TIME FOR BOND

INIQUE Bonos. that's what Susan Charrell (Your Page. June 29) called Sonny and Cher. Ha! What a laugh, fancy trying to compare the fantastic Ofarims with the Bonos, well I'm sorry, you can't because the Ofarims are much more sophisticated and superior to Sonny and Cher. Only one number one record and Esther and Abi have acquired fame in Britain, their own T.V. show and they are liked by both young and old.

Can the Bonos sing in 13 languages! Could they fill the Albert or Festival Hall, two nights running for two and a half hours. singing English, Hebrew. Yiddish, Spanish, Italian. Yugo French. German and slavian. Portugese, Russian songs, with the audience so quiet you could hear a pin drop? Could they produce a marvellous album like the Ofarims "2 in 3". And, as for the Bonos performance in "The Man From performance in "The Man From Uncle". Well, if that's an example of their acting ability. I'm not surprised their movie" Good Times has not been released over here. No, there's no comparison between the Ofarims and the Bonos. because the Ofarims have teen going for a long time and will still be going strong when Sonny and Cher are dead and forgotten in the entertainment world. The Ofarims are not going to be one hit wonders, so Miss Charrell stop picking on the Ofarims because YOUR one hit wonders aren't heard of anymore. — Yvonne Larkins, 7 Kipling Place, Stanmere, Middlx.

S & G AGAIN

AM slowly going out of my mind. Why? Because it seems that I am the only person in Great Britain who appreciates the great, dynamic duo Simon and Garfunkel. (Correction, I must add that John Peel also has good taste). After having rummaged through every record shop in Southampton. emerged, triumphantly clutching the most beautiful LP I have ever heard, "Parsley, Sage, Rosemary and Thyme". Please listen to this album, although it is almost two years old, the songs and words of the poetic Simon will live for ever, in particular "For Emily Wherever I May Find Her's and "The Dangling Conversation".

Actually, I'm writing this in the hope that somewhere in our sad nation, somebody will recall "The Sound Of Silence", "I Am A Rock" and "Homeward Bound", and remembering how they loved those records, rush out and buy "Mrs. Robinson2, also "Bookends", Please stir your memories, advance on the record shops, demand "Mrs. Robinson" and take it to Number One Am I writing in vain? I hope not. I can't be the only Simon and Garfunkel fan, can I? — Miss Andy Walker, 90 Burke Drive, Thornhill, Southampton, Hampshire.

VAL: Ninety-nine per cent of 'he mail received after Mr. Fullman's comments was, in fact, in support of Simon and Garfunket, so judging from this, Andy, you're not alone!

BEING an avid Simon and Garfunkel fanatic I awaited the release of their new L.P. "Bookends" eagerly and arranged with my local record retailer to collect it on the day of release (Widely advertised as last Thursday). And, what did I find? "Bookends" withheld until next month and an S & G L.P. entitled "The Graduate" substituted. Well, the grossly inflated price of this, plus the 14 titles on the sleeve seemed to be a pretty fair guarantee of some really sensational S & G songs, But what did I find when I brought it home and played it? A collection of old Paul Simon numbers that every admirer of the duo would have already, plus a discordant, disjointed cacophony of trash by somebody called David Grusin. And, although 14 tracks were listed, more than one was duplicated on the flip of the album, and many lasted no longer than 25 seconds!

When is this cold-blooded exploitation of the record buyers going to end? What kind of idiots do they think we are? I had to pay £2 9s. for this rubbish—the first person to write to at the above address can have the L.P. for 3d. And I feel very guilty about charging as much as THAT for it.—Ian R. Thomas, I North Crescent, New Moston, Manchester 10, Lancs.

VAL: As mentioned on "Your Page" w/e July 6, this album is the soundtrack from the film of the same name. A CBS spokesman informed me that the tracks are recorded exactly as they are featured in the film, and thus "Mrs. Robinson" and the theme tune "Sounds Of Silence" are repeated. Every song, however, is clearly listed on the album cover. The additional music by David Grusin is in the form of the tracks "Singleman Party Foxtrot", "Sunporch Cha cha cha", "On The Strip", "The Folks", "A Greater Fact" and "Whew". These tracks are included to recreate the atmosphere of the film.

The release date of "Bookends" is now scheduled for July

the REPORK REPORT

ONNY Bono, with wife Cher in attendance, made a discreet announcement that they were expecting their first child—around 21,000 people were present. Occasion was a mammoth "Soul Together" concert at New York's Madison Square Garden, in aid of the Martin Luther King Fund. And it drew the biggest crowd that the Garden has seen (the new premises opened earlier this year) to see headliners Aretha Franklin, Sam and Dave, the Young Rascals, Sonny and Cher, Joe Tex and King Curtis.

Jimi Hendrix appeared briefly on the stage when he donated a personal cheque for 5,000 dollars to the fund, but didn't play. Sonny and Cher flew in from the West Coast to make the gig. Joe Tex went on first because he was due to play in Tennessee later that same evening—it was that kind of show. Sam and Dave appeared with their fantastic 13-piece brassy band, all singing, all dancing and Aretha watched their applause as the concert closed. Fans crowded the stage for the last couple of numbers but dee jays managed to cool them by ending the show with a mass sing-in.

The audience filed out singing "We Shall Overcome", which was the concert's main theme.

Lord Sutch appeared briefly on New York screens in a TV show from Cleveland, Ohio. He talked about his friends in the House of Lords, why he didn't take his seat there, and how the Queen and Duke of E. liked to go to Windsor Castle at weekends "because they've got a nice flat there" . . . Bill Graham is closing New York's hippy haven, the Fillmore East, and moving to new premises in the City. He intends to close the old Fillmore with a mammoth group-in. Any group is invited to come and jam together.

Jeff Beck's New York success story continues — he drew the biggest crowd the Scene Club here has ever had and has a new LP, titled "Truth". Jeff recorded it in 48 hours. Apart from the audiences, the thing Jeff liked about New York was a Singing Telegram that he was sent on his birthday. (N.Y. employs telephone operators that actually 'phone you and sing "Happy Birthday" to you!)

Discount those rumours you hear that Tamla Motown artistes are on salary. Says Martha Reeves: "There aren't any Motown artistes on salary at this time. Everyone is on a good and fair percentage. I should know—I typed mine out myself."

Herb Alpert, with a No. 1 hit, "This Guy's In Love With You", continues to be a No. 1 draw at his personal appearances. In 11 days recently the Alpert unit, with supporting act the Checkmates, wound up playing to a total of 133,000 fans, which brought in a total gross of 701,000 dollars. It was virtually a sell-out in every city the Alpert Brass attended.

And Mr. Alpert's personal take out of all this was just under 500,000 dollars, or 60 per cent of the lot.

Herb works for his loot, though — he personally lopes around every hall and arena where they play to check for proper sound levels, and the band get through 25 numbers on every show.

The four month-long tour by the Cream—
"the longest tour of any British group in the States ever," says their American manager—has put them among the big-money earners. Eric, Ginger and Jack have salted away one-and-a-half million for their efforts.

The McCoys, mostly remembered for "Hang On Sloopy" are making a full-length feature film—based on the works of artist Salvador Dali! . . . Tiny Tim (in Britain soon, courtesy of the Beatles' organisation) either trips towards the mike on a carpet of flowers or comes out of a Grecian-type temple. His ukelele is still carried in shopping bag, naturally . . .

WONDER WEBB

AM writing to pay tribute to the tremendous talent of American songwriter Jim Webb. Surely no one else but the phenomenal Mr. Webb could have extracted such a masterly performance from such an unlikely candidate as Welsh actor Richard Harris. Webb's seven minute epic "Macarthur Park" heralds a new and exciting era in the field of single releases. The oddly beautiful poignant lyrics and the hauntorchestration, make this for me the finest release of '68, doubt whether it will be bettered.

The one question mark surrounding the release is lack of airplay by DJs. Surely artistic creations of this calibre cannot be limited to a specific amount of time and DJs must realise this and give it the necessary airplay. HAROLD F. McMONAGLE. 7 Christopher Way, Childwall. Liverpool 16.

DON'T EXPECT A SHIRLEY BASSEY FROM UILL

ITH a booking at the Savoy to keep her gainfully employed ("though I only have to do half an hour a night-they like to do everything in moderation at the Savoy") Cilla was looking forward-in theory-to having a few lazy days. In practice, she's been tied up with loads of press interviews ("it seems like I've been on a talking marathon for days") and with looking around for a house.

Every time I interview Miss Black (which is about twice a year) I ask whether she's found her home on the outskirts of London yet. This has been going on for about three "years and she still hasn't succeeded.

EXACTLY WHAT SHE WANTS

"I keep telling estate agents exactly what I want. I say it's got to be freehold, have a driveway, a big garden, lots of room, and a garage. Don't bother me if you haven't got what I want, I tell them. Doesn't do any good-they still say they've got the very thing. I go and look and see it hasn't got a garage. 'Oh, you can always build a garage' is the reply. But I'm not interested in building anything, or making huge alterations.

"One of these days," added Cilla positively, "I'll see a house and I'll know, just from the outside that this is it, the one I've been waiting for."

Another thing she feels certain about: she won't be wanting to live abroad. "I could never leave dear old England. Whenever I go abroad somebody's always telling me what a terrible state my country's in, laffing at my passport, making fun of Harold Wilson and so on. Makes me mad."

POP STAR FAVOUR

Mention of H. Wilson reminded me of something I'd read in the New Statesman to the effect that four years ago politicians of both parties were busy trying to curry favour with pop stars but now the government was instructing customs officials to harass pop stars at London airport in the hope of making examples of them as evil druggies. Had Cilla had any sour experiences with customs men?

"I've always had the greatest of courtesy at the airport. Often, I never have to open my baggage. Mind you, I never have anything to hide. I usually buy all my holiday presents in England and I wouldn't do anything illegal like carry drugs because I wasn't brought up that way. I think laws are made by people who know what they're doing and so I obey them. If the regulations say drive at 30 ! do even if it's the middle of the night and there's no one around."

TOUCHING FAITH

Cilla's touching faith in the wisdom of our lawmakers was proof against any attempt to cite inane and cheeky laws restricting our liberty. Her only comment: "Well, I know there are a lot of silly laws but they don't affect me. I think this IS a free country. I do almost anything I want to. Don't need any reefers-I get so high on one glass of champagne."

Asked what else she does for kicks, Cilla answered "I love the TV. I'm a telly addict. And I like a nice dinner with friends. I haven't got many friends, though I've loads of acquaintances. My best friends are Muriel Young and her husband Cyril Coke and my best friend of all, for gossipping, is Cathy McGowan. We're always tearing people to pieces. We're terrible gossips."

Cilla looked at the review in the RM (by onetime pop pundit Norman Jopling) of her Savoy act and groaned at the mention of the "inevitable" singing of "Anyone Who Had A Heart". "If I'd missed that song out I might have been hung, drawn and quartered. It's something I'm expected to do. That and 'Alfie'. And, just moving up into the same category, is 'Step Inside Love' which Lennon and McCartney wrote for my TV series. It was tailored for me to open and close the show and until I came to record it, the song didn't have a middle. Paul wrote the missing bit before he went off to India. It's been a terrific success-in fact, nobody seems to know I have a new record out." (It's titled "Where Is Tomorrow").

Despite the "glamour" of singing at the Savoy and suchlike, Cilla's approach to life is as down to earth and Liverpuddlian as ever. "I don't think I could ever be classified as sophisticated, because I'm not. The public can't expect from me what they expect from Shirley Bassey."

Was there still a possibility of Cilla appearing in a movie

CILLA BLACK-Looking for a house.

life story of Gracle Fields? "That started when somebody interviewing me said it would be a good idea and I said yes it would. I never imagined I'd do anything more than play Gracie as a young girl, then she'd play herself. But I don't suppose it will ever happen. Gracie was to appear on my TV show but I had a telegram from her saying she wasn't well enough. She said she was getting a bit old."

ANDY: A SOLO LP!

COMPULSIVE eater. If you put food in front of Andy Fairweather Low he eats and the more food you put in front of him the more he eats because he doesn't know when to stop. Which is why he's

"I just eat steaks and omelettes and apples now - it's much healthier. Except the other evening I ate four steaks and two omelettes. I couldn't stop eating. I felt horrible afterwards." said Andy.

So when we went out to lunch the other day we didn't actually eat anything in case it started Andy off on one of his food orgies. We just sat at the table and thought about the lunch we weren't eating and talked about Amen Corner.

They've a new single out soon, called "High In The Sky" their first release since "Bend Me Shape Me" a few months

"We didn't want to release a record that wasn't any good. just for the sake of it" said Andy, "which is why it's been so long between records. We recorded various things, and spent a long time looking around, and then found "High In The Sky". It's a good song - I think it's very commercial. But there's a bit of mystery about it - they won't tell us who wrote it or anything. I don't know why. But I'd go berserk if it turned out to be another American Breed number!

"We didn't release "Bend Me Shape Me" over in the States — the American Breed's version was already a big hit. Personally I'd have liked to have released it over there just to see what would happen. But nobody would let me. We'll release this new one in the States, though - and we're really going to work hard at promoting it there. We're not at all well-known in America, we haven't had a hit there - but apparently quite a lot of people have heard of us because of "Gin House". Perhaps with that and "High In The Sky" we'll make it over there.

"In fact "Gin House" is still selling in Britain, believe it or not. It's incredible, because it's about a year ago since it was a hit, but people are still buying it.

APART FROM GROUP

"At the moment I'm doing a lot of work on my own - apart from the group. We haven't split or anything. But I've got a lot of ideas that I want to work out, and they're not particularly commercial. More sort of musical experiments — so I wouldn't like to involve the group in it. As Amen Corner we have to concentrate on being a pop group and making good commercial music. But individually we can all work out our own things - and we don't have to worry about being commercial.

"I'm making a solo LP, and I know that it won't sell very many copies. It's just a matater of putting down all my ideas on record, and getting them out of my head. I want to experiment with musical arrangements — I've got a big encyclopaedia of musical instruments, and I'm going through it looking for new sounds and new combinations of instruments.

"It's more a matter of clearing my head than making a saleable record. But it would be a mistake to experiment too much with group records-though all the rest of the group have their own ideas as well.

"We've just bought a new house in Kent-it's very large,

AMEN CORNER-"Gin House" still selling.

a great place. We're spending everything on it because we really want to make it luxurious. It's getting to be a drag at our house in Streatham-I go home to Wales most weekends now, or whenever I get time off, just to get away from everything. But we'll be moving out to Kent in about

"There's a cottage in the grounds of this house that we're going to convert into a recording studio. It'll take a bit of time to get everything organised, but eventually we'll be able to work out a lot of ideas there, and we won't have to keep running up to London to record.

"At the moment I'm looking around for a new group to record. Production is my big thing now-I really enjoy producing records. There's nothing like the feeling you get when you see all your ideas and all your efforts fitted together like a jig-saw puzzle on the record - the end product. The only group I produce for at the moment is the Lemon Tree. I want to find a solo singer rather than a group, I think, as it'll give me personally more freedom to use my ideas. Musically, one could rely on session musicians and not the group members-which makes it easier to tell them what you want. I'd like to find a singer who has potential rather than one who's established. For one thing, I haven't the experience yet to produce an established singer-but also it would be easier for us to work together if he's not set in his ways. We could both learn from one another-and that's the good thing about Amen Corner If I have any ideas the others will listen to them, and viceversa, and int means we get things done and it saves a lot of argument.

FOUR NEW BEATLES SONGS

FOUR new songs in the The Beatles' "Yellow Submarine" cartoon film? "Well, they're new to the public but we recorded them a year ago," says George Harrison, In the last year The Beatles have had little to do with the making of the picture: "If we had, we'd have been working on it pretty well full-time," George points out, "so we discussed the basic idea and left the rest to the producer. I haven't even seen the whole, completed film yet - we thought it would be better to wait for the premiere. What's bothering me is those four 'new' songs. In England it's all right, we can put them out as an EP. But what do we do about America where EPs don't sell?"

Needless to say, the RM couldn't wait for the premiere: we've seen the film and next week's issue contains a ravetype review by David Griffiths.

Much of the filming for the television production is to be done in London, but it will include film sequences of racial violence in South Africa and America. Geno says the film will cost some £12,000 to produce, and will not be ready until January 1969.

PETE BRADY-now fully networked

DETE Brady is following in the footsteps of Simon Dee and Tony Blackburn to become the third ex-pirate to get his own fully-networked television programme.

Pete's new programme is called "Magpie", and is a weekly Tuesday evening show, to be screened live from the Teddington studios of the new Thames Television Company, between 5.10 and 5.50, starting on Tuesday, July 30.

Said a spokesman for the show: "It is to be a trendy magazine programme, with guests from the world of pop as well as from other fields. It is not just a 'plug' programme for groups, though various pop artistes will be singing on the show."

In order to sign the new Thames TV contract, Pete had to get special permission from Radio 1 chief Robin Scott for immediate release from his existing Radio 1 contract. The last radio programme in Pete's present series will be on July 12, but he will be returning to Radio 1 with a possible two series in the near future - one completely new and the other an already existing series at present hosted by another DJ.

It is also emphasised that Pete Brady's new television programme will not interfere with his Luxembourg radio series.

O.C. SMITH LOVES RAY CHARLES . . . TRUE !!

HAT'S beautiful, really beautiful," replied O. C. Smith on the 'phone from Los Angeles to the news that "Son of Hickory Holler's Tramp" is doing so well in the British charts.

O. C. Smith is no stranger to Britain, he toured this country with Count Basie a few years back, but as Ocie Smith. Why the change in spelling?

"Ocie is my real name, but I decided to simplify things. I used O. C. as it sounds the same as Ocie and it's easier for people to remember."

'HOLLER' NOT FIRST

"Son of Hickory Holler's Tramp" was not, of course, O.C's first record. He has been in the business for quite a while and told me about his recording of "That's Life" which was released some time before Frank Sinatra had a big hit with the number:—

"I wasn't upset about it not being a hit and I certainly do not resent the success Frank had with the song. My version did well in areas. It had all the plays and the jocks certainly liked it. However, it didn't happen nationally."

When questioned about his influences as a singer O.C. replied:—"Well the number one influence on me is Ray Charles. I love Ray and I also love Tony Bennett. It may seem strange—soul and ballad, but that's O.C. related how he came across "Son of Hickory Holler's Tramp". "In fact my A&R man Jerry Fuller found it for me. When I went into his office in Los Angeles one day, he had a demo of the song from the writer Dallas Frazier. We both liked it and I'm sure glad I recorded it!! My next record has just been released here in the States and it's called 'Main Street Mission' and 'Gas Food and Lodging'. I don't know for sure though which song the Record Company will make the top side. 'Main Street Mission' is in fact on my album 'Hickory Holler Revisited' which is in the LP charts here." (CBS are releasing the album very soon in Britain.) "Apart from 'Son of Hickory Holler's Tramp' I also recorded such songs as 'Sitting on the Dock of the Bay', 'Honey', 'Little_Green Apples' and 'By the Time I Get to Phoenix'. I like songs that tell a story and that is what I look for in a number". "You'll find no songs composed by me on the album. I've always wanted to write songs and I hope to get around to doing it real soon."

O. C. SMITH-sang with Basie.

With the success of "Son of Hickory Holler's Tramp", O.C. has been kept very busy. When I spoke to him he was appearing at the Hong Kong Room at the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles. Prior to this, O.C. did a gig in Hawaii which had followed his stint at the Apollo, New York. At the Apollo O.C. appeared on the same bill as Bill Cosby (the well-known comedian and star of the television series, "I Spy"). O.C. also joined Bill on the "Poor People's March" from Washington. Bill Cosby has impressed O.C. much more so than he has his own fans—"Bill is such a wonderful person and being at the Apollo with him was one of the highlights of my career.

OVER TO BRITAIN

After my engagement here in Los Angeles I'm booked for three weeks at the Embassy Club in Toronto. Then, all being well, I'm hoping to get over to Britain and Europe for a promotion tour. I sincerely hope it happens, as I'm looking forward to seeing everyone over there."

I'm sure everyone is equally looking forward to seeing O.C. (née Ocie) here again, this time in his guise as a pop singer. It is not often someone hits the pop charts after being labelled as a jazz singer!

THE PAPER DOLLS-did not start out with Hughle Green.

PAPER DOLLS DIG GIRLIE GROUPS

HREE petite curlyheaded (or curlyhaired if you like) dollies scampered up the stone stairs to the plush Record Mirror suite in Shaftesbury Avenue and breathlessly announced themselves as Tiger, Spyder and Copper to journalist Wesley Laine, who was waiting with bated breath for their arrival.

The trio then scampered to a nearby house of relaxation together with Wes (that's me), Lon Goddard (our ace cartoonist) and then, the innermost secrets of the Dolls were revealed over various glasses of non-alcoholic beverage.

"It's nice really," confessed Tiger, "because a lot of girls come to see us, and often they ask us for our autographs. It's good being appreciated by girls, but we have that girl-next-door image, not a big star sort of thing. They ask us about our clothes and our wigs, and we talk to them about everything."

"In fact," said Copper, "some of our first big fans were girls."

"Mind you we have a job knowing where to buy our clothes," said Tiger, "because we have to wear something different every time we go on TV."

Why? said I most naively...
"Because everyone would think that it was filmed/we were hard up/etc., etc." chorused Tiger/Spyder/Copper.

"We've been to just about every shop in London I think," laughed Tiger, "but we still like buying clothes."

I asked them what kind of clothes they liked wearing, and they gesticulated to their own frilly bouses and velvet waistcoats which were very becoming.

But what about record plans for the Dolls?

"Our next one is coming out soon. It's called "My Life In Your Hands," and we like it better than our last hit. We've already got several televisions booked so we're keeping our fingers crossed. We're working on an album at the moment, which will contain our two singles, plus several other popular numbers of the moment, like 'Captain Of Your Ship' and the latest Foundations' single. But it would be silly to issue the LP now, because we've only had one hit . . .

OPPORTUNITY

"There are some misunderstandings going around about us — you know, we didn't get the hit as a direct result of our appearing on Hughie
Green's 'Opportunity Knocks'.
Of course, our money went up after we were on there!
But Tony — that's Tony Macauley who writes our songs—came to see us in a club and suggested he write a song for us afterwards.
And that's how we got

'Something Here In My Heart'.

"Also I was quoted in a certain musical paper as saying some rather nasty things about hit records. You can't believe how distorted that report was . . . the bit about Tony Blackburn really upset me because Tony has been so good to us on his show. I wrote letters and phoned apologies to loads of people after that appeared."

'Wait till you see what I write about you," I said.
What about romance?

Well lads, you can breathe a sigh of relief because none of the Dolls are married or even engaged. They're a bit too busy for that at the moment. And especially as they're going to the States soon for a tour with their favourite male group — The Bee Gees.

The Dolls dig American girlie groups strongly, especially the Tamla Motown groups and Phil Spector's outfits. But they don't think they can learn much from any English girl groups even though there are plenty of them about. And if you wonder why the girls dance so well when they sing, the answer is that they've studied dancing for a long, long time. That's how they got together in the first place.

And if anyone heard Tiger's Mum on the Jimmy Young show, I can now tell them first hand that Tiger says it was all genuine...

MAFIA-SPONSORED MOVIE OPENS IN WEST END

The national press critics have not been kind to Clint Evil's new feature film "Half A Twopence". It has been described as "naive propaganda" by one paper, and in contrast "naive propaganda" by another. The movie, sponsored by the Mafia and Murder Incorporated, shows Clint as an honest, clean-living young lad named Cyril. Despite his sexual frustrations and lack of cash, Cyril refuses to go to bed with his girlfriend or steal from his mother's holiday-money jar on the mantelpiece. He also strokes dogs and gives pennies to beggars. Clint Evil was quite frank when he talked to me about this section of the film.

"I was quite willing to do anything consistent with Cyril's character," he said with a sneer. "I didn't care how violently it clashed with my normal image. As you know, I am generally accepted as a vile, wicked, sexmaniac, who takes money under false pretences... and fans who have paid to see my concerts definitely agree with that last bit. However, in the cause of art, I would even have played a scene in church, though I'm pleased to say we didn't have to go that far. The scenes where I chatted-up an angel, and gave an audience to the Pope seemed to put across my virtue quite well enough!

Cyril (played by Clint Evil) is not a goody-goody all through the film. When his girlfriend takes him to see "Bonnie And Clyde", he is cynical, but she presses on, and by the time he has seen "The Al Capone Story", "Robbery" and "The Blood Of Dracula", he has become a promiscuous, violent, train-robbing criminal, who turns into a bat at midnight. This vile person is, of course, the Clint we all know and hate.

It is during the final section of the film that he sings the four numbers that are released this week on an L.P. These are, of course: Release Me; If Only I Did Time; Take These Chains From My Leg (And Set Me Free), and I'm Into Something Bad.

THERE'S NO BUSINESS LIKE BUSINESS (2)

Last week I promised you details of the Film and Recording plans of "Gooseberry Inc.", the organisation set up by Jody, Simon, Rasputin and Pogo of the Elastic Gooseberry Bush. However, at press-date, the only movie they have planned is a psychological Western (psychological insomuch as the hero still loves his horse more than his girl . . . but he worries about it).

The film will be called "Elmer Shadrack", and the title role will be played either by Sean Connery, Michael Caine, Tommy Cooper or Dora Bryan. If the last named star is chosen, the title of the film will be changed to "Harold Fosdyke". Watch out for even less exciting news next week!

THIS IS MY SCENE

Plans for the real D. W. Washburn to sue the Monkees for $1,000,000 for defamation of character have been abandoned, since he can't seem to get up out of the gutter to consult his lawyers... as reported in R.M. recently, the "Toast" label is 100% teeny-bopper material, whereas "Marmalade" specialises in progressive sounds. A new label that plans to end up somewhere between these two is called, not surprisingly, "Butter". (Incidentally, the forthcoming "Rice Krispie" label will only be featuring stars of the 'twenties singing standards. There'll be plenty of snap and crackle... but no pop)... Comedy scriptwriter Barry Took has composed his first ballad dedicated to his mildewed metal bedstead, it's called "The Green, Green Brass Of Home".

TAILPIECE

GEORGE MEETS KLAUS, QUITS HOUSE FILLS UP JAR AND PAINTS CAR

K

LAUS got into his petite but plain Citroen 2CV one day and drove round chez George Harrison. "Hello, George," said Klaus. "Hello, Klaus," said George, in the middle of painting his house, "would you like to help me paint my house?"

"No," replied Klaus, "but if you were to lend me your paints, we could paint my car instead."

"What a good idea," said George, delighted. And they painted and painted all day and produced the colourful result you can see in the colourful picture.

"The car belongs to a friend of mine," said Klaus when we were chatting over a cool drink or two the other hot day. "He wanted to sell the car anyway—and I think it looks much better now it's painted. We just did it for fun really—though I'm more hung up than ever now on painting.

ART TRAINING

"I spent a couple of years training as an artist, and worked at it professionally for a while. But when I got involved in music I dropped art altogether. In my last year at college in Germany I was doing a lot of commercial work, as well as trying to cram three years' training into just one year—I was living in a flat in my teacher's house, and he was pushing me very hard. So I got a bit fed up with it, and concentrated on music.

"I came to England, and had a group called Paddy Klaus and Gibson. We used to play down at the Pickwick Club—in fact we had quite a good sound—but there were problems within the group, and we had to split up. I'd rather have made it with that group than with Manfred. It's nothing personal, but I was very involved in what we were doing, and I'd have liked it to carry on successfully. But we had these problems, and so the group disbanded—I had offers to join three other groups at the time, and I was very lucky in joining Manfred Man.). That was over two years ago now.

"But it wasn't until I did the cover for the Beatles L.P., Revolver, that I started to take an interest in art again. For a while my two interests, art and music, were completely separate—but now I'm beginning to reach the stage where I'll be able to combine the two. If things work out well, I'll be making a film with a very good Swedish producer shortly that will combine music and visual things. The idea is to film ordinary, everyday objects that can produce sounds. It's very difficult to explain—but an example is the sort of sounds that the wind makes when it blows through pipes of different lengths. So if we put a row of pipes out in the open, and revolve them very slowly, there'll be a range of different tones—and if they're filmed and recorded at the same time, and then carefully edited, we should be able to get a form of music that's directly allied to the piece of film.

"I'm very excited about the project—it's my first serious attempt to combine my two interests. Music and art have always been my main interests—though at one time I was very hung up on skiing, of all things."

I remarked that it surprised me that Manfred Mann, a musically very talented group, were content to just produce good commercial sounds, and never worked together on more ambitious musical ideas.

"The thing is," replied Klaus, "that we all have a lot of ideas, but we tend to work on them separately. We very rarely see each other when we're not working together—we're all very friendly, but we all have our own interests. Mike Hugg is the only Manfred I see a lot of outside of work. He lives next door to me in Hampstead, and we both get on very well together.

"We do a couple of gigs a week on an average, I suppose, and we get together for recording, of course. It'd be nice to just have jam sessions, but we never seem to get around to it. It's a matter of not having the time or the opportunity, really. We don't do a lot of gigs, but I'd like to see the time when we could work a lot less—just play a few concerts or something, and spend more time just recording. It will happen eventually, but I've no idea when. It could be a few months, or it could be a few years.

MANY IDEAS

"When we're recording we all contribute our own ideas, and work very much together on producing the final sound. It's by far the best way for us—there are some groups who rely upon one person to work out arrangements and make decisions, but it just wouldn't work for us. We've got an idea at the moment, though, for producing an LP in which each group member would have his own track, and he would work everything out and direct the others. It could be interesting, because it would show the individual influences that go to make up the whole group sound."

Meanwhile, if anyone would like to buy a hand-painted psychedelic-type Citroen 2CV.

THE CBS ROCK MACHINE

EMEMBER a year or so back when the American Columbia label issued five singles - consecutively - by the Moby Grape, their new "underground"

Everyone thought it was a rash move, and although all of the singles flopped, the Grape became big album sellers.

Now, CBS in England have taken an equally big gamble and issued a large number of ALBUMS by unknown American groups-and the idea isn't to make these groups into singles sellers . . . The concept behind this move is called "The CBS Rock Machine Turns You On" and CBS have bundled several other already-issued LP's into their new promotion to make a large number of "Rock Machine" LP's,

The new group albums are by the Moby Grape, Spirit, the Peanut Butter Conspiracy, Taj Mahal, Blood Sweat and Tears. and Elmer Gantry's Velvet Opera, the latter group as the British contribution. Two more new LP's are scheduled for release, by The United States Of America, and The Electric Flag. The LP's already issued to be re-promoted are "John Wesley Hardin" from Bob Dylan, "The Notorious Byrd Brothers" from the Byrds, "Come Out Fighting Genghis Smith" from Roy Harper, "Songs Of Leonard Cohen", "Tim Rose", "Odessey And Oracle" from the Zombies, "Parsley, Sage, Rosemary And Thyme" from Simon and Garfunkel.

I'll quote the handout (that's what CBS gave us pressmen at a special drinks-provided reception for these outsider LP's) to help things along.

"For a long time, CBS Records have been known as 'the good music label' presenting the best in sophisticated sounds with artistes like Andy Williams, Tony Bennett and Barbra Streisand,

"Now CBS is letting its hair down, figuratively speaking, and in June releases albums by five exciting contemporary pop acts in America today, plus one wild English group."

Let's start with Moby Grape. Their LP is WOW (CBS 63271, available in mono and stereo). The Grape sound is strong underground beat which is already beginning to break through to America's teen audience. Tracks worth listening to are "Murder In My Heart For The Judge", and "Can't Be So Bad" (both of which are now available on single) but the whole album is well-constructed, well-recorded and features excitement, psychedelia and emotion. Moby Grape themselves are from San Francisco and were formed by guitarist Peter Lewis and bass player Bob Mosley. They met drummer Don Stevenson, lead guitarist Jerry Miller and guitarist Skip Spence, and rehearsed strenuously in Bob Frisco's apartment. Soon after they had their first booking and began to play at the Fillmore Auditorium and the Avalon Baltroom, and immediately received offers of recording contracts. Eventually

they signed with CBS

BLOOD SWEAT AND TEARS

TAJ MAHAL (Direction 8-43279 mono and stereo) is a blues artiste—a solo figure who has made an album of adventurous blues material, but still sticks to the fairly rigid formats which separate blues from jazz or soul. Taj's style is fresh and modern with a lot of punch, and he is certainly more in the Howlin' Wolf, Muddy Waters, Otis Spann bag than in the style of current white blues musicians like Country Joe, Canned Heat and Paul Butterfield.

Born in New York in 1942, Taj came from a musical family and after a successful stint at University, where he received a B.A., Taj hit the road and was soon performing as a solo blues singer and guitarist in the Boston area. He landed up in the west coast and was soon signed by CBS. "SPIRIT" have a well-produced LP (Lou Adler) on CBS 63278, mono and stereo.

The LP is a sophisticated slab of rock, with lots of jazz influences creeping in, which isn't surprising when you consider the line-up. There's Ed Casaidy, drummer, who has played being names like Constability and the control of th like Cannonball Adderly, Thelonious Monk, Gerry Mulligan and Zoot Simms. Bass guitarist Mark Christopher Andes, who was formerly with Canned Heat, ex-New World Jazz Company pianist John Locke, guitarist and vocalist Randy California and ex-classical musician Jay Ferguson-who plays piano.

guitar, conga drums, and also composes and sings. BLLOD SWEAT AND TEARS and "Child is Father To The Man" (CBS 63296 mone and stereo) no longer

That is, they've broken up as a group but that doesn't make the music on this LP any less the relevant. Formed a year ago by Al Kooper (who played organ on Dylan's LP's), the LP features a very interesting sleeve picture-must be seen to be believed. The group aren't as way-out as their reputation would suggest, and the sound on the record more pop-inclined than psychedelic, Line-up consists of organist-composer-sincer Al Kooper, drummer Bobby Columby, bass player Jim Fielder and lead guitarist-singer Steve Katz. The four-piece team is augmented with a skilled horn sectionand that's what makes this LP so interesting. The line-up of the brass is Jerry Weiss and Randy Brecker on trumpets, Dick Halligan on trombone, and Fred Lipsius on saxophone.

The one British group in this set are ELMER GANTRYS VELVET OPERA and their LP, named after the group, is on Direction 8-63300 mono and

You probably remember their single "Flames" an intense exciting sound. That's typical of the LP with a varied collection of teen-slanted tracks which are close to the sound being put out in the States by west coast groups. Their line-up is: Elmer Gantry -vocals. Paul Brett on lead guitar. John Ford on bass guitar, and Richard Hudson on percussion.

"But thank goodness for Wimbledon. First day I was going to play tennis and a little golf. We had a deluge. Next day, a 60-70 m.p.h. gale blew. But at night it's superb. Some of the nicest audiences I ever could meet. I'm supposed to do about 35 minutes, but it ends up around an hour. Maybe 15 minutes of that I spend talking to the folks, answering their questions,

"What I did, I had forms printed so they could be given to the patrons. What I want to ask Gene Pitney-they write their queries. I get some real crazy ones. . .

"But there are few people actually eating when I'm on, so you're not having to fight anybody! Amazing, though, the receptionjust like on a one-nighter. Lots of women in the audience-and a young sort of crowd generally. They recognise all the hit records -you know, applause at the start-but the one that can't be topped is 'I'm Gonna Be Strong'.

"So I'm knocked out by it all. Funny, though, on the first afternoon when I went to rehearse, I chatted to the head porter at the hotel, and he said: 'You'll know tomorrow morning-if you can please that lot you can please anybody'. Imagine how I felt about that. . . .

ARETHA FRANKLIN: "Take A Look At . . ." — Running Out Of Fools; Won't Be Long; Today I Sing The Blues; Walk On By; Soulville; Without The One You Love; I Can't Wait To See My Baby's Face; One Step Ahead; Mocking Bird; If Ever I Would Leave You; How Glad I Am; Every Little Bit Hurts; My Guy; Try A Little Tenderness (CBS Stereo 63269).

WHIS is a tremendous tour de force - a positive, final demonstration that judged by any standards Aretha is one of the creats of the business. As the critic said: "She does everything wrong. theoretically, but I hope she never changes." You can judge greatness when an artiste takes songs previously hits for others and then, by the scruff of the neck. adapts them in a totally individual style. On this set she swings, she balladises (just made up that word). purrs, cajoles, floats, attacks, "Soulville" goes like the proverbial clappers, then she emotes superbly through the oft-performed "If Ever Should Leave You". Our old mate Norman Jopling wrote the sleeve-notes and herewith has the last word: "A whole album that is scintillating and musically magnificent". Probably won't hear much better this year.

* * * * * FRANCOISE HARDY "II N'y A

Pas D'Amour Heureux (United Artists MONO ULP 1191).

PRENCH records, even the harmless ones like Miss

Hardy's LPs—give me that magnetic urge to go to Paris or the Cote D'Azur. The lovely Miss Hardy and her lovely country are well matched—these gentle caressing and mysterious songs (mysterious because I don't know what she's singing about) have a haunting magic. Deserves to sell, if only to frustrated travellers like me.

THE NEW CHRISTY MINSTRELS
"On Tour Through Motortown" —
Where Did Our Love Go; My Girl;
Stop In The Name Of Love; Reach Out; (I'll Be There); Dancing In The Streets; A Place In The Sun;
Al'nt No Mountain High Enough;
Just Look At Her Now; Ain't Gonna
Waste My Life Loving You; Shotgim (CBS MONO 63338).

TES, as the sleeve notes say. the sound here is pure Christy. But nevertheless, these songs don't really suit the Minstrels. Best tracks are the plaintive "A Place In The Sun" and their gentle interpretation of "Where Did Our Love Go". There are a couple of non-Motown songs here, including an efficient "Ain't Gonna Waste My Life Loving You" written by a bloke called Nutter, who isn't a Motown writer, but the song is nice, anyway. Only ten tracks, and not too commercial I'd think.

PATSY CLINE: "The Sound Of . . ." (MCA Mono MUP 316). "I Fall To Pieces", "Crazy" and sundry other Cline American successes are included here. The girl, who died in an air crash on March 6, 1963, lives on in Country circles for the fullness and the sincerity of her voice — and for her careful selection of material. Songs like "San Antonia Rose", for instance, somehow take on an entirely new lease of life. But her style is not for everybody.

FAIRPORT CONVENTION "Fairport Convention" (Polydor STEREO 583 035).

A ninteresting LP from a new six-strong group. They play a spohisticated kind of folkrock, very well produced and recorded, and every track is nicely contrasted and balanced with its neighbour. I particuarly liked "Decomeron" and "The Lobster". There is an inherent jazz feel running throughout, plus some rather out of place electric guitar work, but all-in-all the effect is pleasant and interesting.

THE GENTLE POWER OF SONG
"Circus"—(Polydor STEREO 583034)

THIS group sounds like a mixture between the school choir, a group of troubadors and a Barber Shop quartet. Nice harmonies, pleasant but incongruous arrangements, and enough wit to carry things along well. It's neither hippy enough or camp enough to be made into a cult, but they certainly sing these attractive somes well.

GUY STEVENS' "Testament Of Rock And Roll" - Ya Ya (Lee Dorsey); Bony Moronie (Larry Williams): High Blood Pressure (Huey Piano Smith); Little Latin Lupe Lu (Righteous Brothers); Rockin' Charlie (Bobby Peterson); Like Long Hair (Paul Revere And Raiders); Music City (The Pleasures); Sea Cruise (Frankie Ford); Rockin' Robin (Bobby Day); You Can't Sit Down (Phil Upchurch Combo); Little Bitty Pretty One (Thurston Harris And The Sharps); Baby Let Me Hold Your Hand (Professor Longhair); Dance What You Wanna (Little Richard): Fannie Mae (Buster Brown) Island Mone ILP 977.

THIS is pretty self-explanatory Guy Stevens and John E. Abbey got together to pick the best rock material available to the Sue label. Now, they figure, the mood of music has switched back in emphasis and so their "crazy dream" has become a worthwhile commercial reality. A few surprise selections, perhaps, and the accent is largely on the more R and B sounds of the late '50's. What they prove is that rock and R and B aren't really all that far apart in basic conception. Obviously this must be a big seller and it's certainly value for loot.

THE KELLY BROTHERS "Sweet

On this showing, the Kelly Brothers could easily be very big. Their gospel-based brand of soul shouting is very current, and the songs are often soulful and tuneful. But there's plenty of action—like "Got The Feeling" and the very soulful "Can't Stand it no Longer". There are shades of Sam Cooke here and there. This group are fair competition to Sam and Dave or the Isley Brothers, and R & B fans would do well to

THE SYMBOLS "The Best Part Of The Symbols" — (The Best Part Of) Breaking Up; To Make You Smile Again; Canadian Sunset; Hideaway; Again; Bye Bye Baby; See You in September; The Gentle Art Of Loving; The Things You Do To Me; You'd Better get Used To Missing Her; Pretty City: A Lovely Way To Say Goodnight (President PTL 1018 MONO).

THE Symbols are a distinctivesounding group — their vocal harmonies which are falsettofilled and intricately arranged are a fine trade mark, and shine through strongly in places on this L.P. Perhaps one of the few British groups who can get this sound, only the Trems, and Tony Rivers spring to mind as being others with that trademark. The songs here are a mixture of good and bad, but the vocal sound carries LP along well.

BUCK OWENS AND HIS BUCK-EROOS "It Takes People Like You To Make People Like Me" - It Takes People Like You: The Way That I Love You; We Were Made For Each Other: That's How I Measure My Love For You; If I Knew; I'm Gonna Live It Up; Where Does The Good Times Go: You Left Her Lonely Too Long: Let The World Keep On Turnin'; I've Got It Bad For You; Long Ago: Mountain Heartbreak (Capitol STEREO ST 2841).

BUCK is one of America's biggest C & W names — he's also quite well-known here. His sincere style, simplified backings with a minimum of syrupy sounds come across as likeable and authentic. Try the title track here, or "If I Knew". Good use of steel guitar here, too.

JOHN MAYALL'S BLUES BREAKERS: "Bare Wires"—Bare Wires; Where Did I Belong; Start Walking; Open A New Door; Fire; I Know You: Look in The Mirror; I'm A Stranger; No Reply; Hartley Quits; Killing Time; She's Too Young; Sandy (Decca Stereo SKL 4945).

WRITES John himself: "This album and these Blues Breakers mark the beginning of a new journey for me in 1968. Impossible to speak too highly of the musical contributions from the revised personnel". And certainly this is a remarkable showcase of one of the most inventive and authentic blues outfits on the scene. An elaborate sleeve includes the lyrics and the whole production is built round the evocative, expressive, ever-changing moods created by Mayall himself. Plus vital and imaginative solo work. One album heartily commended to addicts. And pick your own favourities.

"SAM AND DAVE": Major Minor MCP 5000. Featuring the two dynamics and the interesting thing is that Major Minor are putting this new series out at under a quid . 19s. 10jd to be exact. The sleeve talks about their singdance "feel" and that about sums it up. Sample tracks: "It Feels So Nice". "I Found Out". "Keep A-Walking" but altogether there are 12 numbers from a team who have a tremendous following here. Value for money.

ANDY WILLIAMS "Honey" —
The Impossible Dream: This Is My Song: By The Time 1 Get To Phoenix; Theme From 'Valley Of
The Delis'; Scarborough Fair/Canticle; Love Is Blue; Honey; Windy;
Our Last Goodbye; Spooky; Up,
Up, And Away (CBS 63311).

THE soothing Andy Williams vocals are applied to a set of current hits, ranging from the ethereal "Up, Up, And Away" to the doomy title track. His voice seems even better than ever. although I wasn't particularly impressed with the backings, which were often too loud - or maybe that was because I'm listening to this stereo mix on a mono set. A shrill femme chorus is employed "Up, Up, And Away", but the best tracks are the tender "Phoenix" and his folksy "Scarborough Fair".

JOHNNY CASH "Old Golden Throat" — 1 Got Stripes; A Certain Kinda Hurtin'; A Little At A Time; All Over Again; Still In Town; Smiling Bill McCall; The Wind Changes; The Sons Of Katie Elder; Dark As A Dungeon; Tennesse Flat-Top Box; The Matador; Send A Picture Of Mother; You Dreamer You; Red Velvet (CBS STEREO 63316).

A FOURTEEN track bargain here from CBS, containing mostly unissued or deleted items. They include his neo-rock prison song "I Got Stripes", and it's surprising how little his voice has changed — even on "All Over Again" which sounds very much a Sun recording. The variety of styles and tempos is excellent, and the backings range from straight bass-led rock, country piano, ambitious brass. A good LP.

SLIM HARPO "Tip On In"—Tip On In: Te-Ni-Nee-Ni-Nu; Mailbox Blues; I've Been A Good Thing For You; Hey Little Lee: I'm Gonna Keep What I've Got; I've Got To Be With You Tonight; I'm So Sorry; My Baby—She's Got It; I Just Can't Leave You (President MONO PTL 1017.

CLIM is one of the great R & B legends, and this is the first complete LP to be issued here of his, which consists of recent material. It's mainly blues. with a distinctive shuffle-rock sound running through, and interesting harmonica guitar and work Straight blues like "I'm So Sorry" contrast with the "sock it to me" of the title track - his admirers will lap this up. A pity there are only ten tracks. * * *

THE ELECTRIC FLAG: "A Long Time Comin'" (CBS 63294).

THIS is one of the biggest (in size) West Coast outfits-eight in all, but with a sizeable strong section added here and there. Psychedelic material - plus Otis Redding ("You Don't Realise"). "Wine", a traditional item, is somewhat amazingly dressed up for current tastes and there's no doubt the boys are better in their less complex moments. But there's a lot going on here and the closer the listen the greater the reward. A single to help them along is outthey could build popularity. But don't expect instant understanding.

BOBBY VEE; "Just Today" (Liberty LBL 83112).

PRODUCED here by Dallas Smith, Bobby retains his somewhat courteous charm and knack of dealing with a tuneful song in straightforward and unsimmicky style. Could be he's in the throes of a comeback here as well as in America and songs like "The Girl I Left Behind Me", "Sealed With A Kiss", "Beautiful People", and "Maybe Just Today" come through well. But it's unambitious pop. mainly but professionally so,

MEU TORME: "The Music Goes Rout ?" (Liberty Mono LBL 83112).

Mel is in the top tiny handful of swinging songsters, albeit a gentle sort of swinging, there is something a shade monotonous about his sometimes overdone phrasing. That apart, and it's probably a minor matter, he here handles with apparent case some well-known ditties like "Annie Doesn't Live Here Anymore", "Button Up Your Overcoat", "You're The Cream In My Coffee". A shade dated? Sure. But not his singing.

N excellent album that should A find favour with fans of both folk and old time country music. Mike and Peggy Seeger accompany themselves on autoharp, dulcimer, guitar, five string banjo and harmonica and prove that traditional music doesn't have to be a drag. Best tracks that gather radio play include Thomas". "A drunkard's Child" and "The Ram Of Derby", Scattered among the traditional ballads are songs from the pen of Jimmie Rodgers, A. P. Carter and Ralph Stanley. This is what folk music is all about!

VARIOUS ARTISTES: "The World Of British Country Music": Ribbon Of Darkness; Get Along Little Yearlings; Look Into My Teardrops; Baby I've Got It; Pack Up And Go; Tomorrow Is A Long Time: Whenever Summer Comes Around; Freight Train Blues; Awkward Situations; Farewell; Don't Ever Get Tired; Your Good Guy's Gonna Go Bad (Polydor "Nashville" Scries 583 026).

TUST to substantiate my recent claims that it really is "all happening" on the English country scene. Polydor have issued an album displaying the talents of Messrs, Malcolm Price, Terry Ewers, Phil Brady, Murray Kash, ian Russell and The Tradewinds Not my cup of tea but maybe the fans up north will go for this package - I'm sure our country groups can rouse a little more enthusiasm than this album suggests. Despite the sleeve notes that boast Twelve great songs by six great artistes" - I think Murray Kash should stick to spinning discs!

THE FALLEN ANGELS "The Fallen Angels" (London STEREO SHZ 8359)

THIS group look a lot wilder than they sound. In fact, their vocals are often pleasant, but can be occasionally harsh, and the backings are well-arranged and often tinkly. Pleasant group music, not too outstanding, but the more you hear it the better it sounds. Nicely performed and produced.

THE AYNSLEY DUNBAR RE-TALIATION: Watch 'n' Chain; My Whisky Head Woman; Trouble No More; Double Lovin'; See See Baby; Roamin' an' Ramblin'; Sage Of Sydney Street; Memory Pain; Mutiny (Liberty LBL 83154).

THIS four-strong group, produced here by Ian Samwell, instrumentally inclined on "Sage Of . . ." drum-accented on Mutiny", are in tremendously ambitious mood here — and it comes off. Progressive and beautifully varied material, exploiting just about every aspect of their onestage action. It demands close attention; if it gets it, this album will sell exceptionally well.

* * * *

SLY AND THE FAMILY STONE: "Dance To The Music" (Epic Stereo BN 2637).

THE title theme looks like being big here and this album, available on import, is noted here in an effort to increase interest in this outfit. They go for all-out excitement as on "Ride The Rhythm". "I Ain't Got Nobody" harrying, harrassing productions that tear along with high spirit. Not to mention soul. One of the more interesting disco-type American imports.

VARIOUS ARTISTES "The Country Music Hall Of Fame" Vols 11
& 12 (London HAB 8354).

THESE two LPs in the seemingly never-ending series are culled. of course, from the famous catalogue. Starday' independent America's biggest & W labels. Stars include Roger Miller, Boots Randolph, Flatt and Scruggs, and just about every big name on the real country scene in the States today. Interesting tracks include Johnny Bond's 'Hell's Angels" and the first ever Jimmy Dean hit "Bummin Around". * * * *

COUNT BASIE AND THE MILLS
BROTHERS "The Board Of Directors" — Up A Lazy River: I May

Happy; Down Down Down: The Whiffenpoof Song; I Dig Rock And
Roll Music; Tiny Bubbles; December; Let Me Dream; April In Paris
(Dot STEREO SLPD 506).

A SOPHISTICATED and atmospheric sound comes across on this one. Count backs up the Brothers' subtle harmonies to perfection, and the LP is well recorded enough to be able to enjoy both the vocals and the arrangement. Their version of the recent Peter. Paul and Mary hit "I Dig Roch 'n' Roll Music" is quite swinging and one can almost disregard the lyric.

BLUE CHEER "Vincebus Eruptum" — Summertime Blues; Rock Me Baby; Doctor Please; Out Of Focus; Parchment Farm; Second Time Around (Mercury STEREO BL 7839).

YOU can guess what this is all about when I say that there's a credit for amplifiers on the sleeve. Heavy rock and neo R & B sounds pervade throughout, and their workouts are quite interesting if you dig the primitive kind of pop. Doesn't really reach psychedelic proportions, it gave me a headache listening to this but it's a big US hit. A good drum solo on "Second Time Around", but I can do without blue cheers.

THE HOLLYRIDGE STRINGS
"Play The Beatles' Song Book

Your Mother Should Know; Baby
You're A Rich Man; Hello Goodbye; She's Leaving Home; All You Need Is Love; When I'm Sixty
Four; Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts
Club Band (Capitol STEREO ST 2876).

THE Hollyridge Strings have managed to take some of the best Beatles psychedelic somes and put them in the same tired old string-filled bag as the four previous LP's in this series. Admittedly, the cover of this LP reflects some excitement, but the "turn you on" message of "Sgt. Pepper" and particularly "A Day in The Life" doesn't seem to have got through. Well arranged, beautifully recorded but lacking in atmosphere.

CHUCK JACKSON "Chuck Jackson Arrives!" — The Man In You;
Your Wonderful Love; Lonely,
Lonely, Man Am 1; Ain't No Sun
Since You Been Gone: I Can't Go
On Sharing Your Love; Forgive My
Jealousy: Too See The Sun Again;
What Am I Gonna Do Without You;
What Am I Gonna Do Without You;
I Like Everything About You; We'll Find A Way; Where You Gonna
Run To Now; Girls, Girls, Girls
(Tamla Motown STEREO STML 11071).

WAS afraid that a Motown contract would submerge Chuck Jackson, who had previously made plenty of records which were as good as any to come from the Motortown. Still. Scepter's loss is Tamla's gain and this LP is an interesting, well-recorded slab of soul. Chuck's voice comes through strongly, despite the often stereotyped backings. I feel he has not yet achieved a set pattern to fall into with his new label, but this combination of giants is bound to produce something exciting, eventually. Really something for specialists.

ELMORE JAMES/JOHN BRIM
"Tough" — Stormy Monday Blues;
Going For Good; I See My Baby;
The Sun Is Shining; Whose Muddy
Shoes; Madison Blues; My Best Friend; Talk To Me Baby (Elmore
James); Lifetime Baby; Be Careful What You Do; You Got Me; Ice Cream Man (John Brim) (Blue Horizon 7-63204).

SOME solid blues here — genuine Elmore James, with fill-in contributions from John Brim, whose efforts are by no means second-rate, but contrast with Elmore's esciting and rather tight style. You've heard some of these songs before, but especially
"Stormy Monday" and "The Sun Is Shining" are worth listening to strictly for purist blues fans, but those who are just starting off with our own blues stars should really listen to this, which is tremendously satisfying.

SERIOUS jazz collectors will welcome the new series of IMPULSE label items issued through EMI this month. Licensed by the American ABC Paramount company, they represent some fine jazz which is extremely well recorded, "Waiting Game" from ZOOT SIMS (Impulse STEREO SIPL 561) is a series of sax-led ballads. The lush strings tend to make things over-romantic, and this becomes little more than a background LP at times. More ethereal and atmospheric — "Expression" from JOHN COLTRANE (Impulse STEREO SIPL 502) — I particularly dug his twiningly thoughtful "To Be", but the other three tracks are also interesting. A Latin flavour is added to the set by "The Further Adventures Of El Chico" from CHICO HAMILTON (Impulse STEREO SIPL 503) with ace guitarist GABOR SZABO heavily featured — his plaintive workout on "Who Can I Turn To" is beautiful, DIZZY GILLESPIE'S "Swing Low Sweet Cadillae" is a much recorded number of his, and a 1967 version of it turns up in the LP of the same name on Impulse STEREO SIPL 504. The LP is headlined after this track, and Dizzy's trumpet workouts seem to be inspired by the fact that this was recorded live — at Memory Lane in Los Angeles in fact, "SHIRLEY SCOTT Plays The Big Bands" (Impulse STEREO SIPL 505) reflects the title, and the sometime heavy, sometime flowing Scott organ work makes smooth work of familiar titles like "Ain't Misbehavin", "Things Ain't What They Used To Be", Nice stuff.

YOUR GUIDE TO THIS WEEK'S NEW SINGLES

PETULA CLARK

Don't Give Up; Every Time I See A Rainbow (Pye) 17580). I'd say that Pet is here back to top form. By the Trent-Hatch team, the song is really a rather good bit of advice and Pet sings with enormous confidence. Nice swinging tempo, with plenty of attack in the basic chorus, and the arrangement is tailor-made. A touch of your evergreen Pet. Flip: A tinkling little piece, purringly presented.

PETER THOROGOOD

Haunted; If No-One Sang (Pye 17577). Difficult to tip confidently a new boy for instant chartsville. But this personable young chap actually plays violin as well as singing and there's a holy organ opening before things speed up and the song is certainly strong enough to make it big. Fast-worded and sung with gentle charm. And your actual violin for a lengthy instrumental section, Good stuff. Flip: Interesting treatment.

GRAPEFRUIT

C'mon Marianne; Ain't It Good (RCA Victor 1716). We'll forget the last segment of Grapefruit and concentrate on this high-flying, airpounding piece which has a tremendous hit feel to it in every advertised position. Vocally, the boys attack nicely with an arrangement that seems a bit complex at first but simplifies later on. Neat and crisp drumming, tempe hold-up in parts . . . sounds very much a hit to me. Flip: Slower, guitar-introed, quite strong on material, CHART CERTAINTY.

HERMAN'S HERMITS

Sunshine Girl; Nobody Needs To Know (Columbia DB 8446). All choral at first, then a massive thumping of the bass drum and enter your actual Herman on a bouncy swinging Carter-Stephens' song. I see nothing to hold it back. It's sold with personality and style and is one of those songs that urges even me to sing along with it. Simplicity is the keynote of your actual Herman. Must be bigger than ever, this. Flip: Herman in confidential mood . . . Romantic, too.

MASSIVE SELLER.

TOM JONES

Help Yourself; Day By Day (Decca F 12812). Lovely little song. Tom himself hovers rather delicately through the early bit, but the vocal fireworks come later on, rest assured. The arrangement matches the vocal variations, and the brass section is suitably exercised. This is catchy material, highly commercial, and all rather exciting. When you say it's vintage Jones, you are really saying something. Flip: Fiery, this, and emotion-laden to the extreme. Tremendous performance.

THE NEW FACES

If You Love Me; The Road And The Miles To Dundee (Decca F 12806). This group "bubbled under" so long last time . . . yet just failed to make the charts. They hit back with an ambitious production on a good song-not instantly commercial, 1'd say, but performed with skill and attack . . . and the three voices set in a somewhat wondrous arrangement. Judged musically, this is obviously their best yet-we root enthusiastically for Miss Marie and Messrs. Barry and Chas. Flip: Marie principally on a piece slanted at her Scottish kinfolk. Guitar.

THE EASYBEATS

Land Of Make Believe; We All Love Happily (United Artists UP 2219). As good as "Hello"? Not sure yet. But it's certainly a rather lavish little song and the boys once again get a strong vocal sound. Sometimes their voices soar into the stratosphere, more of a collective group scene this time, and given reasonable dee-jay support I'm sure it'll make it. Nice stringy sort of sound behind. Commended for professionalism. Flip: Air-raid strens? Yes, folks. Catchy little chorus song.

rapid singles

THE PURPLE GANG sing "Kiss Me Goodnight Sally Green" (Big T 111), a pubbysort of song in pubby style - a partyspirit item. "Rain And Tears" by APHRODITE'S CHILD (Mercury MF 1039) is really rather lovelywell played and sung and a standout song in the first place . . . commended. German production of "What Do You Think" by RAINY DAZE (CBS 3200) and it has spirit but not I suspect hit chances. Selfpenned: "Kentucky" (Columbia DB 8448) by GARY BENSON, a big open-spaced ballad sung with sin-cerity and conviction. RICHARD LORING, on "The Girl With Sun In Her Hair" (Columbia DB 8450) does a very good job and is helped no end by churruping strings-nice production.

Dusty's backing group THE ECHOES strike out confidently on their own with "Searching For You Baby" (Philips BF 1683), a pleasant performance all round. An orchestral-choral item of great charm and sales possibilities: "Serenade For Elizabeth." by the CYRIL STAPLE-TON ORCH. (Pye 17575) - this could easily make it big. From THE JAMES BROTHERS: "I Forgot To Give You Love" (Page One POF 077), all clipped and unusual and somehow different-can't really describe it. STUART SMITH and 'She's A Woman Now' (Polydor 56271) is all paternal and thoughtful on a sometimes-lively ballad. JO JO GUNNE is a kent and his "Every Story Has An End" (Decca F 12807) is unusual, with organ backing, and attractive words. As ever immaculate: MANTOVANI and his orch, and the compelling "Theme 'Villa Rides' " (Decca F MOIRA ANDERSON, she of the excellent soprano voice, sings the evergreen "A Perfect Day" (when you come to the end of) in family-(avourite style (Decca F12811). One can hardly see FRAN AND ALAN having a hit with "Mrs. Robinson" (MGM 1428), owing to the state of the Opposition, but they do it very well indeed. From THE NOC-TURNES: "Carpet Man" (Columbia DB 8453), which is by Jim Webb and therefore a good song. Featur-ing EDDIE HARRISON, THE SHORT KUTS take "Your Eyes May Shine" (United Artists UP 2233) in bouncing style, rather bluesy but irritatingly jerky. THE REACTION and "That Man" (President PT 208) is sax-y and organ-y and atmospheric.

DICK HAYMES: Until You Fall in Love; To Be With You (Fontana TF 954). Naturally a Record of the Week. The truly great balladeer on a tinkling balalaika-type backed song. This is what song-selling is all about even if its not the greatest number I've heard. *

KEITH WEST: On A Saturday: The Kid Was A Killer (Parlophone R 5713), Obviously this could just as easily click as miss. Guitar-y and performed rather well. But I'm just not sure whether it is a hit song . . . though Keith wrote it. ***

THE CYMBELINE: Down By The Seaside; Fire (Philips BF 1681). I ardently support this group and this Record of the Week is brisk, bouncy, and could easily make the charts. As a matter of fact, I rather wish I'd given it an optimistic "tip". Summery gear. *

THE SLEEPY: Love's immortal Fire; is it Really The Same (CBS 3592). Woodwind or flute or something . . . anyway it's that bit different and the boys, wideawake all of 'em, put their considerable all into a smooth performance, * * * *

THE MIRAGE: Mystery Lady; Chicago Cottage (Page One POF 978). Some good stuff about this week. This is perky, fast, romantic and performed rather ingeniously for the most part. Again, it could so easily hurry its way into the charts. *

O'HARA'S PLAYBOYS: Voices; Blue Dog (Fontana TF 949), With some sturdy piano giving it a faint country feel, the boys once again show how well they handle a ballad-with-beat. This is very nice. *

HERMAN-Bouncy swinging newie.

AMERICA AWAKES

TIM HARDIN:

Don't Make Promises:
Smugglin' Man (Verve Forecast VS 1516). This is a tremendous song — actually re-released here to tie in with Tim's current tour.
He has what's best described as an unorthodox style, vocally, but it's effective, even if some of his phrasing sounds all wrong at times. Not predictably a really big one, but likely to help estabtish him further. Flip: Again, very unusual . . . song and style.

ARTHUR CONLEY:

People Sure Act Funny; Burning Fire (Atlantic 584197). By no means his best, but it gets under way right away and sort of bubbles along. He jerks the lyrics, sort of stabs them, and includes some blatant efforts to create excitement. Fast-paced, this one, and the usual chunky sort of band backing. Okay but not specially so. Flip: Another agitated sort of performance. CHART PROBABILITY.

JOHNNY NASH: Hold Me Tight; Let's Move And Groove Together (Regal Zonophone RZ 3010), Jerky, with Mr. Nash singing delicately but really we've heard it all before, Not once, many times. A sort of musical slow-motion, somehow .

THE ELECTRIC FLAG: Groovin' Is Easy; Over-Lovin' You (CBS 3584). This is one of the multi-instrumentalist new-wave American items—they're a pretty good album out right now. This is quite a showcase but it does go on a bit.  $\bigstar$

PAUL REVERE AND THE RAIDERS: Don't Take It So Hard; Observation From Flight 285 (CBS 3586), Is this THE one to break the boys big here? Hard to say, Mark Lindsay sings well effough but there's somehow a lack of impact about this repetitive song.

SOLOMON BURKE: I Wish I Knew How It Would Feel To Be Free: It's Just A Matter Of Time (Atlantic 584191), Solomon in philosophic mood and a rather contrived set of fyrics in parts. But his performance is quite outstanding, good enough to sell big, and soul work of high class. *

Let's welcome The Flirtations, three girls with plenty of vocal ability who are well on their way to proving that America's loss is our gain. In their case it's a first record for Deram "Someone Out There", which should establish them as a strong vocal force. Viola Biddulps from Alabama and sisters Earnestine and Shirley Pearce from South Carolina have been together since 1962, and audiences at New York's Apollo and Paramount Theatres will testify to their talent. Early this year they decided to try their luck in Britain and were immediately signed up by

An unknown British pop group has been signed to a long-term contract by Screen Gems, the American recording and publishing combine which launched . . . yes, the Monkees! The four-man group was discovered by Jack Magraw, Screen Gems British chief-who was so impressed that after one rehearsal signed them up and produced their first record . . out soon. Vamp gets its name from the initials of the first names of the members: the ever-incredible Viv Prince, ex-drummer with the Pretty Things; organist Andy Clark; guitarist Mick Hutchinson; and bassist Peter Sears. They have their own songwriting team of Clark and Sears, and their own publishing house, Vamp Music. Further news at a

If someone tells you he's just seen a little green man, don't run. He may not be mad . . . he could be Bob Ponton, of CBS group Pandemonium. Lead guitaris; and singer Bob reckons he sees everything in colour . . . not only people and things, but even music. Dylan's material is blue and gold; the "Yellow Submarine" is actually silver. Mr. Ted Heath is dark blue; Mr. H. Wilson vivid purple; Paul Beatle is orange; John crimson: George in pale blue; Ringe is black. How unusual is this seeing-in-colour bit? Well, out of 50 people asked, only three said they thought colour was connected with their thoughts and none owned up to seeing colour as vividiy as Bob. Picture shows Bob, plus the rest of Pandemonium.

"The Ballad Of Amelia Earhart", on the Dolphin label, by the Smokey Mountain Ramblers, a C. and W. act from Ireland, led by expert country fiddler George Kaye, who was born of Russian and Polish parents in a British refugee ship off the coast of India, Now you may be asking WHO is Amelia

Earhart. And I will answer: She was the first lady pilot to fly across the Atlantic. She was born in Kansas and made her historic flight in 1928, In 1937 she mysteriously disappeared while on a flight across

From the old Studio 51 and onwards to a contract with Mercury Records-that's the progress report. smoothed out, of the John Dummer Blues Band, now out on a single "Travellin' Man", and with an LP due for September. They play tight, crisp, 1968-style blues, with John himself drumming the lads into a sound that I can honestly state is most exciting. They sound a pretty uncompromising bunch of musicians, and that for me isn't bad, So, with pleasure, herewith a picture of the lads, and good luck to 'em.

Lenny Wesley and Danny Clarke describe themselves as "Twentieth Century Troubadours", and they've succeeded in conquering both cabaret and folk club audiences with their own brand of folk. They go by the name of The Foggy Dew-O. and Decca producer Peter Shelley signed them after hearing about the rave notices they were receiving in their native Yorkshire. They've already completed an LP, one track of which, "Reflections", is their current single release,

the sawdust atmosphere of 5517N

HE cult that has grown round Nilsson (first name Harry) in the States is spreading fast to Britain. The songwriter-singer turned up here recently for a couple of days and returned to the States armed with the the splendid fur coat owned by arch-Nilsson booster John Lennon.

Best sample of his work here is on the RCA Victor "Pandemonium Shadow Show" album on which he gets the sawdust atmosphere going in full strength . . . perhaps not surprising considering that his grandparents toured Europe about 60 years ago as "Nilsson's Aerial Ballet".

The album actually features six of his own songs, plus Dean Kingaid's "She Sang Hymns Out Of Tune"; "River Deep, Mountain High"; Perry Botkin's "There Will Never Be"; the Beatles' "She's Leaving Home"; an ingenious Nilsson medley built round "You Can't Do That", which includes eleven Lennon-McCartney songs; and the old-time favourite "Freckles".

Oddly this man Nilsson might have gone far in banking had pop music not taken over his life. He had been promoted several times and supervised a team of 32 at a bank computor centre on the West Coast. New he supervises the record releases, as writer, of a large number of artistes.

Want to know more about him? Well, he's late of Brooklyn, now of Los Angeles, He's a 6ft. 2in, high lad who was signed to RCA by Ernest Altschuler who said at the time: "He is one of the truly remarkable writing and performing talents of today and I expect rapid acceptance of this young man's remarkable versatility."

Of course that word "versatile" is used around a lotand usually used wrongly. But Nilsson is actually versatile. On the performing side, he sings, plays piano and guitar, has ghosted on demonstration records, did TV jingles on the

NILSSON-a cult has surrounded him.

West Coast and sang off-camera on an "I Spy" programme for NBC. As a composer, he's written for Herb Alpert, the Monkees, the New Christy Minstrels, the Ronettes and himself.

If anything, his vocal style was influenced basically by Ray Charles, Morgana King and the Beatles.

He's by nature a wanderer and in his school years hitchhiked across the country. In Los Angeles, at school he was strong on basketball and baseball. But he also worked evenings as a theatre usher and this gave him the incentive to learn to perform. He became a gofor ("go for coffee; go for hamburgers") and met song writers and producers who encouraged him to sing on and to break in by making demo discs.

But there was also the banking bit. He joined the Security First National Bank Computer Centre and made fast progress.

As for the future, well his bachelor pad is not far from RCA's Hollywood Studios and his aim, he says fervently, is to provide: "Good product for today's market . . . but all elements".

PS - there's also a new single by Nilsson: "Everybody's Talkin'", which was him in a dreamy, get-away-from-it-all mood. He expresses the escapist desire that affects us all.

And I've a feeling that all his music will affect all of us all the time . . . and the near future.
