PUBLICITY DIRECTORY

There is no better means of communicating than through the Canadian media of mass communication...the daily press, radio, television, university newspaper and radio, magazines (weekly or monthly, of general or specific interest), the news services and the trade press.

The Canadian Arts Publicity Directory is designed for you to enable you to do so.

It includes — by Province, by City, by Media, by Category — all details essential to the development of greater recognition for the "Arts" through the media. It names names, lists addresses and gives telephone numbers, for every medium in Canada which can be of assistance to an artist or performer.

Every possible effort has been made to ensure that it is accurate and up-to-date and, through subsequent revisions which will be issued every four months to subscribers, this degree of timeliness will be continued.

Nobel's Rene Simard to sing Olympic theme

Rene Simard, still fourteen years of age and a Quebec "superstar", has apparently been picked to sing the theme for the Olympics. The young Nobel singer who has enjoyed international acclaim, is currently experiencing strong sales with his new single, "Love Will Keep Us Together", the Captain & Tennille single in French. Simard teamed with another Quebec music notable, Pierre Lalonde, for the "Together" single.

Columbia, distributors of the Nobel label, have acquired a fourteen minute film clip from the CBC-TV's "5th Estate" which featured Simard on the English network. Simard is currently sprucing up his English and is expected to release an English language single before the year is out.

Charlie Camilleri, national promotion director for Columbia, reports the "Together" single which was released Sept 15, has already sold in excess of 40,000 copies in Quebec province alone. A mailing has also been actioned across the rest of Canada.

Junos to be televised "Live" March 15th

Juno Awards Presentations Ltd. and the Canadian Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences (CARAS) announced they have concluded negotiations with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation (CBC) to televise the Juno Awards "live" from the Queen Elizabeth Theatre of Toronto's Exhibition Place March 15th of next year. This is the first time the Junos will be shown live.

"It's a great moment for the recording industry" said Mel Shaw President of CARAS, "The CBC's cooperation in doing the show live will bring a great deal of attention to Canada's growing music and record industry."

Walt Grealis, President of Juno Awards Presentations stated, "This years event will bring music industry figures from across Canada and the United States to see the Juno Awards and participate in all the activities."

Coinciding with the televising of the Junos, RPM will hold Communication 13 (C13) at the Inn on the Park in Toronto March the 13th and 14th.

The Gallagher "Blooze"

by Michael Dolgy

Rory Gallagher, the critic's-choice "blooze" guitarist was born in Ballyshannon, Eire, sometime after the second big War bang. At the age of nine, after his parents had bottled themselves in the town of Cork, Gallagher taught himself to finger guitar from a $10 jobbie he copped through a Woolworth's catalogue.

While at school, he received prominent grades from gigging at the main dance-events, eventually landing his first pro-time with the "Fontana Showband." "I wasn't fond of showbands", he said, "but promoters thought you had to have fifteen members before you were a proper group . . . we played Ireland, toured Spain and did a couple of English gigs . . . it turned out to be great fun." Fun and of course the learned experience. After two and a half years of lounge-acting around, Rory, his drummer and bassman, headed for reclusive Hamburg Germany, where acts like Pink Floyd and Nektar were kicking out sounds for music-exploration.

"Taste" was put together when the boys came back to Ireland, and the critics tagged them as a "progressive blues" unit. Three albums later, Taste broke up . . . but Gallagher wasn't crying. Since the band's 1970 split, Rory Gallagher has been his own frontman, hammering and cajoling the blooze on six refined album-releases.

In these rocking ages, when walled-sound determines success, Gallagher and his expressions are a welcoming rock commodity. His LP-intentions are a total self-writ and the effort is all-Gallagher as he's commanded the production.

As Polydor's Allan Katz says, "Gallagher is one of the hardest working and most down-to-earth artists. His two-hour sets and laid-back attitude have built an incredibly loyal audience in the blues rock field because he NEVER gives a mediocre concert."

Ray Danniels, young business-brain of SRO Productions and the Polydor Records group are hot over the Gallagher '75 Canadian Tour. Sept. 30th will see the man at Toronto's Massey Hall,

MEET THE PROMO PEOPLE

GLEND A ROY

Glenda Roy's early years were lesson-pre-occupied with flute, violin and piano, and as she approached her eleventh year in high-school, she had nurtured somewhat of a recognition as a professional in dance-expression. In her estimation she used to be an "average Canadian mother who couldn't get a day job", which motivated her to form her own company in 1970.

"Glenroy Promotional Services" was involved in all aspects of sales promotion "from the selling of real estate to fur coats."

In 1972, with an experience of sales and advertising behind her, Glenda landed at RCA Canada, where the most immediate opening available was the position of secretary to National Promotions man Ed Preston.

A very fortunate opportunity.

Her duties began to branch out considerably, including the supervision of the RCA regional set up, and eventually she was promoted to her present position of National Promotion Co-ordinator, which includes all of RCA's Canadian record advertising, artist relations, designing point of purchase material, the writing of bios and all specialized promotional projects.

Last year Glenda created the CITY-TV-Toronto dance-feature "Boogie." It was on her suggestion, that "Boogie" should concentrate on a disco-soul format as opposed to a greaser nostalgic-sockhop;

"Boogie's" format has proven to be a success as Glenda has been retained as associate producer for its second season.

"I think there's too little public promotion", she says.

"There is more promotion occurring within the trade, than there is on the consumer level. "Boogie" is just one example of a design for the consumer-outlet."

The Maniege album is scheduled for a national release the first part of November.

Elton John & friends unwelcome

Mrs. Iris Schirmer claimed in a Los Angeles superior court, that Elton John and friends, whom she rented her Beverly Hills home to for a year, burned cigarette holes in her custom-made carpets, bent silver candlesticks, cut holes in the walls and took crystal glassware.

Mrs. Schirmer is suing Elton for $70,000 . . . $20,000 for alleged damages and $50,000 in lost rent.

BCR fever stretches across the Atlantic

Once again, the Bay City Rollers have been audience-mobbed. When they flew into New York for a series of public appearances including a live performance on the Howard Cosell show, their departure from Kennedy Airport to Manhattan, was flanked by swarms of young chickies climbing over their car and struggling to crawl inside the windows. "We love America" said Bay City Roller Stuart "Woody" Wood.

"We came here to see New York."

BRUCE MILLER
Rude Awakening
A&M SP 9018-W

A patented-proficient Tom Scott sax-wail can lend the best to an artist's sound-intentions.

Miller's "Rude Awakening" is an effort that supports the claim of music being built upon the support of nature-wonder lyrics . . .

title cut is a sound guaranteed not to flip it, but to keep your wig-wam: "Rude Awakening" (4:33) conjurs up an Indian Summer and that equally warm 3 months-and-gone woman.

Bruce writes, lead vocals and competently acoustics with a helpful measure of easy-go musician friends . . . magician Airto on percussion, Jim Keltner on drums, and producer Gaye DeLorme showing up his stuff on classical and electric guitar, are among the roster of competent craftsmen featured. "Summer Of Our Love" (3:18) has warmly bed-ridden the radio-movers and the Cathy, Nette and Carmen backgrounders slide with the best of the Motown supremacy.

"Roly Poly" (1:50) is a quickie but toe-tapped efficient, and gives Tom Scott a chance to Woody Herman his clarinet.

A great deal of effort has gone into Bruce's disc, and when you try to do something good it obviously shows in the final product.

Recorded at Sound City Studios in California and Century Two in Edmonton. MD

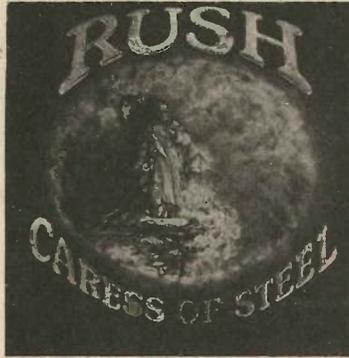

RUSH
Caress Of Steel
SRM 1046-Q

Their last album was glittered by pock-marked road-trips, that a band on the run is guaranteed to groupie-encounter . . . now with audience-acceptance more than adequately assured, Rush have given themselves enough room to play out their fantasies,

Third album insight: Geddy, Alex and Neil sound-out the accustomed reliance of heavy-metal chord-crank, but as this entire effort is "dedicated to the memory of Mr. Rod Serling", it has become apparent to the Rush, that it is not the be-all necessity to scream and thunder-crash in order to impart images within a people-populated twilight zone.

"Bastille Day" (4:36) serves up a portion of hot sliced meat, due in sections to the cold metal cuts of a sweeping-blade guillotine . . . a first-class Rush, backing into the sex meat-grinder, obviously getting a little behind in their work.

"I Think I'm Going Bald" (3:35), lyricizes and Geddy bass-pounds, the gig that ages fast, but as far as this troupe is concerned, they're a Wild Bunch that wouldn't have it any other way.

"The Necromancer", is a 12½ minute short-story sojourn centering on a divining spirit, communicating open-line with the dead . . . a parallel here, with a medley of musical interludes including "Return Of The Prince"

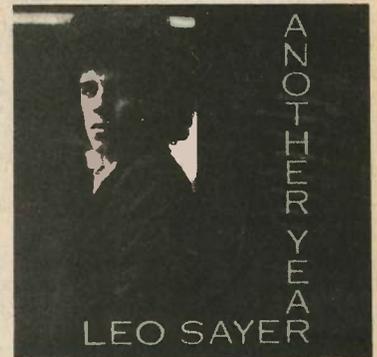

(3:51); readied by Polydor as a Rush-release single.

"The Fountain" (3:48) precludes the grind of gushing Alex axe-ioms with an ending built upon a soft-touch . . . a sweet denouement putting on a feeling of ten-times heavier anticipation than a bash-reliance on metallurgy.

With every new LP-exercise, Rush expose their mild progression. A very commendable effort and one that Rod Serling might just roll over for. MD

Winnipeg's Mayor Juba proclaims Guess Who Day

Winnipeg staged a "Guess Who Day" to welcome home their hometown group from a 40-day North American tour last month.

Winnipeg Mayor Steve Juba gave gold medallions to the surprised musicians and their managers at a civic luncheon at the Winnipeg Inn.

Earlier, in Toronto, RCA Canada officials presented the foursome with gold records for their album "The Best Of The Guess Who Volume II."

The group is now vacationing and creating new material for recording in 1976. RCA has recently released a single "When The Band Was Singing (Shakin' All Over)" from their current LP "Power In The Music."

WEA Ontario promotion racks up heavy October

October is shaping up to be another hectic month for the WEA Ontario promotion team of Linda Nash and Gary Slight. Atlantic's Roy Buchanan played Toronto's Massey Hall to "sold out" notices followed the next evening by a similar house for Rory Gallagher. The latter just recently signed to the Chrysalis label.

Canadian Ray Materick tucked a two week successful gig under his belt at Toronto's Riverboat and will shortly embark on a tour of eastern and western Canada. He enjoyed top exposure on country stations with his single, "Northbound Plane."

Besides the concerts mentioned, Nash and Slight have been busy with promotion goodies for Jimmy Cliff (14), the Procol Harum Maple Leaf Gardens date with Rick Wakeman (16), Jesse Winchester at Toronto's Chimney (20-25), Rod Stewart at Maple Leaf Gardens (27), the 4 Seasons at Hamilton Place (28) and they'll bring November in with a Massey Hall date (Nov 2) for Warner Bros' Bonnie Raitt who is teamed with Asylum's Tom Waits.

Immediately following the successful Gardens show for Jethro Tull, the group along with Gary Wright and the Strawbs hustled down to the Colonial Tavern to catch a set by Mose Allison, which created a bit of a flurry among the patrons.

Banjo-man Damron scores CBC date

Wednesday, October 15th, with a time "just after midnight", the CBC AM stations in Winnipeg, Edmonton, Regina and Calgary will feature four-time winner of BMI-Canada's Certificate of Honour for outstanding contributions to Canadian music, Mr. Dick Damron.

The interview with the banjo-man was completed in Calgary, by CBC staff announcer Laurie Mills, and is an extension kets in the U.S. for the album. These are Texas, Louisiana and Georgia. A promotion campaign is now being arranged for the young singer which includes the sharing of the spotlight with Hank Snow at Stratford Oct 25.

of his syndicated "once-a-week" country show broadcasting out of CBR (CBC Calgary).

In Laurie's words, Dick Damron is a "helluva' nice person", and to our ears, Damron is one of the finest country boys our nation has to offer. Reaction has been good to Laurie's shows and the coup of scoring Damron to interview, (affectionately called my 'long-haired friend' by Broadland's Gary Buck) should see him through another radio-success.

It's tough to be number two with a bullet

Researched by Alan Guettel

There used to be one firm selling millions of re-grooved goldies on racks in supermarkets and dime stores to the hype of recurring hard-sell radio and television ads. It was "Only on K-Tel."

Now, Winnipeg-based K-Tel, who had dominated the plastic power market in North America, is rack to rack and platter to platter with the Toronto-based Tee Vee Records for the biggest piece of the Canadian mass merchandising pie.

Last summer Tee Vee ran its "Funny, Funky Hits" dead against K-Tel's "Goofy Greats" and this fall they've got "Machine Rock" toe to toe with K-Tel's "Pinball Rock." "Funny, Funky" hit gold, boosted by a T-shirt-album deal through radio stations in 50 Canadian cities.

Tee Vee scores Gold and Platinum Awards

Tee Vee albums have won 4 Platinum Awards (100,000 sales in Canada) and 5 Gold Leaf (50,000 sales) Awards.

K-Tel boosted its media image sponsoring C.F.L. Football on C.T.V. Tee Vee did them one better. With such companies as Imperial Oil, Ford Motor Co. and Molson's Breweries, this year Tee Vee is part of Hockey Night in Canada - the top turf of Canadian television marketing.

"Last spring we were number one", reports Tee Vee operations manager Danny La Roach, "But this fall they're out with tons of stuff."

Tee Vee, which is now putting over one million advertising dollars a year into Canadian media, isn't turning the other cheek. They're moving 14 albums this fall, 6 of them Canadian, promoted by 18 Toronto produced television ads.

Tee Vee's fall headliners groomed to "sell" fast

Tee Vee's fall headliners include: Their second Elvis package, "Elvis Forever"; 20 original C&W hits on "Super Country"; and a collection of Christmas classics, "Santa Sends His Best", which they promise will be carried by a whole new concept of seasonal packaging when it hits the stores in November.

Tee Vee has budgeted almost $200,000 to push 6 regionally marketed Canadian content specials this fall. On the East Coast it's the Carlton Showband's "First Choice" and in Quebec Tee Vee is making its first mark in the French language market with a Quebecois country music sampler and a collection of hits sung by the Famille Soucy. Out west it's Al Cherney's "Fiddle Country", Maurice Bolyer's "Piano And Banjo Favourites" and "The Hank Snow Collection."

At a company banquet last week Tee Vee celebrated its third anniversary and received two platinum awards for their Elvis albums.

"We're an independent company that came from nowhere. . . ."

"We're an independent company that came from nowhere", Tee Vee President Ed LaBuick stated proudly. "Now we're in a position of respectability because we've paid our bills and sold the product."

Bob Cook, vice-president RCA, whose Elvis material was marketed by Tee Vee, told the banquet: "It's coming back to the public through television merchandising that there is material for the market of people over 35."

Ed LaBuick began in sales of food and related products in western Canada, moved east marketing electronic equipment, and joined Ampex just as the 8-track and cassette boom was born. He saw the potential of combining his cross-Canada marketing know-how with his appreciation of the demand for re-recorded and otherwise hard-to-get popular music standards.

LaBuick's first success was with GRT (when it was started as General Recorded Tapes in 1971) with a smash selling tape and record collection of cover hits by Canadian artists.

LaBuick founded Cachet Records with his wife - and right hand - Faye.

From there it was to Cachet Records which he founded with Faye LaBuick. They scored on a 4-album rock 'n' roll goodies set, "Party Rock", in 1973 followed by an RPM gold record for Canadian Maurice Bolyer's "40 Golden Banjo Hits."

"Party Rock" was a breakthrough. More than half of its 200,000 sales were made through an exclusive rack and catalogue deal with Simpson-Sears which had never sold records like this before.

Cachet Records moved into current sounds with "Soul Train Hall of Fame" and in spring 1974 made what they call "our first major push into mass merchandising" with "Can't Stop Dancing" and "Boston Pops", both Gold records.

In May 1974 LaBuick formed Tee Vee records and has never looked back.

That summer Tee Vee released a Harry Belafonte double album, which almost hit platinum, and two Canadian packages: Al

Cherney's "Golden Ukranian Memories" and "The Hank Snow Collection" which was marketed through Home Hardware, an East Coast and Ontario chain of independently operated stores which had never sold so many records before. They also scored their first "exclusive" with the Towers chain - "Country Sunshine", a platinum record.

Last fall Tee Vee hit "here-to-stay" status when they paid ½ million for the rights to market "ELVIS" in Canada. The big plus was not only the more than 350,000 sales that followed but the prestige of handling the "king of gold."

Millions of customers brought into stores by Tee Vee ads

Tee Vee has opened up the retail disc market in Canada far beyond the "traditional" record store counters. K-Mart, Simpson-Sears, Woolco, Towers, Home Hardware and Link Hardware out west among others now all prominently display selected big sellers to millions of customers - many brought into the store by Tee Vee's ads.

RCA president Cook argues that the traditional record business should welcome these advances: "Record people screamed when radio was introduced but look what it did for records."

Tee Vee's marketing system seems to be optimal - it maximizes success and minimizes failure, especially with Canadian material.

For example, the current East Coast action to sell the Carlton Showband will be national when the kinks are worked out. If, by chance, sales fall short in the East the project could be scrapped without the loss involved in pressing the copies needed for an all-Canada campaign. Home Hardware's success in selling 20,000 of "The Hank Snow Collection" in one market has Tee Vee certain that it will hit gold when sold out west as well.

Canadian artists have been showcased by Tee Vee

Cook points to the fact that Tee Vee sold 28,000 copies of Al Cherney's "Golden Ukranian Memories" through a campaign confined to the prairie provinces to show what Tee Vee can do for the Canadian artist.

LaBuick doesn't feel they repackage old music. "We properly package it."

"They're a damn good sales force", testifies Brian Buckingham, vice president of Spitzer, Mills and Bates which handles the Tee Vee account. "We've helped them with media spots, campaigns, package and instore promotion design but we've learned a lot from them as well."

That's not to say it's all roses. LaBuick is resigned to the fact that the current trends in mass record merchandising, has peaked.

Mr. T. Hutchings of Woolco.

"We've depleted a lot of repertoire." Even standards can become dated.

Tee Vee is looking to diversification, "But our mainstay will always be records", LaBuick promises.

Tee Vee's marketing staff is confident they can handle even abrupt changes. "We've always been safer with the product."

And now Tee Vee - cooks

This fall they are probing both the U.S. market and book sales at the same time with a North America-wide campaign to sell the encyclopedia "New Complete Book of Cookery" through Tee Vee Books.

"LaBuick - a modest man who gets the job done"

BY RITCHIE YORKE

MARKHAM, Ontario.

When you get right down to it, the Canadian music industry is somewhat sparse in the field of personality success stories. One might even make the observation that the Maple Music business is notable for its lack of such success trips, probably because it's early days and the real heroes are still out in the back streets paying dues, and paving their respective paths. Of course we're not talking here about recording artists, session musicians or composers: the breed in question is the people behind the scenes who put the upfront scenes together, those who make the impossible possible, those who take a shot on the wheel of chance and come out winners.

It is difficult to deny that a certain element of mediocrity still runs rampant in this industry, to the dismay of many. A few people have basked in the glory of hot periods but consider just how many have maintained any sort of consistent track record. A handful have gotten lucky but luck - like love, hate and the summertime - comes and goes. Hype is such a prevalent and pervasive factor in music industry endeavor that it is sometimes hard to evaluate just who is really making it. Talk is cheap and hype even cheaper. The Truth has far too often become a distant stranger in affairs of the music business.

All of which serves to emphasize the actual significance of the outstanding success of a gentleman named Ed LaBuick who runs Tee Vee Records Inc., the number two packager/merchandizer of TV-marketed record product in this country. In a mere three years, LaBuick and his keen and energetic team have built Tee Vee Records into a multi-million dollar operation. I've been wanting to put down some words on this subject for many months but LaBuick had steadfastly maintained a conspicuously low profile, preferring to get the job done ahead of telling the world about it. Whenever I've contacted Tee Vee Records for the purpose of writing a piece on its activities, LaBuick has always asked me to hold off until he was ready to spread the word on what the company has been doing. It's a damn good story but LaBuick simply wanted to consolidate the company's position before tooting the old self-promotion trumpet.

And so finally last week, on the occasion of a celebration dinner at which a total of five platinum albums and four gold albums were duly anointed as a demonstration of the company's success, LaBuick explained: "I have always found the music industry to be so full of hype. It's always been hype and hope first . . . and then achievement later. I wanted to wait until we had substantiated our position before we did any blowing of our own horn." I must say I find that to be a fresh viewpoint and a highly commendable outlook.

To relate this tale in the right perspective, one needs to backtrack for a few paws, to enlarge upon LaBuick's background, to explain where he's coming from. Initially based in Edmonton, LaBuick worked in the merchandizing area for a large supermarket chain concentrating on all aspects of display and in-store motivation material. The food business, as LaBuick readily concedes, is every bit as competitive as the music industry and likely more so.

After several years, LaBuick accepted a local sales rep position with Philips Appliances with merchandizing again his specialty. Recognizing his unique talents and his ardent interest in the tape playback hardware aspect of their activities, Philips moved LaBuick to Toronto. Later he switched to country. He was a genuine pioneer in this field.

When GRT of Canada was launched, LaBuick joined forces with Ross Reynolds to set the company on its feet. He and Reynolds worked together for 3½ years and the company prospered, especially in the area of developing domestic product - an aspect of the record industry which has been sadly neglected by some major labels. Ross Reynolds acquired the artists and product and LaBuick merchandized the results with an uncommon flair. "Essentially I am a merchandizer", LaBuick admits. "I know how to sell. But all that time, I just didn't like the way that records had to be hyped to radio stations. That was one aspect which I could have well done without. Actually I began to realize that I wanted to get into the mass retailing business."

Accordingly, LaBuick had the balls to take the big plunge and go it alone with personal financing. In June '72, he and his wife Faye launched Cachet Records and LaBuick Sound Inc. (the corporate name was changed to Tee Vee Records Inc. in June last year). Early projects included cover hit packages and some original productions involving Maurice Bolyer and a Pub Party compilation. Bolyer's 40 Banjo Hits album went gold in both Canada and Australia, and the Pub Party package went over the 100,000 units in Australia, which is a phenomenal figure for that market.

For a while, Cachet dabbled in the Cancon rat-race, concentrating on the country field but finding it less than lucrative. At this juncture, LaBuick realized that he needed to move into compiling original artists packages. His first foray in this highly-competitive scene brought Party Rock, an exceptional LP which exceeded the 200,000 units mark in Canada. Since then the company has released some 31 packages, most of which have earned gold or platinum awards for Canadian sales.

Tee Vee Records has not neglected Canadian artists either. Out of 14 new packages to be premiered this Fall, four are totally domestic productions (representing a significantly higher percentage than most of the major labels). "I just figured out the other day", comments LaBuick, "that we've spent around half a million dollars on the production and promotion of our Canadian product. And most projects have been financially successful. We may not be out there hammering on radio stations doors to get exposure but we've been doing our bit for the Canadian industry in other ways. Plus our company is totally Canadian and we have no outside controls."

Tee Vee Records now employs 40 people at the beautifully-located Markham head office and they constitute a unique team of keenly-motivated individuals such as Advertising Co-ordinator Ann Davis; Dave Harding, General Manager; Operations Manager Danny LaRoche; Wally Hill, Sales Manager; and Fay LaBuick as Vice President. "The secret of Tee Vee Records success", LaBuick quickly assured me, "is people. It's not just Ed LaBuick. We have maintained a policy of paying our people really good money in return for effort. I wanted to make sure that all the dissatisfaction I'd personally experienced in the past working for large corporations would not happen here.

"The other people who've been of immense assistance to us are the major mass merchandizers and retail hardware and record stores. We've had especially good support from record stores, which of course are not the mainstay of our type of business. We've

to Ed & the gang from Polydor Ltd.
Special Products Division

had strong support from retailers and we've done our best to accommodate their particular needs.

"I believe that we have brought to the record business in Canada a whole new class of consumer - the sort of people not buying current or catalog product from the majors. We've opened the door to another kind of music consumer.

"I think there's a great future for selective packages. Unfortunately a lot of crap broadcast packages have been shoved into the marketplace. There's been so many opportunists - companies which were under-capitalized and operated like amateurs - which is obviously the reason that more have gone broke than have survived. For the future, I think the strong will be stronger while the weak will fall by the wayside. A year from now, there will be less companies in this business than there is today.

"Even though we do have a music background, we still go to experts for advice in putting together our packages. We put our money where our mouth is. We pick the product and we gamble but we always try to run with the right product. That's the most important thing.

"We're not number one in our field, but we're a hot number two (as point of fact, Tee Vee Records did equal the sales of its biggest competitor in record sales during last Spring). We don't necessarily want to be number one. We want the right product and the right merchandizing. We're not particularly interested in the 22 Explosive Hits type of package. We're more into traditional packages, items with staying power . . . rather than the immediate hit compilation thing. We've even put out a number of French Canadian albums which have done extremely well. Our whole strength is effective advertising, and much retail merchandizing support co-ordinated by our coast-to-coast reps.

"The company was launched with my own capital and in the early days, we had to have tight controls of budgets and financing which is something my wife Faye looks after. We've built the company up from there by making a minimum of mistakes and by putting total support behind what we believe in."

Most recently Tee Vee Records has moved into the print field with an excellent cookbook The New Complete Book of Cookery being marketed this Fall and early Winter. LaBuick's other recent coup was the securing of commercial spot time in the CBC's Hockey Night in Canada telecasts. Getting in there was a long and arduous task but LaBuick pulled it off, after obtaining acceptance from such diverse hockey broadcast ownership interests as the Canadian Sports Network Association, Ford, Molsons and Imperial Oil. "Our TV commercials for Hockey Night in Canada will not be as hard sell as our competitors", LaBuick insists. "We don't want to annoy Canadian consumers and I suspect that some of the commercial approaches used in this field are intensely aggravating. We do not want to go that route."

And so Ed LaBuick, a shrewd and perceptive winner in the Canadian music industry, continues to build up a huge domestically-owned operation which seems bound to expand and endure. It would appear that Tee Vee Records can only keep on getting bigger and better and for that Ed LaBuick deserves widespread recognition and admiration for pulling it off. His is one of the real success stories of this business, and never mind his modesty and desire to maintain a low profile. This man is making it and big and everyone could take a few lessons from his approach. Too many stale winds blow in the vacuum of Canadian music, when it's obviously time for fresh insight and new methods. Change is not necessarily a bad thing but insecurity about taking a new direction reflects nothing but mediocrity, parent company domination or feeble hearts. © Ritchie York 1975

The Programmers

Tobi Lark arrives in Halifax and is met by Andy K of CHNS Radio (l) and Doug Kirby tour coordinator for her eastern Canadian tour.

CEC to showcase top of line talent

The Canadian Entertainment Conference (October 10-13) will showcase 22 live acts at Toronto's Harbour Castle to the buyers of $10,000,000 worth of entertainment for Canada's schools and campuses.

Conference organizer Betty Recchia told RPM that the 22 acts were chosen from almost 100 who applied to be part of the showcase presentation. "Our showcase selections are based on the talent and showmanship of the acts and their suitability for the college market."

New to CEC '75 are 11 awards based on voting by CEC members on Canadian campuses. Winners will be announced at a Thanksgiving evening banquet in categories such as: Outstanding Folk and Outstanding Rock Act, Most Cooperative Agency and Record Company, Best Album Cover Graphics and Top Canadian Single and Album of the Year.

The conference also includes fifteen workshops and panel discussions on subjects ranging from "Women in the music business" and "the Quebec star system" to practical concerns like "how to run a campus pub", "how to save money when buying acts" and discussions of budgeting, publicity, audio visual and FM techniques, and music business law. People from the CRTC, LLBO, Toronto Musicians Union with invited agents, lawyers and accountants will provide much of the expertise for the sessions which are scheduled to run throughout the four-day meeting.

involves two chartered aircrafts to Vancouver for an Elton John concert scheduled for October 12th.

Two days notice and the flights were booked solid, using a "location X" contest to find two guests courtesy of CHED.

Music director Len Theusen will accompany the contest winners. Another promo already in effect involves various announcers touring the local high schools ... giving their time for free noon-hour disco-sessions. Jay reports that practically all the high schools in the Edmonton area are participating.

HALIFAX

Tobi Lark has joined the Hi-Octane Band for an extensive tour of universities and club dates here in Atlantic Canada. The Shakey Al Band has finished a week at Zapata's and are back in Montreal awaiting the release of their first album. While in Halifax they appeared on Andy K's "People And Music". The show is televised on Channel 4.

Snake-Eye, a local group is now playing Halifax and working on a single release and album, both to be released shortly.

Charlie Peters, a Moncton, promoter has just finished presenting Ten Years After, featuring Alvin Lee. Peter's next show will be the J. Geils Band the latter part of October.
