STEW POT'S LOOK-OUT

THREE BAGS FULL—that's how much silver paper Kevin Moreton, who stars as Sam in the Granada TV series, has collected so far. What's he collecting silver paper for, you may well ask — well, it's nothing to do with sheep! In fact it's for a very worthwhile cause — to help pay for the training of a guide dog for the blind.

Have you ever seen a guide dog in action? If so, you've probably admired the way they've been trained to work. The actual training of these four footed guides takes about four or five months, but their progress is carefully noted even when they're pups, because if they're traffic shy, nervous or easily distracted, chances are they won't make good guide dogs. By the way, about 80% of the dogs used are Labrador Retrievers, although some other breeds are used.

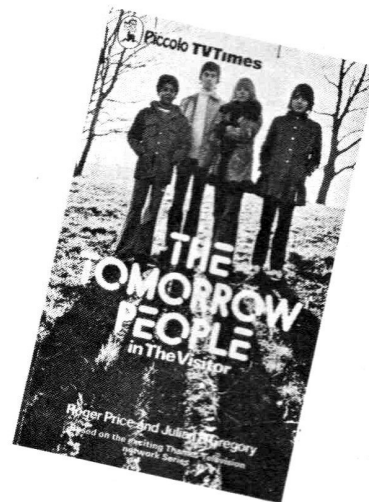

What does all this cost? — Approximately £500 to train a guide dog — or in Kevin's terms, $7\frac{1}{2}$ tons of silver paper! That's a lot of paper, and he sure could do with some help. So if you like the idea, fill in the coupon below, and send your silver paper (clean and free of wrappers please) to the address given. How about it — we're sure a lot of UNITS (dog/owner teams) would appreciate it!

BOOKSHELF

Here's great news for all you 'Tomorrow People' fans! Piccolo has just published a brand new paperback based on the exciting Thames Television series. It's a thrilling adventure called 'The Tomorrow People in The Visitor', written by Roger Price and Julian Gregory.

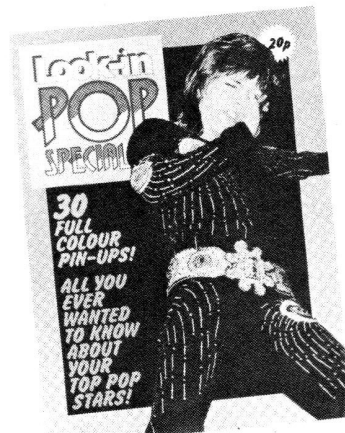

John, Stephen, Carol and Kenny, who seem to be just ordinary kids but are in fact super beings, will need no introduction to you. In this, their first adventure in print, the 'Tomorrow People' are faced with a new and frightening danger. The 'Tomorrow People' want to find out about it and so will you! So hurry and get your copy right away—at 25p it's a bargain! By the way, an exciting new 'Tomorrow People' picture story starts in next week's LOOK-IN.

IN MEMORIAM

LOOK-IN would like to apologise to all readers of the LOOK-IN Pop Special for an error in the Elvis Presley feature. Elvis, of course, has a daughter, Lisa Marie, and not a son as stated by that ignorant dunderhead Laurie Kuhrt who wrote the Pop Special. However, rest assured that Laurie has been well and truly dealt with and will never, but never, make another mistake. Alan Fennell, LOOK-IN editor did what any good editor would do—he 'it 'im on the 'ead. But, a writer to the last, Laurie insisted on composing his own epitaph: Here lies an ex-writer named Laurie

Quite dead at the foot of this quarry.
He erred in his fax so they gave him the axe—
If he were alive he'd be sorry!
Editor: (thinks) If he were really dead, how could he write his own . . . p'raps I didn't 'it 'im 'ard enough . . .

IN 1972 OVER 12,000 CHILDREN under the age of fifteen were killed or injured in road accidents in London alone—an increase of 2,000 on the previous year. In Great Britain last year over 64,000 children were injured—896 of them died.

Consequently, it is rather appropriate that Magpie on Friday of this week is devoted solely to road safety—in the form of the Magpie Challenge Trophy. Competing for this annual trophy will be two teams; representing the County of Durham is the Blaydon Comprehensive School from the Tyne Valley, whilst the Greater London area is represented by the Nork Park County Secondary School, from Banstead in Surrey.

Both teams have five members (four to play and one as reserve)—the Blaydon school have three girls and one boy against the four boys of the Nork Park team. So it's almost boys versus girls—not to mention North versus South.

Both teams have won their way through to this final by winning their own county competition. The Blaydon team came out as winners in their competition which was organised by the Durham Police Traffic Department; and the Banstead team by winning the Metropolitan Police Clearway Trophy.

To do well in any competition requires a great deal of hard work and also, in some cases some sacrifices. Lunch hours are spent studying the Highway Code when friends are having a good time; one boy—Mark Jones from the Blaydon Comprehensive School has even turned down a week's holiday in Norway with his parents in order not to miss this final!

Parents themselves often come in for criticism from their knowledgeable offsprings—usually for errors in their driving procedure. "You shouldn't have done that dad—what you should have done was . . ." etc., etc.

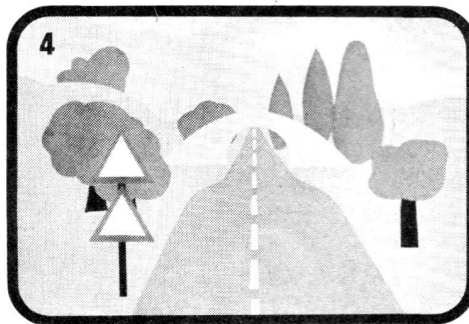

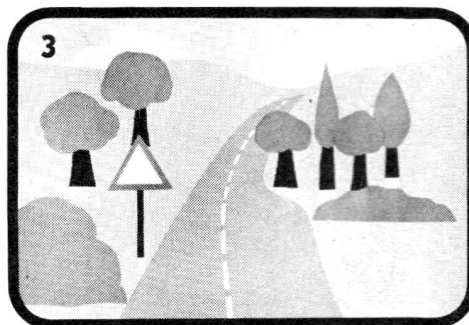

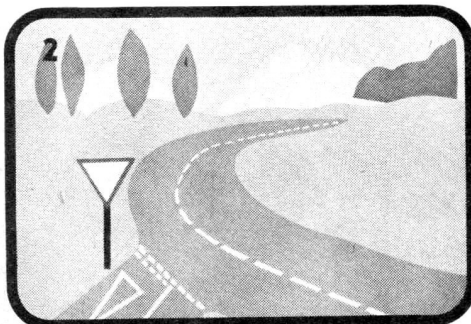

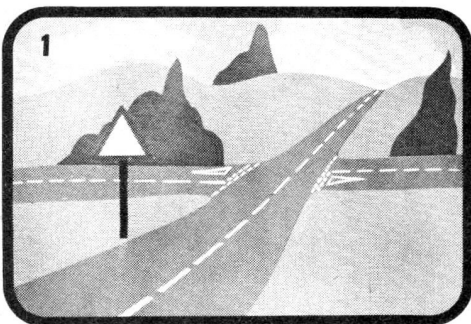

The Clearway

Road Safety Competition

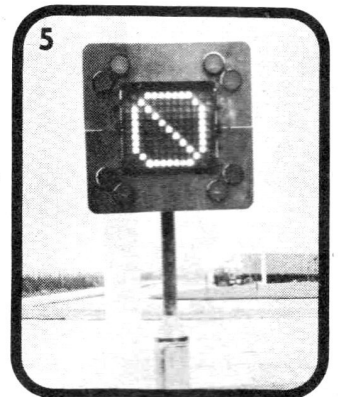

Without doubt the Highway Code knowledge of the two teams in this final is excellent. Is yours as good? Perhaps it's better? One way to find out is to have a go at the following twelve questions. The answers are printed below. But there are no additional marks for recognising Susan Stranks or Douglas Rae who appear in some of the scenes.

QUESTIONS

In questions one to four, the essential detail has been left out of the road signs! Remembering that a triangle denotes an ORDER SIGN and a circle a WARNING SIGN—can you fill in the missing details?

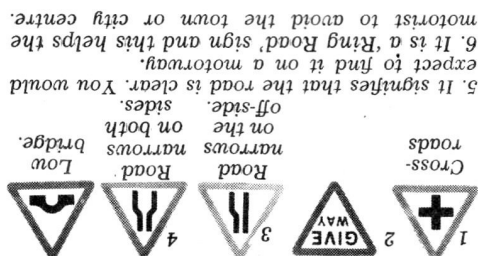

5. What does this sign mean? And where would you expect to find it?

6. What does this sign mean? And in what way does it help the motorist?

ANSWERS

HOW DID YOU SCORE?

9 - 12? Your Highway Code is excellent.
6 - 8? Your Highway Code is good.
0 - 6? Oh Dear. Before taking another step, read the Highway Code!

2 What three pieces of advice are given in the Highway Code to the participants of this scene ?

4 This is a dangerous situation ! How many faults can you find ?

6 This again could be dangerous. Can you spot the two faults ?

1 (a) Do not carry a passenger unless your cycle has been built or altered to carry one. (b) You must not willfully cycle on a footpath by the side of any road made or set apart for the use of foot passengers.
2 (a) Try not to cross between parked cars because drivers may not be able to see you. If you have to, stop at their outside edge and do your Green Cross Code again. (b) Before you reverse make sure there are no pedestrians—particularly children behind you. Be especially careful about the 'Blind Area' behind you, i.e. the part of the road you cannot see from the driver's seat. (c) If you cannot see clearly behind, get someone to guide you when you reverse.

Answers

3 (a) Do not walk next to the kerb with your back to the traffic. (b) If you have children with you walk between them and the traffic. Do not let them run into the road.
4 Do not park or let your vehicle stand on a footpath, pavement or cycle path. Before opening any door of the vehicle make sure there is no one on the road, pavement or footpath close enough to be hit by the door. Be particularly careful about cyclists. Get out on the side nearer to the kerb whenever you can, make sure your passengers (especially children) do so, too.
5 (a) While riding always hold the handle-bars and keep your feet on the pedals. (b) Do not hold onto another vehicle or another cyclist.
6 (a) You must not leave your cycle where waiting is prohibited. (b) While riding, do not lead an animal.

1 What two faults can you spot in this picture ?

3 What two pieces of advice does the Highway Code give to pedestrians walking on a footpath ?

5 This also is very dangerous ! What are the two faults ?

Look-in NEW WORLD

Introduced by Kathie Webber,
TVTimes Cookery Editor.

Poor Knights of Windsor

(enough for four)

eight 1/2 in. thick slices of white bread

1/4 pint milk 1 large egg

2oz. caster sugar 2oz. butter

5 level tablespoons raspberry jam

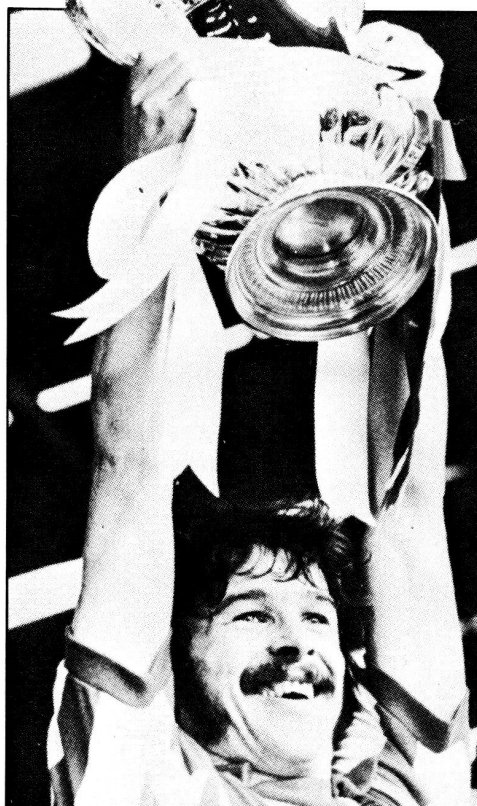

Cut the crusts from the slices of bread. Put the milk and sugar in a dish. Add the egg and beat lightly. Dip the bread quickly into the egg and milk to moisten, dipping bread on both sides. Don't let the bread get soggy.

Melt the butter in a large frying pan and fry the bread until it is golden and crisp on each side. Remove from the pan and spread with the jam. Cut into fingers if liked and serve at once.

Look-in YOUNG FOOTBALLER'S CLUB

By Doug Organ, Editor of Football Academy

It hardly seems possible, does it, that the new football season is only a month away? Here you are, just starting your summer holidays without a care in the world, whilst players are reporting back to their clubs to prepare themselves for their first League game.

Certainly, the soccer season becomes longer and more arduous every year. It is only a couple of months since we were cheering Sunderland for their great F.A. Cup victory over Leeds United, congratulating Liverpool on winning the League table for the eighth time to equal the feat of Arsenal, and sharing the excitement of the Hereford and Cambridge United fans who now look forward to their first taste of Third Division football after only a short spell in the Football League.

So, while you are relaxing on some sunny beach, spare a thought for all the footballers who are now busy training to make sure they are match fit and ready for the big kick-off! And on the next rainy day, to give yourself something different to do, why not sit down and write to tell me who you think will win the two major trophies this season? I mean, of course, the League Championship and the F.A. Cup. I have already made my selection and there is a £1 book token waiting for the first LOOK-IN reader who picks the same two teams. Are you a member of our Young Footballer's Club yet? If not, fill in the coupon and send it to me and you will receive your membership card plus details about our famous GOLD STAR Award scheme.

Sunderland's captain, Bobby Kerr, proudly holds aloft The F.A. Cup.

Please enrol me as a member of LOOK-IN Young Footballer's Club.

Send to: Football Academy, LOOK-IN Young Footballer's Club, 40 Buckingham Palace Road, London, SW1 W0RE. I enclose Cheque/P.O. for 10p.

Direct from Television . . . first instalment of a great new picture story . . .

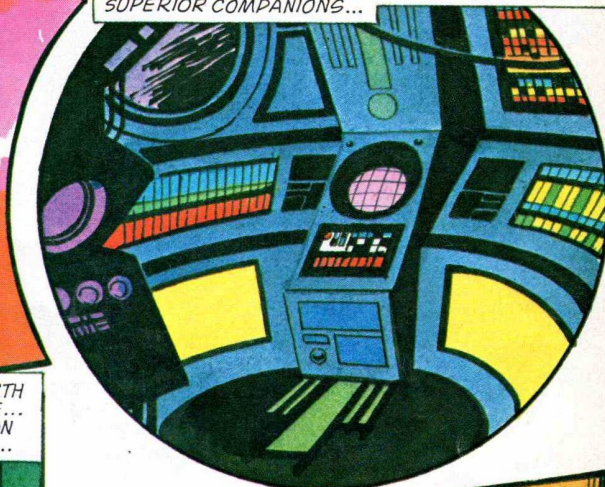

THE TOMORROW PEOPLE

ORBITTING AROUND THE EARTH, MANY OBSOLETE AND FORGOTTEN SATELLITES, LAUNCHED BY BOTH AMERICAN AND RUSSIAN SPACE AGENCIES, HAVE PASSED INTO HISTORY AND BECOME SPACE JUNK. ONE SUCH OBSOLETE PIECE OF DEBRIS HOWEVER, HAS BEEN GIVEN A NEW LEASE OF LIFE... BY THE TOMORROW PEOPLE...

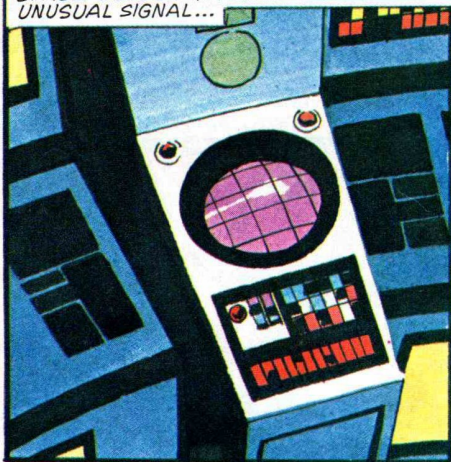

NO OUTWARD SIGNS SUGGEST THE IDENTITY OF THE NEW OWNERS, BUT WITHIN THE SHELL OF THE SATELLITE, MANY CHANGES AND NEW INSTALLATIONS HAVE BEEN MADE BY JOHN AND HIS HOMO SUPERIOR COMPANIONS...

THE SATELLITE IS LINKED TO THE EARTH BASE OF THE TOMORROW PEOPLE... A DISUSED TUNNEL OF THE LONDON UNDERGROUND RAILWAY SYSTEM...

THE CONVERTED CRAFT IS THE TOMORROW PEOPLE'S EARLY WARNING SYSTEM OF EXTRAORDINARY DEVELOPMENTS IN DEEP SPACE. SUDDENLY, A SCANNER DETECTS AN UNUSUAL SIGNAL...

THE CODED INFORMATION COLLECTED FROM SPACE IS FED INTO TIM, THE TALKING BIOTRONIC COMPUTER...

INFORMATION FROM SATELLITE TP1 RECEIVED. CYPHER PROCESSING COMPLETE. JOHN TO REPORT TO LAB - IMMEDIATELY!

JOHN, STEPHEN, CAROL AND KENNY HAVE BEEN RELAXING IN ANOTHER PART OF THE BASE. THEY HURRY TO THE LAB...

ALIEN SPACE SHIP ON POSITIVE COURSE FOR EARTH... DIMENSION... EXTRA TO PHASE EIGHT!

GOSH, THAT'S SOME SIZE! LET'S SEE IT, TIM!

AN IMAGE TAKES SHAPE ON A NEARBY SCREEN...

WHERE HAS IT COME FROM, TIM?

ORIGIN... STELLA SYSTEM B4... SMALL PLANET, SIMILAR ATMOSPHERE AND G FORCE TO THAT OF EARTH. PLANET DESIGNATED 274... UNNAMED...

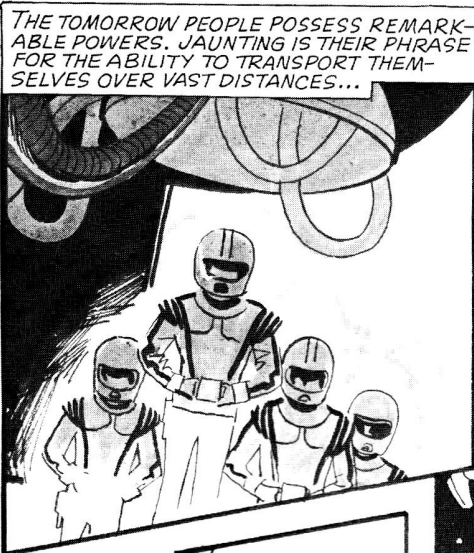

I WONDER WHAT THEY WANT? ONE THING'S FOR SURE... WHEN THE NEWS GETS OUT, THERE'LL BE ALL SORTS OF PROBLEMS!

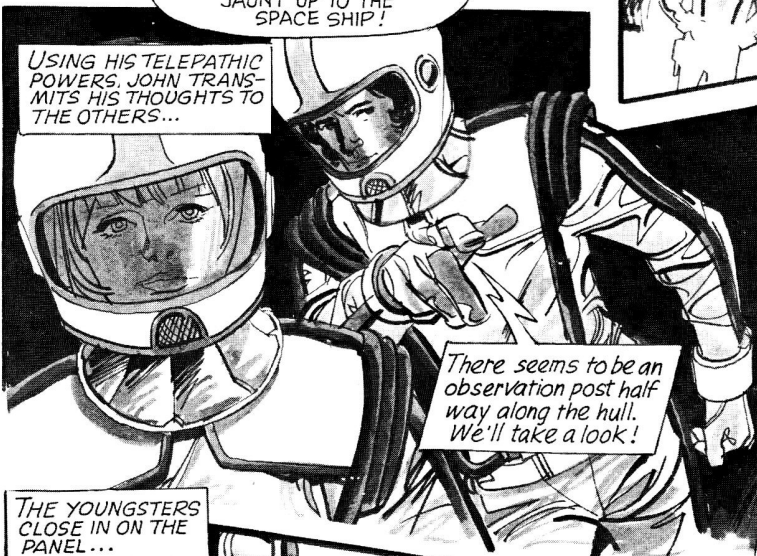

JUST IMAGINE THE REACTIONS OF THE WORLD POWERS. NO ONE WILL BE ABLE TO MOVE FOR TANKS AND SOLDIERS.

H'MM! SOME WELCOMING PARTY! NO! WE'VE GOT TO FIND OUT ABOUT THEIR INTENTIONS BEFORE THEY ARRIVE. COME ON, WE'LL JAUNT UP TO THE SPACE SHIP!

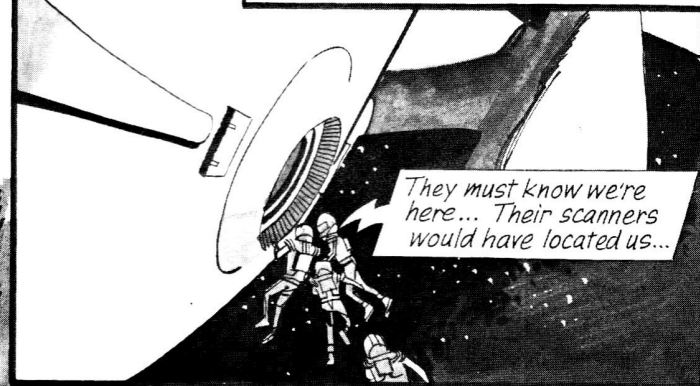

THE TOMORROW PEOPLE POSSESS REMARKABLE POWERS. JAUNTING IS THEIR PHRASE FOR THE ABILITY TO TRANSPORT THEMSELVES OVER VAST DISTANCES...

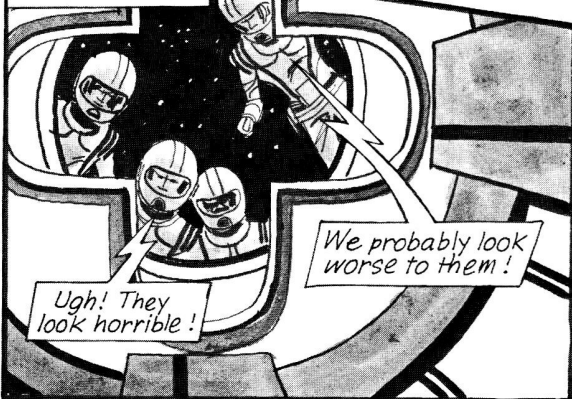

USING HIS TELEPATHIC POWERS, JOHN TRANSMITS HIS THOUGHTS TO THE OTHERS...

There seems to be an observation post half way along the hull. We'll take a look!

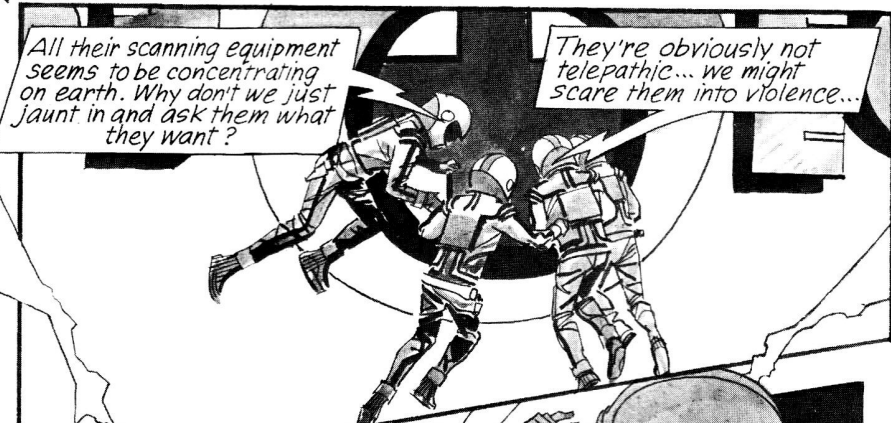

They must know we're here... Their scanners would have located us...

THE YOUNGSTERS CLOSE IN ON THE PANEL...

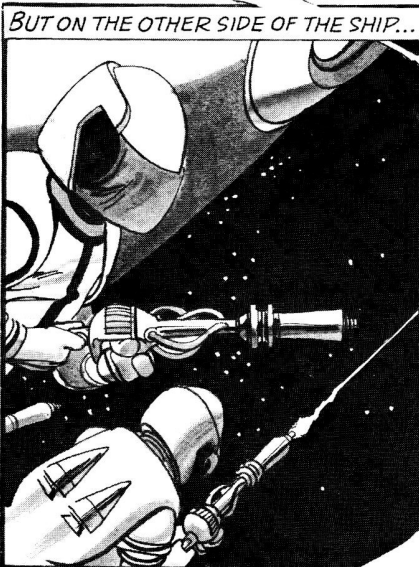

We probably look worse to them!

Ugh! They look horrible!

All their scanning equipment seems to be concentrating on earth. Why don't we just jaunt in and ask them what they want?

They're obviously not telepathic... we might scare them into violence...

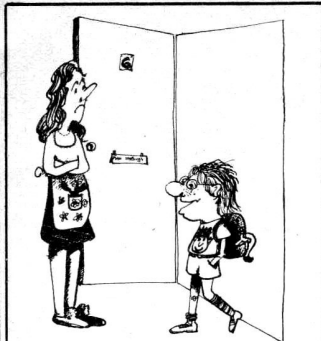

BUT ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE SHIP...

SUDDENLY...

Next week: treachery!

"The headmaster has asked for my resignation."

David King, Birmingham.

BAG GRABBER

My unusual hobby is collecting handbags. Some I buy new and others I pick up at jumble sales. My mother complained that they were always blocking the cupboards when she wanted to put anything away, so I had to get rid of a few—but I still have more than twenty.

Gina Gibbs, Aldeby, nr. Beccles, Suffolk.

★ Better get your prize broken down into small change, Gina: then you'll have something to put in each of them!

SHOT DOWN

In LOOK-IN issue 21, a 'ghost plane' appeared in the 'Pathfinders' story. It was a Sopwith Pup, a World War I fighter, which was shown outmanoeuvring a Messerschmitt and making it crash. I think that would have been impossible. Also, Wing-Commander MacPherson talked about "an old Pup with twin Vickers". The Pup was armed with only one Vickers (sometimes with a Lewis gun as well); it was the Sopwith Camel that had twin Vickers.

Raymond Foster, Enfield, Middlesex.

★ Well, Raymond, it could be that the shock of seeing the 'ghost plane' would have caused the Messerschmitt to crash. But you're quite right about the armaments: the Wing-Commander is going down in flames right now!

STAR LETTER

I wonder if any other reader has moved house as often as I? I was born in Scotland, and four months later we moved to Dover. Then we moved to London, then to Stratford-on-Avon, and then back to London again. We spent three months at Whitby, Yorkshire, followed by another short period in London—and then back to Scotland for five years. Next we went to Southport for two years, to Penrith for four months, back to Southport, and then to Oxford. At the moment, we're living in Folkestone.

Norrie Barnett, Folkestone, Kent.

★ You sound like the original gypsy rover, Norrie... could it be you live in a caravan?

RICH PIG

The other evening, when my brother dropped some loose change on the floor, mum told him to put it in his 'piggy bank'. I've asked everyone why a pig is used as a money-box, but no one seems to know. Do you?

M. C. Jacobson, Crosby, Liverpool.

★ The custom is very old: in Tudor times, apprentices were given 'piggy boxes' containing money at Christmas. Our picture above shows another way of saving—during Edwardian times, teachers collected pennies from their pupils which were then deposited in a bank account.

★ Win £2 for the Star Letter and £1 for any other letter or joke published on the Your View page.

Why not write now to Your View, LOOK-IN, 247 Tottenham Court Road, London W1P 0AU? Remember when you write—enclose a list of your six favourite features in order of preference.

Don't forget if you'd like to see your photograph in LOOK-IN, please send in one when you write, and we'll try to print it. However, we regret that photographs cannot be returned.

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

Tracy Waby, Neath, Glamorgan.

Nicholas Brown, Basildon, Essex.

Anjum Uppal, Fallowfield, Manchester 16.

Tracy Chapman, Cheshunt, Herts.

Fiona Barfoot, Swansea, S. Wales.

CHEEKY

While fishing with my little brother looking on, I caught an old glove. I tossed it on to the bank, and my brother immediately snatched it up and peered inside. "What are you doing that for?" I asked. "Looking for fish fingers", was the prompt reply!

Gordon Hobkirk, Edinburgh, Scotland.

★ A joke like that deserves a great big hand!

SWEET SLEEP

After my brother and I have read LOOK-IN, it has another important use. My dog enjoys tearing it to bits—and then my pet mice have what's left for their bed!

Anthony Udogaranya, London, S.E.15.

★ They must enjoy reading in bed... hope their laughter doesn't keep you awake!

YOUR VIEW

A great new story starts this week!

THE ADVENTURES OF DAVID CASSIDY

A CAREFULLY ANONYMOUS CAR TAKES DAVID CASSIDY TO A TOWN ON AMERICA'S EASTERN SEABOARD, WHERE HE'S DUE TO WORK A TRIPLE CONCERT...

NO CROWDS LINING THE STREETS, MISTER CASSIDY!

GOOD THING, MAC. I WANT TO GET THERE ON TIME! FORTY-FIVE MINUTES, AND THE FIRST CONCERT STARTS!

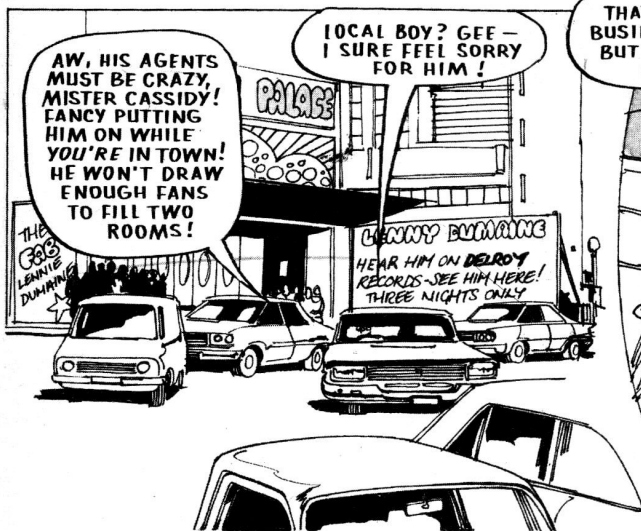

AS THEY DRIVE THROUGH THE CENTRE, THEY PASS A THEATRE — WITH PITIFULLY SPARSE QUEUES WAITING...

HEY! THAT ISN'T THE PLACE, IS IT?

RELAX! SINCE WHEN DID YOU EVER DRAW A HANDFUL OF FANS? THAT'S THE DOWNTOWN PALACE — LENNY DUMAINE APPEARING...

DAVID HAS LITTLE MORE TIME TO THINK ABOUT LENNY DUMAINE. WITHIN HALF AN HOUR, HE'S READY TO GO ON STAGE AT THE CITY METROPOLE...

AW, HIS AGENTS MUST BE CRAZY, MISTER CASSIDY! FANCY PUTTING HIM ON WHILE YOU'RE IN TOWN! HE WON'T DRAW ENOUGH FANS TO FILL TWO ROOMS!

LOCAL BOY? GEE — I SURE FEEL SORRY FOR HIM!

THAT'S SHOW BUSINESS, I GUESS. BUT I STILL THINK IT'S ROUGH...

SLAY 'EM, BOY! JUST LISTEN TO 'EM YELL!

THAT'S JUST THE WAY I LIKE IT!

THE DEAFENING SCREAMS DIE AWAY AS DAVID BEGINS HIS FIRST NUMBER...

"YOU'RE THE ONLY WOMAN FOR ME..."

OOOH, MERVIN! ISN'T HE THE GREATEST? I MEAN, ISN'T HE ABSOLUTELY FABULOUS?

OH, YEAH. YEAH, SURE, ARIENE. THE LIVING END!

THAT... THAT VOICE! AND THAT FACE!

LISTEN, I SAID HE WAS GOOD, DIDN'T I? DO YOU HAVE TO GO ON DRIVELLING?

MERVIN! I KNOW I PRACTICALLY FORCED YOU TO BRING ME HERE... BUT I CAN'T LIVE WITHOUT THAT MUSIC! I CAN'T... I REALLY CAN'T!

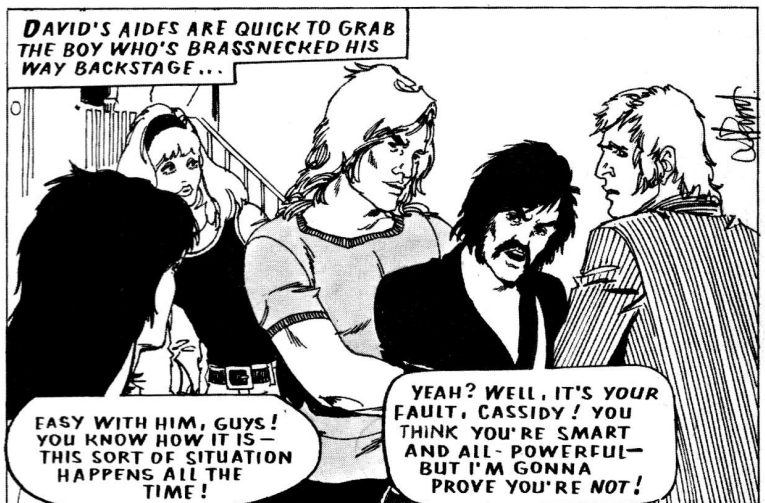

MERVIN...? MERVIN...? OHMIGOSH! HE'S GONE!

IT ISN'T UNTIL THE INTERVAL THAT ARLENE FINDS HER BOYFRIEND. IT ISN'T DIFFICULT...

HEY, FELLER! WHAT'S EATING YOU?

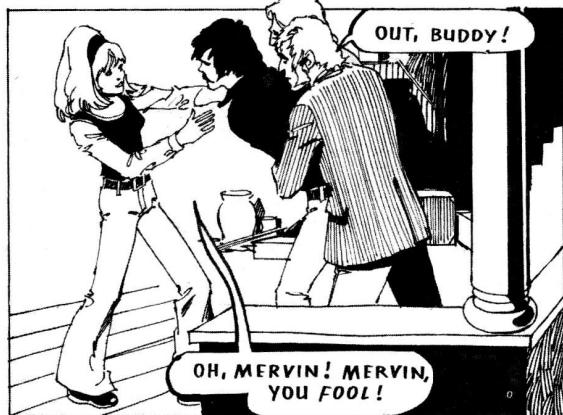

YOU ARE, CASSIDY, MY GIRL ARLENE THINKS YOU'RE SOME KIND OF GOD AND IT BUGS ME!

DAVID'S AIDES ARE QUICK TO GRAB THE BOY WHO'S BRASSNECKED HIS WAY BACKSTAGE...

EASY WITH HIM, GUYS! YOU KNOW HOW IT IS - THIS SORT OF SITUATION HAPPENS ALL THE TIME!

YEAH? WELL, IT'S YOUR FAULT, CASSIDY! YOU THINK YOU'RE SMART AND ALL-POWERFUL - BUT I'M GONNA PROVE YOU'RE NOT!

OUT, BUDDY!

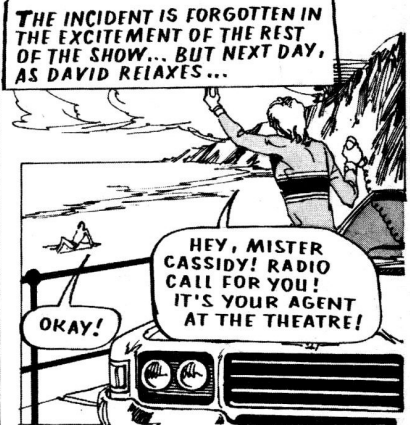

OH, MERVIN! MERVIN, YOU FOOL!

LEAVE ME ALONE! I'VE GOTTA THINK! I'M GONNA GET EVEN WITH CASSIDY!

WOW! I'VE SEEN SOME HOTHEADS, BUT HE BEATS ALL!

DON'T WORRY! HE'LL CALM DOWN. THEY ALWAYS DO!

THE INCIDENT IS FORGOTTEN IN THE EXCITEMENT OF THE REST OF THE SHOW... BUT NEXT DAY, AS DAVID RELAXES...

HEY, MISTER CASSIDY! RADIO CALL FOR YOU! IT'S YOUR AGENT AT THE THEATRE!

OKAY!

YEAH, THIS IS DAVID! YOU... YOU WHAAT? WRECKED? ALL OF IT?

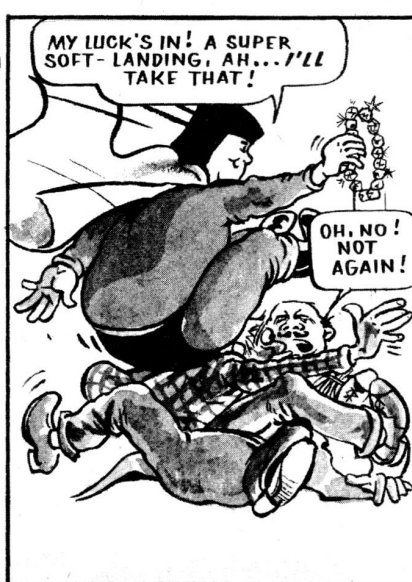

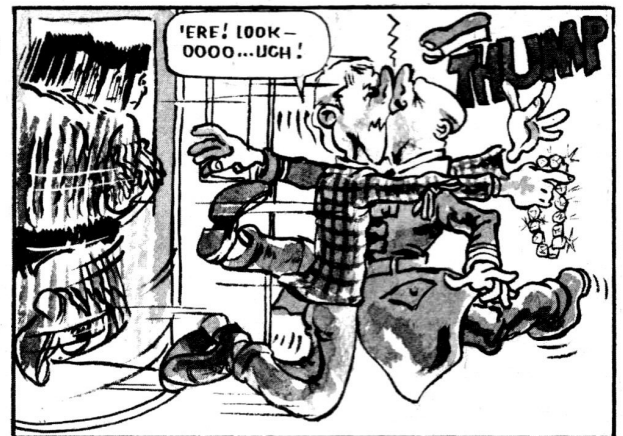

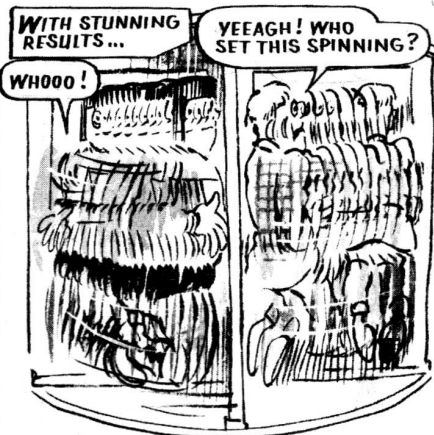

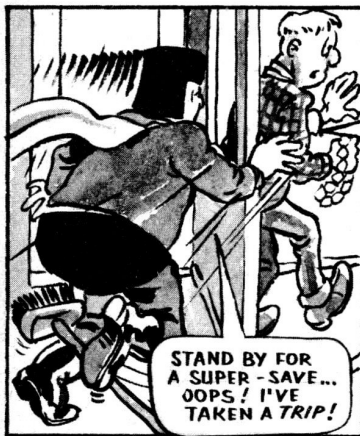

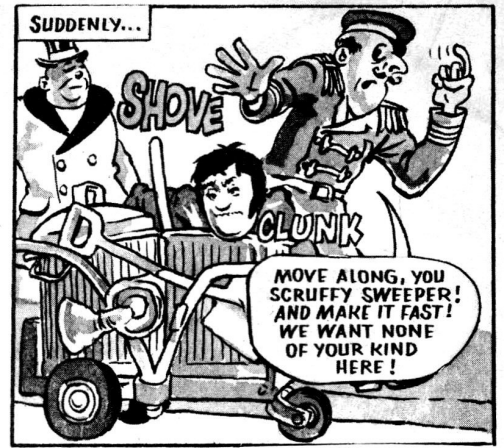

ALL OF IT, DAVID! SOMEONE GOT IN HERE DURING THE NIGHT AND SMASHED EVERY MICROPHONE, EVERY AMPLIFIER! I'M SORRY BOY, BUT WE'VE GOT TO CANCEL THE SHOW!

Next week: a threatening call!

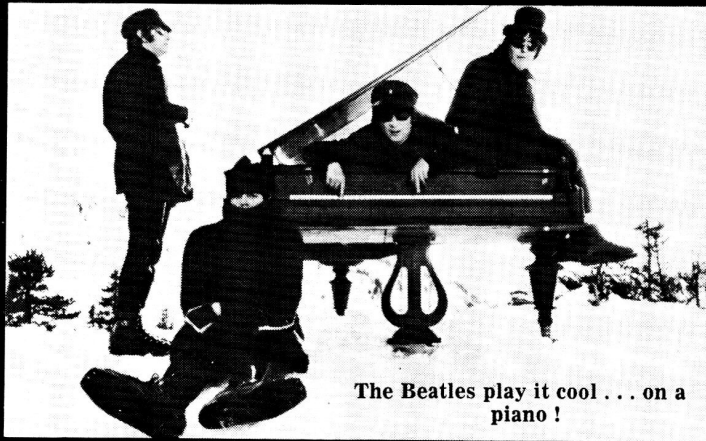

Stand by for a super spin!

LES DAWSON IS SUPERFLOP

More fun with the costumed clown next week!

GEORGE, RINGO, JOHN

The Beatles play it cool ... on a piano !

AND PAUL (A BRIEF BREAKDOWN OF POST-BREAK-UP BEATLE BEHAVIOUR)

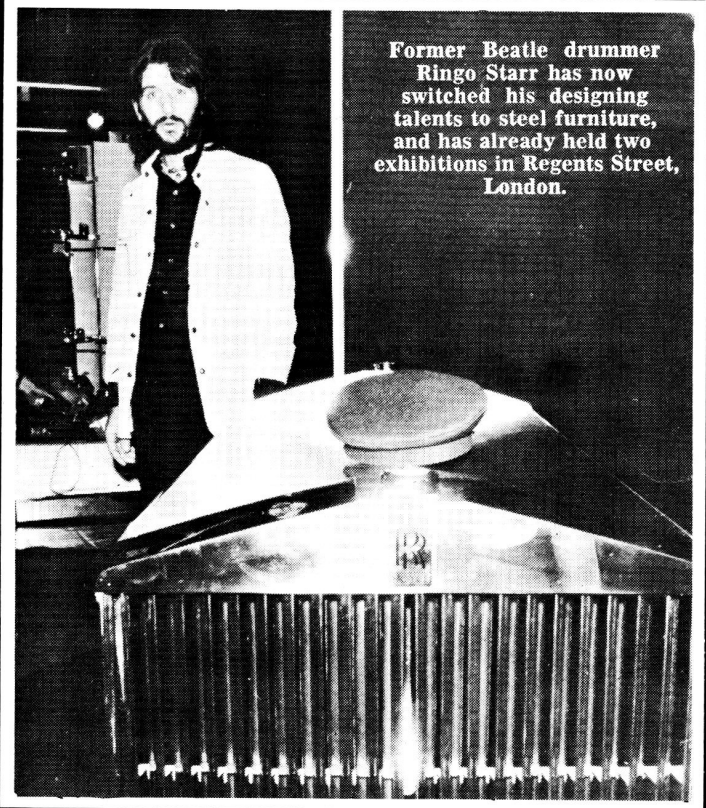

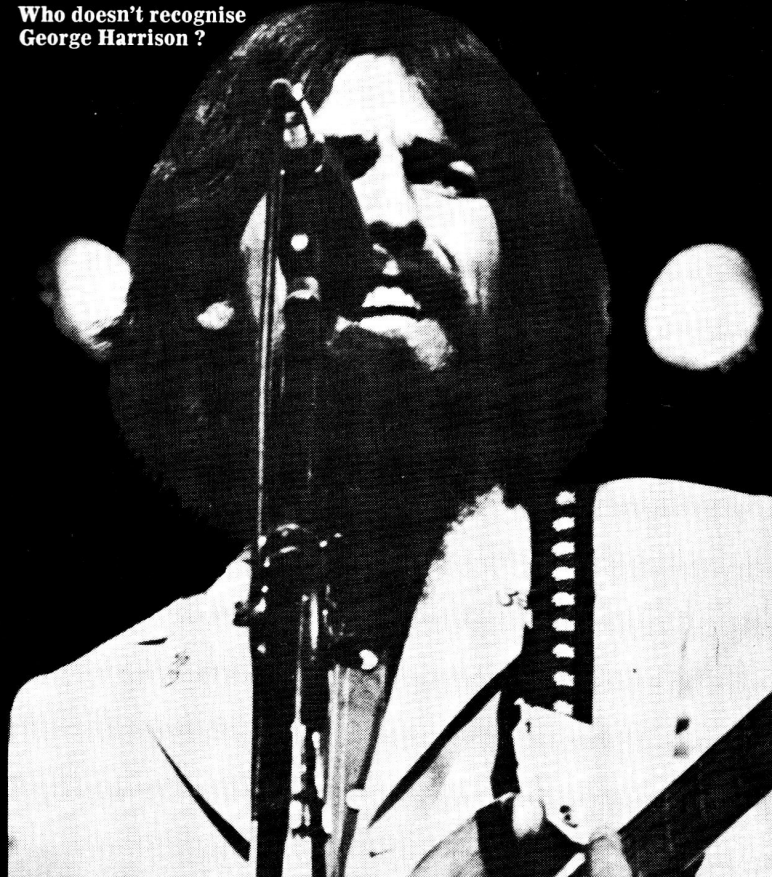

In 1970 the most famous pop band of all time split up. What have the Fab Four been doing since? Will they ever get back together? Look-in traces the Beatles' separate activities since 1970 and makes a prophecy about the future.

GEORGE

Voted top male vocalist in 1971 (as John was the following year) George Harrison has gone on to gain a mighty reputation as a solo artist. Like John and Paul who have both written songs about the trouble in Northern Ireland (and been banned by the BBC for being so naughty) George has, since the Beatles split, become interested in what's going on in the world. In 1970 he became involved with the Hare Krishna movement and his single 'My Sweet Lord' was one of the results.

But his greatest social achievement was the concert he gave in aid of the children of Bangla Desh with Ringo, Dylan, Leon Russell, and sitar player Ravi Shankar. The concert, the album of the concert, and the film of the concert raised no less than £6,000,000 for the refugees. The single 'Bangla Desh' came out in July 1971, and in June this year 'Give Me Love' was released. His albums have been 'All Things Must Pass' (November '70), the Bangla Desh album (January '72), and now 'Living In The Material World'.

Who doesn't recognise
George Harrison ?

Former Beatle drummer Ringo Starr has now switched his designing talents to steel furniture, and has already held two exhibitions in Regents Street, London.

RINGO

It was Ringo Starr who put the Beat into Beatles. And although the ex-drummer is still drumming (he appeared in George's sensational Bangla Desh concert), writing (he wrote his hit single 'Back Off Boogaloo'), and recording sessions with his friends for their own releases, his main interests now are designing furniture and making films. Ringo's designs, mostly made from steel, have been twice exhibited at Liberty's in London's Regent Street. His most famous item is a coffee table with the ends made from Rolls-Royce radiators which sold for £1,400. People used to be able to afford Rolls with their coffee. But Ringo's not proud. He made a table for his Apple office from an old manhole cover he found in George's garden.

Apart from his film acting roles (as opposed to his coffee table Rolls) Ringo has made a film called 'Blind Man' which the British film censors think is too violent to be given a certificate, and of course his film of Marc Bolan's concert 'Born To Boogie'. But his latest film is called 'Count Down' and stars friend Harry Nilsson as a sort of hippy Dracula and Ringo himself as Merlin the Magician. Ringo is worth his weight in gold—but then he always had a nose for business.

John and his wife Yoko in a thoughtful mood.

JOHN

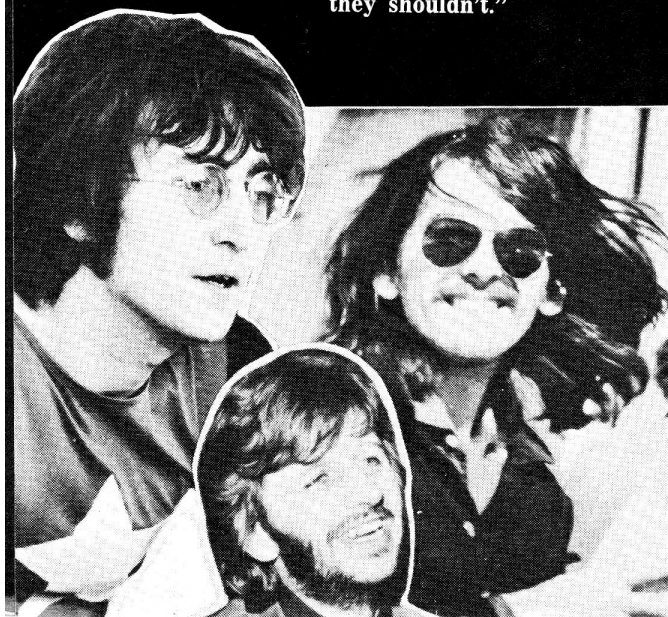

John Lennon's Japanese wife Yoko Ono has been the target for a fair amount of mud-slinging since the Beatles split up, as has Paul's wife Linda. Some people blame Yoko for the split but John says there were differences between him and Paul before Yoko arrived on the scene. In any case, Yoko has been a great influence on John and his work and John says she is as important to him "as Paul and Dylan rolled into one." John and his 'Plastic Ono Band' have released two singles, 'Power To The People' in March 1971, and 'Happy Christmas—War Is Over' in November 1972. But it's John's two albums that really illustrate the change in his style. The first was 'Imagine' released in October 1971 and the second 'Some Time In New York City' released last August. 'Some Time' is aggressively simple and about social and political problems—gone are the clever images and the humour. Now Lennon has something urgent to say and he says it.

PAUL

In 1970 Paul McCartney shocked and saddened the pop world by leaving the Beatles because of a dispute over management. Now another change in management has made the possibility of a Beatles' reunion more likely than it has been for three years—and Paul seems to be the one who's quietly pushing towards it. After the split it was sometime before Paul regained his confidence, but then with the formation of his band 'Wings', Paul got back in his stride. With a TV spectacular under his belt and a 'Wings' album 'Red Rose Speedway' recently released, things are looking good. Paul has also been busy writing the now familiar theme for the latest James Bond film 'Live And Let Die'. It was Paul who split with the Beatles, but when he was asked recently about their getting back together he said, "Providing everything was all right and planned properly, I can't think of any reason why they shouldn't."

Who's acting rather sheepishly? Yes, it's the one and only Paul McCartney and Wings.

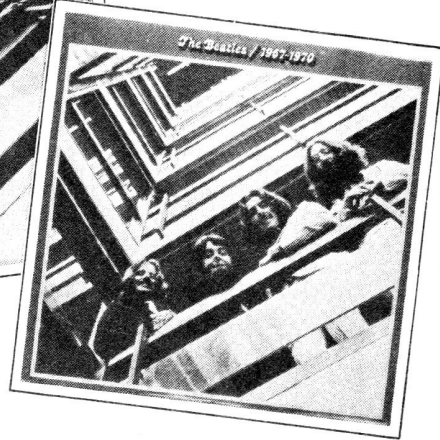

BEATLE REUNION

Recently an album has been recorded with all four Beatles featuring on different tracks. Will they reunite? Apart from Paul's comments recorded above he also said in May, "We may do one or two projects together although we will not tour." Last December, Ringo said: "We're together again. Not as a band. We're not going to be a band again." And in November, John said: "None of us would ever think of playing together again until somebody asked us." Look-in's guess is that they will record with each other and for each other—but there will never be a Beatles band again. That's cool. You get more for your money the way it is.

ANOTHER FANTASTIC COMPETITION!

WIN A 4-IN-1 LP

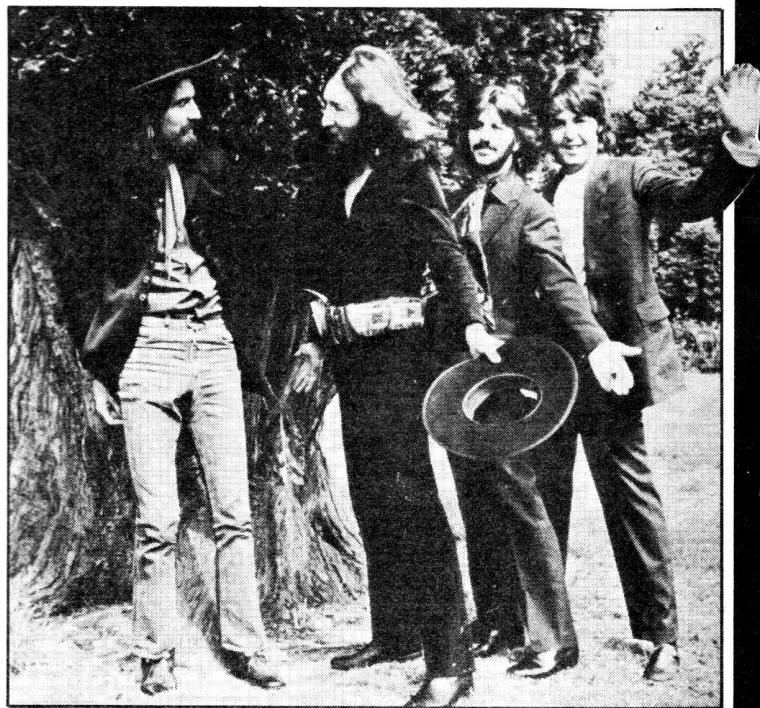

Here's a chance for you to have a super collection of the Beatles' biggest hits and be the envy of all your friends. LOOK-IN is offering five sets of the Beatles' latest double albums—covering the period from 1962-66, and from 1967-70 to the first five lucky winners in this easy to enter record competition. What this means is that each of the winners will receive four LPs. What more could any Beatles fan ask?

All you have to do is find the answers to the five simple questions listed below. Write your answers in the spaces provided on the coupon. Fill in your name, address and age. Then cut out the coupon and send it attached firmly to a postcard to: LOOK-IN, Beatles Competition, P.O. Box 141, London SE6 3HR.

The senders of the first five correct entries pulled from the mail bag after August 6th, 1973, will each receive a set of the above mentioned LPs.

HERE ARE THE QUESTIONS

1. The Beatles once appeared at a well known club in Liverpool where many of today's top stars also played. Name the club.
2. Paul McCartney produced Mary Hopkins' first smash hit. What was it called?
3. What is Ringo Starr's real name?
4. What was the name of the cartoon film the Beatles appeared in?
5. What was the title of the Beatles' first number one hit record?

2. In 1901.
3. Approximately 15,000.
4. No. Some forces also use plastic handcuffs. These have no locks and have to be sawn off.
5. 1937.

Not the usual sort of crowd at Lords—below, fans are delighted with comedian Leslie Crowther who played for the All Star Team.

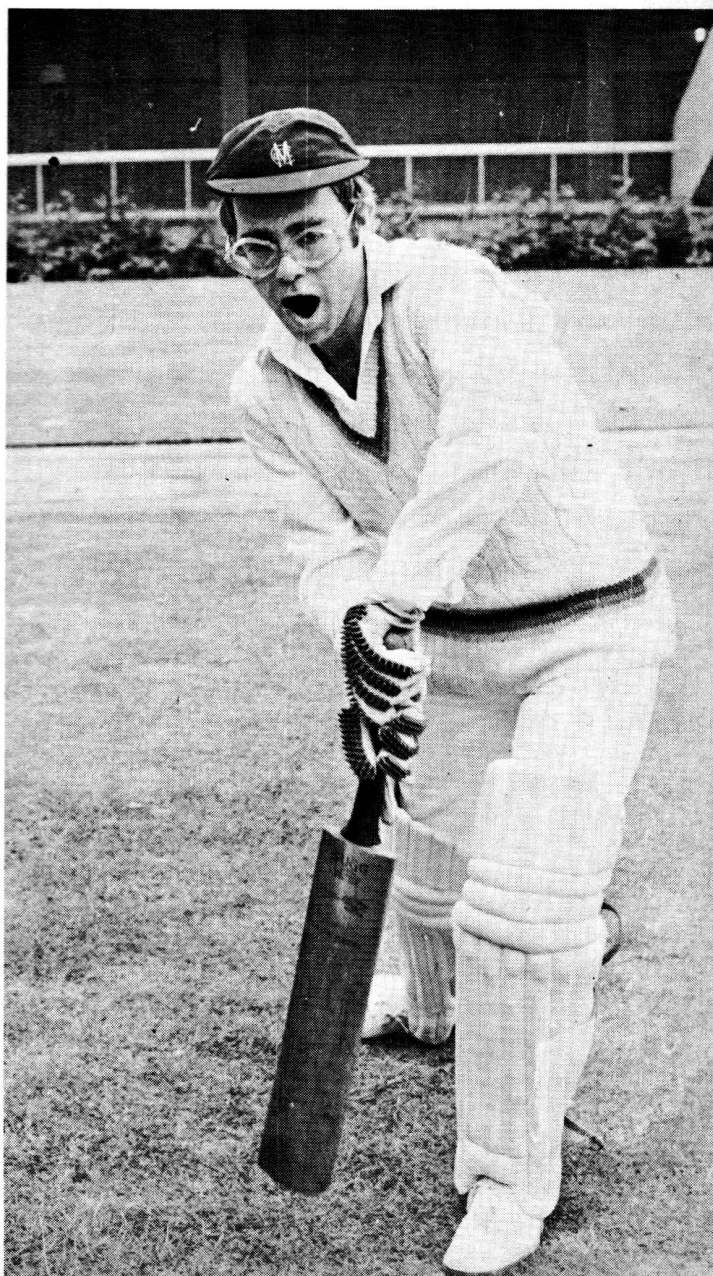

No—it's not the old school cricket team—but an All Star Show Biz Team plus Freddie Titmus and West Indian bowler, Wes Hall.

CRICKET WITH THE STARS

What happens when eleven show biz stars get together? They hold a cricket match of course! If it's cricket, then it must be Lords—and that's where it all happened when the All Star II met Middlesex at a benefit match on June 10th. It wasn't exactly a sunshine and ice cream day, but neither was it the usual sedate crowd who filled the stands.

The well ordered calm of Lords was shattered as enthusiastic teeny boppers and happy autograph hunters swarmed all over the pitch—after all, it's not often you get so many stars together!

Elton John

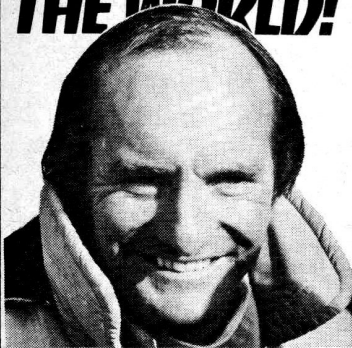

But if you think that all cricket matches are dull, tedious affairs, you'd have been in for quite a surprise that day. After all, if you'd known that pop star Elton John was playing, you'd have been pretty excited, wouldn't you? (You didn't know he played cricket—well, neither did we!) No, he wasn't wearing any of his wild stage gear—Lords wouldn't allow it. Still, white flannels couldn't hide the distinctive Elton John style, even if he's more at home at a pop concert than the cricket pitch.

Powerhouse

Besides Elton, keeping their end up for the All Stars were disc jockey Ed Stewart, several actors like Ray Barrett, who for once wasn't trouble shooting, Malcolm McPhee from the rascally Fenn Street Gang, those two masters of chat, Michael Parkinson and David Frost, and to make sure that it never got too serious, comics like Leslie Crowther, Peter Cook and Dudley Moore. But just in case you're wondering, "there was some pretty good cricket" according to Vic Lewis, who organised the event. Mind you, the opposition must have been something fierce because that powerhouse from the West Indies Wes Hall was bowling!

The match was in fact a benefit for one of the top cricket players, Fred Titmus, who has played for England. Apparently, cricket is not one of the sports through which you grow rich, so benefit matches come in mighty handy, and when you've got an all star cast and an enthusiastic crowd, it all adds up to jolly good cricket.

Written for LOOK-IN
by Mike Hailwood

As the Motor racing season really gets in full swing, the calendar becomes busier and busier. Quite often Formula 1 and Formula 2 races are taking place on the same day but in different places. This happened on the 20th May when Jochen Mass was in the "MATCHBOX" car in Sweden and I was in Belgium with the Formula 1 team.

A run of bad luck had so far prevented Jochen from finishing a race in the "MATCHBOX" car. He was therefore making the long trip to Sweden to notch up his first championship points.

The TS-15 was really running well at the Kinneulle circuit and Jochen soon set fastest practise time to secure pole position on the grid.

The race was held over two heats—the winner being the driver with the best overall time.

However, there was no problem in deciding the winner as Jochen Mass in the "MATCHBOX" car won both heats in convincing style. As well as winning, Jochen also set fastest lap in both heats.

Looks like "MATCHBOX" Team Surtees is back in winning form so watch out, Jarier, we're after your head!

How to choose your perfume by the stars — Part 1

The only way to choose perfume is to match it to your personality. And since personality has so much to do with the stars and the sign you were born under, why not be guided by the Zodiac to find your own personal perfume? And nowadays it is so much easier, because you can actually blend your own perfume yourself by buying, at about 30p, individual perfume oils like Musk, Sandalwood, Jasmin, Amber, Verbena, Mandarin and Ylang Ylang, and mixing them together in your own recipe. It makes it much easier to buy perfume presents too — as long as you know your friend's birth sign.

CAPRICORN — December 21st — January 19th (Earth Sign)

Your qualities are imagination, determination and loyalty. This can make you ambitious, but deep inside you are soft, gentle and romantic. Your friends may not know it but your loyal qualities make you the best kind of friend to have.

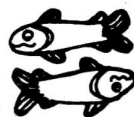

Your perfume should be the warm, earthy tones of Musk, laced with something sweet like Mandarin or Jasmin.

AQUARIUS — January 20th — February 18th (Air Sign)

You are an individualist, and a tomorrow person. Others call you a trendsetter but to you that's not important—you just dig the unusual. If they want to copy you later when they find the courage, that's fine by you, but meanwhile you are into something different—like Patchouli oil, the most unusual perfume around. Of course, you found it first.

PISCES — February 19th — March 20th (Water Sign)

Your parents or teachers may say you have no sense of reality, or no money sense, but people who really know you find you artistic and interesting. OK, so you live in a dream world, but with your sensitive and romantic qualities you see a completely different side of life. Your perfume is a mysterious mixture of flowery Jasmin, earthly Musk and smoky Amber. Mix them together on your skin—you know what you are looking for.

ARIES — March 21st — April 20th (Fire Sign)

You tend to be an extrovert—all your qualities are outgoing. You're a born optimist, and people love you for your courage and generosity. As you grow older you will be able to keep all those nice qualities and be successful—you're that kind of person. You don't need a provocative perfume; you have the confidence to wear a subtle scent like Sandalwood.

OUT OF TOWN

EDITED BY JACK HARGREAVES

New Prisoners in the Tower

The Tower of London has held many famous prisoners since it was founded, traditionally, by Julius Caesar about 2,000 years ago. (Although Caesar's part in the business is a legend, it's certain that the White Tower, completed under the Normans in about 1097 A.D., was built on the remains of a Roman fortification). But the new 'prisoners' who may arrive there this summer needn't fear that they'll share the fate of Sir Thomas More, Anne Boleyn or Sir Walter Raleigh—who all lost their heads on Tower Hill!

For the new arrivals will be joining a small and privileged company. They'll find friends of their own kind waiting to welcome them: 'Merry', 'Hectora', 'Kala II', 'Jarvey', 'Crora', 'Jet' and 'Grogg'. In case you haven't already guessed, these are the ravens who share the duty of guarding the Tower with the 'beefeaters'.

Maybe you've read newspaper reports about the raven chicks rescued in Anglesey, after their nest had been destroyed and their parents driven off by vandals. It's not absolutely certain—at the time of writing—if these chicks will go to the Tower: the Governor of the Tower intends to consult the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds, to see whether the young birds would have a chance of survival in the wild, before taking them on to his staff.

The raven, a member of the crow family, is now quite rare in Britain—although it is hoped that the population, mainly concentrated in south-west England and Wales, and notably, on the Scottish Islands, is now increasing once more. You'll have little trouble recognising a raven if you're lucky enough to see one in the wild: it is much larger than a crow or rook, with a massively powerful beak and glossy black plumage with a purple sheen.

The raven's Latin name, corvus corax, sounds as ugly as its harsh croaking cry. The bird has an ugly reputation, too: its English name comes from the belief that, as an eater of carrion, it made a habit of following armies marching to battle, in order to 'raven' (to feast greedily) on the bodies of the slain! The bird's popularity can't have been helped by the fact that the banner of the Danes who terrorised Saxon Britain was a raven-embroidered flag carried at the head of their armies.

In fact, the raven—which feeds on small mammals as well as carrion—is an extremely intelligent bird. Like the parrot and jackdaw, it makes an affectionate and faithful pet—and can be taught to 'talk'. But don't get too familiar with the 'tame' ravens at the Tower of London: 'They know me well,' a warder who feeds the Tower ravens their regular ration of raw meat told LOOK-IN—"but I wouldn't advise anyone else to try to handle them!"

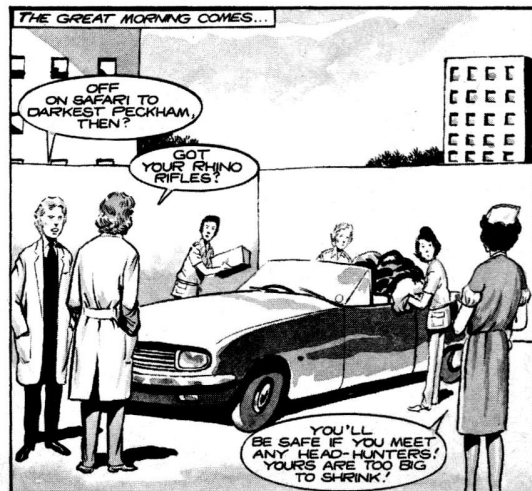

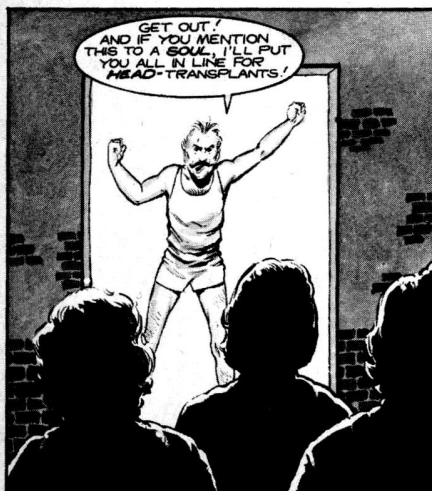

You might be interested to know that the ravens have been there longer than the Tower itself. What is now the East End of London was once a great forest, and when men first began to build there, the fortifications attracted the ravens who saw them as good nesting-sites. So closely are ravens connected with the Tower that there is a belief that if they fly away, the Tower will crumble to dust!

Not that 'Merry' and company are likely to leave... even if their flight pinions were not clipped to discourage them from taking wing. They have too good a life, with the admiration of thousands of tourists every year. A long life, too (although stories of ravens living for over a century are just fables).

Two views of the historic Tower of London — as it appears today, and below as it appears in an old engraving.

C319 Lamborghini P400 GT

The ultra-quick Lamborghini Miura competes with Ferrari and Maserati for the title of the fastest road car in the world. Powered by 3929cc's of highly sophisticated transverse Italian engine, its top speed range is 160-180 mph dependent on what gear ratios you select. Take £10,000 out of your piggy bank and order one today. If you don't want to go on the waiting list, buy our model.

C396 Datsun 240Z U.S. Rally

Whenever Japanese sports car fans gather, the talk turns to the Datsun 240Z. It has established itself as one of the most rugged and reliable rally cars in the world. Its beefy 2393cc engine prompts the lightweight coupe body from 0-60 mph in 8.3 seconds. And it'll press on all day at its maximum 125 mph. (Figures not included).

C459 Raygo Rascal Road Roller

Next time you come across road builders see what sort of road roller they're using. If it's heavy yet speedy and manoeuvrable, it's probably a Raygo Rascal. Our model is finished in safety yellow with orange wheel hubs and a swivelling heavyweight roller. If the road's up it'll soon be down once the Rascal goes to work.
