broadcast about criminals at large wanted by the police. These "clues" were said to have resulted in hundreds of criminals being captured. The cast included: Joan Banks, Art Carney, Roger DeKoven, Robert Dryden, Helene Dumas, Elspeth Eric, Anne-Marie Gayer, Larry Haines, Leon Janney, Raymond Edward Johnson, Adelaide Klein, Bill Lipton, Frank Lovejoy, Don MacLaughlin, James McCallion, Santos Ortega, Ethel Owen, Byrna Raeburn, Alice Reinheart, Grant Richards, Linda Watkins and Richard Widmark. The program's narrators included Dean Carlton, John C. Hillely, Phillips H. Lord, Colonel J. Norman Schwarzkopf and Lewis J. Valentine. The announcers were Charles Stark, Roger Forster, Frank Gallop, Don Gardiner and H. Gilbert Martin. Leonard Bass, Harry Frazee, Jay Hanna, Paul Munroe, Bill Sweets and George Zachary were the directors. The show's writers were Brice Disque, Jr., Phillips H. Lord, John Mole and Stanley Niss (30 min., NBC-Blue, ABC, 1936-1957).

Kay previously had sang at Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe night club in New York. The program's name was changed to The Gaslight Gayeties in 1944. On Gaslight Gayeties, Kay was joined by Michael O'Shea as the singing host, Sally Sweetland and the Bud Dant Orchestra. The announcer was Perry Ward (30 min., Saturday, 8:00-8:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1945). In a later version of the program Jack Smith and Martin Sperzel and Marshall Hall were featured (NBC, 1945).
- 9817 Gasoline Alley. Frank King's comic strip was the basis for this daily serial drama, the story of Skeezix, a young automobile mechanic, his wife and their friends. The program's cast included: Mason Adams, Hazel Dopheide, Janice Gilbert, Jean Gillespie, Billy Idelson, Bill Lipton, Junius Matthews, Jimmy McCallion, Irna Phillips and Clifford Soubier. The program was directed by John Cole and Charles Schenck and written by Kane Campbell and Kay Chase.
- Gasoline Alley* was a popular family comic strip that first appeared in the Chicago Tribune in 1919. The strip started as a weekly meeting of automobile enthusiasts who met in an alley behind the members' respective apartment buildings—therefore, the strip's name. Soon, however, a dramatic change took place when a baby was left on Walt Willet's doorstep. The baby was given the name of Skeezix. After that the plot became a serious, well-written story of a family that matured and aged as time went on.

- 9888 Gendron, Henri. Leader (Henri Gendron Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WGES, Chicago, IL, 1935–1936; CBS, 1939).
- 9889 Gene and Glenn. Gene Carroll and Glenn Rowell were popular radio veterans, whose songs and comedy attracted a large listening audience to their Gillette Razor Blades sponsored show (15 min., Monday, 7:15–7:30 P.M., NBC, 1934). The close harmony singing and comedy team began their broadcasting career on Chicago radio in the 1920s. They enjoyed continued popularity over a long professional career. The team reunited in 1954 with a MBS network show, Gene and Glenn. The comedy-vocal team were great listener favorites whenever they worked. Gene Carroll had once been part of the Jake and Lena comedy-vocal team. Previously, Carroll had conducted his own local DJ show, Jake's Juke Box. In 1954 he once again teamed with Glenn Rowell, who played piano, on a MBS network show originating from Cleveland. Brian Hodgkinson was their announcer. This show reunited these two pioneering radio entertainers late in their careers (15 min., Monday through Friday, MBS, 1954). See also Jake's Juke Box.

9890 Gene Arnold and the Commodores.

Gene Arnold was the host who introduced the Commodores, an excellent male vocal quartet, by reciting a bit of verse before each of their musical numbers. The sponsor was the Crazy Water Hotel Company, makers and promoters of Crazy Water Crystals (laxative). The program had a split broadcast schedule (15 min., Wednesday through Friday, 12:00-12:15 P.M. and Sunday, 1:15-2:30 P.M., NBC, 1933).

9891 Gene (Carroll) and Jack (Grady). Guitarist Carroll and pianist Grady met in 1924 and teamed as a vaudeville singing team before coming to radio (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1928). See also Gene and Glenn.

9892 Gene Autry. Autry, a soon to be successful cowboy movie star, came to Chicago in the early 1930s and immediately became a local radio favorite. Billed as "the Oklahoma Singing Cowboy," Autry appeared on WJJD (Gene Autry—the Oklahoma Singing Cowboy, 15 min., Monday through Friday, WJJD, Chicago, IL, 1932). He also worked on WLS and the National Barn Dance program (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1933), where he gained the national prominence that led to his movie career. Smiley "Frog" Burnett appeared with Autry when both were featured on the National Barn Dance. Burnett went to Hollywood with Autry and appeared in many of his western movies. Burnett also provided the animated cartoon voices of Barney Google, Snuffy Smith, Krazy Kat and others on various Looney Tunes motion picture cartoons.

9893 Gene Autry's Cowboy Band. Autry starred on his CW music show that also featured the Ranch Girls singing group with Louise Rothenberg (WHAS, Louisville, KY, 1931).

9894 Gene Autry's Melody Ranch. Autry, the singing cowboy motion picture star, both narrated and was featured in the weekly western drama. There were also many opportunities on the show for Gene and his musical associates to sing and play western songs. Wrigley's Doublemint chewing gum was the program sponsor. The cast included: Autry, Jim Boles, Pat Buttram and Tyler McVey. Bill Burch was the producer. The Cass County Boys, a vocal trio led by Carl Cortner, the King Sisters vocal quartet and vocalist Mary Ford also were program regulars. George Anderson, Irwin Ashkenazy, Carroll Carroll and Doris Gilbert were the writers. Lou Crosby was the announcer.

9895 (The) Gene Rayburn Show. Rayburn, who billed himself as "a poor man's Henny Youngman," was the host and comedian on the local sustaining variety show. Singer Peggy Ann Ellis and the Ray Ross Orchestra also performed (30 min., Monday through Friday, 12:00-12:30 P.M., WNEW, New York, NY, 1948). Rayburn left former DJ partner Dee Finch to do his own thing on his local DJ show, The Gene Rayburn Show on New York's WNBC. Oddly enough, when Rayburn's show was first listed in the New York Times, he was incorrectly listed as "Gene Raymond" (150 min., Monday through Saturday, 6:00-8:30 P.M., WNBC, New York, NY, 1952).

9896 General Electric Circle. Each week a different Metropolitan Opera star was presented on this music program sponsored by the General Electric Company (15 min., Sunday, 5:30-5:45 P.M., NBC-Red, 1932).

9897 General Electric Hour. Nathaniel Shilkret directed the orchestra for the vocal trio and soloists that regularly appeared on the weekly program (60 min., Saturday, 5:00-6:00 P.M., NBC-Pacific Coast Network, 1929). Another version of the program presented guest stars such as Australian pianist-composer Percy Grainger playing his own compositions with an orchestra conducted by Walter Damrosch. In a later version of the show, Floyd Gibbons delivered eight-minute talks on the "Adventures in Science" segment included on each program (30 min., Saturday, 9:00-9:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1929-1930).

9898 (The) General Electric Theater. Although broadcast in 1963, this hour long dramatic anthology series was one of the last reminders of radio's golden age. The program presented a talented repertory company with the great stage actress Helen Hayes as the host (CBS, 1963).

9899 General Independents Program. Four pianists (William Cowles, Joyce Barthelsson, Arthur Schwartzman and Charles Hutchinson) and a popular male quartet (the Rounders) performed on the popular music program (NBC-Pacific Coast Network, 1928).

9900 (The) General Mills Concert. The good music program was sponsored by General Mills and included various guest performers (Weekly, NBC, 1929).

9901 General Motors Concert. The excellent program of good music was broadcast from the Radio City Music Center, New York City, before an audience of 3,600 persons (NBC, 1935).

9902 (The) General Motors Hour. The General Motors Company sponsored the program of classical and semi-classical music with such distinguished performers appearing as composer-pianist George Gershwin (60 min., Monday, 9:00-10:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1928).

9903 (The) General Motors Family Party. A symphony orchestra and weekly guests vocalists were presented on the good music show (30 min., Monday, 9:30-10:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1930).

9929 George, Tom. DJ (WJBK, Detroit, MI, 1957).

9930 George, Tony. Sportscaster (Sports by George, KOME, Tulsa, OK, 1952-1955).

9931 George and Bess. George Bove sang and Beatrice Woods provided fashion information on their weekly program sponsored by the Worth Department Store (15 min., Friday, 7:30–7:45 A.M., WTIC, Hartford, CT, 1938).

9932 George and Rufus. The Christian Science Monitor (May 3, 1930, p. 2) said this program was a copy of the Amos 'n' Andy show. George and Rufus operated the "Speedy Messenger Service" on the show, instead of the Fresh Air Taxicab company. Ever: the program's announcer copied the style of Bill Hay (15 min., Monday, Thursday and Friday, 7:30–7:45 P.M., WPCII, New York, NY, 1930).

9933 George Fisher's Hollywood. Fisher broadcast movie gossip weekly and interviewed such stars as Monte Woolley and Nanette Fabray (15 min., KECA, Los Angeles, CA, 1946).

9934 George Givot—The Greek Ambassador of Good Will. Dialect comedian Givot starred on the evening variety program. Tommy Mack was Givot's stooge (Weekly, CBS, 1935). Leader (George Givot Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., CBS, 1936).

9935 George Goebel. "Little Georgie" Goebel, later a successful television comedian, was a yodeling country music singer in his youth (WIOD, Chattanooga, TN, 1937). His later programs were usually broadcast in the Chicago area. In 1938, he moved to WLS (Chicago, IL), where he often appeared on the National Barn Dance program.

9936 (The) George Jessel Show. Jessel's first network variety show was broadcast on a sustaining basis. Comedian Jessel was joined on the show by the Four Eton Boys and the Freddie Rich Orchestra (30 min., Saturday, 9:30–10:00 P.M., CBS, 1934). A 1937 format presented comedian Jessel assisted by such guest stars as Norma Talmadge, Polly Moran, Man Mountain Dean, Lee Wiley, Burt Kalmar, Harry Ruby, Buster Crabbe, Jackie Cooper, Gus Edwards, Weber & Fields, the Our Gang Kids, Johnny Downs, Judy Garland, Bert Wheeler, George Raft and Smith and Dale (30 min., Weekly, CBS, 1937). Jessel later hosted a transcribed variety show that featured weekly guests including Gus Edwards, Sigmund Romberg, Smith and Dale, Jackie Cooper, Weber and Fields and Al Bernie (15 min., Transcribed, Various Stations, 1938).

9937 George Jordan, Jr. Hecker H-O Cereal Company sponsored Jordan, an astrologer who headed the Evangeline Adams Astrological Studios. On the show, Jordan read letters from listeners and offered them advice, but spent most of his time discussing daily horoscopes (15 min., Tuesday, 9:00–9:15 A.M., WOR, Newark, NJ, 1933).

9938 (The) George O'Hanlon Show. O'Hanlon played a none too smart husband with Lorene Tuttle in the role of his patient, long-suffering wife. Also in the story was a chiseling best friend played by Cliff Young and a sarcastic boss played by Alan Reed (Teddy Bergman). On the amusing sustaining situation comedy music was provided by Harry Zimmer-man's Orchestra (30 min., Tuesday, 8:00–8:30 P.M., MBS, 1948).

9939 George Reed. Reed was literally a one-man minstrel show. He played both Mr. Bill and the comedy role of Pussyfoot on the novel program. In addition, Reed sang very well. He was accompanied on the unique show by Sam Small's Rhythm Band (15 min., Tuesday, 10:30–10:45 P.M., WMCA, New York, NY, 1935).

9940 George "The Real" McCoy. George McCoy had a variety of careers. Before World War II, he conducted man-in-the-street interviews. McCoy worked in the Armed Forces Radio Service during World War II. After the war, he drove a taxi cab. On the sustaining New York local program he interviewed patrons at Diamond Dan O'Rourke's club in the Bowery section of New York (15 min., Monday through Friday, 11:00–11:25 P.M., WOV, New York, NY, 1946).

9941 Georgia Crackers. CW mus. prg. performed by a group not otherwise identified (WHP, Harrisburg, PA, 1936).

9942 Georgia Sirens Orchestra. Local musical group (WMAZ, Macon, GA, 1926).

9943 Georgia Tech Band. Frank Roman conducted the collegiate band (WBBF, Atlanta, GA, 1925).

9944 Georgia Wildcats. CW mus. prg. (WRVA, Richmond, VA, 1939). The Georgia Wildcats country-western music group later returned to radio with another CW music show sponsored by Roddy Electric Company. Clayton "Pappy" McMichen, the group's leader, was one of country music's genuine pioneers. He returned to Louisville, KY, and put the group back on the air in 1956. Junior Gilliam appeared with him on the show. Ken Rowland was the announcer (60 min., Sunday, 3:00–4:00 P.M., WKLO, Louisville, KY, 1956).

9945 Georgian Orchestra. H.N. Paradies directed the musical organization (WGR, Buffalo, NY, 1923).

9946 Georgie and Juanita. Georgie and Juanita Mahoney (Georgie and Juanita) were a popular singing team who specialized in country-western songs (15 min., Weekly, WNAC, Boston, MA, Yankee Network, 1937).

9947 Georini, Giorgio. Tenor (WEAF, New York, NY, 1928).

9948 Geraghty, Larry. Newscaster (WAGM, Presque Isle, ME, 1944).

9949 Gerard, Bella. Contralto (WEAF, New York, NY, 1923).

9950 Gerard, James. Tenor (KGO, Oakland, CA, 1926).

1995 Gibbs, John. DJ (KQV, Pittsburgh, PA, 1949).

1996 Gibbs, Rowland. Sports-caster (KALI, Pasadena, CA, 1948-1949).

1997 Gibbs and Finney, General Deliv-ery. Raymond Knight wrote the warm, dramatic serial in which Parker Fennelly and Arthur Allen played their familiar roles of cantankerous old-timers with hearts of gold beating beneath grim exteriors. On the sustaining show, they played Gideon Gibbs and Asa Finney, the proprietors of a rural general store. Patsy Campbell also appeared on the show (15 min., Saturday, 8:15-8:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1942). As Buxton and Owen (1972, p. 219) point out, Fennelly and Allen did several programs that essentially were the same and on which they played old characters living in a small New England village. These were: Four Corners, USA; Gibbs and Finney; The Simpson Boys of Sprucehead Bay; Smalltown Boys; The Stebbins Boys; and Uncle Abe and David.

1998 Gibney, Frank. Tenor (KGO, San Francisco, CA, 1925).

1999 Gibney, J.B. "Jack." Sports-caster (WRBL, Columbus, GA, 1940-1942). News-caster (WRBL, 1939-1942).

10004 Gibson, Gerry. DJ (4:45 Special, WJOY, Burlington, VT, 1947).

10005 Gibson, Jack "Jockey Jack." Black DJ (Various Stations, 1940s-1960s). Before be-comeing a DJ, Gibson had been an assistant to Al Benson in Chicago and an actor in various WJJD (Chicago, IL) daytime serials. He also appeared on Here Comes Tomorrow, a daytime serial based on the "real life experiences of a black family."

A popular DJ at WERD (Atlanta, GA) in the 1940s, Gibson teamed with Jewish DJ Herb Gershon on the station for their popular noon Herb and Jack Lunch Call show (WERD, At-lanta, GA, 1949). The team played classical music as well as popular records. Gibson often made announcements for Dr. Martin Luther King while working at WERD, since the station was located in the same building as Dr. King's Southern Christian Leadership organization. Gibson eventually moved on to become a "morning man" at Cincinnati's WCIN in 1960, where he opened his popular show with the greeting, "This is the morning man in Cincin-nati, Jockey Jack."

10006 Gibson, Jim. Newscaster (KGB, San Diego, CA, 1941). Sports-caster (KGB, 1941).

10007 Gibson, Phil. Newscaster (WMBD, Peoria, IL, 1945).

10009 Gibson, Ross. Newscaster (KUOA, Siloam Springs, AR, 1940). Sports-caster (KUOA, 1941).

10010 (The) Gibson Family (aka The Gibsons). Procter and Gamble sponsored the program that was unique in that its music and lyrics were written especially for it by Howard Dietz and Arthur Schwartz, the successful com-posers of Broadway musicals. The program told the story of two young people, played by Jack and Loretta Clemens, who wanted to enter show business. Also in the cast were: Bill Adams, Al Dary, Anne Elstner, Warren Hull, Kate Mc-Comb, John McGovern, Adele Ronson and Ernest Whitman. The singing portions of the show — when the two leads were supposed to sing — were performed by Loretta Clemens, Conrad Thibault, Al Dary and Lois Bennett. Owen Davis succeeded the show's originator and writer, Courtney Riley Cooper. The show was produced by Carlo DeAngelo. Don Voorhees conducted the orchestra. Jimmy Wallington was the announcer (60 min., Sunday, 10:00-11:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1935).

10011 Gibson Mandolin and Guitar Club. Instrumental club band (WFAA, Dallas, TX, 1922).

- 10138 Glassman, Juliette. Concert pianist (WEAF, New York, NY, 1926).
- 10139 Glauser and Cross. Duo piano team (WFBH, New York, NY, 1925).
- 10140 Glave, Russell. Leader (Russell Glave Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., KYW, Chicago, IL, 1933).
- 10141 Gleason, Bob. DJ (Requestfully Yours Coffee Club, WMSL, Decatur, AL, 1948).
- 10142 Gleason, Bob. DJ (Nye Beachcomber, KNPT, Newport, OR, 1950).
- 10143 Gleason, Peco. Sports caster (WCHV, Charlottesville, VA, 1937; WRTD, Richmond, VA, 1939).
- 10144 Gleaves, J. Newscaster (W1AC, Nashville, TN, 1937).
- 10145 Gleba, Tom. DJ (Mr. Melody, WBNS, Columbus, OH, 1949).
- 10146 Glee, Banjo and Mandolin Clubs of Cornell University. Collegiate music groups (W1W, Cincinnati, OH, 1924).
- 10147 Glee Club, Denver Chapter 2 (Masonic) Lodge. Edwin Richards directed the fraternal organization's vocal music group (KOA, Denver, CO, 1925).
- 10148 Glen, Allan. British baritone (WOR, Newark, NJ, 1924).
- 10149 Glen, Irma (Irma G. Becklenberg). Organist Glen, born August 3, 1908, was touring the vaudeville circuits at the age of 14 as a pianist. She organized her all-girl orchestra—the Melody Maids—the following year. Glen first appeared on radio over KYW (Chicago, IL, 1922). She joined WENR, Chicago, IL in 1927 and WBCN, Chicago, IL in 1928. Later, she became staff organist at NBC in Chicago. It was said that Glen appeared in over 10,000 programs, sometimes as an actress, but most often as an organist. In 1931, it was reported that Glen appeared on the air at least a dozen times each week (Irma Glen, organ recital each weekday, 15 min., Monday through Friday, 2:15-2:30 p.m., NBC-Blue, 1931; Irma Glen, inst. mus. prg., NBC, 1937).
- 10150 Glen Echo Orchestra. Mus. prg. (WJSV, Washington, DC, 1936). The band was from the Glen Echo amusement park.
- 10151 Glenn, Charles "Charlie" G. Whistler (KFI, San Francisco, CA, 1928). Singer Glenn sang "the old songs" (KFWI, San Francisco, CA, 1929).
- 10152 Glenn, Charles. Newscaster (KGBX and KWTO, Springfield, MO, 1937).
- 10153 Glenn, Hazel. Soprano (Hazel Glenn, vcl. mus. prg., NBC, 1934).

- 10156 Glenn, Rich. DJ (Hillbilly Supper Club and Swing Shift, KXOL, Fort Worth, TX, 1952).
- 10157 Glenn, Ward. Newscaster (WTOI, Toledo, OH, 1941).
- 10158 Glenn, Wilfred. Bass (WEAF, New York, NY, 1927-1929). Glenn sang on many NBC network programs.
- 10159 Glenn Miller's Moonlight Serenade. Chesterfield cigarettes sponsored the excellent big band music show that featured singers Ray Eberle, Marion Hutton, Paula Kelly and the Modernaires, saxophonist-singer Tex Beneke and the great Glenn Miller Orchestra (15 min., Monday through Friday, 1940). During the era of Big Band music, only the Benny Goodman band on his Let's Dance and Camel Caravan programs approached the consistently high level of music broadcast by the Glenn Miller band.
- The Miller band played a major role in the Sun Valley Serenade and Orchestra Wives motion pictures. Another of their memorable sponsored radio shows was The Chesterfield Supper Club. The band's personnel during its great 1939-1940 years included: Leigh Knowles, John Best, Dale McMickle, Clyde Hurley, t.; Paul Tanner, Jim Priddy, Frank D'Anolfo, tb.; Willie Schwartz, Al Klink, Hal McIntyre, Ernie Caceres, Tex Beneke, s.; Maurice Purtill, d.; Rolly Bundock, sb.; and Chummy MacGregor, p. Vocalists who sang with the Miller band were: Marion Hutton, Dorothy Claire, Gail Reese, Linda Keene, Skip Nelson, Tex Beneke and Ray Eberle.
- Miller led a talented service band during World War II and made some German language propaganda broadcasts to Germany [See also Wartime Radio]. He was presumably killed when a plane carrying him from England to France apparently crashed into the English Channel.
- 10160 Glenn's Cornhuskers Orchestra. Regional CW band (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1925).
- 10161 Glickman, Marty. Sports caster (Sports Resume, Today's Baseball and Sports Fanfare, WHN, New York, NY, 1939-1942; WHN, 1945-1947; WMGM, New York, NY, 1948-1956). Glickman had been a star athlete at Syracuse University. His first radio job was at WHN in 1939, when he worked with Bert Lee and Dick Fishel to broadcast the Brooklyn Dodgers baseball games. After he returned from service following World War II, he did basketball play-by-play for WHN. It was then that he began his famous call after a successful basket, "Swish ... and good like Nedicks." Nedicks, a maker of soft drinks, was his sponsor.
- 10162 Glickstein, Dave. Trumpet soloist Glickstein frequently appeared on the Music While You Dial program (WOR, Newark, NJ, 1925).
- 10163 Glibber, Frank. Sports caster (W3R, Dallas, TX, 1956).
- 10164 Glimpses Through the Stage Door. Mort Eiseman broadcast news about plays and their players (WHAR, Atlantic City, NJ, 1926).
- 10165 Glistman, Rex. Leader (Rex Glistman Orchestra playing from the Tavern de Paris, KERC, San Francisco, CA, 1925).
- 10166 (The) Globe Theater. The program broadcast many fine dramatic presentations such as One Life to Give with Joseph Cotton; Turnip's Blood with Herbert Marshall and Rosemary DeCamp; The Little Foxes with Bette Davis, Robert Walker and Otto Krueger; Sitting Pretty with Garry Moore and Jimmy Wallington; and Shop Worn Angel with Adolphe Menjou and Robert Marshall. Bill Johnstone was initially the host before he was replaced by Herbert Marshall (30 min., Weekly, 1945).

10167 (The Gloom Chasers). Tastyeast sponsored the comedy show featuring Colonel Lemuel Stoopnagle (F. Chase Taylor) and Budd (Wilbur Budd Hulick), a zany comedy team sometimes billed as "The Fun Makers." The story is told that this successful radio team got their start in 1931 on Buffalo's radio station WMAK. When announcer Wilbur Budd Hulick supposedly found himself with 15 minutes of air time to fill and no way to fill it, he rushed out into the studio and found F. Chase Taylor, another announcer. The 15 minutes of nonsense they produced caused them to team up for further comedy ventures. Taylor had previously performed in a comedy team, Nip and Tuck, on WMAK in 1925 (15 min., Monday through Thursday, 8:45-9:00 P.M., CBS, 1931).

10168 (The Gloom Chasers). Comedian Dutch Haid hosted the local Philadelphia comedy show featuring pianist Kenny Martin, guitarist Eddie Nash, trumpeter Toby Seeley and the vocal team of the Two B's — Beeby and Betty Wise (30 min., Wednesday, 12:00-12:30 P.M., WWSW, Philadelphia, PA, 1936).

10169 (The Gloom Dodgers). The variety show was sponsored by MGM (Monday through Friday, WHN, New York, NY, 1945). The show featured Kay Stevens, also known as Kay Lorraine (Kay Lorraine Grim). She previously had sung on The Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin Street, Vaudeville Theater, The Ford Summer Hour, The Song of Your Life and The Pursuit of Happiness programs.

10170 Gloomy (Gayle Grubb) and Eddie (Eddie Ellington). A popular comedy singing team, whose program in early 1927 began: "Hello Everybody! This is Gloomy speaking for Eddie and Gloomy, the Harmony Boys of KFAB. We've been harmonizing for about eighteen months and everytime we get blue, we dig through the two hundred thousand letters we have received since the first day" (Radio Digest, April 1, 1927). The boys were great listener favorites (KFAB, Lincoln, NE, 1927).

10171 Gloomy Gus. Singer-entertainer Gayle Grubb (KFAB, Lincoln, NE, 1926). See also Gloomy and Eddie.

10172 Gloria. Gloria Call talked about clothes and grooming on her local woman's program (15 min., Monday through Friday, WOKO, Albany, NY, 1953).

10173 Glorch, George. Announcer (WMBB, Homewood, IL and WOK, Chicago, IL, 1928).

10174 Glorious One. Irene Rich starred in the daytime serial that told the story of the ups and downs of a marriage. Rich, a fine actress, Variety said, was the best thing about the program. In addition to Miss Rich, the program's cast included: Florence Baker, Gale Gordon, Gladys Gwynne, John Lake, Jane Morgan, Larry Nunn and Anne Stone (15 min., Monday-through-Friday, Network, mid-1930s).

10175 Glover, Al. Banjoist (WMAK, Buffalo, NY, 1928).

10176 Glover, Herbert B. Announcer Glover was sometimes designated as "ATN" (WJZ, New York, NY and WJY, New York, NY, 1925).

10177 Glover, Willard. DJ (Request Express, WMBS, Uniontown, PA, 1947).

10178 Glover, (Professor) William L. Professor Glover was the director of the Troy, New York, Vocal Society (WHAZ, Troy, NY, 1926).

10179 Glover Watson Old Time Dance Orchestra. Old fashioned dance band (WJR, Detroit, MI, 1926).

10180 Gloyne, Richard Featherstone. Newscaster (KFOR, Lincoln, NE, 1937).

10181 Glucksman, Erwin. Leader (Erwin Glucksman Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WBEN, Buffalo, NY, 1937).

10182 Gluriani, Orlando. Tenor (KFWM, Oakland, CA, 1927).

10183 Gluskin, Lud. Leader (Lud Gluskin Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., CBS, 1935-1936; KFEQ, St. Joseph, MO, 1942). Gluskin's band was featured on many network programs.

10184 Glynn, Eleanor. Pianist (WRC, Washington, DC, 1923-1924).

10185 Glynn, Jack. DJ (Coffee Club, KIUL, Garden City, KS, 1947).

10186 (The G-Men (aka Gangbusters). Phillips H. Lord produced and wrote of the dramatic adventure series that glorified the adventures of Federal Bureau of Investigation agents. It was first broadcast July 20, 1935, when it dramatized the death of John Dillinger. The series was supposedly based on the official files of the FBI. The program was sponsored by the Chevrolet Motor Car Company (30 min., Saturday, 9:00-9:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1935). Eventually, the series became Gangbusters. See also Gangbusters.

10187 Go for the House. What made Go for the House different from the many other radio quiz shows on the air was its prize. The lucky husband-and-wife team who answered all the necessary questions won a six-room house and lot. John Reed King was the MC, George Benninger the organist and Doug Browning the announcer (30 min., Wednesday, 9:30-10:00 P.M., ABC, 1948).

10188 Gobber-Tripplett Orchestra. Popular local band (WHAS, Louisville, KY, 1923).

10189 Goat Island Goats. The zany variety program featured Bellwether Goat, Jack L. Everson; Chinese Goat, William J. Seroy; Japanese Goat, Samuel Wachsman; Swedish Goat, Frank Olson; African Goat, Charley "Rastus" Faust; Contralto Goat, Marguerite Vogel; Tenor Goat, Ernest Grey; Baritone Nanny Goat, Gertrude Tracy; and the miscellaneous goats, Lois Cullen and Adele Steinbeck. The program was broadcast by KTAB (Oakland, CA) in 1926-1927.

10190 Gober, Jim. DJ (Rhythm Roundup, KNOW, Austin, TX, 1947). Sportscaster (KOBÉ, Las Cruces, NM, 1956).

10218 Gold Dragon Orchestra. Club band (WHAS, Louisville, KY, 1927).

10219 (The) Gold Dust Twins. Goldy and Dusty, the Gold Dust Twins, featured such songs as "Honey, I'm in Love With You," "Happy Little Moke" and "Solomon Levi" on their popular show (WEAF, New York, NY, 1925–1926). The Gold Dust Twins program also featured William Stoess conducting the Johnston Orchestra (WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1927).

10220 Gold Leaf Music Masters. George Lipschultz directed the orchestra (KYA, San Francisco, CA, 1928).

10221 Gold Medal Band. Conway King directed the popular band (WBAP, Fort Worth, TX, 1924).

10222 (The) Gold Medal Express. The variety show sponsored by General Mills, the makers of Wheaties cereal, presented a talented array of performers that included a novelty orchestra, comic impersonator and many guest artists. Weekly regulars included the Victor Arden–Phil Ohman piano team and the Wheaties Trio, comprised of Joe Shuster, Johnny Tucker and Monroe Silver. Ford Bond was the announcer (30 min., 8:30–9:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1931).

10223 (The) Gold Medal Fast Freight (aka The General Mills Fast Freight). The program was announced as "a cargo of melody by the Wheaties Quartet" (30 min., Weekly, 8:00–8:30 P.M., CBS, 1930; 15 min., Wednesday, 9:00–9:15 P.M., CBS, 1931–1932). The popular Wheaties (male) Quartet was sponsored by General Mills, the makers of Wheaties, and Gold Medal flour. They were accompanied by organist Eddie Dunstetter. The Wheaties Quartet first appeared Christmas Eve, 1926, on WCCO, Minneapolis, MN. The quartet's members were Bill Elliott, William Oppenrath, Ernest Johnson and Philip C. Schmidt. Years later, Nels Swensen took the place of William Oppenrath. The group was famous for the "Wheaties Song" sung to the tune of "She's a Jazz Baby." The song that later served as a theme for the Jack Armstrong program began:

"Have you tried Wheaties?
They're whole wheat with all of the bran.
Won't you try Wheaties?
For wheat is the best food of man."

The program may have sometimes been listed as The General Mills Fast Freight program.

10224 (The) Gold Medal Hour. Not really one program but a block of four different programs broadcast on different days, it contained, for example, daytime serials Betty and Bob and Broadway Cinderella broadcast each weekday, while The General Mills (News) Program, The Worry Clinic, Hymns of All Churches and the Betty Crocker Cooking School programs alternated on other days. The block of programming made its debut on June 1, 1936. See also Betty and Bob, The Worry Clinic and Hymns of All Churches.

10225 Gold Medal Crackers' Dance Orchestra. Popular dance band (KFFH, Wichita, KS, 1926).

10226 Gold Medal Minstrels. General Mills Bisquick sponsored the show that presented old gags and songs performed by unidentified entertainers (15 min., Monday, 11:45–12:00 noon, MBS, 1935).

10227 Gold Medal Radio Cooking Course. General Mills sponsored the early radio cooking school program (WGR, Buffalo, NY, 1925).

10228 (The) Gold Star Minstrels. Roland Winters hosted the lively sustaining variety show that featured singers Jimmy Carroll and Betty Mulliner, comedians Happy Jim Parsons and Gee Gee James, the Gold and Silver Quartet and Ray Bloch's Orchestra. Ted Brown was the announcer (30 min., Saturday, 9:00–9:30 P.M., MBS, 1946).

10229 Gold Strand Crusaders. The Merle Johnson Orchestra and vocalists Veronica Wiggins and Freddie Vettel performed on the concert music program (30 min., 10:30–11:00 P.M., NBC, 1930).

10230 (The) Gold Strand Group. The Sunday afternoon music program was broadcast 1:00–2:00 P.M. and presented a studio orchestra, tenor Gwynfi Jones, saxophonist Walter Beban and soprano Barbara Blanchard (NBC–Pacific Coast Network, 1928).

10231 (The) Gold Strand Group. Another version of the program featured the Gold Strand Orchestra playing both popular and semi-classical music (Weekly, NBC-Blue, 1927–1928).

10232 Gold Strand Orchestra. Local band (WFAA-NBC, Dallas, TX, 1929).

10233 Goldbahn, Richard "Dick." Vocalist (Richard Goldbahn, vcl. mus. prg., WFIL, Philadelphia, PA, 1935; The Yodeling Troubadour, vcl. mus. prg., WIP, Philadelphia, PA, 1936).

10235 Goldberg, Lou. Director (Britlings Dallas Cafeteria Orchestra, WFAA, Dallas, TX, 1923).

10236 Goldberg, Rubin. Newscaster (WLTH, Brooklyn, NY, 1939).

10237 (The) Goldbergs. Originally called The Rise of the Goldbergs, the show grew out of Gertrude Berg's first program, The House of Glass, broadcast on the network in 1929 in a 15-minute daily version. Gertrude Berg, who played Mollie Goldberg, created and wrote the show. On the program, she and Jake Goldberg, played by James R. Waters, faced the normal problems of a poor Jewish family living in New York. Despite the fact that the actors spoke with heavy New York Jewish accents, the program achieved national popularity because of its realistic portrayal of human relationships. Many notable performers and actors appeared on the program. When Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, for example, asked to appear on the show, Gertrude Berg wrote her in for three special appearances (Buxton and Owen, 1973, p. 98). Metropolitan opera star Jan Peerce also appeared on the show to sing on Yom Kippur and Passover.

In addition to Berg and Waters the program's cast included: Tito Aguglia, Mimi Vuolo, Artie Auerbach, Jeannette Chinley, Cecile Evans, Eddie Firestone, Jr., George Herman, Raymond Edward Johnson, Garson Kanin, Howard Merrill, Zina Provendie, Alfred Ryder (Alfred Corn), Roslyn Silber, Menasha Skulnik, Everett Sloane, Sidney Slon, Arnold Stang, Anne Teeman, Joan Tetzel, Edward Trevor, Joan Vitez, Bertha Waldon, Carrie Weller and Bruno Wick. The director was Wes McKee.

When the program returned to the air in 1949, it was the same show that currently was running on television. Although the 1949 show was not a simulcast, Friday's radio script was broadcast Monday night on the TV show. The long radio run was carried by all the major networks (NBC-Blue, MBS, CBS, 1929–1947, 1949–1950). See also The House of Glass.

10238 Goldcrest Five. Saxophonist Harris Owen directed the Goldcrest Five, station KLRA's staff orchestra, featuring vocals by Mrs. Owen (Mina) Madden (KLRA, Little Rock, AR, 1927).

10239 Golde, Walter. Pianist (WEAF, New York, NY, 1926).

10240 Golden, Bob. Leader (Bob Golden Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WCAU, Philadelphia, PA, 1939, 1942).

10241 Golden, Ernie. Leader (Ernie Golden and his Hotel McAlpin Orchestra, WMCA, New York, NY, 1925–26). Variety praised the Golden band for its "humor and musicality."

10242 Golden, G. Evelyn. Reader (W3Z, Boston-Springfield, MA, 1924).

10243 Golden, Kenneth. "Nebraska's leading tenor" (KOIL, Council Bluffs, IA, 1929).

10244 Golden, Marie. Pianist (KNX, Los Angeles, CA, 1928).

10245 Golden, Ray. DJ (Ray Golden Show and Memory Melodies, KSTN, Stockton, CA, 1949). Sportscaster (KSTN, 1953–1956).

10246 Golden, Robert C. Golden was the violinist-director of the Wanamaker Crystal Tea Room Orchestra (WOO, Philadelphia, PA, 1924).

10247 Golden Bars of Melody (aka Golden Bars of Music). Fels Naptha Soap Company sponsored the local music show that presented songs by soprano Rhona Lloyd plus poetry and prose selections read by announcer Fred Temple (15 min., Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 10:00-10:15 A.M., WFIL, Philadelphia, PA, 1940).

10248 (The) Golden Bird. Nathan Provol was the owner and trainer of 16 canaries, one of whom — the Golden Bird — was the "leader." The bird chorus under the latter's "direction," whistled and tweeted their melodic way through the songs Mr. Provol played on the piano. Fittingly, the show was sponsored by the Kemper Canary Seed Company (15 min., Wednesday, 9:00-9:15 A.M., WMCA, New York, NY, 1934).

10249 (The) Golden Blossom Honey Orchestra. Instr. mus. prg., (15 min., Saturday, 7:15-7:30 P.M., CBS, 1931).

10250 (The) Golden Blossom Revue. J.A. Paton Company, makers of Golden Blossom Honey, presented tenor Fred Hufsmith and contralto Julie Pursell with Harold Levey's Orchestra on the entertaining music show. Jimmy Wallington was the announcer (60 min., Sunday, 1:30-2:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1933).

10251 (The) Golden Canary. Just-Rite Company Pet Food sponsored the singing canary, who would perform on his owner's signal (WIP, Philadelphia, PA, 1932).

10252 (The) Golden Crown Quartet. The Black gospel quartet broadcast regularly on Hampton Roads, VA, radio in 1928.

10253 Golden Echo Quartet. Singing group specializing in spirituals (WSM, Nashville, TN, 1926).

10254 Golden Gate Amphions. Frank Stanik directed the club orchestra (KYA, San Francisco, CA, 1927; Golden Gate Ampions Goldcoasters Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WGN, Chicago, IL, 1935).

10255 Golden Gate Quartet. Male vocal group (Golden Gate Quartet, vcl. mus. prg., WJR, Detroit, MI and WCKY, Cincinnati, OH, 1942). The popular Black vocal group first broadcast their own regular program on WIS (Columbia, SC) in 1942, before attaining national popularity by appearing on many network programs.

10256 Golden Gate Syncopators. Popular Virginia band (WRVA, Richmond, VA, 1926).

10257 Golden Gems. Contralto Elsie Baker and baritone Theodore Webb sang with Hugo Mariani's Orchestra on the music program. Alwyn E.W. Bach was the announcer (30 min., Thursday, 8:00-8:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1930). Contemporary records indicate that the program was also broadcast at a later time during the same year (30 min., Tuesday, 10:30-11:00 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1930).

10258 Golden Legends. The dramatic program was hosted by playwright-actor-producer Ted Maxwell. In 1928, Maxwell dramatized Longfellow's poem "Hiawatha" over the NBC-Pacific Coast Network. The program's musical interludes were provided by the National Concert Orchestra (NBC-Pacific Coast Network, 1928).

10259 (The) Golden Pheasant Orchestra. Instr. mus. prg. (NBC, 1933).

10260 (The) Golden State Blue Monday Jamboree. The early variety show contained a little something for everyone. Among the featured performers were Harry "Mac" McClintock and his Haywire Orchestra; the comic-singing team of Al and Cal Pearce; singer Juanita Tennyson; tenor Robert Olson; and contralto Hazel Warner — "The Sweetest Voice on the Air." The orchestra was conducted by Meredith Willson, musical director of KFRC, who formerly was solo flutist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

Some comedians and the roles they played on the show were Bill Wright (Professor Hamburg), Tommy Monroe (Lem the Scowler) and Arnold McGuire (Lafe the Thinker). After Harrison Holliday became the manager of the Don Lee Network station, he continued to announce the show (KFRC, San Francisco, CA, 1930).

10261 Golden West Cowboys. CW mus. prg. by otherwise unidentified CW performers (WSM, Nashville, TN, 1936-1939).

10262 (The) Golden West Girl and Her Orchestra. The traveling CW music group from Portland's KGW was broadcast on both KFOA (Seattle, WA) and KHQ (Spokane, WA) in 1928.

10263 Goldenberg, H.E. Announcer (WHB, Kansas City, MO, 1928).

10362 (The Goose Creek Parson (aka The Country Church of Hollywood). The dramatic serial with an inspirational, if not outright religious emphasis, told the story of Josiah Hopkins, an ordained minister and Army Chaplain, who displayed his simple philosophy and showmanship. On a typical program, the Parson took a buggy ride with Old Dan, his horse, down a country road where he swapped talk with the people he met. A trademark of the rural serial drama was Old Dan's hoof beats as he pulled Parson Josiah Hopkins' buckboard (15 min., Monday through Thursday, 5:30-5:45 P.M. and Sunday, 5:15-5:30 P.M., CBS, 1936). The program's cast included Reverend W.B. Hogg and Mrs. Hogg as the Reverend and Mrs. Josiah Hopkins. They were assisted by: Mary Hogg Michael, Elvia Allman, Tom Baxter, Leonard Harlan, Robert Gordon, Thural A. Rosencraft, John F. Knox and Rudolf Atwood. A male quartet and a women's choir were also regular cast members. The announcer was Paul Rickenbacker. The show was sponsored by Super-Suds Laundry Soap. A later version of the program appeared on Pacific Coast radio (15 min., Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 7:30-7:45 P.M., KNX, Los Angeles, CA, 1940).

- 10459 "GR." Designation for announcer Gene Rouse (WOAW, Omaha, NE, 1925). See also Rouse, Gene.
- 10460 G.R. Kenney Company's Story Teller. Miss Blanche Elizabeth Wade wrote and told stories for young listeners (WEAF, New York, NY, 1924).
- 10461 Grabau, Bill. Leader (Bill Grabau's Hotel Cosmopolitan Dance Orchestra, KOA, Denver, CO, 1929).
- 10462 Grabe, Earl C. Newscaster (WSPI, Toledo, OH, 1946).
- 10463 Grabiell, Dick. Leader (Dick Grabiell's Arkansas Travelers Orchestra, KFIDV, Fayetteville, AR, 1923). The band included leader Grabiell on drums, Tommy Warner on piano, Bob Lacey and Alton Hart on saxophone, Price Dickson on banjo and trombone and trumpeter Dwight Stroupe.
- 10464 Grable, Marian. Grable conducted her Helen of Hollywood program on which she talked about stars and the movies they made. She also frequently conducted interviews with the stars in their Hollywood homes by telephone from her Dallas studio (WFAA, Dallas, TX, 1928).
- 10465 Grace, E.R., Jr. Newscaster (WJR, Detroit, MI, 1946).
- 10466 Grace and Eddy. Vcl. mus. prg. by an otherwise unidentified singing team (KYW, Philadelphia, PA, 1936).
- 10467 Grace Hayes. Hayes, a popular vaudeville and Broadway singing star, had her own NBC radio program in 1932. One of her listening audience's particular favorites was her rendition of "You've Got Me Between the Devil and the NBC" (NBC, New York, NY, 1932).
- 10468 Grace Little Symphony Orchestra. Symphonic group from the Grace Methodist Church of Dallas, Texas (WFAA, Dallas, TX, 1929).

- 10483 Grafton, Gloria. Soprano (Gloria Grafton, vcl. mus. prg., WCBM, Baltimore, MD, 1934).
- 10484 Grafton, Sammel. Newscaster (WOR, New York, NY, 1945).
- 10485 Graham, Bill. Newscaster (WDGY, Minneapolis–St. Paul, MN, 1944–1945).
- 10486 Graham, Catherine. COM-HE (KOOL, Phoenix, AZ, 1956).
- 10487 Graham, Donald R. Newscaster (The Town Crier, KVOA, Tucson, AZ, 1947).
- 10488 Graham, Frank. Graham, a New York Sun sports reporter, talked on baseball topics (WBAY, New York, NY, 1922). Station WBAY later became WEAJ (New York, NY).
- 10489 Graham, Gordon. Tenor (WBZ, Boston–Springfield, MA, 1925).
- 10490 Graham, Gordon. Newscaster (WIBC, Indianapolis, IN, 1947).
- 10491 Graham, Henry W. Reader (KYW, Chicago, IL, 1924).
- 10492 Graham, Herb. DJ (KFEQ Disc Derby, KFEQ, St. Joseph, MO, 1947).
- 10493 Graham, (Mrs.) Marion. Pianist (WBZ, Boston–Springfield, MA, 1925).
- 10494 Graham, Ross. Bass (KTHS, Hot Springs National Park, AK, 1928; Ross Graham, vcl. mus. prg., NBC, 1935–1936). Graham was also sometimes identified as a baritone. Another facet of the interesting Ross career was his winning appearance in the 1931 Atwater Kent auditions and his broadcasts with Roxy's Gang (NBC).
- 10495 Graham, Vance. Newscaster (KMPC, Los Angeles, CA, 1945–1946).
- 10496 Graham, Virginia. Singer Graham was known as the "Little Irish Crooner" (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1929).
- 10497 Graham, Walter. Newscaster (WMAZ, Macon, GA, 1941; WBML, Macon, GA, 1945). Sportscaster (WBML, 1945–1948; Sports Review, WBML, 1949–1954; WRBL, Columbus, GA, 1955–1956).
- 10498 Graham, Walter H. Baritone (WOAW, Omaha, NE, 1924).
- 10499 Graham, William. Newscaster (KOTA, Rapid City, SD, 1945).
- 10500 (The) Graham-Paige Hour. The Graham-Paige Motor Company sponsored the Detroit Symphony Orchestra conducted by Ossip Gabrilowitsch. Edgar A. Guest sometimes appeared as guest narrator on the program (Weekly, 9:30–10:30 p.m., CBS, 1931). The orchestra was occasionally conducted by Victor Kolar.
- 10501 Gramlich, George. Tenor (KNX, Los Angeles, CA, 1928).
- 10502 Gramps. Craig McDonnell played the role of a small-town newspaper editor with a wife, played by Anne Seymour, and two children on the sustaining summer replacement for the Dennis Day program. The editor's troubles began when Gramps, played by Edgar Stehli, arrived to spend some time with his family. The listener usually wondered: How can Gramps possibly get into so much trouble? Joan Laver and Edwin Bruce were also in the cast (30 min., Wednesday, 8:00–8:30 p.m., NBC, 1947).
- 10503 Granas, Mort. DJ (Platter Parade, WTBC, Tuscaloosa, AL, 1947).
- 10504 Granby's Green Acres. Gale Gordon played the title role of John Granby on the sustaining situation comedy. As the story unfolded, Granby bought a farm to get away from his dull bank clerk's job. Unfortunately, he knew nothing whatsoever about farming, and the show's comedy situations arose from his many fumbling mistakes. The summer replacement for The Egg and I was the basis for the successful Green Acres television show that starred Eddie Albert and Eva Gabor. Joining Gordon in the radio cast were: Bea Benadaret, Louise Erickson, Parley Baer and Opie Cates, who both acted and led the orchestra (30 min., Monday, 6:30–7:00 P.M., CBS, 1950).

10506 Grand Central Station. The sound of a steam locomotive rushing into New York's Grand Central Station opened the program, followed by the announcer's dramatic statement: "As a bullet seeks its target, shining rails in every part of our great country are aimed at Grand Central Station, heart of the nation's greatest city. Drawn by the magnetic force of the fantastic metropolis, day and night; great trains rush toward the Hudson River, sweep down its eastern bank for 140 miles, flash briefly by the long red row of tenement houses south of 125th Street, dive with a roar into the two-and-one-half mile tunnel which burrows beneath the glitter and swank of Park Avenue and then..." The sound of steam being released from an engine was heard and the announcer loudly proclaiming with stress on each syllable, "Grand Central Station ... crossroads of a million private lives ... gigantic stage on which are played a thousand dramas daily!"

The program was narrated by Jack Arthur and Alexander Scourby. The separate and complete dramatic episodes broadcast weekly were about life in New York City — exciting, romantic and, sometimes, funny. The cast included: Jim Ameche, Beverly Bayne, Nancy Coleman, Hume Cronyn, Mary Mason, McKay Morris and Arnold Moss. The writers were Ethel Abby, Jay Bennett, Martin Horrell, Elinor Lenz and Dora Reed. Himan Brown and Martin Horrell were the producers. The directors were Ira Ashley, Ray H. Kremer and William Rousseau. Ken Roberts and Tom Shirley were the announcers.

10507 Grand Hotel. Based on Vicki Baum's novel of the same name, the program presented a series of dramatized episodes in the lives of a hotel's guests. The sponsor was Campana's Hand Balm. The program replaced the company's Vanity Fair variety program. The show debuted October 1, 1933 (30 min., Sunday, 5:30–6:00 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1935). Among the cast members over the years were many talented veteran radio actors: Don Ameche, Jim Ameche, Don Briggs, Raymond Edward Johnson, Phil Lord, Barbara Luddy, Anne Seymour, Olan Soule and Betty Winkler. George Vandell was the writer and Joe Ainley the producer.

10508 Grand Marquee. George Stone was the announcer on the sustaining program that was an imitation of the First Nighter program. Jim Ameche, Olan Soule, Beryl Vaughn, Herbert Butterfield, Charles Egleston, Ray Suber and Hope Summers were in the cast. Joseph Gallichio's Orchestra supplied the music (30 min., Tuesday, 9:00–9:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1946).

10509 Grand Ole Opry (Began as the WSM Barn Dance). From November 18, 1925 to 1926 the program was known as the WSM Barn Dance. It became the longest running radio program of all time — still on the air in 1998. On the first program broadcast November 28, 1925 Uncle Jimmy Thompson, a seventy-seven-year-old fiddler from Tennessee, was one of two musicians who performed. The other was a pianist, his niece Eva Thompson Jones. After playing for an hour without a break, Thompson was asked if he was tired. He replied that he was just getting warmed up. For several Saturday nights George Hay, the announcer-director, Uncle Jimmie Thompson and his niece were the only performers. The response from WSM (Nashville, TN) listeners was enthusiastic. An editorial writer in the Nashville Tennessean of December 27, 1925, reviewed the show:

"Old tunes like old lovers are the best at least judging from the applause which the new Saturday night features at WSM receive from listeners from all parts of the country. Jazz has not completely turned the tables on such tunes as Turkey in the Straw and Pop Goes the Weasel. America may not be swinging its partners at a barn dance, but it seems to have the habit of clamping on earphones and putting its feet as gaily as it ever did when the oldtime fiddlers get going."

The name of the program, the WSM Barn Dance, was changed to the Grand Ole Opry in 1926. According to a frequently repeated story, it was given its name by announcer-director George Hay in 1926. From 7:00 to 8:00 P.M. on Saturday evening, WSM carried the Music Appreciation Hour conducted by Dr. Walter Damrosch. After Damrosch concluded his program with a musical composition that depicted an oncoming train, Hay said: "Friends, the program which just came to us was devoted to the classics. Dr. Damrosch told us that it is generally agreed that there is no place in the classics for realism. However, from here on out for the next three hours we will present nothing but realism. It will be down to earth for the earthy. In respectful contrast to Dr. Damrosch's presentation of the number which depicts the onrush of the locomotive, we will call on one of our performers, DeFord Bailey, with his harmonica to give us the country version of the "Pan American Blues." Bailey then played this country music tune that contained a section that sounded like a train. After Bailey finished, Hay returned to the microphone and said: "For the past hour, we have been listening to music taken largely from grand opera. But from now on, we will present the Grand Ole Opry."

George D. Hay was an important figure in the program's history. Called the "Solemn Old Judge," Hay developed and hosted the program for almost 30 years, before Grant Turner took over the announcing duties in 1944. Hay first became aware of country music shortly after World War I, when as a newspaper man he traveled to an Ozark town to cover the funeral of a war hero. While there, he heard some of the region's genuine American music. His appreciation for this music led to his development of both the National Barn Dance and the Grand Ole Opry programs.

After a successful career at Chicago's WLS, where he inaugurated the National Barn Dance program, Hay moved to Nashville's WSM as station manager and announcer. In 1926, soon after Uncle Jimmy Thompson's initial broadcast on the WSM Barn Dance, he put together the performers and format that became the Grand Ole Opry. Hay opened the shows with a blast on his old steam boat whistle called Huckpuckena, named for a small Mississippi town. Although he was called the Solemn Old Judge, there was a joke around the Opry crew that Hay was neither old, solemn, nor a judge.

Some of the earliest and greatest performers on the program were Uncle Dave Macon, DeFord Bailey and Dr. Humphrey Bate and His Possum Hunters. DeFord Bailey, a skilled harmonica player, was famous for playing "The Fox Chase," a song that simulated the sounds of a pack of hounds chasing a fox. Bailey, an African-American was the first member of his race to perform on the Grand Ole Opry. Dr. Humphrey Bate, leader of Dr. Humphrey Bate and his Possum Hunters string band, was a harmonica player and a busy surgeon from Tennessee. In 1924, he had appeared on WDAD, Nashville, TE. He joined the WSM Barn Dance on October 24, 1925 to lead the Possum Hunters, the first string band to be featured on the program. The members of Bate's band were Oscar Stone, Walter Liggett, Staley Waltron, Paris Pond, Oscar Albright, Bert Hutcherson, James Hart and Stringbean. Sisters Sarie and Sally (Mrs. Eva Wilson and Mrs. Margaret Waters), a talented singing team, should also be mentioned for they were the first female stars of the Grand Ole Opry when they appeared in 1925.

Uncle Dave Macon (David Harrison Macon) became the Grand Ole Opry's first star when he joined the Opry at the age of 56. Uncle Dave cooperated a Tennessee company, the Macon Midway Mule and Wagon Transportation Company, that carried goods between Woodbury and Murfreesboro, Tennessee before he began his professional career. Before joining the Opry, Uncle Dave had been a professional for more than eight years and a busy local entertainer for many years before that.

During his teamster years, Uncle Dave had performed at picnics and various social affairs in rural Tennessee singing and playing the banjo. He learned his songs, stories and how to play the banjo from the many vaudevillians who at various times stayed in his mother's boarding house. Uncle Dave, himself, appeared in vaudeville before coming to radio, always a great champion for and performer of American country music. "The Dixie Dewdrop Uncle Dave Macon," as he was affectionately called, was unique. He died at the age of 88, three weeks after his last appearance on the show and became the first Opry legend.

Other early bands on the Opry were the Gully Jumpers (guitarist-leader Paul Warmack; fiddler Charlie Arrington; Burt Hutcherson and Roy Hardison); the Fruit Jar Drinkers (leader-fiddler Grandpappy Wilkerson; guitarist Claude Lampley; mandolinist Tommy Leffew and bass fiddler H.J. Ragsdale); and the Crook Brothers Band (leader-harmonica performer Herman Crook; Mathew Crook; banjoist-singer Lewis Crook; guitarist Blythe Poteet; guitarist Bill Ethers and fiddler Kirk McGee). Most of these bands were named by program director George D. Hay.

In 1928, Harry Stone was hired as a WSM announcer and associate program director to assist Hay. Eventually, Stone became the station's program director and proved himself to be a masterful promoter of both the Grand Ole Opry and station WSM.

Over the years the program grew and continued to gain popularity. Even the length of the show grew until it extended to four hours. WSM advertised in 1942 that the show was a "...four-hour presentation of the down-to-earth, clean headed, clean minded America that will triumph because it is America." Appearing in the August 17, 1942, issue of Broadcasting, the advertisement also carried the familiar patriotic flavor that so often prevailed during World War II. The program's popularity was enhanced by the talent of another great star — Roy Acuff. In 1935, Roy Acuff and the Crazy Tennesseans (leader-fiddler Acuff; guitarist Jess Easterday; bass fiddler Red Jones; Cousin Jody (James Clell Summey); blackface comic Jake Tindell and Kentucky Slim were broadcasting daily on WROI (Knoxville, TN, 1935), before coming to Nashville and getting their own show on WSM (1938). After several unsuccessful attempts, Acuff and his band, now known as Roy Acuff and the Smokey Mountain Boys, made their first Grand Ole Opry appearance on February 26, 1938. The Opry's second great star had arrived.

Like the National Barn Dance, the Grand Ole Opry eventually became a network program on NBC in 1939, sponsored by Prince Albert smoking tobacco. It continued on that network until 1957. Like the National Barn Dance program, the Grand Ole Opry also used wrap-around local programming that featured Opry performers both before and after the network show. They also sent groups of performers on the road to perform at schools, theaters and fairs in various northeastern and southern towns throughout the country.

Hundreds of performers appeared on the program during the many years the show was on the air from 1925 to 1960. Some of these performers in addition to those already mentioned were: Uncle Ed Poplin and the Poplin Band from Lynchburg, Tennessee (Papa Ed Poplin on fiddle, pianist A. Poplin, guitarist Jack Woods, guitarist Louise Poplin and Frances Poplin, mandolinist); blind pianist and accordion soloist Fred Shriver; Asher and Little Jimmie Sizemore, a five-year-old singer; Binkley Brothers (Gayle and Amos); fiddler Curly Fox and Ruby Owens, "Radio's Original Yodeling Cowgirl"; blue grass music pioneer Bill Monroe and his Blue Grass Boys; Pee Wee King (Julius Frank Anthony Kuczynski) and the Golden West Cowboys (Milton Estes; Curly Rhodes; singer Texas Daisey; Long John Miller; Jack Scaggs and Abner Sims); Arthur Smith and his Dixie Liners; Zeke Clements and the Bronco Busters; fiddler Oscar Stone; Jack Shook and his Missouri Mountaineers band (guitarist-leader Shook; Dee Simmons; accordionist Bobby Cartleman; Fiddlin' Arthur Smith and guitarist Nap Bastian); Dorris Macon; singer Miss Lou Hesson; Theron Hale and his daughters Elizabeth and Mamie Ruth; blind fiddler Uncle Joe Mangrum; the Pickard Family led by Obed "Dad" Pickard; pianist Sue McQuiddy; mezzo-soprano Louise Harsh, fiddler Mellie Dunham; pianist Alycone Bate; Lonie and Tommy Thompson, the Singing Range Riders; Jack Shook and the Dixie Dons vocal quartet; the Delmore Brothers — Alton and Rabon; the Lakeland Sisters; Sam McGee; Robert Lunn; banjoist W.L. Totty; Buster Bate; Claude Lampley; H.J. Ragsdale; Tom Leffew; George Wilkerson; Charlie Arrington; Tom Andrews; Gayle and Amos Kinkley; Oscar Stone; Oscar Albright; Walter Liggett; Paul Warmack; Roy Hardison; Burt Hutcherson; Herman Crook, Kirk McGee, Bill Eter; Staley Walton, Blythe Poteet, Lewis Crook, Dee Simmons, Fiddlin' Sid Harkreader, David "Stringbean" Akeman, Nap Bastian, Carl Smith, the Carter Sisters, Hank Snow the "Singing Ranger," Eddy Arnold, Zeke Clements the Dixie Yodeler, Kay Carlisle, Little Jimmie Dickens, Jimmy Selph, George Morgan, Clyde Julian "Red" Foley; Ernest Tubb and the Texas Troubadours; Bob Wills and the Texas Playboys; Lloyd "Cowboy" Copas; singer-comic Lew Childre; guitar virtuoso Chet Atkins, Paul Howard and the Arkansas Cotton Pickers; the Bales Brothers — John and Walter; the Poe Sisters — Nell and Ruth, Hank Williams and many others.

Many great country comedians appeared on the Opry. There was Whitey Ford the Duke of Paducah and Rod Brasfield, but perhaps the best loved and remembered was Cousin Minnie Pearl (Sarah Ophelia Colley), whose cheap hat with a $1.98 price tag dangling from its rim and friendly greeting of "How-dee" started Opry listeners laughing before she said a word. Colley, an educated woman, played the role of a country bumpkin. She was down to earth and funny. Although Rod Brasfield and Minnie Pearl probably were the best country comedy team on the Opry, there were other talented country comedians and groups.

Among them were banjoist-comic Rachel Veach, billed as "Rachel, Queen of the Hills. Rachel sometimes teamed with others like guitarist Lonnie Wilson and Pete Kirby, as "Pap and Oswald, Rachel's Two Country Comedian Boy Friends." At other times it was "Rachel and her Great Big Bashful Brother Oswald (Pete Kirby)." Then, too, there was Smilin' Joseph (Joe Zinkan) and Odie (Oral Rhodes), sometimes billed as "Papa and Odie" or "Pap and his son Odie." Another funny team was "Cicero (Lloyd George) and Oscar (Rollin Sullivan)," later better known as "Lonzo and Oscar." Before Cousin Minnie Pearl, two great Opry favorites had been Sarie and Sally (Mrs. Edna Wilson and Mrs. Margaret Walters) whose comedy mainly consisted of Sarie's wisecracking gossip about their hometown neighbors. Sarie and Sally appeared both on the Grand Ole Opry and the National Barn Dance. An example of a Sarie and Sally routine is given in the National Barn Dance entry [See also National Barn Dance].

Blackface comedy routines often appeared on the early Grand Ole Opry radio programs. In the early 1930s, Leroy "Lasses" White came to WSM to conduct his Lasses White's Minstrels show. White later teamed with Lee Davis "Honey" Wilds and appeared on the Opry. After White left to work in Hollywood, a new blackface team was created of Bunny Biggs and "Honey" Wilds.

Although the program was dropped from the NBC network schedule in 1957, it still remains a popular WSM program (WSM Barn Dance, WSM, Nashville, TN, 1925–1926; Grand Ole Opry, 30 min., Saturday, NBC, 1939–1957; WSM, 1926–Present).

10510 Grand Opera Album. The Saturday evening program of operatic selections featured soprano Dorothy Talbot; contralto Margaret O'Dea; tenor Harold Spalding; and baritone Harold Dana, accompanied by the National Concert Orchestra conducted by Max Dolin (NBC-Pacific Coast Network-KFI, San Francisco, CA, 1928).

10511 Grand Slam. Continental Baking Company sponsored the musical quiz show. Singer Irene Beasley was the host, assisted by pianist Bob Downey, organist Abe Goldman and announcer Dwight Weist. The contestants listened to Beasley sing several songs and then attempted to answer a series of questions about them. If they correctly answered five, they achieved a "Grand Slam" and received a $100 savings bond as a prize. The quiz program replaced the long-running Bachelor's Children daytime serial (15 min., Monday through Friday, 11:30–11:45 A.M., CBS, 1946).

10512 Grandberry, Enla, Soprano (KGO, Oakland, CA, 1925).

10513 Grandin, Thomas, Newscaster (NBC-Blue, 1945).

10514 Grandma's Hymn Hour. Vel. mus. prg. of religious songs and hymns (WMBD, Peoria, IL, 1935).

10515 Grandpa Bulger's Children's Hour. The children's program was hosted by an unidentified "Grandpa" (KXL, Portland, OR, 1929).

10516 Grandpa Burton. Bill Barr played all the characters on the unusual show, on which Grandpa Burton told his grandson the story of his life and adventures. If the old man exaggerated some of his adventures a bit, it only provided more fun for his listeners — young and old (15 min., Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 4:15–4:30 P.M., NBC, 1935).

10517 Grandpa Jones. CW vcl. mus. prg. featuring Marshall Louis "Grandpa" Jones (WVVA, Wheeling WV, 1938). This talented CW performer played a "grandpa" character even as a young man just starting his career. Jones later was a Grand Ole Opry regular.

10518 Grandpappy. DJ (County Store, WTXL, Springfield MA, 1949).

10519 Grandstand Quarterback. Dick Enroth hosted the show and welcomed his guests, who talked about the University of Minnesota's football game played the previous day (30 min., Sunday, 12:00–12:30 P.M., WTCN, Minneapolis, MN, 1952).

10520 Grandstand Thrills. Lester Weinrott directed the program that dramatized current news events. Elinor Harriot was a member of the cast (15 min., Weekly, 7:30–7:45 P.M., CST, WGN, Chicago, IL and WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1935).

10521 Grancy, Jack. Sports caster (WCLE, Cleveland, OH and WHK, Cleveland, OH, 1937; WCLE, 1939–1941; WHK, 1940–1941; WCLE and WHK, 1942; WEWS, Cleveland, OH, 1954). Grancy also broadcast Cleveland Indians baseball games for the Standard Oil Company on WHK in 1935.

10522 Grange, Red. Sports caster Grange, a former college and professional football great, supplied football commentary on his own show that was broadcast twice weekly on the NBC-Red Network in 1936. On Friday, Grange predicted the winners of the following day's games. Saturday, he would broadcast the scores of more than 70 football games. On Monday evening, Grange would appear on the Greater Sinclair Minstrels to supply further analysis of the games (15 min., Friday, 8:30–8:45 P.M., NBC-Red, 1936 and 15 min., Saturday, 5:00–5:15 P.M., NBC-Red, 1935). Grange also appeared on many other stations and programs in the years that followed (WCLE, Cleveland, OH and WHK, Cleveland, OH, 1940; WMAQ, Chicago, IL, 1945; WJJD, Chicago, IL, 1948; Football Huddle, WJJD, 1949).

10523 Granger, Betty. COM-HE (WLIB, New York, NY, 1956).

10524 Granger, Florence. Contralto (KFDM, Beaumont, TX, 1928).

10525 Granger, Percy. Famous Australian pianist-composer (WJZ, New York, NY, 1921; WEAF, New York, NY, 1927).

10526 Granlund, Nils Thor (aka "NTG" or "Granny"). Broadway showman and publicity man for Loew's Theaters, Granlund began his career as a New York newspaperman. When Loew's, Incorporated began operation of station WHN (New York, NY), Granlund left his paper to head their press and publicity department. Loew's planned to use station WHN to broadcast their vaudeville acts and to promote Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer motion pictures.

Granlund began announcing on WHN early in 1922 to further Loew's objectives. He also hosted numerous broadcasts from Broadway clubs, ballrooms, cafes and restaurants. His bosses were not particularly happy when he began to clown and do comedy bits, but they were overjoyed when he recited poetry to fill interludes in WHN's broadcast programming. Kipling and Robert Service were particular favorites of Granlund's listeners. He was often forced to recite "Boots" five times a day on the air and "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" almost as often. Granlund was the first radio performer to receive a thousand fan letters a day. He also apparently was the first to introduce the concept of the radio variety show and it was his idea to bring composers to radio to introduce their own songs. Granlund began broadcasting in 1922, flourished in it in 1923 and continued to enjoy great popularity for the rest of the decade (WHN, New York, NY, 1922–1929). He also did blow-by-blow fight broadcasts in 1927 (WHAP, New York, NY). Variety characterized NTG's 1924 radio style when he was broadcasting remote broadcasts for WHN (New York, NY) as tough and aggressive. When he hosted the broadcast of Dan Gregory's orchestra from New York's Crystal Palace Ballroom, Granlund said that it was a "nifty place to learn how to dance" and called Gregory's band "24 punks." See also NTG and His Girls.

10573 Graves, Ted. Pianist (WBAP, Fort Worth, TX, 1928).

10574 Gray, Al. Newscaster (WSTV, Steubenville, OH, 1940–1941).

10575 Gray, Barry. DJ (WOR, New York, NY, 1945–1947; WKAT, Miami Beach, FL, 1947–1950). Newscaster (WKAT, FL, 1948–1950; The Barry Gray Show, WMCA, New York, NY, 1949–1950; WKAT, 1950; WMCA, 1952). When Gray first came to New York, he conducted a late night DJ show at WOR but he soon turned it into a "talk" show. After going to Florida and working for a few years at Miami Beach's WKAT, he returned to WMCA to broadcast a talk show from Chandler's Restaurant in Manhattan. At Chandler's, he interviewed the stars including Grace Kelly, Kay Armen, Phil Foster, Irving Berlin, Milton Berle and Danny Thomas. While there he became embroiled in a feud with Walter Winchell as the result of Winchell's alleged bad treatment of Josephine Baker at the Stork Club. As a result of the argument with Winchell, Gray maintained that he lost many of the stars who had previously come by to talk with him on his program from Chandler's. After Chandler's, he broadcast for WMCA from such clubs and restaurants as Bob Olin's, the Town and Country Club and the Seville Hotel in Miami Beach. Gray's long broadcasting career, primarily on New York local radio, extended until shortly before his death in 1996. His quick mind, resonant voice and interviewing skills made him a skillful pioneer in talk radio programming. Only Long John Nebel did more to develop talk radio.

10576 Gray, (Mrs.) Carl R. Bible class leader (WOAW, Omaha, NE, 1926).

10600 Gray, Otto. Leader (Otto Gray and his Oklahoma Cowboy Band, WTAM, Cleveland, OH, 1928). His band was sometimes known merely as Otto Gray's Cowboys, a popular CW radio and recording group that appeared on many stations during the middle and late 1920s.

10601 Gray, Phil A. Newscaster (WEMP, Milwaukee, WI, 1938).

10602 Gray, Stanley. Baritone crooner (KOIN, Portland, OR, 1928).

10603 Gray, Walter. Walter Gray directed the Dramatic Club program (WFI, Philadelphia, PA, 1928).

10604 Gray (Harriet) and Hughes (Walter). Vcl. mus. prg. (KUAO, Siloam Springs, AR, 1939). Gray and Hughes were a popular singing team on local Arkansas radio.

10605 Graybar's Mr. and Mrs. (aka Mr. and Mrs.). The program was based on a comic strip by Clare Briggs. A series of dramatic sketches, Graybar's Mr. and Mrs. told the story of the events in lives of a married couple, Joe and Vi. The leading roles were played by Jack Smart and Jane Houston. Georgia Backus was also in the cast (15 min., Tuesday, 10:00–10:15 P.M., CBS, 1930). Jack Smart later gained national prominence by playing the title role on The Fat Man program.

10606 Grayling's String Trio. Instr. mus. prg. (WHT, Chicago, IL, 1926).

10607 Gray's Collegiate Orchestra. College dance band (KFXX, Colorado Springs, CO, 1926).

10608 Grayson, Bob "Bobby." Leader (Bob Grayson Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WCAE, Pittsburgh, PA, 1936; NBC, 1937).

10611 Grayson, Hal. Leader (Hal Grayson Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., MBS, 1934; NBC, 1938).

10612 Grayson, Jay. DJ (Yawn Patrol, WANN, Annapolis, MD, 1947; WBAL, Baltimore, MD, late 1940s and 1950s). Grayson was particularly interested in playing jazz recordings. He displayed an impressive knowledge of the music and discriminating taste on his programs.

10613 Grayson, Mel. DJ (Mood Indigo, WSSV, Petersburg, VA, 1947; Request Club, WSSV, 1950). Sportscaster (The Sportsman, WSSV, 1948).

10614 Grayson, Sid. Newscaster (KWF, Wichita Falls, TX, 1946). Sportscaster (The Sports Desk, KFDX, Wichita Falls, TX, 1949–1952). DJ (Lone Star Theater, KFDX, 1950).

10615 Grayson, Virginia. Soprano (KGO, Oakland, CA, 1926).

10616 Grayson, W. Norman. Pianist (WAHG, Richmond Hill, NY, 1925).

10617 Graziani, Aurora D. "Rory." COM-HE (WWON, Woonsocket, RI, 1956–1957).

10618 Great American Applebury's. Reginald Travers directed the humorous dramatic serial (KYA, San Francisco, CA, 1929).

10619 (The) Great American Tourist. Phil Baker was the comedian-host on the variety show. He was assisted by his stooges Beetle and Bottle. Hal Kemp's Orchestra supplied the music. Harry Von Zell was the announcer. The show was sponsored by the Gulf Oil Refining Company (30 min., Sunday, 7:30–8:00 P.M., CBS, 1935).

10620 (The) Great Day. John Reed King hosted the quiz program that differed only in that it originated from various armed forces' bases and gave only servicemen a chance at prizes. George Spots directed and Robert Jennings produced the audience participation show (30 min., Friday, 9:30–10:00 P.M., MBS, 1952).

10621 Great Day for Music. Recorded music, inspirational prose and romantic poetry were the major components of the program. The prose and poetry was read by Franklyn MacCormack (60 min., Monday through Friday, 9:00–10:00 P.M., WCFB, Chicago, IL, 1948).

10622 Great Fires of History. John B. Fisher discussed various fiery conflagrations and disasters on the unique sustaining show (15 min., 10:00–10:15 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1941).

10623 (The) Great Fraud. Each week a different authority was presented on the sustaining program to report what was wrong with the U.S.S.R. The first week's speaker was Mrs. Ada Siegel. The announcer was Jim McKay (15 min., Sunday, 12:15–12:30 P.M., ABC, 1953).

10624 (The) Great Gildersleeve. The Great Gildersleeve was a spin-off from the Fibber McGee and Molly show, for it was there that Harold Peary first appeared as the blustering Throckmorton P. Gildersleeve. Gildy was as big a windbag as Fibber McGee and equally warm-hearted. Both were generous pussy cats. Gildy left the quiet little city of Whistful Vista and the Fibber McGee and Molly show to become Water Commissioner of Summerfield, where he coped with his newly assumed civic responsibilities and those of rearing his niece and nephew, Marjorie and Leroy.

Summerfield, thanks to writers Virginia Safford Lynne, Sam Moore, John Wheedon and Andy White, was also peopled with such comic characters as druggist Peavey, Floyd the barber, Birdie Lee Coggins the maid, Leila Ransom the marriageable Southern belle and the irascible Judge Hooker.

Over the years that the program was on the air (1941–1958), the cast included: Bea Benadaret, Tommy Bernard, Arthur Q. Bryan, Hans Conrad, Dick Crenna, Richard Legrand, Forrest Lewis, Una Merkel, Shirley Mitchell, Hal Peary, Lillian Randolph, Marylee Robb, Earle Ross, Walter Tetley, Lurene Tuttle and Willard Waterman. Waterman replaced Harold Peary in the title role when the latter left the program in 1950. The orchestra was led by Jack Meskin. The announcer was John Wald. Karl Gruener, Fran Van Hartresfeldt and Cecil Underwood were the directors.

10625 (The) Great Gunns. Forrest Barnes wrote and William A. Backer produced and directed the situation comedy that Variety said was loosely based on the life of the Barrymore family. Each of the program's characters was convinced that he or she was a dramatic genius. Brett Morrison played Chris Gunn; Barbara Luddy, his wife, Veronica; Bob Jellison, Buster Gunn; and Phil Lord, Pop Gunn. Other cast members were Rita Ascot, Herb Butterfield, Marvin Miller and Willard Waterman. The announcer was Pierre Andre (30 min., Thursday, 9:30–10:00 P.M., MBS, 1941).

10626 (The) Great Lakes Mixed Quartet. The singing group's members were Charlotte Crown, soprano; Lucille Long, contralto; Oscar Heather, tenor; and Martin [Marthin] Provensen, bass (WENR, Chicago, IL and WBCN, Chicago, IL, 1928).

10627 Great Moments from Great Plays. Herbert Heyes was a featured player in the series that presented dramatic episodes from various plays (Tuesday, KFWB, Hollywood, CA, 1930).

10628 Great Moments in History. William Rainey directed the weekly dramatic series that portrayed significant episodes of American history. The first hour-long broadcast in the series was "The Monitor and the Merrimac." (NBC-Red, 1927).

10629 Great Personalities. Newspaper reporter and war correspondent Frazier Hunt broadcast word pictures of various American leaders. Rosario Bourdon's Orchestra provided the music (15 min., Tuesday, 9:30–9:45 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1932).

10630 (The) Great Scott. DJ (KLEF, Houston, TX, 1950).

10631 Great Western Power Company Orchestra. Commercially sponsored band (KFUU, Oakland, CA, 1925).

10632 Great Western Silver String Serenaders. Harry E. Sell directed the orchestra (WHO, Des Moines, IA, 1925).

10633 (The) Greatest of These. A sophisticated series of dramatic episodes, the program told the story of Harvey Desmond, a crusading attorney played by Tom Collins. His fiancé, Betty Crane was played by Marty Lansing (Weekly, 30 min., 1940s).

10634 (The) Greatest Story Ever Told. Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company sponsored the program on which Biblical stories such as "The Good Samaritan" were dramatized. The show was based on a book of the same name by Fulton Oursler. Members of the cast included:

Jack Hartley, Rod Hendrickson, Alan Hewitt, Ray Morgan, Henry Neeley, Warren Parker, Eleanor Sherman, Sidney Smith, John Sylvester, Karl Swenson, Karl Weber and Roland Winters. Only Parker, in the role of Jesus, was a continuing character (30 min., 6:30–7:00 P.M., ABC, 1947).

10635 Greaves, Alec. DJ (All Star Western Revue, K'OW, Oklahoma City, OK, 1949).

10636 Greaves, Penny. COM-HE (KWKC, Abilene, TX, 1957).

10666 (The Green Hornet. The Green Hornet, a famous adventure show, opened with its theme—Rimsky-Korsakov's "Flight of the Bumble Bee"—followed by an announcer dramatically proclaiming, "The Green Hornet." The loud, angry sound of a hornet buzzing was heard as the announcer continued, "He hunts the biggest of all games! Public enemies who try to destroy our America." The sound of the Hornet's car, the Black Beauty was then heard roaring away. Once more the announcer explained, "Ride with Britt Reid in the thrilling adventure, 'The Hornet Returns.' The Green Hornet strikes again!" That exciting opening explained the basis for the dramatic series and told the listener what could be expected.

Another creation from the team of Fran Striker and George W. Trendle at Detroit's WXYZ, the program never failed to deliver on its promise of exciting adventure. The cast included: Lee Allman, Donovan Faust, Bob Hall, Raymond Hayashi, Al Hodge, Jim Irwin, Jack McCarthy, Rollon Parker, Jack Petruzzi, Gil Shea and Mickey Tolon. Bob Hite, Fielden Farrington, Hal Neal, Mike Wallace and Charles Woods were the announcers. Charles Livingstone was the director and James Jewell served as producer-writer-director.

10667 (The Green Lama. A sustaining summer replacement for Broadway is My Beat, the good mystery adventure drama was written by Roland Foster and William Froog. Norman Macdonnell was the producer and director. The Green Lama was a comic strip and pulp magazine character originally created by Roland Foster. The title character, played by Paul Frees, had developed special powers by studying with the devine Lamas of Tibet. He used these powers to battle for justice and humanity. In the cast with Frees were: Harry Bartell, Paul Dubov, Laurette Filbrandt, Nestor Paiva, Herb Vigran and Ben Wright. Music was supplied by Richard Aurandt. The announcer was Larry Thor (30 min., Sunday, 5:30-6:00 P.M. CBS, 1949).

10668 (The Green Mountain Boys. The Vermont Publicity Center sponsored the show, whose major purpose was to attract tourists to see Vermont. George Ludlam was "The Vacation Counselor," who advanced recommendations on each program to visit Vermont. The Jesters [male singing trio] provided the music on the entertaining local show (15 min., Sunday, 11:15-11:30 A.M., WJZ, New York, NY, 1935).

10669 Green Valley Line. An interesting syndicated dramatic serial, the Green Valley Line told the story of people who lived in a railroad terminal town named Morristown that was located on the Green Valley Railroad line. The story of the struggle caused by the effort of a large eastern rail conglomerate to take over their small railroad was completed in 52 fifteen-minute episodes. The transcribed program featured a group of competent unidentified actors who sounded like the WXYZ (Detroit, MI) acting group that regularly performed on the Lone Ranger and Green Hornet programs (Transcribed, Various Stations, 1940s).

10670 Greenberg, Claire. Soprano (WPCH, New York, NY, 1929).

10671 Greenblatt, Ben. Pianist (Piano Ramblings, instr. mus. prg., 15 min., Thursday, 6:45-7:00 P.M., WFIL, Philadelphia, PA, 1936). Greenblatt's entertaining talk and piano selections made this a popular local program.

10683 Greene, Richard. Newscaster (WJTN, Jamestown, NY, 1945).

10684 Greene, Rosaline. Greene was the leading female actress of the WGY Players group. Despite her great popularity she was paid only $5.00 a week for some time. Two years after she began and gained great popularity with the listening audience, her salary was raised to $7.50 a week (WGY, Schenectady, NY, 1925). Greene was one of radio's finest actresses, who, incidentally, was developed by and for the medium. In the 1920s, she appeared on the Eveready Hour (NBC-Red, 1927-1929) and the Empire Builders program (NBC-Blue, 1927-1929). Later, she played Mary Lou on the Showboat program and was the announcer for Phil Spitalny's Hour of Charm program in 1935. See also Drama.

- 10754 Griffin, Bobby. Griffin was working as an assistant announcer when he took part in a dramatic incident at WHO (Des Moines, IA) in 1925. Shortly after 10:00 A.M. on May 27, 1925, Griffin became the central figure in an interesting bit of radio history when he broadcast the following announcement: "Attention all peace officers, all peace officers, State of Iowa! The Cottage State Bank in Des Moines has just been held up and robbed by four or five men driving a Paige sedan. Their description follows...."
- Soon, one of his listeners saw four men change from a Paige sedan to a Marmon at Des Moines' Woodland Cemetery. Following them until they left town heading south, the listener notified the police. Griffin then broadcast: "Bandits have switched to a Marmon heading south. Be on the lookout." After noon a muffled telephone call came in to the station for Griffin that warned, "If you wanna stay healthy, cut out puttin' them police bulletins on the air" (Broadcasting, April 1, 1937, p. 1). Later — there was an attempted attack on him as he left the WHO studio to go to lunch.
- By mid-afternoon of May 17 in Bethany, Missouri, Constable Arthur Stanley recognized the bandits' car. When word reached WHO, Griffin broadcast, "Bandits sighted at Bethany, Missouri. Still driving Marmon. Have switched to Missouri license plates." At Avenue City, Mississippi, after a gun battle with police, the bandits' car crashed and two bandits were caught. The other two bandits escaped across the fields. WHO broadcast: "Be on the lookout for two bandits escaped from gun battle with officers at Avenue City, Mississippi, wanted in connection with bank robbery at Des Moines this morning." Sometime later outside St. Joseph, Missouri, a WHO listener was asked for a lift by the two fugitives who had escaped from the Avenue City gun battle. They were soon arrested in Kansas City. A fifth member of the holdup gang, who had been left in Des Moines, was picked up shortly afterward. By December 5, 1925, all five men were convicted and sentenced to the Iowa State Penitentiary with terms ranging from ten years to life. Their swift apprehension, trial and conviction was aided by Griffin and the pioneer broadcasters at WHO.

Griffin enjoyed a successful broadcasting career (WHO, Des Moines, IA, 1925-1927). He moved to KVOO (Bristow, OK) in 1927. In the fall of 1927, he became announcer-director at WJBT (Chicago, IL). Griffin then moved to station WRUF (Gainesville, FL) in 1928 and later was broadcasting the news on KYW (Chicago, IL) in 1931.

10770 Griffith, D.W. David Lewelyn Wark Griffith was born January 22, 1875 in LaGrange, KY. Katz (1998, p. 563) says Griffith was the "single most important figure in the history of American film and one of the most influential in the development of world cinema as an art." In addition to contributing such silent motion pictures as The Birth of a Nation, Broken Blossoms, Intolerance, Orphans of the Storm, Way Down East and Judith of Bethulia, Griffith began in 1909 to develop a company of such future motion picture stars as Mary Pickford, Donald Crisp, Dorothy and Lillian Gish, Harry Carey, Mae Marsh, Mabel Normand and Blanche Sweet. Griffith developed and used such cinematic techniques as dramatic lighting, changing camera angles, the close-up, the full shot, rhythmic editing and parallel action. He used these innovative techniques consciously and creatively (Katz, 1998, p. 563). Famous pioneer motion picture director Griffith occasionally spoke on the Brooklyn Mark Strand Stage and Studio Program (WNYC, New York, NY, 1925).

- 10849 Guess, Linnie Lee. Soprano (KNRC, Los Angeles, CA, 1925).
- 10850 Guess the Time. Howard Jones conducted the quiz show in the role of "Dr. Rhythm." Listeners were asked to guess the titles of the recorded songs played on the program. Movie passes were awarded to winners who sent in the correct answers. If the winners accompanied their answers with a box top of the sponsor's Dr. Jayne's Cough Remedy, they received an additional five dollar cash prize (15 min., 12:00 noon–12:15 P.M., Monday, Wednesday and Friday, WIP, Philadelphia, PA, 1942).
- 10851 Guess Where. Phillip Morris cigarettes sponsored the quiz show that was hosted by June Walker. Contestants were required to listen to a dramatized sketch and then identify the location where it took place. Budd Hulick and Charlie Cantor were the cast members. The program was replaced by Breezing Along, a musical review (30 min., Friday, 8:00–8:30 P.M., MBS, 1939).
- 10852 Guest, Bud. Newscaster (WJR, Detroit, MI, 1936–1941). Guest replaced Billy Repaid as newscaster in 1936 and continued at WJR until he went into service in 1941.
- 10853 Guest, Edgar A. Guest read his own poetry and that of others on a transcribed program (Edgar A. Guest, WASH, Grand Rapids, MI, 1942). He also appeared on many network programs reading his own poetry. See also It Can Be Done and Welcome Valley.
- 10854 Guest, Helen. Ballad singer (KFI, Los Angeles, CA, 1927).
- 10855 Guest Star. A transcribed program, Guest Star was sponsored by the United States Treasury Department in an effort to promote the sale of U.S. Savings Bonds. The long-running series, at one time or another, featured almost all the great stars of radio and motion pictures. Regulars on the show were Kenny Delmar, the Savings Bond Singers and Denes Agay's Orchestra. Harry Sosnik's Orchestra also appeared on some programs. Guests during 1947 included Henry Morgan, Jimmy Durante, Garry Moore, Abbott and Costello, the Chordettes, Edith Adams, Andy Williams, Perry Como, Denise Lor, Johnny Desmond, Sarah Vaughn, Alfred Drake, Rise Stevens, the Four Lads, Julie London, Julius La Rosa, Sylvia Sims, Gordon MacRae, Gogi Grant, Curt Massey and Martha Tilton, Peggy King, Eddy Arnold, the Lennon Sisters, Fats Domino, Matt Dennis, Connie Russell, Georgia Gibbs, Burl Ives, Ish Kabibble and Kay Kyser, Art Tatum, Alec Templeton, Dave Barbour, Gloria Swanson, Frances Langford, Bonita Granville, Humphrey Bogart, Dinah Shore, Walter Brennan, Jane Pickens, Hilde-10857 Guidi, Hugh. DJ (Top Spot, WFOP, Washington, DC, 1948–1949).

10858 (The) Guiding Light. The daytime serial was written by Irna Phillips. It was one of the most admired and durable programs on radio. For its first nine years on the air, announcer Fort Pearson opened the program by saying, "The Guiding Light, created by Irna Phillips." From Jan 25, 1937 when it first went on the air until 1946, the central figure, played by Arthur Peterson, was a minister, Dr. John Rutledge, a warm-hearted, nonsectarian preacher, who attempted to assist people with their troubles and teach them how to live the good life. The reading lamp that Reverend Rutledge kept in his window served as a symbolic guide for his parishioners who were in distress. It was, he said, the Friendship Lamp that he kept burning. Figuratively for his parishioners, it was The Guiding Light. One of Rutledge's persistent themes on the program was:

There is a destiny that makes us brothers
None goes his way alone
All that we send into the life of others
Comes back into our own.

When Dr. Rutledge died in 1946, Dr. Charles Matthews entered the story, and the following year he opened the Church of the Good Samaritan. The Bauer family was introduced in 1948 and the program followed their lives from then on. The radio format was discontinued in 1956, but on the television version that began in 1952, the story continued without any loss of continuity. Starting on television with a 15-minute format, the program expanded to 30 minutes September, 1968, and to 60 minutes on November 7, 1977. The program was still being broadcast on the CBS television network in 1998.

Author Irna Phillips, one of the foremost writers of daytime serials, wrote the program until 1947. She said she wrote about the program's locale, characters and plot from her own life experiences. She was an energetic, creative dynamo, who was both proud and aggressively protective of her work. After her radio programs went off the air, she continued to write several successful daytime television serials.

Throughout its entire run on radio, The Guiding Light's theme was always the same: If the family will stick together and work hard, happiness and success will be achieved. The program insisted that the American family could make it by combining faith and hard work.

The program's cast included: Jone Allison, Betty Arnold, Ruth Bailey, Frank Behrens, Bill Bouchey, Sidney Breese, Muriel Bremner, Phil Dakin, Frank Dane, Sam Edwards, Laurette Fillbrandt, Margaret Fuller, Betty Lou Gerson, Sharon Grainger, Ken Griffin, Annette Harper, Gladys Heen, Gail Henshaw, Raymond Edward Johnson, Eloise Kummer, Mary Lansing, Phil Lord, Sunda Love, Charlotte Manson, Mercedes McCambridge, Carolyn McKay, Marvin Miller, Bret Morrison, Arnold Moss, Arthur Peterson, Ed Prentiss, Michael Romano, Beverly Ruby, Alma Samuels, Mignon Schreiber, Hugh Studebaker, Lyle Sudrow, Henrietta Tedro, Sam Wanamaker, Willard Waterman, Leonard Waterman, Jane Webb, Sarajane Wells, Leslie Woods and Seymour Young. Clayton "Bud" Collyer and Fort Pearson were the announcers and David Lesan and Carl Wester its producers. The program's directors were Harry Kubeck, Gil Gibbons, Gordon Hughes, Howard Keegan, Ted MacMurray and Charles Urquhart.

On CBS on Monday, June 2, 1947, the new writer, Art Glad, attempted to follow the successful format created by Irna Phillips. Dr. Charles Matthews, the new minister, who was the central figure in this version was played by Hugh Studebaker. Matthews was the minister of the Good Samaritan Church of Selby Flats, an under privileged Los Angeles neighborhood. Cast members in the new version were Betty Lou Gerson, Ned DeFener and Willard Waterman. The announcer was Herbert Allen. Duz Soap Power—"Duz Does Everything"—sponsored the program (15 min., Monday through Friday, 1:45–2:00 P.M., CBS, 1947).

10859 Guilford, Fay. Soprano (Fay Guilford, vcl. mus. prg., WOR, Newark, NJ, 1935).

10860 Guill, Mary White. Soprano (WSM, Nashville, TN, 1928).

10861 Guinan, Jack. Newscaster (WJTN, Jamestown, NY, 1946). Sportscaster (Reports on Sports, WJTN, 1947–1948; Speaking Sports, WJTN, 1948; sports play-by-play, WSCR, Scranton, PA, 1949; WQAN, Scranton, PA, 1951; Athlete of the Week, WQAN, 1955).

10862 Guion, David. Pianist Guion was on the musical faculty of Southern Methodist University (WFAA, Dallas, TX, 1923). He was known as the "American Cowboy Composer." His weekly program was called David Guion and his Orchestra. Baritone Paul Revell was featured (15 min., Tuesday, 11:30–11:45 P.M., NBC-Red, 1932).

10863 Guitar Lessons. J.F. Roach broadcast weekly half-hour guitar lessons (15 min., Friday, 1:30–1:45 P.M., WLW, Cincinnati, OH, 1922).

10864 Guitierrez, Leopold. Chilean baritone (WJZ, New York, NY, 1925).

10865 Guizar, Tito. Mexican tenor Guizar starred in motion pictures in the U.S. and Mexico (Tito Guizar, vcl. mus. prg., 15 min., Friday, 10:45–11:00 P.M., CBS, 1932; Tito Guizar, vcl. mus. prg., 15 min., Monday, 5:45–6:00 P.M., CBS, 1933; CBS, 1934–1935). Guizar studied music at the Mexico City Conservatory of Music in 1925. He appeared in theatricals in Mexico before studying voice for two years in Italy. He returned to Mexico as an opera singer, but finding it too formal, he undertook a career in popular music. After enjoying success in Mexican motion pictures, he appeared as a guest performer on many American radio programs. A short time later, Guizar appeared in American movies and had his own radio show.

10866 Gulch, Bennie. Leader (Bennie Gulch and his Rainbow Orch., WKBO, Jersey City, NJ, 1927).

10867 (The) Gulf Headliners. Gulf Oil Refining Company sponsored the good music show hosted by Charles Winninger. The performers included tenor Frank Parker, the Pickens Sisters and the Revelers Quartet. Frank Tours conducted the orchestra. At various times the program was announced by Norman Brokenshire and Harry Von Zell (30 min., Sunday, 7:30–8:00 P.M., CBS, 1935).

10868 (The) Gulf International Program. Gulf Oil Refining Company attempted to broadcast shortwave variety programs that emanated from Berlin, London, Vienna and Paris. Although shortwave reception was only fair-to-good, the program's general broadcast quality was satisfactory. Variety pointed out that the program's major problem was that its European entertainers tended to be only mediocre (30 min., Sunday, 9:00–9:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1934).

10869 (The) Gulf Program (aka Will Rogers' Good Gulf Show or The Gulf Headliner Program). Will Rogers appeared on many of these Gulf programs until 1935, when he was killed with Wiley Post in a plane crash. Singers Carol Deis, Hallie Stiles, James Melton, the Revelers Quartet and Al Goodman's Orchestra were also members of the cast. While Rogers went on vacation in 1935, he was replaced by Bert Lehr. When Rogers did not appear on other shows, Fred Stone and George M. Cohan were featured. Joseph Bell was the program's announcer (30 min., Sunday, 9:00–9:30 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1933). At other times, the program was broadcast Sunday evenings from 8:30–9:00 P.M. See also Rogers, Will.

10870 Gullans, Florence. Mezzo-soprano (WJAZ, Mt. Prospect, IL, 1928).

10871 Gullickson, Charles. Newscaster (WDOD, Chattanooga, TN, 1942).

10872 (The) Gully Jumpers. Paul Warmack led the CW string band that was featured on the Grand Ole Opry program (WSM, Nashville, TN, 1925–1939). The group began as amateurs, who worked as mechanics and carpenters in their daytime jobs. The first group of Gully Jumpers consisted of Burt Hutcherson, Charlie Arrington and Paul Warmack.

10873 Gumm, Bill. Sportscaster (Sports Review, WRNJ, Racine, WI, 1952). DJ (WRJN, 1957).

10874 (The) Gumps. A serial drama, The Gumps was based on the popular comic strip of the same name by Sidney Smith. The show appeared on the CBS network in 1934, after originating on WGN (Chicago, IL) in 1931. The original Chicago cast included Jack Boyle, Dorothy Denver and Charles Flynn, Jr., as Andy, Min and Chester Gump respectively. Bess Flynn played their maid, Tilda. The original series was written by Thomas J. Foy assisted by suggestions from the comic strip creator, Sidney Smith (WGN, 1931.) At that time WGN had four programs based on comic strips: The Gumps, Harold Teen, Gasoline Alley and Little Orphan Annie. When the show appeared on the CBS network, the cast included Wilmer Walter, Agnes Moorehead and Jackie Kelk as the Gump family members. Lester Jay also appeared on the show. Himan Brown and Irwin Shaw wrote the network version of the program. Ralph Edwards was the announcer (15 min., Wednesday, 11:15-11:30 A.M., CBS, 1934-1937). An interesting event occurred in 1935 when The Gumps program made a premium offer to its listeners. In response they received 5,800 letters with a dime enclosed. When the sacks containing the letters were stolen from their office, they announced the theft on the air and asked all who had responded to the offer to send a card and they would make good on the offer. In the next few weeks the company sent out 12,000 premiums to listeners who claimed to have written earlier (CBS, 1934-1937).

10875 Gundaker, Ed C. Sportscaster (WHP, Harrisburg, PA, 1937-1942; WHP, 1946; Sportlight on Sports, WHP, 1947-1948). Newscaster (WHP, 1941).

10894 Gunsmoke. Norman Macdonnell produced and directed the action-filled adult western program that entertained both children and adults. Music was supplied by Rex Koury. The program starred William Conrad as Matt Dillon, the Marshal of Dodge City, Kansas. His deputy, Chester Proudfoot, was played by Parley Baer. Howard McNear played the town's crusty Doc Adams. Georgia Ellis played Miss Kitty, a saloon girl. From its first broadcast in 1952, until its last in 1961, the writing by John Meston and the acting of the cast was uniformly excellent (30 min., Saturday, 7:30-8:00 P.M., CBS, 1952). By 1954, the adult western drama, sponsored by Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company, was part of a fill for The Lux Radio Theater, which after 20 years on radio had moved to television. The radio cast also included: Harry Bartell, Lawrence Dobkin, Sam Edwards, Joseph Kearns, Vic Perrin and Barney Phillips. The announcers were Roy Rowan, George Fenneman and George Walsh (30 min., Monday, 9:00-9:30 P.M., CBS, 1954).

10895 Gunst, Naomi. Pianist (Naomi Gunst, instr. mus. prg., WJAS, Pittsburgh, PA, 1935).

10931 Gypsy (Elsa Charlotte Musgrove). Gypsy was a contralto who accompanied herself on the piano when she broadcast alone (KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1925). Gypsy, whose maiden name was Elsa Charlotte Kaufman, frequently appeared as part of the Gypsy and Marta singing team. In the 1930s, she appeared alone on her own programs, where she interviewed various stars (Gypsy Personal Close-Ups, 15 min., Wednesday, KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1931). See also Gypsy and Marta.

10932 Gypsy and Marta. A female singing team — Gypsy was Elsa Charlotte Musgrove (Mrs. Harry George Musgrove), the granddaughter of a Polish noble man. She married an American army officer. Marta was Martha Reavy. The contralto (Gypsy) and soprano (Marta) appeared as a team on the Mona Motor Oil Company Program (KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1925; KPO, 30 min., Thursday 11:00–11:30 A.M., 1928–1929).

10933 Gypsy Joe. Gypsy Joe was an excellent 15-minute transcribed show, a production of Jimmy Scribner, who played all the parts on the pleasant program. Gypsy Joe with a dialect marked by a faint trace of a southern accent told his animal stories to a child called "Little One."

One program started this way: "Ah is Gypsy Joe. I've a good story. A long time ago around a gypsy camp they would sometimes be singing and there would be dancing. Sometimes there would be a story and one of the stories they have tell around the gypsy camp for a long time is the one called "The Mosquito Quartet." Gypsy Joe then went on to tell the story. Despite the fractured pronunciation, it was excellent radio for children. Although he was not usually identified, the talented Jimmy Scribner also wrote the program (Transcribed, Various Stations, late 1940s). See also The Johnson Family.

10934 Gypsy Nina. Nina was a soprano who sang and played the accordion on the sustaining program. Billboard identified her as a feminine version of the Street Singer (15 min., Monday, 10:00–10:15 P.M., NBC-Blue and CBS, 1933).

10935 Gypsy Sweetheart. Singer-comedienne Inez Chesterton appeared on the show that mixed good humor with song (15 min., Weekly, WOWO, Fort Wayne, IN, mid-1930s).

10974 Hagenor, Herb. Leader (Herb Hagenor Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WBEN, Buffalo, NY, 1942).

10975 Hager, Kolin. Sometimes designated as "KH," Hager was the manager and chief announcer of station WGY (Schenectady, NY, 1924). He was a prize winning high school orator who developed his linguistic, acting and singing skills at Albany (New York) State Teachers College. Proficient in French, German and Italian, Hagler performed in touring musical productions before entering radio.

While at WGY, Hagler established a school for announcers in 1923. One of his students was H.O. Coggeshall, who later became an announcer at WGY (New York, NY). During his early years at WGY (1921), Hager was at times the victim of too much articulateness without thought. Once after a famous singer finished her song, Hager said, "Miss — has just sung 'All Through the Night.' We will now stand by for distress signals." Needless to say the singer was not amused despite Hager's profuse apologies for his unintended critical comment.

11223 Happy Hal's Housewarming. Peruna Tonic and Color-Bak, manufactured by Drug Trade Products, Inc., sponsored the CW music show with Hal O'Haloran as genial host and hillbilly philosopher. Patsy Montana and the Prairie Ramblers supplied the CW music (30 min., Monday through Saturday, 9:00–9:30 A.M., MBS, New York, NY, 1934).

11224 Happy Hank. CW vcl. mus. prg. by an otherwise unidentified performer (WNAX, Yankton, SD and WHO, Des Moines, IA, 1939).

11225 Happy Hank's Round Up. CW mus. prg. (WTMJ, Milwaukee, WI, 1939).

11226 Happy Hanson Haberdashery Trio. Music on the program was provided by the instrumental trio of Evelyn Jernberg, Henry Riverman and Louise Schroeder. Vocals were by Fred R. Lyon (KFQW, Seattle, WA, 1927).

11227 Happy Hollow. Music, drama and commercials were woven into the on-going events of the daytime serial (KMBC, Kansas City, MO, 1929). When it went on the network, the show included such characters as Aaron and Sarah Peppertag, Aunt Lucinda Skinflint, Uncle Ezra Butternut, Little Douglas Butternut and Charity Grubb (15 min., Monday through Friday, 1:45–2:00 P.M., CBS, 1935).

11228 (The) Happy Homemaker. Ida Bailey Allen conducted her show, one of the most popular women's programs in radio's early years. Carried by both major networks, it was on CBS from 1929 to 1935 and, later, on NBC from 1935 to 1936. See also Allen, Ida Bailey.

11229 (The) Happy Hoosier Harmonists of New Albany, Indiana. Charles Harris directed the orchestra that included Harris, s. and cl.; Carson Bard, p.; Stumpe Meyer, d.; Emil Stein, s.; Kenneth Robison, t.; and Albert Koehler, bj. (WHAS, Louisville, KY, 1924–1925).

11230 Happy Island. Ed Wynn played King Bubbles of Happy Island, who sought to help his people solve their problems on the comedy program. (There also was a King Nasty of Worry Park.) Singers Jerry Wayne and Evelyn Knight not only sang, but also played the roles of Prince Richard and Princess Elaine. Music was by Mark Warnow's Orchestra. The Borden Diary Company sponsored the program (30 min., Friday, 7:00-7:30 P.M., NBC, 1944).

11231 Happy Jack (aka Happy Jack Turner). Vcl. mus. prg. by popular vocalist Turner (15 min., Monday through Friday, 11:00-11:15 A.M., NBC-Red, 1937).

11235 Happy Johnny and Bob. CW vcl. prg. (WORK, York, PA, 1936). The team led by Happy Johnny (John Zufall) specialized in country songs. See also Zufall, John A.

11236 Happy Johnny and Gang. Happy Johnny (John Zufall) led the CW group (WBAL, Baltimore, MD, 1939). The gang later moved to WFMD (Frederick, MD), where they broadcast for years. Happy Johnny re-emerged as a DJ on WBMD (Baltimore, MD) in 1948. See also Zufall, John A.

11237 Happy Landings. Young Mitzi Green starred on the children's daytime serial (WBBM, Chicago, IL, middle 1930s).

11238 Happy Rambler. Veteran performer Irving Kaufman was joined by singer Lucy Allen on the vocal music show that mostly presented old time songs. Sponsor Swift & Company included a cooking talk on each show (15 min., 10:30-10:45 A.M., NBC-Red, 1933).

11239 Happy Rose Dance Orchestra. Instr. mus. prg. (WTIC, Hartford, CT, 1932).

11240 Happy Thought Time. COM-HE Ellen Rose Dickey conducted the women's program. In 1928, she began one program this way: "Hello homemakers and mothers. This is Happy Thought Time at WJJD. I'm going to talk to you about children's diets—about well-balanced meals for those youngsters of ours that are growing so fast, playing and studying so hard and who are often getting far too little sleep" (WJJD, Chicago, IL, 1928).

11241 Happy Trails (aka The Roy Rogers Show). Roy Rogers and Dale Evans were the stars on a program that combined their singing with a dramatic western episode. The show began with the announcement: "The dependable Dodge-Plymouth dealer in your neighborhood, the man who sells and services the elegant new 1954 Dodge, presents the new Roy Rogers radio show. Yes, it's the new Roy Rogers radio show for the whole family—adventure, suspense, mystery and music starring Roy Rogers, King of the Cowboys and Dale Evans, Queen of the West, with Pat Brady and the Mellowmen. And now here to greet you with a song and a story are Roy and Dale."

Art Rush produced and Ralph Rose directed the show. The writers were Ralph Rose and Stanley Adams. Music was arranged and conducted by Frank Worth. Virginia White was the production assistant. The cast included: Jane Webb, Byton Kane, Herb Butterfield, Joe Duval, Colleen Collins, Larry Dobkin, Marvin Miller, Paul Parrott, Tom Holland, Leo Clary, Phil Justine, Jay Novello, Bill Johnstone, Frank Nelson, Jack Crushen, Eddie Marr, Joan Banks, Vic Perrin, Paul McGuire, Paul Frees, Tony Barrett and Parley Baer. Lou Crosby was the announcer (MBS, NBC, 1944-1955).

11242 Happy Vagabond. Jack Arthur (Arthur Campbell), a good baritone, was featured on the program of popular songs and ballads (15 min., Monday through Saturday, 10:15-10:30 P.M., WOR, Newark, NJ, 1932).

11243 Happy Valley Boys. CW mus. prg., by unidentified performers (WCAU, Philadelphia, PA, 1936-1938).

11244 Happy Wonder Bakers. Ed (Edward) Thorgersen was the announcer on the weekly music program sponsored by Wonder Bread. Tenor Frank Parker and pianist Frank Black, who also conducted the orchestra, were featured. Sigmund Spaeth was the program host (30 min 8:30-9:00 P.M., NBC-Red Network, 1929-1931). A later format of the program featured Phil Duey, Frank Luther, Pack Parker and Vivian Roth (15 min., Monday-Wednesday-Friday, 8:00-8:15 P.M., CBS, 1934).

11245 Har, Ted. Baritone (Ted Har, vcl. mus. prg., WKAR, East Lansing, MI, 1942).

11246 Harber, Harry. Newscaster (WFAA, Dallas, TX, 1946).

11247 Harbman, Harry. Violinist (Harry Harbman, instr. mus. prg. (MBS, 1942).

11248 Harbor Lights. Burr C. Cook wrote the weekly dramatic sketch that told about Captain Jimmy Norton and his young friend, Joe. The Captain spun yarns with bells tolling and ship whistles blowing in the background to provide a maritime atmosphere. Jim Lewis and Fred Hathaway were featured in the cast. Raymond Carter was the announcer.

The show presented a "play within a play," since each week the program opened and closed with a ferry-boat scene. The opening announcement went this way: "The Harbor Lights. Once again we go aboard the old New York ferry boat to meet white-haired Captain Jimmy Norton and his young friend, Joe, and hear another of the captain's famous stories of the clipper ships and high adventure. All aboard." The show was consistently a popular network drama (Tuesday, 10:00-10:30 P.M., NBC-Red, 1929-1931).

11249 (The Harbor We Seek. In late 1945, station WSB began a series of programs to explore the problems of youth, combat intolerance and prejudice and all anti-American activities. Brad Crandall wrote and directed this Peabody Award winning program (WSB, Atlanta, GA, 1945)

11250 Harbrecht, Bill. Leader (Bill Harbrecht Orchestra, WHAZ, Troy, NY, 1927).

11251 Hard, Anne. Newscaster Hard broadcast her Current Events program five times weekly (9:45-10:00 A.M., WEAJ, New York, NY, 1933).

11252 Hard, William. News analyst Hard discussed Washington doings on his Back of the News in Washington program (15 min., Wednesday, 7:45-8:00 P.M., NBC-Red, 1930-1931). Newspaper correspondent Hard was one of radio's earliest political analysts. Later on his William Hard program, he provided news analysis with an emphasis on political commentary (CBS, 1936).

11253 Harden and Weaver (Frank Harden and Jackson Weaver). The early morning team was an entertaining and innovative pair that combined intelligent talk, recorded music and good humor (WMAL, Washington, DC, 1960). Harden and Weaver began broadcasting in 1960 and continued for more than 25 years in Washington, DC. Harden and Weaver replaced Bill Malone as the WMAL morning men in March, 1960. The forerunner of the Harden and Weaver Show was a 15-minute ABC network evening show that had a brief run in the mid-1950s known as Frank and Jackson. Harden and Weaver's warm hearted and gentle humor included skits, jokes and many dialects. Among the characters they created were: gardening expert Phil Dirt; poet Percy Dovehearts, field reporter Chuck Roast; and musicologist Dr. Headcold. When the team began their early morning DJ show in 1960, they were one of the last reminders of radio's golden age. Although great Washington favorites, they failed to achieve the national recognition accorded the popular WRC (Washington, DC) The Joy Boys show of Eddie Walker and Willard Scott. See also The Joy Boys.

11254 Harden, Reginald. Newscaster (WMVA, Martinsville, WV, 1941).

11255 Harder, Jack. Newscaster (WAYX, Waycross, GA, 1942).

After becoming a successful professional singer who performed at Carnegie Hall, he became an announcer at WPCH (Atlantic City, NJ, 1926). He then moved to New York (WFBH, New York, NY, 1926) and, eventually, joined the NBC staff in 1928.
- It was at Carnegie Hall that Havrilla was "discovered" by Graham McNamee. The famous announcer was so impressed with Havrilla's voice that he invited him to come to New York for the audition that resulted in a position on the NBC announcing staff. Havrilla later became a busy newscaster (WOR, New York, NY, 1941; WHOM, New York, NY, 1944; and WOR, 1945). He also appeared as an announcer on many network programs.
- 11537 Hawaii Calls. Webley Edwards produced, directed and narrated the long-running popular program of Hawaiian music. Beginning in 1945 on MBS, the program was broadcast by the network into the early 1960s. By 1953, Hawaii Calls was carried by more stations than any other radio program. It claimed 600 stations on MBS, Canadian Dominion Network, Australian Network, AFPS Network and by shortwave to Asia, South Africa, Oceania and the Voice of Freedom to Europe. In 1955, on its 20th anniversary the program's format was still unchanged. The anniversary broadcast originated from the Hotel Moana before an audience of hundreds of visitors. See also Edwards, Webley.
- 11538 (The) Hawaiian Beach Boys. Ray Canfield led the orchestra that broadcast from Los Angeles (KFI, Los Angeles, CA; KECA, Los Angeles, CA, 1931).
- 11539 (The) Hawaiian Beachcombers Orchestra. Marshall Storey directed the Hawaiian music group (KSTP, Minneapolis-St. Paul, MN, 1928).
- 11540 Hawaiian Entertainers. Merle K. Bennett directed the music group that included:

C.M. Smith, G.K. Brewer, and Solomon M. Kawai (KFH, Wichita, KS, 1926).

11541 Hawaiian Fantasy. Instr. mus. prg. of Hawaiian music performed by unidentified musicians (WIP, Philadelphia, PA, 1935).

11542 Hawaiian Orchestra of Benton [Arkansas]. Lloyd F. Nickelson directed the Hawaiian music group (Weekly, Friday P.M., KTHS, Hot Springs National Park, AR, 1931).

11543 Hawaiian Quintet. Instrumental music group consisting of Frank Plada, Mrs. Frank Plada, Merritt Lamb, Joseph Scabbares and Clarence Young, (WHAS, Louisville, KY, 1924).

11544 Hawaiian Serenaders. A vocal team (May Conley and June Berord) broadcast with the Serenaders, a two-man instrumental team (WOBV, Charleston, WV, 1928).

11545 Hawaiian Sextet. Steel guitarist Frank Plada directed the music group (WHAS, Louisville, KY, 1925).

11546 Hawaiian Shadows. Norman Brokenshire narrated the music program surrounded, as a periodical of the time said, "by ukuleles, grass attire and soft melodies" (Christian Science Monitor, August 9, 1929, p.6). The program was broadcast by CBS in 1929.

11547 Hawaiian Trio. Mr. C.F. Kaygne directed the instrumental music group (WBZ, Springfield, MA, 1925).

11548 Hawaiian Trio. Minyan, Coral and Samuel Hallele were the members of the instrumental trio (KMA, Shenandoah, IA, 1928).

11549 The Hawaiians Orchestra. Instr. mus. prg. (WGY, Schenectady, NY, 1935).

11550 Hawis, A.M. Tenor (KYW, Chicago, IL, 1925).

11551 Hawk, Helen. Pianist (WJAZ, Chicago, IL, 1923).

11552 Hawk, Robert "Bob." Hawk began his early morning program with, "Hear Ye! Hear Ye!" Before doing the morning show on WJJD (Chicago, IL, 1929), Hawk had worked at WMBB (Chicago, IL). He later gained national prominence as an outstanding radio quizmaster on the Bob Hawk Show, Thanks to the Yanks and the Take It or Leave It programs.

11553 Hawk Durango. On the western action drama Elliot Lewis played the role of a wanderer, who finally settled down as a businessman in his father's old saloon. The program was a summer replacement for Maisie. Barton Yarborough, I ucien Littlefield, Frank Lovejoy, Junius Matthews, Dorothy Peterson and Martha Wentworth were in the cast. Kenneth Perkins wrote and William N. Robson produced and directed the interesting western program. Music was provided by Wilbur Hatch's Orchestra (30 min., Friday, 10:30-11:00 P.M. CBS, 1946). The following year the program's format, including the characters, plot and name, was changed to Hawk Larabee. See also Hawk Larabee.

11554 Hawk Larabee. This program underwent several interesting transformations. It began as Hawk Durango before the title and plot were altered to become Hawk Larabee. In the latter format, Barton Yarborough, formerly the lead's sidekick, played the title role and owner of the Black Mesa ranch. Barney Phillips played his comic sidekick, Somber Jones. The show was memorable for its opening of Hawk's whistle and the cry, "The Hawk is on the wing" and the use of musical bridges sung by Bob Crawford, Tookie Croenbold, Fran Mahoney and Rod May. Later the bridges were sung by Andy Parker and the Plainsmen. The program was produced and directed by William Robson. The program in its new format was also short-lived (CBS, 1947-1948).

11555 Hawkins, Arnold. DJ (Western Shindig, KCRT, Trinidad, CO, 1954).

11556 Hawkins, Erskine. Leader (Erskine Hawkins Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., NBC, 1934-1935; 1937-1940). Trumpet virtuoso Hawkins was billed as "The Twentieth Century Gabriel."

11557 Hawkins, Frederick E. Announcer (WEEI, Boston, MA, 1928).

11558 Hawkins, Happy. Leader (Happy Hawkins and his Grand Gardens Orchestra, WEEI, Boston, MA, 1925).

11559 Hawkins, Jack. Newscaster (News Roundup, KIUN, Pecos, TX, 1947). Sports caster (KIUN, 1947-1949).

11560 Hawkins, Jesse [Jess]. Leader (Jesse Hawkins Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., NBC, 1935-1936).

11561 Hawkins, Lloyd. Newscaster (KBST, Big Springs, TX, 1946).

11562 Hawkins, Robert. Newscaster (WKAN, Kankakee, IL, 1947-1948).

11563 Hawkins, Tom. DJ (Happy Hour, WFBR, Baltimore, MD, 1949).

11564 Hawkins, Vern. Sports caster (KWTO, Springfield, MO, 1953-1956; Spotlight on Sports, KWTO, 1960).

11565 Hawkinson, Frank. Newscaster (KADA, Ada, OK, 1939; KGEF, Shawnee, OK, 1940).

11566 Hawley, Bill, and Puss Donahoo. A comedy singing team. Hawley and Donahoo were featured on a popular evening program (KFRC, San Francisco, CA, 1926).

11567 Hawley, Joe. Hawley was billed as Joe Hawley and his Triple Guitar (KFQZ, Hollywood, CA, 1926).

11568 Hawley, Mark. Newscaster (WOR, Newark, NJ, 1935-1938; Transradio News, WOR, 1939; CBS, 1941).

11569 Haworth, Carl. Entertainer Haworth was known as "The Singing Banjoist" (KHQ, Spokane, WA, 1928).

11570 Hawthorne, Jim. DJ (The Hawthorne Thing, ABC, 1948-1950). On the program sponsored by Regal Beer, Hawthorne played records and mixed bits of his zany humor with the music (KECA, Los Angeles, CA, 1948).

11571 Hawthorne House. Pearl King Tanner played the leading role of a once wealthy widow, Mrs. Sherwood, on the daytime serial sponsored by the Snow Drift Company. Widow Sherwood defied the difficult Depression times by turning her home into a boarding house. She had two children, Mel, 19, played by Frank Provo, and Marietta, 15, played by Helen Troy. Among the Widow Sherwood's interesting boarders were Barbara Jo Allen, later famous as Vera Vague, a post-graduate sociology student; Grandma Liston, a sharp-tongued octogenarian, played by Olive West, and her daughter, Lois Liston, played by Natalie Park. Eventually, there arrived upon the scene a hungry would-be author played by John Pickard, who took a romantic interest in Lois. The program's cast members also included: Billie Byers, Bobbie Dean, Donald Dudley, Sam Edwards, Florida Edwards, Eddie Firestone, Jr., Charles Gerard, Don Holloway, Bert Horton, Jack Kirkwood, Earl Lee, Dixie Marsh, Ted Maxwell, Monty Mohn, Jack Moyles, Natalie Park, John Pickard, Ruth Sprague, Pearl King Tanner and Lou Tobin. The program's writers were Ray Buffum, David Drummond and Cameron Prud'Homme (30 min., Monday, 9:30-10:00 A.M., PST, NBC, 1935).

11572 Hawthorne - TBA. Jim Hawthorne was featured on his sustaining comedy show with music by Robert Armbruster. Hawthorne and Dick Pedicini wrote the show and Art Jacobsen was the director. The announcer was John Storm (30 min., Saturday, 7:00-7:30 P.M., NBC, 1953).

11573 Hawthorne's Adventures. Jim Hawthorne, who Variety called a toned down Henry Morgan, hosted the mixture of jokes, comedy sketches and music. Also on the sustaining show with him were: Johnny April, Parker Cornell, Dennis Day and Ike Carpenter. Owen James was the announcer (30 min., Saturday, 7:30-8:00 P.M., ABC, 1948).

11574 Hay, Beverly. COM-HE (KIST, Santa Barbara, CA, 1957).

11575 Hay, George Dewey. An announcer known as "The Solemn Old Judge," Hay received that nickname when he wrote a by-lined column called "Howdy Judge" for the Memphis Commercial Appeal, where he worked as police beat reporter. In 1923 when the Commercial Appeal founded station WMC (Memphis, TN), Hay was appointed "Radio Editor."

In 1924, Hay moved to WLS (Chicago, IL) for $75 a week to create and develop The National Barn Dance. His trademark was the sound of a railroad whistle and the line, "WLS Unlimited." Hay's station break announcements also were legendary. "WLS, the Sears-Roebuck Station, Chicago," with the last word prolonged and accented by a blend of southern and midwestern pronunciation. He was the winner of Radio Digest's 1924 Gold Cup for Best Announcer (WLS, Chicago, IL).

Hay moved to station WSM (Nashville, TN) late in 1925, where he developed another country music show that met with great success, the Grand Ole Opry that is still running (1998). Once more Hay used a steamboat whistle as a trademark as he had done previously when he had worked at WMC. He once remarked,

"Then it wasn't so much what you could put on the air, as how far you could hear it." See also Grand Ole Opry.

11576 Hay, James. Flutist (KSD, St. Louis, MO, 1923).

11577 Hay, (Mrs.) William G. "Bill." Pianist (KFKX, Hastings, NE, 1923).

11578 Hay, William G. "Bill." Announcer Hay was born in Dumfries, Scotland. He came to the United States in 1909. Hay began the study of the violin at the age of seven and received vocal training at seventeen. When station KFKX (Hastings, NE) began operation, Hay was the sales manager and treasurer at a Hastings' piano store. After the store gave the station a piano, Hay began announcing, singing, playing, directing choral groups and arranging programs. Later moving to WGN, Chicago, IL, he met Gosden and Correll, who were then performing as Sam 'n' Henry, and began announcing their program. Hay became general manager of WGN, before going to WMAQ, Chicago, IL, where Amos 'n' Andy was created. Bill Hay once more became Gosden and Correll's announcer and continued in that role at WMAQ during the program's greatest years. Hay, along with Gosden and Correll as Amos 'n' Andy went on the NBC-Red Network in 1929. Although he did other work, Hay's fame was inexorably linked with the Amos 'n' Andy program. Later, Hay conducted his own program, Bill Hay Reads the Bible (WLAV, Grand Rapids, MI, 1942).

11579 (The) Hay Mow Five. Popular mid-western CW group (KSO, Clarinda, IA, 1928).

11580 Hayden, (Miss) Augusta. Lyric soprano (KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1923).

11659 Healy (Marion) and Jolley (Grace). Twin piano team (WGR, Buffalo, NY, 1926).

11660 Hear It Now. Edward R. Murrow and Fred W. Friendly produced and wrote the sustaining current affairs program that premiered in 1951. Broadcast crews traveled all over the country to interview news makers and report current events (60 min., Friday, 9:00-10:00 P.M., CBS, 1951). This was little more than an attempt to improve on the old March of Time concept by using actual recordings of persons and events. Murrow and Friendly previously had combined to produce an excellent series of audio history on three Hear It Now LP recordings. Unfortunately, the radio program seldom lived up to the recorded audio history set.

11661 Hearn, F.D. "Chick." Sports caster and football play-by-play (WMRO, Aurora, IL, 1947; "Chick" Hearn on Sports, WEEK, Peoria, IL, 1951-1955; KRCA, Los Angeles, CA, 1960).

11662 Hearne, Ben. Harmonica soloist from Palestine, TX (WFAA, Dallas, TX, 1923).

11663 Hearne, Nicholas, Jr. Pianist (KHJ, Los Angeles, CA, 1926).

11664 Hearst, John Randolph. News commentator (John Randolph Hearst, News Commentary, MBS, 1955). John Randolph Hearst was the son of media mogul, William Randolph Hearst, one of the giants of American news and entertainment. Although personally thought of as a press lord with his chain of newspapers, William Randolph Hearst also owned 11 radio stations and a motion picture company that eventually merged with the Metro-Goldman Picture Company.

William Randolph Hearst combined all three phases of his business by promoting two of his most popular radio personalities — Adela Rogers St. John, an excellent newspaper reporter, and Hollywood columnist Louella Parsons. St. John and Parsons both broadcast regularly on network radio, indirectly promoting Hearst papers and motion pictures.

11665 Heart Songs. Lois and Reuben Bergstrom were the romantic singing team on the weekly music show (15 min., Weekly, 8:30-8:45 A.M. CST, WLS, Chicago, IL, 1935).

11666 Heart Songs. John Paul Goodman read romantic poetry to the musical background of pianist Dwight Brown (15 min., Sunday, 9:15-9:30 P.M. KTTSA, San Antonio, TX, 1946).

11667 Heart Throbs of the Hills. Ethel Park Richardson produced and wrote the interesting program that presented dramatized versions of various folk songs. Elton Britt often sang the songs (30 min., Sunday 9:30-10:00 P.M., WJZ-Blue, 1934).

11668 Heartbeat Theater. C.P. MacGregor hosted the dramatic program until his death in 1968, when he was succeeded by Marvin Miller. The program was produced and transcribed by the C.P. MacGregor Studios for the Salvation Army. Each week the story presented had a strong inspirational theme. Among the many talented actors who appeared in the long running series were: Parley Baer, Bret Morrison, Frank Nelson, Alice Reinheart, Janel Waldo, Jim Boles, Daws Butler, Tommy Cook, Hans Conreid, John Dehner, Joe DiSantis, Lou Krugman, Tyler McVey, Harold Peary, Vic Perrin, Alan Reed, Mike Rye, Olan Soule, Les Tremayne, Herb Vigran, Alice Backes, Jeanette Nolan and Lurene Tuttle.

11669 Hearts in Harmony. Martha Atwell directed the daytime serial that told the story of a World War II female volunteer entertainer in a USO Club. Although some action was set in the club, the stories also contained outside activities. There was a strong patriotic message contained in almost every program. Songs in the club were performed by Bob Hanna and Anne Marlowe, who was the singing voice of the heroine, played by Jone Allison. The club's pianist was Vic Arden. Other cast members were: King Calder, Bill Lipton, Ellen Maher, George Matthews, Bill Redfield, Bob Walker and Alice Yourman. Ed Herlihy was the announcer. Kroger's Tender Grade A Beef was the program's sponsor (15 min., Monday through Friday, World War II era).

11670 Heartsill, Francis P. Bass (WRC, Washington, DC, 1924).

11671 Heath, Harold. Sports caster and sports play-by-play broadcaster (WOC, Davenport, IA, 1949).

11672 Heath, (Mrs.) Julian. Mrs. Heath broadcast daily menus for her women listeners (WJZ, New York, NY, 1924-1925). She later conducted a daily cooking program (WJZ, 1928).

11673 Heath, Mickey. Sports caster and Milwaukee Brewers baseball play-by-play broadcaster (WEMP, Milwaukee, WI, 1947-1949).

11674 Heather, Oscar. Tenor (WHF, Decatur, IL, 1925). Assistant announcer (WENR, Chicago, IL; WBCN, Chicago, IL, 1928).

11675 Heatherton, Ray. Baritone (Ray Heatherton, vcl. mus. prg., NBC, 1933-1935). Heatherton later became a DJ and interviewed guests on his Heatherton House program. Russ Dunbar was his announcer (30 min., Sunday, 12:00-12:30 P.M., WOR, New York, NY, 1951).

11676 Heatter, Basil. Newscaster (WOR, Newark, NJ, 1954). Basil was the son of Gabriel Heatter.

11677 Heatter, Gabriel. News commentator (Gabriel Heatter, WOR, Newark, NJ, 1933-1934; WLS, Chicago, IL, 1938; Borden's Home News, NBC, 1938; We the People, CBS, 1938-1940; Peter Paul Presents, WOR, 1939; MBS, 1940–1941; MBS-WOR, 1942–1944; Behind the Front Page, MBS-WOR, 1944–1947, Behind the Front Page and Heatter's Mailbag, MBS, 1949–1960).

After first writing for periodicals, Heatter was invited to debate socialist Norman Thomas on WMCA (New York, NY) in 1932. This led to him accepting a job as a daily 15-minute news commentator on that station. The following year he went to work for WOR (New York, NY) as a news commentator and gained prominence for his broadcasts on the Mutual Broadcasting System at the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, the kidnaper of the Lindberg baby. Heatter became even better known when he became host of the We the People program. See also We the People.

Gabriel Heatter is best remembered for his efforts at morale building during World War II. He always seemed to find some little item of cheer even in the war's darkest days, so that he could begin his program each evening, "Good evening, everyone. There's good news tonight." Although clearly a cheer leading propagandist, Heatter contributed greatly to civilian morale. He continued broadcasting until 1965, when at age 75 he gave up his regular MBS news broadcast.

11678 Heaven and Home Hour. Clarence Erickson created and conducted the religious program in Glendale, California, in the 1930s. The host of the program was Russell Kilam. The 30-minute program was still on the air in the 1990s.

11778 Henderson, Tom. Newscaster (WHJB, Greensburg, PA, 1947).

11779 Henderson, W.K. ("Old Man" Henderson). Station owner-announcer Henderson bought a share in WGAQ, a 250-watts station, located in Shreveport, Louisiana when it went on the air in 1923. He soon bought out his other partners and brought the station to prominence with its new call letters — KWKH. His station won the Radio Digest Gold Cup as the country's most popular station in 1930.

Henderson opened his programs with such greetings as: "Hello, world. This is KWKH at Shreveport, Louisiana. Don't go away." And: "Hello world, W.K. Henderson speaking. Dog-gone your buttons." His strong protest broadcasts against chain stores and other "enemies of the people" brought him the nicknames of "Old Man Henderson" and the "Shreveport War Horse." He also fought for the "recognition of the South," and "...a fair and equitable distribution as to radio stations, wave lengths and power throughout the United States and not for any certain part of the country." See also Stations — Growth and Development.

11780 Henderson, Winston. Newscaster (WOL, Ames, IA, 1941).

11781 Hendra, Christopher. Tenor (WIBO, Chicago, IL, 1926).

11782 Hendre, Alice J. Pianist (WPG, Atlantic City, NJ, 1925).

11787 Hendrie, Hubert. Baritone (Hubert Hendrie, vcl. mus. prg., CBS, 1936).

11788 Hendrik Willem Van Loon. Popular author Van Loon discussed various topics of general interest on his program. His wide range of knowledge and clarity of expression made the program an excellent example of how intellectually stimulating radio could be. Van Loon's "air-storming" included perceptive discussions of such disparate personalities as Hitler, Mussolini and Isaac Newton (15 min., Sunday, 7:45–8:00 P.M., NBC, 1935). One example of Van Loon's commentary is the opening of his June 6, 1935, broadcast: "A great English physicist once compared life to a game of chess. Some had complained to him that life was not fair and that Nature was not fair and nothing was fair in the universe anyway. To which he answered (and he was quite right) that life and Nature were both of them eminently fair, just like the game of chess. At times both of them seem to be downright unfair and cruel, for they had no respect whatsoever for the individual. But they were never unfair, in the true sense of the word, because the rules according to which they operated were the same for all of us, for high and for low, for poor and for rich, for the stupid and the bright. It was, however, up to us to acquaint ourselves with those rules." Later in the broadcast he concluded: "Nature is not interested in alibis. Nature is only interested in facts. She plays the game according to the rules, but expects you to do the same. If you fail to know the rules, well, that is just too bad, for then you will be very much out of luck. If you insist upon sitting down on a hot stove, you must also expect a few blisters and that is that, as far as Nature is concerned."

11789 Hendrix, Cliff. Newscaster (KGHF, Pueblo, CO, 1945). DJ (Rise and Shine, KC/SJ, Pueblo, CO, 1949–1952).

11790 Hendrix, Jim. Newscaster (WAPO, Chattanooga, TN, 1941–1942).

11791 Hendrix College Troubadours. The Troubadours were a talented 22-piece college band (KGHI, Little Rock, AR, 1929).

11792 Hendry, Bob. Singer of Scots' songs (WLS, Chicago, IL, 1928).

11793 Henle, Ray. Newscaster (WOL, Washington, DC and NBC-Blue, 1944–1947; NBC, 1948).

11817 Henry, Tal. Leader (Tal Henry Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WBIG, Greensboro, NC, 1939).

11818 Henry and Jerome. Vcl. mus. prg., by male vocal team that was not otherwise identified (WIBW, Topeka, KS, 1939).

11819 Henry Burr's Book of Ballads. Popular tenor Burr sang his favorite ballads, mostly of the old-fashioned type, on the popular music show (15 min., Tuesday, 11:15–11:30 A.M., WLS, Chicago, IL, 1935–1936). See also Burr, Henry and The National Barn Dance.

11820 (The) Henry Ford Old-Time Dance Orchestra. Traditional music group (WOOD, Grand Rapids, MI, 1926).

11821 Henry George Program (aka Henry and George). Don Clark and Dave Elman wrote and performed on the program of one-minute dramas and comedies with dance music presented in the format of a traveling troupe headed by two bellboys, Henry and George. Primarily, this was a blackface comedy show with Georgia Backus, Brad Browne, Don Clark, Dave Elman and Harriet Lee in the cast. Maudie, the cigar counter girl was played by Harriet Lee. Don, the house detective, was played by Brad Browne (30 min., Monday, 9:00–9:30 P.M., CBS, 1929–1930).

11822 Henry Hornsbuckle and Hiram Higsby. The team played CW music, sang and told jokes. Hornsbuckle was Merle Housh, who also played guitar. Higsby was Truman Wilder, who played harmonica (WIBW, Topeka, KS, 1927). The team moved to station WLS, Chicago, IL, in 1928.

11823 (The) Henry Morgan Show. Before comedian Morgan starred on this network program, he appeared on New York local radio on WOR, Newark, NJ and the NBC-Blue network with his creative Meet Mr. Morgan and Here's Morgan programs. On local radio, Morgan was best known for his insulting and insightful humor. On the network shows, his humor tended to grow from skits and a situation comedy format. After a short run on ABC (30 min., Weekly, ABC, 1946-1947), the Henry Morgan Show was broadcast by NBC from 1949 to 1950. In its various formats, the program's cast included: Art Carney, Betty Garde, Maurice Gosfield, Florence Halop, Durward Kirby, Madaline Lee, Alice Pearce, Minerva Pious and Arnold Stang. Carroll Moore, Jr., Henry Morgan, Aaron Ruben and Joe Stein were the writers and Charles Powers the director. Music was provided by the Bernie Green Orchestra and the Billy Williams vocal group. The announcers were Art Ballinger, Ben Grauer, Ed Herlihy, Charles Irving, David Ross and Dan Seymour. See also Here's Morgan and Comedy and Humor.

11824 Henry's Exchange. Henry Hornsbuckle (Merle Housh) conducted the quarter-hour program of household hints. Henry claimed that he was the only male on radio broadcasting household hints. During one three-week period, he received 13,3562 letters with household hints included. One of his listeners, in fact, sent him 256 hints that had been gathered by three generations of her family (15 min., Monday through Friday, WLS, Chicago, IL, 1939).

11825 Henry's Store. Young George Gobel sang, played guitar and performed comic bits on the weekly show. Patsy Montana and the Hired Hands CW music group also performed (15 min., Saturday, 8:45-9:00 P.M., WLS, Chicago, IL, 1937).

11826 Hensley, Joan. COM-HIE (WTLB, Utica, NY, 1957).

11827 Henson, Doug. DJ (Jive Til Five, WMVG, Milledgeville, GA, 1947; 7:30 Local, WJMJ, Philadelphia, PA, 1949; WTEL, Philadelphia, PA, 1950; Wake Up and Smile, WJMJ, 1954). Sportscaster (WJMJ, 1952; Speedway, WJMJ, 1954-1956).

11828 Henson, Fred C. Newscaster (WMT, Cedar Rapids, IA and KRNT-KSO, Des Moines, IA, 1945).

11829 Henson, Russell. Newscaster (Time for the News, WCTT, Corbin, KY, 1948).

11830 Hentoff, Nat. DJ (Jazz expert Hentoff broadcast his critical comment on the music and played the best, WMEX, Boston, MA, 1949).

11831 Henton, Earl. Newscaster (10 O'Clock News, WEBC, Duluth, MN, 1947-1948).

11832 (The) Hep Cat (aka The Tom Cat). DJ not otherwise identified (KFTI, Centralia, WA, 50s).

11833 Hepner, Arthur. Newscaster (CBS, 1947-1948).

11834 Her Honor, Nancy James. First broadcast in 1938 on CBS, the daytime serial focused on a female judge in a large city's Court of Common Problems. Barbara Weeks played the title role of Judge Nancy James. Her life was often complicated by the activities of the city's mayor and the District Attorney. Also in the program's cast were: Joan Banks, Joseph Curtin, Michael Fitzmaurice, Maurice Franklin, Janice Gilbert, James Gilbert, Basil Loughrane, Claire Niesen, Alice Reinheart, Chester Stratton, Kay Strozzi, Barbara Weeks and Ned Wever (CBS, 1938-1939).

11835 Heramin, Lucille. Contralto (WEBJ, New York, NY, 1926).

11836 (The) Herald Reporter. The weekly drama was sponsored by the Ontario Electric Corporation. Each week the program presented a young newspaper reporter named Jimmy, who was unable to find a suitable topic for a story. In order to solve his problem, he would visit Mrs. Henry Russell, an old friend of his family. Mrs. Russell, an experienced homemaker, was able to work a wealth of information and many commercial plugs into their conversation. Ham Woodle created the role of Jimmy, later played by Leo Eagen. Mrs. Russell's role was played by Helen Cawthorn. Al Zink produced and Mary Dixon wrote the interesting local show (15 min., Monday, 1:30-1:45 P.M., WENR, Chicago, IL, 1938).

11837 (The) Herb Oscar Anderson Show. ABC inaugurated Anderson's show on Labor Day, Monday September 2, 1957, in order to "get some excitement into radio again." Herb Oscar Anderson hosted the "live" music show that featured the Ralph Hermann's Orchestra, singer Carole Bennett and the Satisfiers vocal group. Glenn Riggs was the announcer (60 min., Monday through Friday, 10:00-11:00 A.M., ABC, 1957).

11838 (The) Herb Sheldon Show. The genial humor of comedian Sheldon was the most entertaining part of the variety show. Unidentified vocalist and musicians appeared with Sheldon (25 min., Monday through Friday, 12:45-1:00 P.M., 1949).

Herb Shriner Time see Alka-Seltzer Time

11839 Herbeck, Ray. Leader (Ray Herbeck Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., CBS, 1935; WCAE, Pittsburgh, PA, 1939; CBS, 1940; NBC, 1942).

11840 Herbert, Arthur. Leader (Arthur Herbert Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WDEL, Wilmington, DE, 1939).

11841 Herbert, Evelyn. Opera prima donna (WEAF, New York, NY, 1923; WOR, Newark, NJ, 1929).

11842 Herbert, Jasper. Newscaster (WHHM, Memphis, TN, 1946).

11843 Herbert, (Mrs.) T.L. Pianist (WSM, Nashville, TN, 1928).

11844 Herbert, Victor. Leader (Victor Herbert's Cosmopolitan Theater Orchestra, WJZ, New York, NY, 1923). The great operetta composer (Naughty Marietta, Babes in Toyland, Mlle. Modiste, etc.) appeared on early radio as conductor of his own orchestra.

11845 Herbert, William. Newscaster (WCHS, Charleston, WV, 1938).

11846 Herbert's Diamond Entertainers [Orchestra]. Will Osborne led the band that Variety said sounded very much like Rudy Vallee's. The program was sponsored by Herbert's, a Harlem jewelry company (WABC, New York, NY, 1929).

11847 Herbubeaux, Jules J. Leader (Jules Herbubeaux Orchestra, WCFL, Chicago, IL, 1927). Two years later the entertaining band included such talented musicians as saxophonists Don and Joe Mangano and trumpeter Rex Mauphin (KYW, Chicago, IL, 1929).

11848 Hercule Poirot. Among mystery author Agatha Christie's many fictional creations, none was more fascinating and entertaining than her five-foot, four-inch mustached Belgian detective, Hercule Poirot. When he used his "little grey cells," Poirot's detective powers were brilliantly displayed. Often depicted in motion pictures and on television, Poirot's radio run was relatively brief. For the radio series he was relocated from his usual London locale and placed in New York City. Harold Huber portrayed the great detective in 1945 on the MBS series of half-hour programs that presented a complete story each week. The program was directed by Cecil Eastman (30 min., Thursday, MBS, 1945).

11849 Here Comes Louis Jordan. Jazzman Louis Jordan and his Tympani Five were featured on the transcribed show carried by 56 stations. Also appearing with the group on the program were such talented African-American performers as the Mills Brothers, Josh White, Dorothy Donegan, the Delta Rhythm Boys and comedian Pigmeat Markham (15 min., Transcribed, Various Stations, 1946).

11850 Hereford, Bob. Newscaster (WIL, St. Louis, MO, 1941).

11851 Here's Harriet. Newspaper columnist Harriet Van Horne talked about New York life and times on her weekly show (10 min., Saturday, WJZ, New York, NY, 1947).

11852 Here's Heidi. Heidi Mayer told stories for children on her weekly program (25 min., Sunday, 8:30-8:55 P.M., WNYC, New York, NY, 1947).

11853 Here's Morgan. Sardonic comedian Henry Morgan starred on this funny program. He was assisted by Ralph Bell, Maurice Gosfield, Charles Irving, Madeline Lee, Louis Neistat, Arnold Stang and Susan D'Usseau. Singer Elton Britt and Ross Gorman's Orchestra provided the music (30 min., Tuesday, 8:30-9:00 P.M., NBC-Blue, 1946).

Before World War II, Henry Morgan had a 15-minute show on WOR, also called Here's Morgan, on which his biting humor was the major element. None of Morgan's post-war programs equaled the popularity of his earlier Here's Morgan show. The original Here's Morgan program was broadcast by WOR from 1940 to 1943.

Henry Morgan (Henry Lerner von Ost, Jr.) started his radio career as an announcer. His first program—Meet Mr. Morgan—was carried by WOR in 1940. He first gained national attention, however, with his 15-minute evening show, Here's Morgan, broadcast Monday through Saturday. Morgan combined his zany, acerbic humor with odd recordings and a liberal dose of sponsor baiting to gain a large following. In many respects, Morgan was a forerunner of Jean Shepherd, although the latter's satire was much gentler in tone.

One of Morgan's early sponsors was Adler's Elevator Shoes, and "Old Man Adler" was a frequent target of the comedian's barbs. Here's Morgan left the air in 1943 when he entered military service. After leaving service, Morgan went to work for WJZ (New York, NY), before beginning his Henry Morgan Show on ABC. See also Comedy and Humor and The Henry Morgan Show.

11854 Here's to Veterans. A transcribed program, Here's to Veterans was used by the Veterans Administration to provide veterans with information they needed. The program featured musicians, singers and bands that were the greatest performers radio had to offer: George Hamilton IV, Guy Lombardo, Eddie Heywood, Frank Sinatra, Jerry Gray, Lou Rawls, Buck Owens, Nancy Wilson, Tommy Leonetti, Josh White, Jr., Andy Russell, Helen Reddy, Dale Evans, Lawrence Welk, Miles Davis, Vikki Case, Stan Kenton, Art Tatum, Duke Ellington, Charlie Barnet, Jack Benny, Butts and Allen, Kid Ory, Les Baxter, Tex Beneke, Nellie Lutcher, Nelson Eddy, Carmen Cavallaro, Eddie Condon, Chuck Foster, Eddie Dean, Ralph Flanagan, Louis Armstrong, Gordon Jenkins, the Three Suns, Mitch Miller, Firehouse Five Plus Two, Merle Travis, George Auld, the Four Knights, Eartha Kitt, Henri Rene, Les Brown, Eddy Howard, Hugo Winterhalter, Johnny Ray, Beb Hope, Ralph Marterie, Nelson Riddle, the Skylarks, Joe Lilley, Anna Maria Albergheggi and Billy May (15 min., Transcribed, Various Stations, 1940s through 1960).

11855 Herget, Joe. Newscaster (WCHS, Charleston, WV, 1939-1942).

11856 Herlihy, Ed. Newscaster (NBC, 1947-1948). Newscaster Herlihy also enjoyed a long distinguished career as an NBC announcer. He was a longtime spokesman for Kraft Foods.

11857 Herling, Elmer. Baritone (KPO, San Francisco, CA, 1927-1928).

11858 Herman, Charles. Newscaster (One O'Clock News, WLAV, Grand Rapids, MI, 1947). DJ (Music for Milady, WLAV, 1947).

11859 Herman, Dave. Leader (Dave Herman Cinderella Orchestra broadcasting from New York City's Cinderella Ballroom, WOR, Newark, NJ, 1924-1925; Dave Herman Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WOR, Newark, NJ, 1935).

11861 Herman, Milton. Actor Herman was born May 12, 1896. His first radio work was on W11N (New York, NY, 1926).

11862 Herman, Pete. Leader (Pete Herman Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WMEX, Boston, MA, 1939).

11863 Herman, Sam. Herman was a marimba "stylist" who performed on all the New York stations in 1928 (Sam Herman, instr. mus. prg. with xylophonist Herman, 15 min., Sunday, 11:45-12:00 midnight, NBC-Red, 1930).

11864 Herman, Sylvan. Leader (Sylvan Herman Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., WIP, Philadelphia, PA, 1935; Sylvan Herman Ensemble, WIP, 1935).

11865 Herman, Woody. Leader (Woody Herman Orchestra, instr. mus. prg., NBC, 1934; NBC-Red, 1937-1938).

11866 Herman and Banta. Instr. mus. prg. by a talented piano team of Sam Herman and Frank Banta (NBC, 1935).

11867 Hermann, Cleve. Sportscaster (Cleve Hermann Sports, KRCA, Los Angeles, CA, 1953-1954; The Trophy Room, KNBH, Los Angeles, CA, 1955; Life Line to the World of Sports, KFWB, Los Angeles, CA, 1960). Newscaster (11th Hour News, KRCA, 1953-1954).

11868 Hermanson, H.O. Tenor (WSWS, Chicago, IL, 1926).

11869 Hermit's Cave. Ghost stories and weird tales were dramatized on the program written by Geraldine Elliott and produced by Eric Howlett. The World War II era program began in this way: "Good evening ladies and gentlemen. The Carter Coal Company and the dealers of Olga Coal present the mummies in the little theater of the air. Well by now we're getting a bit used to winter. We're like soldiers in the midst of a campaign growing hardened to discomfort and better able to take it and looking toward the day when the war is won and there'll be plenty of everything again. Including that good Olga Coal. But like good soldiers we can't afford to let down now that victory is in sight. That can make Hitler's ghost walk, which brings me to the Hermit who's ready with a ghost story for you right now. An eerie laugh is heard. Ghost stories— weird stories and murder, too. The Hermit knows all of them. Turn out your light. Turn them out! Have you heard the story of Hanson's Ghost?" After this opening the Hermit, played by Mel Johnson, would tell the evening's story (Syndicated, 1940-1945).

11870 Hernandez, Joseph. Sportscaster (KYA, San Francisco, CA, 1939).

11871 Hernandez, Patsy. DJ (Highway of Melody, WFOY, St. Augustine, FL, 1948).

11872 Herndan and Hughes. Instr. mus. prg. by a dual piano team (CBS, 1935).

11928 Hi-Boys and the Radio Rangers. CW mus. prg. by performers not otherwise identified (WGY, Schenectady, NY, 1938).

11929 Hi Jinks. Hi jinks was a two-hour weekly variety program (120 min., Friday, 8:00-10:00 P.M., KIX, Oakland, CA, 1929). The regular performers included pianist Helen Wegmen Parmelee; tenor M.J. Goodman; sopranos Jeanne Rabinowitz, Thelma Hill and Nellie Clark Alsing; tenor Fred Bounds; yodeler Bill Simmons; violinists Maybelle Morrison and Elisa Madsen; Machado's KLX Hawaiians; the Lost and Found piano duo; the KLX Dreamers male quartet; xylophonist Howard Peterson; the Happy Hayseed; Togo and Fugit, two Japanese Gentlemen; and the Fleur de Lis Dance Orchestra.

11930 Hi Jinks at Noon. The lively comedy show later became Kitty and Bingo. The "Bingo" was Garry Moore and "Kitty," Katherine Dierken. They did comedy bits and conducted an interesting man-in-the-street interview segment, in which they hung a microphone out of the window of their fifth floor studio so that it reached the street (30 min., Monday through Friday, 12:00-12:30 P.M., WBAL, Baltimore, MD, mid-1930s). Moore came to WBAL from WFBR (Baltimore, MD) in the mid-1930s lured by a $25 a week salary. Katherine Dierken was a talented comedienne, singer and actress, who previously had appeared in vaudeville and on the legitimate stage. At WBAL she was also "Mary Landis," the station's generic name for their home economist women's commentator.

11931 Hi Jinx. Jinx Falkenburg and her husband, Tex McCrary, were another of the many husband-and-wife talk show teams that broadcast a local program from their breakfast table during the post-World War II period. Occasionally, guests stopped in to have breakfast and talk with them on their sustaining program (30 min., Monday through Saturday, 8:30-9:00 A.M., WEAJ, New York, NY, 1946).

11932 Hi There, Audience. Ray Perkins hosted the variety show that featured Helene Daniels, Sid Gary and Willard Amison (30 min., Sunday, 9:00-9:30 P.M., NBC, 1937).
