ERIC BURDON in action

Friday and Sunday by Keith Altham Saturday by Norrie Drummond

QUITE a nice Windsor Festival, marred by just one or two nasties—as the Small Faces discovered when closing the show on Friday night.
Alter only twelve minutes and three numbers, the authorities cut off the power on the stroke of midnight. All it needed was for Steve Marriott to turn into Cinderella to complete the pantonime but he would never have got the part on account of his language!

Publicity department blamed the Faces for turning up late. The Faces blamed the Administration for keeping them 'hanging about' for 20 minutes after they arrived, The bosing audience of some 6,000 blamed anyone who came into a large the state of the sound of people enjoying themselves after-hours. People in Richmond decided last year that folk in Jeans and beards lying around on the grass made the place unitdy, and left great many of the enlighthered populace no doubt take their holidays abroad and see those quaint Flestas which go on for weeks—night and day! But we don't want that kind of thing in Windsor, do we?

Sometimes I think the English bave forgotten how to enjoy themselves.

Will ever the two componises?

Enjoying himself was Eric Burdon, conducting a cross-channel link-up with a French broadcasting station from a Festival caravan, aided by a man from a Festival caravan, aided by a man from said the BBC man. "Marijuana: "interrupted Monsieur Burdon, screaming his a French broadcasting station from a Festival caravan aided by a man from said the BBC man." Marijuana: "interrupted Monsieur Burdon, screaming his message for Europe down the microphone and clutching his "boiletle de Graves."

Eric Burdon and the New Animals were well received by the Festival audience on a cramped stage where likelering strobe lights attempted to give some liusion of a compon than the component of the proper back where likeling a trobe lights at attempted to give some liusion of a compon than the properson of the properso

Saturday

IT was a wet and terribly uneventful Festival on Saturday. The audience appeared apathetic and most of the artists gave only mediocre performances. Certainly many of the acts appearing tried to be different, but the diverse musical tastes of the very varied crowd and the poor weather did little to induce any enthusiasm.

People who went into parcoxysms of ceatasy when Paul Jones appeared sat leaden-faced throughout Arthur Brown's act (and vice-versa).

CARL WAYNE of the MOVE smokes a hatchet-pipe used during his act. GENO WASHINGTON puts on a big smile, and PAUL JONES holds his audience with a torrid song.

Some of the kids in the audience were pop fans and most of them were hippies. But if the hippies were expecting to turn staid old Window into another Haight Ashbury, they must have been sadly disappointed. Certainly all the bells and beads and flowers and incense were there but the atmosphere was not. The artists did their best but few managed to inject any life into the audience. Paul Jones, who appeared on stage wearing a multi-coloured poncho and blue trousers, worked tremendously hard. He minered and postured around the stage backside after a particularly energetto burst. Nonetheless Faul gave a first-rate act of uncomplicated, commercial pop. Probably the highlight of Saturday night's show was a comparatively new group The Crazy World Of Arthur Brown. A lean six-footer, Brown made his spectacular entrance by being swung high over the crowd and lowered on to the stage by an enormous crane. Arthur is more of a showman than a pop singer. Colourful outlits. A point and used special lighting effects to illuminate his Zoot Money, with his new Dantalian's Chariot backing group, and the Amen Corner both worked extremely hard to liven up the crowd, but they didn't have a lot of success.

Sunday

"OFT," said the podgy man in the green-and-white bullseye tee shirt, bulls jeans, dark glasses and carrying a black rolled umbrella. "Love," replied.

"I don't care who you are," replied Deputy Security Director Conn, "there are too many people out here. Don't argue with me—you've got to go."
And thus he cleared the area directly in front of the Festival stage of Press hippies. A beautiful thought but one which left me in much doubt, As an invited guest of the Organisation to report the Festival it seemed reasonable that some place might be allotted from which I could see it.

However you do not argue with Security Officer Conns it has been my expericant the country of the conns in the properties of the country of th

HERE'S NOTHING BIG-TIME ABOUT OUR TOM

I LOOKED at the name Tom Jones at No. 2 in the NME Chart this week and I suddenly remembered my dad coming home from a club in Pontypridd one night about six years ago. "Son." he said, "I saw a young singer tonight who could knock that Tommy Steele into a cocked hat. Name of Tommy Woodward he was. And you should have heard him playing his guitar—marvellous!" This Tommy Woodward had just joined my dad's concert party. Dad did tap daneing, but the concert party also had an operatic tenor and a comedian. Tommy was for the young folks!

I remember thinking: "This singer might be O.K., but I'll bet he's not as good as Tommy Steele!"
Anyway, I got to hear a lot about this Tommy Woodward after that. He lived in Lauta Street in Trust, and the supplementation of the concert and the work of the concert and changed his name to Tommy Scott. Quke a celebrity he was becoming.

In fact, over all South Wales I would say that Tommy and changed his name to coming occurring he was becoming.

In fact, over all South Wales I would say that Tommy Scott and the Senators became the biggest local attraction there was, Everybody used to shout: "When you goin' to Lundon, lads? When you gonna show them Beatles a thing or two?!"

Beatles a thing or two?!"

Beatles a thing or two?!"

Tom Jones—I mean Tommy Scott!—had been with the Senators a little while when I joined as drummer.

vellously earthy sense of humour—in fact, Tom's sense of humour helped us through some of the hard times we had before "It's Not Unusual; made the charts. I remember when we litst came to London: to record for Joe Meck, k was. We were excited out of our minds about that. We really thought we'd made it. We travelled down in the van and we spent a day recording Goe had been introduced to us by some managers we had then, Myron and Byron. Don't ask me their full names—they never told us!)

The months just went by after that, but no record was released. Tom was dead choked, and he wasn't the only one. After that we more or less just did gigs in South Wales and got to think we'd probably never be famous.

South Wates and got so summer.

Amous.

When we came back to London our new manager, Gordon Milk, used to give us a pound a day each to live on. I don't know what we would have done without Gordon—he gave Tom and us our break, and he more or less looked after us for about a year before "It's Not Unusual." Nearly £2,000 Gordon paid out.

ence. You smile and move. Later I returned and reviewed the back of Donovan's head over the shoulder of some thirty other people from the side of the stage. To be fair this seemed to me to be Donovan's Featival. He sang peetry on he Sunday afternoon for almost an hour and the cellos, violins, bass, guitar, rounds to his songs. He sang of magnies and ravens and September and love and the magic land of Camelot. To his credit people like Sevie Winwood, Andrew Oldham. Denny Cordell and Eric Clapton watched for some four numbers from cramped corners where the ampoileation was distorted before leaving for the refrashment tent. 7,000 spectators stood on their seats and cheered.

Hippies show off fashions

Dut in the grounds beyond the stage the hippies recled around and smiled and showed off their coloured robes. Some wore indian jackets of gaily coloured patterns which are saddy mass produced and all similar, Others expressed some patterns which are saddy mass produced and all similar, Others expressed some control of the stage of the saddy draws and like fained frees patters. Some lay on the ground with their eyes closed and their ninds open—all nice people.

Donovan is probably the King of the Nice People and while the flower children floated in their coloured dreams and dreases, he sat on a wooden seat, sipping his orange juice, dressed in white shrit and blue jeans, and taking to Dad and Aunite Frances. He manager, Ashley Kozaks, clad in a black cloak, howered "I'm nice of the saddy hangles and baubles had gone. "I'm living in Hatfield now with my father. We've just been recording—there are so many good things it's difficult to find a single—we just keep going on."

Burning Of The Midnight Lamp "/" The Stars That Play With Laughing Sam's Dice" (Track).

A SHATTERING disc from Jimi Hendrix that absolutely rivets you to the spot. I suppose that basically it's a blues -but you'd scarcely recognise it as such with all the incredible goings-on behind Jimi's impassioned vocal.

There's a sitar effect, an insistent itar figure, powerful drum umps and strange surrealistic humps and strange surreatistic chanting.

It's one of those dises that's almost impossible to describe—but the combination of the soloist's frantic blues shouting and the spine-tingling pulsations created by the Experience is really something.

Bound to be another big one!

FLIP: A reverberatine backing, laden with twangs and oscillations, carries Jim's dual-tracked voice along in this tongue-in-cheek bunk of psychedelia. Runs over four minutes, and the top side lasts 33 minutes.

JIMMY RUFFIN

 Den't You Miss Me A Little Bit Raby 'Tsanis-Motows'.

It's largely the mixture as before from Jimmy Ruffin, with a sound that's unmistakably Motown—a heavily accen-tuated beat, shimmering strings, pun-tuated beat, shimmering strings, pun-tuated beat, shimmering chanting from a girl group.

The tune isn't outstanding by any means, but Jimmy's gospel-ish belting holds the attention—while the irresistible beat will doubtless appeal to "Mine (Kiss Me Goodnight)"]" When There Was You" (Columbia). A N unashamed sing-along in the same pattern as "Tears," but with rather more of a beat. It's a hummable tune, with a lyric that's adapted from the original French by Norman Newell.

Group joins in the chorus—and the melody is so simple that you'll find yourself singing along on the very first play.

It's corny and sentimental, but it's right up Doddy's street and will doubtless appeal to his thousands of Jans. And quite frankly, when it comes to this type of material, no one can put it over better than Ken.

FLIP: This is more of a quality ballad, and Ken shows that he can handle a romantic lyric with finesse and delicacy. Sparkling arrangement.

ERIC REFLECTS ON WASTED PAST

*"Good Times "Anit That So " (MGM).

AN extremely good record—and very commercial, too. It's a reflective lyric in which the singer regrets the manner in which he has wasted his past. And as you can imagine, Eric Burdon injects the utmost sincerity into his intense bluesy styling.

We've come to expect unusual discs from Deram, and this is no exception, and this is no exception, aborthand typist, but it's treated in amusing novelty style.

There's a gay, semi-martial beat, with a corny brass band backing and piecolo obligato—and strangety, occalific a real blues-chaser and good fun. Buggest you give it a listen.

Fi.IF: A change of style, as the Cuppa T abandon their mickey-taking style in favour of a serious rendition of this philosophic medium-pacer. Nice scoring.

OZING with saccharine, dripping with corn and bursting with sentiment, this is bound to be another smash for Engelbert. It's more than square, it's cube—but it's loaded with sing-along appeal and nostalgia.

The rhythm is blatantly an old-ashioned waltz—litting and swaying maybe, but hardly the stuff for mod dancers.

The verses aren't particularly inspiring, but the disc really comes alive in the four-times-repeated chorus, which is very catchy and find the same of the control of

P.J. Proby guests in BBC-1's "Dee Time" next Thursday P.J. Proby guests in BBC-1's "Dee Time" next Thursday 24th—it will be his first TV appearance in this country since February, 1966. Other guests on that date include Rog Whittaker, the Peddlers and Annette Day, who is Elvis Presley's leading lady in the film "Double Trouble."

The Jimi Hendrix Experience and the King Brothers join Engelbett Humperdinck in Tuesday's edition of the Simon Dee series (22nd). Hendrix is also set for "Top Of The Pops" next Thursday.

Paul Jones, Anita Harris, Adam Faith and Peter and Gordon are among artists booked for a new BBC-1 series of outside broadcasts titled "Let's Away," starting next Monday (21st). The shows focus on the off-duty pastimes of show business personalities. Freddle and the Dreamers and the Caravelles demonstrate their swimming abilities in the opening edition.

Cat Stevens, former pirate d-j Tony Blackburn, Jessie Matthews and Tsair Chin guest on the panel of "Juke Box Jury" on Saturday, August 26. So far set for the following edition (September 2) are Georgie Fame and Simon Dee—an intriguing booking, as Dee's own show will shortly be taking over the "Juke Box Jury" Saturday evening spox.

ARRIVING in Britain on Monday for a two-month visit, THE Seekers have been offered their own series of eight half-hour BBC-1 shows to be screened next spring. whether this is the date of the first show of the start of telerecording.

The Seekers have already been offered another American tour which would coincide with this period. But it seems almost certain that the group will decline the U.S. offer in favour of the TV series.

Manager Eddie Jarrett told the NME: "The quartet leaves on September 30 for an extended tour of U.S. coReges—and it's remarkable that even though this has not yet begun they have already been invited back for a second tour. However, I feel sure we shall have to decline the offer. The BBC-1 series must obviously take precedence."

Major TV series set for Engelbert Humperdinck

ENGELBERT HUMPERDINCK will, after all, star in his own ATV series this year-even though he will be making a major concert tour during the period set for transmission. Screening of the six half-hour shows begins during the week of October 30, although the exact day varies from one region to another. London-area viewers will see the shows on Friday nights starting November 3.

Plans for the Humperdinck TV series were exclusively revealed in the NME in April—but in view of his autumn concert tour it was announced last week that the TV project had been shelved until next spring. However, ATV expressed its wish to go ahead, and because of this arrangements have been made for Engelbert to telerecord the series before his tour Starts.

Filming of the shows will begin in mid-September and continue until the first week of October. A format has not yet been fully agreed, but it is expected that a big-name pop guest will appear in each edition. Opening venue for the Humperdinck tour has now been set—at Slough Adelphi on Thursday, October 26. Serported last week, Anita Harris will be the main taking over the following day.

The tour will now continue uninterrupted until December 3, which means that there will not now be a week's break hall-way through the itinerary. The Rockin' Berries have been booked for the whole of the tour although one or two additional attractions have still to be announced.

CLIFF RICHARD flew to Portugal last weekend for a three-week holiday before beginning work on his fifth film musical with the Shadows. Casting and preliminary rehearsals for the picture—which as exclusively reported in the NME in March, has a war background—begin next month. It is hoped the movie will go into production in mid-October.

The Shadows have already begun writing the music for the film. They are composing several featured songs as well as the entire incidental score.

MOVE SET FOR SALVATION

EMI is reactivating its Regal-Zonophone label-for several years the main outlet of Salvation Army material-with a completely new and progressive pop image. First release under the new banner will be the Move's first single since leaving Deram-and an announcement that Procol Harum had also joined the Regal stable was expected yesterday (Thursday). It is believed the label will become largely the exclusive outlet for all material produced by and for Denny Cordell.

Because of the imminence of the Move's "Flowers In The NEW RELEASES FROM Rain" release-out next Friday (25th)—the group's switch to Regal-Zonophone was officially confirmed this week. Procol Harum's future outlet is still the subject of speculation. but it is virtually certain the two former Deram groupsboth recorded by Denny Cor-dell's company and snaring the same manager—will continue under the same banner.

Regal and Zonophone were originally separate labels, but amalgamated in the 1930's to become EMI's cut-price outlet. After the war, the label was inactive for ten years and was then revived specifically for Salvation Army recordings—its one appearance in the NME Chart was with the Joy Strings' It's An Open Secret' in 1964. It now looks as though the label is destined to become EMI's answer to Decca's Deram.

The Move has cancelled its projected trip to America at the end of September—the fourth time it has called off plans for a debut visit to the States. Reason for the latest postponement is that the group feels its status in America is still not appearances there. However, the Move has now signed a three-year contract with Norman Weiss of America's huge GAC agency, who is currently in the process of setting-parance.

Dusty album due

Dusty Springfield's next LP has now been completed—titled "Where Am I Going," it is scheduled for late September release by Philips. A new single will be issued at about the same time, but titles have not yet been selected from the numerous tracks. Dusty has recently recorded. She left London on Tuesday for her Californian holiday before commencing the string of Far Eastern engagements reported in the NME last week.

ROWE BACK SOON

Normie Rowe returns to Britain next month to cut a new single and LP with recording manager Mike Hurst. Before leaving Australia, he will complete a 45-minute TV documentary titled "Homecoming." Negotiations are in progress for the British screening of the programme, which shows the excitement caused by Normie's recent return to his homeland.

It was announced last weekend that sales of the Beatles' "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band" LP have topped half a million in Britain alone. On Wednesday, an EMI spokesman said that the figure is "now approaching 600,000"—the album has now been at No. I in the NME LP Chart for 12 successive weeks. This week British sales of the group's "All You Need is Love" single also passed the half-million mark.

Release date of the Traffic's first LP has been put back until November, to enable the group to concentrate on preparing its stage act. Issued by Philips on September 1 is the double-album "The Walker Brothers Story"—it features all the group's hits and will retail at 38s.

Warner Brothers' movie adaptation of the musical "Finian's Rainbow" is now in production in Hollywood, and the three principal stars are here pictured on the set with the film's producer—fleft to right TOMMY STEELE, producer JACK L. WARNER, FRED ASTAIRE and PETULA CLARK.

Cat is sad

IT was a rather disheartened Cat Stevens I met this week. He was sad for a number of reasons. The stage musical he has been working on has been turned down by most theatre managements in the West End. His latest single, "A Bad Night," hasn't come up to his expectations (though it's No. 21 this week) and Cat now feels it's time to extend his career into other spheres of show business.

to extend his career into other sphe.
"I'm at the crossroads now," he told me in a pub next door to his parents' restaurant. "I don't know how long I can continue as a pop singer. Bad Night' was an experient. I'm not sure if it has worked out. I'm a little disappointed that it's not doing better but I'm glad I took the chance."

By NORRIE DRUMMOND

Since he first appeared on the pop-scene just ten months ago, Cat has had four hit records and an LP in the best-sellers. He was one of the stars in a West End Christmas show and also "Everything happened at once for me," said Cat, sipping vodka-and-lione. "I didn't have enough time to sit down and ask myself "What pext?" I was just being carred along by st all. But now I must decide.

The trouble with this film is that it lacks discipline. It begins well (and amusingly), but the whole thing eventually tries to become so self-righteous about war it loses its point. MAKING their first adult night club debut in Los Angeles, the Four Tops demonstrated their ability to appeal to more than just record buyers when they opened at the Cocoanut Grove this week.

Though the Tops kept their hits "Baby I Need Your Loving," "Shake Me, Wake Me," Bernadette," and their current Turn To Stone" in their nearly ninety-minute show, most of the songs were Broadway show tunes or standards, some of which came off better than others.

Big Lil struck up the old familiar tune. But this time, no tomorrow morning. No news, daft lingles, echools spot, nothing. It was frightening when Hig Lil stopped, and for ever, 266 on the medium waveband became nothing. Empty, I durined quickly to the old, familiar 259, and I must say I have never felt so proud of anyone as Caroline's Robbie Daie then. He stayed on. He welcomed obvious newcomers from London. He saluted London as a stater and asked for one-minute silence on Caroline's Bouth to mourn the long, long allence of London, that Caroline South and her Northern sister ship were alone. Keith was born on December 6, 1946, stands 6ft. tall, has blue eyes and auburn hair. He names the Beatles and the Byrds as his favourite groups. He is also very definite about one thing. He dislikes "grouples who stick flowers everywhere."

To see more of Keith: he will be appearing on "Top of The Pops" next week. Hs. TV debut was held up for a week however.

Keith explained that he should have been appearing this week but because the music score for the band on the show the music score for the band on the show the should been written it was decided that he should appear a week dater. J.R.
