Dave Marsden going to the "edge" on the Internet

by Matt Mernagh

Canada's leading edge Internet entertainment broadcaster, Virtually Canadian, will be over hauled and re-launched in the first weeks of October with CFNY groundbreaker and Rock-n-Roll Hall of Fame inductee David Marsden leading the way.

Always known for taking risks, Marsden said "I see the Internet as the new platform. In 1968 I moved from AM to FM. Everyone was saying 'no one has FM radio. Why are you doing this?' I see this in a similar way. Now people are saying to me 'No one is listening on the Internet. You can't have the Internet in your car.' Well you can if you can see the future."

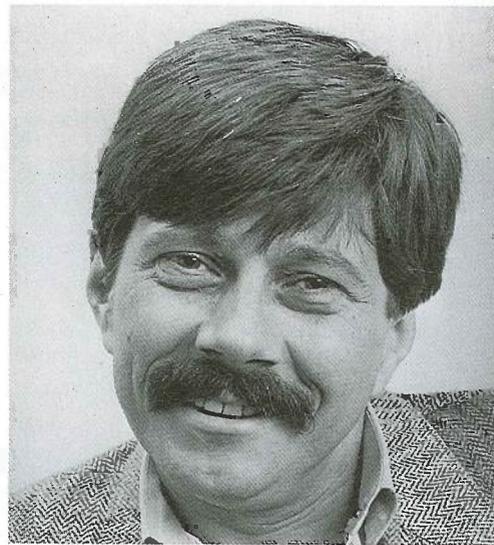

Marsden noted that many new genres of music aren't being played on the radio today. The new entity, name undisclosed at this time, will have four channels to provide an outlet for this style of music.

"The development of audio presentation over the last couple of decades has gone from an AM to an FM Progressive to an FM Modern Rock. As each different era presented itself there was an adjustment in the form of delivery. That adjustment was brought forth simply because there needed to be a new platform. Each time there was a revolution in music there was a new platform invented."

To play the revolutionary new music like Drum'n'Bass, Industrial-Metal, Ambient, Dark Wave and what ever else comes along, is, according to Marsden, the Internet. "What we have now is a lot of music not being played by radio because that's the way it is. So now there is another new platform. The Internet is the new platform." To prepare for this, the Internet broadcaster is moving into the state-of-the-art studio built by Rawlco Communications for CISS-FM in Toronto.

The four planned unnamed 24/7 channels to be broadcast from this station are, a non mainstream dance music format, with former CFNY DJ Hedley Jones as the Musicmaster (think music director), an as of yet unnamed live music channel with guests performing in the studio or pre-recorded concerts, a channel for overall music presentation and a very top secret channel. Marsden will only say "it will probably generate much excitement. It's an area that has never been touched by public broadcasting."

More channels will likely be added six months after the broadcaster goes to air. "The advantage we have with the Internet, is that we have an opportunity of presenting all these different services specifically designed and targeted to a particular community."

Club DJs, or NJs (net jocks) as they will be known, from around the world will be spinning for the Global Groove channel. "The best club DJ in London. The best club DJ in Amsterdam. The best club DJ in Los Angeles, New York, Vancouver, Montreal and Toronto will each have a performance." This is needed because club music fans from around the world have very different tastes.

EMI recording artist Kim Stockwood in Ottawa, caught Prime Minister Jean Chretien off guard with a little Newfoundland humour, when she visited the PM's office.

Loreena McKennitt taking hiatus from recording

by Matt Mernagh

With her three album deal with Warner Bros. Canada now complete, Loreena McKennitt will take some time off to decide her career path. She has sold more than eight million records in over forty territories

Loreena McKennitt

"She has delivered all the albums necessary under her contract. At this time she does not want to renew her contract. It's not a problem with Warner

Radiosonic broadcasts John Southworth live

CBC's Radio Two program Radiosonic, hosted by Leora Kornfeld and David Wisdom will be broadcasting live-to-air on Sunday June 13 for the launch of eccentric pop songwriter John Southworth's new album Sedona Arizona, released by Outside Music.

The live performance by Southworth and guests Martin Tielli of the Rheostatics and Hawksley Workman can be heard across Canada at 7 PM with the exception of the maritime provinces which can tune in at 8 PM and 8:30 PM in Newfoundland.

A new three album contract with Japanese label Quattro Records will result in Sedona Arizona and his debut album Mars Pennsylvania being sold in Japan. Southworth is expected to tour Japan in support of the releases in the fall.

Bros. because she doesn't want to renew with anybody," explained McKennitt's press agent Richard Flohil of Richard Flohil and Associates.

"It was a three album deal and she has fulfilled that obligation. Where we go in the future is unknown. She will decide at some point on what she wants to do," said Warner Bros.' senior vice-president Dave Tollington.

Warner Bros. expressed interest in renewing the contract but also respects her decision to not sign with them at this time. "Certainly we would like to continue the relationship but we are respecting her present situation," Tollington says.

Signing a new contract would require her to make a commitment on the number of albums she would have to release in the future. "At this point in her life she's not making that commitment," Flohil

Gordon Lightfoot Songbook released by Warner/Rhino

Warner Music/Rhino has targeted a June 15 release date for the Gordon Lightfoot Songbook. The treasure trove features 88 tracks from 19 original albums beginning with his recordings for United Artists, Reprise and Warner Bros. Records. Also included are rare singles.

The package was produced with Lightfoot's direct participation including a track-by-track history which Lightfoot penned himself.

"By the time the sleuthing was done," said a surprised Lightfoot, "We had uncovered a number of rarities that surprised even me."

Lightfoot's first charted single, I'm Not Saying, peaked at #12 (June 28/65) on the RPM 100. The track was released on the Compo label. His first #1, If You Could Read My Mind, topped the chart on Feb. 20/71. His second #1 was Sundown (June 15/74), which of course led up to his chart-topping The Wreck Of The Edmund Fitzgerald (Nov. 20/76).

Lightfoot won his first Juno (which were called the RPM Gold Leaf Awards) in 1966 when he was voted Canada's top folk singer.

The elaborate and eye-catching 5" X 5" brick-style package includes a deluxe book and what is described as "an exhaustive biography" plus never-before-seen photos from Lightfoot's own archives.

Included in the package are 16 previously unreleased tracks, two of which are Lightfoot's very first recordings from 1962. The other 14 tracks were stated.

When McKennitt is ready to return to recording albums for major record labels, Warner Bros. will be there to convince her to sign with them. "It's been a long relationship. We would like to continue the relationship. We're here," Tollington stated.

The two time Juno Award winner and multi-platinum artist is taking some time off to determine what she would like to do as an artist. She has already released a double CD Live in Paris and Toronto through her own label Quinlan Road, which is selling the CD on her website and mailing list. Proceeds from the album sales will be donated to The Cook-Rees Memorial Fund for Water Search and Safety.

McKennitt started this fund after her partner Ronald Rees died in a tragic boating accident on Georgian Bay. McKennitt was remixing the album at the time of his death and has since dedicated this album to him.

In 1974, Lightfoot was recognized for his contribution in furthering Canadian culture with the Order of Canada. He was awarded the Governor General's Award, in 1997.

Ry Cooder in Toronto to promote his new Buena Vista Social Club album (present Ibrahim Ferrer), received platinum for his first Buena Vista album from Warner Music's Alan Triger, Jun Fujimoto, Brian Irwin and Roger Desjardins.

with Elvira Capreese

I've never been insulted...!!! At a recent theatre cast party, I thought it would be nice to talk to one of the past near-legends of Cancon R&R. I politely introduced myself and became "Walt who???" on the spot. I felt bad until I realized that the smell of stretched guitar strings can have an effect after 10 or 15 years trying to be a star! (EC: I think it's insulting to be in the same business with these types!)

Speaking of has-beens!!! Don't hold your breathe that this one won't recreate himself to do job #2 (EC: I think it's three or four or who knows.) Following the teachings of has-been BG, I think we may see him leaving with a few people poorer and afraid to admit it!!! (EC: You're talking about the arc-enemy! Aren't you?) In the creepy crawly flesh!!!

Again! Speaking of has-beens!!! Coming soon! www.weasel.con! (EC: I think that's ".com"!!!) Not in this case!!! Andy Warhol once said that someday everybody will have their own website! My gerbil has his own website. I know two people who have radio stations on the web! Someday everybody will have their own radio station on the web! You'll be so busy surfing the stations, no one will listen to the radio! Who will advertise? What will be the revenue factor? (EC: Who cares! Move over!!!)

Plaudits pour in! The Cancon country award show of the year! The Big Country Awards is being heralded as being the event of the year. A lot of phone calls and a lot of praise for the whole production! At the hotel it was fun and exciting! On TV, Canada saw a lot of industry people doing a behind-the-scenes industry thing. Now there is talk about taking this one step further and making it an industry-oriented show with even more behind the scenes coverage of the Canadian country music business! (EC: Call it Nashville North!) Elvira! Put your finger on this anvil! Now this is called a hammer! (EC: OUCH!!!)

The high rollers pick Centro!!! What do the high rollers from Las Vegas think of Centro, Canada's leading upscale restaurant??? Enough, it seems to book a Sunday night for an informal networking and dinner for some of this country's high rollers. While Centro's owner/general manager Tony Longo showed off his location and the gourmet delicacies of owner/chef Marc Thuet to the corporate managers from Rio, they in turn promoted their beautiful suite hotel and casino which includes 2563 luxury suites, 15 dining experiences and its 120,000 square foot gaming section. And, they've got a great pool and spa under its landmark neon-lit towers, if you can tear yourself away from the slots. It's all right there in the centre of things on West Flamingo. By the way, Centro's downstairs blues haven is jumpin'. As a matter of fact it's tough to get in on Thursdays. Just ask bosom buddies BG and DF. Michael Dunston has that special blues vocal and delivery that creates the right atmosphere. He's backed by Matt Horner on keys, drummer Barry Romberg and bassist Peter Telford. (EC: Just what Toronto needs .. a blues haven!!!)

What a negative attitude!!! There's a commercial airing for a new CD with the line "If you only buy one record this year, make sure it's this one," which immediately transfers a negative to the minds of the viewers. How about, make sure this great new CD is on your shopping list this year?" (EC: So now you're a storyboard editor???)

Too many hassles??? Have you noticed that department stores for the most part have or are getting out of the record business? Remember back when the big stores did the lion's share of the business? And then Shirley Harrison retired from Eaton's and the downward trend began. (EC: The record business belongs to the retailers, not to people who only use records as loss leaders!!!)

Split run dailies??? Hey! Those navel gazing editorialists from the dailies who have been shooting down Sheila Copps must be ready to retire or their egos are so great they think their jobs are secure no matter what. I got news for them. If only a couple of those major U.S. dailies decide to go the split run route for Canadian distribution, guess who's jobs will be on the line? (EC: I give up!!!)

developed and made stars for the label, and who had one of the best radio connections in the business, has been touting a new artist. Much to his surprise, calling on some of the stations he serviced over those years, he found he couldn't even budge the door. Even the guys who had moved upstairs to cushier jobs wouldn't see him. What a pity! Some of these programmers think it all began when they got into broadcasting. They should tuck this into their heads. If it wasn't for Cancon and guys like our friend above, they wouldn't have a job. They should take the chip off their shoulders. It's 30 years later. (EC: I remember it well, but not fondly!!!)

Power and status??? There's no question. But it costs money to join. Read the rules! (EC: Oh! That organization!!!)

Dave Marsden's on the fast track!!! Look who's back? Dave Marsden, who, as Dave Mickey caused a revolutionary change in rock 'n roll programming ... back in the early '60s. That's all history and great history. But you better read about it fast before someone rewrites it. Anyway, as Dave Marsden, he laid the foundation for CFNY's entry into the big league, with an edge. He's known as Mr. Alternative, the genius behind Canada's "alternative" movement. It makes me wonder why the CAB has never recognized his accomplishments. (EC: Too many suits!!!). Well! He's back and he's going to revolutionize radio again. But this time he's going on the Internet. Read all about it. RPM's new staff writer Matt Mernagh has the scoop in this issue! (EC: You mean you finally got a scoop???)

New Releases

GERI HALLIWELL - Pop
Schizö-Phonic
EMI - 21009-F

Former Spice Girl Geri Halliwell (aka Ginger Spice), delivers a more mature sound and look with her first solo effort. The first single, Look At Me, broke into the Top 30 of the Hit Tracks chart and was supported by a brilliant video and a multi-media single that included the full video. Obviously there is a hint of the Spice Girls on every track. However Halliwell's vocals and lyrical style are guaranteed to attract the attention of an older audience as well. Credited with co-writing all the tracks on this effort Halliwell hits home with uptempo CHR single contenders like Bag It Up and You're In A Bubble. Goodnight Kiss should be an instant add at A/C radio which adds to EMI's choices of follow-up singles. A must for die hard Spice fanatics and non-believers. - SL

LIT - Rock/Alternative
A Place In The Sun
BMG 07863 67775-2

The So-Cal punk sound on A Place In The Sun is radio friendly and rock solid. Lit are already number one on the US Modern Rock charts for the Green Day inspired and riff heavy My Own Worst Enemy. Like other popular punk bands the music is explosive with catchy lyrics and has minimal guitar soloing. Also of note is the punk ballad Miserable which has the band slowing their sound down without becoming wimpy. Opening song Four sets the tone perfectly with its brash intense style which continues throughout the album. -MM

MAE MOORE - Adult Contemporary Self Titled
Big Hip Records 0694 90378J

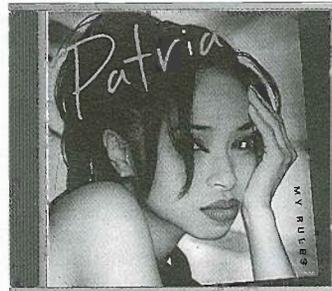

The relaxed nature for Mae Moore's fourth album has a more focused fun vibe. Working with producer and label owner Jann Arden has helped Moore create good contemporary song structures. First single Free to Love Me (Warm Song) is just that, with emotional soft vocals, pleasant guitar strumming and drumming that keeps perfect time. The chorus is powerful with a much louder sound with vocals coming through after the sleepy parts. An almost perfect song for adult contemporary radio. The music is perfect to listen to when one is working, played at the RPM offices while we all attempt to work. Another stand out, is track three What Jimmy Said to Me. With it's countryish-vibe and twangy guitar strumming the song is uplifting and fun. Arden does indeed have a wonderful ear as producer as she has ensured Moore could stretch her style to fit this song. -MM

PATRIA - Pop/Hop
My Rules
Black Market-9732-F

Tough and cagey with a bittersweet vocal delivery that gives Patria a competitive edge over her peers. Toughness aside, Patria has a unique soulful methodology with her lyric interpretation, making the vocal property fit like a glove, not to mention her leathered persona (check out the "hot" photos). Not too many artists have a five-octave range which Patria uses to the max, a nice asset when it comes to stroking the blues. Although the magic here is Patria's delivery and her material, the Domenic Troiano producer touch has obviously added that extra professionalism. He co-produced the album with Howard Aye. Baby Feel My ... has been taken as the first focus single and is now at radio. The song is hot and it's sexy, tailored to the club scene. Patria's fiery delivery captures the very essence of love. "When I love someone," says Patria, "I love them completely and passionately." Also key is First Love, co-written with Troiano, My Flow, co-written by Howard Chen and Passion where the title says it all. But don't overlook the title track, a poignant take on relationships. The video for the first single was shot in Mexico. Doug Chappell, not too shabby when it comes to discovering and signing stars, Shania Twain and Terri Clark, to name a couple, is working Patria's single at radio. He says Patria definitely has star potential. A nice endorsement from someone who's been there and knows the territory. -WG

LAURA MacDONALD - Vision
Chroma
Wicklow-09026-63270-N

One applauds Miss MacDonald for her juxtapositioning of traditional and contemporary expression of music by marrying her keening voice with instrumental sounds that owe much -- perhaps too much -- to technology. It's right and proper that music should be pushed to the limit of its capacity. Now, regrettably we risk raining on her parade by suggesting that this programme of her own almost psychedelic compositions, while exciting, isn't new in its impact. The same impact was evident in the 1950s and '60s in coffee houses across Europe and North America. That's not bad you understand but short of what we believe she intended. Produced by Philip Strong and Paddy Moloney. 100% MAPL. -BW

MORETEARS FROM HEAVEN - Classical Various Artists and Ensembles
RCA Victor Red Seal-09026-63450-N

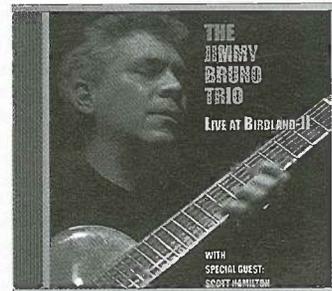

For us it's well nigh impossible to describe adequately the musical worth of this follow-up album to Tears From Heaven featuring re-issued material of the ethereal. One need only list the composers, orchestras, choirs, soloists and conductors that are here to be enjoyed. They include but are not limited to Bach, Mozart, Handel, Rachmaninoff and Verdi; New Symphony of London, Royal Philharmonic and Chicago Symphonies; the Robert Shaw Chorale, the separate Choirs of Trinity College and Bavarian Radio; Leontyne Price and Dame Janet Baker; Leopold Stokowski and Norman Luboff, Sirs Georg Solti, Thomas Beecham and Colin Davis. One hesitates to haul out the hoary "best of best" descriptive, but who would gainsay? Especially after being thrilled by Verdi's Requiem Lacrymosa. -BW

THE JIMMY BRUNO TRIO - Jazz
Live At Birdland II
Concord Jazz-4810

Recorded on the same evening as Volume 1, guitarist, Jimmy Bruno, bassist Craig Thomas and drummer Vince Ector present a tasty and tasteful programme of jazz and pop standards. In this set, saxophonist Scott Hamilton replaces alto saxophonist Bobby Watson and the trio provides the same excellent and seemingly seamless collaboration. The fourteen tracks are each like a well groomed woman's skirt; long enough to cover the important parts but brief enough to be interesting. Best tracks? Tough call, but our two preferred are the Latin flavoured Poinciana and the appropriately dreamy Darn That Dream. Good album. -BW

SONGS OF ERIC CLAPTON - Blues
Various Artists

House Of Blues/Platinum-51416-1449
Eric Clapton fans are well aware of his love of the blues, punched home by his admittance that "the blues are what I've turned to, what has given me inspiration and relief in all of the trials of my life." Well, the House of Blues, in their This Ain't No Tribute series, which was launched in 1998, zeros in on the great Clapton with 12 of his songs, which pay "homage", but are not a "tribute" to his blues offerings. The ear-soothing entertainment is exceptional as Joe Louis Walker with James Cotton sashays along with Roll It Over, and Honeyboy Edwards, again with James Cotton, brings out a very cleverly programmed Crossroads. And there's Carl Weathersby's perfectionist approach on Lay Down Sally, and Buddy Guy's exhaustive Strange Brew. And Bo Diddley, yes Bo Diddley, doing his thing with Before You Accuse Me. And there's more; Old Love by Otis Rush, Layla by Eric Gales with Derek Trucks, Koko Taylor capturing the very essence of Clapton on the title track, Otis Clay's Wonderful Tonight and Miss You by Larry McCray. Now, that's blues with a lot of soul. Produced by John Snyder. Next in sight are the songs of Bob Dylan and Led Zeppelin and the whole Lotta Blues compilation scheduled for September. Call Julian Tuck at Platinum Entertainment for more information 416-609-9718. -WG

SMASH MOUTH - Rock/Alternative
Astro Lounge
Universal Music - 90316-J

Creating a buzz with their groovy cool vibration sound, Smash Mouth will have people snapping their fingers to songs like the opener Who's There and track three I Just Wanna See. While it's hard to tell whether All-Star will be another big summer hit like they had in 1997 with Walking on the Sun, it's a genuine pop tune with a catchy chorus and toe-tapping instrument arrangement. With a vocal approach that is different than your average song, which is one of the reasons listeners can enjoy hearing it on the radio. All-Star has the same summer cool feeling that Walking on the Sun had. Their ska like beats on Road Man show the band have versatility in their sound. Overall, Smash Mouth have many B-52 similarities as they both come off quirky and happy. The album is well put together as none of the songs are lacking in those two main ingredients. Astro Lounge has a common theme which is '50s camp space age lounge, hence the name. Relaxing at the Astro Lounge is an enjoyable way to cool down on hot sunny Friday afternoon. -MM

With the four channels, listeners won't have to scan the dial to find something they are interested in. If however, what is being broadcast doesn't appeal to listeners at that time, they can go further into the site to find specialty programs based on the channel they are interested in. "If you are into hip-hop or swing you can find it on the sub channels," Marsden explained.

The new broadcaster is expected to go-live-to-Internet on October 1st, although Marsden says that date could be pushed back by a week or two. Virtually Canadian will have a new name and new outlook. Instead of creating a new Internet broadcaster the present site is used because Marsden says "it's the perfect model to build on."

Virtually Canadian was founded about a year and half ago and has been Internet broadcasting since that time. "They've gotten it this far. The rest of the world has caught up with these people. Now we go forward with a whole new look. A whole new logo. A new website. It'll be huge! I predict it will be the most exciting music site globally."

Marsden will move from his Vancouver home back to Toronto to oversee the Internet broadcaster's day-to-day activities. "As I did my research it occurred to me it was now time to get involved. I don't mind saying that the financing that has been injected certainly encouraged me to come forward."

While he won't give exact details on the financial backing to support this grand project he did say there are plans to have a public offering allowing people to buy shares in the company which will also raise more capital.

The personal challenge to make the company profitable and gain listeners is something he is looking forward to. "I like the new. I like the refreshing and I like the opportunity to bring forward new concepts and ideas which are going to deliver music to the people that may not hear it on a mainstream service. And it's time to open up the world and say listen here we got a lot of stuff."

Although it will be open to the world, Cancon will still play an important role even though the CRTC doesn't require it after they decided they wouldn't regulate the Internet. Those fearing that the new Canadian station will not have Cancon, Marsden has this to say, "My record stands pretty much public on that. Even when I was programming radio, I rarely programmed to the percentage. I would often with CFNY hit 45 percent. It's all based on me believing that this country's music is good or better than anywhere else in the world. So I play the music because it's good."

The Internet broadcaster also does not require a broadcasting license from the CRTC. Competition from the new station will only improve traditional radio. "Every time a new license comes up, people say 'do we really need another radio station?' All the other stations get better (when a license is granted)."

Marsden doesn't believe the Internet broadcaster will force traditional media out of the marketplace. "I don't see it as we're going to take everything away. It's a complimentary source."

The broadcaster will put Canada on the cutting edge of Internet broadcasting technology. About 15 tech people are working on the project now ensuring the broadcaster stays up to date. Many more are expected to be hired. "Every day the audio and video presentation improves on the Internet. We're taking it (Internet broadcasts) to the next step. We're taking it to the next edge."

Along with playing music, the website will have reporting on the different musical and club scene happenings. "If you're traveling and you happen to like clubs and club music, you go to our site and we'll tell you what's happening in London (UK) or Bonn (Germany)."

Mae Moore resurfaces on Jann Arden's label

by Matt Mernagh

After a four year layoff, Mae Moore has returned with a new album, simply titled Mae Moore on Jann Arden's Big Hip label, distributed by Universal.

Not only is Arden supporting Moore by signing her to the new record label, she also produced the album and supplied the backing band. Moore says, "it was an incredible experience. Jann has a wonderful ear for producing. We got along famously."

This is probably the reason the album is being hailed as her best work to date. For someone who has had music heard on popular TV programs Baywatch, Party of Five and The Rez, along with silver screen contributions to Top Gun and the Canadian flick Hanging Garden this new release is expected to have chart potential. Moore is no stranger to the charts. She had a Top 20 hit Bohemia (RPM Nov.28/92).

Arden's touring band was called on for the first time to enter the studio and provide the back up Moore needed. The band was excited by this prospect as it was their first time recording, says

Moore from her home in Prince Edward Island. "If I golfed this would be heaven."

Living in PEI didn't influence her sound on the album, although touring across Canada she was inspired by the vastness and inspiration from people and places she visited. "Sonically there is no fiddles," she jests.

AV Preservation keeps the Masterworks safe

by Matt Mernagh

In an effort to preserve Canada's rich film, television, radio and music heritage a new project by The AV Preservation Trust.CA entitled Masterworks will ensure that Canadian classics are to be taken care of for the enjoyment future generations.

Masterworks has two mandates, explained Brian Robertson chairman of Preservation Trust and president of CRIA, one is to identify Canadian classics such as an early Gordon Lightfoot or one of the first sound recordings made in the early part of the century. The ten classics chosen each year will be restored and preserved digitally. "Naming these every year will draw attention to the archives."

Which is the second part of the mandate. "Draw attention because they are not being properly archived. A lot of these works because they are not properly archived are deteriorating and disappearing. Colour film for example has to be stored at zero Celsius or below. It has to be kept in the cold vault."

Even when they discover a lost video tape, hopes can be quickly dashed. "In a basement you think you found a lost treasure but when you open it, it's dust," continued Roberston about the typical example of poorly stored tapes. "It can also happen in audio tape if it's stored in humid conditions. You end up with something that is unusable."

Masterworks has received seed funding from the federal heritage ministry to start the program but is relying on corporate donors to ensure a long and healthy life. "We are looking for an overall sponsor to donate money to the program which we don't have yet. Possibly sub-sponsors for each of the categories in film, radio and television. Those are the other parts of the funding to make this a long term relationship."

Some of the necessary funds have been donated already by MoviePix, a Pay-TV network owned by TMN Network. The National Archives of Canada has offered the use of its vaults for storage of the selected classics.

A study is being undertaken to determine how Canadians will be able to have access to the Masterworks so they don't just end up in a vault collecting dust. Possibilities include "a master database which would include all these rare works." Research is under way to check the copyright issues.

Prominent Canadians will determine which albums are to be selected each year. Sam Kula former director of the moving image archive at The National Archives of Canada is chairman of the Masterworks project. The jury is well on its way to choosing this year's ten classics.

Sony Music Canada unveils new Media Relations

Sony Music Canada has changed the name of its press and publicity department to the more encompassing media relations.

"We decided that publicity didn't adequately describe our team's commitment to building great relationships with the media," explains the captain of the team, Amber Meredith. "We're committed to being the best full-service team of media relations professionals in the country."

Sony will no longer divide the press department along the label lines of the Epic and Columbia groups. As Meredith points out, each publicist will now handle a number of projects from all areas of the company, which includes Epic, Columbia, 550 Music, Work, C2, Relativity, Wind-Up, Strategic Marketing, Legacy and Classical.

New to the group is Mary Mill who moves over from the college marketing division of Sony to take on the responsibilities of publicity manager.

Also joining the team as publicity manager is Lorraine Quartaro who previously worked primarily with Columbia artists. She will now be working a variety of artists from all the various artist divisions at Sony.

Completing the team is Erica Silver as coordinator of the media relations department.

Meredith will continue to work directly as a publicist on a number of artist projects. She will also undertake various initiatives in the new media department. Meredith can be contacted at 416-391-799.

The contact points are as follows: Mill at 416-391-7949, Quartaro at 416-391-7948, and Silver at 416-391-5176, ext. 7406. They can all be reached at the same fax number 416-391-7664.

It's all going to happen on Canada Day (July 1) when Twain headlines the concert at Hollinger Park with Leahy opening. McLaughlin reports the first 15,000 tickets "were snatched up in only four hours when they went on sale. People camped out as early as 20 hours in advance." Paul Brandt commands the #1 slot with ease as That's The Truth, his latest Reprise single holds and continues to build. The initial radio action was immediate which created a backordering frenzy at retail for his album (same title) which made its debut on the RPM Country Album chart at #19.

Shirley Myers and Duane Steele are hitting an impressive stride at radio with their duet Forever In Love, the first focus track taken from Myers' Stony Plain album Let It Rain, was the most added last week when it entered the chart at #79 and is the biggest mover this week, jumping up to #66. The song was written by Myers, Steele and Rod Nicholson.

Terri Clark has the most added single this week. Unsung Hero, her latest Mercury single, enters the chart at #82. The song, included on her album, How I Feel, was written by Canadians Dave Tyson and Dean McTaggart and Australian Tina Arena, but there is no MAPL logo on the artwork to indicate the Cancon properties. The album was recorded in Nashville by Keith Stegall.

Ricky Van Shelton is happening with another Cancon single. The Best Is Yet To Come, taken from his Vanguard album Making Plans which was produced by Steve Buckingham and Marshall Morgan. Written by Canadian tunesmiths, the late Colleen Peterson (Quartette), Cyril Rawson and Nancy Simmonds, the single enters the chart at #88. Van Shelton's last Cancon release, Backroads, written by Charlie Major, peaked at #3 (RPM - June 6/92) on the RPM Country 100. Dulce Barbosa of dB Promotions is tracking Van Shelton's single. Montgomery Steele has been nominated for the American Horizon Award. The award will be presented at the Best of Texas annual competition and awards show to be held at the Country Music Jamboree in Magnolia, Texas (Sept. 23-26). The American Horizon Award is presented to artists, songwriters and industry people. They are nominated by various industry organizations who submit a list of those they believe have earned the honour. This year, Kitty Wells and Col. Buster Doss will receive the living legend awards and Lefty Frizzell will be among those inducted into the Hall of Fame. Not one to miss an opportunity to network at awards shows (he attended the recent Big Country Awards), it's expected Steele will be among the nominees at the Texas event which is close to being sold-out.

Farmer's Daughter, who once again hosted the Big Country Awards, were the big winners at the BC Country Music Association's (BCCMA) 23rd annual awards show which was held June 6 in Vancouver. The Universal trio took home the entertainer and group of the year awards, plus the single for Blue Horizon, and album for This Is The Life. As well, the Daughter's Angela Kelman, Jake Leiske and ShaunaRae Samograd, along with Stan Meissner, won the SOCAN songwriter of the year award.

Marty Stuart, now charting with Red, Red Wine And Cheatin' Songs (#84), a Stuart original, is scheduled to help with the groundbreaking ceremony for Nashville's new Country Music Hall of Fame Museum which takes place during Fan Fair week. Nashville's Cheekwood Gallery is featuring an exhibit of Stuart's black and white photographs which he took while he was on the road and in the homes of his many friends across the U.S.. He is currently putting the finishing touches on a book of his photos and the stores they tell. The book, scheduled for a fall release, is titled Pilgrims: Sinners, Saints & Prophets. The Pilgrim, his new MCA Nashville album, which he produced with Tony Brown, is now in the stores. Stuart began his chart happenings on the RPM Country 100 in 1986 with Arlene. His biggest hit was Little Things that peaked at #3 (March. 23/91).

Debbie Bergeron continues to attract attention with her ongoing self-promotion. Bergeron and her band performed at the first BC pre-awards show which was held at Pancho's & Lefty's, where they got rave reviews. There was also a surprise for the Hope artist. She has been working on sponsorship for the band's wardrobe and is now working with CHWK Walmart. She has been working for more than a year with Pennington's, her supplier. Keeping a close watch on Bergeron's happenings is Comstock president Frank Fara with offices in Scottsdale, Arizona. He has been shopping Bergeron's album in the U.S. and expects to land her a major independent label deal. Bergeron and her band Sideline are scheduled for the Clearbrook Agri-Fair on July 9, the Concert in the Park in Agassiz (Aug. 4), and a date in September date (TBA) announced in Hope.
